SHOCKING TRAGEDY AT LABOR MEETING

One Man Dead and Another Dying, Following Glace Bay Row.

STARTED BY A DRUNK

One of Audience, When Attacked, Shoots Point Blank at His Assailants.

[Canadian Press.]

Halifax, N. S., April 25.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Glace Bay late last night, near the close of a Labor meeting, which resulted in the shooting of William Bryant, a miner, and Michael Murphy, by a man named Beal. Bryant was instantly killed, and Murphy is in the hospital with a bullet in his abdomen, and not expected to recover. The meeting was being addressed by a local labor organizer, James D. McLellan, when a man named Connelly, who was under the influence of liquor, persisted in interrupting the meeting, and was cautioned to remain quiet or he would be put out of the hall. Connelly defied any one to put him out, and he was again warned if he persisted in his interruptions the police would be sent for. Connelly continued talking, and it was then that Beal rose and started to go out. Connelly turned upon him, and asked if he was going for the police. Beal said that he was, but if Connelly would remain quiet there would be no need of a policeman. Beal, while talking, was struck by a friend of Connelly's, Mike Murphy. A scuffle ensued, during which Beal drew a revolver and threatened Murphy if he did not remain quiet. He started to back away when Murphy struck him again, and Beal fired three times. The first shot broke a window, the second lodged in Murphy's stomach, and the third took effect in William Bryant's heart, and he dropped to the floor dead. While the shooting was going on, the hall was a scene of wild disorder. Friends of Bryant and Murphy crowded about Beal and threatened to tear him limb from limb, amid cries of "lynch him," and had it not been for some of the more cool-headed men present, another victim would have been sacrificed to the whim of a number of trouble-fostering agitators. When the police arrived, Beal gave himself up, and went to the police station.

INSPECTION WILL COMMENCE MAY 1

City Will See That the Backyards Are Cleaned for the Summer.

The backyard inspection will commence on May 1.

Dr. Hutchison and Inspector McCallum have instructed the men appointed for these positions on their duties, and they will start out Monday morning next on their rounds.

"We intend to do the work thoroughly this year," Chairman Clark informed The Advertiser. "It is our intention to have the cellars particularly in the downtown districts inspected. This has not been done in the past, and as I understand that some of them are in bad condition, we are sending our men to investigate. We want to have it done properly, if possible."

FIFTEEN BODIES TAKEN FROM MINE

Victims of Disastrous Explosion in Southern Colliery.

[Canadian Press.]

Elk Garden, West Virginia, April 25.—Fifteen bodies have been taken out of the Ott mine No. 20 of the Davis Coal Company at 10 o'clock today, victims of the disastrous explosion yesterday. Eight other dead bodies are supposed to be in the mine which the rescuers are trying to reach. The bodies are charred and badly mangled, and identification will be difficult.

BOY'S FOOT CRUSHED BY BAKERY WAGON

Dennis Latham Painfully Injured at the Corner of Fullarton and Richmond Streets.

Dennis Latham, a 12-year-old lad living in the north end of the city, had his foot painfully crushed at the corner of Fullarton and Richmond streets shortly before 1 o'clock today, when a bakery wagon ran over it. The lad narrowly escaped being knocked down, and perhaps being run over.

Latham was standing on the street talking to a couple of ladies when a bakery wagon turned the corner. The driver drew the horse very close to the kerb, it is alleged, and as the rig reached the boy, he had to scamper out of the way. His left foot did not clear, and the wheels passed over the foot, crushing it badly.

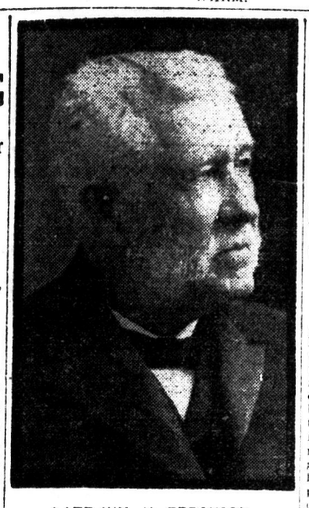

The lad was placed on a street car and sent to his home. He will be laid up for some time.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY STRONG FOR TEMPERANCE

Local Option Champions Have Sweeping Victory in Quebec.

[Canadian Press.]

Huntingdon, Que., April 25.—In the voting that commenced in Huntingdon County yesterday on local option, the temperance contingent came out at the end of the day's voting with 860 for to 181 against. The polling was the result of a resolution of the county council passed in March, and voting will continue today at St. Anicet, but the result is already decided. The temperance people were so confident of the outcome that they did not work very hard to bring out the voters. The English-speaking districts were strong for temperance, while the French-speaking districts of St. Anicet and St. Barbe went the opposite way.

BUSY LIFE IS BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Mr. W. H. Ferguson Died at His Home On Waterloo Street Last Night.

78 YEARS IN THIS DISTRICT

Well-Known Grocer and Real Estate Man, Was Born Near Birr, and Spent His Life in This Section.

Mr. William H. Ferguson, for nearly three-quarters of a century a resident of London and vicinity, and one of the best-known grocers and real estate agents of the city, died at his home, 578 Waterloo street, last night, after an illness extending over several months. For some days Mr. Ferguson had been in a very critical condition, and his death was not unexpected.

Mr. Ferguson was 78 years old, and a son of the late Squire Ferguson, one of the pioneer residents of London Township.

Mr. Ferguson was born near Birr, and for a number of years taught school in that vicinity.

Later he went to Chatham, where with his brother Robert and his cousin Martin he started a grocery business.

Soon afterwards he came to London, where, with his cousin Martin, he founded the Queen's Grocery on Dundas street. This store was well-known to the older residents of London, and was continued until a few years ago, when Mr. Ferguson went to Detroit and engaged in the milk business. A short time afterwards he returned to London and started in the real estate business, in which he was engaged up to the time of his death.

Mr. Ferguson was a man of sterling character, and had a wide circle of friends in the city. Up to a short time ago he was, despite his years, down at his office, and very strong and vigorous.

Besides his wife he is survived by three sons and one daughter: Dr. Horace J. and Guy, of this city; William, of Butte, Montana, and Mrs. H. J. White, of London.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

WHITNEY WOULD BAR THE OUTSIDERS

Wants New Ontario Kept Solely For Provincial Railway System.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, April 25.—On a bill to incorporate the New Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, and run into the Porcupine district, the Ontario Government served a notice this morning that New Ontario was wanted for the exclusive benefit of the provincial railway system. This notice was served by R. G. Code, agent of Ontario.

It had been found, he said, that so many Federal charters had been granted for railroads to run through New Ontario that the provincial line could not be extended without infringing on the charter rights of some of these companies. Conservative members supported this view. However, the majority of the committee declined to regard that section of Canada as only for the Ontario railroad system. The bill was reported. The incorporators names are: A. E. Wallberg, and E. C. Warren, of Montreal; L. M. Woodward, T. H. Watson, Toronto, and F. J. Bell, Cobalt.

AUTO KIDNAPPING AT TORONTO

Father Carries Off His Own Boy and Girl.

PICKED UP ON STREET

Cannot Be Touched as the Mother Had No Papers of Separation.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, April 25. — While on their way to school the two little children of Mrs. Roberts, No. 104 Logan avenue, were kidnapped by two men in an automobile and hurried away from their home. The children are 5 and 7 years old, and the mother suspects her husband of being one of the men who did the kidnapping. Mr. Roberts lives in Hamilton, and formerly had a business on Catherine street, but had given that up some time ago and was living on John street recently. The police here were notified, but they could do nothing, as Mrs. Roberts admitted that she had no order of separation or protection from her husband.

"In that case, the father has as much right to the children as the mother," said Sergeant of Detectives Mackie, "and we can do nothing for her."

Some other children going to school saw the men pick up the children and go off with them and they gave the alarm. The 5-year-old child is a girl and the other a boy. Mr. Roberts has been separated from his wife for two years.

PROHIBIT EXPOSURE OF THE FOODSTUFF

Board of Health Are Taking the Matter Into Consideration.

The board of health are considering the advisability of prohibiting grocers from exposing such vegetables and other edibles in front of their stores. It is not known exactly what action will be taken, as the members are not certain as to their powers in the matter.

"I think the practice should be prevented," declared Chairman Harry Clarke. "There is no question in my mind, but that it is unhealthy, in fact, dangerous. I am not in a position to say just what power we have, but undoubtedly something should be done."

"I have long recommended that something be done to stop the practice," explained Dr. Hutchison. "It is unhealthy and unwise to expose the vegetables, as has been the case."

The board will take the matter up at their next meeting.

WATERWORKS SCHEME

Plan Prepared by London Engineer Adopted by Tavistock.

The council of the village of Tavistock have adopted a scheme for waterworks submitted by F. W. Farncomb, C. E., of this city. The estimated cost is $22,000, and will provide fire protection sufficient to meet the requirements of the underwriters for the whole of the village.

The supply, which will be drawn from overflowing wells in the east side of the town, will be abundant and suitable both for fire and domestic purposes.

The pumps, which will be run in connection with the electric light plant, will have a capacity of one million gallons per day with a pressure of 120 pounds in the mains.

21 LITTLE PIGGIES IN ONE LITTER

Isaac Needham Has a Pig With a Big Record.

Mr. Isaac Needham, of Bryanston, the well-known cattle dealer of that district, has a sow of which he is proud. A couple of weeks ago it gave birth to 21 little pigs, 19 of which are still living and bid fair to continue so until they reach the bacon stage. The task of raising so large a family is somewhat too difficult for one pig, and so Mr. Needham had to construct a brooder, in which he looks after half the family. He expects, if the sow keeps up this record, and reciprocity, of which he is an ardent advocate, carries, to break up the American meat trust.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH MR. WRIGHT IS THE MAN

The Deputy City Engineer Will Likely Be Named for the Big Job.

An effort will be made to select a city engineer at the meeting of the special committee named for that purpose this evening.

Two names mentioned will probably divide the committee. It is understood that Ald. Tancock, and Ald Ashplant favor the appointment of City Engineer Ferguson, of Stratford. The others on the committee are favorable to the promotion of Deputy Engineer Wright.

It will be impossible, from present indications, to obtain a unanimous choice in committee. But the majority of the council are favorable to the suggestion that Mr. Wright be given an opportunity to make good in the position, and it is quite certain that he will be named.

Although Deputy Engineer Parsons, of Ottawa, has not applied, one alderman is in favor of asking him to come to London. He applied when Mr. Van Cleve was named, but he did not send in an application when the present vacancy occurred.

SOLE WAS TORN FROM BOY'S SHOE

Four-Year-Old William Pegg Had a Narrow Ecape Under Horse's Hoofs.

PLUNGED UNDER ANIMAL

People Who Saw the Accident Expected That the Little Chap Would Be Trampled to Death.

A remarkably narrow escape from death beneath the feet of a horse was experienced yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock at the corner of Maple and Richmond streets by four-year-old Arthur Pegg, whose parents reside above a store on Maple street, near the corner.

As it was, the boy was slightly bruised and the sole was torn from his shoe as the horse's forefeet came down on the pavement after it had been hauled up by its driver, Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson.

The little fellow had been sent on an errand to a store across the street by his mother, and was returning with a loaf of bread under his arm when an auto came up. The lad became confused in the traffic and darted directly beneath the feet of Dr. Stevenson's horse. Luckily the animal is an unusually quiet one, and after the first lurch stood perfectly still with the boy at its hoofs.

The physician hastily extricated the little chap, when it was discovered that the sole of his shoe had been torn off by the horse in its first plunge. The lad's escape from fatal injury was considered miraculous by spectators, who expected every instant he would be crushed beneath the animal's feet.

WARRANT FOR BURNS' ARREST

Detective Who Took McNamara Charged With Kidnapping.

GRAND JURY HAS BOOKS

Papers and Documents Taken in Raid on Alleged Dynamiters To Be Examined.

[Canadian Press.]

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association; W. J. Ford, district attorney of Los Angeles County, Cal., and Frank Fox, a chauffeur, who were arrested last night on warrants charging kidnapping in connection with the arrest of John J. McNamara last Saturday, were to be arraigned in the court of justice of the peace today.

Constables who sought to arrest Detective William J. Burns, who arrested McNamara, said they believed he would appear in court with Drew, Ford and Fox if he is in the city. The three men arrested last night were released on $5,000 bail each.

The Marion County grand jury today starts its examination of the records which were seized yesterday after a subpoena served on President Frank Ryan, of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, to produce the books before the grand jury had been ignored.

An order issued last night by Judge Markey in criminal court, bars "private" detectives and unofficial investigators from examining the documents of the company, but permits the association officials to see the records in the presence of members of the grand jury or prosecutor.

MOROCCAN TOWN PILLAGED.

Tangier, Morocco, April 25.—Advices from Mequinez, 30 miles southwest of Fez, and one of the summer residences of the Sultan, announced that Mulai El Zin, a brother of Sultan Malai Hafid, has been proclaimed Sultan by the rebel Zammour, who after capturing the place, pillaged the shops and killed several Jews.

WATER SUPPLY IS PURE ONE

Reports of Analyses Just Received Are Very Best Ever Had by the City.

THE M. H. O. IS PLEASED

Springbank, the Wells, Etc., Are Given a Clear Bill of Health by the Experts.

"The best we have ever received."

Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., today thus characterized the reports on the water supply of the city in the above terms. Some time ago—just after the freshets, he sent samples of the city water to Toronto for analysis.

A number of bottles were expressed to the department containing water from the wells, the city mains, the ponds and Springbank and the reservoir at Horton street.

In the reports it is shown that there are absolutely no traces of colon bacilli, and the bacteria count is practically nil. There are a few traces of chlorine, but nothing of any consequence whatever.

Pure Water.

"As I stated before the water supply is perfectly pure," continued Dr. Hutchinson. "We have had nothing at all like it in years, in fact, we could not have a more satisfactory report. You can rest assured that London's water supply is above reproach."

It is the intention of the board of health to send samples to the department in Toronto for analysis. This has not been the practice in the past, but from this time on, every month samples will be sent to Toronto.

"I have no fear at all of the water supply, but we want as frequent reports as are advisable," continued Dr. Hutchinson. "It then can be learned exactly what condition the supply is in. I was more than gratified by the present report. I deliberately took the samples when conditions were not at all favorable in order to show that the supply is right."

CHIEF SPEAKS OF DETECTIVE BURNS

Los Angeles Officer Is Well Known to Head of Local Police.

KNEW HIM FOR 20 YEARS

Union Men Will Put Up a Fight, as They Claim the Case Is a "Frame-Up."

William J. Burns, the detective, who is figuring so prominently in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case, is well known to Chief Williams.

"I have known him for more than twenty years," said Chief Williams to The Advertiser, this afternoon. "He was in the city last fall on his way west and came up to the office to see me. I have met him a number of times at police officers' conventions. He is one of the greatest detectives in America today and has done some great work in connection with some of the biggest cases that have occurred in the States in recent years. If Burns says he has got the men in this Los Angeles case, you can bet he has. He is one of the surest men in the business. He did great work in the San Francisco graft case and got Abe Ruef and Schmidt convicted."

No Branch Here.

The Los Angeles case is the most-talked-of affair on the streets today. Everyone is discussing it, and there is a wide diversity of opinion here.

Members of various local unions state that there is no structural ironworkers' union here. All are eagerly awaiting the fresh developments that will take place when the evidence is produced.

"It will be one of the greatest trials of the century," said one man today. "The union men naturally will spare no expense to clear the men, particularly if, as they intimate, the case is a framed-up one. On the other hand, Gen. Otis, the owner of the paper, and the Los Angeles police will do everything possible to convict those who have ben arrested.

Not for many years have rewards of such magnitude been offered for the conviction of those who perpetrated the outrage. It is estimated that more than $150,000 has been offered altogether.

Mr. William Lowry, of King street, who last week returned from Los Angeles, stated to The Advertiser that the people of that city were still greatly interested in the affair and the work of the police in trying to run to earth the men who were responsible for the alleged outrage.

Mr. Lowry saw the ruins of the building, and states that the wreck was a most complete one.

FRENCH ULTIMATUM.

Casablanca, Morocco, April 25.—Gen Moinier, commanding the French forces here, has issued a proclamation to the rebellious tribesmen, intimating that France does not propose to occupy new territory, but merely to assure the safety of foreigners and re-establish order under the authority of the Sultan. The tribes are told that if they will end the rebellion and discontinue their menaces, France will stop the march of her troops toward Fez. Otherwise, the French Government will be obliged to pacify the country and severely punish the leaders in the revolt.

Secretary of the Bridge Builders' Union, who was arrested charged with complicity in many dynamite outrages.

THREE MEN HURT IN A RUNAWAY

Horse Belonging to Bert Mossop Cut Up Didoes on Richmond Street Last Night.

CRASHED INTO A BUGGY

When the Collision Occurred Five People Were Spilled Onto the Pavement in Short Order.

Three men were injured and two others had narrow escapes in a most spectacular runaway on Richmond street last evening.

Harry Boss, teamster and contractor, residing at 10 Alfred street, had several ribs broken, and suffered other painful injuries.

Bert Mossop, of Lorne avenue, was thrown out and bruised, while H. Stevenson suffered a painful scalp wound.

Frederick West and another man whose name could not be learned were also shaken up, but were not seriously hurt, by being run into by the buggy.

Mossop had a fine colt that he wished to exercise, and he drove to Boss' house and invited him for a ride, and later they picked up Stevenson.

The horse, while full of life, was not considered a dangerous animal. They drove down town, and when south of Dundas on Richmond, the horse suddenly bolted. It galloped down the street, the buggy swaying from side to side. Near King street the rig swerved into a telegraph pole. One wheel struck it, and threw the buggy aside but did not detach it from the runaway. Then the horse crashed into a bicycle standing beside the curb. The broken wheel, mixed up with the buggy, maddened the animal still more, and it dashed down the street at a very rapid rate.

A Collision.

When near York street West and his friend were driving across. It was too late to avoid a collision, and the two rigs came together with a crash.

Mossop's rig was thrown over, and the three men hurled to the pavement. Boss was on the left side, and when the upset occurred he was under the rig. The wheels struck him on the side, crushing half a dozen of his ribs. Stevenson was thrown out on his head, sustaining a painful scalp wound.

West's rig was overturned also, and he and his companion were thrown to the pavement. Luckily they were struck only a glancing blow, and were not hurt to any great extent.

Mossop's horse tore itself free, and ran past the Tecumseh House, where it was caught.

Boss was the most seriously injured of the party, and he was at once taken home in a hack. Dr. W. A. Thompson dressed his injuries. The others, while suffering considerable pain, remained with the rigs and horse, and after gathering everything up, they went to their homes.

Rig Smashed.

The rig was smashed into kindling wood. The horse was cut and bruised considerably, but it will not be necessary to destroy it.

West's rig was not damaged a great deal, only the shafts being broken.

"My brother Harry is quite badly injured," Mr. W. J. Boss stated to The Advertiser. "His ribs are smashed and he is bruised. The party were most fortunate in escaping as well as they did. The other boys are not badly hurt."

Mr. Boss spent a restful night, and this morning is somewhat improved. He will be laid up for some time, but no serious outcome is anticipated.

TWO DRUNKS IN COURT

Sentence Was Suspended by Squire Chittick.

Thomas Murphy, a gentleman, who had been employed at Byron Sanatorium, and who appeared about there a few days ago in an intoxicated condition appeared before Squire Crittick at the courthouse this afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charge of making a general nuisance of himself around the Institution. He was given a heart-to-heart talk and released on suspended sentence.

George Robinson, the aged tramp, who claims Wyoming, Ont., as his home, and who was arrested on Friday by Constable Corsant near Masonville, very much inebriated, was also given his freedom, sentence being suspended in his case as well.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS

Institutions Will Be Given on May 2, 3 and 4.

The census enumerators of this city will be instructed in the work here on May 2, 3 and 4.

Special officials from the Government at Ottawa will be in the city at that time, and will give the 40 enumerators pointers on how the work should be done.

The official list of appointees has not yet been received, but it is probable that it will be in a few days.

CHINESE PIRATES LOOT THE ASIA

Pitched Battle on Decks of Wrecked Pacific Liner.

EUROPEANS KIDNAPPED

Carried Off by Attackers and Held for a Ransom.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, April 25. — A cable from Shanghai today says the passengers and crew which, with the mails of the Asia, arrived here today, report that the vessel grounded in a fog at 5:30 on Sunday morning. The lifeboats were lowered prompti yand the passengers were helped into them. There was no panic, the officers acting splendidly.

At 10 o'clock the steamship Shaohsing took all aboard and stood by one day.

Pirates swarmed to the wreck and looted everything available, despite the fact that the officers fired at them with shotguns and revolvers. The pirates protected themselves behind mattresses, and when driven off on one side swarmed up the other from hundrads of boats.

On Monday the Asia slipped from the rocks and was submerged to her funnel. The pirates took possession of her.

Capt. Gaukroger is aboard a tug, standing by the Asia.

Mr. A. E. Cozen and R. A. Rundel, water tenders, were mobbed by the pirates while taking the mails from the boats. The Europeans and the crew climbed aboard the pirates' boats and were instantly set upon. Mr. Cozen shot two. Then the pirates rowed ashore. They held the Europeans all night, but agreed next day to row them to the America Maru if the Europeans would sign a contract, drawn up by a Chinese boy, to pay $300.

R. A. Rundel refused to get in Mr. Cozen's boat, which was unloaded. Mr. Cozen was compelled to shoot a pirate and threaten others to make them carry out their contract.

Officers of America Maru, with glasses, witnessed these incidents.

Five hundred rounds were fired at the pirates.

MARY SECORD WAS A DESCENDANT OF LAURA

An Aged London Lady Passed Away at Her Home On Maple Street.

