FOR SALE.
Valuable Freehold Timber and Farm Land.
At the office of the undersigned, on Thursday next, 24th inst., at 12 o'clock noon, that large piece of land situate at Maher's Sliding, on the Reid Newfoundland Railway, and being only 3 miles from Erius Junction, belonging to the Estate of the late Sir W. V. Whiteway.
This splendid tract of land comprises 3 square miles—4 of which being on each side of the track—and as the railway runs through the centre, is easy of access, and has some splendid stretches of birches and spruce thereon—the birches on one side, and the spruce and fir on the other.
It is also an ideal spot for farming, and there would be no trouble experienced in loading produce, as there is a siding where cars can be loaded at ease.
Another desirable feature in connection with the property is that the party buying same would be the SOLE owner of all waters on the land, thereby excluding all fishing and shooting over same without license. There is good fishing in the ponds and gullies which abound on same.
Above property will be sold in two lots if so desired.

THE WATCHER.

CHAPTER XXXIII.
Let's take the instant by the forward top—SHAKESPEARE.
A good wit will make use of everything—IBID.

"DEFENSE, NOT DEFIANCE."

Cecil, when he heard Laurence's words and saw the ominous smile that accompanied them, turned pale and, with a low cry of fear, ran toward them.

"Oh, Master Laury, what is going to happen? Are they going to attack the house? Oh, Laury, don't get into trouble through me—oh, pray don't! It's all my fault," and half in tears, he wring his hands. "I'm always a nuisance to everybody. Master, let me go out to them and tell them it was all my fault; and that I'll do whatever they like, if they won't fight."

Mr. Stewart laughed. "Go 'long you, silly," he said. "They've got the mulligrubs and 'o'd find something to pick a bone over if it wasn't you. Though I haven't heard yet what it was all about."

Cecil covered his face with his hands. "Oh, dear—oh, dear!" he sobbed; "there never was such an unlucky boy as I am! Oh, dear!"

Laurence, who had been leaning against the wall with folded arms, looked up from his examination of the floor.

"What was it about Cecil?" he asked, kindly.

Then Cecil plucked up courage and told them how he had seen Tim sneak into the armory and steal the revolver.

The effect of the recital upon Mr. Stewart was something extraordinary. He ripped out a huge oath, turned purple, and swore that he'd shoot the skunk if the farm was to be burned over his head for it.

Youth and Age

THERE is no time in woman's life that she cannot benefit by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in order to keep up the supply of pure, rich blood and to ensure a healthful condition of the nervous system.

Headaches, neuritis, sleepless nights, nervous spells, irritability, tired, worn-out feelings, soon disappear when the vigor and energy of the nerves are restored by the use of this great food cure.

all dealers, or
Messrs. Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

If you can while you're grooming the black. When you've done him sidget about his fetlock, and ask any of them for the shearing scissors. They're sure to say they haven't got one—if they answer you at all—because I happen to have the only pair there is in the place in the armory; then say you'll go up for 'em, and start; but if you suddenly change your mind, go back, and muttering something about saving time, take the black out, and just as if you meant to trim him in the yard here, bring him up and get him safe into the court—he's pretty quiet, isn't he?"

"He will do anything I tell him, save speak," said Laurence, who was adding within his mind to this outline of Mr. Stewart's and planning out an elaborate defense.

"Well, perhaps you could bring him into the hall?"

"Yes," said Laury, "and get the roan and the chestnut at the same time."

"Without exciting their suspicion?"

"I think so," said Laury, thoughtfully.

"That's the style," said the settler. "We'll give them a drubbing yet, the vagabonds! Oh, what I'd give to have Long Will and the rest of them here! We'd drop every mother's son of them as dead as a nail before the first quarter of an hour had turned!"

Laurence frowned.

"I am no assassin," he said, sternly, "and will take no man's life until occasion warrants it; but if one of them fires upon the farm their blood will be upon their own heads."

"That's it," said Mr. Stewart; "that's it—defense and not defiance."

And with a snort of anger that had the strong flavor of the article he professed to shun he left the room, returning as Laury was making his way to the stables to warn him not to be drawn into a scuffle.

"Have no fear," said Laurence, gruffly. "I shall not forget that the odds are against us, and that one even can not be spared."

Mr. Stewart ran upstairs and examined the barricade, taking precaution to oil the simple machinery by which it was raised and lowered.

While he was doing this Laurence had made his way to the stables, and he was grooming his horse.

Tim and some half a dozen or more of them were lounging at the front of the stable, and he appeared, and when he asked the nearest one for the scissors they kept a sullen silence.

He nodded as much as to say: "Well, if you won't be civil, you won't, and that's all," and started off for the house, returning, according to the plan, and leading the black out.

They stared suspiciously, but his careless, indifferent expression deceived them, and he took the horse up to the court without any attempt being made to prevent him.

Then came the difficult task of smuggling the two others from their stalls.

He thought it over for a minute or so, and then sauntered to the front, where, as usual, a crowd of little pickaninnies were tumbling and rolling about.

Addressing one—a shary, star-eyed little imp—he gave him his spirit flask and these instructions: "Now, Joe, you see this flask?"

"Yes, massa," grinned the lad.

"Take it in your hand—no, no, you

"No," said the settler, stroking his beard. "Not to be depended on. They'd be all for dying for us before the first shot was fired, and afterward clinging about our knees and shrieking enough to drive us mad. No, they'd be in the way. They and the two women are safest at the huts. The ruffians won't hurt them; it isn't worth their while. How have you managed about the horses?"

Laurence told him and he was delighted.

"Ah, that's a load off my mind!" he muttered. "I feel as if a back door was opened when the nags are at hand, if a chance comes. It was a cute trick of yours, though—wonderfully cute."

Then they walked upstairs and the settler explained the working of the barricade.

Laurence looked toward the armory door.

Mr. Stewart, replying to the look, shook his head.

"Poor lad!" he said. "Pon my word, Laury, I feel for him more than I do for myself. These brutes'll have no mercy on the youngster if they get him."

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Sore corns lift right off with fingers.

Magic!

Costs few cents! Drop a little Frezzone on that touchy corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right off with the fingers.

Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Frezzone for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn out soreness or irritation. Frezzone is the much talked of discovery of the between the toes, and calluses, with Cincinnati genius.

are not to drink it. Now, see: hold it like that, so that I can see it. That's right. Now crawl on your hands to the mound besides the stables, and directly you get there hold up the flask above your head and look at me. You understand?"

"Yes, massa," grinned Joe.

"That's a good lad. When you see me hold up my hand start off as fast as you can go—you won the race with Samba last week, didn't you? If one of them men catches you before you get to the thicket you have lost the flask; but if you get away without them catching you, the flask is yours—you can keep it."

By dint of careful repetition he managed to drum this performance into the negro's woolly head, and then watched him off with a little anxiety.

The lad crawled along to the mound as directed, and, arrived there, held up the flask with a shout.

As Laurence had expected, the group in the stable caught sight of the tempting bottle, and at once jumping to the natural conclusion that Master Joe had stolen the precious article set up a shout and, forgetting everything for the moment in the hope of getting a little French brandy, started after him.

Joe—fleet as a young deer—bounded away across the prairie, and Laurence stole round and with wonderful rapidity got the horses from the stalls and into the court before the runners, disgusted with their fruitless chase, returned to their lounging and their plotting.

Carefully locking the door of the large room into whom he had taken them, he went in search of Mr. Stewart, and found him distributing some food to the crowd of natives who were thronging around.

"Poor devils!" he said aside to Laurence as he came up. "Perhaps this is the last meal they'll have for a day or two."

"Are they of no use to us?" asked Laurence.

"No," said the settler, stroking his beard. "Not to be depended on. They'd be all for dying for us before the first shot was fired, and afterward clinging about our knees and shrieking enough to drive us mad. No, they'd be in the way. A SIMPLE DRESS.

Pattern 3141 was employed in this instance. It is cut in 4 Sizes: 2, 4, 6, 8 years, and will require 2 3/4 yards of 27 inch material for a 4 year size. As here shown, natural shantung was selected with embroidery in red, and bright red buttons for trimming. Gingham, lawn, percale, voile, china silk, challis, repp, poplin and velvet would be good for this design.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

A DAINY DRESS FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.

