THERE WAS MONEY IN EGGS,
THE BOY COULD NOT FIND IT.

Herrmann the Great, Bewildered Market People Today—Silver Coins in the Farmer's Whiskers and Packs of Cards in Church Goer's Pockets.

Farmers' wives have long protested that there was money in eggs, but the first practical demonstration of the fact was given in the country market this morning by Herrmann the Great before a delighted audience of country folk. Walking from stall to stall, followed by a crowd of amused spectators, whose curiosity had at once been aroused by the appearance of this strange-looking individual in the market, Herrmann picked out an egg here and there that had a suspicious appearance, broke it in the presence of the crowd, and extracted all kinds of money from within the shell. The farmers protested that they had seen so much money for years, but Herrmann exposed a number of these poor-mouthed individuals by extracting from their inside pockets whole handfuls of new silver coin in the presence of the spectators. But alas, as the farmer's hopes rose high and a look of delight spread over his countenance, Herrmann instead of replacing the money in his pocket where it belonged, shoved it deep into his own trousers' pocket and walked away to another stall.

Several of the unhappy market goers saw their good eggs which they had so carefully packed away for sale, broken on the market floors and the money which had gotten into them in some mysterious way was lost off by a stranger. In fact the only person who benefited in any way by Herrmann's visit was a farmer from whom the magician borrowed a small potato and repaid with two.

Not the least disappointed among the market goers was a small boy in one of the stalls where Herrmann had extracted money from men's hats. He had the whole thing with big eyes and a delighted smile, and when the crowd had passed on and the excitement ceased he selected an egg which looked very much like the one the magician had used, and slipping it into his pocket he felt inside the shell carefully to find the quarter.

On arriving at the end of the market where eggs were scarce Herrmann began extracting money from men's hats and even succeeded in finding half a dollar in an aged farmer's whiskers. While the rules of the market do not allow gambling it is a surprising thing to see how many of the market goers carry cards carefully concealed in their pockets. When and where these are made use of is not known, but Herrmann extracted more than fifty dollars from the pockets of church-going individuals. These he felt it his duty to confiscate and now he has enough to supply many of his friends with a pack each.

Herrmann's visit to the market this morning was shortened somewhat by the action of the market clerk, who appeared on his entrance and ordered him to leave the building on short notice. The market clerk claimed that Herrmann was causing undue disturbance in the building by having such a large crowd of noisy followers. He claimed that this was not a public market and contended he had as much right as any person in St. John to walk through it as long as he behaved himself. He could not be held responsible for the actions of the crowd and he had not asked to follow him. The crowd then dropped off to some extent, but Herrmann continued his walk through the market for a few minutes longer, but gave no more exhibitions of his magic art.

MAYOR SEARS AND HIS FLAG
Westfield People Thought It Was the Stars and Stripes That Floated but Were Mistaken.

Rumors came to the Star this morning from Westfield to the effect that his worship Mayor Sears was in the habit of committing a very serious offense against society at his country home on Sundays. He was charged with less a crime than flying the American flag over his residence and allowing it to sway in the breeze throughout the whole of the Sabbath. A Star reporter approached his worship in the matter this morning and introduced the subject. The mayor laughed and said he did not know what could have started a report of that kind unless the people had mistaken an old Greek flag which he had used for the Yankee flag. His worship stated that he had received this flag from a friend recently in exchange for a Union Jack, and merely for the sake of novelty had used it to top his residence on Sunday last under the Union Jack. He did not see that the Greek flag resembled the American flag very much. It had a large white cross in one corner and bands of alternate blue and white running across it. Those of that locality who are still suspicious will have the privilege of making a closer examination of the ensign next Sunday, as his worship proposes that it shall float over the Union Jack on each Sabbath through the summer.

WILLIAM MCCREADY
SERIOUSLY INJURED

Was Crushed Under a Sling Load of Deals.

He Was Working on a Steamer at the Ballast Wharf, When a Sling Chain Broke—Is in a Critical Condition.

William McCready, aged 46, of 623 Main street, was probably fatally injured while working as a longshoreman at a quarter to twelve this forenoon. He now lies in a critical condition at the public hospital. Mr. McCready was employed by Stevedore Richard Callaghan at the work of loading the deal steamer Trunkly, lying at the Ballast wharf. The job was approaching completion, and the deal was being put on Mr. McCready was working on the deck when a sling of deals was hoisted. As it swung in the air above him, the sling chain snapped, and the heavy deals fell, crushing Mr. McCready to the deck.

That he was very seriously injured was seen at once when the deals were removed, but he was still conscious and expressed a wish to be taken to the hospital. The ambulance was telephoned for, but it had gone out on a call to the Marsh bridge. However an express wagon, with a mattress in it was sent down. Dr. Bentley had meanwhile been called, and agreed that the hospital was the best place for the injured man.

From the hospital the Star learned that the examination of Mr. McCready had found that Mr. McCready had suffered very serious internal injuries and had a broken ankle. He could not say whether or not he was likely to recover. Mr. McCready has been married a little over a year. He has no children.

THE PASS SYSTEM.

MONCTON, N. B., July 16.—An order issued by the I. C. R. today stipulates that in the future employees of the road shall be entitled to only one pass per year except when on railway business and that passes for wives and half fares for children of the employees shall be abolished. Up to the present time shop employees were allowed three passes a year, as well as passes for wives and half rate tickets for children. It is hoped here that the new order may be modified in some respects. The change, it is claimed, is largely the result of abuse of the former system. While the shop employees did not abuse the system, yet it is stated that some officials issued passes to certain favored employees in the general offices and to their families.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Patrick O'Brien, Vincent Robinson, Hazen Wilson, Joe Larette and Emma Lester pleaded guilty to being drunk and were each fined $4 or ten days jail, with the exception of Emma, who being an old offender was given $8 or jail for two months.

Walter Fowler said he was not drunk when arrested on Sheffield street last night, but would plead guilty to being "sassy." Policeman Ross said that Fowler had been hanging about Sheffield street all the evening and when told to move along said he would when good and ready, and then became profane. He was fined $5 or two months jail.

GARFIELD PERRY
DIED YESTERDAY

Bright New Brunswick Student Has Passed Away.

He Was About to be Ordained After a Very Brilliant Course—Was Well Known Here.

A very sad death of a New Brunswick boy took place yesterday in Richmond, Me., when Garfield Perry, youngest son of Rev. Samuel Perry, of White Head, Grand Manan, passed to his long rest. Mr. Perry had been attending Bates College in Lewiston, Me., for the past two years, and graduated there a few weeks ago. Previous to that he attended the U. N. B. at Fredericton for two years in the class of 1906. While in the U. N. B. Mr. Perry was one of the most popular young men of that institution. He was a thorough college man, taking an active part in all the various functions connected with college life. He was early known as a very close student, and before he was long in college had proved himself an able debater. Notwithstanding his close application to his books Mr. Perry always found time to devote to the weekly Bible study of the students, and was seldom absent from the Sunday Y. M. C. A. meeting. On the football field and in the college gymnasium he was likewise a prominent figure.

During his last year at Bates College, where he graduated with honors, Mr. Perry was supplying in a Baptist pulpit at Richmond, a short distance from Lewiston, and by this means was paying his way through college. He was to be ordained within the next few weeks and was to assume full charge of the church. About three weeks ago Mr. Perry was stricken down with hemorrhage. His father and mother were at once sent for and remained with him until his death, which occurred yesterday.

The body of the deceased will be brought to St. John and buried at Cedar Hill. Besides his father and mother Mr. Perry leaves one sister, Mrs. J. Vanvar, of the North End, and three brothers. Rev. Samuel Perry, father of the deceased was formerly of the Baptist church in St. John, and throughout the province as a prominent clergyman of the former Free Baptist persuasion.

