WHAT CAPTURE OF COMBLES MEANS

Was Brilliantly Executed Operation, Like Victory in Champagne.

FRENCH PROGRESS IN BOUCHAVESNES.

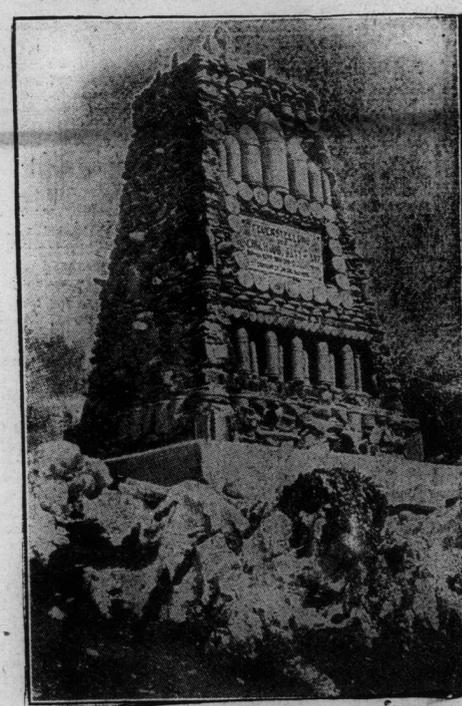

Germans Know That Allies Are Now Gaining the Upper Hand.

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 27.—The capture of Combles with its great booty completes what is regarded by military experts here as one of the most brilliantly executed operations of the summer campaign.

Since September 15, the Germans had brought up three fresh divisions against the French front and the same number against the British. On the twenty-first they made a desperate effort to retake Bouchavesnes.

The progress made by the French beyond Bouchavesnes is regarded here as one of the most surprising results of the operations.

DECISIVE DEFEAT FOR FOE IN GREAT BATTLE IN DOBRUDJA

Germans and Bulgars Compelled to Retreat Before Pressure of Roumanians, Russians and Serbs

By Courier Leased Wire. Bucharest, Monday, Sept. 25, via London, Sept. 27.—Details of the great battle on the Dobrudja front, which lasted from Sept. 17 to Sept. 19, and ended, according to General Averesco, in the decisive defeat of the Germans and Bulgarians, are given in an official statement issued by the War Office to-day.

"The supreme command learned on Sept. 17 that detachments of our forces had been compelled to retire before superior enemy forces and were filling slowly back inflicting heavy losses on the enemy.

"The fighting opened along the Danube where enemy columns, consisting mostly of Germans, endeavored to force their way into Chervodava. This effort was defeated by the splendid resistance of the Roumanians, who, with repeated bayonet attacks, supported by the fire of three monitors in the river, brought the advance of the enemy to a standstill.

"In two days' fighting of the most desperate, the enemy suffered heavy losses, his main formations being mowed down by artillery fire. In the centre he was driven from trenches which he momentarily succeeded in penetrating by the allied Roumanian, Russian and Serbian troops.

"Finally, at nine o'clock in the evening of September 19, the enemy onslaught reached its climax. The allies, by a formidable counter-attack overthrew the enemy's right wing, which fled in disorder. The enemy losses were very great, everywhere heaps of corpses were found and in front of one division alone 5,000 rifles were picked up. The allied troops then advanced, driving the enemy before them."

Serbs Repulse Bulgar Attacks

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Sept. 27.—The Serbians have repulsed three violent attacks on Katmakolan height, according to an official statement issued by the war office dealing with the Saloniki front.

BOYS FIGHTING AMONG TURKS

Later Have Mobilized Every Male Capable of Carrying Rifle.

Enemy Still Suffers from Blows Received in Dobrudja.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 27.—(New York Times cable)—A despatch from Bucharest to the Daily Chronicle says:

"On the Dobrudja front the Bulgars, Turks, and Germans are still suffering from the effects of the crushing blow inflicted on their right wing by the Roumanians. The enemy's right has fallen back considerably. Pressing the advantage obtained when the Teutonic forces were compelled to cede ground, the allies followed up and considerably harassed them, capturing prisoners and war materials.

Among the prisoners are a number of young, immature soldiers, notably among the Turks. The latter have seemingly mobilized every male capable of carrying a rifle.

The Roumanian divisions are now fighting with the steadiness of seasoned troops. Even the divisions which suffered severely still wish to be in the lead against the enemy.

PRISONERS TAKEN NOW REACH 4000

That Number of Germans Captured by British in Two-Days' Offensive.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 27.—Between 3,000 and 4,000 prisoners were taken by the British in Monday's and Tuesday's fighting on the Somme front, according to a delayed portion of General Haig's report of Tuesday night, which was given out to-day.

The report says: "The battle continued violently during the day over the whole front, between the Somme and the Ancre. Our troops were successful everywhere, carrying out their attacks most brilliantly. During the last 48 hours, between 3,000 and 4,000 prisoners were taken."

Disheartened and Broken, Huns Give Little Resistance

Capture of Combles One of the Most Picturesque Incidents in Entire Offensive—Opening of Forward Surge by Allied Forces.

By Courier Leased Wire. British Front in France, Sept. 26, via London, Sept. 27, 4.05 a.m.—The capture of Combles was one of the most picturesque incidents in the whole course of the great Somme offensive. It marked the opening of to-day's forward surge which reached its climax in the capture of Gueudecourt and Thiepval.

All night long bitter fighting had been in progress at various points on the front and with dawn the battle broadened to include the whole British line. Combles fell as the sun rose on a perfect summer day. Sitting in the midst of a heap of hills the town was isolated yesterday by the seizing of the high ground on either side by the French and British. In the early hours of the morning the British took an orchard in the northern outskirts and then, after a heavy preliminary shelling, they charged the trenches on the edge of the village. The trenches were empty when they reached them. At the same time the French, directly behind, pushed victoriously forward into the heart of the village. In the main streets the soldiers of the two nations met and joyously shook hands, calling out to each other "parlez vous" and "How D'ye do."

British Advance on the Somme

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 27, 2.26 p.m.—The British again advanced on the Somme front last night, the War Office announced to-day. The greatest success was won in the direction of Eaucourt L'Abbaye.

The statement follows: "Our troops made progress during the night, particularly in the direction of Eaucourt L'Abbaye. "Successful raids were carried out by us opposite Beaumont and Hamel and in the neighborhood of Loos.

"Three hostile aeroplanes were destroyed in air fighting Monday and six others were driven down, damaged."

CASUALTIES GROW HEAVIER

Long List of Local Names Appear To-day, the Majority Wounded.

With ever increasing numbers the casualties from the great offensive fighting on the Somme front continue to press home in Brant county with no less force than elsewhere throughout the country. PTE. L. MOORE, PARIS, KILLED

Drafted from 125th Battalion and Went Overseas Some Time Ago.

(From Our Own Correspondent) Paris, Sept. 27.—Word was received in town this morning by Mr. J. J. Moore, that his son Lawrence had been killed in action during the recent fighting in France. He joined the 125th Battalion here, but went overseas some months ago, as one of those who offered his services for special draft. He was a staunch member of the Church of the Sacred Heart, and very prominent in the Men's Society of that parish. He sorely bereaved have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS NOT FAVORED

Hungarians Strong Against Aerial Attacks for Various Reasons.

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 27.—(New York Times cable)—According to the correspondent of The Morning Post at Budapest, aerial attacks against non-military objectives, such as the Zeppelin raids on London, are deeply resented by the Hungarians. The correspondent quotes a writer in the Hungarian paper Az Unjasg, who, commenting on the raid on England Saturday night said: "It is a deplorable thing to send men in a fragile airship for the purpose of bombarding places that they cannot distinguish, with the excuse that they did not mean to murder them. It is impossible for a Zeppelin commander to distinguish objects upon the ground from such heights as the Zeppelins fly."

The Amsterdam correspondent of The Times says that the Zeppelin raids on England always have been regarded with aversion in Holland. There is universal satisfaction among the people though it is not expected in the press, at the fate of two of the latest raiders. The newspapers speculate whether these losses will cause the Germans to ask themselves whether the results are commensurate with the cost, though it is not supposed that any considerations of humanity could make the Germans discontinue the attacks.