One of the few remaining direct descendants of Laura Secord passed away in London early this morning when Mary Secord, 125 Maple street, relict of the late James Lindsay, died at her home, aged 76 years.

Deceased was born in Trafalgar Township, and resided there for some years, removing to London 49 years ago, with her husband. Since that time she has continually resided in this city.

She was very fond of telling stories of Laura Secord, her grandmother, and was a great admirer of that illustrious lady.

Mrs. Lindsay is survived by three sons—William R., of this city, James A. and George B., of Toronto, and Miss Ida M. Lindsay, at home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon, and will be private. Interment will be made at Woodland Cemetery.

CONSTRUCTION MAN IS BADLY NEEDED

Street Railway Employee Resigned and Company Seeks a Successor.

Mr. H. J. Eritz, who came here from Toronto some weeks ago to take charge of the construction work for the London Street Railway Company has resigned, and the company are making efforts to secure a suitable man to take charge.

"We did not expect Mr. Eritz to go at this time," said Manager King. "However, we will secure another to take his place shortly, and hurry the work along."

PEOPLE ARE OBJECTING TO THE SOFT COAL

Petition Will Be Presented to the Board of Education.

The residents of Dufferin avenue in the vicinity of the First Methodist Church and the Collegiate Institute, are complaining of the smoke nuisance in that district. In both institutions soft coal is used for heating, with the result, it is said, that at times considerable annoyance is caused property owners there.

A petition is being circulated, and it will be presented to the board of education at their next meeting, asking them to abate the nuisance, if possible.

"There is a smoke consumer on the Methodist Church," one of the residents of the street informed The Advertiser. "However, it does not prevent the smoke coming out in large quantities. In the Collegiate Institute there are 15 or 16 furnaces, and in nearly all of them soft coal is used. If coke or anthracite were used, the smoke nuisance would be abolished."

N. P. Celebration.

The Niagara power celebration in Toronto will be held on Tuesday next. Mayor Beattie has received an invitation to attend, and Chairman Pocock and other members of the water commissioners, together with the members of the council, will also receive invitations. "I have not made up my mind whether or not to attend," his worship stated today. "The city should be represented, but I am not certain as yet whether or not I will be able to attend."

Old Boys Tonight.

The nominating committee of the old Boys' Association will meet tonight in the city hall. It is necessary that every member of the committee be on hand to take part in the proceedings. Committees will be struck and the organization work completed. "Everything is working smoothly now," declared Dr. Abbott, the president. "We expect to complete the organization tonight, and then we should be in a position to boom the reunion to the limit."

LIFE IN HAREMS CRUSHES WOMEN

Turkish Wife Wails of the Dull, Monotonous Round of Her Existence.

Paris, April 24. — An interesting letter has been written by a Turkish woman to Figaro, revealing the soul of the woman of the harem, as the cry of a spirit in captivity.

"For an intelligent woman," she writes, "the life in the harem is one of long grey hours full of discouragement and weariness. Oh, yes, it is true we may read! That is still our principal distraction; but to whom may we speak of our readings, with whom may we exchange a few serious thoughts? The society of men is forbidden us, and we are surrounded by women relatives and friends who are generally lacking in education, because under the old order of things it was not allowed to send Mohammedan girls to European schools, and the teachers who came to us from France or elsewhere were usually vulgar adventuresses, unworthy of the confidence shown to them.'

Our husbands are immensely surprised if we wish to speak with them about some subject outside the habitual circle of so-called feminine conversation. They are often glad to leave these harems of ours, crowded with children, slaves and gossipers."

PRESBYTERIAN SYNODS GATHER AT WOODSTOCK

PONY'S KICK FATAL

Boy Near Brantford Killed While Playing With Pet.

Brantford, Ont., April 24.—Harwood Scott, the six-year-old son of J. D. Scott, was almost instantly killed this afternoon by being kicked by a pony, which he struck.

The lad, with another little fellow, was romping around with the animal, which, when struck, retaliated with a kick, striking the victim over the heart. Death followed before a doctor arrived.

THE LANCTOT CHARGES

Report of Majority Committee To Come Before Commons Thursday.

Ottawa, April 24.—The Lanctot case will come up for discussion before the House on Thursday, when the House will be asked to approve the majority report of the committee which investigated the graft charges and cleared Mr. Lanctot, the member for Richelieu. Lanctot was accused of using employees of the Government in the Sorel dockyards for painting his house. It was shown, however, in the investigation that he paid in full for the use of the men and material.

QUESTION DAY IN COMMONS

Banks, Flags and a Mission Board on the List.

Ottawa, April 24.—In the House today, Col. Hughes inquired why the Union Jack had not been flown over Parliament Buildings on St. George's Day until the afternoon.

The Premier remarked that perhaps it had been taken to church in the morning. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, who is responsible for the flying of the flag on Government buildings, said he would make inquiries.

Houghton Lennox (Simcoe) asked if the Government proposed to introduce a new bank act this session.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said it would depend on the progress made with the general business of the House. If it was found that the business on order paper could not be disposed of, the Government would have to decide what was to be left over.

J. E. Armstrong wanted to know if any further action had been taken by the Government in reference to the Farmers' Bank.

The Premier said that no action had been taken, as the matter was being dealt with by the courts of Ontario.

A long discussion took place on the bill to incorporate the Canadian Baptist foreign mission board. The difficulty was over a clause which, as amended by the Senate, limits the holding of real estate to ten years, subject to the laws of the provinces. The limitation by the Federal Parliament was objected to by several of the Opposition members on the ground that it would conflict with provincial legislation and would invite litigation.

E. A. Lancaster, of Lincoln, denounced the Senate for the tenure amendment, remarking that all that body had been doing this year was divorcing people whom they should have left alone.

F. L. Fowke, of South Ontario, the promoter of the bill, accused Mr. Middiebro of obstructing the passage of the bill, and as to Mr. Lancaster he commented that if there were fewer country lawyers in the House more progress would be made.

The bill eventually passed.

THE TELEGRAPH PROBE.

Toronto, April 24.—The investigation of the telegraph companies will not likely be taken up before Wednesday by the railway commission. Mr. Pitblado and Mr. Buell, counsel for the Dominion Government in the case, appeared before the railway commission here this morning, and announced that they had made requisition on the G. N. W., and the Dominion and old Montreal Telegraph Company, for certain information which was not yet forthcoming. I. F. Hellmuth and Mr. Markle, who appeared for the companies concerned, assured Chairman Mabee that the information would be furnished as speedily as possible. It is the intention to go fully into the question of telegraph tolls, forms, etc., when the case is reached.

A Dramatic Treat.

Few dramatic performances at the Grand, amateur or professional, have been so enjoyable as that given by the London Dramatic Club last night, when they presented "Lady Huntworth's Experiment," a comedy by the renowned R. C. Carton. A crowded house enjoyed the play immensely, and all were quite confident that it will be a truly wonderful dramatic organization that will take the premier honors away from the Londoners in Winnipeg, in the Earl Grey competition.

It is the custom of dramatic critics, when reviewing amateur performances, to throw the mantle of charity over the performance. In this case, however, there is no necessity for charitable dealing. The play and the players can be submitted to a test of the highest standard, and they will emerge with honors.

The cast was particularly well-balanced. Every part was given careful treatment, and not a detail was missed.

The comedy was presented in London two years ago. It centres about the fortunes of Lady Huntworth. Married to a dissolute husband, who spends all her money, she leads an unhappy life. With her money gone, Lord Huntworth endeavors to marry a rich widow, and to that end brings suit for divorce from his wife. Although her reputation was somewhat compromised by her decision, she refuses to contest the divorce, and it is granted. Then she takes service in the family of Rev. Audley Pillenger, as cook, in order to make her own living. There her pleasant manner and kindness won the whole household. The rector fell deeply in love with her, as did Capt. Dorvaston.

To Miss Ruby Michie fell the most difficult task, and to her must go much of the honor. As Lady Huntworth, the cook, she gave a portrayal of the character that compared favorably with anything presented in London for many a long season, by the most artistic professional. With perfect naturalness and intelligent appreciation of every line and situation, Miss Michie made the part radiant, and never for a moment failed to bring out the very best that was in it. Her acting and elocution were perfect. Perhaps equal honor should go to Dr. Pardee Bucke as the vicar, Rev. Audley Pillenger. Superlatives are necessary in dealing with the criticism of this part, or rather appreciation of it. It was simply superb. Dr. Bucke enacted this same role two years ago, and made a decidedly good impression. His work has improved wonderfully in the interim. It was a real treat, and one that will long be remembered. Miss Michie and Dr. Bucke will have something to say when individual honors are handed out at Winnipeg.

Another bit of character work that stood out boldly in the performance was that of Miss Meta Macbeth as Keziah, the little cockney maid at the vicarage. Nothing more enjoyable has been witnessed here this season. Not a moment did she lose her very broad accent nor did she at any time betray the fact that she was playing a part. There was a perfect naturalness about the performance that left absolutely no room for criticism.

As Lucy Pillinger, Miss Mary Paddicombe was dainty, bright, vivacious, and at all times true to the part. She was the central figure in two love affairs, and in their unfolding she had many opportunities, and she made the most of them.

Mrs James Kerrigan has always shown dramatic ability of a rare type, and when it was learned that she was cast for the part of Miss Hannah Pillinger, the maiden sister of the vicar, theatregoers were convinced that they would enjoy a treat. They were not disappointed. As the dignified, severe old lady, Mrs. Kerrigan had plenty of scope for her outstanding qualifications, and at all times acted to the fullest conception of her part.

As Captain Dorvaston, Mr. Campbell Becher showed marked ability. He, too, enacted this role two years ago. While it was a good performance then, it was not to be compared with the impersonation of last evening. As the careless officer in the army, he was capital.

Mr. Charles Hunt was cast for the role of Gandy, the man servant at the vicarage. This part was by no means easy of exact portrayal, but Mr. Hunt gave a most excellent performance.

one of the most satisfying of the evening.

Mr. Forbes-Mitchell as Lord Huntworth alias Mr. Crayll, the drunken husband of Lady Huntworth, left nothing to be desired. His role is a hard one, it being particularly difficult not to over-do it, or burlesque it. In it Mr. Forbes-Mitchell succeeded admirably.

Mr. Gordon Medland had a small part, that of the curate, Rev. Henry Thorsby, and he did well.

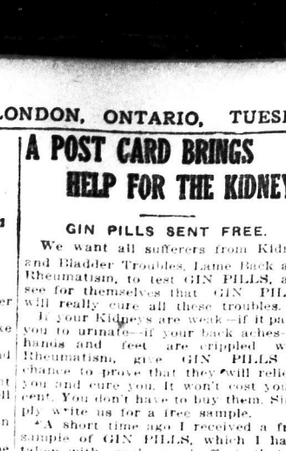

Credit must be given Mr. C. E. Carruthers who staged the performance and who drilled the company in their parts. Much of the success of the play is due him.

The setting was adequate, thanks to the industry and care of Manager Minhinnick and his staff.

The company left this morning at 11 o'clock for Winnipeg, where they will take part in the Earl Grey dramatic competition. Such a performance as that of last evening is certain to bring home a prize.

"The Blue Mouse" Tomorrow.

Slangy sayings given with an almost childish innocence make the character of "The Blue Mouse," as played by Miss Grace Merritt in the play of the same name, which comes to the Grand tomorrow night, one of the most interesting that the stage has known. Clyde Fitch, the author of "The Blue Mouse" has, it is said, written a farce that will be played for years to come.

"The Kissing Girl."

John P. Slocum will present "The Kissing Girl" in all her own original glory at the Grand Opera House next Saturday, afternoon and evening, with a strong cast and a show well known to local playgoers. Miss Texas Guinan. "The Kissing Girl" is styled a new Viennese comic opera, and has just returned from a most successful tour of all the large western cities. It is said of "The Kissing Girl" that the melodies are catchy, the chorus bright and clever, and the stage accompaniments elaborate.

Musical Event of Season.

At the Grand Opera House next Monday night, May 1, Charles Frohman will present "The Dollar Princess," one of the trio of his recent foreign importations. The success of "The Dollar Princess" has preceded it, and its music is already popular wherever music is played. There are waltzes that will be whistled, played and hummed for many years after the play has outlived its popularity, and there are many numbers that will live and take rank with the operas. On account of the high order of the music, however, the comedy has not been neglected. There is a rich vein running through the piece which makes it excel in every quarter.

ANOTHER CHURCH STRONG FOR UNION

Evangelical Association in Favor of It by Big Majority.

Zurich, Ont., April 24.—The Evangelical Association in convention here tonight voted in favor of church union by a vote of 43 to 10.

Rev. S. M. Hauch opened the debate on church union. He referred to the financial situation 19 years ago, and to the present situation. At that time a strong movement was on foot for a union, but largely because of the language difficulty was defeated. Now the language problem is entirely changed. He then spoke on the various financial obligations to be assumed should the church unite with the Methodists or remain in the Evangelical Association. Mr. Hauch then referred to the spiritual side of the situation. He touched on the similarity of discipline on the character of the general officers of the two churches, bishops, superintendents, etc.; on the attitude of the two churches to the great moral movement of today.

Rev. G. Brown, Rev. W. E. Beese, Mr. D. S. Faust (lay delegate), Rev. S. F. Brown, Rev. L. H. Wagner, P. E., Rev. H. L. Merner, Rev. G. D. Damm, Rev. M. L. Wing, Rev. A. Halst and Rev. A. W. Sauer also spoke.

LONDON, TUESDAY, APRIL 25.

THE LABOR ARRESTS.

The secretary of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers of America, John J. McNamara, has been arrested on a charge of instigating a series of dynamite outrages which have been attended with great loss of life and property. Bound and manacled, he is being hurried to Los Angeles, with an alleged accomplice, to face an indictment for the wrecking of the building of the Los Angeles Times, in which 21 men perished.

McNamara is either the victim of a hideous conspiracy, or he is a foul traitor to the cause of organized labor. Readers of the industrial history of England know what a setback was given the trades union movement, then struggling against cruel disabilities, by the Sheffield outrages in the sixties—the work of a few individuals. British trades unionism has lived down the memory of these things, and today its officials sit in Parliament and the highest places in the land. The trades unions of America must in self-defence crush violence in their ranks if it is found to exist. If McNamara is guilty, he has done an atrocious injustice to his comrades who have trusted him, and made him a leader. If he is not guilty, some persons have abused the process of the law to bring discredit on trades unionism, and should be detected and punished to the limit. Naturally the labor organizations are prompted to defend a brother under fire. They owe it to the accused and themselves to see that there is a fair trial. The prisoners should be given the benefit of the doubt in the meantime. Mr. Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labor, says the incident is a well-staged plot. The president of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers declares that the explosives were placed in the offices of the union by its enemies. It is hoped the trial will be thorough and searching, and that guilt or innocence will be made perfectly clear, so that responsibility may be fixed in either case.

THE CHURCHES AND THE MASSES

Some time ago an English clergyman visiting Canada reproached its people with money-greed and materialism. But just now there is a discussion going on in the old country as to the decline of church going there. From all accounts the state of affairs is more serious over there than here. The Free Churches have not been boasting progress, while the Established Church reports a fall of 20,000 in the figures of infant baptism from the year 1909 to the year 1910, of 13,500 in the number of candidates for confirmation. Marriages also by ministers are on the decrease, civil marriages steadily growing.

In one of his recent essays G. K. Chesterton observed that the idealistic forces are to be found in what the English call the lower middle, and the upper working class. Is this one of Chesterton's mad paradoxes? There is at any rate much truth in it, as much as in Taine's saying that human society is a pool with the gilded slime above and the mire beneath, the clean water in the midst. The lower middle and upper working classes are said to furnish still the backbone and hope of the churches in England. While luxury and indolence draw off the rich, the shopkeepers, artisans and farmers, northern or southern, still hold the fort, and try to rescue the perishing. On the other hand, the very poor become debased, grinding poverty breeds degenerates, men looking fleshless Starvation straight in the face lose all dream of the ideal and slink away from the church door.

Andrew Carnegie, himself an exceptional graduate from Penury's chill school, talks grandly of its bracing qualities, and yet he does what he can to fill the lean pocket-books of University scholars. True it is, that the homes of the dreary show some kings of men. But when the battle of life is too hard it is as a rule only less destructive of higher manhood than the battle that is too easy. The frigid zone of destitution brings forth a religionless, Eskimo-like race. As Mr. Ramsey Macdonald contends in his eloquent way, "there is a tendency at work today crushing out the spiritual life of the people. At one end of society it is luxury, at the other it is harassing poverty—or the fear of poverty—the fear being more devastating than the actuality. Men lose their spiritual appetites when life crushes too heavily upon them."

So, as luxury and pauperism, those strange comrades, increase and encroach upon the numbers of the hardy, sober and God-fearing classes, it is hardly to be wondered at that church-going and still more church-membership declines. The leaders in religious effort are coming to see quite clearly that their cause demands an active crusade against pauperism and sordid conditions of living. The rich will themselves benefit by voluntary sacrifice or by taxation directed against their accumulated wealth. If the church exerts itself to lift up the submerged stratum, both ends of the social scale may be yet brought back in large measure into the old fold.

THE UNITED STATES SENATE AND RECIPROCITY.

What will the United States Senate do with the reciprocity pact? The fate of the measure is in that chamber, and that chamber has been so long in the hands of special interests that it may still defy the House of Representatives, the President, and public opinion. The Washington Star says that in trying to answer the question four things are to be considered:

1. Last winter there was a blockade in the Senate, not contrived against the pact, but it affected the pact as it did other measures. Friends of the measure declared that it had the votes necessary to success, while its enemies held to the contrary. But, whatever its strength or weakness, the pact was lost in the jam. Hence this extra session.

2. At that time the President's interest in reciprocity was not generally thought to be uncompromising. Many Republicans and as many Democrats detected what they regarded as a bluff in the suggestion of an extra session. They refused to vote, and the extra session was called. They found they had misread the President's style of play. He was very much in earnest. He still is. He wants a vote.

3. The Senate now is more closely divided on political lines than then. The Republicans have but a small majority, and even that is uncertain as respects several lines of procedure. This reciprocity pact is one cause of contention between the factions. But the Democrats also, though more numerous than in the last Senate, are divided, and the pact enters into their troubles.

4. Unlike the situation of last winter, the present situation concerns itself with what is called a farmer's free list. The Democrats of the House will follow up the reciprocity measure with one taking a number of articles which the farmers buy, and want at low figures, off the dutiable list. Such will be their reply to the complaint that the Canadian pact will injure the Americans who cultivate the soil. And, of course, this free list will reach the Senate in time to enter in the general discussion of the tariff matter there, and help develop the divisions of both sides of the chamber.

The Star says that conditions in the Senate invite only guessing, and that of the most qualified and tentative description.

The New York Herald is more sanguine. It has polled the Senate and finds a majority of 23 for the agreement. The hopes of the Canadian opponents of reciprocity are fixed not upon Ottawa, but upon Washington. Unless reciprocity receives its death-blow in the American Senate now, it will have a long and prosperous life, and so will the Canadian Government that upholds it.

Pedestrians moved from the sunny to the shady side of the street today. Thus winter leaps into summer clear over the head of spring.

The British House of Commons voted yesterday to destroy the power of the House of Lords to veto a home rule bill. Seeing that the House of Lords destroyed a home rule bill approved by the electors 20 years ago, and have hung up the question ever since, it is time the peers cleared the track.

The violence and vulgarity of the language and manners of six or seven members of the Ottawa Opposition are a reproach to the House of Commons. They might take pattern of their leader in this respect, but apparently they are too congenitally coarse-fibred to acquire any touch of the quality that makes a gentleman.

Senator Nelson, former governor of Minnesota, says:

"Minneapolis has in recent years under our protective system been one of the great barley markets and malting centres of the country, and in consequence our farmers have profitably raised large quantities of barley.

"This reciprocity scheme will utterly destroy such market and much of the malting business. The province of Ontario will supply the barley for the brewers and maltsters east of the Mississippi River and our barley market will simply be a feed barley market."

This may be true, but it is no reason why Ontario farmers should vote against reciprocity.

The six Opposition members who voted for an amendment approving the reciprocity agreement, excepting the fruit and vegetable clauses, now say they were ignorant of what they were voting for. They are entitled to this explanation, but they are unchivalrous when they try to cover up their error by blaming the reporters and denying that the amendment was read in full to the House. The deputy speaker, Mr. McIntyre, of South Perth, says he read it fully, and he is corroborated by several members and by the press gallery. The six bunglers were perhaps half asleep at the time. Their conduct is quite in keeping with the general confusion of the Opposition on this question.

SAINTS OR SINNERS.

[Edmonton Bulletin.]

The Opposition condemn the Government because so much money is "taken from the people" through the tariff; and keep right on fighting the proposal to decrease the amount by two millions and a half or more. This is about parallel to the conduct of the man who prays in the morning for the extension of the Kingdom of Heaven, and labors all day to widen the dominions of his Satanic Majesty.

WHERE THE EVIL CAME IN.

[Judge.]

Husband (meditating upon the Easter bonnet bill)—God made woman, but the devil certainly made the new styles.

THE CHOIR EN ROUTE.

[Toronto Star.]

The Sheffield choir sang "America" in the Ohio House of Representatives. To be consistent, the Canadian jingoes will have to argue that this reciprocity in national songs will lead to the annexation of Great Britain.

WILL SIR WILFRID GO?

[Ottawa Free Press.]

Can the Conservative party afford to be placed upon record as preventing the Premier's attendance at the Imperial conference? We trow not, but anyway a few days will show what action they are going to take. But they must not forget that if they follow such a course they will be accepting a grave responsibility for which they will have to account to the people.

