Daring Aviator Won Over Death.

Brit's aviators at the front are counting with pride the achievements of 'Big Bill' Davidson, until his death the best pilot in the aero squadrons and the one who bore the reputation of never having failed in a mission. Recently he was sent on a trip to obtain information, his commanding officer hoping that any success would be a real one. Davidson was found, was to a certain of the time, from which few air travellers would have been able to return.

"I'll bring my old bus home all right," declared Davidson, as he took his seat. An instant later he was on his way.

All day long his companions watched with anxiety for signs of his return. The hush of night fell and still they watched. The commanding officer mingled with the men assembled about the hangar. "Can you hear his engine?" he kept asking them. "He must be out of petrol by this time," he said.

Suddenly a black shadow loomed up over the hangar. It was only thirty feet from the ground. It cleared the top of the sheds and silently touched the earth. The machine was Davidson's. The pilot had performed a fine feat in volplaning. He expertly whirled to himself as they rushed to the shed to congratulate the daring aviator. As lightly as a bird the aeroplane had taken to the ground and stopped a few feet in front of the huge doors.

"Great God!"

It was the commanding officer who uttered the exclamation. He had started forward with the others, but had drawn himself up in wonder. Never before had any of them seen a plane come home in such a condition. It looked as if a madman had run over it with a pickaxe and a sledge. From end to end it was ridged, slashed and hammered.

The cross struts of the centre section had not a dozen strands left among them. The bomb racks were empty. The pilot, who had never failed, had brought his machine back home as he had declared he would do. But at the price he had paid for it. Davidson was dead.

"Dead for some time," was the doctor's opinion. With his ebullient strength Davidson had headed his aeroplane for the distant aerodrome, jammed the rudder bar with his feet, locked the control lever between his knees closely clutched hands, so that when his soul departed the course had not been altered. Under his dead control the aeroplane had returned home.

On the page in his notebook the commanding officer found the information "Big Bill" had been sent to oblivion at his cost.

Used for Shaving.

Many men are troubled, more particularly in the cold weather, with a sort of roughness of the skin or eczema caused by shaving. The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment after the shave soon cures the trouble and by using it after each shave you keep the skin soft and prevent irritation and soreness. Because of its antiseptic qualities this ointment prevents and cures Barber's Itch.

Maple Sugaring.

(By Mrs. A. Chipman)
Hal! Hal! To live where Maple trees sway in a brightening Sugar breeze!
Ravens cawing,
Snow is thawing,
Winter's going,
Sap is flowing,
The Maple sweet
Is now the treat.
So, come in haste,
And with us taste
Maple honey;
Cheap for money,
At lowest price,
So very nice!

Friends are meeting—
Kindly greeting,
Sift down the pot;
Now dip out hot,
A little pool
On snow to cool,
And then to taste,
Be quick! Make haste!
You of city, how we pity!
For our very air is sweetest,
And each heart forgets its troubles
As we gather round the children
Where the Maple nectar bubbles.

Be Ready for Emergencies.

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies. Then when a cold or cough comes suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach so acute and dangerous stages. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as the 25-cent bottle.

True and False Economy.

At this time when Canadians are being exhorted on every hand to conserve, it may be pertinent to ask the meaning of the word and its proper application to the daily life of the individual.

There are two accepted meanings of the word as it is used in the dictionary. The first is true economy and the second is false economy.

Who is it that keeps lecturing humankind? The people of Canada, we think they are. They are the ones who are urged to stop buying clothing, boots and shoes, furniture, shirts and collars and a dozen other necessities. Industries would close right and left, and unemployment follow.

This would mean stagnation. The savings of the people would then be used for the bare necessities of life and it would be impossible to pay taxes and make loans to the government.

Obviously it is of the greatest importance that the industries of the country continue to produce goods and that the workers be given steady employment, if war's burdens are to be supported. The purchasing of the things they make must go on.

Again, the people of Canada will not be able to perform their allotted tasks unless they are warmly housed and clothed.

It is pronouncing in favor of maintaining the Canadian standard of living. The ACADIAN does not desire to have it implied that spending as it is now is a waste. On the contrary, it would suggest conservation of means, of foodstuffs, of personal expenses only to the extent that waste may be eliminated. It would draw a hard and fast line between sufficiency and stinting.