BRITISH NAVAL BASES BOMBED

Suffered from Attack During Zeppelin Raid on Monday Night.

By Courier Leased Wire. Berlin, Sept. 27.—(By wireless to Sayville).—The British naval base of Portsmouth and military establishments near the mouth of the Thames and at North Shields, Lincoln and Derby, were attacked by the Zeppelins which raided England on Monday night, the admiralty announced to-day. The official account of these operations follows: "On the night of Sept. 25-26 several German airships bombarded extensively and with visible success, with explosive and incendiary bombs, the English naval port of Portsmouth, fortified places near the mouth of the Thames and industrial and railroad establishments of military importance in middle England, including North Shields, Lincoln and Derby. The airships returned unharmed notwithstanding strong attacks of anti-air craft guns.

Clergymen Last Evening Formed Patriotic Assoc.

Rev. L. Brown Elected Chairman, and Rev. W. Smythe, Vice-Chairman—Other Officials Selected and Appointed.

A patriotic association of the clergymen of the city, banded together for the purpose of furthering the work of recruiting throughout Brantford and Brant County in whatever ways may be deemed advisable, and particularly by the delivery of recruiting sermons and the interchange of pulpits in the country districts of the county was formed last evening in the Y.M.C.A., after a meeting of the local clergymen, who were addressed in the interests of the association by the Rev. Dr. Trevelyan and Rev. Mr. Beverley Smith of Toronto, as well as by the majority of the clergy present. Lt. Col. Harry Cockshutt, who was present at the opening of the meeting, assured all present of the hearty cooperation of himself and the officers of the 215th Battalion.

The Rev. Dr. Trevelyan explained to all the purpose for which the meeting had been called, which was for the formation of a local patriotic association of clergymen similar to those organized within the past few months in Toronto and elsewhere. In company with the Rev. Mr. Beverley Smith he had been appointed to visit Brant County in the interests of the Toronto association, and had been assured of the cooperation of the principal citizens of Paris in the matter, and was now to address the clergymen of the city. The purpose of creating a committee of clergymen was not in any way to be taken as indicating that this class had not already done their share, but merely for the purpose of putting to the best possible use the great influence which the pastors were able to wield over their congregations. The interchange of pulpits and the delivery of recruiting addresses under these circumstances was often very beneficial to the cause which the organization was to further.

Mr. Beverley Smith added a few words in the same tenor, pointing out that with the advent of autumn, and the cessation of farm work, which until now had occupied many men, an increase in recruiting throughout the province was looked for. It so desired by the association to be formed, men from Paris would be sent here on any date to speak from the pulpits.

Capt. the Rev. C. E. Jenkins, returned recently from the front, expressed himself as agreeable to the formation of such a committee but considered the time too far advanced for such measures to be of effect, favoring most strongly conscription for single men at least, of Canada. Mr. Beverley Smith considered that the pressure which might be brought by these associations, all strongly in favor of conscription to be upon the Government, might have some measure in influencing it toward such a bill.

Rev. M. C. Light and Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie both voiced the sentiment that Brantford as a whole and the Anglican churches of the city in particular, had already done remarkably well in the way of recruiting, and that one of the ends to which the association might be devoted was urging other organizations, if there should be any found, who were behind in their recruiting activities.

Rev. Mr. Soffley voted the sentiment that the country districts of the Dominion in many places had as yet not awakened to the needs of the hour, while the cities had done remarkably well. To his testimony was added that of Capt. the Rev. S. E. McKegney, chaplain of the 215th battalion, who believed that another year at least must pass before Canada would obtain conscription, and that in the meantime recruits must be obtained. In the country districts of Brant county, he stated, there was room for much more activity in the way of recruiting, and this could be accomplished by the clergy where it was often impossible for the military authorities to make any progress. The clergy in these districts were in fear of the farmers among their congregation, and did not approach the matter of recruiting with as much energy as might be manifested by other pastors in the pulpits if exchanges could be arranged. Many of the farmers were very much opposed to recruiting as harmful to the interests of the industry of the country; many women were also averse to allowing their sons to go to the front. The desire of the 215th battalion, in common with other units, was not to take all the men from the country, nor yet all the single men, but only those of the proper age and thoroughly fit for active service.

Rev. C. E. Jenkins considered it time that stronger measures were taken by the government, as it was results which were wanted and at once. A need for every eligible man would come yet before the war was brought to a successful close.

Considerable more discussion followed, the prevalent sentiment being that all the churches of this city had done remarkably well, and that while there might be still room for more recruiting efforts here, it was in the country districts where these were most required. On the motion of Rev. H. C. Light, seconded by Rev. W. J. Thompson, it was decided to organize an association for carrying out patriotic work along the lines indicated, and the following officers were elected:

Chairman, Rev. Llewellyn Brown, Vice-Chairman, Rev. Mr. Smythe, Secretary-Treas., Rev. H. C. Light, Executive committee, Rev. Dr. Henderson, representing the Methodist churches of the city, Rev. W. E. Bowyer, Baptist, Rev. D. L. Campbell, Presbyterian, Rev. Mr. Soffley, Anglican, Rev. W. J. Thompson, Congregational, Adjutant Osborne, Salvation Army, and a representative from the Roman Catholic church. On the motion of Rev. C. E. Jenkins, Lt. Col. Harry Cockshutt was made honorary patron of the association. A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. C. E. Jenkins, and tendered to the visiting clergy, followed by prayer by the Rev. W. Smythe, served to bring the meeting to a close.

Among those present were the following: Ven. Archdeacon Mackenzie, Rev. C. W. Saunders, Rev. C. E. Jenkins, Rev. H. C. Light, Rev. S. E. McKegney, Rev. J. H. Whelan, Rev. Mr. Soffley, Rev. Llewellyn Brown, (who occupied the chair during the evening), Rev. T. E. Richards, Rev. W. E. Bowyer, Rev. Mr. Chapman, Rev. W. J. Thompson, Rev. D. E. Martin, Rev. Dr. Henderson, Rev. W. E. Baker, Rev. W. Smythe, Rev. J. W. Gordon.

HUN SOCIALISTS TALK PEACE

Must Not Demand too Much in Way of Terms, They Say.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Berlin, Sept. 26, via London, Sept. 27.—A significant paragraph discussing peace conditions appears in the speech delivered at the recent Socialist conference by Philipp Scheidemann, former first vice-president of the Reichstag. The speech was published here to-day in full.

While strongly emphasizing the fact that Socialists are opposed to a policy of annexation, the Socialist leader admits that it is impossible to expect that the war will leave all borders unchanged.

"Shall we insist," he said, "that Poland must remain absolutely Russian, even if there is a possibility of making her free and independent? That would ill become us as Socialists. In the peace negotiations there will be deliberations about the Balkans, western Asia, Africa and probably about the re-adjustments of power over the entire world. Can we, therefore, demand that everything under all circumstances remain just as before the war? Agreements for making changes can be acceptable at least to us, provided they do not create anger or new wars or do violence to any nation's people."

Scheidemann said that the Socialists approved of the course of Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg in repeatedly declaring German's willingness to make peace, but they wanted to hear him speak more clearly regarding peace terms. "It could only serve a good purpose," he said, "if the government would declare that although German's power of resistance is unlimited, still Germany is nowise thinking of demanding humiliating or degrading peace conditions. Like Premier Asquith asserted, it would certainly give an impetus to the peace movement in various countries if the Chancellor would unequivocally declare that Germany wishes peace without annexation."

