TORY GOVERNMENT IN MANITOBA TO RESIGN WEDNESDAY

ITALIAN SOLDIERS IN SWITZERLAND CALLED BACK TO REGIMENTS; ENEMY CONCENTRATES

Paris Hears Rumors of Germa ny and Austria Declaring War To Forestall Rome—Milita ry Experts Believe Intervention May End War in Summer.

(Canadian Press.)

Geneva, Switzerlan d, May 11. — All Italian officers and men in Swit zerland, up to age of 34, were ordered yesterday to rejoin their regiments immediately.

Austrian and Bavari an forces are concentrating in the Tyrol.

QUESTION OF DAYS.

[Canadian Press.]

On the Italian Frontier, May 11.—The opinion prevails in Rome that Italy's participation in the war is only a question of days. Along the Austrian frontier, where the correspondent of the Associated Press has been from one end of the line to the other, it is universally felt that war is a question only of hours.

RUMORS IN PARIS.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 11.—It is being persistently rumored in Paris that Germany and Austria-Hungary have already declared, or are about to declare, war on Italy in anticipation of such action on her part directed against themselves. This report, however, has received no confirmation of any kind.

Another rumor which made its appearance on the bourse today is that the Italian Government has signed an agreement with the Allies—Great Britain, France and Russia, to take part in the war not later than May 26. This rumor also is without confirmation.

French observers of the political situation in Italy infer from the audience yesterday between King Victor Emmanuel and former Prime Minister Giolitti that the non-intervention party in Italy has determined to withdraw all opposition to the war.

Seeing End of War.

Consequently the Italian parties would be united in support of a war policy.

ADVANCE GUARD OF 34TH IS EXPECTED THIS WEEK

Preliminary preparations for bringing the 34th Battalion from Guelph to train with the 33rd here are well under way, and the advance guard, which will get the ground, quarters, commissariat and other departments into shape, is expected this week.

The firms supplying the men now here with food, etc., are going after the additional business. Many of them have found it necessary to make extensive arrangements for keeping their orders and those in prospect filled. The meat problem is one of the largest, but no difficulty, it is stated, will be experienced in obtaining plenty of supplies. Local bakers can also look after the thousands of loaves of bread extra that will be required each week.

After the 33rd and 34th commence training here together, recruiting will still be continued in anticipation of drafts which will likely be made.

GREECE INCENSED AGAINST GERMANY

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—A Reuter dispatch from Athens says that the torpedoing of the Lusitania has aroused profound indignation throughout Greece. The newspaper Hestia says:

"This German crime affords an appropriate commentary on the German accusations of cruelties alleged to have been perpetrated by Russian troops in East Prussia. While undertaking to give lessons on the principles of humanity to others, they themselves commit the greatest crimes against humanity."

CALL TO COLORS 4,000,000 MEN; ITALIANS READY

Advices Received in This City From Private Sources Indicate That Mobilization in Italy Proceeding At a Rapid Rate.

Advices received in the city from private sources in Italy indicate that mobilization is proceeding at a rate which can indicate only a hurried preparation for war.

A prominent Italian in this city has received a letter from a relative in Italy in which the correspondent states that her brother, who is 39 years of age, has been called to the colors. This the recipient of the missive states indicates that the third class of reservists is being called, which would involve a mobilization of nearly four million soldiers.

BOMBS DROPPED ON PARIS SUBURRS WOUND 6 PERSONS

Germans With Taube Machine Hit St. Denis With Two Missiles — Pont-a-Mous son Again Bombarded By Intense A rtillery Fire.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 11—3:10 p.m.—A German aeroplane passed over St. Denis, a suburb of Paris, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and dropped five bombs.

One bomb fell through the roof of an apartment occupied by Mme. Bolleker, bounced from the bed, where her nine-year-old son Andre was sleeping, and then struck the floor, where it exploded. Fragments of the bomb slightly wounded the boy.

Another missile, on exploding, wounded five men who were stopping in a shed. Two other bombs damaged an apartment house.

PONT-A-MOUSSO N BOMBARDED.

Pont-a-Mousson, Fra nce, May 11.—This town, which probably holds the record for bombardments by the Germans, again is being subjected to an intense fire. A shell recentl y fell in the kitchen of a house occupied by a famil y named Le Jaille, without injuring anyone, but a fe w days later another shell landed in a bedroom, killi ng one person and injuring three.

WOUNDED AND KILLED TURKS REACH 45,000

Fierce and Continuous Fighting Enables Allies To Take Gallipoli Positions.

ENEMY WELL SITUATED

Every Yard of Ground Bitterly Contested By Defending Forces.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

Athens, May 11.—Vigorous bombardment by the entire allied fleet of Turkish fortifications along the Dardanelles, and sanguinary combats for strategic positions on the Gallipoli Peninsula continued today.

The fighting, for ferocity and continuity, has eclipsed even the long-drawn-out combats of the Balkan war, and loss of life on both sides is much greater. Turks hold splendid positions, well protected by artillery, and the Allies are compelled to advance a yard at a time, digging themselves in as they push forward.

Hospitals Filled.

The Turkish losses in killed and wounded alone on the peninsula number 45,000.

It is stated that every hospital in Constantinople is filled to overflowing, and that temporary hospitals have been established.

In order to prevent the people of Constantinople knowing just how heavy their losses have been, many of the wounded are now being sent into interior parts for treatment.

IMPORTANT POINTS TAKEN.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—The allied troops on the Gallipoli Peninsula continued their advance Friday and Saturday, according to an Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. They are reported to have occupied important positions in spite of the desperate resistance offered by the Turks, whose total losses are estimated at 45,000 men. The hospitals in Constantinople are said to be so crowded that wounded are being sent to Konish in Asia Minor.

TURKISH REPORT.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, May 10—Via Amsterdam and London, May 11.—The following statement was issued today by the Turkish war office: "On the Dardanelles front the enemy made four desperate attacks near Ari Burnu Sunday night, but was repulsed by bayonet attacks and suffered heavy losses. Three enemy battalions were annihilated.

"Monday afternoon the enemy constantly carried away wounded to their boats.

"In the south, near Seddul Bahr, the enemy attacked under the protection of naval guns, but owing to our counter-attacks his assault was unsuccessful."

Turks Shift Troops.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—Turkish troops are being transported from Smyrna to the Turkish seaports of Alexandretta and Adalia, says a dispatch received today from Athens by the London Evening Star, owing to the fear that a landing is about to be made at those places by forces of the Allies.

"Somewhere in France"

Said a Tommy in the trenches to the Germans 'cross the way:
"Do you know how Gen'ral French's boys are goin' to win the day?
In their homemade handknit socks,
They will stand like solid rocks,
And you'll get some nervous shocks,
You may lay!"

Said a Tommy from the trenches, to the nurse beside his bed:
"Please write home and tell the wenches that our thanks are daily said,
For the cigarettes and choc's,
And the bandages and smocks—
But just keep on sending socks,
Till we're dead!"

Some Runner!

John Steele ran in for a few drinks last night and then he ran out his automobile for a run, which resulted in his running into and badly damaging another auto. He was finally run into police headquarters and was run out of $5 today by Police Magistrate J. C. Judd on a charge of running an automobile while intoxicated. Last, but not least, Steele has run himself into a suit for damages, as the man whose car was run into announced that he is going to run Steele and the auto case into another court.

GERMANY ONLY ADDING INSULT UPON INJURIES

American Press Resents Tone of Official Note of Regrets.

SUN PROPOSES PLEDGE

Wound Have Citizens Offer Fortunes and Persons For Service.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 11.—These editorial comments appear in the newspapers in this city this morning on Germany's expression of sympathy for the loss of life among Americans on the Lusitania:

The World.—"The German Government's official expression of "heartfelt sympathy over the loss of American lives" in the Lusitania massacre is coupled with a sneer of "regret that Americans felt more inclined to trust Britain's promises than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side."

"This adds insult to injury. The relations between the United States and Germany are already strained to the breaking point. Most of us ardently and sincerely hope that the breaking point will not be reached, and that the United States will not be forced to accept the last resort of a nation that can obtain no adequate satisfaction for deliberate and wanton wrongs.

Issue With Germany.

"The issue rests with Germany. It is for the German Government to say whether it desires peace or war with the United States.

"If it desires peace with the United States there will be no more Lusitania massacres. There will be no more Gulflight incidents. There will be no further attacks of any kind upon American ships and American citizens engaged in the exercise of their lawful rights. If Germany wants war with the United States, she has only to continue in the course that she is now pursuing."

President Knows Now.

The Tribune.—"An official statement of the German Government that the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine disposes of half of all the information that the President of the United States can desire before resolving upon his action.

"He knows now from the German Government that the Americans massacred on the Lusitania were the victims, not of the individual wantonness of a subordinate, but of the policy of assassination adopted by those who direct the German Empire.

"A wild beast is loose in the war, a creature combining the ferocity of the animal with the lust of the degenerate human. The struggle is not a struggle between nations; it is a battle between civilization and barbarism.

"A German victory would mean the destruction of all that we hold to be best and noblest of our own national life. What Germany strikes at is the right of men to lead their own lives and live according to their own will in the pursuit of that happiness which our constitution declares is their right."

Lying Excuses.

The Times.—"Germany and her defenders feel the need of justification for the destruction of the Lusitania, and they can find none, none that for an instant avails them before the judgment seat of civilization. The German Government sought to make it appear that the Lusitania was actually a ship of war and so might be sunk without warning. In its official communication, given out on Saturday evening, it said that 'the Lusitania was naturally armed with guns, as were recently most of the British mercantile steamers.' The statement is untrue. It was at once denied by the British Government. and Mr.

BUFFALO WANTS BISHOP FALLON IN ITS DIOCESE

Movement On Foot by Catholics in New York State May Bear Fruit.

BISHOP AWAY TOMORROW

Goes To Buffalo Wednesday To Act At Funeral of Late Bishop Cotton.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Buffalo, N. Y., May 11.—The Most Rev. Michael F. Fallon, Bishop of London, Ont., will act as master of ceremonies at the funeral of the late Bishop Charles F. Colton, which will take place in this city on Friday morning. The bishop will come to Buffalo tomorrow.

A strong effort is being made by the Catholics of Buffalo to have Bishop Fallon transferred to the diocese of Buffalo. Bishop Fallon, although of Canadian birth, has always been greatly admired by the people of Buffalo regardless of religious beliefs, and at the time when there was a vacancy in the archbishopric of this diocese, which also takes in Buffalo and the city of New York there was a strong sentiment to have Bishop Fallon sent here. He was also prominently mentioned for the bishopric of Buffalo eleven years ago.

SAVED THE DAY AFTER FRENCH HAD RETREATED

Fred Taggie Tells of Splendid Work Men From Canada Did At Langemarck in Letter To Parents in This City.

GAS FUMES STRANGLED

Firing of Machine Guns and Field Batteries Was "Hell Let Loose," To Use His Own Words.

So terrific was the shelling to which the Canadians were subjected around Langemarcke that four of the postoffices operated at the front in the Canadian division were shot to pieces, one after the other, in three days.

Fred Taggie, of this city, who is a member of the Canadian Postal Corps, in a letter to his parents containing this information, says that for five days he had no opportunity of mailing letters or postcards because every available hehicle was in use for bringing up ammunition to the Canadians and taking back the wounded.

Behaved Splendidly.

"The Canadians behaved splendidly the last three days, and I believe they held the Germans back on the dash they were making for Calais," says the writer. "On the night of April 22, the air was filled with gas from the German bombs, that hurt the eyes and the lungs."

Describing the battle of Langemarcke, Pte. Taggie writes: "The Germans broke through the trenches filled with French and Algerians. The Germans threw shells containing gas, and half of the Frenchmen were suffocated to death. We got orders to retreat immediately from our billets and go three miles to the rear. The firing of the machine guns and batteries was hell let loose.

Canadians Rushed Up.

"About midnight the Canadians were rushed up from their own trenches, and they held back the enemy. The poor Canucks were exposed to heavy fire before they reached the trenches, and they suffered terrible casualties. English artillery and infantry came up next day by the thousand. They gave the Germans some of their own medicine.

"There is a regular flow of wounded. Those who are able to walk have to go on foot, and the severely wounded are taken in motor ambulances to the hospitals.

Dead Bodies Laid Out.

"Dead bodies are laid out in long rows, near our reserve trench," Pte. Taggie writes.

When the Germans began throwing "Jack Johnsons" over the Canadian position the following day, the postoffice men were given orders to leave everything in their billet but the cash-box, and get out of range if the fire continued.

EMPIRE MOURNS CANADA'S LOSSES

Great Memorial Service Held In St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

BISHOP'S FINE ADDRESS

Says Gallantry Has Drawn Dominion Closer To the Motherland.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 11.—Tonight's memorial service at St. Paul's, to fallen sons of Canada, will rank amongst the most memorable ever held within the Empire's greatest cathedral church.

The vast building proved none too large to accommodate those who had come from town and country to pay their grateful tribute for the self-sacrifices of those brave boys of the Dominion, who only a few months ago gladly answered the call of the Empire's need.

The humblest and most eminent of this great metropolis bowed themselves tonight in mourning for the sorrow of the daughter of the nation.

King Represented.

King George was represented by Lord Dundonald, Queen Alexandra by Lord Ranskborough, and the Governor-General of Canada by General Sir Ronald Lane. The lord mayor and sheriffs attended in full robes of office. Sir George and Lady Perley occupied front seats down the main aisle, while others present included Dr. Page, American ambassador; Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, Earl Grey, Lord Lansdowne, Sir Richard McBride, Gen. Sir Wolfe Murray, Col. Ward, Princess Louise of Argyll and Rudyard Kipling.

Wounded Present.

Some two hundred seats had been reserved for mourners and friends under the great dome and down the two side aisles were seated several Canadian wounded, with bandaged limbs, who had been brought from neighboring hospitals.

There was something infinitely touching in the sight of one wounded man, who had to be carried to his chair.

The service opened with the hymn "Brief Life Is Here Our Portion." Then followed that well-known passage from the burial service, "I am the resurrection and the life"; the 23rd, 116th and 130th Psalms; an anthem, "Blest Are the Departed," and three special prayers.

Australians Not Forgotten.

The Bishop of London then gave a short address, "In mourning for Canada tonight," he said, "let none think we are leaving out our Australian and Newfoundland comrades, whose heroic conduct has thrilled the world. On another occasion we may well commemorate their gallant deeds, but the night is Canada's night, and we commemorate the feat of arms performed by Canadians, which will live in history forever.

"It was a terrible moment," said the bishop, "when the gallant French allies, naturally not expecting a species of human devilry in warfare the like of which has not been seen for a thousand years, were overpowered by fumes and poisonous gases, which Germany had herself declared illegitimate in warfare. We have now learned by the bitter experience of our Canadian comrades and the sinking of the Lusitania what diabolical acts Germany is capable of, acts which will stain her name while life lasts.

For Freedom's Cause.

"These young men from the Dominion left their farms in the Far West, their orchards in Ontario, and forests and mines in the Rockies, and have flung down their lives, not for the motherland only, but for freedom of the freest thing in the world, the freedom of Canada, for the freedom of the world and for international honor, and never while the British Empire lasts shall we forget these glorious heroes, who have thus given their lives so dearly for the flag which binds us all together.

"Canada will be bound to us henceforth by a more sacred tie than ever. She was dear to us before; she will be ten times dearer now, for 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.'"

After the Dead March in Saul had been played, the Coldstreams Grenadiers sounded the last post, and the service concluded with the Canadian anthem, "O Canada, Thou Land of Noble Name."

Calgary Workmen Refuse to Work With Germans or Austrians.

Calgary, Alta., May 11.—Sixty-five employees of a local leather company, busy on French war orders, have issued an ultimatum to the management to discharge all German or Austrian employees by Saturday.

They refuse, they say, to work alongside people whose countrymen have proved themselves to be "beasts."

WAR'S TOLL OF LONDON LIVES IS INCREASING

Today There Are Seven Death Claims of Men From This City.

War's toll of London lives is steadily increasing. Today there are seven death claims of Londoners who were insured by the city of London before they left. Since yesterday two additional claims have come in those of Morris H. Brown and Sergt. W. B. Brady.

Settlement has been made in three of the cases and it is expected that the other four claims will be sent in immediately.

THIEVES PLY TRADE

Silver Fern Bowl Stolen From Stanley Street Residence.

Petty thieves, or vags, as the hobo king would call them, have been plying their nefarious trade in South London and vicinity. Last evening a silver fern bowl belonging to Mrs. J. C. Jury, of 70 Stanley street, was carried off, and a few days ago another resident nearby lost some linen and other household effects. The police have been notified, but seem unable to lay hold of the culprits. From other parts of London come tales of like thefts, and many citizens are becoming really angered. A John street matron lost two pairs of gloves, some bed clothes and other things not many nights ago. They were taken from the clothesline.

GERMANS LOSING CARENCY VILLAGE

Allies Invest It On Three Sides, Taking Some Parts.

MANY ENEMY REPULSES

Aviators On Both Sides Are Brought Down By Land Forces.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 11—2:30 p.m.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement on the progress of hostilities:

"In Belgium, near St. Georges, the enemy endeavored, by a night attack, to recapture the positions taken by us the day before yesterday. He was, however, repulsed.

"To the north of Arras our progress has continued. Monday evening we took possession first of the cemetery and then of the eastern part of the village of Carency, and also of the road from Carency to Sauchez. Carency, where we took 220 more prisoners, including three officers, and captured several machine guns, is now invested by our troops on three sides, and is reduced to precarious communication with the German lines.

New Forces Repulsed.

"The forces brought by the enemy from Lens and from Douai in automobiles were not successful any place in getting the advantage. Four strong counter-attacks broke down under our fire during the afternoon of Monday, at the same time suffering very heavy losses.

"These attacks took place in front of Loos, at Notre Dame de Lorette, at Sauchez, and at Neuville Saint Vaast. At this last-mentioned place we gained territory, at the same time making about 100 prisoners. The number of officers taken by us up to yesterday evening is more than 50.

Further Check.

"Monday night the enemy suffered a further check. The counter-attacks to the north of Neuville Saint Vaast, preceded by a violent bombardment, were completely repulsed and we retained all the ground gained by us, at the same time inflicting very heavy losses on our assailants. On the remainder of the front, Loos to Arras, there was no counter attack yesterday.

"Following the bombardment of Dunkirk, reported yesterday morning, during which three shells fell, without hurting anybody or inflicting any damage, however, the Germans threw eleven shells on the town of Bergus, five miles south-southeast of Dunkirk. Twelve persons were killed and eleven were wounded. Our batteries at once opened fire, and they put a stop to the shelling of the enemy, which was not resumed during the day.

Aviators Brought Down.

"On the rest of the front there has been nothing to report.

"One of our aviators yesterday bombarded a hangar for dirigible balloons at Maubege and started a fire. An aviator of the enemy threw bombs on the railroad station at Doullens, twenty miles north of Amiens, but without doing any damage. Another aviator of the enemy, pursued between the Argonne and the Meuse by a French airman, was compelled to come down within the German lines, where his machine took fire.

"On the other hand, the Germans brought down yesterday a British aviator, and British soldiers were successful in bringing down two German airmen."

BUTCHERING BABES

Forty or fifty babies, all less than a year old, were butchered in the Lusitania massacre.

What wonder that German school children received an official holiday in order that they might help celebrate this glorious hero-victory!

What wonder that hundreds of letters and telegrams of congratulation are pouring in upon the redoubtable Tirpitz, whose master mind planned this splendid slaughter of the innocents!

Surely this magnificent triumph of German arms will be commemorated in enduring bronze. There must be a suitable spot within the sacred precincts of Siegesallee in which a statue can be erected to Herod, who was perhaps weakly discriminating in his butchery of babies, but who, nevertheless, pointed the way.—From N. Y. World.

PASSENGERS UNAFRAID; NO SAILINGS CANCELLED

Steamship Lines Unaffected By Germans' Dastardly Attack On Lusitania.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 11.—No general cancellation of the sailings of steamers or of passages engaged from New York to European ports has followed the sinking of the Lusitania, according to agents of steamship lines here. They say, however, that there has been an increase in the popularity of vessels flying neutral flags. The fact that the American Line has stopped booking third-class passengers for the St. Louis, which is due to leave here Saturday, was cited as an evidence of this.

Agents of the French Line said that the sinking of the Lusitania would not prevent them from sending their steamers across as usual. At the offices of the Scandinavian-American and Holland-American lines it was stated that no sailings had been cancelled.

Agents of the White Star Line said the Cymric will sail from New York for Liverpool next Friday, according to schedule. Forty cabin and 300 steerage passengers already are booked for that steamer.

At the offices of the Cunard Line it was said that no instructions have been received from Liverpool regarding the sailings of its steamers, and there have been no cancellations.

It was estimated that 2,350 passengers are on board the various steamships from American ports bound for destinations that will take them within range of German submarine activity.

ROBLIN CABINET SEEKS TO RESIGN; ROGERS ALARMED

Latter's Attempt To Form a Coalition Government—Manitoba at Fever Heat.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, Man., May 10.—Rumors were flying thick around the city tonight that the Roblin Government had approached Lieutenant-Governor Cameron with a view to handing in their resignation. The sudden adjournment of the royal commission investigating the Parliament Buildings contracts today, after a very brief session, and a significant remark of the counsel for the Liberals, C. P. Wilson, that he had an important announcement to make before the week's adjournment was over, added fuel to flames.

It is understood that it is the desire of the governor to avoid at this time a general election, and he is trying to find a way out of the difficulty. The Roblin Government is up against a stone wall. Evidence to come before the commission is very damaging, and public opinion is at fever heat against the Government. Hon. Hugh Armstrong and Hon. G. R. Coldwell are two members who have been anxious to resign for some time.

Hon. Robert Rogers arrived tonight to get a line on the situation, and see if he can assist in forming a coalition government. It is understood L. C. Norris, Liberal leader, will not listen to any coalition cabinet, but will insist on the country electing a new Legislature.

PAISLEY, May 10.—Samuel McMorran, the 12-year-old son of Mr. Harry McMorran, died yesterday after an illness of some weeks. The funeral will take place on Tuesday, with interment in Stark Vale Cemetery.

Why People Feel Depressed In the Cold Weather

Why is tiredness and languor so prevalent just now? A physician explained that the cold of winter drives blood from the surface of the body to the liver. Normally one-fourth of the whole blood supply is in the liver, and when more blood is accumulated in that organ everything goes wrong.

No better remedy exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are composed of such vegetable extracts as Mandrake and Butternut, and possess wonderful liver stimulating powers. It's a marvel the way Hamilton's Pills clear the blood of the poisonous humors. They put new life into worn-out bodies, build up the appetite, bring back a reserve of nerve energy, tide folks over the cold days of winter and the depressing days of spring. For your health and body comfort get a 25c box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills today.

GERMANY SAYS IT SERVES 'EM RIGHT

Lusitania Victims Chose To Trust Britain Rather Than Enemy.

EXTENDS HER SYMPATHY

Insists That British Government Is Responsible For Tragedy.

[Canadian Press.]

BERLIN (via London), May 10.—6:41 p.m.—The following dispatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy ta Washington:

"Please communicate the following to the State Department: The German Government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British Government, which, through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany, has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures.

"In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine war, in case of the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible.

"They cannot, therefore, be treated as ordinary merchant vessels. A recent declaration made to the British Parliament by the Parliamentary secretary in answer to a question by Lord Charles Beresford, said that at the present, practically all British merchant vessels were armed and provided with hand grenades.

Insists Cargo Was Contraband.

"Besides, it has been openly admitted by the English press that the Lusitania on previous voyages repeatedly carried large quantities of war material. On the present voyage the Lusitania carried 5,400 cases of ammunition, while the rest of her cargo also consisted chiefly of contraband.

"If England, after repeated official and unofficial warnings, considered herself able to declare that that boat ran no risk, and thus light-heartedly assumed responsibility for the human life on board, a steamer which, owing to its armament and cargo was liable to destruction, the German Government, in spite of its heartfelt sympathy for the loss of American lives, cannot but regret that Americans felt more inclined to trust to English promises rather than to pay attention to the warnings from the German side.

"(Signed), FOREIGN OFFICE."

"THAT'S NO EXCUSE"—COL. ROOSEVELT.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 10.—"That's no excuse," said Col. Roosevelt, decisively, when a cable was shown to him to the effect that the German admiralty had wired regret over the Lusitania disaster, but put the blame on England. He would not comment further.

Today's editorial page of the New York Herald was also shown to the colonel. It was sprinkled with paragraphs in prominent type, reading: "What a pity Theodore Roosevelt is not President of the United States today."