The economy abhors waste, but any self-sacrifice which would mean self-punishment would be ruinous in the end.

So far as foodstuffs and fuels are concerned the households of Canada may have to use substitutes. Fish and eggs to take the meat supply, wood and soft coal to replace the shortage of anthracite.

Also war bread adopted to conserve wheat, and vegetables to conserve other foods. New wrinkles may be introduced, but none of them should be adopted which will tend either to reduce mental and physical effort, or to their cumulative effect, to slow down production in the factory, the shop and office.

Every Canadian should eat enough to sustain himself or herself in good physical condition, buy enough clothing to keep warmly and neatly dressed, maintain his church and social relations and all that that implies. The only facing up is ominous looking, but if we cannot go through it or over it, we can go around it.

Conservation will give us the pep to go it, where stalling would leave us flustered out on the wayside.

Time is money the lazy man's is counterfeit.
Dreadfulness is never thrust upon the man who leads an aimless life.
A stag party would be much more enjoyable if a few deers were invited.
Los Angeles minister recently prayed for those of his congregation who were too proud to kneel and to pray to stand.

Women have better control of their organs than men have; in fact, men have no control whatever of women's tongues.
No married man ever gets the chance to spend half the money he earns.
A man who gets what he deserves has his troubles.

The house of a tidy woman and a mother to adore is always in order. Charity covers a multitude of sins, but it is better to have big feet than small understanding.

Keep Dogs or Sheep.

Boston Transcript: It is not to be wondered at that the cost of living is high, so long as men prefer animals which are non-productive to those which are productive, and let a large proportion of the land lie idle and neglected. We have hitherto commented upon the possibility of utilizing as sheep ranges lands in this State which are now unused. Similar conditions exist in other States, in most of the great farming sections.

Jersey reports suggest. Less than a year ago the State of New Jersey had 500,000 sheep in that State, yielding good profits to their owners. Today there are scarcely 15,000, and their number is steadily diminishing. At the same time there are at least 250,000 acres of land lying unused, most of which is admirably adapted to sheep raising. Also, it may be added, mutton is scarce, it now sells for 50 cents a pound from the New Jersey market, and the scarcity of wool is sending the cost of clothing to almost prohibitive figures.

The question naturally arises—Why are not more sheep kept? Why have the flocks diminished by nearly three-fourths in less than twenty years? Why do not the farmers of New Jersey stock the unused land with sheep for food and clothing? The answer is easily given in one word: DOGS. While there are only 15,000 sheep there, there are 100,000 dogs in the State.

It is estimated that the dogs cost for food and care an average of $30 a year each. That means that the dogs which the State keeps instead of sheep cost $3,000,000 a year and return not a cent in profitable production. It is, we repeat, no wonder that the cost of food and clothing has increased. Upon such a state of affairs it is difficult to comment temperately. It is far worse than mere idleness or laziness. It is not merely negative evil, but positive and aggressive. It would be had enough if farmers failed to keep sheep, when they could, and let their lands lie idle. But they do far worse than that. They go to great expense to prevent the keeping of sheep by anybody, by maintaining other animals, which are not only a source of profit but also a source of trouble.

What is true of New Jersey in this respect is true of many other States. If the evil were corrected, if neglected lands were utilized, if sheep were raised instead of worthless dogs—for the dogs which destroy sheep are mostly quite worthless curs—the supply of food and clothing would be materially increased, and the cost thereof would be correspondingly decreased. Dogs or sheep? That is the question. If the farmers themselves will not answer it rationally it will be incumbent upon legislators to do so at least in a way that will enable those who wish to do so to raise sheep without danger of destruction by predatory tramp curs.

Rich AND Mellow

You'll Like the Flavor

Roar of a Gun.

The loud noise made when a gun is fired is due to an expansion, the sudden expansion of a compressed gas that escapes into the air from the space in which it was confined. Now, in a pop-gun the gas that is compressed and then allowed to expand is air which already exists as air. But there is no air or any other gas in a cartridge, and the question is, where does the gas come from that makes the noise and fires the bullet when a gun is fired?

