JOHN D., JR., DENOUNCES THE DISHONEST CAPITALIST

Son of the Oil King Preaches to His Bible Class on the Evils of Wealth Accumulated by Unjust Practices

NEW YORK, May 4.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., addressing the Bible Class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church yesterday, arraigned the rich man, who destroyed good reputations and took advantage of those weaker than himself in order to achieve riches. He warned young men to refrain from envying such a man and his wealth. He took his text from the fifty-second psalm wherein just such a rich man is described and his eloquent, straight-from-the-shoulder talk on tainted money seemed to astonish his audience.

Rev. Dr. Aked, pastor of the Church, also seemed astonished when Mr. Rockefeller began his subject in such vigorous fashion, but he nodded his head approvingly at all that was said and afterwards assured Mr. Rockefeller that it was one of the best talks on the subject he had ever heard.

"There is no sin," said Rockefeller, "in accumulating wealth in an honest and legitimate manner, and using that wealth rightly. But this man the psalmist speaks of had taken advantage of others. Not only was he given to fraudulent practices, but he loved evil. He loved lies. A man who tells lies puts upon himself the greatest possible burden. It is difficult to remember to-morrow the lies told today. With the power and influence he must have had, this man was cruel and false at heart. Suppose that you and I are prone to envy him. We say 'how splendid to have the power that man has.' Power appears to be always a man's goal. We do not use it for the betterment of other men, we must not be so particular about it. Perhaps he was untruthful, perhaps he did crush others in building up his possessions. The world overlooks these things. If that is the frame of mind, let us hold our final judgment in abeyance until we can look a little further at the picture presented to us."

FINAL MEETING OF COMMON COUNCIL

Session This Afternoon Considers Important Matters.

The present common council meets for the last time this afternoon. A number of important matters will be before it for consideration at this final meeting.

It is probable that on the recommendation of the treasury board the council will appoint four marshals at a salary of about $800 per annum to collect the taxes instead of the seven officials who have previously done the work on commission.

The board of works will recommend that the directors of public works and water and sewerage and the engineer be requested to examine the Marsh Bridge and make an estimate of the cost of necessary repairs. They will also recommend that the bills and by-laws committee prepare a bill for the legislature to abolish the present board of Great Marsh commissioners and appoint the common council in their place.

The water and sewerage board has recommended that a special valuation be made of the city churches to be included in making the water tax assessment.

The question of increasing the license on moving picture shows will come up. The common clerk will officially announce the returns of the recent election and the new aldermen will be declared elected.

This will be Mr. Sears' final appearance as Mayor of St. John. Tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock the inaugural meeting of the new council will take place. The mayor and aldermen will be sworn in and the various boards will be appointed for the coming year.

DOG DAY IS COMING

Magistrate Ritchie announced this morning that just four weeks from today will be what is known in the public court as "Dog Day," and all persons who have not secured licenses for their dogs before that time will have to pay the penalty.

He said the city pays considerably for the "besetting" of the public squares and just when the flowers start up in June, vagrant dogs take charge and destroy the flower beds. Under the new regulations, he said, licensed dogs will have to have collars, and probably an inspector of dogs will be appointed to gather in all that are not properly licensed, and the squares will look the better for it. The police will soon start out on their rounds gathering in the names of persons with unlicensed dogs.

MOUNT ALLISON STUDENT WINS TWO SCHOLARSHIPS

But Harold Bigelow Can Accept Only One of Them—Fred James is Going West.

SACKVILLE, N. B., May 4.—It is now announced that Harold E. Bigelow, B. A., Mount Allison, has not only won Austin scholarship, valued at five hundred dollars, at Harvard, but has also been awarded a scholarship of the value of three hundred and twenty dollars at the University of Toronto. He cannot take advantage of both scholarships, however, so will retain the Austin.

Fred S. James, B. A., who for several years has been principal of the Middle Sackville school, will leave for the Canadian west this summer. In the west Mr. James will engage in the teaching profession and will locate in Saskatchewan or Alberta. Mr. James is a Mount Allison university graduate, class of 1899.

300 STEEL WORKS CLOSED. FIFTEEN HUNDRED IDLE

No Orders From Canadian Railroads the Cause—May be Shut Down for Months.

SANIT STE. MARIE, May 4.—The Algoma Steel Company Saturday followed the recent shut-down of the mill by blowing out blast furnace No. 1. No. 2 will blow out this week. This will leave every branch of the steel industry here idle, thus shutting 1,500 men out of employment. The company in a statement says that owing to financial troubles the Canadian railroads refuse to place orders for rails.

JEWISH JUNK DEALER WAS SENT TO JAIL

His Son Refuses to Pay the Fine Saying the City Can Support the Old Man.

The charge against a Jew junk dealer named Budovitch for purchasing a stolen brass from two small boys, Wm. Mulchee and John Nickerson, was resumed in the police court this morning. J. King Kelly appeared for the defendant and A. Poyas acted as interpreter. Morris Fine, a Hebrew, gave evidence that Budovitch called for him to interpret what a Mr. McConnell, from Hilyard's mill was saying. Mr. McConnell informed the junk dealer that the boys claimed to have sold some brass for five cents, and the old man said he had not purchased it. The brass was said to be worth $25, and the boys only got five cents.

W. J. Southers said that last Sunday week he saw three boys on Ann street, who offered to sell a few some brass, and asked him for 20 cents. He saw the boys also at Budovitch's door.

The defendant took the stand, and at first said the boys came to him and he told them to go away. He then informed the court that he did not see them, that they did not offer him any brass, nor did he buy any. He said he has been in the city about a year. He could not speak English.

The boys went on the stand and positively identified the defendant as the man who bought the $25 worth of brass from them for five cents. They each took two cents and the other cent they spent for candy.

SYDNEY BRAKEMAN WAS CUT IN TWO

ST. PETERSBURG, N. S., May 4.—James Walsh, a native of Harbor Main, Nfld., and a brakeman at the steel plant, was practically cut in half by a moving car this morning. He was aged 22 and unmarried.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Lizzie Coyle, of Harding St., Fairville, to Walter Belyosa, of West End. The wedding will take place early in June.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE CARLOS' ASSASSINS

Investigation Reveals a Widespread Plot And the Government Will Take No Action—Parliament's Course in Settling Late King's Affairs.

LISBON, May 4.—The Government has completed its investigation into the plot that led to the assassination last February of King Carlos and the Crown Prince of Portugal. But the conspiracy had so many ramifications and so many persons of position are either suspected or implicated that it has been decided not to bring any prosecutions. King Manuel when he takes his oath of office, will grant a general political amnesty. This, however, will only cover offenses up to January last. The assassinations occurred February 11. Although King Manuel has expressed his willingness to repay to the treasury the money advanced to the late King Carlos, the Cabinet on account of the present condition of the finances of the Royal household, has decided to ask parliament to cancel these debts. The Civil Governor of Lisbon has issued orders that all arms in the possession of private persons be surrendered immediately. After May any persons having arms in their possession without the proper permission, will be severely punished.

SNAKES WERE TURNED LOOSE TOO SOON

And a Professional Diver in Ohio May Die From the Effects of His Fight Under Water.

CHICAGO, May 4.—A despatch to the Tribune from Cincinnati, O., says: "William McNeil, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a professional diver, had a narrow escape from death yesterday in a battle under water with a dozen big bull snakes and may die from the burning of a blister caused by the snakes."

At Chester Park his exhibition consisting of a diving feat, accomplished with a weighted belt around his body, and a mimic battle with snakes that are let into the water, after he has released the snakes, he was hurled and freed the reptiles and the belt kept slipping violently to rise. The spectators looked on intently, believing they were watching the ordinary routine, until a physician saw blood flowing from the man's mouth.

NUMBER OF VICTIMS IN INDIANA FIRE IS UNKNOWN

Seven Bodies Have Been Recovered But Several Other Persons are Still Missing.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 4.—At 8 o'clock this morning the death roll resultant from yesterday's new Avelin Hotel fire, stood at seven known dead, with several persons still unaccounted for. Just at daylight the body of a man was recovered from the ruins, the first to be exhumed from the heaps of debris since Sunday evening. The body was identified as that of Charles Benjamin of Detroit.

All of the dozen persons seriously injured by burns or by leaping from the burning hotel are doing well at the hospitals except Emma Matthews, of Columbus, Ohio, whose death is hourly expected. The fire department, police and two companies of militia, aided by many laborers, worked throughout the night burrowing into the ruins for the dead. It was daylight before another body was recovered. There are a number of persons yet missing, though many are not known, owing to the burning of the register and other guest records of the hotel. The total number of deaths cannot be determined until the debris has been completely searched.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY PERSONS WERE DROWNED

By the Capsizing of a Ferry Boat on the Dufferin—Passengers Got Ejected.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 4.—A ferry boat on the River Dufferin capsized yesterday near Birkhoff, in the government of Moholoff, and one hundred and twenty persons were drowned. The boat was filled with peasants and their wives and children returning from church. It was overcrowded and became unmanageable in the middle of the stream. The passengers lost their heads and turned the boat over by crowding to one side.

RAILWAY TELEGRAPHERS GET 10 PER CENT INCREASE

Satisfactory Settlement Made at Ottawa—Another Moncton Cop Resigns—Bad Roads.

