A somewhat serious row occurred yesterday between the children attending the new public school at the corner of Caer Howell street and those enrolled as pupils of St. Patrick's separate school, William street. Several hundreds of children took part in the scrimmage, but nobody was seriously injured, though several windows in St. Patrick school were broken.

TRAIN WRECKING!

A Deliberate Plan Successfully Carried Out.

Eight New York Central Sleepers Derailed, but No Passengers Injured.

A Similar Accident on a Southern Railroad.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—A successful attempt was made last night at train-wrecking on the New York Central Railway about four miles south of Greenbush. Luckily no loss of life or serious injury resulted. The second section of the Montreal sleeper out of New York, due here at 11:36 p.m., consisting of eight sleepers filled with men, women and children, was derailed, but barring the shaking up of the passengers and the bruising of a half-dozen or so, nothing more serious than the wrecking of the train resulted. The train was 25 minutes late and running 30 miles an hour at this point, and when the engine struck the obstruction on the track it was lifted upward into the air, and the whole train was thrown from the track. The engineer and fireman both stuck to their posts.

The first sleeper which contained 22 passengers slipped down the embankment and came to a standstill on its side. None of the passenger in this car were injured outside of a few bruises.

The second coach fared worse than any, landing in the ditch bottom high. In this car there was only one passenger, Miss Jenkins, of Brooklyn, the conductor and porter.

The third car was thrown directly across the ditch at right angles with the track. There were about eight passengers in this coach, making in all about 31 who were so fortunately saved from instant death.

The other five sleepers did not leave the roadbed, but were lying obliquely across the north-bound track, while the fourth coach was suspended in the air and held in place by its coupling and the other three cars. A number of the passengers were cut and bruised by the shattered car windows in their endeavors to extricate themselves from the cars.

Supt. Bissell made an investigation as to the cause of the wreck and found a rail jammed in the cattle guard and it was wedged with timber and securely held with fish plates. The whole arrangement was placed in a standing position so as to lift the train clear off the track. Mr. Bissell found a similar obstruction placed on the south-bound track a little way below where the other obstruction had been placed. This confirmed the opinion that the wrecking was the result of deliberate plans. It was ascertained that just 63 passengers had occupied the eight coaches.

STILL ANOTHER CASE.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 5.—Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railway passenger train, No. 2, was derailed on an embankment five miles south of here yesterday morning about 2 o'clock and badly wrecked. No loss of life occurred, though Conductor Gurley, Engineer Cook and two passengers are confined to their beds owing to severe bruises. The wreck was the result of deliberate malice—a rail having been loosed.

$5,000 REWARD.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The New York Central Railroad Company has offered a reward of $5,000 for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who placed obstruction on the track causing the early morning wreck.

Great distress prevails in consequence of the floods. No newspapers appeared yesterday, all the offices being flooded.

Stanley and Emin Pasha.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—In an interview with the editor of a Swiss newspaper, the St. Moritz Post, Mr. Stanley refuted the various charges which Emin Pasha has made against him. He declared that a letter from Wissmann which was received when Stanley and Emin were nine days from the coast, first upset Emin's gratitude toward and admiration for the English, and made him weigh his chances on each side. The illness resulting from his accident placed him in the power of Wissmann, and the latter whispered things about Stanley, magnifying and distorting everything until he had attained his ends.

A Banquet in Honor of Dr. Peters.

MUNICH, Sept. 5.—A banquet was given here last night in honor of Dr. Peters, the African traveler. Dr. Peters said the King of Uganda would not accept the protection of England, but was ready to grant free trade to all whites. If the King consented to receive the protection of any country it would be that of Germany. Dr. Peters also said that Emin Pasha had authorized him to state that he (Emin) had left only on the formal command of the Khedive and because Stanley had threatened to use force. As a representative of the white race in Africa he (Emin) did not wish to fight against whites.

The Russian Exile System.

The bark Catharine Sudden has arrived at Port Townsend from Siberia. Her commander, Capt. John Thomas, has sent here a description of the Russian exile system as witnessed by him. He describes a brutal scene he witnessed on Saghalien Island, a famous Russian exile prison. A large party of exiles of all ages, heavy manacled, were being taken to the island. A few old men whose strength gave out fell from exhaustion. The driver, acting under orders from his superior, shot the unfortunate men and removed their chains. No mercy was shown. Wives saw their husbands shot before their eyes; mothers saw their daughters outraged and insulted. The exiles were driven like cattle, a heavy whip being used to urge them on. The prison cells were filthy and the treatment barbarous.

TROPHIES OF PEACE.

Ontario Prize Winners at the Detroit Exposition.

How the Show is Managed and What It Contains.

Hints for Canadians—Agricultural Features Reviewed—The Wonderful Slot Machine—Finest Stock Building in the World—Forty Thousand Visitors per Day.

[Specially Reported for the ADVERTISER.]

Detroit is proud of its show. The people glory in "The Exposition." They are as tickled over it as a boy with his first pair of red-top boots. They are jealous of its fame. Hint to a superintendent of one of the departments that there are any "flies on it" and you stir up a man who will try to make you feel "sorry you said it." It is a lusty 2-year-old and no mistake. That so much could have been accomplished in so short a time and in such perfection is simply marvelous. In equipment and management it represents the product of American enterprise, intelligence and capital. It means a permanent investment of over $500,000, with thousands more to follow. In cash and special premiums the management provide munificent rewards for competitors, but notwithstanding vast expenditures in every direction were last year, after the first show was held, able to report a surplus of $29,000 over running expenses. The association aims to provide every possible facility for exhibitors both coming and going and while at the fair. Freight trains with exhibits and supplies for live stock, etc., run into the grounds, which are accessible from the city by street cars, passenger trains and river steamers at the uniform rate of 10 cents for the round trip, the distance being about four miles. Beginning with a 50-cent admission rate, the Canadian visitor would deem his expenses about double compared with attending a big show on this side of the lines. The total of all premiums offered are said to amount to about $100,000. The grounds cover 75 or 80 acres, and the location is supurb, being an easy incline to the broad sweep of the Detroit River, full in view for miles either way, with the fair shores of Canada just beyond. The drainage and water supply are perfect, and the freshest of breezes fan the heated sightseer. The largest main building in use in the world to-day is here, being an immense quadrangle 520 feet long and 350 wide with five lofty towers, the grand central one containing the "Press Paradise" for the use of scribes from far and near. The Fair is run by an independent association of shrewd business men without aid from the State. To Michigan it occupies just such a relation as the Western, of London, does to Western Ontario, but it draws its exhibitors and visitors not only from that great border State but from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, New York, Canada and elsewhere. It was a ten-day show beginning on Aug. 26 and closing to-day (Friday), being open day and night. The show is international, and all the world invited. The every day running staff will number some 1,500 persons, under control of the following:

Officers—Jas. McMillan, president; D. M. Ferry, first vice-president; Henry Russel, second vice president; Geo. M. Savage, secretary; Geo. H. Russel, treasurer.

Directors—Jas. H. Vhay, Jas. E. Davis, E. L. Thompson, E. W. Cottrell, Geo. H. Barbour, Bruce Goodfellow.

A representative of the ADVERTISER spent a few moments with Secretary Savage, of Detroit, who is full to the brim with geniality, business tact and a love for printers' ink in stimulating the prosperity of the exposition. On a reasonable estimate he put the average daily attendance at 40,000, it having run between 50,000 and 60,000 on several days. He was highly pleased with the success of the fair. They had a host of visitors from Canada, and Ontario exhibitors did remarkably well in the competitions. These were the peaceful victories of art and husbandry. Referring to the beautiful half-mile track between the main building and the river, Mr. Savage said horse-racing was not a feature this year, but would be next. The special novelty was the spectacular and pyrotechnic drama, "The Last Days of Pompeii," given every evening before a grand stand holding 10,000 people. Foot, bicycle and other races occurred in the ring, Cappa's band played every day, wild Indians were there, rifle shooting experts and daring balloonists thrilled the crowds. In addition to maintaining all the great staple departments Mr. Savage's idea seems to be to work up some specially great novelty for each exhibition.

* * *

Art exhibits enjoy a handsome, well-lighted building separate from all the others, and contains not only the works of local artists but a few special ones by foreign brushes. A separate admission is charged to this building, catalogues being sold, parasols and grips cared for, and visitors provided with seats. Oils constituted the bulk of the display, the water colors exposed being as a rule fine in quality, if not so numerous.

* * *

The vast main building contains a strange multitudinuous medley of exhibits—a constant change as the visitor went from section to section. Apart from live stock, agricultural implements and fine art the plan appears to be to gather within these walls all the great features of the fair, whether the substantial food products of the farm and garden, the glories of the florist, the output of industrial skill, ladies' work, displays from the warerooms of merchant princes or the varied processes of actual manufacture. At one point a barber shop is in operation and over the way a bank for the actual business convenience of the people, here a cooking school advertisement, there a refreshment stand, lemonade founts and lunch counters, crazy quilts and dish-washing machines, bath tubs and soap, pie cooking and diamond polishing, glass blowing and a whirling windmill, buggies and harness, a cloakroom doing a rushing trade, and a huge aquarium, a concert by a hustling Detroit piano man, and an automatic phonograph, where for a "nickle in the slot" you can hear an exquisite reproduction of a New York band performance or a ball-room scene with merry stringed music, shuffling feet and the voice of the caller-off. By the way, that cloak-room, where hand grips, umbrellas, shawls, etc., can be checked for a time is a capital idea and a great relief to people on a hot day. Nickle-in-the-slot machines have about reached the limit. Some financial genius had a lot of them set up through this building, from which a drink of cold spring water could be coaxed by dropping a penny in.

* * *

Though largely augmented before Aug. 26, the official cataloguing of entries closed on Aug. 15. From that record and otherwise, the following table, giving a fair numerical idea of the display, was compiled. One entry usually represents more than one article or animal:

Machinery and manufactures (general)	130
Agricultural implements, etc	50
Horses	229
Cattle	467
Sheep	334
Hogs	265
Poultry (by pairs)	838
Pigeons and pets	40
Honey and apiary goods	37
Ladies' work	161
Dairy products	6
Fruits	278
Plants and flowers	184
Vegetables, roots, seeds, etc	224
Grains, etc	134
Dogs	350

In addition to the above were the fine arts, several hundred in number, bringing up the total number of entries to between 4,000 and 5,000.

* * *

The exhibits of grains, fruits, etc., were under the special direction of the State Horticultural Society. Fruits, vegetables and grains were very light for two reasons, the early date of the fair, and in the case of fruit the crop through Michigan being a failure. Mr. W. H. Payne, assistant secretary, stated that instead of shipping apples they would not have enough for home use. Grapes and berries yielded well, and grain very fair. M. T. T. Lyon, president of the State Horticultural Society, who has charge of the agricultural sub-station at South Haven, informed the ADVERTISER that blight had not affected the apples. The trouble seemed to be due to warm weather in late winter bringing out the buds, followed by sharp frosts and the cold, wet weather at the time of blossoming. The honey crop is reported low by Michigan bee men. The show of plants and flowers was very fine, a group of rare orchids from New Jersey being one striking feature. Among Canadian exhibitors in this department were Charles Grant, Thornbury, Ont., Jas. Stephens, Clarksburg, and H. J. Clinton, Windsor.

* * *

The show needs an immense agricultural machinery hall, everything being strung outside without systematic classification. Several machines were being run by electric motors. Among the emblazonry of new reapers was an old Rip Van Winkle veteran bought by Jas. Stevens, of New Boston, Ill., in 1863. it has run ever since with less than $5 for repairs, cutting over 4,000 acres of grain. It carries a reel and single self rake.

