COUNTS COME HIGH. Paris, Sept. 4. — It is now known why the sale of Count Castellane's caswas countermanded. Countess Anna, though failing to sway her brothers, and especially her sister Helen, to give money for Count Boni on their last trip to New York for that purpose some months ago, decided to make a last appeal, and her distress was so pitiful that Edwin was touched, and he finally prevailed upon George.

brothers then sent for Count some rather severe conditions, put up enough money to pay the main cred-Iters and stop the sale.

Well informed friends allege that Count Boni when he saw, how desirous the Gould family was to prevent the scandal of a sale under the hammer, took advantage of the situation and refused to accept any help unless his whole debts were wiped out.

The same people further affirm that George Gould refused to trust the money in the count's hands, and paid the creditors themselves, the sum thus advanced aggregating 8,000,000 francs, about $1,600,000.

MOUNTAIN OF COPPER ORE

Description of W. H. Treat's Discovery.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 4 .- W. H. Treat, of New York, has made an important discovery of copper ore on Howe Sound. One of his prospectors has located a veritable mountain of copper not a mile from the famous Britannia group. Mr. Treat says it will go six per cent copper, and richer than the Sultan group, which sold for $1,500,000. He said: "I have seen many big mines in my day, but never anything like the showof the Goldsmith, my new find. Nature has cut away the soft crust and left the mineralized rock standing 500 feet high. Nature has done what years to do in the way of exposing the ore. It is as if a tunnel were driven down 350 feet and then broken off, so that the ore was exposed. On the surface there have been several open cuts, and the mineral can be traced for 1,-500 feet.'

Sir Charles Tupper said: "If the people of Canada had any conception of what the Goldsmith copper properties were like they would greatly excited over the fact that

PRESBYTERIANS

Circular Issued by Committee on Creed Revision.

Pittsburg, Sept. 4 .- The committee on creed revision appointed at the last meeting of the Presbyterian general assembly, has issued a circular to the presbyteries of the church reciting the authority for the appointment of the committees to ascertain the general feeling in regard to the proposed re-vision of the creed, and requesting the presbyteries to consider and answer the following inquiries: 1. Do you desire a revision of our confession of faith? or 2. Do you desire a supplemental, explanatory statement? or 8. Do you desire to supplement our promptly. present doctrinal standards with a briefer statement of the doctrines "most surely believed among us," pressing in simple language the faith of the church in loyalty to the system of doctrine contained in Holy Scrip-tures and held by the reformed churches? or 4. Do you desire the dismissal of the whole subject, so that our doctrinal standards shall remain as they are, without any change whatever, whether revisional, supplemental or substitutional?

The presbyteries are requested to record the affirmative and negative votes. This, it is thought, will cause divided vote in the Allegheny and Pittsburg presbyteries, as most of the ministers differ regarding the proposed revision of the creed.

New Yory, Sept. 3.—Between 12,000 and 15,000 people took advantage of the holiday to visit the Sheepshead Bay race track today. Perfect weather, a fast track and one of the best cards of the season made the outing a pleasant one, as the sport was interesting and spirited. The Twin City handicap at 11/4 miles, was the feature, and it resulted in a storming struggle with a sensational dead heat at the wire between Ethelbert and Jack Point. They were only a neck before Killashandra, while the other four starters were only necks apart, and all so closely bunched that a length club is dickering with the management did not separate the first and last of the Painsville team with the hope horse. The starter caught them in line at the third break, and dropped his flag to a good start. Killashandra went out to make the running, followhis unconditional release. The latter showed the way to the sant half to fifth place, letting Martimas, Jack stretch, but only by a scant half length, as the field closed up, every horse looking to have a chance. A hard drive to the wire followed, Ethelbert gradually wearing down the leaders on the outside, while Jack Point was closing with a rush on the rail. In the last jump Henry got Jack Point up to Ethelbert, and they crossed the finish line so close together that the judges could not separate them. Killashandra was only a neck away, with the others so closely bunched that a blanket could have covered the lot. The finish the season a few days ago, and has brought out a storm of cheers. The Commercial Travelers' Discovery.

Commercial men who have been traveling through the country in recent years say they are much impressed with the prosperity of the people, the progress they are making, the soundness of business conditions, and the reof the Dominion. There will be no change. The people do not desire that the conditions which prevailed prior to 1896 shall be re-established.

