CANNOT KEEP HIM IN PRISON

Society Swindler Twice Arrested,
But Each Time Succeeds in Making Escape in Sensational Manner

Berlin, Sept. 4.—Considerable sensation has been caused in Germany by the exploits of a modern Jack Sheppard, who has twice within a short period succeeded in breaking out of the local jail at Heilbronn, in the kingdom of Württemberg.

This swindler, whose real name is Schiemann, and who is possessed of charming manners, has succeeded in the last two months in swindling many people in Berlin, giving large sums of money and valuables. He passed under the aliases of "Count Marcell de Passy," "Graf von Schiemann," and a partner in the swindles the ladies of some circles to which he obtained an entry.

"Count de Passy" however had many connections in quite a number of societies, so he was the head of a band of desperadoes and swindlers of the lowest type, who accorded their chief unquestioning obedience and loyalty.

Some few months ago "Count de Passy" overcame himself and in endeavoring by means of an ingenious swindle, to obtain possession of an estate and castle near Berlin, brought himself into the local gentry, bought his freedom from the clutches of the law. He was arrested and lodged in the remand prison at Heilbronn to await trial on one charge of swindling when he was entered in his cell "Count de Passy" was missing. On the table lay a sarcastic letter addressed to the "police force" in which the "count" expressed his regret that the authorities so much unnecessary trouble, but said that he had "important business" which compelled him to remove to Berlin the further hospitality of the government.

It was afterwards discovered that Schiemann's "confession" had merely been a smokescreen at first to prevent his cell being broken into and his escape through the window. "Count de Passy's" liberty was not of long duration, however, as he was again arrested and confined at a village dance in the neighborhood of Berlin. He was taken back to Heilbronn, lodged in the same prison and carrying a chain against his second escape attempt. He was held in the wall by the ankles, so that he could not move except by a further precautionary measure, his clothes were removed from him every evening and returned to him at daybreak.

A few days ago, when a warden of the night patrol glided through the iron grating of the door of the prisoner's cell he found that the赎mable prisoner was again absent. The chain which fettered him to the wall had been freed through the efforts of the authorities to trace the "count" without lay a finger on the warden.

It was discovered that the criminal confederates had again succeeded in breaking their way into the prison from a neighboring building and carrying off their captive, merely in his shirt and a pair of slippers. Despite the utmost efforts of the authorities to trace their prisoner, "Count de Passy" still remains at liberty, and the police have no clue as to his whereabouts.

MAJORITY OF 48 FOR LIBERALS

(Montreal Herald)

The Herald prints on its front page a comprehensive summary of campaign conditions throughout Canada, the gist of which is compiled into an election forecast. The Herald offers this, not as a political forecast, but simply as a view of the situation, too often as yet well informed correspondents acting under instructions to get at the facts, without party bias.

Both sides of the debate indicate that the government will be sustained by a slightly increased majority.

Liberal gains are anticipated as follows:

Nova Scotia, 2.

Manitoba, 3.

Alberta, 1.

Saskatchewan, 1.

British Columbia, 1.—Eight in all.

Partly offsetting those are Liberal losses:

Prince Edward Island, 1.—Five in all, leaving a Liberal gain of three seats and indicating a Liberal majority of forty-eight in the next House.

ALL FOUR FROM P. E. ISLAND

(Montreal Herald)

Edward Island will send only four representatives to support reciprocity because she has only four to elect. She would send ten if she had more members. There has been a general feeling in the island that even approached it in popular feeling. It means everything to our island."

Such was the emphatic statement of Provincial Premier Palmer in an interview just now with your correspondent.

Mrs. W. E. Scully, of St. John, was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Helena, was a passenger on the steamer Governor Dingley on a visit to Boston this morning.

