TO THE PEOPLE OF CANADA.

In view of the fact that a general election for the House of Commons is now within measurable distance, the publishers of the People's Almanac have introduced into the volume a large amount of information relating to public affairs. The statistics given have been taken from official sources, and may be relied upon as absolutely accurate. In almost every case they have been allowed to tell their own story. No better answer to those who despair of their country, and can discover no ray of sunshine on its horoscope, need be supplied than the record of material progress during the past ten or fifteen years. That record is furnished in the accompanying pages.

The illustrations are an agreeable novelty in a work of this kind, which, it is believed, the public will enjoy and appreciate; they are free from acrimony and vulgarity, and are intended to be a fair and faithful reflex of the attitude of political parties towards the public questions of the day. The recent tariff legislation in the United States is referred to at some length; the changes in duties are given; and the probable effect of the McKinley tariff on trade relations with our neighbours set forth.

THE PUBLISHERS.

WHAT LIBERALS HAVE SAID.

"I entered my election outlays as missionary expenses."

J. MORRIS, M. P.

"When I treat I always treat to raspberry syrup."

J. G. CURRIE.

"We must make a big push on polling day; will you come down handsomely?"

GEORGE BROWN.

"Come along, John; come and help put down bribery and corruption; we've lots of money. So come along."

J. MADIVER.

"When I go into an election, I go in to win, and don't care a d—n what it costs."

H. BROWN,
Chairman Grit Convention.

"I mesmerized them in batches of fifteen and sixteen, and turned a hundred that night at Glen's."

HON. JOHN SIMPSON.

"I spent $6,000 in contesting Russell, which contest I claim to have had a good effect in subsequently securing that constituency for the Reform party."

HON. MALCOLM CAMPBELL.

"I spent time and money in carrying South Ontario and defeating an ex-minister of the Crown."

HON. MALCOLM CAMERON'S circular.

*Which is why I remark,
And my language is plain,
That for ways that are dark
And tricks that are vain,
The Liberal he is peculiar.*

WHO HAS DONE MOST FOR THE WORKINGMEN?
THE CONSERVATIVES.

Took the duties off tea and coffee, and thus made these articles cheaper to the consumer. See Tariff of 1879.

Put raw cotton and wool that cannot be produced in Canada, tin plates, steel for manufacturers' use, mining machinery, and raw materials generally on the list of articles free of duty, so as to encourage their use in Canadian factories and workshops.

Put protective duties on manufactured goods, so as to encourage Canadian capital to invest in the production in this country of the principal articles consumed by the people, thus adding largely to the amount of work for the artisan and laborer, and leading immediately to the establishment of large cotton factories and sugar refineries, to the improvement and enlargement of the woolen manufacturing trade, and directly to the employment of many thousands of people who otherwise would have had to seek work in another country and thus to reduce the producing and consuming power of their own.

Made and carried out the Canadian Pacific contract, thus creating a large demand for skilled and well paid labor across the whole breadth of the country, promoting trade of all kinds, and the interests of the labor engaged therein, and by enlarging the settled area of the country, added to the demand for the products of labour to supply the wants of the newly opened and settled districts.

Gave liberal subsidies out of the country's surplus revenue to promote the construction of minor railways in every part of the country, thus doing for localities what the Canadian Pacific has assisted to do for the whole country.

The eagle grey is a rare old bird,
 And the falcon's good and game,
 And the fine old goose, when it turns itself loose,
 It gets there just the same.
 But the boldest bird we have ever heard
 (And we hear of them now and then),
 Is the bird that still fights McKinley's Bill,
 The great Canadian hen.

When McKinley great goes on to state
 That our hen is not a bird,
 By the good old rule, he must be a fool
 (Although that's a pretty strong word),
 For the eggs she lays are beyond all praise,
 And they're relished beyond the sea,
 For that grand old fowl makes the Yankees howl,
 For Canadian eggs for tea.

WHO HAS DONE MOST FOR THE WORKMAN ?

THE LIBERALS :

Refused to take duty off tea and coffee and put it on articles that would aid the industries of the country—Journals, House of Commons, 1877, p. 124.