But as we are on the eve of a general election the friends of good government must remember, what the commercial traveler well knows, that as business can only be retained by him who hustles, so in a political campaign it is the hustler who is likely to win.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and let us add, of prosperity.

Cannot Capture Them.

The Montreal Star is the most aggressive of the trade restriction organs. It is often amusing in its political vagaries, if it is not instructive. Here we have it addressing Liberals who favor that only half a dozen of us could get even freer trade than has been given to this meeting, and if they had had by the present Government, and urging them to vote for the candidates of | Our firm has been in business for over the combines and of the trade restric-

It merely endeavors to make the trade freedom advocates believe that the tax resome expected, therefore "a lesson" nust be taught the Liberal leaders, and that lesson is to be imparted by proold invitation, "Will you walk into my parlor? said the spider to the fly." Abolish Duluth, Sept. 4.—A few years ago if the preference of 33 1-3 per cent new anybody said there will be erected in market, and go back to the halcyon days of Red Parlor control of the tariff and government of Canada." There are no doubt Liberals who would like to see the tariff further reduced. But they will have taken leave of their senses if they listened to the crafty counsels of the Montreal Star to vote for the rehabilitation of the politicians whose policy is to undo the splendid been given to the country and to reestablish the old system of grievous

Manitoba and the Northwest have given the country many agreeable surprises this year. Every recurring week has brought reports of a yield of grain much in advance of what was expected the previous week.

Canadian women do not work in the fields as do women in European countries. Some of them might have much better health if they were able to work a little in the fields, and have a great deal less to do in the kitchen.

This has been the best year for travel ever experienced by the railways of Canada. It is eloquent testimony to the prosperity of the people, for a very large proportion of the travelers have been on pleasure and relaxation bent.

The preferential tariff of 33 per cent in favor of British goods benefits both the Mother Country and Canada. Great Britain buys more from us; we increase our sales enormously: we have every Britisher speaking favorably of us.

The more bitter partisans lament the present condition of things in Canada, the more earnestly will well-wishers of the Dominion resolve to continue m. When times are good is no time risk changes that may lodge us in the slough of hard times.

> We hope the Ministers at Ottawa, when they come to fix the date of the Dominion general elections, will resolve to make the campaign as short as possible. The legal formalities incident to nomination and polling require some four to five weeks to elapse between the issue of the writs and polling day. That is a long enough period. Let there be as little disturbance to business as possible.

That was a significant speech which Mr. S. Coulson, the Montreal iron manufacturer, made at the meeting of the Toronto Manufacturers' Association in Toronto. "We in Montreal," he said. "are perfectly satisfied. We never were so busy in our lives. We are so busy grievances they would have been here. 40 years, and I can say that we have never experienced a tariff that worked so well and smoothly as does the presadvance trade freedom, of course, the ent, and I can say that this is the general feeling in Montreal, I only hope that the next five or ten or more years may give us a continuance of the era ductions effected by the present Gov- of prosperity we have enjoyed during ernment have not been as great as the last two years." Formal Annexation of the Transvaal Announced.

Burning of Thirty Boer Farms Ordered.

Great Damage Done by the Mafeking Tornado-British Garrison at Ladybrand May Have to Surrender.

London, Sept. 3 .- Under date of Belfast, Sept. 1, Lord Roberts reports: "I have today issued, under her majesty's warrant of July 4, proclamations announcing that the Trans vaal will henceforth form a part of her Majesty's dominions."

At Cape Town, the communication to the assembly of Lord Roberts' proclamation announcing the annexation of the South African Republic, which will hereafter be known as the Transvaal, was greeted by the opposition with silence and by the ministerialists with prolonged cheering.

Gen. Baden-Powell left for Cape Town Sunday.

BOER FARMS TO BE BURNED. The Cape Town correspondent of the Manchester Guardian telegraphs that a proclamation by Lord Roberts has been posted at Bloemfontein, ordering the burning of upward of 30 farms as punishment for the destruction of railway and telegraph lines, and the fining of 50 others to one-eighth of their value for similar offences.