PROMINENT OPPONENTS JOIN LIBERALS FOR RECIPROCITY PACT

ONTARIO HAS INSTANCES OF MANY CONSERVATIVES SUPPORTING GOVERNMENT— ONE MAN FORMER M. P., ANOTHER IS BROTHER OF PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT MEMBER—FARMERS, HORSEMEN AND CATTLEMEN EAGER FOR LARGER MARKET

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 2.—Louis Wigle, a never-voted-for the Liberal party in his life long Conservative in South Essex, is taking the stump for reciprocity and will speak in both ridings of the county. Mr. Wigle, as far as we know, is the only member of society who is the head of a band of desperadoes and swindlers of the lowest type, who accorded their chief unquestioning obedience and loyalty.

SOME SUGGESTION OF INTEREST FOR LABOR DAY CONCERNING THE WELFARE OF ST. JOHN

Government Public Works at This Port and This City Will Represent $10,000,000.

Every Wage-Earner Realizes Fully What This Means to Him.

After the Works Are Completed PERMANENT Benefits Commence.

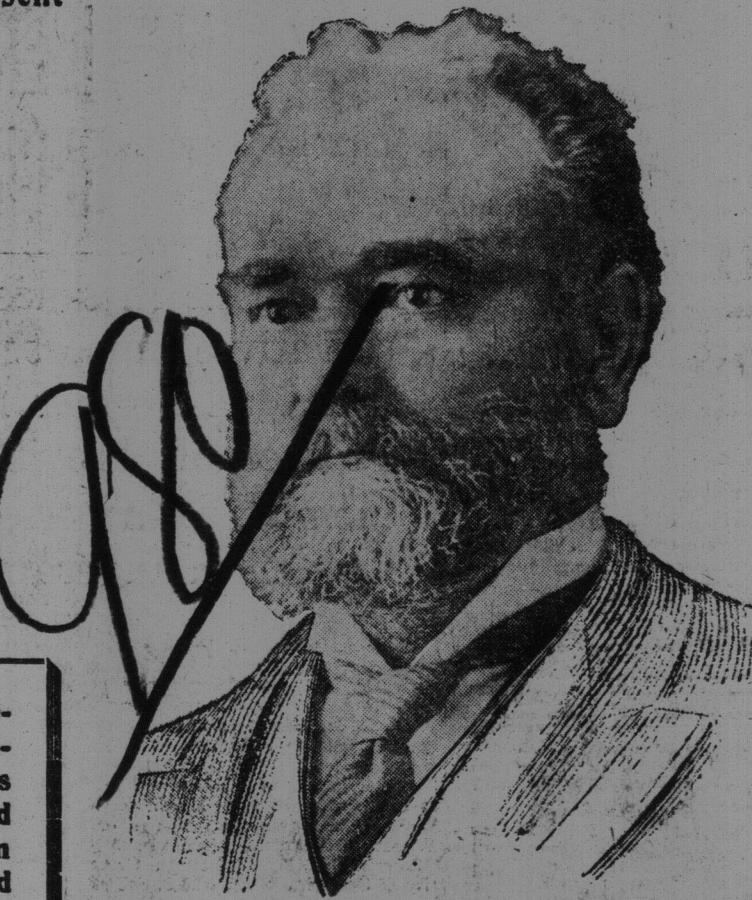

Prospects of Iron Shipbuilding Suggest St. John's Palmy Days.

The Works Already in Hand Assure a Maritime Metropolis.

When in St. John's History Were Our Prospects Brighter?

Is It Worth Your While to Support This Programme?

Western Cities Are ACTUALLY MADE by Such Expenditures.

St. John laboring men have the unusual privilege afforded them of representing as their personal representatives—not an ordinary member of parliament, but the Minister of Public Works, citizen William Pugsley, and James Lowell, M. P. P., a captain of industry. The process of upbuilding the Port and City of St. John is in strong and enthusiastic hands. Is there any sound reason why the government's record on behalf of St. John should be ignored and oppositionists sent to Ottawa.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE lady who-always-knew-everything had been regaling us with some hints as to married life, which she had just gleaned from a form of the shop. She had also been displaying several samples which she had collected in the effort to find for her winter gown, the exact shade of golden brown which would match her eyes.

