Beautiful Cynthia;

Victory After Many Defeats.

CHAPTER XXI.
A LITTLE WAR.

Had she become engaged to Northam? Perhaps they were married—it was quite possible; Lady Gwen would know how to apply the pressure, the daily, hourly, insidious pressure which wears down opposition, as the continual dropping of water wears away a stone. Yes; perhaps she was married! Oh, he wouldn't think of her; he would not! He'd got something better to think of; there was the fort, the fight a couple of days ahead.

Let him think of that; let him dwell upon the men, the comrades he had lost, the dear good fellows whom, as they lay in the quiet and peace of death, he had sometimes envied. He didn't want to die before they got to the fort, to close quarters with the enemy. He strongly objected to being sniped by a dirty savage behind a rock. He wondered whether he could end the game of life in a hand-to-hand fight.

With a hot flush of shame—for a soldier's life belongs not to himself, but to his king and country—he drove his ignoble longing from him, and at last fell asleep.

CHAPTER XXII.
MISSING.

It may be easy for a well-seasoned soldier, a toughened veteran, to sleep soundly in any circumstances. Is there not a story of Suvaroff, the great Russian general, who, when awakened and told that the attack by the foe had commenced, turned over and, with a yawn, requested that he might be called when a certain regiment in the forefront of the battle had gained a given point? But Darrel was young and his nerves highly strung, and he could not forget the stealthy foe surrounding him.

He woke in a couple of hours and lay for a time on his back, looking up at the wonderful sky, a cobalt blue, in which the stars shone like burnished silver; then he got out of his blanket and noiselessly went round about his men, most of whom were sleeping like infants from whose lips the feeding bottle had just dropped. No lights nor fires had been lit, for even the striking of a match might

Could Not Digest His Food

Suffered For Years From Indigestion Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett.
If you suffer from chronic indigestion, forget about the stomach and pay attention to the condition of the liver and bowels. Ten to one that is where the real trouble lies. The liver gets sluggish and fails to filter the bile from the blood, the bowels become constipated and the whole digestive system is upset. As to cure, you cannot do better than to read of Mr. Barrett's experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment so prompt and thoroughly effective. Mr. J. D. S. Barrett, Nelson, B. C., and formerly of Twillingate, Nfld., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried proved futile until in 1908 I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using about eight boxes I was completely cured. Since that time I have not been troubled with indigestion, which I consider a great blessing." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanston Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

serve as a mark for the man behind the rock.

For the same reason every glittering object, a sword, the epaulets of the officers, were either set aside or concealed.

The expeditionary force was, according to the latest idea, a dull yellowish-drab body whose color, or lack of color, was fused into that of the hills.

Not long since we marched to a certain battle with flags flying and bands playing; but we have learned by costly experience that this spectacular display is more suitable for the ninth of November, for the Lord Mayor's show, than for modern warfare.

Darrel seated himself behind a rock and sucked at his unlit pipe, wrapped in a silence broken only by the occasional complaint of a camel suffering, like himself, from insomnia; and presently another form crept up to him. It was Dunton, as wide awake as Darrel; and he, too, was sucking at a precious pipe.

"I saw you get up," he said, in a whisper, as if he were under a spell of the silence. "I thought I was tired enough, when I lay down to sleep through a regular bombardment, but it was no go. How the men snore! And why shouldn't they? They haven't anything on their minds; they've only got to do what they're told, and go where they're ordered."

"And they do it," said Darrel. "Rather! I say, have you any idea how many of those gentry we have to tackle?"

Darrel thought a moment. "Difficult to say," he replied. "I think it must be between six and seven hundred. Some of them are spread around on the hills keeping pace with us, and, of course, there are others in and about the fort. The fellows, who are on the hills above, have been hanging onto us, will do so until we reach the fort."

"And we're all told—let's see. There's four hundred of the Rexfords; there's the battalion of the native infantry, four hundred; half a company of miners and sappers, forty; and the two mountain batteries, say, eight hundred. And the transports—but you can't count them in as fighters. Pretty even, as far as numbers go, but the Afridis will have the pull, or will have until we come to close quarters, for they can, and do, thin us out as 'we go marching along.'"

"Yes; I suppose we're not so strong as we should be," said Darrel. "but we shall worry through all right."

"Some of us," said Dunton, with a grin. "I wonder whether any of the armchair strategists and club warriors, who've never smelled powder, have any idea of the seriousness of these little frontier scraps. They think they know, because some Johnnie, who generally mugs up his information from a book, writes about it as if he had been there all the time. That's a ball from a Schneider," he broke off as something went "bleurr" and a splinter flew from a rock near them. "I've learned the different sounds. The Schneider has its 'bleurr, bleurr,' the Martini-Henry its 'crack, click,' and the Mauser its 'tack, tick.'"

"They make very good Mausers in Cabul," remarked Darrel, a trifle cynically. "We taught 'em. And the native gunsmith, with the right tools, can turn out a very good imitation of a small-bore rifle, its only fault being that the bore is generally too small, and gets choked pretty soon; so if he can't buy, borrow, or steal a Mauser from Cabul he prefers a Martini-Henry or a Schneider."

Dunton glanced at the serious face beside him.

"You seem to have picked up a great deal of information, Frayne," he remarked.

Darrel shrugged his shoulders. "My man, Lal Sef, talks sometimes," he said, "and I've a decent memory."

"Lal and you are rather pals, aren't you?" said Dunton. "He appears to be devoted to you."

"Lal's a good sort. I happened to be of some use to him a little while back—"

"I know, I heard," said Dunton. "You got a daughter of his out of a tight place. I heard him telling me about it. Saved the girl from a double-dyed scoundrel of the Adelphi type, and got her safely married to her own fancy man."

"These chaps never forget a benefit or an injury, I'll say that for them," remarked Dunton. "They can be grateful as well as cruel—and, by George! they can be the latter. Potts, of the sappers, who has played this game before, says that when the fighting is over the women come out with carefully sharpened knives and—"

"But it isn't a very cheerful subject; it doesn't seem to chime in with his peaceful scene. And it is peaceful, isn't it? If it weren't for those ugly nine-pounders these blessed nules have been squealing under all day, you'd fancy this was a scene in pastoral play."

He moved as if he were going away, but paused, and, looking away from the motionless figure beside him, said awkwardly:

"I say, Frayne, we—you or I—one of us may not come through this."

"The odds are even," said Frayne, hesitantly.

"That's about it," assented Dunton. "I suppose you've written home?"

"No," replied Darrel, rather curtly. "Dunton colored under his tan. "Oh, I didn't know; thought perhaps we might exchange messages, don't you know." As he spoke he fingered a piece of paper folded like an envelope.

"I've got a little screed here that I should be glad for my mother to get if I don't come out to the roll call—"

Darrel held out his hand, without a word, and without a word Dunton slipped the paper into it. Then he waited, but Darrel, having put the message in his pocket, made no sign.

"Want a pencil, piece of paper?" asked Dunton suggestively.

STEVENS RECOVERS

After Years of Suffering. Tells How Her Health Was Regained.

Waurike, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to you for special advice. In a short time I had regained my health and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D., No. 2, Comanche, Okla.

