Reparations Demands To Be Met By Germans

GERMANY IS EXPECTED TO YIELD TO ALLIED TERMS; COALITION WILL ACCEPT

France Will Not Call for Demobilization of Classes Called to Colors Until Convinced That All German States Have Disarmed—Doubt Exists as to Bavaria's Intentions.

Berlin, May 9.—Sentiment in German political circles was showing a drift at noon today in favor of agreeing to the Allied reparations terms. It is now believed a parliamentary coalition which will accept the Allied ultimatum, will be constituted within the next 24 hours.

FRENCH TROOPS WILL BE HELD UNTIL JULY

Paris, May 9.—The army contingent of 1913, called to the colors in connection with the preparations for the possible occupation of the Ruhr Valley, will in no case be sent home before July. It was said today in official circles. Even if the Germans accept the Allied ultimatum, the troops mobilized for the occupation will be held in readiness for action in case Bavaria does not disarm before June 30, the time limit fixed by the Allies for completion of the disarming process. It was stated.

DR. MAYER WILL NOT AGREE TO FORM MINISTRY

Berlin, May 9.—National committee-men of the Majority Socialist and Democratic parties gathered here today to discuss the attitude those organizations would take relative to the international situation resulting from the presentation of the Allied ultimatum regarding reparations. There was hope in some quarters that an agreement would be reached by the two parties to participate in the formation of a cabinet to succeed that of Constantine Fehrenbach, which resigned last week.

ENTRANCE OF GERMAN TROOPS INTO SILESIA BREACH OF TREATY

Paris, May 9.—A Berlin dispatch to the Matin says that the French ambassador in that city has informed the French foreign office that all incursions of German Government troops into Upper Silesia would be considered by France as a violation of the Versailles treaty. Advice from Berlin states that an offensive against the Poles, who have virtually taken over most of Upper Silesia, is being planned by the German civilian guards, which are being concentrated along the border.

FRANCE SENDS HER REPLY TO GERMANS

Paris, May 9.—France today replied to the note which Germany last week addressed to the Allies, in which the German government called to the Polish insurgent movement in Upper Silesia.

U. S. REPRESENTED AT ALLIED CONFERENCES

Henry Wallace Is Welcomed by Council of Ambassadors.

Paris, May 9.—United States representation at allied conferences was resumed today when Hugh C. Wallace, American ambassador, took his seat at a session of the council of ambassadors here.

Mr. Wallace received his instructions last night from Secretary of State Robert M. La Follette, who is in London to represent the United States Government at the ambassadorial conference.

The United States ambassador's appearance at the foreign office, which this morning was the occasion for warm expressions of appreciation on the part of Jules Cambon, of France, the president of the council, and the other members of the council, and Mr. Wallace was given a seat at Mr. Cambon's right.

Washington, May 9.—Formal report on the result of the vote taken by United States marine workers on acceptance of the terms submitted by the department of labor for settlement of the wage dispute was expected to be made to Secretary of Labor Davis today by representatives of the workers.

HIGHER STANDARD IN MOTION PICTURES IS COMMITTEE'S REPORT

Social Service Council Delegates Claim Decided Improvement.

CONVENTION OPENS

Large Gathering at Peterboro for Annual Meeting.

Peterboro, May 9.—(Canadian Press).—Following the special church services in the city churches yesterday, where most of the local pupils were occupied by visiting delegates to the annual meeting of the Social Service Council of Ontario, the council today plunged into the work of the various business sessions of the meeting. The agenda calls for important reports of committees, recommendations and discussions dealing with the improvement of social conditions and child welfare throughout the province of Ontario. Right Rev. J. F. Sweeney, D.D., lord bishop of Toronto, is president, and Rev. Gilbert Agar is the permanent general secretary.

This morning was occupied largely with the registration of delegates, and this afternoon the convention was officially opened and welcomed by the local authorities and social service leaders. Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer, D.D., general secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, delivered an address.

Report is presented. The report of the motion picture and theatrical committee detailing the extensive work of that body in connection with the elimination of objectionable features from all classes of theatrical performances and movies as well as from billboards and lobby advertising, was presented. The committee reported a decided improvement in this connection, through its conferences with the official censoring boards of the Government.

Conferences along this line were especially directed towards lessening the display of knives and guns, and nudity, also scenes of torture and violence, and scenes of religious leaders or religious work. Co-operation of Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, and his officials was commended by the committee, which asked for continuance and enlargement of its sphere of work.

BULGARIANS MUST WORK FOR COUNTRY

London, May 9.—All classes of society in Bulgaria have been called upon to fulfill their civic duties under the provisions of the compulsory labor law, which was adopted a year ago. The law provided that men who had attained the age of 20 years, and girls who were 15 years old, were to be called on for a certain amount of compulsory labor for the state. Men were to work 12 months, and women 6 months, and none was allowed to emigrate until duties imposed had been performed.

URGES NEW PACT WITH JAPAN'S GOVT.

Need of Up-To-Date Alliance Advocated by British Press.

London, May 9.—Canadian Associated Press.—Declaring that the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty is a proper subject for the consideration of the conference of empire premiers, which will be held here in June, two leading Sunday papers, the Observer and the Sunday Times, publish interesting editorials, arguing the need of effecting a new alliance with Japan which will be satisfactory to both the United States and the Dominion.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY HAIL IN GREECE

Athens, May 9.—Damage estimated at several million drachmas was done by hailstorms throughout Greece yesterday. The tempest was the heaviest to visit this country in twenty years, and crops, vineyards and other property suffered severely. Farm animals were killed, railroad tracks were washed away, bridges demolished and telegraph lines torn down.

WELFARE DRIVE GETS UNDER WAY

Teams Receive Instructions at Meeting This Morning.

FIRST REPORT ON WED.

Canvassers To Be Guests of George M. Reid at Dinner Tonight.

"Open Your Hearts and Your Purses" is the slogan printed in great white letters on innumerable heart-shaped signs posted throughout the city to show that all roads lead this week to the headquarters of the Welfare Fund Campaign in the local Chamber of Commerce, and the treasurer's office in the London and Western Trusts Building.

Today and on Tuesday the trails are being blazed. On Wednesday an intensive campaign will be begun. The Catholic Club, assisted by the Life Underwriters' Association and the Advertising Club, supplemented by forces from the Salvation Army, were the first organizations to send teams into the field. Early this morning the workers from the Catholic Club gathered in their headquarters in St. Peter's Hall, received their cards, literature and instructions, and started to work. At the same time the members of the Advertising Club received their instructions in the Chamber of Commerce.

The two organizations and their helpers are supplying 50 volunteer workers to help in the campaign. They have been divided into pairs, giving a total of 25 different teams, to canvass the stores, offices and banks in the business sections of the city. Although this morning, it is not expected that they will make heavy collections until Wednesday, when the real campaign will begin. Their first report will be made Wednesday night.

ROYAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED TO JAPANESE PRINCE

Prince of Wales Escorts Visitor to Shore.

London, May 9.—Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan today began a three weeks' visit to Great Britain under most auspicious circumstances. He landed in Portsmouth Harbor this morning on the battleship Katsuragi, on which he came to England from Japan, being escorted to the shore by the Prince of Wales, British warships in the harbor thundered the royal salute when he left the deck of the battleship.

Following the arrival here, the prince proceeded to Buckingham Palace, where he will be the guest of King George and Queen Mary for several days. Announcement has been made that the crown prince has been made an honorary general of the British army.

During the next week, the royal visitor will visit points of historical interest in London and Southern England, and on May 19 will go to Edinburgh. He will return here later in the month, and will probably leave for France about June 1.

WOULD ALLOW HEADS OF DEPARTMENT CHOOSE MEN FOR SERVICE

Ottawa, May 9.—The civil service commission has had so much work thrust upon it that a dozen supermen could not handle the work as satisfactorily as the deputy heads of departments, declared W. W. Cory, deputy minister of the interior department and immigration department, to the special committee on the Spinney bill this morning. There was too much delay in making appointments under the present act, and higher officials could be chosen better by heads of departments than by the commission. Ordinarily, clerical appointments in Ottawa could be handled satisfactorily under the commission.

JOHN DOUGHTY SENTENCED TO 6-YEAR TERM

Second Charge of Conspiracy To Kidnap May Be Dropped.

GUILTY OF STEALING

Convicted of Theft of $105,000 in Victory Bonds.

Toronto, May 9.—John Doughty, who was convicted by a jury in the sessions on March 24 of the theft of $106,000 worth of Victory bonds from Ambrose J. Small, the missing millionaire theatrical magnate, was sentenced this morning to six years in the penitentiary. Following the passing of the sentence, Crown Prosecutor R. H. Greer informed the judge that the charge of conspiring to kidnap Small remains on the list.

I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., made a strong plea for leniency on the ground of the prisoner's previous good record and that he had informed the police where the bonds were hidden, and the Small estate had suffered no loss.

Doughty entered the court in a jaunty manner, with a smile on his lips. He carried his hat in one hand and waved the other to acquaintances. When he heard the words "Six years in the penitentiary," his face turned to a greenish-white hue and he stood transfixed with immovable features for about 30 seconds, as though feeling the weight of an apparently unexpected and staggering blow. Then his jaws relaxed and he cried: "Your lordship! I hope I have not overlooked anything. I mean follows, because that is the maximum penalty, but I hope it by no means follows, because that is the maximum penalty that your honor will not consider in the circumstances of this case that there has been complete restitution of the bonds, and that the bonds or coupons were in any way actually taken away and converted to the use of the defendant."

Judge Denton, in the sense that the bonds have been recovered, that is true. Addressing Doughty, Judge Denton said: "I have been thinking over your case, Doughty, a great deal since the time that I have not overlooked anything that may be said in your favor, and after doing that I have come to the conclusion that the proper sentence in your case is six years in the penitentiary."

ST. MARYS MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

S. J. Dunseith's Car Collides With Horse and Buggy.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Marys, May 9.—S. J. Dunseith, coal dealer, and a prominent citizen of this town, is lying at his home here with several broken ribs as the result of a serious motor accident on the Stratford road, when the coupe which he was driving collided with a horse and buggy. The car was almost completely demolished, and that Mr. Dunseith escaped with his life is a mystery.

NOT RETARD FINISH OF HYDRO PROJECT

Niagara Falls, May 9.—Hydro officials today say that the damage from the fire at the Queenston forebay Saturday afternoon will not retard the completion of the work and that the supply of power by September No. 2 generator is undamaged, and No. 1, which suffered most, will be repaired in a month. It is pointed out that this part of the work was over month ahead of schedule, so that it will be ready yet at the same time as the whole of the canal.

BUDGET SPEECH IS POSTPONED UNTIL TONIGHT

Sir Henry Drayton To Present New Tax Proposals.

Ottawa, May 9.—Canadian Press.—The promised budget speech will not be delivered until tonight. All arrangements had been made that Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, would begin his speech shortly after the House opened this afternoon, and that he would reach his taxation proposals by 3:45 o'clock. Apparently, when the arrangements were made, it was forgotten that Parliament was working on a day-light saving time, and an hour ahead of both Montreal and Toronto.

There was a possibility that the markets might still be open in these cities and there was further difficulty, it is understood, in regard to customs office hours at various points in the Dominion.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the council this morning, and a decision was reached that the speech be delivered at tonight's sitting of the House.

GOLD STRIKE REPORTED. Port Arthur, May 9.—A rich strike of free gold is reported from the Goudreau district.

No Reason Why Men Should Not Agree To 30-Day Clause Declares President Currie

Representatives of Street Railway Men Notified of Receipt of Mr. Currie's Reply This Morning—Meeting of the Men's Executive Expected To Take Up the Matter Tonight.

"So far as the London Street Railway Company is concerned the situation stands just as it was," said Secretary-Treasurer L. Tait today in reply to an inquiry by The Advertiser.

This statement followed the information that President Currie's reply to the letter sent by the street railway men's committee had been received. "In his letter," said Mr. Tait, "Mr. Currie states that he can see no reason at all why the men should not accept the 30-day clause in the proposed new agreement."

"This information was immediately given to Messrs. Colbert and Ashton," the men's representatives, and the next move, if any, now rests with the men."

It is understood that the executive committee of the men's union will meet tonight to consider the president's reply. At the last meeting of the men the executive was given full power to call a strike if the reply of Mr. Currie should prove unsatisfactory, but there is an impression that the executive will not make use of this prerogative without another consultation with the men.

WRONG IMPRESSION GIVEN BY PREACHER, SAYS MRS. TANNER

Collegiate Girls Not Addicted to Cigarette Smoking, Asserts Trustee.

Speaking of the Rev. G. A. Leichter's charge, that the high school girls smoke cigarettes, made at the evening service at the Adelaide Street Baptist Church on Sunday night, W. H. T. Mooney, principal of the Collegiate, said to The Advertiser this morning:

"If his desire was to correct such an abuse and not to make capital of it to draw the curious, I would say that the proper course would have been to draw my attention to this outrage. It is possible to get me by telephone."

Mrs. W. A. Tanner of the school board was also indignant at the statement of Mr. Leichter.

"It gives a wrong impression to the people of London regarding the high school pupils. I have had children attending that school up until last year, and I have never heard of such a thing. Of course, there may be an occasional girl who would smoke a cigarette on a dare, but it is not the high school on the whole. I do not see why a public statement should be made which is a slur on the high school girls as a body."

ADVISES USE OF PEAT TO SAVE COAL

Government Expert Declares Canadian Supply Is Adequate.

Ottawa, May 9.—Canadian Press.—A thorough peat survey, which the geological survey informed the special parliamentary committee on Canada's fuel resources, this morning that there was no reason why Canadian peat should not replace coal for heating purposes throughout the Dominion. This would relieve the Canadian public of dependence on United States mines and would release all coal importations for industrial purposes. Peat had proved satisfactory for cooking and open grates and for furnaces during the fall and spring months. So far more than 37,000 square miles of peat bog had been discovered and should be developed. One ton and a half of peat would give as much heat as a ton of anthracite coal.

EXECUTIONS BY BOLSHEVIKI ARE QUITE COMMON

Stockholm, May 9.—Reports of wholesale executions by the Bolsheviki of participants in the recent Kronstadt uprising are contained in a private message from Helsingfors to the Tidningen today. These met with immediate denial, however, from the Bolsheviki agency here.