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and refreshing the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, anaemic complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

CHOIR SOCIAL AND ANNUAL MEETING

The choir of the First Baptist Church held their annual meeting last evening, after which the music committee entertained the members of the choir and friends to a most enjoyable social and refreshments. The energetic choir secretary, Mr. Pickering, made mention in his report of the activities of the choir during the past twelve months. They have rendered splendid service at the services on Sunday, and have given Stainer's 'Crucifixion' joined with Brant Avenue Methodist Church in rendering the Messiah and Creation, both performances greatly enhancing the reputation of the choir. There has been a noticeable improvement in the work of the choir, and all look forward to another period of pleasant and helpful musical service. Financially the choir is well placed, and during the past year have given to the church a full set of copies of the Messiah and the Creation. After the meeting the choir sat down to excellent refreshments, provided by the musical committee and their wives. A short programme of songs followed, by Mrs. Dr. Nichol, Miss Harold, Miss Ashby, Mr. Pickering, Mr. Crook, Rev. David Alexander, Mrs. Shultz and Mr. Scholfield rendered a piano duet. Miss Mary Edmondson delighted all by two excellent readings. Mr. G. S. Matthews very kindly sent down his excellent Victrola, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Complaints Of Non-Delivery

Under ordinary circumstances the distribution of a Daily Newspaper is a big task, even with an organization trained for the purpose. When great numbers of new subscribers come all together, the difficulties become greater. The rush during the Great Prize Contest now on is an illustration.

At this time it will probably be impossible to avoid all mishaps and mistakes, although every precaution will be taken by the publishers to ensure the delivery of each number of the paper.

The publishers are determined not only to remedy any such mishaps and mistakes, and to reduce them to the lowest degree, but to spare no trouble or expense to prevent them in future.

With this end in view the publishers request subscribers to communicate every complaint regarding late or non-deliveries by letter, card or Phone 139.

THE WICKED GREEN FAIRY

This is the tale of a wicked green fairy who lived in Ceylon. She had no wings, this fairy, and growing tired of the forest in which she dwelt, bargained with a dreadful witch, "Old woman," she said, "you are wise and powerful. Give me wings that I may fly hence and leave this life behind me."

The witch glanced at her pale green flying drapery. Like a cobweb it was, sheer and delicate, and veined here and there like the markings of a leaf.

"Your eyes are wicked and like pale emeralds," said the witch. "Whence came you in the beginning?"

"I sprang from a tree," said the fairy. "It was a wicked tree and lightning struck it, releasing me. I am its spirit."

"Then," cried the witch, "you know all the secrets of the tree world. Get for me a jug of the green fairy dye the tree nymphs use to color the leaves and with my magic I will give you wings."

And so the wicked fairy stole from the tree nymphs and the witch, striking her with a witch-wand, gave her wings. They were precisely like a pair of giant leaves of greenish gauze, and with never a word of thanks to the witch who had made them, the fairy flew away.

Now the witch planned with her.

green fairy dye to make witch-emeralds for her daughter, but she little knew the dreadful power of the green dye. It had known the touch of the wicked fairy and therefore was wicked itself and enchanted.

The instant the witch uncorked the jug, puff! went a giant cloud of leaf-green smoke and when the smoke cleared away the witch's hut was full of insects, queer greenish insects with leaf-wings like the fairy. The hut seemed full of muttering tree leaves.

And now all at once the witch felt queer. She glanced at her arm. It was brown and gnarled and full of leaves. She was slowly changing to a tree!

The witch-hut vanished and there in its place stood a guarded green tree covered with swarms of insects.

green like the fairy dye and the wicked fairy, and with wings like the leaves. And just as the fairy dye that made them came from the trees, so they returned to the trees to live upon the leaves. You'll find them in Ceylon to this day.

As for the wicked fairy, while the spell of her wicked fingers was turning the witch to a tree and the fairy dye to insects, she herself was flying away on green-ribbed wings.

And like the leaf insect—when she rested on a tree you couldn't see her.

THE SITUATION.

The successes of the Allies are crowding each other in quick order on the Somme front these days. Let the fact be remembered that the Germans have their best and most seasoned troops in this region, and that each achievement is a staggering blow at the very pick of the Kaiser's forces. The taking of Comblès, Thiéval and Guedecourt, together with the capture of many prisoners and war material, are not only most important events in themselves, but in addition, the effect upon the entire morale of the Hun army cannot be otherwise than most far-reaching. They were taught to believe themselves and their elaborate war system invincible, yet today they are in a hurried retreat towards Bapaume, with their forces shattered and the heavy artillery of the Allies giving them no rest either day or night. The Situation Take Two

The official report issued from London, says: "The successes gained during the last two days may be regarded as of very considerable importance" and when the British War Office makes a statement like that the outcome must be regarded as in the very first rank. It will be utterly impossible for the Kaiserites to minimize these reverses, and there is small cause for wonder in the announcement that in Berlin the people have become exceedingly grave.

On the Dobruja front matters still continue to go well from the standpoint of the allies, although nothing of a determinate nature has yet occurred. In Transylvania, the Austrians are having a hard time.

Greece is apparently at last about to join with the allies; in fact King Constantine can scarcely do anything else if he wishes to save himself. It is said that the Government have asked for financial aid from Britain and France, in order to put the country on a war footing.

CANADA'S SECOND WAR LOAN

The second Canadian War Loan, like the first, has been more than doubly subscribed. The amount asked was $100,000,000, the lists closing on Saturday night, when the total offering was $180,000,000. Monday's mail bag brought to Ottawa a large number of new subscriptions to the extent of $24,000,000, making $204,000,000 in all at last accounts, or $200,000,000 offered during this and last year, certainly a magnificent showing. Many corporations and wealthy individuals offered very large sums, but it is understood that the small subscriber is to have the first chance. Thus the world at large has received still another additional illustration of the fact that the Dominion is prepared to go to the limit on behalf of the Empire.

Hon. Mr. White, has been showered with letters and telegrams of appreciation and congratulation, and very properly so, too. He has had the hardest position to fill of any Finance Minister since Confederation, and it is the consensus of opinion that he has throughout handled matters in a most masterly and far-seeing manner.

WESTERN PAPERS TAKE ACTION

In connection with the fact that papers throughout Ontario have found it absolutely necessary to raise the subscription price in order to avoid selling at an actual loss, it is worthy of note that in the West also steps have been taken to meet the situation.

Representatives of papers were in session for two days and a report of the proceedings says that every suggestion made to better conditions and to relieve the tension publishers were working under at present was gone into thoroughly.

The publishers were unanimous in declaring that the situation was very grave, and united in agreeing that drastic steps must be taken to meet the conditions with which they are faced. Everything entering into the manufacture of a newspaper, it was pointed out, has risen in price to such an extent that the wages, cost of material, ink, etc., had greatly increased. Even the small item of twine exacted a heavy toll from the paper having any circulation worth while. It was the general opinion that extra revenue would have to be secured from some source. The burden could not be placed wholly on the advertisers; the reader must bear a share. The subscription price of nearly every newspaper was too low. Two or three dollars a year for a daily paper was becoming a thing of the past. Newspapers were the only commodity selling below cost and publishers, if they desired to see their newspapers continue in existence, would have to adopt elementary business laws in the operation of their plants.

Instances were cited where American newspapers were charging from seven to nine dollars a year for the same kind of a paper that was being given to subscribers in Western Canada for three dollars and less. That the United States daily newspapers were aware of the seriousness of the situation was proved by the numerous increases in subscription rates on the part of the United States papers which had been announced recently.

So drastic are the steps which the Winnipeg papers find it necessary to take that the Free Press has announced that it can no longer send its issues to other papers in exchange and they will have to go on the paid list like the rest.

NOTES AND COMMENT
 The Hun war machine right now is badly in need of a visit to some garage.

Instead of driving nails into wooden statues of von Hindenburg, the Germans are now hearing nails driven into the coffin of Prussianism.

This ought to bring the ice out of the river.

At the price they are commencing to fetch, potatoes should be blushing right up to the eyes.

At a meeting of Toronto city council, one alderman spoke seven times, and occupied some five hours in the doing of it. That is about as bad as throwing ink bottles, which is the method of some London councillors.

NO MILK DELIVERY DURING WINTER

Is Asked By Dairymen of Paris—Other News from that Town.

(From our own correspondence.)
 Paris, Sept. 27.—On Monday evening the monthly meeting of the council was held, and the following reports were read:

A letter was received from the British Red Cross Society, asking for the co-operation of the council in a general contribution toward the funds for Red Cross work. Last year Paris raised $3,014.60. The campaign will be held again on Oct. 19th.

The 54 feet frontage, north of the fire hall, which had been advertised for sale, has been purchased by Mr. Ralph Axton.

Mr. E. Pitts has offered $1,200 for the old market building, which has been put up for sale. This has been referred to the finance committee.