The Casual Visitor had entered this conversation with ill concealed impatience.

"Really, I have had enough at last, and the samples had finally been laid aside, after we had rendered our decision of merits. "Really, I don't see how you have been able to spend so much time on your clothes. I can't. I should like to have the same amount of time, and when those of us who know her well have become used to her ill-fitting and unbecoming garb, and scarcely notice it except when there is something especially flagrant about it, there is no doubt whatever that her appearance often prejudices strangers, and new acquaintances against her, and makes her social and business prospects that much rougher.

The Casual Visitor, many men and women who have the Casual Visitor's notion that they are trifling away the time they spend in the selection and care of clothes,

Personally, I think they are investing it in gilt edge ten per cent, that is, when they utilize a reasonable amount of their time and wealth.

In a recent magazine, a college girl tells how she earned every cent of the money for a college course. Incidentally she gave an account of the very respectable wardrobe she provided herself with the aid of work and study to make the clothes up to more than mere trouble. The last one to appear one's best, and in so doing, the better class of people are attracted. Care in the matter of dress indicates a methodical and often a refined mind."

Such a girl has got to know the value of time and money, and therefore, her verdict on the efficiency of clothes is worth some attention.

I happen to know that the Casual Visitor, when urged by her friends to pay more attention to her personal appearance, often says: "If people can't seek me out and like me for something besides clothes, I haven't any use for them; that's all."

Of course, there is something in that.

But, please listen a moment more. A very brilliant and gifted man, who serves his master so faithfully he had a right to disdain appearances if anyone ever had, gives the argument for the other side of the case:

"If you look as if you had slept in your clothes, most men will jump to the conclusion you have, and you will never get to know them' well enough to explain that your head is so full of noble thoughts that you haven't time to brush off the hand-droop on your shoulders."

Robert Louis Stevenson.

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

"Tom" Brassey Becomes Viscount Hythe, Though Still a Commoner—Italian Statesman's Death Recalls Some Sensations

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company).

Tom Brassey, eldest son of Lord Brassey, and whose name is known to all shipping men in general and to yachtsmen as editor of that "Brasseys' Naval Annual," which is indispensable to all mariners, will be known henceforth as Viscount Hythe, although he still remains a commoner in the eyes of the law. This change in his designation is due to the fact that his father, himself a baron, has now advanced to the earldom of Ypres, advanced to the earldom of Ypres, and his wife created Viscountess Hythe. It is customary for the eldest sons of dukes, counts and earls to make use of one of the titles of their fathers. They are called by this title, and they are styled by this title as a matter of courtesy and usage, though not as a matter of law.

King Edward's brother-in-law, now the Duke of Argyll, remained a commoner in the eyes of the law until the time of his marriage to Princess Louise in 1871, and his son, the present Earl of Argyll, is still a commoner. A man of exalted rank and commanding beauty, which he retained in a marvelous degree until an advanced old age, she had a strain of Bohemian blood in her veins. It may be mentioned that her first husband, had a brother named Lucifer, who was twice married, his second wife being Mlle. de Blieschamps, who had been divorced by the great Paris ian banker Joubertson. Emperor Napoleon and his family absolutely declined to recognize the validity of the second marriage by Lucifer with the divorced Mme. Joubertson, and refused to admit the legitimacy of the children.

Among the latter was a daughter of the name of Letitia Bonaparte, who in March, 1852, married, at Cluny in Italy, Thomas Wyse, scion of the old Irish County of Waterford family of that name. Letitia gave birth to two sons before her separation in 1858 from Thomas Wyse, who afterwards became British envoy to the Count of Athens, and died as Sir Thomas Wyse.

The older of these two sons, Thomas Wyse, was the original concessionaire of the Panama Canal. ## BOY SCOUTS OF CANADA REVIEWED

This is probably the biggest review of boy scouts yet in Canada. It shows a portion of the 5,000 scouts gathered from all over Canada last week, being reviewed by Earl Grey, chief scout for the dominion. They are marching to the grand stand for the review.