HUGH'S DISCOVERY.

[Toronto Star.]

The Kincardine Review, published by Hugh Clark, M.P.P., asserts that "When a full history of the reciprocity negotiations is made public, it may appear that the Asquith Government had a hand in it." The agreement which Col. Clark's friends have denounced as "un-British" engineered by the British Government; just think of it!

EXCEPTION TO A GOOD RULE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

A Chicago woman lost $2,000 worth of diamonds through a hole in her stocking. Now and then we find an instance where it is too late to mend.

A MISCHIEVOUS ILLUSION.

[Weekly Sun.]

Of all the foolish illusions and stupid prejudices by which men's actions are governed, surely the most absurd and groundless are those which cause some to look upon the people of the United States with suspicion, distrust and even hate.

The Americans are of like ancestry with ourselves; they speak the same language, they have the same form of government; follow the same pursuits; worship in the same churches. If a man could be taken in his sleep from any concession line in Ontario and dropped down in a rural neighborhood in New York or Ohio, he would find nothing more strange in his surroundings on awakening in the morning than he could find in the next county or township to his own.

WILL HE LOOK PLEASANT?

[Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.]

A French photographer has invented a contrivance for taking pictures of the bottom of the sea. A snapshot of the late McGinty may therefore be looked for at any moment.

MARY'S METAMORPHOSES

[Judge.]

Mary had a little shape,
Correct from tip to toe;
And everywhere that Fashion went,
That shape was sure to go.

NOT FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

[Washington Star.]

"What do you think of the new problem play?"

"Nothing," replied Miss Cayenne. "It was bad enough to see it, without thinking about it."

SPRING'S PROOF.

[Denver Republican.]

The garden seeds he had left o'er
He cannot find at all;
He's hunted till he's passing sore
Each closet, great and small;
The rake has vanished, brow o'ercast
His time in search is spent;
The handle's all he finds at last,
Used for his small son's tent.

The spade's a wreck, some wagon had
Reduced it unto bits;
The hoe is also to the bad;
Right here he throws ten fits
Because the hose is full of leaks,
He thought that it would do,
Whereas 'twill never last two weeks;
He'll have to get some new.

And so it goes, the garden that
He thought he'd start by noon,
Will not be planted now, that's flat;
He gallops townward soon
And buys and buys, and buys, and buys
Hoes, rakes and everything
He thought he had on hand, where lies
The proof that it is spring.

THEY KNOW IT AT LAST.

[Stratford Beacon.]

The fact remains that the Government made a blunder in withdrawing all the model schools, or all but those in the new districts of the province, and now they have to restore part of them. A little less pig-headedness would have prevented this. Had they done what they are doing now, there would have been no cause of complaint.

DR. NESBITT MUCH SEEN.

[Hamilton Herald.]

About a dozen Toronto people, visiting in the United States, have recently testified to having seen Dr. Beattie Nesbitt over there, and some of them say they talked with him. It must be [illegible] for the attorney-general's department to keep on being unable to locate the burly doctor.

WHEN FATHERS ARE HUMBLED.

[Cleveland Plain-Dealer.]

Euclid entered the stadium looking blue and discomfited.

His associates held aloof for a while, expecting the great problemist to throw off his gloomy air.

But they waited in vain.

Then they communed together, and finally selected Timmyanus to approach the master.

"What is it disquiets you, great one?" quoth the messenger in his softest Peloponnesian.

Euclid looked around.

"I'll tell you, Timmy," he replied. "My little girl came home from school last night and asked me to show her how to do one of her geometry problems—an', by jing, I couldn't do it!"

SAVING THE BIRDS.

[Niagara Falls (N. Y.) Journal.]

The efforts of a Kansas congressman to have the migration of birds legally recognized as a form of inter-state commerce is but one token—though a striking one—of a disposition to accord the bird a more important place in the general economy. The western legislator would stop the slaughter so common during the migratory movements of spring and fall by the impositions of fines ranging from $100 to $1,000.

SHELTER BOYS WANTED TO SEE THE WORLD!

Experience of Two Lads Who Started Out On Long Walk.

Two little lads, 8 and 10 years of age, started out from the children's shelter, on the Wortley road, this morning, to see the wide, wide world.

They were not satisfied with the routine of the shelter, and fondly imagined that once outside they would have the time of their lives.

Shortly after breakfast this morning, the youngsters put on their hats and quietly slid out.

Then they started tramping. Turning south on the Wharncliffe road, they walked and walked.

The matron missed them after they had gone some minutes, and sent word to find them.

No trace of them could be found, and the traction company were notified to keep a lookout for the lads, as it was thought they might go south along their line.

Shortly after 10 o'clock, the conductor of a southbound car saw the boys walking along the road, tired and dusty. He stopped his car, and picked them up. They were glad to quit. A car brought them to the city, and they are now in the shelter.

"They merely wanted to see the world," The Advertiser was informed at the office of the society. "The warm weather stirred their desire for adventure, and as a result they started to walk around the world. A six-mile jaunt in the country proved effectual, I think, in eliminating the adventurous spirit."

MURDOCK PLEADS GUILTY TO FRAUD CHARGES

Jarvis Lawyer Will Come Up for Sentence at Cayuga Today.

[Canadian Press.]

Cayuga, April 25.—J. Y. Murdoch, the Jarvis solicitor, who fleeced a number of his clients for sums aggregating some ten or twelve thousand dollars, was arraigned before the county judge here this morning on five charges of theft. He elected to be tried before the county judge, and thereupon he pleaded guilty to each of the charges. The case was adjourned till this afternoon for sentence on seven charges of theft and one of forgery, to which he pleaded guilty. In the meantime a civil suit of $100 against Murdoch by Dr. Newell, of Jarvis, for professional services, is in progress.

J. W. Tyrrell, C. E., the well-known explorer, under the auspices of the Canadian Club on Friday evening last in the town hall, gave a very interesting and instructive address on the "Hudson Bay Route." Mr. Tyrrell had recently returned from the wilds of Northern Manitoba. His lecture was illustrated by a number of beautiful photo views of the rivers and landscape along the proposed Hunday Bay Railway route, from Winnipeg to Fort Churchill on the Hudson Bay. He was appointed by the Dominion Government in 1885 to explore the rivers to the Hudson Bay, which has a coast line of 6,000 miles. Many beautiful views of waterfalls were shown, some of them, Mr. Tyrrell explained, would produce as much electric energy as Niagara Falls, and this the speaker said would be a great factor in building this future railroad highway to the Liverpool of the north at Hudson Bay. He stated that he had taken five trips over the proposed route, and from the many years of observation, navigation would be open along the rivers and the Hudson Bay from July to October, and some seasons would be extended to November.

Mr. Tyrrell said the Indians throughout the route were friendly, and lent many a helping hand as guides and pilots, and also he wished to say that the Christian missionaries had done good service among them, as they were very strict in observing Sunday, and refrained from hunting or doing any work on that day. One particular instance was brought to his attention. While camped on the banks of the Churchill River a silver fox was observed on the opposite bank within shooting distance. His chief Indian guide remarked that the silver fox well knew it was Sunday, and it was unmolested. In some of the photo views immense herds of moose and reindeer were shown, some were very close views, so tame were the herds. Wild geese were so plentiful that in a fifteen minutes' hunt with a small club or stick, a score or more could be knocked down; also along the Nelson and Churchill Rivers, fifteen minutes' fishing would produce over a hundred pounds of large-sized whitefish and trout. Further north the musk-ox was met with and some views of it were shown. Besides many views of Indian tribes and their tepees, some excellent views were shown of Eskimos and dog-sleds, and views of many portages along the difficult parts of the rivers were also shown. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Tyrrell for his instructive address. L. Eedy was chairman.

The renowned explorer, the Rev. G. W. Ray, F. R. G. S., a Bolivian citizen, who was adopted by the savages of Paraguay and given the name of "Big Cactus Red Mouth," will give this evening in the Baptist Church a high-class missionary entertainment, illustrated with beautiful stereopticon views. He will wear the costume of the Argentine Gauchos and will show Indian gods and a very large number of strange curios.

Pleated Skirts.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) Will pleated skirts be worn this summer? (2) Please suggest a way to make a summer dress for a girl of 18. (3) Is it proper to go out occasionally with other young men when one has a "steady," but if not engaged?

INQUISITIVE.

A.—(1) Yes. (2) With low-cut neck, short sleeves, plain loose waist with tucks at shoulders to form fullness, and pleated skirt with wide hem. Made in one piece and fastened straight down the front, from collar to hem, with large pearl buttons. (3) Certainly. You would be very foolish not to do so.

Length of Dress.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) I am a girl of 15 and 5 feet 5 inches tall. How long should my dresses be? (2) Should one's address be at the head of business and friendship letters?

ANNA.

A.—(1) A few inches above the shoe tops (2) Yes.

Washing Shirtwaists.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) Please tell me how I can wash a navy blue flannel shirtwaist so it will not shrink. (2) How can I get dark streaks off my neck that soap and water will not remove? They are caused by furs rubbing the neck. DAILY READER.

A.—(1) Better wash in gasoline, as waist will shrink much less than if washed with soap and water. Be careful about fire in using gasoline. (2) Try lemon juice, or peroxide of hydrogen.

A Suitable Remark.

Dear Miss Grey—What is a suitable answer to the remark: "I am pleased to have met you"?

MISS J. M. S.

A.—"I thank you," or "I am very glad to have met you."

Princess Dresses.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) Are princess dresses still in fashion? (2) What is the best chemical for bleaching the hair? (3) What will whiten the teeth? (4) I am 19 and very small. Is it bad taste for me to wear my hair bunched at the back of the head with large ribbon bow? (5) My parents object to my friendships with young men. Would it be bad taste to go and keep it from them?

NELLIE.

A.—(1) Yes. (2) If I knew I would not tell you. (3) Any good tooth powder. Salt is good and peroxide of hydrogen. (4) Not exactly "bad taste," but rather unconventional for one of your age. (5) Both bad taste and wrong to deceive.

A Steady.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) Is a girl of 16 too young to have a steady? (2) Is she too young to wear puffs? (3) What will remedy dark, rough elbows? (4) What is the flower for June and April? (5) Please suggest something to trim a dress of green satin.

PIMPLES.

A.—(1 and 2) Yes. (3) Scrub with soap and flesh brush and massage with cold cream twice daily. Keep elbows off tables and other hard surfaces. (4) June, rose; April, Easter lily. (5) Bands of black satin, or heavy cream cluny lace with pipings of black.

Dear Miss Grey—Please give me recipes for salt rising bread, and molasses cookies.

MRS. M.

A.—1. Pour half a pint of boiling water on two tablespoonfuls of cornmeal and a pinch of salt. Let stand for ten minutes. Stir in two tablespoons of flour and set in a warm place to rise over night. In the morning add half a pint of warm water and enough flour to make smooth. Set in a kettle of quite warm water, and keep water at same temperature until the yeast is light. Then pour into a batter made of two quarts of scalded milk (cool) and flour. Beat well and set to rise for 30 minutes in warm place. Stir in the flour to make a stiff batter that cannot be stirred with a spoon, pour out on board and mix with half a cup of lard. Work well, divide into loaves and set to rise in a warm place. When risen to almost double the quantity, bake.

2. One egg, half a cup of sugar, half a cup of shortening, half a cup of molasses. Sift together two cups flour, half a teaspoon of cinnamon, quarter-teaspon of salt, quarter teaspoon of cloves, half a teaspoon of allspice, a little grated nutmeg and a level teaspoon soda, and add to first mixture with a tablespoon of vinegar.

SASHES AND SCARFS.

The French makers have done wonderful things with scarfs and sashes and girdles, and wonderful things too with skirt drapery, many of the loveliest models in very soft materials having intricate and graceful skirt drapery instead of the straight Empire lines or the straight simple tunic or fettered lines which have been so generally exploited during the winter. There are still plenty of the latter, though the fetter or hobble idea in its entirety has passed, but the most beautiful of the skirt models are the draped ones. Naturally, the worst failures too are in this field; for there is no other thing in dressmaking which so positively demands artistic inspiration as does drapery, and no bungling hand can triumph in this regard.

The plain clinging skirt opened at sides or front to show a petticoat or pantaloons, is still much used, but many fashion authorities doubt that the pantaloon idea will ever become generally popular with the women in this country. The effect of this style of skirts is more bold than artistic, more conspicuous than beautiful or becoming.

THE USES OF LACE.

Venetian lace is as much a favorite as ever, and so is Irish, while Mechlin, Alencon, and Chantilly and all the fine laces are equally popular for their appropriate purposes. A creamy or yellowed tone suggesting the mellow tint of the old laces is preferred even in the new lace, and one sees much less of the pure white Irish and other white laces than in former years. The same is true of the batiste, and linen embroideries, and the softened tone is indefinitely more becoming than the white. It harmonizes more delightfully with everything save pure white lingerie materials, and since the big lace collars, fichus, etc., which are prominent this season, are to be used on all kinds of material, the yellowed lace is eminently desirable.

It is by no means an unusual thing to find four or five kinds of lace introduced upon one of the imported French models, and admirable results are obtained in this way, while the combination of a very bold, heavy lace, such as filet, Venetian, or Irish, with a fine lace is almost inevitable, whenever lace enters largely into a frock or coat. Beautiful unlined coats of lace, long, clinging, and exceedingly graceful of line, are shown by almost every importer, and in many the empire idea is recognized by some short bolerolike or deep yoke effect worked out in heavy lace, while the soft lengths below are of fine lace, through which the outline of the clinging frock show vaguely.

How to Do It.

The pancakes are made in part from a cup of cold cornmeal porridge. Beat smooth with a little water, which will be done the more easily if the dish is heated. Add 2 cups of white flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, 1 teaspoonful salt. Beat in one at a time from 2 to 4 eggs, as the state of the larder will permit, and enough water to make a rather stiff batter. When ready to fry, add 1 teaspoonful of soda dissolved in 2 tablespoonfuls of water. These pancakes may be fried in a heavy iron pan, using no grease but a piece of fat pork with which to wipe off the pan between panfuls or a half turnip will answer the purpose, strange to say. For those who like a crisp, rich pancake, indigestible to those of weak digestion, but wholesome for the strong, have three tablespoonfuls of lard or other well-rendered fat smoking hot and cook three pancakes at a time. Served with a little scraped maple sugar and a syrup of lemon juice they are delicious.

For the pulled bread, take any fresh loaf, cut off the crusts and tear the inside apart, crisp it brown in the oven.

For the sponge cake beat the yolks of 4 eggs with 1 teacup of sugar, add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, and fold in 1 cup of sifted flour. Use neither liquid nor baking powder, and the cake will be light enough for anyone and wholesome enough for the baby.

A WELCOME MOLD.

Nothing in the housekeeper's domain is free from the liability of mold growth. The results are often unsightly to any but the eye of a scientist, ill-smelling and sometimes bad tasting. There is one exception in the matter of taste, Camambert, Brie Stilton, Roquefort and Gorgonzola cheeses owe their flavor wholly or in part to as many different molds. But however annoying to the aesthetic sense, mold growth seldom is harmful. Removal of the growth itself and scalding to kill the spores is all that is usually necessary when food is attacked.

CHAPTER VI.

Waiting for the Doctor.

When Scarborough jumped off his bicycle at the door of the Chinelas, Elsa was standing on the steps waiting for him. He went to her and took her hands in his. It was characteristic of the pair that he neither offered, nor did she expect, condolences.

"Father is lying upstairs," she said. "I have sent for a doctor."

"Then he is not dead!" said Scarborough. "I thought——"

"He is dead."

She spoke quietly. The blow had been a cruel one, but it had not unnerved her. If there was work to do she would do it, and the tears would come afterwards. Scarborough, watching her face, saw no signs that the tears had come yet; but he noticed a line of hardness about her mouth that had not been there yesterday.

"Why have you sent for a doctor?" he asked.

"Because I want to know what was the cause of death. I think that my father has been murdered."

He made her put on her hat and walk with him down the road, away from the house where her sorrow lay. Presently he pointed to a fern-covered bank, and when they were sitting side by side he took her hand in his again and said gently: "Tell me about it."

For a little while she said nothing. Then with a quick movement she drew her hand away.

"First," she said, "I have a confession to make."

"To me?"

"Yes. We have been known here as Page. I have allowed you to believe that it is our real name. It is not."

"I know," said Scarborough.

She glanced at him quickly.

"How long have you known?" she asked.

"Only for a few hours."

"You heard yesterday—at the circus—Phil Varney told you."

"Yes."

"I told you yesterday that I did not know Phil Varney—you have found out from him that I did. Did you interpret that as part of the scheme of deceit? You said to yourself that it was only another lie—a spoken lie this time, to support the acted lie? Tell me, did you think that?" she demanded.

"No," said Scarborough.

"Then you made excuses for me? What were they?"

"I made none," he answered. "I thought that you had some reason for refusing to know him now, though in the past you had known him; and although he is my friend, I believed that your reasons must be good ones. Besides, I remembered that you had asked me not to call you Miss Page, and that you said that you felt a rush of shame when you heard that name on my lips. Whatever deceit there has been, whoever it be that has lied, you have not lied to me, Elsa."

"Thank you, Horace," she said in a low voice, and then added vehemently: "Oh, I hated it! I hated having to act that lie! It was all that I could do sometimes, when you called me Miss Page, to keep myself from crying out to you that it was not my name! And you are right about the other thing—I had a very good reason for refusing to know Philip Varney—the best reason in the world! He is the son of the man who brought my father to ruin."

Scarborough started. Yesterday Phil Varney had said to him: "Miss Carrington is the daughter of the man who ruined my poor old governor." Here was the charge flung back, and almost in the same words.

Which of the two was the false accusation? He found himself wishing that he could have a real doubt upon the point, for the sake of the girl at his side. But he had none; for Varney had given him chapter and verse.

"My father had enemies," Elsa went on. "He had a warning the other day, and he sent me to Ponta Delgada to see which of his enemies it was who came to San Miguel with the circus company."

"I know," said Scarborough.

"You know that, too?" cried Elsa. "How?"

"The cable message," he answered. "Danger—circus."

"Who told you of that? I did not."

"I was in the instrument room when the message came through. I knew of it when I came to see you two nights ago, and you told me that nothing had happened, and that you were not in trouble. I knew that you were, but I couldn't tell you why I knew."

"Why not?" she demanded. "You might have helped me."

"Because it is one of the conditions under which we take service with the Cable Company that all messages that pass through our hands are to be treated as secrets. I would not have spoken of that message now, if you had not just told me that you had had a warning that danger was coming from the circus company. Perhaps, even as it is, I ought to have said nothing."

"I see," she said, almost with resentment, "your hands are tied. Are they tied so firmly that you can't help me now?"

"No; and if they were I think I should cut the bonds. How can I help you, Elsa?"

"You can help me to find and punish my father's murderer."

She jumped to her feet and faced him excitedly. She had spoken the words as though they were a command, a challenge, and she was waiting for his answer.

He rose and answered quietly:

"If he has been murdered, I will. But you don't knew yet that it is so."

"No, but the doctor will be able to tell, and he will be here soon. I have your promise?"

"Yes," he said.

"Then I will tell you all I know."

They sat down again and she gave him in quick outline the truth—as she knew it. She told him what her father had told her—about the conspiracy which had blackened his name and driven him into exile. She spoke of the mother who had remained in England, working up the evidence which should prove her husband's innocence to the whole world; of the two years which she and her father had spent in this island of San Miguel in the Azores, waiting till the time should be ripe for them to go home and face the courts; of the message of warning which her mother had sent, and of the steps which her father had taken, with her help, to find out what the warning meant.

"When I learned by our chance meeting with Mr. Scott in the street yesterday," she said, "that Philip Varney was with the circus, I sent a message back to my father at once. The envelope I gave to Mr. Scott contained that message. Then I went on to the circus with you, saw Philip Varney and another person, whom I knew, and rode back home alone. When I returned my father had gone."

"Gone?" cried Scarborough. "You mean——"

"I mean that he was not in the house. And he did not come back all night. This morning he was carried back a corpse."

"Where was he found?"

"By the side of the Caldeira de Morte—the boiling spring which sends out poisonous vapors, and which it is even dangerous to approach. He was lying within a foot of its edge."

"But that is three miles away," said Scarborough, "and he could not move a yard without help. His gout was very bad yesterday, you said."

"It was so bad when I left him that the slightest movement gave him pain; but it must have got better suddently, or perhaps the danger that he feared—some terror which was dogging him—made him forget it, and enabled him to do what would otherwise have been impossible for him. He must have walked there."

Scarborough shook his head. "I don't think that is possible," he said; "but he may have been taken in a carriage."

"There were no wheel marks on our gravel, and none on the road near the Caldeira. The drizzle of the night before had made the ground soft, so that if there had been a carriage it would have left marks. Besides, he was seen on the road."

"Walking?"

"Yes."

"Who saw him?"

"Muriel Davis. She was out for a run with her dog."

"The pine grower's daughter!" exclaimed Scarborough. "The Caldeira de Morte is near the Casa Davis. She is not the sort of girl to make a mistake, but she may have been wrong. Are you sure it was your father she saw?"

"She met him on the road and spoke to him."

"Did she notice that anything was wrong? I mean, was there anything unusual in his manner? Did she see anyone following him? Or was there anyone with him?"

"He was alone, and Muriel says that he seemed to be in unusually good spirits. He told her that his enemy the gout had given him a holiday, and that he was taking advantage of it, and he asked her to bring Mr. Davis to the Chinelas to dinner today. She promised she would. Oh, Horace, I don't understand it! I left my father suffering agonies at the smallest movement, and a few hours afterwards he is walking along a high road three miles away, and saying that the gout has given him a holiday! It seems impossible! What pain he must have been in! And Muriel says he was cheerful! He was brave—I know he was brove—but this seems an impossibility. Can a man conquer a pain like that?"

