BATTLE STILL RAGES TO THE NORTH OF VERDUN

Marked by Old-time Fury—French Resume Offensive and Recapture Lost Ground at Fleury and the Thiamont Work—Break in Heat Wave on British Front

Paris, Aug. 5.—The battle continues to rage north of Verdun, with something of the old fury, and generally to the advantage of the French. The defenders, after beating off repeated counter-attacks by the Germans, again took the offensive, and once more recaptured the greater part of the village of Fleury, and the celebrated Thiamont work. The success at Thiamont is looked upon as more important as evidence of the energy of the French infantry, than as military achievement. The work is so swept by the artillery of either side, as to be of little use to the possessors. French officers point to the fact that the Germans are now restricted to the Fleury-Thiamont section as evidence of the growing weakness of the invaders' force in the Meuse region. The French have succeeded in clearing the approaches to the Souville and Tavannes, which at one time seemed to be seriously threatened, and are back within a mile of Fort Douaumont, where the most terrific fighting of the German offensive took place.

The fighting continued well into the night. The Germans delivered further counter attacks, but according to the latest advice, the French were holding their own.

HEAT WAVE BREAKS With the British Armies in France, via London, Aug. 5.—Hundreds of thousands of men, whether in sturdy dugouts, in the first line trenches, with the sun blazing on their steel helmets, bringing water up to the thirsty fighters under fire, or with the transports, welcomed the break in the heat wave today, although it brought no rain to lay the dust.

The ground in the region of the grand offensive, is baked by the scorching weather, and the idea that gunfire brings a rain is dispelled, as far as this army is concerned. The artillery duel continues day and night.

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE HALF HOLIDAY

Patriotic Fair at Hampton the Big Event, With Red Cross Fair at East St. John and Races at Moosepath

It has been some time since St. John has had such attractions to offer to its citizens for the half holiday as those of which will claim the attention of the pleasure seekers throughout the city and vicinity this afternoon.

Undoubtedly the Patriotic Fair at Hampton will take many from the city and suburbs. This fair will be in the nature of a good old fashioned picnic, and the various facilities that have been afforded to get to the grounds at Hampton will prove a strong attraction of the day.

The garden party at Courtenay Bay Heights will also prove an attraction, which proved of such interest to the horsemen yesterday, will be on again today and will undoubtedly take many horse enthusiasts from the city and other parts of the province.

The city parks are at their best, and the usual summer crowds are waiting only for the sunshine to take advantage of their attractions.

With all these attractions for the half holiday and if the weather man would only show a little kinder disposition St. John will have a list of amusements such as has been seldom offered to pleasure seekers.

Woodstock Soldier's Experience—St. John Man With Him Was Killed—A Gallant Rescue

The following letters written to John Acheson of Woodstock, by his son George, tell an interesting story of the narrow escape from death and his rescue through the efforts of two Canadian county boys. The young soldier had been in the front for several months. He writes:

Dear Father, I am glad to hear that you are all well. I was not wounded, but I was buried under tons of bricks. I was in a trench and the Germans were firing at us. I was hit in the back and fell. I was buried under tons of bricks. I was in a trench and the Germans were firing at us. I was hit in the back and fell. I was buried under tons of bricks.

WAVE OF POPULAR ENTHUSIASM SWEEP CANADA YESTERDAY

Citizens Gather to Voice Determination to Carry War to Successful Conclusion—How Other Cities Observed the Second War Anniversary—The Premier at Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 4.—With a roar of "eyes" from ten thousand throats, Montreal citizens on McGill Campus last night expressed their hearty approval of the resolution offered by Sir Robert Borden, and seconded by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, expressing the determination of the Allies to carry the war to a successful conclusion.

Sir Robert Borden's speech was a memorable one. Its dominant note was confidence. At the same time it conveyed an understanding of the grave questions to be dealt with, after peace has come, and the realization that preparation must begin now. His message to every man and woman present can be expressed in one of the brief phrases which brought forth rounds of enthusiasm: "Put your shoulder to the wheel."

Hon. Mr. Lemieux's speech was received with a wave of enthusiasm. He unqualifiedly pledged the support of the race he represented. One gem of eloquence, in particular, caught his hearers. Speaking of Kitchener, he said: "Kitchener, silent in life, eloquent in death." The moment of silence which followed succeeded by a roar which rent the heavens, will long be remembered.

Quebec Enthusiasm Quebec, Aug. 4.—The city of Quebec joined fervently and enthusiastically in the Empire-wide movement to commemorate the second anniversary of the war. A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the city hall yesterday, the Lieutenant-governor, Sir Evariste LeBlanc, Sir Lomer Gouin, premier of the province, His Worship Mayor Davidson, and many other distinguished citizens attending.

New York, Aug. 5.—Strikes were in effect today on virtually every surface car line in the boroughs of Manhattan, Queens and the Bronx, involving 4,000 conductors and motormen, and affecting 2,000,000 persons, who daily use these lines. CAR WAS DITCHED A large touring car, driven by Joseph Daley, took to the ditch in the Marsh road, near the Three Mile House, this morning. The car was stuck hard and fast in the mud and was down about five feet in the ditch. Men from the Ford Motor works assisted in righting the auto again, which called for considerable labor. The car was only slightly damaged. It was said that, owing to the thickness of the fog, the nearness of the car to the high ditch was not noticed until the accident happened.

Escaped the Law
Henry Brown, charged in the police court with failing to support his wife and two children and who was remanded until today for sentence did, last evening in the Emergency Hospital.
There is a moral to the above story, and it is this:—
If you don't support your family while living, the law will compel you to do it, or send you to jail.
If you die and leave them without proper financial support, you escape the law. But what of your moral obligation?
How would your wife and children be fixed if you should die to-morrow?
Face the situation squarely. Then, if you haven't as much life assurance as you should have, write to us about it, and we'll tell you all about the best Imperial Life Policy to meet your particular need.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Aytoun wanted new shoes so she went into a shop, where an obliging assistant brought out a selection for her to try on.
"That's strange, madam," said he, after many vain attempts to fit her. "One of your feet is larger than the other."
Bristling with rage, the lady left that shop and sought another. Here, again, the assistant failed to find a pair which would do.

"How curious, madam," he said, "one of your feet is smaller than the other."
And with a beaming smile Mrs. Aytoun bought two pairs.

