Tuber Diseases Of Potato

When digging potatoes, a number of diseases may be observed on the tubers for example, spots of corky tissue on the skin, called Common Scab; or black surface spots which look like pieces of soil, but remain sticking to the tuber when it is washed, this is the so called Black Scurf or Rhizoctonia. Again, there may be brown spots somewhat silvery, especially when moistened, the silver Scurf disease. These diseases do not affect the edible qualities of the potatoes; only when they are badly infected is a loss incurred, due to a deterioration in the saleable value.

Later, however, after the potatoes have been in storage for some months more or less rotting of the tubers take place, which in bad cases may result in 30% or 40% of the tubers becoming valueless. This rotting may be observed externally through its causing irregular sunken areas to appear, which are brown under the surface of the skin. This rot is due to Late Blight; this being a disease which first makes its appearance on the leaves as dead, water-soaked areas, occasionally killing the whole plant as well as infecting the tubers. Thus it is most important to spray your plants regularly during the growing season, particularly in warm and damp weather. Again, one may also find a dry rot with white pustules breaking through the surface; in this case the cause is a Fusarium Dry Rot, which is nearly always associated with a crack or bruise of the tuber.

Other diseases may be noticed when the potatoes are cut or peeled; for instance, a black discoloration extending from the skin inwards which is sometimes wet rotted. This is caused by a disease which also attacks the tubers.

NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

How monotonous it would be if there were no ending or beginning to the years. If time rolled on and on with no milestones to count off the days, weeks, and months which make the year, how we would miss the “grand round up” when December makes her exit. “The door is shut. The shadows of the old year fade dimly o’er the hill.

As past the threshold the New Year with a smile is standing still. He sees the dusty hallway, the rumpled cushions tossed, He hears the dying echoes of varied purpose crossed.”

January the first marks the beginning of a new period of time and very general are the greetings of good cheer for the New Year. There is something so cheery and hopeful in the “Happy New Year to You.” It makes us resolve that we will try to make it a happy “new one” indeed, that we will do less grumbling—a terrible habit that the most of us have a touch of; that we will be more charitable to our fellow men, more given to expressions of love and sympathy and less to unkindly criticisms, and if luck does seem against us and things go hard, we will endeavor to keep a stout heart.

“Do not look for clouds and shadows, Watch for the sun shine day by day, Let your tone be full of courage Scatter gladness on the way, Up and down the teeming present Learn the dear and precious art, How to meet both hopes and mishaps Ever with a cheery heart.”

Saying good-bye to the old year and welcoming the new year makes it easy to form resolutions. Many do not believe in these resolves. They say they are only made to be quickly broken. Be that as it may, 'tis better to have even a transient ambition to mend matters than to go on with no hope or desire to improve. But to people who think truly and feel keenly the opening of another year which bespeaks an opportunity for greater diligence in all lines of mental and physical employment. Let us look back on the past year and say with Whittier:

“Rich gift of God, A year of time.”
And as we face the new year let us do so with the query:
“New Year, what have you brought us. Gifts for good or ill?”
“Take your choice,” he answers.
“Be it as you will.”
“Tomorrow’s horn with patience Benisons impart.
But there are no blessings For a thankless heart.”

Again, there is an historic dignity about the opening of another year, that awakens the hopes and inspirations. It is a pause in the passage of time, which arrests our attention.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

Extract from a letter of a Canadian soldier in France.

To Mrs. R. D. BAMBURCK:

The Rectory, Yarmouth, N.S.

Dear Mother:—

I am keeping well, have good food and well protected from the weather, but have some difficulty keeping uninvited guests from visiting me.

Have you any patriotic druggists that would give something for a gift overseas—if so do you know something that is good for everything? I do—Old MINARD'S Liniment.

Your affectionate son,

that they do not believe in making and reveals opportunities either neglected or unthought of.

As I have said before, many say New Year resolutions. They may be mostly true and yet the very thought or desire on our part to wish to do better, shows we have a conscience not dead to improvement. Do you know, ladies, the resolve I would like us all to make, one possible to each, can we not resolve to take more real enjoyment from living. Think what this would mean to ourselves and to those around us, to be cheerful and happy. Not to go seeking pleasure but to find pleasure in the path we tread every day.