"Isn't that funny?" said Col. Roosevelt, laughing heartily.

It was recalled that not so many years ago Roosevelt's name was barred from the pages of the Herald. When it was necessary to refer to him he was called "the bull mooser" or "the third-term candidate."

PIANO SAVES MOTHER AND SON

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—F. M. Lassetter, an officer of a Scottish regiment, who was wounded early in the war and had been on a voyage of three months to recover his health, was saved, together with his mother, by the saloon grand piano of the Lusitania, on which they floated for three hours. Mr. Lassetter says he came up near his mother after the boat went down and sighted the piano, floating with its legs up. He lifted his mother on the piano and then climbed aboard himself. They found the unlque craft well above the waves and perfectly seaworthy.

The Lassetters were less exhausted when taken aboard the trawler than most of those persons who had been in lifeboats.

FAMILY OF EIGHT ALL LOST

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—Fr. Cowley Clark, of London, who was a colleague of the late Cardinal Newman, and who was among those saved from the Lusitania, said today:

"I saw the Crompton family of Philadelphia all lost, including the father and mother and six children, ranging from six months to twelve years of age."

Fr. Clark was referring to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark and their children.

"GOT US NOW," SAYS VANDERBILT

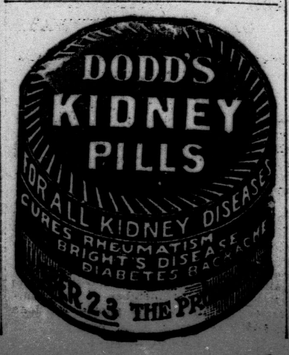

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—Dr. Owen Kenan, of Wilmington, North Carolina, who is on the Lusitania's passenger list as coming from New York, was found seriously ill in a hotel late this afternoon.

Dr. Kenan said that as he went down with the ship, he saw Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt leaning against a gateway door and that Mr. Vanderbilt called out to him, "They have got us now."

Mr. Vanderbilt, according to Dr. Kenan, wore what looked like a very heavy overcoat, around which a lifebelt had been buckled. Dr. Kenan did not see him come to the rail of the steamer.

Dr. Kenan declares that he went down twice. The first time he was submerged it seemed as though he had gone to the bottom. He kept his eyes open and finally saw the light, and then his head protruded from the water, but stayed there only long enough for him to get a couple of gasps of air. Then he was pulled down again and came up almost underneath two boats. He was picked up a moment later.

Dr. Kenan was ill when he went into the water. His condition is still serious, but he probably will recover.

SALOONS CLOSED TO PREVENT RIOTS

LIVERPOOL, May 10, 5:12 p.m.—The municipal authorities ordered that all saloons be closed at 6 o'clock tonight, in consequence of the anti-German riots here yesterday. The ringleaders of those disorders were let off leniently in court today, but were warned that further outbreaks would be punished rigorously.

TITANIC PAPERS ON LUSITANIA

NEW YORK, May 10.—The sinking of the Lusitania echoed back to the loss of the Titanic today when announcement was made today in the federal court that notices sent to British claimants in the still pending Titanic litigation had been lost in the Lusitania's mail. The notices carried information of the proceedings for the limitation of liability brought by the Titanic's owners would be held on Monday next. It was indicated that the trial would now be postponed.

INVENTS BATTLE IN BRITISH NAVY

Germany "Discovers" Sinking of Battleships By Their Sister Ships.

FABRICATION, OF COURSE

Admiralty Repeats Story To Show Up Germany's Desperate Motives.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—The British official press today issued this announcement:

"The following statement dated Berlin, May 9, has been officially circulated through the German press stations and received by the Marconi Company:

"'The main headquarters reported some weeks ago that a large number of reports were current which originated in Norway to the effect that near Bergen, on the Norwegian coast, during the night from the 7th to the 8th of April, heavy sea fighting between British and German ships had taken place. Ships coming from that direction also reported that they had seen squadrons of warships. On the night in question gunfire, by the aid of illuminating rockets, had been noticed.

Great Victory.

"'With regard to these reports some light now has been thrown on the matter by the commander of the submarine 'AE-2,' which was destroyed in the Dardanelles. According to a letter which came into our possession regarding the North Sea fight, which is said to have taken place, the British battleship Superb is said to have been sunk, and the cruiser Warrior is said to have been sinking without the German navy having suffered any loss. On Friday, the 9th of April, a number of cruisers are said to have arrived in a badly damaged condition. The Lion was very badly damaged. Official reports say nothing of all this.

"Neutral" Information.

"'Similar reports have come to hand from reliable neutral sources to the effect that a number of badly-damaged and slightly-damaged ships had reached English ports for repairs. The manner in which they had been damaged has been left unexplained.

"'An especially large number of damaged ships ran into the Tyne. A damaged cruiser was towed into the Tyne. A ship like the Lion with a starboard list and with her aft funnel missing was towed into the Firth of Forth.

The Conclusion.

"'The silence of the admiralty on all this is easy to be understood. As the German navy took no part in any fighting on the night in question, and as a fight with neutral vessels is out of the question, a battle can only have taken place between ships of the British fleet which did not recognize each other in the darkness.'

"The secretary of the British Admiralty states that there is not a word of truth in this fabrication. It is, however, interesting as a mark of the anxiety of Germany at the present moment to make an impression on neutral states."

BUSY MAKING RESPIRATORS FOR SOLDIER LADS

1,200 Needed Will Be Completed By Tomorrow Is Hope.

Two busy centres in London today are Hyman Hall and Cronyn Hall, where respectively, members of the London Red Cross Society and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire are busily engaged making respirators to be shipped at once for the use of the Canadians on the firing line.

At Cronyn Hall members from each of the eight primary chapters of the I. O. D. E. in London met yesterday and commenced their share of the big task. Today they are again working and will continue tomorrow, when it is hoped to complete the 1,200 which the order in London is undertaking. Members of the Red Cross Society met yesterday at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. George Brown, and, after mastering the art sufficiently to teach other members at the Red Cross rooms today, succeeded in completing quite a number of the respirators.

These little things, which it is hoped are going to offset the effect of the gaseous explosives used by the Germans in engagements, require considerable deftness to make. Two each covered on one side with cheese- each cavered on one side with cheesecloth, and the two sections then firmly stacked together. A strong elastic band is sewed at each end of the respirator, this to pass around the wearer's head. A small safety pin is attached to each, so that the band may be adjusted to fit properly. Each respirator when completed is encased in a wax paper envelope and hermetically sealed.

At the Red Cross Hall today, the treasurer told The Advertiser that packing would proceed at once and that they hoped to ship 500 of the 1,000 respirators which the Red Cross workers are making by Wednesday night, or probably earlier.

These orders were received today from Ottawa at the military headquarters of the first division here.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, May 11.—The Japanese foreign office is drafting a treaty with China based upon the acceptance of the provisions in Japan's ultimatum, including the restoration of Kiao-Chau.

Admitting that the public is displeased with the results of the negotiations, the Conservative press is urging the Japanese to exercise self-restraint with regard to China.

The offer The Advertiser is today making is just as important and of just as much value to you as to any other contestant who is after first place in her district. You are all after votes, votes and still more votes. When you have a little money to spare, you don't place it in a box and bury it in the earth, neither do you tie it up in a bag and hide it in the bottom of a trunk. Because you are a modern woman and approve of up-to-date businesslike methods, you take that sum of money straight to the bank, where it will gather the most interest. You want your money to make more money.

For the very reason that you are up-to-date in your ideas, you will appreciate an offer whereby you can gather interest on your efforts in the shape of added votes.

During the next nine days, from Wednesday, May 12, to Thursday, May 20, both dates inclusive, candidates turning in subscriptions as per the following club list will be entitled to the extra votes set opposite each club:

4.—Ten 1-year subscriptions (by mail) at $2 each, $20 ...... 10,000 extra votes

With club one, instead of the regulation 300,000 votes, you will receive 350,000
With club two, instead of the regulation 120,000 votes, you will receive 145,000
With club three, instead of the regulation 30,000 votes, you will receive 42,500
With club four, instead of the regulation 40,000 votes, you will receive 50,000

The beauty of this offer is that you are not limited to any one club. You can enter one and all if you choose, repeating as frequently as you please, and receiving the extra vote ballots each time.

Now is the time to round up your prospects and hustle after new business. Now is the time to turn in the votes that will draw a big interest—in other words, the votes that will make more votes.

Just as steady, persistent effort will win the trip, so will steady, persistent effort reap the advantages of this special offer. Let others do the worrying. You do the plugging. The Panama-Pacific trip is going to be a nice, big, juicy plum for someone in your district. Why not for you? And the capturing of a nice pile of club-offer votes is going to help you along wonderfully towards the goal.

The standing of candidates in the contest will be published tomorrow, Wednesday, May 12, then not again until after the expiration of the special club offer, on Saturday, May 22. All voting ballots and subscription coupons turned into The Advertiser office today will be included in the report of tomorrow afternoon.

GERMANS LOSING

"Yesterday morning a British ship was driven away from West Ende by our fire.

"We made further progress east of Ypres and captured five machine guns. The French continued their attacks southwest of the Lorette Hills and at the villages of Ablayn and Carency. All their attacks were repulsed. The number of prisoners made by us here was increased to 800.

French Hold Trenches.

"Between Carency and Neuville the French still remain in possession of the trenches taken by them. The battle continues.

"A British flying-machine was shot down at a point southwest of Lille.

"Southwest of Berry-au-Bac and in the wood south of Longville-au-Bois our troops yesterday took by storm a position of two lines of trenches, situated behind each other and stretching over a width of 400 metres. We also took a number of unwounded prisoners and captured two mine throwers with much ammunition.

Attacks Failed.

"Enemy infantry attacks north of Flirey and in the Forest of La Pretre failed with considerable losses to our opponents.

"In the eastern theatre yesterday the situation was unchanged. The Russians attempted to arrest the pursuit of our army under Gen. Von Mackensen on the Brzesko-Brzozowa line, on the branch of the Strodnika-Brzeznaka and at Ropozya, northeast of Ebeca and Szernzyn on the Vistula. Their object failed completely. By night the Russian lines were pierced in many places, especially at Brzosko and between Brzosko and Lutcza, after a desperate attack by several Russian divisions from Sanoka, in the direction of Besko, had failed in the morning, with very heavy losses for our enemy. The pursuit continues."

PERSONAL MENTION

W. C. Sealy has been appointed master mechanic of the Ontario lines of the Grand Trunk Railway with headquarters at Toronto, in place of J. Markey, deceased.

Lieut. Kenneth McKay, of the 33rd Battalion, spent the week-end with his parents in Windsor. His mother is steadily improving after a slight stroke she experienced recently.

PRESIDENT STILL MAKING UP MIND

Wilson Says Speech Did Not Indicate Policy Regarding Lusitania.

DECISION YET TO COME

Cabinet Meets Today and May Take Up Important Question.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 11.—President Wilson said today that his speech in Philadelphia last night was not a declaration of policy in reference to the Lusitania disaster; that he was not thinking of any special member, but of the duly naturalized Americans in his audience.

The President used the expression that he was not thinking of the "Cain" some people were trying to raise.

The President said he would make a decision on the policy to be followed in the Lusitania case as soon as he had all the elements in mind. For the present he had nothing to add, he said, to his statement of last Saturday night, which was that he was considering "very earnestly, but very calmly, the right course of action to pursue," and that he knew the country expected him "to act with deliberation as well as with firmness."

Personal Attitude.

The President made it clear that he was expressing a personal attitude and not referring to any specific cases. That led to the belief in many quarters that the President had not reached a decision in the Lusitania case, and was speaking his personal feelings as to the ideal the United States should have in this situation as well as other phases of the world-wide war. It was taken that he was endeavoring to explain broadly that the United States should seek to serve the cause of humanity by using its influence to secure an adherence to the rules and principles of international law wherever they have been contravened.

Cabinet Meeting.

Although the general trend of comment was one of surprise at the limitation which the President placed today on the interpretation of his speech, those who have followed his speeches closely pointed out that Mr. Wilson has frequently spoken implicitly rather than explicitly.

At the usual hour the cabinet began arriving for the first conference with the President since last Friday. Whether the President would take up the Lusitania tragedy or wait until he had gathered further facts was something which none of the secretaries themselves seem to know.

Chairman Stone, of the Senate foreign relations committee, discussed the Lusitania disaster with the President before the cabinet meeting began, and later said he had no expectation that an extra session of Congress would be called.

President's Problem.

"I am for peace with honor," said Senator Stone. "I do not know what the President plans to do about the Lusitania. It is his problem and it is useless for others to attempt to advise him."

Senator Lafollette, another White House caller today, opposed the suggestion that diplomatic relations with Germany be broken off. "I am for peace," said Senator Lafollette. "I want the United States to take a firm stand, but I am opposed to war."

No Comments.

LATER.—The cabinet was in session nearly three hours, the longest meeting held in several months. None of the members would deny that the Lusitania incident had been discussed, but all refused absolutely to comment. The demeanor generally of the cabinet members was grave and reserved.

Secretary Bryan, pressed with questions, declared: "We must not discuss what occurs at cabinet meetings."

At the White House no intimation was forthcoming as to whether the President had decided on a course, but there was every indication that the President had decided not to allow any intimation of his plans to leak out until he is ready to make an announcement.

TEMPERANCE MEN VISITING TORONTO

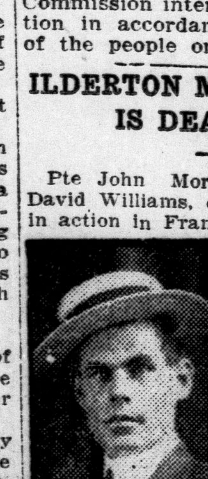

Deputation Off to See Commissioners About Decision to Not Cut Off Licenses Here.

A deputation consisting of Rev. W. R. McIntosh and Rev. J. H. Boyd, representing the temperance interests in the city, went to Toronto today to interview the members of the new Ontario License Commission whom they will ask to give effect to the expressed will of the people of London by instructing the local license commission to cancel five additional hotel licenses.

The interview was arranged for 2 o'clock this afternoon and temperance workers here expect to know by this evening whether the Ontario Commission intends to govern its action in accordance with the wishes of the people or not.

ILDERTON MAN'S SON IS DEAD OF WOUNDS

Pte John Morris Williams, son of David Williams, of Ilderton, was killed in action in France, presumably in the battle in which Canadians figured so prominently recently. Pte. Williams had lived for several years in Sarnia before he enlisted in the first contingent, 27th Lambton Regiment. He was employed at the Spanish River lumber yards.

Pte. J. M. Williams

Pte. Williams was 27 years old, and unmarried. His brother, Henry Norman, recently of Englehardt, is also at the front, with the 48th Highlanders.

Mr. Williams received word of the death of his son from Ottawa yesterday. No details were given.

ROBLIN GOVERNMENT

WILL GIVE UP MAJORITY.

Winnipeg, May 11.—The Roblin Government hands in its resignation at noon tomorrow. Sufficient members on the Government side will resign so that it will allow sufficient number of supporters of the new cabinet, under T. C. Norris, to be elected, and thus avoid a general election.

HIGHLANDERS MADE BRILLIANT STAND

Col. Currie Tells of Fighting in the Great Engagement.

BATTALION LOST HEAVILY

Men Carried Out Orders To the Letter, Never Yielding.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 11.—A letter received here today from Col. Currie gives details of the work of the 48th Highlanders recently. Referring to the big engagement, Col. Currie says: "The Canadian division, hurrying to replace the French, held the Germans, making desperate attempts to drive them back. Three or four battalions were badly cut up, but we held the ground all next day. At noon the Germans attacked the Royal Highlanders and 48th, with gas and rifle fire, but we drove them off with heavy loss and a few casualties on our side. The Montreal Highlanders had, however, to swing back to straighten the line, which weakened our position, which we were ordered to hold at all costs.

"Next morning the Germans attacked us with gas, followed by a terrible cannonade, then rifle fire. We carried out orders, fighting to the last man.

Retire at Last.

"In the evening orders came to retire. The British took over our supporting trenches in the second line. Germans all day assaulted St. Julien, where Alexander had his company. Both he and Cory, who had gathered a handful of French, held the northeast corner of the village till the last. No one got away. They carried out orders to the letter. When orders came to retire, I ordered Marshall to take out the remnants in two platoons, and remained in the second line with seven men. We tried to find how things were in the redoubts, but machine gun fire drove us back. Shell and rifle fire all day was awful. Our guns were absent. Marshall and I are the only two officers in the 48th who escaped unhurt.

Lost Heavily.

"We had to remain in action till the 3rd inst., losing men every day. Our battalion lost most heavily of any division engaged, but we held our ground till the British came up. Amongst the officers missing, half may be prisoners. I hope they all are, but they cost the Germans a thousand lives, and when ammunition gave out they held the redoubts with the bayonet.

"We are now having a few days' rest, trying to refit."

HE'S THE KIND OF MAN WE BREED IN CANADA

Pte. J. S. Hill, of 33rd, Came 3,000 Miles to Enlist.

When a man gives up a job worth $125 a month and comes fully 3,000 miles merely because he considers his services are needed by the country which gave him birth, it speaks well for that man.

Pte. J. .S. Hill.

Pte. J. S. Hill, D Company, 33rd Battalion, was in San Francisco when Britain declared war on Germany. Now, Hill was in possession of a pretty good job as jobs go nowadays. As a mounted police officer in 'Frisco he drew $125 each month, and had been doing so for two years. This fact did not weigh at all. Hill, so soon as the news telling of the war declaration came to his notice, resigned his position, and as soon as his resignation became effective hurried to Canada and London, and was in time to draft with the 33rd, of which splendid body of men he is now a member.

Hill left London about fourteen years ago. At that time he was a mere slip of a lad, but the fighting spirit was there even at this early age. He wished to enlist, and go to South Africa with the Canadian volunteers, but his youth prohibited this. He packed his trunk and hied away. He had read Horace Greeley's famous words, and took them. In the Western United States he enlisted with Uncle Sam at the time of the Philippine fighting, and helped account for a few enemies while a member of Troop G, 7th United States Cavalry. Two years of active service he saw, and can show you the bars and medals in proof of this.

At the conclusion of the Philippine war, he worked on the Bar H. ranch in Wyoming for a time, and then went to the coast. For three years he lived in San Francisco, and if he had not thought Canada needed him would, in all likelihood, be still there.

He's a fine, big, upstanding hunk of a man is Pte. Hill, and woe betide the German who comes within reach of his powerful arms, for that he'd break the back of an enemy with one easy movement will be readily agreed to by anyone who has had a look at him.

MAURETANIA CANCELLED

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—The sailing of the Cunard Line steamer Mauretania, sister ship of the Lusitania, advertised for May 29, has been cancelled.

The steamship Mauretania recently has been doing duty as an auxiliary cruiser in the British navy, and it also has been reported that she has been used as a transport for troops. It had been the intention of the Cunard line to have the vessel resume her regular passenger service between New York and Liverpool at the end of the present month, when she was to begin a fortnightly service across the Atlantic, alternating with the Lusitania.

ASK FOR CONSTRUCTION OF CROSSING SUBWAYS

Unanimous Recommendation at Special Council Meeting Last Night.

At a meeting of the special committee of the city council to deal with subways last evening, a recommendation that subways be constructed at Egerton street and Ridout street, and that all intervening crossings be properly protected was carried unanimously.

The members were strongly opposed to a recommendation from Inspector Clark, of the railway commission, that Clarence street should be closed. A good deal of discussion took place regarding the dangerous conditions prevailing at Egerton street and it was the opinion of every member of the committee that something should be done to guard it.

GAVE PREFERENCE TO LOCAL COMPANY

This Reason Webster Construction Firm Got Storm Sewers Contract.

WAS OUTBID BY $84

G. H. McKnight Construction Company of Toronto Presented Lower Tender.

Mayor H. A. Stevenson declares that the reason the Webster Construction Company was awarded the contract for Section 4 (Carling Creek west), of the storm sewers to be built this year, when its bid was $84 higher than that of the J. H. McKnight Construction Company of Toronto, the lowest bidders, was because it was a local company.

The McKnight Company have protested against the action of the board of control in recommending the higher tender. They have written to all members of the council sitting forth their side of the case, and have sent similar letters to the newspapers.

In part the statement, which is signed by J. H. McKnight, follows:

$2,084 Cheaper.

"Our tender for Section No. 4 was $2,084 below that of the Webster Construction Company, and the contract was awarded to us. Some time later in the evening a representative of the Webster Construction Company appeared before the board and claimed that a letter it had inclosed with its tender had reduced its price on this particular section by $2,000.

"In the 'Instructions to Bidders' given to contractors tendering for this work is this clause: 'Any contractor desiring to make a bulk bid for two or more sections may, by letter accompanying his formal tenders, state the amount by which he will reduce the sum of any two or more of his tenders if such be awarded to him.' It evidently was to avail itself of the opportunity offered in this clause that the Webster Construction Company inclosed a letter with its tenders. Can you imagine why any firm would make a bona fide tender and accompany it with a letter reducing the amount stated therein?

"Do you suppose that if the Webster Construction Company had been awarded the work on the original tender it would have taken the same stand?

Still Lowest by $84.

"However, even taking this improbable claim into consideration our bid is still lowest by $84, and yet the board rescinded its award and gave the work to the Webster Construction Company. Should the council concur in this action of the board of control we will feel that we have been very unfairly treated. We prepared our bids with the feeling that we would receive honest treatment. If this contract be not awarded to us, the lowest bidder, it will be a great injustice, and also a very serious step for the city of London. For it will soon be known that reputable contractors were passed by for those with local influence behind them, and you can depend that in future competition will be governed by influence, not price."

Mistake in Bids.

"There was a mistake made in the bids," declared the mayor in explanation today. "The offer of the Webster Company to reduce its price $2,000, provided it secured both sections of Carling's Creek, was pinned to Bid No. 1, instead of Bid No. 4. When Engineer Willis Chipman went over the bids he did not notice this, and it was only when his attention was called to it by the board of control that he went into the question again.

"This left the tender only $84 higher than the McKnight Company, and as the Webster Company was a local one, and was making the cement tile, we figured that it would be better to give it both jobs, especially as the difference was so small."

GERMANY ONLY

Malone, the collector of customs at this port, declares that 'the Lusitania was inspected before sailing, as is customary, and no guns were found, mounted or unmounted,' and the vessel sailed without any armament.

"Governments in their official communications are not supposed to utter falsehoods. Unless her spy system utterly failed her in this instance, Germany must have known the truth.

Futile Explanation.

"The German Government puts forth a further defence that the responsibility for the loss of these 1,400 lives rests on Britain's policy of a 'starvation blockade.' Dr. Dernburg and other defenders of Germany justify the attack upon the Lusitania as a retaliation for Britain's starvation mode of warfare. But a blockade which inhibits the food supply of an enemy is a recognized method of warfare, neither cruel nor unusual. It is a measure that tends to shorten war. Nor has the starvation blockade inflicted any suffering upon the women or children or peaceful citizens of Germany."

Pledge Proposed.

The Sun.—"In common justice to the President, the following form of pledge of promise is in all seriousness proposed by the Sun for the consideration of all concerned:

"In case war between the United States and Germany and her allies should result from the course now taken by President Wilson's Administration with regard to the German massacre of non-combatant American passengers on the British ship Lusitania, I, ———, an American citizen by birth (or naturalization), pledge my entire fortune, if required, and my life, if needed, for the prosecution of hostilities. I promise, on my honor, to put my person at the disposition of the United States Government for military or naval service immediately after the declaration or the beginning of a state of war thus induced.

"We maintain that any citizen willing to back his sentiments with a pledge of this character is entitled to demand of the President immediate action leading to war. The advice of others may be useful and desirable to the Administration, but something is lacking when the certificate of the personal pledge is not there."

SPECIAL MEETING.—From present indications the council will have its special meeting on Thursday evening to consider the estimates and officially strike the tax rate for the year. There is still considerable slicing to do before the 28-mill rate is reached, and the finishing polish to the cheese-paring will be given by the council sitting as a committee of the whole.

BEAT WATER FLOW.—Contractors for the Egerton street storm sewer have at last got ahead of the tremendous flow of water on the lower end of the work. FIRE IN ATTIC.—Fire breaking out in the attic of a house at 335 Maitland street, occupied by J. F. Sangster, did damage estimated at several hundred dollars before it was finally extinguished shortly after 6 o'clock last night. When discovered, flames were eating their way through the roof. Two lines of hose were required to extinguish the blaze. The origin of the fire is unknown, although it is suspected that sparks from a bonfire in a nearby yard carried through an open attic window by the wind, caused the blaze.

