Russia Faces New Crisis; Firing In Petrograd Street

Trouble Over Ukraine Matter — Several Ministers Resign — Anti-Government Demonstrations in Nevsky Prospect

Petrograd, July 17.—Two demonstrations against the government resulted in the firing of shots in the Nevsky Prospect at midnight, as a result of which several persons were killed or wounded.

The firing apparently was the result of stray shots which brought on a panic, in which the demonstrators turned rifles and machine guns on each other. Quiet was restored after a few minutes. The demonstrators were organized by the Bolsheviks, the majority faction of the Petrograd Soviet.

Several members of the cabinet have resigned and a special session of the council of ministers has been convened in an effort to avert a crisis. Their names are A. Shingarev, minister of finance; Professor Manuiloff, minister of education; and Prince Sviatosky, head of the department of public aid. Their resignation followed a sharp disagreement over questions involving the Ukraine.

Premier Lvoff has requested the ministers to meet at his private residence, when the cause of the dispute would be considered. The ministers took exception to the form of a declaration drawn up by M. Terechenko and Mr. Terechell, the cadets maintained the power should be retained in the hands of the government.

Terechenko and Terechell flatly insisted upon the immediate publication of the declaration, adding that the form might be allowed if the sense of the declaration was not altered. When a vote was taken at a cabinet meeting the two Lvoffs in the cabinet and the socialists declared themselves in favor of the declaration as already drawn without correction or alteration. Opposed by the majority, the cadet members then resigned.

Later, Petrograd, July 17.—M. M. Prokopovich and M. Chernov, ministers of commerce and education respectively, have resigned. London, July 17.—A Russian despatch from Petrograd says M. Stepanoff, acting minister of commerce, also has resigned.

BRITISH MAKE A GAIN; FRENCH BEAT ENEMY ONCE MORE

London, July 17.—"We gained ground slightly during the night north of Wincennes," says a despatch from the British war office today. "In the Neuport sector," the communication adds, "one of our raiding parties encountered a large party of the enemy in front of the German positions. After a sharp fight our troops drove the enemy back to their lines and bombarded them in their trenches."

Another Futile Attack. Paris, July 17.—German troops made a strong attack on the French positions in the vicinity of the Teton but were driven back, leaving a number of dead, according to a statement issued by the war office today.

The statement follows: "Intermittent cannonading occurred on the Aisne front, quiet spirited in the region of Cerny, Cavaliers, and Conroy. In the Champagne the Germans made another serious effort on the Teton. Their assaulting waves, caught under our fire, were compelled to return to their positions, leaving a number of dead. We maintained our gains of Saturday."

"On the left bank of the Meuse our troops this morning made a spirited attack west of Hill 304. According to news thus far received all our positions which have remained in the hands of the Germans following the action of June 28 and 29, were entirely reconquered by us. We captured prisoners, whose number is not yet known.

"Enemy attacks on our small posts in Argonne, near Douaumont, and in Woivre, near Regneviller, were without result."

BORDEN TODAY IS TO MOVE FOR EXTENSION OF PARLIAMENTARY LIFE

Ottawa, July 17.—Sir Robert Borden has today moved for the extension of the life of the House of Commons for a period of one year from next October. The request of Mr. MacLellan of Halifax that this question be deferred until consideration is passed, evidently is not to be acceded to. The highly interesting discussion staged yesterday and unexpectedly deferred will therefore take place today. This extension question is one of the vital things before parliament. Upon the disposition of it depends the question as to whether or not the general election, which is so commonly talked of, is to take place.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED. Milton Boudreau, manager of the Hempton baseball team, wishes to challenge that he accepts the challenge of the Rovers, published last evening, and will play them on Saturday afternoon.

CROWDS OUT TO SEE THE KILTIES

Gotham Gives Highlanders Rousing Welcome ON RECRUITING MISSION

They're in Newark, N. J., Today But A'll Rest of Week Will be in New York — Great Event, Says Sun Newspaper

New York, July 17.—The 200 Canadian Highlanders, who are in New York to stimulate "British recruiting week" today when they left here to spend the day in Newark, N. J. This is the only day during the week in which the men will be out of the city. Each day's programme will keep the visitors before the public as part of the campaign to obtain recruits.

The Highlanders planned to reach Newark this afternoon and march to the city hall where they were formally welcomed by Mayor Raymond. A trolley trip about the city was to precede a recruiting meeting. They were then to be the guests of the City of Newark for dinner, followed by a second recruiting meeting when they will return to New York.

The newspapers published detailed accounts of the glowing reception given them in New York recently—what with the coming of Papa Joffre and his Frenchmen and the arrival of Balfour and his Englishmen, and the reception to the Highlanders and the Russians—but it would have been very difficult to find more spirit in an ordinary crowd than was observed yesterday when the Highlanders in their kilts, their plaids, their brooches, their sporrans and their feather bonnets marched up Broadway, while the probers sounded like a million angels being swarming and thousands of men and women rushed to the sky-scraper windows to look down and to cheer the big Highlanders as they were crowded, and always ahead of the wild, high music rolled waves of cheering."

The first steps toward a fitting celebration of August 4, the first anniversary of the declaration of war, to take the form of a public tribute to the returned soldiers, were discussed at a meeting of the common council in committee this morning. It was decided to ask the citizens to retain wall work but to arrange the form of the public exercises.

The fuel problem received some consideration. Commissioner McLellan urged the establishment of a civic wood yard and held out hopes that he might be able to secure a special lot of 1,000 tons of hard coal. The mayor informed the council that he had been informed by Mr. Dick of the Dominion Coal Company that his company would be able to furnish all the coal St. John will need during the coming winter.

The city's fire schedule was submitted and there was some discussion of the sidewalk occupation act, the sidewalk policy and retaining wall work but no action was taken in the latter matter.

Mayor Hayes presided and all the members of the council were present. The first business considered was the proposed Mayor Hayes tax on the city taken for a formal public observance of the third anniversary of the declaration of war, August 4. His words were taken for this occasion was observed throughout the dominion last year and this year he thought it should be appreciated of what they have done.

The mayor suggested that a half-holiday be declared but the other commissioners considered a full holiday necessary for an adequate observance and this was agreed to. A "Worship" extension of the city's citizens would not take the holiday as an opportunity to go away to the country. The form of the observance was not decided on but it was suggested by Commissioner McLellan that the expenses be met by a contribution from the appropriation of each department.

It was decided to call a meeting in the winter of the city's citizens for the purpose of considering detailed proposals for the observance of the third anniversary of the declaration of war.

The Sidewalks Commissioner Fisher brought up his amendments to the sidewalk occupation act, but consideration was deferred for another week.

His new policy, of laying no more asphalt sidewalks and doing only permanent concrete work, with contributions of one-half the cost from property-owners, was brought up by Commissioner Fisher.

The mayor suggested that there were many sidewalks in bad order and which should be repaired; property owners had been paying taxes for sidewalks and he thought the worst sections, at least, should be repaired before such a policy was introduced. The matter will lay later.

Cal Hire Rates The amendments to the law regulating the charges for cab hire were submitted. The proposed schedule was as follows: From any point within the city limits, except as hereinafter provided, each passenger with one trunk and baggage, fifty cents; after midnight, $1. From the Haymarket Square to Kane's corner, the One Mile House and the location included, each passenger with one trunk and hand baggage, seventy-five cents.

From Kane's Corner (so-called) to the Tuberculosis Hospital, for one or more passengers (not exceeding four in all), $2.

Beyond the tuberculosis hospital or beyond the One Mile House; or beyond Newman Brook, such price as may be agreed upon between the driver and his passenger or passengers. In the city of the eastern side of the harbor after midnight, except as hereinafter provided, one or more passengers, three dollars. To or from any point on the eastern side of the harbor, from or to any point (Continued on page 2, seventh column)

The House of "Windsor" New Name of British Royal House and Family is Announced

London, July 17.—King George today, at a meeting of the privy council, announced the new name of the royal house and family to be "The House of Windsor." The privy council at which the king announced the change was held in St. James' Palace.

It was the most important and interesting since the coronation. The attendance included Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Secretary Balfour and other members of the cabinet, the Archbishop of Canterbury, former Premier Asquith and all members of the colonial government who are now in London. The privy council unanimously endorsed King George's announcement and the proclamation putting it into effect was published this afternoon.

King George is of the House of Saxe Coburg and Gotha. It was recently decided to drop titles or names of German origin.