Another Woman Recovers.
Newton, N.H.—"For five years I suffered from female weakness and dragging down pains. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored my health and the pains are gone."—Mrs. F. A. PEASLEE, R. F. D., Box 88.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Darrel shook his head; but suddenly his lips drew straight and he frowned reflectively.

The wedding ring he had bought the night he had parted from Cynthia lay snugly in a corner of one of his pockets.

If he fell—well, it would not be pleasant to think that the thing would adorn the blood-stained finger of an Afridi woman.

He took it out, accepted a sheet of paper from Dunton, folded the ring, and addressed the tiny packet to Cynthia. He gave it to Dunton with an apologetic laugh that sounded rather grim.

"Both messages to be returned if we come through all right, of course," he said.

"Of course," assented Dunton, also with a laugh, for he was rather ashamed of this exchange of farewell messages. "The dear old mater would like to have a last word."

Darrel rose and almost stretched out his hand to recover the ring. Why should he harrow Cynthia with the gruesome token? But Dunton had stolen away, and Darrel did not call him back.

Darrel returned to his blanket and got another sleep. He was awakened by the stir of the camp. In the shimmer of the heat rising from the ground the various objects moved like figures in a dissolving view.

The camels sighed and groaned as they were loaded up with the dry fodder and long water tins; the mules kicked and whined as the leather skins, also containing the precious fluid, were adjusted to their sleek sides or the nine-pounders were strapped across their backs.

The expeditionary force was about to start for the long day's march, to toll in the heat, to offer a mark to the half-naked gentlemen behind the rocks on the hills above; but every man bore himself cheerfully, for on the morrow—just before dawn, so it was rumored—they would cease to be targets for the unseen Afridi marksman, and would—oh, happy reflection!—come to close quarters with him.

The Joy of Giving.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Whenever most of us think of practical philanthropy, we push a mental button labeled "Pastime peculiar to the old rich." Therein lies a fallacy that robs us of much of the joy of living; expressed in this instance, in the joy of giving. It is true that we can give not largely, perhaps, but we can give in accordance with our incomes.

The trouble with the people who constitute the class to which most of us belong, neither disgracefully rich or disconcertingly poor, is that we give in the abstract. At Christmas time and again at Thanksgiving, we hearken to the appeal of the Salvation Army. At various times during the year we respond to the need of the heathen. A famine in India, a flood in China, or a lesser catastrophe nearer at hand, wrings a dollar, or ten from us.

Strange folk that we are, we go no further. We can read "A Christmas Carol" and be divinely touched by the story of Scrooge's softening, yet we fail to grasp the lesson that Dickens tried to teach. The fact that "Tiny Tim" is but a type, and that, if sins of omission are counted, we are to be reckoned as but other Scrooges, escapes our observation.

The point of all this? I can answer best, perhaps, by telling of such things as I have observed. I know of a slimly salaried minister who devotes ten per cent of his income to helping needy families he himself searches out. I know of an old couple who would have long since been separated, the one in the poorhouse, the other in a home for the aged indigent, were it not for the charity of a girl who, from the money she herself earns, pays their rent.

I know of a crippled child who has a fairy godmother, whom you would describe as just a colorless little stenographer lady. I know of an old blind woman who prays daily—hourly. I might almost say—for a "vera bona lass" who comes to her, chats with her, and occasionally brings her the luxury she craves, tea, in quarter pound packages.

It may be that you do not know of such cases. Then you have never looked. It may be that you think it would be nice of you, but dull. You are wrong. Scrooge gave not because he believed it his duty, but because of a strange, sweet warmth that thawed his heart, and because of a strange, new pleasure with which he thrilled in the act of giving.

Far-fetched it may sound to you. But try it.

Ruth Cameron

A WOMAN'S GOOD LOOKS.

Depend on her general health and freedom from pain. Many a woman looks old before her time because of those irregularities which are essentially feminine. Starting from early womanhood, she suffers from frequently recurring derangements that upset her womanly health. If she has beautiful hair that grows into that mellow age without wrinkles and crow's feet about the eyes or the blue circles underneath, it is invariably the rule that such women suffer little, or not at all, from womanly derangements which seep the health and leave in the face the tell-tale story of pain and suffering.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, the famous specialist in the diseases of women, found a prescription in his early practice that soothed the organism peculiar to womanhood—oiled the machinery, as it were, of the human system—and helped the woman to pass those painful periods that scar-lined and aged her face. This remedy became the well-known Dr. Pierce's Prescription, that has benefited thousands of women and saved them from misery and suffering at different periods in life.

Mrs. HASKELY E. FRANK, of 844 Bright Street, Sania, Ont., writes: "I am now a well woman after suffering for three years and doctoring with several different doctors, each one saying it was something different, and the last one, after passing me through a thorough examination, said I was suffering from a growth, which, in time, would result in cancer, and I said I would consent to have it removed, but I was operated upon right away. I became hopelessly discouraged but would not consent to the operation as I was too weak and too much afraid, but at last, through the advice of a friend, I tried Dr. Pierce's medicine, and after using two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I immediately felt a change. I also used two boxes of 'Healing Suppositories' and eight boxes of 'Lotion Tablets,' and can safely praise the name of Dr. Pierce's medicines to all who suffer from any female disease, for these medicines are all they are claimed to be, and I hope will help others as they have helped me."

Duties of the Old-Time Nurses.

Were Required to Carry Out Dead and Bury Them.

In their "History of Nursing" the authors, Miss Nutting and Miss Dock, quote from an article written in 1764 which give an insight into what was required of the trained nurse in the eighteenth century. The article says: "This occupation is as important for humanity as its functions are low and repugnant. All persons are not adapted to it, and the heads of hospitals ought to be difficult to please, for the lives of patients may depend upon their choice of applicants. The nurse should be patient, mild, compassionate. She should console the sick, foresee their needs and relieve their tedium.

"The domestic duties of the nurse are to light the fires in the wards and keep them going, to carry and distribute nourishment, to accompany the surgeons and doctors on their rounds and afterward to remove all dressings, etc.; to sweep the halls and wards and keep the persons of the patients and their surroundings clean, to empty all vessels and change the patients' linen, to prevent noise, quarrelling and disturbances, to notify the steward of everything they see which is wrong, to carry out the dead and bury them, to light the lamps in the evening and visit the sick during the night and to watch them continually, giving them every aid which their state requires and treating them with kindness and consideration."

In Aid of the Deaf.

Invention Will Make Electrical Hearing Apparatus Much Cheaper.

London, April 21.—A remarkable invention was shown recently by the National Association for the Prevention and Amelioration of Deafness.

It is an electrical contrivance for the use of doctors and aurists. By the operation of a series of levers the aurist can tell almost immediately the class of mechanical aid needed for a particular case. The instrument, according to the association's description, "raises the level of supplying aural aids and their adjustment to the level of supplying eye-glasses and their adjustment."

It was declared that one effect of the invention will be to bring about a substantial reduction in the cost of electrical hearing apparatus, a cost which is said to be excessively high on account of the time occupied in testing the extent of the defect in would be customers.

A well-known cotton magnate is interested in the invention.

Caruso Sings in Big Prison.

Presented with Flowers—Ty Cobb Was Another Famous Visitor, and Was Given Great Reception by Convict Ball Teams.

Atlanta, Ga., April 24.—Enrico Caruso, the operatic tenor, and Tyrus Cobb, the baseball player, visited the federal prison here.