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS.—The Board of Health will have a meeting this afternoon. Routine business only is on the order sheet and it is not expected that anything out of the ordinary will be brought up. It is not believed that anything further will be done yet in connection with the appointment of a new medical officer of health. The board objected to the short time applications had been advertised for, when the question was up before, and it is hardly likely that anything will be done in this regard for another month at least.

MONTREAL BOY'S WONDERFUL ESCAPE FROM THE LUSITANIA

Fifteen-Year-Old Son of Sir Herbert Holt Twice Under the Water, But Swims From Piece To Piece of Wreckage Until Rescued.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

LONDON, May 10.—W. R. G. Holt, aged fifteen, son of Sir Herbert and Lady Holt, of Montreal, gives a vivid story of his experiences after he jumped from the Lusitania.

Holt spent some time succoring others before he jumped from the liner, and owes his marvellous escape to his powers as a swimmer.

"After coming from lunch," he said, "I was sitting in the lounge, situated on the boat deck reading a novel. Suddenly without warning, I heard a dull crash. Immediately the Lusitania leaned over on her right side about thirty-five degrees. People at once began to walk to the upper side of the deck. There was no panic, but a lot of confusion. Difficulty was experienced in launching boats owing to the list of the liner. The first boat turned over, and the occupants were thrown out.

Aids Others First.

"Seeing rescue would be difficult by means of lifeboats, I decided to clamber down the side of the ship and jump into the sea, but before doing this I saw several ladies around me, most of whom had life-belts. Mrs. G. W. Stephens, of Montreal, had not one, whereupon Miss Anna Allan gave her one she had, and I tied it upon her. I then went into the cabins to see if I could find one for Miss Allan. I was unable to find one, and was told by a man they had been taken out. On returning to deck I was delighted to see Miss Allan had one, as well as Miss Gwendoline and Lady Allan.

Drawn Down by Liner.

"I now climbed down the side of the ship on the land side. Immediately I got into the water I swam away as hard as possible. I had no lifebelt. I had not been in the water more than a couple of minutes when the Lusitania turned over. I felt it coming on me, and dived. Whilst under water I came into contact with one funnel. I put my hand alongside it and felt the rivets. I swam around the funnel, and eventually reached the surface. I just managed to get a breath of air, when I felt myself pulled down again by the suction. Its influence, however, was not great.

"I struck out with all my power once again and came to the surface. I then saw davits, boat and tackle just going into the water, and I was pushed by wreckage, I should say, nearly a hundred yards from the ship. The scene around me was terrible. people shouting for help, others going under water. I succeeded in catching hold of an oar. Turning round I saw the Lusitania disappear. She did not sink all at once; her bow entered the water first, and she slid gradually forward until she disappeared. I released the oar and began swimming again. Then a man wearing a lifebelt caught hold of me around the waist, but seeing he had a belt I pushed him off.

Gives Up for Others.

"Continuing to swim I came alongside the assistant surgeon and two other men. We got hold of an airtank from one of the lifeboats. This was insufficient to support all of us, so again I swam away towards a collapsible lifeboat, which had not been properly opened, but formed part of the wreckage. It was partly under water, and any moment seemed as if it would sink. I saw Miss Braithwaite on this.

On Collapsible Boat.

"With another man I got hold of a tin tank, but left this to my companion while I went for another. Whilst swimming towards it a man on a collapsible boat extended an oar towards me, which I grasped and was then drawn onto the boat, which was upside down, but nevertheless was floating well. I should say there were over thirty people on it, and I was the last to get on. Among the group were Lady Allan and Orr Lewis.

"The third engineer also was there in pyjamas. He was just going on his shift when the Lusitania was torpedoed. He took command of the boat, and we drifted away from the others. There was a slight swell, and any moment we thought the slender craft would go over. All around us were people hanging to wreckage, deck chairs, casks, tins and anything.

Wait Long for Help.

"We observed three men in a collapsible boat, which had been properly launched recovering survivors. They succeeded in getting about thirty people We kept a keen lookout for help, and saw a sailing boat within half a mile, but apparently through lack of wind it came no further. There was a dead calm. This disappointed us keenly. We next saw a steamer on the horizon, and after about an hour we saw her go in the opposite direction. She had not observed our signal of distress. Lifeboats which had been launched had now gone towards land, but there were still people like ourselves awaiting rescue, and those clinging to wreckage were in a perilous position.

"For two hours I and others were on the upturned boat, when to our great relief a boat known as Katrina, flying the Greek flag, came alongside.

Gets Steamer's Attention.

"I had tied handkerchiefs to an oar and attracted attention. They lowered two lifeboats and came alongside. These were insufficient to take off the distressed people, and a third had to be brought. The Katrina, I may say, was a Cardiff ship, and had come from the Falkland Islands, and had a message from the coastguard of the disaster to the Lusitania.

"One of the rescued was a stoker from the Lusitania, who had one of his arms almost blown off by the explosion when the liner was struck. While we were on the boat Katrina on our way to Queenstown owing to the dangerous condition of the limb, which had been almost completely severed from the body, it was deemed necessary to perform an operation, and the Italian surgeon, who had been saved from the Lusitania carried it out with the aid of a penknife. The limb was just hanging when the operation was performed, but without the aid of an anaesthetic. The poor fellow had also had his head badly cut.

Reach Harbor at Midnight.

"After we got on the Katrina we succeeded in picking two gentlemen up who were clinging to boxes. Evening had now arrived, and it was about six o'clock when we made our way towards Queenstown. We were one of the last boats to reach harbor, where we arrived at midnight.

"Most of us had succeeded in getting our clothes dried. We also had some tea. We remained in the harbor until two o'clock, when we transferred to a pinnace, H. M. S. Julia. I remained in Queenstown until Saturday afternoon, then came on to London.

"The Lusitania was struck by two torpedoes. After the first she listed, and on being struck the second time she righted herself, but then listed towards land and sunk. I think it was the second torpedo that sank her."

Notwithstanding this terrible experience young Mr. Holt has suffered no serious consequences. He is now in London with Lady Holt, his mother, who has been the recipient of several congratulations on the miraculous escape of her son.

THIN, RUN DOWN MEN AND WOMEN

Gain in Weight From Ten to Forty Pounds

Sargol, the Flesh-Builder, Gives New Life, New Strength, New Vitality and Puts Firm, Healthy, Stay-There Flesh on People Who Are Underweight.

When I started taking Sargol I weighed 120 pounds. Now I weigh 156, says J. G. Wilson. It put new life in every nerve. H. A. McCullars reports he gained 25 pounds and his health was made perfect, sleeps better, and feels better than for 30 years. Miss Maud Smith reports a gain of 10 pounds and still gaining. Health greatly improved.

When these and hundreds of other once thin, underweight people write to say that as soon as they began to make Sargol a part of their meals they began to get fat, don't you think that there must be something in this widely-advertised method of flesh-building after all?

Don't you think you ought to try it, particularly as leading druggists everywhere sell it with the positive guarantee that unless it makes an increase in your weight you can have your money back?

You may say, "I am naturally thin. Nothing can make me fat," but until you have tried Sargol you do not and cannot know that this is true.

Thin folks stay thin no matter what or how much they eat and they begin to think food has nothing to do with flesh-making. But they are wrong.

Thin people stay thin because the fats, oils, starches, sugars and other flesh and fat-making elements in their food are mostly passing out of their bodies as waste. Only enough nourishment is obtained to keep the body going. Nothing is saved for flesh-making.

Sargol of itself will not make fat. Eat it between meals and you probably will not gain a pound. But eat a single Sargol tablet with every meal and soon you may be gaining a pound of flesh a day. Sargol is the missing link between food-eating and fat-making. It makes the food of your meals put flesh on your body.

If the sugar you put in your coffee does not dissolve it does not sweeten the coffee. It is the dissolving, not the sugar, that makes the coffee sweet. It is the same with your food. Unless it properly dissolves in your stomach, separating the flesh-making nourishment from the waste, and unless the blood absorbs its full portion of the fat-making material, you must stay thin.

Here is where Sargol plays its part. It acts on every mouthful you eat. It promptly stops the leakage of fats. It lets only the waste leave the body. It puts your food in a condition that means its perfect assimilation by the blood and tissues. Your body cells which have been starved begin to thrive and you begin to take on weight quickly. It's not a theory—not an experiment, but a proved fact that thousands are trying every day. Sargol succeeds where all other so-called flesh-builders fail, because it enables you to get 100 per cent efficiency from your food.

Your good common-sense must prove to you that if the food you eat pays you only 25 per cent of its 100 per cent value that you are cheating yourself just 75 per cent. You can never be the man or woman you should be and can be so long as you continue to live on a 25 per cent basis.

No matter how thin you are or how long you have been thin Sargol should add pounds of solid, healthy stay-there flesh to your weight and make your figure plump and symmetrical. Get a package of Sargol from your dealer and prove it today. Use it as directed and watch your daily meals put pounds of flesh on your body. Sargol is absolutely harmless and is always sold on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back by Sergt. Harold Weeks.

Western Ontario this morning receives the shock that seventeen of her sons has been killed in battle; three have died of wounds; two are missing, and upwards of twenty are wounded.

Galt and St. Thomas have each four men killed, and the flags fly at half-mast in honor of the brave dead.

Stratford has two more killed, making in all eight Perth County men killed since the war began, with a number of wounded.

These have been added since yesterday.

London has five new names, one of whom died of wounds, and the others are in hospitals suffering from wounds.

4 OF ST. THOMAS DEAD; FLAG AT HALF-MAST; NEW BABY FATHERLESS.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, May 10.—The war was brought home today when advices from the war office at Ottawa announced that two St. Thomas men had been killed in action. The men were: Corp. Hugh Somerville and Pte. James Kelly.

Although a number of men have been reported as wounded, these are the first reported to have given their young lives for the King and country.

News of Corp. Somerville's death came in a private telegram to his mother, Mrs. Jas. Somerville, 96 Wellington street. He was a former captain of the St. Thomas Collegiate Cadets, was 22 years of age, and had lived in this city nearly all his life. He entered the services of the Merchants Bank here a few years ago, and was stationed at the bank's branch at Stratford when hostilities broke out and enlisted at that place. Corp. Somerville was one of the best liked young men in St. Thomas. He is survived by his mother and two sisters, Miss Olga Somerville, B.A., Ottawa, and Miss Margaret, at home.

In honor of the dead soldier the flag at the Collegiate Institute is flying at half-mast.

Will Never See His Child.

Mrs. Lilliam Kelly, Queen's Hotel, St. Thomas, was notified today by the adjutant-general at Ottawa that her husband, James Kelly, of the 1st Battalion, had been killed in action.

Pte. Kelly enlisted with the St. Thomas detachment of the first contingent. He was a roof slater by trade and boarded at the Queen's Hotel. A particularly sad feature of this death is that Pte. Kelly's wife gave birth to a child at the hospital some ten days ago.

Pte. Stephen Lovell.

Stephen Lovell, killed in action, also enlisted at this station with the St. Thomas Company of the first contingent. He was a shoemaker and when the war came on was working for Robt. Weir, shoemaker, 10 Manitoba street. He was 26 years of age and single. His next of kin was in Bristol, England. Pte. Lovell had been a member of the 25th Regiment for three years.

Pte. Ernest J. Palmer.

Ernest J. Palmer, also killed in action, enlisted here with the first contingent. He was working on a farm near Middlemarch, four miles from this city. His relatives live at Northampton, England.

FOUR GALT MEN KILLED IN ACTION; ANOTHER MISSING.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GALT, May 10.—Flags are flying at half-mast and the community today mourns the loss of four of its brave soldiers, reported fallen in battle. Not at any time since August 4 last has the war been brought home more seriously than today. The dead are: Capt. Thomas Lockhart, Sergt. Ernest J. Rowe, Corpl. H. C. Brade and Pte. James Leith, all killed in action.

This afternoon the town was shocked when the news was received that gallant Capt. Thomas D. Lockhart had been killed by a German bullet on April 23 in a charge against the enemy. Just before reaching an old trench, 600 yards from the enemy, the Galt officer fell, mortally wounded, and expired a few minutes later in the trench. This terrible news came in a letter received by Archie Lockhart, of Berlin, brother of the deceased, from Lieut. Pick, the only officer in the company of which Captain Lockhart was a member who was not seriously hurt.

Aggressive Businessman.

On April 25, Capt. Thomas Downey Lockhart was reported wounded, but since then, although inquiries were made, no news of him was obtained, and today's message proved a terrible shock. He was 35 years of age, and was born in Ayr, Scotland, but had lived in Canada the greater part of his life and several years in Galt. He was head of the plumbing firm of T. Lockhart & Co., and was one of the town's most prominent young businessmen, and very popular.

Well Known Bowler.

He was well known throughout Western Ontario as a bowler and curler, and was an enthusiastic all-round sport. He was a member of the Masonic Order. He held a captaincy in the 29th Regiment and was popular among both men and officers, and when the call for volunteers was made in August last, willingly offered his services, and went in command of the Galt boys. Besides his mother there survive two brothers and one sister.

Three Killed, One Missing.

In messages from the militia department, Sergt. Ernest J. Rowe, Corp. Henry Charles Brade and Pte. James Leith are reported killed in action, and Pte. F. A. Blacklock, of the 3rd Battalion, missing.

Married But Seven Weeks.

Sergt. Rowe was in his 32nd year and was a native of Bedfordshire, England, and only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. W. Rowe, 36 Hopeton street. He had lived here eight years and was well known and highly thought of. While a signaller and offered a position with this corps on the first contingent, he refused, in order that he might be with the Galt boys. He was machine foreman at the Galt brass works and a well-known rifle shot. Just seven weeks before he enlisted he was married to Frances Docksey, of Hespeler, who survives, and who lives at 31 Hopeton street.

Leaves Widow and Babe.

Corp. Brade had lived in Galt for five years and was employed at his trade of machinist at the R. McDougall works. He was 32 years of age and came from Manchester, England. He was a well-known lawn bowler and held the rank of sergeant in the 29th Regiment. He was vice-chief ranger previous to enlisting in Court Valley City, I. O. O. F. There is left to mourn his loss a widow and 2-year-old son, living at 7 Chalmers street.

Leith, Formerly of Galt.

Pte. James Leith was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Leith, 14 Victoria avenue. He was 22 years of age, a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and a resident of Galt for five years. Besides his parents there are two brothers and five sisters.

Blacklock May Be Prisoner.

Pte. Blacklock, who is a Toronto man and a member of the Queen's Own Rifles, of that city, has his father, H. G. Blacklock and a sister, Mrs. J. F. Richardson, living here. He is 29 years of age, and it is feared he is a prisoner. He is a single man and spent most of his time in the Queen City.

SON IS WOUNDED; HUSBAND AT WAR; LOSES TWO BABIES.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

PRESTON, May 10.—Mrs. Arthur Landridge received word from Ottawa this morning, which brought the sad news that her son, Edward, had been wounded, no particulars as to how badly he is wounded were given. Edward Landridge is well known, he having been a resident of the town all his life. He was an active member of the local gun club, and was one of the best shots.

Mr. Arthur Landridge, his father, is a member of the second contingent, but his whereabouts are unknown.

The Landridge family has been having more than their share of bad luck of late. it is just a few weeks ago that two of the smaller children of the family died in one week. Mrs. Landridge herself has been ill for some time, she having to undergo an operation, which has left her in a very critical condition.

PERTH'S DEATH LIST NOW NUMBERS EIGHT WITH 3 NOW ADDED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, May 10. — Three more Stratford soldiers have given their lives for the empire in the great world conflict. They are: Corp. Hugh Sommerville, Privates Charles Polley and Edward C. Ferg, the latter of whom enlisted with the 8th Battalion from Winnipeg vicinity. This brings Stratford and Perth County's dead up to eight. Pte. Charles Polley was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Polley, and had the distinction of being the first name registered here for the first contingent. The son of a soldier, he promptly decided it was his duty to enlist, and did so. Of his five brothers, three others also donned the King's uniform for active service—Harry, with the econd contingent now in England; Company Sergt.-Major Joseph Polley, with the third contingent at Guelph, and Pte. David Polley, a member of Kitchener's new army in England. The father of this splendid quartet for 23 years served in the Royal Dublin Fusiliers. No less than 20 close relatives of the late Pte. Polley are serving in the war. Pte. Polley was employed as a machinist in the Grand Trunk. He was 25 years of age, and had been a member of the 27th Regiment.

Corporal Sommerville.

Corp. Hugh Somemrville's home is in St. Thomas, but he enlisted at Stratford where he was employed as clerk in the Merchants Bank. He was 22 years of age, and a few years ago captain of the St. Thomas Collegiate Cadets. His mother and two sisters reside in St. Thomas.

Ferg Born in West Moulton.

Pte. Ferg was born in West Moulton, Ont., and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ferg, who make their home in Stratford each year, the former being employed at the brick yards. Pte. Ferg was on the Grand Trunk here as engineer, but went to Transcona about two years ago, enlisting with the 91st Regiment at Winnipeg. He was 29 years of age and unmarried.

PTE. WILLIAM ADAMS SUCCUMBS TO WOUNDS.

PRESTON, May 10. — Pte. William Adams, who was reported as being wounded, has succumbed to his injuries. Mrs. Wm. Adams, mother of the boy, received the sad news today that her son had died.

Mr. Wm. Adams Sen. is a member of the second contingent.

GODERICH YOUNG MAN KILLED IN BATTLE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GODERICH, May 10.—Mr. and Mrs. William Palmer received word today that their only son, William, had been killed in battle in France. The young man was well known around town, and much sympathy is extended to his mother, father and sister.

BRANTFORD IS AGAIN HARD HIT IN LIST; SEVEN SONS LAID UP.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, May 10. — Additional names are to be added to the list of Brantford's injured, as the result of the casualties announced today. Altogether there are seven men known of and more which have not yet been announced.

Best-known among those today was Pte. Bob Cross, who resided with his parents at 102 Eagle avenue. He was an old campaigner and left with Capt. Colquhoun with the first Dufferin Rifles contingent. Shot in the head, he now lies in Boulogne hospital, after severe fighting in Langemarck.

Corp. J. D. Evans is another well-known figure, who resided at 7 Sheridan stret. His people live in Plymouth, England, and his brother was killed at Ypres, before Corp. Evans left Canada.

Pte. F. G. Betts, 41 Ontario street, was wounded while defending a trench against a German charge. His parents reside in this city.

Pte. R. A. Joinston, of the 1st Battalion, and who enlisted at Sarnia, has been wounded, according to a wire which reached his brother in this city this morning he has been admitted to a base hospital.

Pte Joseph Bell, of Cockshutt road, was severely wounded in fighting near Langemarck, and his parents this morning were notified officially of the casualty.

Mrs. McLaren, 185 Marlborough street, was yet another mother to receive word that her son, Pte. Joseph McLaren, a member of the Dufferin Rifles, who left with the first contingent, had been injured by a German bullet.

Pte. Thomas Jones, of 8 Park avenue, was also included. He was employed at the Massey-Harris Company and his parents reside in the city.

ANOTHER FROM CHESLEY WINGED BY ENEMY.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHESLEY, May 10.—Word was received today that Pte. Fred Cole, aged 19 years, was wounded in the back and right hand, and is now in an hospital at Boulogne, France. Pte. Cole enlisted here with the 32nd Regiment. His parents live here. He was employed by Krug Bros., furniture makers.

CAN'T LOCATE SMITH IN WOODSTOCK LIST.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, May 10.—The name of William I. Smith, mentioned in today's casualty list as a private in the 8th Battalion from this city, does not appear on the regimental nominal roll here, and no one can be found in the city who knowns anything of him. The prabability is that this soldier was from Woodstock, N.B., if the name of the town is correctly stated.

STRATFORD PRIVATE KILLED IN FRANCE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Stratford, May 10.—James Polley, of this city, received a message from the Adjutant-General, advising that his son, Pte. Charles Polley, had been killed in action in France. This makes the sixth Perth County man to give his life in the present war. One brother of Polley is in the 2nd Contingent and another in the 3rd.

LONDON SOLDIER WRITES OF WOUND

Writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. McCrimmon, residing at 300 Oxford street, Pte. Hugh McCrimmon, nephew of Lieut.-Col. W. A. McCrimmon, connected with the military headquarters' staff here, stated that he has sustained a flesh wound, and that he has been invalided to England. The letter was written on the 26th, and was received yesterday.

Pte. McCrimmon enlisted with the contingent of men sent from the 7th Regiment to Valcartier, with the first overseas force. He was a member of the 7th Regiment, and for some years previous had been captain of the London Collegiate Cadet Corps, in which nearly one hundred members of the school were enrolled.

He declares that his wound is not serious, and that he will soon be able to join his regiment again. Pte. McCrimmon was wounded in the charge of Canadian troops at Langemarck.

United States Has Barely 30,000 Mobile Troops

NEW YORK, May 10.—The National Security League, an organization formed to conduct a campaign for army and navy preparedness, of which Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain, is honorary president, issued today an open letter, announcing the result of investigations by its committees and appealing for public support for a program for better national defence.

The league finds, it is stated, that there are barely 30,000 mobile troops in continental United States, that they are so widely scattered as to make their rapid mobilization impossible, that this force is short of officers, ammunition and equipment, and had no organized reserve. The National Guard is found to be below its paper strength, in men, equipment and efficiency. Coast defence, the letter continues, are inadequate and fortifications are insufficiently manned and without adequate organized reserves.

ALL PRECAUTIONS TAKEN TO AVOID THE TRAGEDY

[Canadian Press.]

KINSALE, Ireland, May 10. — When the inquest over five victims of the Lusitania had been concluded today the coroner's jury returned the following verdict:

"We find that the deceased met death from prolonged immersion and exhaustion in the sea, eight miles south-southwest of Old Head of Kinsale, Friday, May 7, 1915, owing to the sinking of the Lusitania by torpedoes fired by a German submarine.

"We find that this appalling crime was committed contrary to international law, and the conventions of all civilized nations.

"We also charge the officers of said submarine, and the Emperor and Government of Germany, under whose orders they acted, with the crime of wholesale murder, before the tribunal of the civilized world.

"We desire to express sincere condolences and sympathy with the relatives of the deceased, the Cunard Company and the United States, many of whose citizens perished in this murderous attack on an unarmed liner."

Right Through Ship.

Coroner Horgan said that the first torpedo fired by the German submarine did serious damage to the Lusitania, but that, not satisfied with this, the Germans had discharged another torpedo. The second torpedo, he said, must have been more deadly, because it went right through the ship, hastening the work of destruction.

The characteristic courage of the Irishmen was manifested at the time of this disaster, the coroner continued, and there was no panic. He charged that the responsibility "lay on the German Government and the whole people of Germany, who collaborated in the terrible crime."

"I propose to ask the jury," he continued, "to return the only verdict possible for a self-respecting jury, that the men in charge of the German submarine were guilty of wilful murder."

Ship's Bugler Livermore testified that the watertight compartments were closed, but that the explosion and the force of water must have burst them open. He said that all the officers were at their posts, and that earlier arrivals of the rescue craft would not have saved the situation.

Captain Testifies.

Capt. Turner appeared before the coroner and testified briefly. The coroner asked him:

"You were aware threats had been made that the ship would be torpedoed?"

"We were," the captain replied.

"Was she armed?"

"No, sir."

"What precautions did you take?"

"We had all the boats swung out when we came within the danger zone between the passing of Fastnet and the time of accident."

The coroner asked him whether he had received a message concerning the sinking of a ship off Kinsale by a submarine. Capt. Turner replied that he had not.

"Did you receive any special instructions as to the voyage?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you at liberty to tell us what they were?"

"No, sir."

"Did you carry them out?"

"Yes, to the best of my ability."

"Tell us in your own words what happened after passing Fastnet."

"The weather was clear," Capt. Turner answered. "We were going at a speed of 18 knots. I was on the port side and heard Second Officer Hefford call out, 'Here's a torpedo.'

"I ran to the other side and saw clearly the wake of a torpedo. Smoke and steam came up between the last two funnels. There was a slight shock. Immediately after the first explosion there was another report, but that may possibly have been internal.

"I at once gave the order to lower the boats down to the rails, and I directed that women and children should get into them.

Slowed Down.

"I also had all the bulkheads closed," Capt. Turner continued. "Between the time of passing Fastnet at about 11 o'clock, and of the torpedoing, I saw no sign whatever of any submarines. There was some haze along the Irish coast, and when we were near Fastnet I slowed down to 15 knots. I was in wireless communication with shore all the way across."

Capt. Turner was asked whether he had received any messages in regard to the presence of submarines off the Irish coast. He replied in the affirmative. Questioned regarding the nature of the message he replied:

"I respectfully refer you to the admiralty for an answer.