The message asserted that several thousand of the Kronstadt rebels among them hundreds of women and children, had been executed, but the soviet agency says that only thirteen persons, leaders of the revolt, were shot.

MAGISTRATE TELLS HOBOES WHERE TO FIND LOTS OF WORK

Eight Homeless Ones Charged With Trespassing On Railway Property.

Poured From Lips of Prisoners As They Trooped Out—Free.

Eight homeless hoboes faced Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett at 10 Carling street this morning, and after confessing that they had walked on forbidden ground, viz., the G. T. R. and the C. P. R. properties, were directed to places where there were prospects of work being obtained.

Blackened by their encounters with coal smoke screens, they gave a spectacular impression that one was in a court below the Maison-Dixon line, Joseph Ellis, John Thompson, William Leitch and Carol Johnston all said "Guilty" in broad Scotch, and were told to stand aside. Charles Taylor then admitted that he had stolen a ride on the C. P. R. engine, and the first two pleaded guilty. The third man merely evaded this question and smiled. The court asked him to plead.

"I'm dead," he said.

"As he had all the ear-marks and face-marks of having been through the smoke, it was decided that he was guilty. The anxious eight were then lined up in single file to hear their fate.

"I'm going to discharge all you men 'this morning,' declared the court. "Thank you, sir. Thank you, indeed," chorused the whole crowd.

"You can go now," the magistrate told them, and they were in the act of marching out of the room when they were told to stand back.

"The books on their faces, one got the impression that they thought the court had decided to harden his heart and throw them all into the 'hoose-gow.'"

"There was one thing I want to tell you," said the deputy magistrate. "There is some work I think on the Government highway at Lambeth and at Lucan."

"Thank you, sir," replied the mob as they hurried away.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS SMOKE CIGARETTES, PASTOR DISCOVERS

Modernized Morals Are Immoral, Declares Rev. G. A.
Leichtner.

LOTS OF EVIL IN LONDON

Offers To Take Skeptics To Prove Conditions He Alleges.

"Shall we go to the park on Sunday?" asked Rev. G. A. Leichtner of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, during the evening service Sunday night. His answer was: "If you can keep the Sabbath Day holler at Springfield Park than on this corner, then clear out and go to Springfield, but don't stretch the truth."

"You readily realize that our conception of truth is changing. You readily realize that our conception of morals is changing." He said that there were a lot of old-fashioned things that were good yet. An old-fashioned mother was one of these. The modern one who gave the children the absent treatment was not worth much.
"You can't modernize the wild rose.
You can't modernize the old-fashioned parental interest," the speaker declared.

Jesus could not be modernized, for then he would only become a character.
And he was more than that, he was a saviour.

"You can't modernize morals or you make them immoral!"

There had to be an agitation to do anything. Jesus had to agitate throughout a whole province and lose his head.

It was all right to tell one not to speak of a city's evil, but rather of its beauty and extensiveness or one would lose one's popularity, but it was better to let popularity go. It was a beautiful theory, he said, to let things go easy.

Mr. Leichtner said that he was in a public house recently and had money in his pocket to pay for being there, when he overheard three high school girls.
He knew they were high school girls because of the books they carried. They were discussing high-perfumers, cigarettes. Finally one of them pulled out a package of them, he declared.

"It may be the elite of society, but if that's right it was learned from the devil," declared Mr. Leichtner.

"Our standards are changing, just as our styles are changing—and some of them not for the better. Our automobiles are changing, and some of them not for the better."

"I would rather have you in the country enjoying yourself than sitting here wishing that I would get through."

"When springtime comes," he said, "Goodbye, Lord; we'll be back in the fall."

In Monte Carlo, the speaker stated, there was no Sunday. On the Continent there was no Sunday and little conception of God.

A few years ago the people were praying that the enemy might not get the Channel ports, but the forces of evil might be turned back. We have not kept faith," Mr. Leichtner asserted.
"We of the British Empire—some of us accepted and some of us here on suspicion—have broken faith."

"Use the Lord's Day so that it will accomplish its purpose. It's not a harness. It's an emancipation. On the Lord's Day we are laborers with God." The book does not say not to use the Lord's Day, but to keep it
"Holy."

"Life's a Holy thing. It's eternity expressed in time. It's the future brought down to the present."

Speaking of what he had said about the life of the city, he remarked: "If you don't believe what I say about the life of this city, come with me, and I'll show you."

"When you step into the midst of bays, do they greet you with blasphemy, or is there a hush?" he asked. Mr.
Leichtner said that it depended on one's life. If one tolerated blasphemy, those one met would not stop when one approached, but if one did not countenance it, they would cease.

"Remember your mind to keep it holy," he advised. "Remember your love to keep it holy. There are a lot of love affairs today that are made to end in the divorce court."

"Remember your life to keep it holy. If it's hush, it is a den of vipers. Just one unwise act will ruin you for the rest of your life."

BIRD NOTES

(Contributed by McIlwraith Ornithological Club.)

May 7 brought the Cape May Warbler and the Waterthrush. The Cape May is a rather fine-looking warbler. It is mostly yellow streaked with black, but the identification mark is the chestnut ear patch on a yellow cheek. It was formerly considered to be rare, but local observers report it becoming more common. The Waterthrush is in reality a Warbler. It is thrush-like in appearance, being dark olive brown above and sharply streaked with dark below. To see and hear this bird on its breeding grounds is a treat indeed. It walks nimbly along a fallen log in a cedar swamp, jerking its tail upward, darts here and there after a dragon fly or other insects at frequent intervals delivers its short, clear, ringing song, which has a wildness about it very difficult to describe.

On May 8 the Nashville Warbler and the Thrush were observed. The Nashville is a greenish yellow warbler with a grey head. Found usually in low trees or bushes, its characteristic song (Wee-see, wee-see, wee-see, wit-a-wit-a-wit) makes it easy to identify. The Thrush or American Pipit seemed to come out of the air overhead announcing its presence by two notes sounding very much like pip-pit. It alighted in a cultivated field and there found two companions. Its general color blended well with that of the ground, and the observers had to look carefully to see it. As it paused for a moment after alighting it dipped its tail, thus giving further proof of its identity.

FAIR BOARD WILL REARRANGE BARN

Part of Queen's Park Cattle Buildings To Be Reconstructed.

So that more space might be utilized for the ever-growing machinery exhibits without the necessity of purchasing more ground the cattle, sheep and storage buildings in the grounds of the Western Fair Board will be rearranged and reconstructed. A report of the special committee to this effect was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Western Fair Board on Saturday evening.

Practically 150 feet in the centre of the long cattle sheds located on the western side of the grounds will be torn out, so that the main grounds can be connected with the property lying between Campbell street and York street on the new property additional cattle sheds will be built in sections.
Farther west of these the sheep and swine runs will be erected. Judging will be carried on within the new property.

Meeting on Tuesday.

The matter was put into the hands of the grounds and building committee with full power to act. The final details of the plan will be worked out on Tuesday morning, when the committee as a whole will meet in the grounds.

It was announced that a letter had been received from G. H. Webster, secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association granting permission for the board to advertise that cheap rates would be given for the fair. Although in the past, the association along with other fairs had been granted the privilege of one fare and a third, they have never been allowed to advertise the fact. The permission came almost too late this year, for already posters and the prize lists are on the press.

Appointed Director.

Alderman MacNair was appointed to the board of directors to fill the vacancy made by the death of Alderman Charles Moorhead.

The contract for the roofing of the agricultural and horticultural building was allotted to Arthur Mould of this city, the lowest bidder. The price was $280. The board decided that the roof should be slate-surfaced asphalt. Although there was fourteen tenders received.

Permission was granted Alderman G.
Wenige to run motor cycle races on the track during the Manufacturers' Athletic Meet.

It is quite probable the auto races will be run twice on the closing day of fair week. This has been suggested as one feature to help make the closing day of the air one of the best of the week.

MUSICAL ART RECITAL.

The weekly recital of the students of the Institute of Musical Art was held bottom.

A successful Dutch supper and concert was held under the auspices of the choir of Colborne Street Methodist Church. Rev. S. Judson Kelly presided, and among those taking part were the Sunset Male Quartet, including Messrs.
Callard, Ball, Green and Robertson; Frank Webster, Mrs. McQuire, and Mrs.
Fenton, soloists, and Miss McCormick, reader. The program was arranged by E. Adams. About 200 people were present.

At Empress Avenue.

400 ODD FELLOWS AT CHURCH RALLY

Rev. A. C. Cummer of Thorn-dale Addresses Order in St. Matthew's Church.

About 400 members of 12 lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows attended services in St. Matthew's Anglican Church on Sunday afternoon in commemoration of the 102nd anniversary of the inception of the order in Canada. Rev. A. C. Cummer, P.O.C., of St. George's Anglican Church in Thornhill, was the speaker. He chose as his text verse 17, chapter 2, of 1st Peter, "Honor All Men, Love the Brotherhood, Fear God, Honor the King."
The principles of the I. O. O. F., correspond exactly with this verse," he declared. "Now, are we following these commands? Our organization is strongly binding men together into one great brotherhood. The late war unveiled the fact that there were men in this world who were selfish and some who were unselfish. But after those five years of struggle have we dis-pensened with the selfishness we prayed for? We have not succeeded yet, and not until we recognize the commands in our text.

"We should honor all men. This will help dispense with the unrest that is prevailing. As a rule all men are classified according to their wealth.
But this idea must be cast aside and recognize all men as brothers and of one father. We are redeemed by a Saviour and recipients of everlasting life. The four parts of the text are brought out in order, and no man can enter until he recognizes and vows to follow them.

"Our organization has been criticized.
What do we really stand for? The I.
O. O. F. stands for prudence, fortitude, faith, hope and charity. These are what the church stand for, so why should we receive any criticism?"

He said that to fear God and honor the king were important things in the life of every person.

"We will find a black sheep in every association," continued the speaker, "and we must content with them. How are we going to deal with them? Treat them as your brothers and help them better the world. People say we keep secrets. Do not churches and boards connected with them keep secrets? Are they criticized? Any secrets we keep will be for the world to benefit by through work of our men."

It was announced before the sermon that Brother Pearce, believed to be the oldest member of the order in London, had died.

The collection taken went towards supplying a memorial window for the members of the church who lost their lives during the war.

The lodges formed up in front of the Bank of Nova Scotia on Richmond street and headed by the newly-formed band of 25 pieces, in charge of Brother Hoffman, proceeded to the church. Following the band came Cantons of Patriarhs Militant, Canton Lodge London,
No. 1, Canton Victoria, No. 5, of St.
Thomas, and Canton Stratford, No. 15.

The subordinate lodge preceded the aged members and Rebekah Lodge. The latter two came in cars. About 100 members of the order in London were entertained at lunch by Canton Lodge of this city.

HAMILTON ROAD SERVICE.

Rev. John McNair, D.D., preached a special Mothers' Day sermon in Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church Sunday night on "Mary, the Mother of Jesus."

The singing was led by a special choir of 25 women's voices under the direction of A. B. Stein. The music included a duet by Miss Eva Sleith and Mrs.
Geddes, and solos, "Mother of Mine" by Mrs. Hugh McCormick, and "The Hill of Sorrow" by Miss Sleith.

SUNDAY TRAFFIC HEAVY.

The badness of Sunday lured thousands of Londoners to town to enjoy the beauties of lake and riverside at Port Stanley, Springbank and other places. Heavy traffic was enjoyed by the street railway, and the London and Port Stanley Railroad. Motorists in great numbers left London for country points, and until late last night the size of the returning traffic was noticeable.

OPTIMISM ABOUT MOTOR CARS

J. C. Beemer States Some Pertinent Facts About Business.

We Reo Folks—and I include myself among those who are popularly so designated—really are different from the rank and file of the industry," says J. C. Beemer, Reo distributor for Middiessex.

"I think I know the reasons for Reo succeeding the one of the reasons for few changes made in the product and in the personnel.

"One might almost say that the personnel never changes. There are no absentee directors, no big Wall street shareholders—no big shareholders at all who are not directors and personally responsible for each day's work.

"R. E. Olds, who was the pioneer in the industry, selected the wonderful organization at the start and that organization has never been changed. Each man seems to be perfectly suited to his work and since there is only one standard, namely, the average buyer, we never made for political or other reasons.

"I believe it is true that a change of distributors is just about as infrequent as changes in the factory. Sales Management is the most careful body who selects for a distributor and then, having made the selection, considers such a person a fixture in the Reo family.

"I, as a distributor, know and I believe that the average buyer knows that he is dealing with human beings rather than a soulless, heartless thing—a corporation—when he comes in contact with the Reo Folk.

"That there is going to be a shortage of automobiles this summer is my firm belief.

"I have canvassed the situation pretty thoroughly and I know it is going to take some time for the various factories to get under way.

"In order to understand that, you must understand that the majority of automobiles and trucks are what we, in the trade, call assembly-line cars. That is to say, they are not made in the entirety by the concerns whose names they bear. The motor is made in one place; transmission another; axles another; wheels and tires elsewhere; gears, bodies and the various other units come from other unrelated plants.

"Then there are a thousand and one smaller items that are bought from various houses.

"Now until every one of the plants making all of these items has got under way it is impossible for such concerns to produce automobiles and that time depends largely on the attitude of the local banker and in too many cases on the distant New York or Boston banker, popularly termed the "Wall Street Control."

"That history is now repeating itself, anyone whose ear is to the ground must know. Demand is already here, but the supply has not started from the source and it is several months from the source before it can reach the consumer.

"I am not alone in this opinion. I have talked with a great many manufacturers, some of whose plants have been closed up to recently and some others who have not yet started up, and they all say the same thing. They see the demand. They want to start. But like a 20-mile-team truck, she won't come out of the rut until all 20 start at once.

"We Reo Folks are in a wonderful position. Our plants have been running right along because we did not have to ask advice of any outside agency. We at St. Catharines and Lansing could act on their own optimism and belief in the stability of the industry and the permanence of the demand."—Adv.

CHURCHES OBSERVE MOTHERS' DAY BY SPECIAL SERVICES

Appropriate Music Is Feature of Program—Beautiful Floral Decorations.