2808—Batiste, voile, charmeuse, satin, taffeta, velvet, serge or gabardine could be used for this model. The tucks on the skirt may be omitted. The dress may be finished without the bolero and with long or short sleeves. This style lends itself nicely to combinations of material.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 3 1/2 yards of 27 inch material for the dress and 1/2 yard for the bolero.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

CHAPTER XIX.

AT BUTTE, MONTANA—WE DESCEND TO THE MINES.

Nestled among the mountains of Montana lies the neat and well planned city of Anaconda, and some thirty miles distant stands the capital city of Butte. These are truly cities of the West; but they have long passed that stage of western life which was spoken of as "the wild and woolly west." Butte is a fine city, and presents many splendid buildings, and has a population of one hundred thousand. Montana is not only noted for its mountains; but its copper mines are world renowned, and its smelting plant is one of the largest in the United States.

The city of Butte is really built upon a huge copper bed, and the excavations which lie under the city are deep and winding. We went down these depths, and saw for ourselves the operations of the mines. The miners work under difficult conditions, but everything is done for their safety which can be done; and they get good liberal pay, and they seem well satisfied with their condition. They work on eight hour shifts, and the operations continue all the time, day and night. The pay is seven dollars a day, or shift; but sometimes the men do piece-work, and thus make bigger wages. Our descent to the lowest pit was three thousand, two hundred and twelve feet; and the sensation while descending was something to test the sturdiest nerve. The drop was speedy, and the darkness dismal, and one wondered what would happen next; but such is the price of learning things, even on a holiday.

The borings and lodes of the mine run far under the city, and the ore is of the best quality. We went through many of the passage-ways, and followed our guide like "pilgrims of the night." The men and women of our party were all dressed alike, as the company supplies visitors with water-proof suits, and hats, and also with lamps. At some places the mine is lighted with electricity, but at other places the use of lamps is necessary. A company of people under such conditions as these, is more like a pilgrim band, or a party of exiles, than anything else. There is the dampness of the mine, and the darkness of the tunnels, and the uncertainty of the step, and weirdness of the entire situation on one hand; and then there is the timidity and the suspense of the party on the other hand. With lamp in hand each one follows in the wake of his companion; and when an open space or a traverse is crossed, there is a sigh of relief, and then a pleasant interchange of thought. Gone are all the fears, past is all the dread, and everybody feels brave as a lion, and wonders why they felt timid in the darkness, or why they preferred being on the surface.

As for the miners they all appeared to be quite happy, and they impressed us as being a very strong and athletic class of men. We spoke to some of them in passing, and shook hands with those near us. Ours it was to ascend to the surface, and laugh about exploits, but to those strong men tell the task of toiling in the darkness, and of perspiring amid the chilliness of those underground chambers. We asked ourselves why such conditions were necessary, but we could not answer the query; for it is only by such toil and endurance, that commerce, trade, and science, have gained the foremost position which they to-day hold; and although machinery has greatly lightened the burden of toil, there must ever remain that initial portion of it, which can only be performed by bare-armed labour. Those strong men delving in the copper mine underneath the fair city of Butte, in the mountainous state of Montana, afforded a magnificent illustration of the essential value of labour to the realm of commerce.

Our descent to the mine taught us a few good lessons, and made us feel thankful for the blessings of the open air, and the bright sunshine, in which we daily bask. We may not appreciate fully these common blessings, but they represent a lot, though their value may not be known. Thousands delve in mines, and thousands spend their days under cramped and unsanitary conditions, in order that the comforts of home life be brought to the millions. Our daily wants are supplied to us, but someone paid the price of production; and among those who produce, the men who dig in coal mines, or drill in iron mines or delve in copper mines, or excavate in silver mines, or bore in gold mines, should rank among the most deserving; for upon the production of their labour, the operations of the vast commercial fabric largely depends.

It was in this respect that we looked at the miners of Montana; and now when we sit around, and enjoy the comforts of a modern home, we lend a kindly thought or two, to the men who dig, and to the men who delve—the miners.

North Sydney, June 15.—The schr. Stella, Capt. Pink, arrived from Burgeo with a Roumanian gentleman named Theodore Sarol as a member of the crew. Theodore is a skillful scene shifter and, in fact, has shifted himself off the scene entirely, much to the discomfort of the captain, who, though he arrived pink may depart blue. But, as Kipling says, thereby hangs a tale, which may be related for the guidance of sea-faring men. Theodore aforesaid is an alien, and as the captain took the responsibility of signing him on as a member of the crew, it was up to him, also, to see that he did not make a landing in Canada and get away.

According to the captain's version, the vessel came into port and anchored in the stream. The commander with the other members of the crew, took the ship's only boat and rowed ashore, leaving the Roumanian to look after the vessel. On returning, the captain alleges that the foreigner had disappeared with his trunk and all his belongings. The captain did not state whether he swam ashore with the trunk on his back or not.

Immigration Officer J. J. Dooley was about as well satisfied with this explanation as any other gentleman of business acumen would be. Consequently, the captain was not permitted to clear for Sydney till he had come over with the amount the law provides—a fine of five hundred dollars. The police have been notified, and if the man is secured and restored to the ship the captain gets back his five hundred bucks. If not—well, he loses out. The absent one has practically no knowledge of English and in all probability has made his way to Sydney to sink his identity among foreign laborers around the steers works.

Saints Defeat Collegians.

The Collegians went down to defeat before the Saints in last evening's football game, the score being 3 goals to 2. Although the high wind made accurate shooting difficult the game was very good right through. Mr. Fred Brien was referee and the line-up: Saints—Goal, Lush; backs, Tait, Carmichael; halves, Burridge, Elton, Foster; forwards, Young, Quick, Munn, Irvine, Quick. Collegians—Goal, Volsey; backs, Chancey, James; halves, Parsons, Benson, Pike; forwards, Squires, Kendrick, Macklin, Smith, Caultas.

The line-up in this evening's game will be: Felidians—Goal, Rev. E. Fletcher; backs, G. Hunt, R. Chafe; halves, R. Martin, E. Chafe, A. Martin; forwards, M. Winter, T. Payne, E. Jerrett, A. Andrews, E. Ewing. Highlanders—Goal, Moore; backs, Cofield, Rose; halves, Reid, Adams, Paterson; forwards, Butler, McNeil, Watts, Halyard, Spry.

Stafford's Drug Store, Theatre Hill, is open every night till 9.30.

War Veterans Meet To-Night.

The Great War Veterans' Association meets in the C.C.C. Hall to-night for the purpose of continuing discussion of the Government's action in reducing pensions and allowances. Every city member will be present, while many from nearby outports will also be there.

British Commons Deprecate Increased Expenditure.

Naval Flying Squadron For United States--No Extension of Time for Turkey--Motor Lorry Transport System Planned For Ireland--Los Angeles Receives Seismic Shock--Military Take Charge of Londonderry.

CHAFING UNDER EXPENDITURE.
LONDON, June 21. The Government, this week, is likely to sustain a somewhat rough handling in the House of Commons, regarding expenditure. On Wednesday, operations in Mesopotamia will be criticized, also the cost of proposal to reclothe the army in scarlet. The Lord Northcliffe group of papers for time has been making a dead set against Austin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer. They are now being joined by other anti-Government journals, which do not often find themselves much in agreement. It is asserted that the Coalitionists are averse to the scarlet uniforms proposal, and have been officially warned that a vote against the proposal will be interpreted as a vote for a change of the Government's extravaganza.

SIX PEOPLE BURNED TO DEATH.
VANCOUVER, June 21. Four victims of the Balmoral Apartment House fire, in which at least six persons are known to have lost their lives, last night, had been identified to-day. They are Charles Dennisey of Canadian Pacific Steamship Co., Miss Letta McLannan, employee of the same, J. R. Jackson, Manager of the Grocery Department, Hudson's Bay Co., and S. A. Spencer, Janitor of the building. The other two bodies, both men, remain unidentified. The loss is hundred thousand dollars.