* * *

The dog show was about the most popular day feature of the whole exposition. It was a good one and free to everybody. In numbers and quality Mr. T. G. Davey thought it was about equal to the show held in London last year. Sporting dogs were the main feature, English Setters and Pointers strong and Gordon Setters as well. Some of the larger dogs, such as Mastiffs and Great Danes were also very fine. In the Rough Coated St. Bernards, Mr. S. F. Glass, of this city, won first on Bruce and first on Phyllis; in Pointers, Mr. T. G. Davey won first on Fan N.; in Smooth Fox Terriers, Davey & Wheeler won first on Ebor Nettle, and in White-haired Fox Terriers, first on Nettie Topper. In Rough Coated Collies, McEwen & Gibson, of Delaware, won first on Bonnie Stewart and second on Langhan, first on Money Musk and first on Drury, puppy under 12 months. Mr. A. Laidlaw, of Woodstock, showed strong in spaniels. His dogs won five firsts, two seconds, one third and two specials.

* * *

Over 1,600 birds cackled and crowed and squawked in the poultry show. It was really a splendid exhibition, towards which Ontario contributed about 250 of the very finest feathered beauties, Ohio sending in 500 or 600 and Michigan the bulk of what remained. The Polands and Hamburgs took a leading place, the Plymouth Rocks were very fine and the Bantams good. When the judging was completed it was seen that the Canucks had a clean walk over. As a sample, Mr. Wm. McNeil, of this city, showed 165 birds and won 162 prizes, 82 being firsts, 62 were seconds and 18 were thirds. The Americans don't seem yet to have acquired the art of putting the show finish on their birds. Mr. Geo. G. McCormick, another London man, captured a lot of trophies; Burns & Moffat, of Tilsonburg; J. L. Corcoran, of Stratford, James Main, of Boyne, Ont., S. Stableford, of Watford, H. H. Wallace, of Woodstock, and A. G. Brown, of Watford, also winning handsomely. It was a larger show than those either of London or Toronto. Mr. Sharp Butterfield, of Windsor, was superintendent, and a good one, too, as the exhibitors testified.

* * *

Two Ontario men were judges in the dog show, Mr. Kirk, of Toronto, and C. M. Nelles, of Brantford, the others being Miss Witney, of Massachusetts, Maj. Taylor, of New York, and Mr. Mortimer, of Long Island.

* * *

One of the freaks of the show was a 6-months-old calf, giving about a gallon of milk per day, from which three or four pounds of butter per week are made. It began milking at 3 months and 2 days old and kept the flow up since. The calf is a grade, the result of a cross between a Holstein sire and a Shorthorn cow, and was raised near New Dundee, Ont.

* * *

The projectors of this show deserve the thanks of the live stock breeders of the United States and Canada for the ample buildings provided and the completeness with which every detail for the comfort of owners, stock and visitors has been anticipated. The general plan is that of squares surrounding open courts for judging. Each block is about 400 feet square and the sheds are commodious and attractive in appearance. In each, for example, there is room for two rows of cattle with a broad passage between. They are well-lighted, well-ventilated and clean, with water taps and tanks at every few yards, and electric light at night. There are five of these immense stables, affording accommodation for everything in the shape of live stock, including poultry and dogs, and if stretched out consecutively the stalls would extend for miles. Then, too, the prizes are generous, being as high as $500 in horses and $150 in cattle. Canadian cattle would be seen there in large numbers were it not for the fact that they cannot be returned to this country without spending 90 days in quarantine at Point Edward. The handsome dappled gray and black Percherons constituted by all odds the big feature of the horse show, Clydes and other draughts coming next with about half as many and coach horses about the same. A few standard bred trotters, thoroughbreds, hackneys, ponies, cobs, carriage and saddle horses made up the scattering balance. The cattle show included over 50 Shorthorns, 55 Herefords, nearly 40 Aberdeen-Angus, one herd of Galloways, 36 Ayrshires, 59 Jerseys, 59 Red Polls and Devons (classed together, though why it is not easy to conjecture), 10 Guernseys and 21 Holstein Friesians. In the grand sweepstakes for beef breeds (aged herd) 4 Shorthorn, 3 Hereford, 1 Devon, 1 Red Poll and 2 Aberdeen-Angus herds entered, but the coveted first prize trophy was borne off by the comely "Doddies," adding another to the many signal victories won in the beef ring by these sleek, black-coated cattle. The winners were wonderfully good. A fine lot of the sleepy, white-faced Herefords were shown, but the Shorthorns as a rule were not extra. An Ohio firm, Farmer & Wright, of Millbury, showed a dehorned herd of Ayrshires. They have practiced dehorning for three years and heartily indorse the system. The animals keep easier and are more docile; nor have they suffered any injurious effects whatever. Jerseys were a strong feature of the show, exhibits in other dairy breeds being light.

* * *

In sheep John Jackson & Son, of Abington, Ont., captured thirteen firsts and eight seconds on their Southdowns; and James Tolton, of Walkerton, Ont., won eleven prizes on Oxford Downs, six being first; J. G. Snell & Bro., of Edmonton, Ont., won nine firsts and four seconds on Cotswolds, H. Crawford & Sons, of Canboro, Ont., doing very well in the same class. In Leicesters John Kelly, jun., of Shakespeare, Ont., made a grand sweep, taking all the firsts (10) and six seconds. Ontario has reason to feel proud of the record of her sheep breeders at the Detroit International Fair. As one would expect from a great hog-raising country the swine exhibit was large, varied, and excellent in quality. An Ontario man showed a Chester white sow, 18 months old, that weighed actually 1,241 pounds.

SCRAPS.

A staff of men were kept at work picking up all waste paper on the grounds.

The single expert judge system is in vogue, and gives every satisfaction.

Dairy features, milking and butter-making contests, were conspicuously absent.

One of the largest exhibitors in the ladies' work department was by A. Crane, of London, Ont.

MIXED MARRIAGES.

A Circular Letter by Archbishop Walsh on the Subject, Asking for Information.

Archbishop Walsh has addressed a circular letter to his clergy on the subject of mixed marriages between Roman Catholics and Protestants. The authorities of the Church at Rome are desirious of obtaining all possible information on the effects upon the church of these unions, and the questions sent out call for a return of the marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics, or between Catholics and non-Christians, that have taken place in each parish during the last ten years; also how many of them with and how many of them without a dispensation from the Holy See. In the cases where a dispensation was obtained, have the promises given been observed or not, and in how many cases have those promises not been observed? Especially in how many cases have the Catholic parties broken their promises to bring up children Catholics; in how many cases have they themselves fallen away from their faith? Where the marriages have been without a dispensation, in what religion are the children usually baptized and brought up? In how many cases have the Catholic parties to such undispensed marriages lost their faith; in how many have they remained faithful to their religion? The number of Catholics, non-Catholics and non-Christians in the parish or in the district, in charge of a priest is to be given, and all the particulars are to be signed by the parish priest or priests in charge. Where it is believed that accurate information cannot be obtained, this is to be reported to the bishop with all available information.

LEGAL NOTES.

Squire Jarvis Cannot Try the Sewage Nuisance Cases—Other Cases of Interest to Londoners.

At Osgoode Hall (Toronto) yesterday: Des Rosiers vs Walace.—M. D. Fraser (London), for the defendants, moved to strike the case off the list upon the same ground as in Abray vs Dixon, the judgment appealed from having been given in March last. Purdom (London), for the plaintiff, contra. The plaintiff gave notice on April 28 last for this sittings, the June sittings not having then been fixed. No notice of the motion to strike out was given. The court allowed the appeal to proceed under the circumstances of the case. Purdom, for the plaintiff, appealed from the judgement of Ferguson, J., at the trial at London dismissing the action, which was brought to set aside a conveyance of a house and lot in the city of London by the defendant Robert Wallace to the defendant Arthur Wallace as fraudulent and void against creditors, the action being brought in the name of the plaintiff (assignee for creditors) by the Bank of London, who have a judgment against the defendant Robert Wallace. Ferguson, J., held that there was an obligation upon the defendant Robert Wallace to fulfill a promise to convey which he made when in good circumstances. M. D. Fraser, for the defendants, contra. Reserved.

Fallowfield vs. Hutchinson.—Aylesworth, for the defendant, moved to change the venue from London to Woodstock. W. Read, for the plaintiff, contra. Order made Costs in the cause.

Burns vs. Davidson.—Judgment. Motion to continue an injunction restraining the defendants from alienating certain land in Portland, Oregon, pending the trial of the action, which is brought to have it declared that a certain conveyance and mortgage of such land are void as against the plaintiff, dismissed with costs. Aylesworth for the motion, Purdom (London) contra.

Cairns vs. Wallis.—Judgment on appeal by the plaintiff from the judgment of Street, J., at the trial at London in favor of the defendants in an action for goods sold and delivered. The goods in question were groceries sold by the firm of Cairns & Wallis to the firm of Wallis & Staples. The action was dismissed on the ground that the plaintiff by releasing Wallis from all claims, in an agreement for dissolution of the partnership between them, had released him from this claim, and had also released the defendant Staples, his joint debtor. The question before the court was as to the construction of mutual releases in the agreement. The court held that a release should be construed according to the particular purpose for which it was made, and that joint debts should be excluded from the operation of the release. Appeal allowed with costs and judgment to be entered for the plaintiff for $336 45 with costs. Robinson (St. Thomas) for the plaintiff. Moss, Q.C., for the defendants Wallis and Armstrong. Hellmuth (London) for the defendant Staples.

Reg. vs. Water Commissioners of City of London; Reg. vs. City of London.—Judgment on appeal by the prosecutor, one Chapman, from orders of Robertson, J., in chambers (19 O. R., 33) prohibiting one E. S. Jarvis, a justice of the peace, from proceeding with the hearing of informations against the defendants for a nuisance in the maintenance of a dam upon the River Thames. The learned judge held that the justice had no jurisdiction over corporations, and that he could not proceed upon a summons to inquire and commit a corporation for trial unless by consent of the corporation. The court considered that the question raised in Reg. vs. Birchall, though not argued in this case, stood in the way of their entertaining this appeal. Boyd, C., and Ferguson, J., both retained the opposite opinions they expressed in that case as to the jurisdiction of the Divisional Court of the Chancery

The formal judgment of the court, therefore, is that the appeal is dismissed on the ground of want of jurisdiction, without costs. Aylesworth for the prosecutor; J. B. Clarke, Q. The annual sermon of Court Amity, of Hamilton, was preached by G. T. R. Conductor Snider, on Sunday last. The conductor, who is a member of the order, took as his text Daniel xii., 3: "And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever." In the course of his sermon the speaker said: People who lived for others would be remembered, while those who lived only for themselves would be entirely forgotten. Every person loved to shine in this world, in some capacity or other. God wanted all to shine in his kingdom, as Christ did, and preach the Gospel to every one. The Foresters shone as a benovelent society, having increased in membership from 973 to 21,000 since 1882. In ten years they had paid out $500,000 to widows and orphans, and $224,248 remained in the Supreme Court treasury for this purpose.

The supreme chief ranger, Dr. Oronhyatekha, is busily engaged at the head office catching up with the work that had fallen behind during his absence at the high courts last month.

John A. McGillivray, Q.C., supreme secretary of the I. O. F., assisted by H. V. C. R. D. Miller and Organizer C. C. Whale, installed the officers of Courts Spadina and Lisgar at Toronto on Thursday night last. The latter court banqueted the high officers, the secretary occupying the chair.

The seventh annual convention of the Grand Council of the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association met in Montreal this week. There are now 138 branches in Canada with 5,610 members. On July 1 the life insurance policies in Canada were $9,966 and the reserve fund $10,142. Among the delegates who attended from this section were M. A. McHugh, Windsor; Gilbert Deneau, Amherstburg; John Dugal, Tecumseh; Walter Welsh, Tilbury West; Henry Morand, Sandwich, and Grand Recorder G. R. Brown, of this city.

