STICKERS SPREAD WORD OF CAMPAIGN

Three subscriptions of $1,000 each and a flood of smaller subscriptions marked the opening in London Sunday night of the campaign for the Beck memorial endowment of the Queen Alexandra sanatorium.

A public appeal by radio was broadcast from Capitol theatre, and although the speakers made no direct request for donations, heavy advance subscriptions were received immediately following the broadcasting of the speeches.

The first $1,000 subscription came from Sir Vincent Meredith of Montreal, president of the Bank of Montreal, two others for $1,000 were announced from Philip Pocock and Gordon Ingram of London.

Cars Placarded.

This morning, through the co-operation of service station proprietors throughout the city, windshield stickers containing a brief announcement of the campaign dates are being affixed to hundreds of autos.

In very few cases was the consent of owners withheld, and the display on windshields will be a constant reminder throughout the week of the efforts being made to raise an adequate endowment fund for the sanatorium here as a memorial to the great work of Sir Adam Beck in helping sufferers from tuberculosis.

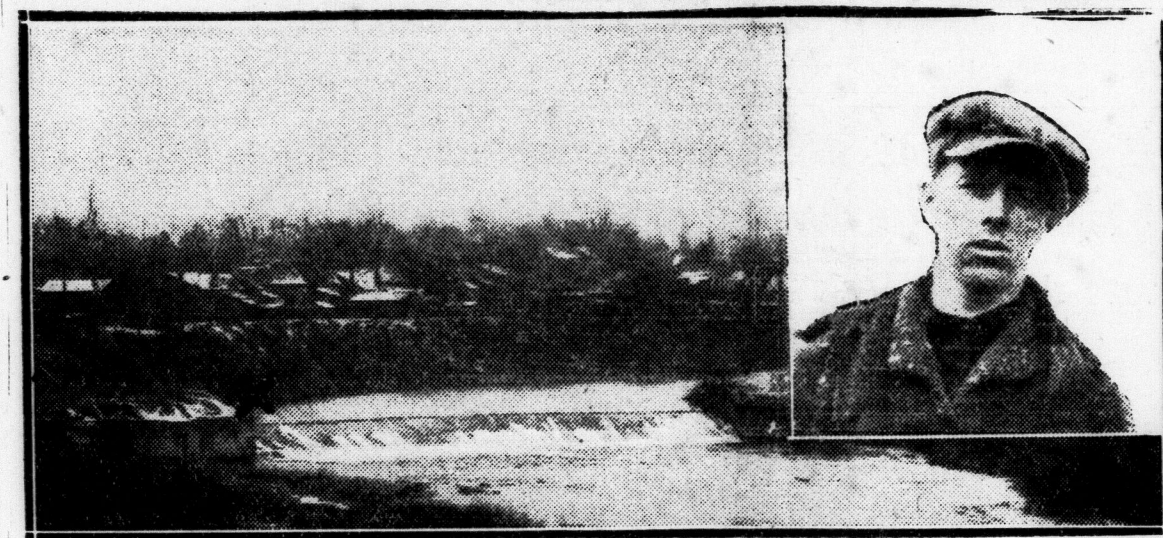

At last night's concert in the Capitol, Rev. Quintin Warner emphasized the importance of carrying on this work. We erect memorials, he stated, to perpetuate the memory and interest of our fellow-citizens and to stimulate others to follow their example and to take up the right kind of public service.

Beck's Finest Work.

Sir Adam Beck's finest achievement, he considered, was his tremendous undertaking for fighting the scourge of tuberculosis and by the proposed endowment of the sanatorium it is hoped to perpetuate for all time the interest and enthusiasm of this great man.

It is not only a London project. There is no part of the province that does not benefit by the work of the sanatorium.

Where Mystery Drowning Occurred

NO CHILD MISSING

Fire Chief Believes Body, If Any, Is Lodged Near Scene of Accident.

"I'm just as positive that a boy fell into the river at Hunt's dam on Saturday at noon as I am that I am talking to you," Seaford Ferguson, 221 Chester street, told Fire Chief Aitken this morning.

As a result of his statement another crew of four firemen commenced dragging operations below the dam this afternoon in an effort to locate the body of the 10-year-old youngster Ferguson claims to have seen blown off the cement abutment of the dam on Saturday.

There is no child missing from any London home, police officials state, and for that reason doubt is expressed that there really was a drowning.

However, in the face of the positive statement of Ferguson that "I saw the boy fall just as plainly as if I was standing beside him," the fire chief decided to take no chances and ordered the men back to the dam where they will endeavor to locate the body with grappling irons and hooks attached to long poles.

Body Not Gone.

Fire Chief Aitken scouts the theory that the body may have floated down the river.

"I don't think that is possible, even though the river is higher than usual," he said. "The current is all at the top of the water, and it would be quite easy for a body to be wedged in one of the numerous holes below the dam."

"I was inclined to doubt that there was a drowning, but after Ferguson's statement there was nothing left to do but send the men back again. They worked from Saturday noon till Sunday afternoon without a break, but will go over it all again. They may find something yet."

Mr. Ferguson today again related the accident as he saw it.

Sure He Saw Boy.

"I was across the river on Carfrae street, about 150 yards or more from the dam, when I saw the boy on the edge of the parapet," he declared.

"I was on horseback at the time, and when my horse tossed his head I looked up and saw what I thought was a boy of about 10 or 12 trying to regain his balance on the abutment."

"He teetered back and forward for a few seconds and then fell headlong to the side of the dam, and I saw him slip down into the churning waters and disappear. I galloped my horse along the street and stopped a truck driver. I asked him to telephone the fire department, and I then galloped over the Ridout street bridge, around through the hydro property to the dam."

"Is there any possibility that you may have been mistaken?" Ferguson was asked.

"My own eyes wouldn't deceive me," replied Ferguson. "If it wasn't a child, it was a very small man. You will remember that a child was

Three Drowned In Nine Years

Hunt's dam has been the scene of three drowning accidents in the past nine years, residents of the vicinity state. The last drowning was two years ago, when the little 10-year-old boy was swept to his death at this point. The deep water above the dam makes a popular skating rendezvous in winter.

lost not long ago for several days before his parents claimed him. It may be another such case. I saw the boy overbalance and fall into the water. There wasn't another person near him that I could see. He was all by himself. I couldn't have been mistaken."

River Is Swollen.

Five ft. of the dam since Saturday morning. The current is swift at this point and the water churned to foam.

The south branch of the Thames is full of deep holes, and it might be some time before a body caught in one of these holes would come to the surface, in the opinion of firemen.

The cavern contains a diamond grotto of stalactite and a polar grotto with walls of solid ice. There is also a titanic grotto more than 150 feet high. Excavations in the cavern, which dates back to the period of primeval formation, have revealed the jawbone of a prehistoric horse with a trunk.

Port Stanley Feels Storm Which Swept Lake Last Night—
Fishing Boats Idle.

Associated Press Despatch.
Buffalo, Nov. 16.—Three men and a woman were drowned when three barges broke loose from their tug near the entrance to the Buffalo harbor early today. A 70-mile-an-hour gale drove the barges against the breakwater.

Two of the barges, the Jerry V. Petrie and the S. V. Petrie, were in tow of the tug Barryton from Cleveland for Buffalo. The barge Annie J. O'Connor was also lost.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dahl, of Tonawanda, were drowned when they were swept off the Jerry V. Petrie. Victor Jensen, address unknown, was lost with the S. V. Petrie. An unidentified man was drowned when the third barge was wrecked.

The wrecked barges are piled up just outside the harbor breakwater and Captain Daly of the coast guard said there was no possibility that any of the persons aboard had escaped.

The waters of Lake Erie were whipped into a frenzy all last night by the gale and this morning the wind was still blowing at a 50-mile-an-hour clip.

TEN SAILORS RESCUED.

Associated Press Despatch.
Oneida, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Ten sailors were rescued yesterday after a night of horror on two barges which are being slowly battered to pieces in the worst storm that has swept Oneida Lake in two years. Four canal boats, with their cargoes and tugs, valued at $100,000, were sunk off Sylvan Beach during the height of the gale which drove them on the sand shoals late Friday afternoon.

Rescue work, impossible in the darkness, was renewed at dawn when it was seen the barges were in danger. Frank and Penthus Dwyer, of Sylvan Beach, father and son, volunteered to brave the waves, and in three trips to the battered craft landed their men. Two seamen were brought to shore on the first two trips, and three others on the third trip. Five other sailors were rescued in the same manner.

SEES HIGH AT PORT.

Special to The Advertiser.
Port Stanley, Nov. 16.—While Port Stanley felt the sting of the fierce storm which swept Lake Erie last night, no damage of any consequence was reported here this morning. Seas are still high and are sweeping over the breakwater.

The fishing tugs have been idle for two days, but the weather is expected to clear sufficiently to allow them to go out to their nets tomorrow. Only one or two gas boats braved yesterday's bad weather.