ROUGH JUSTICE.
SAVANNAH, Ga., June 21. Philip Gathers, a negro, was lynched near Rincon, Ga., to-day, after he had confessed to the murder of Miss Anza Jaudon, seventeen years of age, last week. Gathers was arrested to-day near Stillson, Ga., on information furnished by another negro.

the Canal zone and held available for duty in Mexico, Central America and adjacent ports, is to be organized about October first, it was announced to-day at the Navy Department.

CANADA SENDS GOLD TO U.S.
NEW YORK, June 21. A branch of the Bank of Montreal here to-day acknowledged the receipt of four million dollars gold from Canada. There is no justification for reports that the gold is for account of the Anglo-French loan, expiring next October, it was said. The consignment probably is to be used in payment of commercial transactions, originating in this market, it was added.

STRIKE IN THE CLOCK CITY.
WATERBURY, Conn., June 21. Three men were shot during a riot near the Scovill Mfg. Co.'s plant in Bridge Street today. The wounded are Ident. Richard Leroy of the Police Department, John Bergin of the company's protective force, and a striker, evidently an Italian, name unknown. The trouble began with a gathering of strikers during noon hour. The crowd was noisy and police officers were sent from headquarters to disperse it. There was a clash, during which considerable shooting occurred. The City Guards were marched out and took with them a machine gun, the crowd was then broken up.

QUAKE CAUSED SLIGHT PANIC.
LOS ANGELES, June 21. An earthquake shook the city at six forty-seven to-night. Several buildings were reported to have been slightly damaged. Bricks, falling from buildings on Sixth Street and Grand Avenue, injured pedestrians and office buildings were shaken so severely that many of their occupants fled to streets. The shock was felt in Long Beach, San Pedro, Santa Monica and Redondo Beach, according to reports to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Whittier Covina and other inland points reported they had not noticed the quake though a slight earth tremor was felt there Friday morning.

QUIET PREVAILS IN DERRY.
LONDON, June 21. A message from Londonderry to the Press Association, timed ten p.m., reports the city quiet at that time. The military is in charge of the streets. In addition to the killing of a man named McKay, the message says scores of persons were wounded in to-day's firing.

TURKEY MUST SIGN.
BOLOGNE, June 21. Turkey will not be given an extension of time to consider the Peace Treaty, according to a communique given out by the delegation after their return from the conference to-night. The communique says, "The Turkish question has been considered, and it has been decided to maintain the date of June twenty-six for Turkey to submit her reply to the peace conditions." Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson obtained approval of the text of the Allied notification to the German Government regarding the disarmament, destruction of war material and reduction, with the least delay, of troops, as prescribed by the Treaty of Versailles, clauses concerning which have not been executed or which have been incompletely fulfilled thus far.

ANTICIPATING A STRIKE.
LONDON, June 21. Plans for a motor lorry transport system, covering the whole of Ireland, in case trouble, over the handling of troops and ammunition trains results in a general strike, have been worked out by the Government. It promises a sufficient efficient system of transport such as was inaugurated during the railway strike in England.

BROKEN OUT AGAIN.
LONDONDERRY, June 21. Firing was resumed in several parts of this city early to-day after a comparatively quiet night. Several persons were killed in rioting here yesterday, and scores were more or less seriously injured. Military forces patrolled the streets during the night.

LLOYD GEORGE WILL INSIST.
DUBLIN, June 21. Premier Lloyd George's demand that Irish railwaymen handle munition trains gives rise to an issue which must be fought out, according to statements made by leaders of the railway workers here. Many declare the Premier's attitude is a bluff, and that he is too afraid of English labor to give it effect. The general body of Sinn Feiners welcome the situation and are solidly behind the railwaymen. The railroad workers' refusals to run munition trains have been progressive, and now extend to the point of declining to carry either soldiers or police, or even rifles.

An Appreciation.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Allow me through the columns of your esteemed paper to express my appreciation of the magnificent performance given in the Casino Theatre by Professor Mawer and his performers. I feel sure all who attended the performance of 'Iolanthe' last night will say that the people of this city need not go outside to witness a better operatic show than that produced by our local talent.

I was certainly disappointed to see so very few Great War Veterans in the audience, for whose benefit this performance is given. From where I was seated in the audience the G. V. A. were very much absent.

Marshall Bros

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

BLAMING THE HEADACHE.

Once upon a time a very nice letter friend wrote that she liked almost all of my articles, but that once in a while there was one which she thought wasn't so good as the rest, and then she said to herself, "Ruth must have a headache to-day."

I don't think I ever had a headache in the course of my life, but I have had other aches and I think that letter friend is a dear. I feel sure she must be a very pleasant to live with.

For could there be a better trait in a housemate than the willingness to attribute the times when one falls below one's best self, not to sheer perversity or stupidity on one's part, but to the unfortunate physical condition which is so often the actual cause. It is told of Robert Louis Stevenson that one day, when his wife was inclined to be irritable, he said to a friend who was with them, "Fannie's headache is cross to-day."

Wasn't that just like him? Doesn't it make you love him more than ever? Not Natural Depravity But Microbes. Nor is this habit of tracing irritability or inferior work to the state of the health, mere sentimental tolerance. It has its basis in good hard scientific facts. Perhaps you read in one of our current magazines an article by an eminent physician which explains how much of the unhappiness and inefficiency in the world is due, not to natural depravity at all, but to microbes. "Abnormal physical conditions," says the writer of this article, "which allow poisons to accumulate in our tissues, cause us to do abnormal things and take an abnormal point of view. . . . When I have caught cold or am up late at night, and my nervous system is in need of rest and replenishment, I am cross to those whom I love and irritating to those in my employ."

Nevertheless One is Responsible. Do not, however, misunderstand one thing—he is not preaching the doctrine of irresponsibility. One is not to say: "It is my microbes that are cross or stupid, therefore am not to blame, and that is the end of it." No, indeed! In the first place, one is to try to get rid of the bad microbes "by observing the laws of health, by going to sleep when you need sleep, by eating food that digests well, and by taking regular exercise sufficient in amount to keep all the muscles of the body in good action, by controlling such emotions as worry, fear, envy, jealousy."

If one needs surgical treatment or care of the teeth or eyes (eyestrain is one of the most potent causes of irritability) one is to have that. "Many divorces," this writer says, "would be removed from the divorce courts tomorrow by surgical operations for such troubles as appendicitis, sagging colons, and so forth, or by the removal of pus-producing teeth."

And besides all this, one is to use one's will. Even when one feels cross one can smile and that smile itself reacts to create a better bodily condition. It may be one's headache that is cross, but surely one can make an effort to be master of one's own headaches.

Napoleon's Final Exit.

The second and final abdication of Napoleon, inevitable epilogue of the battle of Waterloo, was signed at the Elisee, before sunset, on the evening of June 22, 1815. It was only ten days before that he had left to take command of the army on the Belgian frontier, so rapid had been the progress of the drama. Not without a struggle did he bring himself to surrender. From the time of his return in the early morning of June 21, he had been engaged in a last fight with Fate; but the Chambers, led by Lafayette, declined all compromise and were firm in the resolve to have done with the Empire. The nation had paid too dearly for it and its glory. "Twice before," as was said, "Napoleon had returned to Paris suddenly—from Leipzig and from Moscow—and each time alone, without an army." The third time, it was felt, must be final. Abdication, or deposition—that was the sole choice allowed to the fallen conqueror, and the peremptory nature of the demand was emphasized by allowing only one hour for decision. "One hour and no more!" Lafayette had exclaimed, pointing to the clock; and even so, the President had to call for a division to ascertain whether a poor hour of grace should be accorded to Napoleon Bonaparte. In the event of refusal, he was to be placed beyond the law—like Robespierre! But he did not refuse. He vacated the throne ostensibly in favour of his son (in the hands of Austria) and the temporary power was assumed by a Commission of three deputies and two peers. For some days longer Napoleon lingered at the Elisee, waiting on events; but the play was finished.

WE WHO ARE AMERICANS.

