

SOUTH LONDON BUSINESS MAN DROWNED AT PORT STANLEY

Mr. William McCullough of the Firm of McCullough & Willsie, Overtaken by Cramps While Bathing Off West Pier and Perishes Within Sight of His Family.

The fourth drowning accident of the month occurred yesterday afternoon, when Mr. William McCullough, of the firm of McCullough & Willsie, butchers, of Wortley road, South London, lost his life while swimming in the lake at Port Stanley. Yesterday afternoon being a half-holiday, Mr. McCullough left to join his wife, she having gone to the Port in the morning. He took the 2:30 train, and after having located his wife, started out for a walk along the pier with a companion, Mr. George Ayres. They had gone out to the end of the west pier, when McCullough decided to have a swim. He gave his clothes to Ayres, telling him to carry them into the beach, and that his wife was sitting up on the shore. Ayres walked up, and when he reached the shore he heard a man shout, "He's sinking."

Four Went To Help.

Four young men, who were standing near the beach, immediately swam to McCullough's aid. They were too late, however, for he had gone down the third time before they reached him. He was in the water but a few minutes before his body was recovered, but he was beyond human aid when he was brought to shore.

Doctors Work Over Him.

Dr. R. M. Lipsie, of St. Thomas, and Dr. Mothersill, of Port Stanley, worked over him for more than half an hour before they pronounced him dead. Mrs. McCullough, who with the two little children, had been watching while the doctors worked, collapsed when she learned he was dead. She was then brought to this city on the 6:30 train, and thence to the home of her parents on the Hamilton road. The body was first taken to the undertaking establishment of Leigh & Co., in St. Thomas, where the coroner decided that an inquest was unnecessary. It was then removed to the home of deceased's mother on John street, in this city.

Mr. McCullough had been married about five years. Two months ago he purchased a new home on Tecumseh avenue.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Madeline, 4 years, and Comber, 18 months.

He carried a small insurance. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

It is supposed that the dead man was overtaken by cramps, otherwise it is difficult to account for his death, as he was known to be an excellent swimmer.

Might Have Been Saved.

An eye-witness of the affair told The Advertiser today that the man drowned in five feet of water, and that there were at least a score of people on the wharf, any one of whom could have rescued him.

He had nearly reached the shore, and was in shallow water. When he came up he was doubled up so that it appears he was stricken with cramps.

Track Problem Looms Up Again But Hays Is Not Enthusiastic

Wants the Matter to Go to the Railway Commission.

Considerable interest is being taken in the negotiations that have been going on between Mayor Stevely and Ald. Beattie with the Grand Trunk relative to the elevation of the tracks throughout the city. It is certain that the interviews the city fathers had with the officials were none too promising, nevertheless there is a distinct belief that something will be done shortly.

Second Vice-President Fitzhugh is known to favor the elevation of the tracks through the city, and will bring the matter to the attention of Mr. Hays as early as possible.

Mr. Hays is not very enthusiastic over elevating the tracks, nor has he ever been. He considered it a fad of Mr. McGuigan's, and opposed it in the beginning. Since then his attitude has not changed, and he still opposes elevation.

He wants the matter to go to the Dominion railway commission. Here he thinks he will get much better terms than he would offer the city when the question came up before. "Take my word for it, the city will get far worse terms than if Mr. McGuigan's offer had been accepted," said a prominent citizen who watched the former negotiations very closely. "There is no doubt in my mind that Mr. Hays is firmly convinced that he will get much the best of the argument, and consequently he is anxious for the city to carry the negotiations to that body. However, he may be persuaded to make terms with the city. The level crossings at Egerton and Rectory streets, to say nothing of the others, will cause some trouble yet, and if the matter is taken before the railway commission by the city, the Grand Trunk will not object, as it will bind the city to accept the terms agreed on."

Around the city hall, the impression prevails that the question of track elevation is settled for a long time, so far as the direct negotiations between the city and the company are concerned, and that anything to be done in the future must come from the railway commission.

A Bicycle Thief Given a Year Captured After a Warm Sprint

Wheel Taken From Newsboy and Sold to an East End Merchant.

Lamont Ferguson, a young Scotman, was sentenced by Magistrate Love this morning to one year in the Central Prison on a charge of stealing a wheel from a newsboy named Trevor Thomas. Ferguson took the wheel about six weeks ago and sold it in the East End. On July 15 he was seen passing by the man who had bought the wheel from him, and when followed ran away. P. C. Elmer Walsh joined in the chase, and after a hard run of six blocks overtook Ferguson, who tried to hide in a house. He was captured, and when brought up before Magistrate Love, pleaded guilty. "There is too much bicycle stealing going on in London," said the court, "and I propose to make an example of everyone caught. I sentence you to one year in the Central Prison."

E. B. Smith was charged by Inspector Galpin with selling liquor in broken packages. Mr. Smith pleaded guilty, and was fined $20 and $1.85 costs.

John McDonagh, a drunk, was fined $3 or 5 days.

William McMullin, another drunk, was remanded for a week to sober up.

EXTRA RACE MEETING AT HAMILTON PROPOSED

To Follow Hamilton Jockey's Club Fall Events.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Hamilton, July 23.—There is a movement on foot here to run a race meeting on James' half-mile track with the close of the fall meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club on Oct. 10. The proposition is to hold a 30-day meeting with $200 purses and a fifty-cent admission fee.

As the H. J. C. meet closes the races in the northern circuit, and lots of horses will be here for which there is no place to go, it is thought that an outdoor meeting could be made to pay. W. J. Harrison, who is connected with the Quebec meeting will be asked to come here and look the ground over.

It takes about 2,000,000 cords of wood a year to make the newspapers that go through the presses of New York City.

INDUSTRIAL FATALITIES

Last Month 137 Canadian Workpeople Were Fatally Hurt.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 23.—Labor department statistics show that during last month there were 137 fatal industrial accidents to individual Canadian work people. In railway work, 28 were killed, and 32 injured during the month.

WANTS SHARE OF $6,000,000.

Detroit, Mich., July 23.—John Turner, of Quebec, writes here in an endeavor to locate some of the descendants of Solomon Wales, who is said to have been one of the first settlers of Michigan, and whose heirs are said to be legal claimants of a fortune of $6,000,000 left them by Allen Wright, Solomon Wales, according to the letter, was married to an aunt of Allen Wright's and his nearest relative.

THE PRINCE OPENS PAGEANT IN HONOR OF CHAMPLAIN

Old-Time Costumes, Ships and Manners Reproduced in Quebec Today in Memory of the Founder of the Ancient City.

Quebec, July 23.—At 10:30 o'clock this morning His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales went on board the various flagships, to return the naval visits which he received yesterday. The state postilion of the prince was preceded over by a travelling escort. He was accompanied by Lord Annull, lord-in-waiting; Lieut.-Col. Sir Arthur Biggs, and two aides-de-camp mounted.

A guard of honor was mounted at the King's wharf and a royal salute of 21 guns was fired on each flagship after the visit of his royal highness. Today is the most important day of the festivities. It is a civic holiday, and the streets and thoroughfares of the city are crowded with strangers.

Honoring Champlain.

The day is generally devoted to the honoring of Champlain. A fac-simile of the ship in which he crossed the Atlantic, the Don de Dieu, has been constructed for the occasion, and on this vessel the representation of Samuel de Champlain and those of his crew will pass around the front of St. Joseph, into full view of the city, and up to the landing-place at the Finlay market wharf. Champlain and his attendants will then first enter representations of the first building constructed by him in Quebec, which has been erected for the occasion from his own drawing of it, close to the landing-place, and within a hundred yards of the very spot where he built his first dwelling and fortress in 1608. Heeded by Jacques Cartier and his men, Champlain and the members of his crew will be escorted by a historical procession to the foot of the statue of the founder of Quebec, on Dufferin Terrace. Here the procession will be reviewed by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, who will then declare the celebration officially open.

Seventh Leaves Quebec Tomorrow

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Quebec, July 23.—The Seventh Regiment will be one of the first to break camp here, as it leaves Quebec on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The Toronto men go home on Saturday, but the composite rural corps stay until Tuesday morning.

QUICK-THINKING DRIVER HALTS A RUNAWAY

Wheels His Rig Before Frightened Animal and Causes Him to Stop.

The noise from a large box of fruit falling on the pavement so frightened a horse belonging to Mr. R. H. Morgan, grocer, this morning on the market, that it ran away. The horse had been standing on the east side of the market house.

The market gardeners made haste to give the frightened beast a clear passage, and in a moment it was headed for Richmond street, just as a London South belt line car came down the street.

One of Chantier's coal rigs happened to be driving eastward on King street at the same time, and when the driver realized what was taking place he swerved his rig in the path of the runaway, which ran full tilt into the coal wagon. The force of the collision threw the runaway to the street, but fortunately the animal escaped injury. A number of passersby ran out and held the horse down until the rig could be backed away and the harness removed.

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT

G. T. R. Switchman Frederick Parker Found in Winnipeg.

Port Huron, Mich., July 23.—Fred Parker, the Grand Trunk switchman, who is charged with assaulting Miss Elizabeth Tilger, at her home on White street, last April, and who escaped from the officers by running through the St. Clair tunnel to Sarnia, has been captured at Winnipeg. Sheriff Davidson has gone to Winnipeg for the prisoner.

THE WESTERN TRIP

Over 200,000 9dded to the Dominion's Population in Fifteen Years.

Ottawa, July 23.—According to statistics compiled by the census and statistics bureau, 50,274 families took up a corresponding number of farms in the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, during the past fifteen years. They increased the population of the Canadian west by 295,774 persons.

From the United States there came 16,244 families, with 70,703 persons; from the British Islands, 10,797, with 51,295 persons; from Austria-Hungary, 10,650, with 52,638 persons; from Russia, 5,018, with 24,594 persons; from Scandinavia, 3,830, with 11,968 persons; from Germany and Holland, 1,986, with 7,734 persons; from France and Belgium, 1,131, with 4,487 persons; and from other countries, 568, with 2,254 persons.

CROPS DOING WELL

The C. P. R. Reports All Indicate a Most Bountiful Harvest.

Winnipeg, July 23.—Reports on the condition of the growing grain of the western provinces were received at the office of the general manager of the C. P. R. this morning. A summary of the reports indicates that the general rains of last week, extending over the entire grain district, have been of great benefit to the crops. There are a few points in Manitoba and Southern Alberta calling for more rain, but, generally speaking, all have received a fair supply of moisture.

Hail is reported at a few points, but the damage is slight, and confined to small areas. Grain dealers interviewed on the exchange this morning said that they expected the cutting of the crop to begin about the second week of August, which is some time earlier than last year.

GRAND WELCOME TO THE PRINCE

Royal Visitor to the Tercenary Arrives at Quebec.

WAR FLEETS THUNDER SALUTE

Prince, in Reply to Premier Laurier's Address, Pays Tribute to French-Canadian Loyalty.

Quebec, Que., July 22.—"I recall with much pleasure the no uncertain proofs which I have received on my several visits to Canada of the loyalty of the King's French-Canadian subjects. Their proved fidelity in times of difficulty and danger, happily long past, is one of the greatest tributes to the political genius of England's rule."