THE MAFEKING TORNADO. Mafeking advices say that the tornado which visited that place on the evening of Aug. 29 did greater damage than was at first reported. The number of people killed is more numerous than the first estimate: The troops underwent a terrible experience.

BRITISH TROOPS IN A BAD FIX. Maseru, Basutoland, Sept. 3 .- Comunder Fouril, Grobelaar, Bemmer and Hassebrock, together with 200 of Theron's scouts are investing the British garrison at Lady-It is reported that the troops brand. have already burned their stores, and it is feared that they will be compelled to surrender. Gen. Hunter is hastening to their relief.

Otter's Last Report.

SIXTY-THREE OF OUR MEN DEAD UP TILL JULY 21.

The report from Lieut.-Col. Otter, commanding the R. C. R. I., under date of July 21, at Springs, says: "When the enemy was still hovering Yet workmen are now engaged ployed in intelligence work. Lieut. of the district and commandant of the station. He says: "From all I can learn the sick of the battalion are improving, and during the past week fully 140 non-commissioned officers and men have rejoined the force.

> Referring to the death of Lieut, Borden he says: "One becomes hardened to the casualties incident thereto, and hears of death and disease almost with indifference. But in the case of the late Lieut. Borden, we all learned of his death with feelings of deep regret. because of his well-known gallantry and close connection with the gentleman who is at the head of the Canadian militia, and whose patriotic efforts in behalf of the empire have been so prominent. To him we respectfully ask permission to offer our most sincere sympathy in what must be the greatest affliction possible. I am forwarding," says Col. Otter, "a package of letters for deceased N. C. O. and men of the battalion, and trust that mistakes which occurred in similar packages are not repeated."

The services of Major McDougall as staff officer at Cape Town will be required for some time after the embarkation of his battalion for Canada. On the 16th July I received, he continues, a telegram from Lord Roberts, asking the probable number of the battalion who were desirous of return-ing to Canada, by England, in view of a proposed inspection by her Majesty of representatives of colonial troops in England, and the presentation of banners. On consulting the officers commanding companies on the subject, I found that the majority of the officers and men wished to return home by England, and, therefore, replied to the field marshal's query that at least 650 desired to avail themselves of the opportunity of going to England, and I made the request that their wish should be complied with, and if not possible to find room for that number in the representation that the necessary reduction could be made in England. To this end I have as yet received no reply but have some slight hope that my request will be acceded to. You can quite understand that none of us would desire to be separated from the battalion on its return to Canada, and that all would be of the honor of an inspection by her Majesty.

Mr. W. C. Matthews Talks of Trade in Canada.

The West Especially Shows a Remarkable Change-Overstocking in Some Parts.

Mr. W. C. Matthews, general manager for Messrs. R. G. Dun & Co. in Canada, having just completed a trip in which he has visited the different offices of the company from the Atlantic to the Pacific, gives a representative of the Globe his impressions of the trade about as follows:

Mr. Matthews says: "I find that trade throughout Canada for the past year or so has been better than for a long time past. There is at present something of a lull in most lines, but some reaction was bound to follow such an advance, while the conditions underlying the trade of the country lead me to believe there is a longer era of prosperity ahead than there has been experienced in the past. Our great natural resources are being demonstrated, the product of our forest and mines are yielding handsome returns, while the enormous expansion in the exports of agricultural produce shows what a source of wealth lies in this direction. The past two years have been a harvest time for many manufacturers. Formerly when good times made their appearance they invested their profits in buildings and machinery, but this time very few additions have been made: liabilities have been wiped out and substantial sums added to bank eccounts. "In the Maritime Provinces trade is better than for some years past, the enormous steel works being established at Sydney, Cape Breton, having had a stimulating effect, and other industries are likely to follow. Gold-mining in Nova Scotia is being carried on successfully in a moderate way and is adding its quota to the general prosperity. "In Ontario and Quebec general ade has been good, and though is nothing of a permanently discouraging nature in sight.