THE MAN WITH A TOUPEE

Might Have Had a Good Head of Hair.

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuralgia. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, which would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which will do this. It has long been known as the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ and is absolutely dependable.

So reliable is this preparation that all druggists now sell the one dollar size bottles of Herpicide with a binding guarantee to refund money if unsatisfactory.

Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Anyone desiring to try Newbro's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Anderson & Nelles, 268 Dundas street, and Callard & McLachlan, 390 Richmond street, special agents.

DAILY HISTORY OF BASEBALL

APRIL 25.

1883.—Russell Ford, the star pitcher of the New York Americans, born in Manitoba, Canada.

1901.—The Detroit Americans made ten runs in the ninth inning of the game with Milwaukee and defeated the Brewers, 14 to 13. The Tigers pummelled the Milwaukee pitchers for nine doubles. Frank Dillon, once of Brooklyn, getting four. Two of his two-baggers were poled in the last session.

1902.—"Zaza" Harvey, of the Cleveland American League club, made six singles off Pitcher Reidy, of St. Louis.

1902.—The Cleveland Americans made 21 hits for a total of 24 bases off Pitcher Reidy, of St. Louis. The Naps won this game, 10 to 0.

1909.—The presence of spectators on the field on the Cincinnati grounds kept Howard Camnitz, of the Pirates, from twirling a no-hit game against the Reds. Their only safety—a triple by Mike Mitchell—would have been an easy chance for Wilson had the field been clear.

1909.—Pitcher Jim Scott, of the Chicago White Sox, made his debut in the American League and led the Comiskeyites to a 1 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns, limiting his opponents to three singles.

1910.—In the Boston-Philadelphia game, the Red Sox made twelve hits to the White Elephants' four, but were beaten, 4 to 3.

BASE STEALER HAS EVEN CHANCE, SAYS FULLERTON

"Like a catapulted figure the tense athlete, who has been counting the inches between his foot and first base, while his eyes steadily watched the right shoulder of the pitcher, and his ears strained to catch the slightest change of tone in the voice of the coacher, shoots forward toward the goal, hurls his body sideways, crooks one leg toward a sawdust-filled bag, hooks one foot over it, while his body tears a furrow in the dirt and stops. A cloud of dust hides him, the bag and the second baseman.

"You're out."

"The umpire turns wearily away as the crowd roars for his heart's blood. The baseman grins, tosses the ball back to the pitcher, spits into his glove. Another runner has perished in the effort to steal second."

What are the chances for a base runner on first to steal second? Probably you'd say about one chance in three. But Hugh Fullerton, who likes to go into the figures, says that with a crack pitcher on the mound and a star catcher behind the plate, an average runner has just about an even chance to steal second safely if the ball is perfectly handled. Great baserunners like Cobb, Collins, Speaker, Evers and Fred Clarke steal safely about 70 per cent of the bases they start for.

EXPERIMENTS IN BASE RUNNING

Fielders' time—120 trials; curves, fast, spit and slow balls:
Pitchers' windup ⅝ seconds.
Ball's time, pitcher to catcher, ⅝ second.
Time of catch, recover and throw, 1⅛ seconds.
Time of throw of catcher to baseman, ⅞ second.
Time of catch and touch, ⅛ second.
Total average time, 3⅜ seconds.
Runners' time—60 trials made by Cobb, Zeider, Evers and Campbell, average 3⅝ seconds.

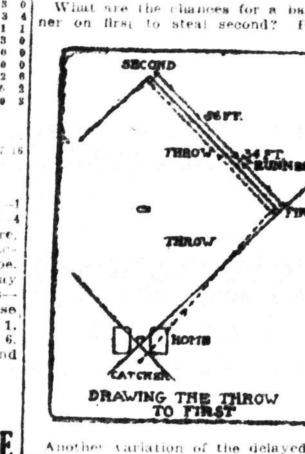

The reason more bases are not stolen, says Fullerton, is beause the players no longer run wild on the paths. In the old days a man who reached first was practically sure to attempt to steal second. Nowadays managers do not often let their men try the play, but rely on the sacrifice and hit-and-run to advance basemen. Now for figures:

In an average season in both big leagues 89,156 players face the pitchers, but only 27,058 reach first—19,154 safe hits, 5,956 on bases on balls, 1,303 on errors and 645 by being hit by pitched balls. Of the 27,058 on first, 17,138 reach second, 12,882 third and 8,272 score. There are thus 55,988 chances to steal, but only 2,744 players steal—one out of 20 chances. Nineteen runners steal home, 774 from second to third base, and 1,951 steal second.

Fullerton put the stop watch on pitchers and catchers and the throw to second to catch men stealing. The pitchers timed were White, Walsh, Three-Fingered Brown, Cole, Johnson and Gray; the catchers Kling, Archer, Sullivan and Street. The average time from the start of the pitch to the moment the second baseman held the ball to touch the stealer was, on straight balls, 2 2-3 seconds, on curve balls 2¾ seconds, on slow balls and spitters, 3 1-3 seconds.

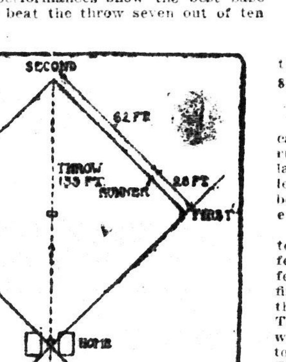

Then Cobb and Zeider were timed sprinting to second. Their average time was 3⅝ seconds.

But the above figures are averages. Cobb and Zeider both beat their averages many times. The throws to second are often slower than the average. While a perfect fast throw to second will catch the fastest runner nearly every time, the actual performances show the best base runners beat the throw seven out of ten times.

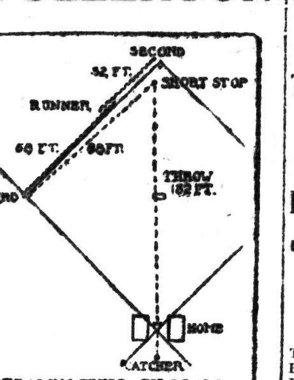

DRAWING THE THROW TO FIRST

Another variation of the delayed steal. The runner must cover 56 feet while the ball travels 91 feet to first and is relayed 87 feet to second.

THE DELAYED STEAL

The runner must cover 62 feet while the catcher gets into a throwing position and throws the ball 133 feet.

STEALING THIRD BY DRAWING THE THROW TO SECOND

The runner must cover 58 feet while the ball is thrown 132 feet and relayed 88 feet to third.

Fullerton believes that drawing the catcher's throw to the base behind the runner is the best variation of the delayed steal. If the runner has a good lead when the throw is made, he can beat the relay to the next base almost every time.

When the throw is drawn from catcher to first, if the runner has a lead of 34 feet, he need only sprint and slide 56 feet while the ball is traveling 91 feet to first and 87 feet to second. Drawing the throw to second has even better chances. The runner there has a 32-foot lead, while the ball must be thrown 132 feet to second and relayed 88 feet to third. The runner only has to sprint 58 feet. The runner with a 28-foot lead off third has a good chance to steal home if the catcher throws to third behind him. The ball must travel 92 feet to third and be relayed back again, while the runner has to cover 62 feet.

BROWNS DROP WEIRD MATCH TO TIGERS

HAMILTON HIT THRICE

Cobb Hammers Homer With Two On While Moriarty and Bush Figure in Triple Play.

Detroit, April 25.—The St. Louis Browns returned to form yesterday—at least, they went back to the form displayed by them last season, and handed the Tigers the second game of the series, 7 to 6.

The game was one of the oddest contests that can be expected to be seen this year, if not the most freakish one that has ever been played at Bennett Park.

Mr. Hamilton, the St. Louis southpaw, secured from Joplin, in the Western Association, and the second left-hander sent against the Tigers by Bobby Wallace in as many days, was hurt the most by the actions of his teammates. He held the Tigers down to three hits, but seven runs were totalled by Jennings' crew, six errors by the men from Missouri being responsible.

Heavy Hitting.

The Browns found Jack Lively for just one less than a dozen safeties and scored only six times.

A home run by Cobb—the Georgian's second one of the season—with two on bases; a triple play by Moriarty and Bush, the first one pulled off by any major league club this year, and a timely hit by Del Gainer in the seventh that scored a pair of runs, were all that saved the Tigers.

BERLIN TEAM AFTER TWO TORONTO PLAYERS

Pop Williams Tries For Cathers and McWhetter—Hamilton Extending Stands.

Berlin Telegraph: The management of the Berlin Canadian League team have given out the names of several of their prospective players for the coming season. Today Pop Williams is in Toronto and there is a sort of suspicion that he is after Pitcher Cathers and Catcher McWhitter, the star players of McCaffery's team.

This week the management will get after the men and have them attach their signatures to the contracts and next week the men will report here and the sound of the willow will be heard for the first time. The protection from the National Association has not yet been received but is expected by next week at the latest.

Much regret was expressed at the loss of A. J. McLaughlan, the mainstay of the White's relay team (champions of the Manufacturers' Association), and an all-around athlete, who has gone into the electrical business with Bert Simmons and Wallace Chapman, of the east end.

PLAN AFOOT TO REOPEN TRACKS

Chicago Turfmen Are Happy Because of New Plan.

Chicago, April 24.—Local turfmen are jubilant today following the announcement that an effort will be made by prominent horsemen to reopen thoroughbred racing in Chicago.

Edward R. Bradley, one of the most prominent turfmen in the country, is at the head of the movement to reopen the old Chicago racetrack. Bradley is today on the way to New York following a long conference with attorneys here.

It is said he has been assured by expert legal opinion that the plan he has in mind cannot violate the statutes.

HAMILTON EXPECTS MANY GREAT CROWDS

Hamilton, April 25.—When the Hamilton Baseball Club entered into a contract with the Britannia Park Athletic Association for the use of the ball park for the summer, one stipulation in the contract was that the park owners were to improve the grandstand accommodation. At the time the agreement was made a 50-foot extension to the grandstand was mentioned, but at a meeting held on Saturday evening the park people decided to extend the stand 100 feet, with the result that they expect the stand, when the extension is completed, to accommodate 2,500 people. The extension will be made on the south end of the present stand, and will run down along the west side of the field to the first base line, with the result that the bleachers and grandstand will run completely around the diamond from third base to first base, a vast improvement on the present arrangement. The improvements are expected to be completed by May 15, and will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,000.

HOLMES "INSULTS" UMPIRE.

Little Rock, Ark., April 24.—Ducky Holmes, the old-time major league player, who is managing Mobile this year, has been indefinitely suspended by President Kavanaugh of the Southern League, for an alleged insult to Umpire Colliflower. Ducky referred to that official as a "common vegetable." The umpire is a Government clerk and lives when at home in Washington, D. C. He was given special leave for the summer.

JOHNSON TO SPEED JAIL TERM NO CURE

Champion Leaves Coast For Chicago, Saying He Will Drive as Fast as Ever.

San Francisco, April 24. — Twenty-five days' servitude in jail has failed to cure Jack Johnson of his mania for breaking speed laws. The champion of the heavyweights admitted as much today.

"Are you going to be good now, Jack?" he was asked.

The reply was slow and measured.

"I think I will drive as fast as ever," he said. "I have never hurt anyone. I will drive as usual."

He hastened to add:

"I have no ill-will against the people of California for putting me in jail. I am leaving today for Chicago and I don't know when I will get back here again. I have several theatrical engagements."

"And you haven't learned anything as a result of your experience?"

"I would like to make a statement. I think I was put in jail because Judge Treadwell wanted to get a little notoriety out of me. They have never put anyone else in jail for speeding. I know that there are several cases before the judge now of men pleading guilty to this offence, and he is only waiting for me to get out of town before letting them off with a fine."

"Treadwell knows very well that I talked to him in his chambers, and he told me that if I would plead guilty he would fine me. I pleaded guilty simply to make less trouble for the court and officers.

"He promised to release me Easter Sunday. When Saturday came, although I had a parole paper signed by the district attorney and the sheriff, the judge absolutely refused to sign the document.

"Therefore I believe that every good citizen of California will believe that Jack Johnson was put in jail that one judge might gain notoriety."

Johnson left for Chicago this morning on the overland limited.

HILLCREST

London's New Future Great, Ideal Suburb

Why Buy a Lot?

Everyone conversant with recent events in London, must know of the tremendous improvements planned by the C. P. R., and now under way in close proximity to the suburb of HILLCREST. It is authoritatively stated that fully one half million will be expended for a new station, roundhouses, car shops, etc. This SURELY means doubling, if not trebling the force of workmen, and what more natural than that they should prefer to live near their place of employment?

Advance in Value is Certain

It requires little foresight to realize the growth of lots in HILLCREST in popularity and value, and in any event the money you invest will not be subjected to the hazards of mining, oil wells, or the hundred and one other speculative propositions constantly flaunted before the public. In owning a lot in HILLCREST, you have a tangible, permanent chunk of mother earth—something you can readily convert into cash, something thieves cannot steal or cashiers abscond with—a sure thing in your own hands, that no calculating scoundrel can take from you by corporate tricks or clever manipulation.

Take Detroit for Example

Almost parallel with the present conditions in London, Detroit property in the vicinity of the new Union Station, remained dormant for years; but ever since the rumor of a new station started, adjacent property has advanced by leaps and bounds. Keep your eye on HILLCREST.

MANY ENTRIES IN STAKE RACE.

London, April 24. — Many horses are entered for the 2,000 guineas stake which is to be run on Wednesday. The American entries are Keene's Iron Mask II and Runnymede; Belmont's Belfry and Carroll's Night Rider, and Crimson Tumbler, Croker's Clonbern and Whitney's All Gold. None of them is fancied in the betting.

ANTIQUITY OF TOBACCO.

The idea that tobacco has only been known in Europe since the discovery of America is incorrect. In fact, the Medes and Persians a long time before our era smoked narghiles, as ancient sculptures prove. A philologist has suggested that the Greeks and Romans smoked tobacco at least in their colonies. In the Malay Archipelago the use of cigars and cigarettes is said to date much further back than the discovery of America. The word "cigar" seems to show that man's solace and comforter did not originate in the West Indies, but is most likely derived from "sakara," an Arab word meaning smoke.

An American-Turkish Railroad to start at the shores of the Mediterranean and to penetrate Asia Minor and Armenia has been given the favor of the Ottoman Government and is likely to be realized. It will be 1,200 miles long and will cost $100,000,000.

SEES PROTESTANT PARTY OVER NE TENERE DECREE

Toronto Clergymen Says Conscience of State Should Be Superior Conscience of Sect.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, April 24.—Rev. W. H. Hincks, Methodist, last night, at the Broadway Tabernacle, devoted some time to a discussion of the "Ne Temere" decree. He cited the Hebert case and a number of less recent cases in which marriages of Catholics, or of a Catholic with a Protestant had been declared void. "The attempt to enforce the 'Ne Temere' decrees in Canada," he said, "had made the conflict between church and state very real. In Quebec the conflict is about over because canon law has won. But some one will say, such cases as I have recited, can never occur in Ontario."

"Are you sure? You have the decree in force in the Roman Catholic churches in Ontario under which these things have already taken place in Quebec.

"In Ontario suppose two persons leave the Roman Catholic Church. After twenty years they want to get married. A Protestant minister marries them. This decree now in force in every Roman church in Ontario declares their marriage invalid.

Ontario Statutes.

"Ontario statutes declare that marriage is valid. Roman Catholic Church law declares that marriage is not valid. Here you have a conflict, a conflict sufficient to breake up many a home. A conflict between duty to God and duty to state.

"What about the British North America Act? This act gave each province power to make its own marriage laws. The British North America Act guaranteed the sacred rights of husband and wife, of parent and child. These are dearer than life itself. These are dearer than confederation itself.

"Quebec was never guaranteed the right by that act in making marriage laws of Quebec province to destroy the rights of every sect but one.

"The British North America Act never gave Quebec the right to brand a woman as a concubine, her husband as an adulterer, and her child an illegitimate because of the creed of the minister who married her.

"The British North America Act never intended marriage laws made in Italy to dilute liberty out of marriage laws made in Canada.

"The British North America Act never dreamed of setting up in Canada two standards of marriage morality.

"Charles I. dreamed for England what we have in Quebec and lost his head. James II. dreamed for England what we have in Quebec and lost his throne.

"Shall Canada continue British? That is the real question. We have throughout the whole of Protestant Canada two sets of marriage laws.

"One set made in Italy, the other made in Canada. If Italian-made law succeeds, then Canada must cease to be British.

"More than one-fifth of Canada has already incorporated the Italian law into provincial marriage law. What is the duty of the other four-fifths of Canada if we are to remain British? Thus we must pray for wisdom to get light on from above.

"Our first duty is to petition the Government.

"Suppose the Government will not listen. Suppose the Government is afraid of those sixty-five votes which represent Quebec. Then this attitude, if taken, will call for the solidarity of Protestantism throughout Canada on this one question of marriage. On this question of the sanctity of marriage and inviolability of the home that you must leave your part, if necessary.

"Canada must be delivered from all partyism, which, cap in hand, cringes before any other sect. God calls you. Wife calls you. Helpless children call you. The empire calls you to place home, liberty, freedom, out of the reach of this 'Ne Temere' outrage."

TRADE POSSIBILITIES FOR THE CANADIANS

Commissioner Is in This City Interviewing the Manufacturers.

Mr. H. G. Poussette, of Sarnia, recently appointed trades commissioner to the Argentine Republic, is in the city, and will remain here for a day or so interviewing manufacturers and exporters regarding the development of trade with that republic. He is at the Tecumseh House. Mr. Poussette has recently returned from South Africa, where he has spent some years in looking over the trade possibilities of that country.

"I am going to spend some three or four months in Canada, interviewing manufacturers and others in reference to the trade possibilities with the Argentine," Mr. Poussette informed The Advertiser. "I intend to go from one end of it to the other, in order that I will be in a position to state that I have been all over my own land, and can thus speak with better and more intimate knowledge of the country and its possibilities. Some time will be spent in the manufacturing centres, such as Hamilton, Berlin, Galt, and other cities, not forgetting your own city of London. We will talk conditions over with these gentlemen, and will obtain all the information possible on these questions. This country is developing at a rapid rate.

"I am not in a position at the present time to discuss the Argentine. I know little of it as yet, but I expect in a few months to have a more intimate knowledge of the country. It will be two or three months before I leave for South America. I intend to spend a few days at my home in Sarnia."

Mr. Poussette stated that he did not wish to discuss South Africa at the present time.

CAMORRA TRIAL ADJOURNS.

Viterbo, Italy, April 25. The trial of the Camorrists has been adjourned until Monday, because of the illness of a juror who failed to appear when the session was to have been resumed today. The man is said to be suffering from influenza. It is reported that the trial may be transferred to some other city because of disaffection on the part of the jury.

Plans for reorganization of International and Great Northern have been practically completed.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON; NEW LETTERS PUBLISHED

He Writes on the Eternal and Suffering—What He Wanted On His Tombstone.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON has been dead sixteen years and his ever-increasing fame has given him a world-wide circle of readers. They will be interested in the "New Letters" which Sir Sidney Colvin, his close friend and editor of the previous volumes of letters, has selected for publication in the April number of Scribner's Magazine. Here are one or two extracts. To Mrs. Sitwell he writes in 1874:

The Eternal and Suffering.

"I am so tired; but I am very hopeful. All will be well some time, if it be only when we are dead. One thing I see so clearly. Death is the end neither of joy nor sorrow. Let us pass into the clods and come up again as grass and flowers; we shall still be this wonderful, shrinking, sentient matter—we shall still thrill to the sun and grow relaxed and quiet after rain, and have all manner of pains and pleasures that we know not of now. Consciousness, and ganglia, and such like, are after all but theories. And who knows? This God may not be cruel when all is done; he may relent and be good to us a la fin des fins. Think of how He tempers our afflictions to us, of how tenderly He mixes in bright joys with the grey web of trouble and care that we call our life. Think of how He gives. Who takes away.

"Out of the bottom of the miry clay I write this; and I look forward confidently; I have faith after all; I believe, I hope, I will not have it reft from me; there is something good behind it all, bitter and terrible as it seems, dear friend. The Infinite Majesty (as it will be always in regard to us the bubbles of an hour) the Infinite Majesty must have moments, if it were no more, of greatness; must sometimes be touched with a feeling for our infirmities, must sometimes relent and be clement to those frail playthings that He has made, and made so bitterly alive. Must it not be so, my dear friend, out of the depths I cry? I feel it now when I am most painfully conscious of His cruelty.

"He must relent. He must reward. He must give some indemnity, if it were but in the quiet of a daisy, tasting of the sun and the soft rain and the sweet shadow of trees, for all the dire fever that He makes us bear in this poor existence. We make too much of this human life of ours. It may be that two clods together, two flowers together, two grown trees together touching each other deliciously with their spread leaves, it may be that these dumb things have their own priceless sympathies, surer and more untroubled than ours.

"How curiously we are built up into our false positions. The other day, having toothache and the black dog on my back generally, I was rude to one of the servants at the dinner-table. And nothing, of course, can be more disgusting than for a man to speak harshly to a young woman who will lose her place if she speaks back to him; and, of course, I determined to apologize. Well, do you know, it was perhaps four days before I found courage enough, and I felt as red and ashamed as could be. Why? Because I had been rude? Not a bit of it; because I was doing a thing that would be called ridiculous in thus apologizing. I did not know I had so much respect of middle-class notion before; this be my right hand which I must cut off. Hold the arm please; once—twice—thrice; the offensive member is amputated; let us hope I shall never be such a cad any more as to be ashamed of being a gentleman."