It does seem to me that we fail to taste the sweet of this life because our conception of what constitutes real happiness is distorted and unreal. We are looking above and beyond for something great and fall to see the lovely flower we crush under our feet. Oh, for the art of enjoying common place things! Oh, for the mind of John Ruskin. Ever capable of seeing the beautiful in every day surroundings.

Let us resolve to take delight in what may seem the trivial things of the passing day; the beautiful blue of the sky, or the soft gray of the winter clouds; the wonderful symmetry and variety of form of the delicate snow flakes as they fall to the ground; the chick-a-dee chirping his merry chirp in the apple tree; the kitten running around after its tail on the kitchen floor; the man running down the road after his hat which ever eludes his grasp; the prattle of ten children; the cackle of the hens; the good dinner we have today or the better one looked for tomorrow.

How blessed is the person who can see the funny side as well as the sunny side of life. We can cultivate this habit if we will. Then let us resolve to be happy and bright, to have a smile as well as a nod for the passer by, a loving as well as encouraging word as well as thoughtful deed for the dear ones of the home circle. How often it seems easier to do a kindness than to say a kind word. But above all we must try to wear a smile as much as possible. How often a pleasant smile means success to a young man or a young woman. Some say it costs nothing, but we know better. It is not an easy matter to smile when one is tired, sick, or disappointed. Nevertheless I believe it pays to screw our courage to the “smiling” point.

“You may as well keep smiling For there ain't no sense in rilin' An' a longin' too intense; For most things worth the gettin' Are sure to find their place When you're peaceful and a sittin' With a smile upon your face.”

Then again I think the New Year generally brings what the old year promised, though there is a surprise ahead of us all along life's way. As a rule most people find that the New Year chases its way and events from the record of the year gone by. Life is really a progress, not a number of disconnected happenings. So we find both those that believe and those who scoff at New Year resolutions. Yet, a great majority it is safe to say, consider resolutions a help and while the happenings of the old are still warm in our thoughts, we are better able to decide upon the moulding of the next twelve months.

In view of these things we look forward to at least the achievements of part of our plans and some things over which we have no control will be accomplished. And in what we can't control, we are responsible only for the way we meet them. Resolutions start up on the New Year with at least a goal ahead of us and we may be put off the road many times after having started and sometimes, when we may think ourselves farthest from our goal we find ourselves standing, joyfully, just where we would be, led there unawares over the patiently trodden, unchosen, round-about road.

It is not all our choosing and our willing that fulfills our New Year resolutions.

In ending I would say with the poet:—

“Fresh courage gives the New Year To all who drinks his health In waters of his bottling That stand upon his shelf. His wine of gladness glistens And drives away all care, So drink ye of the nectar And health to our New Year.”

If cut apples are placed in salt water for a few minutes they will not turn brown.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestion is to be successful. This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, flatulence, gas, heartburn, acid eructations, aches, pains, diarrhoea and constipation.

If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spots, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) at once and start taking it. Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, “zip” and “zinger” revive.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only one box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are used every year—one million NR Tablets are taken by ailing people every day—that's the best proof of its merit. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion, and similar ailments. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Life Lost In Moncton Fire

Moncton, N. B. Dec 25—One man lost his life, property to the amount of between forty and fifty thousand dollars was destroyed, and the Moncton street Railway was temporarily put out of commission by a fire which burned down the Moncton Tramway, Electric and Gas Company's barn and machine shop, between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. Grant Toole, about forty years of age, in some unaccountable manner during the progress of the fire, received injuries from which he died about ten hours later in the City Hospital. Toole, the watchman in the car barn, belongs to Calhoun N. B., where he had a wife and three children living.

In addition to the car barn, machine shop and machinery burned, a street car and the sweeper were destroyed. Three other cars were saved. The loss is estimated at over forty thousand dollars, fully covered by insurance.

At the time the fire broke out, shortly after 3 this morning, there were two other employees of the company besides the watchman in the car barn. Toole is supposed to have been run over while the cars were being removed from the burning building. He was found by a fireman, some time after the fire, in an unconscious condition. He never regained consciousness.