SULTAN OF TURKEY IS INTERVIEWED BY BRITISH PRESSMAN

W. T. Stead Describes His Call Upon The Ruler—Refinement in Diamond-Crusted Cups

In the Review of Reviews, W. T. Stead gives an interesting account of his interview with the Sultan. As His Majesty speaks only Turkish, the presence of an interpreter is indispensable. The Sultan, who was also removed, he says, owing to the kind offices of Dr. Gatz, the court chamberlain, who speaks English admirably.

Mr. Stead was received in the Dolma Bagchee palace, which he describes as "one of the most beautiful, in style, in the world." Stairs close to the water's edge of the Bosphorus, its windows, he says, look upon a scene of beauty to which two continents contribute, but which neither continent can excel.

CUPS DIAMOND CRUSTED

The diamond-crusted set of refreshments served in cups set in silver holders thickly encrusted with diamonds, was shown into the presence of the Sultan by an officer in khaki uniform.

His Majesty is described as a man somewhat below middle height, slightly stout in body and somewhat slow in his movements and in his speech.

W. T. Stead writes: "For his eyes he has a somewhat vacuous expression."

He wore a moustache and his beard was trimmed short. He strolled like a man having no care in the world, but when he had not yet got his bearings or felt his footing firm enough to show his frame.

The Sultan, apparently, was not eager to speak his sentences, but answered in a way that showed he was listening attentively, and was sometimes reflecting.

Mr. Stead, being informed by the chamberlain that he might speak freely, though he could not be sure it would not be right to publish a finished transcript of a conversation touching upon the functions of constitutional government in modern states, the advice given him was to speak freely, to consult with that of autocrats, the doctrine of the monarch with the policy of the adviser.

"The Sultan," Mr. Stead adds, "is to me an interesting and to an Englishman an uninteresting character."

He said that the Sultan was very fond of his necklace, and he had little hope that it would be found.

The court chamberlain, "Indeed," said Miss Gertrude Harmond, a maid at the hotel, had picked up the necklace and turned it in to the office. It was forwarded to Mrs. Stead, who Tuesday wrote Miss Harmond a letter in which was enclosed a check for $50.

MISS HARMOND RECOVERED

When Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Scoville of New York left the Hotel Kimball at Springfield, Mass., last Friday evening they telephoned to their son, Walter T. Stead, and said that Miss Scoville's pearl and diamond necklace, valued at $10,000, was hanging from a fixture in a bathtub.

The loss was not discovered until they had reached New York. They telephoned the hotel management to make search for the necklace, but had little hope that it would be found.

The court chamberlain, "Indeed," said Miss Gertrude Harmond, a maid at the hotel, had picked up the necklace and turned it in to the office. It was forwarded to Mrs. Scoville, who Tuesday wrote Miss Harmond a letter in which was enclosed a check for $50.

MR. LOWELL'S SUCCESS

Mr. James Lowell is to be congratulated. At the outset of the campaign he was almost affected to regard him as a joke. Today it gets on the big stick and dashes at him with great violence. A long article is devoted exclusively to Mr. Lowell. It has been discovered that he is a formidable opponent, and that Dr. Daniel's condition is perilous in the extreme. With its customary assumption that stories about disension in the Liberal ranks will be effective, the Standard invents one, and also asserts that Mr. Lowell proved a dismal failure in the legislature. As to the last statement, a letter of approval sent by Mr. J. B. M. Baxter to Mr. Lowell could be put in evidence to show that in Mr. Baxter's view Mr. Lowell was a valuable representative at Fredericton.

The people are not deceived by the tactics of the Standard. Its attack upon him proves that he is feared as an opponent, and is steadily gaining ground in public favor. He will be the next representative of the city and county at Ottawa.