When I Die.

To Sir Sidney Colvin he writes in 1880:

"When I die of consumption you can put that upon my tomb. Sketch of my tomb follows:

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON,

Born 1850.

Of a Family of Engineers, died. . . .

"Nitor aquis."

Home is the sailor, home from sea,
And the hunter home from the hill.

You, who pass this grave, put aside hatred; love kindness, be all services remembered in your heart and all offences pardoned; and as you go down again among the living, let this be your question: Can I make someone happier this day before I lie down to sleep? Thus the dead man speaks to you from the dust: you will hear no more from him."

A PREHISTORIC CITY MAN.

Prof. Keith, speaking at the College of Surgeons, London, recently, on anthropology, described the skeleton of a prehistoric man unearthed at Stone Point, near Walton-on-Naze, Essex. Every bone was found, except one foot. When he was alive this man was about 5 feet 2 inches in height and weighed probably about 126 pounds. He lived about 4,000 years ago, and the development of the right scapula showed that he spent a good part of his time in lifting his right arm up and down. He would not care to say what this man's occupation was, but he was probably a cobbler or something like that. But for the fact that the pelvic bones were found with the skeleton, the skull would probably have been put down as that of a woman. The skeleton showed that the small, sharp-featured, quick-stepping man, so common in the city today, was just as common when this prehistoric man lived. A striking feature about the skull was its small variation from the modern type. It showed how old the modern type was. The idea, said Prof. Keith, of the English race coming into the British Isles three or four thousand years ago was certainly not right. His idea of England was a western shore, on which the waves of humanity had been breaking for thousands and thousands of years. He stated, in the course of his address, that two skulls had been found in West Surrey, together with two Roman sandals, which had been identified by the British Museum authorities as belonging to the second century before Christ.

Dr. Grenfell In Chicago

Famous Missionary Back From Labrador With His Wife—His Latest Project.

[Chicago Record-Herald, April 16.]

AFTER spending a honeymoon of nearly a year and a half on the extreme northeast coast of Newfoundland, where the mournful wolves howl through the long arctic night and the polar bear and the walrus exchange compliments in their native regions, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the famous medical missionary to Labrador, and his bride have returned to Chicago. They left here in November, 1909. They have brought with them another member of the family, who is making the acquaintance of relatives he never before had seen. His name is Wilfred T. Grenfell, Jun., and his age is 6 month.

Dr. and Mrs. Grenfell and their son and heir were announced yesterday as the guests of William R. Stirling, 1616 Prairie avenue.

Mrs. Grenfell formerly was Miss Anna MacClanahan, daughter of Mrs. E. B. MacClanahan, 2141 Calumet avenue, and a graduate of Bryn Mawr.

In the Field Twenty Years.

Twenty years ago Dr. Grenfell heard the call of the ill-fed fishermen of the Labrador coast. He left comfortable quarters in England to go to them in an effort to better their condition. He succeeded so well—especially in bringing to them medical assistance—that he became recognized as a sort of feudal lord. He was decorated by King Edward not many years ago and has been recognized by all the great universities of America.

There was a fashionable wedding in Grace Church when he took his Chicago bride away. "But there was no hesitancy when she stepped from the satins and silks to the deer skins," said the doctor yesterday, "and she has been a great aid and of vast assistance in our work.

"At first it was a bit lonely. She used to go out and shoot game. But killing did not appeal to her, and she has since limited her sportsmanship to trout fishing.

Students Summer Visitors.

"After one gets familiar with it there is a good bit of fun up there. Mrs. Grenfell is a master of the reindeer, and drives them with great skill. She does not, however, attempt to drive the dog sledges. She has often gone, though, with me as the driver. In the summer the students come up from Yale, Harvard and other universities and they ride around in the motor boats a great deal."

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Grenfell is at St. Anthony, near Belle Isle straits. The doctor is to give a lecture in Orchestra Hall, April 28, to assist in raising $20,000 toward a hospital to be built there. The institution is to cost $50,000, of which all except $20,000 has been provided.

HER HANDS WERE RAW

HAD TO WEAR RUBBER GLOVES

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured the Eczema

Grand Ligne, Que., Jan. 2, 1910.

"My wife was troubled for three years with Eczema on the hands which made her hands almost useless. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, none of which had any effect. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves (she wore out three pairs).

"I persuaded her as a last resort to try 'Fruit-a-tives.' The effect was marvellous. Her hands are now cured.

"We both attribute our present health to 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"N. JOUBERT."

Eczema, Rash, Pimples, Itching, and Burning Skin are always caused by impure blood—due to chronic constipation, Indigestion or some weakness with the kidneys.

"Fruit-a-tives" is a positive cure for all Skin Troubles. It is the greatest blood-purifying medicine in the world—and is the only remedy made of fruit juices.

Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50, trial size 25 cents. At all dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

SAYS HE LANDED AT PORT OF WINNIPEG

Austrian Tramp a Bit Mixed When Before Sarnia Magistrate.

Sarnia, April 24.—William Nesser, a tramp, was charged in the police court this morning with trespassing on the Grand Trunk property. Nesser was looking for work, but, judging from his appearance, he had been unable to find it for several months. He is a native of Austria, and said he landed at Winnipeg four years ago. However, as the magistrate is wise to the fact that Winnipeg is not yet an ocean port, Nesser later claimed that Halifax was the aforesaid place. He spent three months during the winter in Belleville, and the last six days in Toronto. He will spend the next ten days in the Sarnia jail.

Robert McKay also answered the same charge, and Robert will also spend the next ten days in Sarnia.

John Murray, of Detroit, formerly of Sarnia, arrived in town yesterday for the first time in four years. He arrived on the ferryboat about 1.30 p.m. and about half an hour later was arrested by Chief Forbes and P. C. Taylor on a charge of assault preferred by John Petit over four years ago. At the time of the assault Murray was arrested and admitted to bail, but he absconded, and yesterday was the first time he has been in Sarnia since. This morning Petit did not wish to push the charge and the magistrate let Murray go on suspended sentence, providing he paid the costs of the case, and left Sarnia for good. Should he be seen in town again a sentence of a year in the Central will be the result.

John Sheen, who attempted suicide on Saturday evening, is still in the hospital, but it is expected he will completely recover in a few days. He is now out of all danger.

NEW VETERINARIANS.

Toronto, Ont., April 24.—The following Western Ontario students, having complied with the requirements of the principal and faculty of the Ontario Veterinary College, are now entitled to receive the diploma of the college: F. J. Adams, Bering; J. M. Brooks, Petrolea; C. S. Cain, Dundas; D. J. Campbell, Dunnegan; W. Eason, Paisley; W. R. Monroe, Petrolea; C. Fothewill, Flesherton; C. H. Weaver, Chatham.

A remarkable feature is the number of Americans in the graduating class, 40 per cent being from across the line.

BAR SLEUTHS FROM THE BOOKS

Labor Blocks Burns in His Hunt For Evidence Against McNamara.

LATTER PUTS UP FIGHT

Endeavors to Escape While Being Taken to California for Trial.

Indianapolis, April 24.—By an order of Judge Joseph T. Markey, of the Marion County criminal court, issued late today, only the county prosecutor, the members of the grand jury and the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will be permitted to examine the books and papers taken by the police and deputy sheriffs from the offices of the association in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion inquiry. This action, taken on application of attorneys for the association, and with the approval of the county prosecutor, bars private detectives and unofficial investigators from inspecting the books, correspondence and documents.

Goes to Jury Today.

The material tonight was locked up in the grand jury room and will be submitted to the grand jury tomorrow in the course of the investigation in progress as to the identity of persons that deposited a quantity of dynamite in the iron workers' association's storage compartment in the basement of the building in which are its offices.

A part of the books and papers were seized by the police last Saturday night in a raid on the offices, led by William J. Burns, a private detective in the employ of the National Erectors' Association, investigating the responsibility of dynamite explosions that have damaged bridges and building in course of construction in many part of the country and destroyed the Los Angeles Times with great loss of life.

The raid followed the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, indicted in Los Angeles for complicity in an explosion at the L. Wellyn Iron Works.

Take Them in Wagon.

Superintendent of Police Hyland was summoned with these books and papers before the grand jury today and afterwards a summons for Frank M. Ryan, president of the Ironworkers' Association, ordering him to produce certain other records. Ryan failed to appear and by order of the grand jury, deputy sheriffs went to the office building with a wagon and hauled the documents to the court house. It was announced that the grand jury at this time did not care to examine Ryan as a witness.

The books and papers demanded today by the grand jury were stacked indiscriminately about the four packages of dynamite fuses, explosive caps and alarm clocks, discovered by the police in Saturday night's raid. The objectives were removed to a secret place by the authorities and the other material was guarded by the police and today by deputy sheriffs, until it was taken out.

Blocks Burns.

Attorneys for the Ironworkers' Association, who strongly protested against the removal of the records, frankly stated their purpose in asking the court for the order granted by Judge Markey was to prevent examination of the books by Detective Burns and his assistants, and by Walter Drew, also counsel for the National Erectors' Association, the iron contractors' organization.

Drew said he awaited with special interest the return tonight of Detective Burns from Toledo, where dispatches had related he today obtained in the office room of the Union Station a suitcase which, Burns said, belonged either to J. W. McNamara or Ortie McManigle, and contained evidence tending to show complicity in dynamite explosions.

To Probe Deep.

Frank P. Baker, county prosecutor, today announced that the grand jury's investigation will go into intimations that there was a conspiracy against the Ironworkers' Association and its officials, resulting in the planting of the dynamite, to create evidence against them, in their office building. These allegations were contained in statements attributed to the union officials.

Mr. Baker said that the grand jury would probe the charges that the dynamite was collected here with the intention of using it to destroy buildings being erected by contractors employing non-union iron workers. The depositing of the dynamite in the basement of the office building was in itself, he said, an offense against the statutes of Indiana.

Labor Engages Counsel.

The Ironworkers' Association today engaged a number of additional attorneys, and friends of Secretary McNamara employed counsel for him personally. Henry Seyfrid, McNamara's attorney, late today, in an interview, denounced the extradition of McNamara as an "outrageous illegality," and said he believed that the detectives concerned were guilty of kidnapping, under the laws of Indiana.

It was reported tonight that affidavits were being prepared to be filed in a justice of the peace court, charging detectives with kidnapping McNamara.

Had No Alternative.

Prominent labor leaders, in public statements today declared McNamara had been "railroaded" without opportunity of consulting counsel and without a hearing.

On the other hand, Police Judge James Collins, who turned McNamara over to a police sergeant from Los Angeles, said in a public statement that under the law he had no alternative, inasmuch as the Los Angeles policeman had a state warrant from Gov. Marshall, who honored the requisition of the governor of California, and inasmuch as McNamara admitted his identity as the man named in the warrant.

Following the storm of protest which has gone up following the hurried measures taken by getting John J. McNamara out of Indiana, Gov. Marshall today assured A. M. Ryan, president of the structural ironworkers, and Leo M. Rappaport, attorney for the organization, that if any more requisitions come from the governor of California for any person wanted in connection with alleged dynamitting, he will take steps to see that they will have a hearing in court with an attorney before extradition.

"In view of the fact that it has been charged that McNamara was 'railroaded' from the state I believe that every precaution should be taken to guard against a repetition of the charge," he said.

Rappaport said he had no criticism to offer as a result of the governor's action in honoring the requisition. The governor took the stand today that he did not know who McNamara was, did not feel that he was called on to pass on his guilt or innocence, and in honoring the requisition did no more than follow the practice he has made in all cases where other states have presented such papers. The governor said he did not want to appear as criticizing the action of Judge Collins in the police court.

Rappaport today obtained a writ of replevin for the books seized by the police Saturday night in the offices of the association in the American Central Life Building in this city.

A constable appeared at the grand jury room with the writ, which has been issued against County Prosecutor Baker and Superintendent of Police Hyland, but when the prosecutor told the officer if he attempted to serve the writ he would be in contempt of court, the constable left the building.

Superintendent of Police Hyland was summoned before the grand jury with the books and an investigation was started by the grand jury.

McNamara's Threat.

Word was received from Lexington today declared McNamara had declared that the train on which he was travelling would be destroyed before it reached Los Angeles. It is said he made a desperate attempt to escape.

SOUTH BRUCE FARMERS ARE FOR RECIPROCITY

Big Meeting at Chesley Heartily Supports the Trade Agreement.

Chesley, April 24.—"In the opinion of this meeting the reciprocal trade arrangement now proposed will be an advantage to the citizens of every province of Canada and to all classes and callings."

An audience of over six hundred people, one-fourth of whom were Conservatives, enthusiastically carried the foregoing resolution at the close of a public meeting held here tonight. Only two men voted against the resolution. The meeting was held under the auspices of the South Bruce Liberal Association to give the people of Chesley and the farmers of the surrounding country an opportunity of hearing Hon. A. G. MacKay and Mr. H. H. Miller, M. P. for South Grey, discuss the trade agreement. The town hall of Chesley is a large one, but it proved to be entirely too small for the crowd. Even standing room was at a premium, and many people heard the addresses from the landing outside.

Mr. Miller applied himself to the argument that American farmers would flood Canada with their produce, and showed how ridiculous the statement actually was. He made it clear, by quotations, that the principal object on the part of the United States in securing the agreement was to import foodstuffs from Canadian farms to relieve the high cost of living. Mr. Miller declared that Ontario horse-breeders would benefit by the operation of the agreement, since it would open up a new market in the Eastern States. He argued that it was only a matter of time when the Canadian West would be breeding its own horses, just as the Western States, which formerly imported horses, have now a surplus supply.

History of Reciprocity.

Hon. Mr. MacKay, after briefly setting out the history of both parties with regard to reciprocity, devoted close attention to a circular sent out by a pork-packing company containing figures intended to show that Canadian farmers were now receiving more for their hogs than their American cousins. "The figures contained in this circular, are, according to my information, absolutely misleading," he stated. "Take the prices for the year 1910. This circular puts the Chicago average price of hogs last year at $8.90, while it claims that the company paid $9.11, a difference of 21 cents. But this circular absolutely suppresses the information that the company, as a rule, buys its hogs unfed and unwatered, while the Chicago price is on a fed and watered basis. Feeding and watering will make a difference easily of ten pounds in a 200-pound hog. This works out at about 45 cents per hundredweight, so that on their own figures their prices were not higher than Chicago but 24 cents lower. The farmer," he continued, "will not be humbugged by this circular, and will not forget that it is passing strange that the packers are so opposed to free trade. If the prices were lower on the other side surely they would be supporting, and not opposing, this agreement. This circular is unworthy of any Canadian firm."

Hon. Mr. MacKay commented upon the action of the Conservative members who in the House of Commons on Saturday voted for Mr. Sealey's amendment to the agreement indorsing reciprocity in all natural products with the exception of vegetables and fruits. They had abandoned the "annexation," "no mandate" and "secrecy" cries; they had forgotten their fearful warnings that transportation systems would be ruined, and had practically arrived at the point of indorsing free trade on wheat, barley and other grains, live stock, flour and dairy products.

WANTS CASH INDEMNITY AND AN ANNUITY

Grand Trunk Laborer Injured While at Work on Construction.

Montreal, April 25.—An action was yesterday entered by Alfred Laroche, a laborer of Danville, against the Grand Trunk, for a cash indemnity and annuity under the workmen's compensation act, as the result of an accident sustained last year. Mr. Laroche claims $352.56, and an indemnity of $145.8.5 a year for the rest of his life as recompense for his alleged reduced earning capacity.

The plaintiff claims that in October, 1910, he was engaged by the Grand Trunk to work at Richmond Hill at $2 a day, and was employed in the construction of shops there, and that while working with a gang putting a big steel beam through a window, he was struck in the leg by the beam and totally incapacitated for a year, and left a lameness.

CORRESPONDENCE

A Question of Titles.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Allow me to correct D in his letter in yesterday's paper. He dubs the Home Secretary as "The Right Hon. the Hon. Winston Churchill." This is absurd and incorrect. He is, of course, the Rt. Hon., as a cabinet minister is of necessity a privy councillor, and they are styled the Rt. Hon. D says "he is Hon. because his father was Lord Randolph Churchill, son of the Duke of Marlborough." The sons of younger sons of dukes and Marquises are plain Mr., and previous to his attaining the position he now holds Winston Churchill was just plain Mr. Churchill. "The eldest son of a duke," he says, "is usually a marquis." He is, and he is not. The present Duke of Argyle, by courtesy, when his father was alive, took his father's second title, and was known as the Marquis of Lorne, but legally was just plain John Campbell. Yours sincerely,

National and School Holidays.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I am entirely in sympthy with "Sandy," regarding the unnecessary number of school holidays in this Province. That school holidays are needed, few would dare to deny, but like many other good things in this progressive age, the idea is overworked, till it actually runs to seed. In my father's time, in Perthshire, Scotland, the schools were kept open on Saturday forenoon, and this is a fair index of the paucity of school holidays. Yes, and even the Saturday half-holiday was adopted only after due deliberation and for the best of reasons. A feature of Scotch life then was the extreme reverence in which the Lord's Day was held. Like the Jews, they regarded the "preparation" for the Sabbath almost as sacred as the holy day itself. In many instances, the older children were needed at home, in order to help their parents in clearing up the work of the week, with a due regard for the necessities and obligations of the sacred rest day. Since then the holiday idea has—good in itself—gone evolving and going to seed, until now we have nearly half the year in holidays.

Two things, it seems to me, have largely contributed to this result. In the first place, the advent of civil and religious liberty, and the growth of wealth have continually operated to bring the young of both sexes into the limelight. The old adage, that "children should be seen and not heard," has an obsolete and almost antediluvian sound. Now they are coddled and petted in season and out of season, not only in the home, but in society, the school and the church. Is it any wonder, therefore, that with all this increase in morbid indulgence towards children, holidays are appointed on the most flimsy pretexts, such as Easter, mentioned by "Sandy"—really a heathen festival, with the Christian idea tagged on, a strange conglomeration, surely—rabbits and Easter eggs, and an ostentatious display of loud millinery and bad manners mingling with Easter chants and Easter lilies! Another contributive reason for the continual increase in the number of school holidays is the modern tendency that everywhere obtrudes itself upon the view in all representative and spending bodies, namely, to create new offices, boost salaries and shorten hours of labor. This is seen alike in the throne, parliament, and the legislature down to school boards. It seems to be an innate and perhaps even a necessary weakness in a modern democracy, and is one of the ways in which officialdom entrenches itself.

"Sandy," I think, also made some reference to our national holidays. I think the appointment of Victoria Day as a perpetual holiday was a mistake, and should be annulled, if such is now possible. While the late King Edward VII. lived it was all right to merge his birthday with that of Victoria the Good in commemoration of her long and wise reign, and her admirable virtues, but now that George V. has begun his reign so auspiciously and wishes his birthday, the 3rd of June, appointed as a public holiday, it would seem entirely unnecessary to continue Victoria Day, coming only a paltry ten days before. We should not, as a nation let mere sentiment allow us to perpetuate such a mistake and such a precedent. As well may we perpetuate the memory of good King Alfred in a national holiday. Suppose that the present king should enjoy a long and prosperous reign, would there not be the same excuse at demise to perpetuate his reign memory in a public holiday for ms. What desirable end would d time? What desirable end would served by thus increasing nati holidays of a memorial character?

LIKE A FLASH FROM THE SKY COMES THE STROKE OF PARALYSIS

Almost daily you hear of some one having a stroke. Suddenly, and with no apparent warning, life is snatched away, or the victim has a slow and tedious recovery from helplessness, only to await in constant terror a return of the old enemy.

There has been sleeplessness, headaches, derangement of digestion and other vital organs, nervousness and irritability, failing of memory and the powers of concentration, feelings of discouragement and despondency. But these danger signals were not recognized as a warning that the nervous system was giving out, and so the stroke came suddenly and unexpectedly to one who considered himself healthy.

You may not be sick, but if you are neglecting such symptoms as these you are running a terrible risk. You cannot possibly get the best out of life with the nervous system at low ebb. Physical bankruptcy is staring you in the face.

Partial paralysis can be cured. It has frequently been cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as in the case of Mr. Alex. Honsburger. But how much wiser it is to heed the warning symptoms and prevent such overwhelming disaster by keeping the nervous system in condition at all times.

Limbs Were Paralyzed

Mr. Alexander Honsburger, 10 Moore St., St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"For some years I was afflicted with nervousness which grew on me and developed into paralysis of the limbs so that I became helpless. The best efforts of three doctors failed to even relieve me and though I tried a Buffalo specialist he, too, was baffled in my case. I gradually grew worse and was in such a bad condition that I despaired of being well again.

"After using ten boxes of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD I was able to resume work and am now feeling better than I did for twenty years. I consider DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD the king of all medicines for through its use I recovered health after long suffering."

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

This great food cure nourishes the wasted and depleted nerve cells back to health and vigor. This is the only way by which exhaustion of the nervous system can possibly be overcome. Narcotics deaden the nerves, stimulants whip them up to renewed effort. Such treatments cannot prove of lasting benefit.

Nervous prostration, nervous exhaustion, locomotor ataxia and paralysis are permanently cured when the depleted nerve cells are restored and reconstructed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

NOISE OF LONDON SOON TO VANISH

Rubber Pavements to Make British Capital a Silent City.

NO MORE EXCHANGE STS.

Supply of Rubber Will Be Greatly Increased, Making the Cost Slight.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 24. — Not the least interesting of the exhibitions to be held in London in the coronation season is the rubber exhibition, which is to be opened in the Agricultural Hall at the end of June. It is expected that within ten years there is every chance of London's streets being covered with a new rubber composition pavement, and that London, instead of being one of the noisiest cities in the world, will be the most silent.