"A great improvement has taken place in Winnipeg since I was there two years ago. The numerous handsome wholesale houses, the well-paved streets and the large number of fine residences that have been erected indicate a growth that is very gratifying, and while the short crop in Manitoba will no doubt have its effect on business there is no cause for apprehension, so far as I can see. Some economies will have to be practiced that would not have been necessary if the crop had been good, and merchants will have to be careful in their buying as well as in the giving of credit, but the temporary check may prove wholesome and the future of the great province of Manitoba is too well assured to be seriously affected by one short

"In the Territories I learn the crop prospects are of the brightest, and a short period of fine weather will assure the greatest yield on record. The ranching season has been very favorable, and the towns in that district seem of little consequence, but it are progressing satisfactorily. "In British Columbia the drastic labor law, the various strikes and the political ferment of the past few months have had a depressing effect "Things seem to be settling down, however, the changed conditions are being accepted, and the situation is improving. Speaking generally, merchants are overstocked, and it will take some time for the goods now on hand to be absorbed in the legitimate way of trade. It is probable a good many will have to ask favors from the wholesale men and manufacturers, and these should be granted wherever the conditions are right. In the meantime great care should be exercised in granting credits, and goods should not be crowded on anyone. In Vancouver a noticeable change has taken place in the way of building and public improvements since my last visit in 1898. the people are full of hope for the future,, the depression is likely to be only a temporary one, and I have no doubt as to the eventual success of that enterprising and progressive city. "In Victoria a number of good buildings have been erected, and a general brightening up is visible in the business portion of the city. Trade is better there than in other cities in the province, as they are getting a larger proportion of the Klondike business, about 75 per cent of which is now be ing done in this country, a fact that Canadian. "Nelson has been growing rapidly within the past two years. A number of handsome blocks have been erected, streets improved and a general air of prosperity is apparent. Like other places they are pretty well loaded with goods, but with their distributing facilities, the expected improvement in mining matters is likely to help them should be most gratifying to every

"In the Boundary Creek country heavy stocks are the rule, and even with the early opening of the smelters and general activity in the mines tight times are likely to prevail for a season. One of the great needs of the west, particularly Manitoba and the Territories, is a large increase in the right kind of settlers. Indiscriminate migration should be discouraged, but stocks have been pretty heavy and for thrifty, prudent people, with suffi-payments of late a little slow, there cient means to sustain them for a year there is no more inviting place than the fertile lands of these great prov-

"Taking the situation as a whole, there is much to encourage the belief that the national development of the next few years will be great, but we must not forget that we cannot hope to always remain on the 'crest of the wave,' and it is necessary in the years of plenty to prepare for the lean ones that may follow; with reasonable care, however, the growth and development of the Dominion should be rapid and

"I must not fail to tell you that in going from Toronto to Vancouver by Canadian Pacific Railway in exactly four days I arrived on the minute, and my return over the same route was only five minutes late. This common occurrence should be a matter of pride to every Canadian taking an interest in our great national highway."

Many of the country buyers brought in cash with them to adjust accounts, and the reports of trade given in most cases are very satisfactory, and the outlook for fall busi-

FAILURES FOR AUGUST.

Failures reported by R. G. Dun & Co. for August are 735 in number with liabilities of $7,323,903. In manufacturing there were 174 defaults for $2,945,607 and in trading 519 for $3,585,667, while the other commercial numbered 42, amounting to $792,629. Only two banking concerns failed, and the liabilities aggregated but $146,000. This is a most gratifying exhibition when the existing conditions are taken into consideration. The commercial mortality for the month just ended was smaller than in any previous month this year.

Taku, Aug. 30, via Shanghai, Sept. 3.-The Chinese in the Pei Ho Valley are paying dearly for the folly of their government. Along the river and the roads traveled by the foreign troops between Tien Tsin and Pekin an orgy of looting and destruction continues with much slaughter of unoffending

In the overcrowded, famine-threatened districts away from the river their lives and small possessions are at the mercy of bands of soldiers traveling about without officers.

The few who dared to protest were kicked about. Several bodies lay in the streets, apparently those of non-combatants. The inhabitants, without food or clothing, were huddling in back yards in a pitiable condition. The villages to the southward are even worse despoiled. When entering Pekin correspondents of the Associated Press saw Cossacks smash down Chinese women with the butts of their guns and pound their heads until they were dead. The Cossacks would pick up children barely old enough to walk, hold them by the ankles and beat out their brains on the pavement. Russian officers looked on without protest. American officers at Taku, days after the fighting was finished, saw Russians bayonet children and throw old men in the river, clubbing them to death when they tried to swim. The Russians killed women who knelt before them and begged for mercy. Everybody was disposed to be friendly towards the Russians in the early days of the fighting at Tien Tsin because of their bravery, but such incidents as the foregoing have been so prominent a feature of the campaign that no one who is supposed to report important facts can ignore them. They are so numerous as to compel the conclusion that they are not isolated episodes, but the ordinary practices of Russian warfare.