What happens is that we suddenly burn a powder we have prepared in materials such that when they are burned a large quantity of gas will be produced, and it must be produced very suddenly if the full explosive power is to be obtained. We have another great advantage in trying to make this kind of explosion, as we have not when we fire a pop-gun—that is that the gases produced are exceedingly hot, for they are heated by the burning which makes them.

A hot gas naturally expands a great deal more than a cold gas. A hot gas naturally expands a great deal more than a cold gas. A hot gas naturally expands a great deal more than a cold gas.

What is true of New Jersey in this respect is true of many other States. If the evil were corrected, if neglected lands were utilized, if sheep were raised instead of worthless dogs—for the dogs which destroy sheep are mostly quite worthless curs—the supply of food and clothing would be materially increased, and the cost thereof would be correspondingly decreased. Dogs or sheep? That is the Conscience in Your Work.

The habit of doing what we have to do as well as thoroughly, and as promptly as possible, without immediate reference to its probable or possible effects upon ourselves, is one which would of itself secure a more than average success for ourselves and the greatest good for the community.

It would settle many vexing questions and solve many knotty problems. Instead of this, the common course is to consider closely the comparative benefit which is likely to accrue to us in return. "Where do I come in?" is the ever-recurring query in American life to-day.

There are degrees of this calculation. From the strictly just to the rosiest selfish. One man tries to estimate the worth of his labor and reforms it accordingly; another gives a large return as possible; and between these there is every shade. But in all such reckonings there is one important element left out. No one can count up the value of the labor which is both vigorous and conscientious. Even if his money value can never be calculated.

The youth who enters business life determined to do a job that comes to his hands as well and as quickly as he can, who is anxious to learn and eager to please, who never measures his work by the wage, but freely gives all the work and the best part of his power, is vastly more valuable than he who is always bearing in mind the small pay he is receiving, and fearing that he may give too much in return.

Alice was not greatly interested in the approaching Halloween party, and when her older sisters tried to entice her with the subject she answered sadly: "Oh, what good is Halloween to me? I am not old enough to see my future husband's face in a mirror."

"WHO IS THIS DR. CHASE?" we are sometimes asked by persons who know his medicines, but are not familiar with his interesting life story.

The boyhood days of Dr. A. W. Chase were spent in the vicinity of Buffalo, N. Y., and as he had early decided to be a medical doctor, he took the first opportunity of attendance at the University of Michigan, located at Ann Arbor.

After graduation he began the practice of medicine in Ann Arbor, Mich., and at the time represented in the illustration, his reputation as a physician of exceptional skill had spread far beyond the confines of his State, and people came to him for treatment from many miles around.

As he was accustomed to travel across western Ontario to his native city of Buffalo, he frequently stopped over at Canadian towns and cities for special consultation, and in this way made many friends in Canada.

The character and personality of Dr. Chase was such that to know him was to love him. He inspired confidence and respect, and made lasting friends wherever he went.

And thus it happened that when Dr. Chase placed his most successful prescriptions on the market, so that the people might obtain them more readily, they met with a reception in Canada as well as in the United States.

This letter from Mr. Farish will give you some idea of how Dr. Chase's medicines became known throughout Canada.

Went to Dr. Chase in 1867
"In the year 1867 I was very bad with my kidneys. I could not work on account of my back being lame, sore and painful all the time. Though I carefully followed the directions of our family doctor he was unable to do me much good. At this time Dr. A. W. Chase was becoming known as an especially successful physician, and on the advice of my uncle, Charles Williams, I went to Dr. A. W. Chase at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and he gave me a box of his pills for kidney ailments.

"You can scarcely imagine how much good they did me. They helped me so much that I went back to the doctor and bought a dozen boxes. In my mind there is not a medicine half so good as DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS for kidney trouble and headache. We always keep them in the house as a family medicine, and I would not think of using any other."—Mr. G. W. Farish, Sturgeon Bay, Ont.

Note that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box of his medicines.

Editorial Briefs.

We commend to our readers the letter of Mr. MacAvoy in another column, and trust that a hearty response may be made to his plea on behalf of the band.

A proposal that representatives of British labor be invited to America to outline the political ideas of the party is an interesting development of the alliance that has drawn the two great English speaking nations so closely together.