Sir Henry A. Blake, speaking at an entertainment in connection with the last rubber exhibition, said he looked forward to the time when rubber will compete with the quarry. He had the authority of a well-known manufacturer for saying that at half a dollar a pound rubber could be used economically for street pavements.

Much has happened in the rubber world since then, and the price of half a dollar a pound, which thirty months ago did not seem a preposterous expectation, seems to have become more and more remote. Yet according to authorities who are studying the situation, the contrary really is the case.

Supply Will Increase.

Last year's rubber boom, it is pointed out, has meant the planting of many millions of rubber trees in many parts of the world. The supply of plantation rubber is likely to be immensely increased in the next few years, while the opening up of South America may lead to an additional output from that source. There are good judges who prophesy that by 1915 the price of crude rubber will have decreased in price to half a dollar a pound. Then will come the opportunity of those who for years have been experimenting with the rubber composition which will supply the perfect pavement for London and other large cities.

Rubber pavement is, of course, no new thing. Such places as the roadway under the Midland Hotel at St. Pancreas station, and the courtway of the Savoy Hotel, have been paved in this way, in order to prevent persons being disturbed by the heavy traffic. It has been laid down in sheets, and its endurance is said to be wonderful.

At the rubber exhibition in June, there will be a comprehensive display. One firm has undertaken to pave the main avenues of the hall at a cost of something like $5,000.

With King George as patron and Sir Henry A. Blake as president, the exhibition promises to be the most representative that ever has been held. More than 24 colonies and countries, comprising all the rubber-producing areas of the world, will be officially represented.

Toronto, April 24. — Eleven hundred children marched out of Ryerson school at 11:30 this morning when it was discovered that a fire in some sheds ten feet from the building was threatening the place. It only took 45 seconds to empty the school, and the janitor saved the building from catching fire by using a chemical extinguisher till the firemen came. Half the children saw the fire and knew it was not the regular fire drill, but they marched out without any excitement.

DAME NATURE HINTS

When the Food Is Not Suited.

When Nature gives her signal that something is wrong it is generally with the food; the old Dame is always faithful and one should act at once.

To put off the change is to risk that which may be irreparable. An Arizona man says:

"For years I could not safely eat any breakfast. I tried all kinds of breakfast foods, but they were all soft, starchy messes, which gave me distressing headaches. I drank strong coffee, too, which appeared to benefit me at the time, but added to the headaches afterwards. Toast and coffee were no better, for I found the toast very constipating.

"A friend persuaded me to quit coffee and the starchy breakfast foods, and use Postum and Grape-Nuts instead. I shall never regret taking his advice.

"The change they have worked in me is wonderful. I now have no more of the distressing sensations in my stomach after eating, and I never have any headaches. I have gained twelve pounds in weight and feel better in every way. Grape-Nuts make a delicious as well as a nutritious dish, and I find that Postum is easily digested and never produces dyspepsia symptoms."

SAYS NATIONALISTS WOULD SMASH EMPIRE

Unionist Wants Home Rule Removed From House of Lords Controversy.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 24. — The anti-home rule amendment to the veto bill proposing to exclude from the operation of the measure "any bill to establish a separate parliament for Ireland," was moved by John D. Lonsdale, Unionist member for Mid-Armagh, in the House of Commons, today. Whips had been sent out by all parties and in consequence the House was crowded.

In introducing the amendment to the bill intended to restrict the powers of the House of Lords over legislation originating in the first chamber, Mr. Lonsdale said that he desired to see that question of home rule removed altogether from the region of the controversy over the reform of the House of Lords. The Government were at the mercy of the Nationalists, whose object was to smash the constitution, he said, in order to dismember the empire by driving Ireland into national independence.

James Ramsay MacDonald, Socialist and Labor member for Leicester, immediately took the field in support of the Nationalists, and contended that the Laborites were wholeheartedly in favor of the devolution demanded for Ireland, and believed that the projected "treaty of peace with the United States has been made possible by the promise of home rule for Ireland."

ART BARS LET DOWN BY BRITISH ACADEMY

Institution Grows More Catholic in Admission of New Members.

London, April 23.—The elders of Burlington House are year by year becoming more catholic in their elections of new members and associates. This advanced attitude has been specially marked in their manner of filling the most recent vacancies, and the result will, in all probability, be a summer exhibition of unusual interest and variety. It opens early in May.

Of the R. A.'s Sir Alma-Tadema has again stuck to his deservedly popular "last," and will show two classical genre pictures, "When the Flowers Return" and "A Summer Offering," while his talented daughter will be represented by a sunset Highland landscape. W. H. Leader has once more sought inspiration in the valleys and mountains of his native land, as witness his "Looking Down a Welch River," "A Sunny Day, North Wales" and "Low Tide on the South Coast." Mr. Clausen has got five works to his credit, "The Maiden," showing an up-to-date wood nymph holding an apple; a study of ricks in sizzling sunlight, "Early Morning in September," propping a rick against a coming storm, and a charming nocturne in St. John's Wood, entitled "In the Small Hours."

Shows Kitchener's Picture.

The Honorable John Collier, in addition to his great portrait d'apparat of Lord Kitchener in a field marshal's undress uniform standing in a mountainous Indian landscape, has contributed what may fairly be called the earliest problem picture, entitled "Eve" representing her with conscience awakened seeking shelter in the shady groves of Paradise. He is also sending a slight painting of a nude figure bathed in brilliant sunlight and a lady's portrait.

Frank Dicksee has four pictures, including an open-air one of the Marchioness of Ailesbury in a white silk dress, with a rich wine-colored scarf as the relieving color note. A particularly interesting contribution is that of Frank Short, the recently elected engraver-academician. It consists of a large reproduction in mezzatint of Mr. Jacomb-Hood's portrait of the late Sir Francis Seymour Haden, whose place Mr. Short has taken, both as representing the engravers in the academy and also as president of the Royal Society Painter-Etchers, for which body the oil painting was executed.

Mr. Arnesby is sending up a large and luminous cattle subject, "The Drove," showing a mass of animals across the landscape with a strong light upon them. He also shows an evening impression of the marble arch, with a wonderful reflection of lights on the wet road.

Sculptors Send Work.

Among the sculptors Sir Geo. Frampton will show two important and interesting works. One is a white marble statue of Queen Mary for the Victoria Hall, Calcutta—the first, by the way, that has been done of her majesty. The other is a beautiful composition in bronze of "Peter Pan." Albert Toft has sent in a delightful marble statuette of a nude girl with a cloak thrown back from her shoulders, called "The Bather." The girl's figure is most youthfully svelte, and the lines of her almost perfect torso are quite Greek, as, indeed, are her delicate and finely modeled head.

QUEBEC SHOE PLANTS TO BE MERGED

A Large Financial Deal Reported From Ancient Capital.

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, April 24. — One of the largest financial deals ever put through in this city is on at present in the merger of all the shoe factories in Quebec and district. Negotiations have been on for some time past, and while all the details are not settled, it is understood that the broader lines of the amalgamation have been agreed upon by the Shoe Manufacturers' Association.

The factories will continue to manufacture as usual, but will be controlled by the merger from a central point. A certain number of the factories will execute the finer and more expensive work, certain others the medium and cheaper goods, and others the rough and common work. The system of piecework and jobbing out work will be abolished, it is said, and a system of weekly wages will be paid. The manufacturers consider the merger the best means of fighting the labor unions, which they claim have been running matters with a high hand. It is said that the scheme will be financed by some of the leading men of Montreal and Quebec.

FRANK KILLAM DEAD.

Yarmouth, N. S., April 24.—Frank Killam, of the firm of Killam Brothers, died this morning, aged 68. He represented Yarmouth county in the Federal house for a number of years and was one of the promoters and president of the Western Counties Railway now known as the Dominion-Atlantic Railway and at the time of his death was president of the Cosmos Cotton Company, Yarmouth. He leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters.

PLEA FOR SINGING BY THE SOLDIERS

Suggestion That It Be Introduced Into the Seventh Regiment of This City.

A plea for vocal as well as instrumental music has recently been made by Surgeon-General Evatt, of the British army, who at a recent meeting at Aldershot urged strongly that soldiers should be taught and encouraged to sing, not only for the moral effect of the music, but as a beneficial physical exercise and as a recreation. In Japan this was thoroughly understood, and all youths of the fighting class were bred to singing and music. It balanced in the mind physical training of the body and was a source of strength. In England generally there is an influence revival of the art music.

Dr. Summerville, inspector of music of the board of education, advocates that the Scotch regiments should learn their own songs, the Welsh theirs, the Irish theirs, and the English their grand old national airs. A time would come when regiments would compete with one another for prizes in public. These prizes would be offered for the individuals who sang the best and largest number of songs, and these military contests would take place under the most distinguished patronage.

Such music would bring them in touch with the hearts of the people, and fill them with ardor in support of the great throne of the empire so dear to them all, while nothing would do more than the subtle influence of music to promote esprit de corps so desirable in the militia. There can be no doubt that singing is a most valuable exercise for developing the chest in young men, and apart from the physical benefit the moral effect is very great. The Puritans went into battle singing hymns, and whatever may be thought of their theological tenets or religious temper, there can be no question that they were first-class fighting men.

It has been suggested that English, Irish and Scotch companies be formed in connection with the Seventh Regiment, and that national songs be introduced for the individual companies and Canadian and empire airs for the whole battalion.

FINE FLYING.

Pau, France, April 24. — Pierre Vedrine, who left Paris in his monoplane Saturday, arrived here today, having covered the circuitous course of 500 miles in six hours and fifty-five minutes actual flying time. He thus wins the prize of $4,000 offered by the Aero Club, of Bearn, for the fastest flight between the two cities. Vedrine made several long stops en route. Recently he flew from Poitiers to Issy-Les-Moulineaux, a distance of 208 miles, in 132 minutes. Later he covered the 212 miles between Issy and Pau at a speed of 77 miles an hour.

WORKING ON THE C. N. O. RAILWAY

MR. BERT GOSTICK ALMOST BECAME A CRIPPLE.

But His Trouble Was Caused by the Kidneys, and He Found Quick Relief and a Complete Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barnadale, Lake Joseph, Ont., April 24.—"Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am in perfect health again." So says Mr. Bert Gostick, a well-known resident of this place. "Before I left the old country," he states, "my health was bad and my urine was milky. When I came to this country I worked on the C. N. O. Railway, and while there I was taken with pains in my back and kidneys. I went to a doctor but he did me no good.

"I got so bad that when I came home from work I could not stand up straight and my limbs seemed twice their usual size.

"Reading of Dodd's Kidney Pills I decided to try them, and after taking five boxes I find myself perfectly cured of all my troubles."

Notice how gradually, but surely Kidney Disease was getting Mr. Gostick into its clutches. First the urine, then pains in the back, then swollen limbs! But the cure was swift and certain when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Pneumonia"

Pneumonia is nothing more or less than "Lung Fever," or as it used to be called, "Inflammation of the Lungs" and the results come entirely from a local source; such as taking a violent cold.

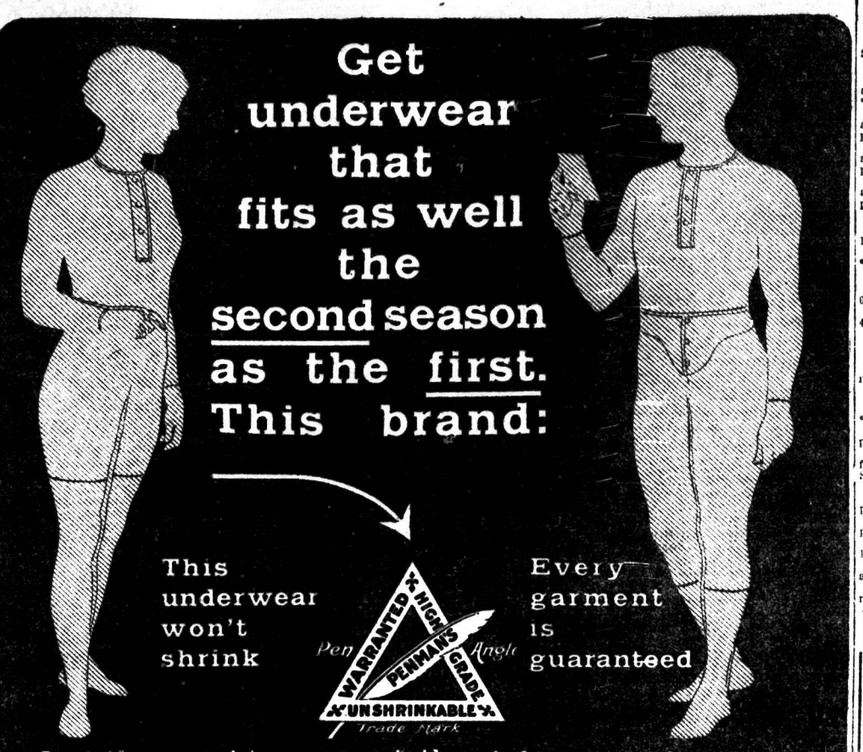

There is more or less difficulty in breathing: a cough, at first dry, but soon accompanied by raising a thick, sticky, rusty-colored matter, composed of a mixture of phlegm and blood.

There is only one way to prevent Pneumonia, and that is to cure the cold just as soon as it appears. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will do this quickly and effectively.

Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Pattullo, Ont., writes: "Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of Pneumonia. Since that time, at the beginning of each winter, I seem to catch cold very easily. I have been so hoarse that I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and before it was half used I was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25 cents.

NO CHANGE IN FLAG NAVAL OFFICERS ASK

Object to Canada Adopting a New Ensign as Has Australia.

Halifax, N. S., April 24.—Notable utterances were made by Rear Admiral Kingsmill, Colonel Denison, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, and Captain MacDonald, of H. M. C. S. Niobe, at the dinner of the St. George's Society tonight, in reference to the flag which they believe should have been flown by the ships of the Canadian navy. There has been some talk of a change in the white ensign for the Canadian navy, but these officers are hot against any change. They all spoke in favor of retaining the white ensign of England, and against any changes, embellishments or mutilations whatever.

It did not seem creditable to Admiral Kingsmill that the flag should ever be done away with in any manner or changed in any form if we are to have a great navy or be a part of the British navy. He did not know that anything of the kind was being considered by the authorities here or in Britain, but he believed it had been considered in Australia. He sincerely hoped it would not be in Canada. If such a change were to become effective it would be the end of our navy.

Col. Denison dwelt particularly on the fact that our navy and army as expressed on the toast list were imperial, not local or auxiliary.

Captain MacDonald, the commander of the Niobe, said he was pleased that his ship was filled with men who would be a credit to any nation; many of them were French-Canadians, and none did themselves or their nationality more honor as sailors than they. He hoped the white ensign would never be mutilated by any additions. It is greatest as it is.

Captain MacDonald appealed to all present who had any influence to use it to prevent any change whatever in the flag.

DIGGING UP CURIOS UNDER BANK ENGLAND

Fossil Remains and Ancient Pottery Found by Excavators.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 24.—The news is published by The Chronicle of the subsidence of the foundation of the Bank of England. The work of repair is now in hand, and involves cutting away the original piles on which the bank has stood for nearly two hundred years. In spite of the length of time they have laid buried the piles brought to the surface are in wonderfully good state of preservation.

During the excavations many interesting curios in the form of Roman pottery ware, tusks of boars and the fossil remains of other animals have been unearthed. The work now in progress does not interfere with the daily routine of the bank's business.

THE MOLSON ESTATE

Millionaire Brewer Left Four Millions to Widow and Children.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, April 24. Deputy State Comptroller Harbunger today filed with the surrogate court a report appraising the estate within New York State of John Thomas Molson, a multi-millionaire brewer, who died in Montreal on Oct. 13, 1910, leaving a fortune amounting to $4,008,489.68. With the exception of stock in two manufacturing concerns incorporated under the laws of New York State, all his properties and investments were in Canada. The stock he held in the two New York companies is appraised at $50,550, and under the law is taxed by the comptroller of this state.

In his will, which was filed with the surrogate here along with the appraiser's report, Mr. Molson made known his desire to be cremated. He left the entire estate to his widow and six children.

MALT EXTRACT

VANDAL OR HUMORIST.

Montreal, April 24.—Some party animated by a strangely misguided sense of humor or out of sheer vandalism, caused damages to the extent of a few hundred dollars to the property of Goodwins, Limited, last night. Armed with a glass-cutting diamond, or a piece of sharp steel, they disfigured nearly all of the large plate glass windows which surround the store on the lower floor. Skulls and crossbones were executed on the glass with more or less skill, but always with deadly earnestness, and most of the glass will have to be replaced at a big expense. No clue has been found to the perpetrators of this outrage, but detectives are engaged on the case.

EVERYBODY TO CONTRIBUTE TO LLOYD GEORGE INSURANCE BILL

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 25.—The Government's insurance bill will, according to present arrangements, be introduced by Mr. Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, next Monday. It is understood to be based on the contributory principles, that is, the insurance funds are to be provided by joint contributions from the employers, the employed and the state.

This is the principle adopted in the German scheme, which has been worked now for many years with conspicuous success, but it is said, says the Times, to excite considerable opposition.

Three Perish in Waters of Simcoe

Bell Ewart, Ont., April 24.—Swamped in an overcrowded boat, Fred Lepard, aged 35, a laborer, and his two daughters, aged 8 and 10, were drowned in Lake Simcoe on Saturday night.

With John Mateer they crossed in a small skiff to Roach's Point in the afternoon, and were returning after dusk when the boat capsized 50 yards from shore. Lepard and the little girls were thrown clear of the boat, but Mateer clung to it, and was drifted ashore half an hour later. Lepard was a strong swimmer, and made a heroic effort to save his children, but sank three rods from shore, his body being found standing erect in seven feet of water.

The bodies of the children were found nearby, but efforts to resuscitate them were unsuccessful.

Lepard leaves a widow and two children, aged eight months and two years.

HOME RULE CERTAIN SAYS MR. ASQUITH

Premier Declares It Was an Issue of Election, and Intends to Put It Through.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 24.—Premier Asquith, in a few pointed sentences today, gave the House to understand clearly that the cabinet was unswervingly of the opinion that the electors had returned them to power with the full knowledge that they would give Ireland a measure of home rule.

The opposition campaign of "Dollar Dictation" further emphasized the fact, the premier said, that home rule for Ireland was an issue in the election. He repudiated the suggestion that there was any trickery or deceit on the part of the Government and left no doubt of his intention to abide by his pledge to introduce some sort of a home rule bill.

Balfour's Views.

A. J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, spoke in favor of the amendment. The Government, he said, had hidden home rule in the background during the elections and now having attained power, they were going to force home rule down the throats of the people who, he believed, if the issue were placed directly before them, would reject it as they did in 1886 and 1893.

Duncan Vernon Pirie, the Liberal devolutionist from the north division of Aberdeen, gave an interesting turn to the debate by moving an amendment to the amendment exempting the establishment of an Irish Parliament unless similar Legislatures were provided for the other parts of the United Kingdom.

He hoped that the whole question of devolution would be settled eventually by common consent.

Another radical Liberal, Captain Walter Waring, from Banffshire, supported Pirie and said that federal devolution would be the only satisfactory settlement of the continual upheaval.

Eventually Mr. Pirie withdrew his amendment, and Mr. Lonsdale's amendment was defeated by 284 to 190.

The Crown's Prerogatives.

John George Butcher, Unionist member for York City, moved an amendment, exempting from the operation of clause No. 2 any bill effecting the continued existence of the crown's prerogatives. In opposing this amendment, Sir Robert B. Finlay, the attorney-general, said the security of the crown rested on the loyalty of the people, and it would be an evil day for the crown when it depended for existence on the Lords' veto.

The Butcher amendment was then defeated by 273 to 169.

The division on this amendment showed no cross-voting, but a few Liberals, including Neil Primrose, the youngest son of the Earl of Rosebery, abstained from voting.

Both Premier Asquith and Home Secretary Churchill, during the course of the debate, reiterated the Government's intention to proceed with the bill for reform of the House of Lords during the lifetime of the present Parliament. Mr. Churchill explained that the fact that the Parliament bill, although it secured the predominance of the House of Commons, would still leave the House of Lords the power of vexatious interference with Liberal measures, was in itself security that the Government would seek to reform the upper chamber.

Palpitation of The Heart.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beats fast for a time, then go slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and premanent relief.

Mrs. John Thompson, Mill Cove, N.B., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells, and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all suffering with heart and nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

[Canadian Press.]

Alexandrovsk, Government of Archangel, Russia, April 25 (delayed in transmission).—There was a very severe thunder and lightning storm here today. The freakish weather was unprecedented or at least a storm of the sort has never been recorded before. The winter has been exceptionally severe.

Reports from western Russia and Siberia tell of the sudden arrival of spring. The Volga ice has broken up in the river, and with the melting snows has caused abnormal high waters, which are doing great damage.

PEACE FOR MEXICO IS NOW IN SIGHT

Insurrecto Leader Is Ready to Announce His Appointees to Conference.

[Canadian Press.]

El Paso, Texas, April 25.—Interest in the peace situation at Gen. Madero's camp today is centred in the hope that word may come from the Mexican Government of the appointment of its commissioners for the conference at which it seems almost certain terms of peace will be agreed upon. The insurrecto commander, it is understood, is ready to announce his appointees as soon as the Government reports are received.

While members of the Madero family have not expressed themselves publicly, it is generally understood they regard El Paso as the most convenient meeting place for the peace commissioners. The meeting place, however, will probably be announced with the names of the commissioners. Peace negotiations will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the situation prevailing in the insurrecto camp and in Juarez.