"I also gave orders to stop the ship," Capt. Turner continued, "but we could not stop. We found that the engines were out of commission. It was not safe to lower boats until the speed was off the vessel. As a matter of fact, there was a perceptible headway on her up to the time she went down.

Floated Eighteen Minutes.

"When she was struck she listed to starboard. I stood on the bridge when she sank, and the Lusitania went down under me. She floated about eighteen minutes after the torpedo struck her. My watch stopped at 2:36. I was picked up from among the wreckage, and afterwards was brought aboard a trawler.

"No warship was convoying us. I saw no warship, and none was reported as being seen. At the time I was picked up, I noticed bodies floating on the surface, but saw no living persons."

"Eighteen knots was not the normal speed of the Lusitania, was it?"

"At ordinary times," answered Capt. Turner, "she could make 25 knots, but in war times her speed was reduced to 21 knots. My reason for going 18 knots was that I wanted to arrive at Liverpool Bar without stopping, and within two or three hours of high water."

"Was there a lookout kept for submarines, having regard to previous warning?"

"Yes, we had double lookouts."

"Were you going a zigzag course at the moment the torpedoing took place?"

Saw Land Clearly.

"No, it was bright weather, and land was clearly visible."

"Was it possible for a submarine to approach without being seen?"

"Oh, yes, quite possible."

"Something has been said regarding the impossibility of launching the boats on the port side?"

"Yes," said Capt. Turner, "owing to the listing of the ship."

"How many boats were launched safely?"

"I cannot say."

"Were any launched safely?"

"Yes, and one or two on the port side."

"Were your orders promptly carried out?"

"Yes."

"Was there any panic on board?"

No Panic Aboard.

"No, there was no panic at all; it was almost calm."

"How many persons were on board?"

"There were 1,500 passengers, and about 600 crew."

By the foreman of the jury: "In the face of the warnings at New York that the Lusitania would be torpedoed, did you make any application to the Admiralty for an escort?"

"No, I left that to them. It is their

POSTPONES SENTENCE ON CONVICTED GERMAN TO INSURE FAIR PLAY

CALGARY, Alta., May 10. — Fritz Thaden, a German settler of the Hussar Colony, was this morning found guilty of aiding one Von Wissman, an officer in the German army, by sending him boxes which contained arms after war had been declared between Britain and Germany.

Mr. Justice Walsh, who delivered judgment, found him not guilty of aiding one Krull, a German reservist, to return to Germany. In postponing sentence until Friday, May 21, the judge said he did so because he desired that the man should be punished for the offence committed and for that alone and that he felt so strongly over the unspeakable infamy of the prisoner's fellow countrymen in sinking the Lusitania that he thought he should not sentence him there and then. "I am administering British justice in a British court," said his lordship, "and I do not want a suspicion of revenge for that awful brutality to be connected with the sentence I shall give this man."

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain muisified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get muisified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

ALLIES USE FOUR NEW ARMY CORPS

Attack the Enemy At Seven Points, Says Statement From Berlin.

FRENCH RECORD SUCCESS

Say Prisoners Now Number Two Thousand—All Gains Maintained.

[Canadian Press.]

BERLIN, May 10, via London, 6:45 p. m.—At the German war office today the following statement was given out:

"We made progress on the coast, in the dunes, in the direction of Nieuport, taking several of the enemy's trenches and machine guns. A counter-attack by the enemy during last night advanced as far as Lombaertzyde, but was completely driven back.

"In Flanders we also gained more ground. We took 162 British prisoners at Verlerenhoek. Southwest of Lille a great Anglo-French attack, anticipated as a reply to our successes in Galicia, was begun and directed itself against our position situated to the east of Fleurbaix, to the east of Richebourg, to the east of Vermelles, and at Ablain Carency, Nuvelle and St. Lourent, near Arras. The enemy, French, as well as white and colored British, brought at least four new army corps into the fight, besides the force which has been employed in this line for some time past. Nevertheless repeated attacks have been nearly everywhere repulsed, with heavy losses for our opponents, this is especially so in the case of the British attack. About 500 prisoners have been taken.

"South of Steinbrusck, in the valley of the Fecht, the enemy, who had settled himself during a thick fog immediately in front of our position, was driven back by a counter-attack, and his trenches were destroyed.

FRENCH REPORT.

PARIS, May 10.—10:43 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"To the north of Arras, in spite of several German counter-attacks, we have maintained all our gain of yesterday, and we have enlarged it at certain points, notably, between Carency and Sauchez.

"Our success is developing. The total number of prisoners at three o'clock today exceeded 2,600. Among these were about forty officers, including a colonel.

"We have captured in the last two days more than ten cannon and fifty machine guns.

"At Berry-au-Bac, a German attack has been repulsed, as well as one in the forest of Le Pretre."

The afternoon statement says:

"Three new German attacks to the north of Lombaertzyde were repulsed yesterday.

"To the east of St. Georges our marine fusiliers took possession of the Union Farm, very strongly fortified by the Germans, and also of a position further to the east. They made about 30 prisoners.

"Dunkirk was again bombarded this morning at about 6 o'clock, two shells being thrown.

"In the region to the north of Arras we have maintained all the important gains reported in the communication of yesterday evening.

"Along the rest of the front, particularly in the Argonne and in Alsace, at Sillakerwasen, there was a continuation of the artillery fighting."

BRITISH REPORT.

LONDON, May 10.—8:35 p.m. — Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the continent, reports no change in the general situation today.

"Our line to the east of Ypres, in spite of repeated attacks by the enemy during the last week, is substantially the same as that to which we withdrew on the night of May 3-4," he says in his report to the war office.

"During the fighting in this quarter yesterday the enemy made five unsuccessful attacks, and his losses in these failures were very heavy. On the front of the first army the fighting today has been confined to artillery attacks."

Important Move.

LONDON, May 10.—Since the battle of Neuve Chapelle, France, and the German reply to it on the Ypres Canal, there has been no such important movement by the British and French armies in the western arena of the war as now is in progress, and, according to the official communications of both Gen. Joffre and Field Marshal Sir John French, the Allies are meeting with success.

Obviously the British have been able to throw great reinforcements into the field, since with the use of asphyxiating gases the Germans forces them to recoil a fortnight ago.

The substantial advance already recorded by the British is taken by military experts here as promising that the present operations will be pushed home. The British and French are attacking along a front of 26 miles, and the fighting which commenced on Sunday morning continues, according to today's official communication issued in Paris, in favor of the Allies.

The Exchange Telegraph Company publishes a dispatch from a Copenhagen correspondent declaring that the Germans have met a severe check to the westward of Mitau, capital of the Russian Province of Courland. Numerous forces of Russians in strong positions compelled them to retreat.

TO ERECT MONUMENT IN HONOR OF THE SLAIN ST. THOMAS SOLDIERS

Mayor Johnson Would Use Y. M. C. A. Property.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, May 10.—Mayor Johnson is expounding a scheme for the city to purchase the old Y. M. C. A. property on Talbot street and have the place converted into a small park for the purpose of erecting by public subscription an immense monument in memory of the St. Thomas boys who fall while fighting for the flag in France.

The scheme was given impetus after the news had been received in the city of several St. Thomas men being killed in action.

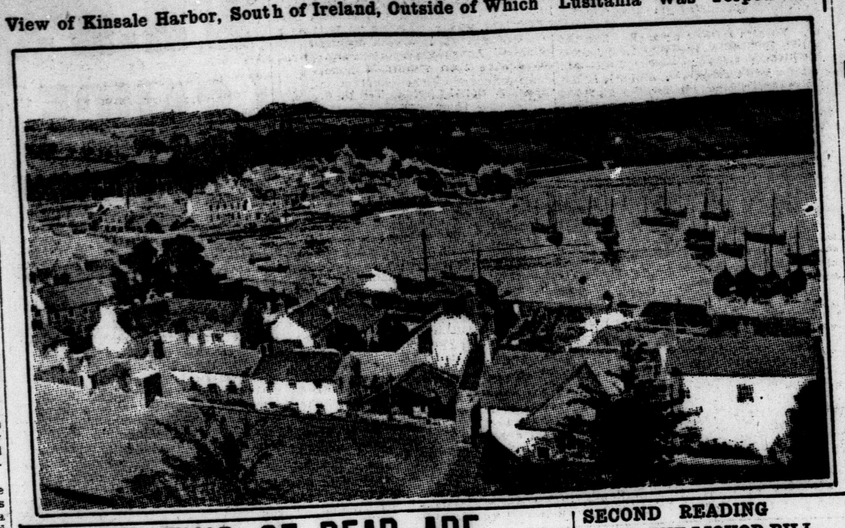

ANOTHER STEAMER SENT TO THE BOTTOM BY SUB.

LONDON, May 10.—4:30 p.m.—The British steamer Queen Wilhelmina, of Hartlepool, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine, off Blython, Saturday. Time was allowed the crew to take to the boats. The men were picked up by a patrol boat and landed at Shields.

The Queen Wilhelmina was engaged in trans-Atlantic trade. She was of 2,307 tons net and was 363 feet long.

NINETY-TWO OF DEAD ARE LAID TO REST ON IRISH SOIL

Queenstown People Stand Ba reheaded As the Long Funeral Cortege Passes To Ce metery — Eighty-five Coffins Placed in Three Huge Graves.

(Canadian Press.)

QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—11:45 p.m.—Ninety-two passengers of the Cunard Line Steamship Lusitania, who formed part of the pitiful handful of maimed, dead and dying brought ashore with the survivors of the disaster, that followed the attack on the vessel by a German submarine last Friday, were buried this afternoon with services that have no parallel in history.

Under a sky in which not a single cloud floated, and to the strains of hymns played by British soldiers, they were laid to rest two miles behind Queenstown in a cemetery bursting with spring greenery and tucked between hills flaming with gorse. The services at the graves began at four o'clock, and at half-past four the sod of Ireland was being shoveled upon the coffins.

Queenstown never sensed the full horror of the Lusitania disaster until today. Up to the time that the long stream of coffins began to disappear over the long hill behind the town there was about the affair something of the unusual and theatrical. But as the funeral started the realization could not escape that each coffin held a body, and that in the Atlantic lay a thousand more dead, victims of a German submarine.

People Stand Hatless.

The townspeople stood hatless nearly all the forenoon as the coffins were conveyed to the cemetery on carts. This process required hours, and it was not until 3 o'clock in the afternoon that the funeral procession proper left the Cunard Line offices at the water front. There were only three bodies, one each in a hearse, in this cortege, the other 89 having already been placed in the graves.

As the band began playing Chopin's Funeral March the funeral procession marched through the crooked streets, past the cathedral and then took its course along an undulating country road, now rising and now sinking, between green hills. Along this country road soldiers guarded the entire two miles from the cathedral to the cemetery.

March Lasts An Hour.

Those waiting in the graveyard first heard, borne faintly on the soft breezes, the notes of the funeral march and then the sound of muffled drums. A moment later the sun flashed on the band instruments and the cortege took form in the distance. Not for more than an hour, however, did it reach the lane bordering the cemetery, which it entered in the following order: A major of the Royal Irish Infantry on horse, five members of the Irish Constabulary and a group of Protestant churchmen. Then in black robes came thirteen priests and behind them were the hearses, draped with British flags, to the rear of which trudged the mourners, among them several American survivors of the disaster.

The sailors from the steamer Wayfarer, which was recently torpedoed, but was able to make port, came next, and behind them the members of the corporation of Cork, headed by the lord mayor. A company of marines followed and then came sailors of the various British ships in harbor. The British officers, numbering a hundred odd, marched erect, but slow. Next in line were Capts. Miller and Castle, attaches of the American Embassy in London. Both were dressed in khaki uniforms.

A party of British naval officers and Admiral Sir Charles Coke, of Queenstown, followed them. The Most Rev. Robert Browne, bishop of Cloyne, rode in a carriage.

Soldiers Pallbearers.

Soldiers guarded the walls as six soldier pallbearers lifted the coffins from the hearses and set them beside the graves. The three coffins rested beside separate graves. The other 89 had previously been placed in three great pits—65 in one, in layers two deep, and twelve each in the other two. Just before the service started a woman rushed to the side of one of the huge graves and asked to have the coffin in one corner raised. This was done, and tremblingly the woman bent over and gazed at the face within it. Then she shook her head and turned away. Apparently she had not found the one she sought.

Conducted by Bishop Browne, the Catholic service was held first, the choir boys, bearing incense, appearing from a cluster of elms and coming to the graveside. The Episcopal service followed, and finally the Nonconformist rites were performed. As the last words of this service were spoken, the muffled drums rolled and the familiar hymn, "Abide With Me," rolled forth. Sailors who had served as pallbearers, then lowered the coffins into the small graves, and simultaneously the earth began to thud on coffins in all the graves.

Flags at Half-Mast.

The crowd, nearly all with eyes wet, slowly left, some to take jaunting cars, but some of them to trudge across the fields to the city. As they reached the crest of the hill immediately above the harbor flashed into view, and the flag on every vessel fluttered at half-mast.

No Americans, so far as known, were among those buried today. A few of the dead were members of the Lusitania's crew, but the majority of them were either unidentified persons, including a number of small children and babes, or persons, the financial circumstances of whose relatives forced them to be content with the interment of their loved ones wherever it happened to be.

JACK CANUCK EDITOR GOES TO THE BOTTOM

TORONTO, May 10. — Latest word from England gives no hope of any more passengers on the Lusitania being saved. E. S. Cowper, private secretary of J. R. Rogers, editor of Jack Canuck, sent the following cable to Mrs. Rogers today: "Sadly afraid Rogers gone. Last seen a minute before final plunge. Quite unconcerned and with baby in arms."

J. C. Eaton has been advised that his sister, Mrs. Burnside, is safe, but there is no word of his niece, Miss Iris Burnside.

HEART WOULD PALPITATE

HAD WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS

Palpitation of the heart is one of the most common of all heart troubles. The heart will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over the system accompanied by weak and dizzy spells, making you feel that you are surely going to die. When you feel this way what you require is a real good heart and nerve tonic; one that will strengthen the weak heart and build up the nerve system. For this purpose we know of nothing that can equal Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. J. S. Nicholls, Listowel, Ont., writes: "I was weak and rundown, my heart would palpitate, and I would take weak and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I started at once, and found that I felt much stronger, and my heart was ever so much better within a short time. I cannot praise your medicine too highly for it has done me a world of good. My husband has also been bothered with heart trouble ever since childhood and finds great relief in using your valuable pills."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SECOND READING OF THE LIQUOR BILL IN THE COMMONS

Government to Control Sale In Certain Districts—Tax Is Withdrawn.

LONDON, May 10.—10:30 p.m.—The House of Commons this evening passed the second reading of Chancellor of the Exchequer David Lloyd George's bill to amend the defense of the realm act. The bill originally was designed to place a heavy surtax on wines, spirits and beer, but under pressure from the Irish party its provisions were amended to giving the Government control of the sale of liquor in areas where munitions of war are being made.

Under the bill a central committee will be set up for Scotland and England. It will act on the recommendation of local committees of employers and workmen in the districts affected.

Mr. Lloyd George has promised to appoint a committee to inquire into the charges of drunkenness among workmen, and all parties, including the Laborites, have expressed their satisfaction with the bill.

The Government will absolutely control the sale of liquor in selected districts, including that dispensed in clubs and grocery stores. A commission under the chairmanship of Lord Dunedin will deal with the question of compensation to the liquor dealers for their losses.

HAS EIGHT WOUNDS, BUT STILL FIGHTING

Corporal Orr, of Brantford, Target For Many Bullets.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, May 10.—Writing home Corp. Orr tells of his experience which resulted in hospital treatment for two weeks. After receiving a head wound which did not prevent him from going into the Langemarck battle, Orr received seven bullets, five of which took effect in his legs, whilst another cut two clips in half on his uniform right over his heart. A spent shrapnel bullet cut his collar and petered out against his throat, inflicting no more than a bruise. Wounded at 6 in the morning he lay until 9 p.m., when he was rescued from a trench by three members of the Royal Irish Rifles, who carried the wounded Brantfordite across an open fire zone.

No News of Blanchard.

Nothing definite can be discovered about C. Blanchard, who left with the reservists, and who was separated from his regiment, the Coldstream Guards, in the first assault upon Ypres. The American ambassador in Berlin cannot trace him among the prisoners of war, one of whom it was thought he was. Pte. Blanchard was the first Brantford man to be mentioned as missing, and nothing has been definitely ascertained of him since October 29th.

Lieut. Miller Wounded.

Lieut. Miller writes home to state that he was injured in a charge upon the Germans during the beginning of Langemarck operations. When 250 yards away from their lines he was wounded, but pluckily continued an until a second shot crippled him. He was disabled at 7 o'clock in the morning and some hours later was secured by the stretcher bearers. He states that Capt. "Mac" Colquhoun and Lieut. Percy Jones are recovering from wounds.

FLAGS AT WINGHAM FLY AT HALF-MAST

WINGHAM, May 10.—Since the deaths have been announced of several soldiers who left here with the first contingent the flags on the town hall, public school and postoffice are now flying at half-mast.

Rev. E. G. Dymond, of St. Paul's Church, preached a very impressive sermon, touching on the lives of some of his members who were recently killed in battle.

Several members of the 33rd Battalion spent Sunday with their families here.

Many London visitors were seen wearing flowers for Mothers' Day. Next Sunday will be observed as Mothers' Day here, and some churches will hold special services.

The spring seeding is now well under way, and farmers are preparing the ground for corn and root crops. The sugar beet will be the heaviest root crop grown this year. It is feared that the heavy frost of last night has damaged the blossoms on plum and cherry trees, which were full of bloom.

Beds of tulips which Chief Allen and his staff have planted make a fine showing on each side of the path from the street to the doors.

The platform was filled with adults and children. Many tears were shed, also by some strangers who were waiting for their trains. To the strains of "The Maple Leaf Forever" the train pulled out, leaving many tearful faces, and cheers for the boys.

WILSON DECLARES AGAINST ANY WAR

President Says His Country Will Set Example of Peace.

ADDRESSES NEW CITIZENS

Chief Executive Outlines His Policy of Placid "Watchful Waiting."

[Canadian Press.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—President Wilson gave to a gathering of 4,000 naturalized Americans tonight the first intimation of the course which the United States Government probably will pursue in the situation resulting from the loss of more than a hundred American lives on the British liner Lusitania. He spoke by implication, but his hearers interpreted his remarks as meaning that, while the United States would remain at peace, it would seek to convince Germany of the injustice to mankind of the tragedy of last Friday.

"America," said the President, "must have the consciousness that on all sides it touches elbows and touches heart with all the nations of mankind. The example of America must be a special example and must be an example not merely of peace, because it will not fight, but because peace is a healing and elevating influence of the world, and strife is not.

Too Proud to Fight.

"There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

The President made no direct reference to the Lusitania tragedy, but the audience did not hesitate to read the application of his statement. The President pointed out the true goal of right American citizenship to be a loyalty, not to the country of one's birth, but to the land of one's adoption.

"While you bring," he said, "all countries with you, you come with a purpose of leaving all countries behind you—bringing what is best of their spirit, but not looking over your shoulder or seeking to perpetuate what you leave in them. I would not certainly be one who would suggest that a man cease to love the place of his origin. It is one thing to love the place where you were born, and another thing to dedicate yourself to the place where you go. You can't be an American if you think of yourself in groups. America does not consist of groups. A man who considers himself as belonging to a national group is not yet an American.

Think First of Humanity.

"My advice to you is to think first, not only of America, but to think first of humanity, and you do not love humanity if you seek to divide humanity in jealous camps."

There was a tremendous ovation as the President finished his speech. Afterward he returned to the station and entered his private car. He was due to leave for Washington at midnight, and will arrive in Washington early tomorrow.

MUCH ADVICE FOR EXECUTIVE

WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Wilson continued his consideration of the Lusitania disaster in seclusion at the White House, but it was indicated that before many days have passed he will let the country know what steps he has decided upon. While officials reiterated that the President would not allow himself to be hurried into a hasty decision, he realizes that public sentiment favors a prompt indication of what the United States will do.

Messages from all parts of the country continued to pour into the White House, counselling various courses. Some advocated war, but a majority of them counselled peace, although expressing horror over the great loss of life.

Chairman Stone, of the Senate foreign relations committee, was at the White House today, but did not see the President. Explaining that he expressed his own views and not those of any officials Senator Stone said he questioned whether there was any reason for calling an extra session of Congress at present. He said he did not know what the President was planning to do.

SASKATCHEWAN LEGISLATURE OPENS.

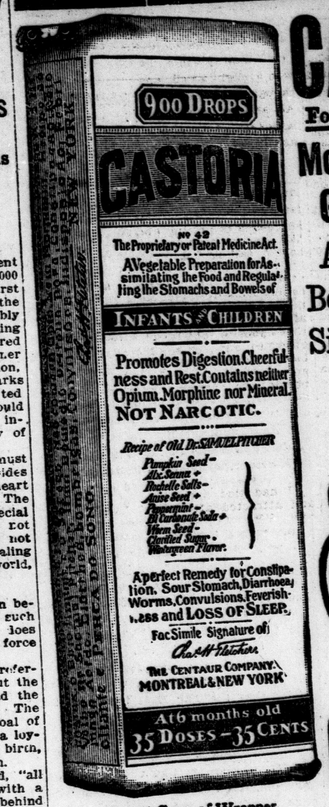

REGINA, Sask., May 10.—Lieut.-Gov. Brown this afternoon opened the fourth session of the third Saskatchewan Legislature. In his closing words, his honor said that the people of Saskatchewan remain united in a firm determination to carry on the fight for liberty and to live and enjoy the principles of freedom to a definite and successful conclusion.

AUSTRALIAN SENSATION

Reported Resignation of Commissioners to Panama the Cause.

[Canadian Press.]

Melbourne, Australia, May 11.—The reported resignation of Alfred Deakin, chief commissioner of the Commonwealth to the Panama Exposition, and Neil Nielsen, assistant commissioner, has caused a sensation in political circles here. The ministers are reticent concerning the matter, but it is reported that the resignations were due to friction between Mr. Deakin and Minister of Internal Affairs Mahon. Prime Minister Fisher, it is said, intends to investigate the matter.

"SCHRECKLICHKEIT"

ONE would have supposed that before this time the men in control of German affairs would have realized that their terrorizing policy was not a success. It was ostensibly adopted on the supposition that by making the war as cruel and deadly as possible, the result would be to shorten it, and bring peace all the sooner. There have been no indications that it was succeeding in its purpose. No nation could have been more brutally treated than Belgium has been; but Belgium has not been frightened into submission. And the only effect on the allied powers has been to intensify public sentiment, and the determination to fight on to the bitter end. As a means of shortening the war, terror has been a failure.

Knowing this, as they must know it, why has Germany persisted in its policy, and even carried it farther by the slaughter of hundreds of women and children, as well as men, on the Lusitania? Already the sympathies of all neutral nations had been alienated by Germany's disregard of the rules of modern warfare. Why add to popular indignation by killing a number of the citizens of the most important of all the neutral countries? Is it that failing to retain the friendship of the people of the States, Germany thinks it would be better to have open enmity than to have neutrality without sympathy?

If the sinking of the Lusitania was done intelligently, then it must have been either from a desire to come to open hostilities with the United States, or from a conviction that the latter country is a negligible quantity, not deserving of consideration. It may be that Germany has no fear of the United States, on account of its distance from the seat of war, its small army, and the pacific nature of its people. Perhaps it is thought that with the large number of Americans of German birth or descent the United States Government would not dare to go to war with Germany.

Whatever the cause, there would certainly seem to be a lack of ability to gauge aright the true character of a people. There is some resemblance in character between the Briton and the American. Neither is anxious to fight with other nationalities. Both are patient under provocation, and slow to take offence; both will submit to injury as long as possible; neither cares to make preparation for war. But there may come a time when patience ceases to be a virtue. Then the American, like the Briton, will strike. And when he goes into a fight he will stay there till he wins.

German rulers were mistaken when they thought that differences among the Irish, and agitations among the Hindus, would compel Britain to remain neutral. Equally may they be mistaken if they suppose the German-American population to be either able or willing to keep the Government of the United States passive under continued insult and injury. It would seem that Germany, devoting all its energies to scientific and industrial development, had lost all moral sense and all mental grasp, and with the idiotic daring of a Malay savage is ready to run amuck through civilization. The ancient Greek, with his views of the maleficient operations of fate, would be inclined to say of Germany: "Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad."

PARALLEL TRAGEDIES.

