be drawn from its scabbard. Lord Kitchener eulogized Lord Milner, British High Commissioner in South Africa, and made an appeal, based upon his intimate and personal friendship with and knowledge of the South African administrator, that he be given the confidence and support of the British nation. Referring to the mineral and agricultural wealth of the new territory, Lord Kitchener said: "You may assure yourselves that you have nothing else than the makings of a new America in the Southern Hemisphere." He said the question who would supply the energy, brains and money to carry out this development was one more for his hearers than for himself, but when, as in South Africa, patriotism was joined with self-interest, he was not afraid they would fail to sow the seed and reap the harvest for which hoped that those who had recently been Dover, Aug. 1.—Holbein, who started at 6 o'clock last night from Cape Gris-Nez, France, to swim across the English Channel to Dover, was obliged, after a plucky effort, and when in sight of his goal, to abandon the at-tempt owing to unfavorable conditions.

At 5:30 this morning he had covered 30 miles although then he was only eight miles off the French coast. It had been expected that he would reach Varne Buoy 6½ miles of Dover, on the western tide, but when he failed of this a consultation was held aboard

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 31.-Hon. Mr. Tarte passed through the Soo yesterday, en route for Chicago and Milwaukee from Fort William. In an interview the minister said that he had decided to recommend that the Dominion Government expend the sum of $100,000 for dredging the channel from the international dock to the Canadian canal, so that vessels of any depth may be able to pass through the locks. Mr. Tarte said that if possible the work would be commenced this summer, and that he would endeavor to have a similar amount appropriated at the next session, so that the work of public conscience and confidence in improving the harbor could be continued and better dock accommodation established. in less time. It is stated here on what appears to be good authority that the new industry, the tube works, the establishment of which Mr. F. H. Clergue has had in contemplation for over a year past, will soon be a reality, and that the mills of this new industry will be built and operations on the manufac ture of tubes begun before the first of next year. The location of these works will be about a half mile west of the Algoma Steel Company mills, and when in operation they wik afford employ ment for upwards of 600 men, and will be the most important of any of the enterprises operated by the Lake Su-trial. Before going to court he was visited in his prison cell by W. Redmond and other Nationalist leaders.

RESETTLING BOER FARMS. Pretoria, Aug. 1.-Excellent progress is being made in resettling the Boer farms. Already 9,000 families have been reinstated on their lands, although the work of replacing the farmers has been accompanied by many difficulties, especially in securing and feeding horses and cattle. Much complaint was caused by the military authorities auctioning off live stock, which was bought up by speculators, who resold at large profits at the expense of needy farmers. The disposal of army horses has been accompanied by an epidemic of glanders, which is now raging in Cape Colony.

Difference Due to Good Management, Not System of Bookkeeping.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.-The net surplus of earnings over expenditure on the Intercolonial Railway for the year ending June 30 last is $86,952. These figures were obtained from the Minister of Railways before he left for England this afternoon. It will be generally conceded that this is a very good showing, when the record of the road under the late government is taken into consideration. There is no difference in the system of bookkeeping now from that in use when the Conservatives were in power. The result of the year's operations has been even better than was predicted by Mr. Blair. The minister said that he expected a surplus of about $40,000 or $50,000, at the same time adding that he would not be surprised if it were a little better than that. It is just twice as large as Mr. Blair put it. The road is in excellent condition throughout. The year's figures show the traffle, both

EMPRESS TSI AN DOWN ON BOXERS

China's Dowager Ruler Weary of the Turmoil.

BLUEJACKETS SMASHED THINGS

Terrible Ravages of Chelera Manchuria-Many Europeans Among the Victims.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 1.-Late oriental advices via the steamer Olympia, from Yokohama, tell of a somewhat serious disturbance at Kure. About seven hundred bluejackets, from men-of-war in the harbor, invaded three inns, smashed all the furniture, and were with difficulty reduced to order after nearly three hours' rioting. The alleged cause is that the men were enraged because the innkeepers had opposed the attendance of geishas at the entertainment recently given to British sailors.

EMPRESS TSI AN. Tsi An, the Chinese empress dowager, is said to have recently expressed radical dissent from the Boxer propaganda, and from the anti-foreign campaign. Her majesty said that the instigator of the Boxer outbreak was Yun Nen, and that Princesse Tuan and Chuan encouraged it. Replying to a band. minister who urged that ever since the flight of Jehol, in 1860, the imperial house had suffered only insults at the hands of foreigners, and that to treat them with consideration was a great mistake, the empress dowager severely condemned such a doctrine. Only a small span of life remained to her, she said, and during that time it was her determination not to involve her country in trouble for the sake of avenging personal wrongs.

BOXER WAYS. Because the magistrate of Yang Hsien would not give them permission to destroy the Christian churches in that town some 2,000 Boxers attacked the village. They were met by the troops and 20 of them were killed and their bodies displayed in public places. One of the leaders who was captured was tortured and executed in public. And now it is the Christians who are causing trouble in China. The converts of Shan Si and their priests complain that the indemnity paid on account of the Boxer outrages was not great enough and the converts have attack-

TOLSTOI'S GRANDNIECE

In Poverty and Distress in New York-Deserted by Husband.

New York, July 31 .- A beautiful Russian girl who says she is a grandniece of the Russian writer, Count Tolstoi, called at the office of Poormaster Barck, in Hoboken, yesterday, and asked him to aid her in finding her American husband. Her maiden name, she said, was Psilchirik, and she produced a certificate showing that on April last she had been married to William Drummond, of New York City, by a priest of the Greek Church, in St. Petersburg.

According to the young woman 'William Drummond" told her he was a partner in a big importing house in this city. She met him at a masquerade carnival while he was in St. Petersburg on business last spring. She says she fell in love with him, and that when he proposed marriage and told her of his beautiful home in America she married him against her parents' will and came with him to

When they arrived here, the girl said, Drummond took her to a boarding house in upper Manhattan. He paid her board regularly until July 1, but visited her only once or twice a week Alone, and unable to speak English, the girl says she was several times on the verge of suicide. She has not seen Drummond, she says, since the latter part of June, and having no money, was forced to leave her boarding

"If I cannot find my husband," she said, "I would like to be sent back to my home in St. Petersburg." The poormaster will investigate the girl's story and will try to find her hus-

POISONED

Mr. Ragg's Belief Regarding the Deaths of Whalley and Geen.

The Ex-Manager Sent For-Why He Is Absent From Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Alban E. Ragg, who is at present in Buffalo, and who was manager for Evans & Sons during the greater portion of the period in which the recent mysterious deaths occurred, and whose absence from town at a critical juncture has been unfavorably commented upon, has furnished an evening paper a lengthy statement regarding his position in the matter, and containing his opinion as to the burglary, the death of Geen, and the demise of Whalley.

He gives as a reason for his absence from Toronto the fact that he has accepted a situation with the Liquzone Company, of Chicago, and is bound to be in that city on August 1st, or run the risk of losing a large sum of money, and that he anticienough to cause him to sustain such loss if he interested himself in the case unduly. Therefore, he preferred to stay in Buffalo and give his version of the affair from that venters of the surrounding country. This shock was followed by a number of disturbances less severe and less disastrous during the remainders. pated being delayed in Toronto long affair from that vantage ground. He day night and Monday. offers to return on Tuesday next from Chicago, provided his employer gives permission, and also provided that his expenses are guaranteed.