MONCTON, N. B., May 4.—After having reached a satisfactory arrangement with the railway department concerning requests for increased wages, the general committee of railway telegraphers returned this morning from Ottawa. This was their second trip to the capital in connection with the matter and they had several interviews with Deputy Minister of Railways Butler re the changes asked for in rules and the amount granted to increase the pay of telegraphers. A satisfactory arrangement was reached on all matters previously unsettled. The amount granted towards increase of salaries will amount to almost ten per cent, which will be apportioned to different positions as increase of salaries and other conditions since the last increase warrant. The increase will, to a certain extent, also apply to train dispatchers and their operators. The committee will hold a conference this week with D. Postinger, General Manager. They were much pleased with the final result of their trip to Ottawa. Napoleon St. Laurent, appointed to the police force at the first sitting of the commission, a few days ago, tendered his resignation today. Wm. Gann, who was appointed, has not yet reported.

In the police court this morning Marshall Dockett was fined ten dollars for assaulting Filman Leblanc, and Wm. Somers paid five dollars for swearing on the streets.

Country roads in the vicinity of Moncton are reported to be in the worst condition in recent years. Several instances are reported of horses being completely mired and extricated only with much difficulty. Many roads, especially in Albert County, are absolutely dangerous, so that it is unsafe to drive at night. Bad weather is largely responsible for this condition.

General Wilcocks, who is in command of the British force, recently despatched to quell the trouble, has gone to Jamrud, a fort ten miles west of Pashavur, at the entrance of Khyber Pass, and is hastening forward his troops to meet the new development.

All frontier telegrams are severely censored at Simla. From Calcutta comes the news of the discovery of a plot to murder Europeans by means of bombs. The conspiracy appears to be of an extensive character and many arrests have been made. The responsibility for the plot is placed on the natives, a number of incriminating documents having been seized, together with a supply of bombs and other explosives.

SIGFRIED WAGNER MAY CONDUCT AMERICAN TOUR

Son of Famous Composer Likely to Bring German Musicians for a Series of Concerts in United States

NEW YORK, May 4.—Negotiations, it is announced, have been entered into with Sigfried Wagner, the son of the famous composer, Richard Wagner, for a tour of the principal American cities, beginning in October. Herr Wagner, for his American engagement, will conduct the Philharmonic Orchestra, of Berlin, Germany, which is composed of sixty-five musicians. Wagner will also be accompanied by Frau Wagner, his mother, and four soloists, who will be heard in selections from his own compositions. It is understood that the contract calls for not less than thirty concerts with a farewell musical festival at Madison Square Garden. A feature of the farewell will be the signature of the Philharmonic orchestra, by not less than two hundred and fifty musicians, all of whom will be under the leadership of Herr Wagner.

WAGES REDUCED IN MILLTOWN COTTON MILLS

Corwall and York Management Hope to Get Through the Prevailing Depression Without Any Cut.

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., May 4.—An unpleasant surprise awaited the operators in the cotton mill at Milltown this morning, when they found notices posted to the effect that a ten per cent cut in wages would be made beginning Monday, May 11th. Depressed in the cotton business is the cause assigned.

SECOND FIRE DOES MORE DAMAGE THAN THE FIRST

Toronto Buildings Suffered on Saturday—Frank Cochran Denies Loughlin's Charges.

TORONTO, Ont., May 4.—Hon. Frank Cochran issued a statement Saturday denying the charges made by John Loughlin, the Liberal candidate for Nipissing in the provincial election, and threatening legal action unless they are withdrawn. Loughlin stated at the convention that he was offered eight thousand dollars not to oppose Cochran at the last election, and there was a bargain made by which the Liberal office holders would not be dismissed. Loughlin, who had the position of registrar for Nipissing, was dismissed by the Whitney government on the charge of partisanship.

A second outbreak of fire in Jones & Moore's building, at 296-300 West Adelaide street, Saturday, totally destroyed the building and damaged a dozen surrounding houses. The loss will run about $200,000.

The chief sufferers are Jones & Moore Electrical Co., $100,000 on stock, $75,000; and Canadian Silk Co., stock, $50,000.

The first fire was a small affair and the firemen had been gone about two hours when the second fire started.

In tonight's "Star" particulars are given of a very timely sale of cough covers and copy corner rugs to take place tomorrow at M. E. A's. These are sample goods, which have done duty already, but are in no wise damaged. They will be sold at remarkably low prices.

Widespread Plot for Murder of Lord Kitchener and Many Others Has Been Discovered—The Afghans Swarming Over the Border

CALCUTTA, May 4.—The police investigating the native plot revealed here yesterday to murder Europeans by means of bombs, and the more they go into the matter, the more serious and widespread does it appear. Documents seized at the house where the bombs and explosives were being manufactured, reveal that it was part of the plot to kill Lord Kitchener, Commander-in-chief of the British forces in India and other high officials.

The authorities believe they are facing an attempt at revolution. A number of prominent Bengalese are implicated and sensational arrests are expected to follow.

LONDON, May 3.—India is a source of considerable uneasiness to the British government at the present moment. The difficulty with the Mohmands seemed on the eve of settlement when on Saturday, according to reports received here, a new danger threatened in an attempt made by a large Afghan force numbering from 15,000 to 20,000, which crossed the border, divided into two bodies and attempted to seize the block house in Khyber Pass, near Landkotal. The attacks were repulsed with trifling casualties on the part of the British, but the Afghans remained in front of Landkotal and another body is reported moving into Bazar Valley by way of Lisato Pass.

General Wilcocks, who is in command of the British force, recently despatched to quell the trouble, has gone to Jamrud, a fort ten miles west of Pashavur, at the entrance of Khyber Pass, and is hastening forward his troops to meet the new development.

All frontier telegrams are severely censored at Simla. From Calcutta comes the news of the discovery of a plot to murder Europeans by means of bombs. The conspiracy appears to be of an extensive character and many arrests have been made. The responsibility for the plot is placed on the natives, a number of incriminating documents having been seized, together with a supply of bombs and other explosives.

The discovery of the plot was made through the arrest and confession of the author of a bomb outrage at Mousampur, the capital of the province of the same name in Bengal, in which two Europeans were killed.

The morning newspapers, referring editorially to the serious Indian news, generally agree that as yet, there is no cause for alarm or grave anxiety if, as it is hoped, the Amers is not solely responsible for the attitude of the Afghan border tribes, but they point out that until the Amers attitude is definitely known, it behooves the government to be alert and prepared for eventualities.

MURDEROUS FIGHT IN A KINGSTON RESTAURANT

KINGSTON, Ont., May 4.—In a fight in "Beestons Jack's" restaurant on Ontario street, serious results followed. Cunningham, the proprietor, assaulted his wife, hitting her in the face and knocking her down. Her daughter, colored, set a carving knife and slashed Cunningham on the arm. Frusied, Cunningham assailed the girl and almost severed her hand by a fierce cut in the wrist. She will be retained for life. An English girl, a waitress, intervened, but was soon knocked out. Outcries hearing the cries stayed further rioting and Cunningham and his step-daughter were hurried to the hospital for attention.

SPORTING MATTERS

ATHLETIC

Frank White, local representative of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, has received the following letter from C. A. Spriggins, secretary and treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada:

TO ALL ATHLETES THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION OF CANADA.

Owing to the fact that so many athletes have an improper idea of the full meaning of the amateur definition, as contained in the by-laws of the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, it is thought that a full explanation of what constitutes an infringement of same by the athlete would not be amiss at the present time.

What Disqualifies the Amateur.

1st.—The acceptance of any money or other consideration of a monetary nature on any pretext, either before or after the competition, whether as a gift or bonus for services rendered as an athlete, either in team games or in individual competition.

2nd.—To compete for a stake bet or where a stake bet is placed on the contest either directly or indirectly, or from any source whatsoever.

3rd.—To compete against a professional individual who takes receipts are charged, or where a prize or any other consideration is given.

4th.—To teach or assist in any athletic exercise or sport as a means of livelihood.

5th.—To receive any payment for loss of time while playing as a member of any club, or competing unattached.

6th.—To enter any competition under any name other than his own.

7th.—To sell or pledge his prizes.

8th.—To receive actual travelling and hotel expenses, and produce properly attested vouchers, if called for.

9th.—To compete against professionals in team games, such as lacrosse, hockey, football, and the like, but not in track or field events, boxing, wrestling, or other like sports of individual contests.

It is hoped that the above explanation of what an amateur may or may not do will be closely studied by all athletes who have any doubts as to what would render him ineligible to receive a registration card or compete in any event held under the jurisdiction of the federation.

Yours truly, C. A. SPRIGGINS, Secretary Treasurer A. A. F. C.

Note.—Athletics in the Maritime Provinces are controlled by the M. P. A. A., which recognizes the rules of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union. Under these rules an amateur cannot compete against a professional in either team or individual contests.

MR. LITTEGOW'S TRIP.

The following are extracts from the Canadian Recorder's account of J. O. Littegow's trip to the upper provinces for the purpose of conferring with the officials controlling the Olympic trials.