Almost every church of every denomination in the city in some way paid tribute to the honor of motherhood on Sunday. For the most part a week, by sermons dealing with motherhood and the music was of a special nature. In some churches the choirs were composed entirely of mothers, and the church ushers were all mothers. In other churches who attended church wore the buttonnaire, either colored or white, and the floral decorations in the churches were beautiful.

St. James' Anglican Church, Rev.
Leslie Armitage took his text from the last Chapter of Proverbs: "All her household are clothed in scarlet." Mr.
Armitage said that the last chapter of Proverbs showed the ideal woman, and the ideal woman is the mother and wife.

"Today the gaze of the whole world is directed to the mother of the home and if they see evils it is because the mother and father have not been competent in the task of home-making and leading the feet of their children in the right paths. As in all things, the first things should come first, and in the home the child should come first. The standards of the homes of today are too low. The meals are not of the highest. You will always find," said Mr.
Armitage, "that where great successes have been made, the success will generally be attributed to a sainted mother."

Mr. Armitage advocated that the home be fitted for the child, not the child for the home, saying: "What matter if the carpets are worn, as long as the child is saved."

ST. ANGELA'S COLLEGE ACQUIRES PROPERTY

Pay $10,000 for Residence at 386 Queen's Avenue.

The McClary estate, through their solicitor, J. M. McEvoy, today sold to St. Angela's College, the property known as 386 Queen's avenue. The consideration, it is understood, was $10,000.

This is the property which was originally purchased for an undertaking establishment by A. L. Oatman, which brought united opposition from all residents of the block, particularly the McClary and McNeen estates, who own large interests on this street.

The property was purchased by the McClary estate for $10,000, it being the intention to turn the residence into a duplex house, a permit having been issued for this work last week.

It is understood that the property will now be used by St. Angela's College as an addition to the two other large buildings they hold adjoining this property for educational purposes.

BREAK IN HYDRANT WASTES 20,000 GALS. OF GOOD CITY WATER

Road On Wharncliffe West Can Now Stand Some Repairing.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 gallons of city water went to waste this morning when for over an hour one of the city hydrants poured a steady stream of water across the Wharncliffe road, much to the delight of a large crowd of small boys.

The cause of the flood of water which resulted and which extended along the Wharncliffe road from its junction with the Sarnia road to the point at which the C. P. R. bridge crosses, was the breaking of the spindle which shuts off the water in the hydrant at the corner of Beaufort street and the Wharncliffe road, when the man in charge of a street sprinkling outfit, after filling his cart tried to turn the water off.

At 10 cents per thousand gallons the money loss was only $150, not a very big item it would seem, but that in no way ends the cost of the break to the city, as there will be the necessary repair to the hydrant to be made, while a certain amount of labor will have to be expended on the road, the surface of which was cut from one side to the other by the steady stream of water at around 50 pounds pressure, which poured from the hydrant.

LONDON SCHOOL TEACHERS RETURN FROM DETROIT

Attend Annual Convention of International Kindergarten Association.

From no other outside trip of public servants has so much good been hoped for, probably, than from the recent attendance of some 20 of London's kindergarten teachers to the annual convention of the International Kindergarten Association held in Detroit last week.

The program was designed with the definite purpose of affording instruction to the teachers attending the meetings, with the hope that they may help further in their respective spheres of work. Commencing on Tuesday last, the convention was wound up on Friday evening by a banquet at the Hotel Stadler. Addresses of outstanding interest and merit were given during the week by leaders in the work of educating the youngest of young in ideas how to grow and in finding the best direction in which to train the building ideals and imaginations of the little tots.

Two local teachers took leading parts in the convention, namely, Miss Clara Benton, who spoke at one of the meetings, and Miss Ethel Teasdale, who was toastmistress at the luncheon tendered to the visiting teachers at the Hotel Stadler on Thursday last noon.

MUCH AMUSEMENT IN CITY HALL CIRCLES

Certain Trustees Didn't Know Cost of New Collegiate.

ATTENDED MEETING

Learned Through Papers the Next Day What It Was All About.

Much amusement has been created in city hall circles by a story given considerable prominence to the effect that certain of the trustees of the education of London's boys and girls assembled last night at a meeting of the board of education at the city hall to discuss the cost of the building of the Great War Memorial Collegiate Institute were not, yet they did not know until they read their next day's paper what the cost of the building was to be.

City officials assert that there are three possible reasons for such a condition of mind on the part of a trustee, lack of interest, sleeping during the meeting, or the carrying on of conversation which prevented proper attention being paid to the matter in hand.
"The trustees who make the 'kick' at the cost of the building," said one city official, "but personally I would have been ashamed, as a public servant, to have been so lacking in attentiveness as to make such a confession, even if it were true."

In reply to a question The Adversary was informed today that while it is true that no figures were mentioned at the board meeting, the report of No. 3 committee, recommending that a certain tender be accepted being approved by the board as read, there was no reason at all why a trustee who did not know the figures, should if interested enough have asked for them.

"But," he added, "as a matter of fact, every trustee knew or could have known all about the tenders, how many there were, the amount of what each was,
and anything else they wanted to know, if they had employed the simple device of asking for the information."

"Apart from that, the board has appointed a responsible committee of businessmen to deal with the detail of receiving, studying and reporting on such contracts, and to infer that such committee in any way put anything over the board is to cast a slur on the character of each member of the committee, and incidentally such a slur must reflect on the character of the whole of the present board, not even leaving out those individuals who admit by their charges that they were not on the job when the city's interests demanded that they should be."

OPEN IN SEPTEMBER.—As the days go by and the work on the four new rooms at Wortley Road School still remains incomplete, the prospects of opening any of the rooms for use before the holidays grow less and less. In conversation with The Advertiser today, Public School Inspector V. K. Greer said:
"It would hardly be worth while to engage extra teachers and open the rooms for a few days, I think we will open them now till after the holidays."

ROTARY GREETED "THE PIRATES"

Manager George Gibson and His Ball Club Given a Rousing Reception.

One of the largest gatherings of the members of the Rotary Club in this city gave a rousing reception to George Gibson and his Pittsburgh ball club at a luncheon in the Tecumseh House today. The train which bore the ballplayers to this city was more than 20 minutes late, but that fact did not temper in the least the enthusiasm with which each member of the team was greeted as he filed into the room.

At the conclusion of the luncheon short speeches were given by George Gibson, president of the club, and H. Heard of the London ball club, and Moses Yellowhorse of the Pittsburgh club. Manager Gibson was greeted by cheers and songs as he rose and introduced each individual member of his club. "Babe" Adams, Pittsburgh's great pitcher, was given a great reception.

months. "Daddy," as he was popularly known to scores of friends in this city, was a member of Eureka Lodge, No.
30, I. O. O. F., and Victoria Rebekah Lodge, No. 24, I. O. O. F., and a few years ago was presented with tributes, including a 50-year jewel by his lodge bership. He was also a veteran member of Harmony Encampment, No. 8,

I. O. O. F., and London Canton, No. 1,
I. O. O. F., and was to have been presented with the Decoration of Chevalier at the Grand Lodge of Ontario session of the I. O. O. F. to be held in Brantford in June next in commemoration of his fifty years' membership in the encampment. "Daddy" was the Victoria Hospital Training school on Wednesday afternoon of this week. The graduation exercises being held in Wesley Hall at 2:30 o'clock. One of the mony being conducted by Lieut.-Col. W.

M. Gartschore, chairman of the Hospital Trust, after which the diplomas will be presented by Miss M. E. Stanley, R. N., whose resignation as lady superintendent of the hospital took place recently.

sentations by James Gray. Addresses by ation exercises, a dance will be held at

WAS MISSING FODDER FOR THIRSTY HUMANS, IS POLICE PROBLEM

Investigation of Car of Hay at Appin Is Under Way.

Provincial Officer Arthur Palmer and a Grand Trunk Railway constable have gone to Appin to investigate the opening of a car of loaded hay which had a hot box. The car was destined for Leamington, and the suspicion of the officers is that a product for human consumption as well as goods for equine consumption were in the box car. The license inspector J. E. Keenleyside is awaiting word of the results of the search.

Had it not been for the fact that the officials did not believe that anyone in this province was so destitute that they had to steal hay to eat, there probably would not have been an investigation, but as Leamington is in Essex, and as Essex is the home of farm-runners, and as hay is excellent packing for glassware, they put two and two together.
Whether they can make these two figures make four remains to be seen.

CITY MISSION RECEIVING NO SUPPORT FROM THE UNITED WELFARE FUND

Superintendent A. Lewis of the City Mission announced today that the mission is receiving no support from the United Welfare Association.
"A number of businessmen who have contributed toward our work in the past are under the impression that we are to receive help this year from the Welfare Association," said Mr. Lewis.
"This is not so. We were told that we were a religious organization. We are to this extent in that we carry the good news of salvation into the streets and homes of London. We will have to look for support from outside sources."

SYNOD OF HURON CONVENTION

Sixty-Fourth Session Opened
This Morning in Cronyn Hall.

SEVERAL HUNDRED HERE

Bishop Williams Will Deliver Charge Tuesday Afternoon.

The sixty-fourth session of the Synod of the Diocese of Huron opened in convention at 10 o'clock this morning in Cronyn Hall, several hundred clergy from all over the diocese being in attendance. The executive committee was in session throughout the afternoon, and a meeting of the younger clergy was also held. This evening a public service will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral, and the united Anglican choirs will give a musical program. Rev.
Canon Fotheringham of Brantford will preach the sermon.

On Tuesday morning the synod meeting proper will be commenced by celebration of holy communion in St.
Paul's Cathedral at 9 o'clock. The bishop has requested that the clergy wear their hoods. Business sessions will commence at 10 o'clock each morning following divine service in the cathedral. Some important notices of motion will be given by the bishop tomorrow morning.

Rev. G. B. Sage is convener of the religious instruction committee, and will submit a report to the effect that the committee believes that the four gospels of the Lord's Prayer, the ten commandments, and the Apostles' Creed should be a compulsory form of religious study in the public schools. The committee also believes that the above scriptures will bring forth no objections on the part of any Christian body. The advice of the committee is that the gospels be read without comment, and that selected portions thereof, together with the Lord's Prayer, the ten commandments and the Apostles' Creed be committed to memory.

Reports on all the organizations of the Anglican Church in the Diocese of Huron will be given, and the bishop will deliver his charge on Tuesday afternoon.

A committee from Manor Park Mission will apply to the synod for a parish house and enlargement of the mission.

SENT TO PRISON FOR URGING ABDICATION OF KING CONSTANTINE

Athens, May 9.—Alexander Papanastasion, minister of national economy in the last Venizelos cabinet and Demetrius Lambrakis, editor of the newspaper Hellas, who were arrested last week for publishing an article urging the abdication of King Constantine, have been released. Mr. Papanastasion, another official during the Venizelist regime, has been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment on the same charge. The Venizelist press severely criticizes the court's action in sending Mr. Papanastasion to prison, declaring it to be an infraction of the right of free speech.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.
New York, May 9.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Moderate reactions attended the resumption of business on the stock exchange today. Motor shares again were most susceptible to bearish pressure, because of unfavorable trade conditions. Rubber specialties made further concessions in response to lower prices for those products. Minor steels as well as coppers and oils opened fractionally under last week's final quotations. Investment rails showed no definite trend, and railway equipments were dull. Exchange on London was firm, but leading continental rates reacted substantially from recent high levels.

1:30 p.m.—During the mid-session the reversal shifted to oil and industrial specialties. Harvester, American Sugar, Endicott-Johnson and Stromberg fell to new points. Rags were firmer, however, under lead of Reading and Texas and Pacific.

LEMIEUX SPRINGS SENSATION; BARES LETTER OF CUSTOMS MINISTER SEEKING BUSINESS

Premier Meighen Tries to Eva de, But Liberal Makes Scathing Criticism of Action of R. W. Wignmore in Using His Official Position Improperly.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 8.—A sensation in which two ministers of the crown, one the youngest and the other the oldest of the Meighen cabinet, are involved, has sprung upon an unexpected House by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, deputy for Gaspe and Maisonneuve on Saturday afternoon. It consisted in the reading of a photographic copy of a letter written by R. W. Wignmore, minister of customs, to the French purchasing commission, care of the French embassy, London, in which Mr. Wignmore solicited business on behalf of the firm of Nagle & Wignmore, St. John. The letter was written on official paper of the department of which Mr. Wignmore is the head, and the top of the sheet bears the coat-of-arms of the department.

Wants Business.
It is Mr. Wignmore states that he is informed that "your Government will have quite a few French steamers taking grain from the port of Saint John, N. B., Canada, this winter," and adds that "the firm of Nagle & Wignmore, which I am a member, are very anxious to secure this business."

"As you are no doubt aware," the letter proceeds, "I am minister of customs and an inland revenue in the Canadian Government, and I spoke to Sir George Foster, my colleague in the cabinet, who has just returned from England, being Canada's representative at the League of Nations conference, which has just been concluded at Geneva, and he advised me to write to you."

Mr. Wignmore admitted that the photographic copy was correct, and that he had penned the original. The reading of the letter had the effect of a bombshell upon the sleepy House. The minister directly involved gave evidence of nervousness and made but a poor fist at reply.

Scathing Criticism.
"I consider this a matter upon which the public should get an explanation," declared Mr. Lemieux. "The honorable minister speaks in this letter not only as a member of a private firm, but also as a cabinet minister. He refers to a colleague who is a senior member of the Government. I say that this is a matter of public issue whether a member of the cabinet has the right to use his position in this way to promote business for a firm with which until a few months ago he was connected. The letter emanated from the office of the minister of customs, it was written on official paper, it was written by the minister and in the corridors of the House the effect of the letter he spoke as minister of customs. We want an explanation. He may have a good one to offer."

Members Flock In.
Government members started to flock into the chamber when news of the sensation had been carried across the corridors. Mr. Wignmore looked around for encouragement. He rose nervously to his feet. And all he said was this: "I have had no help, financial or otherwise, from the firm of Nagle & Wignmore since I joined the Government. I wrote on behalf of the firm as I would have on behalf of any other firm. I would certainly be willing to write such a letter for my honorable friend (Mr. Lemieux). My partner is carrying on the business."

And yet all through the letter Mr. Wignmore, in soliciting business, uses the phrase "We."

Mr. Lemieux was not convinced, nor for the matter of that was anyone else.