Mr. Ragg is clearly of the opinion that the burglary was a bona fide one, and that Geen and Whalley were poisoned by some miscreant who feared that they might give information which would lead to his arrest. County Crown Attorney Dewart has sent on urgent telegram to Mr. Ragg, requesting his presence at the inquest next Tuesday evening, and Mr. Ragg has replied that he will be on hand. His presence is deemed essential in helping to clear up the mystery.

Mr. Ragg also raises the hypothesis that Geen and Whalley might have stricken been drinking some of the liquor kept in the basement from a dirty vessel, and so might have poisoned themselves. He urges the exhumation of Geen's body, and asserts that the burglary of May 30 was the work quite evidently of amateurs, and probably of three men. Who they were he can give no information, but hazards the opinion that they were thoroughly acquainted with the interior of the of-

Spouting Water From a Broken Main

Did $20,000 Damage in New York.

New York, July 31.—Water from a broken twelve-inch main in Lafayette place, near Astor place, caused plenty of excitement in the neighborhood Tuesday afternoon, and before the water department could check the flood more than $20,000 damage had

The breaking of a joint connecting a four-inch feed pipe with the main caused the trouble. The main is uncovered by the excavation for the rapid transit subway. A sharp report was the first warning of the break, and a stream of water shot in the air to a height of fifteen feet and struck an extension of the building at Nos. 18 and 20 Astor place. Then it rushed into the subway and cellar of the building. Workmen dropped their tools and fled down the subway, followed by the flood. Pedestrians were drenched. The advance of water in the subway was rapid and all work was suspended. big crowd collected to watch the flood. Soon the water gained a depth of three feet in the subway for a distance of 150 feet, putting out the fires in the stationary engine and the fires in the Astor place building and stopping the power in the latter place, which is oc-

Shock Follows Shock in Rapid Recurrence.

SEVENTY-FIVE SINCE JULY 27

People Fly in Terror From Their Homes-Disturbance Extends Through Two Counties.

Los Alamos, Cal., July 31.-The people of this city and vicinity are terrorstricken, and are fleeing from their homes to places of safety, on account of the increasing severity of the earthquakes which have visited this section since the night of the 27th inst., since which time it is estimated 75 distinct shocks have been felt. Three distinct shocks were recorded between 7:25 and 7:30 o'clock this morning, the last one being the most severe yet felt.

WARNED TO LEAVE. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, cf the University of California, was communicated with by telephone, and advised the people to quit the town as soon as possible. Scientists of the university were away on vacations, but President Wheeler advised the university people to be ready to flee at a moment's notice, and counseled that the doors of residences and places of business be left open, so that those in-doors might escape to the streets withdelay in the event of further seismic disturbances. The advice of President Wheeler was immediately acted upon. It is impossible to esti-mate the financial loss at this time with any degree of accuracy. No loss of life is yet reported.

Lompoc, Cal., July 31.—Three distinct shocks of earthquake were felt here last night, two being severe, lasting over half a minute each.

THE EARTH OPENS. A strip of country fifteen miles long by four miles wide, rent with gaping fissures and dotted with hills and knolls that sprung up during the night as if by magic; a village in ruins and hundreds of people fleeing for their lives, are the results of last night's seismic disturbance in the valley of Los Alamos, in the northern part of Santa Barbara county. During the last four days that section of the country has been shaken by a series of earthquakes that is without precedent in the history or tradition of the Pacific coast, and the continuance of the disturbances and the increasing severity of the shocks have so terrorized the inhabitants that they are leaving for other parts as rapidy as possible and even now the village is almost entirely deserted.

THE BEGINNING. The disturbances began on Sunday evening, with a shock which caused thousand dollars' worth of On Tuesday night there was another were light. The most severe shock of the entire series occurred at 11:30 o'clock this morning. Hills were shaken and twisted to their foundations and the valleys trembled and rolled. Great fissures were run deep in the earth. hills and knolls appeared in level valleys, springs of water appeared in places that had been dry and the general topography of the valley was greatly changed in many respects.

SEEKING SAFETY. With the first warning of the sound of the approaching disaster the terrorstricken people rushed into the streets and sought places of shelter in vacant lots and roads, while many fled toward the neighboring hills. The first vibrations were similar to the preceding disturbance in direc-tion and effect, but they were immediately followed by the most terrific shock ever experienced in this section of the state. The earth trembled and rolled and twisted until it was impossible for people to stand erect, and the inhabitants crouched together, fearful that the earth might open and swallow them. The terrors inspired by the rumbling and trembing of the earth was increased by the sound of The Weak Spot.

When the most serious shocks

If you are sitting in a restaurant where waitresses are in attendance, you will note now and again some young woman put her hand to her back, and straighten herself up, while her lips are tightened as if by pain. It's backache. Yet all day long she must be on her feet, Loma Halstead, of Claremore, Cherokee Nat, Ind. Ty. "I was racking with pain from the back of my head down to my heels. Had hemorrhage for weeks at a time, and was unable to sit up for ten minutes at a time. You answered my letter, advised me to use your valuable medicines, viz., Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets, "also gave advice about injections, baths and diet. To my surprise, in four months from the time I began your treatment I was a well woman, and have not had the backache since, and now I put in sixteen hours a day at hard work."

had passed and the rumbling sounds had died away, the people gathered about the ruins of their places of business, and when they saw the extent of the damage, many of them, fearful of a repetition of this experience, immediately started on foot or by any conveyance that could be had, for places where the shocks had been less severe.

SCENE OF DESOLATION. With the dawn of day the stricken village had the appearance of the ruins of a city long deserted. A church had been leveled to the ground, and not one brick building was left stand-ing. Chimneys had toppled over, frame buildings had been wrenched apart and thrown from foundations, teleand thrown from foundations, tele-graph and telephone wires had been broken, and there was not a building in town that had not been damaged more or less seriously. In store build-ings that were totally destroyed mer-chandise was thrown from shelves and everything breakable was de stroyed. Not a pane of glass was left in any window in town, and in the cottages and dwellings that were left standing stoves were overturned and crockery and glassware were destroyed. A conservative estimate of the loss to property in the village is $30,000, and this amount will probably be greatly increased by the amage in surrounding country.

EXTENT OF DISTURBANCE. The extent of the most severe portion of the disturbance is 11 miles long by miles wide, but the shock was felt throughout Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties. Since the first disturbances on Sunday night there have been more than 70 distinct shocks, and those who have been keeping records have now given up, as the disturbances have become almost continuous. Santa Barbara, Cal., July 21.—Another severe earthquake shock was felt at Los Alamos at 7:30 o'clock to-

About 2,000 Deeds Are Ready for the Claimants.

Liability for Premiums of Insured Men a Matter of Doubt.

Toronto, Aug. 1.-The crown lands department is still struggling with the soldiers' claims to land grants. The enormous number of 18,000 claims have been received from ancient and modern veterans, and it has kept a staff of five clerks busy in weeding out the unworthy and preparing documents for the deserving.

The veterans who bore arms during the Fenian raid have sent in claims, but only those who went on active service to the front will be given land. It is expected that 2,000 deeds will be issued by the department in a few days, this number of documents being now ready for signature. Along with the deeds the deserving veterans will receive much literature and useful information concerning the new country in which their farms are

INSURANCE TANGLE.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—A tangle has occurred in reference to the insurance placed on the lives of members of the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th Regiments, C. M. R., by the Provident Insurance Company. The premiums were to be paid quarterly out of the assigned pay of the men by the militia department The contract was between the men individually and the insurance company. The company duly received the first quarter's premiums up to July 31. On the return of the men to Canada and attempted to collect another quarter's premium. The men took in view that the risk was over, and there was no further liability on their side. The company's representatives next applied to the Imperial paymaster, who took the ground that the matter was an entirely personal one between the men and the company, and he was unable to interfere. Application being then made power to act. The deputy minister received notification by telegraph from the company that they held the department liable. Col. Pinault by wire at once repudiated all liability. The department had nothing to do with the policies, and had only accepted the orders of the men to make an advance for them out of their deferred pay.