The following officers were elected: John A. McCabe, Ottawa, president; W. B. Killaskey, Chatham, Ont., first vice-president; Judge Rioux, Sherbrooke, second vice-president; W. J. McKee, Windsor, Ont., treasurer; Samuel S. Brown, London, secretary; S. E. Martineau, St. Roche, marshal; Joseph Rheaume, of Amherstburg, guard. Trustees, O. K. Fuser, of Brockville; Rev. M. J. Quinn, Niagara Falls, and John Ronan, Hamilton. Representatives to the Supreme Council, T. J. Finn, Montreal; J. D. O'Connor, Stratford, and Rev. Father Murphy. A motion to separate from the United States was carried by almost a unanimous vote. It will now go before the Supreme Council for confirmation, and when passed, a Canadian Supreme Council will be established. The business of the council was concluded yesterday, and the representatives returned to their homes.

ODDFELLOWSHIP.

CANADIAN ORDER.

At the meeting of the Royal Purple Encampment of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows, M. U., held at Hamilton last week, P. G. M. Thomas Parry, on behalf of the Grand Lodge, presented P. D. G. M. Alex. Thomson with a past deputy grand master's gold jewel. The jewel, which was voted to Bro. Thomson at the close of Grand Lodge held in Trenton in June last, is a handsome and valuable specimen of the jewelers' art. It has two crossbars with shield in the center, bearing the inscription: "Presented to D. G. M. Alex. Thomson by the C. O. O. F., M. U., 1890." Suspended from the three links which are attached to the bottom bar is a large five-pointed star, having in the center the three pillars, which are surrounded by a raised circle, with the words "Friendship, Love and Truth" engraved thereon.

INDEPENDENT ORDER.

Ald. Miner, of St. Thomas, has received his commission as district deputy grand master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, his jurisdiction being over Elgin Lodge, No. 33; St. Thomas, No. 76, St. Thomas; Aylmer, No. 94, Aylmer; Hope, No. 69, Harrietsville, and Erie, No. 33, Port Bruce.

Under the new regulations of the Kingston Relief Association, persons joining the I. O. O. F. can become members of the association without further fee or medical examination than that required by the lodge.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge meets in Topeka, Kan., on Sept. 15.

There are now 17,500 members of the I. O. O. F. in Ontario.

The relief expenditure of the lodges in Ontario for the six months ending June 30 was $39,852.

Mr. John Ormiston, collector of customs, Gananoque, is the newly-elected grand master of the Oddfellows in this Province.

Several of the Oddfellow papers in the United States are urging the election of G. Rep. Campbell, of Ontario, as the next deputy grand sire.

Bro. Walter Fairbairn, of Dominion Lodge, has been appointed district deputy for this district.

The attendance at the last session of the Grand Lodge of Ontario was the largest ever known, over 300 representatives being present, exclusive of grand officers and visiting past grands.

The new constitution of subordinate lodges is being printed, and will be distributed to the lodges very soon.

SONS OF CANADA.

A lodge of the Order of the Sons of Canada, to be known as Evergreen Lodge, No. 37, was organized at St. Thomas last week by Organizer J. McLean, of Toronto, supreme organizer. The officers elected were: Past president, E. A. Lewis; president, W. B. Jennings; first vice-president, F. C. Parker; second vice-president, C. P. Geary; recording secretary, A. S. Smith; financial secretary, W. McClellan; treasurer, F. Doggett; chaplain, W. H. May; first steward, T. McClellan; second steward, J. L. Darby; first guard, R. H. Strachan, second guard, S. Hunter; physician, J. M. Penwarden.

MASONIC.

The regular session of the Grand Commandery, K. T., of Michigan and Ontario, closed at Jackson on Wednesday of last week. The attendance has not been as large as was expected, owing to the refusal of the railroads to give reduced rates. This morning the following officers were elected and installed: R. E. G. C., W. H. Weaver, of Chatham; V. E. D. G. C., J. J. Evans, Battle Creek; E. G. Gen., J. J. Adams, Grand Rapids; G. P., Rev. J. McSmith, Ann Arbor; G. C. G., J. W. James, Detroit; G. S. W., Theo. Finney, Detroit G. J. W., J. A. Bell; Grand Rapids; G. treasurer, J. H. Cole, Detroit; G. recorder, T. F. Cary, Detroit; G. standard bearer, G. H. Hughes, Hamilton; G. sword bearer, Wm. Hawkins; G. warden, Elisha Hunter; G. sentinel, Jas. Harris; Committee on Jurisprudence, J. F. Scott, J. C. Willmore, J. C. Craig; Committee on Foreign Correspondence, A. R. Byrd, T. F. Cary, J. C. Richards; committee on condolence, G. H. Watkins, E. Booker, E. M. Prince. A committee was also appointed to prepare plans for the organization of a building association to erect a Masonic home in Detroit consisting of J. C. Craig, J. J. Adams, Grand Rapids; H. C. Clark, Theo. Finney, J. H. Cole, Detroit; H. Weaver, Chatham.

The quarterly communication of the United Grand Lodge of England and Wales, A. F. and A. M., was held at London on Wednesday, the attendance being unusually large. Prominent among the visitors were John Ross Robertson, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada; C. P. McCalla, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and J. P. Horner, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana. The distinguished brethren were received with all the honors due to their exalted rank. In acknowledging the fraternal reception and hearty welcome of the brethren of England, Grand Master Robertson, of Canada, spoke at some length. He sketched briefly the birth and progress of Freemasonry in the Dominion and its connection with that of the mother land, and created much enthusiasm by his reference to the indissoluble bond that unites the brethren on both sides of the Atlantic. His remarks were greeted with rounds of generous applause, which were renewed when Grand Master McCalla eloquently responded on behalf of his own and the other American grand lodges.

The funeral services of the late Col. W. J. B. MacLeod Moore, supreme grand master of the Great Priory of Canada, were conducted at Prescott Wednesday with Masonic honors. The Ogdensburg Commandery turned out in full force, and with the Brockville Preceptory formed an escort. There was a large attendance of brethren from lodges in the district, and the Great Priory of Canada was represented by R. W. Bro. McLean, of Kingston. The interment took place on Friday at Montreal.

After M. Wor. Bro. Robertson comes back from Europe, he will visit almost every center of the Province, and address the brethren on matters especially pertaining to the craft. It is understood that the Grand Master will visit four points in the London District, of which London will be one. He will have a warm welcome.

A lodge of instruction will be held in London by R. W. Bro. A. B. Munson, D.D.G.M. of the London District, within the next few months, and probably one at St. Thomas later. R. W. Bro. Munson is an enthusiast in his duties, and promises to make his mark. He will visit every lodge in the jurisdiction, and has already begun his duties.

The district banner which has been in the lodge room of Corinthian, East London, since R. Wor. Bro. Spencer, of that lodge, was D.D.G.M., has been removed to the City Masonic Hall.

R. Wor. Bro. Geo. C. Davis, grand junior warden, will have a big-hearted welcome by his mother lodge, St. John, 209a, when he visits it at an early date.

THE ART ANNEX.

Tenders Received for Its Erection at the Fair Grounds—Meeting of the Board of Works.

No. 2 Committee were called to meet last evening. Ald. Dreaney, Garratt, Wyatt, O'Meara, Acting-Secretary Ironsides, City Engineer Tracy, Street Commissioner Owens and Hospital Trustee Lewis came in and took seats at the usual hour. Ald. Dreaney grew impatient at the absence of the Chairman, Ald. Jones, and moved, seconded by Ald. Garratt, that Ald. O'Meara take the chair, but that worthy gentleman flatly refused the proferred honor. At last Ald. Garratt was induced to occupy the position, and the business was proceeded with.

Mr. Edward Anderson made application for a flag sidewalk on Dundas street, between Adelaide and Elizabeth streets, under the Local Improvement Act. Referred to the Engineer and member for the ward.

A communication was received from Frank Gibson, et al., asking for a sidewalk on the north side of South street, between Clarence and Wellington. Referred to the Engineer and member of the ward to report back.

A communication re numbering No. 6 ward was referred to the Council.

A letter was received from S. H. Craig, asking compensation for laying a flag sidewalk in front of his residence on Dufferin avenue. Referred to the Council.

A petition was read from a number of ratepayers pointing out the necessity for a sidewalk on Dundas street between Waterloo and Colborne. Laid over.

A communication from H. E. Nelles was received, asking for a sidewalk on Colborne street between Piccadilly and Oxford streets. Progress reported.

A letter was received stating that Mrs. Coughlin had sustained severe injuries owing to a defective sidewalk on Egerton street and asking compensation. Filed.

A communication was received from E. Jarmain et al., asking for block-paving on Ridout street, between King and York streets. Filed.

At this juncture Ald. Jones entered the room and was given a cordial welcome to sit down.

The matter of opening tenders for the art annex at the Western Fair was discussed. It was found that Dodd & Son had sent their tender by telephone instead of in writing.

Ald. Jones did not think that Dodd & Son's tender should be accepted as it was not sent in in the formal manner.

Ald. Thomas moved that the tender be in order. Lost.

The lowest tender was Wm. Tytler's at $1,686, except that of Dodd & Son at $1,100.

The committee decided to recommend the tender of Wm. Tytler to the Western Fair Board for them to further deal with the matter.

Col. Lewis said the Western Fair Board did not calculate paying so much. He wished to know if the Council would pay the $500 if the Board carried out the plans.

Ald. O'Meara moved that the committee recommend that the Council pay $500 on condition that the Western Fair Board carry out the plans and specifications. Carried.

Ald. Garratt moved, seconded by Ald. Dreaney, that "Jumbo" be employed to roll the streets that have been newly graveled. Carried.

The usual accounts were read and signed by the Chairman.

It was decided to call for tenders for cedar blocking not already tendered for.

Adjourned.

IRISH-CANADIAN.

Prospect Lodge, No. 10, meets on Monday evening next, when four candidates will receive the rank of page, and two pages will be advanced to the esquire's rank. It is expected that the D.D.G.C., S. A. Webb, will make an official visit for the purpose of initiating two of the lodge's officers.

LODGE NOTES.

A new lodge of the Sons of England was instituted in Hamilton the other evening. Several grand officers and members of the naval brigade, of Toronto, were present.

East Tawas is no place for a woman hater, as it is a town which the ladies do run. One is a postmaster, another runs the telegraph office and has female messenger boys, another runs the best hotel, lady printers get out the weekly newspaper, a lone woman manages a big tea house and two others have general stores, the school teachers are women and so are the store clerks. This is a good town to tie to.

Expert marksmen claim that, despite the variety of the smokeless powder now in the market, none of the new-fangled explosives possess the reliability of the old-time black powder.

Oliver Wendel Holmes, on his last birthday anniversary a few days ago, said: "This is my 81st, and kind of an off year. I realize that I am not as vigorous as I was 30 or 40 years ago, but life is enjoyable and pleasant to me still."

Dr. Leonard J. Dr. Gordon will bring the subject up for discussion at the next meeting of the Board.

If the people who complain of what the reporter writes about them would only consider what he does not write about them, they would shrine him in the friendliest corner of their hearts. The waste baskets in a daily newspaper office of any town do more to keep its citizens in good repute than any other agency, excepting the fear of the law and the hereafter.

Ladies who glory in the fashionable furs of British North America will grieve to learn that the number of skins taken each year in the vast regions of the Hudson's Bay Company is decreasing at an alarming rate. The catch of fur-bearing animals last year was no less than 24,000 below that of 1888, while that, again, showed a falling-off of 9,000, as compared with 1887. The most notable decline was in the skins of the beaver, marten and musquash.

It is a common mistake to suppose that the River St. Lawrence washes the shores of Montreal. It is the Ottawa which surrounds it completely, and the line which separates the two can be clearly made out, the water of the St. Lawrence being a deep clear blue, while that of the Ottawa is dark and turbid. Montreal's water supply is drawn from the Ottawa, and the Dominion analyst has just made a report upon 41 samples drawn from it. This report affirms that its purity is not at all such as has been supposed.