AND NOW VAN HORNE

Sir William Van Horne is opposed to reciprocity. He would like to have Canada held as a special preserve for hand-picked millionaires. Canada has done much for this gentleman and he has investments which pay large profits. There is an absence of competition. He objects to competition. So far as New Brunswick development goes, Sir William Van Horne had a fine opportunity to do something at Grand Falls, but years have passed and nothing had been done.

WE ARE TOLD. Sir William states that reciprocity by its nature, our fiscal independence he is talking nonsense, and he knows it. He is talking greater nonsense and insulting the Canadian people when he says it would loosen and ultimately destroy the bonds which bind Canada to the Empire. He is opposed to the trade agreement because he fears some of his interests as a monopolist may be affected.

Sir William Van Horne is an American who came to Canada, amassed a fortune and secured a title. He has also exploited Cuba and dipped into South America. When he attempts to give the Canadian people lessons in loyalty he is getting out of his depth. He told the loyal citizens of Charlottetown recently that he would be a small man indeed who would count the cents per barrel on his turnips one way or the other in the face of a question affecting the future and welfare of his country."

This from a man who has made millions in Canada, and is afraid a course will now be pursued which will weaken his monopolistic grip and lessen his profits.

Bourassa, Sifton, Joe Martin and Van Horne—nice group of patriots Mr. Borden has around him.

ANOTHER BOGEY MAN

An attempt is being made by Mr. Borden and others to poison the minds of the people by the suggestion that when Canada's trade with the United States increased large proportions under reciprocity the Americans might suddenly terminate the agreement and inflict great injury upon the country.

The answer to this is obvious. If the trade between Canada and the United States grows to very large proportions (more than half of our total trade last year was with them) it will be because that trade is mutually advantageous. The Americans will not suddenly dislodge their own business.

There is another fact worth noting. The cities of the United States are growing rapidly in population. The problem of food supply, even in that great country, will present increasing difficulties. The people of these cities will not be eager to shut off one of their sources of supply of food products. There is every reason to believe that reciprocity will be beneficial to both countries that neither will have any desire to make a change. The mercantile market will grow with the growth of its cities, and the production of mada will grow with the increase of people engaged in its great natural industries.

... fear that the United States will suddenly destroy a profitable trade of its own is utterly without foundation.

Let's see. How long ago was it that the Conservatives last clamored for a leader to replace Mr. Borden.

If any man tells you free trade will lead to annexation ask him at what particular stage of the growth in trade and prosperity his loyalty would begin to evaporate. That's the test.

Sir William Van Horne evidently thinks there are enough pulp and paper mills in Canada, but a little competition would do any harm, and Canada wants the industry.

If there were no Conservatives in St. John there would be no contest. All of the Conservatives will be out tomorrow, along with Mr. Borden. Also there will be Liberals abroad looking on.

Do not let anybody deceive you. If reciprocity is good for Canada we will all want it continued. If it were not good, nobody would want to continue it, and the agreement would be terminated at once.

IS MR. R. L. BORDEN THE MAN TO ENTRUST WITH THE PREMIERSHIP OF CANADA? His own supporters have more than once considered seriously the question of deposing him from the leadership. They will do it again after Sept. 21st.

Mr. Borden thinks reciprocity with the West Indies would be reasonable. When did the West Indies offer us reciprocity?

By the way, the West Indies do much of their business with the United States. Are they therefore disloyal to the Empire?

Some Halifax tories wanted to invite Mr. Bourassa to come down and say a word in Mr. Borden's constituency. He can perhaps do more effective work in Quebec. Imagine Bourassa in a city filled with memories of the British navy.

Mr. Borden thinks reciprocity with the West Indies could be reasonable. When did the West Indies offer us reciprocity?

By the way, the West Indies do much of their business with the United States. Are they therefore disloyal to the Empire?

What harm has come to the citizen by the steady increase in the farmers' purchasing capacity which has made the past fifteen years the most notable period in Canada's history? What harm would come if we were enlarged still more?—Montreal Herald.

Mr. Borden will probably sit to the last in public life, if at all, after Sept. 21st. If he were, he would find great difficulty after two or three years of the benefits of reciprocity, in explaining how he ever came to be deluded into a belief that greater prosperity for Canada would be a menace to the Empire.