MACAULAY-ROWE
A pretty wedding took place in St.
Paul's Episcopal church in Charlottentown, P.E.I., on Saturday, July 29, when Rev. T. W. Murphy united in marriage Harry Donald Macaulay, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Macaulay of West
St. John, and Miss Olive E. Rowe, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.
A. Rowe of Charlottetown. The popular young people were the recipients of a large number of beautiful presents, among which were a handsome silver teacup service from the employees in the public works department of which Mr.
Macaulay is an assistant engineer, a mahogany tray from the Norton Griffiths Company, a silver percolator with tray to match from Horace Longley, engineer of the Norton Griffiths Company, and a silver card receiver from Prof. William Moran, of the Union Commercial College in Charlottetown, of which, Mr. Macaulay was a pupil.

THE COUNTRY MARKET.
Today in the local market marks one of the busiest days in the history of the market. From early morning people were coming and going in large numbers and indications were for an exceptionally busy Saturday. Very little alteration was visible in prices. Lamb is reported to be plentiful for the first time this season, but the price is still high, 30 to 35 cents a pound. Chickens and fowl are unusually high in price, chickens selling for $1.20 to $2. Veal is 12 to 20 cents; pork 15 to 20; beef 12 to 28; eggs 85 cents a dozen and are scarce; butter is demanding 30 cents, and is also reported scarce. There is a fine supply of native vegetables. Blueberries are also plentiful and are selling for ten cents a box.
Wild raspberries are selling for $1 a peck.
A remarkable thing for August 4, pointed out by local merchants in the market, is that the supply of strawberries is apparently inexhaustible and they report a large supply for today. They are said to be of the very best quality.

A SORRY SPECTACLE

(The Campbellton Graphic)
When over two months ago the people of New Brunswick, through the election of Westmorland, notified the provincial government that they had lost confidence in the present administrators of public affairs, and refused to elect P. G.
Mahony as chief commissioner of public works, it was expected that Mr.
Mahony would gracefully retire to private life and that Premier Clarke would name another member for the honorable and responsible position.

But now, after a lapse of two months, we find that Mr. Mahony, a private citizen, is transacting the public business contrary to all rules of responsible government.

We also see the sorry spectacle of the premier of the province and a number of members of the executive council, to-country, endeavoring to find the right constituency to open to fill this important portfolio. Last week they visited Northumberland and Restigouche, but received little encouragement.

The probability of a well election is greater today than a month ago, and it looks very much as if the plunge will be taken early this fall.

Throughout the whole province both government and opposition forces are being organized and candidates named.
The opposition, greatly strengthened by large numbers of the best thinking electors, who formerly supported the Fleming government, but who would not stand for the carnival of graft and hood-lum as revealed by the various commissions, have been openly and honestly government, feel confident that they will sweep the province, as has been done in Manitoba. It is certainly time for a change.

FERRY TRAFFIC DECREASING

The monthly report of the Commissioner of Harbor and Ferries for July the ferry as compared with the corresponding month last year. The report follows:

THE WORST FOR TWENTY YEARS

(Carleton Sentinel)
Those who have occasion to do any considerable amount of automobiling throughout Carleton county, are united in the opinion that the highways generally are in a worse condition than for twenty years. The question is being asked: "Where is the money that is appropriated for roads?"

The road from Jacksonville to Deer-ville, and from Upper Woodstock to Victoria Corner offers practically an obstacle rare to passing autos. From Woodstock to Medville there is every evidence of the same lack of attention and the crossings are practically impassable unless great care is used in the attempt to get over them. A reasonable diagnosis of the condition is that the men appointed to do the work give it little or no thought and are simply the political tools of a corrupt and discredited government. The people are beginning to realize that under the present political system, road work has a rubber stomach into which they pour taxes year after year, causing no distress except to themselves and resulting in no better conditions.

Auto Bandits.

Five unmasked automobile bandits early yesterday afternoon held up an automobile in Detroit, in which $60,000 pay roll money was being taken to the plant of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company and, before the astounded guards could offer resistance, snatched five bags of six in the car, said to have contained $87,000, and escaped.

The death occurred at Tay Settlement, July 30, of William Tomlinson, aged seventy-seven years. He is survived by a widow, two sons and four daughters
—James, of New Westminister; Mrs.
Mary Annell, Royal Road West; Mrs.
Mattie Finney, Somerville, Mass.; Mrs.
Jennie Macconnell, Boston, Mass.; Archie
at home; Mrs. Alice Tomlinson, Tay Settlement; and one sister, Mrs. Lavina Tomlinson, of the same place. The deceased was postmaster of Tay Settlement for forty-eight years.

AMERICAN SAILING VESSELS ON LATEST BRITISH BLACK LIST

London, Aug. 4—The latest blacklist of neutral shipping issued today by the trades division of the admiralty, represents 103,600 tons of steamers and sailing vessels unavailable to British charterers, on the claim that they are now or have been engaged in unneutral service.

The latest list contains, in addition to that list of names published previously, the names of the following ships flying the American flag: Clara Davis, Fannie Palmer and Oakley C. Curtis, all sailing vessels.

These American ships have been removed from the blacklist since its last publication: Steamer Seneca and sailing ship Edgar W. Murdock. Wagner liners which have been captured by the British and are now in the service of the government while awaiting a decision of their status by a supreme court, appear on the list without any indication of their nationality, while the other Wagner boats appear as American.

A large number of ships on the list are bracketed under a caption stating that they have temporarily been removed from the blacklist while under charter to Entente Allied or innocent neutral interests.

Unlike the statutory blacklist list of neutral traders, the shipping blacklist never has officially been made public.

GOOD DIGESTION A SOURCE OF HEALTH

When the Stomach is Out of Order the Whole System Suffers

Indigestion is one of the most distressing maladies afflicting mankind. When the stomach is unable to perform the work nature calls for, the result is severe pains after eating, nausea, heartburn, fluttering of the heart, sick headache, and often a loathing for food, though the sufferer is really half-starved. People with poor digestion, too, frequently try all sorts of experiments to aid the process of digestion, but there is only one way in which the trouble can actually be cured, that is through the blood. That is why the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cures even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. They make rich, red blood that strengthens the stomach and the nerves, thus enabling it to do its work. The process is simple, but the result means pleasure in life. In proof of these statements, Mrs. Albert Hall, Sons, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with wonderful results. For two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which almost made me a physical wreck. At times my sufferings were so great that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I had smothering spells at times and was afraid to lie down to rest. After every meal, no matter how sparingly I ate, I suffered great distress. I tried several doctors but their medicine was of no avail. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised to cure this trouble and decided to try them. I had not been taking them long when I felt somewhat improved. This improvement continued and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food and felt better than I had done for years. You may be sure I am very grateful for the wonderful relief these pills have given me. I know they are also a cure for anemic sufferers, as an intimate friend of mine was badly affected with this trouble and after taking several boxes she was entirely cured."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 30 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

OUTSTANDING QUESTIONS SETTLED BY LATEST RUSSO-JAPANESE TREATY.