N. B. MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING

Opened This Forenoon at Fredericton.

A Number of Interesting Papers Read—Branch of the British Society to be Organized Here—An Excursion This Afternoon.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 17.—The 24th annual meeting of the New Brunswick Medical Society opened here this morning in the city council chamber. There was a fair attendance of the medical fraternity. The president, Dr. E. T. Gaudet, occupied the chair and Dr. L. A. Murray, of Sussex, acted as secretary. After the usual formalities the president read his address which was one of an excellent character. On motion of Dr. McInerney, who highly complimented the speaker, was referred to a committee composed of Drs. Irvine, Purdy and Day.

Dr. W. H. McVey, of Robbsey, read a highly interesting paper on the adulteration of food products. Dr. McInerney on behalf of Dr. McInerney, stated that an effort was being made to St. John to form a branch of the British Medical Society and that arrangements were being made to have a private car at the disposal of the provincial doctors going to Toronto in August for the meeting of the British Medical Association.

FOUR SPILLED OUT OF CANOE

OLDTOWN, Me., July 16.—A canoe containing four persons was overturned in rough water in the Penobscot river, about a mile above Oldtown late today, and one of its occupants, Miss Eva Vichon of Waterville, aged 29 years, was drowned. Her companions, Amy Boloue of Waterville, and Frank Brorby and Frank Lavoy, managed to reach shore after a hard struggle on the part of the men to rescue both girls. The young men, however, came home from Waterville to work.

Capt. James Stewart of the schooner Arthur M. Gibson, who was taken ill some time ago in New York and has been since in the Long Island hospital, was brought home this morning in the American boat in a very critical condition. He was taken to his home, where he will receive all medical assistance available.

STUCK A HATPIN
IN THE POLICEMAN

Asked to be Allowed to Fix Her Hat But Instead of Doing So, She Attached the Officer With a Pin

Monday night Magistrate Ritchie saw a woman in the old burying ground who was a huffer. Last night Policeman Lucas saw a woman who was a slinger, and as a result Julia Clayburn and John McDonald were arrested for fighting. The man and woman pleaded not guilty in the police court this morning and the policeman gave a vivid description of a lively scrap among the tombstones. He said it was about 10:30 o'clock when he was making his rounds that he saw McDonald and the Clayton woman in the graveyard. A lady passed along about this time and Julia said something to her, McDonald told Julia to "shut up," she did so but at the same time hit from the shoulder and landed on McDonald, Julia was not to have matters all her own way, and he reached the pair they were mixed up in a lively scrap, and as the officer described it, he separated them, and immediately they were fighting like two men. Lucas said he grabbed hold of the couple and placed them under arrest, Julia refused to be escorted to the police station. She sat down on the walk and began to kick, McDonald, finding that the policeman was having all he could do to handle the woman, immediately made himself scarce. It did not take more than a few minutes for Julia's clothing to get torn and her black dress to be torn to shreds. Her hat hanging over one ear gave her a new idea. She stopped kicking and calmly requested the officer to give her a chance to get her hat on straight. The good natured policeman stopped, while in the graveyard they had some words and about the same time the policeman caught hold of them. McDonald said he met Julia on the street and was seeing her home, that while in the graveyard they had some words and about the same time the policeman caught hold of them. McDonald said he was not a resort for such people. The police also said that the Clayton woman before in the history of the police early in the evening. McDonald was fined $20 or two months jail, while Julia was fined $20 or two months jail for fighting, and an additional $40 or five months for resisting the police.

THOUSANDS WERE KILLED IN CENTRAL AMERICA

The War Now Going on Has Been the Worst on Record—Roosevelt May Bring About Peace.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—News was received yesterday that a rumor was current in Salvador that General Regalado was assassinated by two men who forced part of his escort and that these men were Guatemalans employed for the purpose. Col. Pineda's forces, which entered Guatemala via British Honduras, are now said to be in the mountains south of the Mexican city of Leobon.

The following despatch was received yesterday from San Salvador: "Never before in the history of Central America has there been such hard fighting. Salvador, as a government, was not prepared and Guatemala had about three men to one. Notwithstanding the great odds, Salvador won every battle. The loss on both sides was great. Salvador losing about 700 killed and 1,100 wounded, and Guatemala about 1,800 killed and 2,300 wounded. General Regalado when killed was over a mile in advance. He had fifty picked officers and men with him. Every one was killed, and drove the Guatemalan troops forward they found over 600 dead Guatemalan soldiers, including several officers. In that battle Salvador captured the enemy's artillery. Then Guatemala asked for peace. Salvador refused, but 12 hours later a telegram from President Roosevelt changed conditions."

STILL TALKING ABOUT THE I. E. V. DRILL HALL

The matter of where the new armory is to be erected is arousing considerable interest at present, there are three desirable places which are being spoken of. One of the sites which has been suggested is the corner of Carmarthen and Leinster streets, but this is hardly a practical proposition as there are other more suitable places which could be obtained much more easily than this, as the land around the corner would cost a lot and a number of buildings would have to be torn down. Another site which is being talked about is the rifle range, or rather the Shamrock grounds. This would be a desirable location, some people think, and the rifles would be right on the ground for practice. The site which, however, is the most likely to be chosen, is the field right opposite the custom house. This is a central place and would be very convenient, and as the armory when built, this is hardly a practical proposition as there are other more suitable places which could be obtained much more easily than this, as the land around the corner would cost a lot and a number of buildings would have to be torn down. ONTARIO SCHOOLS.

TORONTO, July 16.—The education department and department of agriculture are jointly arranging a program which may be regarded as an initial step in the government's policy of a series of agricultural schools throughout the province. In brief the proposal is the establishment of classes in agriculture in collegiate institutions of the province, particularly those serving essentially agricultural communities. It is thought this can be so arranged that a great deal of primary work now done at the Ontario agricultural college at Guelph, can be taken at the schools by pupils desiring it, thus relieving the college of the pressure now very great, to that extent. In the curriculum classes would be uniform. All classes would be affiliated with the college and scholars would matriculate from them to the institution at Guelph, where they would graduate.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—A freight train on the Central of Georgia R. R. was wrecked near Marshville, Ga., late today, causing the death of three trainmen.

TRIED SUICIDE TWICE, WAS FINALLY DROWNED.

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., July 16.-Littlefield, 30 years old, was drowned in the Kennebec River today while bathing. The fact that the boy had made two previous attempts at suicide within the last year, once by cutting his throat, and the other time by taking pills, led to the report at first that the drowning was intentional, but his relatives think it accidental. The boy's father committed suicide some years ago.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE FELT IN MEXICO

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 16.-This region today experienced another slight earthquake shock at noon. The shock was felt in Albuquerque, Santa Fe and a sickening sensation was experienced by many persons. No serious damage has been reported. People in the Armature building thinking the building was about to collapse, ran to the street. Towns south of this place also felt the shock and residents of Socorro and San Marcial are in a state of alarm. Adobe buildings at Socorro were demolished.

THE ELK'S EXCURSION.

TRINIDAD, Colo., July 16.-Passenger train No. 7 on the Colorado and Southern R. R., carrying hundreds of Texas Elks to the convention in Denver, was wrecked by a landslide three miles north of Fort Collins today. Engineer Martin J. Cullen was killed, and fireman Charles T. Garrett badly hurt.

That the whole train was not carried into the deep Arroyo resulting in serious loss of life is probably due to the fact that it was running slowly on account of recent heavy rains. None of the passenger coaches left the track.

MEN OF MANY RACES

FOUND ON THE CIRCUS.

People of All Countries Are Employed—Numbers Of Them Bring Their Families Along With Them.

The Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth would keep a company of census takers guessing. It is a tower of babel for tongues, a panorama of nations, a congress of religions, a gathering of families and clans, and it has six pay days a week.