We who are Americans have much to dare and do. The world looks up to us as men who will be staunch and true. We've crossed the seas in Freedom's name, for truth our sons have died. And for a better, happier world our peace we've put aside. By all our brave forefathers were, there is no moment when We must not live as they have lived and dare to die as men.

The charge lies heavy in us all to walk the world erect. To gain no single hour of ease and lose our self-respect. To keep our posts, whatever they be, serving the common cause, Holding in honor when a trick might win the throng's applause. Dauntless when danger strikes, and true to what we know is best— This was the splendor of our past, and this our present test.

We who are Americans must be too big for shame. We are the guardians of the faith from which our glory came. Ours is a splendor truly won, in us all people trust. We face the world as men who are great-hearted, firm and just. And he who fails to serve the truth in high or little place, Shames not alone himself but brings contempt upon his race.

Legislative Council.

Monday, June 21.

The House met at 4.30 p.m. "The Prosecution of the Sealfishery" Bill, in committee was the subject of some debate. Sir Patrick McGrath pointing out that an inspector as provided by sub-Section (b) Section 7, of the bill would be a political appointee, probably without medical or hygienic experience, and as there are many inspectors each may have a different idea of the requirements of the ship.

Hon. Dr. Campbell thought that the doctors on the ships should, with the inspector, jointly make and see that the regulations were carried out. Hon. W. B. Grieve suggested that the committee rise and the bill be sent to a select committee. There was no antagonism to the bill, but it seemed to be the general desire to make it effective. Hons. Dr. Campbell, Grieve, McGrath and Gibbs were appointed as a select committee.

The Maintenance of Certain Public Roads Bill generally met with the approval of the House in committee. Hon. J. J. Murphy suggested a clause in the bill which provides that all bridges of less than five feet span be made of concrete, iron pipe or wood stave and placed 1½ or two feet below the surface of the road. He contended that these concrete culverts would be much cheaper than the wooden bridges now used. He was supported by Hon. Dr. Campbell, who said that one advantage they would have is that politicians would not dig them up at election times.

Sir P. T. McGrath interposed with "they would be about the only thing they would not dig up."

The committee rose to sit again when a report from the Motor Association is received. The Local Affairs in Outport Districts Bill was deferred. The Companies' Act and the Confirming of a Paper and Wood Pulp Contract Bill were read a first time. The House adjourned at 5.30 until Friday.

Direct Taxation Next

Reports from the District of Bay-de-Verde are all indicative that the day of the Government is done there, and that the Squires candidate, seeking re-election, will receive the small end of the vote. Last fall, carried away by specious promises, the men of Bay-de-Verde, in common with those of other northern districts, voted for a change, and secured a change. But now, having experienced the shallowness of the promises and of the men who made them, they are equally desirous of another change, and toward that end, Bay-de-Verde intends, on Thursday next, to strike the first blow. Realizing that they were both deceived and betrayed, the voters of that district are deeply resentful of the conduct of the men whom they elected to represent them, and have expressed their determination to show that they cannot be basely deceived any longer. Alive to the opportunity offered them of visiting the offences of the Squires Government upon the head of the Minister of Shipping, they will not be tardy in recording their disapproval of the administration when the hour strikes for the opening of the polls. The wall of the Government press to "Elect Cave and be on the Government side," shows that they have no confidence in the outcome. The exposures made by the Opposition members in the House of Assembly have effectually damned Mr. Cave's chance of receiving a majority of the support of the people of Bay-de-Verde.

Not one sound argument has been put forward by Government advocates to show that they are prepared to stand by the issue of the conduct of affairs since Messrs. Squires and Company took the helm. A fearful press screams wildly to the electorate to "Elect Cave and be on the Government side." It gives no reason but that one bald fact. There is no appeal to the intelligence of the voters, but day after day indulgence in the parrot cry, "Elect Cave and be on the Government side." That is all. Bay-de-Verde has had eight months of Cave's being on the Government side, and what has it profited? Fish, the one great industry of the district, drags on a falling market. The catch of last year has not been disposed of, or if it has at greatly reduced prices from those obtaining in November when the Cashin Government held the reins. The salt supply has been so bunglingly handled that only at this late hour is there any quantity to be had for the conduct and carrying on of the voyage. The salt cargoes in St. John's to-day should, had the department of shipping a business man as its head, now be in the holds of schooners with sails set for Labrador. To claim, at this late date, that there are ample stocks of salt as a proof of the capability of the Government of the hour, is to influence nobody with a knowledge of local conditions. And Bay-de-Verde will accept at their face value the appeals being made to its voting power. Eight months of a Prussianized form of Government is quite enough and there is not a man in that district who places any faith in the promises now being so freely made by Government platform speakers, that by electing Cave present conditions will assume a brighter shade.

The shadow of the cloud cast by the Government is too dark. It has no bright side whatever. The Estimates submitted by the Minister of Finance have, more than anything else, opened the eyes of Newfoundland to the political characters of the men to whom the Government has been entrusted. Such an array of figures on current expenditure were never before brought down to the House. The addition of TWO MILLION DOLLARS in departmental increases is something to which to give thought. Expenditure cannot be increased without a corresponding levelling up of taxation, and a vote of the sum named to cover estimated expenditure for the ensuing fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1921, can only mean that a larger customs tariff will have to be exacted from goods imported. To do this duties will have to be raised: or if not some other means of taxation will have to be adopted. The present Government has proven itself fertile in devising causes for expenditure. Should they be equally proficient in discovering new methods of taxation, the result of the Bay-de-Verde election will tell. The Customs tariff in use to-day cannot stand any extra boosts. The rates are even higher than they should be. But two million extra dollars have to be provided in some way and it is quite possible that if no other means suggest themselves, measures for directly taking money from the people will be sought. As a rule the consumer, under present tariff regulations, pays his revenue taxes indirectly the same being included in the selling price of the articles purchased. But a victory for the Government in Bay-de-Verde may be the means of the consumer having to pay a personally direct tax in addition to that which he always contributes. Therefore it is up to the voters of Bay-de-Verde to nip this plan in the bud on Thursday coming, by voting against the Government candidate.

The Revenue Pays.

In our leading article of yesterday reference was made to salt at eight dollars per hoghead. This is, roughly, the actual cost of that commodity as landed under Government control. Though the fishermen are not being charged that price—$5.25, we believe being the maximum rate—the difference will have to be made up out of the general revenue and to cover this an appropriation of Fifty Thousand Dollars has been made out of Government funds. But even FIVE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENT SALT against FIVE DOLLAR FISH is not any recommendation of the Government's ability to cope with the situation as at present existing and the men of Bay-de-Verde will do well to remember that on Thursday.

BUYING GREEN.—Two dollars and twenty-five cents per one hundred pounds seems to be the best offer fishermen can obtain for codfish from the knife, from local buyers.

There's a Rich Snappy Flavor to INSTANT POSTUM that coffee drinkers like, and it's more healthful. There's a Reason!

"Iolanthe."

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the first production of Gilbert and Sullivan's charming opera "Iolanthe" by a St. John's amateur company under the direction of Professor Moncrieff-Mawer, at the Casino Theatre last night, were amply rewarded and thoroughly delighted. The curtain rose on a scene of rich gorgeousness enhanced by the splendid multicolored costumes of the performers. The fairy band was exceptionally fine, their movements and paces being perfectly timed. The peers were "to the manor born," and their robes of office were a revelation in stage costuming. So much has already been written about this opera that there is little else to be said regarding the scenes, the plot or the climax. But of the dramatic personae a whole lot could be set down, for one and all carried through difficult roles in a manner that would do credit to professionals, and established a new record for St. John's artists. The performance of Capt. J. J. O'Grady, as the Lord Chancellor, was most clever and realistic, his singing and acting being beyond criticism. The characters of the Earl of Mountararat and Lord Tolliver, suitors for the hand of Phyllis, were portrayed by Lt. W. L. Wood and Mr. Leo Price. Strephon was cast to Mr. A. Lawrence, who made a capital Shepherd lad and eventually married Phyllis, the Arcadian Shepherdess and Ward in Chancery. This part was played by Miss Ida Howlett in her usual catchy and typical style, the talented actress receiving much applause. Miss Mollie Ellis, as "Iolanthe," mother of Strephon, contributed largely to the success of the opera, her acting taking the house by storm. The Queen of the Fairies (Miss Elsie Herder), was a difficult role to sustain, but it was played by Miss Herder with capital verve and realism, her singing evoking much applause. Private Willis, of the Grenadier Guards (Mr. A. R. Stansfield), was the soldier par excellence and contributed in no small measure to the evening's entertainment. The trio of Fairies, Lella, Celia, and Fleta (Misses Tilly Moncrieff-Mawer, Frances Gibb and Mrs. C. F. Garland), was graceful perfection. Miss Maud Hutchings as Page, and Masters George Crobie and Douglas Cook as Heralds, sustained their characters very capably indeed. Of the orchestra the least that can be said is that it was the best ever heard in St. John's. The names of the instrumentalists are in themselves guarantee of the quality of the music which captivated all. The opera is being produced under the auspices of the G.W.V.A., and will run through the week, with, it is hoped, larger attendances than appeared at last night's performance.