A Glaring Case.
"The people of Canada," he said emphatically, "have the right to know the truth. But if you search the annals of British parliamentary history I challenge you to find such a glaring instance of personal interest mixed with public affairs. I say that no minister with that of the public. I consider this a matter on which the public should have a better explanation. It is highly improper for a minister of customs to boost his own private business using the royal coat of arms and the official paper of the Government to do so. It is an impropriety against his competitors, it is an impropriety against the Canadian Government Merchant Marine."

At this moment members who had striven to interrupt throughout (though many sat thoughtfully silent) started a cry of "Order!" But Mr. Lemieux went ahead.

"This letter," he declared, "cannot bear two interpretations. You can see personal interest in the very reading of it. The honorable gentleman as minister of customs has written an improper letter (More cries of Order). Does the prime minister approve of his minister having written such a letter?"

Attempts Evasion.
The prime minister was obviously taken aback. He strove to evade the issue by declaring that he could not see that the minister of customs had committed a penal offence in writing the letter.

"My imagination is unable to conceive," he declared piously, "how there could be any improper motive. I tried to inquire in my own mind whether there was any motive that could be criticized as improper, and my imagination and ingenuity were not sufficient to enable me to see how there was any improper motive. If there had been any way in which as minister he could have assisted, it would have been different, but there was no way he could do that. The letter was not written for a real or imaginary. It is not for me," he concluded, "to approve or disapprove conduct unless there was something in it inconsistent with the duties of the minister. I must say I was not able to define that."

The incident then closed and Mr. Lemieux sent across the floor for the copy of the letter.

WELLINGTON LIBERALS CALLING CONVENTION TO NAME CANDIDATE

Fight Will Be Between Liberals and U. F. O.—Electorate Are Anxious To Oust Meighen—Hon. Manning Doherty May Be Farmer's Candidate.

Guelph, May 7.—The Liberals of South Wellington have decided to throw their hat in the ring for the next federal election fight, and the call for a convention to select a candidate in the interests of progressive and democratic government has been sent out. Dates for the holding of primaries in the various municipalities, where delegates to the convention will be selected have been arranged for, and all voters, both men and women, who are opposed to the continuation of the present Government, regardless of past political affiliations, are invited to attend these meetings and assist in the selection of delegates to the convention. The convention will be held in Guelph on May 21, and all opponents are under way to have one or more prominent Liberals from the Federal House here to address the gathering.

Tired of Meighen.
The decision to call a convention was made at meeting of the South Wellington Liberal Association executive today, after the political situation in this riding had been fully discussed. Ever since the joint conference of representatives from the Liberals, United Farmers and Independent Labor party was held early in the spring which resulted in the farmers' executive refusing to co-operate with the Liberals in selecting a candidate, and the announcement of the Labor man that their constitution made it impossible for them to join hands for political purposes with either of the old line parties, complaints have reached the Liberal executive from the rank and file.

WILL CALL POLICE BY ELECTRIC SIGNAL

ST. MARYS, May 8.—St. Marys feels the need of adequate police protection, and arrangements are being entered into with the telephone company, whereby red lights will be placed on the streets in conspicuous places, to be flashed on whenever a call for the police is sent in.

The official count of the referendum vote for South Perth is announced as follows: DRYs, 5,367; WETS, 1,982, making a majority of 3,385 for the temperance people.

The congregation of the First Baptist Church have secured the services of Roy McGregor of McMaster University for the summer months. Mr. McGregor will take up his duties on Sunday.

HARRIETSVILLE W. I.

The April meeting of the Harrietsville Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Remington, with a good attendance, the vice-president, Mrs. B. Marsh, presiding. A paper on "The Principles of Modern Housekeeping" was given by Mrs. S. Jackson. The annual meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Doan, on May 12, when the election of officers will take place. A representative speaker, Miss Ruth First, graduate nurse of Uxbridge, will address the institute on May 17, at the I. O. O. F. Hall, Harrietsville.

of both the U. F. O. and I. L. P. protesting against the action taken. A careful survey of the riding here out the truth of these complaints and it was therefore decided to call a convention of delegates selected at primaries where all opponents of the present Government will have an opportunity to assist in the selection of a candidate.

May Not Assist.
There are many rumors throughout the riding, especially in Guelph, that nothing will ever come of the arrangement made by the I. L. P. to assist the U. F. O. candidates in the next federal election. The agreement under which these two parties are working at the present time is that the Labor party will support the U. F. O. candidate for the Federal House providing the Farmers' party will throw their support to a Labor candidate here when the next provincial election rolls around.

The I. L. P., however, are becoming convinced that the reciprocal compact will not work according to schedule, chiefly because, they point out, already there are signs that farmers intend to make a big effort to win South Wellington for themselves in the provincial race, and it is even hinted that no less a personage than the Hon. Manning Doherty will be their candidate. Accordingly, one prominent candidate for the Labor party in Guelph, the agreement with the U. F. O. will never be officially entered into unless the U. F. O. executive give their assurance in writing that they will live up to their part of it.

SPRING CLEAN UP IS BADLY NEEDED AT ZOO

ST. THOMAS, May 8.—An unkindly disposed breeze, blowing from the southwest at Pinafore Park today, reminded the many hundreds of visitors that the municipal zoo is still going strong. The health inspector cannot interfere unless it is proved to him that the situation is dangerous to public health. The chairman of the park committee says some of his Sunday guests might do well to visit these pungent proteges of the city.

JUDGMENT IS GIVEN FOR THE PLAINTIFF

ST. THOMAS, May 8.—Judge Ermatinger has found for the defendant without costs in the action of Turner against French, over a tractor purchased by Mr. French, a Southwold woman, from the plaintiff some months ago. The defendant claimed that the tractor had been guaranteed for a year and would plow ten acres a day. Mr. French testified that after three months operations the machine came to grief and the company asked him to pay for repairs. Mr. French also alleged that the tractor lacked speed.

Realized About $140.
The Ladies Guild of Trinity Church realized about $140 from the rummage held on Saturday in the parochial hall. Over 200 babies were treated during the sessions of the baby clinic here. The exercises were held under the auspices of the Red Cross Society.

GERMANS FEAR SITUATION IN UPPER SILESIA

Polish Insurgents Planning Attacks On Many Large Towns.

BERLIN, May 8.—Reports from German sources today declare that advances from Upper Silesia up to last night showed no diminution in the gravity of the situation there, caused by the Polish insurgent movement. The Polish irregulars were reported to be planning attacks against some of the large towns in the district, and their onslaught upon Koenigschuetz is declared by the Vossische Zeitung to have been successful, the town surrendering after several hours' resistance.

The railway junction at Kandrzin, near Koesel, was given up by the Germans after they had sustained severe losses, the insurgents marching in.

ARE TAKING ACTION.

WARSAW, May 8.—In the face of increasing clashes between the insurgents and Germans, the Polish Government has decided upon a vigorous plan of action in an attempt to settle the insurrection initiated by Adalbert Korfanty, the former plebiscite commissioner in Upper Silesia, with the object of joining the industrial of Upper Silesia to Poland.

The Polish cabinet has issued a statement to the effect that while the ministry thoroughly understood the patriotic motive which led to the spontaneous outbreak throughout the mining district, the Government disapproved of the insurrection, and considered the movement a vain attempt to attain the desired end under present circumstances.

Dispatches received today report that 20,000 armed workmen from the Dombrowa-Sosnowice mining district in East Silesia have attempted to cross the frontier and assist the insurgents, but all were turned back by the Polish authorities.

Many Encounters.
Pitched encounters between the insurgents and the Germans have occurred at various points in the Kibynsk district, where, according to Polish reports, more than 150 Poles were killed and many wounded, while the German casualties were even heavier.

In a protracted fight for possession of Friedrichschutte, an important foundry centre, more than 30 Poles were killed, the German troops being victorious. Repeated demonstrations by the labor parties have occurred before the British and Italian legations, the workmen, by shouts and written protests, showing resentment against the alleged stand taken by the British and Italian representatives in Silesia in opposition to the Polish claims to the disputed territory.

EXCURSION RATES FOR FARM LABORERS

Two Hundred Men Needed in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

OTTAWA, May 8.—(By Canadian Press.)—The department of labor announced Saturday afternoon that arrangements had been made with the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railway, whereby those railways have agreed to transport farm laborers at harvest excursion rates from Toronto to the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, where the labor is required. A statement issued by Senator Robertson adds:

"Alberta recently advised that it desired to import 200 farm laborers from the United States, which was deemed by the department as undesirable if requirements could be met from within Canada."

"Wages offered are from $50 to $70 a month with board."

"It was obviously impossible for laborers to pay regular rates for so long a distance. The railways generously acceded to the request of the department and have opened the way for 400 to 500 farm laborers to be transported at a nominal cost, to the provinces where their services are demanded. The object of the department is mainly to relieve the unemployment situation in Southern Ontario where the greatest need exists."

"Upon presentation of a certificate from the government employment service at Toronto to city ticket agents there, accommodation will be provided on regular trains leaving on May 11 to May 14 inclusive. Only men with

$5,000,000 TO MEXICO

TORONTO, May 8.—A special dispatch to the Star from Winnipeg says: "Negotiations have been completed whereby Mennonites of Manitoba will dispose of their land in this province and near Swift Current, Sask., and trek to Mexico."

The amount of money involved in the transaction is between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000. First payments have been made. The exodus will begin as soon as harvesting operations for this season are completed.

COAL FOR IRELAND.

DUBLIN, May 8.—The Irish and British railwaymen and transport workers have decided to permit the handling of foreign coal shipped direct to Irish ports and intended for Irish purposes only. The question of making an exception from the decision of the railwaymen and transport workers not to handle foreign coal arose when a cargo of Belgian coal arrived in Dublin last week. In view of the miners' strike the local transport workers refused to unload the vessel.

A number of shipments of United States coal, it is learned, are on the way to Ireland.

Most Hopeful Sign in 750 Years, Declares Sir Hamar Greenwood.

MUST DEAL WITH LEADERS

Meddlers and Amateur Peacemakers Warned To Keep Away.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary for Ireland, speaking yesterday of the recent conference of Sir James Craig, premier-designate of Ulster, and Eamon de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, declared the meeting was the most hopeful sign for peace in Ireland in 750 years.

"It is not only the best thing that has happened in modern Irish history," said Sir Hamar, "but the most hopeful thing in 750 years. No Englishman, Welshman or Scotsman wants to run Ireland."

"Ireland must settle her problems herself. Therefore the meeting of Sir James and Mr. de Valera is an extremely significant sign and in connection with it I must praise the courage of Sir James, who consented to accompany strangers whom he knew to be enemies in a motor car from my lodge to the meeting place. He went alone and unattended."

Was Not Blindfolded.
Asked whether Sir James had been blindfolded, as was the correspondent when he recently interviewed Mr. de Valera, Sir Hamar said: "Not at all; he went with his eyes wide open."

The chief secretary pointed out and emphasized that this was the first time on record that the representatives of Northern and Southern Ireland had consented to meet for a friendly discussion of the different points of view. He declared himself extremely optimistic over the outlook for a settlement.

When asked if there was any possibility of an Irish settlement before the parliamentary elections, Sir Hamar said: "The present British Government has one virtue, its consistency, which will be followed first, last and all the time. There is no question as to the Government going on with the elections. The Irish questions must be settled through the Home Rule act. After the elections the atmosphere will be cleared and we shall be in a better position to discuss matters than now."

WILL HAVE NO MEDDLING.
BELFAST, May 8.—Sir James Craig, premier-designate of Ulster, whose recent conference with Eamon de Valera is still the subject of much comment, is speaking at Lisburn yesterday, said that he had made it plain to the South and West of Ireland that it was not with amateur peacemakers and meddlers in Irish affairs they had to deal, but with the leaders of the people of Ulster, if there were to be any peace negotiations.

"Far too long," said Sir James, "have the Ulster people been the shuttlecock of English and Irish politics. It was really time that the one man who was entitled to do it stood completely forward, and said: 'Hands off Ulster, unless you come to me as the leader.'"

One good effect of his meeting with de Valera, continued the premier-designate, was that the ice was broken. The more he thought of it, the better he was pleased, knowing that no matter what they said of Ulster she was great-hearted, and not small in her ideas, and was looking forward to the future "of our common country."

Sir James invited the premiers of the dominions to attend the inauguration of the "youngest colony."

JOHN DILLON'S VIEW.
DUBLIN, May 8.—John Dillon, chairman of the Nationalist party, will publish a letter tomorrow saying that he has advised his friends to take no part in the southern elections. Such an agreement as that reached between the Sinn Fein and Nationalists in the North, he declares, would be possible, even if desirable, in the South.

The program of the Sinn Fein was to secure a solid bloc, and the whole force of their organization will be directed to that object. If the Nationalists took part, continued Mr. Dillon, it could only be as opponents of the republicans, and the contest would create bitter feeling, and might result in disorder and bloodshed, for which he could not take the responsibility, particularly at such a crisis in the fortunes of Ireland, and in view of recent events and rumors of peace negotiations.

Opposing the Sinn Fein would lay the Nationalists open to the charge, however unjust, of supporting the Auxiliary Police and the power of "Greenwood and Company."

GERMANY MAY DEMAND POLISH DISARMAMENT

Would Be Quite Justified in Doing So, Says Lloyd George.

MAIDSTONE, Eng., May 7.—The prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, declared today that if Germany disarmed in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, she was entitled to ask that the Allies insist on the disarmament of Poland.

Mr. Lloyd George made this declaration in addressing a meeting of 5,000 persons here under the auspices of the National Unionist Association.

Referring to Ireland, the prime minister said: "I am very much delighted to see that two national leaders in Ireland have met to discuss all questions bearing on the future of the country. What will ensue I cannot predict, but it is a good sign that they should discuss things together."

Discussing the miners' demands for higher wages, involving Government aid, the prime minister said the taxpayers could not be expected to pay the miners' wages. The mining industry must bear its own charges, he declared. If there was to be a permanent settlement it must be on that basis.

The cost of British coal must be reduced if Great Britain was to retain her coal trade, Mr. Lloyd George told his hearers. United States coal, he declared, was becoming a serious competitor in markets where Great Britain was formerly predominant.

JAP CROWN PRINCE
GREAT RECEPTION

First Time Member of Royal Family Has Visited Britain.