Seven hundred and sixty-five persons are on the circus payroll—men, women and children. They come from twenty-two different parts of the world and range in color through the whites, blacks, browns and yellows. Ten of them are Japanese, thirty are French, two are Swiss, twenty are Italian, two are Portuguese, four are Bohemians, six are Austrians, ten are Russian, fifty are German, four are Belgian, eight are Scotch, four are Spanish, eight are Polish, two are Egyptian, two are Singalese, ten are Hungarian, two are Cosacques, two are Burmese, three are Welsh, about 500 are American, about 250 are English, and one or two are Cornish.

The animal part of the aggregation includes about 700 heads—also talls. There are more than 800 horses, thirty elephants, four giraffes, twenty camels and fifty cages of smaller animals.

The human part of the show may be divided into classes according to the parts the members play. There are about 300 performers, 125 bill posters, advertising agents and members of the press bureau, 100 railroad men, known as "roadbacks," seventy-five cooks and kitchen helpers, 150 hostlers or, as they are called with the circus, "grooms," and 315 canvas men, property men, menagerie keepers and less important individuals. The canvas men look after the tents, the property men see that all the apparatus is in place, hold the bars for the horses, lay the carpets in the ring and do other general work. The menagerie men look after the caged beasts. There is besides these one chaplain.

There are Greek Catholics, Roman Catholics, believers in Shintoism, followers of Mohammed, Brahmins and Buddhists, Episcopalians, including the majority of the Englishmen. Presbyterians, Unitarians, Methodists, Scotchmen, Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans and Hebrews. Many of them are devout adherents in their religions and all large percentage of the Christians go regularly to church when they are at the tents, and attend the services conducted by the chaplain when on the road.

The pay days are divided among the different classes of employees. The performers have one, the canvas men another and so on down the line. This arrangement was made because of the impossibility of handling 1065 pay envelopes in a day at such times that all would have a chance to collect. The lowest salary is $20.00 a month. The highest is pretty close to $100 a week. The downs draw from $65 to $100 a week according to their brand of humor.

After these come the riders of horses. They are paid from $75 to $125 a week according to the ability and reputation. Finally there are those who do the aerial acts on the flying trapeze, on bicycles or in automobiles. They are the ones whose envelopes are the fattest, for the management thinks they do more than any others to draw the dollars of the public to the box office.

There was a time when the riders of horses were the most highly paid performers, but when the aerial events came on one made the spectators' hair stand on end and entered the arena. At one time he drew $500 a week because of his ability as a bareback rider, but before his death he had dropped to $75. Now it is the man or woman who can produce the most startling and dangerous feat and go through it alive who has the call, and the more daring the act the higher the pay.

The majority of the circus people have members of their families with them. There are men and their wives, sons, daughters, cousins, uncles, aunts, nephews and nieces. The Florens troupe of acrobats is made up of two branches of a family. There is the head of the house, his wife, their son, his brother, his brother's wife and his brother's two sons. The other five members of the troupe are all blood relatives, chiefly cousins. In the Grunath troupe of seven women gymnasts, there are the mother, three daughters and three nieces. In the Imperial Viennese Troupe of acrobats there is a leader, his three nephews and four of his nephew's children. In the Florens family of acrobats there are representatives of three families, all related. Dallis Julian, the clever young somersault rider, is the wife of Fred Ledgett, another rider. Rosa Hutterman, the Hungarian high-school rider, is the wife of Caesar Guillett, Portuguese juggler. Jose Demott, the remarkable somersault equestrienne, is the sister of William Demott, the bareback rider. And so it goes throughout the show.

The circus travels in eighty-six special cars, made up into five trains. In these are packed the show people, the animals in the gilded wagons and all the other paraphernalia of this polyglot world. When the circus is on the show grounds it occupies 14 tents including the "big top." There is one stretch of canvas for the main tent, one for the menagerie, one for the kitchen and dining tent, two for the dressing rooms, and others for each separate department of the show.

The daily expense of maintenance transportation averages $7500 but figures are not so startling when realized that the main exhibition turns over $100,000 a week.

These are some of the figures of the circus which will make known its wonders to St. John Friday, July 20.

BEST FISH STORY YET.

YALCOLVER, B. C., July 16.—To kill a deer and catch a trout at the same time out-Nimrod Nimrod and out-Isaiah Walton. A fisherman has just done the trick on the Arrow Lakes. The deer weighed 200 pounds and the trout ten. The fisherman was trolling for trout, when several swam past his boat. One was an old buck, and the man managed to catch hold of him as he was going by. Having no gun, he tried to kill the animal with a clasp knife. The buck objected so strenuously that he got away, swimming off with the fishing line up on his horn. The fisherman pulled out his boat and started in pursuit. After two hours rowing he caught up with the deer, and with oars and knife succeeded in slaying him. While the chase was proceeding a big trout got on to the hook, and after the deer was safely landed the fish was secured. It is quite a common occurrence to see deer swimming in the lakes of British Columbia, but to capture one and trout at the same time is infrequent. Conductor McKay of the Nakusp and Sloan branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway previously held honors in securing a wild animal in unique fashion. He, while on a moving train near Nakusp, shot and killed a big bear, but the fisherman has put him in the shade. Even the captain of the Okanagan Lake steamer, who secured an eagle by shooting it from the pilot-house, has had his fame eclipsed, while Nell Gettling, who tried to lasso a deer from the deck of the old steamer W. Hunter on Sloan Lake, and failed by a hair's breadth, is quite outdistanced. The only man who can come near to the fisherman's record is W. Hall of South Vancouver, who a few days ago killed an old bear and three cubs who were eating his big fish. He was in a patch just outside the city limits. But he had no fish with which to adorn the tale he told the reporters.

WHAT A MAN'S WORTH.

Court Decisions That Discredit Dr. Holt's Theory.

(From the "Bench and Bar.")

In his table showing the value of individuals of the American laboring class, Dr. Holt states that 10 years of age a boy is worth $2,614.62; at 15 years of age he is worth $4,263.64; at 25 he is worth $5,488.42. From this on his value decreases, it is declared, until at 70 he is worth but the sum of $17.45. If the value of a man is represented by minus $872.84.

It may not be difficult to demonstrate that the hardy son of labor, taking him limb by limb, is worth at his maximum considerably more than the sum of $17.45. At all events, the honest wage earner costs more than this in the aggregate to the state, in the countless corporations that pay the bills, when the American jury have exercised their prerogative of a verdict.

Where Dr. Holt files off is in his professional man's quotations. At 25, says this authority, the professional man has an economic value of $25,588.94. Was the doctor talking about lawyers when he wrote down that number? There are at least two or three 25-year-olds we could put our hands on, in both law and medicine, who would be more than pleased to incorporate and capitalize themselves at just a round $25,000, give Holt, M. D., the $338.24 as a little commission on the side, and still offer a controlling stock interest to the distinguished scientist or his patient or patients, at considerably less than par. We believe this applies to young persons too. To get back to the wage-earner, the following table is compiled from judicial decisions of the courts of last resort of this country and England. One eye, $5,000 (32 S. W. Rep. 219); one leg, 15,000 (13 Wash. 525); two legs, $22,000 (42 Hun. 421); one arm, $10,000 (89 Wis. 257); one hand $5,000-10,000 (75 Texas, 151-19 Kan., 493); one finger $1,500 (34 Iowa, 390); permanent disability, $25,000-$50,000 (18 Ill. AN UNHEALTHY BUSINESS.
Miss Olga Nehtersall at a reception given in Philadelphia in her honor, told a little story about actresses. "There was a country girl," she began, "who laid down her knitting with a sigh one night and said: " "Ah, mother, how I'd like to be one of those great actresses or singers on the stage. " "Would you?" said the mother, uneasily. "I don't know. It's an unhealthy business isn't it?" "Why is it?" asked the daughter. "It must be," said the mother. "Don't you always see their names in the papers, telling how they have been taking tonics and patent medicines and so on?"