This was the most significant statement in the speech of the Prince of Wales delivered on his arrival on Canada today to take part in the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the foundation of the city of Quebec by Samuel de Champlain, from which has developed that hardy French-Canadian people, that following the rivers and streams, has spread thousands of miles into the interior of Canada, and left its relics in all the states of the middle west as far south as New Orleans. The beauty of the reception accorded the prince exceeded in an immeasurable degree that of 1901, not only in point of the multitude present, but in the distinguished figures from Canada and from abroad who were gathered to receive him.

Day of Incessant Pictures.

The day has been one of incessant pictures, which the retina of the ordinary eye could scarcely do justice to in recollection. It commenced with a heavy downpour, followed by a stifling heat that covered the far vistas of the St. Lawrence with a veil that delayed the arrival of the indomitable England's ship of mystery, for fully three-quarters of an hour. Then a singular coincidence occurred.

On Sept. 18, 1901, when the prince arrived here, there were similar foggy conditions, which cleared just as his pleasure ship, the Optim, hove in sight. Today, precisely the same thing occurred, but the spectacle was not beautiful as on that occasion, because the Indomitable, like the other ships of the North Atlantic squadron, which had gone out to meet her, were all dull gray. The naval experts, who are private here in large numbers to get a good look at the ship of mystery, probably learned something of interest which would support the policy of the United States naval department in still maintaining the old cream and white colors, which Britain and France have abandoned at the instance of Japan. With the intensely bright sunlight that broke out as the swift Indomitable steamed rapidly toward her anchorage, every detail was visible with an exquisite distinctness, while to those who glanced at the United States ship New Hampshire at her anchorage half a mile away, she was dazlingly indistinctive. This, of course, is due to the well-known principle that a dark object is always more distinctly seen in sunlight than a light one.

Brilliant Scenes.

Tonight all the warships, with the exception of the Minotaur and the Indomitable, are illuminated, and the scene is the most brilliant naval event of the St. Lawrence with the lights of the inland cities of Canada had ever witnessed. The lines of the vessels of England, France and United States were outlined with thousands of electric lights. Lying on the broad bosom of the St. Lawrence with the lights of Levis behind and the lights of the lower town near by, the sight was indescribably beautiful, and yet more beautiful was it as twilight was coming on and the ships began signalling (Continued on Page Nine.)

CANADA TAKES THE 200 METRES KERR FIRST TO BREAST TAPE

The "Canadian Bullet" Scores a Big Win for the Dominion at the Olympic Games—Warm American Tribute to Walker's Great Victory.

London, July 23.—The final in the 200-metre flat race was won by Kerr, Canada.

London, July 23.—Two hundred-metre final—Cloughen, Irish-American, A. C., was second; and C. J. Cartmell, University of Pennsylvania, was third. The time for the winner was 22 2-5 seconds.

London, July 23.—As the Olympic games draw toward a close interest in them increases and fine weather, although late in arriving, is now smiling upon the great international contest for athletic supremacy, and with the assistance of cheaper seats, is bringing out crowds of spectators to the stadium.

Yesterday was to the meeting what Derby day is to Epsom racing week, the final of the 100-metres sprint in the eyes of the general public being considered the most important event of the meeting.

A Tribute to Walker.

The tribute the Americans at the stadium paid to Walker yesterday, when the young South African won the 100-metres dash, appears to have appealed strongly to English sportsmanship, and is likely to do much to dispel the soreness caused by the American protests earlier in the games, which was much discussed. Most of the morning papers describe yesterday's demonstration in complimentary terms. The Standard says: "The Americans took a leading part in the ovation given Walker. They showered congratulations upon him and the young men who were massed in the grandstand carrying the flag of their country went out of their way to praise their conqueror."

Standing High Jump.

In the first section of the standing high jump at the stadium this morning Tsiclitiras, Greece, won with a jump of 5 feet, 1 inch; Adams, United States, was second, with 4 feet, 11 inches; Dupont, Belgium, third, 4 feet, 8 inches.

In this event the best eight in all sections came together in the final. In the second section of the standing high jump, Rev. C. Ewry, N. Y. A. C., cleared 5 feet, 1 inch, and J. A. Biller, Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., 4 feet 11 inches.

London, July 23.—The third heat of the 110-metre hurdles was won by Greenings, United Kingdom. Time, 16 2-5 seconds. Fourth heat, Kieby, United Kingdom, won easily. Fifth heat, W. M. Rand, Harvard University, won. Time, 15 4-5 seconds. Sixth heat, Walter, United Kingdom, won. Time, 17 3-5 seconds. Seventh heat, Knydett, United Kingdom, won easily.

The 400 Metres.

London, July 23.—In the final of the 400 metre flat race, J. C. Carpenter, Cornell University, came in first. A sensation was created when the officials declared that it was no race. This decision was reached on the ground that Carpenter had "bored" Halswelle, the English runner. Boring is the English term for "pocketing." W. C. Robbins, Cambridge University, was second. Halswelle was third and J. B. Taylor, Irish-American, A. C., fourth.

One Runaway Starts a Second And Latter Charges Hotel Door

Corporation Equine and Doctor's Steed in Odd Mixup.

It isn't often that an ordinary horse takes a notion to pay a visit to a hotel, but that is what happened yesterday afternoon when Dr. Wishart's horse ran away and broke in the door of the Metropolitan Hotel, Dundas and Wellington streets.

Dr. Wishart had left the animal standing near the corner of King and Wellington streets. A moment later a horse, attached to a street scraper came running down the street with the frightened animal to a stop.

The scraper bumping at its heels. The noise of the bumping scraper frightened Dr. Wishart's horse and it too ran away. The horse, with the scraper, continued west on King street, while the other animal turned up Wellington street until it reached the Metropolitan Hotel, when it attempted to run through the front door, which was closed. The horse was slightly injured by contact with the door, but will be all right in a few days.

The other runaway continued down King street until the scraper collided with a grocery wagon, when the driver of the wagon jumped off and brought the frightened animal to a stop.

Relay Race For Old Boys' Week

One of the prominent features of Old Boys' week will be a one-mile relay race, open to teams from athletic clubs and counties, to be run off at Queen's Park on Monday, Aug. 3. The teams are to be composed of four runners, each runner doing a quarter-mile. The race begins about 3:30 Monday.

The prizes will consist of handsome gold medals for first place, and four silver medals for second place. It has not yet been decided whether third prizes will be given or not. There are any number of fast relay teams in and near London, and the entries should be numerous and classy.

Application will be made at once for a sanction from the C. U. for the race in order to enable registered athletes to compete. Athletes can register at the London Y. M. C. A. upon payment of 25 cents.

Fractured Leg and Did Not Know It

McKay Antone, a young Oneida Indian, was taken to Victoria Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a very severe fracture of the leg. Antone is a famous athlete among the Oneidas, and as far as can be learned was wrestling with another Indian on the reserve, when he tripped and fell over something. At first he thought he had merely sprained his ankle, and went around for a day or two without paying much attention to the injury. Yesterday, however, the leg swelled to such proportions, that he suffered such intense pain, that a physician was called, and upon examination found that the leg had been fractured. Owing to the wound not having been attended to there is some fear that complications may develop. At present the young brave is suffering most intensely.

Friday Is the Girls' Day at the Bath

The sulphur baths will be thrown open to girls tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, and there promises to be a very large attendance of the gentler sex. Professor Butterworth will be in attendance, and will give the girls instructions in swimming.

Several lady members of the Playgrounds' Association will be on hand to assist in the work. Parks Commissioner Pearce writes that the girls should bring a towel and some sort of bathing dress with them. He also says that any of the mothers who wish to bring their daughters will be welcomed.

Up-to-Date Apartment House Assured

London is now assured of an up-to-date apartment-house. This morning Mr. George T. Hiscox sold the property at the corner of Wellington street and Queen's avenue to Mr. John Hayman for a large figure. Mr. Hayman will commence work on the property immediately, and it is expected that the apartments will be ready for occupancy by Christmas. London has felt the need of such a building for some time, and it is the intention of Mr. Hayman to erect the most modern style of apartment. It will cost about $50,000.

The property is 84 by 142 feet, and has a 44 foot frontage on Queen's avenue. There will be a modern restaurant and in connection with the apartment, and other features of an up-to-date apartment.

Already there have been many applications for suites.

May Raise Capital to $600,000,000 Latest Move of Standard Oil Co.

The Effects of the Legal Decision Reversing Order for Big Fine.

Chicago, July 22.—Following closely on the decision of the United States court of appeals today, reversing the decision of Judge Landis in the Government suit against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Daily News today says: "Bankers who have close affiliations with the Standard Oil Company state that that organization will soon announce an increase in the capital stock of $100,000,000 by $50,000,000, making a total capital stock of $500,000,000."

Following the unanimous decision of Judges Grosscup, Seaman and Baker reversing and remanding the case of the Government against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, in which case Judge Landis in the district court had imposed a fine of $25,000,000, the federal authorities have announced that the Government had 50 days within which to file a petition for a rehearing, and that it would be filed within the allotted period.

In the case that was reversed today the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was found guilty of accepting rebates on shipments of oil from its refinery at Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill. Judge Landis fined the company $20,000 on each of 1,462 counts, each count representing a carload shipment. Today's opinion of three judges of the higher court leaves little of the contention that each carload constituted a separate offence. Even the various shipments, of which there were about 500, could not be considered as separate offences under the ruling of the court of appeals. The fine should have been based on settlements between the railroad and the oil company, the opinion holds. Of these there were just 368. The maximum fine on this basis would amount to $720,000 and the minimum $36,000. It is said that $225,000 is the total amounts which the Standard Oil Company is alleged to have received as rebates on the shipments in question. In the event that a rehearing is denied the Government may go to trial on the original indictment, containing 1,462 counts. Such an action District Attorney Sims could be ready to take within two weeks. There are also seven other indictments, containing 4,422 counts. As a vast amount of work has been done on the case already decided and reversed it is unlikely that an entirely new case will be instituted. The record of the present case contains over a million and a half words and is estimated to have cost the Government $200,000.

Another move which may be made by the federal attorneys is to transfer the prosecution from this jurisdiction either to the Western New York district or to the Eastern Tennessee Court. In these two districts the Government investigation led to indictment, containing about 2,000 counts, against the Standard Oil Company.

BLOOD MARKS LED TO A CLOSET

A Brutal Murder Disclosed in Boston—Shocking Discovery Made By Husband.

Boston, July 22.—A brutal murder was disclosed last night by the discovery of the body of Mrs. Emma Payrow, 38 years old, gagged and with her throat cut, crushed into a small closet in one of the apartments on Columbus avenue in the Back Bay.

The woman's body was found by her husband, Charles H. Payrow, when he returned to his room late last evening.

Not finding his wife in their apartments, he began a search, and was attracted by blood marks which led to a closet. Opening the door he found the body of his wife crowded into a small space. In her mouth was a gag and her throat had been slit from ear to ear.

The police upon being notified placed an officer in charge of the rooms, with orders to give no information regarding the case.

Little is known of Mr. and Mrs. Payrow by those who occupy the neighboring apartments.