A plan for numbering the houses in the country has just gone into operation in Contra Costa county, California. Every road in the county has a name, and each mile is divided into ten blocks. To each block there are two numbers, one for each side, and the houses are given the same number as the block. Should there be more than one house in the block they are distinguished by letters, as 10A, 10B, 10C, etc. As there are ten blocks to a mile, number 100 denotes a house ten miles from the point of starting, and so of any other number.

"OUR NATIONAL FOODS."

What are they? They are the choicest Breakfast Cereals and Hygienic Foods that are made. The Canada Medical Journal says: "They are treated in the light of all the scientific progress of the times."

WHY ARE THEY BETTER THAN OTHER FOODS?

Because they are more easily digested, as the starch in them is converted into dextrine, which is the first act of digestion done before they are eaten. They are more nourishing and more palatable.

WHAT PROOF IS THERE OF THIS?

Scores and hundreds of bona fide letters from persons who have had dyspepsia, diabetes and constipation, who have been cured by the simple use of these cereal foods, prove it. If anyone is in doubt they can with pleaure test their merits by using our Desiccated Wheat.

A NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL BOON.

The Health Journal of Canada says: "Our National Foods" have acquired a well-deserved national and, we believe, international reputation. The preparations of The Ireland National Food Compay's Desiccated Wheat and other foods are, we believe, the most digestible, nutritious cereal foods in the world's markets.

Ask your grocers for them. If they have not got a stock on hand they can soon get supplied by London, Friday, Sept. 5.

—General election preparations go on apace in the Tory camp. A couple of months ago, when the ADVERTISER hinted that there were decided indications that the Tory leaders were figuring about going to the country before the expiry of the full term of Parliament in the winter of 1892, a number of our contemporaries said there was nothing in it. They must now be convinced that there is a good deal in it.

—The Hamilton Spectator exclaims:

How angry some of our Reform friends will be if the Sherman resolution shall bring about reciprocal trade between Canada and the United States.

Nonsense. There is not a Liberal worthy of the name who would not be delighted to have reciprocal trade established between the two countries. The angry fellows would be on the other side of the question—the high tax advocates, whose special privileges the Spectator has always championed.

‡‡‡

—Bismarck's assertion that war weapons are becoming so murderous in their effects that the fighting nations are afraid to begin hostilities is a hopeful omen. Perhaps it is the beginning of the end of the age for settling international difficulties by wholesale life-taking. Surely mutually agreed upon arbitration would be a far more Christian and equally effective method of disposing of the little difficulties that crop up between nations. It would have the merit, too, of being very much less expensive.

—The case of the Massachusetts minister, who refused to live in a house because it was too big for his salary, is sensibly commented upon by Scribner's. The house was a gift from his parishioners, but he had no desire to be ruled over by plumbers and belihangers, gasfitters and locksmiths. He refused to make paint and wallpaper his masters, and his wife as steadfastly declined being enslaved by carpets and curtains and women who come in by the day to clean. A house so big that it is a burden to maintain, filled full of things that it is a constant occupation to keep in order, is not a general affliction, but it is one that nobody need be envied.

A RECIPROCITY CHAMPION.

Attorney-General Longley, of Nova Scotia, who has been visiting Washington, says he found the leaders of both political parties in the United States very friendly to Canada and disposed to promote reciprocity in trade with the Dominion. Mr. Longley has the best of reasons for believing that the prospects of the passage of Senator Sherman's resolution are good, though it may be delayed till the December session.

Since his visit to Ontario, Mr. Longley has created a most favorable impression. He is regarded as a coming man in Dominion politics, with which, till now, he has been comparatively little identified. If, as we trust he will, Hon. Mr. Longley consents to stand for a House of Commons constituency in his native Province which he has served so well, his advent in Ottawa will be hailed as a decided acquisition to the Liberal ranks.

ELECT THE RIGHT MEN.

In dealing with the laws governing municipalities, Premier Mowat has always striven to interpret public desires. As leader of the ruling side in the Legislature he has never deemed it to be his duty to make radical changes in the law governing the municipalities of the country unless it has been pretty clearly shown that the majority of the people so desired.

Mr. Mowat has been traduced because, when the city of Toronto appealed for power to dispense with aldermen and manage its affairs by the agency of commissioners, a permissive section was introduced into the Municipal Act with that object in view. The Premier has always entertained the idea that what may be necessary for large populations of 100,000 and upwards may not be needed by cities of a smaller size and vice versa. This is a common-sense view of the subject.

As for the municipal future of London, we do not doubt that it will be an improvement on the past if the taxpayers are true to themselves. They need simply to discover what is best for the city and then work to secure it. If, as we believe, the ward appropriation system is pernicious and wasteful, it should be abolished. But how are we to know that the people agree in the verdict that the system is unsuited to civic wants while they continue to return men to the Council who are in favor of its continuance?

The best way to forward the movement in favor of ward appropriation abolition is to send opponents of this method of spending public money to the Board of Aldermen. If that is done with the persistency necessary to the triumph of a good cause, it will not be long till means are devised for securing the desired reform.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

A Social Departure: How Orthodocia and I Went Around the World by Ourselves. By Sara Jeannette Duncan. (London: Chatto & Windus, Piccadilly. Toronto: Williamson & Co.) Our talented country woman appears to be in danger of the woe that is scripturally pronounced upon humanity when all men shall speak well of them. Her book has been particularly well received. The two ladies set out on their journey in the best of spirits, and are unswerving in their determination to see only the piquant and incongruous side of life. It is a history of personal emotions and adventures, lightly and brightly touched off. The style is well represented in the account of their struggles and sufferings with the small green trunk.

"That small green trunk had been missing at the station in Montreal, had been left behind in Winnipeg, had caught up with us at Corona, been identified with difficulty at Vancouver, and had required the services of four able-bodied persons—the steward, the under-steward, the first mate and a Chinaman—to track it to its lair in the hold when we arrived in Yokohama. As I said before, it was a pleasure to undertake that small green trunk, but by this time it had become a little wearying to the mind—anybody would have found it so. Our first anxiety therefore as we stepped out upon the broad, bright platform full of short gentlemen in long gowns, was as to the whereabouts of that erratic piece of luggage—whether it had finally come with us, or followed the natural bent of its vicious inclinations and stepped off to spend the night at a tea house somewhere on the way.

"I will say of the several people whom we asked to show us the baggage-room, that they all bowed and some of them smiled, while one or two even looked concerned, but none of them appeared to have the slightest conception of what we wanted. * * * * We giggled, whereupon the onlookers began to giggle too. We laughed outright—they laughed outright; and presently we stood in convulsions of mirth in the midst of a small multitude similarly convulsed. Then we remembered what we had been told of the extremely sympathetic nature of the Japanese. Just as Orthodocia was threatening hysterics, and I was considering their probable effect on the nation at large, I caught the gleam under a lamppost afar off of a familiar object. It was the green trunk, and I do not overexpress our activity when I say that we made for it. Of course the multitude made for it, too."

The housekeeping experiences of the two travelers in Japan, is perhaps the most entertaining part of the volume; but there is scarcely a page on which some bit of amusing description cannot be found. Only those who look for evidences of serious thought and deep feeling will be disappointed in the book.

MAGAZINES OF THE MONTH.

Harper's opens with a finely-illustrated account of a journey across the Andes. The reader is perhaps less impressed by the dangers overcome, and the strange scenes witnessed by the traveler, than by the fact that he abstained from washing his face during the whole time he was in the mountains, the use of soap and water rendering the skin susceptible to the terrible dust and winds of the Andes. Alphonse Daudet's novel, "Port Tarascon," is continued. A remarkably good short story is "The Revolt of Mother." "Mother" is the wife of a rich farmer, who lives with his family in a disreputable-looking shanty set in the midst of commodious barns, stables and cattle sheds. She pleads with him not to build another new barn—to make it a new house instead—but he is not to be entreated. Instead of losing her temper, she gives him pie and pleasant words as usual, and during his absence moves her family and furniture into the new barn. By the time he returns, box-stalls have been turned into bedrooms, and the harness room into a kitchen. The old man acknowledges he "hadn't no idea she was so set on it as all this comes to." The Easy Chair in the interest of public manners, reasons gently yet forcibly with the ever-present members of the Hog family.

The article of the month in the Century Magazine is "The Women of the French Salons," which takes the reader back into the time when the theories of philosophers were among the staple topics of conversation, and the philosophers themselves were honored by sovereigns and petted in the salons, where they posed as lions or as martyrs. Not all the frequenters of the salons were distinguished guests, however, for it is related that one day when a visitor inquired for the white-haired old gentleman who was in the habit of sitting at the head of Mme. Geoffrin's table, the great lady replied: "That was my husband; he is dead." Another richly illustrated article is a description of the proposed Yosemite National Park. "The Anglomaniacs" is concluded, and "Friend Olivia," Mrs. Barr's story, increases in interest.

In Scribner the anonymous serial "Jerry" attracts chief interest. Next to it comes "The Country House," by which is meant not the suburban rests (or roosts), where city workers spend their nights, but the determinate country homes, where doors are kept open in summer and fires burning in winter. "Out of doors," remarks the writer, Mr. Donald G. Mitchell, "is a very large part of a well-balanced country house." This has an Irish and a truthful ring, and in accordance with it the ideal rural house should be rambling and many-windowed, with no such painful over-nicety in its surroundings as to compel a visit or to look long and drearily for a place where he can knock the ashes from his pipe. In the "Point of View" the contention that there is something antagonistic between democracy and distinction is met by such obstinate questionings as: Is distinction anywhere else admired so much as in democratic countries? Is not traditional distinction a contradiction in terms? Is there not an inherent opposition between true distinction and artificial distinctions?

Lippincott's novelette this month is "The Mark of the Beast," by Katharine Pearson Woods, a Baltimore young lady, who, as the author of "Metzerott, Shoemaker," a powerfully-written anonymous work, is attracting a good deal of attention. Miss Woods is a thorough convert to Mr. Bellamy's theories as set forth in "Looking Backward," and Mr. Bellamy recommends "Metzerott, Shoemaker," to the Nationalist party as a clever exponent of his views.

In the Methodist Magazine for September, of which Rev. Dr. Withrow is editor, appears a portrait of Frances Willard—a face of equal strength and sweetness—and a sketch of her life. The first woman ever elected president of a college, she resigned her position and a salary of $2,400 a year to become president of the W. C. T. U. of Chicago, a society which had neither funds, headquarters nor methods, but which was the beginning of the largest and most powerful organization of women in the world.

OTHER NEWSPAPERS.

FRIENDLY WORDS FROM A SISTER CITY.

Buffalo Times.

The London (Ont.) ADVERTISER was founded by Mr. John Cameron in 1863. During late years Mr. Cameron has been connected with the press of Toronto as manager of the Globe, but lately determined to return to his own journalistic child. He has now become fully installed with his old newspaper, and evidences of improvement are already noted. The Canadian press gives Mr. Cameron honorable mention in the way of many merited compliments.

THE AMENDMENT IS ACCEPTED.

Toronto Globe.

The Stratford Times, referring to the reform proposed by the London ADVERTISER, says: "No one proposes to compel any elector to vote for either candidate; the intention is to compel him to go to the poll and cast his ballot. It would be doing no injustice to anyone, and, as has been pointed out, it would tend to purify in time the political atmosphere." The advocates of the reform should change the name "compulsory voting" to compulsory balloting" or compulsory attendance at the polls." The former name leads to misconception. To compel a man to attend at the polls and cast a ballot is neither impracticable nor unjust, and we think the effect would be good. If the elector did not approve of either candidate he could cast a blank ballot. These blank ballots would show that the abstention from voting was due not so much to indolence or indifference as to the fact that neither candidate was acceptable, and the moral effect would be excellent.