At the inquest held this afternoon the dead man's companions, Eloi Surrette and Jas. Smith, were unable to give any information as to how the fire originated or how Toole received his fatal injuries. They denied that they had been drinking. The jury returned a verdict that Toole came to his death accidentally through some cause unknown.

Federal Grant Of $7517,83 for N.B.

Of this sum $180,000 will now be distributed to the provinces of the dominion, on a pro rata basis with the population, as follows:

Ontario, $57,473.68; Quebec, $47,388.80; Manitoba, $12,611.20; Nova Scotia, $10,873.86; New Brunswick, $7,517.83; Saskatchewan, $15,561.63; Alberta, $11,979.62; British Columbia, $14,628.19; Prince Edward Island, $1,915.11.

It is further provided in the order-in-council that payments to the provinces be made in two equal amounts. The first payment will be made on application of the governments of the respective provinces submitting a satisfactory outline of its venereal disease campaign and undertaking to provide and expend out of its own moneys an equal amount, at least, on the work. The second payment will be made six months after the first, if the federal department of health is satisfied that satisfactory work is being done by the provinces concerned in carrying out this campaign.

Rockefeller Gives Xmas Present of $100,000,000

New York, Dec. 25—John D. Rockefeller yesterday gave to mankind a Christmas present of $100,000,000, half to the general education board to raise the salaries of college professors and half to the Rockefeller foundation to aid in its work of combating disease through improvement of medical education, public health administration and scientific research. It is estimated that Mr. Rockefeller's public gifts now approximate $450,000,000.

While leaving to the general education board the task of selecting the colleges which shall receive awards for their teaching staffs and the amount each is to receive, Mr. Rockefeller urged that the principal as well as the income be used "as promptly and largely as may seem wise."

The trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation also are authorized to utilize both the principal and income of their gift, in connection with which Mr. Rockefeller added, that if the board "should see fit to use any part of this new gift in promoting medical education in Canada, such action would meet with my cordial approval."

Such action will be taken according to Dr. G. E. Vincent, president of the Foundation, who stated last night that the trustees would be asked to set aside $5,000,000 for this purpose.

Will Enforce Health Laws In This Community

The medical authorities, "have gone to considerable trouble to analyze the present status, and the finding has been made that the attitude of many of the citizens and families have had much to do with the maladies which they have made on the community.

Enlightenment Needed
"For example, many parents look upon a rash or sore throat, when it bothers the children, as something of no great importance. They are the ignorant ones and must be taught the difference.

When there are others who know better but through fear of quarantine neglect to call in a physician. This is the most dangerous class and practically the most common. There have been several cases of this nature come before my personal attention, the requests of some to be left unquarantined bringing to light others who had neglected to get a physician in proper time."

The minister of health is determined to prevent such citizens continuing to run such a personal and public risk. It is pointed out in the case of diphtheria that neglect may cause a fatality or possibly a physical maiming that would last a lifetime and that it is a highly dangerous matter to experiment with these severe contagious diseases.

Those who continue wilfully to cover up such conditions must be prepared to abide by the penalties as the authorities are determined to enforce the regulations regarding this matter, to the letter.

As to Quarantining
Quarantine should be kept up for full six weeks from the beginning of the sickness and longer, if necessary, if all scaling is not stopped by that time. Two or more thorough baths of the entire body should be taken before the patient is finally discharged from quarantine.

No members of an affected family must visit another house, nor should any person except those absolutely necessary, such as clergymen, doctors, nurses, etc., enter any quarantined house; and no one from an affected house should travel by public conveyance, or enter any public assemblage, such as moving picture shows, churches, Sunday schools, or what not.

It has been almost the universal experience that if the foregoing precautions be taken in this disease, that its spread can be controlled and much sickness, both acute and chronic, as well as expense avoided.

The foregoing remarks apply with equal force to diphtheria, except that diphtheria if not treated, is still more dangerous to life than scarlet fever, and that the period of usual quarantine is about half as long.

The eastern district medical health officer, Dr. Desmond has given orders to the Sanitary Inspectors to see that the Health laws and regulations are strictly complied with in this district.