Mr. Borden will probably sit to the last in public life, if at all, after Sept. 21st. If he were, he would find great difficulty after two or three years of the benefits of reciprocity, in explaining how he ever came to be deluded into a belief that greater prosperity for Canada would be a menace to the Empire.

At a recent meeting in Ontario a Liberal speaker referred to the pork packing monopolies which make 120 per cent. yearly and asserted that: "It is time to put a stop to legal robbery." Reciprocity, he pointed out, would give the farmers better prices as they were better in the States, but would help the consumer also, the packing companies would have to lower prices to compete with those of the United States.

In the last four years the government has expended $3,000,000 for the development of St. John harbors, one of the national ports of the Dominion. This work was done under the direction of Mr. Dr. Fugley, who now asks for a renewal of public confidence in him as a representative in parliament and in the government. He also asks that his colleague Mr. James Lowell be returned. The appeal is strengthened by a splendid record of work accomplished and in progress, and the people will not forget.

Mr. Ames and Mr. Perley, tory advocates of reciprocity, were born in the United States. If education at an American university breeds disloyalty and annexation sentiments, what is the matter with H. B. Ames, or R. L. Borden, or C. J. Doherty, or G. H. Perley, all shining lights in the Conservative party, and all graduates of "Yankee universities?" And Mr. Borden is no more than a graduate of American university. Was he not a professor in one of them for several years? But of course it is only Dr. Atherton, of Fredericton, who really imbued annexation sentiments.

Referring to the talk of some rather violent citizens of English birth, who are telling Ontario people how to save the country, a vigorous Ontario man says: "I hurl the insult back in their teeth. While our ancestors were battling with primal conditions theirs were back in England. The most loyal people are the most contemptible. What is the use of keeping our natural products till they die of old age? The English nation was a nation of shopkeepers. They even fought and traded by force. Their flag was at the four corners of the earth. The flag should be if her people had the hearts of the present

CONCERNING LOYALTY

"They speak to us of loyalty. I do not believe that in their heart of hearts they believe what they are saying. I am sure that Mr. Borden does not. We do not boast of our loyalty any more than we boast of the strength of our sons or the virtue of our wives and daughters. I feel this loyalty talk as a personal insult. It is just as if a Presbyterian were to say that a Methodist might be a good fellow but he was not a Christian."

Sir Allen Aylesworth.

AN AGREEMENT; NOT A TREATY

(Daily Telegraph).

Conservatives in their desperation continue to misrepresent the proposed trade agreement with the United States. Here is Clause 4 of the letter of Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson to Secretary of State Knox, which leaves absolutely no room for doubt on the subject:

4. The governments of the two countries having made this agreement from the conviction that, if confirmed by the necessary legislative authorities, it will benefit the people on both sides of the border line, we respectfully hope and expect that the arrangements will be so made as to remain in operation for a considerable period. Only this expectation on the part of both governments would justify the time and labor that have been employed in the maturing of the proposed measures. Nevertheless, it is distinctly understood that WE DO NOT ATTEMPT TO BIND FOR THE FUTURE THE ACTION OF THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS OR THE PARLIAMENT OF CANADA, BUT THAT EACH OF THESE AUTHORITIES SHALL BE ABSOLUTELY FREE TO MAKE ANY CHANGE OF TARIFF POLICY OR ON ANY OTHER MATTER AS PROVIDED BY THE PRESENT ARRANGEMENT THAN MAY BE DEEMED EXPEDIENT. We look for the continuance of the arrangement, not because either party is bound to it, but because of our conviction that the more liberal trade policy thus to be established will be adopted by the people of the United States and Canada as one which will strengthen the friendly relations now happily prevailing and promote the commercial interests of both countries.

The American Secretary of State officially confirmed this on behalf of his government on January 21, 1911. The party which controls the next Parliament and that will be the Liberal party will repeat the tariff agreement in a simple vote of Parliament. The House of Commons at a day's notice, or at any time that it might be deemed expedient.