The British War Office, for the special purpose of closing war risks, some time ago closed all deferred pay, and the department consequently has no further funds out of which premiums could be paid even if the men desired and authorized it.

Remarkable Revenue Increase. Toronto, Aug. 1.-The customs revenue here still shows remarkable increases over last year, which was it-self a record-breaker. The receipts The receipts during July were $545,180, as compared with $446,656 last year. The increase is $98,524. General prosperity, and the wearing of costly dress goods, are the chief causes of the increase. A Foundry Burned.

Neustadt, Ont., Aug. 1.-Yesterday morning fire broke out at Binkley Bros.' foundry, and a sawmill, shingle mill, foundry and dwelling house belonging to Binkley Bros., were also completely destroyed. About 1 p.m., flying embers set fire to the stable and dwelling house of Paul Miller, about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the first fire, destroying both. Binkley Bros.' loss will be $8,000. Miller's loss about $800. The firemen from Mildmay brought over their fire engine and did good work in protecting the surrounding buildings.

Niagara Power Company.

Toronto, Aug. 1. - The Ontario Government has so modified the regula-tions and orders in council governing the grant of additional water privileges at Niagara Falls to the Ontario Power Company, that no fur-ther opposition is anticipated from the Canadian Power Company, the original lessees of the falls power. Both companies will proceed now on a basis of a 50,000-horse power development each, and it is understood that the bulk of the power has already been arranged for. The Toronto-Niagara Power Company, which will bring the Canadian company's power to this city, expects to use about 20,000-horse power in this city and the immediate vicinity. This will displace something like 200,000 tons of soft coal now imported from the UnitTHE WEATHER TODAY-Fair and warm.

own mind that he would, it was at that moment.

"If that is all," he burst out, "I won't hear of it for an instant. Am I not a free agent? Who is there to dictate to me? Can I not choose whom I please?"

"Then we must put it the other way," she said, smiling playfully in his face.
"You must do something to deserve me, sir. Like a knight of the olden time, you shall not win your lady without an achievement. It sounds a vain speech, and yet I don't think you will be angry with me; but seriously, Gilbert, such an affection as I have to give—well, as I have given—is worth a sacrifice."

She certainly did not think he looked angry, and it seemed to Ada that no

Perhaps her courage failed her a little now that it was settled. Perhaps, having persuaded him, she was now a little scared at her success. What if he should change? What if this wonderful dream should turn out to be but a dream, after all? Well, it was something to have dreamt it; and if he was happy she would never repine. With all their faults, and they had a good many, of which not the least is a tendency to rush constantly into extremes, they are not selfish, these women. And they bear a bankruptcy of the feelings, an utter fallure of all the hopes of a lifetime, better than do their sterner taskmasters. It may be that, as the subject more constantly occupies their minds, they more studiously prepare themselves for that catastrophe the subject more constantly occupies their minds, they more studiously prepare themselves for that catastrophe which seems to be the normal result of all spes animi credula mutui. Certainly the proverb about the "course of true love" must be of very general applica-tion. If every Jack has his Jill, it seems marvelous how seldom they descend the Jack or Jill, or both or neither Perhaps if Hymen and Cupid could trot on together to the end of the stage, what with stuffed cushions and C springs, the journey would be too pleasant, and the passengers too unwilling to stop and rest when they came to the inn. The disinclination now is seldom from that cause; and neither mutual fitness, nor similarity of tastes, nor great personal and mental attractions on both sides, seem to be of the slightest efficacy in smoothing the ruts on the road. It was but half an hour ago I saw Tom Pouter and his wife start in the open carriage for what Mrs. Pouter's maid calls a "hairing." Tom is one of the best fellows in England. At the mess of "The Royal Plungers," a regiment in She laid her hand upon his arm. That gentie touch could calm Gilbert in his wildest mood, and he was ashamed of his ungenerous speech the moment it crossed his lips.

"Hush!" she said, with a quivering lip; "never say that again. Do not be unreasonable—do not be angry with me. I would give my life to serve you, and well-come. I ask you for my sake to do what I wish. It is not such a very long time." "Not a long time?" he pleaded; and it must have been no easy task to resist his entreaties. "A whole year, and you call it not a long time! Why, that fortnight nearly drove me mad; and now I am to go to the end of the earth, and never see you, or even hear from you, for twelve long months. You expect too much. Ada. I can't do it. After all, I have my feelings, like other people."

"Do you think I have not considered them all through?" was her reply; "do you think I have not watched and studied you till I know your would never here all through?" Thin-skinned, impatient, injudiclous, but as true as steel" (a smile chased away the listencer's frown). "Supposing we were—were married tomorrow, however much you might regret it, I know you would never let me find it out. If is precisely for that reason I urge this step for my own sake. Gilbert, dear Gilbert, think what my feelings would be if I were not persuaded, convinced in my own mind, that you had chosen me deliberately, advisedly, and on mature reflection. Would you like Lady Olivia to be able to reproach me that I had hurried her son into a mesalliance with a music mistress?"

Even while she spoke. Mrs. Montpel-that old Lady Fantail was a bit of a Tartar. No doubt Mrs. Pouter is a kind mistress, an excellent mother; she often washes that spoiled little boy, and puts him to bed herself. A delightful member of society, and a most attractive person. I know more than one of my acquaintances who would esteem Pouter's place cheaply purchased at half his worldly all. And yet, you see, Tom can't bring himself to agree with these admirers. What a host of suitors Penelope had! Would any one of them have stayed away so long as did crafty Ulysses, without even the excuse of being detained by the sirens? Who knows?

The sea breeze, a chat with a mutual acquaintance, and a happy remark of Tom's, depreciating the attractions of a pretentious lady, will restore good-humor and the Pouters will return to dinner in harmony and resignation. Alas! that which should be the acme of human felicity is but a matter to make the best of!—and much I doubt that even now which should be the acme of human felicity is but a matter to make the best of!—and much I doubt that even now both of them wish they hadn't. Is it wiser to be a dry branch altogether? Is it better to think of the blue eyes smiling in heaven, all unaltered still, than to have watched them till they learned to flash with anger here, or, yet worse, freeze into cold indifference and scorn? Woe is me! I think I would have fain run my chance with the others. Might not mine have been the favored lot—the She certainly did not think he looked angry, and it seemed to Ada that no music she had ever made or heard sounded in her ears so sweetly as the voice in which he spoke.

"Do you really love me so much, Ada?" "I mustn't spoil you," she answered, laughing off her emotion. "I must leave all that for the future. In the meantime, I will tell you what you shall do. Promise me that for a whole year you wil travel, exert yourself, improve your mind, and fit yourself for the high station in store for you. I know you have great talents. I should be sorry to see them thrown away in a life of idleness. I should like to see my—I mean one in whom I am interested—take a high place among men. I should like to see him envied, admired, looked up to. I could be very ambitious on his account, and so proud of him when he succeeded."

many a glowing vision, half-hinted, half-expressed. What can be more dull in detail than the conversation of such a couple?—what more absorbing to the colloquists? There are many pastimes at which it is very poor fun to be a lookeron, and theirs was indeed of engrossing interest to the players themselves. They settled it at last in this wise: Gilbert was to absent himself from England for a year, or, at least, for so much of a year as Ada considered a sufficient probation. He was to go to Australia; he was to occupy himself in every possible manner which could wean him from his one cherished idea. Above all, and on this point she was very firm—so much so as almost to anger him again—they were not to correspond. Also, the subject was to remain a profound secret from his family and from his friends. John Gordon, or any very intimate associate, he might take into his confidence.

his head, like a man who has taken his resolution.