The storm was an unusually severe one and swept the lake from end to end. W. H. McPherson, who operates the tugs Walter Mac, the Donald Mac and the Morgan, and H. Taylor, master of the Cisco, told The Advertiser this morning.

German Aid In Sub Search
Lauded As Locarno Fruit

England Shows Eager Interest In Supreme Test Facing Secret
Diving Apparatus—Electrically-Lighted Machine To Be Dropped at Oil Spot in Channel.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 16.—The people of London are particularly interested today in the fact that German deep sea divers are aiding in the attempts to locate the British monitor-submarine M-1, which last week made a dive in the English channel with 68 officers and men on board and failed to come to the surface again.

Whether it is a business proposition on the part of the Germans or voluntary service is not quite clear, but some persons prefer to regard it as "a striking act of humanity and worthy of being considered the first fruits of the Locarno pact."

The newspapers today are filled with descriptions and pictures of the wonderful apparatus of which the Germans are the sole possessors. The machine weighs half a ton, and is equipped with an electric light and a telephone.

The area, some twelve miles off Start Point, where oil rose to the surface of the water on Saturday, seemingly indicating the probable location of the submarine, has been marked by buoys, and it is here that the first attempt to find the submersible will be made.

It is understood that this will be the first time the German apparatus has been tried in the open sea. All previous tests have been made in the still waters of an inland lake.

The locating of the M-1 is considered problematical, as she may have travelled some distance under water before she became incapacitated, or may have drifted with the currents in the channel since she sank.

Naval officials say they will not be surprised if the Germans locate one or more of their own submarines, sunk by the British in the neighborhood where the M-1 went down after they had taken toll of British ship pings.

CITY WORKERS SPREAD COMMUNIST DOCTRINES

Paper Containing Fiery Articles Favored by London Leaders To Bend Minds of Children Toward the Principles of Lenin in Russia.

In all likelihood the children attending the city's Communist Sunday school will before very long have their own publication, similar to the organ called Our Dawn, now being distributed among the children of the Winnipeg schools, in the opinion of Albert Graves, a prominent London worker in the cause of communism.

"This paper is the best means we know to make the minds of the children tend in the way in which we want them to," said Mr. Graves. "It is before youngsters reach the age of ten that their minds are most receptive, and this is the main reason why this pamphlet is being distributed in Winnipeg."

"Such measures are intended to give the children a gradually increasing knowledge of the aims of our movement, so that they may grow into men and women who will be capable of communistic leaders in the years to come."

The Western Paper.

The Western paper is printed by the "Winnipeg Young Pioneers," a branch of the Communist party of Canada, and is edited and composed of articles written by boys under 18. It is not a pretentious work, but is mimeographed from typewritten sheets on newspaper of about foils-cap size, and appears at irregular intervals.

The first issue makes brief announcements as to the activities of the pioneer "Patrols," which are evidently organized along the same lines as the boy scouts. The young members are urged to pass on the paper to their school fellows as often as possible. The publication refers to the activities of the "Karl Marx Patrol" and the "Lenin Patrol."

A fiery illustrated article by the first apostle of the New Dawn, who signs himself "Paul," deals with Besco—the British Empire Steel Corporation of Nova Scotia—and the coal miners' strike in the United States. "Paul" would have the miners of Canada and the United States unite to do battle with the "octopus."

An editorial says the Pioneers' membership has doubled in the last two months.

Urged To Be Bolshevik.

The articles published in Our Dawn indicate a dislike for religious teachings, and the slogan of the Young Pioneers is to be, "Every school our fortress—Let each be a Bolshevik in deed as well as in word."

Mr. Graves explains that the Communists of the dominion have sent one young Canadian, Stewart Smith of Toronto, to Moscow for a special university course dealing with the promotion of communistic work. He will return at the end of two years to spread this doctrine strictly as it has been laid down by Lenin in Russia.

RUSSIANS MOWED DOWN BY CHANG MUTINEERS

White Brigade Is Fired Upon
From the Rear—Majority of 3,000 Killed.

Associated Press Despatch.
Tsing Tao, China, Nov. 16.—Martial Chang Tso-Lin's fifth Shantung division, becoming mutinous yesterday, fired from the rear on the Russian white brigade attached to Chang's forces. It is reported that the majority of the Russians were killed.

The Russians were endeavoring to stem the advance of Marshal Wu Pei Fu's alliance forces when fired on. The wounded lay without medical aid until foreign doctors from Tsinanfu daringly entered the fighting area and brought them out.

Most of the Fengtien Manchurian troops in Shantung are natives of Shantung, and disinterested observers say it would not be surprising if the whole population is said strongly to favor the alliance.

The Russian brigade fired on by the mutineers numbered 3,000, and included an armored car party, all the members of which are said to have been killed.

PENZANCE FINDS BOTTLED MESSAGE

Londoner's Note Bobs Up On English Coast After Four Months in Atlantic.

The little harbor of Penzance, Cornwall, made famous as a pirate stronghold through Gilbert and Sullivan's opera "The Pirates of Penzance," was the safe refuge chosen by a bottle thrown overboard in mid-ocean last June by Albert M. Trick of London.

The message placed in the bottle by Mr. Trick was returned to him today by Alfred Paul of Penzance, who enclosed also a picture of the harbor and the spot where the bottle was picked up a few days out from shore.

"We were four days out home-ward bound when I decided to place a message in a bottle and throw it overboard," said Mr. Trick. "I hardly thought it would ever be returned to me. I asked the finder to notify me of time and place where the message was picked up."

"I imagine the bottle was carried north by the gulf stream, and eventually found its way into the English channel. It certainly had a long journey, for the bottle had been in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. Mr. Paul made sure I would know he found it, for part of his letter was penned on the original message. The message must have been in the water almost four months before it was found."

Members of Board To Officiate at Ceremony on Site of New School.

Members of the board of education will meet in special session tomorrow at 2 o'clock to turn the first sod of the new 20-room school to be built at the corner of Dundas street and Highchurch avenue.

John Fetherburgh, general contractor for the new building, is understood to be out of town, and thus he will not be present at the ceremony, which, as planned will not be an elaborate one.

Indications are that the weather will not be of the best, and it is likely that the ceremony will be postponed.

The school is being built to take care of the students of the present and future, and the public school at Pottersburg, and as such is to cost $255,000 or more.

AUSTRALIAN SENATE
MAJORITY DOUBTFUL

Government's Position Strengthened as Returns Mount, But Victory Not Conceded.

Associated Press Despatch.
Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 16.—The chief interest in the federal election at the present moment is the position of the senate, where both sides profess to be confident of victory.

The government's position with reference to Saturday's vote appears to be the more favorable of the two today, but it is difficult to estimate the effect the compulsory voting will have on the government's position when the returns are all in.

The Bruce government's supporters attribute their increased majority in the house of representatives to the new system of compulsory voting.

FENCE PROBLEM SOLVED IN LONDON

Board Considered Plan Too Costly Even For Protection of School Property.

The question of building high wire fences around the public schools, which is causing concern to the S. Thomas board of education, was discussed by the London board of education some time ago.

The S. Thomas board is considering it upon the suggestion of Trustee Dr. Bennett, who is out from the school grounds out to the streets from motor and other traffic.

The local board, however, considered the question in another connection, and that was keeping children and adults, too, out of the school grounds after school hours. For a time the general damage to school property through use of the school grounds in the late afternoon was considered the advisability of building fences around the school yards, but it was decided that this would be too costly and thus it had to be abandoned.

The board co-operates with the department of public safety in safeguarding the children as much as possible in going to and from school on the streets.

PROGRESS GOING ON IN BYRON RESEARCH

Queen Alexandra Sanatorium Leads in Tuberculosis Work in Dominion.

SUPPORT IS NEEDED

Burden Falls on the People of Ontario to Propagate Research Effort.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Nov. 16.—Announcement in Toronto a few days ago that British scientific endeavor has effected a hopeful advance in the world-wide struggle to cope with cancer renews interest in research work now being pursued by Canadian scientists.

The startling achievement of Dr. F. G. Banting in his discovery of the insulin treatment for diabetes stimulates the hope that eventually science will conquer all of the diseases that afflict mankind and particularly the scourge of tuberculosis.

The importance of research and the wisdom of lending encouragement to those engaged in practical scientific exploration is well attested by all medical history.

Edward Jenner, son of a vicar in Gloucestershire, England, took cognizance of the current belief of the peasantry that a person who had suffered from cowpox could not take smallpox. While smallpox ravaged the civilized world, desolating nations with seemingly uncontrollable plagues, Jenner, in 1789, inoculated a person with cowpox and he never again contracted smallpox and found he had become immune.

Six years later the English parliament voted him £10,000 and four years later still an additional £20,000 in recognition of the value of his services and the self-sacrificing zeal with which he had pursued the answer to a world health problem. Within a decade or so practically all of the world's population had officially approved vaccination, when Jenner died in 1823 smallpox had ceased to scourge the human race.