Caruso sang in the prison chapel at the request of Warden Moyer, made in behalf of the Italians who are serving sentences. All the prisoners were allowed to hear the noted singer, and many were moved to tears when he sang the "Sob Song" from Pagliacci.

Caruso was visibly affected at the conclusion of his programme, when his fellow countrymen in the prison presented him with two large bouquets of roses.

Cobb was given a hearty demonstration by members of the six prison baseball teams.

THURSDAY, May 8, 1913.

Notes and Comments.

We notice that Sir Edward Morris arrived at Bay de Verde yesterday afternoon on his way to open a political campaign in Pogo Electoral District. The usual telegraphic "booming" set in this morning. Sir Edward puts his nose in the harbor and of course Crosbie and Whitew's stock goes up "fully one-third." Eity he didn't work the same miracles on the railway loan stock he raised to pay the contractor for building the branch lines.

At its annual meeting the National Liberal Club of England turned down, by a large majority the "no-treating" resolution. In Newfoundland, as in England, clubs must be registered before they can sell alcoholic liquors to their members, and an unregistered club is regarded as a shebeen. There is this difference however that in Newfoundland a no-treating law was passed as regards clubs, after its beneficial effect had been tested by experience.

Clause 66 of the 1906 Intoxicating Liquors Act, runs thus:—"No member of any registered club shall on the premises of any registered club pay for any intoxicating liquor to be consumed by any other member of such club, under a penalty of one hundred dollars to be recovered by any person who shall sue for the same in a summary manner before a Stipendiary Magistrate."

It is very evident that the barbaric and outrageous conduct of the extreme militant suffragettes is defeating the object of their propaganda. They have undoubtedly gained a maximum of publicity by their campaign but it is equally clear they have alienated considerable sympathy, from what may be regarded as their legitimate claims and aims. Persuasion by Steamer Erik's Bill.

The S. S. Erik finished discharging her seals yesterday afternoon. She turned out 3,177 young harps, 6 young hoods, 2,339 bellmets, 527 old harps and 10 old hoods, total, 6,119 seals, valued at $8,446.06. The net weight of the cargo was 124 tons, 13 cwt. 0 qrs. and 25 lbs. The crew shared $24.55 each. The fifty men who were landed at Bonavista because they refused to hunt old seals, will get a proportionate share, but the amount due them will not cover their crop expenses.

OTTAWA, To-day.
An Order in Council abolishing the Board of Management of the Government Railway and appointing Frederick Gutelius, General Manager of the whole system, was tabled in the House. The appointment is for a definite period of two years, thereafter at the pleasure of the Minister of Railways. Gutelius' salary is $20,000 a year. He will make regional visits to the organization of staff, conditions of employment, and collection of revenues. The yearly report is to be submitted to the Minister at Ottawa. A decidedly unusual case at law wherein the Dominion Government is plaintiff and a British Columbia Judge, defendant, has been entered in the Exchequer Court.

The action is taken against Judge Clement of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, based upon an allegation of false representations by him as to travelling expenses. The amount sought to be recovered is $4,250. The statement of claim says in part that the said defendant in applications and certificates re travelling expenses, falsely and fraudulently stated and represented, that he was a regular conductor for five years. He has not been employed in that capacity since the incident as stated in this morning's Daily News.

The Village Blacksmith

There is another big minstrel comedy of sixteen people at Rossley's Theatre to-night; a long rollicking act full of fun, lots of good songs, catchy choruses and novelty dancing. The plot is a very laughable one. Juliette Talbot, the Song Bird, will be heard in another of her sweet offerings. Jack and Marie Rossley, Shadrick and Talbot, Orth and Burkhardt, the tiny tots Ann Hockey and Irene Rice, Bonnie and Victor Rossley. See the great electrical novelty anvil chorus. This is one funny show; new and elegant wardrobe. Every one should see the Village Blacksmith.

Beware of Welsh Rarebits.

Doctor Calls it Deadly — Are We a Nation of Cranks!

"Welsh rarebit is the most injurious substance a person can eat," according to Dr. Francis G. Benedict, director of the Carnegie Nutrition Laboratory. He believes it is even worse than small quantities of benzoate of soda and borax and boric acid. The only difference is that one can achieve a weird dream on a rarebit, whereas benzoate of soda does not spur the sleeper's imagination.

Dr. Benedict ridiculed food faddists from Fletcher down. He declared vegetarians, although they might not indulge in a meat diet, were doing their best to imitate the taste and smell of it.

"Man is carnivorous, and is at his best only when he lives on a meat diet," said Dr. Benedict, "notwithstanding the fact that there are exceptions to this rule. Of course, moderation in a meat diet produces the best results. We are becoming a nation of cranks."

The Money Kings.

"The Money Kings, or a Diplomatic Mission," of which so much has been heard of late, was presented at the Nickel Theatre yesterday to crowded houses. Everybody who saw it was charmed and pronounced it one of the finest films ever seen here. The great drama is faithfully acted while the scenes, fittings and furniture are magnificent. The story revolves round a young American Diplomat who has been appointed as Peace Commissioner at the Hague. He returns to America for the President's signature to a document, and the Money Kings whose interests are in keeping with war, not peace, steal it from him with the aid of a celebrated and beautiful woman. The Diplomat's fiancée is the daughter of one of the Money Kings, and by stealth she gets possession of the document and hurries to the steamer to find that he has left with an official envelope containing nothing but a blank sheet. She sends him a wireless message and dispatches the document by aeroplane. It reaches him safely and the Money Kings are stung. It is one of the most exciting films ever seen here. "The production of Money" was a most interesting industrial picture. The singing of Misses Gardner and Guerin was again of a high order. There will be new songs this evening. "The Money Kings" will be repeated to-day.

Letter from Mr. Morris

Of the Electrical Department, R. N. Company.

Mr. Morris, of the Electrical Department of the R. N. Co., was very happy in the letter he addressed to the Daily News, particularly in the last paragraph, which runs as follows:—

"We requested on a previous occasion that in reporting incidents of this nature connected with the electrical department, information as to facts should be confirmed or furnished by the writer or by whoever may be in charge, and we would again request that you give this matter your attention."

We do not see what other course the Editor could have adopted than to give it publicity, characterize it as "delightfully dictatorial" and to decline to limit himself to news, confirmed or furnished by Mr. Morris or his subordinates.

The Evening Telegram also received a communication complaining that the alleged cause of the fire was incorrect. It is, however, much more moderate in tone, and does not entirely free from a tinge of it. As our esteemed contemporary has given his readers the benefit of a perusal of the communication addressed to him, we publish the one addressed to us. It is as follows:—

Reid Nfld. Company
Electrical Department,
St. John's, Nfld.,
May 7th, 1913.

"Dear Sir.—We enclose, herewith, 'clippings' taken from this evening's paper, about the fire on Hamilton St., stated to have been caused by electric wire; this is incorrect as the service was not even connected to the house and we want the matter contradicted in your next paper."

"A report of this kind, even if true, is of a serious nature in connection with our business, and we think that your reporters should ascertain the facts before putting such an item in print."

"The writer will be pleased any time to give any reliable information at hand regarding any incidents in connection with this department, and would request that you be good enough to give instructions accordingly."

"Yours very truly,
"J. W. MORRIS."