To Celebrate War Declaration With Holiday

Public Meeting to Arrange For Observance of Anniversary HONOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Council Reviews Fuel Situation and Mayor Announces Promise of Full Supply of Soft Coal — Commissioner McLellan Urges Civic Wood Yard

The first steps toward a fitting celebration of August 4, the first anniversary of the declaration of war, to take the form of a public tribute to the returned soldiers, were discussed at a meeting of the common council in committee this morning. Reform of Upper House in Germany

Bill to Be Introduced in Prussian Diet; Matters in Germany; Austrian Premier's Talk on Peace

Amsterdam, July 17.—According to the Dusseldorf General Anzeiger a bill to reform the upper house will be submitted to the Prussian Diet with the suffrage reform bill.

Some Changes. Amsterdam, July 17.—A despatch to the Frankfurt Zeitung from Berlin reports Herr Wahnschaffe, chief of the imperial chancellery has retired as the case when chancellors resign.

Germany, the Catholic organ, says that General Von Stein, Prussian minister of war and state, resigned "owing to the attitude of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg during the crisis."

Amsterdam, July 17.—Count Von Roeder, German finance minister, replaces Dr. Karl Hallerich, secretary of the interior, according to the Berliner Tageblatt.

In Austria. Vienna, July 17 via Amsterdam.—The lower house has adjourned indefinitely. The president, in concluding his speech, said: "We again have faced the way for constitutional life. We have strengthened the assured position of the Reichstag members that his speech on Thursday would deal with his foreign and internal policy."

Something of a Mystery. Copenhagen, July 17.—A strong strain of religious devotion, verging on religious mysticism, is one of the outstanding characteristics of Dr. Michaelis. According to those acquainted with him, the new chancellor believes in the direct guidance and inspiration of the Deity in daily affairs and endeavors to base his actions and policy upon his interpretation of the Divine will.

Dr. Michaelis' firmness of purpose is said to be due largely to this conviction. This view of life is partly hereditary. His brother became a clergyman from an evangelical trend, like the Taegleisch Randschau, emphasize this characteristic.

German Press. Copenhagen, July 17.—If the German press correctly reflects public opinion on the event, the appointment of George Michaelis as imperial chancellor will be associated with the death of the movement to parliamentarize the empire.

The press of Bavaria and other states of the empire was quick to point out that a parliamentary ministry could not be introduced without upsetting the whole federal character of the empire, which finds expression in the supreme Bundesrat. The alternative idea which Von Bethmann-Hollweg actually considered for a time, namely the institution of an imperial council consisting of representatives of each of the governments, the Bundesrat and the Reichstag to serve as a connecting link between the government and the representative institutions of the nation, has been dropped, according to the Catholic newspaper Germania.

Curley Fails to Get An Injunction Against Willard. New York, July 17.—Application of Jack Curley for an injunction to restrain Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, from appearing in connection with his wild west show, was denied in Justice Hendrick. Curley contended that a contract entered into by Willard and himself preceding the fight in Havana with Jack Johnson, at which Willard won the championship, restrained Willard from public appearances except under Curley's management until next September.

Two Bath-Built Vessels Lost. London, July 17.—Lloyds announces that the American schooners Addis M. Lawrence, 2,807 tons, and Edward B. Winslow, 3,424 tons, have stranded and are regarded as total losses. The Winslow had previously been reported to be on fire.

Both the vessels were built at Bath, Maine, and were owned by J. S. Winslow & Company, of Portland. According to available shipping records both schooners were sold some time ago to the British government.

Germany Delays In Answering Argentine. Berlin, July 17.—Germany hopes that the terms of the torpedoing of the Argentine steamer Toro will be settled amicably, according to a semi-official note. This statement denies that relations had been broken off, the government saying that it had not yet replied to the Argentine note.

Dr. Luis De Molina, Argentine's ambassador to Berlin, telegraphed his government last night that Germany's answer to Argentina's demand would be delayed several days, owing to the change in the chancellery.

Proceedings At The Irish Convention Likely To Be Private. Dublin, July 17.—The national convention will assemble on July 23 in Regent House of Trinity College, according to official announcement. The Chief Secretary for Ireland, H. E. Duke, will preside until the convention chooses its own chairman. It is expected that the proceedings will be private but probably an official record will be made of them.

Extensive Strikes In German Coal Fields

Copenhagen, July 17.—Extensive strikes are reported to be in progress in the Silesian and Rhine coal fields of Germany. The trouble has arisen over the food restrictions and objections to the labor service.

TOM DALY GOES TO BUFFALO CLUB

St. John Catcher Who Has Been Making a Name For Himself

Cleveland, Ohio, July 17.—The Cleveland American League club announced today that Tom Daly, catcher, has been released under an optional agreement to the Buffalo club of the International League.

Tom Daly is a former St. John boy and played in the North End until about eight years ago when he moved to Cambridge, Mass. While going to college in Boston his ability as a ball player was recognized and some fans who witnessed him perform behind the bat in amateur exhibition told Hughie Jennings about him. As a result he was given a try-out at Fenway Park and was signed on by Lowell of the New England League.

From there he was sent to a team in the Cape Breton League where he made a great hit. In the fall of that same year he was recalled to Lowell and became first string catcher on that team. The following spring both the Red and White Sox made a bid for his services and the latter won him. Tom remained with the Chicago team for two years, taking his term behind the bat and in addition filling in at first base, third base and in the outfield.

When the Giants and White Sox took their world's tour he was selected to make the trip and learned many valuable points about the national pastime while in company with the major league stars. It will be recalled that he is the youthful player who made his name in England at a game which His Majesty King George witnessed and as a result made quite a reputation for himself.

When the Cleveland team changed managers a bid more was made for Tom and he was sold to the Indians. Although he was not the first string catcher for the team he worked in a game occasionally and demonstrated remarkable ability. Steve O'Neill was the regular catcher and Tom had not much chance to show his worth as he was out of the game for weeks at a time.

This year the papers in the United States lauded him as one of the most promising catchers in the major leagues, but, funny as it may seem, Fohl did not give him a chance to let the public see him perform. Last fall Fohl was severely censured by some writers for not giving him a regular try-out and he proved on more than one occasion that he was a good hitter as well as a catcher.

While Daly's many friends in this city will regret to hear that he has gone back to the minors they will appreciate the fact that he will at least get into the game and may yet demonstrate to fandom that he is worthy of a regular position in the majors.

JUST A BUSINESS OOG

Woman in the Show Window Ignores Addresses of Her Admirers. She was undoubtedly pretty, even though the mop of blond hair that she wore made her crowding glory was more blond and more plentiful than nature intended, and the red in her cheeks was a trifle too red.

Of these defects the crowd that watched her from the sidewalk turning cards and pointing out the inscriptions thereon, line by line, in the store window, took no account, or perhaps considered them not defects, but merely indications of business strategy, for she was advertising and selling a cosmetic and hair restorer.

As a saleswoman she appeared to be eminently successful. It may have been the logic of the matter, or perhaps she unfolded and carefully emphasized with her index finger on the cards; it may have been that her eyes as she turned from her cards to the spectators and pointed to the array of bottles on the counter at her side, it may have been that the prospect of a nearer and more personal view of the demonstrator as she handed out the bottle in exchange for a coin was attractive. Whatever the cause, there was a fairly steady movement of men from the sidewalk to the store door to the counter at the side of the window. She was apparently a very serious and businesslike young person. Some men who bought stopped to chat, but she dismissed them and turned to her duties in the window. Her customers and the crowd outside were simply persons to whom she was selling, or wished to sell, something. The crowd, however, took no such mercenary view of her.

She was a cog in the wheel of business, but she was also an attractive young woman. There were frequent glances of admiration and some attempts to begin a flirtation. But she was curiously impervious to wiles that did not help to shorten the row of bottles at her side. A steady person, his face stabled with several days' growth of beard, slyly but unmistakably winked at her from over the heads of other spectators as she looked up them into the crowd. On all sides she was surrounded by overtly and half-mocking faces, but she continued turning the cards imperceptibly. Most of the crowd bought some of her wares or passed on.

At last a spectator drifted away a young fellow, walking rapidly, approached the window. He was a clean-cut curly-headed boy with cheeks naturally red and a pleasant look about the eyes. As he caught sight of the figure in the window he stopped short and a look of astonished admiration appeared in his face. He deliberately tilted his hat and smiled. The lips of the businesslike young woman opened in an answering smile that was a delight to the eyes. The right one had come—Indianapolis News.