A German scientist labored for years in quest of a means by which to cope with one of the most horrible diseases. His tests and experiments, in the hundreds, brought failure, new endeavors, and at last success. The number of the fruitful experiment became the name by which remedy still is known to the medical world.

For 28 days a young physician remained at his office awaiting a call for his professional attention. In that whole disheartening period he called upon his faith in the medical world, meditation, Dr. Frederick Banting conceived the idea that led to the discovery of his now world-famous insulin for diabetes.

Thus throughout the world medical science strives ceaselessly for new and more effective means by which to resist the attack of all afflicting and to safeguard from infection those who may enjoy health's blessings.

Some day someone somewhere in the world will solve the riddle of it all. The Harveys, the Listers, the Jenners, the Pasteurs and the Bantings are not all dead, nor even yet have they been brought down to fame, in laboratories where they may find success and immortal honor.

It is likely that further prosecutions will result from the purchase of the minimum penalty.

Secretary Wood Writes in Reply to Letters From All Over the World.

The thoroughness with which inquiries received from outside points are answered by the chamber of commerce is illustrated in the correspondence in connection with a recent call for community publicity.

In one mail recently communications brought requests for information regarding London from Cape Town, South Africa, Spokane, Wash., and Belmont, Ontario.

Many letters of educational interest are also forwarded each day to pupils making inquiries for essays. Many also are received from teachers who ask information for teaching.

A sample forwarded to the Canadian Summer Resort Guide by Mr. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce contains complete information regarding the tourist camp and the Thames valley golf course. Also, with this under special cover, were photos of the municipally-owned and supervised tourist camp. As a result, London will be featured in next year's summer guide. An appraisal of London's fine drinking water, was also forwarded, with an appreciation by Peter McArthur in this regard.

The letter further gives details of the numerous beautiful drives around London.

G. R. Taggart, United States consul in London stated this morning that the exodus to the U. S. A. is continuing.

In one instance, he cited the case of a family of father and mother and two fine boys who have procured their visas to enter the U. S. A. The father is a mechanic and the sons have businesses of their own.

Mr. Taggart stated that many young farmers are leaving the country and seeking employment in American cities. He stated that for a while an average of one day was leaving the far many securing visas for passports via Detroit.

Their Labors Appreciated

EVANGELIST AND MISSION MARK ANNIVERSARIES. Evangelist T. L. Belcher and Mrs. Belcher of the York street mission, who have served faithfully for 30 years. Mr. Belcher was 81 on Sunday and the mission observed its 29th anniversary. A purse of gold was presented to the evangelist.

Evangelist Receives Purse At Anniversary of Mission

T. L. Belcher Honored For Thirty Years of Labor Among the People of London—Rev. G. W. Dewey and Rev. Bruce Hunter Give Address at Special Service.

Yesterday marked the 29th anniversary of the York street mission hall. The services were featured by the presentation of a purse of gold to Evangelist T. L. Belcher, who has been in charge of mission work here for 30 years, and who has become known as the "Bishop of York street."

The day was also the 31st birthday of the pastor. The anniversary service of the mission had been postponed since last April to allow for the presentation of the purse on his birthday.

Evangelist Belcher and Mrs. Belcher thanked the congregation for the gifts and kindnesses shown them during their 30 years of service at York street.

Many Led to God. "The mission has been blessed by God, and many have been led to God by the work of this mission," Mr. Belcher said. "It has always been a pleasure for me to do this work, and to be among you. My greatest hope is that I may be spared many years to remain with you as a friend and pastor of this mission of yours and mine here on York street."

George McGillivray, for many years a supporter of the mission, presided over the evening services. Rev. G. W. Dewey preached the sermon. Rev. Bruce Hunter of Metropolitan United church was the soloist, along with Mayor Wenige. Miss Lorna McGillivray gave several harp solos, and a choir sang appropriately.

Dr. Bruce Hunter congratulated the mission and the pastor on the anniversary and also on the work of redemption that was being carried on in the little hall.

Important studies are at present in progress on X-ray of the chest and on the presence and nature of immune substances in the blood of tuberculous patients. These studies are well worthy of support and continuation.

The late Sir Adam Beck was always most interested in the research department of the institute of each of his coming. I do not know the time, but I do know that there is a second coming.

REV. W. CARTHEW WILL ADDRESS LAYMEN HERE

Meeting of Middlesex Rural Deanery to Begin in Cronyn Hall Wednesday.

Three features stand out from the program as arranged for the autumn meeting of the rural deanery of East Middlesex to be held at Cronyn hall Wednesday night and Thursday of this week.

There will be a big rally of laymen on Wednesday night, at which the address will be given by W. T. Cartew, Walkerville, following which steps will be taken to organize the laymen in preparation for laymen's Sunday throughout the diocese on the last Sunday of the month.

Of importance also will be the address to be given on Thursday afternoon by Ven. Archdeacon G. E. Sage, D.D., St. George's church, West London, on the subject, "The new regulations as they affect religious teaching in public schools," a subject in which the deanery has been deeply interested.

Rev. R. Rev. David Williams, D.D., D.C.L., bishop of Huron, is intensely interested.

The third feature will be the addresses to be given Thursday afternoon and evening by Rev. V. C. Spencer, returned missionary from Nipigon, Japan.

Rev. A. L. G. Clarke, L.H., rector of St. John the Evangelist church, and rural dean, will preside at the meetings.

TRAVELLERS' HOME PLANNED FOR CITY

Drive For Funds Will Be Launched at Winter Gardens This Friday.

London Council, No. 630, United Commercial Travellers of America, is on Nov. 20 launching a program which has for its ultimate objective the building of a home in London for commercial travellers. This program, though an ambitious one for the local council, can without any question of doubt be carried through to a successful conclusion by the "knights of the grip" who make their headquarters and homes in London.

It is hoped that, with this project successfully carried through, other subordinate councils of the order throughout the dominion will not be left behind and that they, too, will inaugurate similar campaigns for U. C. T. homes in their jurisdictions.

The first activity for the creating of the fund will be held in the Winter Gardens, London, on Friday evening of this week, and will take the form of a eucharist and dance, at which it is expected that every member of the local council will be present with as many of his personal friends as he can induce to attend and help with the good work which the travellers are carrying on.

As the building of a U. C. T. home in London will be beneficial not only to the travellers, but will be of real importance to the city of London as a whole, the support of all the local service clubs is being asked for the first step in the campaign. Mayor Wenige and all members of the city council are also being asked for support, and with such support coming from the important city officials and service clubs it would seem that its initial success is assured.

London Council, No. 630, is the largest and most important of the eight councils making up the grand jurisdiction of Ontario and Quebec, and is in the happy position of being the leader of U. C. T. in Ontario and Canada and is as well the second largest council in the dominion of Canada. For several years past the membership has grown so rapidly that the present quarters are entirely inadequate for proper transaction of business and the new home is an absolute necessity. No definite plans have been laid as yet, as the size of the building will be largely controlled by the success of the building fund campaign, but in any event, as the building itself must be large enough to accommodate both the local council and the ladies' auxiliary, it will be a real addition to the city.

The entire population of the city is asked to get back of the travellers in their undertaking and support them at every opportunity. An invitation is extended to all citizens to attend the dance and eucharist at the Winter Gardens with their friends.

It would be a tremendous help to R. L. Stevenson and his committee if all wholesale houses and industrial plants in the city would broadcast the news of this social evening to all employees through bulletin boards and their usual weekly letters.

CHURCH BAZAAR IS DISGRACE TO RELIGION, PASTOR CLAIMS

Rev. R. E. McAlister Attacks Concerts, Socials and Rummage Sales in Urging Scriptural Giving—Only Free-Will Offerings Christian-Like.

The Pentecostal assembly of this city, which has made rapid progress for the past year, had a record day yesterday in the matter of giving.

It was a year since the assembly undertook the erection of their new church, and the pastor, Rev. R. E. McAlister, took advantage of the situation and gave the congregation a sermon on scriptural giving and financing of religious enterprises.

In his remarks, Mr. Alister stated: "We are coming to a time in the year when churches will resort to all kinds of discreditable and unscriptural methods of raising money for the church treasury. All kinds of concerts, bazaar, socials and rummage sales will be pulled off in the name of religion."

"Such things are a disgrace to any church and a slur and reflection on Christianity. Such offerings of God's people are a testimony to the meanness of the people who do not give according to their means, but according to their meanness. People would not think of bringing the disgrace on their own home that they will subject the church of God to."

"To illustrate: Suppose someone is in need of a new carpet. Dad has plenty of money, but instead of going down in his pocket for money he decides on a rummage sale. The boys will be sent around the neighborhood to gather up old clothes. There will be brought together a lot of old, cast-off things that have been stored away in attics."

"The sale goes off fine. The announcement is made, rummage sale a success. Total receipts, $54.25. Who will want the humdrum of such a thing is revolting, and yet the church is subjected to this continually."