Mr. George C. Couds, has returned to town after an absence of a month in upper Canadian and Western cities

Nazimova's Play Greatest of Career

Nazimova, the great Russian actress, has capped the climax of her brilliant career by her wonderful work in her latest screen play, "Toys of Fate," a Screen Classics, Inc., production, which will be released by Metro. This talented and internationally famous artist has combined an unusually successful theatrical season on Broadway with her latest supreme photo-play achievements.

"The Wild Duck," "The Doll's House," "Hedda Gabler," and other plays by the noted Scandinavian dramatist, Henrik Ibsen, comprised her repertoire of stage plays and "Revelation" and "Toys of Fate," her picture features, produced this year.

"Toys of Fate," her latest screen masterpiece, is a gripping drama in which the gifted actress is given wide scope to display her tremendous dramatic powers.

"Revelation," her first Screen Classics production, marked a new era in the art of motion pictures and was received by noted dramatic critics and the public as the greatest thing she had done on the stage or screen.

"Toys of Fate" surpasses even this year's classic.

Nazimova was born in the Russian Crimea, in a little town on the shores of the Black Sea. At the early age of twelve she began her artistic career in the study of music. Becoming pro-

Always restless and ambitious, she finally came to America where she first appeared with a company of Russian players in a drama by Tchirikoff called "The Chosen People." This was done in her native language. It was not long however, before she mastered the English tongue and her ambitions led her to produce a series of plays by Ibsen, notably "Hedda Gabler," "A Doll's House," and "Little Eyolf," which she played in English. In these productions she soon drew the attention of the dramatic world to her unusual ability and before long her fame as an emotional

Fifty Hours of Suffering in Sail Boat

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 24—Out on Lake Erie in a sixteen foot sail boat since Sunday afternoon, when they left Point Pelee for the mainland at Leamington, a party of five persons, including Frederick Quelette, mail carrier, and one woman, arrived at Leamington yesterday after being out for more than fifty hours, and many times in danger of being capsized by heavy seas and of collision with ice floes.

Quelette, who was in charge of the boat, a flat bottomed craft, equipped with iron runners and sheathed with steel to preserve it from being cut by ice, had his legs and arms frozen, but the other passengers were able to return to their homes without medical attention. While Quelette had charge of the steering, Henry Stewart, John Mahoney and William Hammonite of Pelee Island, used the cooking utensils as balers. Several times the craft almost filled to the gunwales, but the trio of passengers, working in shifts, kept her afloat. The woman with the party is believed to be Miss Alice Mason, public school teacher on Pelee Island, who expected to make the trip to the mainland to spend the holidays with friends.

Captain Adams Was Taken by Surprise

Improvement so Remarkable After Taking Tanlac He Hardly Knows Himself

"For one whole year before I took Tanlac there was hardly a day that I didn't have a severe headache and hardly a night that I got over an hour or two of sleep," said S. S. Adams, when he called at the Owl Drug Store in Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Adams served as Captain in the English Army, and at the time he made this statement he was registered at the St. Francis Hotel, 600 Cordova, West, Vancouver. Mr. Adams further stated that he would leave for the Orient in a few days to accept a managing position with an English firm in Japan.

"For the past year," continued Mr. Adams, "I had gastritis in its very worst form and gas would press against my heart and make it palpitate so bad that I would get dizzy and sometimes while I was eating I would get to feeling so dizzy that I would have to get up and leave the table without finishing. My appetite was almost completely gone and even the smell of food would sometimes turn my stomach, and I had to be extremely careful about what I ate so as not to suffer from gas. My nerves were shattered and the least little noise out of the ordinary would upset me completely.

"I tried medicine after but nothing would do me any good, and I was about to give up trying to find anything else when my attention was called to a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac. I decided to try it, and I want to say right here that it is simply remarkable how I have been restored to health. I have a splendid appetite and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from stomach trouble in any form. My nerves are quiet and steady, and I can sleep all night long. I am not troubled with headaches or dizzy spells any longer, and I feel so different in every way that I hardly know myself. I am leaving for the Orient in a few days and before I go I feel that it is my duty to make this statement and let the people know that Tanlac is a great thing and that it will do every bit of what they say it will."

Tanlac is sold in Newcastle by E. J. Morris and in Redbank by Wm. M. Sullivan.