SPLENDID EXHIBIT

Of the Imperial Varnish and Color Company Unavoidably Absent From the Fair.

It is with regret we have to announce that owing to a rush of orders the Imperial Varnish and Color Company, Limited, of Toronto, will be unable to exhibit at the fair here. The exhibit made at the Toronto Industrial is such a fine one that its absence will be a serious loss to the exhibition. Lundy, the company's western repre-sentative, will attend the fair, however, and be pleased to explain the valuable features of the company's goods to all carriage men, whose interests will be greatly furthered by investigating them. The Toronto World report of the fair says:

The Imperial Varnish and Color Company, Limited, certainly have left themselves open for congratulations from all sources for their splendid taste displayed in getting up their double exhibit between the three west end doors of the carriage building. One exhibit is especially interesting to carriage manufacturers and carriage painters. It is a showing of work finished with their Saving Enamel System of Carriage Painting, as well as a full display of the materials of their Carriage Varnishes. It is very interesting, indeed, to have Mr. Martin, their expert finisher, who is in charge, explain, as I overheard him do to a carriage man, the saving of about half the labor and material in using this Enamel System in place of the old, slow process. Certainly there is no work in the building better finished than the wheels and panels they are York, on showing. And the wear—well, he hand- England. ed two finished spokes to this man and asked him to knock it off if he could, and not to be afraid to hit them. Just across the door passage is a second exhibit of Elastilite Varnish, which will surely catch the eye of all merchants interested in the sale or use of varnish as well as all householders.

The original plan of putting this line of goods up is what struck me. It is one of the curiosities of the fair to see their big show can, and how 53 small tins, ranging in size from 1/2-pint to 1 gallon, are packed into it.

Carriage men, merchants. anv-body and everybody interested in varnish should see these two exhibits. They are not only up-to-date, but I think a little ahead of the times. Mr. Martin is ably assisted in looking after the exhibit by the company's staff of travelers.

Chung-Li's Proclamation Called for the Extermination of All Foreigners-The Chinese Peace Commissioners

London, Sept. 4.—The absence of news regarding the actual situation of affairs at Pekin continues as complete as the lack of authentic information regarding the ultimate attitude of the powers towards the proposals now before the concert. Shanghai reports that an imperial edict issued at Tai white circles, and the center occupied Yuan Fu, appointing Li Hung Chang, Yung Lu, Hsu Tung (tutor of the heir apparent), and Prince Ching, commissioners to negotiate peace. The unmistakeable condemnation to withdraw immediately from Pekin, voiced from all the foreign colonies in the far east, is taken as a forecast of the opinion to be expected from the ministers when their views are obtainable. The Russian proposals are capable of modification, and it is thought that Lord Salisbury is striving to conform them more closely to the terms first formulated by the government at Washington.

Russian officials repudiate any intention to claim territorial concessions, provided the other powers refrain from so doing.

CHUNG LI'S CRIME.

BOER RESISTANCE

Supposed To Be Virtually at an End-Roberts' Annexation Problem Approved.

London, Sept. 4, 6 a.m .- Lord Roberts' proclamation annexing the Trans-vaal is construed here to mean that the Boer resistance is supposed by the military authorities to be virtually at an end, and that henceforward Boers remaining in arms in the Transvaal will be treated as rebels. It must, however, be remembered that a similar proclamation in Orange River colony, did not put an end to the activity of the Boer commandos.

Almost without exception this morning's papers refer to Lord Roberts' proclamation announcing the annexa-tion of the Transvaal by England in terms of satisfaction. CANADIANS WOUNDED.

A FATEFUL. DIAMOND

In the act her hat fell to the floor, and she stood there before her aston-ished captor, proud and haughty as a queen, with indignation flashing from her glorious eyes.