London, Aug. 6—Reuter's Telegraph Company today states that it seems that after the conclusion of the recent Russo-Japanese convention a separate agreement was reached under which Russia sells to Japan the southern half of the Harbin-Chang Chun railway, and recognizes Japan's rights on the Sungari river between Kikin and Futuna, thus settling a question pending since the signing of the Portsmouth treaty.

Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off

The freckling, discolored or roughening to which most skins are subject, this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Maccolled water, applied lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with dry cotton wool, will peel off the discolored skin, get an ounce of the water, apply it to the face, and in no more effective way of banishing tan, freckles or other unsightly blemishes, the skin particles come off each day, so the complexion and skin soon acquire a new, new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered salicylic acid, one ounce dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Rubbing the face in this produces a truly marvellous transformation.

London, Aug. 4—(Montreal Gazette Cable)—An important statement regarding Canada's military assistance was given today when, addressing the officers after the review at Shorncliffe, the minister of militia, Major-General the Hon. Sir Sam Hughes, announced that subject to the war office's sanction, two or three further Canadian divisions would be formed.

As the cost of training was no more in France or England than in Canada, there was no reason why troops should not come over as soon as possible, said Sir Sam.

EIGHTY-EIGHT DAYS

This is the eighty-eighth day since Hon. P. G. Mahoney was appointed Minister of Public Works. He is still Minister of Public Works—though rejected by the department—though rejected by the people.

GERMAN FALSEHOODS

Events are not moving in favor of Germany. While the Kaiser, in his address to the army, boasts of Germany's achievements in the war, and endeavors to renew the faltering faith of soldiers and people in the face of recent disasters and the obvious fact that the initiative in the war has gone from the Central Powers, the German Foreign Office is making a bid for neutral sympathy and support.

Whereas, Germany's enemies regard it as their duty to demand territorial adjustments at the cost of others, like Russia, who wants Constantinople and Galicia, like France, who desires Alsace-Lorraine, and the left bank of the Rhine, and like Italy, who seeks Austrian territory—their enemies are not to be deterred from their course.

Of England's attitude in the war the German Foreign Office makes the following false assertion: "It is openly admitted that Belgium was only a pretext to justify England's participation in the war which was undertaken only for self-interest."

The next charge made is that the enemies of Germany have set out to destroy her completely, including her civilian population, and it adds: "England wants a war of destruction, a war to the knife, which, according to the scale against the world, Germany is succeeding in the talk of general peace that she wishes to establish has been drowned by the shout that the Paris economic conference."

After more of the same tenor the Foreign Office makes a direct appeal for sympathy of the neutral nations, whose interests are alleged to be in great danger. Thus: "One observes, therefore, in the second war year, increasing violations of the rights of neutrals in the interests of England and her allies."

Whether the Kaiser is able to befoul his soldiers and people for a longer period we do not know, but there is no possibility of neutral nations being deceived by the German Foreign Office. They know that neither Bismarck's desire for Constantinople and Galicia, nor the desire of France for Alsace-Lorraine, nor England's desire to crush Germany caused this war.

Very important news comes over the cable. For example: "London, July 31.—Sir Sam Hughes went out this morning to purchase an automobile."

The Standard this morning intimates that if Mr. Carter and others do not cease exposing the grafters they will adopt a policy of frightfulness. The Standard is hard hit.

The last week has not been marked by any great change in the war situation, but the Allies have gained some ground and continue everywhere on the offensive. The most important gains have been made by Russia.

Yesterday's demonstration in St. John was marked by brilliant addresses, but by only one enlistment for overseas service. Perhaps a better record will be made today and Monday, if two or three more Canadian divisions are to be formed, recruits must come forward in larger numbers.

"All those who believe that our cause is the cause of civilization may rest assured that this army has no thought except to go on delivering blow after blow until we have won that victory by force of arms which will ensure an enduring peace."

HEALTH AND HOUSING.

The following paragraph from the report of the chief health officer, Dr. G. G. Melvin, in relation to health and housing, ought to receive a good deal more consideration than it usually accorded such matters:—"That the conditions are yet far from ideal, of course, goes without saying; indeed no improvement at all approaching complete satisfaction is possible so long as such considerable areas of the city continue to be covered by an inferior class of houses. I also regret to say that in more districts than one houses are being erected where the obstacles to good drainage are so great that sanitary conditions will be almost unattainable."

This is a matter closely affecting the health of the whole community. So long as there are unsanitary houses there is danger to the public health, to say nothing of the effect upon families, and especially the children, living under such conditions. Surely there should be some authority to prevent the erection of houses where proper sanitation is not available, and the same authority should condemn old houses that are not fit for human habitation.

Of course the problem is not peculiar to St. John. Halifax has similar conditions, and the following article from the Recorder applies to St. John as well as to the sister city:—"Provision is made for the official inspection of factories and plants wherein men and women labor and the law forces those responsible to make such premises clean, airy, well ventilated and sanitary in order that the workers may not suffer in health, rightly believing that the health of the people is the nation's most valuable asset."

Special Mention For N.S. Battalion

Canadian Headquarters in the Field, Aug. 4, via London.—During the past week several successful minor operations were carried out by Canadian battalions. One night at 11 o'clock a listening post occupied by Privates Donovan and Ward, of a Nova Scotia Battalion, was approached by an enemy patrol. Two of the enemy were allowed to come within bayonet distance, when a hand-to-hand encounter took place. One of the Germans was bayoneted and captured. The other managed to break away. The prisoner died shortly after being brought into our trenches.

ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY OF LIFE OF GIRL WHO ON WHOSE ACCOUNT NOVA SCOTIAN WAS MURDERED

Dr. Celia Paine Adams' Whole Career Marked by Adverse Fate—First Sweetheart Died Violent Death While Waiting For Her Delayed Letter