"Then I'll do it." he said, "just as I would jump off the Monument, if you told me to, for your sake. Yes, I'll be off directly. I'll follow John Gordon out to Australia: I'll make myself acquainted with the colony. I'll work hard, and be fit for Parliament when I come back. You shall be proud of my success, or comfort me for failure, Ada; one of the other I promise you. Next week I'll go down to West Acres and set my house in order. Today I'll see my mother and inform her of our engagement."

rather alarmed.

"I am different," she replied. "It is not likely that I should alter. Gilbert." she added, stopping short in her walk, and turning rather pale, "I—I will never belong to anybody but you. Enough of this. Tell me when you will go. Let us talk of your plans for the future. After all, a year is not such a very long time." work to have to bid him leave her, and to find him comply so generously, so this was more than she had expected, even from him. Ada felt indeed that a succession of such victories would lead to a final defeat. She must wish him adieu once for all. She had something more to say; she had neglected it too often. "You will make me one more promise." work to have to bid him leave her, and to find him comply so generously, so chivalrously, with such entire faith—it pered, in a choking voice.

"Never!" was the pithy answer to so unnecessary a question.

I think he extorted "once more," and so was gone.

CHAPTER XXV.

The cab-horse might or might not have The cab-horse might or might not have been tired of waiting so long; he was suffered to proceed at his own pace in the direction of Belgrave Square. His master was indeed in no mood to interfere. Bodily he was gliding through the park at the rate of twelve miles an hour mantally he was still walking with park at the rate of twelve miles an hour; mentally he was still walking with his Eve in Paradise. In what different aspects does the Garden of Eden present itself to different minds—nay, to the same imagination at different times! Five acres of gorse in the heart of a grass country, a good brook in the distance, and all the gates locked; or a deep corrie on the broad shoulder of Benivoord, with the naked bluffs of granite peeping out through the blushing heather Voord, with the naked bluffs of granite peeping out through the blushing heather and the deer feeding so still to windward, while the dull roar of a distant waterfall mingles with the moan of the mountain breeze on his ear; or, again, the giddy water cutting itself against the tight-strung line, and its backward swirl in yon steel-gray pool, dulled, like a dim breastplate, by the cloudy sky and the feathery weeping birches, under which it runs a rich, clear amber, and the pebbly shallow below the alders, where he hopes to land that silvery tenpounder with whom he wrestles not in vain. Each of these scenes had been to Gilbert, at various epochs, the perfect Gilbert, at various epochs, the perfect anti-type of his Elysian fields. Now it was a hundred yards of sward, and a noted elm tree, some rhododendrons, a stagnant pool, and a hideous red brick house beyond. I often think there must have great thing as reality, that all destagnant pool, and a hideous red brick house beyond. I often think there must be no such thing as reality; that all depends on the glasses we look through. Alas! when they are green or blue!

As his first step in that course of moral improvement to which he now aspired. Gilbert had resolved to pay a filial visit in the square. Although he was to preserve inviolable secrecy as regarded his lady-love, he meant to break to his mother his speedy departure for the Antipodes—an announcement, he was persuaded, not without good reason, she would receive with edifying resignation. Lady Olivia had lingered in London longer than was her custom. She was going to the seaside; she hated a watering-place—the only point on which I cordially agree with her ladyship—and therefore put off the evil hour as long as possible. As her son's cab rolled up to the door, she and Lady Gertrude were busy packing—a process. I may observe, that the weaker sex seldom leave unrestrictedly to their servants. Gentlemen desire their valets to "put up their things," and trouble their heads no more about the matter; ladies inspect their own delicate preparations with the strictest scrutiny. Also, like wild partridges, after their fights, it takes them a considerable time "to settle."

His mother received Gilbert with a frown, the result of ber "wilng prepa-

"What, Gilbert!" she said, coldly enough, extending him two fingers to shake, "I certainly did not expect you. I thought you had gone out of town. I have not seen you for three weeks."

He felt the represent was not undergone. He felt the reproach was not undeserv-

"Mother," he answered, "I am afraid I have been very negligent. I came here on purpose to tell you so; to ask your forgiveness for much that may have offended you. I am sorry to have been wanting in my duty toward you. Make friends with me before I go."
Lady Olivia could not but be gratified at so submissive an avowal, be softened by this unlooked-for humility. She could not enjoy her triumph, however, without displaying it. This was too good an opportunity to be missed of reading her prodigal son a lecture. So she sat down in her own especial armchair and began in her haughtiest tones:

"I have never complained of your conduct toward me, Gilbert, nor have I expected anything else from you now, for a good many years. I am glad to find that you have been at last brought to see the error of your ways. Better late than payer. "Mother," he answered, "I am afraid to his wish that she should sing no more in public; and, lastly, he was to depart forthwith, and they were not to meet again till his return.

I believe he was fool enough to be a little hurt at this rigorous condition. I believe he did not see in it a consummate proof of the adversary's weakness.

Ada did not dare trust herself with these constant interviews. It was cruel work to have to bid him leave her, and work to have to bid him leave her, and the forenead.

"And therefore, mother, you must think kindly of me while I am away." The herefore with think kindly of me while I am away." The herefore with the last deal more at west Acres. I shall try and be a useful member of society. In the meantime, I shall not see you again for a whole year."

ture has dedicated the region to this A New Era. Mr. Blair, before leaving for England yesterday, was able to announce a surplus of $86.952 on the Intercolonial presence of so many American tourists. Railway for the year ending June 20 who bring the quicker life of the south last. This is double the amount he had estimated. The Intercolonial has been a lamentable argument against ownership, but under Mr. Blair's management it is beginning to out-of-door recreation and acquiring tell a different tale. In 1899 it showed a surplus of about $90,000, and in 1909, tan and freckles, waste their time on the balance to the good was $145,200. In the flummeries of the toilet and other 1901, largely owing to the rise in the left at home. The dress parade is a price of coal, the working expenses excedeed the receipts by $450,000, so that this year's operations show a reties, more in keeping with a stylish markable change for the better, and indicate that the era of deficits is over at last. The gross earnings increased thing but the quiet, restful place it from $2,906,631 in 1897, to $5,019,498, in 1901, and the gross earnings per mile from $2,491 11 to $3,818 92. In the same has not been driven away entirely, creased from 1,501,600 to 2,025,295, the freight tonnage from 1,296,028, to 2,111,-310, and the freight revenue per mile from $1,466 36 to $2,397 09. The figures for the year just ended are not yet available, but Mr. Blair says that the traffic, both passenger and freight, was the largest on record. The improved showing of the road must be credited to Mr. Blair's vigorous policy, which has transformed every branch of the service. He has spent large sums on capital account, but these were necessary to put the road on a business and paying basis. He found the rolling stock depleted, and out of date, the roadbed and bridges out of repair, and the equipment generally run-down. The western terminus of the line was a vacant field near the village of Levis. Mr. Blair saw that the Intercolonial had no future unless it was put in a position to compete for through business, and accordingly it was extended to Montreal by the purchase of the Drummond County Railroad. New engines of modern design were purchased to reduce the cost of haulage, bridges were strengthened, additiona

sidings laid, and other extensive improvements made, so as to equip the road for an expansion of business.