Call to Minister. The congregation of Knox church last night extended a call to Rev. H. C. Fraser, M.A., of Chilliwack (B.C.), a son of John M. Fraser, at present resident here, and a brother of O. J. Fraser of the N.B. Telephone Co., Limited. He is a graduate of Dalhousie where he also took an M. A. degree. Later he studied theology at Presbyterian College, Halifax.

HARD COAL AT $15. A Calais letter says: St. Stephen dealers are receiving coal in cars direct from the mines in Pennsylvania, the price being the same as charged in Calais, $15 a ton. Those who are in a position to know say that the price of coal along the border will not drop much below that figure and that parties who are holding off for lower prices are very apt to be disappointed.

Our Wonderful Soldiers. A correspondent at the British front sends the London Star two stories heard at first hand at the base from men who have come out of the front line. One concerns a mess in the front line which was the envied of all the neighboring units because it was fresh vegetables every day. The cook was often asked about it. His reply was invariable: "We got them from the garden nearby." He always said: "At last the supply ceased. The mess soon asked why. 'We had all there were,'" said the cook, "except a few that were right on the edge of the Boche trench." Then it turned out that he had gone one every night to "No Man's Land" and gathered green vegetables from a garden which ran right down to the German front line. The chaplain told the next: "It is astonishing," he said, "what the chaps will do to get a brew of tea. We were being badly strafed by the German guns when a shell set fire to a haystack just beside our lines. The illumination didn't lessen the strafing, you may be sure. But judge of the C.O.'s rage (he had casualties enough already) when, while the fire was at its worst, he saw about twenty men who had climbed from the trench into the open, and were sitting on the ground, holding up a tin of condensed milk in the blaze, holding water in their mess-tins at the burning haystack. Shells and bullets were as nothing compared with the chance to get a swig of tea."

Why Hamilton was chosen in preference to other Ontario cities and towns as the place in which the survey should be made was explained by Miss Power. She stated that Hamilton had always been foremost in the minds of the organizers of the survey. The reason for the choice was because the city presented an ideal opportunity for the experiment. It was large enough for the survey to be conclusive and yet not too large as to be unwieldy. Hamilton, also, according to the official, contained every sort of living condition attainable in a Canadian city. It has its factory district; its congested areas, its foreign section, and its strictly residential neighborhoods. The charts in each case would be in many respects totally different. The sum total of the investigation might indeed be accepted as representative of all Canadian cities and towns.

Over 400 of the 2,800 babies born in Hamilton during the year 1916 died. The conditions under which these babies lived and the causes for their deaths will be especially noted after by nurses and entered on the schedules. The facts and figures resulting from this inquiry will, it is expected, throw considerable light on the appalling and still mystifying fact that out of every 1,000 babies born in Ontario 102 die in their first year.

The Hamilton survey has already occupied three weeks, and will take at least three weeks more. During the past week the third annual "Baby Week" has been held by the Baby Welfare Association of Greater Hamilton. Crowds of mothers flocked daily to the old Royal Hotel building where the Public Health Bureau had an extensive exhibit. Free illustrated lectures on subjects relating to the care of babies were given nightly by Hamilton doctors, but these did not prove popular with the parents. Officials stated that these free meetings would not be continued next year, but that they would be replaced by a mass meeting addressed by a speaker of national reputation.

Why Hamilton was chosen in preference to other Ontario cities and towns as the place in which the survey should be made was explained by Miss Power. She stated that Hamilton had always been foremost in the minds of the organizers of the survey. The reason for the choice was because the city presented an ideal opportunity for the experiment. It was large enough for the survey to be conclusive and yet not too large as to be unwieldy. Hamilton, also, according to the official, contained every sort of living condition attainable in a Canadian city. It has its factory district; its congested areas, its foreign section, and its strictly residential neighborhoods. The charts in each case would be in many respects totally different. The sum total of the investigation might indeed be accepted as representative of all Canadian cities and towns.

HARD COAL AT $15. A Calais letter says: St. Stephen dealers are receiving coal in cars direct from the mines in Pennsylvania, the price being the same as charged in Calais, $15 a ton. Those who are in a position to know say that the price of coal along the border will not drop much below that figure and that parties who are holding off for lower prices are very apt to be disappointed.

Our Wonderful Soldiers. A correspondent at the British front sends the London Star two stories heard at first hand at the base from men who have come out of the front line. One concerns a mess in the front line which was the envied of all the neighboring units because it was fresh vegetables every day. The cook was often asked about it. His reply was invariable: "We got them from the garden nearby." He always said: "At last the supply ceased. The mess soon asked why. 'We had all there were,'" said the cook, "except a few that were right on the edge of the Boche trench." Then it turned out that he had gone one every night to "No Man's Land" and gathered green vegetables from a garden which ran right down to the German front line. The chaplain told the next: "It is astonishing," he said, "what the chaps will do to get a brew of tea. We were being badly strafed by the German guns when a shell set fire to a haystack just beside our lines. The illumination didn't lessen the strafing, you may be sure. But judge of the C.O.'s rage (he had casualties enough already) when, while the fire was at its worst, he saw about twenty men who had climbed from the trench into the open, and were sitting on the ground, holding up a tin of condensed milk in the blaze, holding water in their mess-tins at the burning haystack. Shells and bullets were as nothing compared with the chance to get a swig of tea."

FIND WAYS TO MAKE GLYCERINE FROM SUGAR

U. S. Government Laboratory Discovery Will Cut the Cost More Than One-Fourth and Save Fat.

Washington, July 17—Discovery, in the internal revenue division laboratory, of a process for manufacturing glycerine from sugar is announced today by the Treasury Department.

Under the secret process evolved the cost of this substance, a heavy factor in the manufacture of explosives, will be reduced to slightly more than one-fourth of its present cost.

Glycerine is at present manufactured almost entirely from fats at a cost of ninety cents a pound, which is six times its cost of production before the war. Extraction of the product from sugar will insure production, officials estimate, at twenty-five cents a pound or less.

The immense importance of the discovery in conserving the fat supply of the nation is pointed out by officials, who declare that Germany's fat shortage is largely due to the use of fats for production of explosives. Germany has long since been forced to discontinue the manufacture of soap in order to conserve the fats for munition-making.

The discovery is the first to be announced by chemists working in cooperation with the Council of National Defense.

MR. ROOT BIGGEST AMERICAN WHO WAS NEVER PRESIDENT

Selected to Go to Russia Because of His Experience in Diplomacy and His Shrewd, Calm Prudence

Elihu Root, one of the outstanding figures of contemporary American history, is in Petrograd on a mission of democracy to new Russia. President Wilson's choice of so noted a conservative on such an errand to provisional government made up of workmen's and soldiers' delegates is made less remarkable by a knowledge of his distinguished achievements as a diplomat.

It was as secretary of state under President Roosevelt that Mr. Root won international fame as a shrewd and progressive promoter of international community, for while his enemies were decrying his foreign relations as those of "dollar diplomacy" the results of his South American tour were accepted generally as of great value.

Elihu Root is one of the greatest figures in American life who has not recalled the presidency. As secretary of war under McKinley he helped to reconstruct Porto Rico, the Philippines and Cuba. Later, as senator for New York, he endeavored himself still further to the conservatives, but never ceased to be a national influence, now controlling the field as a presidential possibility.

As a lawyer he is looked upon by his profession as a past master, and enormous fees are earned by him in regular practice as counsel. His enemies are fond of recalling that he was the attorney for the noted Tweed ring and was skilled in showing corporations and politicians "how to avoid conviction with penalties."

Only recently he was the leader of the state constitutional convention chosen to draft a new constitution for New York. The rather humiliating defeat of recalling that he was the attorney for the noted Tweed ring and was skilled in showing corporations and politicians "how to avoid conviction with penalties."

Mr. Root was born in 1845 at Clinton, N.Y. After a course in the University of New York he was admitted to the bar in 1867. He succeeded General Alger as secretary of war in 1899, but later accepted the portfolio of secretary of state under Roosevelt, succeeding John Hay.