Refused to consider protection to Canadian industries in levying the taxation necessary to make up the Cartwright deficit of $1,460,000.—House of Commons Debates, 1878.

Voted against nearly every item in the Conservative protective tariff introduced in 1879.—See House of Commons Debates.

Voted for Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States, whose surplus goods in 1876-'77-'78 and '79 were slaughtered in Canadian markets, forcing Canadian manufacturers to shut down, depriving

Canadian workmen of their means of livelihood and sending those in Montreal to labor on the Park Relief Works at seventy and eighty cents a day, and to get meals for their children and wives at the hands of charity in public soup kitchens.—See Sessional Debates, 1887-'88-'89 and '90.

Voted against the Canadian Pacific Railway charter and contract, predicted that it could not be completed, and did all in their power as a party to prevent its being completed. This railway gives direct employment to five thousand workmen, and indirectly affords work to many thousands outside.

Voted against the subsidies in aid of railways to open up to trade the undeveloped resources of the country and so add to the trade and the work of the people.

Mary had a little lamb,
Its fleece was white as snow,
Till Bill McKinley came and said
"A tax on that must go.

"Oh, no, my dear, it cannot be,"
The great McKinley cried,
"Two cents a pound goes on its flesh
And thirty on its hide."

"We cannot see our Yankee lambs
So innocent and dear,
Get busted up by paper wools
Which come from Europe here.

Then Mary sheared that lamb so close
That it was nearly bald,
And in its woe the tariff bill
Some awful names it called.

WHO ARE THE FARMERS' FRIENDS?

THE LIBERALS:

Have presented resolutions in Parliament and intrigued at Washington for free trade and unrestricted reciprocity with a nation that raises and exports more farm products than Canada.

THE CONSERVATIVES:

Have established experimental farms at Ottawa, Brandon, Indian Head, Agassiz, C., and Nappan, N.S.

Have conducted experiments of value to the farmer as to the best seeds suited for cultivation in the various latitudes of Canada, and the best means of cultivating them.

Have appointed Professor Robertson, the best authority in North America, to be dairy commissioner, and publish regular bulletins prepared by him for the information of farmers.

Have imported the best English seed barley for the improvement of that grain in Canada.

Have given him protection against the farm products of the Western States whose competition has made agriculture largely unprofitable in New England.

You may search among the leaders, who in action or debate sway the passions of the people, or direct affairs of state,

But there is not one among them, the whole wide world upon,
That is half so loved and honored as
Our grand old man, Sir John.

He found us but a colony, and has a nation made;
His rule gave us a confidence that ne'er
can be dismayed;

His policy's the wisest the sun e'er shone upon;

He has wonders done for Canada,
Our veteran, Sir John.

No wonder we are proud of him and hold his name revered, Few more sagacious pilots the ship of state have steered;

Yet he's plain and simple like ourselves,
There are no flies upon
That typical Canadian,
Our good, old, plain, Sir John.

How d

How doth the good Canadian hen
Delight her eggs to lay,
That we may pack and ship them to
Our friends across the way?

When Bill McKinley came along
His face with wrath did shine,
He said—"No Yankee laid those eggs," They're laid across the line.

"Shall Yankees' hens no safeguards have,
When they are on the lay?
From this time forth all hens' eggs shall Five cents per dozen pay.

"At present birds' eggs come in free,
To that I've pledged my word;
But from my tariff point of view,
A hen is not a bird."

And yet the bold Canadian hen
Continues still to lay;
Unmoved by Bill McKinley's talk
She does so to this day.

And still we buy and pack and ship,
Although McKinley fumes,
Because he sees the duty's paid
By the party who consumes.

It is usual in all countries,
Where the people have a voice,
To have two lines of policy
From which to make their choice.

The government support one line
And on it take their stand.
The opposition have one, too,
To put before the land.

But in this growing Canada
We find there is but one,
For the Liberals have no platform
To take their stand upon.

Their policy (if such it be),
Is simply to deny Whate'er the Cabinet might say
And brand it as a lie.