"Mr. McOwen, Toronto, who is on the football committee, said there was no objection to a Halifax or Maritime Province team going themselves, and financing their own trip as had been proposed. His idea is an All-Canadian team, say six from the lower provinces, six from British Columbia, and six from Ontario and Quebec, to meet at Halifax and practice with the English Rugby teams here. These games here would add to the funds; they could play a couple of exhibition matches at Montreal before going to England. This, however, was merely a suggestion of his own."

"In regard to the English definition of an amateur, which prohibits an athlete or mechanic rowing in aquatics, the opinion was expressed that any man who is guaranteed an amateur by the M. P. A. A. will be accepted."

A BACKVILLE FORECAST.

The outlook is that there will be very few records broken at the intercollegiate meet this spring. The bad weather has been very much against the athletes in their training so far. The local officials are picking the U. N. B. team to win again this year.—Backville Tribune.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT WHILE AFTER DUCKS

Harold H. Gregg Brought to City With Wound in Hand and Abdomen

Harold H. Gregg, a school teacher, residing at Long Reach, Queens county, was seriously injured late Saturday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a shot gun. Gregg along with Charles and Roy Carvell was out duck shooting on the St. John river between Williams Point and Oak Point. When the party landed their boat ran on a shoal. Gregg held his gun by the barrel in his right hand. With his other hand he stood to pick up an oar with which to shove the boat off. As he did so the trigger of his gun struck against the side of the boat discharging the weapon. The shot blew part of the palm of his right hand off and grazed the lower part of his abdomen.

Gregg's companions at once rowed him to Greenview. On arrival there he was taken to the office of Dr. Ghisbriat. His wounds were dressed, after which the doctor advised that he be taken to the hospital at St. John. Luckily the tug Clayton was at Jones' Creek, three miles below, on her way up river with coals. The injured man was placed on board the tug and brought at once to the city. Shortly after his arrival here he was conveyed in the ambulance to the hospital, Leite Saturday night Doctors White and Christie performed an operation on his hand and abdomen. Fortunately none of the shot had entered either. Last evening Gregg was resting easy and his early recovery is looked for.

Gregg, who is eighteen years of age, belongs to Seider Mountain, Kings county.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Mr. Henry Irving, formerly of this city, son of John E. Irving, was married on April 28th in New York city at Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, the bride being Miss Ada M. Bryant, daughter of the late Nicholas M. Bryant of St. Agnes, Cornwall, England.

Tom Daniel gave the bride away, and Mrs. Daniel was matron of honor. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Arthur M. Irving of Montreal.

After a trip through the southern states Mr. and Mrs. Irving will make their home in Calgary, Alberta, where both are well known.

BISHOP STERLING.

The marriage of Burpee B. Bishop of Kentville, N. S., and Winifred Carroll, daughter of the D. A. Ry. Donnan department, took place at the Baptist parsonage, Dieby, on Thursday afternoon, April 30th. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. B. Nobles, M. A., pastor of the Dieby Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop took the Prince Rupert for St. John en route to Montreal, Ottawa and Niagara. Upon their return they will reside in Kentville from which Bishop B. Bishop directs the work on his large fruit farm.

LDJOY-WINTER.

Saturday afternoon an interesting event took place in St. John's (Stonewall) church, when Miss Amy Winter, eldest daughter of Charles T. Winter, was married to Henry Gardner Lloyd, of Gloucestershire, England. The church was tastefully decorated and the ceremony was largely attended. Rev. G. A. Kishington officiated. The bride was attired in white silk trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Mary Winter was bridesmaid and the groomsmen were Fred. Lloyd, brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will reside at Rothsay for a few days, and then will proceed to Niagara for a visit. On May 10th they will sail for Montreal for England. Among the many presents received was a set of silver dessert knives from "The Glensens" of St. John's church.

OLD STEEVES PLACE BURNED TO GROUND

The two story frame dwelling situated on the Manawagonish road, about a mile and a half from Fairville, and known as the old Steeves place, was totally destroyed by fire last evening. The house was unoccupied.

The house was owned by the widow of the late Dr. Steeves, who for years was superintendent of the hospital for nervous diseases. The Steeves family resided in it about twenty-five years ago. W. A. Quinton had a two years' lease of the place, but his lease expired on Saturday. The last tenant was William Dunham. He and his family moved out about two weeks ago.

It is believed the house was insured for a small amount.

THE ONLY DIGESTIBLE KIND.

A young man who is striving for political honors and who therefore feels called upon to do considerable public talking was recently waited upon by a delegation of men residing in one of the poorer regions of his district.

He was greatly pleased when their spokesman requested a speech from him at an early date.

"What kind of a speech?" he asked.

BRODEUR VINDICATED IN MARINE ENQUIRY

Fyshe and Bazin Refuse to Give Information.

They Clear the Minister But Refuse to Make Charges Against Any Individuals.

OTTAWA, May 3.—The investigation by Mr. Justice Casella into the general charges of wrong doing on the part of officials of the marine and fisheries department, as made in the report of the civil service commission, was begun at noon yesterday in the court room of the supreme court. The department, as made in the report of the civil service commission, was begun at noon yesterday in the court room of the supreme court.

The investigation will be a public one, and will be through in respect of the report of the department during the period covered by the references made in the report, namely from 1904 to the present.

That the investigation will be a public one, and will be through in respect of the report of the department during the period covered by the references made in the report, namely from 1904 to the present.

Mr. Fyshe stoutly declined to go beyond his own report, declared that he had no one in mind as a detective to find out who was and who was not guilty, and even though he admitted his own culpability in some particulars he had in mind he repeatedly refused to point to any individual.

"I accuse nobody of anything," he said, "I neither accuse nor exculpate anybody."

The only assistance that the present minister could get from him, he asserted, was what was already contained within the civil service report of Tuesday, May 11th and 12th, during which there will be another long interval of probably two weeks unless other arrangements are made for filling the exchequer appointments in the Maritime Provinces.

THE BAND STAND.

Sir,—I have been requested to write a letter on behalf of the poor of St. John favoring the erection of a band stand in King's Square. Notwithstanding the pros and cons so liberally discussed in the newspapers, one great point seems completely lost sight of. It is this: Would or would not the said erection be a benefit to the masses?

If the majority answer in the affirmative, then surely it is the duty of every honest citizen to forward the money I would suggest the placing of a ballot box in King's Square for one day and every citizen asked to put his or her vote in it sometime during the day. By this means it could be ascertained on which side was the majority. Music would surely add to the value of King Square, bringing joy and gladness into the heart of many a weary man and woman, and brighten the lives of some of St. John's poorest little children, turning cries into laughter, tears into merry twinkles in poor health for some time. There may be a few who like to walk and sit about for meditative purposes, but for each there are one hundred who stay for want of a stronger attraction than mere picturesque scenery and sunny weather, and more still, hundreds, perhaps, spending their time in drunkenness and immorality, the band stand would, undoubtedly, be the means of mitigating much of this evil. From a commercial point of view, too, St. John would probably greatly benefit in all our beautiful parks in London, England, stands play during the week, and weary workers of all classes flock to them in the afternoons to enjoy this excellent music and go home refreshed. Why is it that the spirit of emulation is not strong enough in the citizens of St. John to enable them to follow the grand example of the "Babylon of Nations" and thus help the hard workers of their little city to enjoy a few hours pleasure. "Free, gratis, and for nothing." Always remember that "It is more blessed to give than receive." In place of grass I would suggest asphalt.

Yours truly,

A SYMPATHIZER.

As King Square is small and crowded, I must suggest rail-ways and large parks on either side, as the London parks are arranged.

THAW FIGHTING FOR HIS FREEDOM

Habeas Corpus Proceedings Commence Today—Opposed by District Attorney Jerome.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 2.—Public interest in the case of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will be revived tomorrow morning when Thaw will begin a fight in habeas corpus proceedings to secure his release from the Matteawan State Hospital for insane criminals.

The writ of habeas corpus is returnable before Justice Morschauer in the supreme court in this city tomorrow morning at 10.30.

The first step in the court proceedings will be a motion by Mr. Jerome to have the trial transferred to New York County. Mr. Jerome thinks it will be more convenient for witnesses to have the trial in New York.

Dr. Baker will testify that Thaw is not mentally fit to give his liberty. Other insanity experts who have examined Thaw will be put on the stand by District Attorney Jerome.

Among the experts retained by Thaw's attorney to testify as to his mental condition are Dr. Charles H. Pliginsk, superintendent of the Hudson River State Hospital and Dr. Charles H. Lane, of Poughkeepsie.

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 3.—Mrs. Wm. Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, now endeavoring to obtain his release from Matteawan Asylum for the criminal insane, issued a statement today relative to the rumors that she was opposing her son's release.

"I am authorized by Mrs. Wm. Thaw to say that the attorney to the effect that the Thaw family is opposed to Harry Thaw's release, are without foundation. While it is not necessary for them to take any active part in the matter, nevertheless, they are all in full sympathy with him. At no time has Mrs. Wm. Thaw been reconciled to her son's detention in Matteawan but the summary order of the court was so avidly carried out that there was no opportunity for remonstrance against committing an acquitted man to an asylum for the criminal insane. It has been Mrs. Wm. Thaw's desire that her son should accompany her to Europe and for this reason, she has all the more patiently endured until the present time."