Sugar Scarce And High In Price In Canadian West

Toronto, Dec. 23—On the basis of the wide variations in the high cost of sugar, the Christmas dinner frills and trimmings will cost the industrious housewives of Manitoba and lower Saskatchewan far more than their sisters in other parts of the Dominion.

Moreover, the ultimate consumer of the Christmas pudding, cake and mincemeat, if prices in the dearer sugar districts remain firm, may have to be satisfied with a less sugary variety than his sweet-toothed fellows in other parts of Canada, because there is apparently much less white sugar at the local retail "retailers" to make up his festive dinner.

According to figures gathered by Canadian Press correspondents during Christmas shopping week, in many cities, the cheapest white sugar in the country is obtainable at Vancouver at 12½ cents per pound, with the brown half a cent lower. Winnipeg and Regina asks 15½ cents for the white and from one to one and a half cents less for the colored brother. These are the highest spots in the Canadian sugar market.

Predicts a Short Open Winter

Prof. Andrew J. De Voe, the Hackensack, N. J. weather prophet, predicts a short winter with only occasional spells of really cold weather. His forecasts are said to be more nearly correct than those given out by the Weather Bureau.

"The coldest weather of the winter will prevail between December 15 and December 25, with Christmas Day cloudy," said De Voe recently.

"This cold spell will be followed by rain, clearing off cold again about December 28."

"January, 1920, will come in very cold and continue up to January 3, when winter practically will break up. Of course, I expect cold weather up until March 1, but it will be in short spells, with rain prevailing most of the time."

"Those who have ice to cut had better plan to get it in between January 3 and 5, for the rain will make the work disagreeable after that date."

"Last September, in a letter to Prof. Burdock, replying to an invitation to speak before the Polytechnic Institute in New York, December 8, I told him that great snow storms would prevail in Europe during December, and I see that the Mayor of Berlin is advertising to clear the streets of snow."

"My calendar shows these forecasts: December 1 and 2, cloudy and cold; December 3, storms form over South Atlantic States; December 14 and 15, rain or snow; December 16, cold wave forms over Ohio Valley; December 17 to 25, longest spell of cold weather of winter."

As a good substitute for linoleum make building paper, paint it dark green or any good color wanted, as blue and gray. Have it cut into several lengths to fit the kitchen or dining-room where it is wanted, and lay it down. It will give excellent wear and does not cost as much as linoleum.

Does The Fall Litter Pay

There is much discussion as to possible profits to be obtained from the fall litter particularly when farrowed late.

A sow farrows on April 1st, nurses a litter six weeks, is bred a few days after and farrows a second litter in early October. Where facilities are present for earlier farrowing of the first litter the second may be benefited by August or September birth. During the summer, of course, the sow must have extra care, preferably on a pasture of clover and later, rape with plenty of shade, a wallow, occasional applications of oil to kill lice and a light meal ration of strength, quantity and frequency of feeding dependent upon her pasture opportunities. If she does not get this good care after having nursed her first litter faithfully, her second litter will likely be a disappointment, few in number, small, weak and unthrifty. Further, if she is much pulled down, when bred after weaning her first litter, her second litter will be unprofitable. In any case no matter what her summer care.

So that much of the disputed success or profit from the second litter depends on the proper attention to the above preliminaries, breeding the sow only when she has recuperated, even at the expense of a litter later in farrowing, and giving her special attention during the summer.

For the fall farrowed pig needs every aid and no handicap. The man who can unflinchingly carry through the winter a fair percentage of September and October pigs is a true and tested hog breeder. For, give such pigs fairly warm quarters; they get runty, pot-bellied and hump-backed; develop rheumatism, cripple and pass on after having been a nuisance to themselves and their feeder. Give them a colder pen; they act as above, only more so; they pile in a steaming heap, or burrow into the damp straw. There is no more God-forsaken creature than a poor-doing fall pig in January.