They do not make a single move
To help the country on,
They simply sit in Parliament
To rail at poor Sir John.

Yet once they had a policy
(At least so people say),
Till Laurier fired his musket off
And blew it clean away.

HOW IT WILL WORK.

In his speech at Pembroke, on October 1, 1890, Sir Richard Cartwright said: Some men, whose opinions I respect, entertain objections to this (unrestricted reciprocity) proposition. They argue, and argue with force, that it will be necessary for us, if we enter into such an arrangement, to admit the goods of the United States on more favorable terms than those of the mother country. Nor do I deny that that is an objection, and not a light one."—Toronto Globe report.

See the faces of the Grits,
Grizzly Grits,
That a woe begone expression at present
o'er them flits.

They are thinking—thinking deeply
How to run this country cheaply,
And they wonder
How in thunder
It is going to be done.

On a platform of negation, which the wisdom of the nation
Many years ago discovered was not fit to stand upon,

They would own the country's coffers
And would tempt our votes with offers Concerning reciprocity, which for Yankees would be fun.

And they have but one ambition,
With the shades of opposition
To be quits.

But the people—they who vote—of their twaddle take no note,
For they know the dismal, dreary, direful
dole

Of the Grits.

Of the moribund, morose and melancholy
Grits.

Grits, Grits, Grits.

The disaffected, oft-detested, ne'er elected
Grits,

Grits, Grits, Grits.

The greedy, grubby, garrulous old

JESUITS' ESTATES QUESTION.

The Secretary of State for Canada has been instructed by His Excellency the Governor General to cause to be published for general information the following two reports made by the Attorney General and Solicitor General of England, on the act passed by the legislature of the Province of Quebec, intitled: "An Act respecting the settlement of the Jesuits' Estates."

Law Officers to Colonial Office:

ROYAL COURTS OF JUSTICE, July 9th, 1880.

We have taken the matter into our consideration and, in obedience to Your Lordship's commands, have the honor to report—

That, in our opinion, the decision arrived at by the Governor General not to interfere with the operation of the Provincial act in question was right and constitutional.

We have, &c.,

(Signed) RICHARD E. WEBSTER.
EDWARD CLARKE.

The Right Hon. Lord Knutsford.

Law Officers of the Crown to Lord Knutsford:

ROYAL COURTS OF JUSTICE, 31st July, 1880.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands, we have the honor to report—

That we are of opinion that the act was clearly within the powers of the Provincial Legislature, and that there is no ground for a reference to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

We have, &c.,

THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION.

on. Edward Blake, speaking at Malton, Ontario, January 22nd, 1887, said on subject of the Tariff:—"No man, I am not how convinced an advocate of free trade for Canada he may be, has yet suggested—no man, I believe, can suggest,—a practicable plan whereby our great real needs can be met otherwise than by continued imposition of very high duties on goods similar to those we make, and on the same make, within our bounds, or on the same materials. I invite the most ardent trader in public life to present a feasible solution of this problem: and I think that he is bound to do so before he advocates of free trade as practicable in Canada. I have not believed it soluble in my opinion; and any chance of its solubility, if once there were, has been destroyed by the vast increase of our yearly charge and the other conditions which have been created. The thing is removed from the main of practical politics."

"Unfortunately, direct taxation is the Question in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces."—Toronto Globe, Oct. 14, 1890.

"The scheme of unrestricted reciprocity involves an assimilation of the tariffs of Canada and the United States. As Mr. Pitt, of Illinois, one of the fathers of the subject, puts it, "the tariff would have to be the same in Canada and the United States, or there would be infinite fraud and disturbance of trade." The control of a joint-tariff would be vested in the Congress of the United States. All parties are agreed on that point. For instance, the Chicago Times, discussing the question, said:—"It must not be forgotten that this proposition implies a complete surrender by the Dominion Parliament to the American Congress of all control over the principal source of the Dominion's revenue, the tariff. Whatever may please the American Congress regarding the tariff, that the Dominion Government must forthwith accept. Our Congress would have even more power over the Dominion under this arrangement than it would in the event of political union, because the people of the Dominion would have neither vote nor voice in Washington under the proposed commercial union, while they would have both under political union. Not only would our Congress prescribe and change at pleasure all the tariff taxes exacted from the people of Canada, but our executive officers and our courts would make all the rulings and decisions affecting rates for the Dominion as well as for the United States."