BRIEF DESPATCHES. MALDEN, Mass., May 3.—Albert Harding, 30 years old, and single, was found dead of gas poisoning today in his room in the house on Mountain avenue, where he boarded. The medical examiners who held an autopsy tonight were unable to decide whether it was a case of suicide or accident. Harding was employed as a shipping clerk.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., May 3.—The condition of former president, Grover Cleveland, who is said by his physicians to be suffering from acute indigestion, continues to show daily improvement, according to Mrs. Cleveland, who expresses the hope that the progress of her husband's recovery may permit an early return to Princeton.

BOSTON, Mass., May 3.—Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., who has been seriously ill for some weeks past has so far recovered that he was able today to be down stairs and spend the Sunday with his family. The governor and Mrs. Guild are planning to go to their summer home at Nahant next week, Thursday, to remain through the summer.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 3.—A British subject, Scott Moncreiff, deputy inspector of the Blue Nile province, together with a native official, has been assassinated at the instance of a local sheik, who proclaimed himself prophet at Mesalamieh, about one hundred and fifty miles from Khartoum. A small punitive force, led by the governor of the province, was attacked by a murderous band of desperadoes. During the fighting the governor was wounded and two native officers were killed.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 3.—Four Italian laborers were killed and three seriously injured today by the caving in of a trench which was being dug for a sewer in this city. The trench, which was ten feet deep, was supported by timber, but recent rains loosened the earth and the timbers giving way suddenly, tons of dirt fell upon the workers. Three of the men were dug out alive but the other four were dead when discovered.

THE KOREAN SITUATION IS GROWING WORSE

Newspapers Suppressed—Armed Bands Making Trouble—Missionaries Threatened.

SEOUL, May 4.—The Residency has just issued some stringent regulations directed against the Japanese, Korean and foreign-owned vernacular newspapers. It proposes to confiscate these journals to prevent the circulation of inflammatory articles. The insurgents are at present preventing the natives from bringing in wood for fuel and vegetables into Seoul, Chemulpo, Fusan and other towns. They lie in wait on the highways, confiscate the goods and frequently kill the farmers.

MISCELLANEOUS

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF ADDRESS—On May 1st, A. Carlyle will change his address from 34 Horsfield street to 175 King street east.

Whitewashing from 40 cents upwards. All orders promptly attended to. J. H. Graves, No. 9 Union Alley, or Central Fish Store, Sydney St.

Yesterday small bands of marauders, twenty or thirty strong, furlished a highway from a hill one mile outside of Seoul. They scattered promptly, however, when an armed party was sent out against them. Another evidence of the unrest is found in the fact that two American missionaries recently received letters threatening them with death if they aided the government against the insurgents.

The Japanese soldiers have committed a number of acts of injustice, these have aroused intense indignation and have afforded grounds for the continuance of the anti-Japanese agitation. The government now proposes to direct against the Japanese, including some 40 Koreans, who make good policemen.

While commerce and trade are practically still here and other towns, considerable building and general improvement work is going forward. The Japanese population is increasing rapidly.

THE CIVIL SERVICE ENQUIRY.

The commissioners who enquired into the working of the civil service cannot be compelled to make definite charges against any of the officials who have been declared negligent in their duty. But as men of character Mr. Fyvie and Mr. Bazin might reasonably have acceded to the request of Judge Cassels that they give more specific information than was contained in their report, in order that the present investigation might proceed along the most effective lines. The civil service report was a sweeping condemnation of the service, every official was placed under suspicion by the general charges of the commissioners, a suspicion which must be wholly unfair. No doubt it has been made that some men in the government employ have failed in the true performance of their duty, but certainly such assertions as have been made must be regarded as unjust. Messrs. Fyvie and Bazin on Saturday were requested to intimate more definitely those against whom the present enquiry might properly be directed. They refused to do so, but admitted that no fault attached to Hon. Mr. Brodeur. This was as far as they would go, and their position cannot be easily understood. The value of their report must be lessened by this failure to accede to a reasonable and proper request on the part of the investigating officer. Their attitude is scarcely creditable to men of their standing.

THE DAY NURSERY.

Today a new institution created for the benefit of the poor is opened in St. John. The need of a day nursery where care may be taken of the children of mothers who are forced to go out to work, has long been apparent. On several occasions proposals for the establishment of a crèche have been made, but in the past it has been felt that sufficient demands were being made on the generosity of the people. However so many cases demanding such an institution have been brought to notice, that ladies interested in social welfare have decided that even at the risk of failure they must go ahead. The outcome already has proven that failure is not to be feared. St. John men and women, already contributing most generously to various forms of charity, are prepared to assume, if necessary, the maintenance of another institution. Any calls which the managing committee may find it necessary to make will meet with ready response, for in this city no deserving cause is ever allowed to suffer from lack of funds. The nursery will be supported; this will undoubtedly demand unceasing effort on the part of those in charge, but their work will be crowned with success, which will be all the more appreciated because of the effort required. The institution will be a blessing to scores of mothers in all parts of the city, who are now handicapped in the battle of life by the constant attention necessary to their little ones.

THE REJUVENATED COUNCIL.

The common council elected in April, 1907, will hold its final business session this afternoon; the new council, which is practically the present one, will meet for organization tomorrow. It can scarcely be said that the past year has reflected exceptional honor on those who sit around the board; it can scarcely be hoped that the future will show any improvement. There has not been sufficient changes in the personnel to indicate any radical improvement in the methods of conducting business, but for this the address men are not to blame. Naturally they all desire to remain in office; unfortunately the electors are content to leave them remain. The fault lies wholly in the indifference of the people. We are not fit to govern ourselves, and perhaps we are getting quite as good a civic administration as we deserve. Several of the members of the board—these numbers painfully few—have put forth honest effort in the past, but they are unable to wholly overcome the incompetence of their associates. They will probably continue to do their best, and it is to be hoped they will meet with a larger measure of success. Mayor Bullock has, as chairman of the treasury board, displayed considerable originality, and while it cannot be said that his work has resulted in economic administration still he has initiative, and will hereafter be in a position to propose with some authority, measures for the benefit of the city. Little can be hoped from the rejuvenated council; if any improvement is apparent it will come as a pleasurable disappointment.

A BAD MAN GONE.

Mrs. Pispot, since early manhood, has wanted to fight. He was a typical Fenimore Cooper Indian, subtle, treacherous and cunning, but he never seemed able to force the courage of his braves to the attacking point. He, however, did in a small way all that it was possible for him to do. At the time of the Red Rebellion he got ready to fight, had his men armed and equipped for a campaign and throughout the whole of the fighting he menaced the government forces without striking a blow. Had Pispot participated in the rebellion the Canadian government would have faced a very difficult proposition. As it was, the old chief—for he was a very old man then—merely threatened. Before and after the rebellion he has persistently annoyed the departmental officials; he has tormented missionaries, laughed at the teachers sent to his reserves, and made life a burden to all who strive towards the improvement of the Indian race.

Yet for Pispot there has always been a certain sympathy. He was a greater man than any of those who formerly held sway on the plains, and it was a hardship for one of his wild disposition to remain, literally, a prisoner on a small section of that country over which formerly he had ruled.

IN MEMORIAM.

Let us remember our dead; but not with the weakness of weeping. Let the courage and cheer that were theirs put our grieving to shame. Were they the victors or vanquished? No matter, they ever were keeping. Face forward, keen eyes to the foe, in their hearts a clear flame. Only all-glorious Death gave pause to these spirits of daring; At his signal they halted, ground arms, and lay down to their rest. Here are wreaths for your graves, O beloved. For us, we must onward be facing. Must strive as you strove, and must give, as you gave, of our best.

HAD 'EM AGAIN.

Dr. S. Melr Mitchell tells with keen enjoyment of the experience of a medical friend of his who engaged a nurse recently graduated, for a case of diphtheria tremens. The physician succeeded in quieting the patient and left some medicine, instructing the nurse to administer it to him, if he began to see green again. At the next call the physician found the patient again ravine. To his puzzled inquiry the nurse replied that the man had been going on dead way for several hours and that she had not given him any medicine. "But didn't I tell you to give it to him if he began to see snakes again?" demanded the physician. "But he didn't see snakes this time," replied the nurse confidently. "He saw red, white and blue turkeys with straw hats on."

NOT CURIOUS.

A certain employer of labor had received many complaints from his foreman as to one of the hands, who, though an excellent workman, and one whom it was undesirable to dismiss altogether, could never be induced to arrive at the proper time in the morning. To the employer, determining to expostulate with the offender personally, arrived early one morning and laid in wait for him. In due time the dilly-doy strolled in, and was accosted wrathfully. "Do you know what time we begin work here in the morning?" "No, sir," was the calm reply, "I know they're always at it when I get here."

CAN KEEP A SECRET.

And now a St. Louis man says that if there be such a thing as "the secretive sex," that sex is woman. He said it in explanation of his announcement determination never to employ another man as his private secretary. He has had several men in the office for her own benefit. He gives a specific case. A certain railroad was to build a new spur in some way it became known throughout the office of the road, where the right of way was to be made. Most of the men in the office made hurried attempts to buy the land, in order to make a profit of it. There were as many women in the office as men, and some of them had the financial sense as strongly developed; but not one woman tried to buy the land. The men were willing to take the risk of embarrassing the company which employed them. The women were not. Of the less subtle treacheries, the St. Louis man cites cases, also. He says he never has known a woman who would deliberately sell information to a rival of her employer, but he has known many men who would—Advance.