LEGISLATIVE POKER GAME

Georgia Reformers Caught Gambling —Well-Supplied With Drinks.

Atlanta, July 21.—Detectives raided a room in the Kimball House, one of Atlanta's leading hotels, and arrested five members of the Georgia Legislature who, it is alleged, were engaged in a game of poker.

When the detectives rushed into the room there was a jackpot on the table worth over $500.

The legislators got busy with the phones and through the members of their names off the police record, after giving $300 bail each.

The room was fitted up with a regular poker table and the detectives allege it has been used for gambling by legislators ever since the session began. They say that the members whose room is used does not play himself, but watches the kitty and gets a good rakeoff from the poker-loving members of the House and Senate.

The officers also found all sorts of liquors in the room for the refreshment of those who patronized the legislative poker table.

The present Legislature is known as the reform body, but the recent discovery of a blind tiger in the Capitol and of a legislative gambling room today has caused many to doubt the genuineness of its reform professions.

MARRIED HIS STEPMOTHER

Was His Father's Third Wife and Is Three Years His Senior.

Worcester, Mass., July 23.—Clement W. Kirkpatrick, of Springfield, has married his stepmother, Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick, in the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mark A. Denman, pastor of the Memorial Church. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was Miss Stella D. Morris, of Holyoke before her marriage to her present husband's father.

The young woman was her husband's father's third wife. She is very good looking, and 29 years old. Her husband is three years her junior. She is wealthy. Clement C. Kirkpatrick left her a widow two years ago.

RAT AND ROOSTER FIGHT TO FINISH

Sixteen-Inch Rodent Falls Victim to Chickadee.

Darby, Pa., July 22.—A strange combat was witnessed this morning between a Black Minorcan rooster belonging to Charles Crumbach, of South Fifth street, near Darby Creek, and a sixteen-inch sewer rat. For some time chickens have been disappearing mysteriously at the rate of five and six a week. This morning in broad daylight, evidently emboldened by hunger, the rodent made its appearance among the flock and was in the act of carrying a young chicken off, when the rooster saw it. Making a funny noise, the parent bird made a rush at the thief and struck it with its wings and spur.

The rat leaped sideways at the next onslaught, and then finding the rooster determined to give battle it dropped its prey, and for the next five minutes both fought the battle of their lives. The rat avoided the sharp spurs of the rooster as much as possible, and as soon as an attack was delivered it would rush in an attempt to fasten itself on the bird's throat. The rooster would jump several feet in the air, shaking it off, when the bird would trample it two or three times before it could get up.

Finally, the rooster succeeded in springing one of the rat's eyes, and then after that it knocked it right and left until the rodent ran into its hole, where it died, literally picked to death. It is expected that the death of the rat will clear up the mystery of the loss of the young chickens. The rooster was slightly muzzed up from the encounter, but otherwise was all right.

PASTOR LOCKED OUT

Serious Trouble in Amherstburg Methodist Church.

Amherstburg, July 22.—A majority of the members of the Amherstburg Methodist Church are daily refusing to receive Rev. Richard Redmond, the pastor recently assigned them by the London Conference. Rev. Mr. Redmond preached last Sunday for the first time in the Amherstburg church, but the official members have locked him out of the personage, and he is staying at the Amherst Hotel. Those most opposed to Mr. Redmond's incumbency admit that they have no personal feeling against him, but rather than accept his leadership for twelve months, they have asked the conference president to allow their withdrawal from the Methodist communion for one year, that they may call a man of their own selection.

JUMPED TO SAFETY.

Montreal, July 22.—The C. P. R. Ottawa train ran into the rear of a freight train near St. Anne de Bellevue this morning. The engineer and fireman jumped, saving their lives. None of the passengers were hurt. Western traffic was blocked for several hours.

GOES TO RESCUE MILLIONS IN GOLD

New Yorker Knows Where Great Amount of Money in Bullion Is Buried.

New York, July 21.—Capt. Neils Peter Sorensen claims to know where $20,000,000 in gold bullion lies buried at the bottom of the ocean just where he can get at it, and shows documents to prove the existence of the wreck laden with gold, tallow and wool, just where it has lain for 42 years.

Sorensen has organized an expedition to go after the buried gold, and has given himself just eighteen months to return a rich man. He has devised a clever scheme to circumvent old ocean, to defy swirling tides and smashing waves, and he has made capitalists believe in the feasibility of his scheme. He says:

"May 13, 1866, the American clipper ship, Gen. Grant, was wrecked on the west coast of the island of Auckland, 150 miles from the southernmost land of New Zealand. The Gen. Grant had aboard $20,000,000 in gold bullion."

"For 42 years all that gold has lain there. I have not seen the wreck for 30 years, but she still lies there, as soon as the day she went down."

"Now we are going to get that gold. The New Zealand Government makes no claim to it. I have arranged for a concession permitting me to land a few men on the island. I shall doubtless find the bulk and the strong. I shall have to blow out the side. To do this I will prepare a canvas box, six inches in diameter, with loops along the side, and will fill this with dynamite."

"When I go down after the flash I will find a hole knocked in the side of the bulk just under the captain's cabin, and $20,000,000 in gold bullion will be awaiting me. The treasure can't sink rock bottom. I have but to fasten the boxes to cables and have them hauled up."

"I shall start in a few days. The expedition will start from San Francisco for New Zealand. We shall outfit the expedition in Dunedin, in the south of New Zealand, and sail for the Auckland in a chartered schooner."

Capt. Sorensen has served in the United States navy, and he has been divided to the wreck of the ill-fated Pacific mail steamer Rio Janeiro, which sank in the Golden Gate, costing the lives of many passengers, including United States Consul Wildman, his wife and daughter.

JOTTINGS FROM NEAR-BY PLACES

BACK TO PRISON

Escaped Convict "Good" for Eleven Years Must Finish Term.

Chicago, July 22.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Williams, Ariz., says:

With a pistol pressed to his abdomen by Ranger H. E. Woods, Frank Sherlock, alias Charles Bly, recognized as a convict who rode away from the New Mexico penitentiary last night, and immediately started on the overland train for Santa Fe, where he has two years to serve on a four-year sentence for horse stealing.

Sherlock was traced by a fellow convict whom he discharged from a position with the Grand Canon Lumber and Cement Company at Nelson, Ariz., where Sherlock had taken a contract. Sherlock since his escape has been an exemplary life. For eight years he has served as a deputy sheriff of Mojave County and in that time has run down many desperate criminals.

What's the matter with your hand?" asked the magistrate, viewing the bundle of bandages supported in a sling.

"I cut my thumb off chopping wood," replied Shredon, and added that the accident had occurred since he kicked the horse.

"That is poetic justice," said Mr. Kingsford, "and as you have been sufficiently punished I shall dismiss the charge."

Shredon came up before Mr. Kingsford this morning and admitted kicking his horse. He explained that the beast wanted to run away, and his action was intended to impress upon the animal that it must not do so. "I am sorry that I got so excited," said Shredon.

PROTEST ELECTION.

Brockville, July 22.—Today Buell & Botsford, acting for R. L. Joynt, the defeated candidate at the provincial election, filed a warrant with the local registrar of the high court, alleging bribery and corruption in connection with the election of G. H. Ferguson, and it further alleges that a deputy returning officer on election day opened a ballot box to ascertain how voters had voted.

PERCENTAGE TAX ON MINE.

Toronto, July 21.—The department of lands and mines has received a check for $33,264, being the percentage due it from the O'Brien mine for the three months ending June 30.

WAR WITH YELLOW MEN.

Auckland, New Zealand, July 22.—The premier of New Zealand, in justifying a large expenditure in a welcome to the United States fleet, said that that country spent $250,000,000 annually with the empire in trade. Besides, with its great sea power, it was a country the friendship of which should be cultivated.

The day will come, he said, when a great fight will be necessary for the supremacy of the white races in the Pacific, and when this time comes Great Britain can have the assistance of the American fleet, and the two nations will be found fighting shoulder to shoulder to preserve to future generations the rights and privileges due to all classes.

OFF FOR NEW ZEALAND.

Honolulu, July 22.—The U. S. Atlantic battleship fleet ended its visit here last night, and started for Auckland, New Zealand, its next stopping place, on the trip to the Atlantic.

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Summer Complaint, and all Fluxes of the Bowels are recognized by everyone as exceedingly dangerous.

These diseases are too serious, too rapidly fatal, for you to experiment with cheap and dangerous imitations of the genuine Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been used in thousands of homes during the past sixty-three years.

When you ask for Dr. Fowler's, be sure you get it. Don't let some unscrupulous druggist palm off a cheap imitation on you.

Mrs. G. Holmer, Newington, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for diarrhoea and never found any other so equal to it."

There are many imitations, but none so good as Dr. Fowler's.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JULY 23.

A SIGNIFICANT EPISODE.

The first man to formally welcome his royal highness to Canadian shores was the French-Canadian Premier of Canada. In this circumstance is a vivid condensation of the history of Canada.

Three hundred years ago, on that very spot, Samuel de Champlain laid the foundation of a new France. Three hundred years later the tiny colony has grown to nearly two million people, but over the old rock of Quebec floats the British flag; and the descendants of the French pioneers rejoice in their British allegiance and acclaim the heir to the British throne.

Not only that, but one of their race is the foremost citizen of Canada by the suffrage of English and French alike, and he represents the Canadian people in extending the hand of greeting to the future sovereign of the country against which his ancestors fought.

Such is the miracle of Canadian history, and the glory of British imperialism!

CHAMPLAIN'S DAY.

Today at Quebec is to be devoted to the memory of Samuel de Champlain. There is no nobler figure among the heroes whose names are imperishably written on the pages of Canadian history. He has been justly called the greatest genius in colonizing effort that France has produced. He was not the first French explorer to visit the shores of Canada, but he was the first to realize its potentialities. Others considered it fit only for the trapper and hunter. Champlain saw in it a land of promise, the seat of a new Empire, where France might match the colonizing achievements of Spain in the south.

In April, 1608, he sailed from France to plant his first settlement. He reached the site of Quebec on July 3, and was so captivated that he decided to build on the spot the first homes of New France. His description of the place glows with his faith in the new country:

"We anchored at Quebec, which is a strait of the said river of Canada, some 300 paces broad. At this strait, on the north side, is a very high mountain, which descends on both sides. All the rest is a level and goodly country, where there is good land full of trees, as oaks, cypresses, birches, firs and aspens, and other trees bearing fruit and wild vines; so that, in my opinion, if they were trimmed they would be as good as ours."

He set the ship carpenters and the wood sawyers to work on the first building, a storehouse for the protection of the provisions, while the others cleared the neighboring land to make garden plots. On Oct. 1 he sowed winter wheat, and on the 15th rye, and on the 24th he set out native grapevines, "which came on very finely." Such was the cornerstone of the Dominion.

Today the landing of Champlain and his attendants will be represented by grand tableaux, which will include a fac-simile of the first building constructed in Quebec, erected from Champlain's own drawing of it, and within a few hundred yards of the very spot where it stood. No honors too high can be heaped upon the memory of the heroic soul who had to fight resolutely for his colonizing idea against the opposition of the fur traders, and who was the first to have a vision of Canada's greatness.