The New York Evening Post, one of the most reputable and influential journals in the United States, has also dealt with the subject of tariff control under a policy of unrestricted reciprocity, reaching this conclusion:—"If Canada agrees to have the same tariff as the United States, the making of it must, of necessity, be left to the American Congress, or, in other words, the power to tax the Canadians must be ceded to the United States, and the power to tax soon carries all other powers with it. It is just as well for everybody who is interested in this movement on either side of the line to bear this in mind. The United States cannot allow a small province like Canada to say what their import duties shall be, so that Canada would have to allow the United States—in fact, if not in form, to say what her import duties would be."

The foregoing quotations establish two points:—First, that in the opinion of Mr. Blake and the Globe, direct taxation in Canada is impracticable; secondly, that a common tariff would, under unrestricted reciprocity, prevail along the whole American sea-board. It is interesting, then, to enquire the effect upon the revenue of Canada of the proposed policy. We should lose the whole of the duties now collected on imports from the United States. These amounted to $7,371,148 in 1880. But under the operation of such a fiscal system as the McKinley tariff, Canada's imports from Great Britain would decline to one-fourth their present value, and the Customs collection would correspondingly decrease. Before the McKinley Bill became law, the United States bought annually from Great Britain to the amount of $2.75 per head of population, while Canada buys to the annual value of $8.50 to $9 per head. If our imports from Great Britain were reduced to the American level, the loss of Customs revenue would be at least one-half, or $4,725,000, on the basis of the collections in 1880. In these two items we stand to lose, nay, are absolutely certain to lose, $12,100,000 of Customs revenue under unrestricted reciprocity. How is the amount to be made up? Mr. Blake and the Globe say not by direct taxation. Yet distasteful as such a measure would be, it is inevitable if the Liberal policy of free trade with the United States should prevail.

The project of unrestricted reciprocity involves discrimination against Great Britain, that is to say, American products are to be admitted free of duty into the Dominion, while British products will be subject to the tariff exactions of the McKinley Bill. Some opinions upon the propriety of such a course may be cited. As long ago as 1862, Sir Alex. Galt, then Minister of Finance of the old Province of Canada, dealt with the subject in a Memorandum to Council, in which he said:—"The undersigned can have no hesitation in stating to Your Excellency that, in his opinion, the project of an American Zollverein, to which the British provinces should become parties, is one wholly inconsistent with the maintenance of their connection with Great Britain, and also opposed, on its own merits, to the interests of the people of these provinces. It requires no great foresight to perceive that a zollverein means the impositions of duties by the Confederacy, on articles produced outside of the Confederacy, coupled with free trade among its members. In other words, Canada would be required to tax British goods while admitted those of the United States from a state of things that could only accompany the severance of all the ties of affection, nationality and interest that unite Canada to the Mother Country. It would also be essentially against the interests of Canada,—Great Britain is to a greater degree than the United States a market for Canadian produce—and commercial relations should therefore be extended with her, certainly not interfered with."

The late Hon. George Brown has put on record his views on the subject of trade relations with the United States. In 1874 when Mr. Ward introduced into Congress a bill for unrestricted reciprocity with Canada, Mr. Brown wrote:—"We, on our part, are not insensible of the loss and injury to both nations by the existence of a protective tariff, and all the troubles and irritating incidentals to such exclusiveness on the part of our neighbours. But neither politically nor commercially does Canada need to change her position to secure a high degree of prosperity, and all that conduces to personal comfort and happiness, in the steady development of home and foreign trade, in the extension of public enterprise, in the flourishing condition of our farmers, and in the such a limited scope for the employment of The vast population, Canada has all that nation can desire."