IN THE sinking of the White Star liner Titanic three years ago, and the torpedoing of the Lusitania on Friday, are a number of curious parallels and coincidences. The loss of life in each instance approximates fifteen hundred and amongst the prominent ones who perished in each case were names standing high in the realms of literature, the stage, finance and journalism. Col. John Jacob Astor, who perished on the Titanic, and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who went down with the Lusitania, were heads of their respective families, and possessed the bulk of the vast wealth of the two houses. Their millions were invested largely in American concerns in which the two men took a direct and personal interest, Vanderbilt for a time holding an executive position with the New York Central Railway.

In both disasters, too, were heavy losses to the drama. Amongst the Lusitania's victims were Charles Frohman, greatest of American theatrical producers, and Charles Klein, author of many wholesome and successful plays, while on the Titanic was Henry B. Harris, second only to Frohman as a stage magnate. There is a parallel also in the deaths of William T. Stead and Elbert Hubbard as both were prominent in journalism, although in different fields. The story telling craft lost two brilliant young members, Jaques Futrelle, who was rising rapidly in his profession when the Titanic tragedy cut him off, and Justus Miles Forman, widely known as a magazinist, who was a member of Frohman's party. It was also a curious coincidence that Forman should have met his death at the hands of the Germans at a time when a play of his, "The Hyphen," a war drama in which he attacks pro-Germanism in the United States, is playing to crowded houses in New York. Still other parallels of the two disasters are the values of the ships and cargoes, approximately $7,000,000—and the fact that the watertight compartments supposed to make ships unsinkable failed to save the two vessels.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

JAPAN'S withdrawal of a part of her demands, and China's acceptance of the rest, have for the present, at least, dissipated the war clouds that have been hanging above the Far East. In Oriental bargaining it is the custom to ask for much more than one expects to get. This will to some extent explain Tokio's modification of her ultimatum, and no doubt Sir Edward Grey's advice has been a factor in bringing the two powers to a peaceful understanding. It is not conceivable that Japan would run directly counter to the desires of her big ally, and there is no question but that a war between Japan and China would at this time embarrass Great Britain and her allies in their struggle with the Teutons. London undoubtedly influenced both Pekin and Tokio in the negotiations.

However, although withdrawing certain demands, Japan does so with the understanding that they will be taken up at a later date, so that in time she may secure most of what she set out to get. As it is, Japan secures important financial and trade concessions from her big neighbor. The ones that she has dropped, if accepted by China, would simply have made a vassal of the Celestial Kingdom. So that it is likely that they too will be modified when the time comes for their discussion. The world will breathe the easier that the Far East is not to be plunged into a great war.

TIME TO UNITE?

THE German is like the Hun of old, or the Barbary pirate who once watched at the Strait of Gibraltar, or the Red Indian who prowled round the frontier villages and outpost huts of early American civilization. Against them all white men had one cause. But to the diabolical cunning and ferocity of the Apache, the German adds a thorough business organization for the execution of his malice.

The hour would seem to be drawing nearer for the neutral nations, the United States, Italy, Holland, Scandinavia and Roumania, to concert together, a joint and overwhelming entrance to the arena, against the destroyers of Rheims, Louvain and the Lusitania. A sudden and crushing blow would break the German aurochs and save the best blood and culture of Europe. Perhaps one great, good result from the awful welter will be achieved if the best nations of the earth may weld themselves into an everlasting friendship, just through a participation in the common cause and ordeal of wiping out the Satanic league of Turk and Teuton, and destroying utterly their power for evil. Whom God and the war have joined together, may they never be parted.

SIEGE AND PIRACY.

THE Germans profess to attack British civilians, women and children on the ground that the British Government is trying to starve their civilian population. Perhaps, similarly, they hold themselves justified in looting and destroying Russian civilians on the ground that Russia starved Przemysl into surrender.

Did not, however, the German army in 1871 starve Paris into surrender, destroying many civilian lives in the process? The Germans will not consider that when the French get into Germany they will be entitled to kill a vast number of the population in reprisal for the starving of Paris in 1871 and for the starving of Belgium and Northeastern France in 1914-15. They will not consider the British armies entitled to exact reparation in kind for the German outrages upon Britain and the German attempt to shut food supplies from British ports.

No, as a fact, siege, blockade and starving into surrender has been always recognized and accepted as a less barbarous compulsion than actual combat or battering to pieces. It is more humane to both attackers and defenders than taking by assault. The blockade which Great Britain has established against Germany is a time-honored method of warfare; it is nothing more nor less than a siege. Germany's attacks on English villages and passenger ships, on the other hand, are a novelty against which both Hague conventions and the common conscience of civilized humanity are arrayed.

If the Germans object, with their usual impudence, that the old usages of warfare have been made by their foes, though indeed Germany herself subscribed her perjured signature to many of them at The Hague, it must be answered that the new morality and law which Germany would set up distinctly puts her in one class by herself and the Turk, with the civilized world in another category. The German is a distinct species. He is proud of the distinction which he has made for himself.

EDTIORIAL NOTES.

Why not place a Bernstorff or a Dernburg on each ship sailing from an American port?

China's dilemma illustrates vividly the fact that if you haven't a backbone you have to back down.

It may take a Roosevelt to unscramble the eggs that Germany has hatched for the Wilson administration.

The New York Herald remarks that both the rattlesnake and the Blackhander give warning before they strike.

Some of these days that old marching song may be revised to read: "They hanged Herr Dernburg on a sour apple tree."

Sunday was Mothers' Day, and with a world at war, never were the mothers more in need of the love which the celebration represents.

Frohman's final great drama brought a dramatic phrase to his lips: "Why fear death?" he asked. "It is the most beautiful adventure of life."

Just a few more days and that grim destroyer, baseball, will begin to take his annual toll of the grandmothers and grandfathers of this fair city.

It is clear to all the world now that Germany knows no law except its own "necessity." The only certain way to punish Germany is by smashing blows—her own methods.

A letter from the front tells of violets growing in the trenches of Flanders. The tradition of the violet is that it sprang from the heart's blood of a hero, and many such have died in the trenches of this war.

Than a great liner crowded with women and children and non-combatant men, the submarine savages would prefer but one other target, a British hospital ship with a cargo of wounded. That would indeed be a titbit.

The Springfield Republican urges the American people to banish the thought of war. The Republican no doubt would wait until the Germans shell the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor, or until the Uhlans stable their horses in the White House.

New York theatrical men will be almost ready to form a regiment if the call comes. Said David Belasco, of the death of his dear old friend, Charles Frohman: "If this be war, to needlessly take a life so useful and so precious, then I would like the chance to put a musket to my shoulder and shoot down the mad fiend who conceived this vile idea."

Hurrah for the New York reporters! They pursued Bernstorff like an avenging flame, calling to him: "Did you kill them?" and "Some people say you are to blame." He tried to escape in a motor car and turned to find them at his heels. Always they asked: "Why was the Lusitania sunk?" He clenched his fist and swore at the chaffeur, but always these "hounds of the press" were at his side. He clenched his fist and prepared to strike a boy whom he thought was a reporter. The scribes chased after him into the station as he prepared to depart. The crowd shouted at him as he boarded a car, and when he found he had to wait to secure a seat, he hid behind the door of a smoking room. Again he was questioned, but he refused to answer. The pointing fingers and the accusing questions of the American reporters were symbolic of the contempt of the average American citizen.

IRELAND PLAYS UP.

[London News and Leader.]

It would seem that the boom in recruiting has come later in Ireland than in the other kingdoms, but it is now as pronounced there as it ever was elsewhere. One might almost imagine that the Irish were only waiting to make sure that they were really wanted before flooding into the recruiting stations. Their quality needs no praise. There are no better fighting men than the countrymen of O'Leary.

"Dear me! Is he so unpopular as all that?"

[Kansas City Journal.]

"What is the most satisfactory stock to keep on a country place?"

"Bees. They work for you and get their feed elsewhere."

CYNICAL THEORY.

The harder he doth work, alas,
The more he getteth roasted.

FOR THE UPLIFT.

[Kansas City Journal.]

She is toiling for the masses
She is doing welfare work;
Busy every hour that passes
Chasing evils where they lurk.

To uplift us all she wishes,
And she has the subject pat,
Help her mother with the dishes?
Oh sue hasn't time for that.

Since women merely want to vote
And let me do the talking.

TARIFF ON KISSES.

"Thanks. And I saw you kiss the maid when she let you in."

"Holy Moses! Here's a $5 bill."

SUSPICIOUS.

[Pittsburg Dispatch.]

The report that Russia is drinking so much tea instead of vodka that the price is to go up, is more likely to have been started by tea importers than by the prohibitionists.

CHILE'S FIX.

[Pittsburg Dispatch.]

The war has knocked out the nitrate industry in Chile, which is reported stopped with 50,000 men out of employment. Yet the United States is hungry for nitrate and the ocean route between our ports is open and fairly safe.

Press on Lusitania's Sinking.

WHOLESALE MURDER.

[Montreal Star.]

This is not war. It is wholesale murder. To aim a blow at a ship like the "Lusitania" with the population of a small town on board—over 2,000—but with no great amount of freight, is not to conduct a blockade for the starving of Britain, but to inaugurate a campaign of terror which sends a deeper thrill through the United States than even through the British Isles.

A FIENDISH ACT.

[Brooklyn Standard.]

As the cables bring in the news of the lingering death by slow torture of the victims of this atrocity, the heart sickens in the realization that human minds could conceive and human hands execute such a fiendish act. If President Wilson now speaks the word that should be said, that word may be the means of preventing a repetition of the greatest deed of horror of modern times.

WHAT WILL WILSON DO?

[Hamilton Times.]

The United States has borne long with the German Government. Protest after protest has been forwarded to it. But without result. The torpedoing of the American tank steamer, the Gulflight, was without excuse. The U. S. Government has protested this case, but so far without result. Will President Wilson be content to protest in this case when so many Americans have been sent to the bottom of the sea by a German submarine? The President's note to the German Government last February was a warning as well as a challenge that it would sacrifice the lives of Americans at its peril. Such lives have been sacrificed.

A CHALLENGE TO U. S.

[Montreal Mail.]

The loss of the Lusitania and the jeopardizing of American lives thereby is in the nature of a challenge from Berlin to Washington. There is no other meaning to be attached to the occurrence. International law was violated; and German hatred of the United States was given expression in a calculated and determined manner. The hollowness of Teutonic protestations of friendship for the United States in the early stages of the war is revealed as a sham.

The eyes of the world are now on the United States. The Germans have put in a concrete form their most deadly resentment against the Americans furnishing war material to the Allies.

If the jeopardizing of the lives of hundreds of American passengers on the Lusitania be not a casus belli then one was never afforded. German defiance and American national sentiment are face to face. It is inconceivable that the latter will permit the Washington authorities to do anything else than assert the doctrine that war upon Germany is the proper answer to the reckless and cowardly course of the universal enemy.

DELAFIELD'S WAY.

[By Nellie Cravey Gillmore.]

Alicia turned abruptly from the window as Delafield's form was swallowed up in the throng of pedestrians surging up the avenue. She stood for an insensate second staring blankly at the carpet.

Then the hot tide of long-pent-up emotions, suddenly released, swept turbulently to her brain. The aching restlessness of five long years flamed into fierce rebellion; the humiliating truth had come to her at last with a sickening sense of certainty.

He was the wrong man.

If any one had asked Mrs. Delafield in what respect her husband was deficient she could hardly have answered the question. His appearance was comely, his manners flawless. He was, perhaps, a step in advance of his colleagues in point of intellect.

His integrity had never been assailed. Socially his position was unquestioned; he rode no hobbies; he affected no erratic creeds. He simply did not understand the woman he had married!

Reviewing her wedded life deliberately, critically, Alice was compelled to admit to herself that never, in a single instance, had Delafield failed her. They had had their trivial differences, their tiffs, but all had come right in the end.

She should not recall that he had ever treated her with unreasonableness or discourtesy; as a matter of fact, the very recollection of his uniform tenderness and indulgence nettled her curiosity. In her suddenly awakened resentment she reflected bitterly that she would almost—yes, quite—have preferred a little of the masculine brute.

Had he comprehended her nature in ever so slight a degree he would have dominated it—and her. Yes—she confessed it unreservedly—what her soul needed, craved, nay, demanded, was a power above its own.

She was weary, sick to death of his eternal bowing to her will, yielding to her every whim and impulse. True, the little tangents in which she had indulged from time to time had been harmless enough, but she had hungered feverishly for excitement, opposition to whet her zeal.

With hysterical perverseness she found herself longing for the squalls, if not the storms, of life. Instead of this, and through Delafield, she had been forced to endure year after year this deadly, placid life that was wearing her spirit out by inches.

She sank into a chair and pressed her fingers to her burning eyes. Example after example of her husband's characterless "good nature" flashed in panoramic succession through her tumultuous mind.

She recalled something Bertie Langdon had said to her a year or two after her marriage.

She had remained out late—too late—at a theatre supper at Sherry's with a party of friends. Delafield was waiting up for her on her return. She more than half expected to be reproached, even upbraided.

But in her husband's calm, smiling reception she sought in vain for signs of secret jealousy or disapproval. The placid exterior told her nothing. So far as he was concerned, there was nothing to tell!

"Any other man—who carred for his wife—would have been half mad with anxiety," she had confided to Langdon, with a sore heart. "Billy never even looked a protest."

Bertie Langdon had laughed at her vehemence and replied: "What a little simpleton you are, Allie. Any other woman would have been tickled to death to have such an easy-going fellow for a harness-mate. Take it from me, Delafield is a superior fellow. That's just his way."

Just his way! Ah, that was the slogan! Everybody applied it, and—she reflected dramatically—it was destroying her very soul.

Lottie Henderson had once remarked that William Delafield was a "perfect angel of a man."

She had flirted openly, boldly, with a flashy Westerner, for the sole purpose of rousing her husband's jealousy—and he had quietly shut his eyes to her manoeuvres.

"Do you think it is because he doesn't care, Lottie?" she thad asked her friend uneasily.

"I think it's because he does, dear," she answered. "How could he help it? Delafield is an unusually sensible fellow. That's just his way."

Well, she was done with that "way." There was another way—of her own—and she would take it.

The long and short of it was the situation had grown intolerable. It had, in fact, come to a head. She had been beating her wings against the cage long enough; the door was open now and the world was before her. The measure was a heroic one, but Delafield should be moved from his apathy of contented assurance at last.

The tiny Delft toy on the mantel tinkled a merry reminder of the noon hour. Alicia laughed, with a little catch in her throat, as her gleaming eyes were lifted momentarily to its small, round, inane face.

"Good-bye, you," she said aloud. "Just one of the thousand reminders of this deadly velvet existence that I mean to put an end to forever here and now."

The blood sprang to her cheeks in two throbbing, scarlet disks. The die was cast. Every nerve tingled with exultant, new life.

In a far corner of the room was a small Chippendale writing-desk. She rose, pushed aside her chair, crossed the floor to it, and sat down. A blank sheet of paper lay before her.

She picked up a pen, dipped it in the ink, and wrote rapidly:

"Dear Billy:

"Don't think that my decision is hasty. On the contrary, it is the result of mature deliberation.

"We made a mistake when we took each other. There is nothing really congenial between us. The very absence of friction which marks our daily life is proof positive of our mutual unsuitability.

"I have nothing for which to reproach you, but I cannot longer endure the strain. I hope you will understand.

"Farewell,

"ALICIA."

She sealed and directed it carefully and placed the envelope in a conspicuous place on the mantel. Then she hurried up to her room and began to throw things feverishly into her trunk.

Delafield, half an hour late to luncheon, ran quickly upstairs and tapped on his wife's door. There was no response, and he turned the knob and entered.

The room was empty. His eyes, unaccustomed to gather details, failed to take note of the disorder everywhere. He was conscious of but one sensation—disappointment at finding Alicia gone.

But true to habit, he put aside the selfish feeling, and, whistling, crossed the corridor to his dressing-room.

The solitary meal was rather desolate. Delafield missed his wife's merry chatter keenly. But he assured himself that he was glad she had gone out.

He recalled with a little pang of self-reproach that she had seemed thinner of late than he had ever known her; she appeared to be moping, and he had urged her to take more fresh air. Yes, he was very glad indeed that she was off for an outing.

After luncheon he went into the library and drew up a chair to the fire. Then he took a cigar from his pocket and lighted it leisurely. With his head against the cushion, eyes half shut, he sighed contentedly and began to blow meditative rings of smoke toward the frescoed ceiling.

Suddenly, through the blue haze, his narrowed glance focused on Alicia's letter. He sat up, blinked at it, rose, and picked up the envelope. He tore it open with repressed eagerness and read the contents twice—and again. When he restored it to the envelope his fingers shook slightly.

But he smiled whimsically.

"Poor little girl," he mused, "the house will be lonesome as the grave. But never mind; she needs the change."

Delafield spent the afternoon at his club. That night he attended the opera.

Weeks passed.

Alicia mounted the steps a little wearily. The month had told upon her sadly. The once curving lines of throat and contour were sharp and pinched; the pretty pink had quite fled from cheek and lip.

The door was ajar, and she entered noiselessly, almost with caution. A bright light gleamed through the library door and she faltered toward it timidly.

Delafield, sitting by the reading-table, cigar in mouth, a magazine in his hands, was the picture of luxurious content.

For an instant the blood sang hot in Alicia's cheeks; it surged in humiliating waves to the very roots of her hair. She put out a tremulous hand to steady herself against the door-facing.

Delafield, glancing up carelessly as he turned a new leaf, suddenly dropped the periodical he had been reading, and rose.

"Why," he said joyfully, "when did you get in? Why didn't you let me know so that I could have met you?"

A scalding mist of tears swam in Alicia's eyes. She was conscious all at once that she was shaking like a leaf.

Delafield came toward her, bent and kissed her in the selfsame way he'd always done. She was glad he put his arm around her; she felt that she must have fallen if he hadn't. Suddenly she began to laugh, that she might not cry.

"And—and you? Have you missed me, Billy?" she asked faintly.

"Missed you? It's been a wilderness—that's all."

"But—but you didn't look for me. You didn't try to—"

"That was because I wanted you to come back, sweetheart."

Delafield caught her as she swayed. A long time she lay on his breast. Every sense seemed drugged with a delicious content.

After all, Delafield's way was the best!

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

French Fried Potatoes.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is the first time I have ever paid you a visit, but I am a regular reader of your "Mail-Box" and derive much benefit from your page.

1. Would you please print a recipe for French fried potatoes such as you get at some of the city hotels.

2. Would "Would-Be Helper" please say what kind of lye she uses in "Matron's washing fluid."

3. Do any of the readers know of a good linoleum polish?

4. Lastly, what do you think of my writing, Miss Grey?

Hoping this escapes the W. P. B.,
Yours, etc.,
"DRUM BO."

Ans.—1. Perhaps this recipe may be something like what you wish: Peel and slice potatoes, drop into cold water for ten minutes. Drain and put into skillet, with three tablespoons of bacon dripping. Stir until all slices are slightly coated with dripping. Sprinkle with salt. Turn until potato slices are golden brown. Cover for ten minutes. Then remove cover until potatoes are done.

2. Referred; should think any reliable brand would answer.

3. Would like to hear from housewife readers as to the polishes they use. This is said to be an excellent one, that does not make the linoleum slippery, and is not spoiled by water: Mix one gill of methylated spirits with one ounce of shellac. When shellac is dissolved, apply to the linoleum with a bit of flannel; rub in well and polish with fresh cloths.

Some mix linseed oil and turpentine and apply it, with good results.

4. You write a very good hand.

The recipe you send I have placed in the Cook-Book.

Flowers for Porch.

Dear Miss Grey,—You have helped so many by your practical hints and advice. I wonder if you will be so kind as to help me. I am putting a flower box around my veranda, and would like to know what kind of flowers to put in it. Would like to put in some trailers among other flowers. What would you suggest?

Poor "Star That Guides," do you think she will attempt to get married after all that has been said about her? She certainly is a "Star" if she lives up to all she said; it certainly took the wind out of my sails when I read her letter.

Well, I must close or this will find the W. P. B. This is my first letter to you. May I call again. Will close, wishing you and your valuable paper every success. Yours truly,

ANXIOUS TO KNOW.

Ans.—Effective veranda boxes are secured by bordering the edge with the pretty blue-flowering ageratum, with, in the centre of the box, one or two geraniums of the dark scarlet varieties. A prettily-variegated coleus near each end, would complete a box of the average size. For trailers, the florists sell suitable vines, or you may plant the climbing nasturtiums; they are good bloomers, and the vines grow so long they adapt themselves well in a porch box. Petunias, the single variety, and verbenas, blend nicely together, with, perhaps, a border of the sweet alyssum, and a quantity of the old-fashioned "Wandering Jew" trailing over the front.

Thank you for your kind remarks. Of course you may call again.

Too Many Beaux.

Dear Miss Grey,—With much pleasure I read the Mail-Box every day, and find the discussions very interesting. I, too, agree with Star that Guides; I think she must be a very sensible little girl. I am sure her husband will appreciate his choice; but, S. T. G., actions show more than words in regard to how much you love him, as I know this is what my mother has always tried.

Now, Miss Grey, I am not an old woman who has seen all sorts of experience—tried and true, like Doughnuts—but have seen a good deal.

In regard to city vs. country boys, I agree with Rosebud. I have seen many country boys who would never raise their hats to a girl, and I have not come across the kind that was criticised by Victim of Injustice. Very likely they would do it to the girl who made herself conspicuous, but not to the decent girls.

Now, Miss Grey, just two or three questions and I am through with this epistle:

1. I am 17 years old, and have a great many so-called beaus. I don't know how it is, but my big sister says it is because I am so nice to them all; but don't think I'm a flirt, Miss Grey, because I detest the word; but my mother would like me to go with someone steady, but I don't care enough for any of them for that, they being mostly college and high school boys. Don't you think I have lots of time to wait for Mr. Right Man to come?

2. I have dark brown hair, eyes and complexion, with rosy cheeks. What are my one or two best colors?

3. Please criticise this writing and give me a delineation of it if you can.

Hoping this escapes the W. P. B., I will close, wishing the Mail-Box the best of success. STAR OF THE EAST.

P. S.—May I come again soon with a few short questions?

Ans.—Probably the reason your mother favors the idea of your having one "steady" beau is that she thinks it preferable to going about with too many different ones. This always seems to cheapen a girl, somehow, especially when she commences as young as you. I think if you gave a little more thought to study, and the beautifying of your mind, and less to boys and "beaux" you would be doing the best thing possible.

2. The sand shades, or "putty" color should look nice on you, also many of the bright shades of blue, dove-grey and amber should also be becoming.

3. Your writing is fairly neat, but very similar to scores of other specimens received from girls of your age.

4. Yes, call again when you wish.

A Writer of Verse?

Dear Miss Grey,—It is with pleasure I read your column, and, like the rest, I, too, come for help.

1. What will take ink stains out of a white lawn waist?

2. Could you please tell me where I could send poetry to get money for it?

3. What do you think of my scribbling?

Wishing your page good luck, I remain, A READER.

Ans.—1. Ink stains may be very satisfactorily removed with salts of lemon. Moisten the ink spot, with clear water, sprinkle the salts of lemon over, pressing down into the fabric, place in the sun for about ten minutes, then wash through clear water, and hang on the line in the sun and air.

2. There is really a poorer market for poetry this year than ever before. Many of the magazines and publications are not purchasing verse, even from regular contributors, although they may accept it on the "without payment" understanding.

3. Well, it's really not very good.

Found Some Gold?

Dear Miss Grey,—Please will you tell me where there is a man who can analyze gold?

2. What is the meaning of Ronald? Thanking you for answering these questions, I remain A VIOLET.

Ans.—1. I think the proper person to write to is Professor W. G. Miller, Provincial Geologist, Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ont.

2. Ronald, "illustrious countryman."

Preparing a Meal for "Him."

Dear Miss Grey,—I am one of the many who are benefited by the women's page of the dear Old Advertiser, and I now come to you to get some advice.

1. Please tell me something nice to have for a Sunday night supper when you are expecting your "best" gentleman friend, and when you have to get it ready yourself; also something that would be nice for dinner? Is it very bad manners to put the pie or cakes on the table at first, or should you always bring them on later?

2. Do you think two years too long to be engaged to a man if you love him truly?

Poor "Star that Guides" has surely been receiving some very unpleasant replies to her letter, but I think her ideas are all right; my own are very much the same. I think it is a man's place to tell and show a girl how much he loves her before he is married to her and afterwards it is the woman's place to try her best to please him and show him how much her love for him means. I'm very sure that when I marry, my children (if it should be my fate to have any) shall never prevent me from loving my husband as much as I ever did. He shall come first always. I also think that each should have the same use of the pocketbook, and not make it necessary for the wife to have to ask for every cent she wants, like some married people I know of. If her interests are in her home she will always try to be as saving as possible. I think a good many divorces are caused by neglect on the woman's part. Before she is married, she always tries to appear at her best when her intended is around, but afterwards it seems to be a matter of indifference with a great many. I intend to try and always be as careful in trying to please "it" as I am now, and if I do, I can't see any reason why we can't always be as happy as our day dreams picture "married life" to us now.