A LOSS OF FIRESIDE VIRTUES.

Alta California.

The census of New York shows an increase of 1,000,000 in the population of that State since 1880. Of this, 305,000 is in the city of Brooklyn and 342,000 is in New York City, or 647,000 of the total. The increase in the other cities of the State accounts for nearly all of the million added to the population in ten years, leaving the rural population practically at a standstill. This bears out what the Alta has repeatedly said concerning the desertion of rural life and industries for the cities. We view it with no feeling of satisfaction. It proves a bad industrial condition, and implies a decline in the physique and morals of the people. In crowded cities there is a loss of the fireside virtues which in the country flourish compatibly with slender fortunes. These virtues are alive in cities, but they are invaded by temptations unknown to rural life. It is sadly probable that many other of the older States will make the same showing as New York. If their rural population be found to have increased at all, it will be at a slower rate than ever before, while the city population will be found to have increased its percentage rate of gain. We want a return to the time when public men pay more attention to rural interests. In 1862 Hendricks, Pendleton, and other western statesmen predicted the decay of the Farmer Republic as a result of changes then proposed in the methods of the Government. That which they foresaw seems to have come to pass, and its presence is a disagreeable feature in our national life.

The Electric Light

Is a matter of small importance compared with other applications of electricity. By this agency Polson's NERVILINE is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficient power. Nerviline is a wonderful remedy, pleasant to take, even by the youngest child, yet so powerfully far-reaching in its work that the most agonizing internal or external pain yields as if by magic. Neglect no longer to try Nerviline. Buy to-day a ten cent trial bottle and be relieved from all pain. J. Wilson, druggist, Goderich, writes: "Nerviline gives good satisfaction." Sold by druggists and country dealers everywhere.

Sick Headache

IS a complaint from which many suffer and few are entirely free. Its cause is indigestion and a sluggish liver, the cure for which is readily found in the use of Ayer's Pills.

"I have found that for sick headache, caused by a disordered condition of the stomach, Ayer's Pills are the most reliable remedy."—Samuel C. Bradburn, Worthington, Mass.

"After the use of Ayer's Pills for many years, in my practice and family, I am justified in saying that they are an excellent cathartic and liver medicine—sustaining all the claims made for them."—W. A. Westfall, M. D., V. P. Austin & N. W. Railway Co., Burnet, Texas.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered stomach and liver. I suffered for over three years from headache, indigestion, and constipation. I had no appetite and was weak and nervous most of the time. By using three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured."—Philip Lockwood, Topeka, Kansas.

"I was troubled for years with indigestion, constipation, and headache. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, used in small daily doses, restored me to health. They are prompt and effective."—W. H. Strout, Meadville, Pa.

MR. JOAB SCALES, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach and Lame Back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man out of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

WONDERFUL CURES.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.—Mrs. L. Squire, Ontario Steam Dye Works, Toronto, says: "For about thirty years I have doctored for Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia without getting any cure. I then tried Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and the benefits I have received from this medicine are such that I cannot withhold this expression of my gratitude. It acts immediately upon the Liver, and its good effects are noticed at once. As a Dyspepsia remedy I don't think it can be equalled."

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

HARDENED AND ENLARGED LIVER.—Mrs. H. Hall, Navarino, N.Y., writes: "For years I have been troubled with Liver Complaint. The doctors said my Liver was hardened and enlarged. I was troubled with Dizziness, Pain in my Right Shoulder, Constipation, and gradually losing flesh all the time. All food soured on my stomach, even with the closest attention to diet. I was under the care of three physicians, but did not get any relief. A friend sent me a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, and it affords me much pleasure to inform you that the benefit I have received from it is far beyond my expectation. I feel better now than I have done for years."

Peculiar

To itself in many important particulars, Hood's Sarsaparilla is different from and superior to any other medicine.

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers.

Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Be sure to get

At Independence, Iowa, Alabaster broke the four-year-old stallion record. Time, 2:15; quarters, 33½, 1:07, 1:41, 2:15. Roy Wilkes was sent to beat his record of 2:09, and broke another word's record, making the mile in 2:08½; quarters, 33¼, 1:03½, 1:35, 2:08¼.

TOO HIGH FOR ONTARIO.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 5.—At the meeting of the State Breeders' Association yesterday 20,000 persons were present. The jumping horse, Ontario, attempted to beat the record of seven feet but failed. His jump was 6 feet 3½ inches.

SUNOL AND PALO ALTO.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Sunol in the first trial heat at Belmont Park yesterday to beat her record of 2:10½, trotted the mile in 2:11¾. The first quarter was made in grand style in 40½ seconds and continued on towards the half-mile post. Just before reaching the pole she broke but Driver Marvin caught her up quickly and sped on to be joined by a running mate who pushed her hard to the finish. The time for the half mile was 1:04½, for the three-quarters 1:38½ and for the mile 2:11¾. The time lost in the break was fully a second. Palo Alto also trotted to beat his record of 2:12½, but failed to accomplish the feat, making the mile in 2:12¾. It was decided not to make another trial this afternoon by either Sunol or Palo Alto.

AMATEUR LEAGUE GAME.

A small gathering of enthusiasts met at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the London West Stars and the Wolverines. Messrs. Peter and Fred Wood were announced as players in the Wolverines nine, but they failed to materialize, and the club with which they were to have played attribute their defeat to the non-appearance of the "ringers." The work of Collins for the Stars was very effective, many of the Wolverines' batters fanning the atmosphere in one-two-three order. The following was the score by innings:

Stars	2	0	0	4	0	0	0	1	*	—7

QUOITING.

FOR THE EVANS' MEDAL.

The second drawing for the Evans' medal by the members ot the Forest City Quoiting Club will be concluded this week. The final draw will take place next week. An old sportsman who is seldom mistaken says that the men who will face each other in the final contest will be Messrs. Matthew Brown (the handicap), R. Errington (Glanworth), John Robinson, Alex. Murray, "Sim" Mason and Wm. Bell. The medal, which is a handsome gold one, has been donated by Mr. John P. Evans to be competed for by members of the club. On one side is a rink in which a player is represented as pitching a quoit, and on the other in neat letters the object of the donation.

ATHLETICS.

At a meeting of the Citizens' Athletic Association, held in the Tecumseh House, it was decided to add a one-mile "green" bicycle race to the programme for the day of sports next week. All entries will be attended to by Secretary Flock. Mr. Thos. Gillean will supply all members of the association with the regulation badge on application.

The Glencoe High School Athletic Association has been organized with officers as follows: Hononary president, G. D. Wilson; honorary vice-president, A. McIntyre; president, C. G. Corneil; vice-president, John Walker; recording secretary, J. C. Campbell; corresponding secretary, J. C. Elliott; treasurer, Jas. Campbell; committee of management, G. W. Swaisland and J. H. Campbell, 2nd form; Arthur Borley and J. Sinclair, 3rd form; C. Trestain and J. McMaster, junior form.

CRICKET.

The London Cricket Club will meet at the Tecumseh House at 8 o'clock this evening.

LAWN TENNIS.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association has been favored thus far with the best weather possible for its first annual tournament. In the final round of doubles Tanner and Smith, of Buffalo, defeated Griffin and Swabey, of the Victoria Club, Toronto, in a hard fought match. The results of the various events are: Doubles—Tanner and Smith beat Griffin and Swabey 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6. Singles—Macklem beat Kirkpatrick 5-7, 6-3, 6-0; Tanner beat Alexander 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. The final of the singles will be played to-day.

THE OAR.

The Melbourne Argus says that a sculling match has been arranged by cable between O'Connor and Hanlan for $5,000 and the championship of America. The match is to be rowed somewhere on the Pacific coast, within ten weeks of O'Connor's arrival in America.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, is ear-ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

THE WORLD OF WORK.

Interesting Session of the Labor Congress.

Some Plain Talk on the Emigration Question.

Status of the New York Central Strike—Labor News in General.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.—The members of the Trades and Labor Congress were treated to a drive yesterday at the hands of the Reception Committee, and at 2 o'clock proceeded to elect officers as follows: President, Urbane Lefontaine, Montreal; vice-president, John Armstrong, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, R. R. Elliott, Niagara Falls; executive committee for Ontario, J. T. Carey, St. Catharines, A. Macdonald, Ottawa, and R. G. Glocking, Toronto, for Quebec, Geo. F. Warren, Montreal; Patrick Jobin, Quebec; Luc Routhier, Quebec.

Resolutions were passed:

That this congress do heartily sympathize with the men now on strike on the New York Central Railway against the attempt by capitalists to rob them of their right to organize for the purpose of improving their material condition and defense against monopolistic oppression, and that this congress do recommend financial aid from labor organizations.

That, whereas it has come to the knowledge of this congress that E. & C. Gurney & Co., of Toronto, have for the past seven months been engaged in a determined and persistent effort to disrupt Ironmolders' Union No. 98 of Toronto; and whereas, in that effort Mr. Gurney and his agents have scoured all the leading cities of the United States by means of bribes and misrepresentations to induce aliens to supplant our Canadian workingmen in their employ; therefore resolved, that we express our unqualified condemnation of such an unwarrantable attack upon said union, coming as it does from an establishment that has been so loud and unceasing in its demands for more protection for the stove industry of Canada, and do tender our sympathy with the iron molders in their long and gallant struggle against E. & C. Gurney's grasping monopoly; and further resolved, that we hereby request all workingmen generally and organized labor in particular to carefully discriminate between fair, union-made goods and inferior and boy labor in such lines of goods manufactured by Messrs. E. & C. Gurney.

It was also resolved that the Government be requested to make Labor Day a national holiday; that the Government be petitioned to repeal the clause in the Seamen's Agreement Act not allowing any appeal after a conviction for any offense charged under the act, and to grant instead the right of appeal in such cases; that this congress petition the various Legislatures for the abolition of tolls on turnpike roads.

On the subject of immigration it was moved by Mr. O'Donoghue, seconded by Mr. Glocking:

That the continued systematic and enormously increased expenditure of large sums of public money in aiding and encouraging to this country mechanics, laborers, paupers, indigents, orphans and children of vicious, tainted and criminal tendencies from abroad is a gross injustice to the people of Canada, and in particular to the working classes; therefore, be it resolved, that it is the imperative duty of the Federal Government to peremptorily abolish the same, and that due care should be exercised in preventing the introduction of such classes into Canada, whether they be sent under the authority of the Imperial Government or through any other channel.

Mr. Ingram, ex-M.P.P., of St. Thomas, opposed the passage of the resolution until they had all the facts and figures of the case. He warmly charged Mr. O'Donoghue was going through the country declaring that assisted immigration still existed, though he knew that declaration to be untrue.

Mr. O'Donoghue—That's a lie.

Mr. Ingram—I ask the gentleman to take that back. (Cries of "Order, order.")

President Carey asked Mr. Ingram to withdraw his language and try to continue his parliamentary style.

Mr. Ingram—Then I'll say Mr. O'Donoghue was very forgetful when he made that statement. He went on to claim that the immigrants by paying taxes in Canada were a benefit to that extent. He moved the reference of the matter to a special committee.

Mr. Jobin, of Quebec, denounced the importation of children from the slums of old cities of Europe, and dwelt on the bad character of many of the immigrants brought over to Canada.

Mr. Bartlett, of Windsor, said he was in favor of stopping grants for immigration, but there were expressions in that motion which hurt the feelings of the Conservatives present.

Mr. Jary viewed Mr. Ingram's amendment as a mere subterfuge to shunt this matter and postpone the day of judgment. They were here neither as Conservatives nor Reformers, but as labor representatives looking at things from a labor point of view. Medical testimony showed that very many of these imported waifs from the slums were diseased, and by the law of heredity could not help inheriting the mental and physical organizations of their parents. It was showed by statistics that the pauper and criminal classes in Canada were chiefly foreign born.