Apparently, the only ones disturbed by the present situation in this part of Mexico—so lately the storm centre—are the Mormons of Casas Grandes. According to advices from Casas Grandes, most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point, when the insurrectos advanced on Juarez, and in their search for pasture many Mormon farms have suffered. At least a thousand horses are roaming in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, it is declared.

A rumor that the insurrectos intended to disarm the Dublan and Juarez colony of Mormons caused a deputation to wait upon the insurrecto's mayor of Casas Grandes, who assured them that there was no probability of such action.

In reply to your message, in which you ask me concerning the actual situation in this country, I am convinced that conditions of peace, interrupted for the moment, will return to Mexico, and that all Mexicans will unite with the single purpose of furthering the development and progress of the country. OBITUARY

Mrs. Isabella Doan, who died April 20, 1911, was born in Dunwich in the year 1860, was the youngest daughter of Peter and Margaret McArthur, her mother dying when she was a year old. In 1876 she married Mr. Henry Wilson, of Bosanquet Township. He died in 1889, leaving her a widow with six small children, living in Cheboygan, Michigan. She then moved back to Bosanquet, and in 1890 was married to Mr. Henry Doan. At that time she joined the Presbyterian Church, and lived a consistent Christian life. Her family consisted of twelve daughters and three stepchildren, the second youngest of her children, Aletha, dying three years ago, also her stepson, Henry Doan, died seven years since. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. McIntosh, of King Street Presbyterian Church. Among the many beautiful floral offerings were a harp from the choir, sprays from the Mission Band, Our Girls' Mission Circle, and the Ladies' Aid; a wreath from Helena Costume Company, a pillow from the family, besides many other beautiful wreaths and sprays from the friends. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. J. Snelgrove, George Duncan, Joe Saunders, William Reid, A. Long, Glennie. The family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

LONDON MORNING POST HAS TERRIBLE DREAM

Sees Disintegration of Empire Due to Reciprocity and Taft's Wily Scheme.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 25.—The Morning Post protests against the holding of the meeting which the Lord Mayor of London summoned for Friday next in support of the proposed Anglo-American unrestricted treaty of arbitration, and urges patriotic citizens to refrain from attending it.

The Post argues that the outburst of enthusiasm for Sir Edward Grey's acceptance of President Taft's offer was due to the fact that the proposal was for arbitration on all disputes without reservation, but it contends that Mr. Taft's revised intention is to exempt from the scope of the treaty large classes of questions in regard to which the national policy of the United States might possibly be hampered by an appeal to arbitration. It adds: Our first reason for deprecating Friday's meeting is that it is taking place under false pretences, because the American offer of unrestricted arbitration does not exist.

The second reason is that the offer now enunciated was made by a Government whose hostility to this country has since become manifest.

"It is now clear that President Taft, at the very time he was offering unrestricted arbitration, was doing his utmost to disrupt the British Empire by urging upon the Canadian ministers that they should abolish British preference in their tariff, and bring Canada into commercial union with the United States on the basis of free trade between the two countries, and a protective tariff against the manufacturers of the old world, including this country. The acceptance by Canadians of that proposal obviously means the immediate disintegration of the British Empire."

The Morning Post says: "Surely it is time enough to take Mr. Taft's proposal at its own value when he has restored his proposal to its original form."

PARENTS SHOULD CLOSELY WATCH THEIR CHILDREN

A Full Text of the Resolution Passed By the Ministerial Alliance On Monday.

Rev. Eela H. Hayden, M. A., secretary of the Ministerial Alliance, gave the following resolution to the press today, the original of which was passed by a unanimous vote by the alliance:

"The Ministerial Alliance of London, having heard Mrs. Thornley state at length certain evidences of immorality among children of school age, is profoundly grieved at the reality of the evil which she has shown to exist; it is fully convinced that the facts of the case call for the most serious and ceaseless attention on the part of parents, teachers, trustees, civic councils, pastors and all concerned, for the moral and physical health of the rising generation. It is not alleged that the evil originates in the schools, or that the teachers are responsible for its existence, but that the association of children at school affords an opportunity for the spread of these evils, and that the causes are numerous: negligent parents, bad literature, injurious picture shows, and the corrupting association of bad children. Nor is it alleged that the conditions so much to be lamented are peculiar to London, but exist in a similar degree in many other parts of the country."

Reliable Witnesses.

Following the evidence which Mrs. May R. Thornley yesterday submitted at the meeting of the alliance in St. Andrew's Hall, in support of her previous charges of immorality among children, Rev. Mr. Hayden introduced a resolution to the effect that Mrs. Thornley ought to be commended, rather than censured, for her work in bringing to the attention of London the evils which she proved to exist in this city.

Subsequently Mr. Hayden withdrew his original motion in favor of the motion which has now been made public, as there was no doubt in the minds of those present that Mrs. Thornley had amply substantiated her charges. As each witness produced by Mrs. Thornley stood up, the question was asked: "Is this witness reliable?" There could be but one answer, for invariably the witnesses were prominent and well-known Londoners.

Twenty-four members of the alliance were present at the meeting yesterday and all voted in favor of the resolution. The session lasted three hours and a half.

THE SAN QUENTIN AFFAIR.

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 25.—Captain Vivian, of the British sloop Shearwater, which is in the harbor here, said that dispatches from Mexico City gave an incorrect version of the landing of marines at San Quentin, Lower California.

He said his action was taken on the written request of two Mexican Government officers, who asked the protection of the British flag, asserting that their lives were in great danger. This request was supplemented by one for protection of their property from two British and one American residents.

FORTY CHINESE DROWNED.

New York, April 25.—According to a Shanghai dispatch, the China Merchants' steamship Mee Foo was sunk by the same company's steamship Kwang Lee in the fog Saturday evening about ninety miles south of Shanghai, and forty Chinese were drowned. All the Europeans on board were saved. The Kwang Lee has returned, slightly damaged, with the survivors on board.

PASSENGERS SAFE.

Tokio, April 25.—It was reported today that the passengers and crew of the Settle mail steamship A—a were rescued after the vessel went ashore on Finger Rocks Sunday. The mails also were saved.

CORK ELECTION TRIAL.

Cork, Ireland, April 25.—The hearing of the petition against the election of Captain Anthony Donel, the Nationalist whip, who defeated William O'Brien in the east division of Cork County, was resumed today. John Donovan, a Callforian, who was active in the last election campaign here, was a witness and admitted having promised to distribute money among the poor of Youghal if Donel was elected. He declared that he had four years of electioneering in Ireland.

BEAVER TOO NUMEROUS.

Regina, Sask., April 25.—Beaver have become so numerous and are destroying so much fine timber around Oxbow that settlers are appealing to the Government to exterminate them.

EGERTON STREET CHURCH MORTGAGE BURNED

Congregation Are Now Free of Debt.

Egerton Street Baptists last night celebrated the burning of the mortgage on their church with a reception that could not have been more successful and satisfactory. There was a very large attendance, and, in addition to the burning of the mortgage, an excellent programme of musical numbers was rendered by talented musicians. After the meeting had been opened with the usual devotional exercises led by Mr. George Graham, the chairman, Mr. W. L. Steeves, opened the programme with an able and interesting address, in which he referred to the excellent foundations for the success of the church, which had been laid by former pastors. Addresses were also given by Rev. John Smith, pastor of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church; Rev. J. H. Boyd, of Adelaide Street Church; Mr. J. Campbell, of Talbot Street Church, and Mr. Robinson, of Adelaide Street Church, who gave some interesting reminiscences of the founding of the church as a branch of Adelaide Street Baptist Church. Miss Annie Maine, a pioneer worker in the church, having participated in the work since it was first opened, after dwelling on the growth of the little congregation, expressed her two ambitions to be the building of a new church and the support by the congregation of a missionary in the foreign field. Almost all the speakers expressed the hope that a new church would be erected in the near future, on the lot adjacent to the present church, and which is held for the purpose.

The unique and impressive ceremony of burning the mortgage was undertaken by the oldest member of the church, Mr. Robert Hawe, who held the plate bearing it, and the youngest member, Miss Madeline Sharrett, who ignited the parchment.

The musical programme included selections by the following artists, all of whom were enthusiastically received: Egerton Street Church choir, chorus selections; Messrs. Reid and Leitchford, duet; Miss L. B. Gilmore, contralto soloist of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, solos; Misses Gilmore, Ware and Suhr, trio, and Mr. Charles Maynard, solo.

At the close of the programme, refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid of the church, and a pleasant social half hour was spent.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OFFICERS.

At the annual election of officers of the Centennial Epworth League, held Monday evening, the following executive was chosen: President, Mr. Hugh McLaren; first vice-president, Miss J. MacDonald; second vice-president, Miss A. Wright; third vice-president, Miss L. Hardy; fourth vice-president, Mr. Neil McNab; secretary, Mr. Ernest Everingham; treasurer, Miss J. Willis; pianist, Miss A. Wilkey; representative to local union, Mr. Roy W. Roberts. The superintendent of the junior department will be chosen by the pastor.

HURT ON STREET CARS.

As a result of the street car collision which occurred a few days ago on Horton street, Mr. Thomas Biswarick, of Bridges street, is still confined to his home in East London in an extremely serious condition. Mr. Biswarick suffered severe injuries to his back from the shock of the two cars coming together, and his condition since then has been very precarious and unsatisfactory.

CONGRESS ONCE MORE TACKLING THE TARIFF

Farmers' Free List Bill Promises To Provide a Long Debate.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, April 25.—The tariff again holds the attention of Congress. It made its appearance today in the shade of the free list bill, which was called up just before adjournment yesterday, and which threatens to lead to almost endless debate before it is finally passed along to the Senate.

Leaders on both sides of the House foresee long days of talk ahead. That the measure will pass is generally conceded, but it will not command the whole of the Republican votes.

Amendments are beginning to pour in and efforts are being made by free trade Democrats to enlarge the scope of the measure.

While the Senate was not in session today, interest centred in the executive session of the Republican committee on committees, which is striving to heal the differences over committee assignments between the regular and progressive members of the party in that body. Chairman Gallinger today hoped he could report the assignments Thursday.

DUFFERIN AVE. PEOPLE WANT ROADWAY OILED

Will Ask the Council To Do This, and Repair the Macadam.

The residents of Dufferin avenue from Richmond to Adelaide are petitioning for a curb and gutter along that street, and to have the pavement properly repaired. They will also ask the council to oil it.

This pavement was laid many years ago on the local improvements basis. It was a broken-stone macadam, and although very little money was spent in repairs, it was for years one of the best streets in the city.

During the last two or three years, it has been breaking up somewhat, and at the present time several blocks are in need of immediate attention.

The petition will be presented at an early date, it is expected.

The merino sheep is Australia's best asset. A report recently issued by the Government statistician for Queensland shows the estimated number of sheep in the state at the present time at 20,040,000. This is an increase of nearly two millions over the previous year. The amount of wool produced in 1909 was 123,668,278 pounds, an increase of 19,000,000 pounds. The greatest wool-producing state in Australia, however, is New South Wales, where the sheep at the end of 1909 numbered 46,194,000. The fleece for the year reached 1,073,856 bales.

Meyerbeer, like many other notable people, went in dread of premature burial, and left the most elaborate directions with a view to preventing such a contingency. "My body is to remain untouched for a period of four days after my death is certified, with the face uncovered, and in exactly the same position as at the time I am supposed to have passed away. On the fifth day incisions are to be made in the throat and in the feet." He also directed that two men should be appointed to watch over him day and night, in case he should give any signs of life, and that bells should be attached to his hands and feet.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FARMERS BUSY WITH SEEDING

As a Consequence There Was Practically No Farmers' Market in London Today.

GREEN GOODS PLENTIFUL

Flowers Are Being Offered in Fair Quantities—Meat Supply Was Not Large.

With the exception of six loads of hay, which sold quickly at $15 per ton, there was no farmers' market today. All the farmers are extremely busy with seeding operations at present, and the sunlit old square, its dreary surroundings gleaming bare and out of place in the brightness and freshness of the spring, was deserted save for a few florists' and market-gardeners' wagons.

Green onions were conspicuous in the latter market wagons, and sold readily at 25 and 30 cents per dozen bunches. Artichokes brought 25 cents per peck, and parsnips were offered at 35 and 40 cents per bushel.

The flower market was small, but what there was of it was gay with springtime blossoms. Carnations were noticeable among the cut flowers, and sold at 35 cents per dozen. Potted plants were numerous.

The meat supply was not very large and fairly quiet.

Eggs are worth 16 cents per dozen wholesale, and 18 cents retail. Butter varies from as low as 16 cents, wholesale, to 25 cents, the highest retail price, per pound.

Trade good, particularly for light butcher cattle of good quality, and from 950 to 1,000 pounds in weight. For the heavy cattle the market is a little dull, lacking a good export demand. These heavier cattle are offering at a lower price than they would fetch in a more active market, but some of the local men claim they are too heavy for the home trade, a lighter class of cattle being preferred at this season. Prices today were good and firm at yesterday's levels, with about the same decline of 10 cents to 15 cents on export cattle. Calves steady at $5 to $5 75. Sheep—Ewes firmer at $5 25; yearlings steady at $6 to $6 50. Spring lambs steady at $3 to $6 each. Hogs steady and unchanged at $6 45, fed and watered. Choice butcher steers and heifers, firm, at $5 60 to $5 90; medium, $5 15 to $5 40; common mixed butcher, $4 to $4 75, good to choice butcher cows, $4 50 to $4 75.

LIVERPOOL, April 24.—John Rogers & Co. report today that there was very little variation in the price of both cattle and sheep in the Birkenhead market, and Saturday's quotations remain unaltered, being: States and Canadian steers, 12¾c to 13¼c; wool lambs, 17c; clipped lambs, 14½c; wethers, clipped, 11½c to 12c per lb.

NEW YORK, April 25, 10 a.m.—London irregular, so that the cue from London is of little value. Since the supreme court decisions in the trust cases cannot be handed down now till next Monday, the market will back and fill in the interval, with possibly some further covering of short interest. The news is not important, more hopeful account coming in from Mexico, where the peace negotiations are expected to result favorably, as Diaz is disposed to yield much to the insurgents. The quarterly statement of Steel Corporation will be issued this afternoon and should show earnings of over $27,000,000, which would be better than the preceding period. The reports that the demand for copper is broadening out, as indicated by the large inquiries received by principal producers, explain the comparative strength of copper shares, though the production is still heavy. Railroad companies are taking advantage of ease of money to finance needs, and the offerings of new securities find ready reception, especially the short time notes. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas has asked permission to issue $107,000,000 bonds, most of which is for refunding old securities. Grain markets are lower because of good outlook for the crops, all that is needed being more seasonable weather for forcing growth. Railroad earnings show a decreasing tendency, owing to dull trade. We look for a narrow market, and would operate for quick turns, buying on reactions and selling on rallies.

EAST LONDON NEWS

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE HELD A JOLLY SOCIAL

Delightful Evening in Adelaide Street Church—Excellent Programme Carried Out.

A delightful evening was spent by the Adelaide Street Baptist Young People's Union last night in the form of a social and entertainment. The lecture-room of the church was gaily decorated with Chinese lanterns, and presented a gay and festive appearance. After the meeting had been opened by Rev. J. H. Boyd, the president of the Union, Mr. Brown, who presided, introduced a talented programme of music, readings and songs. A charming pianoforte duet was rendered by little Misses Holly and Effie Body, and a number of delightful readings by Miss Hazel Smith called forth repeated encores. Some especially pleasing Irish readings were given by Miss Sandbourne, and several readings by Miss Campbell also evoked enthusiastic applause. A piano duet of unusual excellence was rendered by Miss Lily Lister and Miss Lillian Gray, and a violin solo by Miss Jean Lister was well deserving of the intense appreciation which it evoked. Vocal solos were contributed by Mr. E. Wilmer and Mrs. Brown, the latter richly meriting the enthusiastic applause. Several solos sung by Miss Gladys Shaw, with violin obligato by Miss Jean Lister, delighted everyone with the beautiful and artistic manner in which they were rendered. Following the programme, dainty refreshments were served by the social committee of the Union, and a delightful half hour of conversation was enjoyed by the young people present.

C. P. R. IMPROVEMENTS

Company Are Rapidly Going Ahead With Their Changes.

Considerable improvement has already been made by the C. P. R. Company on their east end property. The grading has been completed for the new roundhouse and station, and temporary tracks have been laid over the entire property to faciliate the work of construction.

A construction gang are at present laying additional tracks in order that the actual work of building may be pushed forward as rapidly as possible once it is commenced. It is understood that John Hayman & Sons will commence work at once on the construction of the new roundhouse, the contract for which they have secured. Construction material is being rushed into the city, and in a day or so the entire property from Quebec street west will be a busy hive of industry.

EAST END LEAGUE

Final Meeting Tonight Before the Games Commence.

The final meeting of the East End Baseball League to be held before the season opening on May 6, will be held tonight in the store of Secretary Fred Simmons, on Dundas street east, when arrangements for the season will be completed. The schedule has been drafted by Mr. Simmons, and will be presented to the officers and representatives of the four teams for approval. The meeting is called for 8:30, and all are expected to be in attendance, as the session is an important one. The teams selected for this year are the Ramblers, who have been members since the organization's formation, and three new clubs, Jubilees, McClary's and the Seventh Regiment.

A LECTURE.

On Monday evening in the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church, Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., of Sarnia, gave his lecture on "The Edge of the Arctic Circle, or Life in the Klondike." The lecture was illustrated by about 150 lantern slides, most of which were made from pictures taken by the lecturer while laboring in that far north country. These lent a most realistic effect to the lecturer's descriptive address, which for almost two hours was listened to by young and old with rapt attention. The lecture was under the auspices of the Epworth League.

EAST END NOTES.

Mrs. F. B. Taylor, 670 King street, announces the engagement of her eldest daughter, Miss Edna M. Taylor, to Mr. Alexander Hodgins, of Toronto, the marriage to take place in June.

Mrs. C. Freeland, 711 Queen's avenue, has announced the engagement of her youngest daughter, Miss Alberta Freeland, to Mr. C. E. Gammage, of Toronto. The wedding will be held some time in June.

TWENTY-ONE DAYS IN JAIL FOR A YOUTHFUL SUSPECT

James Gillean Apparently Has No Permanent Place of Abode.

James Gillean, a young man belonging to the city, but with no particular place of abode as far as the police can learn, was fined $25, or 21 days, when he appeared before Deputy Magistrate Graydon in court today charged with vagrancy. About 2 o'clock this morning P. C. Noonan, who was on duty on Waterloo street north, followed Gillean about for some time. The man was wandering aimlessly through the streets alone, and the policeman, judging that he was up to no good being out at that time, took him to the station. Gillean took the days.

Mr. George Peary, agent for the British American Oil Company, Toronto, appeared on a charge of breaking the law by having inflammable oils stored in a building just south of the G. T. R. tracks on Adelaide street. This happens to be just inside the limit prescribed by the bylaw. Mr. Peary promised to see that everything was made satisfactory, and the case was enlarged for a week to give him a chance to do so.

Roy Gowar, a young man who figured in a case of stealing underclothing from a Pere Marquette car last fall, appeared, but it was stated that he has made full restitution to the road, and the company does not wish to press the charge. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

IMPORTANT CHANGES ON THE GRAND TRUNK

New Schedule Will Go Into Effect on May 7th Next.

The most important changes that have been made in some years in the Grand Trunk timetable are scheduled to go into effect on May 7.

Under the new arrangement the Ontario Limited will come through from Port Huron, arriving in London at 8:50 in the morning, and leaving here for Toronto at 9 o'clock.

No. 17, which at the present time leaves Toronto at 11 o'clock at night, and arrives here early in the morning, will not in future come to London at all, but will go over the old main line via Stratford straight through to Sarnia.

Express No. 7, which now arrives at 2:45 in the morning, will arrive at 3:27, and passengers who have been in the habit of coming up from Toronto on the Ontario Limited will in future be able to make connections with this train at Hamilton, as it comes through from the Bridge.

The Ontario Limited will arrive in Hamilton at 12:40 from Toronto, and passengers can leave at 1:15, on No. 7 for London.

A New Train.

The company are putting on an entirely new train to be known as Express No. 14. It will be made up in London, and leave here at 12:35, going to Toronto, via Stratford, and arriving in Toronto at 4:55. The new express will make all the stops between London and Stratford, and after leaving Stratford will stop at New Hamburg, Baden, Berlin, Guelph, Rockwood, Acton, Georgetown, Brampton, Weston, West Toronto and North Parkdale.

Express No. 6, which has been leaving London at 11:40 every morning, will in future leave at 12:05, and Express No. 4, which now goes through at 3:33 a.m., will leave at 4:28.

Under the new timetable, Express No. 49 will leave Stratford at 11:45 in the morning for Listowel, Palmerston, Wiarton, and Owen Sound. This will enable passengers to leave London on Express No. 62 at 10:26 in the morning, and reach all northern points in the afternoon without the necessity of getting up early in the morning, as they have to do under present arrangements.

Good for Travellers.

This will be particularly of benefit to the army of travellers who go out of London every week, and will also enable people coming down the Bruce, and from points west of London, to go practically right through to northern points without having to lay over in this city all day.

"These arrangements are, of course, all subject to change before May 7," said Master of Transportation J. C. Crombie to The Advertiser this afternoon. "But as far as we know now they will be carried out as outlined."

A CHARGE OF THEFT LAID BY COMPANION

The police are looking for Henry McKenna, a young man residing in the North End, and employed on the C. P. R. He is wanted on a charge of having, it is alleged, taken $9 from another C. P. R. man named Robinson.

It is stated that the men were out drinking together after the pay car came in last week, and that afterward Robinson laid an information against McKenna.

The detectives have been trying to locate the latter, but had been unable to do so when the case came up today, and Mr. Scatcherd, who is represenitng the accused, wanted the case dismissed.