Monsieur Perrine was stricken dumb. Of course, he recognized her instantly and he staggered back from her as if he had been smitten by a blow.

"Mademoiselle Houghton!" Count Lorrain, springing forward to her side, his face absolutely colorless. "Pardon! pardon! that such an indignity should have been offered you in my presence!"
"Is it because I am Miss Houghton

instead of a humble waiting-maid that an apology is tendered to me?"

"No, indeed, mademoiselle; but it moves me more deeply, knowing you as I do. I would not have allowed any harm to come to either of you. I was even trying to devise some way to help you out of your difficulty," he concluded, in a low tone.

'I believe you, Count Lorrain," re plied Margaret, more calmly, "and I know I do not need to appeal to you for protection against further annoy-

Margaret heaved a sigh of relief at the information, and Count Lorrain, moving to the mantel, rang a bell. A moment later there came a tap on the door, and, stepping to it, he spoke a few words to someone without, and then came back to Margaret, who had seated herself upon a sofa, and beckoned Annette to do the same.
"I cannot tell you," said the count regretfully, "how I deplore what has happened—the annoyance, the distress, you have suffered. M. Perrine has overstepped all bounds in doing as he has done this evening, and it would be no more than his due if he was expelled from the club on account of it.' he concluded, sternly, turning to that abashed individual, who had dropped into the nearest chair and seemed overcome with confusion and shame. He glanced up appealingly as the

'Some explanation is due you for my being in this costume," she said, turning to the count, a bright flush on her cheek. "I am afraid it was a very rash thing for me to venture out thus, but a deed of charity called me forthone of those which could not go unheeded-so I took my maid, and clad as another, I hoped to escape recogni-

"Most certainly, mademoiselle: you may trust me fully," he replied, grave-

Then turning to his companion, he "You understand, Perrine, this is to

"Monsieur Perrine," said Margaret, turning to him after a moment of reflection, "if I could be assured that this experience would be a profitable lesson to you-that it would lead you to feel respect for womanhood, whether in the person of the high-bred lady or the humble waiting-maid, it might do much toward softening the present state of my feelings toward you-my indigna-tion-my resentment." "I pledge mademoiselle my word of honor—I swear I will never be guilty of a like offense again." 'Has monsieur a sister?" Margaret asked, gently.

"Yes, a lovely maiden of fifteen years," he answered, his face kindling with pride and affection.

"Monsieur loves her?" "I adore her-she is an angel!" "Can Monsieur Perrine imagine her

"Monsieur would resent it?" Margaret questioned. "I would kill the man who dared assail her!" he cried. Margaret laid her hand upon the shoulder of Annette, who was sitting beside her, and regarding her with a look of adoration She was beautiful as "an angel," with that earnest gravity on her face, and the light of a holy purpose in her lovely eyes.

"This young girl," she said, solemn-"though in humbler circumstances than your sister, monsieur, is, nevertheless, as good and pure as the fair maiden whom monsieur so fondly loves. She is a woman, and—" Margaret paused an instant, impressively raising her hand, as if to give greater effect to her words, "a woman's innocence, and purity, and self-respect, be she high rich or poor, are the most precious things she possesses: they are jewels which God has given her to guard and give back to him untarnished, and he who would rob her of them eserves not the name of man, nor a place among men—he should be wiped off the face of the earth."

"Ah! what a wretch I have been!" muttered the young man, flushing searlet beneath her seathing words. "In my own country," Margaret con-nued, "where social distinction is not tinued, so marked as it is here, every good weman regards every other who is pure and true as her sister, and resents all indignity offered her, as she would if it was offered herself. This girl who is with me tonight is my friend as well as my servant; she has rendered me faithful service, and she has been as deeply pained-as greatly wronged as

There was a moment of silence, after Margaret concluded, during which Count Lorrain stood regarding this brave, beautiful woman with astonishment, mingled with profound admiration; and, had she looked into his eyes just then, she might have read there even a tenderer sentiment.

Then something occurred that amaz-Monsieur Perrine stood irresolute one moment, the next he lifted his head with a determined air and walked with the amount received by Corbett and McCoy a firm tread to where Annette was sit-

She arose and frankly extended her hand, with a smile that was bewildering to both gentlemen. "I believe Monsieur Perrine is sincere, else I should never offer him my hand," she said, kindly. "He is fully forgiven, and—may I have his pledge that, henceforth, he will respect my sex in every sphere in life?"