"God has ordained but one way of financing the affairs of the church. The way is clearly revealed in His word, which is the 'lilies and voluntary free-will offerings of his people.' At the close of the address the congregation was given the privilege of bringing a voluntary free-will offering. While a hymn was being sung the congregation marched to the front with their offerings."

At the night service the plates were passed. The offerings for the day totalled $2,532.10.

WASTING TALENTS DRAWS PASTOR'S CONDEMNATION

"Too many people dwell on the need of the physical form of Jesus in our daily life," said Rev. C. S. Miller, M.A., B.D., preaching in Beecher United church yesterday. Rev. Mr. Miller took as his text John 1:16. "The word was made flesh and dwelt among us."

"It is about time," he declared, "that we realize that material prosperity, financial success, educational development are not all of life. It is about time that we relegated to the past the crimes and sins of faded, idle frittering and wasting of our manhood and womanhood. People fritter their lives away, waste their talents, because they have not the peace in their hearts. It behooves every one who calls himself a Christian to bring the peace of Christ to the hearts of the unhappy ones."

DEBATES ARRANGED

On Nov. 19 the first of a series of eliminating debates will be staged at Western University in anticipation of the visit in February of the Imperial Debating Society, who will meet the Western debaters here. The subject is "Resolved, that western civilization has a degrading influence on mankind." The freshmen, arts and medics will take part.

WIDOW OF NOVELIST SUING UNDERTAKER

Claims Huge Overcharge For Funeral of Creator of "Walloping."

Mrs. Chester alleged that while she was in a state bordering on mental and physical collapse following her husband's unexpected death last February, she was induced to make an assignment of $8,000 out of a $25,000 life insurance policy to Campbell (an undertaker) to cover the expenses of the funeral and that she received back a receipted bill for $7,972.17 and $27.83 in cash. She alleges an overcharge on the part of Campbell of $6,543.17.

If a Trust Company had been made executor of Mr. Chester's will it would have been impossible for persons seeking financial gain to prey upon the emotions of his widow, to the decided detriment of her future livelihood.

The London & Western Trusts Company has facilities for determining the necessary expenses incurred by a funeral. An overcharge is never contemplated.

This is but one of the many advantages of appointing The London & Western Trusts Company as administrator of your estate.

Next in importance to amassing an estate is the making of a will to insure its careful disposition.

A Consultation will be welcomed.

Montgomery, the police said, was driving over the intersection at 15 miles an hour. Three Entombed By Mine Blast

Canadian Press Despatch.
Drumheller, Alb., Nov. 15.—All hope of saving the three men entombed by a blast in the Kirkpatrick mine, seven miles west of here, Friday night, has been abandoned. The men, M. Gilday, L. Burke and J. J. McLean, were residents of Drumheller. At 10:40 Friday night a "shot" of blasting powder was fired from the outside. Gilday, McLean and Burke waited for 20 minutes and then entered the mine. One minute after they had entered the explosion occurred, shattering the derrick and throwing the heavy reel more than 20 yards. The entire shaft collapsed. Rescue crews from Drumheller were on the scene soon afterwards. In spite of hours of hard work, they were unable to effect an entrance to the shattered shaft. They were withdrawn before noon today, pending retimbering to clear the pit.

DAVID M'LAWS, 86, DIES AT ST. THOMAS

Registrar of County Court For Forty-Five Years—Born in Scotland.

TO BE BURIED TODAY

Special To The Advertiser
by Staff Reporter.
St. Thomas, Nov. 15.—David McLaws, registrar of the county court for forty-five years, passed away at his home, 122 Elgin street, late Friday night, one day after he had attained his 86th birthday. Mr. McLaws retired from active work several years ago, although he kept up his association with the office. Last year he gave up his position to Ian Cameron, the present registrar. Bannockburn, Scotland, was the birthplace of David McLaws, a hardy Scot, endowed with the pride and spirit which has endowed the name of Bannockburn down through the ages. He possessed the Scottish intense desire for learning; he educated himself, studied the great literary works of the day, and soon his home became the rendezvous of kindred souls who met to discuss their favorite authors.

He worked as a farmer for several years, and then took up blacksmithing. In 1874 he started his public career in the town council in Wallaceburg. In 1875 he became reeve on the county council, and in 1878 he was elected M.P.P. for West Elgin. In the same year he was appointed clerk of the county court. He was a Liberal in politics, and a member of Knox Presbyterian church. Surviving are his widow, formerly Miss Mary Barr, four sons, William K. and Douglas of Winnipeg; K. B. Calgary, and M. G. Gravel road; three daughters, Marnie and Edna, at home, and Mrs. (Dr.) Cameron, of London; also a brother, Duncan, in Calgary.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the family residence to the St. Thomas cemetery.

SACRED CONCERT HELD FOR ENDOWMENT FUND

Crowd Taxes Capacity of Theatre To Show Merits of Benevolent Cause.

The sacred concert held last evening in the Capitol theatre in aid of the Adam Beck Memorial Endowment fund proved a huge success. Despite the inclemency of the weather the local theatre was taxed to capacity, which makes the merits of the benevolent cause most pronounced.

Col. Ibbotson Leonard, as chairman of the evening, introduced the purpose of the gathering and made a stirring appeal to the citizens of London for their support in the coming campaign. He graphically outlined the history of Queen Alexandra Sanatorium and assured the audience of the worthiness of the appeal.

Rev. Quintin Warner corroborated the statements of the chairman, and told of the opportunity which has presented itself for the aid of the sufferers of tuberculosis.

The musical program was under the direction of Angelo Russo, leader of the London Musicians' club. The evening was opened with the singing of O Canada.

Among the numbers offered by the orchestra were: Post and Prentiss, a delightful overture; Echoes of Ireland, Lange; June, Andante Conquillo, Tschalkowsky, and several marches.

Fred Crissey rendered a delightful saxophone solo, Pal of My Cradle Days, while L. Kitchener gave a pleasing organ solo. A cornet solo, La Paloma—Yradier, and a cornet and trombone duet, Crucifix—Faure, were also enjoyed. A melody whistling was also provided by Viola Cusolito.

The program concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

DR. GORDON TALKS ON DIVINE QUEST

1,500 Worshippers Attend Service at St. Andrew's and Hear Noted Preacher.

LAUDS UNION WORK

Winnipeg Author Declares United Church Has Great Christian Duty To Perform.

Fifteen hundred people listened with rapt attention to the broad-visioned appeal, God's eternal quest, delivered by Rev. Charles W. Gordon, D.D., (Ralph Connor), Winnipeg, in St. Andrew's United church yesterday morning, marking the 84th anniversary of the founding of the congregation and the 57th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone for the present church building.

Dr. Gordon's masterful sermon, which was pre-eminently the address of Dr. Gordon the divine, and not that of Dr. Gordon the author, constituted a clarion call to Christians everywhere to return to their God, but it was more than that, because Dr. Gordon took occasion to draw attention to plain conditions wherein the church has failed to live up to the greatness of her opportunity.

"The only wall of defence is the church of God," declared Dr. Gordon earnestly. "But a church far from God is no good. Therefore, let us hear the voice which is calling us back to God. And that is going to be my theme this week. Let us as Christians take stock and see where we have drifted away from God, how we can get back to Him, how we can get rid of our sins, and what we can do for the community, for our country and for the world, which is God's world."

"The story of God's eternal quest," began Dr. Gordon, "is the story of the Bible. It is a wonderful book, concerned with one thing only, and that the story of God in his search for man. In the Old Testament God chooses a nation to which He reveals Himself, to which He imparts His will, and in whom He puts His spirit. And He gives that nation great leaders, law-givers, prophets and priests, hoping by this separated and selected nation that He might better fulfill His quest."

Failed in His Task.
"But that nation failed," pursued Dr. Gordon, "and in the New Testament there comes into the world a wonderful person, Jesus Christ, and He draws to himself an ever-increasing body of men which He calls His church, and through this body of men He is seeking the world, with the church, as His agency, taking the place of the ancient people who failed in their task."

"No man can ever amount to much who lets any space come between himself and God," asserted the speaker, "and I fancy that this is the reason the church has failed down in her age of opportunity. I am inclined to believe that we would not have had our 1914 experience, if we had had a church with a wide expanse between her and God, and that it would not have taken us seven years to get far back toward peace again as it has if the church of the living God had been in touch with the Head of the church."

"But if God has given us this great church, the United church of Canada, the most wonderful church since the time of the apostles, then surely the means the church has to employ to lighten the world, must have been done before. God is calling us, as He always calls a church that wanders from his heart's home, to make our church right, our homes right and our country right. One thing makes me thankful about this new church and its first general council, and that is the note of insistence that this church must get back to God to do its work in Canada."

Taken Place of Jews.
"We have taken the place of the Jews, they have fallen down and we are here. They failed because they would not keep close to Him, and where are they today—a mighty people, second to none in the world in intelligence and force—they are making money, but they must get back to the opportunity which the Jews failed to grasp, and if we do, Canada will grow up a Godly nation and become a blessing to the world, but if we fail, then Canada will be condemned to meanness and poverty of soul and take her place among the decadent nations of the world."