WIDER PUBLICITY REGARDING THE WAR

(From the Victoria Colonist)

"A censorship which only permits the publication of comforting details is posing the right way to hamper recruiting and to dampen the spirit of sacrifice. Just as in England the people are pleading that the absurd restrictions which hedge about the publication of news should be relaxed, so in Canada an effort should be made, by wider publicity, to educate public opinion, and make the nation united in its efforts in the war. It is not because of what is published, but rather of what is withheld, that the public mind finds consolation in platitudes about individual liberty which are used as arguments against national service. The opposition to conscription is based on an entire misconception of the duty we owe to the state. Tell the people the truth, whether it is good or bad, and we believe that with the exception of some foreigners in our country, they are good enough citizens not to oppose anything which is for the best interests of the nation as a whole. The variety of arguments against the provision of man-power, at a time when our enemy is in the field with all his strength and ready to accomplish our extinction as a nation if given the chance, shows that the hysteria of war, and a half-knowledge of events and their possible consequences, do not make for a sane and sound public opinion."

KING TO CHANGE TITLE OF HOUSE

London, July 16.—King George has called a special meeting of the privy council to be held tomorrow, for the purpose of proclaiming a change in the title of the royal house.

King George is of the house of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, whose German name suggests the reason for the pending change in title. Changes have been made recently in the titles of a number of peers who bore names wholly or in part of German origin.

CULTIVATE THE CORN AND POTATOES

Corn and potatoes are now planted. It is hoped that they were put in under ideal conditions. It has been truly said that no amount of cultivation after a crop is planted can make up for a lack of proper preparation of the soil before planting. Root and corn crops, however, respond readily to cultivation after they are planted and up to kill weeds and conserve moisture, corn should be cultivated thoroughly and carefully when it is small. Remember that corn roots spread out between the rows and are quite close to the surface of the soil when the corn gets tall enough for the last time through with the cultivator. Consequently, to prevent cutting off and destroying the tiny roots by which the plants feed, care must be taken to make the last cultivation very shallow.

Potatoes should be kept free from weeds. Weeds absorb the moisture and plant food needed by the potatoes to make a good yield. Potatoes at present prices are very remunerative—F. C. N. in Conservation.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

FUNERAL ON WEDNESDAY

Chatham, July 16—The town wore an air of gloom today as the news of the death of Hon. L. J. Tweedie, ex-lieutenant-governor, became known and there was very general expression of sympathy with the widow and family. Many telegrams of condolence from public men throughout Canada were received.

It was announced this evening that the funeral would be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Masonic order of which deceased was a prominent member.

FEW ASSESSMENT APPEALS

During this week the assessors will hear appeals for abatement in assessment. Many complaints have been heard in the street about the large increase in taxes, and it was not generally realized that there was an increase of about 27 per cent in the rate, besides the heavier valuation and a general marking up of incomes. Despite this street criticism, however, there were only about twenty-four at the assessors' office yesterday to appeal. This number is smaller than last year. However, the number may increase during the week.

THE WAR SITUATION

The announcement that Greece is actually at war with all of the Central Powers and will mobilize her resources and raise an army of 250,000 men is perhaps the most cheering item of the day's news. The Allies will be called on for financial assistance, and for supplies, but these will readily be granted. The Russian advance in Galicia continues slowly, and the fighting extends along the whole eastern front from the Baltic to Roumania. It is claimed that in three days, from July 10 to July 13, the Russians captured more than 80,000 officers and men, besides a very large number of guns. It seems certain that they will at least keep the enemy extremely busy along the whole front, and aid substantially in the wearing down process which means victory in the end. Repeated German attempts to throw back the French armies in the west have failed, and the French hold strategic positions of importance whose capture would mean a reversal of the British front. There is no material change. The probable resumption of heavy fighting on the Italian front is indicated by last night's cables. On all fronts the enemy has the worst of it, and can afford the loss sustained than the Allies.

Discontent and agitation grows in Germany, and the restlessness of the people is shown by the meagre reports which evade the censors and are published in the neutral and Allied press. The political atmosphere is still far from being cleared, and it is no longer a firmly united Germany which meets the shock of war. It will be interesting to watch the new Chancellor in his efforts to quell the rising storm.

THE OTTAWA TANGLE

The situation at Ottawa grows more perplexing as the days pass. Sir Robert Borden yesterday held over the motion for an extension of the Ontario Medical Act, and did so at the request of Mr. A. K. MacLean, a Liberal, who supported continuation. There is more talk of a union government. The Ottawa correspondent of the Standard says:

"While it is true that there is strong opposition to a union government not only on the Liberal side of the house but also amongst the Conservatives it is regarded as more probable that there will be a reorganized ministry with half a dozen Liberals included in it. The idea seems to be that as soon as the union government is formed it will go to the country on the conscription issue. There is no disguising the fact that the opposition to union within the Conservative party is strong in numbers at least, but whether it will succeed in dissuading the prime minister from proceeding with his purpose, or rendering it impossible for him to attain it, may be doubted."

What difference is there between going to the country on the conscription issue and having a referendum? Suppose conscription were defeated, and the elections resulted in the return of several groups no one of which could command a majority in the house? Such a result would be worse than to have a referendum and abide by the consequences. The only good reason for a union government would seem to be that it would avoid the turmoil of an election by bringing about an extension of the life of parliament. It is certain that without the formation of a real national government there will be no extension of parliament, and if the plan of the Conservatives is to get all the Liberal support and then go to the country they might as well have voted for the referendum. For if the elections were held and a majority against conscription returned to parliament, the situation would be as bad as, or worse than it is now. So far as can be gathered from the press correspondence, however, the elections are likely to be held before any attempt is made to enforce conscription. Until the situation develops more definitely in the House it is impossible to form a clear idea of what will come out of the almost hopeless tangle, out of which it is at least possible that three distinct groups may ultimately emerge.

GERMANY AND PEACE

It will be observed that nothing in the utterances of those authorized to speak in Germany encourages the belief that the German people are in any mood to accept such terms of peace as the Allies have declared they will exact. Germany wants peace, undoubtedly, but she looks at the map and desires to bargain from the veritable ground of a power that still holds territory in France, Belgium, Russia and Serbia, and is confident that this territory can be held for a long time. It must be confessed that from present indications that confidence is not without cause; for the Allies are still nibbling, and the map changes very slowly. It is therefore as essential as ever that the Allies continue to put forth every effort to ensure an overwhelming superiority in men, munitions and supplies, with the expectation that the struggle is to be prolonged. If Germany should collapse sooner than is expected, it will be because of her knowledge of this constant preparation on the part of her enemies; and the Allies cannot afford to take any chances. So far as Canada is concerned, she has the choice, as one writer puts it, of staying in the war or sneaking out of it. There can be little doubt as to what the real feeling of the people is, underneath the political clamor which for the moment appears to distract the public mind. We are in the war to stay.

MEDICATED BOOZE

The people of New Brunswick are to be congratulated upon the fact that the prohibitory law does not permit the sale of so-called patent medicines which contain a very large percentage of alcohol. The people of Ontario are now being urged to purchase a wonderful curative named Tanlac, which contains more alcohol than lager beer, English beers and ales, Scotch ales, clarets, orange or raspberry wine, champagnes, hocks and burgundies, and more than some sherries and ports. It is advertised very extensively in the Ontario papers, and also in the State of Maine.

The last issue of Toronto Saturday Night exposes Tanlac, quoting an analysis by the Dairy and Food Department of the State of Michigan as follows:

Alcohol	18.4 per cent.
Glycerin	20 per cent.
Lactic Acid	Present
Aloes or Cascara	Present
Gentian	Present
Allaloids (Berberin)	Trace

Dayton, Ohio, is the home of Tanlac, and Saturday Night quotes from the Journal of the American Medical Association, Chicago, an article headed "Will Canada Tolerate Tanlac?" which says:

"We venture to say that there is not an intelligent druggist in Canada (or in the United States, either) but knows in his heart that Tanlac is a piece of unmitigated quackery. Seven Million Bottles Sold in Two Years"—and it sells for a dollar a bottle. Seven million dollars taken from the pockets of a class that can least afford it—and one-third of this sum goes to the retailer. Does Canada wish to drain further her financial and physical resources for no other purpose than putting a certain amount of money in the pockets of Canadian druggists and newspaper publishers, and a greater amount in the pockets of Ohio quacks? If not, she will not tolerate Tanlac."