Now, as to the facts, Mr. Morris has the facts on his side. The fire was not caused by the crossing of the wires. The men of his department were installing electric wires in the house and using a blue flame lamp, which gives an intense heat. The heat of the blue flame ignited the curtains and caused the fire. We give the facts, and correct what was incorrect, but like the Daily News we cannot undertake to limit our reporters to what is confirmed or furnished by Mr. Morris or his subordinates, though we recognize the justice of availing ourselves of the information Mr. Morris offers to furnish.

Struck a "Growler" and is Damaged.

After discharging her salt cargo the S. S. Snowden Range will undergo a survey before going to sea again, as she is slightly injured below the water line as a result of a collision with an iceberg, on her way to this port she passed numerous icebergs in the vicinity of the Flemish cap, some of which were of a large size and very dangerous to shipping. During fog and while the ship was steaming at a reduced rate of speed she struck a "growler" or submerged berg in that neighbourhood. An examination of the damage done will take place and it is likely permanent repairs will be made here.

LABOUR DEMAND.—Within the next week there will be a great demand for labourers in the city as the following steamer are due to arrive with large cargoes.—Tobasco, Montserrat, Carthagena, Shiradi, City of Sydney and Northida.

Uncle Sam and the Government.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I was up to Uncle Sam's last night and we had a long and earnest talk together over next election. When asked his candid opinion of next election, Uncle Sam replied that E. P. Morris had run our good ship Newfoundland on the rocks, and that next fall when the electorate had their chance they would make a bonfire of the Cold Mutton Government. He decided that Western Head would be the best place for the bonfire, as that is the highest elevated land around here.

Uncle Sam thinks (and I am of his opinion) that Morris took the duty off work, tea, etc., as a blind, but Newfoundlanders all see the bait and next time they come around collecting votes, the people will know how to cast their vote. Our roads are in a very poor condition here, and pedestrians waiting to Dawson's Cove must first procure a pair of deck boots. One man who went over quite recently got his foot caught in one of the rat runs, and while trying to get his foot out left his boot in the pit. He was exhausted with his efforts trying to recover his boot but eventually succeeded, and placing it on his foot went on his way rejoicing.

For the first time in thirty years or more, we had a visit this spring from the drift ice. We were cut off completely from the outside world, and we had not had a telegraph office here we would have fared badly. Provisions were getting short until Captain Blandford brought his good ship Glencoe, in the harbor to the delight of all concerned. We appreciate Capt. Blandford's efforts very much and he deserves to be congratulated on the manner in which he handles his ship. I daresay we would have been cut off yet if he had not cut the ice out of the harbor and so left it at the mercy of the wind and tide.

A very sad accident occurred here on March 18th, caused by the school bell, weighing about 150 lbs., falling from its tower and cutting off Frank Ingram's foot. No doctor was available as the ice prevented the steamer from running in Fortine Bay. A crew started to walk to St. Jacques, but before reaching there the ice moved off the shore, and Dr. Fitzgerald came in haste by sea. Frank's parents were distracted over the accident, thinking that blood poisoning might set in, but Dr. F. speedily allayed their fears. Dr. F. did all possible for the little fellow and we are glad to be able to state that he is now on the high road to recovery. Frank, who is only nine years old, bore it bravely.

Aunt Sue (Uncle Sam's wife), wishing to be remembered to all, but as she cannot read, she takes little interest in politics.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain, Yours, etc.,
—J.M.J.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.
Dear Sirs.—Your MINARD'S LINIMENT is our remedy for sore throat, colds and all ordinary ailments. It never fails to relieve and cure promptly.

CHARLES WHOOTEN,
Port Mulgrave.

K. OF C. DINNER.—The billiard dinner in connection with the Knights of Columbus, took place at the club rooms last night, and a pleasant time was spent. Dr. C. Howlett presided and a large number of members were present. The menu, served by Furlong Bros., was excellent. After this was discussed an interesting toast list was taken up. The speeches made, though brief, were humorous.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Here and There.

THREE WHALES CAUGHT.—The whalers operating at the different stations have not met with much success so far. The Cabot, at Balena, and Puma and Lynx, at Rose aux Rues have each captured a whale. The Hump at Dublin Cove has not captured a fish yet. The whaler Elvyn and Cachet will leave for their respective stations before the end of the month.

STONE THROWING.—The habit of throwing stones, indulged in by boys, is becoming all too prevalent and dangerous. Yesterday afternoon a lad struck a horse, which was left standing on King's Road, with a stone. The animal became frightened and but that it was captured in time by its driver would have run away and perhaps done serious damage.

Presentation!

Last evening, after the closing of the stores, the employees of Knowling's West End establishment waited on Mr. Thos. Bennett, the popular foreman of the Grocery Department, who leaves for Toronto in a few days, and presented him with a handsome leather travelling satchel, as a token of their appreciation of his worth. The presentation was made by Mr. John Williams, the manager, who, in well chosen words, complimented Mr. Bennett on the good work he had performed during the long term of 20 years he had been connected with the firm. He also, on behalf of the employees deeply regretted the departure of such a good, all-round co-worker, concluding with the prediction that in the land of the "Maple Leaf" he would meet with endless luck and success. Mr. Bennett was quite taken by surprise, but in a neatly worded speech thanked his fellow workers for the unexpected gift, which he said would tend to keep ever green in his memory, the happy days and associations whilst employed at Knowling's.

Picture Making

By Enlarging.

Pictures attract everyone, and when amateurs realize that not only can they make photographs, but by having these small photographs enlarged they can get real pictures, then the fascination of their hobby is increased a hundredfold. Many of their negatives will possess a value they did not anticipate, as the small direct prints they make are often too inconspicuous to attract attention. We make the very highest grade of enlargements, and do the work promptly.

If you have a small photo which you are fond of, have a result is sure to please you, a hundredfold more than the small one ever did.

RILLINGTON STATESMAN,
Registered No. 1717.

Examined and warranted sound and free from all hereditary diseases and defects by Erwin Murray, M.V.C., to His Majesty the King, June 12th, 1912.

The Cleveland Bay, a hardy, powerful, yet fairly light and swift animal, originated through a blending of the powerful charger of the middle ages, with the more active Barb and Arabian. The Cleveland Bay has lots of quality and substance with well defined sinews, large, clean, flat bones of a density equalled only in the Arab and thoroughbred. His long lineage gives him prepotence in impressing his splendid characteristics and soundness of constitution.

Rillington Statesman, registered in England, was bred among his native hills in the Cleveland Valley of Yorkshire. He is an excellent specimen, color deep rich bay, height 16 1/2 hands, weight about 1400 pounds. His action is high, free and open, his stride long, temper perfect; he is all respects a perfect general utility horse, a free cheerful roaster, sturdy-footed, fearless of all objects and with marvellous endurance. He needs only to be seen to be admired—used to be appreciated.

Strikes.

BY H. L. RANN.

A strike is an expensive form of arbitration which leaves everybody satisfied but the ultimate consumer. It's called a strike because it raises large welts on the common people, who are obliged to pay not only the funeral expenses, but heavy dividends on the outraged feelings of the strike.

