Progress on Western Grand Trunk Pacific

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—Reports received at the office of the Grand Trunk Pacific indicate good progress being made on construction work on branch lines in the west. On the Melville-Regina extension 20 miles of steel is laid and the remainder of twelve miles to Baker, the end of the present grade, will be finished by the end of the week. On the Melville-Vorkton branch six miles of steel is laid and the balance will be completed within two weeks. Contractors are pushing the work of grading on the Topfield-Calgary branch as fast as possible. Grading is completed as far as Camrose and the whole branch will be in shape for steel laying in about six weeks. Grain is commencing to move in volume over the G. T. P. over 800 cars having reached Winnipeg and been turned over to connections since September 1. Reports show that threshing in general in all districts and proceeding at a record rate aided by the best weather conditions in years. The company now has 60,000 cars ready to meet next fall's rush.

Falling off in Apple Crop of Nova Scotia

"I estimate that the apple crop of Nova Scotia will be about 600,000 barrels in 1909," said G. H. Vroom, chief fruit inspector. Mr. Vroom went on to say that the bumper yield of the Nova Scotia apple crop was 750,000 barrels. Previous to this, 625,000 barrels was the maximum, while up to that time it had seldom exceeded 450,000 barrels, and often went as low as 125,000 barrels. Mr. Vroom attributed the greater yield in previous years to the close attention paid to proper fertilization, and the scientific system of grafting, which has made hitherto barren trees, profitable yielding ones. Mr. Vroom said that apples this year would command a good price in the British market. Last year there was about 615,000 barrels, he thought, shipped from Halifax. This year the shipments from that port would, he said, amount to 500,000 barrels.

Protest From Vancouver Men

The following is a despatch sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier a few days ago by the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council:—

"The Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, representing over 6,000 locally affiliated members of organized labor, and voicing the emphatic conviction of every wage earner in Western Canada, in regular meeting assembled tonight, desiring to notify your government that we will not peacefully stand for the proposed further wholesale importation of Oriental labor into this province at the behest of mercenary profit-seeking railway contractors. If the working conditions were made fit for animals there are lots available jobless men in Canada. We demand fulfillment of election promises and such as will disprove that government is but the executive committee for corporate interests. Better no G. T. P. than to add to the huge non-voting Oriental population which already controls the fishing and lumbering resources of this province. Further importations will aggravate a serious menace. We refuse to be reduced to an Oriental standard of living. Answer."

Sir Wilfrid's reply was:—"Quite disregarding the offensive language, I beg to inform you that no request has been made to this Government by anybody for the importation of Asiatic labor."

A New Wonder in Washington

A bowl weighing 85 tons and made of green granite is the latest addition to the wonders of the National capital. The bowl will be one of a pair constituting the heavier parts of the twin fountains that will play at either end of the Union Station plaza. The two bowls together will cost $42,000. One that arrived yesterday is so large that there is only one car in this part of the country strong enough to transport it, and that had to be sent back to Vermont to get the duplicate. There is said to be no derrick in the District of Columbia large enough to raise the two bowls to position on the fountains, and a derrick will have to be especially made for the purpose. The fountains are expected to be the most important ornamental feature of the plaza, about which, however will be scattered monuments and statues.

Peary's Charges Against Dr. Cook

New York, Oct. 13.—Commander Peary has issued a statement to support his charge that Dr. Cook did not reach the North Pole. He says the two Eskimo boys who were alleged to have accompanied Cook to the Pole were examined by members of his party—Peary not being present—and each member made notes of the answers. Other Eskimos also were examined. The two young Eskimos, Cook's companions to the end, traced on map the route they had taken, the lands they had seen, etc.

According to Peary, the boys' accounts of the trip showed that they had never reached the point that Cook claimed they had reached. Their answers showed, he asserts, that on their final journey over the ice "they had killed no game, made no catches, lost no dogs, and returned to the land with loaded sledges, amply proving their attainment of the Pole on the trip north of Cape Thomas Hubbard's physical and mathematical impossibility, as it would demand the subsistence of three men and over twenty dogs during a journey of ten hundred and forty geographical miles on less than two sledges loads of supplies."

The statement is signed by Peary, Capt. Bartlett, D. B. McMillan, George Borup and M. A. Henson.