Trusting I have not taken up too much space, and with best wishes for yourself and The Advertiser, I will sign myself SATISFIED.

Ans.—I suppose your desire will be to please the tastes of the young man; you doubtless will have some idea of his favorite dishes, and could plan a menu to include them. Perhaps you will favor this: Tomato and lettuce salad, sliced cooked ham, fresh tea biscuit, lemon tarts, preserved peaches, tea.

Or this: Cold roast chicken (or any roast meat preferred), home-made relish, potato salad, strawberries and cream, chocolate cake, tea.

Either list is fairly simple and dainty, and you could prepare practically all beforehand, and have in readiness to set on the table.

For a hot-weather dinner you could use one of the canned cream soups, beefsteak with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, lettuce and egg salad, strawberry shortcake. This may seem too elaborate to you, but would make a very nice dinner. The shortcake could be made early in the morning, and the fruit added shortly before serving. Boil eggs for the salad early in the day also, and have the lettuce washed, well shook out, and in the cellar or ice box to keep crisp. It may be that you prefer to serve a roast of meat rather than the steak, as this could be prepared in the morning, and sent to the table cold.

When one is having a meat and salad course at supper, it seems daintier to remove the dishes containing these, and replace them with fruit and cake. In many households where there is no maid some member of the family performs such duties, and there needs be little or no confusion or delay. This procedure is always better at dinner, too—remove meat and vegetable dishes, and soiled plates, before serving the dessert.

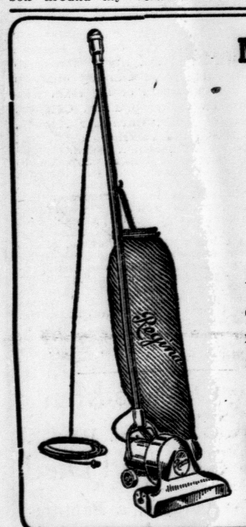

2. No.

Ribbons for Genevieve.

Dear Miss Grey,—Am inclosing a few cigarette ribbons for "Genevieve Le Clare," who is asking for them to complete a slumber robe. She is very welcome to them. I am only sorry there are so few to send. We find such splendid recipes and help through your page. Very sincerely yours,

A SOLDIER'S WIFE.

Ans.—Genevieve will be delighted to have so ready a response to her appeal, and I hope she sends me her address very soon so that I may forward them. "Soldier's Wife" says there are few, but I should judge that she has sent three dozen, at least, and some very handsome ribbons among them.

Betty Brown's New Spring Hat

SHE TELLS ALL ABOUT THE "PERFECT LOVE"

I finally decided on a "flower hat" for spring. Isn't it a dream in black and white?

There's not much to it—it's the trimming that makes it so different. Notice the way the wide white messaline ribbon is drawn through the hearts of the big field daisies, and don't overlook the cunning little white roses on the brim—there are four of them, one for each corner.

White chiffon faces the upper side of the brim. It's such a featherweight of a hat and so summery looking I think I'll wear it right through July.

THE BACKYARD GARDEN

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE "WHY" OF TILLAGE.

[By Prof. Spade.]

For some years past agricultural experts have placed more stress annually on the desirability of tillage. On proper preparation of the ground depends the success of any grower, and especially of the backyard gardener. His ground undoubtedly has been packed hard by years of disuse, and the only hope it offers for a good crop is in thorough tillage.

The surface soil must be well pulverized in order to let the little tender roots of the new plant reach out without obstruction to obtain the plant food and moisture that is hidden under the ground. These tiny tubes must reach out and carry the food through their veins to the main stem, from which it is transferred to the edible portions of the plant.

Fertilization is secondary to proper tillage. Unless the state of tilth is excellent, fertilizers are not going to do their utmost to produce a good crop. The reason for fertilization is that very few soils contain a perfectly "balanced ration" for the plants. The aim of fertilization is to provide just what is lacking in the earth that is about to be tilled.

Large gardeners analyze their soils and fertilize accordingly. To the backyard gardener such extensive tests are unnecessary. The natural fertilizer—manure—if applied judiciously, can do nothing but improve the fertility of the home garden.

The chances are that your surface soil is plenty deep enough. After applying the manure, be sure to turn it well under with your spading fork. CRUSH each lump into tiny pieces. That is your guarantee of a crop. It makes your raking much more effective, and assures you that the ground underneath is open and loose enough to give the little plants a chance. Low-growing roots, such as parsnips, late beets and carrots, demand deep soil in order that the roots may grow long and symmetrical, and not be dwarfed by suddenly encountering hard earth.

However, the backyard farmer must realize that his methods are going to be more intensive than those on the large place, and therefore the soil will have a heavier burden than is usual. To give this soil body and power manure must be applied and rather in excess than not. Too much fertilizer is infinitely better than not enough.

If the soil is loose or sandy, tillage is easy. If it is clay, more attention must be given it if good results are to be attained.

Old Songs and Poems

WHY PADDY'S ALWAYS POOR.

[Sent by J. A. M.]

Some people oft will wonder why
Paddy's always poor,
Yet happy and contented in his mind,
He'll sing for you till morning;
He'll serve you as a friend—
No truer friend in all this world you'll find.
His door is always open,
His stable always free.
When trouble comes he meets it with a smile;
You'll find him brave in battle—
The first to face the foe.
He'll ne'er desert a comrade, nor disown his native isle.

CHORUS—
The Englishman is cautious,
The Scotchman careful, too;
The Yankee he is honest,
Still knows just what to do.
Poor Paddy he is reckless,
His money days are few,
For if he has a dollar
He will share it all with you.

I'll tell you why he's happy,
And why his wants are few:
He never grieves for what is not his own,
His motives are not selfish,
He'd rather give than take,
An open heart you'll find in Paddy's home.
Go where the turf is blazing,
Where lads and lassies dream,
Where thrush and blackbird warble night and day;
'Tis there you'll find poor Paddy,
On Ireland's mossy green,
The greenest green that ever grew, where every month is May.

ITCHY SALT RHEUM

Sometimes Called Eczema—Removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Salt rheum is one of the worst and unfortunately one of the most common of all diseases. How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales, and then does this all over again! Sometimes it covers the whole body with inflamed, burning patches and causes intense suffering, which is commonly worse at night.

Local applications may do some good, but they cannot permanently relieve. The disease will continue to annoy, pain and perhaps agonize, until the blood has been purified and the general health improved.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, the good, old, reliable family remedy. It has given perfect satisfaction in thousands of cases. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla, for no substitute acts like it. Get it today.

SMALL CAKES THAT WILL KEEP—

—If You Can Keep the Kiddies Away.

With house-cleaning time at hand, it is a wise housekeeper that makes up a boxful of small cakes to have on hand for emergencies. Here are four new recipes you may like to try:

Hermits—Three eggs, one cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, one cup chopped raisins, two tablespoons chopped citron, one teaspoon each extract cloves, allspice and cinnamon, pinch of salt, one teaspoon baking powder, flour to roll out. Cut in rounds, bake in moderate oven.

Spice Drop Cakes.—Yolks three eggs, one-half cup butter, one cup molasses, one-half cup milk, three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, spice to taste. Drop on buttered paper on tins, and bake in hot oven.

Sand Tarts—On cup butter, one and one-half cups sugar, three eggs, one tablespoon water, one teaspoon baking powder, flour to roll out. Cut in squares, sprinkle with granulated sugar and powdered cinnamon before baking in hot oven.

Walnut Wafers.—One-half pound brown sugar, one-half pound broken walnut meats, two level tablespoons flour, one-quarter teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two eggs. Drop small spoonfuls on buttered pans, bake in quick oven.

POPULARITY OF SILK.

One of the many arguments in favor of shantung silk is its adaptability for bright trimmings. The fabric itself, in accord with the prevailing mode, is so neutral in color that fashion permits of a great variety of trimmings. Brilliant blues, greens, cherry and fancy stripes will brighten the natural shantung silks.

WHAT THE YOUNGSTERS WEAR.

High waist lines are the rule for the little girls' thin dresses that are being made for the summer season. Like grown-up dresses, the skirts of these dresses are very flaring and frilly.

The skirt of tulle and chiffon dresses or those of lingerie, batiste or very thin silk, are often finished at the hem with three little ruffles. These are only about three or four inches in width and are not gathered very full. A picot edging is used often instead of lace to finish them, or a very narrow satin ribbon, perhaps in a double lengthwise stripe.

Little puffed sleeves that come only half-way to the elbow are considered very correct, and they go well with the general empire contour of the gown.

In linen dresses the empire waist line has a belt of the same that has a slot inset in the middle of it of another color.

AT RANDOM

Being a Little "Hit and Miss" of Everything and Not Much of Anything.

While discussing the question of women-police protection for girls of London's streets, at a meeting of women here last week, the subject of allowing girls and young women to be out alone (or together and unchaperoned), after night, was introduced. "I think parents who allow their daughters to go out after night, unprotected, ought to be fined," was the frank opinion of one woman who, in philanthropic work has seen much of the sadness and complexities of life. "But what can they say when the girls are earning their own living?" was the inquiry from another woman present, and then through press of business in the meeting, the discussions was switched for the time-being.

WHEN THE GIRL LEAVES SCHOOL.

Personally, I would like to have heard more opinions on the subject, for somehow it seems such a big, vital throbbing question, and one that we don't think about enough. What is the situation in the average family when a daughter grows to, say the age of fourteen or fifteen? She attends high school, taking, we will suppose, the commercial course for a year or two. Then a position is open, accepted, and the girl is fairly launched upon the sea of wage-earning. With her office situation, new acquaintances are formed, with girls likely not unscrupulous, not unprincipled, but giddy and "out for a good time." Now comes the pull between outside influences and home restrictions. Probably this girl's mother is one of the "old-fashioned" type (God bless her!) who believes in having her girl home most nights in the week, or knowing where she is, and in what company, when she is absent. What results? It depends very largely upon the kind of girl and the tactfulness of the mother.

YET ANOTHER PROBLEM.

"You're independent." "You're earning your own living." "Well, before I'd let my mother boss me so," are the arguments used by the new friends, when this particular girl states her mother's objections to her going very frequently to a picture show or to joining the nightly parade on Dundas street.

And there you have it in a nutshell. The girl IS independent. She IS earning her own living. And if, as is really sometimes the case, parental restraints are too strict, or the girl lacks a sense of filial duty that urges her to remain at home, who is to blame for her leaving? Like most other life problems, there are many sides to this one. Is it right to take little 14-year-old girls out of the school-room and set them at work in the commercial world? I have been speaking of the office girl, but would really include others as well—the worker in the factory, in the stores and in the many employments which girls enter now. The harassed parent says, "Times are hard, and we need the money that Mary or Susie or Nellie earns," or again, likely enough the reply is, "Mary wanted clothes like the other girls, and I told her as soon as she could earn the money, she could have them."

YET ANOTHER PROBLEM.

Here again we face a new phase of the situation, and get into water deeper than before. Why does Mary desire finery? If any man chances to read this, of course he will at once rise up and shout, "Because she's a woman!" That, certainly will be the first assumption. The second will be, "To attract the boys she meets." (For without doubt that is the one and only accountable reason why the feminine soul likes pretty clothes!) And here we are at another brick wall. The boys won't ask the girls to marry them because it costs too much to dress a wife. The girls think they have to deck themselves out nicely, or the boys won't look at them. (Which is pretty much the truth, isn't it?) To gain this end they leave school before sixteen years old, and enter business life for which they are in a large percentage of cases not fitted. The parents say they can't help it, or that in these hard times, with living so high, the board-money which the girl pays, is needed to eke out the father's pay.

THE MEAN THING!

And so it goes, round and round in a circle, till one's head whirls. Just what do you think about it all, you readers of this page—parent, working girl, employer or school teacher? Would a little frank discussion help? Then write your view of the situation.

Anatole France's drama, "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," has been novelized—or "book-ized" at least, for I hardly think one would just call it a novel The story concerns a judge whose wife is speechless. He gets a great surgeon to operate on her tongue, and then she talks, and talks, and talks. When the judge finds he cannot have her rendered speechless again he has himself made stone deaf! Now, isn't that the 'tarnal contrariness of a man for you? No doubt some of Cynthia Grey's married readers would enjoy telling that man what they thought of him.

HOW TO CLEAN SUEDE.

If you are wearing a pair of fashionable shoes it goes without saying that they have some suede somewhere in their make-up. They have suede tops or they have suede trimmings, or some place there is some suede. Also, as a matter of fact, the suede becomes soiled rather easily. Now, there are several sorts of cleaner sold for suede, and all of them are fairly good. But a woman who has had much experience with cleaning suede says that the best way to clean it is to rub it with a fine emery cloth. This literally rubs off the dirt and leaves the suede smooth and clean.

LONDON SQUAD COMPLETE WITH ONLY 2 EXCEPTIONS

Schaeffer and Evans Still Have To Come—Hutchinson Puts In Appearance After Reisling Intended To Release Him—Eckstein and Hoch.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

Bill Schaeffer and Evans, the new southpaw, are the only London players who have not yet reported to the club. They are expected in today, though, and should get into uniform probably this afternoon. Schaeffer is coming from Toledo, and Evans from Gloucester City, N. J. Elmer Hoch and Frank Eckstein, the former Galt Wobbly Leaguers, arrived yesterday afternoon, having come from Niagara Falls on a motorcycle. They reported the roads a trifle damp in spots, but nevertheless made good time and had a dandy trip.

Joe Dunn, who played a good part of last season with the local club, arrived last night in time to sit in the dining-room with the other players at tea-time. Joe is looking fine and expects to show some real class this season.

Hutchinson Reports

A surprise awaits Manager Reisling this morning. "Doc" has practically tied the can to Walter Hutchinson, the big Nelsonville, Ohio, southpaw, but Hutchinson came walking in late last night. He had received no word from the London club, so thought it would be all right to come. Now that he is here Manager Reisling will give him a thorough trial. "Doc" will have seven pitchers to pick from when Evans arrives, and he should not find it a hard job to get good twirlers.

Vogt a Fine Hitter.

Vogt, the big Erie player, handles himself nicely around the bases, and his hitting is all that can be asked for. He punched one of "Cuz" Hammond's slants yesterday afternoon. The ball cleared the left field fence the same height as the double-deck of signs. This is a mighty lusty wallop, and if Mr. Vogt can do that in a game he will prove himself immensely popular around here.

Hess Looks Good.

Hess and Wilson are fighting for third base yet, but Hess has a lot on the other youngster, and there is no chance for the Detroit lad to beat out the University of Ohio boy. Hess is a youngster, but he gets hard-hit ground balls neatly, and at bat he takes a nice swing and drives the ball hard. Wilson is too light and too inexperienced, and he will likely be one of the first to go when "Doc" starts the weeding-out process tonight.

To Play Game Today.

Today Manager Reisling intends to form two teams among his players and play a game of four or five innings. On Thursday the team will go to Stratford for an exhibition game, and on Saturday Frank Shaughnessy will bring his Ottawa club here for an exhibition contest.

Lacrosse Team Practices Tonight in Tecumseh Park

Eddie Slattery Will Have Charge of Players in Absence of Manager Dave Aitchison.

The initial lacrosse practice of the season has been called for this evening at Tecumseh Park. All lacrosse players in the city are invited to turn out at 6:30 o'clock, and try for places on the team. In the absence of Manager Aitcheson, Eddie Slattery, the former Brantford manager, will have charge of the squad and put it through its first drill.

Secured Park.

Yesterday afternoon, the lacrosse club arranged for the use of Tecumseh Park to play its games in this season. This will be a decided asset for the lacrosse team. Last year, with one of the best teams that ever represented this city, the club was forced to play in Queen's Park on poor grounds. Suitable grounds are a big advantage to a team and the acquisition of Tecumseh Park will be a valuable help to the club.

Schedule Meeting Soon.

The schedule meeting of this O. A. L. A. district will be called shortly, although it is hardly likely that local fans will see their first league game until the first week in June. The Lacrosse club will use all vacant Saturday dates at Tecumseh Park during the summer and will also play Wednesday afternoon games.

JEANETTE REFUSED TO WIN ON A FOUL

Montreal, May 10.—"Battling" Jim Johnson, who shaded his colored heavyweight rival, Joe Jeanette, in a 10-round bout before the members of the Canadian Athletic Club at Sohmer Park tonight, struck his fellow New Yorker a foul blow during the in-fighting, in a clinch in the third round and sent Jeanette to the floor. The latter, however, refused to claim the bout, and went the limit.

G. E. ROWLEY PRESIDENT OF THE ST. THOMAS CLUB

ST. THOMAS, May 10.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the St. Thomas Canadian League baseball club held in the council chamber of the city hal itonight, the bylaws and charter of the company were adopted. The following directors and officers were elected: President, G. E. Rowley; vice-president, ex-Mayor R. N. Price; secretary-treasurer, Charles S. Butler; directors, W. H. Swift, Ald. E. A. Horton, W. A. McIntyre and E. G. Ponsford. A. W. Johnson was appointed auditor and Andrew Grant solicitor.

RED SOX TOOK FINAL GAME FROM YANKEES

CITY SOCCER LEAGUE.

The 33rd Battalion and St. David's were the winners in the City Soccer League games on Saturday afternoon. The 33rd defeated the 7th Fusiliers by the score of 4 to 0, and St. Davids trimmed the Liberal Club by 2 to 1. Both games were good exhibitions. The 33rd is now leading the league, being the only undefeated team so far.

Don't You Believe Athletics Haven't a Chance —A Great Ball Team Yet.

Now here is an odd baseball club.

We have been talking all winter and feeling sorry because of the collapse of the great team of the Athletics and mourning a bit perhaps for its past greatness, so it is rather in the form of a shock to find that it is a team that, after losing two of the greatest pitchers the game has ever known, a marvellous second baseman and the heaviest slugging third baseman of the country, is still so good that it figures close up to the leaders.

The truth is Mack's team today figures second to Boston, and so close to Chicago and Detroit that a little luck either way is all the difference. Besides that Mack seems to have the best youngsters in the league, and the team, far from being broken, is likely to come right back with the young pitchers Mack has been developing during the last three years, and hold its own even with Boston.

Mack has taken entire charge of the second team of youngsters and paid most of his attention to drilling them, leaving the vets to go along as they pleased. He has watched Kopf and Bostick most closely, and it looks as if he will start with Kopf on third, Barry short, Lajoie second, McInnis first, with Oldring, Strunk and Murphy in the outfield.

The catching staff is Schang, Lapp and Thomas, as usual.

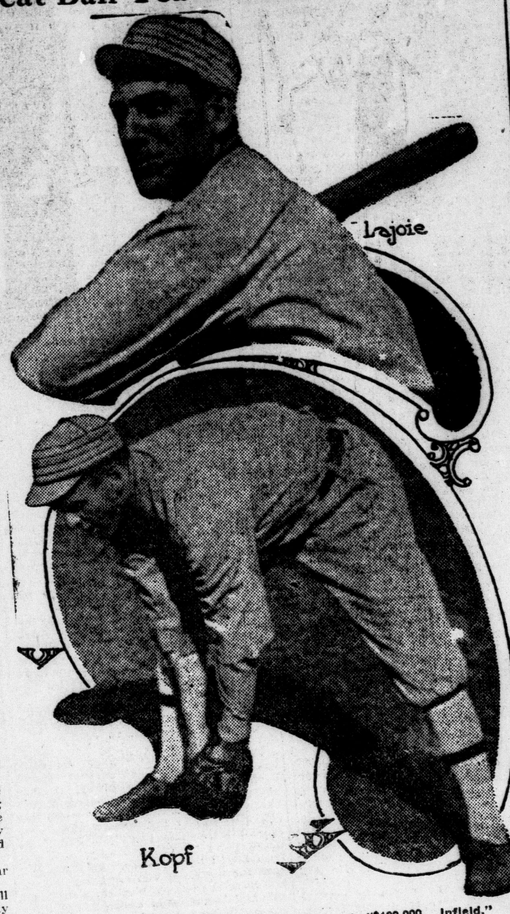

The main problem will be pitching. In Bressler, Mack has a man who will, in all probability, be one of the greatest of the stars of baseball within the next few years. Possibly this is his year. He is a worthy successor to Plank and has everything. Pennock is another who never will be a mediocre pitcher. He will either be a great success or a great failure. Shawkey is as good a pitcher as any team needs and Bush has a world of speed, and may some day learn what to do with it. Wyckoff has had a season of experience.

There is some fear among some of the athletes that Jack Barry's wonderful work may be affected in some degree by the loss of his working partner, Collins, but he seems to be going fairly well with Lajoie. If Barry slips Mack has a young fellow named Crane who looks pretty good.

Oldring is in his last stage as a ball player, and probably must give way soon to a younger man. But good right-handed hitters who can field a bit are hard to find, and Mack needs both Lajoie and Oldring in the line-up to sandwich between his left-handed batters.

Watch Mack's line-up for opening day. He may spring a surprise that will shock the experts almost as much as he did when he cut loose Plank and Bender. He has been experimenting this spring to see how some of his men play other positions. He has tried out Amos Strunk at first base and he has tried Stuffy McInnis at second. It surely is a versatile bunch, and Mack can shift Lajoie to first, Oldring to third, McInnis to second, and still present an infield that would make some teams jealous.

The men who will fill the gaps in the old "$100,000 Infield." Lajoie, who will take Eddie Collins' job, and Kopf, the youngster in Home-Run Baker's place.

A NEW PLAYER WHO IS MAKING GOOD.

LAVAN OF THE BROWNS LOOKS GREAT.

Advertiser Illustrations

Johnny Lavan, of the St. Louis Browns, is one of the best of the younger crop of ball players. His work last year was one of the sensations of the American League race and he is showing improvement this spring especially in team hitting. With a better first baseman to throw at he can use his speed in handling a ball more effectively and his throwing is better.

CHAS. MILLAR'S PAIR SET SEASON'S RECORD

Fair Montague Did Plate Distance in Splendid Time.

LOOK THE BEST SO FAR

Seagram Candidate Also Works Distance in Splendid Time—Lady Curzon Sick.

TORONTO, May 10.—This was a busy morning for the trainers at the Woodbine. The weather and track conditions were favorable, and an abundance of good work was witnessed. Several of the King's Plate candidates were seen in action, and Chas. Millar's pair, Fair Montague and Tartarean established the season's record when they worked the full Plate route, 1¼ miles, in 2:12 3-5. They worked together, the fractional time being: ¼ in :25 2-5, ½ in :51, ¾ in 1:17, and the mile in 1:44. As usual, Fair Montague was leading his stable companion about five lengths at the finish, and at this distance it appears as if Trainer John Nixon's entry will have to be seriously considered before the distribution of the Guineas is made. Garish Sun and Shrovetide, from the same stable, put in ⅝ in 1:04 2-5.

Geo. Connell's Gartley, another Plater, worked alone ¼ in :26, ½ in :50 2-5, ¾ in 1:18, and the mile in 1:47 2-5. This is the best work he has shown to date, and is improving.

The Seagram Guineas candidates, Charon and Smithfield, went together a mile in 1:50, just breezing. Vastatio and Torn Silk went somewhat faster, the ½ in :54, ¾ in 1:20, and the mile in 1:48. It was a nice, useful work. Golden Jug's mile was in 1:40, the first ½ in :53, and the ⅝ in 1:19. The two-year-olds, Sweet Colleen and Gala Day, breezed ⅝ in :38, and Mandarin ⅝ in :36 2-5. The latter appears to be the best of the Seagram youngsters.

Sea Lord and Dark Rosaleen, also from the Seagram stable, worked a nice mile in 1:45 2-5, and Rustling went the same distance in 1:47 2-5. Sir Launcelot put in three-quarters in 1:19, and Froissart a half in :52 3-5.

Another creditable performance was that of John Walker's Bendel and Revencourt, the latter Robt. Newell's Plater. They went together three-quarters in 1:15 3-5. Chas. Kean's Fallen Angel and Meissen went together five-eights in 1:04 3-5. King Cotton put in three-quarters in 1:20, during the last quarter of which he tailed off badly.

Robt. Davies' Maxiam Belle and Perpetual together showed five-eights in 1:05 2-5. The Gorman mares, Puritan Lass and Calumny, breezed three-eights in :38. Allie Gates' Gordon went five-eighths in 1:04 and is doing well. Jim L., a new arrival, breezed three eighths in :39.