Thanks to these methods, it is now getting its share of the growing time, and it is becoming a genuine asset to the country.

Penmanship. The Hamilton papers are still at war over the question of penmanship. The Herald thinks vertical writing is the more legible and the Spencerian style more facile, and that if "the youngest pupils were taught the vertical system with a view of forming a legible style, and afterwards allowed to change gradually to the Spencerian style as they gained more facility, the merit of both styles would be retained." The Spectator says it is utter nonsense to say that the vertical style is more legible than the Spencerian. "Vertical writing," the Spectator adds, "is necessarily slower than the Spencerian style-a serious drawback-and it has a tendency to produce cramp in the fingers, and finally Scrivener's paralysis. The Herald's proposition to start the pupil in the vertical system and change gradually to the Spencerian style is really funny. It reminds the writer of old Pitman ideas of teaching the 'corresponding' style in phonography, and then telling the student, 'Now, forgat all that, and we will begin with the 'reporting' style-the only style that is worth the learning."

It must be because they're built that way. We have noted that the boys in general take to the slanting method, presumably because it comes easier. As to the vertical system being necessarily slower and tending to produce cramp, we call the Spectator's attention to the curious fact that experienced telegraph operators, who must be rapid penmen, invariably use a round flowing style, almost back-hand. It is peculiar to operators, as a class, and it is evolved because it is found the least laborious for constant writing at the rate of 30 and 40 words a minute. We don't see the force of the Spectator's shorthand analogy. A thorough stenographer always learns the corresponding find clock ticks mentioned as a branch at once. Mr. Pope, one of the company's solicitors, has been in the city style as a foundation for the reporting.

CONSTIPATION Causes Headache, Abdomina

Pains. Piles and in Severe Cases Insanity and Apoplexy.

It is a common mistake to conclude that Constipation is not a dangerous condition. Although at first it is only accompanied by slight inconvenience and pain, yet if not corrected, it will inevitably lead to very dire results. Great care should be used in selecting a remedy for constipation, because if a violent purgative is employed, it is sure to set up pain, irritation and congestion, and finally result ir piles. The experience of those who have tested all the cures for constipation, seems to prove that Ferrozone is the most agreeable and satisfactory treatment. It makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. Nothing can equal the immediate sense of comfort it produces, and pains in the head, and stomach, and in the intescines, disappear almost at once. Ferrozone is very mild and certain in its action, and never causes in-convenience or distress. Ferrezone can be taken early as long as required, and it in no way interferes with business or pleasure, and nothing may be feared from its use however prolonged it may be. Constipation, Piles and Sick Headache, Ferrozone stands unrivaled. The driver of the City Express Company, who suffered from piles, says: 'Constant sitting on the wagon seat, produced a rectal irritation, combined with constipated condition of the bowels, brought on a severe attack of piles. I used without benefit different ointments, and other remedies; but got quick relief and most satisfactory results from Ferrozone. Installments, 4 per cent each in January and July.

The Company owns the exclusive Street Railway rights in London, ratified by the Ontario Legislature, so that no other company can operate in London nor parallel their line, which is a decided advantage over the franchises of an American city. The city requires the Company to increase its mileage by one mile for every 2,000 increase in the city's population. It has been customary for the Company to carry an overdraft at a bank, occasioned by extensions and improvements, to an amount sufficiently large to warrant an increase in the capital stock issue of not less than $50,000 of bonds for the next expenditure where the same total again reaches $50,000. 000 of bonds for the next expenditure when the same total again reaches $50,000. When a sale is referred to at 165, it really means 366 per share. Eight per cent on $40 is $3 20 per year, $86 invested so as to receive $3 20 per year, is yielding 4.88 per cent income on the investment, or practically 5 per cent. For a high-grade safe investment, such as London Street Railway unquestionably is, the present quoted price of the stock, considering the fact that there is no water in the stock issue, is too low. Any special demand for the shares would bring about a 5 PER CENT NET INCOME.

RISE IN THE SHARES. of 35 points. It is my candid conviction that the stock is easily worth 200, at which price the income yield would be 4 per cent. The Company is now earning per cent on its stock issue, and paying per cent dividends with the stock 12 per cent on its stock issue, and paying a general recent dividends with the stock quoted at 165. Montreal Street is earning 12 per cent, paying 10 per cent dividends, and the stock is quoted at 275, at which price the investment nets 3.63 per

COMPOUNDING INCREASED EARNINGS.

The remarkable increase in Street Railway earnings all over the country is more remarkable in that each recurring annual increase is compounding over previous years. We all know to what heights compound interest will climb, at current interest rates; but when doubled and quadrupled, as in Street Railway earnings, the result in a decade is marvelous earnings, the result in a decade is marvelous.

Street Railway earnings are showing compound increases of from 10 to 30 per cent per year. The increase in Gross Receipts of the London Street Railway last year was practically 20 per cent over 1900. No well managed Street Railway in any locality is showing less than 10 per cent increase in gross receipts per annum. This has been going on steadily every year since the innovation of electrically propelled roads.

The possible earning capacity for the future is surprising when one figures it out. Take for instance the earning statement of the London Company for the year 1901. Assume that the gross earnings will only show an average annual increase of 10 per cent, which is a minimum basis. Allow at the outside 60 per cent for operating expenses, and note from the following table how the earnings multiply:

ings multiply: Gross Earn-17. ings. 60 p.c. 5141,845 59 $84,556 95 156,030 14 93,618 08 171,633 15 102,979 89 188,796 46 113,277 87 207,676 10 124,605 66 228,443 71 137,066 22 251,282 68 150 772 84 Year. 124,605 66 137,066 22 150,772 84 165,850 12 182,435 13 200,678 64 227,046 51 100,515 24 110,566 76 121,623 43 133,785 77 251,253 03 275,416 88 304,058 56 834,464 41 867,910 85 1911

The above estimate furnishes an interesting study. You can figure out for yourself if the stock now selling on a 5 per cent basis around 165, it should be worth on the same basis in 10 years 625. It should be remembered that up to the present time the London Street Railway has never operated cars on Sunday. It is only reasonable to assume that it will not be a great while before their cars will run on Sundays, and consequently add materially to the earnings. In fact, the earnings would increase from 15 per cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

The object of this market letter is to call the attention of investors to a secur-cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

The object of this market letter is to call the attention of investors to a security of unusual merit. The opportunity to buy Franchise Corporation securities in which there is absolutely no inflation, but where the proceeds from the sale of the Company's Stocks and Bonds have the Company's Stocks and Bonds have actually gone into the construction and building up of the property, is not always to be found. Again, the Franchise of the London Street Railway is one of the most desirable of any Company on the Continent. It runs for 23 years longer, at the expiration of which time the city has the right to buy the property, the value of which is to be fixed by arbitration. The property has been in successful operation for many years, sufficient to establish it firmly as to its permanency and unquestionable earning power.

Capitalists and investors of both large and small amounts are satisfied to put their money in safe quarters, where the income derived is 3 to 4 per cent. They can of course, invest so as to yield 5 and 6 per cent, and even higher; but to buy 2 5 per cent income where there is no element of risk is always inviting, particularly so when to this condition is added the practical assurance of future increased value.