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 17, 1906.

A BLESSING TO MOTHERS.

The public playground which was opened in St. John a few weeks ago was supposed to be for the benefit of the children. That it is a good thing for them has been clearly shown, but more than this the playground has become a blessing to mothers. Formerly, when school was out, the little ones went to their homes and kept their mothers or older sisters busy watching them. They were never out of mischief, were fond of going on the streets to play, and were a source of continual worry. The mothers could seldom get out to do shopping or to see their friends, and were, especially on the warm afternoons of summer, usually tired all the time.

Now conditions are different in many homes for the playground is becoming in certain respects a nursery, and to it the children are sent on fine afternoons. The mothers feel that the little ones will enjoy themselves, that they will be well looked after, and that they are far better off than if they were kept at home or allowed to run about the streets. And this has resulted in more freedom for the mothers. Relieving themselves of the care of the children during the afternoon they are able to spend an hour or two quietly, to go out if they feel like it, or to get their work done without continual interruption. In this way they are beginning to realize what a blessing such an institution as the playground can be and the more numerous such grounds are, the more mothers will benefit by them.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION.

Railways operating in Ontario have been given ninety days in which to prepare new schedules of freight for shipments to sea-board points. This order made by the board of railway commissioners is the result of an agitation on the part of Ontario shippers supported by the Canadian Manufacturers Association, and it would appear, from all available information, that a change is necessary.

Ontario shippers asserted that there was unfair discrimination on the part of the railways in favor of points in the United States farther west, and indeed reference to the existing schedule bears out this contention. As instances of this discrimination it may be noted that the third class rate to St. John from Windsor, Ont., is 68 cents per 100, and from London 65 cents while from Chicago, a haul of 250 miles more than from Windsor it is only 48 cents. On fifth class freight the Windsor rate is 45 cents, London 43 cents, and Chicago 42 cents. Chicago shippers may send third class freight to Quebec for 60 cents per 100 lbs., and Detroit merchants for 49 cents, but London men who pay for a haul 250 miles shorter than from Chicago, and 100 miles shorter than from Detroit, must pay 61 cents, and Windsor shippers, just across the river from Detroit must pay 62 cents more than their neighbors. There are many other such cases to be found in the schedules.

It is no wonder that the railway commissioners considered the complaint a just one, and have taken steps to provide a remedy. This action is of some importance to St. John for any reduction in freight rates which benefit Canadian shippers must also benefit this port to a certain extent. It is worthy of note that the improvement which will now be made in the freight business is due to the efforts of shippers, and in matters such as this the railway commissioners allow it to be understood that they will not go about looking for grievances, but those who feel that they are unfairly treated must come forward and say so.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

The plan of governing cities by commissions seems to be steadily gaining in favor. The London, Ont., board of trade will make it the principal topic of discussion for its next annual meeting. The president of the board, Mr. Arthur White, is an enthusiastic supporter of the plan, and earnestly advocates its adoption. He believes that three or four practical men elected either from or by the aldermen should handle all business. In the same way one competent engineer with assistants should be placed in charge of all departments of public work.

The more one reads of the Thaw murder case, the greater pity it seems that Thaw did not kill his wife as well as White, and then commit suicide.

MR. MONTGOMERY'S VIEWS.

To the Editor of the Star:
Sir,—There was a time in St. John when there was no trouble as to who closed their shops or who did not, but now there seems to be a temper in a tea pot. Now my opinion is that if these shopkeepers had remained on their farms in the country there would not be so much noise about their little business. Closing up their business on the last day of the week is not in keeping with the majority of sensible people, but of course those country people who have to attend to farming as well as shopkeepers must see after the little chores which have to be attended to on a farm at this season of the year when weeds are plentiful.

Yours,
J. W. MONTGOMERY.

THE GARDEN.

(Francis A. Schneider, in Metropolitan Magazine.)
Into the garden creeps the dusk
(Sweet of lavender, odor of musk),
Creeps and settles and deeper grows
Shade of the lily, flush of the rose)
Falls on the trees of forgotten years,
Hidden and faint 'neath a weedy maze;
Into the garden creeps the dusk.

Of in the quiet old garden close
(Falling petals of full-blown rose),
Long ago, in the tender gloom—
(Shrubs that blossom and flowers that bloom)
One there strayed with a footstep light,
Over the paths now hid from sight;
Of in the quiet old garden close
(Stars that glitter from opelia's web-lime),
Hold you no memory faint and sweet
(Years that are weary, hours that are grace)
Of a tender voice and a form of grace
Of glowing eyes and a fair, fair face)
Perfumed heart of the still night time.

A SAN FRANCISCO PARROT.

We were almost in the van of the retreating host. As we reached the summit of the hills we passed through thousands of watchers who calmly observed their mighty enemy writhing toward them. Before morning all of these thousands had joined our westward march. But in the mid-afternoon we did not lack for company. Delicate women bore rolls of bedding along the way. Family groups laden with blankets, provisions, canned goods in soap boxes, clocks, mirrors, paintings, all manner of possessions, went by. One lot of goods was being hauled in a big package of breakfast food in his chubbiness. I saw one young woman carrying a glass globe half full of water in which her precious goldfish were darting about. A stepladder lashed to a pair of baby carriage wheels made a long trunk on which a brave young man had loaded a dozen suitcases or more. Canary cages, coal sacks and every conceivable burden were borne along on the backs of men, women and children. High on a great load of trunks piled in an automobile, screaming out his disgust and wailing the merry sentiments of the crowd around him, a parrot squawked above the din, "This is a h-l of a fix! This is a h-l of a fix!"

THE WORD OUT OF HIS MOUTH.

Hot words are best absent from the mouths of preachers and those who listen to them. A Scottish minister was expounding the miracle, and considered the swallowing of Jonah by the whale. He was one of those gentlemen who take a very long wind round for a short cut, and was proving first of all that it could not be this or that or the other fish. "It couldn't have been the shark," he was going on, when an old lady from a pew cried out, "Mennister, mennister, wanna the best o' whale!" The good man was speechless with indignation for an instant, then in tones of thunder he roared, "What's that? Ye bletherin' auld deevil, what d'ye ken about it? What d'ye mean by takin' the word o' God out o' my mouth!"—Liverpool Post-Mercury.

SPIRITUAL NEED.

One night Edith wasn't feeling very well, and so was put to bed rather early. As her mother was about to leave her, she called her back.
"Mamma, I want to see papa."
"No dear," her mother replied; "your father is busy and must not be disturbed."
"But, mamma," the child persisted, "I want to see him."
As before, the mother replied, "No; your father must not be disturbed."
"Mamma," declared her daughter, solemnly, "I am a sick woman, and I want to see my minister."—Harper's Weekly.

A BRIGHT BOY.

"Your son, I believe, made some experiments while at college?"
"Yes," he declared, "what he calls his 'scientific paradox.'"
"What is the nature of it?"
"He succeeded in demonstrating that debts are expanded by contracting them."

'BED-ROCK' PRICE.

The proprietor of a Boston hotel says that a week or two ago a dusty, tired-looking person from Nashu, New Hampshire, presented himself at the desk of the hotel, stating that he desired a room.

"I've got my supper an' shall be off before breakfast," said he, gravely, to the clerk; "now what would be your lowest price for a room to sleep in?"
"One dollar, if you leave at six o'clock tomorrow morning," was the reply.

"Well, er—wouldn't half a dollar make it just about right?" demanded the wayfarer, "producing a battered fifty-cent piece. "You see, I'm all excited up, travellin', an' I don't expect to sleep more'n half the time I'm in there."—Harper's Weekly.