The tragic history of Dr. Celia Paine Adams' life reads like a chapter from Dante, Shakespeare, with his wonderfully mingled, could not have conceived of a more unhappy plot than this young woman's life unfolds. It was as though she were a fairy maid—and all that was happy and joyous turned into hatred, vengeance and wrath. Not only did it apply to herself, directly, but equally so to many of those with whom she came in contact. Born into a family of wealth and prominence, with most of the things mortal could desire at her command, there yet remains the fact that sorrow, deep and tragic, weighed within her brief and fateful career. This same pervasively of fate seems to have manifested itself to members of her family and to the family of her youthful sweetheart, Dr. Edward J. Shedd. Was it to some unexplained reaction of destiny that it was traced the greivous ending of this promising life? Was it the hand of Fate that proclaimed her the victim of a complex tragedy of Providence? Did she but play the part of her own unintentional actor, which but five years ago caused a similar ending to another life, that of another young physician just budding into prominence—another life lighted by the purning of his love? Predicted Tragic End Or was it, rather, the fulfillment of the prophecy of an aged seer, to whom Celia was taken as a child, who then predicted that she would some day have tragic end? Let the reader follow, then judge for himself. A little more than thirty-two years ago, one bleak and dismal morning, there was ushered into this world a new life, Dr. Horace V. Jones, relative and family physician, steady at the bedside of the expectant mother, who had gone down to her family home at Eastport, Me., for this crisis. The father, Williamthrop C. Adams, Sr., of Brookline, the family's winter home, was also present. At first there was no sign of life, and the doctor, who had brought into being so many other children, thought that she was dead. Then the tiny-body was seen to faintly move, and all the energies of his skill for over an hour battled with grim death. Science eventually won, and the tiny being then first opened its mouth in protest against the Fates. The years sped by, pampered, happy, and fondly loved she grew upon into a fairly noted throughout the State of Maine for its exclusiveness and taste. Her father was Charles A. Paine, the wealthiest man in Eastport; her home, the landmark of the town; her grandmother, one of the social leaders of the state. Prediction of Gypsy Her summers were spent principally in Eastport; her winters in Brookline, with her father and mother. Then, one day, when about five years old, so rumor has it, when she and her family were attending a fair at Calais, across the bay from Eastport, she spotted a gypsy fortune-teller's tent, and straight-away demanded that she have her fortune told. The old man, with a creature read her palm, and smothered an exclamation. Finally, turning to the mother she said: "I would rather not tell you what I see here, madam. But, pressed for reason, she replied: "There is something almost uncanny in those lines. I fear she will have a tragic ending—an ending which shall be both painful and unhappy—slike to you and her." Beyond this she would not commit herself. A few years later Celia had a very narrow escape from death by burning—and her family considered that she had cheated Fate of its unwilling prey. But there are those who now see in the prophecy the truthful prediction of Miss Adams' death. Again the years sped by. Miss Adams was now a young girl in her teens, regarded by many as one of the most charming girls who each summer favored Eastport with her presence. As the guest of her uncles, Charles and Harry Paine, and her cousins, Dr. C. H. Hume, the most prominent men in St. John, both socially and financially, she was frequently to be seen as the principal event of the season. Sweetheart Enters Life And then, a year or so later, another person came into her life. At first but a mere friendship, time finally matured their affections until at least she announced to her grandmother one evening, between tears and smiles, that she and "Ned" Shedd were to be married. Shedd was then but a boy himself—a student at Harvard, where he was studying his Gray's Anatomy during the time he was not thinking of his little girl back home. These tidings of betrothal were received with equal favor by both families. Edward E. Shedd, Ned's father, was president of the Frontier National Bank, and one of the wealthiest men of the "first families" in Maine. As for the Adams family, Mrs. Lucia Shedd, Ned's mother, had satisfied herself that she would be only too pleased to have little Celia as a daughter. And thus they became engaged—Ned and Celia—and for the next two years all was serene. Then Ned, having graduated, went to West to build up a practice. Celia thought that Ned should marry her then, and there. But he felt he should first give the time to success before shouldering the matrimonial responsibilities. A lovers' quarrel ensued, and they parted. After Celia had first returned the ring she had worn for more than two years. Her cousin, Mrs. Charles R. Kemp, thus describes it: "Diamonds cracked in Two "Celia seemed heart-broken for the next few days. She was anxious to take Ned back and call all things square, but relatives seemed to think that this would be unadvised for her to do. "But after a week or so she could stand the suspense no longer. He wrote her a pitiable letter, telling how lone she was without her, and ask-other relatives bitterly fought that engagement. Her grandmother and the others "were so afraid" she would marry Dr. Atwood. When she wrote "I am not going to do what you want, so afraid I was going to do," she meant, "I am not going to marry Dr. Atwood." "Before long you will know why." The letter containing this sentence was received by the grandmother, Mrs. Celia Paine Adams, on Tuesday, the day Dr. Adams died. Two hours after the grandmother received the letter she received the news by telegram that the young woman was dead. "That was what Dr. Adams meant when he wrote: "Before long you will know why." If that sentence was not enough, there is the fact that he wrote without him—there's no use trying." "So on Monday night she ceased to try to live without Dr. Atwood, and took the drug that caused her death. Former Romance. Investigation in Eastport not only brought to light this letter, which at once dispelled all the mystery as to how Celia Paine Adams met her death, but also revealed two other facts that may have the most vital bearing on the mystery of her fate. The first fact had to do with Dr. Adams' former romance, when she was engaged to "Ned" Shedd. They parted, then she married him and wrote him of her forgiveness. But before her letter could reach him, came word of his death by a fall from a high window. "That death, many of Celia Adams' old friends believe was suicide. The second fact that may have vital bearing was this: That while Celia Adams was visiting relatives in Eastport last year, Dr. Wilford E. Harris, of Boston, a native of Nova Scotia, whom Atwood shot, paid her a visit to which her relatives objected. Dr. Atwood after shooting Dr. Harris, told the police that he did so because the girl he loved had told him Dr. Harris had betrayed her. When Dr. Atwood comes to trial, this visit of Dr. Harris to Eastport will be an important consideration in determining whether Dr. Harris did betray the girl, as Dr. Atwood charged. Dr. Harris, before he died, flatly denied it. The investigation in Eastport made it appear probable that the girl's family knew she had committed suicide soon after her death. Dr. Clifford Harvey, the physician called when she was found dying, said: "If the family chose to tell all they know, this mystery would be as simple as a problem in addition. "It's a case of suicide, pure and simple and my eyes do not water any more. At sight they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed heavy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription fifteen days every thing seemed clear. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitude more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye trouble of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: 45 to 50 active drug store and get a bottle of Don-Opto tablets. Why Stumpage is Larger Now Lumbermen Tell of Great Increase in Operations, Yielding Larger Revenue to Province (Moncton Transcript) A gentleman interested in the lumber industry directs the Transcript's attention to an article in our morning contemporary, entitled "The Stumpage" in the course of his conversation he said that who ever wrote the article did not know what he was writing about. It was foolish to make such statements and draw such deductions. The conditions are altogether different today from what they were a few years ago as to the output.

On the Restigouche river for instance a few years ago, that which came through the Restigouche boom was in the vicinity of 75,000,000 superficial feet. The last three or four years there has been from 100,000,000 to 120,000,000 feet. Besides since the opening of the International Railway through a section of Restigouche County there are at least five or six small portable rotaries and one or two stationary mills that must at least cut some 10,000,000 or 12,000,000 of lumber, which does not come through the Restigouche boom. There is a little more lumber cut in the province of Quebec which comes through the Restigouche boom than in former years, but the percentage of increase is very small so that on the Restigouche river there is at least an increased cut of 50,000,000 on crown lands.