The milk dealers would like the council to pass a by-law prohibiting the delivery of milk during the winter months. It was thought best to let the milk dealers arrange this matter among themselves.

Mr. J. P. McCammon sent in a claim for damages done his auto. It seems that a 60 foot pole, being moved, struck the fender and one of the doors, while the car was standing in front of Knill and Gourlay's livery. Referred to streets and side walks committee.

The Mayor, Reeve Evans and Deputy-Reeve Pitts were appointed to attend the Ontario Municipal Association Conference, to be held in Hamilton.

The council then adjourned. On Saturday evening, the provisional committee in charge of the proposed Y.W.C.A. met in the Y.M.C.A. parlour, to further discuss the plan of having an association here. Miss Young presided, and a very successful meeting was held, and everything looks bright for organizing a Y.W.C.A., which has been a long-felt want in Paris. Mrs. (Dr.) Lovett and Miss Craig were added to the Ladies' Advisory Committee, and Mr. Henry Rehder to co-operate with the site and building committee.

Last evening the ladies of the Congregational Church, held a very successful market sale, such as fruit and vegetables, flowers, home-made cooking and aprons being sold. A real jolly evening was spent by all present. The school room was prettily decorated for the occasion, with autumn leaves, flowers, etc.

A quiet but interesting event took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the brides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott. St. Andrew street, when their second-eldest daughter, Miss Heppie, was united in marriage to Mr. William McLarty of Orillia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McLarty, of Barrie. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked sweet and girlish in her wedding gown of white Duchess satin, and carried a bridal bouquet of valley lilies and roses. The Rev. A. L. Brown, of Toronto, a former pastor of the Baptist church, officiated.

Disheartened and Broken Germans

Continued from Page One yesterday were lightly occupied or not at all. In other instances the allied commanders stated that considerable bodies of Germans threw down their rifles promptly as soon as the attackers approached their trenches, although it was known that they had orders to stand to the last. Batches of prisoners have been coming in from all parts of the front throughout the day. In their attack yesterday, the British found the strongest defense made in front of Guedecourt. There the Germans used their machine guns with the tenacity and unyielding courage which has hitherto characterized them. The British resumed the attack to-day and to-night all the villages in their possession. Both today and yesterday the Germans showed an inclination to withdraw their guns immediately they were in any danger, evidently desiring to take no risk of losing any of their artillery. This sometimes leaves their troops in the front line unprotected by cannon fire, and may account for the number of surrenders.

In the meantime, the British continue to pound the whole line with their seemingly inexhaustible supply of shells, leaving the Germans in doubt as to what sector will be the next to be attacked by the infantry. The first warning that the Germans have that the British seek to gain a certain frontage is a sudden increase of gunfire in that sector to a tornado, under which it does not seem possible that a mouse could escape alive. Usually this tornado is brief compared to the old-fashion artillery preparation, while it lasts long enough to enable the British infantry to rush from their lines to the German trenches while all the German machine guns and rifle fire are stillled. It is amazing how the operation of infantry and artillery has improved by the battle practice of the offensive. About mid-day today the British left had its turn in the region of Thiéval, at the other end of the battle front. The British Contingent from the fighting line joins the old German front trench line and the Germans, in their dugouts, and galleries, have fought with the skill and stubbornness which characterized them in this kind of warfare. "They stick like glue to these dugouts," said one British soldier, "because they know that once they are pushed back we do not give them time to dig any more."

A blackish heap of dirt on the crest of a ridge is all that remains of Thiéval. On the top that heap there still rise a few black sticks, tree trunks silvered and hewn by shell fire which have escaped being downed by a direct hit. On July 1, the first day of the great offensive, the British tried to take Thiéval and failed. On this height to the north the whole Anglo-French movement pivots to the bank of the Somme. The British, in fierce little attacks now and then, have whittled and sapped their way toward that precious high ground, the capture of which extends the German front of defense and endangers the whole German position. Hand-to-hand, bomb to bomb, with every trick of the modern trader of war, Germans and British have fought over these seamed slopes as if the war itself was to be decided here. To-night, after another effort, practically all of the village, the whole defense and siege of which cost more thousands of lives than any in France, is in British possession. This success is a source of greater satisfaction to the average British soldier than the taking of Comblès or any other village or strong point in the nearly three months of continuous fighting.

Since the offensive began, the British have taken 19 villages, and at some points their gains are now six miles in depth. Elation over to-day's and yesterday's work is greatest at the casualty clearing stations, where the real cost of victory is best measured. All surgeons report that the casualties have been surprisingly light. The weakening German resistance which seems obvious to any spectator, is variously interpreted by the allied officers. Some believe that the Germans are merely making a rearguard defense of the lower ground, while their main forces fall back to another prepared line of trenches stretching from Bapaume; others insist that the unceasing hammer blows of the British and French are resulting in a decided softening in the morale and fighting power of their opponents. The soldiers in the ranks do not seem to be bothered with such speculations. "Give us more weather like this and let us push on," is the prayer alike of the English Tommy and the French poilu.

Opening Rally of Y. W. C. A. Season

The opening rally of the Y.W.C.A. was held last evening, in Victoria Hall. The auditorium, which was tastefully decorated with evergreen, vines and salvia, presented a very festive appearance. The members of the directorate and the representatives of the various girls' classes held a reception, welcoming all visitors, at the conclusion of which the following well chosen program was provided:

Solo, Miss Maude Taylor; sketch, representing departure of delegates for conference; recitation, Miss Neva Smith; a representation of work done by the Red Cross, by the Triangle Club; solo, Miss Wood; camping sketch; Bible Study Group; solo, Miss Taylor; fancy drill, by four girls; midnight feed in residence.

At the conclusion of the program dainty refreshments were served. The work of those engaged in providing the program is especially commendable, in that nearly all the sketches were impromptu, being staged with the disadvantage of having practically no rehearsals. During the evening it was announced that the classes would start the first week in October, and the most successful year in the history of the Y.W.C.A. is looked forward to during the coming year.

To View Site of St. Paul Subway

That the Terrace Hill Ratepayers Association is very much alive, is evidenced by the fact that at a meeting of the executive held last evening, a communication was authorized to be sent to Aid. It contained the request that the Dominion Railway Commission while here to-morrow in connection with other business, be asked to look over the site, in view of definite steps to be taken with reference to this matter in the near future. The Hill people consider the opening of this subway a vital necessity to the welfare of that section of the city. A public meeting is to be called next week when ratepayers will be given a chance to air their grievances on several matters. The organization will also be completed at this meeting.

58TH PROMINENT IN FIGHTING

That a prominent part in the recent fighting has been taken by the 58th battalion under the command of Lt.-Col. Ryerson of Toronto, killed in action. Capt. Ryerson, besides being attached to the 58th battalion, is well known in this city where he has many friends and relatives. Lieut. E. A. One of the most enjoyable corn roasts Wesley choir held was at the home of the president of the choir, Mr. Ed. Passmore, Cockshutt Road, last night. After everyone had regaled themselves with corn, watermelons, etc., games were played, an interesting one being English and Germans, the English being victorious. A humorous song contest furnished considerable amusement. The hit of the evening was no doubt an auction sale of about 100 novel articles which were sold to the highest bidder. Mr. J. Before dispersing a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Passmore for their hospitality.

Wedding Bells

Holder—English

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert English, 101 Terrace Hill Street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding quietly solemnized yesterday afternoon, when their youngest daughter, Margaret, became the bride of Mr. George Holder of Richwood. The bride, given away by her father, was charming in a gown of white embroidered voile, wearing the customary wreath and orange blossoms, and a pearl crescent brooch, the gift of the groom. She was unattended. The wedding march was rendered by her brother-in-law, Bandsman Thomas Davidson of the 215th battalion, to whom the gift of the groom was a pair of gold cuff links. After the ceremony, the guests, to the number of about 50, adjourned to the home of the bride's sister (next door) where a dainty wedding luncheon was served, during which short speeches were made, toasts proposed and responded to, expressing the best wishes for the future of the young couple. The many beautiful and useful presents received by the bride, as well as several "showers," arranged in her honor during the past few weeks testified to the wide popularity which she enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Holder left on the 8 p.m. train on a wedding trip to different points in western Ontario, the bride travelling in a brown serge suit with hat to match. On their return they will take up residence in Paris for the winter, removing to the groom's farm at Richwood in the spring.