Apparently, the radical method of outdoor housing as used for breeding stock may be adopted for the fall farrowed pig, in a modified sense. Where a sow can be given the use of a dry, open shed in a corner of which is made a low straw-covered sleeping berth, well bedded inside, and where she can wander about a barn-yard with her charges until they are weaned, the pigs become hardened or used to the gradually increasing cold. Provided their sleeping pen is dry little crippling will ensue. If they have been supplied during the later stages of the nursing period with a "creep" containing a small self-feeder and a trough of skim milk, little check will be evidenced at weaning. They may be carried on through the winter on the self-feeder with a warm sloppy drink daily and a supply of earth, ashes and charcoal. From evidence available at Ottawa during the past two years, this system of management will result in less mortality than any other. The dry quarters, exercise in the barn-yard and the self-feeder as a constant source of nourishment are apparently responsible.

BEWARE of a meal ration with too much fibre!

Ground oats, 2 parts, or one part each of barley and oats; shorts, 2 parts; ground corn, 1 part; oil meal 10%, constitutes a good ration for the growing pig. Elevator screenings, if of high quality may be added at four months of age and the corn increased considerably as the pigs near the finish. Milk in some form is the best feed of all. Feeding this, tankage may be supplied in a box or small self-feeder. Clover or alfalfa hay in a small rack will be greatly relished and is a cheap winter supplement, too frequently forgotten. Ashes, charcoal, odds, earth, etc., are very necessary. Such hogs should be ready for market in April or May, when there is usually a good demand.

In brief, the fall litter is all too frequently a losing proposition. By exercising care in the breeding of the sow and in her summer care,—by housing her and her litter as suggested in the late fall and winter,—the fall litter may be made a profitable "side-line" without interfering with the sow's chances for her main effort,—the spring litter.

New Theory of Engagements

The marriage arranged between M. and N. will not take place."

Such announcements are becoming increasingly common. Engagements broken off without public announcement at all are commoner still.

"We are not more fickle than our mothers or grandmothers," said a girl whose engagement has lately been broken off to a representative of the London press, yesterday.

"Our problem in regard to marriage is the same as theirs, but the conditions are totally different. Girls are more particular than they were before the war, when their chief vocation in life was to become married. We can enjoy men's comradeship now without feeling obliged to marry the first man who asks us or is seen about with us; we are not jeered at if we do not marry at all; we are able to follow, therefore, our own method, and wait until we find the right man.

"A broken engagement for a girl is no longer considered either a synonym for a broken heart or a scandal; it does not spoil her chance of becoming engaged again."

The man's point of view is equally businesslike.

"It is not the case that we enter into engagements lightly, but we look on the betrothal less hypocritically than I think, our parents did," said a young man.

"Look at it sensibly. An engagement is the only means by which thousands of young people of opposite sexes can learn to know enough of each other to decide whether or not they would be happy in marriage. The majority of engagements end in the normal way at the altar, but there are plenty of cases in which the engaged couple find after a time that they had better never have been born than be bound irrevocably together. The broken engagement may save a life of misery for both."

Fatal Accident In Moncton Yard

A sad fatality occurred Friday evening at 4.45 o'clock in Moncton railway yard when Cecil Taylor Coates, one of the best known and highly respected C. N. R. brakemen, on the third division was almost instantly killed by shunting engine Number 804 which was moving cars at or near the east end of the railway roundhouse. While no one of the engine crew actually saw the accident, it is known almost to a certainty that the unfortunate young man, who was one of the engine crew, fell, presumably by slipping, when he was about to step on the foot board of the slowly moving engine, and was run over. Three wheels at least passed over his body which was almost completely cut in two. The accident was immediately noticed by the driver and fireman who summoned help from a nearby shop. Coates was removed from under the tender in an unconscious condition and hurried to the city hospital in the motor ambulance, driver Welch making the trip from police headquarters to Albert street and back to the hospital in exactly seven minutes. The terribly injured man died just about the time the ambulance arrived at the hospital. Dr. F. J. White was summoned to give medical attendance. The deceased worked on the shunter from eight o'clock in the morning and would have gone off work at four in the afternoon, but put in some extra time. At the time of the accident there were but a few minutes work remaining to be done, according to the evidence of the remaining members of the crew which consisted of: Conductor A. J. MacDonald, foreman; driver, Fred Copeland; fireman Purdy Lutes; brakemen, W. J. Armstrong and Cecil T. Lutes.