Conservatives who are attempting to deceive the country dare not repeat their meetings or publish in their newspapers the official declaration on the subject which we have published here.

It is an agreement not a treaty this time, but it was a treaty that Sir John Macdonald got to get and that he and all the other Conservative leaders favored, as their speeches show. The Conservatives cannot dodge that.

GREAT TENOR'S WIFE

AND DAUGHTER HIS INSPIRATION FOR WORK

New York, Sept. 4.—"Great men in business and in the professions owe everything, often, to their wives and children. But there is no such thing as such a standard measure, or one set, in that regard. The success of every hard working citizen may be traced directly to the help and the good influence of a thoughtful wife, and to the love and care of a beloved son."

"Among artists and musicians, where temperament too frequently needs restraining guidance, the right wife is more to the breath-winner than can be accurately estimated. Even when such a professional man is practical and self-reliant, the proper sort of wife and children mean more to him in ministering to triumphs than all other factors combined."

These are strengthenings from an American who has succeeded in the greatest opera houses of the world. Riccardo Martin. A letter just received from the first of all American tenors tells not only of the glory that has come to him at Covent Garden, but also of his season here, and still declares that it is largely due to the help given by Mrs. Martin and their little daughter. "My wife and my daughter mean much to me, and my daughter means much to my greaterappiness," declares Martin, "in my big opera scenes, when I am singing the most exacting aria, when going through the most difficult parts, she helps me, and I have to thank her."

In fact, there are two times that do not find the strength of these two who are guiding lights in all that I do. The bulkward of the Great Northern Paper Co. is also, comes because of her."

It so happens that this gifted tenor not only has a wife, but a daughter, and a wife who is sought after by the leading tenors of the great voices of the world, but many suggestions and words of actual artistic help. Mrs. Martin was a professional singer of note, and possessed a rare and admirable ability. Now she says she is content to let one artist take care of the musical destiny of the family.

Little Miss Martin who is not yet in her teens, is tall for her age, slight and with delicately chiseled features. She is uncervely gifted musically, and appeals to men and babies as fluently as she does English. Her recent happiness during the ceremonies of the coronation, in London, was complete, for, she avers, she always "loved singing."

The Martins are now in Italy, where they usually spend the summer, and the tenor forgets he sings in the sports of which he is fond and in which he indulges himself to the limit at this season of the year.

WHY FARMER AND CONSUMER BOTH BENEFIT

The Question—How can it be that the farmer will receive more for his products under reciprocity, while the consumer will receive the same time, pay less for them?

The Answer—In the first place the duties at present collected on products imported, amounting to a very large annual sum, will not be collected and will remain in the consumer's pocket. In the second place, the commission agents and middlemen, the meat packers, the canners, and all the rest of them, will no longer be able by reason of the American tariff to control and keep down the price at which the farmer must sell to them. At the same time they will no longer be able by reason of the Canadian tariff to control and keep up the price at which the consumer must buy from them. Thus the food monopolists, who have been able to play both ends for the benefit of themselves, will have their exorbitant profits cut down, to the advantage of both classes of their victims.

MAY BUILD IN CANADA

Paper Making Industry to Follow on Adoption of Reciprocity Agreement

According to information received by the Weekly News of Prince Rupert, B.C., in a recent letter to M. P. McCaffrey of Prince Rupert, B. C., formerly of Millbrook, John Moore of Boston, president of the Millbrook Trust Co., and a shareholder in the Great Northern Paper Co., said:

"Reciprocity goes through and the $4 a ton duty comes off paper. I and several business associates who are in the paper business districts look out for lumber limits and a site for a pulp and paper mill, to make paper for the market in New York."

The Daily News, then says:

"Mr. Moore's interests in the paper making business have brought him into contact with the leading paper makers of the country and especially several of those who have their mills in Northern British Columbia direct to New York by the way of the Panama Canal, freight rates being steamed from James River to New York will be less than the railway freight rate now required from Montreal."