Interviewed at Cleveland, Dr. Cook said: "It is the same old story. I have replied to the points raised a dozen times. The map published by Commander Peary in itself indicates that the Eskimos have respected their promise made to me that they would not give any information to Peary or his men. The Eskimos were not to tell Mr. Peary or any of his party of our trip over the Polar sea. They were told to say we had been far north. They have kept their word."

Canada's Revenue Shows Big Growth For Half of Year

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Canada's revenue during the first six months of the fiscal year totals $47,553,819, an increase of $6,526,297.

At the present rate the revenue for the year should be well over the hundred million mark.

The chief gain is $5,750,000 in customs collections. In excise collections there is a decline of $250,000.

Railway revenue shows a betterment of $130,000, and there is a gain of $50,000 in the postal revenues.

A pain prescription is printed upon each 25c. box of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Ask your Doctor or Druggist if this formula is not complete. Head pains, womanly pains, pains anywhere, get instant relief from a Pink Pain Tablet.

Harvard Has Eleven-Year-Old Student

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 9.—The youngest and smallest student which ever matriculated at Harvard University so far as known, entered the college today as a special student, when the officers of the college accepted the papers of William J. Sidis of Brookline, the 11-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Sidis.

Young Sidis is a mental prodigy, particularly in mathematical studies he having already mastered all the elementary branches. For three years his father has been endeavoring to have the boy accepted at Harvard, and in every way he has been fitted to pass the examinations. Failing to get into Harvard through the adverse decision of the officials young Sidis went to Tufts college, where spent last year.

The young student will make a specialty of mathematics, and will take studies of the most advanced character.

A Poor Move

In ordering an inquest into last week's most unfortunate accident on the Intercolonial Premier Hazen has taken a step which will commend itself to everyone's good judgement. The inquiry which is to be instituted by the railway authorities will doubtless be thorough but it will be of a somewhat different character from an inquest. It is right that every care be taken to bring out all possible information in regard to the tragic event.

It is noteworthy, and is not pleasantly noteworthy, that two papers—one in Halifax and the other in St. John—are particularly strong in their advocacy of the holding of an inquest and they have announced their intention of being represented by a lawyer at any inquest which takes place. To be interested in the matter because of the desire to prevent the danger of the repetition of such a disaster would be a praiseworthy thing but does such a desire animate these papers?

They are understood to be owned or controlled by the same person. They are papers which have been opposed to the commission scheme of managing the Intercolonial because certain influential capitalists sought to secure the right to operate the line as a Maritime Province company. Now apparently, these papers are endeavoring to throw discredit on commission through the recent disaster, a detail, it would seem, in the game to have the road leased to the suggested company.

The commission may not be a good thing for the road. It is right that men or papers disbelieving in the commission criticise it. But it is a small way in which to try to hurt the commission, this St. John-Halifax move of taking advantage of an inquest into one of the saddest affairs in the history of railroading in eastern Canada.—Sackville Tribune.

Canada's Naval Scheme Big One

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The Government will begin to day the consideration of the naval program which will be laid before parliament shortly after the opening on November 11.

At the sitting a formal report will be submitted by Hon. Mr. Brodeur and Sir Frederick Borden on the work of the imperial defence conference.

While definite decisions have not been reached, and probably will not be at the first meeting of the government it is practically certain that the program will provide for the expenditure of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 during the next five or six years.

There will be a strong effort made to have the construction carried out in Canada by British firms, who may be encouraged to establish yards here, on a Canadian firm and by British experts.

The first ships, as foreshadowed in Premier Asquith's announcement, will be cruisers, destroyers and submarines. The British shipbuilders are taking an interest in Canadian program and representatives of some of the big firms are now on the way here to make overtures to the Canadian government.

Whatever is decided upon will be well considered. The program will cover some years and will be designed to produce the most effective results.

To Relieve Sore Throat

(Letter in London Chronicle)

At this season of the year when sore throats, laryngitis and similar complaints are very prevalent in London, it may interest your readers to know of a very simple remedy which is recommended by the celebrated Dr. Fauvel, of Paris. He recommends a gargle of ordinary tea before going out in the morning and if possible on returning at night.