"There is nothing so characteristic about the world as its soul hunger. The people of the world are what feed the heart and soul. A man who thinks wrongly about God is indifferent to Him, afraid of Him, or turns away from Him, but the man who thinks rightly about God has a satisfied heart, and right thinking about God means heart rest. It is the only way to come back to God, because He will make your heart sweet and kind and quiet."

"Railroads will be built to run to the church that thinks rightly about God, and its neighbors is like a city set upon a hill, like a light that cannot be hid, and the world, think what this church can do for Canada if the church thinks rightly with God! Such a church can do anything she pleases to sweep the country, she can sweep the world!"

Canada Needs God.
"Canada is not right, and we know it," concluded Dr. Gordon, "but Canada can never be made right except by men who are right with God. If you are happy and close to God then thank God for it, but if you are away from God then come back to Him. If you are sinning and forgetting Him, if your heart is unclean, the appeal of the Father is to come back to Him, because He will wipe away your sin and He will give you a pure heart." Dr. Gordon was assisted in conducting the service by Rev. Donald C. MacGregor, D.D., pastor of St. Andrew's church for the past ten years, who welcomed Dr. Gordon as the special speaker for the day, and also for the nightly services throughout the coming week, declaring that "Dr. Gordon's message will be a stirring one to the church at this particular time in her history, when she has come into a new experience and when she is faced with such a great challenge for future service."

Special music was rendered by the choir at both services, under the direction of C. E. Wheeler, F.C.C.O., organist and choir director.

What about Canada?

"The keystone of the arch of the British Empire," one of her great soldier statesmen called us the other day. Twenty-five years from now where will Canada be? What will be her population, her bank clearings, her world trade? Think!

"Number One Northern," one of our most spectacular claims to greatness, will play a big part in Canada's future. With a present annual crop more than ten times greater than at Confederation, there are still many millions of untouched fertile acres.

This great land is a heritage so magnificent that we sometimes fail to grasp its significance. Almost limitless natural resources are Canada's, and to develop them we have a business and financial fabric that time and again has demonstrated its stability. No commercial set-back can more than momentarily hinder our progress.

With such a foundation to build upon, Canada's greatness, twenty-five years hence, can be gauged only by the vision and aggressiveness of Canadians of today.

For almost a hundred years, when acres were to be planted, or crops moved to market—with unfailing faith in the land and its workers—this Bank has gladly helped with its great resources and experience.

Today, with 320 branches and sub-branches, world-wide affiliations and a progressive organization, The Bank of Nova Scotia still stands ready to provide Canadian business with a thoroughly up-to-date and progressive banking service.

The Manager of the branch near you, will welcome your account, and will take a sincere and helpful interest in your business.

Mounted Patrols Guard U. S. Borders For Liquor Smugglers

Special To The Advertiser.
Washington, Nov. 15.—Mounted border patrols working under Assistant Treasury Secretary Andrews, prohibition czar, are guarding the entire Mexican and Canadian boundaries of the United States to prevent and stop liquor smuggling. Andrews has just established 11 patrols on the Canadian frontier and 10 on the Mexican border. It was learned at the treasury studies that the patrols have been operating less than a month, but they have seized thousands of gallons of liquor intended for thirsty Americans from run-runners.

Two hundred automobiles, confiscated by the government after seized from run-runners and bootleggers, have been turned over to the border patrols. Some patrols use horses.

ESKIMOS UNMOVED BY MONTREAL SIGHTS

Natives of Northland Fail To Get "Kick" Out of Modern Civilization.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Nov. 14.—Eskimos, whose first visit to civilization does not apparently thrill them, are at present in Montreal. They are four young Eskimo seamen, who manned the Jean Revillon, an Arctic fur-trading schooner, when she had to be brought to Liverpool, N.S., for overhauling.

No sights of the city have caused any surprise to the natives despite the fact that they have never before seen anything nearer the civilized state than the nine-foot high hut in which they lived.

Captain Robertson of the Revillon has taken them to the movies, on the street cars, and shown them all the sights of a modern city.

But the only thing that modern man likes to which they have become partial is tobacco, for they smoke continually.

DUTCH MINISTRY RESIGNS FOLLOWING CABINET SPLIT

Associated Press Despatch.
The Hague, Holland, Nov. 15.—Premier Colijn on Saturday tendered the resignation of himself and the cabinet members remaining after the parliament of an amendment to the budget bill by which the legislation would be withdrawn from the cabinet. The Queen requested that all continue to deal with current affairs pending formation of a new ministry.

Why We Recommend a 6 P.R. POLICY

SIX PREMIUM RETURN
—an exclusive Northern Life plan

The Northern Life's 6 P.R. (six premium return) policy is one of the most popular 20 pay life policies in Canada for two very good reasons.

One is that it guarantees, at the end of 20 years, a substantial cash dividend equal to six annual premiums—in addition to other profits which accrue. The second is that, if taken out between the ages of 25 and 40 inclusive, it guarantees at the end of 20 years, a cash return that exceeds the total amount paid in annual premiums.

The 6 P.R. is the only policy that has these two outstanding advantages—advantages that largely explain its great popularity. For further information regarding this attractive plan consult your nearest Northern Life representative or write our Home Office.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR SUB VICTIMS

Associated Press Despatch.
Portland, Eng., Nov. 15.—Memorial services for those who perished in the sinking of the submarine M-1 on November 12 were held today in the Portland Dockyard church. The Isle of Portland stands on the Dorset coast not far from the spot where the submarine lies with her dead numbering 68 officers and men.

The wreck has not been located, all search having proved in vain, but German salvage tackle has arrived with German experts, who will begin work tonight on the slack tide. It is said to be a remarkable apparatus, in which a diver can work at a depth of 80 fathoms with the aid of an electric light.

POLICE GUARD DOCUMENTS.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 15.—Twenty-seven armed police and detectives, the Daily Mail says, are guarding day and night the offices in Clements Inn, London, where the documents relating to the work of the Irish boundary commission are kept. Information received from the authorities of a possible Irish Republican raid on the offices is responsible for this precaution. Clements Inn is one of the inns of the courts of justice.

About Those Potatoes.

An Ilderton correspondent does not agree with The Advertiser about the potato situation. In a letter which appears on this page he says we were wrong in intimating that the farmer had anything to do with setting the price of his potatoes.

That idea he probably got from this sentence: "The wiser course is to determine a selling price representing a fair profit on the operation, and then sell at that price."

The Advertiser is fully aware that in nearly every case the farmer has no voice in naming his selling price; regardless of his costs he finds that some one else has named the price without consulting his figures at all. With our Ilderton correspondent's claim on that score we are in full agreement, and it is one that has been admitted in the columns of this paper frequently.

But the potato situation, and that was the point under discussion, presented a somewhat different proposition. It will be noticed that we used the words "determine a selling price," not "fix." The reason for that was this—prices were on the way up; bad weather was preventing the crop being taken from the ground; Michigan in some cases had a failure and buyers from there wanted Ontario potatoes. This development was reflected in London markets, as the following quotations will show:

Date	Price per Bag.
October 20	$1.25 to $1.35
October 30	1.75 to 2.00
November 2	1.50 to 2.25
November 3	2.00 to 2.30
November 4	2.25 to 2.75
November 6	2.50 to 3.00

The producer of potatoes was thus in the favorable position, on this occasion at least, of "determining" or choosing the price at which he would sell, and for that reason we considered it reasonable that when this sliding scale of prices represented a figure that showed "a fair profit on the operation" a sale then would be profitable.

There was nothing to guarantee that the price would stay up. The fact that figures had in two weeks gone from $1.35 to $3 per bag indicated the possibility of reaction, and the quotation of $2.75 today shows that this has already begun.

Our Ilderton correspondent would also notice that this paper attached no blame whatever to the farmer who was trying to get the best possible price for his potatoes, and we pointed out that if he were able to sell at a profit this year he would simply be leveling up for the low prices of last year. Our only concern was that he should not let a present good price get away from him in waiting for a higher price which might or might not be realized.

What Advertising Can Do.

Several churches in London have recently been discussing how best to advertise their Sunday services in the press. We have noticed a similar discussion in ministerial associations in other cities. Advertising that tells not only of the services on Sunday or through the week, but in a larger sense seeks to direct attention to what the church and the forces for which it stands means to the community is attracting attention in many cities.

Probably the most outstanding campaign is one now running in the Brooklyn Eagle, where five hundred manufacturers and businessmen have put up funds for a series of full-page advertisements directed primarily against crime. In waging this publicity war against crime the advertising goes farther and points to the church and the Sunday school as the backbone of law enforcement and good citizenship.