Mr. J. T. Marks, of London, said he belonged to the independent labor party. He and others from the west of Toronto came down here determined to have a square discussion. He agreed it was a bad thing to bring out these children. "Still," he added, "I do not want to have any political dodge sprung on this congress."

Mr. D. J. O'Donoghue wanted his course, as mover of the motion, judged in his representative capacity. He was voicing the sentiment of the body which sent him here, the Toronto Trades Council. He went on to say that experience taught them there were more people in Canada than they could find employment for to live in reasonable comfort, and while this was so they objected to the use of public money to compete with them in the only article they had to sell—their labor. Last year the Dominion spent $45,000 to assist immigrants, and that did not include Dr. Barnardo and others of that ilk. Even infants under 1 year were assisted by $1 a head. Ontario alone sustains in its public institutions 6,000 persons at an expenditure last year of $800,000, yet they paid $1 a head for infants and $2 a head for waifs.

Mr. Armstrong said he was always opposed to assisted passages. He complained of the Ontario Government expenditure for provisions and transportation for immigrants.

Mr. Garson, ex-M.P.P., of St. Catharines, made a strong speech showing that the immigrants transported over railways and fed while at distributing points by the Ontario Government were immigrants brought to this country by the Dominion authorities, and they were fed pending distribution to farms, yet, forsooth, this honest representative of honest labor (John Armstrong) objected to buying them provisions to keep soul and body together for a few days. Why, he asked, did the labor congress for many years condemn the Federal immigration system if it was not bad?

As it was now late, the debate was adjourned.

THE N. Y. CENTRAL STRIKE.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—According to the statement of General Car Accountant Ewings, of the New York Central Road, the blockade which had existed in this vicinity is effectually raised, and that everything is running smoothly on the Mohawk and Hudson River Road. Pinkerton says there are still 460 of his men stationed at points between here and Schenectady, and the men would be kept on patrol duty until the strike was declared off. The strikers who have not returned to work, and who are occupying the railroad company's houses, have been notified to vacate within 30 days. Assistant-Superintendent Harrington said that numerous applications had been received personally and by letter from striking yardmen who wished to be reinstated, but they were invariably refused work. The strikers deny this.

Supt. Bissell said that a dastardly attempt to wreck a portion of a freight train was made yesterday afternoon at the Vanwoert street crossing in this city. As the train was proceeding west at that point somebody succeeded in parting the couplings of the second rear car from the rest of the train. The two cars thus separated gained speed as they rolled down the hill at this point. As they passed through the upper part of the yards a yard brakeman observed them, and succeeded in boarding them as they rolled on the upper railroad bridge, and stopped them within a hundred feet of the open draw. The draw had been opened to allow the passage of one of the Troy boats, which was just passing through as the cars were brought to a standstill. Had the runaways continued on they would have plunged down on the vessel, which was freighted with human lives.

THE EIGHT-HOUR MOVEMENT.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 5.—The trades unions organization yesterday voted in favor of having the working day of eight hours made compulsory by Parliament.

Mr. Abraham, M. P., said if the present Parliament would not make the adoption of the eight-hour system compulsory the workingmen by the use of the franchise could get a house that would give them what they wanted.

Charles Fenwick, also an M.P., urged that to make the eight-hour day compulsory would be an economic error, and he warned the congress that such a measure would prove impossible to workmen and injurious to trade and would sap the strength of the trades union.

Mr. Tillett ridiculed the motion that a legal day of eight hours would weaken the unions. On the contrary it would strengthen the position of the laborer and consolidated works.

Mr. Burns held that Parliament must be used to obtain the eight-hour day. In several parts of the country, after the men had obtained the adoption of the eight-hour plan, the capitalist forces had driven them back again to the twelve-hour system. The lost ground could only be recovered by a general strike unless Parliament interfered.

The vote on the question of making the eight-hour day compulsory stood 181 to 173, and the announcement of the result was followed by prolonged cheering.

The Socialist Congress at Bilbao has ended with little results. The eight-hour scheme is looked upon with small favor by Spanish workingmen.

PRINTING PRESSMEN.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—At the International Printing Pressmen's Association, after a two-hours' discusion, it was decided that the per capita tax be 10 cents per month. Feeders and helpers should only pay 5 cents per capita tax and receive half strike benefits. The date of the annual convention is to be the third Tuesday in June. The International Printing Pressmen's Union is to be represented at the World's Fair by a display of fine presswork.

CANADIAN SAILORS WASHED AWAY.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 5.—An international question of some importance is involved in a difficulty between the captain of the Canadian schooner Sligo and the officials of the Seamen's Union. Sunday evening the Sligo arrived at Chicago with a non-union shipping crew of 42 men. These seamen were "seen" by a sailor committee from the union and the results are that the crew will not continue in the service of Capt. Kerwin on the Sligo, although he claims to have explicit shipping articles with all of them. The captain charges that the union has interfered with the right of Canadian seamen and has made formal complaint to the British Consul here. The latter was unwilling to express his views regarding the question, but it was understood that he would make an effort to have the matter clearly and officially defined and brought to a settlement. President C. J. Elderkin, of the Seamen's Union said: "These non-union men aboard the Sligo were working for $20 a month, while the boat with its American charter carried American freight to and from Canadian ports. The men in the union get $2 a day, or three times the amount paid to these Canadians. When the vessel came here the men came up in the city and finding the superior advantage of union, both as regards wages and fraternal benefits, some of them joined our union at once, and all voluntarily declined to return to their work at the low wages they were receiving. All that our organization does is in the interest of American labor and American shipping interests."

DETROIT STEAMFITTERS STRIKE.

DETROIT, Sept. 5.—Two weeks ago the Steamfitters' Union adopted a new scale of wages, asking the bosses for an increase from $2 50 to $3 50 for nine hours' work. All te employers acceded to the demand except Webster & Meathe, A. Harvey & Son and the Detroit Sheet Metal and Brass Works, and twenty of their men are now out on strike.

Mosquitoes Hate Oil.

"Wherever you find petroleum you won't find mosquitoes," said an oil country man. "The infernal insects can't stand the smell of the grease, and wherever oil wells are plenty there is no call for mosquito bars. Over and over again I've seen mosquitoes leave a new oil field as soon as a well flows. Whether petroleum, applied to the hands and face, will drive off mosquitoes I don't know; but one of the few compensations of the driller is that he's seldom troubled by mosquitoes."

Disraeli's Clever Turn.

An anecdote illustrating his extreme tact was told of Disraeli soon after he was created Earl of Beaconsfield. It appears that, not long after his transplantation to the House of Lords, Disraeli met a brother peer in the streets who asked him how he liked the change. "Like it? I feel as if I were dead and buried alive!" Then, seeing the expression of discomfiture on the peer's face, he added hastily, with a courtly and irresistible smile: "And in the land of the blessed!"

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—About 750 head of butchers' cattle, 1,000 sheep and lambs and 150 calves offered at the east end abattoir to-day. There were scarcely any really good cattle on the market. Best animals sold readily at from 4c to 4¼c per lb, and more would have been paid for prime beasts. Common and inferior stock was plentiful, and considerably lower in price. Over 100 Quebec oxen offered here to-day, but they were not overburdened with fat, and sold at from $30 to $45 each, most of them bringing $35 each, or 3c per lb; pretty good fat cows sold at from $35 to $45 each, or 3½c to 4c per lb; common dry cows sold at from $25 to $35 each, with lean dry cows and bulls at from 2c to 2½c per lb; shippers bought about 50 head of stockers at from 3c to 3½c per lb. A number of good Manitoba cattle were bought at C. P. R. yards at about 4c per lb. Latest cablegrams from Britain report very low prices for cattle there; mutton critters were rather lower, though good lambs are in active demand at from $3 50 to a little over $4; 200 good lambs sold at an average of $3 70 each, 22 calves at from $5 to $15 each. Fat hogs are plentiful, and sell at from 5½c to 5¾c per lb.

LISTOWEL.

LISTOWEL, Sept. 4.—At the cheese fair held here to-day the second sale of cheese was made under the call system. Twenty-six factories boarded 7,583 boxes of August cheese, 1,115 colored and 6,468 white. The sales were 305 boxes of white at 9¼c, 670 at 9¼c, 670 at 9¼c, and 350 colored at 9½c. There were twelve buyers present.

PETROLEA, Sept. 5.—Oil opened and closed to-day at $1 31½.

More Sensational Than the Dunlo Case.

An English paper says that we shall soon have another sensational case which will probably quite throw the Dunlo affair into the shade. The suit is down for hearing in the Irish Courts for the coming term, and is brought by Baron von Nicrotti, a Swedish nobleman, whose wife, highly connected with several Dublin families, and possessing great accomplishments and attractions, was, it is said, maliciously abducted some little time back, and despite all her husband's efforts, still remains undiscovered.

—Mr. C. H. Garwood, of Detroit, general manager of the Whitney theatrical circuit, passed through the city this morning en route to Toronto. He will remain for the opening of the Academy of Music in that city on Monday. Manager Kirchmer, of this city, proposes to leave on Saturday evening for the same point.

—Chief Roe has begun packing up the surplus goods of the department and storing them away in the outbuildings. It is expected that the work of remodeling the station will commence on Monday. The stables on the corner of King and Clarence streets have been secured as a site for the temporary station, and the hose wagon, ladder truck and horses will be kept there awaiting the completion of the hall.

—For the past week Manager Kirchmer has been superintending the overhauling of the Opera House and announces that he will have it in excellent shape for the opening. The front of the house, including the lobbies, will be resplendent in a coat of new paint and upwards of two dozen new pictures in gilt frames have been purchased to embellish the walls. The season opens next week with Margaret Mather supported by Ottis Skinner, who last year was Booth's leading man.

Runaway Accident.

A boy named Coley met with an accident this afternoon, in which he received injuries that will lay him up for some time to come. He is employed by a London West milkman named Davidson, and was driving a wagon on Oxford street at the C. P. R. crossing, when it became frightened and ran away. Young Coley was thrown out and received two ugly scalp wounds, one on each side of his head. He did not lose consciousness, nevertheless, and when carried into Dr. Jones' surgery proved a rather lively subject for handling. His wounds were finally dressed, and he was taken to his home. No serious results are anticipated.

The Wife's Story.

A family row recently occurred in the household of David Cornstein, on Wellington street. A local contemporary stated that it was due to infidelity on the part of Mrs. Cornstein. She is particularly indignant at the insinuation, and states the trouble has been caused by a servant girl, whom she discovered acting in a manner which she considered to be improper with the head of the house. She demanded that the girl should be discharged, but the result was that a separation was formally agreed on. Mrs. Cornstein says that "Dr." Alder left the house three days before the first family difference occurred. She says that the Jewish congregation of the city recently got rid of their old rabbi and took a new one, only 19 years of age, and from the fact that she sympathized with the old one all the friends of her husband treated her meanly. This statement is made by Mrs. Cornstein, and at her earnest request is published.

THE BENWELL TRAGEDY.

Reported Disappearance of a Witness—Colonel Benwell Said To Be Dying.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 5.—An evening paper publishes a report to-night to the effect that Alice Smith, one of the chief witnesses in the Birchall trial, is missing. Miss Smith was the witness to whom Birchall is said to have spoken on the afternoon of the day on which the tragedy is supposed to have occurred. She was previously acquainted with Birchall—that is, she knew him as Lord Sumerset—and they had a brief conversation at Eastwood station before he took the train for the Falls. Crown-Attorney F. R. Ball does not believe that there is any truth in the report that she has gone away. There are fourteen days yet before the Assizes open, and if Miss Smith can be found it is safe to say she will be.