Then take the Miramichi. Since the Miramichi Lumber Company have bought out the late William Richards estate there has been a decided increase in the output of that concern.

Take on the St. John river where the Fraser alone have yielded if not quadrupled their cut. To our informant's personal knowledge throughout the province generally there are more rotary mills cutting from crown lands as well as granted than there were in past years. From a stumpage point of view he can see no difference in the collection of stumpage than in former years. Firms that he personally knows are paying today about the same rate as they paid in former years as to quantity.

The institution in the article which he criticises, is an inference that the amount of stumpage being collected on a similar quantity of lumber today is greater than in years past under the present government, but as a matter of fact this is not so, outside of the allowance for increased rates now levied.

The increase of revenue in an abundant way is due to the increase in the output and to the increase in the rate of stumpage and not to any other cause.

ANNIVERSARY OF VICTOR EMANUEL

King Mourns Instead of Rejoicing

No National Celebration

His Accession Was Occasion of His Father's Assassination—His Career on the Italian Throne

On Saturday last Victor Emmanuel completed his 10th year as King of Italy. According to "Ex-Attache," who writes in the Pittsburgh Dispatch, he has never permitted the event to be made an occasion for national rejoicing. For it is the anniversary of his accession to the crown, it is also the anniversary of the assassination, at Monza, of that father, to whom he was so deeply attached, and whom he still mourns. He invariably begins the anniversary by visiting the Pantheon, where the late King Humbert lies at rest, and after prayers at his tomb, proceeds with the queen and his children, to attend a memorial mass in the chapel at the Quirinal, which has now been restored, by order of the Pope to use for Divine service. Even if the anniversary were not saddened for Victor Emmanuel by the memory of the murder of the late King Humbert, he would feel but a little disposed to approve of popular festivities and rejoicings, at a moment when for the second time in his reign, Italy is in the throes of war and the greater portion of his metropolitan palaces have been transformed into Red Cross Hospitals, in the work of which the ladies of the Royal family take an important part.

Royal Nurses for Soldiers.

Those who recover are not likely to forget the care with which they were nursed back to health by these royal ladies while under their King's own roof-tree, while as for those who have succumbed to their injuries it will afford a consolation for their surviving relatives to know that their dying moments were soothed by the kindly and sympathetic hand of their two queens, and of two princesses. But it is not only in this manner that the health of the army is being strengthened, to a far greater degree than anyone would have credited it possible sixteen and twenty years ago. Not alone has Victor Emmanuel shown himself the most sagacious and broad-minded and enlightened of rulers, in times of peace, but he has also shown himself admirable in the present war. In the Tripolitan campaign there was no occasion for him to take the field. Moreover, he was urgently needed, at the time, in Rome, in order to deal with all sorts of difficult questions that were cropping up with the various great powers, especially with Germany and Austria, in connection with Italy's war upon Turkey.

The King at the Front.

But since he, with the full approval of his constitutional advisers, the most eminent statesmen and soldiers of the kingdom, committed Italy to an espousal of the cause of the Entente, he has been at the front almost uninterruptedly, his visits to Rome, to his wife and children, and then only for the briefest period, and when his presence at the Eternal City was needed for some business of state of a particularly pressing and important character. While he has thus been at the front, sharing all the hardships and fatigues of his officers and soldiers, eating their fare, and sharing their dug-outs, their huts, and their tents, he has not attempted in any way to interfere with the operations of Generalissimo Count Cadorna. True, the command in chief of the army belongs to the sovereign by constitutional right. But King Victor Emmanuel, although trained from his infancy as a soldier, and devoted, like all his forbears of the house of Savoy, to the career of arms, abandoned from the very outset of the struggle, the supreme direction of all military operations along the Austrian frontier to General Cadorna, chief of the general staff, and whose whole life having been spent in careful and elaborate preparation for the present war, which he knew to be inevitable, is acquainted with every yard of that mountainous region, in which such heavy fighting has been in progress for more than a year past.

No Interference with Cadorna.

King Victor Emmanuel gives his advice whenever it is asked by Cadorna, though always in a deprecatory, modest and even reluctant fashion, leaving him an absolutely free hand, and trusting to his superior strategical knowledge of the region where the fierce struggle between Italy and Austria has been going on. Instead of interfering and disturbing in any way the plans of Cadorna, he contents himself with visiting the most advanced trenches, defenses and outposts, for the purpose of encouraging the men, with rewarding on the spot deeds of heroism and devotion to the national cause, and with rescuing the wounded and the dying from under the very heaviest fire. In fact, there has not been a day during his sojourn at the front that he has not been under the enemy's fire. His escapes have been of the most hair-breadth and miraculous character. He has had officers struck down by Austrian shells or bullets when they were standing beside him, or engaged in conversation with him. The huts and houses in which he has been hurrying through a scanty meal have been battered down over his head, and the automobiles and armored cars in which he has been driving from one point to another have been shattered to bits by the enemy's projectiles. But through it all, King Victor Emmanuel has seemed to bear a charmed life. His presence in the field has been altogether invaluable, through the encouragement which it has afforded to officers and men, in the most trying and critical circumstances. He has become a very familiar figure among them, and wherever he has appeared upon the scene he has brought with him cheer and encouragement.

TITLED LADIES HOLD NOVEL WAR BENEFIT

London, Aug. 4.—A novel method of raising money for a charitable object was the Country Market held the other day in a garden of a house in Belgrave Square, London. H.R.H. Princess Henry of Battenberg, who is the president of the Working Ladies' Guild, the association benefiting by the sale, attended the unconventional function and herself figured for a time as both buyer and seller at a flower stall. The market was picturesque as well as practical, and a number of society people acted as sales-women, in most cases wearing white frocks and sun-bonnets of the orthodox country type. Viscountess Bury and her husband's mother, the Countess of Alberman, were in charge of a poultry stall and did a fine trade in plump birds, the former proving quite a convincing seller. Mrs. Walter Long, wife of Major Walter Long, D.S.O., formerly A. D. C. to the Duke of Cornwall, presided at a fruit stall with great success. Lady Maud Cavendish, eldest daughter of the Duke of Devonshire, the newly appointed Governor-General of Canada, offered tempting baskets of strawberries and cherries, while Mrs. Elcho, looking like a picture-book dairymaid, was extremely busy at a confectionery stall.