Members' Indemnity.

(From an Exchange.)
The discretion with which members of Parliament speak of the proposal to increase their Parliamentary indemnity goes to show that the interested parties are embarrassed because their desires have been brought into the light of day. Their embarrassment is to be explained by the nature of the services for which increased indemnity is demanded, and by present day conditions. The position occupied by a representative of the people is very honorable and for that reason is justly envied. It is not a calling upon which one may rely as a means of earning a living. A member of Parliament, who fulfills his duty—that is to say, who never loses sight of the high principles which should be his guide in public life, and who guards with jealous care the interests of his country and those of his constituents—can never receive a salary commensurate with the services he renders. On the other hand, a member who enters Parliament to advance first his own interests, is overpaid, even if the country allows him only a few dollars a year. Having said this, it becomes plain that members do not receive a 'salary,' but an 'indemnity,' and that indemnity is measured not by the value of the services rendered, but rather by the country's means. These means to-day are particularly deplorable. Economy is essential, and if Parliament does not set an example in this regard, the effect will be disastrous on the mind of the public who will take note, compare, and judge. It is more than ever necessary that the constituents should have full confidence in their representatives if the latter would not break the last bond that has long controlled public anger. The burden of taxation, already heavy, has just been increased, and we consider that even those who were most opposed to the actions which have contributed to make the debt of this young country what it is to-day, should willingly sacrifice themselves to the exigencies of the hour, in view of the necessity to bridge the gulf that has been delved. We shall be less certain of their good faith if the members of Parliament improve their position after having aggravated that of their constituents. The perspective is one the members will do well to ponder over.

The Labrador Steamer.

(Daily News.)
There is intense indignation owing to the outrageous delay in the sailing of the Labrador steamer. That it is being held over deliberately until after the Bay de Verde election is matter of common knowledge. There are supposed to be a number of Cave supporters going by her, and the steamer is being held back in order to secure their votes. The season is already later than for many years. The Labrador voyage has been handicapped through the salt situation, due to the incompetency and apathy of Mr. Cave and his colleagues, and now, it is to be further delayed and handicapped for electioneering purposes. But why marvel? Is not the whole machinery of government to-day prostituted to personal ends, and personal ends only?

Yesterday Sir Michael Cashin received a telegram from Clarke's Beach a copy of which, with Sir Michael's reply, is attached:—

Methodist Conference.

EPWORTH LEAGUE AND SUNDAY SCHOOL GATHERING.
Last evening the first of the Conference Meetings was held at Wesley Church.
The Rev. Mr. Forbes presided. The meeting opened by singing hymn 81, "Ye Fair Green Hills of Galilee." The Chairman's remarks were brief. Having announced the object of the meeting he called upon the Rev. Oliver Jackson of Briggs, to give the report of the Sunday Schools and Epworth League of the Conference.
The report was incomplete, owing to lack of details from the various circuits and Missions.
The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Hugh Pedley, D.D., who delivered a very practical and forceful address.
The speaker humorously referred to the fact that he had spoken on Sunday to the Methodist people, also again to-night, and had been scheduled for four noon day addresses to the Conference. He thought he might wear out his welcome.
He gave some tests of Christianity. A Christian must get all he can, save all he can and give all he can. The speaker said he knew John Wesley's rules, and he certainly did as was evidenced by the enlargement of his subject. The follower of Jesus Christ must not love money, if he makes money he will make it honestly. If he makes it honestly he will spend it generously.
The word for the Church was advance. It will be a long time before the Church will be able to say I have done my share.
He emphasized the necessity of the Church making evident in all her activities the evangelistic note. The new Hymn Book was teaching them the unity of the Churches.
Here he illustrated his point by the unity of the nations who won the war.
The speaker waxed eloquent at various parts of his address.
At the close Mr. A. W. Martin moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker. He was reminiscent in referring to the boy-hood of Dr. Pedley and his two brothers, whom he knew intimately.

Mr. J. C. Pratt presided at the organ and the meeting was very enjoyable. The Conference Sessions will be open to all, and the noon day addresses by Dr. Pedley should be appreciated by those who will attend these noon day exercises. Several Canadian Departmental Officers of the Church are expected to take part in the Conference deliberations.

Science has at last solved the problem of getting rid of superfluous hair in giving us an antiseptic cream lotion, known commercially as Meel, which will positively and easily remove superfluous hair from any part of the body without in any way injuring or even irritating the skin. Meel is quite distinct and different from the ordinary "deplatory" which is often crude and always ill smelling. It is more certain in operation, easier to use, and more thorough in its results than any other preparation yet discovered. Two sizes: 75c. and $1.50 a bit.

Cashin is the Man.

I represent old St. John's in true artistic style. I'm a native of the West End and I'll say that with a smile; And who can help but glorify the land that gave them place. To me it is without a doubt the sweetest place on earth. But some misrepresent us and give us all the blame, And every case of graft it's added to our name, But if you'd give us just a chance, we'd grasp you by the hand, And show to you that Mike Cashin is the man for Newfoundland.

Then bear us no ill-feeling, but treat us with respect, Don't blame us all for one or two whom their duties do neglect; And don't take any notice of what idle boneheads say, There's as good a man on the Cashin side as there's in the House to-day.

Divided, we are sure to fall, let us go hand in hand; And let our names respected be, throughout our native land, Though troubles daily on us fall, we'll bear them with a will, And try to stem the Government that does surround us still. Let rich men and poor men unite be again, And show the country we will try again with might and main.

As brothers meet in every clime, The willing hand we'll shake, With cheerful smile, we'll meet the gaze Of all who friendship make. We deprecate the Government that have lately taken place, We cannot help but own they are a national disgrace.

Though clouds may overshadow us, No, we will not complain; Perhaps they will disperse, ere long, The sun will shine again. As brothers let us all unite, while friendship intervenes, And show we're loyal to ourselves While there's blood within our veins.

TO EX-MEMBERS OF THE ROYAL NEWFOUNDLAND REGIMENT. Every possible effort has been made to discover the location of the graves of the following men:—No. 3532 Pte. Cecil Rose, 3158 Pte. Wilson Benson, 2646 Pte. Aaron King, 3692 Pte. Dorman Butt, 3329 Pte. Patrick Keating, 1998 Pte. Stephen Martin, 203 L-Cpl. Arthur G. Ballam, reported by the Germans to be killed in action on December 3rd, 1917. These men were reported by the Germans to have been buried by the Lower Alsatian Regiment at Serauvillers, five miles from Marcoing and four miles east south east of Cambrai. Major Nangle reports the foregoing and states that the inhabitants of Serauvillers know nothing of any such burials; nor can any trace of a German Dressing Station be found in the village.

The War Office and the Imperial War Graves Commission are doing all in their power to investigate the matter. Any reliable information that can be supplied by an ex-member of the Regiment, would be of valuable assistance in carrying out the enquiries. The final search for bodies in the Cambrai area is now in progress, and it is, therefore, very important that any information as to the wounding, capture, manner of death, or burial of any of the above soldiers, should be intimated at once to this Department. If you are able to give any information whatever, please write me as soon as possible.