PREHISTORIC REGATTA.

LONDON, July 16.—A novel feature of the ninth annual carnival at Kingston-on-Thames on Saturday in aid of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution was a "prehistoric regatta" for members of the Ancient Britons' Club. The "ancient Britons" rowed in prehistoric undress.

Standard Oil Clique Threaten to Unload all their Securities.

BOSTON, Mass., July 16.—Thomas W. Lawson says that Henry H. Rogers and his Standard Oil clique intend to fight President Roosevelt, and the administration generally, by unloading all their securities.
A short time ago, the big heads of 26 Broadway, in sad and solemn family convulse, admitted that they had been backed into a corner and that one last hope was to trick Roosevelt into a saving alliance, Rogers and Archbold were chosen to pull off the trick, and at midnight at the White House, the "systems" unlikeliest master made the plea of his life. "Twas a wondrously attractive picture that Rogers painted, and he was eloquently assisted by Secretary Root. Had Roosevelt succumbed, the face of the world would have been temporarily changed, but "Standard Oil's Svengali" was up against an irrefragable subject, and the face of the world remained undisturbed—that is for a time, for at that meeting machinery was put in motion which later will cause a vast upheaval.

MEMORIAL TO POET.

Memory of Author of the Maple Leaf to be Kept Green.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16.—A public meeting held in the city council chambers last night, unanimously decided that a memorial should be presented to the poet laureate of Canada, Mr. Charles G. Dyer, to be asked for from the entire country, while special subscriptions probably will be taken from school children. A committee was appointed to take the matter in hand. A proposal was also made that beside a memorial fund be raised for the bereaved widow and family, by the publication of a special edition of the "Maple Leaf" or by some other means.

LIPTON TO START IMMENSE

PACKING PLANT IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, July 16.—It is reported that a company, backed by Sir Thomas Lipton, will establish an immense meat packing plant here in the effort to capture the trade with Great Britain which American scandals have killed.
Sir Thomas Lipton has intended starting a concern in Chicago on a scale to rival the largest American concern, but this is now impossible, as the plant will be located at Winnipeg.

Said a competitor of W. Atlee Burpee's, the Philadelphia Seedsman:

AMERICANS IMPRISONED

IN THE ISLE OF PINES.

They Violated the Laws and are Being Punished—Matter Reported by Returning Tourists.

HAVANA, July 16.—American residents of the Isle of Pines are excited over the imprisonment in the common jail at Nueva Gerona, of Miss Milner Brown, nineteen years old; C. Giltner, postmaster of the town of Columbia, and William Augustine, all Americans. The superior court convened at Havana today for the trial of the nineteen alleged lynchings of J. V. Johnson, at Wadsworth on 21st. Judge Thomas J. Shaw, in charging the grand jury said: "There is no reason why we should deal with this question with gloved hands. I had just as well face it squarely. The charge against these men overcharges all other charges on the docket. I don't know what else is on the docket."

He emphasized then, the oath they had taken, and said the only escape for guilty men is through perjury. So help his God, he declared, that if justice should miscarry, he (the judge), would not be responsible for it. He described the lynching of Johnson as a mob of cowards and satirized their claim to good citizenship. He warned the jury against improper leniency, and said that the issue here was clearly drawn between law and lawlessness, and that the men who participated in that mob are guilty of murder in the first degree.

Four true bills were returned and one not a true bill, five cases being considered so far. Motions to quash the indictments were made and argued and a decision will be rendered tomorrow.

BOSTON YACHTSMAN

TOOK ILL ON THE CRUISE.

PORTLAND, Me., July 16.—Henry H. Rogers' steam yacht Wild Goose arrived here tonight, having on board, in a dying condition, Charles D. Brown, rear commander of the Boston Yacht Club. Mr. Brown was immediately taken to the Maine General Hospital, where he passed away at 11:30. Mr. Brown suffered a stroke of apoplexy while the fleet was on its way to Cape Porpoise, and he was at once transferred to the fastest boat and the quickest possible run was made for Portland.

COMMERCIAL

COMING EVENTS IN THE REALM OF TIMBER. CAST UNMISTAKABLE SHADOWS.

(American Lumberman)

A summary of the divergent and conflicting views relative to the adequacy or inadequacy of the timber supply of the country shows a general belief on the part of those engaged in the manufacture and sale of lumber to the effect that forests will suffice for anywhere from thirty to fifty years. These periods are regarded as the outside limits, after which supposedly the country will be reduced to the timber supply, upon which lumber be discontinued and various other important changes made. This is held to be the logical outcome unless present practices shall be discontinued and new methods introduced. The lumber trade of the country is vitally concerned and naturally takes keen interest in questions pertaining to the timber supply of this country. The continuation of its business. It is not, however, the lumber trade that has been stampeded by the repeated stories of the reported or real exhaustion of the timber supply of this country. It realizes keenly, however, that by taking annually a large amount from an exceptionally large supply the latter some time must become exhausted, unless measures shall be taken to replenish it.

Various phases of this question were given consideration at the ninth annual meeting of the National Hardwood Lumber Association held in Memphis. The views expressed and the action taken were in harmony with the recommendations of this paper as made from time to time. The comprehensive report of the forestry committee given in full in connection with the report of the proceedings should be studied by everyone who has the interests of the trade at heart. The special committee to which the report of the forestry committee was referred outlined general ways and means to be adopted which in its opinion would result in fostering the timber growth. The recommendations of this committee are reproduced in full: "Whereas, The care of the forests of the nation and the renewal of forest growth are absolute necessities to the future benefit of this country; and Whereas, It is recognized that our present laws forestry for the individual is impossible as a commercial transaction or investment; it is hereby

Resolved, By the National Hardwood Association in convention assembled, that we recommend and urge to the various national and state legislatures the consideration and passage of suitable laws covering the following subjects:

First.—The establishment of forestry departments.

Second.—To acquire lands under national and state ownership and control for reforestation wherever possible.

Third.—To establish both national and state fire warden service for the protection of said lands, and other forests under proper regulations.

Fourth.—To establish a system of reforestation on lands owned by the government, and to encourage private owners as may be devoted to forestry, under proper regulations, when such product is sold or marketed.

And we further believe that the mineral values of the lands be considered as separate from the forestry question.

Reasons of this character are not without their effect. However, if the interest subsidy after such an able and concise summary of the situation has been prepared and adopted by the result undoubtedly will be what was to be expected—nothing of a tangible nature. It is true that public interest momentarily is aroused, but average reader of the daily press is not informed on such questions, largely for the reason that the sensation escapades of a third rate actress are considered of more public interest and importance than questions affecting the industrial welfare of the country. Every lumberman should consider himself a committee of one with a view of creating interest in this matter. The result of this policy should have sufficient weight to enable the editor of the Pike County Guardian to "hang" upon them some of the great thoughts which inhabit his dome.

In this connection which would not be a good idea to inaugurate a movement seeking to disseminate information in a symposium of views expressed, but more particularly with the view of having the legislatures of the various states create a commission for the purpose of handling these questions, or if one now exists to empower that commission so that it could have a geological census and survey taken of the state to determine for what purpose the lands were suitable, and with this fund of information at its command to carry out plans which would be acceptable to the people of the state looking toward the utilization of the absolute forest lands for the growing of timber.

Take the mountainous districts in Tennessee, Kentucky and other states through which the Appalachian range and other mountain systems pass, and in the very nature of conditions but a small percentage of the upland is suitable for other purposes than tree growing. Not only could such lands be protected in this way but they would be utilized in this way they would serve a further purpose by protecting the headwaters of many streams upon which a very considerable population depends.