The Draft Treaty, negotiated in 1874 by Mr. Brown, acting for the Canadian Government, although wide in its scope, embracing a number of manufactures and articles, contemplated no discrimination against Great Britain. The evidence on this point is interesting. Defending the treaty from his place in the Senate in 1875, Mr. Brown said:—

"I come now to the objections which have been urged against the treaty from such quarters as entitle them to a form-answer. The first of these is the allegation that the treaty discriminated against Great Britain in favour of the United States. Nothing could be more unfounded than this. It was perfectly understood from the opening of the negotiations that no article could be free from duty in regard to the United States that was not also free with regard to Great Britain, AND NOTHING ELSE WAS EVER CONTEMPLATED FOR A MOMENT."

There was a fear in England that differential duties were contemplated in the project of 1874, and representations were made to the Home authorities by British exporters. Lord Carnarvon, Colonial Secretary, and Lord Derby, Foreign Secretary, assured them that it was not contemplated to discriminate against British goods. Lord Derby said:—"It was the bounden duty of Her Majesty's government to insist that British trade should not be placed at a disadvantage, as compared with other countries, in any treaties which might be entered into on behalf of colonies; and also to forbid the imposition of differential duties in favour of the United States as against Great Britain, in any such treaty."

And he assured the deputation that there was nothing in the proposed treaty to warrant the conclusion that the Canadian Government were in favour of such a distinction."

The Toronto Mail, discussing this question, stated:—"We are authorized by Hon. Alexander Mackenzie to state that Mr. Macdougall is entirely mistaken in supposing that discrimination was suggested, or proposed, or permitted under the project of 1874. Mr. Mackenzie adds that he and his colleagues individually, and as a cabinet, were strongly opposed to discrimination against English goods, and took special pains to provide against even the appearance of it."

It is pertinent to remark that no scheme of unrestricted reciprocity with the United States can possibly succeed, except on the condition of tariff discrimination against Great Britain.

The Canadian Government has always favoured a liberal measure of reciprocity with the United States. The latest authoritative offer on the part of Canada was made by Sir Charles Tupper, as a member of the Fishery Commission, on December 3rd, 1887. It was an unrestricted offer to the United States to take up the whole question of the trade relations of the two countries and settle all differences in a broad and liberal treaty, the exact language of the offer being:—

"That, with the view of removing all causes of difference in connection with the fisheries, it is proposed by Her Majesty's plenipotentiaries that the fishermen of both countries shall have all the privileges enjoyed during the existence of the fishery articles of the treaty of Washington, in consideration of a mutual arrangement providing for greater freedom of commercial intercourse between the United States and Canada."

THE SHERMAN RESOLUTION.

In the month of September, 1890, Lion. John Sherman introduced the following resolution in the United States Senate:—

"That whenever it shall be certified to the President of the United States that the Government of the Dominion of Canada shall, by law or regulation, admit free of duty into all its ports coal mined in the United States, and shall make proclamation of the fact thereafter, while such law or regulation is in force, coal mined in the Dominion of Canada shall be admitted free of duty into all the ports of the United States, and whenever it shall be duly certified to the President of the United States that the Government of the Dominion of Canada has declared a desire to enter into such commercial arrangement with the United States as will result in the complete or partial removal of duties upon trade between Canada and the United States, he shall appoint three commissioners to meet those who may be designated to represent the Government of Canada to consider the best method of extending the trade relations between Canada and the United States, and to ascertain on what terms greater freedom of intercourse between the two countries can best be secured; and said commissioners shall report to the President, who shall lay the report before Congress, and the necessary expenses of the commissioners appointed by the President, including their compensation at the rate of $10 a day each for the time necessarily employed in said duty, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the collection of the customs revenue."

The good faith of the Dominion Government in its desire to secure reciprocal free trade with the United States was proved by the cordial reception this resolution of Mr. Sherman received in Canada. The Conservative press pronounced it a fair and reasonable method of procedure, and Federal Ministers intimated that, if adopted by the American Senate, it would be acted upon; but so hostile was opinion in the United States Senate on the question that Mr. Sherman withdrew his resolution without even challenging a vote upon it.

CANADA'S EXPORTS TO THE UNITED STATES.