LONDON, May 8.—Elaborate entertainments in honor of Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan, who arrived at Spithead Saturday and will remain in England until the end of this month, when he proceeds to France, were held today aboard the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of Admiral Sir Charles Edward Madden, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, who was host. All the ships of the British fleet were dressed for the occasion with the Japanese flag at the masthead.

The battleship Katori, on which the prince is traveling, will enter Portsmouth Harbor tomorrow morning, accompanied by her escort, the Kashima, and the prince will be escorted ashore by the Prince of Wales to the accompaniment of a royal salute from the land and sea forces.

Visits will be paid by the crown prince to Windsor, Oxford and Cambridge and military, navy and air force centres. The museums, theatres and other places of amusement as well as the historic spots of England, will be shown to the visitor, his companion in most of the trips being the Prince of Wales.

Great interest is being taken in England in the visit, for it is the first time that the crown prince of Japan has left his own country, and that Britain has had an opportunity to entertain a member of the royal family of her eastern ally.

Crown Prince Hirohito will be the guest for the first few days of the king at Buckingham Palace, but later will take up his residence in Chesterfield House, which has been placed at his disposal during the visit. The state dinner arranged by the Government has been cancelled at the prince's request, owing to the coal strike, but there will be dinners at the Buckingham Palace, the houses of Parliament and other official places, and luncheons with the lord mayor, the governor of the Bank of England and various distinguished personages.

FARMERS ARE MAKING UP FOR LOST TIME

MELBOURNE, May 7.—Farmers are back on the land again and are putting in long hours to make up for the time lost during the rainy weather.

Some of the farmers have found the land they intended putting in in spring crops in such condition that it will be necessary to turn it into a summer fallow. Many gardens that were ready for planting will have to be cultivated again before planting can be done. Some have planted small seeds and early potatoes. The rains, however, helped the pasture and crops are looking fine.

Alex. Williamson has improved his property by enlarging his house.

George Lee has given the contract for a new house to be built on the lot he purchased during the winter.

Robert Campbell has bought the house now occupied by Wilson Richards and the implement hall joining it, from the I. O. O. F. Lodge. Mr. Richards will move to Strathroy in the near future, where he has bought a house.

Mothers' Day was observed here on Sunday in the Methodist Sunday School, the classes being taught by mothers. A mother presided as superintendent, at the piano and in every department, making a very interesting and impressive service.

WILL RATIFY PROTOCOL.
OTTAWA, May 7.—The bill to ratify the protocol in regard to the permanent court of international justice, created under the League of Nations, was read a third time at the opening of the House this afternoon. The measure now goes up to the Senate.

BANDITS MAY HAVE BLINDED
GEO. THOMPSON

Farm Hand From Near London Had Acid Thrown in Eyes.

TORONTO, May 8.—Geo. Thompson, who arrived in Toronto Saturday evening from the vicinity of London, Ont., was roughly handled by automobile bandits and robbed of thirty dollars. As a result of the treatment he received from the bandits, who threw acid, possibly vitriol, in his eyes, he may possibly lose his sight. Thompson served overseas, and since his return has been working on a farm near London. He was found Saturday night wandering about, suffering great pain from his eyes and showing the effect of rough treatment otherwise. His story, told the police and the doctor at the hospital, was that he was unfamiliar with the neighborhood of the union station, and that he set out along Front street in a westerly direction to locate a hotel. He was followed by an automobile carrying very bright lights. As it came abreast of him the light was flashed in his eyes and several men leaped from the car. They seized him and when he resisted they beat him and one of them threw something in his eyes from a bottle. In his helpless condition his assailants had little trouble in relieving him of his money.

URGES COMPULSORY

Brig.-Gen. Griesbach's Plan For Assimilating Foreigners.

OTTAWA, May 7.—Compulsory military service, as a means of assimilating the foreign immigrant was urged on the House of Commons today by Brig.-Gen. W. A. Griesbach, member for West Edmonton. "Some scheme of educating and assimilating the foreign immigrant is absolutely imperative," declared Gen. Griesbach.

"The churches are powerless. The Canadian system of education fails to meet the situation." He advocated a system of universal compulsory military service, under which the young foreigner between the ages of 19 and 22 would spend three months a year in military training. During that time the foreigner would learn to speak English. He would learn to keep clean, to become obedient, and he would learn the responsibilities of citizenship.

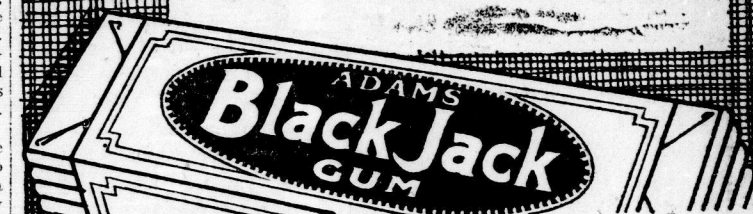

A poorly attended House was at the time discussing immigration estimates in committee of supply.

CURTAILS PLANTING

PEKING, May 7.—Planting of spring crops in the province of Chihai has been seriously curtailed by a drought which has extended over about one-fifth of the famine area there. It is declared that the lack of rain will necessitate the continuance of aid for famine sufferers through the summer. The province of Shantung and the Yellow River district are also suffering from lack of rain.

CITIZENS OFFER TO DRILL TEST WELLS

KINCARDINE, May 8.—A petition was circulated among a number of residents to raise enough money to bore one or more holes for water, to prove to the provincial board of health that a bountiful supply of water can be had at a very much less cost than by the installation of a filtration and chlorination plant, as proposed.

This petition included the names of 29 citizens subscribing or making a donation to the town of more than enough money to pay for boring one good well. A motion was passed to accept the offer of the petitioners and instruct the water commission to proceed with the work.

Every prospect points to strong flowing wells here, and as was said at the meeting, there are over 50 per cent of the people favorable to spring water.

THE RENTING PROBLEM.

The housing scarcity continues to be one of the most serious difficulties which the larger communities from coast to coast have to solve.
Shortage of dwellings of all kinds, especially the smaller and moderately priced homes for workingmen, and high rents for the few places available, are resulting in a general wall that is making itself heard in no uncertain manner. According to the Montreal Star, the answer lies entirely in the hands of the workers.
The Star says, in part:

"When RENT stands at the door of the home and warns all but the wealthy away, it is a far more savage menace to the economic sanity of the community than a thousand
'Red' emissaries. But when RENT writes 'Welcome' on the door-mat, it weaves a spell before the portal which no Bolshevik folly can pass.
'Who fixes the rent?'

The men who build houses.
When there are plenty of houses, rents fall for the same reason that eggs get cheaper in the spring.
When building stops, rents go up automatically for the same reason that food does in a battle-torn city.
People can no more do without houses than they can without food.
If the price of clothing rises too high, we can wear our old clothes; but we can neither eat nor sleep without houses. And the rent we pay for our house is the only one on which we have no control.

"Who are the men who build houses? Mr. J. B. Carswell, of the rents told the 'Building' yesterday that 80 per cent of the cost of building is labor.
The rest is profit and material. Mr.
Carswell put the actual value of material at 5 per cent. That is, the building of a home is accomplished by a triple alliance of workers, capitalists and Providence. Of these three, the workers contribute eight parts out of every ten.

"We leave the answer to you:
Who builds the houses? Obviously labor is the house-builder. Labor gets 80 out of every 100 which is required to build a house. Rent is only interest on the cost, and will fall inevitably as the cost falls.
Even if capital and organization took nothing for their services—which they have never showed any disposition to do—still 85 per cent of the cost, and the resultant rent, would remain absolutely untouched —unless labor relented.

"Mr. John Bruce, a representative of the labor group at the conference, declared that 'labor was opposed not so much to wage reductions as to reductions in the standard of living.' This is a highly intelligent attitude. Money is only worth what it will bring in the means of 'livables'—it is useless to get nominally high wages if the purchasing power of these high wages is no higher than was that of the previous lower pay. The German is not satisfied by stuffing his pay envelope with depreciated marks. In the last analysis, the workingman is paid in food, clothes and RENT. To reduce his rent is equivalent to raising his pay.

"But the glorious situation today in Canada is that he can reduce his own rent by building more houses.
That is, he can raise his own pay, and 'the bosses be blown!' At present he is actually reducing his own pay by building conspicuously fewer houses. Mr. J. M. Piggott of Hamilton reported to the conference that 'the building industry today is practically flat on its back.' By March, 1921, contracts let for building totaled only $26,300,000 in Canada, as against $55,700,000 last year. Construction contracts all over Canada in the three months of 1921 were 25 per cent lower than the same three months last year. The heaviest falling off was during March, when the building outlook should be at its rosier.

DUNSANY AND THE POETRY OF IRELAND.

The poetry of Ireland has always been a "poetry of escape." Even without the Romantic Movement it would have been that. But Romanticism is precisely that mood or frame of mind which is always seeking new and untrodden avenues of escape from the familiar into the unknown. Here, then, are two lines of force moving out of quite different sources, but converging in the same direction. When these two impulses are brought to bear on one and the same individual we may expect a noteworthy result. Because the traits drawn from one line of his mental ancestry are so strongly corroborated by those drawn from the other, one may think of him either as the most Irish of Irish poets or as the most audaciously romantic of Romanticists. Perhaps he may be both.

Lord Dunsany has had a glimpse over one shoulder of two terrifying giants whose names are Here and Now. He does not stop, like Wordsworth and other greater poets, and try to convert them from cannibalism. He does not even stand, like Carlyle or Leopardi, and revile them from a distance. He simply leaves them alone. No other of Erin's thousand poets has escaped so completely from these fearsome twins as Lord Dunsany, or built so impregnable a fortress against them.
He leaves behind him both modern and ancient Ireland, and even that enchanted region of Old Irish legend in which so many of his fellows have lingered. He would not deny that some fine gold of fancy may be found there, but he thinks it too much cumbered with the baser metals of fact.

THE ISLAND OF YAP.

"A recent number of the Paris Illustration" contains an informing article on the Island of Yap.
Situating to the east of the Philippines, it is about half way between them and Giam, another possession of the United States, acquired from Spain along with the Philippines after the war of 1898. Yap is the northwest angle of the Caroline group, sold by Spain to Germany at that time.

During the world war Japan seized the Carolines, including Yap, and agreed to aid the Allies on condition that she should be confirmed in possession of these islands, as well as of Kiao-Chow and Shantung. But the assent of the United States to this transaction was not sought, as that country was then not yet associated with the Entente against Germany. But this is no valid reason to the Washington Government why a strategic point like Yap should be appropriated by Japan without the United States being consulted. There has been annoyance enough over the Japanese retention of Shantung against the wishes of China. So the United States insists on a revision of the arrangement giving a mandate over Yap to Japan.

At Yap is a junction point of important Pacific cables. One proceeds from there to Borneo and Java, another northwest to Shanghai, a third northeast to Guam and Honolulu. Guam is another cable centre, with lines to Manila and Hong Kong, to Yokohama, and to America. The double possession of Yap and Guam would give the United States a stronger position against Japanese advance in the western Pacific.

But a fight over Yap would remind one of Hamlet's words on Fortinbra's invasion of Poland:
"Fight for a plot
Whereon the numbers cannot try the cause,
Which is not tomb enough and continent
To hide the slain."

There are just about 60 square miles in Yap. However, a pawn may be an important piece on the great chessboard of diplomacy.

VIOLETS.

"Where the violets give the fragrant vale
A blue embroidery—"

Every day of spring that dawns in blue and gold is an invitation to the woods. New leaves, breeze-stirred, little changing shadows over the avenues, dandelion-dotted lawns, and the blue sky over all, serve but as messages of the purity of wild loveliness awaiting us in the woods.
To have missed the hidden places of violets for one springtime is to have been poor in woods-memories until their coming again. To have one's particular haunt to seek, to find the little traces of old paths remembering and waiting to find happiness akin to rapture, and a sense of freedom that belongs to things worth while.

Quite unsuspected from a busy roadway, and, "Oh, so near to London," there is a thorn wood with a setting of old oaks further along its paths, and little gentle slopes to tell the story of the beauty of low-growing, leaf-lit, sun-shimmered trees of hawthorn. Little paths guide the way to all the sacred beauties of this sanctuary of birds and flowers, and reveal the fact that it is known and loved by many gypsy-hearted folks. An old roadway intersects, and leads down a long, slow slope to a distant picture that is particularly lovely at sunset time, of an old red barn set in green meadows, and seemingly close to clustering orchard trees in bloom, then a scrap of blue sky outlined irregularly by treeboughs of the woods through which the old roadway winds.

There has been no gradual coming of the violets this year. Browning speaks of "banks that had violets opening from sleep like eyes," but the abundant rains and few very warm days coaxed these little blue bits of subtle loveliness to quick, warm life, and lavish carpeting of places. Under the thorn trees, in open places, where the grasses almost hide their little faces, darker in the shade, paler in the sunshine, with white butterflies floating above them "like flowers in the air," there is indeed a wonderful "blue embroidery" of violets, with an occasional touch of gold from the taller yellow variety. Mrs. Mitford, in her sketch on "Violeting," writes: "But I can at least snatch and prolong the fleeting pleasure, can fill my basket divide my treasures with one, a dear one, who cannot seek them; can see them when I shut my eyes; and dream of them when I fall asleep."

THE OLDEST POILU.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.] Surely the soul of a conqueror, the soul of a Napoleon, the soul of a Napoleon! Surely Napoleon and all his marshals, all the great captains of France, stood at attention when the spirit of the "oldest poilu" of France came to the front. For three times in his 82nd year he was gathered to his fathers, and the bugles of France in 1915 and saw France take her revenge upon the Prussian. When he died he commanded the burial honors of a lieutenant of sappers and he wore upon his ancient breast the ribbons of the Legion of Honor. Three times he was cited in orders before the armistice. And he was seven years past the Psalms' three score years and ten when he joined the French army at Souchez in 1915. He was not the sort that carried a field marshal's baton in his knapsack; but France and all that France stands for is well served by such a Charles Surugue. His was the spirit that makes France great upon the battlefield.

SERVICE THE FIRST CONSIDERA-TION.

