Deacons' Report.

It is our purpose to call attention more particularly to the spiritual life of the church during the past year. The state of this life may be gauged in part by the membership and financial statistics. At our reunion a year ago our number was 303; we have since received 8 by baptism, 18 by letter and 1 by experience, in all 27; and our roll has been diminished by 10 dismissals and two deaths, and fellowship has been withdrawn from 4, the total removals from the list being 16, leaving our numerical strength at the present moment 314. These figures show some advance though small. Our financial record for the year indicated a strong and steady purpose to maintain the cause of Christ in our own community and to assist the various objects promote by our denomination. As a full statement of our finances will be printed herewith, it is not necessary to go into detail in this report. As further indicating our religious condition, reference may be made to the spirit of harmony and unity which has constantly shown itself between pastor and people, and between the members in general. The loving esteem in which our pastor is held by members of church and congregation is as gratifying as it is manifest and may largely account for the abundant measure of Christian fellowship that shows itself among the membership of the church. Love multiplies itself. A loving pastor begets a loving people. And when true Christian love exists and manifests itself between shepherd and flock and between members of the flock itself, we possess God's best gift. Some branches of our work call for special mention. There is the Sisters' Visiting Committee, for example. In a membership of over three hundred there are always poor and afflicted who need the warm, loving, practical sympathy of their fellow members. Our Sisters have devoted themselves nobly to this work and have greatly aided the pastor and helped those who were in need or laid aside by illness. The Young People's Union has continued to flourish and gather strength and affords an opportunity and means of growth and development in Christian graces which probably could not otherwise be obtained.

Having thus briefly mentioned several features of a gratifying character, we may refer to one which has long caused great regret and is a source of much weakness to the church. We have on our roll quite a considerable number of worthy and esteemed members who very rarely attend any of our religious services except those on the Lord's day. We hold our stated meetings for praise and prayer. We hold a conference meeting once a month, in which members are given a special opportunity and are expected to relate their own personal Christian experience. And these week evening meetings are those most highly valued by the most sincere and devout Christians. Now, two things seem very certain in this connection, namely, that those who continually absent themselves from these meetings lose the principal opportunities given in a church for the enjoyment of religion and for growth and development in the Christian life. Not only that, but they throw on others the entire work of carrying forward and maintaining these services. They themselves suffer by their non-attendance, and others suffer for want of their co-operation. There is urgent need for amendment here. We have no list of "associate" members in the church. God expects every member to do his duty, and He waits to be gracious and to bestow His richest blessings upon all who give themselves freely to His service.

Turning for a moment, in conclusion, to ourselves as deacons of the church, we have had occasion during the year to deeply regret the long protracted illness of our Brother William F. Parker, and his resignation on that account of the office of deacon. Through this resignation and the retirement of another deacon, in accordance with the resolution of the church, you will be shortly called upon to select two brethren to fill their places, and we expect you to use your diligence in a prayerful spirit to make the wisest choice. Our work as deacons has included the superintendency of the church buildings, and we have to congratulate ourselves and the church upon the acquisition of a most efficient and faithful sexton. The care of the poor who are among us has been entrusted to us, and we have endeavored to distribute your bounty in such a way as to afford the greatest relief possible. By meeting together once a month regularly, and at other times as occasion required, we have at least endeavored to discharge with some degree of faithfulness the important duties allotted to us. We request your prayers for our guidance and your co-operation in all the work of the church. And let us all pray that the Word preached so faithfully from our pulpit and at our week evening services may be blessed, and that we may be greatly revived and built up and strengthened to the glory of God.

Dec. 31.	By balance General Account .....	$ 43 67
	" balance .....	315 87

To deficit on General Account..... $315 89

It will be seen that the deficit on General Account, which at the close of 1895, amounted to $203.45, has increased somewhat during the year. This has been occasioned by extra demand for repairs to the Church building. Our Weekly Offerings, however, have been well sustained, and show a slight increase when compared with 1895, but yet somewhat below both 1873 and 1894—our two best years. As a rule weekly offerings of regular contributors, omitted through absence from the city are made up, promptly, on their return. This practice should be observed by all. But for some failures in this regard our deficit of 1895 would have suffered no increase, and could have been considerably reduced, during the year. We cherish the hope that the deficit shall be entirely wiped out during 1897. Ordinary effort, well sustained, will accomplish this without difficulty.

The condition of this fund may well inspire courage for continued effort. We opened the New Church on Spring Garden Road, burdened with a debt of $15,000. Year by year the amount has gradually diminished, and now we can gratefully announce the debt half paid. It is proposed to pay off an additional $1000 in October next.