The exports of agricultural produce from Canada to the United States in the year ending June 30th, 1889, were as follows:—

Horses.....	$2,113,782	Flax.....	$ 121,407
Cattle.....	489,296	Barley.....	6,454,803

Our principal exports to the United States of farm produce consist of live stock, eggs, barley and hay, these aggregating more than three-fourths of the whole trade. Applying the late and the present American duties to our exports, we have this result:—

Totals.....	$2,038,451	$6,090,000

The increase in the American duties thus shown to be about three-fold, or an average of 14 per cent. to an average of 40 per cent. Of the total increase of $4,000,000 in the duties, one-half falls upon barley, $700,000 on eggs, $723,000 on apples, $165,000 on hay, $100,000 on horses, $70,000 on potatoes, and $75,000 on cattle. These are, indeed, the only items about which any concern need be felt, as the other articles of farm produce affected by the McKinley bill are not shipped to the United States to any considerable amount. We sold our neighbors in 1889, $12,353,000 worth of barley, eggs, apples, hay, potatoes, horses and cattle, while of the other articles, we sold to other countries to the amount of $6,800,000, or a little more than one-half as much as to the United States. In these seven items of export, Ontario trade with the neighboring countries amounted to $9,700,000, Quebec $1,780,000, Nova Scotia $190,500, New Brunswick $266,000, and Prince Edward Island $420,000.

for the trade in eggs, cattle and sheep, there is reason to believe the loss the American market may be more than compensated for by directing the export to Great Britain. The average value of a cattle shipped to England is $83.20 per head, as against an average of $13 per head in the trade with the United States. This immense disparity being explained by the fact that calves, store cattle principally, are sent to our neighbors, but if the animals are retained at home until ready for the British market, the additional price received ought to make the operation profitable. So in the case of sheep: our exports to England average $7 per head, while those to the United States have a value of only $3 per head.

increase of $8,100,000. In the twelve year period, 1878-1890, the increase in the net debt has been $97,686,569, or an annual average increase of $8,140,000. In the latter period the Canadian Pacific Railway was built, and a rebellion in the North-West suppressed, yet the average debt increase has not been greater than during the era of Liberal rule.

The total increase in the gross debt since Confederation amounts to $193,013,075 up to June 30th, 1890. The expenditure on capital account in the same period has been $183,840,000. The increase in the net debt since Confederation has been $162,310,997. The principal items of capital expenditure have been:—

Canals	$32,841,932
Canadian Pacific Ry	61,899,600
Debts allowed to Provinces	30,743,322
Dominion Lands	2,838,777
Intercolonial and connected Railways	40,375,245
Other Public Works	2,838,157
North-West Territories	3,912,635

The gross liabilities of Canada on June 30th, 1890, amounting to $296,080,126, were made up of the following items:—

Funded Debt payable in London	$187,616,592
" " Canada	13,894,138
Dominion Notes	1,357,892
Savings Banks' deposits	41,015,186
Temporary Loans	1,946,666
Trust Funds	8,134,527
Province Accounts	16,907,641
Miscellaneous	1,216,569

The net rate of interest paid on the debt of Canada was in 1868, 4.51 per cent., and in 1873 it was 3.70 per cent. Five years later, namely, in 1878, the rate was 3.68 per cent., or practically the same as when the Liberals came into office. Since then further reductions in the rate of interest, in other words, the cost of carrying the debt, have been made, the rate having been as low as 2.76 per cent. in 1884, while in 1889 it was 3.07 per cent. The advancing credit of the Dominion which these figures reflect is very gratifying.

THE PEOPLE'S SAVINGS.

The following is a statement of the deposits of the people in the chartered banks, savings banks, etc., since Confederation. The stationary character of the deposits during the era of Liberal rule is very noticeable.

DOMINION FINANCES.

The accounts for the financial year ended on June 30th, 1890, show a surplus of $4,004,288, the revenue being $30,861,308 and the expenditure $35,857,130. The income is the largest yet recorded, exceeding that of the preceding year by more than a million dollars. And that of 1888 by nearly four millions, the figures in detail being as follows :

	1878.	1888.
Customs.....	$ 12,782,824	$ 22,105,926
Excise.....	4,858,671	6,074,486

Public Works.....	3,542,557	3,800,000
Miscellaneous.....	2,806,289	2,100,000

Totals..... $ 38,782,870 $ 39,800,000.