It was on the fatal Feb. 17, 1890, that Miss Alice Smith met the accused at Eastwood. At the coroner's inquest she said she went over to the station to mail a letter; saw a man there whom they call "Lord Somerset"; knew him before that day; saw him at my grandfather's house; he came up and shook hands with me near the gate; I said, "Is it Dudley?" He laughed and said, "Don't you know me?" He asked about the family and said, "How is the old governor?" We walked over to the station together, and he bought his ticket. I was present when he purchased a ticket for Hamilton. I am sure it was Somerset, but could not swear positively. He said he was coming back again, but did not say when. Miss Smith also identified Birchall, or, as she called him, Lord Somerset, after he was brought to the jail here.

COL. BENWELL DYING.

Col. Benwell, father of the murdered young man, was to have sailed the beginning of this week, but a cablegram has been received from him stating that he will be unable to attend. Mr. Benwell is suffering from diabetes, and his condition is so serious as to make it impossible for him to come. A cablegram has been sent to his son, asking him to attend, and word has been received that he sailed on the 2nd. Col. Benwell is a man now past his three score and ten, and from latest reports it is hardly likely that he will survive to hear the verdict.

HOW TO REACH OLD AGE.

Experiences of a Man Who Has Passed 107 Years on Earth.

[London Lancet.]

It is no simple matter to state in terms at all precise what forces are directly connected with the production of hale and happy old age. More certainty is involved in the process than mere strength of constitution. Healthy surronndings, contentment and active temperate and regular habits are valuable aids. Hard work, so long at least as it is not carried beyond the limit necessary to permit the timely repair of worn tissues, is not only a harmless but a conductive circumstance. It is, in fact, by living as far as possible a life in accordance with natural law that we may expect to reap the appropriate results in its prolongation. Civilization is at once helpful and injurious. Under its protecting influence normal development at all ages is allowed and fostered while the facilities it affords for self-indulgence are constantly acting in an opposite direction. The case of Hugh McLeod, aged almost 107, which has lately been published, illustrates in a remarkable manner the truth of these observations. This man, a Rossshire Highlander, in what must be the somber twilight of a blameless and fairly active life spent in his native country, still shows, it is said, a notable degree of vigor. He takes a lively interest in the affairs of life, has a good appetite, is generally healthy, cuts and carries his peat for household uses and goes about among his neighbors as of old. His food is of the plainest, though nutritious—porridge, fish, a little meat; and his habits in this and other matters is not unworthy the attention of many who are daily hastening, by opposite courses, the end of a merrier, shorter, but perhaps not happier life.

Competing with Chinese Labor.

In San Francisco the sewing girls have to compete with Chinese labor, and their wages amount to $4 50 a week. Here in New York the American girls have been driven out of the clothing shops altogether by the Polish, Russian and Hungarian women, who work ten hours a day seven days in the week for $4. The average wages paid the factory girls by suit, cap, cloak, feather, flower and underwear manufacturers is $3 70. Perhaps 300 forewomen get $25 a week, and a number are able to earn $6 after ten years' service, but there are thousands of little girls and young women who begin at $1 and are raised at the rate of 75 cents a year.—[New York World.

DIANA WENTWORTH,

Or, The Professor's Daughter.

She said nothing; she felt chilled to the heart. She longed for one reminder of the past—one sign that he had not forgotten that golden summer of long, brilliant days and balmy nights, which ordinary people had counted by weeks and months, and which to her had passed like a dream, unbroken and flawless; anticipation idealizing reality, and reality, when it came, far surpassing anticipation. She could not bear to think of it. She forced herself to contemplation of the future—when John would be in Brazil, and she—where?

By this time they were close to the Abbey. Their walk was nearly over; in a few minutes they would have parted, and who can tell when they might meet again? She must say something; she could not treasure up as his last words, "Private teaching is a mistake: don't try it again;" but, rack her brain as she would, she could think of nothing except—

"Will you let me know when you leave England?"

"If you will let me know where to send you word."

She gave him Mrs. Burland's address adding,

"Of course I cannot tell where I shall be, but anything sent under cover to Mrs. Burland will always reach me."

"You shall certainly know when I leave."

"And," she added desperately, feeling that the minutes were slipping away, and that each step brought the parting nearer, "if you are in London before you go—and you are sure to be—would you try to call? I might be there, and I should like to say 'good-by' to you."

"I certainly will call, and shall hope to see you."

"Thank you," was all she said, and then the ruined Abbey rose above them, looming through the darkness. He opened the gate for her—they had shaken hands—he was raising his hat, and she was turning away with a sickening sense of desolation at her heart, when he stopped, turned, and said, in the voice which always put new strength in her:

"If you should be in any serious difficulty, Miss Wentworth, and I can be of any use to you, remember that I am always at your command."

So she went in comforted.

CHAPTER XXX.

ST. JOHN'S IN THE WILDERNESS.

Three days had passed. Rupert had been told at once of the failure to persuade Diana. He said very little, much less than they had expected, and had not mentioned Muriel. He said he was sorry they had not been more successful; if he had thought they were going to fail, he would not have come back from London so soon. He had gone to London, no one knew why, the very day after he had told them Diana had refused him, and that had been the day following her refusal. He said he would wait a day or two, and then speak to her again; he by no means despaired. He hoped they would not tease her about it any more. He was out of the house a great deal, and they saw scarcely anything of him.

Gertrude had had an explanation with her cousin, and had convinced her she had misjudged them in thinking they wished her to marry Rupert without knowing the truth about him. The matter had been left in Mrs. Wentworth's hands; she was to tell Diana, and they supposed she had done so. Diana had listened in silence, her face pale, her eyes troubled. When Gertrude had finished, she only said,

"Mamma told me nothing; she never meant to."

And Gertrude had said nothing, feeling instinctively that it was so.

There was no ill feeling between the cousins; they spoke much together. Diana said she must go away; it would be impossible to remain there now. She hoped in a few days to have made arrangements to go to Mrs. Burland's; she was at present from home, but would probably return in a week. She had not seen her mother again. Mrs. Wentworth was deeply incensed against her, and had forbidden Diana to appear before her or to enter her room. There was a gloom over the whole house, which not even Dora's approaching marriage could dispel. Diana, pale and silent, and with a look of suffering on her face, only shared the family life to please Gertrude, who implored that nothing might be done which should cause the servants to think there was anything wrong. Above all, she besought her to keep up appearances with Rupert. And her cousin, listless and indifferent, said she would try to do even that.

Three days after all this had happened, Diana sat in the morning-room, trying over some new music. She bore her banishment from her mother's room with fortitude. The recollection of the last time she had been there was very painful to her; she was by nature averse to scenes, and the thought of a repetition of that one was horrible to her.

As she sat at the piano, Rupert came in and addressed her as if nothing had happened.

"Oh, Diana," he said, "you are just the person I wanted. "Will you drive with me this morning?"

She was rather surprised at his tone, but after all, it would be best, for the short time she would still be there, to behave as though nothing had happened; but she hesitated before replying, and went on—

"Do come; it is so long since we had a drive together."

"Yes," she answered; "it is a long time."

"You have hardly spoken to me since that day at the Flemings'. I am sorry I vexed you then. I spoke too soon, but I could not keep it in any longer. Some day I will ask you to give me another chance, and in the meantime let us be friends again, as we used to be."

This bluff straightforwardness aroused no suspicion in Diana's mind. It was Rupert's way of expressing himself, and would have been the same up to a certain point if he had been talking to the woman he loved or the man he hated.

"I wish you would come," he went on, as she still said nothing, just to show you forgive me. I promise not to talk about anything you won't like."

She looked out of the window. It was an exquisite morning, with hoar-frost still on the grass. Clouds were on the horizon; no doubt the day would end with rain—at present it was perfect.

"Where are you going to drive to?" she asked, giving way slowly and grudgingly.

"I thought of Stanton: it's a good road, and you have never been there."

"Stanton!" she repeated, instantly thinking of Mrs. Burland. "I should like to go there. I have a friend who used to live at Stanton, and who has often told me about it. How long will it take us? Shall we get back to luncheon?"

"No; we'll take a sandwich with us, and I'll bring you home in time for your 4 o'clock tea."

"I will go with you," she said, after some reflection. "I will just tell Gertrude I am going."

"I am so glad you are going," said Gertrude, kissing her, when Diana said how she was going to spend the morning. "The drive will do you good, you are so pale; and I think those very long walks are too much for you. It will do Rupert good too, I'm sure he will keep his word."

So for the last time in her life, Diana went out of Garshill Abbey.

It was an exquisite morning, and their road was beautiful, almost beyond description. All the way they went by the river; no longer a thin stream, rippling over the stones with a tinkling, empty sound, but swollen with autumn rains, and filling its bed from bank to bank, it roared along angrily. They had it first on one side and then on the other, for the Swale is a winding river. The woods retained only the shadow of their former splendor; winter had touched them with her finger as she passed through, claiming tribute; and at her bidding shed their magnificence of gold and crimsom. Now they stood shivering and almost naked in the chill wind. They were driving "up dale," so that the hills grew higher and the river narrower as they went on. Turning off the high-road, and crossing an old bridge overhung with ivy, they got into a road which was little more than a lane, and jolted along, with the river still flowing alongside, until a few cottages and farms appeared, and just short of them, in the middle of a field, an old stone house with mullioned windows, which was the rectory.

(To be Continued.)

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

A man who is full of himself is always empty.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

JESUS AND ZACCHEUS*

[By the Rev. Lyman Abbott in Christian Union.]

To get the full meaning of this incident the reader must remember the twofold character of the city of Jericho, which was a city of both priests and publicans. About fifteen miles northeast of Jerusalem it was a favorite retreat of the priests when not actually engaged in temple services. Its palm and balsam were thought by Anthony a present worthy of being conferred on his royal mistress, Cleopatra; it was the site of one of the palaces of King Herod; and, being the center of the Jordan valley, whose fertility the frosts of winter never checked, it was a headquarters of the tax-gatherers. Thus religion and commerce met here without mingling; and Christ, in choosing the house of Zaccheus for his resting-place, passed by the houses of the rabbis and priests of Judaism; and this in a journey to the capital, where all his followers supposed that he was about to establish the theocracy. It is not strange that "they all murmured." Have we yet thoroughly learned the lesson taught here in action, as in the parables of the Pharisee and Publican and of the Prodigal Son, that the repentant sinner is more commendable in God's judgment than the self-righteous saint; that to have sinned and be sorry brings the soul nearer to God than not to be conscious that one has sinned at all?

The lesson is indeed lost by one interpretation which is given to the language of Zaccheus, and it is an interpretation which is grammatically possible. Godet maintains it. This construction regards Zaccheus's address to Christ as one of self-justification. I am accustomed, he is supposed to say, to give half of my goods to the poor, and to restore fourfold whatever I have taken by false accusation from any man. But this interpretation, if taken literally, lands the reader in a network of absurdities. No man can habitually give half of his goods to the poor, for the process of division would soon leave nothing except an infinitesimal portion to be divided. So Godet supposes that Zaccheus refers to his income, not his property—a supposition which does violence to the original, and puts into the mouth of Zaccheus something quite different from the expression which the narrative attributes to him.† A singular evidence of virtue, too, would it be habitually to rob men by false accusation and then restore to them fourfold. So Godet has again to suppose that it is not Zaccheus but his subordinates who have done the stealing, and that whenever Zaccheus finds it out he makes the restoration, or compels it from the detected thief. This again is reading between the lines, not reading what is in them. It is true that the verbs in the original used by Zaccheus in his confession are in the present tense, but it is also true that in the Greek the present tense is in just such cases as this used with a future signification. The most natural way in which to understand Zaccheus is as he has been understood by a majority of the commentators: "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods will I give to the poor; and whatsoever I have taken from any man by false accusation, I will restore him fourfold."

The chief lessons, then, of this inciden appear to me to be three.