In the preparation of the advertising the writer and artist have combined to carry home their points with all the directness and persuasion they can muster. One ad. features a church with the black hand of crime clutching for the tower. The word-story is of this fashion:

"It is the church that has sustained what-mankind. It is the backbone of our laws. It is the plain duty of every citizen to support the church, without which Brooklyn could not support itself. The church wants you. Not just your money, but your presence at church services, your active interest in church enterprises, your work for church extension, your personal effort in evangelization."

The unique feature is that businessmen regard their investment in this campaign as the best and most direct contribution they can make, not only to break down crime but to give impetus to a force working in the direction of law observance and clean conceptions of citizenship.

The men who are paying the bills readily admit they have made a good investment; churches report better attendance and greater support. They have found that by logical, well-directed publicity they have set loose a force that is doing more for them than the most sanguine has dared to predict.

Nursing a Sick Fleet.

Washington will probably reduce both the powers and size of its shipping board. The peculiar thing about this board is that it does not do any shipping, never has done any and never will.

To its care was entrusted the huge fleet of vessels which United States built in war years with the idea of using them after to make that country the prime ocean-carrying power of the world.

Instead of conquest for world trade the shipping board has been computing the amount of rust that gathers on a piece of ship plate in a year.

Instead of securing great cargoes for this fleet the shipping board has been sanctioning great expenditures to keep them from becoming worthless through disuse.

The one bright spot in its history was when Henry Ford offered to buy up a number of the vessels for scrap.

Financing Empire Development.

A banker's words about finances are more likely to foreshadow practical action than those of politicians. Sir John Ferguson, in his presidential address to the British Institute of Bankers showed that the most authoritative financial opinion now favors the directing of British financial resources to the overseas empire rather than the world at large. They knew from experience, he said, that there were natural limitations to what a big British bank could do in foreign countries, but there is no sound reason for supposing that the scope of British banks was so limited in the empire. Already some British banks had formed alliances with banks in the dominions and colonies. As a productive factor the empire was unique, and in it were stored up reserves of wealth sufficient to give every man, woman and child in the empire a higher standard of life than any other country could afford. The problem they had to solve was how to quicken that development. It would not be quickened by erecting obstacles such as tariff walls to keep out the products of one part of the empire from another part. There was a greater danger of excessive caution postponing that development than of loss and mistakes from a too active policy.

Commenting on Sir John Ferguson's speech, the financial editor of the Times says: "Sir John evidently has much greater belief in financing the empire than in financing Europe. . . . At the moment Europe is a huge, black blot of default. A vast sum lent to Russia has been repudiated at one stroke; old mark obligations in Germany have met the same fate by inflation; and similarly, inflation has cancelled out, for the most part, loans to central Europe and reduced currency obligations in Belgium, France and Italy to about four-fifths of their former value; Turkey has defaulted several times, and very little remains now of the moneys lent to her."

An early removal of the embargo on overseas loans is expected. The embargo was made to protect Britain's gold reserves when the gold standard was restored. This is simply to restore the gold standard in a glass case for show instead of for use. But those who expect the removal of the embargo to release vast amounts for loans are doomed to disappointment. The money simply isn't there. Nearly six years of bad trade has sadly diminished Britain's resources for investment. The prospect is brightening, however, largely through the boom prices for rubber which are being received by the British owners of plantations. In a less degree the high price of tin has the same result, and Britain also expects to benefit from the good crops of cotton and wheat of which she is a buyer, not a seller.

Nearly every British authority who visits Canada expresses astonishment at the degree to which United States capital has been used in developing natural resources. It has taken the place of money formerly supplied by Britain. Sir John Ferguson sees that preferential trading agreements between the various parts of the empire, such as the Canadian British preference, and her Australian and West Indies treaties, form the one sure method of real empire development. It is the surest way to attract British capital toward Canada.

The Price Too High.

Dr. J. McCann of Renfrew, acting in his official capacity as coroner attended three inquests in thirty-six hours, and in each case his services were necessary because there had been a fatal conclusion to a hunting expedition.

In all cases the circumstances were sad, but in one where a son had shot his father in mistake for a deer they were unexplainable. The lure of the bush is strong, and the answer to the call gives many men the outing they prefer to all others.

Some of the stop, look and listen slogans that have scaled down accidents in other lines should be applied to hunting.

Far from me is the wish to give some trinket that would last a day, or one they'd have to lay aside and keep until the first of May. For people ought to take with thanks and be content with what they got, but I've been livin' long enough to know the most of folks is not.

But for this year I'm thinkin' now I'll send no neckties and no duds, but call great fame upon my name by sending forth a peck of spuds.

Editorial Opinion

THE PRINCE WAS RIGHT.

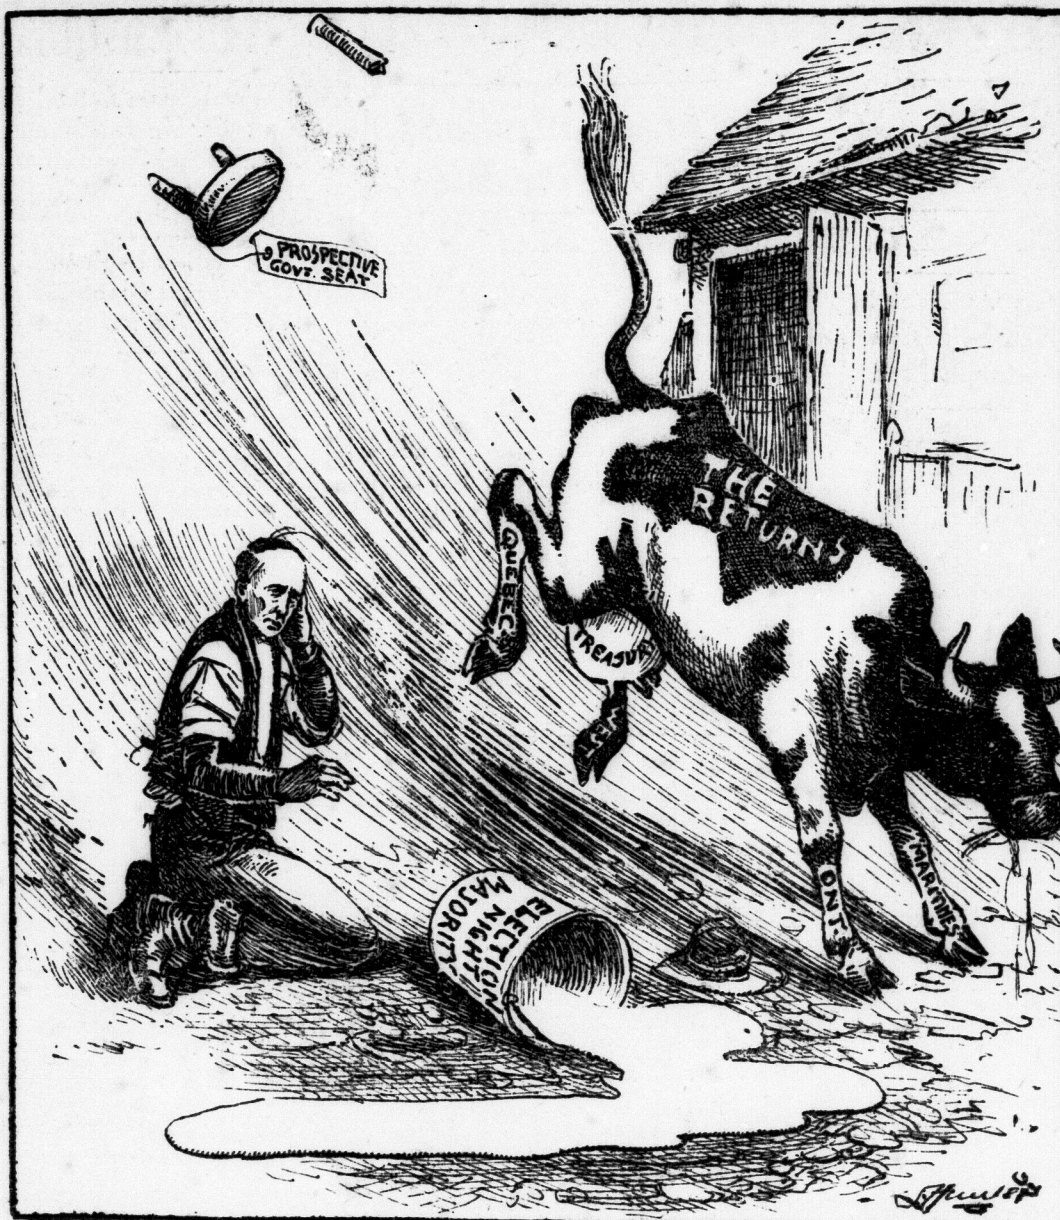

From the St. Catharines Standard.
MASQUERADE ball for hospital funds which was scheduled in London for Armistice night was postponed because the Prince of Wales declined to attend such a function on Armistice. The sentiment of the middle class people of Britain revolted against anything in the nature of an orgy on what is regarded as almost a holy day in British history. The prince showed his good sense in deferring to this sentiment.