London Street Railway Stock has sold as high as 180. The majority of the capital stock has until recently been owned by the Everett-Moore Syndicate, of Cleveland, Ohio. In conformity with their policy of reducing their holdings in the various companies in which they are interested, a block of the syndicate stock has come on the market and is being taken by Canadian investors at the present level of quotations, which is a decided improvement over previous efforts to buy the stock at reasonable forts to buy the stock at reasonable figures. Incidentally, Messrs. Everett and Moore are conceded to have no superiors in the management and building up of street railways in which they are interested. All of their properties are in excellent condition physically and financially. Messrs. Everett and Moore will con-tinue to manage the London Street Railway as in the past.

London Street Railway Stock is listed on the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges and can be obtained from brokers in either city, or from my firm.

A careful analysis of the merits of the investment is so clearly convincing as to make it exceedingly desirable as an absolutely safe investment. CLAUDE ASHBROOK.

Lord Rosebery dilated upon the recent bye-election for member of the House of Commons to represent North Leeds, which resulted in the election of Roell, T. J. Carroll, J. M. Richards and land Barren (Liberal). Mr. Barren sat at Lord Rosebery's right. The Speaker characterized the North Leeds verdict as having greater significance than any single election since the late Mr. Gladant is engaged in selling coal and stone was first returned from Midlocoke, and has a contract for the outthian, and as thian, and as

ALMOST A VITAL BLOW to the prestige of the Government. Yet shipment of coal so purchased. That Lord Rosebery warned his hearers that 50 such elections as that of North Leeds might not turn out the party now in power. It showed, however, that the nation was beginning to look dispassionately at the government's record in domestic legislation, and to judge with cooler temper than it could during the South African war. The Liberal party had suffered a long period Wilson is secretary, under the orders of sterility, said the speaker; it had been going through the valley of the shadow of death from want of concentration, and it had been allowing itself to become dissociated from the Imperial aspirations of the nation. The party had suffered, continued the speaker, by its unfortunate attitude in regard to the Irish question, and until the Imperialist Liberal principles prevailed within it there will be necessity for the continued existence of the Liberal League, which, Lord Rosebery said, did not threaten internal disunion, but formed a rallying point for others sharing the principles of its promoters.

MACHINISTS WANT A PREFER-ENCE.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian high commissioner in London, yesterday received a deputation of representatives of firms engaged in the manufacture of paper and wood pulp making machinery, who asked the assistance of the Canadian Government in removing the prejudice which exists in Canada in favor of American as against British machinery of this class. The deputation asked that Canada suspend for three years the present duty on British machinery. Lord Strathcona promised to employ British article.

AUSTRALIAN MINE DISASTER. has occurred at the Mount Kimbla ed spectacles from the children, and colliery, at Wollongong, a port, forty miles from here. Twenty-seven bodies has been recovered. The buildings at the mouth of the pit were wrecked. One hundred and forty-nine miners were rescued, but a hundred are still entombed. It is feared their release is hopeless. A portion of the colliery is on fire.

THE CASTELLANES PAY UP. It is stated that Samuel Untermeyer, of New York, has succeeded in effecttown that the foreign element was ing a settlement of the long pending litigation between Asher Werthimer, the London antiquity dealer, and Comte and Comtesse Boni de Casteling, one man, Jos. The case is now on appeal to the highest court of

By the terms of the reported settlement Wertheimer's claim is admitted for the full amount with interest at 4 per cent. Comtesse Boni de Castellane agrees to pay at the rate of $100,000 per year. The claim with interest amounts to about $400,000.

KAISER PARDONS DUELIST. Emperor William has pardoned Lieut. Hildebrand, sentenced to two years' imprisonment in a fortress for the killing of Lieut. Blaskowitz in a duel last November. The affair attracted international attention, because Blaskowitz was shot and killed on the morning of the day set for his wedding. The duel followed an episode in which Lieut. Blaskowitz, while intoxicated at his bachelor dinner, struck Lieut. Hildebrand. A regimental court of honor decided that the duel was unavoidable. An investigation developed the fact that Lieut. Blaskowitz awoke the day after his bachelor dinner without any recollection of the altercation and went to visit his finance, whence he was called to fight the duel. Lieut. Hildebrand served only seven months of his sentence. Military men explain the pardon by saying that Lieut. Hildebrand acted simply as the law of honor required; that he had to fight and kill his opponent if he could. There was considerable criticism of the sentence to two years' imprisonment, imposed on Lieut . Hildebrand by a court martial, on the ground that was inadequate. Comment was caused also by the fact that the trial was held behind closed doors and that newspaper correspondents were forbidden to report anything concerning the meeting which brought about the duel.

No. 6 Shot Told the Story.

Chester Depot, Vt., Aug. 1. — By the use of a spring gun, C. H. Waterman, a local mill proprietor, it is claimed, has revealed the person guilty of a number of robberies which have been going on in this neighborhood for several years. The alleged robber is Clarence Adams, one of the most highly respected young men of this section. He is under arrest, and it is claimed a large quantity of stolproperty has been recovered. The detection followed an announcement that Mr. Adams had been waylaid and shot on the previous evening. On that evening the spring gun set by Mr. Waterman and loaded with No. shot, was discharged. When it became known that No. 6 shot was removed from Adams' wound, suspicion was aroused, and the arrest followed.

HIGHGATE

Highgate, July 31.—A very pleasant gathering took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Templeman at Muirkirk upon the occasion of their golden wedding, on July 2. Fifty years previous to this Mr. and Mrs. Templeman, were united in matrimony in Scotland, which they soon left to try their fortune in the new world, arriving in Toronto. After spending some years in that city, they went to Barrie, and from thence came to Muirkirk about 26 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Templeman have three sons—George, of Winnipeg, Hugh, on a farm near Muirkirk, and Joseph, at home—and two daughters—Mrs. Frank Davis, of Wardsville, and Mrs. Lucy Fisher, of Sarnia, who are now residing in England.

Burgiar vs. M. P.

Windsor, Ont., July 31.-Mr. R. F. Sutherland, K. C., member of parliament for North Essex, had an exciting experience with a burglar at an early hour this morning. He was awakened by a noise downstairs, and when he attempted to investigate, found himself looking into the muzzle of a big revolver in the hands of the early morning visitor. When he saw that Sutherland was unarmed, the burglar ordered him to retire, upon pain of being filled full of holes. Deeming discretion to be the better part of valor, the member for North Essex beat a hasty retreat, but not before he had hurled a heavy chair at the intruder, who, however, managed to effect his escape. The intruder is supposed to escape. The intruder is supposed to have visited other places during the night. Summer Auxiliary Courses of in- Street Rallway Company Versus City Will Settle Disputed Points.

The feeling with which the announcement that the suit between the city "A number of Ottawa's militia officers and the street railway company has begun has been received at city hall with not unmixed sorrow. The aldermen and the officials feel a certain amount of satisfaction in knowing that at last the points in dispute between the two corporations will be settled once and for all.

City Engineer Graydon said this morning that there were several questions which it would be good to decide, questions for which he himself had found it impossibly to secure a settlement. "I am glad that the street railway company have brought the case on instead of the city," he said. "The onus of making out a case is now upon them."

Speaking to the Daily News correspondent, Major Ross said: "The canal company desires to attack by modern methods the outbreak of malarial fever that has been playing havoc with the health of its employes. The company has thus set a good example to those governments and public bodies that appear to have less conscientious feelings on this vital subject. I shall probably employ the same measures as those recently adopted at Sierra Leone and so energetically pursued by the Americans in Cuba."