Saturday Night devotes almost a page to the exposure, and to a scathing attack upon the man who is trying to capture the Canadian market for this concoction, and also upon the newspapers which help along the campaign. It is a transcript in parallel columns of the testimonial of one Fred Wick, who was cured by Tanlac, and the announcement of his funeral. It also prints a series of resolutions adopted by the Ontario Medical Association, pointing out that only 2 1/2 per cent. of alcohol is needed in medicine as a preservative, and calling upon the Dominion government to take steps to prohibit the sale of all patent or proprietary medicines containing a larger percentage. Editorially, Saturday Night says:

"A police van and a police court trial should be the ultimate end of Tanlac purveyors. Tanlac tremens should be made impossible by process of law. If the board of license commissioners for Ontario cannot, under the act, prevent the sale of Tanlac in this province, and if the act in force in the various other provinces does not prevent it, then the sooner the necessary amendments are made the better."

So far as New Brunswick is concerned, Chief Inspector Wilson says that under law covers the case. Tanlac or any similar medicated booze cannot be sold in this province without violating the law.

The more the fuel controller and others talk about the coal situation the more the municipal wood-pile looms up as an object of desire. There is a long and cold winter ahead of us.

The more the probe is applied the more we learn about the profiteers in Canada. They have had three fat years under the Borden government.

The honor paid to Boy Scout Walter Allen last night was well deserved, and is an example in an inspiration to all the boys of St. John.

Newfoundland has a national government. Only Canada clings to the patronage committee as an engine of war.

Another fine day for the farmers and the strawberry pickers.

Bogus Meter Inspectors Admitted to Apartment, Empty Jewel Box

Phoned They Were Coming—Mrs. Rubenstein Sliced With Strangle Grip—Elevator Man Arrested as Accomplice

New York, July 17.—Mrs. Carrie Rubenstein, wife of Levi Rubenstein, diamond dealer at 54 Malden Lane, was alone in her apartment on the twelfth floor of 185 West Seventy-ninth street, when her telephone rang.

"There are two men down here from the Edison Company," said the attendant in the hall below. "They say there is something the matter with the electric light connection in your apartment and they want to examine it. They are on their way up now." A moment later the door-bell rang and Mrs. Rubenstein opened it. Two men stepped in.

"Where is your electric light meter?" said one. Mrs. Rubenstein led them to the kitchen and pointed to the meter. One of the men bent over it, apparently examining it, a moment, and then beckoned to Mrs. Rubenstein.

"See, this is what is the matter," he said. "See, this is what is the matter," he said. "See, this is what is the matter," he said.

few weeks ago on their twenty-first wedding anniversary.

Questioned by the police, the girl telephone operator said that neither of the men carried any tools or shown a badge or credentials. She said her suspicion had not been aroused because they acted so as to be in the possession of the meter and ask if they might come up.

Rudolf De Mack, twenty-two years old, the elevator attendant at the apartment, was arrested by Detectives Collins, Geary and Donohue, charged with being an accomplice in the assault and robbery. He was taken to headquarters and questioned, but the police would give no information as to what, if anything, had been learned from him.

A. Albert Sato, a dancing instructor, reported to the Fourth Branch Detective Bureau that burglars entered his apartment on the second floor and stole jewelry and clothing valued at $4,000.

Sato, upon returning home, found the door to his apartment open, and bearing marks of a "jimmy."

SUFFERED TERRIBLY For Days and Nights From DIARRHOEA

Diarrhoea arises from many causes such as a change of diet, change of water, change of climate, catching cold, the eating of unripe fruits or anything that will cause an excess of bile.

On the first sign of any looseness of the bowels it should not be neglected, but should be looked after immediately, for if not diarrhoea, dysentery or some other serious bowel complaint may ensue.

Miss Florence Harfield, 825 Lauder avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with a violent attack of diarrhoea. I suffered terribly with it for four days and nights, and finally I became so weak I did not think I could stand it any longer. My sister advised me to try a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I did so, and after I had taken three doses I felt a whole lot relieved. I kept on taking it, and by the time I had taken six doses the diarrhoea had completely stopped. It did not leave me constipated. I think it a wonderful remedy, so it is so quick to act. I will recommend it to all my friends."

There are so many spurious "Strawberry" preparations sold that you should see that the name "Dr. Fowler's" is on every bottle you buy. Price 35c. Manufactured by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

May Be Drop In Soft Coal Prices

Adjustment of Freight Rates May Help—Little Prospect of Reduction in Anthracite

C. A. Magrath, Dominion fuel controller, and his associate, Joseph G. S. Hudson, were in conference with local men yesterday regarding the coal situation. Meetings were held morning and afternoon at city hall, the most interesting announcement at the close of which was that there is a possibility of a reduction in soft coal prices as soon as the matter of transportation rates is definitely fixed. There seemed to be little possibility of any relief in the hard coal problem.

One point that was not dealt with at the Halifax conference, stated Mr. Magrath to The Telegraph, "was the question of freight rates on the I. C. line, which within the past few days have been increased substantially from the mines to practically all stations on the road. The matter has been taken up with the minister of railways by wire, and he states that it will be impossible to go back to the old rates in view of the increased expense under which the railway is at present operating. He has, however, agreed to make some reduction and until there is some definite information on the rate question, which will be available within a few days, the local dealers are not in a position to take any action."

Dealers May Act

Dr. J. H. Frink, representing the provincial government in the inquiry, made the following statement: "After a very protracted and cordial consideration of the whole soft coal question the coal dealers have the matter of a reduction in prices under very serious consideration at this time, and are prepared to do all they will be able to make announcement on their own account. This is all, however, dependent upon the fixing of the increase in freight rates. The soft coal dealers feel their responsibility at this time, and are prepared to do all they can to help to relieve the situation. There is the utmost cordiality and desire on their part."

"We had representatives of the hard coal interests and also shippers here, and there does not seem to be a very bright outlook for cheaper coal. It was brought out during the discussion that the brokers who operate between the mines and the water and rail front take a very considerable proportion of the cost of hard coal in St. John and other points in the maritime provinces. While the question of profits to local dealers was not examined as carefully as might have been, the dealers have agreed to furnish Mr. Magrath with such detailed information as he may require.

Carried by American Ships

"The question of transportation by water was considered and representative of shipping interests expressed their views. It was somewhat of a surprise to ascertain that seventy-five per cent of the vessels carrying hard coal from New York to St. John are under American register, while twenty-five per cent or less are of Canadian origin or register, and that the increase in water rates was simply a question of supply and

Carso Plateau An Awful Place

Terrible Obstacles in the Way of Italians Driving on Trieste

City Safe From Sea—Wild Heights, Caves, and Rivers Must be Passed to Capture Austrian Port

"There is just one place in the world that God did not make, according to the people that live there," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "and that is the Carso Plateau." Something of the fresh obstacles that the Italians faced after their long fight to gain the coveted heights may be gained from the Plain Dealer's description of the region.

Magnify a sponge seven or eight times, petrify it, turn several rivers into it, and you have the Carso, which stretches from the Isonzo River on the north about 75 miles to Plume on the south, and from west of Laibach on the east about 50 miles to the cliff behind Trieste on the west. It has been called the most extraordinary stretch of territory in the world.

One can go over the Carso. One can also go through it, and it is a question which method is the easier. The rivers find it easier to go through than over. Unlike among the rivers of the world, they flow toward and into the mountains. Great rivers vanish into black caverns where they form underground cascades hundreds of feet deep, and great lakes upon which never a ray of sunshine falls, and in which blind fish swim lazily in the eternal night.

Labyrinths of Caves

Scattered all over its tortured surface are deep pits, called dolinas, some of them serving as ventilators or skylights to grottoes and caves in the bowels of the earth. Mountains rise to 6,000 feet high, on the sides of which there are pine trees that have taken root, while in the foothills, Junipers, thorns and wild cherries form scattered clumps of tangled bushes. In the hollows, where millennial rains have reduced the rock to a blood-red earth, the peasants cultivate little patches of corn beside which they live in wretched huts.

If one wants to see the Carso one must go down into it and explore its internal grottoes and abysses have been explored by members of the Alpine Club, but fully as many more remain to be penetrated.

The explorers used rope ladders, acetylene torches, and camp telephones in their work, and carried barometers, compasses, steel surveying chains, and cameras. Their clothes were heavy material and they wore helmets to protect their heads from the rocks that fell when disturbed by the ropes.