Margaret sank wearily upon the sofa, feeling greatly unnerved now that this trying ordeal was over. Count Lorrain sprang to the table, poured out a glass of wine and brought it to her.

It would be difficult to name a virtue which, if a man plunge headlong into it, does not become a vice; nor a vice which, if a man mix it with and rule it by a higher passion, may not become a virtue.-Lyman Abbott.

Vicissitudes of fortune are commonplaces of history. Many a man once seemingly pinnacled on the top of greatness has "shot from the zenith like a falling star," and has become a proverb of the fickleness of history. Lewis.

WHEEL. MICHAEL BREAKS SEVERAL REC-ORDS.

Philadelphia. Pa., Sept. 1.-Jimmy Michael today regained the middle-distance cycling championship by defeating Johany Nelson in a 25-mile motor-paced race on the Woodside Park track. Michael finished about a quarter lap ahead of Nelson, in 39 minutes and 16 seconds, breaking the world's record of 39.45, made by Nelson on the same track about two weeks ago. Nelson's time for the 25 miles today was 39.31 3-5. Nelson led at the finish of the first mile, but was soon passed by Michael, who finished the second mile in 3.44 4-5 Up to the thirteenth mile the riders did not display much speed, but Michael low-ered the previous best record for 13 miles, 20.10 4-5. held by Nelson, crossing the tape in 20.04 3-5. He also made a new record for 15 miles, 23 03. lowering Nelson's previous record of 23.28.

CRICKET. Toronto, Ont., Sept. 1 .- The Philadelphia cricketers left town today with a clear slate, as they won every match they have played in Toronto. They defeated Park-dale, St. Alban's, Upper Canada College and Toronto-Rosedale. The scores in the match with Toronto Rosedale, which began yesterday and concluded today, were: Philadelphia-First inning, 172; second inning, for four wickets, 162. Toronto-Rosedale-First inning, 156; second inning, for three wickets, 88. Thus the visitors win on the first inning. The principal scores made by the local players today were: D. W. Saunders, 35, not out; Larkin 22, not out, and J H. Forester, 12.

PRIZE FIGHTERS MAKE BIG MONEY. New York, Sept. 3 -This is the first week almost in five years in which no fight is scheduled in the Metropolitan district, and for the reason that prize fights are now misdemeanors. Fitzsimmons, exclusive of royalties on his picture fights and his etage engagements, gathered in approximately $70,000 out of the Horton law. Jim Jetfries, the champion, put away $40,000 in government 4 per cents, and it is his boast that he has nearly twice that much more. Tom Sharkey has a house in Sheepshead Bay and can write his check for at least $30.000. Corbett has not had so many opportunities, proportionately, as some of the others, and $45,000 might be set down fairly as his earnings. McCoy might be placed at close to the same figure, and Maher says he has a home in Westchester and can live until the Horton law comes around again. Terry McGovern's share is thought to be larger than that of any of the others. He was managed with great skill. He will not approximate his earnings, but they were probably quite large, $10,000 being a common estimate. Figures differ to and others interested in the last big fight However, it is stated on good authority "Mademoiselle," he said, addressing her, and speaking as courteously as if he had been addressing Margaret her-"I humbly crave your pardon for unwarrantable annoyance this given as follows: Madison Square Garden, $9,000; a state senator, $9,600; J. The annual demonstration of the ness the excellent programme of games over town and sold by city labor people of London was a notable success, although conditions prevailed in the morning that seemed to preclude the possibility of an enjoyable day. The rain fell heavily right up to the hour set for the procession. It stopped about noon, but the dark clouds seemed to forebode another shower, and caused many who would have otherwise participated in it to sidered, but the sun shone out again and it was decided to carry out the original programme. The market square, where it was to form, was entirely deserted until some of the visiting workmen arrived here. Those from Ingersoll came on the 11.00 G. T. R. train, and the St. Thomas unionists arrived at 12 o'clock on the L. E. and D. R. They came 200 strong, and there were about 100 from Ingersoll. The latter were accompanied by the A. O. F. band, under the leadership of Bandmaster Hunt. 11t played the visitors to the square, where they awaited the local men. Meanwhile, at the various union meeting places throughout the city, the men were gathering and being arranged in order by their marshals. One union after another marched to the market, and the numbers soon obtained large proportions. The marshals had all they could do in handling so large a crowd. While they were perfecting arrangements Pipers McLeod and Wilson, of St. Thomas, entertained the onlookers with Scottish airs. The parade started soon after one o'clock, and in spite of all counteracting influences it presented a splendid appearance. The rain had not interfered with the procession as much as it had with the spectators. The general public were under the impression that a successful parade would be an impossibility. There were not the usual throngs to witness it. However. there were still hundreds who saw it along Dundas street.