BRITISH AND GERMAN WORKMEN—A COMPARISON.

An important document was issued this month by the British Board of Trade, as a result of a close, prolonged inquiry made by able investigators into the wages, prices, rents and hours of labor of workers in typical trades in the chief industrial centres of Germany.

The commissioner finds that in German cities and towns the workmen engaged in these trades receive about 17 per cent less in money wages in return for a week's work of about ten hours longer duration than the corresponding English workmen. In other words, their hourly rate of money remuneration is about three-quarters of the English rate, while the cost of food, rent and fuel is about one-fifth higher.

Among the many tables upon which this conclusion is based, one of the most instructive is that comparing retail prices in England and Germany, in October, 1905, of articles of prime importance in working-class consumption. Of these articles, sugar, butter, potatoes, flour, milk, beef, mutton, pork, bacon, coal and oil, two only—potatoes and milk—are cheaper for the German; nearly all the others are from 20 to 40 per cent dearer. For wheat flour the German must pay 40 per cent more, and his meats cost him from 20 to 25 per cent more. It is most significant that the only two articles which are cheaper are articles which in neither country is appreciably affected by outside supplies. If account were taken of metal and other manufactured goods, there is every reason to believe that the balance of disadvantage against the German workman would be even heavier than is indicated by the food budget.

It is not so easy to understand why rents should be so much higher in Germany, but it is not possible to question the validity of the result of this close investigation, to the effect that "the workman in a German town pays for housing accommodation about one-quarter more than the workman in an English town, for the same number of rooms, exclusive in both cases of taxation."

The price of the German staff of life, rye bread, has risen twice as fast as wages since 1905, inflicting a serious damage on the poorest class of the people. The food of the German workman is also much less varied than that of the Englishman. Farinaceous foods, other than bread, sugar, jams, and other grocers' foods, are far less used by the ordinary working-class family in Germany. Altogether it is clear that the German workman has to work considerably longer hours for considerably lower wages, and can buy considerably less with his wages. Nor is his security of employment greater.

The best measure of the strength and wealth of a nation is the condition of its working classes, and the comparison made by the British Board of Trade investigators is not such as to tempt the British people to imitate Germany's fiscal policy.

The wish was probably father to the report that "Bobs" would favor London with a visit; but unhappily he will not be here. The loss will be a mutual one.

Our local contemporary takes the ground that Canada should abandon the British preference in order to win the commercial friendship of Germany. What a dignified, patriotic position!

It is seven years since the Prince of Wales visited Canada. He will not see much of it on this occasion, or he would note that these have been seven years of wonderful progress; seven years of fatness as in Egypt of old, but no lean years in prospect.

He would be a poor patriot who would grudge the French-Canadians their rejoicing over the memories of the heroes of the French regime. The true Canadian should share their sentiments, for these French heroes were the founders of this young nation.

Mr. T. C. Robinette, of Toronto, urges a revival of Young Liberal Clubs throughout Ontario. So far as London is concerned it has always had a vigorous Young Liberal Club, but politicians here live in their tents more than in most places. With the elimination of the patronage system, there is no doubt that both Liberal and Conservative organizations of this kind will have a healthier tone, and be more concerned with the educational side of politics.

THE HOBBO'S ADVICE.

[Cleveland Leader.]
The Lady—Look here, you said that if I'd give you your dinner you'd mow the lawn for me.
The Hobbo—I'd like to do it, ma'am, but I'd rather teach you a lesson. Never trust the word of a total stranger.

RECIPROCITY.

[Chicago News.]
Hyker—Why did you give up smoking?
Pyker—in order to marry a rich widow.
Hyker—I fail to see the connection.
Pyker—She refused to give up her weeds unless I would give up mine.

CHEAP PLEASURE.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
"I've gotten a great deal of pleasure from anticipating the trip."
"More, possibly, than you'll get from the trip itself."
"That's what I think. So I've decided to stay at home and save the money."

GIVE AND TAKE.

[Chicago News.]
Him (at the concert)—Don't you think Miss Howells takes great pains with her singing?
Her—"Gives." I think, would be a more appropriate word than "takes."

THE WIDOW CASEY.

[Judge.]
Rooney—Casey dead only two months, an' there goes th' widge an' him wid a "Merry Widow" shagabait!
Noonan—Yis! An' d'ye mind, she carries it as easy as she used to th' basket an' laundry befo' Casey d'ed an' lift his life insurance money!

BIG LOAD OF OYSTER SHELLS.

[Providence Tribune.]
The barge H. W. Conklin, of New London (Conn.), carried the largest consignment of oyster shells ever taken from this harbor when she sailed on Sunday. There were 30,000 bushels of shells in the cargo, representing 30,000 gallons of oysters. The usual barge shipment of shells from this port is between 10,000 and 15,000 bushels, although the largest previous cargo was 23,000 bushels. The shells are to be used in covering oyster beds in New Haven.

They are put on the beds in preparation for the spawning season, which is close at hand. Oyster spawn, unlike other fish spawn, is a creamy substance, which rises to the surface of the water, and after floating about in the form of scum, sinks to the bottom and adheres to whatever hard substance it comes in contact with. Thus the shelling of the beds facilitates propagation, and a large number of shells are used every year in that manner. The pile of shells from which shipments were being made contained over 110,000 bushels before it was broken into.

STRAIGHT TALK.

[Pearson's Weekly.]
County Court Judge Fitzgerald, of Waterford, is remarkable for his quaint utterances from the bench. During the hearing recently of Lord Ashdown's claim there was applause in court, whereupon he ordered the police to "Hurl the ragmuffins out of court." On another occasion a jury brought in a verdict which displeased the judge, and in dismissing them he said: "Good-bye now, gentlemen, and I don't care if I never see you again."

COST OF COURTESY.

[Magazine of Commerce.]
The adage "courtesy costs nothing," would, if true, offer sufficient reason to ensure its observance by practically every member of our commercial community; it being fairly obvious to most of us that courtesy is an excellent lubricant for the business. To be always courteous in business, however, requires a very considerable expenditure of mental effort, which very few of us are capable of sustaining at all times.

A SENSIBLE LITERARY CHAP.

[Atlanta Constitution.]
"I'm now running a ten-acre farm in connection with the literary business," says the Sweet Six of Southern Georgia, "and so the outlook is more cheerful. I hope to make enough cotton to have my poems published in a book, and enough corn to feed the family while I wait for the public to buy the book. I also take contracts for the digging of wells, and these little side issues will enable me to show American literature just what I can do."

THE DAY HE CELEBRATED.

[Brooklyn Life.]
"Father, I want to celebrate on my twenty-first birthday."
"All right, my son. I suppose you want carte blanche?"
"No, father; I want a red auto."

ALFRED AUSTIN'S LATEST POEM.

The poet laureate of England, Alfred Austin, has written the following poem on Mozart's grave for the New York Independent. The poem has not appeared in England, and is thus given its first publication in America:

Where lies Mozart? Tradition shows
A likely spot; so much, no more;
No words of his own time are disclosed,
Where crossed he to the Further Shore,
Tho' later ages, roused to shame,
On tardy tomb have carved his name.

The sexton asked: "What may this be?"
"A Kapelmester." "Hand it in;
This common grave to all is sacred,
And for one name is room within.
It fills the fosse. Now tread it down
With pauper, lunatic and clown."

Yet had his wizard with sound
Electors, cardinals and kings,
While there welled forth from source
The flow of silvery sounding springs,
Music of tenderness and mirth,
One with his very soul at birth.

And they? Where are they now? The bust,
The elaborately-carven tomb,
Whom he, by age and dust,
None care to stoop and scan for whom,
Are all remaining to express
Their monumental nothingness.

Mitre and coronet and crown,
Gaze into space that heed them not,
Unmeaning pomp that heeded them not,
Medley of monarchs long forgot,
Who from the nation's ghastly strife
Won immortality—for life.

Once, on Nile's bank, an artist raised
A temple at the king's command,
And on its name august he based
But when a dwarf had submerged the land
The name was washed away, and lo!
The artist's was inscribed below.

Thus vanish ostentatious lives;
But through all time, beloved Mozart,
Your magic memory survives,
Part of the universal heart,
In joy a sympathetic strain,
In sorrow soothing of our pain.

The potentates on whom men gaze,
When once their rule has reached its goal,
Die into darkness with their days;
But monarchs of the mind and soul,
With light unfading and unspent,
Illuminate Fame's Britannia.

OUR ENGLISH.

[Philadelphia Record.]
Nell—I hear you are going to get married?
Bell—Married? Why, such a thing as marriage has never occurred to me.
Nell—Well, I didn't suppose you had been married before.

PUT HIM TO THE TEST.

[Chicago News.]
Lola—Last night young Borem declared he would willingly go to the ends of the earth for me.
Grace—And what did you say?
Lola—I finally got him to make a start for home, and let it go at that.

FIRST AMERICAN NEWSPAPER.

[Chicago Dial.]
The first attempt to produce a newspaper in America was made in Boston, Sept. 25, 1689. The sheet was entitled "Public Occurrences," and was suppressed by the authorities after the appearance of the first issue. Only one copy of that single issue is now known to be in existence, and is preserved in the public record office in London.

THE FOREWOMAN.

[Belleville Intelligencer.]
A minister named Foreman was married. He will continue to be the foreman, but he won't be the boss.

EASY.

[Punch.]
Wig (gawwning in the law Courts' corridor)—I can always tell by the footstep outside my door whether a client or a dun is coming.
Gown—How?
Wig—Easily. No clients ever come.

AN ARMY OF BOYS.

[Montreal Gazette.]
According to the official records, there enlisted in the United States army during the war of secession, 25 boys of 10 years or under, 25 boys of 12 or under, 1,523 boys of 14 or under, and 44,444 boys of 15 or under. At the age of 15 or under there were 1,151,438 enlistments, and at the age of 21 or under, 2,159,788. The total enlistment of the army was 2,780,226, leaving only 618,811, or barely 21 per cent, who were 22 or over at that time of entering the service. This shows in a way where the enthusiasm for the Union was strong. It also helps to explain why, 43 years after the war ended, there are still so many of those who took part in it alive.

"Fruit-a-Tives" Can Be Had in 25c Trial Size

AS WELL AS IN REGULAR 50c BOXES.

Everybody Can Afford to Give These Wonderful Tablets a Trial at Least—and Prove Their Value.

"Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets," the wonderful medicine made from the juices of ripe fruits, have scored a remarkable success. The demand for them has grown in four years till it now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Druggists at first bought them in lots of one dozen boxes—to retail for $5. Now it is no uncommon thing to receive orders from wholesalers for 100 gross lots (14,400 boxes)—to retail for $7,200.

There is only one reason for this great success—they cure sick people.

But still there are homes where "Fruit-a-tives" have not been tried—homes where they still suffer from constipation, biliousness, skin diseases, kidney trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism and kindred painful and weakening ailments—often because they have not cared to risk 50c to try "Fruit-a-tives" when other medicines—supposed to cure—could be had for 25c.

This last objection to trying "Fruit-a-tives" has now been overcome. We have put out a new trial size to retail at 25c. The price no longer stands in the way. Get a trial box and see for yourself that "Fruit-a-tives" will help you.