To see these caverns one has often to crawl prostrate through narrow pas-

MONTREAL BUSINESS MAN TO SPEAK AT JOINT LUNCHEON

At a meeting of the executive of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada held in the board room, yesterday afternoon, with O. Skinner, president in the chair, a telegram was read from J. A. Beaudry, treasurer of the Dominion board of the association advising that he would be pleased to accept the invitation to be in St. John at a future date, at which time it has been arranged to have a joint luncheon with the members of the Rotary Club, with Mr. Beaudry as chief speaker.

The members of the St. John Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the members of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association will also be invited to attend and listen to Mr. Beaudry, who is one of Montreal's leading citizens and one of the most eloquent speakers in Canada.

The following committee was appointed to co-operate with the Rotary Club in arranging for the luncheon: T. F. Drummie, chairman; A. O. Skinner, F. W. Daniel, H. G. Marr, F. A. Dyleman, A. E. Everett, H. W. Rising, G. M. Ross, S. C. Young, J. H. Vaughan, T. A. Armour, H. Mont Jones, A. A. McIntyre, L. T. Gair, Jarvis Furdy, T. R. S. Smith and Robert Reid.

"The art of being still is almost a lost art," says J. C. Wright, in the "Friends' Quarterly Examiner." "It has been said that if every person would think without speaking for five minutes every day, the world would be a better world. We know the story of the wealthy man who when dying told his prodigal son to him, and told him he would leave his money to him on one condition—that he should each day spend one hour alone. The son promised, and became a renovated character. Solitude for one hour out of each day spent one hour alone. The need for mental stillness, for peace and balance, is obvious. We are apt to become one-sided and make mistakes, because we do not wait long enough to see both sides of a question."

For Acid Stomachs Use Magnesia

Quickly Stops Sour Burning Feeling and Makes Digestion Painless.

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles, is due to the fact that it stops food fermentation and neutralizes the acid—the direct cause of nearly all stomach troubles. Of the many forms of magnesia such as oxides, citrates, carbonates, sulphates, etc., the most suitable and efficient, and the one prescribed by leading specialists is bisulphated magnesia, a teaspoonful of which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation, and thus ensure painless normal digestion. Care should be taken to get bisulphated magnesia, as its action is infinitely more effective. It is also, by the way, usually stocked by druggists on convenient compressed tablets as well as in the ordinary powder form. Stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepain, charcoal, soda mints, drugs and medicines are invariably astonished to find that the stomach, relieved of the irritating acid and gas, soon regains its normal tone, and can do its work alone without the doubtful aid of artificial digestants.

Triste Well Guarded

The city of Trieste has made this accessible to adventurous explorers by building ladders of pine down the perpendicular walls of the pit. You climb down 1,000 feet, often through crevices so narrow that it seems as if the rocks would close down on you. One pit follows another, joined by low tunnels through which you crawl with difficulty.

At last you reach a cavern, 800 feet high, 700 feet long, through which the river flows, emerging from a gigantic tunnel. At the end of this grotto it forms another stagnant pool, the waters of which are filtered through porous rock and gathered again into the giant stream which bursts from the side of the mountain at San Giovanni di Duino for its final descent to the sea. Sometimes the rocks through which the water soaks get choked; then the water quickly accumulates in the grotto, and the pressure becomes so great that the air rushes forth from the holes in the ground so violently that one it blew high into the air a built trap-door and hit which had been built at the entrance to the first pit.

The only way to Trieste for the Italian army lies across the Carso Plateau. Trieste is safe from the sea until the heights of the Carso which crown over it shall have been taken.

NEW AUSTRALIAN RECRUITS SOON TO RELIEVE VETERANS.

Melbourne, July 16, via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.—The Australian newspapers publish the names of 5,000 Australians who have completed one thousand days' service at the front. The Victorian recruiting committee is making a special recruiting appeal. Commencing on Aug. 4 new recruits will relieve veterans, enabling them to spend next Christmas at home.

First Fairville Case

Charles Doyle, of West St. John, and James Geary, of Union Point, were before Magistrate Allingham in Fairville last night, charged with being in an intoxicated condition at the lower end of Fairville. Doyle admitted getting the liquor from Montreal and treating Geary. Doyle was fined $20 and Geary $8. Both fines were paid. Inspector Crawford was present in the interests of the prosecution.

Quick, Safe Way To Remove Hairs

(Toilet Talks.)
Keep a little delatone powder on your dressing table and when ugly, hairy growths appear, make a paste with a little of the powder and some water, apply and let remain on the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. This treatment is quite harmless and rarely more than one application is required, but to avoid disappointment care should be used to buy the real delatone.

Hospitals Commission one by one in all provinces for the restoration to independent citizenship of those whom war has disabled.

Polities were adopted by the Military Hospitals Commission designed to make the rehabilitation as complete as possible and that stringently new methods have been employed.

The vast majority of the men were able to be classified for treatment under wide general headings which could be carried out in ordinary convalescent hospitals in the provinces of the patient's residence. Other patients required special expensive apparatus and equipment and central institutions for each class of these were organized.

servatory surrounding the white brick dwelling at the northwest corner of these two streets, and will appreciate how restful and attractive are the surroundings in which these victims of Prussian ruthlessness will spend their weary months. Many of them will not be in pain and will be able to appreciate the charms of their habitation, which has been, one of the show places of the Queen City for years.

A sun room overlooking the conservatory, wheel chairs and a music room which is the envy of all America will go far to make life bearable for the boys.

Just what equipment and apparatus will be required by the medical attendants cannot be told so soon, as only a few of the patients have yet arrived. The commission, however, has decided that no single thing which will assist in alleviating the suffering or contribute to the happiness of the patients shall be wanting. There is accommodation for about forty beds with plenty of additional rooms for nurses, orderlies and such surgical apparatus as is required. The boys will live in the coach house, where comfortable quarters have been installed by the commission's work department. Rehearsal has been carried on throughout the home, cherry cream and pale blue tints being used for the rich but sombre beauty of the former walls. The music and sitting room, where it is expected the up-patients will spend much of their time, was already decorated in white.

Pipe Organ Plays to Soldiers

It was probably the music room which led the commission to adopt the Massey-Treble residence, or Euclid Hall as it was called, as its first permanent home. A pipe organ reputed to have cost more than $15,000 is built into this room and it is a part of the gift of the Massey estate that T. J. Palmer, brilliant organist of Metropolitan church will give two recitals a week on this instrument. The organ is also an automatic and music rolls can be used to bring out its finest qualities. Quite likely Mr. Palmer will instruct some member of the permanent staff how to use these rolls. The boys will then be able to listen to the music whenever they like.

WHEN MARRIAGE IS A FAILURE

Surely marriage is a failure when its essential purpose, the raising of a family of children, proves impossible. In the childless home the married pair, though sometimes more or less unconscious of the fact, grow disappointed and lonely. Lacking the best tie to hold them together they are likely to drift apart, hence many separations and divorces.

If every wife, whose physical state prevents motherhood, would but try that great remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, there would be far fewer childless homes.

Dangerously Injured

Clifford Lobban, the sixteen-year-old son of Earl Lobban, Chatham, was dangerously injured yesterday afternoon in the J. B. Snowball Company's mill. He was engaged in loading cane with firewood from a chute. The cart tipped and his head was caught between the cart and the chute, fracturing his skull.

Medal For Boy Hero

The gallant conduct of Walter Allen, the boy scout who saved the life of a little girl on June 27, was recognized officially last evening when a gold watch was presented to him on behalf of the corporation of the city of St. John. The scouts of the city met in Queen square in front of the Queen square Methodist church and marched to King square, where Mayor Hayes, on behalf of the city, presented to Scout Allen the gold watch, which was suitably engraved. This is the second time that Allen has saved a life and Mayor Hayes will recommend him for the Royal Humane medal and also for the Carnegie life-saving medal.

DROWNED AT CHIPMAN

Word was received in the city yesterday of a sad drowning accident on the Grand Lake at Chipman, Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock in which James Bishop, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bishop was the victim.

The Bishop boy, who was about sixteen years of age, and several companions, were out in a boat, and in some way, managed to fill the boat so full of water that it capsize throwing the occupants into the water. The boys could all swim, with the exception of young Bishop and although his companions tried to save him, the boy was so terrified he could do nothing to help himself and they were finally compelled to abandon the effort. The accident occurred a short distance below Sayre & Holly's lumber mill, and word was at once sent to the village and men immediately gathered at the scene of the accident and grasped for the body, which was found at about 5 o'clock.