THE INFERIOR FEMALE MIND.

The Christmas honor list at London University is a rather curious one. At first sight one would almost think that the university was a female institution. In the first class honor list in classics the names of two women stand alone; in the second class five out of seven names are feminine, and in the third class seven out of nine are of the same gender. Even more remarkable, in view of ancient associations about the incapacity of the female intellect for severe studies, is the mathematical honor list. Here one woman stands alone in the first class. In the second class there are no names, and in the third only one man. Somewhat similar is the record in the examination for the degree of Bachelor of Science—first class, one woman and one man, second class, one woman—N. Y. Tribune.

TO EXPLORE ANT-ARCTIC ISLAND

Strange Tales of Sea Captain Excite Curiosity of Scientists.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 3.—The only vessel in the world which makes regular trips to far away Desolation Island, or Kerguelen Island as it is put down on the charts in the Antarctic Ocean, the brig Daisy, Captain Benjamin D. Cleveland, will have more important missions than the mere gathering of sea elephants oil, her usual cargo, when she starts on her next cruise early this month. The persistence of nature, and scientific men have at last won, and after years of importuning, the promises of Captain Cleveland has been secured that he will lend his endeavors to the world of the sea, animal and vegetable life in the Antarctic region.

Captain Cleveland has been commissioned by the U. S. Fish Commission to collect such botanical and zoological specimens as he can and to bring back as many specimens as possible to the various museums. The Daisy has been stored with preservatives for the various kinds of life and sufficient money has been advanced by the scientist to ensure the project being attractive and profitable for the owners and men of the brig.

The scientists who are responsible for this effort to bring about a greater knowledge of the Antarctic region, of which extremely little is known at the present time, are Professor Bumpus, of the American Museum of Natural History, Professor Lucas, of the Brooklyn Institute, and Professor Gull of the Peabody Museum at Yale. Ever since Captain Cleveland has been going to Desolation Island he has been besieged by naturalists and mining engineers to allow them to accompany him, but he has only yielded from time to time to bring some specimens of ore, which a western mining expert declared was worth $100,000 a ton, and a skeleton of a sea elephant. His descriptions also disclose that the extreme southern seas teem with fish life unknown, or at least, unfamiliar to northern naturalists.

The island, which it is believed was once covered with great forests, is now buried under lava and underneath this stratum, the men of the Daisy have discovered a skeleton of a sea elephant, and the skeletons of strange beasts, the carcasses of which were found in the modern research will not be revealed if Captain Cleveland can bring back some of these fossils at least in part.

TRAIN ROBBERS WERE ARRESTED IN MEXICO

LAREDO, Tex., May 4.—It was learned here today that through the activity of the police officers of the Wells Fargo Company are in jail, and both men have confessed. They are Luis Cutting, chief clerk in the general offices of the Express Company, and Rodolfo Alvarez, alias Rodriguez, the express messenger who disappeared in Atoyac Calientes. The money was found by the police in Cutting's room.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICER RETIRES THROUGH ILL HEALTH

CHICAGO, May 4.—Nearing physical breakdown, Commissioner George A. Kilby, the western head of the Salvation Army, has requested General Booth to relieve him of his command. A public farewell demonstration on a large scale will be conducted, the commissioner and his wife next Wednesday night. Commissioner Kilby has been in command of all Salvation Army operations extending over two-thirds of the United States for the past three years. His territory extends westward to the Pacific Coast from a line north and south between Duluth and New Orleans.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS TO PROMOTE PEACE

BOSTON, May 2.—It was announced tonight by the officers of the First Church of Christ (Scientist) that a new by-law bearing on the subject of peace had been adopted. The by-law reads as follows: "It shall be the duty of the members of the Church and of its branch churches to promote peace on earth and good will towards men; but to do this is not confined to form outside organizations. Members of the mother church shall not hereafter become members of peace societies but shall promote the welfare of all mankind by demonstrating the rules of Divine Love."

HOPE TO SAVE WRECKED VESSEL

NEW YORK, May 3.—Wreckers were at work all day Sunday on the ship Peter Richters, which ran on the Long Island shore at Zach's Inlet, near Fire Island, soon after leaving this port last Thursday with a cargo of cases of Rangoon. Most of the day was spent in the lightening the cargo, several barges having been towed to the scene for the purpose. At high water two tugs tried for half an hour to pull the ship into deeper water. They succeeded in moving the vessel twenty feet and the wreckers will renew their efforts in this direction at high tide tomorrow. A piping wind and high seas prevailed during the early hours today but the ship, despite the pounding that occurred, is not leaking. Wind and sea tonight had moderated.

RIOT AT FIRE IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2.—During the progress of a fire tonight in the four story building on State St., occupied by Frank E. Fowler, a wholesale dealer in crockery, paper and other supplies, and while the police were endeavoring to establish fire lines to keep back the throngs of spectators, a disturbance of considerable proportions was precipitated between the officers and bystanders which resulted in the policemen using their clubs freely. It is said, and some arrests have been made, the charge against the first being "inciting a riot" but this was changed to breach of the peace.

James O'Connell, one of the firemen, who had entered the burning building, was caught beneath a heavy beam of paper and, unable to extricate himself, was nearly overcome by dense smoke before he was rescued by Captain Flemming and a lieutenant of the fire department.

The fire started in the upper part of the building as a result of a defective fuse and burned out the two upper floors and caused damage to the building and stock estimated at about $20,000.

TENEMENT BURNED; OCCUPANTS ESCAPE. DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING IN MASSACHUSETTS

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., May 3.—Six families lost their homes and were driven to the street in the early dawn, scantily clad, by the burning of three tenement houses owned by Peter Cassidy at the corner of Main and Cottage streets today. The fire is believed to be of incendiary origin. Mrs. Thomas Hennehan, 75 years old, who lived in a house across the street from the burning buildings, died of heart failure as a result of the shock caused by the fire. She had been in feeble health for months. All the occupants of the three burned houses got out unharmed, though two, Mrs. Joseph Walbroek were partly overcome by smoke and had to be carried out. Nearly all the furnishings of the houses were burned. The fire started in a barn belonging to Mr. Cassidy and spread from there to another barn and to the three tenement houses close by. It is estimated that the total loss is $25,000. The insurance is unknown.

NEW YORK CASHIER SHOOT'S HIMSELF. BOSTON, May 2.—Henry F. Fowle, aged 33 years, of New York, expert accountant and cashier of Warren Brothers Company, of New York, New Haven and Boston, killed himself by shooting through the head on the grounds of the Boston Athletic Association at Riverside today. Mr. Fowle came here last night to visit his sister, who lives in New London and was on the way to her home. He is believed to have become temporarily insane on account of overwork and despondency. He leaves a widow and daughter in New York.

AMUSEMENTS.
 At the Opera House Tonight.

Tonight starts Kirk Brown and his Company offer for a two weeks run at the Opera House. While it can be said that St. John has had a surfeit of stock companies lately, it can also be said that we have not had a company in any way to be compared to Mr. Brown's. His class of entertainment is entirely different from any that visits the Opera House. His plays are all high class scenic productions, given in the same manner as any of the high priced shows, and are commendable especially for the fact that one is not bored with specialties or vaudeville acts. It is enjoyable at any time to sit through a high class play and not have the illusion spoiled with the "leading lady" or "comedian" coming out to do a song or dance between acts. There can be no doubt but that Mr. Brown will do a large business this trip. The plays for this evening are as follows:—"Tonight and to-morrow night," "Raffles," "The Amateur Crackman," Wednesday and Thursday nights, "The Eternal City," Friday and Saturday nights, "By Right of Sword." The first matinee are Sarah Bernhardt's version of "Camille," Wednesday, and "The Christian," Saturday.

Princess Has the Best Bill

"Bait Money." A young lad runs across a gang of counterfeiters, whose infamous work has made the lad's father a prisoner as a suspicious character. Don't fail to see the mint in operation.

Men and Women is a comedy, showing how the lion tamer tamed his lion; still he could not tame his baby; the general end the drunk all have their turn.

Don't Stay Out Late. We won't go home until morning—they didn't, and then they wished they had.

Master Frankie Carratt, St. John's favorite juvenile soloist, has been engaged to sing at the Princess. Today he will be heard in "Little Blue Suit." Percy E. Eyer will have something new in "When My Golden Hair Has Turned to Silvery Gray."

Nickel Has Another Strong Bill

Something pure and wholesome, devoid of any startling sensations, is the old English play, "The Tale of the Autumn Leaves," to be shown at the Nickel today and Tuesday. Here we have a pictorial romance dealing with life in aristocratic circles in merry England at the time when obscure lovers were cast into the grim old Tower, and when love affairs were often settled at the rapier's point. The picture is over 800 feet in length, superbly enacted and most elaborately and realistically staged. Besides this exceptionally fine feature will be two foreign pictures—"The Unwilling Chiropractor" (Cathie), and "Basket Mystery," each one brand new and exclusively the Nickel's. Musemently the programme will introduce two new songs—"Won't You Be My Honey?" to be sung by little Miss Davis, and that heroic hero's song, "The Man Who Fights The Fire," by Mr. Maxwell.