While the Ontario Legislature, under the influence of Sir Adam Beck and the hydro-electric political machine, was killing the McCrea bill which would give to the railway board the power to increase street railway fares when necessary to maintain service, Eton J.
McCreary, the transportation expert retained by Sir Adam Beck and the hydroelectric commission that service could not be provided for less than a seven-cent fare without a deficit to be covered by taxation. As the situation now stands the private companies have been delivered into the hands of the hydro. They are operating at heavy losses, in some cases on a basis about half what experts would call for to pay for service rendered, while the London and Port Stanley line —Beck's pet radial scheme—operates under a Dominion charter and gets a higher rate than any other radial in the province and while special legislation can be secured for public ownership roads to increase fares, as in the case of the seven-cent bill for Guelph.

Of course, private corporations must be prepared to stand by their charter agreements—even though there have been instances where the governments which issued them have not. And they can be restrained from increasing their fares no matter what their losses may be. But they cannot be prevented from relinquishing their charter privileges and discontinuing service. It was in this connection that the McCrea bill was designed—to permit the railway board to step in and operate, on increased fares if necessary, in the event of the company being forced by operating losses into a position where service could not be continued.

THE PRICE OF FURS.

[Quebec Telegraph.]
Many people have a very exaggerated idea of the value of raw furs and of the profits resulting from handling them, but one of the greatest difficulties in the trade, and one of which few people have any adequate conception is the great instability of values. A few years ago trappers of muskrat skins were paid from ten to sixty cents each for them.
Then came the war, and the value of skins made of dyed rats and the high cost of all commodities caused by the war, during which period some rare dark colored skins were sold for over five dollars each. A year ago there was quite a slump in raw furs, though prices never declined to anything like their previous high figures, and now there has been an upward turn, and furs of all kinds are higher than a year ago, though not quite as valuable as some of them have been in recent years. A Montreal paper recently reported that six thousand muskrats which had been caught this spring in the marshes of Otonabee River and Rice Lake would make a hundred Hudson seal coats valued at $22,000. A hundred of such coats might easily be worth the figure mentioned, but to estimate the unmanufactured skins at that value is to display but little knowledge of business, and to take no count of the enormous cost of curing and dyeing the skins and of manufacturing the garments therefrom. These operations are enormously costly, especially since the increase of the last six or seven years, in wages and in the cost of dyes. It is a very good muskrat skin that is worth over 75 cents today, though as the Globe remarks, they may be worth $5 to $7 a piece when cured, dried and placed upon the market as Hudson seal.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA EXPERI-

[Detroit Free Press.]
After a period of bone-dry prohibition, British Columbia decided to try a plan for limited sale of liquor by the state, which will sell two quarts of distilled liquor or twelve quarts of malt liquor to any person 21 years of age upon presentation of a written permit from the proper Government authority. No person may use more than ten permits a year. The law also prohibits public drinking, punishes drunkenness, and otherwise attempts to prevent abuse of the privileges which it grants.
One of the reasons given for adopting state control in British Columbia is that absolute prohibition proved unenforceable. Instead of prohibition the province was drenched in bootleggers' whiskey. All of this accords with the experience of many states in the United States which tried prohibition in the early days of the movement and found that it did not prohibit. But the usual practice on this side of the line was to return to the open saloon, which generally made such a nuisance of itself that another dry era came on by the local option route.

British Columbia is trying to find a middle ground as South Carolina did with its dispensary system. Possibly they can manage the thing better in Canada than they did in South Carolina, where the dispensaries were a failure, but the possibility that any attempt by a government to go into the liquor business will end in scandal is obvious and extensive.

A COLORLESS WOMAN.

[London Spectator.]
The ex-German Empress Augusta-Victoria was one of the most colorless and uninteresting women who ever sat on a throne. She does not even seem to have been able to make very much of her dreary role of Imperial "Hausfrau." This was the part for which the emperor, with the instincts of a theatrical manager with an inefficient actress to provide for, had cast her.
She did not even bring up her own children, who had English nurses till they were old enough to have drill sergeants. For her the crown must have been a tragic ornament indeed. She lived the whole of her natural life with a haunting consciousness of her failure to live up to her strenuous and effective, if showy, husband. Her failure to make any impression at all on her surroundings, her failure even to make an enemy, leaves one with a sense of abject pathos. As the writer of her obituary in the Times points out, the war, the defeat of her country, and her own flight came as utterly incomprehensible and meaningless catastrophes to which she was totally incapable of adjusting herself. She died in complete and tragic ignorance that the world had changed beneath her. But, at any rate, if her life showed nothing else it did show that despotism is an even greater tragedy for the despots than for the subjects.

PRINCE HENRY'S BIRTHDAY.

The Eton College Chronicle published the following lines, under the heading
"A Birthday Letter," on the occasion of Prince Henry, third son of the King, attaining his 21st birthday on March 21st:

Dear Prince Henry,
March is ending, and you'll soon be twenty-one.
So congratulations sending,
Eton greets her son:

Knowing well that you'll remember many things you've learnt to know, Since that morning in September
Several years ago:

You'll remember first arriving, lonely, shy, a little sad,
How you found with hope reviving,
Things were not so bad.

You'll recall, with some elation, how you qualified to pass
More than one examination (Thanks to Army Class);

Every type of simple fraction soon was possible to you—
But we hail with satisfaction
Things you cannot do;

Cannot cross the ancient River Thames and not remember how You were forced to sit and shiver,
While you learnt to row;

Cannot, when in Eton High School, thronged with boys of each degree, Fail to murmur, "Ah, that's my street,
As it used to be."

So the academic hen, regarding you as still her son, Clucks, "Good luck to you, Prince Henry,
Now you're twenty-one!"

MAY HARP HIGHER.

Teasie—Agnes always finds something to harp on.
Bessie—Yes; I only hope she'll be as fortunate in the next world.

"A PURITAN"

[Stewart Mitchell.] Ever toward morning looking, does she stand,
Where dies of trade and venture tireless beat.
Round the first sanctuary of her feet,
Gazing afar with vacant eyes, her bland Bronze lips unconscious of the lifted hand
That beckons men into her judgment seat,
Here where the pilgrims of all nations meet,
Luring their hearts into her promised land.

She will not learn to love men for their strange Unsteady ways—forgot the brave are sprung
Out of men proved and wonderful to range
The whole world. Hope like hers has never sung.
But must wait the old, false dawn of change;
With eyes that see not, lips that lack their tongue.

A CONUNDRUM IN ECONOMICS.

[Toronto Telegram.]
An inquisitive contemporary asks:
"What did Toronto do with all the daylight it saved last summer?"
Some observers claim that the mild winter was largely due to the clouds carefully conserved by the city of Toronto last summer.
It is only fair to state that this view is not favored by the Meteorological Bureau, whose experts still believe in the theory of the aphelion and perihelion.

[Thomas E. More.]
The Prince of Dandelion wandered forth upon the green.
An elfin banner to the sunshine and the breeze Behind him trooped the daisies, and the crocuses were seen, Like tiny pages, in his train, beneath the maple trees.
Sir Robin Redbreast piped a note as royal heralds do,
And from the fells of field and fell there rose a lilyan cry—
A cry of welcome to a royal Prince and true,
Whose domain is a flowerland beneath a smiling sky!

So Phoebe bird and Bluebird and the raucous calling jay,
And every winging creature in the skies of tender blue, Sang welcome to the Golden Prince and to his fair array, Whose jeweled trappings flashed and burned and hid the earth from view!

The violets in purple robes ran racing over the hills,
And baby Eirdeyes peeped and peered from every sunny place, To watch the merrymaking of the dancing daffodils.
While laughter seemed to ripple from each lovely flower face.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Miss. Elmer Cronyn and Miss Cronyn are spending a short time at the Foxborough, Ottawa.

Mrs. James F. Miller, Sheldon Apartments, was a charming afternoon tea hostess on Friday.

Mrs. and Mrs. E. R. Graham of Detroit are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elmer, Dufferin street.

Miss Joseph C. Armstrong of Toronto spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. James Armstrong, Maitland street.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Foreman have just returned from Waterloo. Mr. Foreman will be rector at St. Basil's Church.

Miss Mary Gemmill, girl work secretary for the Presbyterian Church in Canada, is a guest with Mr. and Mrs. John Gemmill, Mill street.

Miss Madeline Simpson made a brilliant showing at the Toronto Conservatory of Music on Wednesday last, when she was heard there by a critical audience.

Mrs. and Mrs. Reginald Martin, a bride and groom of a short time ago, were pleasantly surprised on Saturday morning, when the special constable staff of the G. O. T. R. presented them with a handsome silver tea service and a cut glass fruit bowl with silver stand.

The home of Mrs. C. E. Keene, Dufferin avenue, presented a pretty scene on Saturday afternoon, when the "I Serve" Club of the Cronyn Memorial Church, under the leadership of Miss Edith Keene, held a tea and musical there. The different rooms of the house were converted into attractive booths. The home cooking found its place in the charming day with Miss Lois Richards as convener, while in the living-room, fragrant with roses and mignonnets and lit with candles, were placed on sale such interesting articles as handkerchiefs, bath towels, painted flowers, etc., with Miss Mildred Granger in charge. Other attractive booths were the fancy work, presided over by Miss Dorothy Gleason, and the candy table with Miss Ina Coleridge in charge. The tea room was one of the most attractive features of all, small tables prettily decked with buttered bread placed in the dining-room and outside on the terrace. Here Miss Grace King was hostess. During the afternoon an enjoyable musical program was given under the convener of Miss Dorothy Davis.

The lovely home of Mrs. Hiram Van Loon, Evergreen avenue, was opened Saturday afternoon for a tea and musical, held in aid of the Catholic Women's League relief work. The hostess received her guests wearing a becoming gown of blue crepe de chine and sequins, assisted by Mrs. B. C. McCann, president of the league, smartly gowned in black. The spacious rooms were tastefully decorated for the occasion. Especially pretty was the tea room, the table being covered with an exquisite lace cloth, and arranged with pink satin streamers. Here Mrs. W. G. Coles and Mrs. Coffey presided, assisted by Mrs. B. M. Burns and Miss Jessie Macfie.

A delightful musical program furnished during the afternoon included numbers by Miss Christine Dawson of London, Miss Leon Trotsky of Detroit, Mrs. John Selak, Miss Katharine McLaughlin, Miss Vivian Reid, the Misses Catalano and the Misses Murphy. The hostess was warmly congratulated on the success of her tea, and a goodly sum was added to the league treasury.

"Ardavon Place," London South, the pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kerrigan, was the scene of a Saturday night, when they entertained at an informal dance in honor of Col. and Mrs. Claude K. Morgan of London, Eng., who are visiting Mrs. T. H. Smallman. Mrs. Kerrigan received her guests wearing a lovely gown of pale blue satin and shell pink tulle with corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. Morgan was charmingly gowned in cloth of silver, with sequin trimmings, and carried a large white ostrich fan. The house was gay throughout with pink and white tulips, a buffet supper being served about midnight. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smallman, Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Captain Butler, Mr. Fred Betts, Major and Mrs. Eric Reid and their guest, Miss Brooks of London, Eng., Captain and Mrs. Hill, Major and Mrs. Hogan, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. C. S. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Harper, Miss Alice Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hunt, Mr. Douglas Weld, Mr. Ernest Weld and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Purdon.

Personal Health Service

Try To Crawl Out of It.

A woman of forty-eight years (had thin, nervous and unable to sleep had written it herself it would have served very well as a nostrum testimonial). She was abnormally conscious of the beating of her heart, and you know it is abnormal to be conscious that one's heart is beating. Yet she crawled out of it. Draw up your chairs, children, and let me tell you how she did it.

A lady aged 32 was greatly emaciated as a result of a prolonged dysentery. He began to suffer with frequent paroxysms or seizures of distressing palpitations, the heart beating with extreme rapidity—tachycardia, to express it in our best medical terms. The only way he could obtain relief from these attacks was by imitating the nervous woman—also, crawled out of it. She was a man aged 35, 48 inches tall and weighing 135 pounds—what proves he had been trying to eat himself to death—had attacks of what he called "neurasthenia of the heart," which his physician privately believed was rather of the nature of angina pectoris, a punishment which comes to those who do not know or care to learn how to live. These men discovered to his surprise that he could crawl out of his "neurasthenia" seizures.

It seems that in spite of our great self-esteem we are still mere animals stalking about proudly and defiantly on our hind legs, and it behooves and benefits many of us to revert for at least a few minutes now and then to our primal posture and run about or pround the house a few times on all fours. Aside of the false variety, that is to say, false dignity, growth before the feet, this last posture one walks on all fours, which means that the hips are high and the shoulders low. The monkey walk has proved especially beneficial for women with prolapses or displacements and other pelvic troubles and for the toning of the muscles and the restoration or conservation of the figure after confinement.

WM. POPE PROPOSED AS NEW PRESIDENT OF DRAMA LEAGUE

J. Stanley Meredith Suggested As Chairman of a Producing Committee.

William Pope is the name suggested as the new president of the London Drama League. His name is to be proposed at the annual meeting of the league, to be held on Monday, May 16, by the nominating committee, under the convener of Dr. J. W. Crane. Mr. Pope was an active member of the London Dramatic Club of pre-war days, and has always been intensely interested in the drama. The coming election of officers is causing great interest throughout the city, as the league membership has recently become very large and representative. The resignation of Dr. W. J. Tamblin, the former president of the league, has been received with regret. The suggestion has been made, however, that he should be made an honorary vice-president. A second honorary vice-president proposed is Dr. David Arnott, who has been instrumental in securing a large and influential list of $10 patrons for the league. As honorary president, the name of Lieut.-Col. A. Smith, another prominent member of the old London Dramatic Club, has been proposed. One of the most important officers recommended on this slate is that of chairman of the producing committee, for which office the name of J. Stanley Meredith is suggested. As the league expects to undertake the entertainment of prominent actors who visit the city next year, another important office is that of chairman of the social committee, for which the name of Mrs. E. H. Johnston is offered.

The other officers suggested are as follows: Vice-president, Col. Frank Ware; secretary, Miss Louise Gahnet; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Gahnet; and assistant treasurer, Mrs. A. D. Jordan; assistant treasurer, Richard Cronyn, and members of the executive, Mrs. John Gemmill, Miss Topley Thomas, Mrs. Arthur Brinkenden, Father Brennan, Kenneth Greene, J. S. Meredith and Charles Hunt.