COMBLES, THIEPVAL AND OTHER POINTS FALL TO ALLIES ADVANCE

Sweeping Victory of British and French Forces Upon Somme Front Continues, Enemy Giving Way Rapidly

London, Sept. 27.—Combles and Thiepval fell before the allied onslaught yesterday. These strongholds of the German line north of the Somme have resisted every attack for the last month. But in the new sweep that has carried the Entente forces beyond the enemy's first systems of defence, they were forced to yield.

Combles, the key to the Bapaume-Peronne line, was won in a joint attack. While the British moved into the town from the north, storming the last of the battered defences, the French advanced from the south. A day of furious combat followed and at its close the Germans surrendered.

The Taking of Thiepval Thiepval, a bastion of the front lying south of Bapaume, was carried by Haig's troops yesterday by a swift thrust that took them over a high ridge beyond and into the strongly fortified Hohenzollern redoubt to the east. Two other villages were seized in the attack. Gueduicourt was completed by the French, who also took a wood west of the St. Vaast Forest. These lay in the path of the allied drive eastward, which was intended to force a wedge between Bapaume and the German positions on the Bapaume plateau.

In the renewed offensive the allied troops have taken more than 3,000 prisoners up to the afternoon reports. A vast store of supplies and ammunition which the Germans had not time to withdraw, was captured in underground passages in Combles.

Thus the allied strokes are again hammering east and north. The capture of Combles opens the way for a further advance over the national highway from Peronne to Bapaume, while the seizure of Thiepval clears the path for a British blow upon the Albert-Bapaume road, in a direct push northward. The drive for Bapaume now probably will take two phases. The first will be a thrust eastward, an attempt to turn the German positions. The second will be a thrust northward. Between these the Germans would be squeezed out, just as they were squeezed out of other villages in the Picardy offensive.

The British Official Report London, Sept. 27.—The British official statement last night reads: "On our right French and British troops jointly occupied Combles, as a result of the capture of Fregicourt and Morval. We have beaten off heavy counter-attacks in the region of Morval and Les Boueux with severe loss to the enemy.

"In our centre we stormed the fortified village of Gueduicourt, and have driven the Germans back in disorder. "On our left we captured Thiepval and the high ridge east of it, including the Zollern redoubt. This ridge was strongly fortified with an elaborate system of heavily-wired trenches, and was defended with desperation. "The successes gained during the last two days may be regarded as of very considerable importance."

Canadian troops who took Courcellette are believed to be holding the line east of Thiepval, and would probably take part in the assault on that position.

The French Report. The official French statement reads: "The battle continued successfully today. North of the Somme the allied troops increased their gains of yesterday considerably, having attained within a few hours the objectives assigned for the second day of the struggle.

"This morning the French troops resumed the offensive and captured the entire section of Combles, situated to the east and south of the railway. Our patrols entered in conjunction with the troops of the right wing of the British army, who were cleaning up the northwestern part of Combles. Shortly afterwards the whole village fell into our power.

Filled With German Corpses. "The booty captured in Combles was large. The Germans had accumulated in the subterranean regions of this place, enormous quantities of munitions and supplies of every kind.

"We collected 100 wounded Germans, who had been abandoned by the enemy. Combles is filled with German corpses.

"This afternoon our troops, developing their advantages, captured a small wood situated north of Fregicourt, half way to Morval, and also the greater part of the strongly fortified ground between this wood and the western front of St. Vaast Wood, to the east of the Bethune road.

"The number of unwounded prisoners captured by the French since yesterday now reaches 1,200. We have counted up to the present 100 machine guns.

"On the rest of the front there was an intermittent cannonading."

World's Series Opens Oct. 7

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The world's series will open on Saturday, October 7th, according to President B. B. Johnson, of the American League, who, as a member of the National Commission, is to-day ready to begin preparations for the series. With the race as uncertain as it is, no final action has been taken yet by the National Commission, Mr. Johnson said.

"It is certain that the world's series will start on Oct. 7," said Johnson. "The contestants might be willing to begin Oct. 6, but I hardly think so. The American League race closes one day earlier than the National's, so I do not think that would be fair to the National League winner. It looks as if the opening game will be played a week from next Saturday."

THE PROBS

Toronto, Sept. 27.—Pressure is quite low over the great lakes and the Missouri valley, and now higher over British Columbia. Showers have occurred in many parts of the western provinces, while showers and thunderstorms have been almost general in Ontario.

FORECASTS:
Strong winds and moderate gales, southerly to southwesterly, warm with showers and local thunderstorms. Thursday strong breezes and moderate gales, westerly to northwesterly, turning cooler with showers.

SERB FORCES DRIVEN BACK

Sofia, Sept. 27, via London.—After ten days of heavy fighting between Serbian and Bulgarian troops, on the western end of the Macedonian front, the Bulgarians forced back their opponents, compelling them to retreat along the whole front, it was announced officially to-day.

NO REST IS GIVEN

man-held territory. The French advance beyond Bouchavesnes is jointed and directly threatening Allaines, two miles north of Peronne and preparing the way for an encircling movement intended to drive the Germans out of Peronne itself.

Belated reports from the British front to-day announce the capture of between 3,000 and 4,000 Germans by General Haig's forces in Monday's and Tuesday's fighting. The reported captures by the French bring this total up to more than 6,000. Unofficial figures show the aggregate number of prisoners taken by the Anglo-French armies during the Somme offensive, from July 1 to date, have been 60,000 with some 150 square miles of territory and 44 villages.

In Macedonia the Entente apparently are encountering a stiffened Bulgarian resistance, especially to the west of the Vardar region.

Paris reports Kalmankian night subjected to repeated attacks by Bulgarian forces, but declares the Serbians held fast to the captured position.

Official reports just received from Bucharest take back nothing of the claims made by the Roumanians of a notable victory over Field Marshal Von Mackensen in the great battle of last week in Dobruja. The Roumanians and their allies, it is declared, defeated heavy forces along the Danube end of the front and then, while the rest of the line held fast, the allies broke the resistance of the Bulgarians, Germans and Turks near the Black Sea and drove them back in disorder.

Greece is apparently on the verge of entering the war on the side of the Entente, King Constantine being now reported to have consented to such action. The revolutionary movement, however, is continuing and on the island of Crete 4,000 Greek troops in Candia are said to have joined the revolutionary forces.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink Lots of Water and Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder Troubles You.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

20,000 MILES OF TRACK
If all the trackage over which the Canadian Pacific has control—that is all the leased lines, or lines taken bodily over, or with running rights—be included as a grand total, the company operates to-day 20,000 miles of tracks. This fact alone would tell of the bigness of the corporation which, thirty years ago, issued its first annual statement on a sheet of note paper. The company owns 100,000 miles of telegraph; 10,000,000 acres of unsold lands, worth $200,000,000; and controls shipping to the extent of 400,000 tons. One of the notable features of the great corporation is, that it takes account of so many things, which, at the first blush, might not seem to be related to railway transportation. The comfort of the inner man on the trains is, of course, of prime moment, but note how the Canadian Pacific Railway went out of its way to provide dietetic gastronomy. The railway company milks its own cows, and makes its own bread, and it bakes its own flour, and it grows its own potatoes, and its policies are of world-wide import and significance.

133rd Deserter Arraigned in Court—Beecher Trial Postponed a Day.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Simcoe, Sept. 26.—(From our own correspondent.)—When Sanderson Peters appeared in court this morning charged with deserting from the 133rd battalion, Squire Earl was obliged to wait half an hour for the Crown. H. P. Innes, K.C., requested an adjournment of one week to prepare his defence as soon as the case opened.

Crown Attorney Agar, on behalf of two plain clothes men, urged a trial instant. Another half hour was spent in legal discussion and the magistrate adjourned till 2 p.m. Thursday, when Mr. Innes said he intends to ask for a further adjournment. From what we have seen of these cases, the police seem to be that the prosecution urges a prison term for misfits and a return to camp for physically fit and desirables. And Peters is evidently of the former class. He was absent one week on the plea of sickness, but had not reported legally, and his captors did not find him wearing his uniform or in possession of all of it.