If your dealer has not the 25c trial size, let us know. Give us your name and address and we will send you a booklet—free—containing valuable recipes and stories of what "Fruit-a-tives" have done. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

ATHLETIC BABY

Remembered Father's Teaching and Saved Her Own Life.

New York, July 23.—Persons skeptical of the value of early athletic training may have their opinions on the subject modified on learning that a 20-months-old gymnast, falling accidentally from the fifth floor of a fire escape, saved its life by grasping and hanging from a bar of the structure two stories below. Helen Graf, who will not be two years of age until November next, is the baby athlete.

She's the youngest child of William Graf, an aged insurance agent, and Gust, and Annie Graf, Webster avenue, the Bronx. Her sister and two brothers are also gymnasts.

Graf, who is a mason, is an old-time athlete. Believing in early physical development, he trained his children to perform certain exercises, one of which was to seize and hang from their fingers.

Today the baby climbed on the fire escape landing and disappeared through an opening. Turning somersaults as it fell, the child flashed by the fourth story escape, hitting it with his head as it passed. Then as it fell by the third story escape it seized the bar at the foot of the iron fence and hung on till rescued.

GAS KILLS TWO MEN

Would-Be Rescuers Nearly Shared the Same Fate.

Port Huron, July 23.—At the Deep Spring mine, bathhouse, adjoining the Harrington Hotel, George Moore, the sole support of a family of three, and Charlie Thornton, son of John Thornton, met death, while J. L. Phillips, an attendant, and R. Greiner, escaped death. Greiner saving the life of Phillips.

In connection with the springs is a large tank into which the mineral water is pumped. It was here that the lives of the two men were snuffed out by carbonic gas, which had formed in the tank.

When the news of Moore's death was broken to the young widow she collapsed, and then in a mad frenzy hurried to the scene of the accident.

At Centralia, Ill., Thomas Williams, aged 23 years, accidentally shot himself through the abdomen with a revolver, and died as a result of the injury.

Samuel Hallon, 17 years old, of 73 East Ninety-eighth street, New York, was run over and killed by a taxicab. Forty children were lost last Sunday at Coney Island and taken to the police station before finding their parents.

LADIES, WHY NOT PRESERVE YOUR YOUTH AND BEAUTY?

Parliss Sage, the quick-acting hair restorer, is now for sale in London at the drug store of W. T. Strong and is sold with a rigid guarantee at 50 cents a bottle.

Parliss Sage has an immense sale, and here are the reasons:
It is safe and harmless.
It cures dandruff in two weeks, by killing the dandruff germ.
It stops falling hair.
It promptly stops itching of the scalp.

It makes the hair soft and luxuriant. It gives life and beauty to the hair. It is not sticky or greasy.
It is the faintest perfumed hair tonic made.

It is the best, the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made. Fight shy of the druggist who offers you a substitute, he is unworthy of your confidence.

PAUPER'S CLOTHES CONCEAL $16,000

Inmate of an Almshouse Had Rich Hoard Secreted in Her Garment.

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.—With tears in her faded blue eyes and trembling but close shut lips Mary O'Neill, an aged inmate of the almshouse, fought desperately for the possession of her treasure when taken to the hospital and drobed by the nurse in charge.

Outwardly it was but a plain black skirt, so dingy as to be shabby, but clutching it between shaking fingers she bent over it as if it were alive. By dint of persuasion and exhausted from futile effort Mary O'Neill resigned the skirt to an attendant, but not until her real treasure had been discovered by keen eyes.

Hidden in an inside pocket was a purse, heavy with gold to the amount of $55, and close by was tucked a bank-book which showed the pensioner in the almshouse to be the owner of $16,100 on deposit in the Hibernia Bank of this city.

It has always been so. From the time Mary O'Neill, aged 61, unmarried and a pensioner on the bounty of the state, was taken to the Ingleside Hospital after the fire, homeless and apparently friendless, she had clung to the one thing on earth around which her thoughts centered. She lived with it, hugged it tight to her, slept with it dreamed over it, and even when bathed would not be satisfied if her black skirt with its ample hidden pocket were out of her sight.

Vaguely she knew that she had a treasure and desperately she struggled to retain it when for a few moments it was taken from her, but even that was forgotten now. Simple-minded from the time of her entrance into the Ingleside Hospital, her mind is blank; her eyes are dull and listless. How she came by her money nobody knows. She does not know herself. When asked about it her lips moved soundlessly. By close listening one may distinguish words. They are, "What money? What money?" over and over again. And that is the end for Mary O'Neill.

It is probable that an attempt will be made to purchase her a life interest in the Old Ladies Home. Should she die intestate the $16,000 will revert to the state should no relatives appear. But that is what the relief home is expecting—that a dozen or more pseudo relatives will spring up by magic when it is known that one Mary O'Neill, old, feeble and totally incompetent, lies on a bed in the city almshouse with $16,000 in the iron safe of the institution awaiting her will.

INCREASE APPETITE AND DIGESTION.

Nothing will stimulate a keen, healthy relish for food, insure good digestion and perfect assimilation like Ferrerozone, which is the most successful tonic and health renewer known to medical science. Ferrerozone is a positive cure for anemia, impure blood, boils, pimples, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach and bowel troubles. Ferrerozone cleanses, strengthens and purifies the blood, it invigorates the heart and nerves, banishes sickness and pain, and makes ailing people well. Try a box or two of Ferrerozone; the result will be a surprise. Price, 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, at druggists or from N. C. Polson & Company, Kingston, Ont.

SAYS LONGBOAT IS IN FINE TRIM

London, July 23.—Tom Longboat arrived today from Ireland. He is in grand shape. His injury is trivial, and he looks fit to run the race of his life on Friday.

Longboat finished his training today with a three-mile run. The other Canadian Marathoners did five miles. Simpson and Lawson are still the pick of the bunch.

Tait and Goulding will both run a good race.
Cotter is in grand condition.

BROKE THE RECORD IN TWO MILE RACE

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 23.—Percy Lawrence broke the world's two-mile lap amateur record at the Salt Palace bicycle track last night. He rode it in 3:53 4-5. Harley Gies made the previous record of 3:54 1-5.

QUEEN OF PEACE WON IRISH OAKS

Curragh, July 23.—Richard Croker's filly, Queen of Peace, yesterday won the Irish Oaks at the Curragh meeting, beating the favorite, A. P. Ledlie's Americus Girl.

KETCHEL GIVES IN TO KELLY ON WEIGHT

San Francisco, Cal., July 23.—Harry Gilmore and Packey McFarland started for Los Angeles this morning, where it has been arranged that McFarland will box Brock ten rounds Aug. 7 before Tom McCarty's club. The men will fight at catch-weights and get the usual percentage of gate money.

After an all-night wrangle over the weight, Stanley Ketchel and Hugo Wally finally came to an agreement to fight before Luke Marisch's club on July 31 at 155 pounds at 6 o'clock. Ketchel at first insisted on 156 ring-side, while Kelly declared he would not be able to comply. This morning Ketchel finally gave in.

NEW YORK TO PARIS RACE

The American Motor Car 550 Miles eBehind Germans.

Eydtkuennen, East Prussia, July 23.—The German car in the New York-to-Paris motor race, crossed the frontier at 8:22 last evening. The American car, which left Moscow at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, is about 550 miles behind the Germans. The latter made 420 miles yesterday.

Six-year-old Florence Kirkman, of Williamsburg, N. Y., died in agony a victim of hydrophobia.

William Bible, a library boy at the University Club, New York, fell six stories down an elevator shaft at the club and was killed.

At Orange, N. J., the plant of Thos. A. Edison, which employs 2,000 men, has resumed operations on full time, after running on a reduced time schedule for many months.

By order of the comptroller of the treasury the First National Bank of Rock Creek, Ohio, with a capital of $25,000, has been closed, and F. T. Hingst has been appointed receiver.

WINDSOR JUDGES RULE OWNER OFF FOR LIFE

W. F. Matthews and Wade Joplin were put under the ban by Judges Murphy and Nelson at Windsor Saturday. Matthews and his mare, Jersey Lady, are ruled off for life, and Joplin is denied all privileges, including admission to the grounds. The entries of the horses Rio Grande, Nasurtia, Adrien, Miss Shannon and Lionel, are refused until a bona fide sale is made to someone in good standing.

This ends the story of one of the most successful coups put through at Windsor this season. Some weeks ago Jersey Lady made her first start at Windsor and showed none of the speed she is known to possess, and finished back in the rack. Last week commissioners appeared in every big city where there are handbooks, and they bet all the books would take. Jersey Lady won handsily, beating a good field. In the Windsor ring she was backed from 7 to 1 to 7 to 2. Immediately a howl went up from those stung and an investigation was started. Saturday morning it was believed the matter would be dropped, as it was said Joplin had proofs showing he bet on the mare in her previous start. Evidently Judges Murphy and Nelson had some very convincing evidence to take the step they did.

The Arncliffe Puzzle

By GORDON HOLMES, Author "A Mysterious Disappearance."

Edith herself led him to an arm-chair and tenderly placed a cushion beneath his aching head. Then she sat beside him, and with all a woman's admiration of a brave man dilating her eyes, begged for particulars of this latest outrage. This unnerved him. He felt he must gain time.

"Why, really, Miss Holt, the matter if of no consequence, so far as I am concerned," he protested. "Worst, you tell me, what caused the shots I fired—has anyone been injured?"

"No, Mrs. Warren noticed a man in a blue coat, and a woman in a red dress, standing outside her window, and, as she had provided herself with a pistol, she was about to fire when she saw the man who was with you. She fired at him, but he escaped. No doubt the police will find him. How came you to be so dreadfully injured, Mr. Bradshaw?"

"Could it be the same man who attacked you?"

"So, for the sake of the sweet girl who was hanging on to his words, Bradshaw was forced to carry through his disagreeable task. It is nothing to make a song about," he said. "I had strolled part of the way with Mr. Holt, and, soon after the shots were fired, I intercepted some one who evidently had urgent business in another direction. But don't make me talk about it, Miss Holt. I have been soundly licked. The proud crest of the American eagle is drooping; the Stars and Stripes are trailing in the dust!"

"Oh, do try to be serious for once, Mr. Bradshaw, and tell us what actually happened. Do you think you could identify your assailant if you saw him again?"

"My belief is," answered the American, solemnly, "that he was a grizzly bear. Mercy!" As Edith held up a threatening finger, "I will tell you everything. He was a very powerful man—I am pretty strong myself, and he handled me as if I were an infant—but I should not know him again. We rolled over, I guess, two or three times; and then he managed to hit me on the head with a club he was carrying. The subsequent proceedings interested me no more."

Bradshaw, as he warmed to his subject, brought a little action into the recital, and, in doing so, betrayed his brains and cut fingers.

"Oh, your poor hands!" cried Edith in horror. "How did you hurt them so?"

"The tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive" appealed strongly to the poetic soul of Sir Walter Scott, and the same great thought came into the mind of William L. Bradshaw.

"Good land!" he murmured to himself. "If ever I get out of this tangle I will tell the truth for a month!"