The state could use its own lands for such purposes and it is believed could make arrangements with the national government whereby it would be given authority over public lands and the right to acquire private lands considered necessary to any project. The work of the state commission should be carried on in sympathy with that of the national bureau. In this work the individual and the corporation could participate, as laws could be framed in such manner that large tracts of privately owned land could be devoted to the growth of timber, under regulations which would make such employment of the lands profitable and at the same time protect the interests of the public. This legislation naturally would be class legislation but of a character that the changed conditions demand and not calculated solely to benefit one class of people at the expense of the public. The public interest in the timber question is a vital one, though that great individual, whose rights are frequently infringed upon, has failed to realize it. RAILWAY COMPANY TO BLAME FOR THE SALISBURY WRECK.

British Jury Refuses to Find an Accident Verdict—There Was Negligence in the Affair.

SALISBURY, Eng., July 16.—The coroner's inquest into the cause of the wreck of the Plymouth Steamer Express July 11, whereby twenty-seven lives were lost, resulted in a verdict today that the derailment of the train was due to the high speed at which it was running and which was contrary to the company's orders. In a rider to the verdict it is declared that drivers of trains not stopping at Salisbury should have their attention drawn to the regulations, which was not done in this case. The jury declined to allow the verdict to be recorded as one of accidental death, saying they considered that a certain amount of blame

NOT GUILTY OF THE MARGUM MURDER.

BEATTYVILLE, Ky., July 17.—The jury in the Hargis-Callahan trial returned a verdict of not guilty after being out 72 minutes. The case was one of the most desperately fought battles in a Kentucky court for years. The men were charged with the murder of J. B. Marcum.

ALFONSO AND ENA HAD ANOTHER LIVELY TIME.

MADRID, July 17.—While King Alfonso and Queen Victoria were driving in the hilly suburbs of Madrid today, the horse of the latter's carriage became frightened and backed the vehicle too near a ditch. The King sprang out, seized the horse's bridle and averted the momentary danger.

It seems to me that it would be a good plan for all firms, by judicious week-day advertising, to impress upon the people the fact that Monday is not the only bargain day.—W. D. Williams,

A Story of France in the days of Louis XV., and how the work of a traitor was foiled by the energy of Madame Pompadour.

"Yes, Versailles, France, are in the King's hands," she repeated despairingly. "Ah! she cried with a sudden flash, 'we want all who would help to—' the words away under the chill of his demure."

"To banish the Marquise de Pompadour?" he inquired after a pause.

"Yes, there will be no peace no honor for France until the Queen, my mistress, is restored to her place and that woman ceases to traffic in the affairs of a great kingdom."

"I dare say you are right, Madame," she said. "But it is your business. It certainly is not mine."

"Not yours? Why not? Are you not one of us, a soldier, a noble?"

"Doubtless, but," he shrugged his shoulders, "I at least cannot forget that a worthless libertine."

"I had hoped you had forgotten those words, you are cruel," she interrupted, "you who have shown—"

"Say no more," he exclaimed joyfully. "I have forgotten and I ask you to forgive. I was rude as well as cruel. Yes, I have come back as I swore I would to prove that I might be worthy of your regard, your love, Denise."

"He gently touched her hand and raised it to his lips."

"Of my love," she said quietly, "you must not speak, if you please. But my regard you have already won in Flanders. And, Denise," she continued earnestly, "there is work for you to do here. You will help us—us who would—"

She broke off sharply, for one of the ushers of the King's bed-chamber had swiftly come upon them.

"Monsieur le Vicomte," he said, "His Majesty desires you to wait upon him at once, in the salon of Madame la Marquise de Pompadour."

"But—" Andre looked at his travel-stained cloak and boots.

"His Majesty desired Monsieur le Vicomte to attend just as he was," "Adieu," Denise whispered, "and do not forget tonight that you are a noble and soldier of France."

Andre turned angrily to obey, for the message from those pleading gray eyes had stirred all the fierce pride of his class. Confronted this bourgeois woman who ordered nobles to dance attendance in her salon!

"I will not forget, Denise," he whispered back and his spurs rang defiance on the staircase which led to the second floor, where the favorites so loathed by the Court held sway.

CHAPTER XII.

"Monsieur le Vicomte de Nerac," pronounced the gentleman usher opening the door behind him.

The King was leaning against the mantelpiece talking to Madame de Pompadour smiling from an armchair up at him. The bored, impenetrable smile of the King's mistress, the royal eyes traveled to kneel and kiss his Sovereign's hand. Madame then without rising.

Andre, conscious only of the King's presence, must swallow his pride and salute as she sat this fastidious ussuer of royal honors. But the blood of the De Neracs boiled within him.

Louis gazed with lazy approval round the apartment furnished with even greater taste than wealth, at the costly books and pictures, at the unfinished plaster, cast which Madame had been modelling, at the plans of buildings littered on a glorious critic. A Museeum, she had said, whatever else she was, this adventuress, thought Andre as he knelt, silence, and he recalled the memories of the salon she had had as Madame d'Etioles for Voltaire, the President Henault, the Abbe de Bernis, and the other famous wits.

"Madame la Marquise," said the King abruptly, "will convey my wishes. Good night, Vicomte."

The curtains at the other end of the room had secretly fallen on the departing King when the lady resumed her seat as if she desired the standing Andre clearly to recognize that the King's presence made no difference to the rights she claimed. It was, too, as if she innocently invited him to inspect her. And inspect her he did, tingling all the time with rage.

How she looked! Natter and La Tour, who painted her in the heyday of her womanhood and of her beauty, have left on immortal record, and anger could not prevent Andre's heart, so susceptible to feminine loveliness, from a swift thrill of homage. That dainty head, the exquisite shape and pose of her neck, those wonderful eyes, now black, now blue, now grey, that built called by a post les parafits platins, the harmony of her heliotrope robe, lace-edged with cunning artlessness—every line, every detail, witnessed to a woman's magic insight into the handiwork of God. And here in this haughty Versailles, where taste, breeding, and birth were superior to mere beauty, this woman, born a bourgeoisie, had by some diabolic witchery usurped the position of the Cordons Bleus, the hereditary and the monopoly of the chateau and of the noblesse.

She had risen. "Monsieur le Vicomte," Andre noted the musical modulation in her voice, "His Majesty has been pleased to confer on you the reward of your valour."

She was gravely offering him the soldier's and statesman's most coveted distinction, the Cordon Bleu. The blood leaped into Andre's head. For a moment the room swam blue as the ribbon. "Madame, I thank you," he stammered.

"It is the King's gift," she corrected calmly.

For a minute or two they surveyed each other. "What is it?" she demanded of the servant who had entered. "The superintendent of police awaits the commands of Madame la Marquise."

"Let him enter," she said, resuming her seat and quietly ignoring Andre. His anger grew hot again as he observed how she took for granted the official's humble obedience.

"Study that lampoon," she said, tossing him a fly-sheet. "You must discover the author and have him punished. It is impossible, Madame," the superintendent replied after a pause. "I have no power to arrest, still less to punish, the ladies save official enemies of Versailles."

"It comes from the palace, then?" "It does not come from Paris," the official answered drily.

She placed the paper in a drawer. "The paper in the salon of her eyes was terrible. "You have the other information I required?" she asked.

"His Majesty last night was closeted with his private secretaries till half-past ten. At a quarter to eleven His Majesty walked in the north gallery with the Chevalier de St. Amant. At eleven they met the Marquise de Beaujour leaving her Majesty's apartments. The Chevalier spoke to her, the King did not. At ten minutes past twelve His Majesty went to bed."

Andre went cold as ice at the girl's report. Denise was right. There would be no more for him. Had she been hunted from her place.

"Good, that will do," and she disappeared. "Then she turned her chair."

"The post of master of my household is vacant," she said. "It is the King's pleasure that it be filled by the Vicomte de Nerac."