The procession was formed in the following order:

Chief Marshal Beal and Pipers. A. O. F. Band, Ingersoll. Visiting Delegates from Ingersoll and St. Thomas. Painters' Union, Marshal Hardingham. Metal Polishers' Float. Metal Polishers' Union, Marshal Geo.

Every union in the city had made arrangements for the largest turnout that was ever held here, and while the parade was more than a mile long as it was, no opinion could be hazarded as to its size if the morning's weather had not been so foreboding. Some of the unions were represented by only a few members. If the morning had been as bright and enjoyable as the afternoon all the members would have been on parade. The weather had its effect upon the visiting contingents also and kept many from joining in the procession who would otherwise have been here. As it was, the unionists from Ingersoll and St. Thomas made a very show. They turned out in nearly full strength and presented a very good appearance with their distinguishing "blue label" badges and the union's silken badges. The members of the painters' union wore light-colored fedoras, with small brushes in the band. A gaily-decked wagon, on which was a handsomely polished cooking range, preceded the metal polishers. The electrical workers also had a wagon arranged to signify their occupation.

With the upper part of a telegraph pole, cross arms, flags and bunting, they made a very effective float. No union presented a better or more attractive appearance than the London Typographical Union. As usual on such occasions they had gone to considerable expense, and the result jus-tified their endeavors. All the members were khaki caps and carried small Japanese parasols. John Hooper, sen., the oldest printer in the city and the veteran member of the union, carried the handsome banner of No. 133. "Dad," as he is affectionately called, stepped out like a colt, and looks good for many more Labor Day processions. A neat banner was carried at the head of the carriagemakers' union. Division No. 97, of Street Railway Employes was represented by six members. A number of St. Thomas tailors walked with the members of the local union, who made a very creditable other organization that presented a band, under Bandmaster Philips' leadership. AT THE PARK. On arrival at the grounds the majority of the visitors proceeded to occupy the grand stands that they might witand specialties provided, though a number remained in the park and contented themselves with the war pictures and other attractions found there. The programme in front of the stand was an interesting and varied one. Selections were rendered by the excellent A. O. F. Band of Ingersoll, and by Sandy Drennan's ragtime band. Geismier and Grouse did a trick bicycle act, a Chinese juggler did some clever tricks, Ikey Iverstein's mysterious clo-Stage" was attacked by a crew of bloodthirsty Indians, and were driven off by Willie Buffalo's dashing band of cowboys. The dancing contest excited considerable interest, there being five competitors, Messrs, John Clark, of this city, and James McKenna, of Brantford, were the judges in the dancing, pipe music being furnished by Malcolm McLeod and Jack Wilson, of St. Thomas. Dr. Stevenson acted as starter of the races, being assisted by Marshai Jack Beal, while the judges were Messrs. W. McGeary, J. Hiscott and W. Burdick. The winners of the

IN THE EVENING. The evening performance was somewhat similar to that of the afternoon. A number of local comedians carried out a programme that was far from being slow. A much larger crowd were present than in the afternoon. Sandy Drennan, Dave Walsh and Frank K. Gruger were the stellar attractions, and they managed to keep things going in a way that was entirely satisfactory. One of the evening's pleasantest features was the singing of Mr. John Birmingham. His songs creditable showing and earned the very well illustrated and were decided-thanks of the local committee for the material assistance they gave in mak-melodies he was assisted by Mr. J.

How similar is the ancient looking house to an out of date suit. And why not, since the clothing is the house of the body? People are often judged by the appearance of their esidence, as also are men often judged by the garments they wear.