DON'T FOLD YOUR ARMS.

By folding your arms you pull the shoulders forward, flatten the chest and impair deep breathing. Folding the arms across the chest so flattens it down that it requires a conscious effort to keep the chest in what should be its natural position. As soon as you forget yourself down drops the chest.

We cannot see ourselves as others see us. If we could many of us would be ashamed of our shapes. The position you hold your body in most of the time soon becomes its natural position. Continuously folding your arms across the chest will develop a flat chest and a rounded back.

Here are four other hints which should be made habits: Keep the back of the neck close to the back of the collar at all possible times. Always carry the chest farther to the front than any other part of the anterior body. Draw the abdomen in and up a hundred times a day. Take a dozen deep, slow breaths a dozen times a day. Family Doctor.

MANILA, May 3.—Antipolo, in the province of Morong, was destroyed last night by fire. Four hundred houses were burned and hundreds of people are homeless. The famous shrine was saved. The fire was caused by lightning. Antipolo has thirty-nine hundred inhabitants.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 3.—With impressive ceremony Monsignor Denis J. O'Connell, rector of the Catholic University at Washington, D. C., was today consecrated titular Bishop of Sabate. The cathedral was crowded with local and visiting ecclesiastics and laymen.

STUDENT STARVES IN SEARCH FOR FAME

Hungarian Girl the Latest Victim of Studio Life.

Many Americans Struggling Along on Insufficient Funds—Two Saved by Wealthy Englishman Last Year.

"Starved to death," was all that the Paris police surgeon could say the other day when the corpse of a young woman lay in the middle of a third-floor studio. She was a girl from some village in Hungary. She was a mere girl and all alone. Those who knew her best—a few American artists who studied in the same atelier—called her Mary. They knew that she was very poor and not very well educated. Now and then they met her carrying a two-sooty bottle of milk and half a loaf of bread. She was described as talented. And now the police are trying to find out who her family is while Mary's body lies in the morgue.

Such cases are not very frequent in the Montparnasse quarter. They only occur once or twice a year. The last time that it happened the victim was an American girl and before that it was again a Hungarian—a boy that time. The story of his passing is now one of the legends of the Ecole des Beaux Arts.

His name was Ernest. He was a hand worker and something of a dreamer. He always smiled when there was any fun going, but he never shared actively in the sport. His fellow-students, with whom he was popular out doors, had heard Ernest was pale and ethereal. He had a tremendous amount of talent and worked from the fall of the flag to closing time. The students remembered afterward that he had been getting paler and paler, thinner and thinner, but these things passed unnoticed at the time.

One day, to the surprise of every one, Ernest failed to appear. There were a few jokes about a possible flirtation. His absence was again noticed on the following day; this time every one forgot all about him.

One day, a fortnight afterward, as the anatomy class was dissecting, there was a sudden stop to horse play and jokes. The great silence fell on one murmured "Mon Dieu!" There on the slab was poor Ernest. There was a faint smile on his face. An investigation showed that Ernest had dropped in the street—the hospital doctors said from starvation. He died as there was no means of identification he was taken to the morgue.

The students attended the funeral. Times are exceptionally hard this year in the Montparnasse quarter. It is the middle of the year and the Hungarian girl will not be the only one in the big colony of foreign students who die of starvation. It is said that as likely as not the next victim will be an American. There are more American students in the quarter who are leading a precarious existence, too hard-pressed to buy proper food, too proud to write home for help, is greater than ever.

Each year brings a fresh immigration from the United States of young men and women with few dollars and many dreams. They both come here with vague ideas of making their own way. Disenchantment awaits them. Not one out of every 500 ever succeeds in earning what he needs to live in a perpetual state of overproduction, and it is the home student who is most likely to fail. Even the exceptional ones who do earn a pittance by artistic odd jobs generally succeed in wrecking their health in the process.

Did they care to the truth of the preceding could be attested by two American girls, members of excellent families, who were sent back to America last year through the bounty of a generous Englishman. They took a studio together in the Rue Campagne-Francaise in the same house where the Hungarian girl died and did their own cooking in a chafin dish. When they were too tired or out of the mood for cooking they fell back to the old resource of thin milk and crackers. Even at that their money gave out. By a great stroke of good fortune one of the girls got some fashion plates to do. She received two francs apiece for them, but it was an entire evening's work to make one. In this way the two friends managed to exist one entire winter, studying hard all day at the art school and slaving over the fashion plates at night.

Some of the boys at the school learned what was going on. They called on the girls at night and did the fashion plates for them. Help had come almost too late, however, for both young women were worn to mere shadows of what they were when they came. Among the visitors was a young Englishman who had a wealthy father. The good Englishman's father had a great deal of money and he offered to help the two girls were invited for a prolonged visit. The good Englishman kept them for two months "feeding them up." Then the girls were induced to accept the offer of two return tickets to New York and a five-pound note apiece. As well, such cases do not turn out so well.

Taking Advantage of Leap Year.

By ANNIE HELLMAN

(Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.)

Dora Wright had practically mastered the difficult art of being poor when fate presented her whimsically with abundance. While she was still wondering what she was going to do with it all, some relatives swooped down upon her and whisked her off to Newport for the season.

About two months later, Miss Wright returned from an elaborate function very late one night, on rather, very early one morning.

Bidding her aunt and cousins good night, she wearily ascended the stairs to her room, her shimmering ball dress billowing gracefully around her slender figure. One hour later she walked briskly down the same stairs, attired in a natty linen travelling suit and carrying a small satchel.

"I'm going away for a visit," she unlocked the front door at her command. "You'll find a small trunk, locked, at this address," handing the man a card and a bill of generous dominion. "No, thank you, I can carry this grip myself." That she made her way to the depot.

The labor of the day was ended. Mrs. Watson and several of her boarders were out on the front porch in the restful enjoyment of the "cool of the evening."

"Yes, Miss Wright's cutting a wide swath, according to the papers," the landlady was declaiming to the little milliner, a new boarder. "Today's 'Clarion' said she was getting the inside track—that's why her looking more moped than usual tonight," pointing through the open window at a solitary man in the shabby sitting room, his head leaning wearily on his hand, an unopened paper on his knee.

"He ain't been the same man since she left," continued Mrs. Watson in lowered voice. "In love with her? Lead me to see Miss Wright. Why didn't he up and tell her? Why, child, they were both too poor! Miss Wright didn't make no more'n her own keep, sister to support, back in 'Ohio, An' when Miss Wright's uncle died an' left her all that property, of course he put her out'n his reach for good. He's proud a man to live on his wife's money. It's a dreadful pity, though, for if ever two people were cut out of each other's life, it was then she turned her head and saw Dora Wright walking up the path."

"For the land sakes alive!" ejaculated Mrs. Watson. "This ain't never you, an' how well you're looking! A fortune. And I don't want to spend my money in travel, at present. I came to the place I like, and here I'm going to stay."

Langdon leaned suddenly toward Dora. His pale face flushed and his hand trembled as he pulled himself up again resolutely.

"I'm right, though, Dora. In spite of your heavenly kindness, I can't see how the same as it was when we were both poor. My dear girl, don't you see you must go back tomorrow."

"I shall never go back," she said resolutely. "And I shall never have a husband, Robert, unless it is this unselfish friend."

"Dora smiled tenderly at him. "Certainly I see that it's different. Because now I have the means to provide luxuriously for myself and my dear sister, and yet here you are house for us both."

Langdon was shaking visibly. "Dora, it will not do. Your husband must be a more brilliant man than this old friend, though he can never be your age, and your own financial standing. You make it hard, dear one, but you must go back tomorrow."

"I had to be outdoors when I was cold, and indoors when I was hot. I had to sit through two-hour dinners every night and eat things I detested. I had to dance when I was tired and listen to poor music and go into excruciating excruciating situations when I was sleepy and my head ached. I had to ride in automobiles and go yachting. A yacht always makes me sick and you know what I think of automobiles." Mr. Langdon did not seem properly impressed, so Dora continued in an aggrieved voice: "I spent hours racing around with golf sticks, when I'd much rather sit down quietly with an agreeable book. It's very well to do what you dislike, if you're accomplishing anything, but all this activity was accomplishing nothing, except spoiling my temper and making me thin. But you haven't said yet that you were glad to see me, Robert."

Langdon's look of adoration seemed to be nothing more than she expected. "Yes, Dora, I am glad," he said simply. "I thought you had forgotten me, and I didn't blame you," he continued as she made a dissenting gesture. "I was glad to think that at last you were enjoying what your beauty and your nature entitled you to, and that your brave conduct in adversity was being properly rewarded. But why did you come back here, Dora? Why did you come back to this dreary manufacturing town when you had the whole world to choose from?"

Dora looked intently at him while he was speaking. She noted the weak gray in his well-kept hair, the sad droop of the patient mouth, the many lines around his tired eyes.

"For more reasons than one, I knew you were lonely and worked hard in order to forget. I knew you were tired and that your eyes were well up. I knew you felt the heat more than ever, and wouldn't take any refreshing trolley rides out into the breezy country or go to any cozy little picnics without your old friend. Now, I'm going to live with you every afternoon, and we'll read our favorite authors in the evenings. Just as we used to do before I became a heirless."