Still, he had by no means reached the end of his resources. "Oh," he exclaimed with easy confidence, "that was caused by the stick he hit me with. I got hold of it, after parrying one blow, and we had a tough struggle."

Advertiser Patterns

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

A DAINTY NEGLIGEE.—901.

Ladies' surprise dressing sack. Cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. The 36 inch size will require 4½ yards of 36-inch material. This charming negligee of flowered crepe is one of the prettiest designs of the season. The collar and turned back cuffs are daintily finished by button-holed scallops. If preferred, long sleeves gathered into straight bands may be used. Challis, albatross, China silk and lawn will all develop prettily. A pattern of this illustration will be mailed to any address on the receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

for its possession. But he was too strong for me, and he wrenched it through my hands. I think it was one of those sticks with spikes on them you call blackthorns. I have seen Irish immigrants carrying them in New York."

Edith drew in her breath with a little hiss, as though she pictured the agony of the moment, and looked at him with undisguised admiration. In fact every one in the company regarded him as a paladin, none more sincerely than Detective-Inspector Hobson.

"It so crippled my hands for the moment," went on Bradshaw, entering into the spirit of the thing "that I could not hold him. It was then that he got his blow home."

"So," said Edith, severely, "you had nothing to defend yourself with against that dreadful stick—I know what they are like—and yet you gallantly tried to stop him. Mr. Bradshaw, I think she asserted, with a delightful sincerity, "you are the bravest man I have ever met!"

The American cast a piteous glance toward Hobson, who was eyeing him with malicious enjoyment. No success was to be expected from that quarter. The detective had not forgotten certain allusions to "idiots" and "men" with the instincts of a horse thief. Far from coming to Bradshaw's rescue he added to the chorus of praise showered upon him.

"You may well say that, Miss Holt," he broke in earnestly. "If you had seen the place where we found this gentleman you would have thought there had been a battle between two lions. The ground was so torn and trampled that they must have been at it for a quarter of an hour at least. And the blood Mr. Bradshaw had lost!"

The wounded "lion" uttered a queer little cough. It conveyed a warning to Hobson, but the detective was desperate. He would pay off old scores that night, at any rate.

"There is one thing which may give us a clue," said Edith. "Do any of you know a man in the district who carries a blackthorn?"

"Yes, miss," volunteered Wilson, "Bob Leigh, the poacher, him that Harry caught and gave six months to last year—he is hardly without one in his hands. He would only be out of prison a few weeks, and no doubt he bears a grudge against Master Harry. There's another thing, miss, he is a mortal strong man; there's no one in the village can stand up against him."

"Then that completely proves it!" asserted Edith, calmly ignoring the principles of justice. "You had better go and arrest the man at once, Mr. Hobson."

"Oh, dash it all!" broke in Warren, excitedly, too agitated by this new peril to realize that his mode of address was not to be desired. "You can't arrest a man for having a blackthorn stick."

Except for a contemptuous curl of her lip, Edith appeared as though she had not heard him. "At once, Mr. Hobson," she repeated.

Warren's anxiety on behalf of the poacher was not lost on the detective. This development was likely to prove highly embarrassing to himself, however, so he welcomed any diversion.

"Mr. Warren is quite right, Miss Holt," he pointed out. "We require more evidence than that before we are justified in making an arrest. Still, I will institute some inquiries as to his movements, and keep an eye on him generally."

Bradshaw, too, was glad to divert attention from his homeric combat. "It is absolutely impossible for me to identify the man," he joined in.

"Therefore, I could not prove anything against him, even if we were to get hold of the right person by chance. Now, Miss Holt, I think I will go back to the inn. I am ashamed to have given you so much trouble at such an hour."

"Go back to the inn, indeed!" exclaimed Edith, with fine scorn. "I have ordered a room to be prepared for you, and when you have taken this" ("this" was a huge bowl of chicken broth, one of the invalid delicacies provided for Aingier) "you are to go straight to bed."

"But really, I am perfectly well," he protested.

"What? When Mr. Hobson says that your wound is so dreadfully bad? Besides," she went on triumphantly, "I have sent a messenger for Dr. Lester, and here he comes. We shall soon see whether you are perfectly well or not."

Lester, knowing the errand upon which the pair had set out, was naturally in a maze of conflicting theories as to the cause of Bradshaw's injuries. The footman who summoned him told him an incoherent story, in which burglars and pistol shots figured largely.

And now, as he made cursory examination of Bradshaw's hurts, Edith gave a disjointed narrative of the night's doings, interspersing it with lavish appreciation of the American's gallant behavior.

"Oh, dear, oh, dear!" groaned Bradshaw, when Edith had delivered herself of a particularly warm tribute to his courage.

"Poor fellow!" she whispered to Lester, with tender pity. "He is in pain."

"He had better go to bed at once," said the doctor.

He was anxious to learn the true details of the affair. Moreover, he did not find this almost fullsome eulogy of Lord Arncliffe's nephew particularly gratifying.

"Have you a room ready?" he asked. "Thank you—then I will just go up and make the patient comfortable. And as I wish to prescribe bed very strictly for you, too, Miss Holt, I will say good night."

His manner was formal, even beyond the austerity which medical men assume, and Edith, unaware that her innocent praise of a courageous action had aroused the demon of jealousy, looked at him in pained reproach. But he kept his eyes steadily averted and walked away, supporting Bradshaw, whose other arm was taken by Hobson.

The detective too was burning with curiosity to learn what Bradshaw had seen before he took that perilous drop from the tree. When the servants had retted Hobson locked the door. "Now, then," he said, "we must speak softly."

"You are right, my friend," agreed Bradshaw. "I am liable to make use of language which will be all the better for being spoken softly. And see here, you grinning ape, if that irritating smile doesn't leave your face mighty quick, I will shoot it off!"

"May I ask what the joke is?" queried Lester, mildly.

"You tell him, Hobson. If I do, I shall choke before I am half-way through."

Hobson, nothing loath, described their disastrous attempt to spy upon Mrs. Warren and her son. He told of the American's brilliant idea of explaining his injuries, and, with loving touch, drew a picture of the unearned increment of glory which had fallen to the amateur detective's lot. By the time the recital was finished, Hobson and Lester were convulsed with silent mirth, while the unfortunate hero of it all sat on the bed and glowered at them.

Lester had been telling himself that there was nothing so wonderful in collaring a man, and getting the worst of the encounter. But now, when Bradshaw's ridiculous position was made clear, he was not wholly displeased that Edith had showered her praises so liberally.

"All right," grumbled Bradshaw, "laugh away—I suppose one must not expect any sympathy from a licensed assassin and a detective. I was trying to think of some nasty thing to say to you, Hobson, and I think I have struck it. And now, if the professional murderer will be so good as to bandage up my head and hands properly, I should like to go to sleep."

Lester, still smiling, attended to him, but Hobson, true to his craft, anxiously asked for details of the scene in Mrs. Warren's room.

Bradshaw, with inadequate vengeance, by piquing the detective's curiosity. It was only when he felt that he would really like to sleep that he condescended to explain matters. (To Be Continued.)

MRS. CARTER-PAYNE HAS TO LIVE

So She Tells the Court—Had to Reveal Her Assets—Debt $150,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 22.—Fire in the Carter Payne told United States Commissioner Alexander in the Quinlan Building, she simply had to live, that's all. That was the sad part of her testimony in the examination under the bankruptcy act to reveal assets. If there's one thing more ornery than another to a great to a temperamental artist it is this matter of revealing assets. From 11 o'clock in the forenoon until an hour and a half after high noon Mrs. Carter Payne told every thing divulgable about her assets. Lawyer Charles R. Carruth, acting for Receiver Ezra Prentice, asked the actress lots and lots of questions about her furniture and the pictures, and where did that ring go, and how about Christmas presents, and the time she strolled out shopping and got $11,000 worth of clothes, and whether Mr. Dressmaker Hitchens was taken through her house at 115 East Eighth street by the butler, and how much David Belasco owed her, and how about Charley Dillingham, and whether or not (answer yes or no) she gave Mr. Dressmaker Hitchens a drink and sent him at 12:30 a.m. out into the night.

A Good Witness.

She was a good witness, Mrs. Carter Payne, except that Stenographer Parsons seemed to think that the actress could have said ten times as much in eight times less time. After that sad part, where Mrs. Carter Payne told that she simply had to live or die things brightened up. When it came to the testimony about the butler taking the man dressmaker around the house the whole court proceeding bore a striking resemblance to a social function. For Mrs. Carter Payne was radiantly happy by then and clapped her hands delightedly.

Owes Nearly $150,000.

In the course of her examination Mrs. Carter Payne related her woes in detail; unfolded her trials and troubles in the theatrical world; told what a terrible time she had with her managers and some other things and when the proceedings adjourned to next Friday the end, so far as she was concerned, was not yet.

Her Ex-Husband.

A dispatch from Chicago says: Trembling with sobs and hardly able to speak through her tears, Miss Helen Leslie Carter testified in Probate Judge Tullings' court on Monday that her brother, Leslie Carter, capitalist and former husband of Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, was mentally incapable of administering his property.

Following the presentation of evidence and the decision of the jury Charles E. Soule, jun., was appointed conservator, and filed a bond for $110,000.

Coupled with the plea of Miss Carter for the appointment of a conservator was the surprising statement that her brother's estate is now valued at only $75,000. A few years ago Carter was rated as a multi-millionaire. His sister's declaration that the estate is worth less than $100,000 caused great astonishment among the old friends of the stricken capitalist.

Mr. Carter, formerly president of the South Side Elevated Railroad, has been unable to look after his business affairs since he has overcome by gas nearly nine months ago. He has been very seriously ill and has required the constant attendance of physicians and nurses.

Since Mrs. Carter left him to join the Belasco forces and try her power as an emotional actress, he has been decidedly changed from his former self and his friends say that his grief over his domestic troubles determined his health.

GAVE HIS BLOOD TO SAVE WIFE

New Jersey Man Prepared for Death, But Operation Was a Success.

New York, July 22.—Patrick Bradley, of Hackettstown, N. J., leaves St. James' Hospital, Newark, after having successfully undergone an operation by which he placed his own life in jeopardy to save his wife from death. An artery in the man's arm was opened and his blood was transfused into the body of the woman, who for more than eight years has suffered a succession of hemorrhages.

Because of these attacks Mrs. Bradley has been threatened with death several times, and her condition became so bad that on July 10 it was decided to take her to St. James' Hospital for a consultation. The doctors there said her death was only a matter of a few days unless fresh blood could be transfused into her veins, and her husband, a man of 180 pounds and in perfect health, offered his own blood.

The danger of the operation was explained and both were willing to take the risk. For fear that the operation would have a fatal ending the husband took a few days to arrange his business affairs at Hackettstown. He returned to the hospital and went to bed, and arrangements were made for the operation. The last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered to both.

At 8 o'clock the next morning the husband and wife were subjected to the operation, cocaine being the anesthetic. Bradley's arm was cut at the wrist as a matter of course, his end was tied and a small silver tube was inserted. In the meantime a vein in the wife's leg had been similarly treated and the other end of the tube pierced it. By this means the blood in the husband's veins immediately began pouring into the shrunken veins of his wife. For an hour the blood of the man was allowed to pass that way.