Priests and Theater.

"If the Abbe Perosi is allowed to go to a theater whenever he pleases, why should not a similar permission be granted to all of us?" The priests in Rome have been eagerly discussing this question ever since it was announced that a new musical composition by Abbe Perosi would be given at the Constanzi Theater, and that the composer himself would be present on the occasion. Everyone in Rome knows that Leo XIII. has a very high opinion of Abbe Perosi, regarding him as the greatest composer of church music who has appeared in Italy for a long time, and it is supposed that the privilege of attending a theater has been granted to him on this account. Moreover, on this occasion, it is his own musical composition which is to be played, and the pope may have thought it necessary that he should be present in order to see that it was performed according to his own ideas. The priests in Rome, however, are not inclined to take this view of the case, and many of them are seriously thinking of petitioning his holiness to let them attend a theater whenever they please. Texas Situation Better.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 1. — No heavy rains fell in Texas yesterday, and as a result the situation is vastly improved this morning. Traffic of all kinds is now being handled by Texas roads with perfect safety. W. was also drawn, leaving only four to start. Fanny Dillard was made the favorite in the new books at $25 to $20. The mare won the first heat with ease in 2:05%, lowerthe first heat with ease in 2:05¼, lowering her record a full second. In the second heat she broke badly in the first turn and barely beat the flag. the heat going to Major Muscovite in 2:0814. Before the third heat there was a very heavy play on the field to beat Fanny Dillard, who brought $15 to $25. The judges decided to take Snow down from behind the mare and substitute McHenry. The latter could not be found, however, and Scott Hudson refused to drive the hobbled pacer. After much deliberation Snow was allowed to drive the mare home a win-ner by a neck over The Bishop, who made a try for the heat after Major Muscovite had died away. The day's upset came in the 2:13 pace for which Casonda was a heavy favorite. She was never a contender, and Twinkle won in straight heats, Silviaone and Prince Direct receiving second and third money. The Roman, as expected, outclassed his field of 2:17 class trotters; and none of the three horses that were sent after him in the three heats had so much as a look in. The unfinished 2:19 trot was won by Ella Lee, a Columbus mare, strongly backed by local talent. The 2:16 pace had only three starters, all of poor class. Tom Keene looked good enough to win, but he abstained from taking a heat, and the judges were satisfied with the race.

STALLING'S TROUBLES. Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 1 .- Managers Stallings and Leonard, of the Buffalo and Worcester ball teams respectively, were given a hearing yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct at the ball grounds yesterday. A witness swore that Leonard hit him without provocation, and that Stallings was protecting Umpire Cox; that the Buffalo manager grabbed the first man who went after Cox by the coat collar and threw him out of the way, and that Leonard made for Stallings and struck the first blow. Another witness corroborated this testimony. The justice discharged Stallings, saying that while he undoubtedly struck Leonard, the latter was the first offender. Sentence was suspended on Leonard. The latter threatens to appeal and bring suit for damages. SIEVER'S VALUABLE SOUTHPAW. The Run of Crusader.

The brilliant young Canadian, W. A. Fraser, author of "Mooswa," is in signing bringing it close to the latter print with a serial story entitled "Thoroughbreds." The first chapter 1902 contains the following poem which will stir the blood of every lover of horses:

Full weight they had given the gallant big black—a hundred and sixty he carried, And the run for the "Hunt Cup" was nor braver—

But now once again he must carry the silk—I was needing the help of Crusader. "Could he win at the weight?" I whissaddle girt tight;

He snuggled my hand as I gathered the rein, and I laughed when they talk-He has refused to do business, now-ever, until he is at librty and has To the call of the bugle I swung to his given Detroit a chance to speak for his back-like a rock was the strength of his quarters.

At sight of the people he arched his lean neck and they cheered for my King of all Hunters.

Ten horses would strive for the prize-a big field, and the pace would be killing, From the West came Sweet Silver, gray, gallant and fearless in jumping, A rakish old nag, who walked over the sticks, had been sent for the Cup from Kentucky;

On a bay, Little Jack, who was fast, they had put but a hundred and thirty,
I knew that North Star, a big brown — even the black was no gamer—

With a pull of ten pounds in his weight, was almost a match for Crusader. We made a brave troop, long-striding parade

And down to the turn on the lower far side, where a red flag was flicking the sunlight, the sunlight,

For twice we must circle the green swarded field, and finish close unde the paddock.

Just once we lined up, then cut down the flag, and "Go!" hoarse-voiced the starter; And the number of hoofs and the clanking of bits made music for me on Crusader. Quick to the front, like a deer, sped a ning; I steadled my mount, and took him far back-with his weight, he would need all my nursing. They took the first hedge like sheep in bunch, bit to bit and stirrups a-jingle, And so, past the stand, to the broad water-jump, where three went down in a tangle.

I trailed at the heels of the Silver Gray—but Crusader was begging for halflew the wide ditch with a swoop of a bird, and on again, lapping on his quarter.

n, over the Liverpool, racing like ing for lead, And his rider lay crushed, white-faced to the sky, and to miss him Crusa-sader jumped wide

At the bank something struck, and a cloud of white dust hid the wall as though it were shrouded;

But the big gallant black took off with a swing-full thirty feet era we had landed.

I lifted the black at his heels, he frothed the brown's flank with his nozzle.

Then down the back stretch, o'er hedge and o'er bank, we three were racing together, Till at the next rail the bay jostled the Ottawa, Ont., July 28.—(special).— Mr. George H. Kent, of 309 Gilmore street, this city, had Bright's Disease some eight or nine years ago.

He had been in bed for months gradually getting worse and physicians could do nothing for him. His case had reached that stage when he was bloated and in convulsions. In fact he was so low that the doctors told Mrs. Kent one evening that he could not live till morning. In this extremity she sent for Dodd's ney Pills and in about two months Mr. Kent was at work again. A large number of citizens attended the band concert given in Queen's Park last night by the Band of the 26th Regiment, and the excellently-rendered numbers supplied proved a source of pleasure to all. The only drawback to the satisfaction of both visitors and bandsmen was the absence of light. The bandsmen had to read their music by the aid of coal oil lamps. FELL DOWN CELLAR STAIRS.

Mrs. A. Strachan, of Belmont, is suffering from the effects of injuries received on Tuesday last by falling down the cellar stairs in her residence. She tripped and in falling struck her head forcibly against a step. A gash reaching from the brow along the left side of the head was made. Dr. Arkell was called and put three stitches in the wound. Mrs. Strachan is improving steadily.

THE SPRINGRANK ATTERACTERA THE SPRINGBANK ATTRACTIONS One of the biggest crowds of this season was at Springbank last night.

The performance has been improved since the first presentations, and all who saw it last night were greatly pleased with it, the opinion of very many being that the performance is, on the whole, one of the best that has been seen there. The act of the Roberts, Hayes and Roberts trio alone would justify the trip to the riverside park. In their line, the Rexos, skatorial artists, are equally good. The attractions are quite good enough to warrant even increased attendance at the remaining performances.

At a meeting of local Ingersoll Old Boys, Sons of England and A. O. F., held at the Fraser House, the final a:rangements were made for Monday's excursion to Ingersoll. To avoid the crush at London station the various bodies will line up at the Market Square at 8:30 a.m. The Rube band will head the procession, and the Ingersoll Old Boys, the S. O. E. and the A. O. F. will follow in order. A special excursion train will leave London at 9:30 sharp. The programme for the day at Ingersoll includes a balloon ascension, a ten-mile bicycle race, and sports and games of all kinds, concluding with a band concert at night by the S. O. E. Band of Hamilton, and the Rube band from London. The train for London leaves immediately after the conclusion of the concert.