BRITISH PLAYING FOR BIG STAKES

Victory, Though Costly, Will Be Worth While

Parallel in Civil War

American Correspondent Finds First Part of Campaign Like Struggle Between the North and the South

On the western front both the British and French commanders express themselves as well satisfied with the progress made. It has been slow and methodical, but the checks in a fortnight have been insignificant and temporary, and have been purchased at a great cost by the Germans. The British advance has been less rapid than that of the French, but it is realized in France that the Germans expected that the strongest blow would be struck by the British, and naturally they made the greatest resistance in the British path. Frank Simonds, an American war expert, points out in the New York Tribune that the British are playing for the great stake, and that if they should win it even after fighting all summer they will have been amply repaid, for it will mean that the Germans will have been forced out of France. Nevertheless, it is yet too early to state definitely whether the operations of the past fortnight have not been feints, and that the attempt to land the "knockout blow" will be made at some other point on the line where there has been comparative quiet.

Like American Civil War

Mr. Simonds finds a parallel to the present situation in the American Civil War. From 1861 to 1863, from First Bull Run until the third day of Gettysburg, the Confederacy fought for a victory by successive offensives; the North, with greater numbers, resources, and command of the seas, failed to co-ordinate the movements of its great armies and to obtain the mastery that permitted it to control the offensive. In 1864, however, Grant came east with one clear intention—to attack on all fronts, and simultaneously there was to be equal pressure on all fronts, continuing casualties, never-ending wastage in men and resources until attrition, if nothing else, should end the war. The general situation in Europe now is like that in 1864, when Grant in Virginia, Thomas in Tennessee, and Sherman from Atlanta to the sea, struck their simultaneous blows. Next year the Confederacy collapsed. For the first time in the war Germany is now on the defensive on all fronts.

Different Objectives

Mr. Simonds says that the British task at present is incomparably greater than that of the French, who are advancing beside them, for the French could make considerable progress on their present front, and they would merely force the German lines back farther from Paris and regain possession of some more French villages. But it would have to be pressed far indeed before it would constitute a real menace to German military strategy, before it would threaten important road lines now in the hands of the Germans. The British advance on the other hand, appears to be a spear launched directly at the German line, and it is possible for Germany to maintain her hold on Northern France.

A Blow at Vital Lines

All the railroads upon which the Germans depend to supply their lines in Flanders and Artois run parallel to the British front, and relatively near to it. The British are now aiming at Bapaume, which is a town on the road to Cambrai, and if they reach Cambrai, St. Quentin to Lille—and if they can get to Le Cateau they will cut the other main line from St. Quentin to Brussels, and to Germany by Liege. Mr. Simonds judges that these are the real objectives of the British attack. The stakes are enormous and naturally Germany will throw every man she can spare into the line. The British advance, there will be great casualties before the end is achieved or before it becomes an admitted failure.

Heavy Losses Inevitable

But one of the objects of having great armies is to be able to stand huge casualties, and still to have strong forces. Again, Mr. Simonds finds a parallel in the American Civil War. The British under Haig may be compared with the army under Grant in his operations from the Rapidan to Cold Harbor. Grant's losses were terrific, and in the end he did not get Richmond; Lee's losses were much lighter, yet because he could not stand them they proved fatal ultimately to the army of North Virginia. If the British fail this time it will not be because they have not the men and the munitions. Nor will it be because of the undue impetuosity of the infantry attacks. Nor says Mr. Simonds, will it be because they do not expect to succeed. They have absolute confidence in ultimate victory, and it is to be remembered, too, that every blow struck by the Russians makes the task of the French and British easier. To be understood this war must be viewed as a whole.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation is reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

TROLLEY CAR RUNS WILD

Races Through New London Streets and Bumps Another—Three Wounded Injured.

New London, Aug. 4.—An incoming East Lyme trolley car ran wildly through the city and was in collision with a local line open car about 10 p.m. In the East Lyme car were a dozen passengers, who kept their seats on the advice of the conductor, but three were on the open car, attempting to alight hurriedly to avoid the impact, landed in a heap in the street. Miss Margaret Clark of Ocean Beach, the most seriously injured, was cut about the nose and forehead and bruised.

In the East Lyme car struck, the local was driven several feet down State street around the corner into Bank street before Motorman Wilson on the local car was able to stop the runaway by applying the brakes.

As the East Lyme car arrived at Lyceum Theatre, on its way in, Motorman Pratus found the air brakes and reversing mechanism not working properly. He telephoned headquarters and Supt. Ashe, who responded, volunteered to act as motorman, after the regular motorman, Pratus, had refused to handle the car in its condition. The superintendent, after applying power, was unable to put on the brakes or the "reverse." When he found the car was running wild, it is alleged he jumped off. The regular motorman stuck to his car and was badly cut when the vestibule glass was smashed and showered him in the collision.

Germans Plot To Entangle Swedes

No Danger There Now

Exposure of German Designs Has Created Revolution; Sensational Exposure of Report Helped

That German agents have been working night and day in Sweden to bring that country into alliance with the Teuton group has been clearly seen almost from the beginning of the war. At one time last summer it looked as if they might succeed. Relations between the Allies and the Swedes were strained. Urged on by the Germans, a group of Swedish politicians campaigned for casting in the country's lot with "victorious" Germany, and against Russia. Fear of Russia has long been one of the chief motives forces of politics in Stockholm, and even now, with the Russian star in the ascendant again, their game is still played by the Russophobes. But the influence of Swedish Socialists, and the Liberal element has steadily been against any alliance with the reactionaries that govern Prussia, against the would-be destroyers of the Western Democracies, and the people have been with them. Danger from Sweden is not now to be apprehended. The exposure of German designs to influence Swedish thought and action has created a revolution even in pro-Ger-

When Cutting Teeth Babies are Subject to DIARRHOEA

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time that the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. For some reason or other the bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and many other bowel complaints occur; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow.

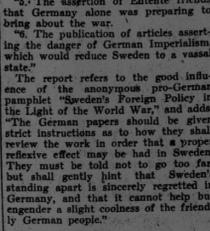

When the child gets into this condition the bowels must be looked after very closely, and for this purpose we know of nothing that can equal Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. This sterling remedy has been used for years by thousands of Canadian mothers who will swear by its efficacy.

Mrs. B. J. Walden, South River, Ont., writes: "Two years ago my little girl had diarrhoea while cutting her teeth. She got thin and very weak. I have tried different remedies, but all to very little good. A friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I procured a bottle at once, and after she had taken a few doses I could see a change, and by the time she had taken half the bottle she was cured. I think every home should keep it on hand."

The genuine "Dr. Fowler's" is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 50¢.