Strikes are usually called in order to persuade capital to quit stealing the hedging from labour. When a manufacturer is squeezing 40 per cent. dividends out of stock which is 60 per cent. water, on a pay roll averaging $7.20 a week, he is liable to come down to the plant some bright Monday morning and find everything closed tighter than a mule's saloon on election day. He then makes a 10 per cent. increase in wages and puts several healthy notices in the price to the consumer, in order to assuage his mental anguish.

The coal industry generally manages to have one good, adhesive strike every year, which is usually pulled off just in advance of the time when the mine operators get together and erect a sliding scale of prices. A coal strike is always followed by several handspings in the price of that luxury which keeps man looking for his check book with a grievous look. If there should be two coal strikes in one year, nine-tenths of the people of this country would either have to burn their bedroom furniture or sleep in a haystack.

One of the most offensive forms of strikes is that which occurs in the kitchen. This is not caused by the wage question, but results from indignation on the part of the cook because she cannot have the front parlor four nights a week. Some cooks never strike until the invitations are out for a six-course dinner, and refuse to go on duty unless allowed the use of the piano in the reception hall. This attitude on the part of the hired help has caused a great many women to regret having exchanged $60 a month in the Eighth grade for a glittering assortment of nuptial vows.

Policeman Run Over

BY MOTOR EXPRESS CAR.

Constable Tobin was run over on Water Street at 6.30 last evening by a motor car and narrowly escaped instant death. He is badly shaken up and it is thought hurt internally, but fortunately no bones are broken. Tobin had just got out of a west bound street car directly opposite the Court House and while crossing the street was struck by Ayre & Sons motor express delivery, driven by a man named Garland, and knocked down. At the time of the accident there was a lot of pedestrian traffic and eye-witnesses say that the motor driver must have lost his head. The policeman made an effort to get out of the way and it appears that the course of the vehicle was altered at the same time. When too late to avoid danger the chauffeur applied the emergency brake and brought the express to a standstill while Tobin was pinned underneath it. Messrs. Clouston, Edwards and a few other citizens dragged the victim clear and assisted him to the police station where he was examined by Dr. Anderson who found that his head and back, particularly the latter, were injured. Later he was driven to the General Hospital. Last night the patient suffered much pain but this morning was a great deal better and rested quietly. The Constable was in poor health when he met with the accident, as only a few days ago he recovered from an illness which had laid him up for six weeks. However, his recovery from the present shock is beyond doubt.

Runaway Patient Found.

Annie Stead, the 48 year old female who escaped from the General Hospital on Tuesday night, as exclusively noted in yesterday's Telegram, has been found. All night Tuesday eight police officers scoured the Quidi Vidi section for the missing woman but failed to locate her. Thinking that she may have tried to end her life the police dragged the waters of Quidi Vidi Lake to try and find her body, but this search was also unsuccessful. Just before tea-hour last evening James Young, belonging to Quidi Vidi, found the unfortunate woman, sparsely clad, in a field on the south side of Quidi Vidi Lake. The Hospital authorities were at once notified and the patient was brought back to the institution. The woman Stead is suffering from mental aberration and arrangements are being made for her admittance to the Lunatic Asylum.

"The Old Trustee."

The Casino players have given us all kinds of plays to suit every taste—from comedy to tragedy. We are now to have a different style—a domestic drama, and one of the sweetest and most exquisite. Its deft touches of deep pathos, tender, humor and tensely dramatic action, are enough to move a heart of stone. We have laughed at comedies, been intensely interested in more serious work, but now we should not be surprised to see the most blasé theatre-goer moved to sympathetic tears. Mr. Barr in the role of "The Old Trustee" will be seen in the work he loves best and in which he has earned a well-deserved reputation. Rachel Barr at his faithful wife ably supports him. In fact the whole company have parts which bring out the best that is in them. Don't miss this opportunity, for we fear that, owing to previous contracts, we shall not much longer have this admirable company with us.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE MORRIS.

There passed away at the General Hospital this morning, after a prolonged illness, Mr. George Morris, sailmaker. Deceased was well known in the community and carried on a successful business for over a quarter of a century. He was for forty years a member of the Mechanics' Society. To the widow and children who survive much sympathy will be extended.

Bachelor of Arts at 15.

Father Taught Boy Who is a Mathematical Wizard.

Cambridge, April 22.—William J. Sidis, fifteen, gives promise of obtaining a Harvard Bachelor of Arts next June. This youthful mathematical wizard entered the university at eleven as a specialist in mathematics. Meanwhile he has included sufficient other courses to make his college schedule an evenly balanced one.

Young Sidis is the son of Dr. Boris Sidis, one of the foremost psychologists in the country. His younger years were spent at the knees of his father, where he imbibed the rudimentary knowledge of mathematics which was later to make him known as one of the scholarly marvels of the country. At eight he entered the Brookline High School, and two years later saw him at Tufts, where he remained for one year before entering Harvard.

400 More

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Morris's organ, the Herald, says editorially, on Tuesday, that by next September the Morris Government will have added four hundred new names to the list of pensioned fishermen. This will make a total of 1,200 names. Further along in his diatribe the editor complains that the $50 dole cut out for a worn out fisherman at the age of 75, is regarded by the Opposition as "only a bait to catch the fishermen." No, we do not regard it quite so much in the light of a bait as it is an insult to every worn-out fisherman in Newfoundland, to compel him to wait until he has passed by five years the allotted span of human life, and then force him to beg and plead, with his hands, at the door of the member for the district, for the relief this Pension Scheme of Morris's is supposed to give him. We know of aged fishermen, decrepit, without friend or kin and penniless, who have been refused the pension because they voted according to their convictions, at the last general elections. Sir Edward Morris, in the House of Assembly the past session is reported to have said that there was no political consideration given to the distribution of these pensions. Such a statement is not true. It is absolutely false; and we are prepared, when the time comes, with the proof, that certain members of the People's Party, some of them heads of Departments, have refused the dole to the most deserving and needy applicants in their respective districts. These aged fishermen, so inhumanely treated, are on the brink of the grave; alone in the world, with no son or kinsman, whose interest might be secured through granting them the pension; therefore the bribe must go to him who has the best pull, and a son or sons to vote at the next election.

Such political turpitude as has been complained of in other branches of the public service attaches to the granting of old age pensions as well, and when Morris and his combine face the electorate in the autumn, they may expect to hear in detail harrowing accounts of the manner in which wide-bound politicians and heelers have prevented deserving old men from sharing in the pension fund. When Sir Robert Bond issued his Manifesto in 1908, he said in part: "Any scheme of old age pensions would have to be provided for, beyond peradventure; therefore anybody of men who realize their responsibility as trustees of the public are bound in honor to move carefully in a matter of this kind. The present Government appreciating their responsibility in the premises, and having regard to the general financial exigencies of the country, determined to call into their deliberations several gentlemen who hold the highest position in this city as financiers. These gentlemen have been gratuitously giving of their time to the consideration of this important subject, and together with the Executive Government, are endeavoring to work out a scheme that the Legislature will be warranted in adopting, and that will commend itself to the whole community. The electors of the country may therefore confidently depend upon the present Government bringing into force such a measure at the earliest possible date."

Now, then, the question is has Sir Edward Morris worked out and given to the country a Pension Scheme, such as Sir Robert Bond promised to introduce at the earliest possible date? Are the 40,000 able bodied fishermen of this country, who will some of them in the very near future be compelled to lay down the "White Man's Burden," for ever going to be gulled by Morris and his so-called People's Party with his dead man's pension scheme?