The slate of officers suggested by the nominating committee will appear on the program at tonight's presentation of the Drama League play "The New Lady Bantock."

ADULTERATION OF LINEN.

ton fibre to the linen, or by the substitution of cotton for linen. The lustre of linen can be closely imitated on cotton by rolling it between hot rollers. A drop of oil or even water, will often render the cotton much more transparent than the linen. Another simple test is to break the threads; linen breaks with an uneven, pointed end, cotton with a tuffed, fuzzy end. Linen burns quickly with a flame, very like cotton, so that burning is not a good test between them.

A chemical test for cotton in linen can be made by placing a fringed sample of the cloth in a porcelain dish and heating it gently in a 60 per cent solution of caustic potash for two minutes. If then the cloth is removed with a glass rod and dried between blotting papers, the linen threads will be a dark yellow, while the cotton remains white or light yellow.

Here, as in so many cases of cloth manufacture, it is not the combination of linen with cotton that is wrong; it produces sometimes a very useful material cheaper than linen. The wrong lies in the sale of such combinations as pure linen at pure linen prices for pure linen purposes.

Linen can be adulterated, just as cotton can, by using as many as a house-keeper has found to her dismay, in first washing of table-linen for which she has paid a good linen price. Sizing can be detected, usually, if the cloth is held up to a strong light, or if it is rubbed briskly between the fingers. Linen is also adulterated by the addition of cotton.

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

(BY MAY CHRISTIE.)
(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

LXXXII.—JACK'S WILL.

She paused, trying to fathom the look on the other woman's face. Mrs. MacTurk's shrewd glance had wandered to a valuable diamond brooch which the girl was wearing. In glittering letters it formed the one word: "April!"

As she saw that curious glance, Miss April flushed. How stupid of her to have chosen that particular brooch today!

She had been given to me for my birthday—in the month of April—she stammered—then could have bitten her tongue out for having been so unnecessarily communicative. Her embarrassment must surely have added suspicion to this woman's mind.

"Do you know what these two packets contain?" Mrs. MacTurk queried sharply.

"No, I don't," she said at last. "I only know that Mr. Trevor had a moment of consciousness last night—and asked me to fetch them both to him."

"Then," said the older woman shrewdly, and with disconcerting directness, "if you don't know what they contain, how comes it that the envelopes have been opened and the seals broken?"

"I'm sure I can't gratify your curiosity on the subject," she said sheepishly. "You yourself ought to know."

The sudden reddish glow which thereupon spread itself across Mrs. MacTurk's broad face warned April that she had gone a shade too far.

"No doubt Jack opened the envelopes himself," she supplemented hurriedly. "But anyway, it doesn't matter."

Mrs. MacTurk rose slowly to her feet. "I do know what one of the envelopes contained," she said. "And I don't think I ought to allow it out of my keeping until poor young Mr. Trevor is well enough to come for it himself."

She held a hand out, as though demanding its return.

April in a dilemma, did not know which packet to relinquish. She had immediate use for the twenty-five hundred dollars. . . . it would be hard to part with the roots well with wet soil. When transferring it to its permanent bed keep the roots covered with a wet sack, by all means protect the roots from the sun. deeper, say one inch, than it was before, as it's liable to heave some the first winter. If possible use fine soil next to (under and over roots) then the surface soil and lastly the sub soil which is of poorer quality than the earth firmly around roots and leave the rest to Nature.

Speaking of books and authors, I must confess to be a little ignorant. I love music and poetry, but have to be driven to read prose, though the rest of the family are regular book fiends. When I do read prose I prefer the history of people and countries, telling the ways and customs of people. Recently I was reading about the Maori or early inhabitants of New Zealand. Among other things was their method of cooking, from which I advanced moderns get our fireless cooker. They adopted a plan of heating stones and putting their food away with them in a hole in the earth, covering with dampened leaves and filling the hole with stones. A very palatable food was cooked thus.

Ans.—Your letter is very informing. Come again soon. Many thanks for mite.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I am again to bother you, but Rover wanted the words of a song, so I wrote them down from Memory.

Well, Paddy, your letter was a change from some of the letters I have had lately, such as how should I do my hair neat and tidy. How long to wear my dresses (till they're worn out). Really, I think anybody with sense would know without bothering me with such questions.

Miss Grey, but she is such an obliging young lady, so now I'll ask her a question myself. Can you hand money or parcels in at the office?

Well, I think everybody must have their feet covered now, as we don't see quite so many asking for the S. F. P. Now, I must run away, as the bobby is pulling at my arm and saying "me-me for the pen; also the kettle is boiling. So come along, Miss Grey and Boxes for a cup of tea with me."

A DEVONSHIRE DIMPLING.

Stocking-Foot Patterns.

Dear Miss Grey.—Am sending by this mail 25 stocking-foot patterns, 4 crepe patterns, and enough cotton squares to make 30 satchets for Thistle. Thought perhaps you could make use of the patterns. Will cut more as soon as I can get time. Did you find out Kiddle Cow-boy's address yet, Miss Grey? Please forward her my letter if you can. Some time, Miss Grey, when you have some satchets on hand please send me two.

No hurry, however. Inclosed find mite. FUZZ WUZZ.

Ans.—Satchets, yours with pleasure. Thank you very much for patterns, which are a great help to me, also for mite. Have forwarded your letter.

Dear Miss Grey.—How does this weather suit you? I guess it is spring for sure now. Last Sunday wasn't much like it, though, was it?

How do the readers like "For Love

"though it's what I should have done myself, if you'd only give me time! I know this intrusion must appear extraordinary to you—but I've been so horribly upset and anxious about poor Jack—Dr. Armstrong is quite anxious over me—afraid I'll have a nervous breakdown."

She clasped the packets tighter and made a movement toward the door. Now was the time to exit gracefully. "I'll tell my sister at the hospital about you, miss," went on the other woman. "But, of course, you must have met her."

"Who? Where?" April wheeled sharply round. What bomb was that? "Why, Miss Crowell—Mr. Trevor's nurse," came the quick answer.

The blood ebbed suddenly from April's face. And Mrs. MacTurk was sharp enough to note that fact.

"Is she your sister?" murmured the girl.

"Yes—and so devoted to her patient," said Mrs. MacTurk, still with her eyes on April's face. There was some queer mystery here—it must be carefully unravelled. She would tell her whole tale to her sister, and get her verdict. Hospital nurses were shrewd. . . . and Miss Crowell had excellent judgment.

"Good-bye," said April, nodding coolly, with returned composure. "Perhaps we may meet again."

And as the door swung shut behind her and she hurried down the street toward the hotel, April frowned worriedly.

"I'll give the whole tale to that precious Miss Crowell," she told herself, "and repeat all that I said about coming at Dr. Armstrong's request. . . . I'll have to spin a yarn to him at once, and get him on my side. . . . I wonder if she knows about Jack's $2,500? . . . I'd better wire poor Charlie the $1,500 that he needs at once. . . ."

This particular mission was carefully accomplished, and April was soon travelling the privacy of her own room at the hotel, scanning Jack Trevor's will with angry eyes.

For one wild moment she thought of substituting her own name for that of Betty Gordon's.

"But, of course, it wouldn't do. . . . If Jack's going to die, I'll try to hurry on a marriage with him, and then his property will be mine. . . . anyhow, this ridiculous will must be destroyed!"

She held a lighted match to the corner of the stiff paper.

The document soon blazed up. And when at last it lay a blackened heap before her, April laughed aloud unpleasantly.

"Farewell to Betty Gordon's riches!" she sneered, pressing the burnt embers with her heel.

deeper, say one inch, than it was before, as it's liable to heave some the first winter. If possible use fine soil next to (under and over roots) then the surface soil and lastly the sub soil which is of poorer quality than the earth firmly around roots and leave the rest to Nature.

Speaking of books and authors, I must confess to be a little ignorant. I love music and poetry, but have to be driven to read prose, though the rest of the family are regular book fiends. When I do read prose I prefer the history of people and countries, telling the ways and customs of people. Recently I was reading about the Maori or early inhabitants of New Zealand. Among other things was their method of cooking, from which I advanced moderns get our fireless cooker. They adopted a plan of heating stones and putting their food away with them in a hole in the earth, covering with dampened leaves and filling the hole with stones. A very palatable food was cooked thus.

Ans.—Your letter is very informing. Come again soon. Many thanks for mite.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I am again to bother you, but Rover wanted the words of a song, so I wrote them down from Memory.

Well, Paddy, your letter was a change from some of the letters I have had lately, such as how should I do my hair neat and tidy. How long to wear my dresses (till they're worn out). Really, I think anybody with sense would know without bothering me with such questions.

Miss Grey, but she is such an obliging young lady, so now I'll ask her a question myself. Can you hand money or parcels in at the office?

Well, I think everybody must have their feet covered now, as we don't see quite so many asking for the S. F. P. Now, I must run away, as the bobby is pulling at my arm and saying "me-me for the pen; also the kettle is boiling. So come along, Miss Grey and Boxes for a cup of tea with me."

A DEVONSHIRE DIMPLING.

Stocking-Foot Patterns.

Dear Miss Grey.—Am sending by this mail 25 stocking-foot patterns, 4 crepe patterns, and enough cotton squares to make 30 satchets for Thistle. Thought perhaps you could make use of the patterns. Will cut more as soon as I can get time. Did you find out Kiddle Cow-boy's address yet, Miss Grey? Please forward her my letter if you can. Some time, Miss Grey, when you have some satchets on hand please send me two.

No hurry, however. Inclosed find mite. FUZZ WUZZ.

Ans.—Satchets, yours with pleasure. Thank you very much for patterns, which are a great help to me, also for mite. Have forwarded your letter.

Dear Miss Grey.—How does this weather suit you? I guess it is spring for sure now. Last Sunday wasn't much like it, though, was it?

How do the readers like "For Love of Betty?" I don't care much for it. I liked the one before, though.

Miss Grey, will you please forward the inclosed letter to "Irish Paddy from Limerick." Thanking you in advance, I am as B4.

Ans.—Have forwarded your letter, Morning Star.

Dear Cynthia Grey.—I am inclosing a few pieces of cotton for Thistle, also a stamped self-addressed envelope, and would you be so kind to send me a satchel when they are sent in.

Enjoy reading the page, especially the discussion on books, but have not noticed any mention of books written by two of my favorite authors, namely: Wm. J. Locke and Jeffrey Farnol. Will some of the "gifted" ones tell us what they think of these two?

Inclosed find dime for S. C. H. F. Will sign as before, although I did not see my other letter in print.

ANOTHER MOTHER.

Ans.—Many thanks for cotton, also for hospital dime.

Dear Miss Grey.—I'll try not to take up too much space. I would like some snapdragon seed, or if there is any other kind please find sure have been having a lovely spring here, and suppose everyone is busy housecleaning. We have a little painting done, but have not much done yet. I am inclosing a few crochet patterns, also mite for S. C. H.

Ans.—Pleased to mail seeds, Pink Lily. Many thanks for patterns and hospital mite.

Dear Miss Grey.—Are not these days fine? I feel like grabbing my spade and hoe and begin gardening. The readers seem very interested in books. I am a book lover also. Say, can you send a few flower seeds, if it is not too much trouble? I would like a correspondant. Someone (13), my own age. I live in the country and I sure pity the people that are robbed of the beauty of nature just now. I was born on April Fool's day, but please don't think I am one. Please find inclosed mite for fund, and also self-addressed envelope for seeds. My address is with Miss Miss Grey, anyone who cares to write.

Ans.—Am mailing you a few seeds. Many thanks for hospital mite.

BULLETIN.

In sending for a satchel kindly inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, or it will be impossible for me to send you one.

Dear Miss Grey.—I am sorry, but I failed to inclose mite for S. C. H. last time I wrote. I am inclosing stamps for sure this time.

I saw where a reader (I think it was Mrs. Ell Gee) wanted a book of the "hair-raising" type.

If she reads "The Slayer of Souls" by Robert W. Chambers she will have all the horrors she wishes. I have just finished reading "The Secret Witness" by George Gibbs, and "A Daughter of the Land" by Gene Strat

SportdomBehave Yourself Won
Derby Turf Classic
By a Scant NeckBlack Servant, a Stablemate Flashed in Second—Latter Did Pace-Making and Looked Like Winner at One Time.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8.—Behave Yourself, a Kentucky-bred three-year-old, is the winner of the Kentucky Derby.

A little brown colt, a son of Marathon and Miss Ringlets, from the stable of E. R. Bradley of Lexington, Ky., flashed across the wire a winner by a scant neck after a thrilling race with Black Servant, his stable mate, while a record-breaking crowd of 60,000 spectators stood on tip-toes at the Churchill Downs course this afternoon. The crowd was the biggest that ever saw the running of the blue ribbon event for three-year-olds.

Black Servant, which acted as pace-maker for nearly the entire distance, finished in second place, while Prudery, the crack filly from the Harry Payne Whitney stable, which, coupled with Tryster, was the public choice, pulled up in third place, six lengths behind the leader. Behave Yourself ran the one mile and a quarter in 2:01 1-5 over a track lightning fast.

The race, carrying $50,000 in added money—the richest prize for three-year-olds in the world—was worth $38,450 net to the winner, and $10,000 to the second Bradley entry, so the Lexington turfman won approximately $50,000 in addition to several big wagers.

Although the Whitney entry—Prudery and Tryster—were heavy favorites, the Bradley horses were given good support in the pari-mutuel betting. A $2 ticket paid $19.50, odds of nearly 10 to 1. Place and show money on the Bradley entry were $12 and $5, respectively. Prudery paid $3.50 to show.

After a delay of ten minutes at the post, due to the bad acting of Leonardo II, the great throng in the stand began to buzz with excitement of the getaway. Uncle Velo, Black Servant and Muskallongue were the first three horses away, and this was the position when they passed the stand for the first time. Behave Yourself was ninth at the start.

When the horses swept down the back stretch, Muskallongue had faded, and Leonardo II, moved up to almost even terms with Black Servant, the leader, with Tryster and Prudery two lengths back, but coming up. As they swung into the straight for the stretch turn Prudery went a bit wild, while Behave Yourself and Black Servant were seen to move up ahead rapidly from the inside. As the horses turned into the stretch, an eighth from the wire, the Bradley horses were on nearly even terms, with the rest of the field trailing and nothing fast enough to endanger the result.