Some of the best peaches marketed here this season were grown on the Lynndale farms, just west of the town.

Owing to the inability of Judge Clute to reach Simcoe this morning, the Beecher trial was not proceeded with. Sheriff Snyder called the roll of jurors and dismissed court till 9.30 to-morrow morning.

Only one juror, Lyle Holmes, was absent. The recent death of Mrs. Holmes explained his non-appearance.

It is now a question as to whether the Board will obey the mandate of the congregation or of the retiring pastor.

Matty's Men Lost Game

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—A ninth-inning rally gave Philadelphia the victory over Cincinnati yesterday, 3 to 2, and enabled the home team to keep pace with Brooklyn in the fight for the pennant. In the ninth Groh's wide throw beat Cooper to the plate, and Empire Klem called him out, but in sliding the runner knocked the ball out of Wingo's glove and Klem allowed the tying run. Duguy scored the winning run on Niehoffs perfect squeeze bunt. Wingo's hand was badly cut by Cooper's spikes, and he was forced to retire. Scores:

This is Real Pitching Now

Pitcher Hod Eller, who deserted the Moine Club of the "Three I" and is now pitching independent ball, performed the remarkable feat at Kokomo, Ind., the other day, of striking out thirteen batters in a row. He struck out twenty all told in the game. George Mullen worked for the Kowmo team against Eller and was hammered hard. Eller's team is known as the Henry Grays and is reputed to be one of the fastest organizations in independent ball.

Capt. Art Kelly is working hard to round the team into shape, holding practices three nights a week and taking signalling practice twice weekly. The "old boys" are organizing a team under Geo. Kew, and intend giving the B. C. I's a workout on Thanksgiving Day. They have a number of former players, including Jack Burtz, Jeff Whitaker, Harry Guenipetz, Johnson, Geo. Mosley, Bob Smith, Harley Davidson and Geo. Kew, and should provide a great game.
 It is to be hoped that the game will be better patronized this year than previously, as good, clean sport is assured, and this is what has been lacking largely, in professional sports in the past. The boys themselves are all setting behind the game, and desire the hearty co-operation of all to make Rugby a success in Brantford.

RUGBY SEASON OPENS OCT. 14

Local Collegiate Team Play at Guelph on That Date.

The dearth of good sports which has existed in the city, promises soon to be relieved by the opening of the Inter-scholastic Rugby League, composed of three teams, Galt, Guelph and Brantford.
 That the game will be a success was indicated last week when three loads of enthusiastic students motored to Galt to attend the opening meeting. The locals were represented by Mr. J. B. Runnings of the teaching staff, and Captain Art Kelly. The schedule, which was drawn up at this meeting, gives the first game to Guelph on October 14th, between Galt and Brantford. The opening of the season, so far as Brantford is concerned, will take place here on Oct. 21st, when the locals play Guelph. The remainder of the schedule is:
 Brantford at Galt, October 14th.
 Guelph at Brantford, Oct. 21st.
 Galt at Brantford, Oct. 28th.
 Guelph at Galt, Nov. 4th.
 Brantford at Guelph, Nov. 11th.
 Owing to the heavy calls of enlistment, the teams will be much lighter this year and will be made up mostly of raw material, which will have to be carefully trained. In this respect, the Galt club will be the worst outfitted, only one member of their last year's team being on the roster of 1916.
 Capt. Art Kelly is working hard to round the team into shape, holding practices three nights a week and taking signalling practice twice weekly. The "old boys" are organizing a team under Geo. Kew, and intend giving the B. C. I's a workout on Thanksgiving Day. They have a number of former players, including Jack Burtz, Jeff Whitaker, Harry Guenipetz, Johnson, Geo. News From Terrace Hill

Special services were held on Sunday last in the Sydenham Street Methodist Church and in St. James' Anglican Church. In the Methodist Church a Rally Day Service was held in the afternoon at which excellent addresses were delivered by the Rev. Wray R. Smith and Mr. Schultz, the new Y.M.C.A. secretary. There was a large attendance of scholars and adults—210 being present.
 Harvest Home Services were held in St. James Church, Dublin Street, morning, afternoon and evening, the congregation being large at all the services. The Rev. C. Patterson Smith preached in the morning. His subject was: "Miracles are not extinct—God Provides." In the evening the Rev. E. Softley preached, his subject being "God's Benefits Call for Thankful Acknowledgment." The service in the afternoon was for the Sunday School. Many adults were present.
 Sergeant Scott's death was learnt with deep regret. He was an active member of St. James' Church. The rector made feeling reference to his death and announced that a memorial service would be held.
 Houses are still available for rent on the Hill. Those who cannot get houses in the city should move up here.
 Private H. Dunsden spent the week-end with his family on St. George Road. Private R. D. Treleven spent Sunday with his family on Melrose Street.
 Mrs. Softley and Miss V. Softley, of Grimsby, are paying a visit at the Rectory on Dundas Street.

DESTRUCTION OF ZEP

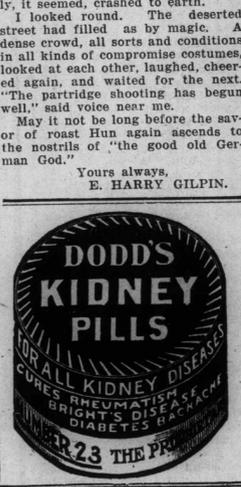

Is Told by Another Writer in Letter to a Brantford Man.
 Mr. Elmer Baker is in receipt of the following letter:
 Dear Elmer:—Rejoice with me that I saw the whole drama of the following Zep.
 I was on duty in the early hours of yesterday morning. The searchlights were groping round the sky, peering through the clouds and dimming the stars, one of them stopped suddenly—the Zep was found. Like one flash all the searchlights, big and small, were on her and she shone in a blazing circle of light.
 Then came the guns, big and small, from all quarters. The Zep stood still as it dazed. One didn't think of her as having men on board; she was just a maleficent beast at bay. For what seemed many minutes she hung motionless; a big gun somewhere behind me was firing at speed, the shells whizzing over my head.
 Slowly the Zep, turned. The lights followed her but she got fainter and fainter and vanished. An acute disappointment gripped us; and then, what was that? A blob of light in the sky, and then the most wonderful and appalling column of flame that lighted up the dark sky as on a summer day. We gasped, and then realizing what it was, began to cheer; the first cheers I have heard in London since the war began; and such cheers! Hard, bitter, triumphant! The flame died down, the great framework hung, outlined as a red cage against the night for a moment, and then, slowly, it seemed, crashed to earth.
 I looked round. The deserted street had filled as by magic. A dense crowd, all sorts and conditions in all kinds of compromise costumes, looked at each other, laughed, cheered again, and waited for the next. The partridge shooting has begun well," said voice near me.
 May it not be long before the savor of roast Hun again ascends to the nostrils of "the good old German God."
 Yours always,

AIR FIGHTING IS OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE IN DECISIVE DAYS

Airmen of Entente Forces are in Every Way Superior to Teuton Aviators—Extracts From German Diary