The Age of a Fish

The age of a fish can be determined with accuracy by inspection of the otoliths of bony concretions which are found in the auditory apparatus. These concretions increase in size during the entire life of the fish, each year adding two layers, a light colored layer, formed in autumn and winter. These alternate layers are contracted and very distinct, so that there is no difficulty in counting them. The number of pairs of layers is equal to the number of years the fish has lived. By this method Wallace has found an interesting study of the distribution of fishes of the place species over various sea bottoms, according to age. In this way the rapidity of growth of fishes and the effect of fisheries on the population of the sea can be determined.—Scientific American.

Five Persons Perished in Minas Basin

Wolfville, N. S., Oct. 4.—Clinging to an upturned boat, two persons drifted ashore on Boat Island, in Minas Basin, yesterday afternoon, the survivors of a party of seven who had put out from the Island five or six hours before. In a sudden squall the boat had capsized and five of the party perished. The survivors were battered by a heavy sea for four hours as they clung to the keel of their upset craft and one of them is not expected to survive the experience. Four members of one family were drowned and Mr. and Mrs. Robt Stivers, who were the two persons rescued, lost their three year old daughter. For four weary hours they clung to the skiff's keel and then it drifted into shallow water on the Eastern end of the island. They were seen by L. E. Duncanson as they came near the shore and he waded out and carried Mr. and Mrs. Stivers ashore.

Both of the survivors were greatly exhausted and fearfully bruised from the buffeting they received from the waves, and it is not believed that Mrs. Stivers will survive. So far but one body has been recovered, that of the little Stivers child. Twenty-four hours after they set out on their picnic, Mr. and Mrs. Stivers and the dead body of their child were taken home today. Men are at work in large numbers endeavoring to recover the other bodies.

TURNING A NEW LEAF

Clarice and Jack had been married in the spring. The next hunter's moon brought them for their first wedded visit to Aunt Rhody, with whom Clarice was to remain while Jack went on to the north woods for his annual hunting expedition. They arrived at night, and sat up very late indulging in reminiscences. The next morning Jack appeared at breakfast sans Clarice.

"Will Clarice be down soon? Shall we wait?" asked Aunt Rhody.

"Oh, no; I have never yet had a breakfast with Clarice," responded Jack.

"What! Doesn't she get up to breakfast?"

"She didn't when she lived with you, did she?"

"No," was the faltering, faint-toned reply.

It was near the luncheon hour when Clarice came downstairs ostensibly to give Jack several commissions to execute for her in the village. In the evening he asked for a latch key.

"Why, Clarice, where has he gone?" asked Aunt Rhody aghast at his departure.

"Oh, he found three boon bridge affords in the village," was her careless explanation. "Jack is dippy over bridge."

"And have you learned to play it?"

"Not I! I detest cards."

Aunt Rhody had more food for thought than she could digest.

"Play something, Clarice," she said shortly, finding conversation impossible at present.

"Oh, aunt, I haven't practised a note since I was married. I can't play a thing."

"Of course he'll write every day," she suggested.

"Oh, no," was the cheerful reply. "He'll be miles from a post office, and he won't have an opportunity to write or receive a letter."

"Oh, Aunt Rhody! I am glad you came. I thought I wouldn't tell you tonight! But I must be so wretched!"

"He'll come home soon, dear. It's your first parting!" soothed the aunt.

"He'll never come home! Read! It came while you were gone."

She thrust a tear-stained letter into her aunt's hands.

With varied emotions Aunt Rhody read—

"My dear C.—The proposition I make herein will scarcely surprise you in view of the strained relations between us. Even scenes would be preferable to the cool indifference you display. I am sure you will welcome an utter separation. When this trip is ended, I will go East instead of returning home. Our lawyers can arrange everything amicably, quietly and satisfactorily. Yours truly, J. J. Ferrold."

"It must be a joke!" pleaded Clarice sorrowfully.

Then up rose Aunt Rhody with true Barbara Fritchie spirit.

"You shall have him! You shall win him back!"

"How? she asked with a glimmer of hope.

"You are sure you love him?"

"Yes, aunt. I've been trying to hate him all the afternoon, but I can't. I love him, and I always shall. I told you I would die for him!"

"Yes; but will you get up early to breakfast for him? asked her aunt grimly.