The increase in the Customs collected has been inappreciable, only about a quarter of a million dollars over the preceding year, and from the miscellaneous sources the revenue has fallen off owing chiefly to the smaller amount of interest-bearing deposits at the credit of the Government and the banks. Excise, however, yielded nearly three quarters of a million dollars more than in 1889, and about a million all more than in 1888; while the re-ts from the postal service and public ks, including Government railways, ss of the Bank satisfactory gains. These latter the details of the expenditure of the al year ending June 30th, 1890, will not accessible until the public accounts ve been issued. Meanwhile, however, decrease of more than one million dol-made in 1890 is noteworthy. It is true the figures are still large when compared with those of ten or fifteen years ago, but in the interval many new charges ve devolved upon the treasury from the policy of material development sanctioned by the people. If we take the eleven ar period, 1879 to 1890, we find the total expenditure to have increased from $24-000 to $35,850,000, or by $11,350,000, of which augmentation about one third, $9,800,000, was for services connected with Customs collection of revenue, principally the ost office and public works. For instance, ver the preced cost of operating the Intercolonial and llaneous source Edward Island Railways, the f owing officials, and the postal service is all interest-bearing in the annual expenditure of the e Government, these charges representing igger, yiele-fifth of the total outlay, but while the a million dol expenditure mounts up year by year in the out a million.

natural course of material progress, the revenue also expands in an equal degree.
 To illustrate: In 1879 the expenditure on account of the post office and public works was $4,485,400, and the revenue therefrom $3,035,500, leaving a deficit of $1,429,900; on the other hand, the expenditure for the post office and public works in 1890 reached $7,400,000, and the revenue $6,157,500, leaving a deficiency of $1,242,500, or a couple of hundred thousand dollars less than eleven years ago. In the aggregate of the public expenditure, however, an increase of three millions is made by this development of postal and railroad services, which hostile critics of the Government adduce as an example of extravagance, though, as a matter of fact, it really improves the state of the finances.

Then the charges arising out of the public debt for interest and sinking fund have gone up nearly $4,000,000 since 1879, or from $8,500,000 to $12,200,000, principally owing to the capital outlay on the Canadian Pacific Railway, the enlargement of the canals, the assumption of provincial debts and miscellaneous public works. Finally, there is an increment of $4,000,000 in the general expenditures in the past eleven years, the term general expenditures including the cost of civil government, legislation, the administration of justice, the militia, the fisheries, the mounted police, the care of the Indians, immigration, light-house and coast service, mail subsidies, ocean and river service, and public works chargeable to revenue. If any timid persons are disposed to fear that the expenditure for these services is mounting up too rapidly, they may derive satisfaction and comfort from the fact that the outlay in 1890 was less than in any preceding year since 1883. They may, also, with perti-nence, be reminded that between 1871 and 1876 the general expenditure, other than for interest, provincial subsidies and collection of revenue, ran up from $4,610,000 to $8,570,000, and was fourteen years ago only about two and a half millions less than in 1890. The truth is, and we are glad to be able to record and applaud it, the expenditure of the Dominion Government during the last few years has been marked by close economy, and by substantial retrenchment, as the following figures of the total payments will show :—

1886	$33,011,612
1887	35,637,680
1888	36,718,494
1889	36,917,834
1890	35,857,130

As a result of the care and skill practiced in the administration of public affairs, a surplus of $1,865,035 was obtained in 1889, and last year the balance on the right side reached the handsome sum of $4,004,000, a figure exceeded only three times in the history of Confederation.

THE NATIONAL POLICY AND BRITISH CONNECTION.