Dark Horses.

Much is heard of dark horses these days, and most Americans understand so perfectly what is meant by the term that few give a thought to the origin of this striking phrase.

Most authorities content themselves with describing the term as "an Americanism springing from the race-track and adapted to politics." A story which at least has the virtue of being explicit gives a more entertaining explanation. According to an early political writer who stands as authority for this version, the dark horse had its origin, most appropriately, in Kentucky. In the early days of the Bluegrass State nearly every town had its racecourse, and racing meets were of frequent occurrence.

An odd character, named Judge McIlvagh, travelled about from one meet to another, and was regarded as such a honest and unprejudiced person that he usually was called upon to officiate in the Judge's stand; hence his title. Arriving at a small town one day, the Judge found the sportingly inclined divided between two local favorites, on which they were wagering all they possessed. Horses were not registered then as they are now, and no attention was being paid to a black horse that had been driven into town hitched to a buggy and had been entered in the contest. But Judge McIlvagh had seen this buggy horse perform on other tracks, and knew that, in present-day racetrack parlance, it was a "ringer." It was not the Judge's business to interfere, but when appealed to for an expression of opinion as to the chances of the favorites he replied:

"Gentlemen, I suggest that you save enough for supper. There's a dark horse in this race."

The significance of his remark, according to the story, was lost on the local "wise ones," with the result that the owner of the "dark horse" carried away all their money.

But the dark horse quickly became a byword around Kentucky tracks, and its application to politics was only a step.

Whether this story is truth or fiction, it is certain that the phrase was in common use in American politics at an early day. For instance, Herman Eduard von Holst, the German biographer of John C. Calhoun, says:

"Polk was what in the political slang of the day was known as a dark horse."

If the phrase really originated in America, it was quickly adopted in England, for Thackeray used it in his "Adventures of Philip." Philip remarking in regard to talk about candidates for Parliament:

"Why, bless my soul, he can't mean me. Who is the dark horse he has in his stable?"

It appears also in Disraeli's "Young Duke," a novel of great popularity in its day. A race is one of the incidents of the book, and the finish is thus described:

"The first favorite was never heard of, the second favorite was never seen after the distance post, all the ten-to-ones were in the rear, and a dark horse that had never been thought of rushed past the grandstand in a sweeping triumph."

Bryce, in his "American Commonwealth," without attempting to trace the origin of the phrase, thus explains its significance:

"A dark horse is a person not very widely known in the community at large, but known rather for good than for evil. . . . Speaking generally, the note of the dark horse is respectability verging on colorlessness, a good sort of person to fall back upon when able but dangerous favorites have proved impossible."

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss Pearl Cox, daughter of Head Constable Cox, Gaoler and Keeper of the Court House, Carbonar, is at present on a visit to Mrs. Robert Davis, having come hither from the sister city Monday afternoon.

The C.C.C. football team from Bell Island arrived on Wednesday morning and played against a Harbor Grace team, between 7 and 8 p.m. The score was 4 to nil in favor of the Hr. Gracians, and was a game thoroughly enjoyed by both participants and spectators. Later in the evening the young gentlemen from the Island held a dance in the Academy Hall, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who took advantage of same. The team is to be congratulated on the sportsman like way in which they accepted their defeat—but more luck next time, gentlemen. A second game was played the following evening by both teams, a game that was classed by veteran footballers among the toughest and most manly ever witnessed by them. To use the term of a joker, the Bell Island team scored nothing and the Hr. Grace team twice as much—that is to say the former nil and the latter two. Many spectators witnessed the game of Thursday night, and, like the victors and the defeated, were more than pleased with the evening's sport. It is said that in response to a challenge from the Bell Island team, the Hr. Grace lads will proceed to the Island to engage in a match there some time next month. The C.C.C. lads left here for the Island Thursday evening at about 9.30 by motor coach, singing "What's the use in worrying" as they went out the harbor, and carried with them the reputation of being sports to the core.

Miss Anita Makinson is at present here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. D. Munn.

The first schooner to get away from this place for Labrador was the Baden Powell.

The tug D. P. Ingraham came here Thursday and towed the schooner Esther Hankinson to St. John's the same evening.

S.S. Prospero arrived here Thursday evening at about 9.30, en route to Labrador ports, and took aboard freight and passengers.

The grim reaper—Death—has just visited, for the second time within a fortnight, the house of Mrs. Edmund Daley of Cottage Road. As your correspondent noted last week Mr. Edmund Daley had passed away quite suddenly, and it is with deep regret and heart-felt sympathy for the bereaved that we record the death of Mrs. Daley's eldest daughter, Miss Margaret Sullivan, which sad event took place on Monday at 12 p.m. Three years ago Margaret went to Boston, and after being there but a few months her health failed, and she was forced to give up work and seek medical treatment in hospital, where she stayed for two years. Finally she decided to come back to her native land, and arrived here last fall. Since then she has been gradually failing, until, fortified by the rites of the Catholic Church, and with a perfect resignation to the holy will of God, she passed to her reward, the reward that comes to those who, as Margaret, bear the burden of life so patiently. She was but twenty-three years of age, and was the daughter of the late Patrick Sullivan of the South Side. She leaves to mourn their sad loss, besides her mother, one sister, Nellie, and a number of other relatives, to whom the writer extends his deepest sympathy. Funeral took place Wednesday morning, when the remains were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The almost continuous rain of the past few days has been of great benefit to the crops, which was very backward because of the long spurt of dry weather experienced this summer. But there is a greater danger to crops than dry weather—the lurking sheep, a danger, too, that speaks or disregard on the part of the owner of this valuable, though troublesome animal. Why not prohibit sheep running at large? Why let the poor man's crops be jeopardized because of this animal? The dogowner had to dispose of his dog to satisfy the desire of sheep owners, and why not a law be enacted to the effect that sheep be driven countrywards or kept in their owners' grounds?

The Rev. Canon Noel and family have lately removed from their former residence, Harvey Street, to one of the houses owned by Mr. J. Butt, Victoria Street. Their many friends wish them a long, happy life in their new surroundings.

Mrs. Harold Sheppard and his little daughter arrived from Sydney by Thursday evening's train to spend a time here with friends. Their many friends are pleased to see them in the best of health, and trust that their visit will be a pleasant one.

Mr. Frank Murphy, son of Mr. Thomas Murphy, dispatching clerk with the Reid Newfoundland Company at Bishop's Falls, arrived by Thursday evening's train to spend a month or so with his friends of the Old Home Town. Frank is O. K. and his friends are very pleased to see him so, and wish him a joyous holiday.

Mrs. John Parmiter and her four children arrived Thursday night from Sydney on a visit to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tetford.

Messrs. T. O'Brien and H. Payne of the Cable staff here arrived from the city on Thursday last.

On Saturday morning, at about 5 o'clock, a.m. there passed peacefully away at his residence, Harvey Street, one of our most respected citizens, in the person of Mr. Edward H. Williams, at the comparatively early age of 55 years. The news of his demise came as a big surprise to many of our citizens, and was hailed with a feeling of deep regret. The deceased was a man known and liked by all—a man who was ever ready with a kindly word of encouragement and a helping hand for those in distress. Mr. Williams was, in his earlier days, a valued teacher in the Harbor Grace Grammar school, (which stood near the Court House, Harvey Street), and was universally respected by all with whom he came in connection therewith. Since the closing down of the school Mr. Williams, his sight gradually failing him, until of late years complete blindness set in, has taken no active part in public affairs, but his verdict was often sought on matters that demanded a cool, level head, and was found to be always of great assistance.

"Blind, but he could see plainly with the eye of faith— See the open arms of God."

The deceased gentleman was not in the best of health for some months past, and it was thought that with the coming of fine, warm weather his condition would take a change for the better. But "God's will be done," and we have to record his death, expressing our heart-felt sympathy for the mourning brother and other relatives in the city.

The S.S. Ranger called at this port Thursday evening, at about 10 o'clock, and took on board quite a number of passengers and some little quantity of freight. She sailed for the Labrador a few hours later.