By Courier Leased Wire.
 New York, Sept. 26.—The London correspondent of the Herald cables as follows:
 The Zeppelin raid on London with its loss to the Prussians of two super-Zeppelins, and the infliction of no military damage whatever, and the dramatic air battles now proceeding on the western front, serve again to call attention to the fact that air fighting, scouting and raiding exploits are of the utmost importance in these decisive days of the war.
 "August 6.—Our aviators are inferior to such a degree that they do not stay in the air even at the distance behind the first line at which we now are. Our aviation is mighty eyes of the Prussian army on the Somme now receives official confirmation. In a British official communication summing up the main features of last week's fighting, occurs the statement that during that week in the battle area only fourteen hostile aeroplanes have been reported as crossing our lines, while our machines have made between two and three thousand flights across the enemy's lines."
 This condition of affairs, which is recognized by military observers as of the utmost importance to the future of the conflict between the forces of the allies and of the central powers is now beginning to affect in a serious manner of the morale of the troops of the army group of Prince Rupprecht, who are endeavoring to resist the onslaught of the armies of General Foch and General Haig.
 An interesting document in this connection is the diary of a Prussian officer captured at the Somme, extracts from which are published and the authenticity of which is vouched for.
 The entries regarding aviation are as follows:
 "August 1, 1916.—Our aviators are like hares not one of them dares show himself on the other side of the lines."
 "August 2.—The French airmen fly over our lines at a height of 600 feet while not one of our dares show himself. It is impossible for us to fire, for if we do we are immediately bombed with violence. So we have to stand for everything and to lie down in the trenches in suffocating heat and to suffer thirst and wait to be cut in pieces by shells or buried alive, or if it pleases God to get off safe and sound."
 "August 6.—Our aviators are inferior to such a degree that they do not stay in the air even at the distance behind the first line at which we now are. Our aviation is mighty eyes of the Prussian army on the Somme now receives official confirmation. In a British official communication summing up the main features of last week's fighting, occurs the statement that during that week in the battle area only fourteen hostile aeroplanes have been reported as crossing our lines, while our machines have made between two and three thousand flights across the enemy's lines."
 "In aviation we are distinctly inferior, whether we wish to recognize it or not."
 "Germany mistress of the air, that is a statement which is not true at all. This explains the enormous losses which we are making here. There is no one debarred from this scourge of the enemy aviation, which sticks to us without let up all day long and even into the night."
 "This moral defeat has had a very bad effect on us."
 "That the superiority thus won is no accidental occurrence, but a part of the wonderful scheme of organization which the French military chiefs undertook to bring about during the respite for preparation which the great victory at the Marne won for them, is now revealed in the publications of the French experts. Georges Batault has completed a study of the Marvellous preparatory organization of the mighty offensive present under way at the Somme front."

SISTERS THREE

(From Tuesday's Daily)
 "Delightful! You look like a Morwenna Gull! And I want to come and see you in your cave some day soon. May I?"
 The girl's face brightened, but for a moment she hesitated.
 "Any one is welcome to our cave," she said at length, "who is not friend to the Lebretons."
 "That permits me," said Gipsy, "for I'm the enemy of Gaston Lebreton! I hate the whole crew of them!"
 "He did not make it, though."
 "No, I do not imply that. He wants very badly to shut us out. Mrs. Lebreton knows that that is absurd, and upholds our rights. But her son is the owner of the property, and he will not give it. He declines to take her advice that is no fault of hers."
 "She should have brought him up better!"
 Audrey made a little whimsical grimace.
 "My dearest Gipsy, I tried my hardest to bring you up well, and, behold, you are a little spitfire of the first magnitude, and I can do nothing with you!"
 At this Gipsy burst into wholesome, girlish laughter, and for the moment the matter dropped between them, though Audrey very well knew that laughter with Gipsy was as far removed from submission as light from darkness.

 By this time Gipsy had all manner of outside duties to call her away at almost any hour of the day. She had scarcely swallowed her tea before she was off to attend to the needs of a wounded bird she had picked up in the woods and was nursing back to health; and Audrey and Allardyce were thus left alone together while the soft dusk of the spring evening gathered in the corners of the western room.
 "Audrey, did you like Madame Lebreton?" asked the younger sister, who had taken no share in the previous conversation.
 "I did; I liked her very much. And I am very sorry for her, which counts for more."
 "Why sorry?"
 "Oh, I am often sorry for wives and mothers!" answered Audrey, with a little gesture of her hands. "I know something about it. It is so difficult for them to control their children. It is something in the way the lords of creation are brought up!"—and the whimsical smile began to flit in Audrey's eyes. "It is so immensely difficult for them to realize that they can be wrong and their womenkind right. It begins in the nursery between sisters and brothers, and it goes on with cumulative force all through their boyhood and young manhood. Perhaps we are partly to blame. I often notice how much more women, as a rule, think of their sons than of their daughters, and how much more they indulge and give way to them. And then when the creatures are grown men and power is put in their hands, other people's lives and happiness very often think he would change, but he never did. If men can only keep things smooth on the top, so that they look right, they seem quite happy. Oh, I know how helpless we are! That is what makes me so sorry for Madame Lebreton. One can feel how she has tried to influence her son, and how he will go on in his own way still. And that is why I mean to be friends with her if she wishes it, whether Gipsy quarrels with the boy Gaston or not. I fancy they are about equally matched in hot-headedness. But Gipsy is a darling underneath her hot temper, and I'm not at all sure what Master Gaston may be in that respect. So there you are! If they were people in a book it would end by their falling head over ears in love, after blackening each other's eyes well first! The question is, do books show us what life really is or only weave pretty little romances about what it might be?"

 Gipsy, on her side, was slightly perturbed in spirit. She loved Audrey dearly and had a very high opinion of her wisdom and clear-sighted judgment. But it would be tame of Audrey to make friends with the family foe just when all the delights and romance of a real feud were theirs to enjoy.
 And Gaston Lebreton was such a cut! In her thoughts Gipsy called him a beast! He had dared to stop their path. He was

Who Answers Your Telephone?

It is of prime importance to your business that the person answering your telephone be pleasant-voiced, polite, intelligent. A curt, snappy answer results in loss of trade.

It is important, too, that your telephone be answered by an employee who is thoroughly posted on the details of your business. It is annoying to call and be answered by someone who will let you tell him everything you have to say and then inform you that you will have to tell the whole story to someone else.

We suggest that you give this matter of incoming telephone calls your careful attention. Many merchants insist on their most experienced employees answering the telephone.

I will tell you the tale as I heard it from my own lawyer, who had done what he could for the boy. But I was away; they could not even cable to me. I was moving up and down the country. It was all over before ever I heard a word. It chanced that it happened just soon enough before the autumn assizes to come on very quickly into court.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES of BRANTFORD NEWSPAPERS TO BE ADVANCED

Commencing October 1st. next, the subscription rates of the Brantford Daily Courier and the Brantford Daily Expositor will be advanced as follows:

- Single Copies - - - - - 2 cents
- Delivered in Brantford - 35c per month ($4.00 per annum in advance)
- By Mail to Outside Points $3.00 per annum

These increases have been necessitated by the tremendous advance in the cost of white paper, labor, metal, and in all other commodities incidental to the production of a newspaper. For over 25 years the subscription prices of the two Brantford papers have remained unchanged, while during that period the price of most other things have doubled and quadrupled. During recent years The Courier and Expositor have actually been sold to the agents and boys, and to the subscriber, when delivery charges are added, for less than the cost of the white paper alone, to say nothing of the hundred and one other charges of which each copy should bear a share. Recently the situation has become so serious that the above advances, commencing October 1st, have become imperative.

Even Advanced Rate is Low by Comparison

Even these advanced rates are much lower than those charged by the papers in London, Belleville, Guelph and many other Canadian cities and many publications which for years have charged the prices the Brantford papers now propose, have announced advances considerably beyond these figures during the last few months.

Subscribers may renew their subscriptions for a period not longer than one year at the present rates, if payment is made before October 1st, but no renewals will be accepted at the old rate after October 1st.

C. J. MITCHELL
55 DARLING STREET

Audrey broke off, half laughing, but there was something in her face which was not mirth; and Allardyce understood. Although she had been little more than a dreamy child at the time when her elder sister had been passing through some searching experiences, she had not been entirely ignorant, she had not been at all unobservant of much which went on. All three sisters were realizing keenly at this juncture that the pleasant and congenial life which now was theirs was not any doing or forethought of their charming, reckless, affectionate, spendthrift father, but was due to the happy circumstances of their possessing an uncle without closer kindred than themselves. Their father had left them pitifully unprovided for, although he had been a man of large means once. It was to the careful thrift of their mother's forebears that they owed their present happiness.

"If it had not been for uncle Richard," said Allardyce softly, "we might have had to live in London always and make our own living."
"Yes, and yet our father was once rich. When he married mother he had everything one could wish. And mother tried—I can remember so well—and oh, how I tried when she was taken away! And he was always so kind and so merry! I used to

"You will come and see me again, my dear?" he had said at parting.
So Allardyce had come; and they were seated together on the wide stone bench, where cushions were carried out on all fine days. Allardyce realized that the moment had come when she was to hear the tale of that tragedy which had thrown so dark a shadow over a father's life and had brought to the fine old soldier's face that look of heart-broken sadness.