It was estimated by the doctors that perhaps a quart of Bradley's blood flowed into the body of his wife. While the flow was under way the physicians could notice the color coming into the woman's cheeks and her pulse growing stronger with every beat, while it was very weak from loss of blood. Bradley recovered from the operation in less than a day. Mrs. Bradley will remain at the institution until all danger is past. She is getting along excellently.

This Transfusion Failed.

Henry Sancton, who died Saturday in Bellevue Hospital, was for many years an engineer in the Quinlan iron works. Three weeks ago his left arm was caught in a cogwheel and terribly mutilated. Before his removal to Bellevue Hospital he became very weak from loss of blood.

Among the persons who frequently visited Sancton in the hospital was Harry Van Winkle, a young man, the fiancé of a daughter of Sancton. When he learned that there was a chance of saving Sancton's life through a transfusion of blood he offered his blood for that purpose. Sancton rebelled against it, but he was persuaded to permit it, and the two men were placed beside each other on the operating table and the transfusion of blood was begun. Sancton became so weakened from the intensity of his sufferings that he died while the transfusion was going on. He was 58 years old.

WORK ON BIG DITCH

Culebra Cut (Panama Canal) Is About Half Completed.

Washington, July 22.—Excavation on the Culebra cut on the Panama Canal is about one-half completed. According to reports received at the Washington office of the canal commission a total of 47,045,426 cubic yards has been removed from the cut, while it is estimated that 39,652,822 cubic yards remain to be taken out. Of the amount already excavated 12,600,000 cubic yards were taken out by the old French company from 1881 to 1889, and 10,000,000 cubic yards was excavated by the new French company from 1895 to 1904. Since the American Government took charge of the canal work 18,445,426 cubic yards have been removed.

If the present rate of excavation is maintained the cut will be completed in about three and a half years.

Lieut. Col. George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama Canal commission, has reorganized the administration work on the canal by abolishing the department of excavation and dredging and dividing canal construction work into three divisions.

Under the reorganization each superintendent of construction will have direct supervision not only over the work of excavating, but also of transportation and management of the dumps in his district. No new men have been employed as a result of the new system.

SUCCEEDS BISHOP POTTER

Bishop D. H. Greer, a Noted Preacher, Gets the Position.

New York, July 22.—The Right Rev. David H. Greer, who was bishop coadjutor of New York until the death of Bishop Henry C. Potter, which occurred last night at Cooperstown, N. Y., now becomes at once bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York.

Bishop Greer is now in London, but will return to New York at once. The new bishop is 64 years old. It was Dr. Greer's fame as a preacher that attracted the attention of the congregation of St. Bartholomews and led Cornelius Vanderbilt and other members of the vestry to call him from the charge he had held in Providence for sixteen years. Dr. Greer was consecrated bishop coadjutor of

150 CHILDREN IN PERIL

Panic Caused by Alarm of Fire in School—No Lives Lost.

New York, July 22.—Mrs. Leslie Holmes public school caused a panic today among 150 children attending the vacation term. The large building rapidly filled with smoke, and the children, screaming and almost suffocated, rushed from the structure in great disorder. Many were thrown down and trampled, but none were seriously hurt.

Adding much to the confusion was the action of parents of children living near by, who congregated in the main doorway and excitedly called the names of their children.

Principal David Brown and several women teachers barely escaped being overcome.

Firemen were quickly summoned and the fire was extinguished with a trivial loss. Burning waste paper in the basement caused the fire.

There are ten negro banks in Mississippi and they have organized a State Bankers' Association of their own.

Risk to Victory—Fast
Bowling.

There were some very interesting doings at the London Bowling Club greens yesterday afternoon, when ten trials from the Thistle Club paid a visit to the Rowing Club. The games were all very interesting, although the Thistles took the smaller end of the score-card. It was in the nature of a try-out for the Rowing Club trials for the big tournament next week. Most of the trials lined up as they will in the trophy finals. The Thistles were nicely mixed.

Jimmy McDougall's big four, last year's Labatt trophy winners, were there, but were without the services of Skip McDougall. Jimmy Tytler was in charge, and handled the rink excellently. This rink is in great form. Dr. Claude Brown's rink trundled well, in spite of the handicap, and there was something doing all the while.

A Pretty Finish.

One of the prettiest and closest games in the history of the battle between Skip Charles Abbott and Skip I. Taylor. The Thistle man was badly down on several occasions, but pulled up well, and nosed out a win.

Ned Weld and Andy Scott had a nice round, but the veteran came across with a handy win.

Jack McNeve on the greens again and skipped a rink, but Skip John Lochard, one of the best, took his measure after a good game.

Skip Phelps had a fine rink of old-timers, and they succeeded in giving the younger chaps some pointers on the classic game of bowls.

Skip Graham and Skip Pocock had a very pleasant game, and quite as they started on even terms.

Ross vs. Govenlock.

One of the interesting games of the day was that between Skip Ross and Skip Govenlock. There was some excitement every minute in this one, but the Thistle man was better when the finish came.

Skip Bert Heaman, with his colts, got a runaway start on Skip McPherson, and came home with something to the good.

The scores are as follows:

The Best Sport of the Season
At Wednesday's Matinee RacesOnly Three Events, But they Furnished Fine Speeding.

Notwithstanding that but three events were put on at the matinee races yesterday, the sport can be set down as having been the best of the season.

Class 1 went to Star Brino, Mr. W. E. Collins' clever performer, in straight heats, with Pearl Carter a very fair contender both times.

The race of the day was the Class 2 competition, in which every entry but Fleta took a heat. Glory, Dr. Routledge's veteran ground-coverer, proved a trifle steadier than the other competitors, and won out.

Robert Burns looked to have his alibi nailed fast, after coming home in regular Minor Hef fashion the first time away, but they went too fast for the pretty black after the first heat, and he seldom had a look-in.

Glory Wins Out.

Glory had no difficulty in taking the second heat.

Fair Hazel proved a handy winner in the third heat, and looked good enough to win the race. Glory came back strong in the final heat, however, and won out by a fairly comfortable margin. The doctor never lifted a line on Glory during the heat, and the old campaigner went along as steady as clockwork.

There was any amount of sport in Class 3, which was divided up similar to the previous class, each horse but one taking a heat.

Comber Belle, with "Doc" McCartney, annexed the first heat with something to spare. The second heat went to Mr. J. Darch's Billy D., who the latter broke on the turn, and beat Comber Belle in a drive, both horses being on the run at the wire.

Electro C, driven by Mr. R. J. Young, was never headed in the third heat, winning hands down. In the final heat Electro broke a trace and Comber Belle won without much trouble over Billy D., her strongest competitor.

The work of Mr. Jack Treblelock as starter, as usual, was highly satisfactory, and although he had some difficulty in getting the nags away in the first heat of Class 2, on the whole his work was excellent.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

THERE IS SOME SATISFACTION in the result of the 100-metre race after all. The Yankees didn't reach the tape first.

THERE WILL BE NO MATINEE races next Wednesday, and possibly none on the Wednesday following. London horsemen generally are preparing to take in the Detroit Blue Ribb on meet on the first named day, and the Old Boys will hold the boards on the following Wednesday.

HAMILTON—and for that matter all Canada—is going wild over the performances of popular Bobby Kerr in the Olympic games. Bobby, personally, is as nice a boy as one could meet, and none deserve success more than he.

"ROBERT KERR, of the Canadian team, is a born sprinter; the best, the fastest, and the strongest I have seen since the days of our Bradley. And, besides, he will take a tremendous amount of beating over a furlong course." This is the tribute of the sporting authority of the Standard of Empire to our feet Canadian.

HAMILTON HERALD: Poor old Toronto. Ever since the opening of the Marathon at Greece, the Queen City sports have been struggling to try and get athletes who could win for Toronto at the games now being held in England. So far the imports have not made a respectable showing. Hamilton is the city to produce Olympic winners, even to trap-shooters, and if the people down the lake keep their eyes open they will see how it is done.

JIMMY BRITT, who accompanied the American team of athletes to England, is being lionized by the sporting men over there. Jimmy is one of those modest, well-behaved pugilists, and as soon as his identity became known at the Hotel Cecil he was immediately surrounded by the admirers of pugilism, who asked him many questions about the American fighters. Britt attended one of the boxing shows there, and was forced to make a speech, after which he was given a great ovation.

BATTILING NELSON isn't living beyond his means at all. He is worth, to take his own estimate, a flat $200,000.

SHORT SHIP

CIRCUIT RACES

Alpena, Mich., July 22.—Fast driving and close finishes marked the second day's race meeting under the auspices of the Alpena Driving Club. The three events were contested with all the vim that could be gathered by the horses and in every heat of each race it was evident that the drivers were out for blood.

OPEN BETTING

AT FORT ERIE

Buffalo, July 23.—One of the pleasing features in connection with the Fort Erie meeting this year will be the betting ring. Heretofore Buffalonians have accustomed themselves to accepting syndicate ring odds at the Fort Erie meetings, but this year the betting will be open. In other words the betting at the over-the-river track will be conducted under precisely the same conditions as existed at Kenilworth Park, when that popular racing center was a Mecca for the feet-footed thoroughbreds. Some of the very best bookmakers in America will fall to the line when the Fort Erie meeting is ushered in Monday afternoon, with the renewal of the Canadian Derby as the feature event of the day.

Heretofore racegoers have always favored an open ring. The local feeling has always been that syndicate betting deprives the bettors of an even break in the odds. Under the opening rule there is always splendid opportunity for the bettors to manoeuvre about and obtain a scale of odds, frequently to their advantage.

CATCHER M'MANUS

RELEASED YESTERDAY

Montreal, July 23.—Manager Casey released Catcher McManus yesterday. Dr. Casey will try and get along with Ball and Clark for the balance of the season. McManus' throwing and catching have been poor lately. Montreal and Baltimore play a double-header today.

OPENING DAY OF

THE LONDON AMATEUR ROAD Drivers' Association is seriously considering the advisability of conducting next season's Canadian circuit meet, it having been reported that the gentlemen who have been financing the meet will withdraw from the limelight.

UNLESS THE ST. THOMAS matinee drivers agree to use wagons instead of carts next season there is little or no prospect of the proposed inter-city meetings coming to pass.

ENTRIES for the W. O. B. A. tournament are coming in rapidly now, and by the time the list closes on Saturday night it is expected that at least 420 bowlers will have entered.

PUT-IN-BAY RACES

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Put-in-Bay, July 23.—Starting under most favorable conditions with a six-mile wind blowing today's contests in the third of the interlake yachting series fizzled out when the boats ran into a dead calm on the second leg. The boats straggled along the course until about noon, when three short blasts from the judges' boat, Grandon, ended the race.

At that time the Hayseed, Spray, Sella second and Aggie were leading in their respective classes.

Speed Contest.

In the power boat race in the afternoon Rainmaker took first money in the ten mile speed contest, and Red Devil in the twenty mile race. The Scripps was disabled in the ten mile race, and was out of the finish. Grace 2:22 trot, purse $400—

THE UNDECIDED RACES will be run off tomorrow morning, and the squadron sail will take place in the afternoon, following the motor contest. The protest filed by the Scripps because of the Priscilla's interference in Tuesday's race, was sustained, and the race will be run over tomorrow between Scripps and Rainmaker for first and second money.