THE CAREER OF EBEN S. JORDAN

Merchant Was Father of Grand Opera in Boston

Was Known in St. John

Learned Business From Bottom up; Interested in Fine Arts and Public Benefactions

The career of Eben S. Jordan of the Jordan Marsh Company, Boston, has been given prominence since his sudden death from paralysis on Monday at his summer home in Manchester. It is of interest in St. John because of his visits to St. John in past years and also because he is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Jordan, whose generosity has given to this province the fine Jordan Memorial Sculpture at River Glade.

Regarding Mr. Jordan the Boston Globe says: Eben Dyer Jordan was the son of the late Eben Dyer and Julia M. (Clark) Jordan, and was born in Boston Nov. 7, 1867. As a boy he attended the public school of the city, but, while preparing to enter Harvard University, he became afflicted with eye trouble which necessitated his suspending his studies for a time. After spending two years in Europe under a tutor he returned home, and entered Adams Academy at Quincy, where he fitted for college.

His studies at Harvard, however, were curtailed by a return of the eye trouble, and sorely disappointed, young Jordan, following the advice of his father, took a sea voyage to California. Started in Humble Position Greatly benefited, he returned to Boston and declared his intention of following a mercantile life. He accepted a humble position in his father's store. His duties included packing and unpacking and shipping goods, the work of a "lumper"—but he asked no favors and shirked nothing.

Notwithstanding that he was the son of the great merchant who was one of the proprietors of the establishment, he was no different from the other employees. He was expected to, and did, observe the rules and regulations which were the same as any other employee.

Young Jordan elected to learn the dry goods business from the bottom, and by perseverance and close application he familiarized himself with every detail. His promotions from one department to another were received with enthusiasm and he ever continued to apply himself to his chosen work with his complex details with an enthusiasm that stamped him for success while a very young man.

Sent to Europe as Buyer

While employed in the retail departments of his father's establishment, his artistic temperament became manifest to the members of the firm, and it was not long before he was sent to Europe as a buyer. Twice a year for six years he made visits to the markets of Paris, London, Berlin and Vienna, for the firm of Jordan Marsh & Co.

The fame of the establishment which bore his own name was known all over the continent and his judgment and taste in the selection of goods made a reputation for himself and added to that of the firm.

He continued to show such promising business ability that on Feb. 1, 1880, at the age of 22, he was admitted to the firm. His individuality, his originality and his strong and vigorous personality persuaded the entire establishment and many of the features which have proved so distinctive were of his origin.

He conceived the idea of many miscellaneous departments, which were immediately successful.

Eben D. Jordan Jr., was married Nov. 22, 1888, to Miss Mary Sheppard of Philadelphia, who survives him.

Became Lover of Art Early

Mr. Jordan was a lover of art almost from childhood. His love for pictures developed so strongly that at the age of 16, while studying abroad, he began to make a private collection. He numbered many painters among his friends, even as a youth, and it has been said that, from 1870 to 1888, few men in the profession knew the pictures of the galleries better than he.

It was not strange, therefore, that he should conceive the idea of an art gallery in the Jordan Marsh Company store. He was justly proud of the gallery, and especially of one of his earliest possessions—a painting for which he paid $10,000, his own savings. Today that picture, by Louis Leloir, is worth many times its original value.

As Mr. Jordan's love for art increased the art gallery of the firm grew correspondingly until it contained a remarkable collection of paintings. The aim of the Jordan gallery was to continually advance the standard of art and to have it rank with the most noted.

In the selection of pictures he displayed rare taste and superior judgment, and his private collection included works of the masters—Gainsborough, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Thomas Lawrence, Gilbert Stuart, Trumbull, Diaz, Decamp, Couture, Leloir and others. Mr. Jordan was a liberal exhibitor at loan exhibitions.

Benefactor of Conservatory

During the development of his artistic tendencies, he did not neglect his musical education; indeed, his fondness for music was one of his distinguishing characteristics, and he was recognized as one of the leading patrons of grand opera in the United States.

Mr. Jordan was an enthusiastic supporter of art in his native city, especially of music, and the interest which he manifested in the new Conservatory of Music, Huntington Avenue and Gainsborough Street, built in 1902, was only indicative of the splendid things he had done to perform for Boston as a musical center.

His first gift to the Conservatory was a magnificent organ, costing $15,000. It was one of the finest organs that money could provide, but not satisfied with that benefaction, he subscribed $50,000, the amount lacking for the completion of the building.

His munificence was commemorated by the trustees in the naming of the entertainment hall, the most perfect of its size that Boston ever had, Jordan Hall. Mr. Jordan was destined that Boston should have a music school capable of turning out musicians and singers as good as any in the world.

He probably did more than any other American in this direction for the Conservatory has for years been regarded as the leading institution of its kind in America. The Conservatory had the proud distinction of providing a large number of admirable singers for the chorus of the Boston Opera Company.

Jordan Hall was dedicated under the most flattering auspices in the fall of 1908, and that same year Mr. Jordan was further complimented by being elected president of the Conservatory. His interest in the institution never diminished and only five years ago he presented the trustees with a lot of land containing 11,850 square feet, fronting on Huntington Avenue, adjoining the building. The land was assessed at $81,200.

Father of Grand Opera in Boston was equivalent to $80,000 a year, provided the boxes were sold at a rate that would net $80,000 a year.

And so the Boston Opera House existed and Bostonians revelled in grand opera until the outbreak of the European war, when the conditions made it impossible to secure artists. It was then, and only then, that Mr. Jordan disposed of his holdings in exchange for downtown holdings.

Was An Ardent Sportsman

Despite great exertions of his business—he was one of the largest tax payers in Boston, as well as maintaining beautiful estates in different times in Brookline, Plymouth and abroad—he was an ardent sportsman. In his earlier days he was fond of athletics in general, and he later found diversion in yachting and in maintaining a noted stable of show horses.

In his later years he became an enthusiastic golfer.

Though Mr. Jordan's winter residence was at 46 Beacon Street, opposite the parade ground of the Common, a site occupied by his father many years before his death, he had a summer home in beautiful country estates, the first at Chiltonville, a section of Plymouth, the last where he died at West Manchester.

Since Mr. Jordan moved away from Chiltonville in 1907, the people of that vicinity had many reasons to regret his absence and to remember with gratitude the period during which he had lived among them, for during upward of ten years he had annually given his neighbors and the large number of employees on his Chiltonville estate, known as the Forges, a combined Christmas and New Year's festival, which took place on the eve of the new year.

Gifts His Permanent Memorials

He left as permanent memorials a fine macadam road, two miles in length, between Plymouth and Chiltonville, a large proportion of the cost of which he paid; the special carriage house, which he contributed unconditionally $10,000, and a new edifice for Christ Church, Episcopal, which he gave to the town of Plymouth in 1907.

The Christmas week celebrations at The Forges in Chiltonville used to take place in the special carriage house, the beneficiaries, old and young, coming for miles, in some cases, to partake of the Jordan hospitality.