Telephonic funeral From Wisconsin comes the report of a funeral by telephone. A Methodist minister of Oakfield died and his bishop was to deliver the funeral sermon. But a severe storm came on and the bishop, who was on his way, saw no chance of getting to the village, since traffic was stopped on the short branch line leading to the place. Stopping at a farmhouse to telephone his predicament to the waiting family, he decided to conduct the service over the telephone, one of the members of the family repeating his words to the mourners—Popular Science Monthly.

Russians and French Score Against Germans

Again the Teutonic Allies have suffered reverses—in the loss to the Russians of a part of the village of Lodsiany, in the Lomnica river region of Galicia; in the repulse of an attack by the Russians northeast of Kalusz, and in the Champagne region of France where the French drove them from positions they had recaptured, inflicting heavy losses on them.

From Riga on the Baltic Sea to the Romanian frontier the Russians and Austro-Germans along the entire front are engaged in battle, but except in Galicia, where the Russians continue to develop their advantage or hold back thrusts of the Teutons, little has become known concerning the operations. Unofficial reports say Dolina, 22 miles southeast of Stryz has been captured by the Russians.

Not alone have the Russians in their drive in Galicia made goodly gains of terrain, but their captures of men, guns and material have been enormous. From July 10 to July 13, according to a Russian official communication, 36,643 officers and men of the Teuton Allies have been made prisoners by General Brusiloff's forces, and 93 heavy and light guns, 28 trench mortars, 403 machine guns and 91 guns of other descriptions have been taken.

London, July 16.—An official statement issued by the admiralty tonight says:

"Our naval armaments dropped several tons of bombs Sunday night on the following military objectives: The Solway works at Zebrugge, railway junctions and sidings at Ostend; railway sidings and dumps at Middelkerke; railway junctions at Thourout; motor transport convoys and railway sidings at Lichtervelde. All our machines returned safely."

Still Striving For Union To Avoid War Election

Ottawa, July 16.—The majority of members of parliament on both sides of the house are now convinced that the only way out of the tangle into which the present parliament has got itself over the conscription issue is by way of the election of a new parliament with a four-year mandate ahead, and power to form a union government, enforce conscription or make first a final trial of voluntary recruiting.

Eleventh-hour efforts are still being made, however, to find some practicable and common win-the-war platform on which a predominating section at least of Liberal and Conservatives might unite before the final die is cast and the country is plunged into an election under circumstances which may very possibly result in the return of an anti-conscriptionist element dominating the situation in the new parliament. It is the fear of this latter very real danger that impelled A. K. MacLean, of Halifax, to suggest in the commons this afternoon a further pause before the extension bill was moved. He, as well as other members of the house, knew that, in the present temper of parliament, there was practically no chance of an extension being granted. The group of twenty-six Liberals who have voted for the principle of selective conscription realize that the enforcement of the measure is imperilled, if not rendered impossible, by present political and national conditions.

On the Conservative side among those members with whom partyism is a minor consideration, there is a similar feeling. Both elements are groping for some way out. But that way has not yet been found.

A conference of the Liberals who have endorsed the selective conscription idea, as embodied in the government's bill, was held this morning. The whole situation was canvassed. Plans were suggested but no agreement was reached. There will be another meeting tomorrow. As far as can be learned the situation was not clarified at all by this morning's conference or by the continued efforts during this afternoon and this evening, to get some solution practicable and satisfactory.

He Contradicts Their Evidence

Witness Tells of Seeing O'Brien and Carland

On Morning After Attack They Said They Did Not Meet Until Later in Day—Street Car Conductor Gives Evidence of O'Brien's Movements

There was a new turn in the Harris murder inquest last night. At the last session of the inquiry conducted by Dr. F. L. Kenney, both John O'Brien and Everett Carland stated emphatically that they did not meet again until 10 o'clock next morning at the plumbers' hall. When the hearing was resumed at the court house last night, Jeremiah Lenihan swore that he saw O'Brien and Carland coming up Mill street together about 6:45 o'clock on the morning of June 15 as he was going to his work. The street car conductor, Percy Macaulay, remembered, he said, that O'Brien was on his West St. John car on the night of June 14 and was on the night of June 15. He could not swear, though, that it was the 10 o'clock trip on June 14, as O'Brien stated. He recalled, too, that on Monday, June 18, O'Brien came to him and asked him if he did not recall his being on the 10 o'clock trip, June 14. He had then replied in the affirmative and also agreed to appear and state so if O'Brien got into difficulty.

William F. Gullfoyle is employed in Walter Stevens' beer shop in Main street near the corner of Long wharf. Mr. Ramsey formerly owned the store but sold out. The witness was employed with Ramsey and later with Stevens. He recalled reading about the Harris assault and at that time Stevens owned the store. On the night of June 14 he left about 8:15 o'clock, leaving the proprietor in charge. Ramsey was not there. This piece of testimony was introduced by the crown authorities in connection with the assertion made by Carland that he had dropped into "Ramsey's" store and that one of the Ramsey's, "the stout man" was there.

M. J. Burns, a plumber, was one of the organizers of the local union. He knew Harris for some time, having worked with him at the armory. He had asked men to join the union but had not used, nor had he instructed others to use, any other means to influence them but by talking to them in a friendly way.

Jeremiah Lenihan, who was the most important witness of the occasion, employed in James McDade's store, Mill street. He has been accustomed to arrive at 6:45 o'clock that morning," he said. On the morning of June 15, he recalled the day, because he on that day learned of Harris being assaulted.

"I met John O'Brien and Carland about the Red Rose Tea building about 6:45 o'clock that morning," he said. Carland was dressed in a light suit and O'Brien wore a dark peak cap and overcoat. The witness was positive it was the morning of June 15. They were not drunk. Witness had heard the plumbers had liquor in their rooms and he thought Carland and O'Brien were going there to get some. They were coming toward town.

Joseph O'Brien, a striking plumber, related what went on the night of June 14 much the same as previous witnesses. He first heard of the Harris assault next day, he said. When coming from court someone remarked that Harris had been struck with a stone. He appeared to be being cross-examined by Dr. Baxter he said that his brother, John Hughes, and Carland were in his shop next day, June 15. He denied, however, that while they were there John's wife came to the door and called—"Is he there?" meaning her husband.

O'Brien, the witness, said that Harris' name was not mentioned at the rooms on the night of June 14 or after leaving there, to his knowledge.

Remarks Overheard. Richard H. Evans, a plumber, told of overhearing a remark dropped by John O'Brien. There was a group of men in Charlotte street and "I heard O'Brien say something about getting an anchor to put on Harris' chest. He appeared to be in a hurry and was asking where Carland was." The witness denied that he had heard O'Brien say something about making a job of it.

The witness stated that he remembered saying to someone with him that it was a peculiar remark for O'Brien to make and the man, whoever he was, replied, "O'Brien's liable to say anything."

The witness stated, that he believed that O'Brien, when he said an anchor, meant a wreath. The remark was made after Harris was assaulted but before he died.

Charles H. McGowan testified. He had gone with Harris in a street car on one occasion and talked to him endeavoring to have him join the union.

CONDITIONS IN GERMANY. London, July 16.—The Daily News correspondent at Zurich says in a dispatch: "Leading members of the Greek colony in Berlin, who arrived here yesterday, tell me that the German politicians and newspapers have inadequately reflected the intensity of the popular feeling which has prevailed during the last week. The masses of the people are hungry and worried, and incline more and more toward using reckless and desperate means to solve their difficulties."

"On Tuesday last the governing classes completely lost their mental balance and talk of the dynasty being in danger was current. Economic conditions in the large towns have grown steadily worse, and the thought of a fourth war winter dismays all classes."

The Arson Case

At the afternoon session Chief Blake was the first witness called. He told of stones being thrown through his window. The word "Scab" was also written on the window. He said that a summer house similar to that owned by Crawford would take from twenty to twenty-five minutes to burn, and that on a night similar to that on which the fire occurred, the conflagration might be seen from one to three miles distant.

James Coveny, recalled under cross-examination by Attorney-General Byrne, said that when he told Saunders that O'Brien and Hughes got in between 11:30 and 12 o'clock he had lied. He had measured Kitty's off-hind foot and had found it to be five inches long on the outside, four and one half inches on the inside, and three inches wide on the heel. He had not driven the mare Kitty since last January or February.