"I beg pardon, Madame?" Andre questioned haughtily.

She calmly repeated the sentence, looking him full in the face.

"It is impossible," he answered, with difficulty restraining his anger.

"Nothing that the King of France is pleased to command a subject can be impossible," she rejoined almost sweetly.

Andre clenched his hands and held his tongue. A gentleman must needs accept an insult even from a low-born woman with the dignity due to himself.

"It is the King's pleasure," she proceeded with a flash of sarcasm, "but it is not mine. I do not choose to accept the services of the Vicomte de Nerac."

Andre gave her a look. Had she been a man she might have lived twenty-four hours, certainly no more.

"Has Monsieur le Vicomte any further observations to offer? No? Then—"

—she made the pretence of a curtsy.

THE DONALDSON'S NEW STEAMER

The Cassandra to be Fitted for the Passenger Trade

But Will Also be Able to Carry a Very Large Cargo—Will be Ready for Next Winter.

(Montreal Witness.)

The launch on June 27th by Scott's Shipbuilding & Engineering Company, Greenock, Scotland, of the steamer Cassandra, adds to the fleet of Messrs Donaldson Brothers, Glasgow, the first vessel the firm have had built specially for the passenger trade. Hitherto the Athena, into which was fitted saloon and third class accommodation, has been their only regular passenger steamer. So successful, however, was this vessel that the firm decided to extend this branch of their business, and so they placed with Scott's the order for the Cassandra, which is intended for the passenger and cargo trade between Glasgow and Canadian ports. She will carry only saloon and third class-passengers, the saloon rates being based on the popular "medium rate" plan.

The Cassandra is a twin-screw steamer, 465 feet in length, 33 feet in breadth, 40 feet in depth to shelter deck, and of 8,000 tons gross. She is of the shelter-deck type, having a long upper bridge on the shelter deck, with a boat deck above. The saloon is on the shelter deck amidships and extends the full width of the ship. It is handsomely decorated and paneled in polished oak and mahogany, and is lighted by large sidelights from above and by a well passing through the music saloon to the flying bridge deck, where it is surmounted by a teak skylight fitted with stained glass. The staterooms are of exceptional size and each is fitted with folding iron beds, and all the most modern fittings. Accommodation is also provided for about one thousand third-class passengers. The births are all arranged in rooms, and are of galvanized iron. A recreation-room for their sole use is also provided.

While the vessel is primarily intended for passengers, she is also well equipped for the carrying of cargo. The cargo holds are five in number, and provide storage for 3,000 tons of deadweight which she is designed to carry.

It is intended to despatch the Cassandra from Glasgow for Quebec and Montreal about the beginning of September, but her sailing date will be duly advertised.

In view of the steady flow of immigration westward, due to the rapidly developing Dominion, and the expansion of Canadian and American trade, the Canadian agents of the Donaldson Line, Messrs. The Robert Redford Company, Ltd., expect a large movement, of which they should, with the facilities provided, get a fair share.

THAW'S MOTHER TAKES HIM AND HIS CASE IN HAND.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The meeting today of Henry Thaw and his mother in the Tombs was extremely pathetic. It was just after eleven o'clock that she drove up to the prison in an electric cab, accompanied by her stepson, Joseph Thaw. Warden Flynn received them and they went to the cell of the accused. The mother, Mrs. Thaw, was dressed in a simple, dark dress, and her face was pale. She looked at her son with a mixture of love and sorrow. The son, Henry Thaw, looked down at the floor, his face a mask of despair.

Chatham Pleasure-Seekers Meet With Many Disappointments

CHATHAM, July 16.—The four hundred excursionists who on Thursday evening displayed remarkable faith by going on a moonlight excursion found their search for that orb of green cheese protracted far beyond the expected time. It was all right for the hour, and at last the captain was compelled to drop anchor. When daylight came the boat was found to be off the slms house grounds. The wharf was soon reached, but as the excursionists hurried home fate had one more whack at them, and a heavy thunder storm drenched many to the skin.

A public reception will be tendered Rev. James Crisp in the school room of Zion Church this evening. Rev. Thos. Marshall, chairman of the district, will preside. All friends of Mr. Crisp, whether members of the congregation or not, will be cordially welcomed. Strawberry and cream will be served during the evening.

In the case of W. H. Thorne, which was concluded yesterday at Falmville, the defendant withdrew his plea of "not guilty" and pleaded guilty. A fine of $50 and costs was imposed by Magistrate Mason.

The common council yesterday afternoon, after considering the matter of the dry dock, heard the recommendation of the board of works favoring the closure of Union street and Rodney wharf, and the recommendation was accepted.

STATE INSURANCE IN NEW ZEALAND

System Has Been in Force in Antipodal Colony for 35 Years.

Government Has 45,000 Policies in Force While Ten External Companies Have $7,000.

For the past thirty-five years the government of New Zealand has had in force a system of state life insurance. In view of what has been said and written on the life insurance question within the past few months, statistics regarding this method of protecting one's family and business cannot help but be of interest. The feature which particularly appeals to the average investigator is the fact that the policy is guaranteed by the state, while experience has shown that the premiums are low, the bonuses large and the policies free from restrictions. The total life insurance in force in New Zealand at the first of December, 1905 (excluding industrial business), consisted of 99,008 policies, making an average of 128 policies for every thousand persons living. The sum assured (excluding bonuses represented by these policies) was $11,743,363.55, and the average of $119.75 for each policy. If every European inhabitant of the colony was insured, it would equal $100.55 for each, or $431.95 for every male over 15 years of age. On these policies the annual premium income was $2,412,125.

There are six Australian companies doing business in New Zealand, two American and two English. The Australian offices had in force at the end of 1905, 55,393 policies, assuring the sum of $67,726,753.55, and $10,712.50 annuities. The annual premiums were $2,147,470.

The two American offices had 2,223 policies, assuring $2,646,960.00 and $2,419 annuities. The annual premiums were $133,665.55, while the English offices had only 71 policies, assuring $20,262.00, and the annual premiums were $3,158.15.

STATE INSURANCE.

The total business of the ten external offices amounted to 57,002 policies, while the New Zealand government had 42,406 policies, assuring a sum of $47,988,374.30, and annuities of $176,501.20. The annual premiums being $1,654,927.25. The Industrial insurance covered 27,418 policies, assuring a sum of $3,007,429.20, and annuities of $1,892.85. This is the result of 34 years' work.

The following premiums were collected: From—Railway employees, $70,235; post and telegraph department, $29,583; Education department, $23,290; police force, $10,185; other departments, $46,075.

There is all voluntary insurance. Compulsory insurance under the Civil Service Act only amounted to $16,005.

Less than ten per cent. of this volume of business is of the nature of the public servants, nine-tenths of the public servants having used their own judgment, and being at liberty to withdraw at any time.

RESTRICTION IN POLICIES.

Policies are not issued to full-blooded Maoris, Chinese, negroes or other colored races, but half-castes (excepting Chinese) are accepted with an extra premium of 40 cents per $100, and the policies are to mature not later than the age of forty-five years. With a few exceptions, all policies are protected from bankruptcy to the extent of $2,000 (exclusive of bonuses but a policy is not protected if it can be proved to the satisfaction of a judge of the supreme court that it was taken with the intent to defraud creditors. The utmost publicity is afforded, and the accounts and balance sheets give the fullest details.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

There is an accident department, opened mainly with a view to covering the liabilities of employers of workmen, which were considerably increased by the coming into force of the Workers' Compensation for Accidents Act, 1902. The Employers' Liability Act of 1882 and its amendment gave a workman the right to claim for any accident, with certain limitations, but the maximum amount he can claim under the legislation, is $2,425, whereas the last Act of 1902 greatly extends the liability of employers.