LONDON OLD BOYS' OUTING.

The St. John. N. B., Telegraph has the following regarding an outing of the London Old Boys of that city: "The first regular outing of the St. John branch of the London (Ont.) Old Boys was held at Duck Cove Saturafternoon, chiefly through the courtesy of the president, J. J. Foote. The trip was made by 'bus, nearly all the men attending, many of them with their wives. A baseball game of much amateur energy consumed most of the afternoon-married men vs. single men; score 4 to 2, in favor of the married men. The batteries were: Married men, Dick Arscott and John Tod; single men, Arthur Beal and Jack Foote. The "diamond" was egg-shaped, and closely skirted with thick pine brush. The best part of the time was spent looking for the Beal did some great twirling, considering his size, but he felt sore about it yesterday. George Mac-Broom, of the London Life, was umpire, and according to the number of kicks registered, the 'people' in the grand stand (Mr. Raymond, of the Labatt Company) thought the game was football. A general dip in the bay followed the game and luncheon was served at Mr. Foote's cottage. After luncheon tennis and a beach bonfire, with stump story telling, concluded the program. Beal told some good stories, breaking his previous record. During the 'bus drive home, Mr. MacBroom sang several solos. day was a great success, and it is hoped was but one of many such."

Permanent Muscular Strength There is this to be borne in mind in these days, when so many young men are giving so much attention to physical development in gymnastic and athletic ex-ercises, that there cannot be permanent muscular strength where there is not Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength, promotes digestion and assimilation, and builds up the whole system.

REV. I. HICKS' HOROSCOPE

Most of August, He Says, Will Freestone Peaches, doz..300 Be Excessively Warm, Bartlett Pears, doz 30c Greengages, doz...... 150

> While the Latter Half of the Month Will Bring Storms.

Rev. I. Hicks, of St. Louis, has issued the following forecast for the month of August:

On the 5th, earth passes between the sun and the great world Jupiter, near new moon on the 3rd and the moon's passage over the celestial equator on the 6th. These facts will necessitate excessive warm weather, and if violent electrical storms do not result seismic perturbations will be most natural.

As laid down in our Foundation
Facts, published nearly twenty years ago, and confirmed by long and criti-cal observation, it is a fact that equinoctial periods of the planet Mars almost invariably perpetuate for many weeks the kind of weather, and other phenomena, prevailing at the beginning of these periods. It is, therefore, reasonably safe to say that the key to the character of the weather to be expected in August and much of September, will be found in the kind of weather we have from the first to the 15th of August. Whatever the general character of the weather, it must be remembered that the regular and reactionary storm periods will not be obliterated. The Vulcan storm period, central on the 9th, covering the 7th to the 12th, will be marked by changes in the thermometer and barometer, common to the storm periods, and the culmination of the storm periods, and the culmination of the storm periods, and the culmination of the storm periods. tion into storm, with more or less pre-cipitation, may be expected on and touching the 9th, 10th and 11th. This period may be watched with interest, as it may indicate, one way or another, much that may be in store for us for weeks to come. We would like much to be mistaken, but we fear that in the main, warm and dry will prevail.

On the 14th, 15th and 16th a reactionary to storm conditions will be noticeable—the barometer will fall, warmth will increase, cloudiness will ensue, and rains according to the abundance of lightning prevailing in the Mars period, will view many parts. the Mars period, will visit many parts in the transit from west to east Change to cooler should normally appear with the rising barometer following these perturbations.

Coming to the Vulcan storm period, extending from the 18th to the 23rd, we see by the storm diagram that Mars, Earth and Mercury all lend their Mars, Earth and Mercury all lend their disturbing powers to the period. During this period we also find that the moon is at her full on the 18th, and on the celestial equator on the 21st. Earth will have entered far enough into the autumnal acquirect for day. into the autumnal equinox for dangerous storms to appear on the southern seas and coasts.

If the present Mars period should take the stormy side of the dilemma, all the periods in the last half of with their accustomed liberality, have will bring general storms, August some of them furious and fatal. a unique offer. They propose to give The reactionary storms on and about the 26th to 28th, at the center of the handsomest woman and prettiest baby on the grounds on Saturday. This will be no easy task for them to decide, for last quarter, north declination and they come from a section where a perigee, will possibly be fraught with violence and danger, especially along beautiful woman looms up solitary and

We enter a regular storm period as we pass out of August, the crisis of which will fall in the first three days of September.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WILL FORCE THE FIGHTING

City Clerk Kingston Served With with a writ in an action for unstated damages, and to have the three new bylaws declared invalid and the prea Writ Yesterday.

Company Seeks to Have New Bylaws Declared Invalid

And Will Ask for Mandamus to Compel the Mayor to Sign the First One Passed.

The street railway company have decided to force the fighting with the city. Instead of waiting to be told to do as the recently passed bylaws say, they will attempt to prove that the city had no right to pass these bylaws. At the same time they will try to make the mayor sign the bylaw passed by the council at the first meeting that Ald. Pritchard attended. Yesterday afternoon City Clerk Kingston was served by Mr. Chas. H. Ivey, local solicitor for the company,

BURGLARS STILL AT WORK

Safe in Office in East End Was Broken Open.

On Wednesday night the safe in the office of the London Engine Supply Company was broken open, evidently by the gang of burglars which has been operating successfully in the city for over a month past. The burglars broke open a nearby blacksmith shop and secured the tools with which they effected an entrance into the office. They then attacked the safe door, and by using coldchisels and a crowbar, the lock was soon broken. In the safe they found nothing but books, drawings, private papers, and a purse containing $1 62, which had been left on the counter in the office over a year The robbers took the purse and some of the drawings and papers. The damage to the safe front is considerable. The office is on Simcoe street, east of Adelaide, a lonely and unfrequented spot at night.

viously passed bylaw signed by the mayor.

The company asks for a mandamus compelling the mayor to sign a bylaw passed on June 21, sanctioning the abandonment of the Rectory street line in return for the Hamilton road extension and the South street line. The Beaconsfield avenue addition was also included in the bylaw. On the strength of the bylaw passing the council, the street railway proceeded with some of the work, but all of the extensions were not completed. They claim that they went ahead in good faith. This bylaw was not signed by the mayor, as it was at this meeting that Ald. Pritchard voted when Ald. Beattie's resignation had not been accepted by the city council. The company will ask also that the three bylaws passed on July 21, he invalidated. Two of these were compulsory bylaws. They defined the routes and called for the construction of the South street belt and the Hamilton road extension. The third fixed a timetable. The company claim that the council was not justified in passing the latter bylaws in view of the existence of the one unsigned by the mayor.

The case will come before the courts

HAD HIS LEG CRUSHED

Employe of G. T. R. Car Shops Sustains Severe Injuries.

John Henderson, of 1022 Francis street, was taken to Victoria Hospital last evening with injuries of a severe character. He is employed at the G. T. R. carworks, and was working under the truck of a boxcar, when another car was shunted against it. One of the wheels passed over Henderson's left leg and thigh, crushing them badly, while his body was also painfully bruised. It is feared that he has sustained internal injuries, and in that case he may not recover. At the hospital this morning it was reported that he was bearing up well.