Wm. Krausman's Plater, Hampton Dame, galloped an easy mile in 1:50. Brookdress went a half in :51 and Mausolus three-eighths in :38. Havrock, five-eights in 1:09 2-5; Akeldama, five-eights in 1:06 2-5; Privet Metal, one-quarter in :26 2-5; and Johnny Harris a half in :52 3-5, were the other principal moves.

Nat. Dyment, of Barrie, who was a visitor at the course this morning, stated that Lady Curzon, the Plate favorite, has been coughing for several days and has not been out on the track at the farm since Thursday last. This interruption in her preparation for the big race will no doubt injure her chance considerably.

Weeding-Out Process Will Commence Tonight

Manager Reisling Will Likely Hand Blue Slips To Two or Three London Players After Today's Workouts—Hutchinson, the Big Southpaw, Shows Good Form.

BY BERT PERRY.

Manager Reisling will start the weeding-out process on his players this evening. When Evans and Schaeffer report, there will be 22 men on the roster. As only about 14 can be carried during the league season, considerable pruning will have to be done. Who the players are "Doc." intends to tie the can to tonight has not been announced. It is certain that Wilson, one of the third-base tryouts, and one of the pitchers, and maybe a catcher, will be dropped. The opening of the league season is only a week away, and "Doc." will likely have his regulars picked before the end of the week.

Hutchinson Looks Good.

Hutchinson, the big southpaw pitcher, who reported last night after Reisling had given up hope of him coming, and had wired him his release, was in action at the park today with the rest of the players. He is a big fellow, with lots of weight, and he looks to have the goods. He was with the New York American League Club last spring.

Eckstein, Hoch and Joe Dunn, all of whom arrived yesterday, were also out at the park today. Eckstein is a big fellow, in fact, both he and Hoch are powerful-looking fellows, and their specialty is hitting that old pill on the nose. They both had averages considerably over four hundred in the Wobbly League last season, and, according to Jack Danford and Harry Myers, the Wobbly League had some good pitching.

Vogt May Replace "Doc."

Reisling is well pleased with the work of Vogt, the big Erie player who has been trying out at first base. If Vogt continues to show the form that he has displayed so far, it is likely that "Doc." will give up all notion of playing first base himself this season, and instead take his turn in the box with the other pitchers. Reisling pitched some good games last season, and he does not appear to have gone back any.

How About the Limit?

Reports from other clubs in the league indicate that all the managers are going to have a hard job this year getting down under the salary limit. Shaughnessy is credited with saying that it will be almost impossible for him to get lower than $1,500. This morning, Manager Reisling stated he was going to watch the other clubs closely, and if they abided by the limit, so would the London Club. However, if Shaughnessy, Cristal and Knotty Lee, who have big squads and a number of high-priced players on their hands, were not going to recognize the $1,400 limit, then the London Club would also ignore it. In the past, the Ottawa and Hamilton clubs have paid no attention to the salary or players' limit, and this, more than anything else, has enabled Shaughnessy to land three pennants in a raw.

Shag Won't Have Mitchell to Help Him This Season

Shortstop Has Been Sent To Memphis Club of Southern League.

CHATHAM, May 10. — Manager Shaughnessy, of the Ottawa baseball team, arrived in the city yesterday to establish his spring training quarters here. The members of his team who are now on the ground are Catchers Powers and Lage, outfielder Mooney, secured from the Peterboro outfit last year, and First Baseman Dolan. Shocker, the spitball artist, is supposed to arrive this afternoon. Mitchell, the fast shortfielder, for whom Shag paid a thousand dollars in mid-season last year, and whose wonderful work kept Ottawa just out of London's reach last year, will not be with the team this year. He has gone to Memphis, of the Southern Association. Smelkal, the second baseman, Rogers, the combination of outfielder and pitcher, "Lefty" Kubat, Nill and Dusty Bullock are the members of the old Senators whose faces will not be seen on Tecumseh Park this spring.

Shag says the people want to see new faces and he is going to provide them this year.

BRITONS MUST RELY ON SELVES

Times Points Out No Help In Neutrals — Ballin Condemned.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—The principal themes of editorial discussion in the newspapers continue to be advocacy of drastic treatment for Germans in Great Britain and curiosity as to what action the United States will take in reference to the Lusitania disaster. The idea at first entertained that the Washington Government would adopt drastic measures slowly is vanishing, however.

Sir Valentine Chirol, writing in the Times, attributes submarine activities entirely to Albert Ballin, director-general of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, who for years has been one of Emperor William's most trusted advisers in all questions of maritime policy. He believes, therefore, the sinking of the Lusitania was due more to Herr Ballin than to any other German Sir Valentine declares Herr Ballin dissuaded Germany's ruler from going to war in 1912 over Agadir, because the German submarine was not then developed to a point where it could exact effective reprisals from the British mercantile marine.

Discussing the attitude of the United States toward Germany, the Times says it "does not complain" because of the lack of vigorous action at Washington, but says: "We are concerned only to make the British people understand they must not look to the United States or any other external factor, but must rely upon themselves and their allies. Whatever prompted the sinking of the Lusitania, it means that the German nation is so confident of ultimate victory it does not care in the least what the United States may say or do."

HAS THE BREAK COME?

PARIS May 11. — 11:30 a.m. — A Havas dispatch from Geneva, says the Tribune of that city, declares the secretary-general of the Italian Embassy, at Vienna, has left for Rome, and that Duc d'Avarna, the Italian ambassador, has made farewell calls upon his diplomatic colleagues at Vienna besides holding a long conference with United States Ambassador Penfield.

The Tribune also asserts that new Austrian military laws have been placarded in the principal towns of Trent, which amounts to a declaration of a state of siege.

ALL PRECAUTION

business, not mine. I simply had to carry out my orders to go, and I would do it again."

Capt. Turner uttered the last words of his reply with great emphasis.

By the coroner: "I am very glad to hear you say so, captain."

By the juryman: "Did you get a wireless to steer your vessel in a northern direction?"

"No," replied Capt Turner.

"Was the course of the vessel altered after the torpedoes struck her?"

"I headed straight for land, but it was useless. Previous to this the watertight bulkheads were closed. I suppose the explosion forced them open. I don't know the exact extent to which the Lusitania was damaged."

"There must have been serious damage done to the watertight bulkheads?"

"There certainly was, without doubt."

"Were the passengers supplied with lifebelts?"

"Yes."

"Were any special instructions given that morning that lifebelts be put on?"

"No."

"Was any warning given you before you were torpedoed?"

No Warning Given.

"None whatever; it was suddenly done, and finished."

"If there had been a patrol about, might it have been of assistance?"

"It might, but it is one of those things one can never know."

With regard to threats against his ship, Captain Turner said he saw nothing, except what appeared in the New York papers the day before the Lusitania sailed. He never had heard the passengers talking about the threats he said.

"Was a warning given to the lower decks after the ship had been struck?" Captain Turner was asked.

"All the passengers must have heard the explosion," Captain Turner replied.

Captain Turner in answer to another question said he received no report from the lookout before the torpedo struck the Lusitania. After physicians had testified that the victims had met death through prolonged immersion and exhaustion the coroner summed up the case and the jury brought in its verdict.

HENSALL DEBENTURES FOR TOWN HALL SOLD

$5,000 Worth Taken For $4,700 at 5¼ Per Cent.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

HENSALL, May 10.—The council has disposed of $5,000 worth of town hall debentures for $4,700, covering 20 years and drawing 5¼ per cent interest, which is considered good, considering the conditions of the money market.

The local assessment this year will total about $335,000.

The council at a recent meeting received the report of the architect and inspector, Henry Reynolds, on the town hall, which he pronounced completed, except for a few minor details.

Dr. Bean has purchased from Mrs. James Troyer the residence and lot owned by her on South Richmond street. He intends making big improvements on the residence.

R. Cudmore has purchased a lot near the London road, and intends erecting a residence there this summer.

Dr. Maloy is erecting a handsome fence in connection with his residence.

R. Higgins, fire range inspector in New Ontario, expects to spend the summer at home.

A. H. King and wife, of Toronto, spent Friday night and Saturday visiting relatives here.

THEIR EXCUSES

Vienna Papers Call Lusitania "Same as Battleship."

[Canadian Press.]

Venice, via London, May 11.—The newspapers of Vienna justify the sinking of the Lusitania on the ground that she was "virtually an auxiliary cruiser." The Neues Weiner Tageblatt says: "The Lusitania was really exactly the same as a British battleship."

The Neue Freie Presse says: "The sinking of the liner is equivalent to a naval defeat, and perhaps one result of the incident will be the collapse in America of faith in Britain and greater regard for the German Empire."

BRITISH PERCEIVE U.S. DIFFICULTIES

Army Unprepared and Population Problem Embarrassing—Some Suggestions.

[Special Cable to The Advertiser.]

London, May 11.—Although many Britishers still insist that war is the only solution compatible with American honor, there is an increasing tendency observable both in the press and public to let the United States handle the Lusitania situation in its own way.

This changing attitude is largely due to the sympathetic appreciation by most of the British correspondents at Washington and New York of the tremendous burdens war would entail, complicated with the problem of the German-American population.

Suggested Aid.

The American navy would not be needed, and it would require a year to organize and train an army sufficiently strong to be of any appreciable assistance to the Allies. One of the most popular suggestions here is that if the United States should decide not to go to war, she should diplomatically boycott Germany by withdrawing Ambassador Gerard and the American consuls, and handing his passports to Count Bernstorff and all other German representatives in America.

Conscription Urged.

Meanwhile Britain is sorely puzzled how to accomplish the overthrow of Germany without conscription. Although enlistments have appreciably increased since Friday, the Unionist newspapers are insisting on immediate parliamentary consideration of this question.

The Express, on its first page today, says, in large type: "The only way, conscription."

5,000 HAVE DIED OF TYPHUS IN SERVIA

Dispatch Says Country Is Vast Charnel House—Many Austrians.

(By Henry Wood. Copyright, 1915, by United Press.)

Nish, Servia, April 16.—By courier to Salonika, and by mail to New York.)—For three months all Servia has been one great charnel house of dead and dying. Deaths to date have reached a grand total of 75,000 Although the epidemic of typhus is now declared to be under control, it is freely admitted that a grim harvest of 100,000 human beings will have been reaped before it be entirely stamped out. This is the most optimistic view of the situation.

Escaping from two Balkan wars with only slight epidemics of cholera, this heroic little state has been caught in her third war with an epidemic of typhus, which has decimated ranks of her population more than have guns of the Turks and the Austrians combined.

Of the 75,000 victims to date, 25,000 are among the Austrian prisoners of war. The epidemic was brought by them, Servians assert. It broke out early in January.

BERNSTORFF PRESENTS GERMAN STATEMENT

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, May 11.—Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador, accepting as authentic the text of Germany's formal expression of regret for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania, which was received in last night's news dispatches, formally presented the statement today to the state department. The official text has not yet reached the embassy because of difficulties of wireless communication.

LINER IS BEACHED TO LAND SOLDIERS

British Battleships Cover Her With Fierce Bombardment.

MASSACRE AUSTRALIANS

Surround Half Company and Annihilate Men After Fierce Struggle.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11—2:18 a.m.—The British press representative in the Dardanelles, under date of April 30, has written the following account of operations on the peninsula:

"While Australians and New Zealanders were fighting so gallantly against heavy odds north of Gaba Tepe, British troops crowned themselves with equal laurels at the southern end of the Gallipoli peninsula. A firm footing now has been obtained. The line stretches across the southern end of the entire peninsula with both flanks secured by the fire of warships. The army holds many convenient landing places, immune from the enemy's guns.

Land Under Heavy Fire.

"The problems British landing parties faced differed from those the Australians solved farther north Here the cliffs are not high and irregular, but rise about 50 feet from the water's edge with stretches of beach at intervals. Five of these beaches were selected for disembarkation under the cover of warships. It was hoped the Turkish trenches would be rendered untenable and the barbed-wire entanglements cut by the fire of the ships, but these expectations were not realized. For example, the landing place between Gaba Tepe and Cape Helles, was the scene of a desperate struggle, which raged all day. The Turks held barbed wire protected trenches in force, and their snipers covered the shore. After hours of bombardment our troops were taken ashore at daybreak. Part of the force scaled the cliffs and obtained a precarious footing on the edge of the cliffs, but boats which landed along the beach were confronted with a solid hedge of barbed wire and exposed to a terrible cross fire. Every effort was made to cut the wire, but almost all those who landed here were shot down. Later the troops on the cliffs succeeded in driving back the Turks and clearing the beach.

Guns Silenced Forts.

"The most terrible of all landings, however, was on the beach between Cape Helles and Seddul Bahr. Here the broken valley runs inland, enfiladed by hills on either flank, on which were built strong forts, which defended the entrance to the straits until they were knocked out by our guns. Although the guns and emplacements were shattered, the bomb-proofs and ammunition chambers remained intact, and running back formed a perfect network of trenches and entanglements right around the semi-circular valley. The Turks had mounted pompoms on the Cape Helles side, and had the usual snipers everywhere. The foreshore and valley also were protected by trenches and wire, rendering the position most formidable.

Slaughter on Liner.

"One novel expedient was running a liner full of troops deliberately ashore, thus allowing them to approach close in under cover without being exposed in open boats. Great doors had been cut in her sides to permit rapid disembarkation, and she was well provided with maxims to sweep the shore while the troops were landing. Owing to her going ashore farther east than was intended, however, it became necessary to bring up a lighter to facilitate the landing. The Turks directed a perfect tornado of rifle, maxim and pompom fire on 200 men who made a dash down the gangway. Only a few survived to gain shelter. All the others were killed on the gangway. Disembarkation, therefore, which meant almost certain death, was postponed until later in the morning, when another attempt also failed.

Warships Cover Advance.

"Then, while the liner carrying 2,000 men, packed in like sardines, with the officers huddled on the protected bridge, lay all day on shore with a hail of bullets rattling against her sides, the battleships Albion, Cornwallis and Queen Elizabeth furiously bombarded Seddul Bahr and the encircling hills. Meanwhile the Turks on the Asiatic side tried to destroy the liner by howitzer fire which was kept under only by the bombardment from covering ships in the straits. In spite of this covering fire the vessel was pierced by four big shells, and it was decided to postpone any further movement until nightfall, when the troops got ashore, almost without the Turks firing a shot as a result, perhaps, of troops landed on other beaches having pushed along and destroyed some Turkish positions."

Massacre Australians.

London, May 11—2:36 a.m.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens says:

"The Turks are making desperate attacks every night on the Allies' position in the Dardanelles, but without result thus far. They succeeded in surrounding a half company of Australian troops, whom they massacred, although the Australians fought determinedly.

"A thousand notables have been arrested in Smyrna on orders from Constantinople."

DR. JOHN McDONALD LOSES HIS MOTHER

Wife of Former Kincardine Pastor Passes Away.

KINCARDINE, May 10. — Dr. John McDonald arrived home on the late train Saturday night after a week at the bedside of his aged mother, who was disabled from a paralytic stroke. The doctor got a telegram yesterday telling of her death.

The body will be brought to Kincardine on Tuesday, and the funeral will take place from the undertaking rooms of W. Morrison at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. McDonald was a relict of Rev. McDonald, for many years the beloved pastor of Lochalsh Presbyterian Church, township of Ashfield, who, after retiring from that charge on account of age, made his home in this town.

Isaac Prior Buried.

The funeral of Isaac Prior took place from the Presbyterian Church Friday. He had been a member of that congregation for many years. The immediate relatives present were two sons, A. Prior from Wallaceburg, and H. Prior, Chicago, and a daughter from Sturgeon Falls, Mrs. J. Mann. A large number accompanied the remains to the cemetery. Much sorrow is expressed for the bereaved widow.

Funeral of Mrs. Wm. Henry.

The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Henry, Princess street, was largely attended by old neighbors from Huron Township, and the many friends in Kincardine town and the surrounding country.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS

in the judgment of French observers, based upon two fundamental considerations, namely, that wrongs have been done to Servia and Belgium, and that the racial aspirations of the Italians on the eastern shore of the Adriatic and in the Mediterranean now can be satisfied.

Military writers are presenting the argument that war for Germany and Austria on a third frontier undoubtedly will make the resistance of the central empires on their other fronts more feeble, so much so that with the advent of Italy victory over Germany is set for the middle of the summer.

TIME LIMIT GIVEN.
[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 11.—Another version of the territorial concessions Austria is said to have proposed to Italy has been printed by the Mattino of Naples and telegraphed to the Havas Agency by its Rome correspondent. According to this report, Austria is willing to cede part of the Province of Trent to Italy, together with a strip of territory in the region of the Isonzo River, which empties into the Gulf of Triest. Triest itself is absolutely excluded as well as Istria and Pola.

The Italian cabinet is said to have considered these concessions insufficient and made a counter-proposition demanding all of Trent up to Brenner (a mountain pass of Tyrol on the railroad line connecting Innsbruck with Bozena, and offering the shortest route between Central Germany and Italy), together with Triest and Istria, including Pola. Italy, the Mattino asserts, will insist upon obtaining Triest, but is ready to give Austria commercial guarantees.

The Havas correspondent says he is able to state that the Italian Government has demanded of Vienna a definite answer within a fixed time. He adds that in the best-informed circles there is no real hope of a peaceful settlement, although Pope Benedict has sent Emperor Francis Joseph an autograph letter asking him to yield in order to avoid another war.

CONFLICT UNAVOIDABLE.
[Canadian Press.]

Rome, May 10, 9:25 p.m., via Paris, May 11.—Although negotiations with the central empires still are pending, and there is a bare possibility that the influence of Former Premier Giolitti may avert a war, military preparations pointing to Austria as an inevitable antagonist are so thorough and vigorous that a conflict seems unavoidable.

Even discussions among the opposition parties have virtually ceased. Only the irreconcilable Socialists, whose deputies met in the Chamber today, oppose Italy's participation in the war, and their attitude is believed to be guided more by a desire for consistency than because of opposition to a war.

SENT HOME AGAIN.

Rome, May 11.—Andreas Hermes, head of the section of plant diseases in the International Institute of Agriculture, who had returned to resume his post after a leave of absence, was sent home on the next train by the police, who are said to have learned that he is connected with the German general staff.

PROTECT VON BUELOW.

Paris, May 11.—The Milan correspondent of the Excelsior telegraphs his paper that a dispatch to the Secolo from Lugano, Switzerland, says the police of Lugano have been instructed to make preparations to protect Prince Von Buelow, German ambassador to Rome, when he passes through that city on his way home.

ITALIANS GOING HOME.

Paris, May 11.—A Milan dispatch from Udine to the Havas Agency says trains arriving from Austria are filled with Italian travellers. Hundreds are waiting at the Triest railroad stations for places on trains.

RUMORS DENIED.

Paris, May 11.—The departure from Rome of the staff of the Austrian embassy to the Vatican is denied by the Osservatore Romano, according to a Havas dispatch from the Italian capital. The newspaper says that not only has no member of the embassy staff left, but that a new secretary is expected to arrive soon.

DECISION MUST BE SOON.
[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 11.—The opinion is general in Italian parliamentary circles, says a Milan dispatch to the Petit Journal, that the Government must make known its decision in regard to entering the war not later than the last week in May, but could easily assume a decisive attitude before this extreme date.

KAISER SNUBBED.

Rome, via Paris, May 11.—The Agency National says Emperor William has written to Dowager Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, pointing out advantages he believes would accrue to Italy should it remain neutral, and urging her to intervene to avoid a conflict with Austria.

The widow of King Humbert is quoted as having replied to the German ruler, "In the house of Savoy we reign one at a time."

Demanded Belgian Integrity.

Emperor William is reported to have previously written an almost identical letter to the Italian King.

The Milan Secolo asserts that Italy demanded the integrity of Belgium as a condition of its neutrality, and that this was one of the chief causes of delay in the conversations.

MAJ. COLES' MEN ESCAPED INJURY IN RECENT FIGHT

Not One of Them Hit—Horse Killed Made Up Entire Casualty List.

SAW LONDON OFFICERS

Major Campbell Becher Came Through Unscathed—Canadians Highly Praised.

A letter has come from Major W. G. Coles, one of the officers in command of the Army Service Corps at the front, to his wife in London. He states that in the recent engagement at Langemarck his unit only lost one horse, not a man being hit. He tells the story of the battle from the viewpoint of the first-aid man, and consequently has to say chiefly of seeing wounded men carried from the front to temporary hospitals in the rear. The stretcher-bearers were kept continuously engaged, he states, and the casualty list must have been frightful.

When the letter was written he was eating and sleeping in the open. All inclosed quarters were necessary for the wounded. For dining-room a wagon cover was utilized, but there was plenty to eat, so where the meals were partaken of did not apparently prove of much moment.

Canadians' Fine Work.

Canadians more than distinguished themselves, he writes, and both French and British gave them unstinted praise for their splendid work.

He saw Major Becher shortly after the fiercest hours of fighting of the Langemarck engagement had concluded, and said that the London officer was looking in fine fettle and had greatly enjoyed the "brush with the enemy." Words of thankfulness were expressed that Lieut. Chester Butler's wounds were slight and would not, in all probability, keep him out of the fight indefinitely. The major had been speaking to Col. Macdonnell and Col. Lamb recently, and these Canadian officers were well pleased with the work their men had done.

DESPERATE CHARGE OF TROOPS ACROSS SHELL-TORN PLAIN

Londoner Writes of Valorous Canadians' Dash—Foe's Guns Sweep Field.

Writing with his left hand, his right crippled by a bullet that plowed its way through the flesh, during the terrific charge of Canadian troops in the desperate encounter with German hordes at Langemarck, Lance-Corp. Harold L. Atkinson, formerly connected with the editorial staff of The Advertiser, narrates the fierce engagements, from his hospital cot, at Boulogne, France, where his injury is being treated. Lance-Corp. Atkinson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Atkinson, residing at 450 King street.

A Desperate Position.

Over bare ground, with not even a bush to cover their advance, with the sharp rattle of German musketry, the deeper roar of heavier guns spitting death, and the whistle of shrapnels in their ears, the 1st Battalion was ordered forward. In skirmishing order, the Canadians advanced across the shell-torn plain, swept from the foe's elevated position by a murderous crossfire of death.

A distance of nearly two miles had to be covered, under the withering shelling. Only a thousand yards had been won when Lance-Corp. Atkinson felt the sting of the bullet, and dropped. His letter, in part, follows:

"I am writing this with my left hand because my right hand is temporarily out of commission. I am O. K., much better off than a lot of our bunch who were in the attack we made last Friday, particulars of which you will have in the press long before you get this.

"The only other man of the 1st Battalion here so far as I know is S. Warwick, a private, only slightly wounded.

Called to Support "Fourth."

"The 1st Battalion was billeted six miles from the scene of the attack. We were called out at 2 a.m. Friday, and had to go forward in skirmishing order, a distance of one and one-half miles, in support of the 4th Battalion.

"We went over bare ground, which the enemy from their elevated position swept with rifle fire, machine guns and shrapnel. I got forward about one thousand yards when a bullet went through my hand.

"From the dressing station, to which I ran without any trouble, I walked to a nearby village, and got into a Red Cross auto, was driven to a clearing hospital, and after a rest, came here by train.

Out of Fight for Weeks.

"This is a fine place, of which I will tell you more later. How long I will be here I cannot say. It will be several weeks before I shall rejoin my regiment."

Lance-Corp. Atkinson was officially reported wounded more than a week ago. Since that time his relatives here have anxiously awaited word of his condition from the base hospital.

PETROLEA COUPLE'S PETS ARE PRISONERS

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes Have Small Menagerie at New York.

New York, May 11.—Two tiny deer from Venezuela, which Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stokes intend to take to their home in Petrolea, Canada, are held on board the steamship Maracaibo by the federal authorities. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes are very fond of these pets, but they are not altogether lonesome, as they have with them at the McAlpin Hotel a clever little monkey and six parrots.

Mr. Stokes has spent his life in the study of oil fields, and he was sent to Lake Maracaibo by the Barber Asphalt Company for investigations, which led to boring four wells, he said. The Stokes couple lived in the jungle for nearly a year. The friendly little monkey they brought back was a wonder to the natives, because he takes a bath every morning. Mrs. Stokes, who got him when he was a baby, taught him that. The monkey is a great chum of a big parrot which shares his cage.

"SAVE THE KIDDIES," ORDERS VANDERBILT; VALET ASSISTS HIM

Toronto Woman Says He Will Be Remembered As "A Children's Hero" For Magnificent Work—He Also Helped Women To Safety.

[Canadian Press.]