Langdon drew a deep breath and looked longingly at the girl, who appeared to be unconscious of having said anything unusual. "I was tired," he said. His eyes were weary, and his voice was hoarse with tears, and he laid his hand gently on hers. "But in the future, the knowledge that you thought of me and came back to cheer me up will keep me from fatigue and every other ill. But you must return to your relatives. If you don't, like Newman, and get the good of the money that came to you late—but, thank God, not too late!"

Dora regarded him with an amused tenderness. "You don't know me half as well as I know you, Robert. I have no intention of going back to the relatives who ignored my every existence until Uncle Timothy left me a fortune. And I don't want to spend my money in travel, at present. I came to the place I like, and here I'm going to stay."

Langdon leaned suddenly toward Dora. His pale face flushed and his hand trembled as he pulled himself up again resolutely.

"I'm right, though, Dora. In spite of your heavenly kindness, I can't see how the same as it was when we were both poor. My dear girl, don't you see you must go back tomorrow."

"I shall never go back," she said resolutely. "And I shall never have a husband, Robert, unless it is this unselfish friend."

"Dora smiled tenderly at him. "Certainly I see that it's different. Because now I have the means to provide luxuriously for myself and my dear sister, and yet here you are house for us both."

WATER IS VERY HIGH AT FREDERICTON. Most of the Wharves Under Water.

Henry Culligan, 100 Years Old, Dead at Peniac of Old Age.

FREDERICTON, May 3.—A heavy rain set in here last night and continued throughout the day, accompanied by a high wind. The river is coming up very rapidly and is now above the ordinary freshet height. Since yesterday it has risen two feet, rising about a foot during today, and it is still rising. All the wharves with the exception of the high water wharf below the highway bridge are under water. The steamer Victoria last night was obliged to tie up below the bridge. The schooner and barkentine stationed at the Star Line wharf are experiencing much difficulty in handling their cargoes and have stationary barges erected between them and the shore. The Star Line house is two feet under water.

Henry Culligan, one of the oldest residents in the province, died at his home in Peniac today. The deceased was one hundred years old, a native of Ireland, coming to this country when a lad, and has resided at Peniac ever since. He was married four times. By his first wife he had one son, by his second two daughters, and by his fourth, whom he married only fourteen years ago, a son and daughter. All the children as well as the widow survive. The cause of death was old age. He was in the best of health up to a short time ago, and maintained all his faculties to the last.

Rev. Mr. McDonald of the Brunswick street Baptist and Rev. Mr. McConnell of the Methodist exchanged pulpits this morning.

Rev. Canon Cowie leaves on Thursday next to attend the Pan-Canadian congress in London. During his absence the Rev. Mr. Gillies will take charge of the parish church services. Mr. Gillies arrived here yesterday and took part in the service at St. Ann's.

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN SAILS FOR CANADA WITH 1580 PEOPLE.

LIVERPOOL, May 2.—The C. P. R. steamship Empress of Britain sailed last night with the largest number of passengers that ever left the British Isles on one vessel. There are 153 first cabin, 442 second cabin and 954 third class passengers, a total of 1,489. The Empress is a super-class vessel and includes a few sent out under the auspices of the Salvation Army. Amongst the first class passengers are the Rev. Mr. McDonald and Rev. Mr. McConnell, who are booked for the overseas mail train. The Empress is also taking over 1,200 sacks of mail matter and 500 parcel post. This is the second C. P. R. sailing this season for the St. Lawrence route.

WHITE STAR LINE WILL START CANADIAN SERVICE IN 1909.

LONDON, May 2.—The morning newspapers referring editorially to the serious Indian news, generally agree that as yet there is no cause for alarm or grave anxiety. It is hoped, the Amer. is not directly responsible for the attitude of the Afghan border tribes, but they point out that until the Amer. attitude is definitely known it behooves the government to be alert and prepared for eventualities.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WORRIED ABOUT INDIA.

FIRE BRINGS DEATH TO SCORE OF PEOPLE IN CANADA HOSTELRY.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 3.—At least twelve persons lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the New Avenue Hotel here early today. The entire interior of the building is a smoldering heap of ruins, and how many dead are concealed by the debris can only be conjectured.

The hotel register was consumed by the fire and there is no accurate means of determining who is missing. The complete destruction of the interior of the hotel makes the work of recovering the bodies a difficult task. A confused heap of charred wood, bricks and twisted girders is piled up between the walls to beyond the second story. Pieces by pieces this must be removed before the roll of the dead can be completed. Some of the bodies taken out are mangled and charred beyond recognition.

Infantry company D and battery B of the National Guard, are on duty and are aiding the fire and police forces to clear away the debris. The fire was discovered at 3:30 o'clock this morning in the elevator shaft by Night Clerk Ralph Hopkins. He rushed to the upper floors, alarming the guests until the flames, which had spread with great rapidity, drove him back. His efforts, however, saved many lives.

The hotel was erected half a century ago and the woodwork was dry as tinder. It burned like matchwood, and within a few minutes from the time the fire was discovered the whole interior of the hotel was a mass of flames and the only means of escape was by the windows.

The fire department rescued many, frenzied by the rush of the flames, leaped from windows to the street. As the flames increased, men and women were seen in the windows of their rooms imploring for help. Some did not wait for the assistance of the firemen and leaped to the street. Those who left their rooms before the flames or their retreat were able to make their way to the fire escapes and were saved with comparative ease.

A score of women employed in the hotel were in the upper rooms in the rear part of the hotel. Most of them escaped without injury, but some in their frenzy leaped to the street. During the first excitement many were accounted dead that were later found to be safe. That there are several bodies still in the ruins is the belief of Fire Chief Hilbrecht and Chief of Police Anckenbruck. Chief Anckenbruck placed his estimate of dead as yet in the ruins as high as twenty.

The New Avenue Hotel, built in 1862, was a six story building of brick. It stood in the business center of the city. In 1855 the building was extensively remodelled. The hotel and its furnishings were valued at $80,000. The framework of the interior was of wood, dried like tinder from a half century's seasoning, and it burned with great rapidity. Within a quarter of an hour from the time the fire was discovered in the elevator shaft, the entire building was wrapped in flames. The whole interior became a roaring furnace, and from basement to roof all the floors fell to the basement. Strauss Brothers, bankers, were the only occupants of the block whose loss was not total. Their vaults are intact. All losses are fully covered by insurance.

THE MYSTERY OF A JAPANESE WARSHIP. The Mikasa on Duty Again But Her Story Untold.

Ship's Service Record—Secret of Sinking of Admiral Togo's Flagship Hidden—Belief That It Was Blown Up.

The Japanese Government has written at last the final chapter in a typical story of Oriental mystery as the royal commission which investigated the collapse of the Quebec bridge has been informed on good authority that in spite of the utmost attention to every detail of the plans and specifications similar great disaster on one of the largest bridges now being built in the United States was only averted, thanks to the knowledge and the object lesson derived by the scientific world through the unfortunate experience of the Quebec bridge. Only the prompt action of the engineers in charge of the bridge referred to saved the strengthening of the unit shown to be defective as in the case of the Quebec bridge prevented a collapse of the second bridge, involving probably as great a loss of life and almost as large a property loss.

The manner in which the tenders were called for was pointed out by Mr. Parent, president of the Quebec Bridge Company, stated today that he was informed on good authority that in spite of the utmost attention to every detail of the plans and specifications similar great disaster on one of the largest bridges now being built in the United States was only averted, thanks to the knowledge and the object lesson derived by the scientific world through the unfortunate experience of the Quebec bridge. Only the prompt action of the engineers in charge of the bridge referred to saved the strengthening of the unit shown to be defective as in the case of the Quebec bridge prevented a collapse of the second bridge, involving probably as great a loss of life and almost as large a property loss.

The Mikasa blew up and sank at her moorings on Sept. 11, 1905. That was just at the end of the three days' rioting in Tokio occasioned by the protest of the Japanese people against the terms of the treaty of Portsmouth, effective as the case of the Quebec bridge prevented a collapse of the second bridge, involving probably as great a loss of life and almost as large a property loss.

For three days men had been cut down by the swords of the gardeners in the streets of the capital and the rioting had spread to Kobe, Yokohama, Nagoya and other important Japanese towns. In Kobe the status of Marquis Iwano Prince Ito, which stood in a public market place, had been dragged from its pedestal by an angry mob only the night before the sinking of the Mikasa and set up in derision in the midst of the Yoshiwara, the district of the painted castaways of the streets.

When the Mikasa sank the Japanese papers throughout the whole empire published only about three paragraphs about it, telling the bare facts of the disaster, the number of men killed and the details of the suicide of the captain. That was all. Although the flagship of the victorious fleet had been lost and half its complement of sailors had gone down with it the big dailies of Tokio and Osaka dismissed the matter with the briefest mention, reminding the paragraphs detailing the movements of troops during the campaigns against Kuropatkin, Stoesel and Lincolville.

It was said that shortly after nightfall, while Admiral Togo and the captain of the Mikasa were on another of the remaining Prince Arisugawa, one of the princes of blood, fire was discovered near the powder magazines of the Mikasa, and although aid was hurried from neighboring battleships the flames reached the magazines. Nearly 200 men lost their lives, the dispatches added. When the captain of the vessel he threw himself out of a second story window of a hotel in Sasebo and died of a broken neck.