The compensation is as follows:— (a) Where death results from the injury, and the workman leaves dependants wholly dependent upon his earnings, the compensation is three years' wages, but not to be less than $70, nor to exceed $1,940. (b) If dependants are left partially dependent upon the workman's earnings, the compensation is to be such a sum as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the amount payable under the former provisions. (c) If no dependants are left, the compensation is to be a sum equal to the reasonable expenses of the workman's medical attendance and burial, not exceeding $145.50. (d) Where a workman is totally incapacitated for work, he is entitled to a weekly payment from the date of the accident, not exceeding fifty per cent. or one-half of his average weekly earnings. If the incapacity is partial only, he cannot claim for the first week, unless the incapacity continues for a longer period than two weeks. The weekly payment is not to exceed $70, and the total liability of the employer is limited to $1,455.

ASSESSMENT OF PREMIUMS.

The premiums are assessed on the wages and vary from 32 cents per $100 of wages for light occupations, such as barbers, clerks, drapers, etc., to 76 cents per $100 for building trades, and $2.57 for coal mines, and $3.04 for bush-felling or lumbering. The accident department is entirely separate from the life business, and the funds of the two departments are kept separate. The cost of conducting the ac-

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, on the condition of occupying the land of 160 acres, more or less. Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans: (1) At least six months residence upon and cultivation of the land for each year for three years. (2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land required for the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother. (3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land. Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

The Milford Creams defeated the Stars last evening on the Milford grounds by a score of 15 to 5. Batteries for Creams, Quinn and Irvine; for Stars, Wright, Hanlon and Lockhart.

Remembering the extraordinary response to a former sale held by them, Scovill Bros., Limited, announce they will need ten extra salesmen to start their organization sale with Thursday morning. See want ad.

The secretary of the Free Kindergarten committee acknowledges with thanks a check for $24.43 from T. G. Armstrong, the secretary of the Rothesay Bowling Club, a contribution from nine of its members.

Special attention is called to the advertisement of J. N. Harvey, the Union Street clothier on the first page of this issue. He is advertising a sale of men's pants. This means a big saving for those in need of an extra pair of trousers. Read the ad.

The Star is requested by the board of school trustees to suggest to parents whose children will enter school at the close of vacation that it would be wise to obtain permits during the holidays, instead of waiting till the time for school opening when there will be a rush.

A raft that is said to be the largest ever brought down the St. John river is now lying in the Bay. It was towed into the bay last evening by the tug William Murray. The raft contains 1,000,000 feet of lumber. In several places it covered the whole surface of the river from bank to bank.

The marriage of Miss Hester L. Edgecombe, the daughter of H. Edgecombe to J. G. Settle, was held at Fredericton but now of Montreal, takes place in Centenary church tomorrow afternoon. Among the guests who are in the city to attend the wedding are Miss Hazel Edgecombe, Mrs. J. S. Neil and Miss Jean Neil, of Fredericton.

Round-up July sale of ladies' shirt waists. All odd sizes to be cleared at mere nominal prices. Also tomorrow, July sale of fancy silks for ladies' suits—fine chiffon taffetas in checks and stripes—two-tone effects. Great bargains in ends of fancy silks suitable for waists or children's dresses. See advertisement of F. W. Daniel Co. on page five.

The strawberry market is holding quite firm at from 7 to 9 cents per box by the crate. The preserving market is now at its height and house-holders are as keen as stockbrokers concerning the quotations. Today's slump had not arrived up to noon hour, and it was thought the growing scarcity of the fruit would save it off entirely.

A suggestion has been made through the Star that both ferryboats be run on the afternoon and evening of the circus in Lunenburg, as it is not natural to suppose all the traffic will be headed out Douglas Avenue way. The great problem in connection with the big show will be this very matter of traffic accommodation and entertaining business as well as the ferry and street cars will doubtless reap a bountiful harvest.

Police Inspector Belmore, of Bermuda, who is in the city on a vacation, was a spectator in the police court this morning and watched with interest the manner in which Magistrate Ritchie deals with the penalties in St. John are much more severe than in Bermuda and that it is a good thing for it tends to lessen crime. He says that if the sentences were the same in Bermuda it would have a better effect on criminals. The inspector is enjoying every minute of his stay here and likes St. John extremely well.

NOBLE-MCHARG.

A happy event took place at 6 o'clock this morning at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McHarg, 44 Harrison Street, when her only daughter, Margaret Emma, was united in marriage to Geo. H. Noble, in the employ of T. McAvity & Sons. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David Long of Victoria Street Baptist church, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. The bride was given away by her uncle, T. J. McHarg, and was prettily attired in a dress of white silk trimmed with applique and lace. Her travelling suit was of blue cloth trimmed with white. The bride's trousseau consisted of a number of beautiful presents, among them being a check from her mother. A dainty wedding breakfast was served, after which the happy couple left on the Prince Rupert for a short tour in Nova Scotia. On their return to the city they will reside on Harrison Street.

NEARLY ALL THE SPACE

HAS BEEN TAKEN UP.

Intending Exhibitors Should Act Promptly
—C. P. R. and I. C. R. Will Have Exhibits at the Fair

The management of the exhibition announces that the space in industrial hall is practically all taken and if there are any St. John industries not represented which would like space they should apply at once, in order not to be shut out. The desire is to give local industries every opportunity.

The entries for the live stock and agricultural products will close August 20th, not more than a large number have come in to the committee. Professor R. Robertson, of Nappan Experimental Farm, has written to the New Brunswick Agricultural Commission for agriculture stating that he is endeavoring to get up an exhibit from that farm for the St. John, Sussex and Chatham fairs.

This year the Intercolonial railway and the Canadian Pacific railway will have very creditable exhibits. One of the chief attractions at the exhibition this year will be the "Pike" or "Thoroughfare," which is to be under the management of F. S. Spencer. The "Thoroughfare" is something new in maritime or even Canadian exhibitions. Here will be all the latest novelties and up-to-date shows, fakirs, however, will not be tolerated.

FOG IN THE BAY

INSTEAD OF ON SHORE.

Peculiar Change in Conditions Which Gives St. John Fine Summer Weather.

Rather peculiar facts are reported this summer concerning the fog which surrounds this coast. In past seasons St. John people have experienced lots of fog. For a week at a time it has been down the bay. The fog hung about the shore and seldom, in midsummer, extended very far out.

But an odd circumstance is that this summer conditions are exactly reversed, and where formerly there was fog now there is fog. Capt. Potter, of the Prince Rupert, reports that day after day, when the steamer has left here in sunshine, fog has been encountered in half an hour's run, but that the atmosphere again cleared when the Nova Scotian coast was neared. There has been scarcely any fog in St. John or Digby this summer but it has been for more prevalent than usual in mid-bay. No explanation is offered for this rather odd change in conditions.

NOVELTY BASE BALL.

On August 20th and 21st, the well known dramatic success, The Volunteer, will be repeated at the Opera House for four performances. The company consists of 27 persons, nineteen of whom are males. From the base ball club play the actors on the date of their engagement here.

Two seasons ago W. B. Gray, the manager of the company, organized a team and at that time with but a limited number of players defeated some good local teams. The members of the company enjoy the game and Capt. Hallman has brought along so well that they are playing fast ball and defeating some of the strongest teams along the line.

C. P. R. TRAIN SERVICE FOR CIRCUITS.

The Canadian Pacific railway have arranged for special train service between St. John station and the circus grounds. Special train will leave the depot at 12.45 noon, 1.35 p. m., 4.45 p. m. and 7.30 p. m. In addition the regular suburban train from St. John at 1.10 p. m. will carry people to the grounds. Special trains will also be run to the city after the close of each performance. Tickets will be sold at Union Depot and C. P. R. King Street ticket office only. Fare fifteen cents for the round trip.