There was always a Christmas tree well stocked with presents from Mr. and Mrs. Jordan for both young and old, the gifts usually specially selected by Mrs. Jordan, according to the needs of the recipient. The distribution, made by some one in the role of Santa Claus.

There was always a programme consisting of Christmas readings or recitations and something of a dramatic character appropriate to the season, including farces and sprites in various daisies. There was also high-class music, sometimes in the nature of a cantata, which was given to every married man and its equivalent in some form to the unmarried.

The festival was one of the most important events of the year to many of the people of Chiltonville, who always held Mr. Jordan in high regard on account of his neighborly kindness and the fact that he had opened up to them during his identification with the town many new avenues of employment.

Gave $10,000 for Hospital

In December, 1900, Mr. Jordan made an unconditional gift of $10,000 to the town of Plymouth to provide a hospital, which had long been needed in that vicinity. The hospital was built in 1902, but was destroyed by fire as it neared completion, and before it had been occupied. Then the hospital was practically fully equipped at the time, and the loss was about $15,000. Fortunately it was fully insured and the work of reconstruction was soon begun, the dedication taking place in December, 1908.

Mr. Jordan was president of the New England Conservatory of Music, director of the Metropolitan Opera Company, honorary director of the Royal Opera, London, director of the Boston Dry Goods Company, director of the Globe Newspaper Company, trustee of the Avon Street Trust, trustee under the will of E. D. Jordan.

His clubs were the Algonquin, the Backlog, the Country, the Eastern Yacht, the Essex County, the Wollaston Golf and the Santee.

THE BIG LEAGUES

Brooklyn Shut-out Pirates; Is Picked To Win Pennant

St. Louis Wins Another

Fleider Jones' Team Has Won Fourteen Straight Victories; Yankees are in a Bad Slump; Philadelphia Loses 15 Straight

"Fans, take notice! The world's series will be played on Ebbets' field, Brooklyn, some time around the 9th or 10th of October in its making arrangements for your summer vacation don't forget to plan a trip to the home of the Dodgers."

Thus wrote a baseball critic in a Brooklyn edition of recent issue. From all indications the writer was not far astray judging from the way Brooklyn's team is sweeping all opponents aside as they march triumphantly pennantward.

Both Philadelphia and Boston remain in the select trio and are anxiously awaiting for some team to put a crimp in the leader's string of victories.

Christie Mathewson's aggression is not doing very well. They are not strong enough to cope with their opponents and are therefore sweeping the cellar.

The Yankees seem to be out of the race unless some of their regulars can soon get back in the lineup. Their opponents are getting such a lead on them that they will have a hard time catching up.

St. Louis is causing some of the managers in the American League to sit up and take notice. Fourteen straight wins and unless some team can stop them they may have a say in the disposition of the pennant.

Connie Mack's average is getting so low that it is daily becoming harder to figure it out. The team seems due to establish a new record for consecutive defeats.

Fans who are betting on the Red Sox in Boston had better look for a money goodbye. It is a safe bet that the world's series is played in the east.

St. John's team will have to travel farther than Boston to witness the games.

Why Eves Was Banished

After a quarrel in which Captain Johnny Eves and "Red" Smith of the Boston Nationals figured at Boston, Thursday, Eves announced that he was "disgusted" with the way things were going, and that if he could obtain an unconditional release he was ready to quit the Braves.

"I say anything I get in bad," said Eves, "so what is there to do."

The Braves' captain was ordered off the field by Empire Byron in the third inning of Thursday's second game for alleged wrangling with Smith in the Boston dugout. At the club house after the game it is said the quarrel was resumed until they were separated by other players. The cause of the trouble was not announced.

NEARLY UP TO MAXIMUM IN SHELL PRODUCTION

New York, Aug. 5.—An official diagram received by a British official in this city today, shows the rise in production of shells in Great Britain for September of last year, up to two weeks ago. The diagram indicates that, two weeks ago, the production of shells had almost reached the maximum capacity of the British plants, and that this probably would be reached within the next few weeks.

The Man In The Street

And now the toothsome strawberry shortcake gives way to the luscious blueberry pie.

The samples of summer weather have been all right, but it is high time to deliver the whole order, or the goods will be out of season.

The evenings will be an hour shorter by the end of August, and even the daylight saving plan can't do much about that time.

But the aforesaid D. S. P. will give us another chance to appreciate its value, about that time.

A popular priced cigar has been named after the evening suburban train, so far no one has ventured to name even a single after the morning train by which the early I. C. R. suburbanites reach town.

The Black List

It is a safe bet that the local breweries would profit by it, if Canada adopts a black list.

On Our List

Since "black lists" are becoming so popular we may as well divulge a few items from ours.

The man who starts false rumors.

"Quiet but pretty" weddings.

The "that to match."

The man whose alibi is "I was misquoted."

The chap who can't wait until the paper is out to get the war news.

And there are others.

The Commissioners

If one of the city commissioners draws up a list it might include:

The present-style are lights.

Homes in fire apparatus.

The C. P. R.

Mr. Gutelius.

Traffic law violators.

But space is limited.

Equal Rights

One newspaper's nominee for the vacancy in the supreme court is "Mrs. F. J. Robidoux, M.P.E." We didn't know that we had a lady in the legislature.

Every person who has a theory about how long the war will last will find confirmation in his belief in the "straw vote," taken by a London paper, no matter what his opinion may be.

Dollars and Bones

In vulgar parlance a dollar is sometimes referred to as a "bone." Since a local lawyer bought a horse at auction he has decided that the term is misleading. He got lots of bones with his bargain, but the fertilizer factory only offers two dollars for the lot.

Lese Majesty

Writing about a recent banquet a local reporter in his account said that "the King was drunk with the usual musical honors." The man in the street may partake of mild beverages, but he has yet to get under the weather from music. A musical jag must be one of the latest Parisian styles.

Rival Submarines

Pedestrians who passed along Market square yesterday were astounded to see a craft moored at the head of Market slip with the name "Bremen" marked across her bow. Upon investigating the matter the "Five street" learned that it was a case of a victim of a joke getting even. A well known resident of Westfield came to the city to have some repairs made to the shaft of his motor boat, and when he removed the shaft he put a plug in the hole, so the water would not flood the boat. In his absence, a friend thought he would play a joke on the owner and removed the plug. When the tide came in the boat submerged, ratch to the chagrin of the owner who shortly afterwards returned to the scene. His friends, seeing his plight, gathered around him and began to "kiss" him about his submarine and wanted to know if he was trying to invent a craft which would rival the "Deutschland." He merely smiled and later, learning who had been the perpetrator of the joke, decided to get even.