That was the Japanese version, grudgingly printed in the newspapers. That was the story sent out to the world through the carefully censored government telegraph offices. It was not until two weeks after the sinking of the Mikasa that there appeared in the Shanghai Times a story contradicting the Japanese version and seeming to bear the marks of truth.

This account was to the effect that a Japanese navy officer, who was a guest of an American at a gala dinner in Tokio and who felt his sake prematurely allowed himself to narrate the real story of the sinking of Togo's flagship. The riot infection in Tokio and other large cities of Japan had spread to the victorious fleet under Admiral Togo he was quoted as having said.

Most of the fighting men on the fleet believed with the indignant citizens ashore that the war had been fought in vain and that through the influence of President Roosevelt, coupled with the cleverness of the Russian peace envoys, Japan had been cheated out of the fruits of her victory. The sailors on the Mikasa divided into partisan groups, one supporting the government and the other condemning it for accepting humiliating terms.

The dispute between the factions finally became so hot that they had a pitched battle on the night of September 11, when Admiral Togo and the captain of the ship was off duty. The noise of the firing was heard in the city of Sasebo and this fact was afterward attested to by some missionaries living there.

Admiral Togo and even Prince Arisugawa himself were putting off to the ship upon which they were having their evening's entertainment when a fanatical member of the insurgent party on the Mikasa fired the magazines with his own hand and sent half of the crew friends and enemies alike, down to death with the hull.

After the appearance of this story in the Shanghai paper the Japanese government came out with a prompt denial of the alleged facts, reiterating briefly the circumstances formerly allowed to be published in Japan. All the Japanese papers reproduced this official statement without explanatory or supplementary comment.

An interesting circumstance in connection with the effort of one newspaper correspondent to set out this unofficial version of the Mikasa incident served to convince those who heard of it that the real story of the battleship's destruction had not been published. There was an Englishman in Tokio, the correspondent of a big London daily, who had won the displeasure of the Japanese government by sending to his paper news which he did not receive at the official information bureau established by the War department. Immediately after the blowing up of the Mikasa this Englishman realized that he was being kept under strictest surveillance.

MONTREAL, May 3.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in the city today and had a lengthy conference with Premier Mitchell. It is understood that the subject under discussion was the date of the Quebec provincial elections which Premier Laurier is anxious to bring off in the near future. No announcement was made at the close of the conference, but it is understood that there is a probability of a date about the tenth of June being selected.

QUEBEC DISASTER AVERTS SIMILAR WRECK. An Object Lesson to Scientific World.

Explains How Tenders Were Called for the Big Bridge—Compliments Officials.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 3.—In an interview with your correspondent in reference to some of the findings of the royal commission which investigated the collapse of the Quebec bridge, Hon. S. N. Parent, president of the Quebec Bridge Company, stated today that he was informed on good authority that in spite of the utmost attention to every detail of the plans and specifications similar great disaster on one of the largest bridges now being built in the United States was only averted, thanks to the knowledge and the object lesson derived by the scientific world through the unfortunate experience of the Quebec bridge. Only the prompt action of the engineers in charge of the bridge referred to saved the strengthening of the unit shown to be defective as in the case of the Quebec bridge prevented a collapse of the second bridge, involving probably as great a loss of life and almost as large a property loss.

THE COMMISSION IDEA HAS NOT BEEN DROPPED

Ald. Frink Will Urge the Committee to Act During the Coming Summer.

Civic government by commission is not a dead issue. Alderman Frink, speaking to the Star this morning, said that it was his intention during the coming summer to again take up the proposition which he made last year and force it to some sort of a conclusion. As a result of his resolution presented to the council on the question of government by commission was referred to the general committee, which, for various reasons, showed considerable hesitation about grappling with it. The movement was hindered by the disclosures in the Chamberlain's office and by the approach of the civic and provincial elections. Alderman Frink had hoped that it would be possible to procure at the present session legislation which would have permitted taking a plebiscite on the commission scheme, but it developed that the civic elections were held before the legislature met and the course he favored was thus out of the question. He is confident that if such a vote had been taken the commission idea would have been carried by a very large majority. Alderman Frink will in the very near future once more urge the committee to act and he hopes such a campaign will be conducted that by the next election the people will be sufficiently educated as to the details of the scheme to vote intelligently in its favor. Mayor Bullock has declared himself in favor of government by a board of control, and it is possible that such a scheme as this will be proposed by him.

FLOWERS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

Sir—Having been assured by a few friends that they have already planted sweet peas for the supervised playgrounds, I feel encouraged to ask through the press those who have not yet made their gardens to see aside some space for the growing of suitable flowers for the playground children. Any one once seeing the appreciation of the little ones for a few blossoms would be amply repaid for the work it involves.

Sincerely yours,
MABEL PETERS,
Convener of Playground Committee,
Westfield, May 4th, 1908.

PRESENTATION OF A PURSE TO REV. G. A. KUHRING

Members of the Men's Bible Class Acknowledged Their Indebtedness to Their Leader

Rev. G. A. Kuhring and Mrs. Kuhring will leave St. John on May 15th to attend the Pan-Anglican Conference in London. After the conference is their intention to enjoy a trip through Europe, visiting Mediterranean points.

On Monday evening last in St. John's Stone school room at the close of the session of the Men's Bible Class, Rev. Mr. Kuhring was asked to vacate the chair. When he had done so, Mr. Alexander Law, on behalf of the members of the school, addressed him briefly, expressing the great profit and pleasure which the class had received in their study of the Bible under his direction. Mr. Law said that in anticipation of Mr. Kuhring's coming visit to England, the class had decided to acknowledge in a small way their indebtedness to him. He called upon Mr. W. O. Ellip, who thereupon presented Mr. Kuhring with a purse of $25 in gold. Mr. Kuhring was greatly surprised and very feebly replied to the address. He stated that it was a genuine pleasure to preside over such a class of eager students, and that he derived as much profit from it as they themselves did. He thanked the members very heartily for their great kindness to him, and he hoped he would be able to continue to hold their esteem.

THE DAY NURSERY AN IDEAL SPOT FOR CHILDREN

New Institution is Now Ready to Care for Little Ones Whose Mothers are Compelled to Leave Them

The day nursery in the old Tabernacle hall, Haymarket Square which has been donated by the local Council of Women, is now open. This morning several members of the managing committee were early on hand, and with Mrs. Cox, the matron, were busily engaged in making final preparations. The responses to the requests for donations have been most generous, and but few articles for the complete furnishing of the rooms are needed. Whatever is still lacking has been promised, and the nursery has thus been given an excellent start. The front room, which is the smaller of the two, is now fitted with some half dozen comfortable cots, and there is space for as many more. This room is bright and airy, and with its fresh paint and new floor, will be kept spotlessly clean. The back room is very large, and will be used by the children when awake. They will be able to play to their heart's content, and toys, hammocks and other forms of amusement will be provided. This room has been repainted and floored. A patent closet has been put in, a cooking stove on which the food for the babies left at the nursery, has been provided, and it would be difficult indeed to find a more attractive place in which young children and babies could spend their time.

The committee anticipates that mothers will at first feel some hesitation about leaving their children in a new institution, but it is felt that there are many women in St. John to whom a day nursery such as this will prove a great relief. This room has been looked after until they have first received medical attention. Thus mothers need not fear that their babies will be exposed to those diseases such as children are heir to. Dr. Margaret Parks and Dr. Morrison, have kindly offered their services to the nursery in prescribing for any little ones who may be brought to their attention.

The institution promises to accomplish a much needed work. A nominal charge of five cents per family will be made for the care and food of the babies left at the nursery. The managing committee desire to thank all those who have so kindly sent donations enabling such a successful opening to be made.

MONTHLY MEETING OF EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE

The Evangelical Alliance met in monthly session this morning at half-past ten in St. Andrew's Church. There were present: Rev. A. B. Cobbe, chairman, Rev. J. C. B. Appel, secretary, Rev. Messrs. Samuel Howard, David Lang and Dr. T. P. Foster-ingham.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Howard, seconded by the secretary, it was resolved to ask the Presbyterians to appoint a chaplain for the Boy's Industrial Home at Croucheville for the second half of the year.

It was decided to communicate with the governors of the home regarding the payment of the grant for the services of the chaplain.

The annual grant to the pastor of St. Andrew's Church was unanimously passed.

The chairman, Rev. Messrs. Howard and Appel were appointed a committee to draw up a resolution of regret concerning the departure of the city of Rev. A. H. Foster.

For future meetings the chairman suggested the consideration of the church's relation to the family and the formation of a children's aid society. The matter of making arrangements for a religious census of the city was deferred until the September meeting.

Thirty applicants were admitted to full membership in Portland street Methodist church last night at the conclusion of the regular service, and two candidates for admission were baptized.

A WISE WOMAN TAKES GOOD CARE OF HER TEETH.

Because her health, comfort and beauty depend so largely upon them. An examination by the dentist at least twice a year is a necessity. We give the natural teeth the most skillful care, and our artificial teeth cannot be distinguished from the natural.