Corn and Cabinets

By Mackellar McArthur.

THE FARM, Nov. 13.—A farmer must take his holidays as he works. I started in on mine this afternoon when I went back to the corn field to start husking. The change comes as a welcome relief after all the unavoidable rush occasioned by the adverse weather, coupled with putting up a driven shed and a chicken-house.

My vacation luggage consisted of a two-legged stool, a bunch of apple baskets and a husking pin. The corn field is an ideal spot for a holiday when the days are as they have been of late. The field joins the wood lot which shuts off the northwest and west winds and allows the sunlight to pour down as only autumn sunlight can.

Husking corn is almost an obsolete job, for silo fillings have taken the place of husking bees, but as a restful, sedentary occupation it has its merits. There are not many sit-down jobs on the farm. As it takes me from 15 to 20 minutes to husk a shock I move just that often and then only a few feet to the next shock.

Pleasant Sort of Place.
As I sat facing the sun I had my back turned to the buildings. A rise in the land and the bare trees shut off all habitation in front of me. I might have been miles from anyone else and I enjoyed the isolation. The wind rustling the crisp, sweet-smelling cornstalks made the only sound except when I was hunting for ears.

Of course I was working, but it was a different, more relaxing kind of work than pulling turnips or driving nails, or picking apples, or putting around doing the chores. Since it seems almost impossible to take a day or two off this fall the next best thing is husking corn. If we cannot have something akin to leisure we are very apt to become mentally torpid by an over-dose of too much physical labor.

The farm is an ideal place for living, but we lose sight of that essential fact when we become stupefied by work. Anyone who keeps husking from dawn till dark is very liable to find himself drifting into that state of mind. Work becomes a mania and some men cannot enjoy themselves unless they are going full steam ahead all the time.

Corn and Cabinets.
There are times, especially like this fall, when it is impossible to try to be philosophical and let a few things slide in order to enjoy ourselves a bit by doing nothing for a change. As a matter of fact, the weather was so cantankerous that a good many things slid of their own accord. It took a mighty good philosopher to go from day to day without showing concern.

I did not have the least intention of getting so busy. Autumn, to me, is the finest time of the year, when it is fine. A real fall day beats all others by long odds, but the last two months were just the opposite. Storms held us up so often that every fine day was so filled with work that I scarcely enjoyed them at all. Probably that is why getting out to the cornfield is so pleasant.

When I am husking I always keep an eye open for cabinet timber. I mean for good seed ears. They seem to be just as hard to find here as in other places. Sometimes I pick up a fine big ear with an unusual-looking husk on it. The wind makes the husks rattle and almost talk, but usually when I strip back the husks the fine ear is twisted or has a corn-borer in it and I am disappointed. Perhaps when I have gone over the whole field I will have a bagful of real cabinet timber.

To the Editor

Street Railway Problems.

Editor of The Advertiser:
Sir—It is difficult to understand the motive for the persistent warfare carried on for some time by a few individuals, in and out of the city council, against the London and Ontario Street Railway Company. One is loath to believe the desire is to drive the corporation into bankruptcy and out of business, in order to buy the plant on a scrap basis and turn it into municipal operation for better or worse.

A corporate body of men will do some queer things that they would not do to each other individually, and call it modern business. However, common decency and the golden rule is involved outside the legality of an action.

In this onset, much has been said about the service rendered, outlay in improvements, etc., and the absurd demand for a less than five-cent fare has been made. Has anyone in this city knowledge of a street railway in America with a lower rate for any distance? Pre-war rates in Britain were on a sliding scale, a penny for short distances, twopenny, threepenny, fourpenny for longer. In America, however, the rates are generally conceded that the passenger has the best of it.

In this discussion, I am not concerning myself with any matter but the service, and the cost of transportation. As to the one, I've seen no better; and the rate of fare at the present time is one of the lowest on the continent, and I include Mexico in this. I do not speak without knowledge, for within the last 15 years I have ridden on all the street car services of any place of importance in the world, including Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, London.

Perhaps when I have gone over the whole field I will have a bagful of real cabinet timber.

When I am husking I always keep an eye open for cabinet timber. I mean for good seed ears. They seem to be just as hard to find here as in other places. Sometimes I pick up a fine big ear with an unusual-looking husk on it. The wind makes the husks rattle and almost talk, but usually when I strip back the husks the fine ear is twisted or has a corn-borer in it and I am disappointed. Perhaps when I have gone over the whole field I will have a bagful of real cabinet timber.

Ottawa Fans Go Wild As Senators Defeat Tigers 8 to 3 and Win Title

Try From Blocked Kick In Opening Minutes Is Break Which Gives Senators Edge

Game Almost Exact Replica of Hard-Fought 2-2 Struggle of Week Ago.

FUMBLES ARE FEW Fans in Delirium of Victory Shoulder McCann's Fighting Crew After Game.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Great are the Ottawa Senators' hopes for a repeat of last year's triumph when they defeated Hamilton Tigers 8 to 3 in the final game of the Intercollegiate hockey championship.

The local seniors will open their season with a game here Friday night against Toronto Canoe Club, the new senior entry.

The local seniors will open their season with a game here Friday night against Toronto Canoe Club, the new senior entry.

For in every respect it was a brilliant victory. In winning the game, the Senators played like the champions, and in the vanquished Tigers they found man who also played like the champions.

However, the break came to Ottawa because they made it. It was unfortunate for Rayner that the line broke in front of him at this critical moment, but that does not detract from the great smashing offense which Ottawa mounted.

Leading the Ottawas in their victorious march across the goal were the two Joes, Miller and Tubman. Such daring passing and clever ball handling has been rare in Ottawa hockey.

There was a variety of conditions for the teams to contend with. The day was clear, but a strong wind blew from the west, and the ice was not very good.

It is noted that Ottawa garnered only one point with the wind in their backs in the second half, while the Tigers failed to register a single point with the wind behind them in the third.

McGILL'S SOCCER TITLE. Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 14.—By pulling off the upset of the local senior season and perhaps the most valuable, judging by results, McGill turned a seemingly defeat into a Red and White victory in the closing minutes of the final intercollegiate game of the year at Varsity stadium on Saturday afternoon.

With little more than five minutes to play and in possession of their own 30-yard line, the Montrealers staged a brilliant three-man extension run around Varsity right wing, which resulted in a touchdown which tied the score at 10 all and then Manson added the winning points.

McGill appeared to be due for their fourth straight defeat in the college soccer season, but the victory at St. Germaine place, which allowed the latter to romp for sixty yards to place the ball under the crossbar, was a surprise.

Special to The Advertiser. Flint, Nov. 15.—Definite decision will be made two weeks from today on ownership of Michigan-Ontario baseball league for the season of 1926.

Directors adopted this agreement after discussing league matters at a special session here last night.

The life or demise of the circuit, considered one of the best scheduled leagues in the country, depends on who the magnates view the proposal of several clubs for a $2,500 cash forfeit to be posted in advance of spring to insure entry. Lack of such a financial plan last season brought untold grief to players, fans and owners, according to a report submitted by President T. J. Halligan.

The most important action of the day came when club owners voted to turn over the entire ownership of the Flint team to President Halligan in lieu of cash advanced by him during the season of 1925.

What effect this action will have in regard to the league's schedule, which Otto H. Powell, who also has made the team's schedule, is the $22,000 legal action brought against Powell and Richard Gibbs, temporary president of the league, by the Pittsburgh baseball club, is unknown.

An audit of the books will be made to determine this. Otto Lewis, Bay City, Mich., president of the league, and Arthur Clements, Saginaw, comprise this committee.

CITY TOSSES ST. KITTS FOR LOSS

Winners Are Now Tied With Hamilton Cubs For Championship.

Special to The Advertiser. Kitchener, Nov. 15.—The Kitchener-Waterloo Intermediate O. R. F. U. team concluded the regularly scheduled group season here Saturday by defeating St. Catharines 18 to 3, in a cleanly-played contest, in which only two penalties were handed out. The loss was the sixth straight for the Garden City representatives, while it was the fifth win in six starts for the locals, and this, coupled with Hamilton's win over Galt, leaves the Hamilton and Twin City teams tied for first place in the series.

It will now be necessary for the O. R. F. U. to take action on the protest of the local club against the win of Hamilton two weeks ago, when, the locals allege, the Tiger Cubs used an ineligible man in the person of Tommy Macdonald, who was signed with the interprovincial seniors. If the protest is allowed the locals will be group champions, but if the win is upheld the game will be ordered replayed, and in that case, the finals might be delayed two weeks.

A strong wind blew down the field Saturday, and all St. Catharines' three touchdowns were added to the locals in their scoring. Peart did some kicking, while the Tiger Cubs used an ineligible man in the person of Tommy Macdonald, who was signed with the interprovincial seniors.