Morris says to the worn-out fisherman, work and sweat and struggle for a lifetime at the fishery; wear out as you must because of the hardships you have gone through at the age of 65; poverty and want will in all probability then be your portion; but you must cheer up an assistance as best you can for 10 years longer; and if at the age of 75 you are still alive, provided there is not another old man in your settlement who has a bigger pull than you have, why you may get a pension. Hasten the day cry the fishermen of the country, and give us the ballot paper with which we intend to transfer Statesman Morris to pastures new. He has now been 30 years in the House of Assembly and 15 years in the Government, fattening at the Government crib. When the present political pirates are driven from the ship and Terra Nova's destiny once more placed in the hands of honest and faithful public men, then will it be possible to give every aged poor man and woman in the colony a reasonable pension.

Yours, etc., E. O'DEA, St. John's, May 7th, 1913.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DIS-

Two Rivals

Two Famous Sea Skippers Who Contested for the Blue Ribbon of the Sea.

(By H. F. SHORTIS.)

Nothing interests Newfoundlanders more than to hear accounts of the perils, the hardships and the escapes of their fellowcountrymen, more especially upon the high seas, and this is nothing to be wondered at, as from time immemorial their lives have been and still are mainly connected with the fisheries and mercantile marine of our country.

In years gone by before the sailing fleet was superseded by steam hundreds of our young men were employed in our mercantile marine, and their reputations for able-seamanship, agility, the power of withstanding hardship and their contempt for danger, gave them a wide-world reputation.
Their services were sought after and eagerly availed of, on both sides of the Atlantic, and hence we find their names figuring in the maritime history of England, United States, India, Japan and all those countries where commercial enterprises have been steadily advancing until they possess that prominence which they possess to-day. In the East India trade the late Capt. Alex. Chitt was a trusted and competent commander, and for many years sailed between London and Calcutta and other parts of India and China. In Egypt he had the late Commander Richard Prior, of St.
John's, who was for years in charge of one of the largest of the great fleet of steamers plying between the above country and English ports. In the far South we had the late Capt. Theodore Watts, the most successful seal-hunter of the Southern Seas, who had his home in New Zealand for many years. In British Columbia we have the Noels, Barrys, Jackmans, Al-cocks, Heaters, Gosses, etc., who have upheld the reputation of their native land in that northern clime. In connection with Arctic exploration, we had the late Capt. W. H. Norman who successfully navigated the ship Proteus to the frozen north, and who was the means of saving the lives of Greely and his companions from a terrible death through hardship, misery and starvation, and, even to-day, we have in our midst our plucky and competent young Commander, Robert Bartlett, who has made a name for himself and his crew of Newfound-landers in accomplishing their part of the mission in discovering the North Pole. They have nobly upheld the reputation of their fellow-countrymen for pluck, perseverance and capability as sailors, either in the frozen North towards the Pole, or the burning sun of India, Africa, or South America. All this great love for a sea-faring life, surrounded as it is by its hardships and its dangers, has been handed down from sire to son until it has become their very nature to seek the most dangerous adventures, and thus they are to be found in the front rank of every enterprise where their duty calls them. In their youth a spirit of friendly rivalry existed amongst them, and each vied with the other to accomplish the most dangerous undertaking first. It was the height of their ambition to be first on the royal yard, first on the lee yard arm, first over the bows when the "rams" were used to enable the crew to assist their ship in her passage through the ice-floes, in a word, every was competition in every act of their busy and exciting lives, from being first on the ice, to hauling the largest number of seals in one tow, it was amusing to listen to the determination of each and every one of those hardy sailor men advance and endeavour to maintain the superior sailing quality, steering quality and every other quality of the respective vessels in which they sailed at one period or other.
Not alone would the sailors advertise the various good qualities of their vessels, but, the captains, and even the owners would also enter the debate, the result being an understanding that at the first available opportunity the question would be settled by starting for the same port, at the same time, if at all possible, and many hundreds of dollars would change hands on the result being known, and it is hard to say on occasion that gives the material for my present article.

Over half a century ago there stood prominently forward amongst our shipbuilders, two men, either of whom was certainly looked upon as the Michael Angelo in the construction of the Mercantile Marine of our country. It would be difficult indeed for any person, no matter how proficient in nautical affairs, to award the prize to either one or the other. Each had a glorious record—having built and launched the most famous of our fleet.

Although several of the vessels were employed in plying between Europe, South America and elsewhere, it somehow happened that one was a week or more ahead in starting, and thus nothing definite could be decided regarding their sailing qualities—the experience of the crew, or the capabilities of the masters. The names of these great master-builders were Michael Kearney, of St. John's, and Jonas Newhook, of New Harbour, Trinity Bay. At last the opportunity occurred of deciding for once and for always the matter as to which should bear the palm. Each of the famous ships held a notable record, the Rothsay, of Harbour Grace, built by Kearney, and owned by Punton & Munn, having made the run from the above port to Liverpool and back in thirty-eight days, and upon her, built by Newhook, owned by Stabb, Rowe and Holmwood, St. John's, had also a record which was considered hard to best, even by the shipyards which were built, and manned by British master-workmen and sailors on the other side of the Atlantic. The Rothsay was commanded by Capt.
Taylor and the Tasso by Capt. Gold-worthy, and each was manned by as hardy and as competent a crew as ever was met.

In the year 1856, the good ship Tasso, barque rigged, built in '53 or '54, sailed from the wharf of Stabb, Rowe and Holmwood, bound for Demerara, British Guiana, and upon her arrival found moored near where she dropped her anchor, the full-rigged barque Rothsay of Harbour Grace, which arrived only a few hours in advance. The two ships discharged and loaded with sugar, the Tasso bound to St. John's and the Rothsay to Harbour Grace. As a matter of course great rivalry existed between the two captains, and as a natural consequence, the consignees—the friends of the captains and crews, became most enthusiastic over the prospect of such a glorious opportunity to test the sailing qualities of the two famous ships.
The two captains bet ten pounds sterling on their respective ships—the consignees took their hand in, and the sailors' bet according to their means.
As the Rothsay had to go to Harbour Grace, it was decided that the result should be final upon the first to arrive and report at Cape Spear, near St. John's. The two ships left Demerara at three o'clock, on one beautiful day in July, with a light breeze and every inch of sail that they could carry on them. Each captain and crew saw their chance of being first drawn and going through the water like a sword fish. The sun soon set, and the tropical night, overcast the stars, and the moon shone brightly and there was no sign of the Rothsay from the look-out of the Tasso.
There was a fine breeze blowing, and the Tasso was slipping along at the rate of nine knots, with scarcely a ripple under her bows. Favorable weather continued until the fourteenth day out, when about 2 a.m.
"Cape Race light was seen, and the ship hauled up for the land, and as the day broke she was quite near the cape and was slightly anchored in sight. When the sun rose, the mist disappeared, and the look-out sighted a sail well towards the shore; but before she was sighted, the Tasso had never been in sight. After a little while, she made out that it was a full-rigged barque, and then it was known that it was their rival. Then came the tug-of-war—Greek to Greek—the pride of the Newfound-and mercantile marine. The Rothsay was further towards the land, and her rival and managed to catch occasional puffs of wind from the sea-lands, and passed the winning point, Cape Spear, in advance of the Tasso. When the Tasso was at Sugar Loaf, and thus won the race, which, should say, was more interesting than some of the international ocean races which take place at different periods, and which are nothing to boast of when we take into account all the benefits that are to be derived from modern improvements in the art of ship-building. The voyage of the Tasso occupied forty-one days, from the time she sailed from the wharf of Stabb, Rowe and Holmwood (now Allan Goodridge & Sons) until she was moored there again, on her return from Demerara.