"And will you practice the piano, and—"

"Yes, and even learn bridge, interrupted Clarice, eagerly.

"Begin tomorrow, commanded aunt Rhody, 'to get up early, practice two hours a day, learn to play bridge and get yourself in training for a domestic life."

On the day the hunting party had planned to break camp Aunt Rhody started for Philadelphia to head off the escaping husband.

Clarice was lonely and distraught after her aunt's departure.

"Even if she wins him back for me!" the thought as she lay her weary young head on the pillow that night, "it'll never be the same. I can never forget that letter, and I shall always fear a repetition of his act."

The next morning she conscientiously arose at the early hour her aunt had prescribed. After a vain attempt to eat she went to the farthest end of the vine-screened porch.

Presently she heard a step—his step! Then the spring up on the porch.

She looked up at him, but she did not speak or move.

"What the—, Clarice are you up so early for? Have you been ill?"

What is the matter?"

He came quickly toward her as she lay back in the easy armchair.

Then she jumped up, pale and breathless.

"How dared you write that, Jack! If you meant it for a joke—"

He took the letter and read a few lines.

"Good God, Clarice! I never wrote this letter! I never saw it. I wrote you a letter—a real love letter."

"Jack!"

She looked for an instant deep in to his eyes, and then she was cradled in his arms.

"I'll tell you dear, how it must have happened," he said presently. "Ferrold was with us. He went to get away from the atmosphere of his home, which has been a veritable Klondike. On the train was a pretty little stenographer with her typewriter. Courtney knew her and he proposed that we each dictate a letter home. Ferrold jumped at the idea, and was the first one to employ her. I saw her look of surprise as she took the notes I dictated a loony letter, for I was as lonely without you as I could be. She must have mixed the letters up. I wonder what effect my mushy misdeeds will have on Ferrold's wife?"—New Orleans Times Democrat.

PAIN
 Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause in congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least so says Dr. Shoop, who has proved it by his little pink tablets. These tablets—Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coax blood pressure away from pain centers, soothe burning, glowing, delightful, healthy, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's a painful period with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, if your blood circulation—blood pressure, that surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Break your finger and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You find it where pain is always. It's simply common sense. You get it well at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommended.

Earache; Toothache!

To Cure the Pain in Ten Seconds and Get Instant Relief Nothing Equals NERVILINE

Fifty years ago Nerviline was used on the coast to coast and in thousands of houses this trusty liniment served the entire family, cured all their minor ills and kept the doctor's bill low. To-day Nerviline still holds its rank in Canada among pain-relieving remedies—scarcely a home you can find that doesn't use it.

From Port Hope, Ontario, Mr. W. T. Greenaway, of the Guide newspaper staff, writes: "For twenty years we have used Nerviline in our home, and not for the world would we be without it. As a remedy for all pain, earache, toothache, cramps, headache and disordered stomach, I know of no preparation so useful and quick to relieve as Nerviline."

Let every mother give Nerviline a trial: it's good for children, good for old folks—you can rub it on as a liniment or take it internally.

Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse anything but Nerviline, 25c. per bottle, five for $1.00, all dealers or The Catarrh-zone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Henry Hudson

In 1607 Henry Hudson set sail from Gravesend with his son, a mere lad, and a crew of only a dozen men in the Hopewell (80 tons) to seek on behalf of the Muscovy Company a passage to Japan and China across the North Pole. After attaining latitude 73 deg. N. off the east coast of Greenland, Hudson directed his north eastwards to Spitzbergen, which had been discovered eleven years earlier by a Dutch expedition including the famous navigator William Barents. In latitude 78 deg. 30 min. N. the Hopewell was "in many dangers among so huge a quantity of ice and fog," but Hudson succeeded in reaching latitude 86 deg. 23 min. N., his highest position fixed by observation 577 geographical or about 666 statute miles from the pole. His account of the whales and walrus he sighted gave rise to an active and profitable fishing industry in the Spitzbergen sea. No higher latitude was attained by any navigator till Captain Phipps, commander of the Arctic expedition in which sailed the future Lord Nelson, extended the record by about thirty miles in 1773.