The allegation that the fiscal policy adopted in 1879 has done much to injure British connection may safely be left for answer to the observation and discernment of every intelligent Canadian. It is interesting, however, to examine the influence of that policy upon our trade with Great Britain and the United States. In 1873 Canada purchased British goods to the value of $68,522,000, in 1879 to the value of $30,993,000, and in 1889 to the value of $42,317,000. In the first period our import trade from the mother country declined more than one-half. It was a period of severe commercial depression, of falling prices, during which the aggregate trade of the country suffered a serious shrinkage. It was also a period of low tariff. But mark the course of trade with the United States. In 1873 we purchased from that country to the value of $47,735,000, in 1879 to the value of $43,730,000, and in 1889 to the value of $50,527,000; that is to say, while under a low tariff the imports from Great Britain declined $37,500,000, those from the United States declined only $4,000,000; and while under the protective system imports from Great Britain have augmented $11,300,000, those from the United States have augmented less than $7,000,000. A fiscal policy productive of these results cannot truthfully be described as hurtful to British connection.

It may be said, however, that we buy more largely from the United States than from Great Britain. We have done so for a great many years; we did so before the National Policy was established, and we are likely to continue the practice indefinitely. The excess of our purchases from the United States over those from Britain was greatest between 1875 and 1879 under the low tariff, for the reason that in addition to raw materials we then bought largely American manufactures. Now we buy principally raw materials from our neighbors, while the larger part of our imported manufactures comes from England. Here is a statement of some leading imports into Canada, under the free list, in the last year (1889) for which we have the returns:—

	From Great Britain.	From United States.
Coin and bullion.....	$ 66,290	$ 59,021
Settlers' effects.....	469,069	1,371,533
Gutta percha.....	32,971	438,098
Raw cotton.....	49,896	3,784,941
Leaf tobacco.....	720	1,225,877
Cliver and grass seed.....	4,088	522,773
Trees and plants.....	793	122,797
Green fruit.....	67	614,391
Broom corn.....	793	93,767
Wool.....	469,630	698,967
Raw silk.....	24,370	111,613
Hides.....	47,998	1,521,499
Grease.....	29	173,405
Eggs.....	2,314	91,172
Logs and lumber.....	24,415	886,763
Anthracite coal.....		5,168,610
Total.....	$ 1,132,320	$ 17,773,077

Now there is not one of the articles above enumerated the source of whose importation can be affected by the tariff. If duties, high or moderate, were levied upon any one of them, the extent of the trade might be dwarfed, but the place of origin would not be changed in any degree. They are, for the most part, natural products which constitute the raw material of manufacturers, and are put on the free list for the purpose of encouraging and fostering industrial enterprise in Canada. More than one-third of our imports from the United States are embraced in the list, and, as manufacturers grow and prosper in the Dominion, the purchase of these goods from our neighbors will increase; but will any one pretend to say that the enlargement of an import trade so constituted implies tariff discrimination against Great Britain, or tends to impair British connection? Then, Canada buys a considerable quantity of farm produce from her neighbor, upon which duties are levied partly for revenue and partly for protective purposes. The list comprises natural products not exported from Great Britain to any appreciable extent, as the following statement of imports into Canada during the fiscal year 1889 will show:—

	From Great Britain.	From United States.
Beans.....	$ 106	$ 19,189
Corn.....		1,266,910
Oats.....	281	21,540
Peas.....	444	8,567
Rye.....		56,095
Wheat.....	32	12,623
Bran, meal and flour.....	16,769	1,452,488
Bituminous coal.....	161,403	3,091,312
Live stock.....	4,913	299,390
Butter and cheese.....	3,484	13 7
Lard.....	219	634,425
Meats.....	4,378	1,610,546
Total.....	$ 191,969	$ 8,563,122

Here, again, we have a list of articles the source of importation of which cannot be affected by the tariff, although the extent of the trade may be. Deducting these items of natural products, which England cannot furnish us with, however anxious we may be to buy from her, the relative value of imports into Canada stands thus:

From Great Britain.....	$40,993,190
From United States.....	24,201,241

The trade represented by these figures is principally in manufactured goods of iron, cotton, wool, linen, etc., and the large excess of purchases from the mother country indicates plainly that, whatever else it may have done, the National Policy has certainly not injured British trade.