Chief Williams objected, because McKenna is out now on suspended sentence, having on one occasion stolen a watch, and on another a bicycle.

Critically Ill.

C. P. R. Brakeman Christopher Johnston, who on Sunday had his right leg amputated at St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of having it crushed on Good Friday at Appin, is so critically ill this afternoon that practically no hopes are held out for his recovery. Lockjaw has developed, and although Johnston's condition has shown but little change in the last 24 hours, the attending physicians fear that he cannot live.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNODS LISTEN TO REPORTS

Delegates Indignantly Deny That Methodist Schools Are Better Attended.

[Canadian Press.]

Woodstock, April 25.—At this morning's sitting of the Hamilton and London Presbyterian Synod, the presentation of reports consumed all the time. Dr. D. R. Drummond, of Hamilton, presented the report of the committee on "Systematic Giving." A lengthy report on Sabbath schools, given by Dr. William Wallis, of Drummondville, aroused some discussion. The statement that Methodist Sunday schools are so much more largely attended was indignantly denied by some members. Other reports presented were on home department missions and Presbyterian publications by Rev. Thomas Wilson and Dr. Douglas Fraser, of Toronto. No interesting discussions took place.

TWO BAKERS APPEAR IN THE POLICE COURT

Charged by the Inspector With Selling Bread Contrary to the Act.

At this morning's session of the police court two city bakers appeared on a charge laid by Inspector McCallum of breaking the bread law by selling loaves not in accordance with the statute.

Mr. R. G. Fisher represented the city in the prosecution, and the bakers were represented by Mr. E. W. Scatcherd, and Mr. F. F. Harper. They asked that the cases be adjourned for a week.

Mr. Fisher agreed on condition that the court made the order a peremptory one that the case should then go on. This was agreed to.

Inspector McCallum made another seizure of bread this morning. He found ten loaves short in weight, and he has caused summons to be issued against the company. The case will come up in the police court on Friday next.

"The bread men must obey the law," declared Mr. McCallum. "The act specifically states what weight the bread should be, and they will have to live up to that standard."

FARE BOXES TOO HEAVY SAY THE CONDUCTORS

Signs of Fresh Trouble Between Toronto Street Railway and Men.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 25.—What apparently has all the elements of trouble will come to the front at a meeting of the Toronto street railway employees on Saturday night. The company wish to introduce another box for the collection of fares, and the men will refuse to use it on account of its weight. There is general dissatisfaction with the street railway's method of operation, both with the passengers and with the men.

Organized labor here will levy a tax for the defence fund to assist McNamara and others under arrest in California.

EGG IN THE PARLOR

Fastidious Hen Chose Nice Place in Which to Lay.

Some hens are fastidious in their tastes.

Yesterday a prominent citizen was quite surprised when his wife showed him an egg she found under the sofa in the parlor. On investigation it was found that a neighbor's hen had wandered into the gentleman's house when the front door was open, and finding the parlor extremely inviting, had deposited an egg there.

While the compliment was appreciated, the citizen thinks that his parlor is not quite the fit and proper place for hens to lay eggs in, and will not permit the practice in the future.

Amusements

College Girls.

The College Singing Girls and Walter Eccles, who are to appear in the Auditorium in the closing number of the affiliated society course Saturday evening, have proven to be one of the greatest successes of the Lyceum. The eight young ladies of the company are unusually talented and versatile. They are professional singers, having good solo voices which perfectly blend in the concerted work.

ST. MARTIN'S BAZAAR

Unique Event Opened in Parish Hall Monday Night.

A week's bazaar promoted to secure funds for the erection of a church and rectory for the new parish of St. Martin's, South London, commenced in St. Peter's Hall Monday evening.

The place was excellently decorated and a large crowd attended the opening, which was presided over by Mgr. Aylward, of St. Peter's. Numerous booths have been erected, and as Mgr. Aylward humorously remarked, less difficulty is experienced in entering than in escaping the ladies in charge. The departments, all stocked for a week's rushing business, include the Bachelors' Corner in charge of Misses Jessie and Gladys MacFie, and Minhinnick; Quigley's Corners Store with Mesdames Henry, Coleman and Conner and Misses Durkin and Lethbridge; the parish table in charge of Mesdames Parnell, Willis, Faulds, Burke and Bahm and Miss O'Flaherty; the Kandy Kids, Mesdames Jos. and Thomas Gaste and Larkin and Miss Larkin; the Boat "manned" by Misses Quirk, Walsh, Connors, Moore and Duggan; the Grab-Bag with Misses O'Donnell, Kaiser, Lethbridge, Clarke and Darcy; St. Anne's table presided over by Mesdames Cox, Smith, Durkin, Donohue, O'Connell, Tierney, Broderick, and Miss Boles; the Turkish Garden, Misses Moore, Harbard, Kaiser, and Decknoether; Gypsy peanut vendors, Misses Bahm and Clarke.

DRAMATIC CONTEST OPENS AT WINNIPEG

Players From Ottawa Give an Excellent Rendering of David Garrick.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Man., April 25. — At the opening of the Earl Grey trophy contest last night the Ottawa players presented "David Garrick" to a very large and fashionable audience. The skill of their performance justified the ambition which prompted these young players to travel over a thousand miles in quest of the trophy. To many in the audience the play was a novelty, and its intrinsic merits as an entertainment made it a most enjoyable affair. In the title role, Mr. H. L. Hayes showed himself the possessor of a really fine voice and excellent diction. He was at his best in sentimental passages, when his gift of sincerity showed itself to admirable advantage. He played the famous drunkent scene with skill. Miss Edna Thomas, a girl of exquisite brunette beauty, satisfied everyone with the pathos and sincerity of her acting as A Dangot. H. W. Sproule rollicked as the rollicking Squire Chivy. The other men were capable and Mr. McCarthy was especially good as the stuttering nincompoop. The production was admirably stage dand costumed.

The competitors for solo musical prizes commenced the programme. A hit was made by tiny Miss Ruth Price who played the Wieniawski "Legende" with the confidence of a veteran. Miss Lillie Molot sang the test number for women, "Fear Not Ye, O Israel," with exceptional beauty of intonation and clearness of enunciation, although obviously ntrvous.

MAYOR OF GODERICH TALKS OF THE CAMP

M. G. Cameron Hopes To Be Able To Keep It in Northern Town.

Mayor M. G. Cameron, Goderich, was a visitor in the city today. He was enthusiastic over the fact that the military camp would go to the northern town. "We simply had to have the camp," he stated to The Advertiser. "We kept on working until we did get it, and I am of the opinion that we will be able to hold it for all time to come."

WARRANT FOR BURNS

Held for Grand Jury.

Later Drew, Fox and Ford were arraigned and bound over on $10,000 bail to the grand jury. Burns could not be located.

Their bond to hold them for the grand jury was set by the justice at $10,000 each for Drew and Ford and $5,000 for Fox.

Their attorney, W. A. Ketcham, after trying to obtain bail, failed, and the men were taken to the county jail. A crowd had collected about the justice's office, and when the men started for the jail there was applauding and jeering. County Prosecutor Baker this morning appointed a special deputy, Henry Zeyfriend, to prosecute the cases.

The general charge against the men is that they conspired to take McNamare out of the state "without due process of law."

It is alleged that McNamara did not have an opportunity to consult counsel and resist extradition after his arrest last Saturday evening. After Governor Marshall had honored requisition papers for McNamara, Police Judge Collins turned him over to Police Sergeant Hossick, of Los Angeles. He was put in an automobile driven by Fox and taken to Chicago Saturday night bound for Los Angeles, to answer an indictment charging him with complicity in a dynamite explosion at the Llewellyn iron works.

The affidavits against Drew, Ford, and Fox were made by J. J. Keagan, a labor union leader of Indianapolis and a member of the Indiana Legislature.

WARRANT FOR BROKERS

Two Cobalt Mining Men Are Charged With Embezzlement.

Cobalt, Ont., April 24. Warrants have been issued for E. P. Kadleeck and M. W. Crane, brokers, trading under the name of Kadleeck & Crane. It is alleged that they have embezzled between $4,000 and $5,000, all in hundreds and from poor people.

The firm took an office in Cobalt about New Year's, and began to trade in Porcupine and Cobalt stocks. Making some profits for holders, they attracted many clients. They took life chances, and when the Porcupine boom burst they could not pay for the stock, and a writ was issued for $25,000. Kadleeck, the head of the firm, on one pretence or another, held back certificates for which checks had been given, and it is estimated that between $4,000 and $5,000 is owing in town today.

Kadleeck left on Good Friday, telling the clerk that he was going to the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. He was last seen checking a trunk to Buffalo. Both men have been in camp for years. Crane formerly held a responsible position position at the Nipissing mines, while Kadleeck figured in the early days of the camp as a promoter and made several good stakes.

He comes of a good Cleveland family. Crane was last heard of in Montreal.

PORTUGAL AND CHURCH.

Lisbon, April 24. — A meeting of the bishops of Portugal has been called for May 2. It will be held in the patriarch's palace at San Vicenzo under the presidency of the patriarch of Lisbon, and will discuss the attitude to be taken on the recently promulgated law respecting the separation of the church and state.

A telegram has been received from Rome stating that the Vatican is awaiting the decision of the Portuguese bishops before determining upon what action it shall take. The separation law was promulgated on April 21, and as its provisions are already known, it was received with indifference.

The law provides for entire liberty of all sects, and cedes to the clergy free of cost all property necessary for the celebration of public worship.

SERVICE OF PRAISE IN ST. ANDREW'S

Artistic Event Last Night Under the Direction of Mr. C. E. Wheeler.

A very large number of local music lovers enjoyed one of the treats of the season last night at St. Andrew's Church, when the choir, under the direction of Mr. Charles E. Wheeler, rendered the beautiful sacred cantata, "Olivet to Calvary." The soloists were Miss Edith de Muth, soprano, of Detroit; Miss Lou McDonald, contralto; Mr. Ernest Atkins, tenor; Miss Libby Smith, soprano; Miss May Mason, contralto, and Mr. W. A. McCutcheon, basso.

Appropriate to the season, the choir loft and pulpit were beautifully decorated with large Easter lilies and the young ladies all were white.

Splendid Programme.

The programme throughout was splendidly rendered, and the work of the choir was faultless. Their rendition of the cantata brought out all its wonderful beauty.

"Olivet to Calvary" recalls simply and reverently the scenes which mark the last few days of the Saviour's life on earth, and some of the reflections suggested thereby. The rejoicing of the multitude with hosannas and psalms, the view of Jerusalem from the steep of Olivet, the lament over the beautiful city, the scene in the temple, and the lonely walk back over the mount at night, form the chief features of the first part.

Part II. opens with the Supper of the Passover, at which Jesus washes his disciples' feet, and gives to his friends the new commandment of love for one another as the sign of true discipleship. From this the scene passes to the infinite pathos of the Garden of Gethsemane, the sudden appearance of the hostile crowd, Jesus forsaken by his disciples, his utter loneliness among ruthless foes, the tumult before Pilate in the judgement hall, the passage of the cross, the tragedy and triumph of Calvary.

Artistic Solos.

The solos were, without exception, most artistically rendered, and harmonized perfectly with the beautiful choruses. It was the first time a London audience has had an opportunity of hearing Miss Edith de Muth, who is soloist in the First Congregational Church in Detroit. Miss de Muth has a voice of unusual richness, and her work last night won for her the admiration of all who heard her. Her rendition of the aria, "I Will Extol Thee," was one of her best numbers.

One of the greatest favorites of the evening was Miss Lou McDonald, whose beautifully rich contralto voice was heard to great advantage in a variety of numbers, which brought forth its splendid qualities. Her singing of "The Cry of Rachel," "Eye Hath Not Seen," and "The Child's Prayer," were all most artistic. Her singing was a positive sensation.

Miss May Mason took a number of the solos in the cantata most acceptably.

The fine soprano voice of Miss Libby Smith was heard to great advantage in a number of pieces requiring much skill.

The work of Mr. W. A. McCutcheon, soloist at St. Andrew's, was very fine. He has a splendid bass voice, and it was heard in a number of very beautiful solos.

Mr. Charles E. Wheeler, under whose direction the numbers were rendered, and who played several fine selections on the organ was the recipient of the very heartiest congratulations on his excellent work.

RULES OF ROAD FOR ALL VEHICLES

No One Can Hold the Center of the Highway to Keep Rig in the Rear.

MUST DIVIDE THE ROAD

When a Vehicle Wants to Pass You From the Rear, Pull to the Right Side Until it Has Gone By.

The motor "bends," after a winter of irritating hibernation, are again coming into their own. The roads about the country are rapidly improving, and as a result of the last few days' traffic, the fire damaging humps have been worn off sufficiently to permit rides of any length the driver cares to undertake.

The Governor's road, Dundas street east, is really the best of the lot at present, particularly between Thamesford and Ingersoll, where the winter has failed to damage that beautiful and somewhat historical stretch of highway.

Dividing the Road.

The "going" of course on the average road is still rather rough when the motorist is compelled to give half the thoroughfare to another. A further difficulty is that some residents of the rural districts take a peculiar delight in holding the centre of the road. Autoists, with the exception of a few irresponsible abode by the rules of the road. Many people of the rural districts also conduct themselves in a perfectly agreeable manner, but there are a few whose actions result in many difficulties.

Room for All.

There is plenty of room for all on every highway, if common courtesy is displayed by drivers of motors and horses. Every autoist on approaching a nervous horse, especially in charge of women, should slow down to a walk or if necessary draw to one side of the road and "stand" his motor. It will be found that frightened horses will invariably quiet down when spoken to reassuringly by some occupant of the machine.

What To Do.

On the other hand, farmers on being signalled by a motorist of his desire to pass from the rear, should draw to the right side, allowing the autoist to pass on the left side of the road. Each, of course, should pass to the right when running in opposite directions.

The statutes relating to the use of highways provide a penalty for any person impeding the progress of another by refusing to give half the road, and should any person care to bring the matter into court, an example would no doubt be made, as this is an offence which constables find great difficulty in securing a complainant.

Follow the Rules.

These rules of the road are especially important in the early part of the season when the roads are in bad condition, and accidents may result from negligence.

The roundhouse, repair shop and three engines of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company at this place, were destroyed by fire this morning with a loss of $80,000. The fire started in the oil room of the roundhouse from an unknown cause, and spread so rapidly that the engines could not be removed.

CHAIN OF SLEUTHS USED IN PURSUIT

Shadowers of the Ironworkers Were in the City of Straits.

DETROIT MEN IN CASE

Burns Expected There Soon to Confer With Downey and Fox, Who Saw the Outfit.

Details of the chase which resulted in the capture in Detroit of Ortie McManigal and James McNamara, the structural ironworkers now on their way to Los Angeles to face many indictments, read like the most romantic novels. So intricate was the chain by which one pursuer followed another that the two ironworkers and the men who were following them did not come face to face until they met in the same hotel here. And yet the men who were wanted were right where they could be located, while they were travelling from Chicago to Toledo and from Toledo to Detroit.

So ticklish was the job that "stool pigeons" were made the connecting links, after McNamara and McManigal had been located in Chicago. When they left there, they were followed by a single "stool pigeon," but he in turn was shadowed by a second "stool pigeon," while Raymond Burns, son of William J. Burns, kept him in sight.

Recognized by Handkerchief.

At Toledo, it was thought by the younger Burns, these two men would be met by three others who were wanted in connection with the Los Angeles Times dynamiting, Dave Kaplan, H. A. Schmidt and John J. McNamara. He hurriedly telegraphed the chief of police in Chicago to send two detectives at once. Detective Sergeants Bettinger and Reed were called up at 11 p.m. and told to catch an 11:30 train, which they did. They were to be recognized at Toledo by the fact that one of them either carried a handkerchief in his hand or else had his wrist bandaged.

All three detectives then sat down to watch the hotel in which McNamara and McManigal were staying and to await the expected arrival of the other three men whom they wanted. But the three did not appear, while the two already there suddenly left for Detroit.

They were trailed to this city in the same way as from Chicago to Toledo. All five reached Hotel Oxford, on Woodward avenue, and registered in succession. Seeing that there was evidently nothing to be gained by a further delay, the detectives placed McManigal and McNamara, who was using the name of Sullivan, under arrest and hustled them to the Michigan Central station in an automobile.

Objected to "Kidnapping."

McManigal offered no objection to this, professing willingness to face the charge of safe blowing, which they were told was the one against them. Sullivan, however, had developed a mind to resist when the station was reached, and he made this so apparent that Patrolman Frank Carey, on duty there, approached and asked what was the matter.

"These fellows are trying to kidnap us," complained Sullivan.

The detectives then showed their Chicago badges, but Sullivan said he wanted more than that before he would go. So the party went to police headquarters. When they had been taken to the detective bureau, Lieut. Lally assigned Detectives Downey and Fox to investigate the case. The Chicago officers were recognized by Lieut. Lally and others, and this, with their statement that the men were wanted in Chicago for five or six safe blowing jobs, was considered enough to hold the men.

Dynamiting Outfit.

It was not until they had been taken below, to the first precinct station, that they were registered and searched, that the keys to their suitcases were found. With these the three out-of-town detectives and Detectives Downey and Fox went to Hotel Oxford, opened the cases, and found the burglars' kit and dynamiting outfit. This consisted of five storage batteries, two magazine revolvers, a short rifle with Maxim silencer, two time clocks, special kodak, rolls of copper wire, rolls of bandages, wires with fuses attached, dry cell batteries, book with information as to principal cities, burglars' tools of all descriptions, insulation tape and cartridges. All these things were examined in the hotel and then replaced in the suitcases, which never went east of Woodward avenue.

Because they are the only Detroit men who were present at this examination, and also because they followed the case in its entirety in this city, Detectives Downey and Fox are expected to prove important witnesses in the case. It is largely for the purpose of seeing them that William J. Burns planned to come to Detroit.

Up to the time of the return of the detectives from the examination of the suitcases and their contents, Sullivan and McNamara had refused to sign an extradition waiver.

Case Against Them Here.

"We can't make you go back to Chicago," said Detectives Downey and Fox, "but if you don't went to waive extradition and go back with these officers, we will hold you here tonight and tomorrow go into court and get out a warrant for you for having burglarious tools in your possession. It's a dead case against you, and you will probably get as much for that as for these jobs in Chicago."

McNamara realized the truth of this and evidently decided to take his chances on punishment in Chicago, knowing that he could probably prove an alibi on any safe-cracking charge. Both men then accompanied the two Chicago city detectives and Raymond Burns to Chicago.

"It is not customary for officers to give out all their evidence when they go after prisoners in another state," said Detective Downey yesterday. "We often have to get men out of another state on some pretence."

Police authorities, however, resent the action of the outside detectives in not saying a word to the Detroit police until they were obliged to do so.

"Of course we would not expect to know all their secrets," said Capt. McDonnell, "but they came in and tried to take the men in our jurisdiction without saying a word. Detroit officers never go into another city or state and try to get men without at least notifying the officers there."

CONSERVATIVES WRATHY OVER THAT PREDICAMENT

Foolishly Emphasize Absurdity of Position by Debating Matter in House.

Ottawa, April 24.—The six members of the Opposition who at an early hour on Saturday morning placed themselves in the ridiculous position of voting for the amendment proposed by Mr. Sealey of Wentworth approving of the reciprocity resolutions with the exception of fruit and vegetable schedules succeeded tonight in emphasizing the absurdity of their position. In Billingsgate language on the part of some they attacked the Globe as the chief sinner for calling attention to their blunder in today's report, declared that it was "a deliberate, inexcusable, false and slanderous statement" of the proceedings, and in their anxiety to hit back called the Globe all manner of names, and even threatened to have the writer of the report haled before the bar of the House.

The answer to their attack came in clear-cut and unequivocal statements from the Deputy Speaker, who was presiding at the time of the vote in question, and from the Minister of Public Works and other members who were present at the time, to the effect that the report of the proceedings as printed in the Globe was absolutely accurate, and that the Globe's representatives could not be expected to interpret the intention of the Opposition who voted for Mr. Sealey's amendment other than as an indorsation of its exact wording.

ASK UNIFORM INCREASE

Toronto Firemen Not Satisfied With Board of Control Figures.

Toronto, April 24.—The members of the fire department are making a determined effort to secure greater salary increases than those recommended by the board of control. The schedule recommended for the minor officers and the rank and file included a uniform increase of $50, from district chiefs at $1,700 per annum, down to first-year firemen at $525.

The firemen affected by the proposed scale want a uniform increase of $75 per annum instead of $50.

They have organized, and have appointed committees to interview the members of the council to persuade them to change the board of control's recommendation. As the expenditure of money is concerned, a two-third's vote will be required, but the interviewers declare that aldermen already have pledged their support.

The principal argument used is that the firemen are entitled to the same uniform increase that was given to the policemen below official rank. This was $75 for first, second and third-class constables.

THE FIRST BOATS.

Montreal, April 24.—The steamships Sicilian and Royal George are the first two boats to navigate the gulf this year. The former boat was reported 90 miles southeast of Cape Race at noon yesterday, while the latter was reported 23 miles east of Cape Race at 8 o'clock.

The ice in the river is almost all gone out except from Vianville to Point Aux Trembles. The river is reported clear from Quebec to Montreal on the north side, and the two boats, the Sicilian and the Royal George, are expected to arrive in port here Friday.

Winnipeg, April 24. — Wasil Iwaszuk is at the point of death as the result of a self-inflicted wound after he had shot Mrs. Mary Sedyruk, a married woman, with whom he had been living. The row started Friday evening, when the woman refused to have anything more to do with him, having become attached to another man. Wasil threatened vengeance and said he would kill her.