As the field shot into the final yards of the race, Black Servant responded to a shaking-up and looked like a winner, but the early pace had apparently told for Behave Yourself, running strong and unflatteringly, shot ahead of his stable mate to victory. The crowd, which had been in breathless suspense for the first half of the race, burst into a roar of cheers and the running of the forty-seventh derby had passed into history.

The defeated field finished in this order: Prudery, six lengths behind Black Servant; Thyster, fourth by half a length. Careful, fifth by four lengths. Coyne, sixth by four lengths. Leonardo II, seventh. Uncle Velo, eighth. Bon Homme, ninth. Planet, tenth. Star Votter, eleventh. Muskallongue, twelfth.

Grey Lag and Firebrand were scratched, leaving a field of twelve for the start. Behave Yourself was ridden by Jockey Thompson, a former stable boy, who never before has piloted a horse in an important event.

Jockey Lyke, the crack rider of the Prudery stable, was told that he would be rewarded with $5,000 if he piloted his horse to victory, and he was given the choice of the mounts, choosing Black Servant. Owner Bradley was the first to congratulate the youthful Thompson on his brilliant victory, and it is probable that the $5,000 will go to him.

After the race Governor Morrow of Kentucky summoned Owner Bradley to the judges' stand to receive congratulations on the victory of a Kentucky-bred colt over the best horses of the East.

A warm sun blazing from clear sky made conditions perfect for the running of the derby. What the management of the course figured was the greatest crowd that ever gathered for the event. The huge stands and swarmed over the paddock and infield. The attendance was estimated at 60,000, with a gate of between $300,000 and $350,000. The crowd, arriving as early as 9 o'clock, and there was a struggling mass of humanity standing shoulder to shoulder when the horses were called to the post for the first race.

Time was when every London fan pulled for the Pittsburgh Pirates to win. Interest waned when George "Mooney" Gibson, London's only major league product, left the smoky ship and took to other seas. This year that interest is back, two-fold, and it will be intensified with the appearance of the Pirates themselves here this afternoon in person and persons, from the chief himself down to the humblest and middest-manager recruit. Twenty-two players in all will come here this afternoon with the major leaguers, and Londoners will have a chance to get a peep at the whole Pittsburgh bag of tricks—a collection that has surprised the most optimistic of dopesters and given the surething clubs of the senior organization something more to think of than what they'll do with the 1921 world's series coin.

Fresh from seven victories on the long tortuous journey from Delaware, O., Buzz Wetzel and his but slightly-altered outfit will be making their first 1921 bow to the London fans. Having strengthened the suspicion of last year that London had gathered the strongest and one of the best-balanced minor league clubs ever issued with spike shoes, the Mint League champs will be showing everything in their repertoire to keep a clean slate for the opening of their own season tomorrow against the Saginaw Aces.

Want Old Battery. Manager Gibson's line-up does not include himself, but the majority of the fans will want to see the Smoky City pilot in the game with his old battery mate, Babe Adams, even if it is only for a flitting. The Babe, whose marvelous come-back from the minors at 37 years of age has set the major league precedents at odds and ends, is sure to haul a few innings anyway.

Few trills will be seen in the opening ceremonies, as the Pirate manager is strong for 98 per cent ball stuff and none of the denatured parade band.

However, it is not likely the distinguished visitor will get away without something happening in the presentation line, especially with the Rotarians and Kiwanis there in force.

All that is needed is good weather to make this one of the biggest days in London's baseball history. It has all the necessary elements to make it that.

Not All the Glare.

The big leaguers won't get all the glare either, as there is a lot of speculation about the few new players Buzz has, and the fans are awaiting the opportunity of welcoming back old Joe, Cricht, Shay, Big Ed, Bill, the First Kuhn, George "Lefty" Carmen and "Old Twenty" Delotte of the old gang. Advance notices of Stutz, the comedy third-sacker, indicate that the presence of big leaguers won't weigh his irrepressible self down to a shadow, so the fans are likely to get something good from the north side of the diamond this afternoon.

President Geo. Maines To Give Kids Ball Outfits

FLINT, May 7.—To the city having the largest opening-day attendance in the Mint League Tuesday, May 10, President George H. Maines has announced that he will present baseball outfits and other athletic equipment to the youth of that city, instead of presenting a silver loving cup to the club, which has been the custom on opening days in the past.

It is Maines' idea that the equipment will be of much more value in interesting the youth in the national game than if silver cups were presented to the club, only to be laid away on a dusty trophy shelf.

GALT CHAMPS BEAT

This Week Puts Arena Squarely
Up To Social Clubs of the City

Preliminary Canvass and Results Will Determine Fate of Project Largely—Alerts Said To Have $2,000 in Sight.

This week will mark the biggest effort of the social clubs towards getting the arena subscription list started well on its way.

Subscription blanks have been issued all the club secretaries and these will be called in at the end of the week. It has been stated, but not officially that the Alerts have $2,000 in sight at present, so if that is the case, the rest will have a real mark to shoot at.

All the clubs are enthusiastic and the project has been put before most of the clubs by George Little of the central arena committee, and each time he has been promised lots of support.

The canvass of the clubs will end on May 15 and the amount raised by that time will determine whether or not London is to have an arena. There is no named portion which these clubs must donate, but there is an approximate idea of what they should produce. These clubs, composed of young men who will buy far the greatest part of the patronage of an arena are the barometer which will indicate how solid is the demand for the structure.

Great War Vets ran up a big total against Machine Gunners, who seem to have lost some of their spare parts the last two games.

ALLIES READY FOR ADVANCE

Belgian Cavalry and French Troops Occupy Strategic Points.

WESEL, Prussia, May 8.—Belgian cavalry has occupied strategic points east and west of the Rhine near Wesel, Rheinburg and Dinslaken, in readiness for an advance with the extreme left wing of the army, which may possibly occupy the Ruhr region of Germany. French troops since last night have occupied various points east of Rattlingen and Andernach. Their advanced outposts are now within 20 kilometres of Essen.

REGRET STAND OF PREMIER DRURY

Fort Frances Businessmen Are Anxious Over Timber Situation.

FORT FRANCES, Ont., May 8.—By Canadian Press.—There is considerable feeling in some quarters here over the alleged threat by Premier Drury to cancel the timber licenses of the Shelving-Clark Company, and more than one hundred business men on Friday night waited upon the premier in a special session, to emphasize the serious effect upon the town and district of such a course.

It is claimed that the cancellation of the Shelving-Clark licenses would involve the elimination of the largest industry in the Fort Frances district, great loss to business men and unemployment for hundreds of wage earners. It is held by some that the government would be given whatever sentiment exists favoring the creation of a new province in Northern Ontario by drastic action in connection with the Shelving-Clark Company. The town council unanimously adopted a resolution regretting the stand taken by the Government of Ontario and pointing out the withdrawal from the district of this company which pays annually two million dollars in wages would be fatal to the prospects of the Rainy River District, and at the present time an absolute calamity.

The clerk of the municipality was instructed to call a mass meeting at which it is hoped Hon. Messrs. Bowman and Mills may be present, and at which the people of the district may give expression of their opinion.

BLENHEIM CORN IS GOING TO GERMANY

Splendid Kent County Products Winning International Recognition.

BLENHEIM, May 8.—Sending seed corn from Blenheim to Germany is something new here, yet it is being done. T. C. Warwick, long recognized as an authority on seed corn in Ontario, and who for a number of years has been shipping extensively to Eastern Ontario, to points in United States and elsewhere, has received an order for seed corn from a large firm in Danzig, Germany, for experimental purposes. The corn was carefully prepared and forwarded.

No part of America has a better reputation for seed corn than Western Ontario, and the district around Blenheim holds its place with any of them. Mr. Warwick has been supplying demands for Kent County corn, and shipped many carloads. The prices were satisfactory, considering that the prices of other farm produce were not as high as in some other years, but farmers who had the right class of seed received good returns for their crop.

The Lake Shore marsh on which the seed corn is being raised is in good shape. Reports coming from the Kent County on-line state that the planting was much earlier than usual, and many acres of onions are up well and look most promising. In fact, the growers have already been able to cultivate them so far as they advanced. Should the prices be satisfactory this fall it appears that there will be good money in the onion business for these hustling producers.

BOILS SO BAD HAD TO GIVE UP WORK

From the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race. All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.

Boils are simply caused by the bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

RAILWAYMEN CLAIM THEY ARE DOUBLY TAXED

Allege Unfairness On the Part of the Government in Case.

ST. THOMAS, May 8.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen is appealing to the local, federal and provincial representatives to take up the complaint of this section of railway employees that the Government is dealing unfairly with the members with regard to their liability for income tax.

The employees say they are paying a double income tax on a single income, and are refused the deduction of the sum of money spent while away from home, while engaged in the railway service. Some times this amount reaches $25 a month.

The men object to paying an income tax to the federal authorities, as well as to the municipality on a single income. Every trip the men make they have to pay for board and lodging, and these items should be given some consideration by the department. The men will demand that their case be put before the department, and that the circumstances complained of be brought to the attention of the Government.

Hydro-Electric Leading. The gas department has 3,700 customers, and the hydro-electric 4,048. As competing municipal utilities the hydro-electric is leading by a substantial financial majority.

Robert Johnson, a M. C. R. veteran engineer, 58 Woodworth avenue, of 57 years standing, was retired on May 1. Mr. Johnson started work on the old Great Western at Fort Erie too long ago to remember. Nor does he long remember that his friends will be bringing around the floral wreaths for some years yet.

SUNDAY CARS PROVE POPULAR WITH THOUSANDS

Big Crowds Were Taken To the Park and Around Town.

ST. THOMAS, May 8.—The Sunday car service in its inauguration this afternoon was given a fairly spontaneous patronage. There was every evidence that the departure from a stay-at-home Sabbath to a trip to the semi-rural districts and Pinafore Park had the approval of a big crowd of people.

The cars were crowded all the afternoon by folks bound for the park, the cemetery and the countryside beyond them. Between four and five thousand people were carried, and Manager Johnson looks to crowded cars as soon as the weather gets warmer, and the service becomes more extensively known throughout the city. The week-day schedule was given, and there was no mishap. With weather on Sundays suggestive of a trip to the park and countryside, the manager looks upon the venture as a financial success.

Mothers' Day. Mothers' Day was generally observed in the city churches today by large congregations. Special sermons and music appropriate to the interesting religious festival marked a series of impressive and effective exercises. In some of the churches mothers' devotionals were held, and the music and talk over the services of the choir.

Trinity Church Bowling Club has elected Rev. W. J. Andrew honorary president; L. W. Parsons, president; Hobson Love, vice-president; C. W. Turville, secretary-treasurer.

Hitch Bros. Co. Assigns. Hitch Brothers Company of Canada, manufacturers of paper-handing machinery, wooden toys and novelties, have assigned to E. A. Smith, St. Thomas, official trustee, under the bankruptcy act. The business is about a year old in St. Thomas, the founder, Mr. Hitch, coming here from Windsor. The failure will throw some men out of employment. The liabilities of the company have not been determined yet. The assets are mostly machinery, stock on hand and book accounts. The creditors will meet on May 17. The factory is located in the block corner of Talbot and St. George streets.

Wins Diamond Ring. Miss Ethel Gibson, Hespeler, who is visiting friends in the city, was the winner of the diamond ring offered for raffle by the local humane society. F. J. Regan, M. C. R. yard conductor, left for Toledo today to attend the convention of the Yardmasters' Association, and B. P. Cascardien, general yardmaster, M. C. R., went to St. Louis Saturday night. Mr. Cascardien will also represent the Detroit division.

HEBREWS HELPING TO RESTORE PALESTINE

Ten Thousand Attend Big Demonstration in Toronto Last Evening.

TORONTO, May 8.—One of the biggest demonstrations ever seen among the Jews of this city was that which wound up the three-day visit of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the Zionist movement of the world, in the arena tonight, when fully ten thousand persons were present. It was not only a demonstration of regard for the distinguished visitor, but there was a practical side to the meeting, which contributed a large sum of money toward the fund which is to make possible the reconstruction and repopulation of Palestine. A large number of Jews from outside points were at the meeting.

On Saturday Dr. Weizmann was entertained at lunch at Hart House by Sir Robert Falconer, and in the evening was banqueted by the local Hebrews. On both occasions he delivered addresses. Today he lunched at Hamilton, inaugurating a campaign to raise $50,000 in that city for the re-establishment of the Jews in Palestine.

Dr. Weizmann left tonight for Chicago.

Governor of Jail Enabled To Frustrate Scheme by Timely Tip.

TORONTO, May 7.—Another concerted plan to escape custody on the part of the men held at the jail for the Basher case, was frustrated by Governor of the Jail Basher.

According to information which has come to the governor this time, the attempt was to be made when the men were in the cells at the jail, waiting their trials.

When Arthur Conley was searched following the last attempt to escape by Heber and Cleaver, Governor Basher found a small nail file cleverly concealed in a piece of his clothing. The nail file, it is inferred, was to be used in "slipping" the handcuffs, either while in the cells or in the corridors, just prior to reaching their cell.

Additional constables will handle the four men when they appear in the city hall, and the men continue to be housed in different sections.

HUGE PROFIT MADE BY COAL DEALERS

Halifax Firms Get Almost Twice As Much As Miners.

OTTAWA, May 7.—(By Canadian Press).—The cost of producing coal in the Nova Scotia mines is in the neighborhood of $5 per ton, according to evidence given before the special parliamentary committee on fuel resources this morning, by representatives of the United Mine Workers. The miners received $2.50 out of that $5 total. The mine operators are asking the Canadian National Railways for $7 per ton for coal at the mines on the basis of the short ton, which gives the operators the advantage of 240 pounds on each ton. Halifax coal dealers, selling to householders, make a spread of $4.25 for taking the coal off the cars and delivering it to the consumers, complained of wretched living conditions at the mines, and of low wages made worse by lengthy periods of idleness.

BURNLEY WINS THE SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON, May 8.—(By Canadian Associated Press).—Association football closed yesterday, and Burnley, as was long since foreshadowed, finished champions of the first division of the football league, while Derby County and Bradford are relegated to the second division, being superseded by Birmingham and Cardiff.

Crystal Palace, with as fine a winning record as any club, has earned the right to enter the second division.