This has, perhaps, been the busiest week for the season in the shipping line, many schooners having been docked, repaired and put off, and many of our local schooners making hasty preparations to get away with the first "down" breeze. As well as the Baden Powell referred to above, the Coronation, owned by Messrs. Munn & Co., got away for the Labrador, bound for Shoal Bay Islands, on Thursday. Other crews and schooners will leave the first opportunity. Your correspondent, on behalf of the general public, wishes all a very successful and pleasant voyage, catch, and return home.

We record with much regret the passing of Mrs. Sarah Noel, which sad event occurred Thursday morning. Mrs. Noel was stricken with paralysis on Monday morning, and did not get any better during the short period of time from the attack up to the hour of death. Deceased was the widow of Mrs. James Noel, and second daughter of Henry Corbin, a former esteemed resident of Carbonar. She was in her 62nd year, and leaves to mourn their sad loss two sons and three daughters—Thomas, now in St. John's, and Nathaniel, of this town; one daughter in the United States, Mrs. Wm. Crane and Miss Lily of Hr. Grace, to whom much sympathy is tendered in their bereavement.

Up to the time of writing there has not been any sign of caplin along the shore, but a rumor has it that they have "struck" at Freshwater and also at Bryant's Cove. Last year they landed, so to speak, on the 17th. Fish is fairly plentiful and on the market every morning, but the "big" catch is not expected before the caplin school.

The death occurred at the South Side, on Saturday, of Mrs. Richard

CABLE NEWS.

DEATH ROLL NOW SIX.

LONDONDERRY, June 21. Rioting was renewed in this city this morning and resulted in one person being mortally wounded and two seriously hurt. Rifle and revolver firing was almost continuous, and as people feared to venture out to work business was at a standstill. The mob this morning openly fired on troops. At one o'clock this afternoon rioting was still in progress. John Gallagher, one of the men wounded in yesterday's fighting, died to-day, bringing the number of deaths in the present outbreak of party strife up to six.

THE LONDONDERRY RIOTS.

LONDONDERRY, June 21. Civil war conditions prevail in Londonderry and the authorities are powerless, it is declared in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Londonderry this afternoon. Several additional persons were killed in this morning's rioting there, according to this message. The firing is being maintained with desperate intensity, business is suspended and Postmen are declining to deliver mails. When the troops stop fighting in one sector the despatch adds, firing breaks out in another.

George. Mrs. George was suffering from an incurable complaint for some time past, and was a woman who was a true neighbor and friend, and her passing from the community will be recorded with all-round regret. She was about 35 years of age, and leaves a husband and one little son, to whom we extend our deepest sympathy.

Ever on the alert to extend his growing business, and further the development and prosperity of the old town, Mr. Ernest Simmons has recently purchased the motor boat Maud from the Newfoundland Shipbuilding Company.

Capt. Ernest Wells is at present in town visiting friends. His ship, the S.S. Form, is on dock at St. John's. Captain Wells is looking fine, and his old friends are very pleased to see him. He will leave for the ship Monday or Tuesday.

CORRESPONDENT.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations. Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin, for which there is no substitute.

Aspirin is not German but is made in America, and is owned by an American Company, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store.

Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacid-ester of Salicylicacid.

Young Footballer Broke Leg.

Mr. Jack Newhook, of St. John's, broke his leg last evening while playing football at Tannery Field. He was on the St. Thomas's Parish team, the Cathedral Parish being the opposing one. The game had only two minutes to go and the score was two to one in favor of St. Thomas's. Mr. Newhook tackled an opponent and in doing so broke his right leg below the knee. Rev. E. Fletcher, the referee, and A. Gurnew, of the C.L.B. Ambulance Corps, rendered first aid and a phone message was sent the hospital ambulance department. Newhook was quickly removed to hospital. The break is a simple fracture and it is hoped that he will be able to get about again in a few weeks.

FALSE ALARM.—A telephone message was sent to the police station early this morning, saying that a fire was in progress in the neighborhood of King's Bridge. Two officers were sent to investigate before calling out the fire companies; after an hour's search the police returned unable to locate any fire. When selecting lemons for tea, remove seeds and insert a clove or two.

WHY THIS MOP GIVES SUCH EXCELLENT RESULTS

The satisfaction derived from the use of a Mop is dependent upon the Chemical with which it is treated. The O-Cedar Polish Mop is treated with O-Cedar Polish. There can be no finer Polish for any varnished surface. It may be used on any surface—even on your piano—with perfect confidence. The Mop is scientifically designed. Made of Steel it is so constructed that perfect "centre pressure" is obtained—a feature important to good floor polishing.

Use it on any floor—whether varnished hard wood; painted, oiled or stained soft wood—also on cloth and linoleum. Use it, too, for dusting and polishing wood-work and stairs—thus you may avoid much stooping, bending and reaching.

Odd Fellowship.

On Thursday there arrived on the s.s. Digby, Bro. Past Grand Master Craig, the well known druggist of Yarmouth, N.S., and one of the most highly respected members of the Grand Lodge of the Maritime Provinces and the Dominion of Newfoundland. On arrival he was met by the reception committee, and escorted to the home of Bro. Joseph Moore, another most generous and highly-valued Odd Fellow. Friday night the distinguished visitor visited Colonial Lodge, and was given a right royal welcome by members of all lodges in the city. Saturday quite a bunch proceeded to Bell Island and met the officers and members of the new I.O.O.F. Lodge recently instituted. The boys on the Iron Island were glad to see them and extended a hearty welcome to come again. Last night Bro. Craig, accompanied by Bro. J. C. Phillips, D.D.G.M., paid a visit to Atlantic Lodge, No. 1, and was given a right royal reception by the large number of brethren assembled. After the conferring of the second degree by Bro. Claude Noonan, N.G. of Colonial Lodge, assisted by Bro. Spurrell, P.G., and the able degree team, the N.G., Bro. Wm. White, extended, in his well-known dramatic way a sincere and hearty welcome to which Bro. Craig replied in choice language, and in order to express in some measure his sincere esteem and high regard for the members of Atlantic Lodge, N. 1, I.O.O.F., and as a slight token of deep appreciation of many kindnesses and personal courtesies, he bequeathed to Atlantic Lodge several Nid. Government bonds the interest thereof to be expended yearly in the purchase of suitable engraved Past Grand Jewels or combination Jewels. Similar bonds were presented to Colonial and Wabana Lodges. Bro. Craig also, in the course of his remarks made mention of a Home Scheme Fund which is to provide a home for aged Odd Fellows. Some funds have been provided but not enough, and he urged every member of this Jurisdiction to subscribe to this worthy object. Among the many interesting features of the evening was the presentation of a Veteran's Jewel to Bro. J. A. Adrian, P.G., and a Past Grand's Jewel to Bro. Alex. Rooney, P.G. The visitor will stay until Thursday when he will likely visit Exploits Lodge, Grand Falls. For Wednesday a banquet has been arranged at Forest Pond and a jolly time is anticipated.—W.G.

John Olsen Has Now Thrown His Crutches Away

Halifax Man Was Unable to Walk For Rheumatism When He Began Taking Tanlac.

"I had quit work, was unable to walk and thought the rheumatism had laid me out for good, but it's a fact, since taking Tanlac I have thrown my crutches away and simply feel like a new man entirely." The above remarkable statement was made recently by John Olsen, 44 Dresden Row, Halifax, who has been a suffering man for the past forty years.

"For three years now I have been troubled with about as bad a case of rheumatism as any man ever had. My legs ached all the way from my knees down to my feet and for weeks at a time I was unable to walk a step. My knees were so swollen and stiff I could hardly move them at all and at times my legs were as stiff as a board. My ankles and feet would swell up so bad I couldn't get my shoes on and the muscles and tendons in my legs felt like they were tied in knots. I had sharp shooting pains all through my lower limbs that felt like a thousand needles sticking in me, and a good night's rest was simply out of the question; why, sometimes I couldn't sleep a wink. Whenever I was on the ship they had to lift me out of my bunk and carry me around like a child. I was almost as helpless as a baby and thought I would lose the use of my legs entirely. Last September when we arrived in Sydney I realized I couldn't work any more, so I had them carry me aboard and put me on the train for Halifax. When I reached there I couldn't walk a step and had to be carried from the depot to the house in a cab.