"He was all we had—our bright boy Jim. He was always the sunshine of our home. He loved this place, though we were often absent, for I was in command of my regiment, and often we were on foreign service; and then the boy could only come to us now and again in the long summer holidays. But whenever my leave came it was spent here. Jim had been born here, and the sound of the sea was the music which drew him only second to the call of the bugle.

"We meant to make a soldier of him. He had never thought of anything else. But at Woolwich he had rheumatic fever badly, and after that there was trouble with his heart. It did not seem to amount to much in daily life, but they would not pass him. It was a great disappointment, but Jim never gave up hoping that something would turn up. He studied and he could not settle to any other walk in life. He always kept saying that he must keep abreast with the times and if ever war broke out he would get a billet somehow. For many years we saw trophies ahead in South Africa. I had been there—I felt sure it would come, so I let the boy go his own way. Perhaps I did wrong.

"His mother had been taken away. She was always wise and far-sighted. Missing her so badly made us cling together the more. My time was up. I had retired before the thunder-cloud burst, and three years ago when things began to look very black, I went out there on my own account, and I ought to have taken the boy with me. That was the mistake."
"Why did you not?"
"There were a number of small difficulties at the time. Jim was a popular fellow wherever he went. He had made engagements and he was very keen about a colt he was training for an officer friend to be run in a regimental steeplechase. It was settled that he should follow me later if I found that I might do something by staying, so I went. I left him—my boy Jim. When I saw him next he was wearing convict dress. We spoke to each other with the prison warden within hearing and an iron grating between us!"
Allardyce put out her hand and gently touched the fingers of the old man's hand, which grasped his knee as he spoke.

"It must all have been some terrible mistake!"
"I am sure of it! Thank Heaven, I have never doubted my boy! His face—his words—were enough! Don't fret, dad! It's been a bit rough on me. I can't explain, but I didn't do it."

"He said that?"
"He did. It rolled a mountain's weight off my heart, but—"
"It makes it so terribly hard to bear. Does it hurt you to talk of it? I would so much like to hear how it happened—what made them think

"Yes, my dear; and that is what I

WILL RETURN TO INDEPENDENCE

Belgium Will Come Back to Her Own After the War.

Have, France, Sept. 27.—"Belgium will come back to her own, to her place in the sun, and to complete freedom and independence," said Baron Beyens, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Belgium, in the course of an authorized interview given to The Associated Press.

Baron Beyens is one of the notable figures of the present war, for up to the beginning of the war he was the Belgian Minister at Berlin and went through the crisis culminating in the immediate entry of England, France, and all Europe into the seething struggle. Then, leaving Berlin, he entered the Belgian cabinet and has since created the foreign affairs of the country, finding time also to write a book which graphically describes "the week of tragedy" in the German capital when the British and French ambassadors, and himself, made their last attempts to prevent the European conflict.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs, where Baron Beyens was seen, is installed at Ste. Adresse, a suburb of Havre, in the Villa Hollandais, a building which was occupied in ordinary times by seashore visitors, but now bearing on the outer gate a small placard reading: "Ministère des Affaires Etrangères de Belgique." A foreigner usually suggests marble and mahogany furnishings. But the Villa Hollandais has nothing of the kind. It has been put up in the garden for various diplomatic and consular branches. Inside the villa there is the simplicity of a summer cottage, but everything is scrupulously well done and effective.

STORY OF AIR RAID ON ENGLAND

Is Told By Brother-in-law of Capt. W. Norman Andrews, of the 215th.

The following very interesting eyewitness account of a recent air raid upon the English coast is contained in a letter sent by Major Geo. Stacey to a brother-in-law of Capt. W. N. Andrews of the 215th battalion.

"On the night I was brigade field officer of this brigade, the duties being to inspect all guards of the four battalions in the brigade, the parades, camps, canteens, cook houses, etc., and responsible for the general cleanliness and efficiency of the brigade.

At 10 p.m. I received telephone orders from the divisional headquarters to prepare for air raids. Immediately the field officer, on receiving such an order, calls out each battalion guard, has issued to each man on each guard 50 rounds of ammunition, and orders each guard to stand by until such time as the 'Zep' is disposed of or the raid is called off. This we did, and at 2.10 a.m. we heard the buzz of the Zep's engines about 12,000 feet overhead, but on account of the darkness could not distinguish the uninvited visitor, but at 2.12 a.m. the coast searchlights picked her up and we could see her quite distinctly. She was out of range of our guns, and our part in the raid was to look on and pray, swear or say nothing, according to the individual temperament of the spectator. Personally, I bet myself 100 million pounds sterling that our coast guns would bring her down, but, with my usual luck, lost.

"As soon as the searchlights picked up the Zep, the aircraft guns on the coast immediately came into action and we could see quite distinctly the course of the shots and the bursting of the shrapnel all around the Zep, some short, some past her, some under and some above, and three shots apparently through her. By this time, fortunately, she had cleared the coast and was over the Channel, and consequently her bombs were falling in the water, although she had some hits, with small loss of life to us.

"Two or three water craft now came into action, and with the full power of all the searchlights focused on her, the Zep found the game too strong and made a drop of approximately 800 feet, trying to lose the searchlights, but they picked her up again immediately and she turned tail and ducked for home, apparently hit, but not crippled enough to stop her.

"We could distinctly hear the bursting of the bombs, the crack of the discharge of the guns as each shot was fired, the tearing noise of the speeding of the shrapnel and could see the course of each shot and the descent of the Zep's bombs, and enjoyed 12 minutes of excitement.

"The second Zep mentioned in the Times we saw only for a moment, as she had apparently forgotten something and had to hike back home and get dinner ready for the Kaiser Bill."

BRITISH WILL PARE ANOTHER BATAUME AS OFFENSIVE

Driving Northward

pare Another Bataume As Offensive

By Courier Leased Wire.

New York, Sept. 23.—The London correspondent of The Tribune called last night as follows:

Driving northward slowly, but relentlessly, the British are making ready for another surge toward Bapaume. They are moving along lines of attack—one north of the valley and the other north of Comb seeking to pocket Bapaume as Combles was pocketed.

The battle continued without pause today. Haig's troops, in another heavy attack, won the greater part of a redoubt 500 yards north of Thiépval, overlooking the north bank of the Ancre. From this dominating position the ground that separates Haig's line from the Ancre is shelled so effectively that its quest is expected to be comparatively easy. In this action 600 prisoners were taken.

At the other end of the north front the British are now less than half a mile from La Sars, which blocks the way along the Albert-Bapaume road. The Germans have made only feeble efforts at counter-attack for they are occupied chiefly in constructing new defences to withstand the next allied assaults.

Fierce fighting is certain to take place before Bapaume. The Germans hold a strong line from Miramont that objectives would be taken south of Sully. The work preliminary to a new battle is being completed rapidly.

With the odds always in favor of the defending force, the British

Dominion Ry Have Reserv

Heard Appeal of Local Ma Freight Privileges fo

The Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners reserved their decision yesterday afternoon after hearing statements from both sides concerned in the appeal made by the Dominion Steel Products Company and other local manufacturing concerns for a ruling of the board of interlocking privileges between the L. E. and N. and the G. T. and T. H. and B. Railways. In the case of the latter representatives of the Steel Products Company pointed out that a switch between it and the L. E. and N. already existed, and had been used for the transportation construction material. The defence offered by the T. H. and B. was that this was the express purpose of the establishment of connection with the L. E. and N. The G. T. claimed that the issue was not of public necessity, but was based by the L. E. and N. line.

The plea made by the manufacturer was for a ruling whereby freight traffic would be injured by the establishment of connection with the L. E. and N. He thus obviating the need of cart through the city streets.

Mr. W. S. Brewster, address the board upon behalf of the Dominion Steel Products Co., giving brief resume of the activities of a company here. The plant was situated on the line of the Lake and Northern Railway, and would be completed within a month of the sent time. A siding connected factory with the L. E. and N. It was desired to establish connection with the other railways passing through the city so that goods might be transferred from them to