James E. Sullivan, in an interview, stated that he has handed

BIGGEST MARKET IN MANY WEEKS

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Thursday, July 23.

Today's market was well attended—in fact, it was the biggest market for a Thursday in several weeks. Small fruits and vegetables were the chief offerings.

The market was a trifle slow, except for butter and eggs.

Grain—Oats were slow, about a dozen loads selling at $1.25 to $1.30 per bushel. A couple of loads of inferior wheat sold at $1.80 per bushel.

Hay and Straw—There were 30 loads of hay on the stand; sales were quite brisk at $3.00 to $3.25 per ton; most of the sales were made at $3.00. Straw sold at $6 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—There is still a good demand for butter, and prices are firm at 22c for choice crocks and 20c for pound rolls. In wholesale lots, eggs are firm and the demand good, at 18c to 19c per dozen in crates and basket lots.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes were slow, at $1.10 to $1.40 per bushel; peas cheaper, at 12c to 13c per bushel; beans, 20c to 25c per bushel; lettuce, radishes and onions, 20c per dozen; tomatoes sold at $1 per 15-lb basket; cucumbers, 30c to 40c per dozen; green corn, 20c per dozen.

There was very little poultry offered, and no changes in prices were noted; a few pairs of spring ducks sold at $1 to $1.25 per pair.

Fruit—Red raspberries sold at 9c to 10c per box, wholesale or retail; black raspberries sold mostly at 10c per box wholesale and 12c per box retail; currants, 15c to 16c per box; red currants, 6c to 8c per box; cherries, 10c per quart; apples were dull, at 12c to 15c per bushel.

No dressed hogs were offered.

Butcher's Meats—Beef sold at 30c to 35c per cwt; lamb, carcass, at 15c per lb; for the carcass, veal, 30c to 35c, and occasionally 20c per cwt.

Hides are higher, at 7c for No. 1, 6c for No. 2, and 5c for No. 3; calfskins are unchanged, at 9c to 10c per lb; lambskins, 5c each.

A load of new wheat, grown by James Turnbull, of Komoka, sold at 90c per bushel.

Advertiser Correspondence

Local Firm's Complaint.

To the Editor of the Advertiser:

We notice an article in the Free Press of this morning, stating that the new fire engine boiler has arrived, and was tested and found satisfactory. The article did not state that the work was only partially completed, although it was stated that the city got good value for their money, and that the successful tenderer was quite a bit lower than the local firm's tender. Now, sir, we would like to make this matter clear to the public, who are interested in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the city. In our tender, which was $150 higher than the one accepted, we understood that we were to make a new boiler, fit up same as it formerly was, lagged with nickel-plate brass lagging and bands, look over engine, and leave all in first-class condition. This was what we tendered to do on the understanding that we were to have the boiler for a local concern in the city, and there is no lagging at all on the boiler; neither was the pump or cylinder examined, nor anything done to them; just merely a new boiler placed in the apparatus and connected. Is it any use for a local concern to tender for anything in this city if this is the way they are treated? If we had known that there was to be nothing but a boiler supplied and attached, we could have easily done the work for less than the other tender. We consider there is more than $150 worth of work and material less in the job than we figured on. Is it fair to a local concern? Does the city want to drive out the same conditions do what London has done? We don't think it. Thanking you for the space, we are, yours truly,

The Canadian Fire Engine Company, London, Ont.

THE LONDON BIRDS

SWEPT THE BOARDS

Western Ontario Faniers Make a Splendid Showing in the West.

Mr. Richard Oke, the well-known poultry man, arrived home from Winnipeg on Tuesday, after making one of the finest showings at the big western fairs of Calgary and Winnipeg that have ever been made by a local fanier.

Mr. Oke took with him 250 birds, and at Calgary swept the list. At Winnipeg the exhibits were far more numerous, and the competition much keener, but here once more the London birds took practically everything in their class and were heavy winners of the prize money.

Mr. Oke took birds belonging to a large number of local faniers, and showed them with his own, and in every instance the London birds were winners. The wins at the combined shows are the biggest probably that London men have ever made at a Canadian exhibition, and have done a great deal to advance the reputation of the west.

Among the London faniers whose birds won heavily are T. A. Faulds, Lewis Sage, Hugh Wyatt, H. R. K. Tozer, R. Heard, Charles Hockins, James Arthur, W. A. Gurney, W. Monahan, F. A. Andrews, W. A. Silson and W. McNeil.

Among those from Western Ontario who won prizes were W. R. Cadman, St. Thomas; Fred Wales, Milton; W. Ferguson, Brantford; Frank Shaw, St. Thomas; and H. Fraleigh, of Forest, Ontario.

The next heaviest winners after London and Western Ontario men were the exhibitors from the United States. In all there were about 1,500 entries.

Terrorize People of Jamaica

Plains, Mass.—Eleven Persons Injured.

Boston, Mass., July 22.—Eleven people were shot last night, one of them fatally and two probably fatally, by desperadoes, who, pursued by police and a crowd of citizens, fled for two miles through a thickly-settled district of Jamaica Plains, firing madly right and left, disappearing later in the woods near Franklin Park. The men are believed to be two of the gang of three who last night robbed a saloon in Jamaica Plains after shooting one man dead and wounding two others.

Mrs. Della Fallon, of South street, was standing in front of her home with her baby in her arms when the two men, pursued by a crowd, came down the street. As they passed her, one of the fugitives fired a shot which entered her head. She is in a critical condition.

Herbert E. Knox, 42 years old, night watchman at the Forest Hills Cemetery, and Edward McMahon, 21 years old, a policeman, both received bullets in the abdomen. Knox died later and McMahon is not expected to survive the night.

Other victims are: Patrick McGinn, shot in the side; Michael Flynn, slightly wounded in the head; Police- man Thompson, shot in leg; Thomas Moore, street car conductor, shot in the leg; John Nolan, shot in arm; Thomas F. Leming, shot in hand; Patrolman Ingalls, bullet in leg; Patrolman Cox, shot in ankle.

It is believed that the desperadoes concealed in Calvary Cemetery while the police were hunting for them.

Driven from their hiding place by hunger and fearing that they would be surrounded by the police, the two men appeared on Charles street in Jamaica Plains at about dusk and proceeded to shoot up the town.

They looked like foreigners and were roughly dressed. Some citizens who had been assisting the police in the robbery saw the men and tried to intercept them, whereupon the two started to run, and with a revolver in each hand, fled along Charles, South, Lee and Keyes streets, firing at every person in their path.

All along the line of the residential district the stoops of the houses were black with people enjoying the cool evening air, while the streets of the business section were filled with the usual throngs. The appearance of the two desperadoes, shooting to each side as they ran and shouting as if crazy, caused a general stampede for cover.

Michael Flynn stepped to pick up a stone as he saw the men coming toward him and instantly one of them fired at him, one of the bullets grazing his head. As the fugitives, running along Keyes street, reached Washington street, the crowd instantly became a target for bullets, one of which entered his leg.

Across Washington street and through Keyes street the robbers fled, with hundreds of men pursuing, and soon disappeared in the Franklin Park shooting down Policeman Cox, who tried to intercept them near the park gate.

As soon as possible a cordon of police, heavily armed with revolvers and rifles, was thrown about the park, while thousands of citizens gathered in the vicinity.

According to a boy, who saw the two men reloading their weapons in a sand hill near the park early in the evening, each man carried three revolvers.

Patrolmen McMahon and Thompson sighted the men in the neighborhood of the park late in the evening and went down before their well-directed fire.

The police surrounded Forest Hill Cemetery after learning that the fugitives had escaped from Franklin Park. Late tonight 300 policemen were stationed outside the cemetery, and the police department, furnished by the fire department, explored the interior. The police are confident that they have the men surrounded.

TWO MEN DROWNED

Lost Their Lives in Hamilton Bay—Boat Was Swamped.

Hamilton, July 22.—Peter Sauney and Alex. Wilson, two men who were employed at the beach building the new pier and lighthouse, were drowned this afternoon.

They entered a boat with some heavy apparatus that was to be used in their work, and after rowing out into the lake the boat filled and sank with them both.

They never rose to the surface, probably becoming entangled with the tackle in the boat.

A diver who was at work there went down and recovered both bodies, but they were quite dead when secured.

The rate of discount is unchanged at 2 1/2 per cent.

VARSITY FEES HIGHER

Institution Is in Need of a Good Deal More Money.

Toronto, July 22.—The governors of the University of Toronto have under consideration a proposal to increase the fees of students.

The necessity for larger financial equipment is confronting the university authorities. The remarkable increase in attendance has forced a strenuous reorganization of the staff and emphasized the necessity for additional buildings and equipment.

The governors some time ago conferred with the Provincial Government with a view of arranging for increased financial aid, and are planning, it is understood, co-operation in the matter of increasing fees.

"The most material increases will be made in the course of applied science. Here, at the present time, the student pays an annual fee of $80, while at McGill University the assessment is $175.

In arts the fee at Toronto is $36 and will likely be increased. The lift, however, will not be material, as the aim is to encourage the student to take the arts course preliminary to entering upon the other courses.

As to medicine, nothing has yet been determined, but the whole matter is to be taken under advisement and conference held with the medical authorities.

In order not to work undue hardship on the poorer students, the increase in fees will probably be accompanied by the creation of a series of valuable scholarships which will give the diligent and able student an opportunity to more than recompense himself for the increased expense.

The mayor of St. Catharines and three aldermen had an interview with Hon. Adam Beck on Wednesday in Toronto, and asked that St. Catharines be taken into the Niagara power zone.

ROOSEVELT WANTS

POWERFUL NAVY

"The Most Effective Guarantee of Peace That a Nation Can Have."

Newport, R. I., July 22.—President Roosevelt, after an adventurous night trip in the fog from Oyster Bay, during which his yacht, the Mayflower, ran down and sank a lumber schooner, rescuing the crew of six men on board, arrived here at 9:45 a.m. today, and later in the forenoon at the naval war college addressed a conference of nearly 100 naval officers gathered together from all branches of the service to consider plans for new American battleships.

President Roosevelt made a stirring appeal for a hard-hitting, sea-going navy, "I want a first-class fighting navy or no navy at all," said the President, "because a first-class fighting navy is the most effective guarantee of peace this nation can have."

"There are always a number of amiable and well-meaning people," continued President Roosevelt, "who believed in having a navy merely for coast defense. A purely defense navy would be almost worthless. To advocate such a navy is advocating a school of prize fighting, as no one should do anything but parry."

"I hope this nation will never have to hit. We should do everything that honorably can be done to avoid trouble. But when we do go to war that war is only excusable, if the navy is prepared to hammer its opponent until he quits fighting. And you can't hammer your opponent if you wait for him to come to the coast and hammer you first. For the protection of our shores we need fortifications, so that the navy may be left free to stretch out and destroy the enemy. That is its function."

President Roosevelt declared that even if the United States had no island possessions, the need for an aggressive navy policy would still be present.