1. Christ came to bring repentance. He does not wait for the promise of Zaccheus before he enters Zaccheus's house. He enters the house, and in entering wins from him the repentance. In a microcosm we here see what he has done and is ever doing in the world. He comes to it while it is indifferent; not in response to its conscious prayer for pardon or cry of penitence. He comes to his own, and his own receive him not. Yet his coming make them his own, wins from them a reception, stirs in their heart an appreciation of his character, and, by contrast, of their own character. It is his patience on the cross which touches the heart of the dying brigand and makes him the penitent brigand. It is the glory of his death which wrings from the Roman centurion the confession, "Truly this man was the Son of God." So now he does not wait for our penitence; he stands at every door and knocks: to every soul he says, "Come down, I must abide at thy house;" and if we admit him, his coming makes us know our need, his riches disclose to us our poverty, his purity and truth make us know ourselves sinners. He comes to us, not because of our faith or our repentance, but that he may bring us to faith and to repentance.

And he is in this respect an example for us. He receives sinners and eats with them; we think ourselves too good to receive and eat with them until they are reformed, or at least have promised to themselves, if not to us, a reformation. The treatment which Christians generally accord to actors may serve to illustrate my meaning. If they were as immoral as they have been represented to be (and I believe the representations are exaggerations), still Christ's example would be the one for us to follow; to receive them to our homes, fellowship them, and by our fellowship win them to a nobler purpose, a purer life. A great deal that passes for Christianity is Pharisaism, a following of Simon the Pharisee, not of Christ.‡

2. The best evidence of repentance is not in tears or bitterness of heart, but in well-doing. "Wash you; make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; learn to do well; seek judgment; relieve the oppressed; judge the fatherless; plead for the widow"—that is repentance. If Zaccheus carried out his promise, gave half of his good to the poor, and restored fourfold to all whom he had plundered, he had not much wealth left. This is genuine repentance. For the penitence that reaches the pocket goes oftentimes deeper than the penitence that reaches the heart; and the sorrow for sin that gives dollars is better attested than that which simply sheds tears.

3. And, finally, to have sinned and abandoned sin is to come nearer to God than never to have been conscious of having sinned at all. "For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy: I dwell in the high and holy place; with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones."

Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

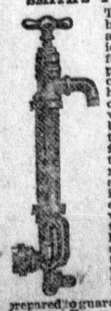
SMITH'S PATENT HYDRANT.



This hydrant is acknowledged by all mechanics to be far ahead of all others. Its superiority is shown by the popular favor it has attained. The public are warned against other dealers who claim to have a hydrant which can be compared to a straight-way valve. A straight-way valve has no seat to be subjected to the action of any liquid, therefore a hydrant to be compared to a straight valve must have no seat to be subjected to the action of the water, and there is no other hydrant made except Smith's Patent Hydrant without a seat, and we claim to have the only straight-way hydrant. All others have a seat subjected to the action of the water, and the majority of them will have to be dug up inside of a year to be repaired, and at extra cost. This we are prepared to guarantee the users of our hydrants against. For sale by the patentees; price, $5.

Death of a Former Londoner.

He was never married and lived with his brother James Baker. Mr. Michael Baker of Yates street, is also a brother. His friends have the sympathy of the public.—[Victoria, B. C., Times.

From an M. C. R. Window.

Golden Rod is in bloom—food for bees.

Farmers are rushing in the fall wheat.

Pastures look better than they did a month ago.

A few corn fields were touched with frost in Elgin county.

Very few flocks of sheep appear in the fields west of St. Thomas.

After leaving Middlesex a root crop is a rarety, the few seen being poor.

From Detroit to Windsor every garden has its patch, every farm its field of waving corn.

To see rag weed in all its glory, go to Buxton and points westward along the track.

In cattle the "red, white and roan" predominate, with here and there a bunch of black and white, telling of the advent of the "Hollander."

Through Kent the bean crop is a conspicious feature of the landscape.

Farmers are raising more calves this season. Every pasture has a group of them. Steers will be plenty in a couple of years.

The Manitoba Outlook.

Mr. James Hooper, a former ADVERTISER employe, and now connected with the Tribune, of Winnipeg, as reporter of that well-known journal, is in the city renewing acquaintances. He has been absent from the city for ten years. He considers London the most beautiful city he has ever seen in Canada or the United States—and he has seen nearly all of them. The outlook in all lines of business for Manitoba, he considers, was never better than at present. The farmers are happy over their fine crops, which have been safely harvested, consequently the merchants, both wholesale and retail, are anticipating an unusually successful season. Regarding the so-called damage by frost, the accounts received here as to their severity have been greatly exaggerated. The extravagant reports were circulated by interested speculators who have last year's grain in elevators, and are desirous of disposing of their supplies ere the new grain is marketed. Manitoba, he says, needs more farmers as settlers, and capitalists to develop its resources. The lowest estimate is that 12,000,000 bushels of No. 1 hard wheat, 3,000,000 of No. 2, and 2,000,000 of inferior grades will be exported from that Province this season. Mr. Hooper intends returning to his Northwest home in a few days.

The Drunkards' Day.

Eight minutes sufficed to transact the business at Magistrate Parke's court this morning, yet in that time he attended to the cases of six offenders. The first name on the docket was that of Wm. Walker. A respectable-looking old man responded to the clerk's call and confessed to having been drunk. He was discharged.

George Smith and Charles Bayley rose up in the cage when the Magistrate asked them what they had to say to the charge of drunkenness. Bayley had nothing to say, but his companion was more voluble and had a long yarn to spin. He wound up with the announcement that he had not seen his "chum" Bayley for eighteen years, and was celebrating the reunion when he found himself drunk. As neither of them had money to pay a fine they were allowed to go.

John McCann and William Dilke had no excuse whatever for their offense of drunkenness and no money. They were accordingly discharged.

John Yates, an old cripple whose body when he walked represented an angle of 45 degrees, pulled himself into the Magistrate's view by aid of the iron railing around the cage. He had no excuse, but volunteered to walk to Sarnia if allowed his liberty. The Magistrate did not think that he would make fast enough time, and made him promise to spend what money he had in car-fare before he set him free.

Back to Business.

Most of the summer sojourners at Port Stanley have left that pleasant and popular holiday resort to find the city hotter than when they went away. But the calls of business are too urgent to be longer neglected, and London's shrewd merchants are making active preparations for the large fall trade, which a bountiful harvest will no doubt insure. At the same time the fortunate children who have been spending their holiday at the lake side are ready to resume school duties, their bronzed faces, bright eyes, and sharpened appetites attesting the benefit as well as pleasure they have reaped from their outing. Among those who returned with their families from Port Stanley yesterday were Mr. A. J. Watson, of Dundas street, and Rev. R. M. Cunningham, of Goble's Corners. Messrs. Watson and Cunningham have this summer built a commodious and comfortable cottage in a choice location on the lake shore a considerable distance west of the Fraser House, and have spent nearly two months at the Port. They had for near neighbors Rev. H. C. Speller, of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, and Mr. G. Bayley, of Elizabeth street. On Tuesday a Government engineer visited Port Stanley to inspect the piers and harbors and report to a Cabinet meeting, to be held on the return of Sir John to Ottawa. It is understood he will recommend repairing the piers and dredging out the harbor. All look forward to a big boom at the Port next season. One feature with which many are not acquainted will be the placing of a new steamer by Capt. Ellison on the route between Port Stanley and Cleveland. The steamer will be about 100 feet long and is now being built, the keel having been laid last week. A feature will be the excursions from Saturday to Monday, enabling excursionists to remain all day at Cleveland and return to London by the early train on Monday morning.

All persons afflicted with Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Colic, and all kinds of indigestions will find immediate relief and a sure cure by using Angostura Bitters. The only genuine is manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

It is no Wonder that invalids lose faith in all specifics, when so many worthless medicines are advertised to cure various diseases, but which, when tried, are "found wanting." We have yet to learn, however, of the first failure of DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY to cure coughs and pulmonary disease.

Boys, for the cheapest livery in London try W. Lindsay, Dundas street, London West.

A peculiarity of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood it imparts new vigor to every function of the body.

CONTRACTORS MUST HURRY.

Business Transacted by Number Two Committee of the Board of Education.

No. 2 Committee of the Board of Education met last evening. Present: Trustees Jeffrey (in the chair), Dewar, Brady, Cook, Childs, Craig, Durdin and Overseer Dodds.

Several petitions for appointment as janitors were filed for reference.

It was resolved that the resolution passed on July 21 be reported to the Board.

Trustee Childs said he had arranged with Mr. John Ferguson to act as janitor in the East End Town Hall for $15 per month. The action was approved.

Trustee Childs moved that a special committee be appointed to ascertain how much coke may be used with the coal at schools to obtain greater heat at less expense, and to report to the Board. Carried.

The usual number of accounts were passed.

Trustee Dewar moved that in the matter of purchasing a desk from the Grayhill Manufacturing Company, Waterloo, by some members of the Board, the account should pass. In future such action will not be used as a precedent in the purchase of supplies. Carried.

Trustee Cook moved that the organization of the cadet corps at the Collegiate Institute be approved and recommended to the Board. Trustee Childs moved in amendment that action be deferred for twelve months. Mr. Cook's motion carried.

Trustee Dewar moved that the inspector be empowered to instruct contractors at the different city schools that unless the work they have undertaken be completed by the time mentioned in the specifications under which the contract was awarded, steps will be taken to have such work on each school completed according to the terms on which the contract was signed. Carried.

Trustee Childs moved that the Chapman bell be relegated to the Lorne avenue school. Carried.

Trustee Brady moved that the Engineer and Inspector be empowered to have the basement of the Hamilton road school made on a level with the new part. Carried.

It was resolved that a door be made through the brick wall at the Talbot street school to enable the janitor to reach the furnace without passing down the stairs used by the female pupils.

On motion the question of the discharging of water through the conducting pipes of the several schools was referred to the Chairman of the Board and No. 2 Committee to consult the Engineer with power.

THE TENDERS OPENED.

Number Three Committee Break the Seals, but Delay Awarding the Contract for Electric Lighting.

A meeting of No. 3 Committee was held last evening for the purpose of awarding the contracts for lighting the city by electricity. The following members were present: Aldermen Boyd (chairman), Heaman, Wallace, Bartlett, Shaw and Fitzgerald, with Engineer Tracy in the role of secretary. A recommendation was read from the Council urging that the Engineer proceed with the erection of poles for the completion of the fire alarm system in Ward No. 6. On advice of Ald. Boyd the communication was laid on the table, as it will be possible to utilize the poles of the electric light and telephone companies when they are erected.

A communication from the tenants of the market bazar asking that the gas lamps in the bazar be lighted was received. The committee decided to grant the request.

A telegram was received from the McKeegon-Miln Company, of Montreal, general agents of the Crompton Company (limited), of London, England, stating that their plans and specifications had only been received that day (Thursday). They were prepared to put in the best English plant at cost, superior in quality and lower in price than any in America. They were prepared to commence work at once and finish in the time required by contract. If necessary they would send out a superintendent and see that the work was properly attended to. The committee men were resolved not to further delay the opening of the tenders, so no action was taken on the communication.

As the committee had agreed not to open the tenders until 8:30 o'clock the representatives of the different companies amused themselves in telling stories for the delectation of the committee.

The specifications under which the companies were required to tender were:

Plan No. 1, 240 lights of 2,000 candle power.
Plan No. 2, 300 lights of 1,000 candle power.
Plan No. 3, 100 lights of 2,000 candle power.
Plan No. 4, 180 lights of 1,000 candle power.

TENDERS FOR PLANT.

The first tender opened was from the Fort Wayne Electric Company, per Mr. Thomas Cooper, Canadian agent, but as the necessary check was not attached the tender was thrown aside. Their figures for plan No. 1 was $41,900.