A headline by St. Catharines was the only score of the first period. In the second quarter, Hamilton went over for two touchdowns, one of which was converted, while two touchdowns made the season, an action which not only kept the Varsity in the field, but held the game in a state of suspense.

Balmby Beach Cops Title By Beating Varsity 16-6

Blue and White Struggled Gaily To Repeat Win Over Champs.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Nov. 15.—Balmby Beach won the senior Ontario rugby union championship here on Saturday for the second successive season by a 16 to 6 victory over Varsity second.

The Balmby Beach team, which won the title of Ontario champions, in the first game of the Canadian rugby union playoffs at Varsity Stadium next Saturday.

Balmby Beach, in beating the students, returned to its early season form, playing the style of game that swept them to the top of the standing with a string of successive victories. The Beachers had to be at their best as Camp Borden was trailing close in second place, and another loss would have created a tie for the championship.

Varsity, the only team to trim the beachers in a league feature this season, put up a stubborn struggle before the champions' line, and after playing of "Scotty" Cawkell, being the deciding factor.

HARDING'S MEN WIN. Canadian Press Despatch. Hamilton, Nov. 15.—Showing an aggressive, which was not to be denied, coupled with an ability to capitalize every mistake of its opponents, Camp Borden came out at the right end of a 14-6 score at the H. A. grounds Saturday afternoon, when it met and defeated the Hamilton Rowing club. The field was sticky, and the Bordeners had to work hard to win, but those who did attend were treated to a rather spectacular game. The back field of the Bordeners was a fine display, although Dave Harding had a wide margin on the rest, both in kicking and in field running. Borden's line was much superior, but all their good kicking was nullified by the Hamilton work in the back field, which, at critical times, dropped the punts that resulted in scores.

By pointing out the mistakes of the Bordeners often got within kicking distance for a point, and then it was just a matter of finding the line to cross.

One of the spectacular features of the game was the play of Cameron. He remained outside while Harding kicked, and then followed through, sometimes kicking the ball into the hands of the Bordeners. The game was very close, and the Bordeners were very lucky to win.

The second quarter saw the Rowing club rather the aggressors, the only points being made by the Bordeners in the first half of the game.

The third quarter was productive of a great deal of excitement. The Bordeners were very lucky to win, and the Rowing club was very unlucky to lose.

There was no score in the first quarter, but in the second each counted six points. The Bordeners were very lucky to win, and the Rowing club was very unlucky to lose.

PETERS' POWER UNITS DEADLOCK

Hamilton Cubs Emerge Victors in Great Overtime Battle With Galt.

Special to The Advertiser. Galt, Nov. 15.—With only two minutes of full time, Galt's purple and white gridders with a rouge, tied up the score in the first half of the Hamilton Tiger Cubs here Saturday, 13-13, necessitating 20 minutes overtime, but the first half of extra play, Peter's victory to his team, when he booted for three points, the winning one being a long running punt from his 40-yard line that went for a touch in goal.

It was Galt's last O. R. F. U. game of the season, and proved to be the best, clean and hard-fought throughout. As a result of their win, the Cubs are tied with Kitchener and Waterloo for the Hamilton title, and in all probability they will play off here next Saturday to decide a winner.

Galt entered Saturday's game with a much-changed line-up. Kress, Hoffman and Gooding were missing through injuries, and the Bordeners were very lucky to win, and the Rowing club was very unlucky to lose.

Peg Tigers Will Make Trip East

Became Western Champs With Eleven-One Win Over Regina.

Canadian Press Despatch. Regina, Nov. 15.—Scoring the majority of their points by rouges, until Dick Buckingham, the "big train" of the team, snorted his way through a broken line of the Regina defense, the Peg Tigers, Winnipeg senior rugby champions of Manitoba, defeated Regina Rough Riders 11 to 1 before a packed stadium at Park Hughes Saturday afternoon, and took into their possession the griddon supremacy of Western Canada for the season.

As a reward for their triumph Saturday, the team will go east in quest of domination honors, next month.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 14.—The Dundas-Sarnia sudden-death junior O. R. F. U. fixture here Saturday went to the former, 7 to 1, on the strength of a deciding touchdown scored in the last five minutes of the game.

The game was played on the best and most evenly fought battle ever staged on the local grounds. After scoring a point apiece in the opening frame, the teams tore at each other in the middle of the third, and the Dundas team, who were leading 7 to 1, were forced to give away until Thinning, star half for Dundas, completed a twenty-yard run into such a hole in the Sarnia defense that he was able to kick the way for the only touchdown of the game.

According to the opinion of the large crowd of fans who witnessed the game, the best team won, but the Sarnia team was very lucky to win, and the Rowing club was very unlucky to lose.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Montreal, Nov. 15.—The receipt of butter this morning was 4,367 packages, which shows a decrease of 1,595 packages from the corresponding date of last week. The total arrivals from Montreal to date have been 10,000 packages, smaller than for the same period of 1914.

A stronger feeling has prevailed in the market since the 1st of November, and prices closed with a net advance of 1/2c per pound. This was due in part to the fact that the market was held in forward, the lighter stocks held in hand as compared with a year ago, and to the fact that the market was held by domestic and outside buyers. The volume of business was larger, and the market was more active than in the previous week. Wholesale jobbing prices were advanced 2c per pound, and the market was held in forward, the lighter stocks held in hand as compared with a year ago, and to the fact that the market was held by domestic and outside buyers. LUMBER MILL BLAZE CAUSES $750,000 DAMAGE

Canadian Press Despatch.

WEST SATISFIED ON TARIFF NO NEED FOR COMPROMISE

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, Declares Efforts To Change Duties Would Fail—Believes Ontario Was Stampeded.

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Nov. 15.—In a recent interview, Sir Clifford Sifton advocated compromise between east and west on the tariff issue as a solution to the political impasse which besets Canada. In an interview with The Advertiser yesterday, the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, strongly opposed such a suggestion. "At the present time," he said, "the people in the west are well satisfied with the tariff. Generally speaking, they are not seeking further reduction of duties. Some of the progressives would like to see reductions, but they are ceasing to be a factor in Canadian politics. The tariff given a chance. Already there is marked improvement throughout the country. The increased buying power of the farmer is having a beneficial effect on industry in the west. Instead of repairing his old equipment the farmer is now buying new goods."

Calls It a Subsidy.
"What would the nature of the compromise be?" Mr. Motherwell asked. It was suggested that it might mean a reduction in the freight rates from the west set off against tariff increases and adjustments for the benefit of the industrial east. "In other words, the compromise would take the form of a subsidy to the farmer," said Mr. Motherwell. "Such a thing would never work. Generally speaking, we are satisfied with the freight rates, and we do not need a subsidy. If a subsidy is to be given, the logical thing would be to give it to the manufacturers and let them contribute to bolstering them up. It would be a difficult matter to arrange, for they would all want subsidies, but it would be better than tinkering with agriculture."

Ontario Stampeded.
Mr. Motherwell gave his views on the present political situation. "Ontario was stampeded for the fourth time," he said. "The people were misled by the carefully conceived propaganda of the protectionists. What the country really needs now is a year or two of quiet administration, in which the present policies will be given a chance to work out. However, we do not know what will happen until parliament meets."

"Happy Days"

Just add this sparkle to your morning glass.

Here is the way to happy days, to fitness and good cheer. It is saving millions of dull days, of lost days. The way is this: On rising drink a glass of water, hot or cold. Jad Salts are made from the acids of grape and lemon, plus lithia, etc. Right after breakfast comes complete relief. The poisons and wastes are eliminated. That which depresses, that which makes you unfit is gone. It's a wonderful experience. At 7 o'clock one may be cross and dull, may hate to face the day. At 8 o'clock one is cheerful and fit, starting the day with joy. The way is easy, pleasant, prompt. It is harmless, and it adds the stomach, the kidneys and bowels. You will always use it when you try once. Ask your druggist for Jad Salts today.—Adv.

St. Thomas, Nov. 15.—Jack Taylor, section foreman on the L. E. & P. S. Railway, claims that he shot the deer reported to be seen between this city and Glanworth.

Mr. Taylor has placed the head on a post on exhibition near the station at Glanworth, where all and sundry may see it.

Some people, however, are inclined to doubt the head on display. There are some who are of the opinion that the head belongs to one killed to a common barnyard animal of the male persuasion.

SAY DEVICE WILL PICK UP SECRET THOUGHTS OF MEN.
By JUNIUS E. WOOD.
Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Moscow, Nov. 15.—The reputable Russian academician, Prof. Lazarev, contends it is possible to construct a mechanical apparatus to pick up the secret thoughts of individuals, just as a crystal set picks up radio waves.

Professor Lazarev says that after 20 years' investigation of the human brain he has come to the conclusion that it gives off waves according to the Macrelli and Hertzian theories. "Human thoughts are due to the action of the brain ions upon the nerve centers," Prof. Lazarev says. "These are uniform during mental excitement, proving that the brain when working gives of a special kind of a wave similar to those in wireless telegraphy."