A. S. Proffitt was recalled. He said that the last time he shod Kitty on the hind feet he found on the off hind foot two pieces, and on the right hind foot one piece. The pieces on the off hind foot had caulks. The pieces that came off the off-hind foot looked like pieces of a shoe he had made and bore the mark he usually placed on a shoe, but he could not swear that he had made the shoe. A shoe was placed in evidence, one he had made from memory as near as he could to fit "Kitty's" off hind foot before June 15. He measured the shoe and found that it was four and one half inches wide, five and seven-eighths on the outside and five and five-eighths inches on the inside.

Attorney General Byrne submitted a plan to the court in order to better facilitate an understanding as to distance contiguous to that point where the house was burned.

Deputy Sheriff Clifford was called and gave some distances between different points in this neighborhood which he had taken by the means of a speedometer on an automobile. When cross examined he said he did not know anything of a speedometer except that he had measured distances several times before by this means.

Peter C. Sharkey, called, said that he had been a frequenter of Donnelly's stables and that he was in the stable on the sixteenth of June. There were present Frank Donnelly, John Donnelly, Fred McDonald and himself. One or two others were present but he did not remember their names. He said he remembered Saunders coming into the stable and questioning the proprietor as to the horses he had out on that night; repeating the conversation that had taken place.

Cross-examined by Attorney-General Byrne he said that he was at the present time employed as a government wharfinger, and that he was not now a member of any labor union, although he had been in the past. Little evidence throwing new light on the case round which public interest centres at the present time, developed in the session of the circuit court yesterday. The court adjourned at 5:15 to meet again this morning at 10 o'clock.

Two Killed by Lightning

Sydney, N. S., July 16—The house of Norman MacQueen, at Dutch Brook, about five miles from Sydney, was struck by lightning at 9:30 tonight with fatal results. Norman MacQueen and one of his younger children were killed, while his brother Dan and a son were seriously but not fatally shocked. The lightning left no mark on the house. Mr. MacQueen was lying down in front of the door and it is conjectured that the lightning entered beneath the door and escaped by another door.

Cob's Good Records

Ty Cobb, since joining the Tigers on Aug. 10, 1905, has, including Saturday's game, hit for the grand average of .370. During that period he has on forty occasions secured four hits in one game. One of these was in the world's series against the Cubs, when he obtained four

Quimet Wins Western Title

Chicago, Ill., July 16—Francis Quimet of the Woodland Club of Boston, former open and amateur national champion, today added to these and numerous other laurels by winning the thirty-six hole final at the Midolthian Country Club.

Figuring in past performances Quimet was the logical winner. His defeat of the mighty Britchers, Vardon and Ray, in the playoff of their triple tie in the national open at Brookline in 1915, his triumph of the amateur title at Ekwanok the following year, and three victories in the Massachusetts amateur championship attest to his class, and it also may be noted he still is the amateur champion of France.

Although Edwards knows the Midolthian course like a book, there is an added strain when playing before a home crowd. Possibly in the early part of the morning round the Midolthian star showed a trace of nervousness, but his steady Scotch ancestry asserted itself, and after being four down at the end of the first nine holes, he finally got to the hole in the thirteenth hole in the afternoon, and then, after again squaring at the sixteenth, lost the seventeenth by missing a five-foot putt.

Even then he battled on the last green until Quimet ran a long approach putt, which he had in four. Although Edwards received a bronze medal, some of the Midolthian men were willing to give him the clubhouse and grounds.

Tournament Equals Predecessors

The close finish was a fitting end to an old rivalry. The presence of the three eastern stars—Quimet, John Anderson and Jesse Guilford—although they were not present, and the presence of the three western stars—Edwards, Schmidt and Del Monte, Cal., when the eastern section of the Western Golf Association was newly reorganized.

Although close and hard fought, the title match had few spectacular admissions, although the 36 holes of play Quimet had only one hole under par, a remarkable feature in itself. He had twenty-two holes at par figures and thirteen over par. Edwards accounted for three birdies, eighteen pars, and fifteen over par. Schmidt won on the high side, but getting 78 and 79. Edwards scoring 78 and 78.

Edwards' defeat can be traced largely to his poor work on the greens. Usually, he is a steady hand, but today he was shaky on the greens, his tees shots. His power of recovery, which he had shown in the rough, had no effect, for he was unable to carry the ball over the green. He was down and out in the eighth hole, and he was unable to get back on his feet.

It began to look like a tragedy to the gallery. Quimet was going along steadily, although he was in a class by himself. He had a long putt for a birdie, but he missed it by a few inches. He was down and out in the eighth hole, and he was unable to get back on his feet.

The first break came at the twelfth hole, where Edwards sank an eight-foot putt after Quimet had missed from twelve feet. This reduced Quimet's lead to three up and after the next three holes had been halved in four, Edwards won the long sixteenth with a par four, a nine-foot putt being the deciding factor.

The seventeenth hole left both men with hard mashie pitches, the flag being near a trap on the left of the green. This proved a lodging place for Edwards' ball and his overzealous effort to hit the hole. He was three down and appeared to be destined to carry the burden to which with him, but Quimet obligingly missed a short putt on the same green, and was only two up at the record.

Big Crowd in Afternoon

The fine afternoon brought out a gallery of approximately 1,000 and a dozen marshals armed with American flags, coupled with the bright costumes of the women gave the last half of the final picturesque setting.

Quimet was wild with his wooden clubs, putting to the rough frequently. Once the Bostonian went into a creek in trying to look around a clump of trees from a drive. He halted that hole, however, as Edwards refused to take its preferring three putts. This inclination to multiplicity of putts caused Edwards to take 22 on the first nine holes, although his long game called for not more than 15. With proper putting the Chicagoan could have served a 34 and been 2 or 3 up instead of 4 down at the end of the first quarter.

Quimet had more distance than the runner-up, but his wildness caused him to be on the defensive at many holes.

EVIDENCE IN ARSON CASE IS NOW COMPLETE

Two Witnesses For Defence Heard This Morning

Dr. A. Boyce, Veterinary, and Fred McDonald—Mr. Sinclair Addresses Jury and Attorney-General Byrne Begins His Speech

Evidence in the case against John Hughes and Joseph O'Brien, under arrest on suspicion of having set fire to William J. Crawford's summer house, was concluded in the supreme court this morning before Chief Justice McKeown. Two witnesses were called by the defence, Dr. Alfred Boyce, a veterinary surgeon, and a boy named Fred McDonald.

When Mr. Sinclair, who is acting for the defendants then announced that he had no further witnesses, he then addressed the jury. He reviewed the evidence taken during the trial and said he had brought witnesses to prove that there was nothing abnormal about the feet of the horse Kitty, which the prosecution had endeavored to prove. He also told where the defendants had been on the night in question and said that, according to the testimony, it would be practically impossible for the prisoners to cover the distance between Lydon's and the scene of the fire and be back in the time mentioned.

When Mr. Sinclair had completed his address Attorney-General Byrne began his address to the jury, but before he had concluded recess was ordered for dinner and the court adjourned until 2.30 o'clock. The attorney-general explained the nature of the case and then went on to review the case. He brought out many points regarding the actions of the defendants on the night of the fire and said Hughes had endeavored to obtain a horse and carriage from a person who did not make a custom of hiring out rigs, and had told him that he wanted to drive to Mayville with the lady. Later, he said, it turned out that the lady developed into the prisoner O'Brien and that no mention had been made by the latter that he intended to drive to Mrs. Lydon's, to visit her husband who was sick. At this point the court adjourned.

Closing Testimony.
Dr. Alfred Boyce was the first witness summoned. In answer to Mr. Sinclair, he said he examined the mare Kitty and the measurements of her hoofs. They were about the same as any small horse's. There were a great many horses in the city with hoofs like hers.

In answer to Attorney-General Byrne, he said he could not recall on what date he made the measurements. When he made the measurements Kitty had been newly shod, judging from the look of the hoofs.

Fred McDonald said he knew Frank Donnelly and was frequently around his stable. He knew Kitty and took her down to Mr. Proffitt's blacksmith shop to get her fore feet shod on Friday morning, June 16, or Saturday, June 16, he saw Policeman Saunders in the barn. He was talking to Mr. Donnelly about the horse and she had passed several teams on the road the night before and all the occupants had spoken with the exception of one of one on which he turned a flash light. He said he heard Mr. Sharkey talking about the case and had heard him mention about the flash light. He also heard Mr. Saunders ask about a horse with a bar or a broken shoe.