Thus the Panama Canal is completed, British Columbia will be brought practically next door to New York and the Atlantic States."

That letter Mr. Moore intimates that it is his intention to ship paper from Northern British Columbia direct to New York by the way of the Panama Canal, freight rates being steamed from James River to New York will be less than the railway freight rate now required from Montreal."

"For all commercial purposes British Columbia will be as near or nearer to the great pulp and paper markets as Maine, Quebec or Ontario."

WHAT WILL MR. BORDEN SAY TO THIS

The Sunday Observer of London is one of the most influential of the English Conservative weeklies. Despite the fact that its sympathies are with the Conservatives of Canada, it sums up a discussion of the attitude of the Borden party toward reciprocity as follows:

"One fails to understand how any Imperial ties could be strengthened by the loss to a progressive predominant part of the Canadian population of such a rich and legitimate opening for commerce."

a factor. This is the statement issued by Byrne & Cutcheon.

"Referring to the report recently published concerning the will of John W. Gates, representative of the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Charles G. Gates, Sacramento, stated in their behalf that the report referred to which it should be understood, did not state that the testator had not made any provision upon a misapprehension. The will mentioned in the published statement, was revoked by another will in March, 1911, and this last will was superseded by a codicil executed two months later."

"The will contains a number of bequests to relatives and friends, amounting to $10,000. It provides for the day of his death, Wednesday, by executors, Court Justice. His will is sealed, he having been advised by his attorney that if he did not make any provision for his wife, she would be entitled to a portion of his estate. The will was revoked by a subsequent testament made by Mr. Gates to the Methodist Episcopal Board of Education, and $10,000 is left to the Harry Gates Hospital of Port Arthur, Texas."

"The will contains a bequest to Charles G. Gates of $1,000,000, and also creates his benefit a trust, the principal of which will amount to about $2,000,000. This trust is to come into being during his life. Mrs. Gates receives the residence at Port Arthur, the stable and garage of that city and all household and personal effects. She is also to receive a residence in Port Arthur."

"Mrs. Gates, however, in pursuance of the wish of her husband expressed to her during his illness, has engaged a lawyer to give her a part of the portion of the estate bequeathed to her, sufficiently large to make their shares approximately equal."

Mr. Gates and Charles G. are executors of the will, which will shortly be presented for probate in Jefferson county, Texas, where Mr. Gates resided."

Canada's trade with the United States fifteen years ago was $11,022,513. Last year it had increased to over $404,000,000. Are Canadians less loyal because their trade with that country increased almost four-fold in fifteen years?

More bread and Better bread And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purify Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties.

In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade parts the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Riverside flour is a little more than ordinary flour. Our results prove the opposite and the most economical.

Purity flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

MORNING LOCALS

Mrs. George A. Fraser, who spent the last three weeks with her father, Judge Wedderburn, of Hampton Village, has returned to the home of her son, Mr. Fletcher, who has been away studying law, having passed her examinations successfully, and was home for a brief vacation, leaving again on Wednesday.

THE EGG FIGURES

ARE NOT CORRECT

Quotations Somewhat Different

Than J. D. O'Connell and The Standard Make Them

The Standard and J. D. O'Connell have again been smashing egg prices. Mr. O'Connell says fresh eggs were 18 1/2 cents to 20 1/2 cents wholesale in New York the last week in August, and standard says they were 25 cents.

The price of eggs in St. John last week was not 25c., but 20c. to 21c. wholesale. The price has not the New York quotations, but here is a Boston quotation of Aug. 31:

Eggs—Fancy nearby henney 30 and 31c.; eastern, 28 and 27c.; western, 18 to 20c. Saturday's Bangor commercial quotes eggs at 28c. to 30c. per dozen.

There is no danger of an invasion of the St. John market by eggs from the other side of the border.

Among these was a valuable dinner and tea set from his fellow-letter carriers, with whom the groom is very popular.
