HON. ALEX. MACKENZIE DEAD

THE PREMIER PASSES AWAY
WITH THE RASTER MORNING.

Close of a Remarkable Career—Biography of a Remarkable Man—Geographic Tributes in the Churches—Many Condolences—Widened Circle—Funeral Arrangements—The News at His Old Home—Parliament Will Adjourn for the Obsequies.

The end came at last. The period of hope against hope closed in the opening hour of the glad Easter morn. At 10.40 a.m. yesterday Hon. Alexander Mackenzie passed his last. The daily bulletins had forewarned of the end, but it was only after a protracted struggle that the weary spirit found release.

Mr. Mackenzie, like so many of our prominent men, was a Scotchman, born at Logierthaig, near the famous Pass of Cullinstock, January 28, 1822. He had thus completed the allotted three score and ten when he passed away. His father was the middle walk of a life of a strong, vigorous family, and the future Premier took his schooling at a middle-class Scotch boy; some five years in all. When he was 14, his father died, and he was left to the care of his mother's relatives. When he was 20 he emigrated to Canada and settled in Kingston, working in his trade and in the lumbering business. The late Sir John A. Macdonald, who was a contemporary of Mackenzie in Kingston at the same time. In 1847 Mr. Mackenzie, together with his brother, Hugh F. Mackenzie, moved to the neighborhood of Saratoga. For a time he continued in his trade as a millwright, and his interest in politics found a vent and in 1852 he was elected to the Legislative Assembly for the district of Northumberland. He was a member of the House of Commons from 1854 to 1873, in consequence of the Pacific Scandal, came to office.

From 1873 Mr. Mackenzie was premier, and distinguished himself by the great amount of practical work he accomplished; among the acts passed by his Ministry may be mentioned the General Election Law, the Contracted Elections Act, the Postal Act, the General Insurance Act, the Indemnification of Municipalities Act, the Temperance Act, the Homeestead Extension Act, the Canadian Pacific Railway Act, etc.

In 1875 Mr. Mackenzie's Government was overturned on the tariff question, and he became once more leader of the Opposition until April, 1880, when his party deposed him from his office. In 1882 he gave up his old profession of millwright, and he was elected to the House of Commons in 1883. He was married to the Rev. John Thompson, Presbyterian minister of Saratoga.

In April, 1879, shortly after the change of leadership took place, the first symptoms of disease made their appearance in a partial loss of vision, followed by general weakness of the left side. These symptoms did not improve, but rather steadily advanced, the infirmity of speech increasing in its severity. Mr. Mackenzie, however, was able to continue in parliament and to his other duties until Feb. 2, 1884, when he was elected to the House of Commons. He was married to the Rev. John Thompson, Presbyterian minister of Saratoga.

Mr. Mackenzie possessed wonderful vitality, clinging to life as long as it was possible. His life was worn out, a case of pure exhaustion.

Widened Condolences.

Hon. Mr. Meave's telegram from Montreal last night from Sir John Thompson stating the House will be asked to adjourn Tuesday without transacting business as a mark of respect for the memory and public services of Mr. Mackenzie.

Mr. Mackenzie received a telegram from the Hon. Mr. Meave, stating that the Government intend to express their sympathy with Mrs. Mackenzie's bereavement.

Hon. C. J. Patterson also telegraphed Mrs. Mackenzie, expressing his sympathy and condolence. The whole country sympathizes with you in your great bereavement.

RUSSIA'S LATEST WAR MOVE.

EXTRAORDINARY MEASURES HAVE BEEN INTRODUCED.

Forty thousand British Militia Fight Imaginary Invaders—Demolish the Murderer, Photographed—Indictment of Ravachol, the Anarchist, and His Followers.

London, April 17.—Advices received here from St. Petersburg state that the Council of the Empire has adopted a series of drastic measures, which indicate that preparations are being made for war.

A plan has been approved by which all private railways are to be placed under the control of the Government in the event of a mobilization of the forces being ordered.

The severe penalties are provided for anyone who shall communicate abroad any of the plans of the Government, and the Government reserves the right to confiscate any property of anyone who shall be convicted of such an offence.

The indictment of Ravachol, the anarchist, and his five accomplices, including the murderer of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, was presented today. This indictment was presented to-day. This indictment gives the first complete history of the case. The case opens in April, 1891, when Decamp, an anarchist, was indicted for the murder of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg.

The indictment details the story of the poisoning of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, and the role of Ravachol and his accomplices in the crime.

The case is a sensational one, and has attracted the attention of the world. The trial is expected to be a long and interesting one.

SUDDENLY CALLED AWAY.

A Fronting Career Cut Short in the Death of William C. Palmer.

A groom was cast over the friends of William Calhoun Palmer yesterday at the news of his unexpected death. He was taken ill on Wednesday, but nothing serious was anticipated, as he was a strong and usually healthy man. The disease, however, suddenly developed into a violent form of diphtheria, and on Saturday night, before his friends had time to reach him, he had passed away.

Decamp was the eldest son of J. C. Palmer, the well-known Boston man, and was the father of the late Mr. Palmer. He was a prominent member of the Boston bar, and had a long and successful career.

His death is a great loss to his family and to the community. He was a man of high character and ability, and his death is a tragedy.

The funeral will be held on Monday at 11 a.m. in the First Baptist Church. The interment will take place in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

The cause of his death is believed to be diphtheria, which he contracted while on a tour of the West. He was a man of high character and ability, and his death is a tragedy.

THE LINE FENCE AGAIN.

William Affray in Wellington County—A Dispute, a Shot Gun and a Man Under the Doctor's Care.

DRAYTON, Ont., April 17.—Saturday morning two farmers, John S. George and Daniel Eby, living in the township of Marlboro, about three miles south-west of Moorefield, quarrelled over the removal of a line fence. George objected to its removal by Eby and warned him if he did so he would shoot him. Eby proceeded to tear down the fence, when George ran back to his house and brought out a double-barrelled shotgun, dropped on his knee, and took deliberate aim and fired. The shot struck Eby in one eye and the breast, making three dangerous wounds. Physicians are in attendance on the wounded man, and it is expected he will recover. George has been arrested. The shooting was witnessed by a number of neighbors.

SEQUEL TO THE YOUNGSTER'S FORTUNE.

Greener Noble and the Domestic With Whom He Fled Overhauled at Lockport, N.Y., by the Girl's Father—The Girl Consents to Return on Certain Conditions.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., April 17.—Robert McColl, a farmer near Toronto, Ont., arrived here a few days ago in search of his daughter, who had fled from her home with a man named Cyrus Noble, a grocer at the corner of St. Mary and Yonge streets in this city. He located the couple here, and after an affecting interview, Mary consented to return.

The condition on which the daughter consented to return was rather interesting. She specified that she might correspond regularly and without interference with the man whom she had loved, and that she should be allowed to see him whenever she should get a divorce from her father, which she intended to do as soon as possible. Noble had some idea of the extent of separation from his late better-half, in consideration of which she turned over to her father all his property.

Mary's ancestor acquiesced to her condition with some hesitancy, but finally promised that they would go, although all the parties started back to the Dominion.

The particulars of theelopement were published exclusively in The World of April 11. Noble, who conducted a grocery on the corner of St. Mary and Yonge streets, became enamored of Miss McColl, who was a servant in the household of a prominent citizen. He hid written on a bill-head and which he assigned all his property to his wife and advised her to flee from her father's house, clear and go on with the business.