57-62 The Critical Age

Height of vigor is past—nature's power slowing down—vitality ebbing away, endurance decreasing. Stop the progress of decay, tone up the weakened nerve centres, impart vigor to the tiring body—prepare for the crisis. Best means for rebuilding is found in Ferronine; it brightens up the whole being, imparts power, strength, vigor. Old age is pushed back twenty years, the balance of youth is restored, vigor, vim, and new life is established. You'll try Ferronine S.C. at all dealers.

The Salt Sponge

There are few things more invigorating to tired nerves than a salt sponge either before going to bed or first thing in the morning. If one is inclined to sleeplessness the later time is best, as the salt is decidedly stimulating.

Sea salt can be bought in boxes and should be kept in a bathroom closet, or someplace where it is quickly found.

As a brine is not made rapidly, it is wiser, if the bath is to be taken in the morning, to soak a large double handful of the salt in two quarts of boiling water over night. Keep in a covered pitcher. When ready to use, add two quarts of fresh water, either tepid or cold as preferred. If one likes to sponge in tub use more salt, keeping about the same proportions. This brine can be used on the face as well as body, and it does small hurt if it gets in the eyes. The sting is temporary, and the good effects are felt in rested eyes, as well as nerves.

Such a sponge is strengthening to women who are unable to take cold plunges and find a daily bath in hot water enervating.

If you have no sea salt, ice cream salt, or even that for table use, will answer, but it costs more and is less beneficial.

When very tired one can add to the salt water three or four table spoonfuls of alcohol. This combination is especially invigorating.

Pays for itself in fuel saved

Don't allow a few extra dollars to prevent you from taking the perfect-cooking, sure-baking, easily-regulated Pandora in place of a cheaper stove. In a season or two Pandora will pay the difference in the fuel it will save—and it will keep on saving until it has paid for itself.

Pandora special fine construction makes fuel do double duty. While fire box is another fuel-economizer. The fire box heats quicker than a cast oven, thus saving still more fuel. Further economizing features will be explained by the McClary Agent.

Patriotism

It is easy to get the sentiment of patriotism, but that is far from reality of patriotism. It is not enough to feel for one's country; one must live for it.

No one is likely to live for one's country if one is ignorant of its glorious history, of its heroes and heroines, of its great perils and its great possibilities.

Patriotism is one of the highest forms of unselfishness. It is never to be attained by a spirit wrapped up in its narrow interests. If you would become a great patriot, you must become a great lover of men.

Your country begins at your own front door. If the front doorway is untidy, you are a poor citizen, no matter how much interested you are in the welfare of the heathen. Patriotism begins at home.

If you do not love and serve the part of your country that you can see—your neighbor and your town—how can you love and serve the part of your country that you can see?

Some seem to think that one can begin to be a patriot till he has come of age and is able to vote; but voting is only a part, though an important part of patriotism. A boy is a patriot as soon as for love of his country he picks up papers that are making the street untidy or studies his history lesson with a growing love for all that history means. It is never too early to be a patriot.

True patriotism is an appreciation of the foundation things which make the nation great. Love for the flag, if it is worth anything, remembers the highest things the flag stands for:

Woven of heroism and grief, Of the bravery of men and of women's tears, Of righteousness and battle, Of sacrifice, and anguish, and triumph— It is these that make our flag a holy thing.

CROUP

The Triple Evils

Three dangerous companions, which we would studiously avoid and shun as we would a pestilence; Bad Company, Bad Books, Bad Thoughts. Bad company will wreck and bring to ruin the fairest, best and most promising character. It is the evil genius of life, for it will mar all that is noble and good, blight and damage a man's commercial and social prospects, deaden all honorable feeling, and send him adrift friendless on the sea of misery.

Many young people on entering life have been led astray from the paths of virtue and happiness, and have done incalculable injury to their characters by associating with bad companions, whose influence has in many instances brought about disastrous results, weakened the friendship of the good and true, and destroyed bright prospects of a happy useful life.

Bad books are a fruitful source of evil; they work a revolution in man's life, envelope him in an atmosphere of ignominy and false conception, which turned the whole current of his thoughts into unwholesome channels, rendering him incapable of properly understanding and appreciating the true happiness and responsibility of existence.

Such books are out of harmony with all that is good and beautiful, they corrupt a mind which hitherto has been undefiled, and rob a man of his time, money and good principles.