"Well, while sitting around the house all the time, I took to reading a good deal and each day I noticed the statements about Tanlac. So finally, I decided to try it myself. The first few bottles didn't seem to help me much but I realized my case was stubborn and I stuck to Tanlac. And I want to say right now it was a lucky thing for me that I did. The swelling and stiffness soon began to leave me and I was able to walk with the aid of two crutches. I kept right on taking Tanlac until now. I have thrown my crutches away, can walk as good as I ever could in my life and the pains and aches have all disappeared. My appetite has improved and I have picked up several pounds in weight, and altogether I feel a lot better and stronger than I have in many years. Tanlac is certainly a great medicine and I take pleasure in recommending it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle.—adv

No Quorum.

There was no session of the House of Assembly yesterday afternoon for want of a quorum. As a rule the House meets at 3.15, but yesterday up to 4 p.m. sufficient members did not put in an appearance to conduct the session. Shortly before that hour Messrs. Jennings and Hibbs arrived and Mr. Sullivan (Opposition), took occasion to point out that the Speaker should be in the chair at 3.15. He thought the delay was disgraceful on the part of the Government, particularly as the estimates were up for consideration. This was a clear case that the delay in facilitating business was due to the Government members and not to the Opposition, who were repeatedly charged with obstruction tactics. Evidently interests in other directions were of more concern to the Government than the levying of 2 million dollars extra taxation. Mr. Sullivan moved for an adjournment. Mr. Warren contending that the time of meeting was 4.15. The Speaker upheld Mr. Sullivan and the session postponed accordingly.

H.M.S. "Briton," St. John's, Nfld., 21st June, 1920.

Dear Sir.—I have received the following letter from the Secretary of "The Nation's Fund for Nurses." I shall be glad if you will kindly publish it in your paper.

Yours truly,
C. D. FENN,
10 West Bolton Gardens, London, S. W. 5.

Dear Sir.—I herewith enclose an official receipt for £123.6.6, being the amount sent from the citizens of St. John's, Newfoundland for the "Nation's Fund for Nurses."

I am indeed grateful for this splendid amount, and should be glad if you would convey my very grateful thanks to those who contributed so generously to the Fund.

Yours faithfully,

St. Joseph's Garden Party.

St. Joseph's Garden Party will be held on Thursday, July 1st, in Rennie's Meadow, immediately in the rear of Sir Michael Cashin's residence. This beautiful field, one of the largest in the vicinity of the city, has been very kindly loaned by W. H. Rennie, Esq. for the purpose. As it is within easy reach of all points of the town, the Committee hope to have the pleasure of entertaining many patrons at the Garden Party. The organizers have spared no pains to make the event as attractive as possible. Football five, races, (including a road race), bowling, music will vie away the afternoon most pleasantly; while the delicious teas provided by the ladies of St. Joseph's will tickle the palate even of epicures. Visitors and patrons are thus assured of a most agreeable outing, and they also have a consciousness of helping a very worthy cause.

DIAMOND DUST
Nothing But the Truth—Without Fear or Favour.

The stage is all set for the spirited clash to-morrow afternoon between the C.E.I. and Wanderers. The line-ups will likely be:

C.E.I.—Drover c., Thistle p., Max Churchill lb., Jimmy Alderice 2b., Thomas s.s., Gabriel 3b., while the Wanderers will be selected from Tommy Weisman, Stan Windsor, Albert Mar, Reg. Knight, Allan Churchill and Harry Carter.

Wanderers.—Britt c., Sinnott p., Edens lb., McCrindle 2b., Smith s.s., Ford Brown 3b., and the Wanderers will likely consist of Donnelly, Keegan and Clouston.

The farmer always prays for rain to help along his growing grain. The rains were always known to pray for machines every playing day. But all the rosters will allow that things are slightly different now—when rain is needed for the soil to help the farmers at their toil and help 'em get a bumper crop. Well let the players shut up shop. For if the worst comes to the worst we all agree that crops come first. So Rain, oh, Rain, no matter when you come to moisten field and glen, we will not care one whit at all unless you stop us playing ball.

Harvey Thomas says his C.E.I. batters like speed. Wanderers had better shoot Smithy against them. His fast ball is as slow as a politician making good on his political promises.

The microbe of Mumps makes cute little bumps on the cheeks of the young and the fair. The microbe of Gout bites the rich and the stout till they have to be rolled in a chair. The microbe of Fever, one hot little bug, makes many a victim feel dizzy. But we speak of these germs in contemptuous terms when the microbe of Baseball gets busy. The microbe of Baseball arrives in the Spring with his sword gleaming bright in the air; no mercy he'll show for the high or the low, and he tackles the young and the fair. The dignified broker who drives his old Ford, and the fellow who can't afford lunch, are stung by the microbe's unmerciful sword, and they'll swarm to the field in a bunch. The mere sound of "microbe" will make a man squirm and toss in his bed of a night. But the microbe of Baseball's a cute little germ, and the rosters all welcome his bite. He puts on no lug, for he knows he's a bug like the rosters with whom he goes chumming. With the first game tomorrow prepare for his sting, for the microbe of Baseball is coming.

"Will our boys get good pitching this year?" asks a perturbed Wanderer fan.

Sure they will! They'll get it from the Lions, Cubs, Irish and C.E.I. pitchers.

When you're feeling sort of drifty and would rather sleep than eat. When your walk once brisk and nifty, is performed with dragging feet. When you feel that all life's pleasure is like a drained-out cup—Then you need this stirring measure—"BATTER UP."

Keefe far will grow your vision, and Fred Chesman you won't doubt. Until you hear his cruel decision—"BATTER OUT."

Fan—I see Doc. Power is back in the game. Billy Callahan—who is he with? Fan—The Cubs. Billy—I'll say he's back—pretty far back.

When the grass is green, and the school-kid's blue; when your weary bean pines for sport stuff new; when the baseball star packs his bats and trunk; and the papers far set up reams of junk; Why then, by Jingo, It's Spring.

When the Irish fan has new-born hope; and you have to scan all the "expert" dope; when the baseballs fly and the birdies sing, and the Leary guy loosens up his wing; Then, kid, by Jingo, It's Spring.

How to pick the winner of the Penant series: Get the dope from 29 baseball experts and Jimmy Whitten; shake well before using; add your telephone number; divide St Jenkins' age; season well with Paddy Dobbin's predictions and nine regular ball players' opinions; throw the recipe into the hopper; and then make your own guess.

Backward, turn backward, oh Time in your chase, and bring back a hectic old-fashioned flag race. Bring back the days when Rosster was king; when pitching and fielding and hits were the thing. Bring back the days when Monty was chief, and Sunshine Punk Brown caused the great slugger's grief. Backward, turn backward, oh Time to the hour when all the sport sheets were full of the case of Doc. Power. Back to the days when we read of the game; when the ump's not the players were laid for the blame. Back to the old days when Bill Anderson and Neddy—the scorer—made all the fun. Gee, but I'm weary of tralling the dops and reading how managers pine and mope. Gosh! but I'm tired of skimming the news and find some one else in Bill Morris's shoes. Turn back the Balldom reel, oh, Father Time, to the years when Jack Angel was still in his prime, when "medal-hunters" were kept from the ball tossing throne and kept in the grandstand right where they belong.

Myrtle the Fem-Fan (yes, she's with us still) sends us a card to say that some players have found that the pen is mightier than the bat. That's a deep one!

Oh, say, can you see by the dawn's early light, what Reformers have in democracy's fight? While they were all here, as the shells burst in air, they took all the beef from the lads over there.

The Skipper comes aboard

You know you are going to have a treat when you see the Skipper's jolly face on the tin.

Just open the tin, and there you are—rows of delicious little fish all ready to eat—no preparation needed, no waste—all pure nourishment.

"Skippers" make a welcome change from the every day-ness of meals. They are such a luxury—so delicious and appetising; and then, too, they are one of the most nourishing and valuable foods you can eat.