And now it falls to my lot to record the final history of those two famous ships—the champion Rothsay

and her worthy rival, the Tasso.
Some time after, the Rothsay ran ashore at Western Bay Head, Bay de Verde, during a terrible snow storm.
She was then also under the command of Capt. Taylor, and Capt. Edward Condon was chief mate. That sturdy descendant of a long line of mariners, Capt. James Pike, of Carbonara, still hale and hearty, was one of the crew as was also the late Johnny Fennell. I forget the names of the rest. After considerable difficulty and great expense she was floated off, and towed to Harbour Grace
by the old steamer Ellen (Gisborne),
and was turned bottom up at Munn's eastern wharf, where a new keel was put in her. When this was accomplished, she was righted again, and the services of the fire engine "Mederara" were brought into requisition,
and as this famous machine was provided with extension handles, capable of permitting, probably, fifty men to work on each side, she was quickly pumped out, and was once more upright on her own keel. Before she ran ashore she was barque-rigged, with spanker, gaff-topsail and mizzentopsail staysails; but afterwards she was rigged a brig and her name was changed to Terra Nova. She was lost during the great gale, October 9th, 1867, at Indian Tickle, Labrador, and a glorious opportunity was lost.
The Tasso was three hundred and three tons, about sixty tons larger than her successful rival. The career of this splendid specimen of local built vessels was forever finished during a great gale in December, 1856, when on a voyage to Rio Janeiro, Brazil, to New York, with a cargo of coffee, when off Sandy Hook, the full fury of the hurricane burst upon her, and notwithstanding the heroic efforts of the captain and crew, she was driven against the rocks. Four of her crew—three St. John's men and an Englishman, manned the lifeboat, but they had barely entered her when she was swamped by the heavy sea and the breakers and the four of them were drowned. The captain and the remainder of the crew remained on board the ship, and their terrible condition being observed by the watchman on shore, efforts were quickly made to save their lives. A life-saving rocket with a line attached, was fired in the direction of the ill-fated ship, but it failed to reach, and five times the effort was repeated, and at the fifth most fortunately the rocket carried the line on board the Tasso, where it was quickly secured by the crew. Communication was then established between the Tasso and the life-savers on shore, and a hawser was attached to the line, which was also secured by the shore people, after which a life-saving car was sent on board over the hawser—pulled back and forth by those on either end—until all the unfortunate mariners were safely landed. It is worthy of note that the rescue of the crew of the Tasso from the wreck was the first trial of the life-saving rocket on the American coast, and at the time, caused the greatest interest amongst shipowners and mariners, as well as the people generally, of the Old World and the New.

famous ships—the champion Rothsay
and her worthy rival, the Tasso.
Some time after, the Rothsay ran
ashore at Western Bay Head, Bay de
Verde, during a terrible snow storm.
She was then also under the command of Capt. Taylor, and Capt. Edward Condon was chief mate. That sturdy descendant of a long line of mariners, Capt. James Pike, of Carbonara, still hale and hearty, was one of the crew as was also the late Johnny Fennell. I forget the names of the rest. After considerable difficulty and great expense she was floated off, and towed to Harbour Grace
by the old steamer Ellen (Gisborne),
and was turned bottom up at Munn's eastern wharf, where a new keel was put in her. When this was accomplished, she was righted again, and
the services of the fire engine "Med-
erara" were brought into requisition,
and as this famous machine was provided with extension handles, capable
of permitting, probably, fifty men to work on each side, she was quickly
pumped out, and was once more upright on her own keel. Before she
ran ashore she was barque-rigged,
with spanker, gaff-topsail and mizzen-
topsail staysails; but afterwards she
was rigged a brig and her name was changed to Terra Nova. She was lost
during the great gale, October 9th, 1867, at Indian Tickle, Labrador, and
a glorious opportunity was lost.
The Tasso was three hundred and three tons, about sixty tons larger Forest Fires.

Now that the warm weather has set in, trouters and other parties visiting country resorts should exercise extreme care and see that after having been in the woods fires are not left burning. A timely warning in this direction seems most imperative in view of the many forest fires that occurred during last summer and previous ones.

Gloucester, Mass., April 26.—Ben-

84. While eating fish chowder many years ago, he noted a gluey substance on his spoon and after experimenting for some time established an industry which has become one of the largest in the city.

THE BEST WAY TO SELECT

Men's American Cut Suits, and to insure CLOTHES satisfaction is to "TRY ON."

Many men appear to think that if they try on garments they are expected to buy. NOT SO AT COLLINS'S.

OUR AMERICAN CUT SUITS are here to be shown and tried on. We're always as ready to show as we are to sell and we'll find as much pleasure in showing you as you will in "TRYING ON."

SUITS--$7.50 to $14.00.

Every housewife who possesses a shady veranda should plan to have occasional meals upon it, instead of in the dining room. It means fresh air and a delightful change, and it prevents people getting into a rut.

Many hostesses have a different dinner service used for the various courses of a dinner, simply to avoid monotony. At any rate, it is always safe to have glass plates for the sea food and odd plates for salad and dessert.

LONDON, May 7.—An attempt to wreck St. Paul's Cathedral, was made yesterday. The verger, who conducts night-services through the edifice, when making his rounds, noticed a ticking sound near the High Altar. He found a heavy parcel done up in brown paper, and immediately placed it in water. It was passed to the police, who found a suffragette paper wrapped up with the bomb. Two other bombs were found elsewhere in the city. Shortly after the St. Paul discovery, a similar bomb was found on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet Street, and a canister, believed to contain explosives, was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's. The arson squad this morning burned down the pavilion in the cricket field at Bishop's Park, Fulham, also set fire to an occupied house in Finchley. No trace of the criminals who set fire to St. Catherine's Church, has been found. A woman arrested was discharged for want of proof.

LONDON, May 7.—To-day's bulletin says that the Duchess of Connaught had a better night, and her condition this morning was somewhat improved. The Court is in gloom over the admitted relapse. The Duke has given up all engagements, public and private. Against their wishes, but at the earnest request of the Duke, the King and Queen are not curtailing their arduous daily programme, but are doing the most possible to keep things going for the sake of trade. The Duke had great difficulty in persuading the King to keep his engagements at the Newmarket races, where he had promised to pass three days.

LONDON, May 7.—The debate on the Franchise Bill, yesterday, which resulted in its defeat by 47 votes, showed that the suffragettes had done great harm to women's franchise so far as Parliament is concerned. Last session's conciliation Bill was rejected by only a small majority compared with yesterday's. Previous bills have passed the second reading, though they never reached a further stage. Recent police court disclosures of plans by the so-called militants, far surpassing in magnitude anything yet attempted, and the burning of St. Catherine's Church, undoubtedly influenced many members to vote against the Bill.