Bad thoughts, if cherished, are as great a source of evil as bad company and bad books. They insidiously drive out virtue, undermine the better nature, still the voice of conscience, and make impure the fountain of life. They resemble rot in timber; they eat into the man and weaken his power of resistance to evil, so that in time of temptation he is mastered and overcome.

Our thoughts are friends of enemies; they are our glory or shame; our happiness or misery, our strength or weakness, our solace or destruction; summed up, they are the Alpha and Omega of life.

Have You Bronchial Catarrh

It is easily recognized by the dry cough and hoarseness. Not difficult to cure with Catarrh-zone as Mr. Xavier Babin, of River Capelin, Quebec, proved. "No one could suffer from Bronchitis more than I did. I had a hard hacking cough that caused me great pain. My throat was hoarse and I had great distress in my chest. Catarrh-zone reached the sore spots and gave immediate relief. Since using it I have not had a single attack." Every physician who is asked about Catarrh-zone says it is a sure cure. So will you if you try it. Sold everywhere, 25c. and $1.00.

THE LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE

The day of the little red school house passes, because the little red school house is ugly and out of harmony with improved surroundings. It is out of place amidst the fine dwellings of country-sides. The residents of well-to-do agricultural communities cannot afford to school their boys and girls in unsightly old frame buildings. It is well for children to be brought up in a pleasing and elevating environment. School buildings of some architectural character surrounded by well arranged grounds cannot but exert a cultivating influence upon the pupils and the rest of the community. It is no doubt in recognition of these facts that the Ontario Department of Education has issued a book of plans for rural school buildings and school grounds. Each set of plans is accompanied by estimates of costs and forms of specifications and contractors agreements. When a school board in any part of the province has to provide new accommodation this little volume shows the members how to obtain a building combining stability, convenience and beauty.—Toronto News.

ADULTY

The prevalence of typhoid in many towns in New Brunswick is causing alarm, and steps are being taken to stamp out and prevent the spread of the disease. Impure water, defective sewerage and all round bad sanitary conditions are reasons given for the existence of the epidemic. Towns without a system of sewerage seem to suffer most. We are glad to note that in our own town the Board of Health is using measures to prevent the spread of disease. Fortunately we are comparatively free from typhoid but every citizen should assist in enforcing the laws of sanitation that has for its object the good health of the community. If we are visited with an epidemic of a mild type, it is well to use every precaution to prevent its spreading. Until we have a complete system of sewerage more than ordinary care should be taken with all refuse matter that has a tendency to breed disease, for carelessness in this respect is bound to produce conditions that effect the whole community. Any efforts put forward by the Board of Health to insure the good health of the town, should have the help and encouragement of every citizen, for it is certainly a step in the right direction.

CANADA AND SHIP.

BUILDING PLANTS

The initial cost of setting up ship-building yards in this country for the purpose of building warships will be $20,000,000. The interest charges, once we are properly set agoing, will be $4,000,000 per annum. No doubt, it is a growing time; but these are considerable figures, and they take no account of the warships themselves.

Each Dreadnought costs $12,000,000, and it is said that the latest super-Dreadnought of Germany cost $15,000,000.

We have liked to call ourselves a nation. It is a swelling word; but it means, and must always mean, more tax collectors.

We were a careless, happy people, buoyantly free and unrestrained. No heavy burdens pressed us down. We invited the poor and the oppressed of older civilizations to join us in this new world which was happily free from many of the more bitter sorrows of the old. To be a nation means, among other things, that we shall pay more and laugh less. The careless time is gone. Our responsibilities are beginning. We are about to take our seat at the council board of the nations. We shall have less change in our pocket, less of the springiness of youth in our step. Life won't be all "beer and skittles"—when we get a navy.

BY THE WAY

What about the coal bin?

Don't drop matches in the dry leaves.

The approach to "City Hall" is to be improved. That'll do for a starter.

"Lovers labor lost." Burning wet edgings.

Cement works, sugar refinery, shipyard and dry dock all for St. John, with more resolutions and delegations to Ottawa.

The subway incident is closed for the season. Perhaps there are good and sufficient reasons for delaying this matter but it looks very much like monumental blundering on some one's part.