Queenstown, May 11.—The body of Albert Thompson, of Toronto, brought in by an admiralty trawler last night, was found drifting with wreckage near the coast not far from the scene of the Lusitania disaster, which leads to the hope that additional bodies may be found in that vicinity. Seven unidentified bodies also were landed at Baltimore, 47 miles southwest of Cork, but the weather conditions are such it is not considered probable that many more will be found in that immediate vicinity, and all hope of finding further survivors now has been abandoned. A current of from two and one-half to three knots races around Old Head Kinsale, and this has been augmented by a stiff east wind, which at the end of eight or nine days may carry bodies ashore around Cape Clear on the west Irish coast. The winds ordinarily prevailing would have brought bodies ashore on the Atlantic coast of Cornwall, Eng.

Lifebelts Scarce.

The Cunard Steamship Company, after much trouble, has sent a tug to the scene of the disaster with instructions to run into the nearest cove and inform Cunard officials here if even a single body is found.

There are indications that the heavy death roll among the passengers in the first cabin was due to a scarcity of lifebelts, many of the men having given the life-preservers they had obtained to helpless women.

Mrs. Stanley B. Lines, of Toronto, paid a glowing tribute to the gallantry of Alfred Vanderbilt and his valet, Ronald Denver. People will not talk of Mr. Vanderbilt in the future, said Mrs. Lines, as a millionaire sportsman and a pleasure seeker. He will be remembered as "a children's hero," and men and women will salute his name.

"Find All the Kiddies."

"When death was nearing him he showed a gallantry which no words of mine can adequately state," said Mrs. Lines. "He stood outside the palm saloon on the starboard side, with Ronald Denver by his side. He looked on the scene of horror and despair with pitying eyes. 'Find all the kiddies you can,' he said to his valet.

"The man rushed off immediately collecting children, and as he brought them to Mr. Vanderbilt, the latter dashed to the boats with two little ones in his arms at a time. When he could no longer find any children, he went to the assistance of the women and placed as many as he could in safety.

Valet Assisted.

"In all the work he was gallantly assisted by Ronald Denver, and the two continued their efforts until the very end. I hope the young men of Britain will act the same for the country now as Mr. Vanderbilt did for somebody's little ones."

Webb Wade, secretary of Mr. Vanderbilt, has not yet been able to arrange with the authorities to comply with his request that all necessary tugs be chartered at the expense of the Vanderbilt family to search for other bodies as well as that of Mr. Vanderbilt. Until he heard the story of Dr. Owen Kenan, of New York, Mr. Wade believed his employer had entered one of the boats smashed against the side of the ship, but Dr. Kenan's story is so definite it is accepted generally as the correct version of Mr. Vanderbilt's last moments aboard the ship.

Gave Their Lives.

When the Lusitania was in her death throes there was no cooler group aboard than that composed of Mme. Marie Depage, Herbert S. Stone, Lindon Bates Jun., and Dr. J. T. Houghton. The last-named was the only survivor of the party. This little band guided women and children, supplied lifebelts, bound up the wounds of other passengers, and then plunged helplessly into the sea, having given up their own life-preservers.

Another throng of anxious friends and relatives arrived here last night, but the chances of identifying more of the dead are remote, as the great pits in the cemetery are filled with those buried as unknown, while other bodies which come ashore soon will be beyond identification.

KAISER SLOBBERS OVER MACKENZEN

Sends Letter of Fulsome Praise and Awards More Decorations.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, via Amsterdam to London, May 11.—Emperor William has sent the following message to Gen. Von Mackenzen, commanding the German forces in the Carpathian region:

"Under your leadership the allied armies have broken through the Russian front between the Carpathians and the Vistula, captured an incalculable quantity of booty and shaken the enemy's far-reaching Carpathian positions.

"Your leadership and the incomparable bravery of your troops have resulted in a victory which is among the proudest feats of arms in this war. For this I and the fatherland owe you thanks. I confer upon you the star and cross of a grand commander of the Imperial House and Order of Hohenzollern."

RUSSIANS INFLICT TERRIBLE LOSSES

Piles of Dead Interfere With Firing From the Trenches.

NEW STRONG OFFENSIVE

German and Austrian Forces Driven Back With Heavy Casualties.

[Canadian Press.]

Petrograd, via London, May 11.—An official statement issued last night by general headquarters said:

"In the region of Uzsok Pass, the enemy made a fruitless attack on Saturday. Serried enemy columns attacked impetuously a position held by two of our companies in a sector of the Javorina Mountain chain on the slopes above Lomnitza. The enemy's losses were so heavy that heaps of bodies interfered with the fire from our trenches. Our troops, in spite of the enemy's machine-gun fire, left their trenches and swept the enemy from the whole region.

Enemy Progressed.

"The same day, after a desperate fight, the enemy forced a Russian detachment near the village of Zateveki to retire to the left bank of the Dniester.

"Sunday night, our vanguards having crossed the Dniester, attacked the enemy on the Chaboruki front to the mouth of the Stry. We took 1,300 prisoners, one gun and many machine guns."

RUSSIANS ADVANCING.
[Canadian Press.]

Geneva, via Paris, May 11.—A dispatch to the Tribune says the Russians have begun a strong offensive movement at Tarnow as well as in Courland and on the Stry, driving back Austrian and German forces with heavy losses.

GERMAN SHIPS FLED.
[Canadian Press.]

London, May 11.—A Reuter's Petrograd dispatch says a squadron of cruisers of the Russian Baltic fleet, while cruising in the Southern Baltic in the region of Windau (a seaport in Courland), exchanged long-distance fire with a hostile cruiser and torpedo-boats, which took advantage of their superior speed to escape southward and avoid an engagement.

MEMBERS LEAVING 'CHANGE.

London, May 11.—An official list printed today on the stock exchange shows that about 600 members of the exchange will not apply for re-election for the current year.

STEAMER DETAINED.

London, May 11.—The Danish steamer Oscar II., from New York, April 29, for Copenhagen, put in at Kirkwall, Scotland, May 9. She will be detained at this port pending an examination of her cargo.

THE LOCAL MARKET

After reaching the high price of $1 50 per bushel on Monday, wheat declined to $1 40 today. Oats also sold at a slightly-reduced price, the highest sales being made at $1 90 per cwt.

Hay ranged from $13 to $15 per ton. Straw is slow, and cheaper, at $8 per ton.

The embargo on wool has affected the price on the local market to a great extent, lowering the price to 14 cents per pound, for unwashed. Hides are steady, but it is unlikely that they will advance.

Live hogs sell for $8 50 per cwt. Shipments will be made tomorrow at Toronto quotations.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, May 10.—The good crop prospects generally caused a weak opening on the local market. Wheat opened ½c to 1⅝c lower, after which there was temporary rally on short covering. This was short-lived, and before noon May touched $1.56⅞, July $1.52½, and October $1.19⅛, which was 2c to 2⅜c under Saturday's close.

May oats opened ⅝c lower, and July ¼c down. May held steady, while July declined further later.

Flax opened unchanged to ¼c higher, and eased off later.

In the cash department there was no trading to speak of, a few cars of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 northern wheat were being taken by Ontario millers. A fair inquiry for low grade oats and barley was in evidence, while flax was neglected.

Total inspections on Saturday were 150 cars, as against 315 cars last year. In sight today were 225 cars.

Deliveries through the clearing house today were: Wheat, 259,500 bushels; oats, 45,000 bushels; flax, 21,000 bushels, and barley, 12,000 bushels.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, May 11.—Money was plentiful today. Discounts were not affected by the influx of gold yesterday, as treasury bills are issued daily to maintain the rates. The stock market was quiet and steady. A few investment bargains were reported, but war loans, Japanese bonds, colonial stocks and mining and oil shares barely moved.

American securities moved irregularly. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific and United States Steel were supported in the afternoon, while the others were neglected and easy. The closing was uncertain.

WALL STREET.

New York, May 11—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The stock market gave every indication at today's opening of its intention to shake off the depression caused by the sinking of the Lusitania. Active stocks registered gains of 2 to 6 points, with not so much as a single initial decline in any quarter. United States Steel began with 5,000 shares at 53¼ to 54¼, compared with yesterday's close of 50¾. Westinghouse, on sales of 3,000 shares, was quoted at 88 to 89½, a maximum rise of 5¾, and Bethlehem Steel rose 4¾. Motors and the miscellaneous group gained 3 to 5. Reading and Canadian Pacific were the features of the standard railways, gaining 3¼ to 4½.

Noon.—Prices yielded 1 to 2 points after the first hour, a logical result of heavy realizing for profits. Trading diminished perceptibly, the output of the first hour being relatively light, and lapsing into absolute dullness before midday. Such satisfaction as was derived from the attitude of Washington towards impending events was nullified by the latest foreign advices, which pointed to greater tension respecting Italy's next move. Railroad bonds were firm, but Government issues were inexplicably heavy, losing ½ to a full point.

1:30 p.m.—Dullness continued as the chief feature of the market in the early afternoon. Following the usual course in such instances, Maxwell Motor issues reacted sharply on declaration of an initial dividend on the first preferred stock.

STOCKS WERE BUOYANT.

New York, May 11.—Positive buoyancy prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, the list making gains of 2 to 6 points, and provoking another wild rush of short coverings. President Wilson's Philadelphia address was undoubtedly a factor in the overnight change of sentiment, which found its first reflection in the higher range of stocks in London.

MONEY MARKET.

London, May 11.—Bar silver, 23⅝d per ounce.

Money, 1¼ to 1½ per cent. Discount rates—Short bills, 2¾ per cent; three months, 2⅜ per cent.

New York, May 11.—Bar silver, 50⅛c per ounce.

ONTARIO'S LOSS IN DISASTER 172

Of These 81 Were From Toronto—Only 168 Saved.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, May 11.—The latest compilation of the list of saved and missing among the Toronto passengers of the lost Lusitania gives 81 Toronto passengers lost, included in which are 32 women and 10 children. The saved from Toronto number 73, among whom are 24 women and 13 children.

The list of Canadians outside Toronto shows 91 missing, including 36 women and 8 children, and 95 saved, counting 35 women and 4 children.

Recent additions to the Toronto survivors are the names of Mrs. E. G. Webster and Mrs. A. V. Wiggins, 18 Boone avenue; R. W. Shorras, Montreal street, and F. A. McMurley, 328 Russell Hill road.

The death of Mrs. Ryerson, wife of Col. Ryerson, was definitely established in a cable to the family this morning, which said her body had been recovered near Kinsale, identified and temporarily interred.

MRS. RYERSON LOST

Son in Toronto Receives Word Her Body Buried at Kinsale.

MRS RYERSON LOST—PAGE ONE P

Toronto, May 11.—All doubts concerning the fate of Mrs. George Sterling Ryerson, wife of Col. Ryerson, Canadian Red Cross commissioner, who was a passenger on the Lusitania, were sadly removed today, when her son here received a message announcing that her body had been identified and interred at Kinsale, Ireland.

Miss Laura Ryerson, who was with her mother on the Lusitania, was undoubtedly saved, and is now with her father in London, whence he came from France yesterday. Mrs. Ryerson was on her way to England to see her son, Arthur, who was seriously wounded at Langemarck, and is now in hospital in London. Another son, Capt. Ryerson, was killed in action at Langemarck.

AUSTRALIA RESENTS LUSITANIA SINKING

Premiers Urge Increased Participation—Want Officers Tried For Murder.

[Canadian Press.]

Sydney, N. S. W.—Via London, May 11.—"The deep indignation felt throughout Australia at the sinking of the Lusitania should find immediate expression in increased participation in the war," was a statement contained in a resolution adopted yesterday at the conference of Australian premiers.

The conference also agreed to the suggestion of Premier Holman, of New South Wales, that a recommendation be made to the Imperial Government that Great Britain shall not agree to any peace terms which do not guarantee that officers of the German admiralty responsible for orders given submarines be handed over for trial before British juries, charged with murder on the high seas.

33RD MEN WELL TREATED

Citizens of Watford Used Them Like Princes Yesterday.

The guard of honor from the 33rd Battalion, which escorted the body of Pte. Patterson to Watford yesterday, returned this morning and are loud in their praise for the manner in which citizens treated them while there. The mayor, after the burial ceremony had been concluded, gave them free use of the town and the aldermen took the boys to dinner. Col. Kelly, of the 27th Regiment, Watford, entertained at the drill hall, and gave a lunch in their honor.

FREE TEXT BOOKS NOT LIKELY DURING 1915-16

Money for This Purpose May Be Cut From Estimates This Year.

Although provision was made for them in the current year's estimates of the board of education, there is a possibility that free text books for the city schools will not become a reality for the 1915-16 school year. In former years partial supplies for the schools have been provided by the board, but this year it was decided to appropriate $7,000 to cover the full cost of all supplies and text books. In view of the financial situation existing so far as city appropriations are concerened, it may be that the $7,000 will be cut to the figure of previous years, partial supplies and the free text books laid over for another year.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT

Court Welcome, No. 12, I. O. F., Entertains Its Friends.

Court Welcome, No. 12, I. O. F., held a successful patriotic concert in its hall, Dundas and English streets, last evening. The turnout was good. Miss Irene Straitch and Miss Hicks rendered several solos and were repeatedly encored. Chris Pink also added to the pleasure of the evening with a number of songs. His new patriotic song made a great hit. Messrs. Hilbert and Wiggley entertained with piano duets. Messrs. Coates and Howcroft were encored several times in their songs. A. Milliken delighted the audience with his recitations as also did Mr. Leigh, violinist. Mr. Sandford's numbers were enjoyed.

J. H. Laughton, high vice-chief ranger of the I. O. F., delivered a splendid address. The chair was occupied by Ald. C. H. Merryfield.

The music of the Albion Orchestra was all that could be desired.

MAYOR SAVES CITY NICE SUM YEARLY

Concludes Deal With Chicago Financial House.

That London has a mayor with a keen business instinct has been indicated time and time again, and now fresh proof is at hand that Dr. Stevenson is considerably more than a civic figurehead. He has just completed a deal with a Chicago financial house which will save the city something like $9,000 a year for the next three years, or a total of nearly $30,000.

Last year's administration made arrangements with the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $1,000,000, which was to be placed to the city's credit in the bank's books, and which was to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. The expectation was that the debt would be retired in three years.

Mayor Stevenson came to the conclusion that a better bargain than this ought to be possible, and, with the assistance of members of the board of control, has been making inquiries for some time past with a view to saving the city some of this interest. Their activities had a tangible result on Saturday, when his worship signed the papers closing an agreement with a Chicago firm by which the latter is to undertake the burden of the city's million-dollar debt at a rate slightly better than 5½ per cent.

LONDONER MAKES GOOD

G. P. McDowell Driving Force in New York City.

The names of many Londoners who have sought fame and fortune in the greater world outside the city have become almost household words, and their former fellow-citizens are always glad and proud to hear of their success. Among these must be numbered E. P. McDowell who, as a young man, left London, the city of his birth, and went to New York, where he has become famous as a promoter of motor taxi-cab enterprises and who now is in the public eye as the moving figure in a project to inaugurate a system of electric taxis which, the promotors believe, will ultimately result in the universal adoption of this form of public motor vehicle.

Mr. McDowell, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McDowell, still live in the city at 240 King street, was formerly president of the Renault Taxi Service Company, and later president of the Motor Taximeter Cab Company. In a recent article which appeared in the New York Sunday Times he was quoted as saying that, in his opinion, electric taxis would solve most of the difficulties which have made the gasoline-driven cab an unsightly, dangerous and uncomfortable vehicle.

ADELAIDE CHURCH B. Y. P. A. MEETING

Songs, Prayers and Addresses Formed Social Evening.

Adelaide Street B. Y. P. U. held its weekly meeting last night in the basement of the church and the attendance was well nigh a record one. The president, Mr. Jas. Baldwin, was in charge, and the following took part in a splendid program of vocal and instrumental music, viz: Mrs. Bert Edmonds and Miss Dowell; Mr. Charles and Miss Pearl Maynard. Mr. D. H. Gillies offered prayer. Miss Annie Reid read the scripture lesson and the pastor delivered an interesting, instructive and most helpful address on "Why I Am Proud of Our Denomination." Next Monday the program will be of a social and literary character, and it is expected the attendance will be still larger. Miss Georgia Newbury will be in charge.

PROTESTS AGAINST DISCRIMINATION IN CONTRACT LETTING

Outside Firm Says Their Tender Lower Than City Company's.

The board of control yesterday received a strongly-worded letter of protest from the J. H. Knight Construction Company, declaring that unfair discrimination had been shown in the letting of tenders for sewer construction work in the city. The company protested that its tender for two sections of sewer, although the lowest, had been thrown out in favor of the tender of a local firm, and urging that the city, in taking this course, was likely to build up an unfortunate reputation for unfairness to outside contractors.

The contract for the work in question, as a fact, was awarded originally to the complainant firm, but later it was found that the Webster Construction Company, of the city, had taken advantage of a clause in the advertisement calling for tenders which provided that, in case any contractor were willing to make a reduction in his price in the event of his being given the contract for more than one section, a separate letter might be inclosed with the tender to this effect. The Webster Company's inclosure, which in some manner escaped notice in the first instance, offered a reduction for a lump contract for two sections, which brought their price to within $84 of that submitted by the Knight Company.

In their letter the latter argued that such a supplementary estimate could not be bona fide, and pointed out that, even with the offered reduction, the local concern's price was still slightly hngher than the Knight tender.

The controllers thought, however, that for the sake of such a comparatively small amount the council would not be wise to turn down the local firm, and the clerk was instructed to write to the Toronto company explaining why the contract was taken away from them.

The board decided, on the recommendation of the city engineer, to reengage Mr. and Mrs. Poiret as instructors at the city bathing camp.

The departmental labor return for the week showed that 287 men were employed on city work during the seven-day period.

NICE LITTLE NESTEGG IF CHECKS ARE SIGNED

Those Without Signature Mean $1,500 to Glaubitz.

If—and there is naturally a wide scope of possibility in that little word—General Manager H. J. Glaubitz, of the public utilities commission, manages to secure the mayor's signature to his pay checks he will have a neat little nestegg at the time he leaves the city's employ on June 1. It will amount to a little better than $1,500, as there will be four months' salary coming to him.

The unsigned pay checks that now repose in the vault of City Clerk S. Baker are for December 15 to 26, 1914, and from February 10 until the present time in the current year. December 26 was the date his resignation was accepted, and February 10 was the day when he was reinstated.

Nothing further has been said by the general manager as to how he will force the mayor to affix his signature to the checks. He promised to make an announcement last week, but so far the said announcement has not been forthcoming. In company with his solicitor, he did wait on the mayor, and ask what the latter intended doing. He received the reply "Nothing." Apparently the same expression might apply to what action he has taken subsequently.

NEUTRAL SHIPPERS TAKE TIME BY THE FORELOCK

Advertise Sailings by Huge Posters—Call at English Ports.

'Tis an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and shipping companies are taking full advantage of the opportunity offered to increase their business by reason of the danger which apparently threatens passengers on board British ships crossing between America and England. The American, Scandinavian and Holland-American lines are all conducting vigorous advertising campaigns pushing the advantages offered by their respective vessels.

The Holland-American Line has issued instructions to its agents, advising them that the Potsdam, sailing today from New York to Rotterdam, Holland, will call in at Falmouth, England, with passengers for points in the British Isles, and that particulars of future sailings for Falmouth will be given shortly.

The Scandinavian-American Line also has sent "scare head" posters to shipping agents everywhere, pointing out that its ships sail under a neutral flag, and that their course takes them 250 miles north of Scotland, between the Shetland and Faroe Islands, and therefore well outside the war zone. The Russian-American Line also advertises that its vessels travel far north of the war zone, and the various American lines make a point in their circulars of the fact that their passengers are afforded the protection offered by a ship flying the flag of a neutral country.

So far, local agents say, bookings have not fallen off to any appreciable extent, either for neutral or British ships in spite of the terrible fate of the Lusitania passengers, and very few cancellations of bookings made before the news of the disaster was made public are reported.

SUCCESSOR TO GLAUBITZ EXPECTED ON THURSDAY

Public Utilities Commissioners Will Decide Question Then.

Settlement of who will succeed H. J. Glaubitz as the general manager of the public utilities commission is expected to be made when the adjourned meeting of the board is held on Thursday afternoon of this week. It was expected that the appointment would have been made last week but the absence of Chairman Philip Pocock and Commissioner T. W. McFarland caused the postponement of the meeting. Captain E. V. Buchanan, present engineer of the commission, is slated to be the man picked on to step into the general manager's shoes.

SUNDAY CALLS IT BLACKEST PIRACY

Evangelist Worked Up Over Lusitania—Peace Ceases To Be Virtue.

Paterson, N. J., May 11.—"If Germany has resorted to such methods of warfare then to hell with Germany," declared Billy Sunday last night, in Paterson, when he was certain that the Lusitania had been sunk by a German submarine without warning to the passengers.

"It is nothing less than a dirty, black, piratical trick under the name of war fare, and to hell with any other nation that would use such methods.

"I can't find adequate words to express my resentment and to tell how strongly I feel about this matter. I haven't slept since I read the first bulletins yesterday, thinking and worrying over these wholesale murders.

"The American people are not going to stand for this. There is a limit. Americans have kept their feelings in check because President Wilson asked them to observe strict neutrality, but they will not sit idly by when things like this are going on. No, no; 'Thou shalt not kill!' "

Mr. Sunday seemed to be greatly excited about the sinking of the vessel, and he said that he was going on with his regular evening service in the tabernacle at Paterson with difficulty. He admitted that his "fighting blood" was aroused, and that there were times when peace ceased to be a virtue.

MILITARY HONORS FOR TWO SOLDIERS WHO DIED ON DUTY

Two soldiers, Privates Gordon H. Patterson, who died in Victoria Hospital from spinal meningitis, and Henry Burchett, who succumbed to an attack of heart failure, were buried yesterday with military honors.

Led by Lieut.-Col. Wilson, the cortege, including a band and escort, left the hospital and marched to the Grand Trunk depot. Here the remains of Pte. Patterson, a firing squad and his friends entrained for Watford, where the burial took place. The services were conducted by Capt. Peacock, chaplain of the regiment. "Last post" was sounded at the grave, where a firing squad discharged a farewell salute. Patterson was a member of B Company.

The funeral of Pte. Henry Burchett, of the 33rd Battalion, was held from his residence, 390 Glebe street, yesterday afternoon to Woodland Cemetery. Members of Burchett's company attended the funeral. Services were conducted at St. Matthew's Church, and the grave by Rev. A. E. Appleyard.

MR. YOUNGS HAS JOB IN HIS INSIDE POCKET

Sir Adam Beck Made Appointment, But Evidently Did Not Tell Anyone.

While Mr. Riley Youngs, until recently Pere Marquette district freight agent, carries around in his inside pocket his appointment as general manager of the London and Port Stanley Railway. Members of the commission are giving out interviews to the effect that the appointment has not been made.

The fact is that Mr. Youngs has been appointed as manager and that he has an agreement for five years at a salary not known, but believed to be $3,000 a year.

Mr. Youngs will not discuss the matter, but the information is to the effect that he received his appointment before Sir Adam Back went abroad. The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission had something to do with the appointment and the local board, to judge from statements made, was not consulted.

A citizen asked today if it was not rather peculiar that Mr. William Spittal, honorary secretary of the local commission, should not know that the appointment had been made. Mr. Spittal gave out a statement that Mr. Youngs had not been appointed, the fact evidently having been withheld from the local commission.

The Optician

398 RICHMOND STREET.

Voice of the People

Mr. Rogers and the Ministers.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Permit me to offer a word of comment upon the editorial entitled "Mr. Rogers and the Clergy" in your issue of Friday, May 6. I am the more free to do so being neither a politician in the usual sense of the word, nor yet a preacher. The concluding appeal to Sir Robert Borden to discipline the author of the Montreal speech may well be left to the high-minded and responsible head of the Government, whose duties no one should aggravate in these days of unparalleled national trial. The moderation of your protest against the attack upon the clergy by a minister of the crown must commend itself to all lovers of fair and decent journalism. In many years of observation of public controversies in this country I do not recall a more callous, wanton and deliberately-calculated insult than the speech in question to noble men whose shoes their assailant, the Minister of Public Works, would soil by contact. To the independent and courageous deliverances of pulpit and press the country, beset with ills, owes a debt of gratitude, as did older nations, to the prophets of the past. One is almost surprised at the forbearance of the gentlemen who listened to this painful diatribe that the guest of the evening was not then and there called to account for so shallow a betrayal of decency by one who, however, was unwittingly contriving his own political undoing. The admirable restraint with which those singled out have apparently regarded the abuse enables the public to discern who are at this time the men worthy to be trusted as real friends of the nation.