PARIS, May 7.—King Alfonso arrived this morning with Premier Count di Romanones, President Poincaré and Premier Barthou, with all the members of the French Cabinet, en route to receive the royal party at the station. The King and President drove to the Palace d'Orsay, talking animatedly. The whole route was lined with troops, 20,000 infantry and 5,000 cavalry being on duty. Immense crowds greeted the King with loud cheers. The visit is regarded as a political event of great importance, as it may be a prelude to a Franco-Spanish alliance. Seven arrests of men who cheered for the anarchist Ferrer, shot in 1906, were made.

LONDON, May 7.—Miss Cross, whose Pekinese spaniel was poisoned, received a post card from Southampton on May 6th, saying: "We are very sorry your pretty dog must be sacrificed, but our rules are inexorably forced. We are resolved to stop at nothing now. Every valuable prize-winner and race-horse, such as the Derby winner, shall be maimed or destroyed until we get votes for women. You and other owners of valuable property can only enjoy peace by helping us get votes. Signed, Monkrood. Miss Cross sent full particulars to Scotland Yard in an endeavor to trace the sender of the postal card."

NEW YORK, May 7.—"Hanging is the best and only cure for troublesome people," declared Sir Eric Swayne, "and that is why British Honduras is the most peaceful country in Central America." Sir Eric has been Governor of British Honduras for seven years. With Lady Swayne he arrived here on the s.s. Carrillo. Hence they go to Canada and then to England, as Sir Eric has been recalled. He suggested hanging English suffragettes who threw bombs.

LONDON, May 7.—Dr. Fletcher Little introduced a "no treating" resolution at the National Liberal Club annual meeting. The members received the proposal coldly, many pronouncing it an insult. After a short discussion the previous question was put and carried by a large majority. So the question is shelved for another year.

LONDON, May 7.—H. F. Bayndale, managing director of the Postmen Wireless Syndicate, said that although the contract with Canada for a wireless service between Britain and Canada must be in operation within twelve months, he had no doubt that it would be in working order in September.

SYDNEY, May 7.—The painters who struck last week for $3 and a 9-hour day, went back to work this morning at the old wages, $2.75. The carpenters are still out; and there is little prospect of settlement, each side expecting the other to give in.

LONDON, May 7.—Lewis Harcourt, who is spoken of as the Duke of Connaught's successor, at Ottawa, is descended from the Plantagenet monarchs. He was born in 1863, and was married to Miss Burns, a niece of Pierpont Morgan, in 1889.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, was formally presented to President Wilson to-day by Acting Secretary Moore. Sir Cecil read a brief address and the President made a short response.

Secinded Paths.

Restless and unsatisfied, "Of what use is life?" I cried; "All my wishes are denied,

All my duties trivial seem; I have energies, deem; What I could be—oft I dream;

Yet I cannot see my way From this spot, whereon I lay; So hope fadeeth day by day;

Then a voice was at my side; "Let my conduct by thy guide," 'Twas His voice, the Crucified.

"Thirty years unknown I trod Gallies's sequestered sod; But my life was known to God.

Daily work at Joseph's call, Daily life 'mid duties small; Yet I was the Lord of all.

Loved one, if thy life be true, Thou a blessed work shalt do, Though unseen to mortal view.

I shall know it, I shall see, When with willing heart and free Thou obedient art to Me.

All thy quiet life I know, For I planned it long ago, Wouldst thou that it were not so?

I have given all for thee, Live thy quiet life for me, So it shall transfigure thee."

Now on these sweet words I rest, And have ceased my anxious quest, For the Master knoweth best.

Write Exams In Dress Suit.

Paris Has Similar Tyranny Regarding Civil Service Posts.

London, April 26. — Outside the waiter's profession one does not associate any high degree of industry with evening dress, and few men would care to assume this garb when sitting for a stiff examination, says the Daily Chronicle. However, the "Cri de Paris" reports that at a recent competition for posts in the "Inspection des Finances" all the competitors appeared in dress suits. It seems that for some unknown reason evening dress has come to be regarded as indispensable at these examinations, and no candidate has ever proved bold enough to run counter to the tradition. Yet the commencing salary for those who prove successful is only £72 a year.

We have had the same tyranny of dress at Oxford, where it was compulsory to sit down and write for public examination six hours a day in a black coat, a white tie and a gown in order to achieve a degree. It took me half the time in laughing at myself properly gowned, with a white tie and waiting lambs in Greek.

Incongruities.

The man who pays a trifling tax is always out with it h battle-ax, condemning this, denouncing that, and talking wildly through his hat. The man who doesn't pay his debts, whose creditors in sorrow sweat, is always finding signs of graft in public men, and guile and craft. The man who lets his weary wife do washing to sustain his life is always active with his jaws discussing needful helpful laws. The man who has no trap to guard has fifteen watchdogs in his yard which howl all night till neighbors weep or call for poison in their sleep. The man who fails in all he tries on some high office has his eyes; oh, he could guide the ship of state, although he cannot pay the freight. The man who has a private jug too often roasts the thirsty plug who boldly seeks the shining bar where fortyrod and bitters are. The man who plays a quiet game in some resort unknown to fame is angry when he hears of chaps who waste their substance playing craps. And some who preach the love of man, the helping hand, the kindly plan, expounding divers creeds and gods, are stuck like beeswax to their wads.

Self-Told Fairy Tales.

Baltimore, April 23 — That many normal people indulge in what he termed "autistic thinking," or seeing life in fantastic pictures, was the statement made by Professor E. Bleuler, of Zurich, Switzerland, at the Henry Phipps psychiatric clinic to-day.

"The normal man has his fairy tales when he has withdrawn from the world, when he dreams day dreams. At other times he hides the fairy tale, not only from strangers, but from himself.

"To the insane man the fairy tale is real. He lives it. The understanding of autistic thinking is necessary to the study of morbid mental conditions. If we cannot heal the defective brain like we can a broken bone, we can at least send it out into the world improved and able to earn a living."

Giant Sunfish Captured

is 50 Years Old, 10 Feet by 9 Feet, and Weighs 2,000 Pounds.

One of the largest and most astonishing marine wonders seen for some time has recently been brought to light from ocean depths. This is a remarkable specimen of a giant sunfish. It measures 10 1/2 feet from tip to tip of his fins, is 9 feet long, and weighs nearly 2,000 pounds. The great fish was captured in the Pacific Ocean off the California coast, and the skin has just been mounted in New York for museum exhibition, says the Scientific American. Such huge fish are rare, though some weighing from 500 to 800 pounds have been obtained occasionally. The great fish are three feet long, and when swimming the upper one protrudes high out of the water. From certain ridges and folds developed on the body it is thought this specimen is about 50 years old.

Every Season TEMPLETON'S Children's Hats

Are the talk of the town. This year we have an exceptionally fine assortment. Our prices offer you opportunities not obtainable elsewhere in town.

ROBT. TEMPLETON

Beautiful

are the new styles in our Women's READY-TO-WEAR GARMENTS.

We have never presented a larger or more comprehensive assortment of Ladies' Gowns & Dresses for party, street and evening wear.

COATS, SUITS, etc.
 Styles are so varied, materials, effects so charming that it's a simple matter to find garments particularly suited for every individual taste. Most of these are exclusive — no two garments alike.