When children leave home at 8.30 a. m. and return at 4.30 p. m. it is hard to see where they will have time to study. The movement in favor of abolishing home study seems to be growing.

Will Messrs. Peary and Cook kindly get in a corner somewhere and settle that North Pole business? It is not so much what they say about each other that is vexatious, but to pick up exchange after exchange and see yards of editorial on the question of the probable veracity of these explorers gives one that tired feeling.—Colonist.

The revenue of the Dominion shows great expansion during the past six months. For the first half of the present fiscal year the revenue is over six million dollars more than during the same period last year. With good crops this season it seems probable that this rate will be kept up during the remainder of the year. It is estimated that the surplus this year will be between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000.

Appalling is the picture of Canada drawn by a writer in the Dublin Freeman's Journal, Canada must get inhabitants, at any cost in suffering to the newcomers. "When we've hoveled round the cow byres many of the newcomers will go mad with the desperation of loneliness, and the bitter hardship of the life. Many will fall in utter misery by the wayside, but some will live through it all. The first bands of victims are romantically called pioneers. Then afterwards, on the ruins of those happier through, we will reap in joy where others thrived in sorrow.

A physician at a recent meeting of the College of Physicians in Philadelphia told a story illustrating the witty comprehension of a patient of Irish nativity. The physician declared that one of his patients, an Irishman, could not understand why, if one of his arms refused to perform its usual functions, the other should remain normal.

"It is the balancing power of nature," explained the physician. "If a man is blind in one eye, nature generally provides additional strength for the remaining eye. When deafness is discovered in one ear the hearing of the other ear becomes unusually acute."

"Now that you mention it, Oj believe 'tis so," said the patient. "When a man has a short leg, the other leg is generally longer."—Judge.

—Ice Come in the Boston Herald.

The Presbyterian synod has pronounced against long services at funerals. The Kings County Record endorses the stand taken and says:—In country districts, where long drives are necessary before interment, it has often been as much as one's life was worth to attend a funeral. Comfortably situated in a warm house too many clergymen are likely to forget on a bleak winter's day the woes of those who stand outside shivering with cold and making themselves fit subjects for pneumonia. Common sense is opposed to any such program and there are few who cannot recall a case in which a friend attended a funeral, only to pay for his action with his life. The decision of part of the clergy to look upon funeral services from a practical standpoint is a matter for congratulation all round. Now that the Presbyterian church has taken action in the matter, it might be well for other denominations to fall in line.

Boston, Oct. 14.--The will of a St. George, N. B. woman has been filed for probate in the Suffolk county court. The case is unique in that although several bequests are made it does not appear that the maker of the will left an estate here with which the conditions of the document can be carried out. The testatrix was Bridget Doyle, a former resident in the parish of St. George N. B., and the beneficiaries are her three daughters, who live here. The document refers to some real estate in the parish of St. George, conveyed to Mrs. Doyle by Neville G. D. Parker in June 1886, but no other property is itemized.

Judge Barry presided at his first circuit in St. Andrews Tuesday 12th. He was presented with addresses from the Grand Jury and Barristers to which he made a feeling reply.

The docket was made up as follows:-- T. Edward Nelson vs. Wm. O'Brien, trover; M. Macdonald, K. C., for the plaintiff; J. W. Richardson for defendant.

Frank L. Lakeman and Araminta C. Lakeman vs. Harry B. Ross and Peter P. Russel, action for debt. N. Marks Mills for plaintiffs; J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and M. N. Cockburn, K. C., for defendants.

The first case taken up was that of Nelson vs. O'Brien, in which the plaintiff sued to recover the value of goods left behind him on the farm at St. James when he separated from his wife five years ago and which he claimed belonged to him.

The matter of Robt. Maguire, a perjury charge left over from last court, was disposed of by the entering of a nolle prosequi and the discharging of Maguire's bail.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars to any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause rather than the effect would come into practice. A tiny, inside hidden, nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also gives strength to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fail then these inside organs must suffer. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize again. Sold by all Dealers.

Rubens, says the doctor never did cure rheumatism. It is more than skin deep--it is constitutional, always. Because of this principle, Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy is perhaps the most popular in existence. It goes by word of mouth from one to another, everywhere.