The world's average annual potato production previous to the war was over 5,000,000 bushels. From 1908 to 1912 Europe produced about 90 per cent. of the world's crop.

Canada's Second Line of Defence.

Mr. Stredler, representing the Canada Food Board, was here Wednesday in the interest of the 'Soldiers of the Soil' movement, the object of which is to enlist all boys between the ages of 15 and 19, inclusive, in Farm Work during the coming summer.

Arrangements have been made with the educational department of the province that any boy may be taken from school any time after the end of April, and that he may be graded at the beginning of the first term as usual.

Recognition is to take the form of a 'Farm Service Badge' for war service, which will be given to every boy who completes his contract of farm work.

The work will be properly supervised throughout the season by district supervisors under the Canada Food Board.

Next week is known as 'Heroic Week' throughout Canada and thousands of boys will register as being willing to serve in Canada's second line of defence.

Mr. Percy Brown is local superintendent of this movement and will be pleased to give further information.

The boys will be paid a wage, according to their work and minimum is being set under which soon 50¢ will be paid.

The Parish Hall at Church Street, Cornwallis, has seldom had within its four walls a happier gathering than that of last Thursday evening, when friends and neighbors met to gather there to welcome back from overseas their young friend, Mr. Godfrey Watkins.

Right here we want to say that we were much amused by the general remark, 'What Band is that? Where did you get the Band? Why usually a Band is far too good for a hall like this and finally, when the delegation of eighteen arrived from Port Williams and expressed their pleasure in the music, one bright young woman said, 'I never saw such small men in the Band. Where did you get that Band?'

At eight o'clock the chair was taken by Rev. Woodroffe, rector of the Parish, and in his usual capable style the programme proceeded. After choice selections by the Band, Miss Muriel Starr was called upon and sang a particularly happy song, 'Spring is Coming,' and to a rousing encore gave 'Ask Me.' It was a matter of great pleasure to have with us in spite of the inclemency of the weather our friends, Rev. J. U. and Mrs. Bell.

Speeches were given by Revs. Woodroffe and Bell, of welcome and commendation, and also by Mr. Bell, a neat summary of the events of the war, as tending to encourage the people as to the outcome of same.

Then, Mr. Godfrey Watkins was asked to take the floor for as long as he liked to keep it, and as soon as he crossed to his feet, was the Band's organist and they improvised it, and as the boys could not make volume enough, everyone joined in and sang with the music 'For He's a Jolly Good Fellow,' as so we all do say.

One had to be there to appreciate it. Godfrey bowed and expressed his appreciation of the gathering together and words of welcome in his behalf and also his joy at being once more at home, and hoped that all the lads from the community would get home in as fit a condition or better than he.

The father who was beside his son on the platform being called upon responded in behalf of his wife and himself. The mother of the young hero, seated in the audience, was looking very happy indeed, although we know the thought of the two boys still absent is ever present with his family.

A moving cheer was given by Mr. and Mrs. Watkins or their loyalty in allowing their three sons to go forth, when on account of youth Godfrey could have been prevented.

While the Band dispensed merry music, the young ladies and gentlemen passed refreshments and then the most obliging young musician, and their respective leaders were induced to refresh themselves with the good things provided and once more putting their instruments to their lips, all stood to their feet, stood at attention and sang 'God Save Our King.'

Miss Helen Kidston was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Johnson, Summer street, have the heartfelt sympathy of the community generally in the loss of their only daughter, Florence, who passed away on Monday afternoon after an illness of a little over a week, during which everything that loving care and medical skill could do was done to save her.

Her departure leaves a blank in the home and sadness among many friends. The funeral which was held on Wednesday afternoon was very largely attended by those who desired to indicate their sympathy for the bereaved home. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Armitage, pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Miller, of the Presbyterian church and Rev. Mr. Ryan, pastor of the Lower Hallowe Methodist church.

The burial took place at the cemetery, the Rev. Mr. Ryan officiating. The floral tributes were very pretty including offerings from the Methodist Sunday-school, the pupils of the public school, the Y. M. C. A., the Pastime Club, the Olive Service Girls, the Girls Club and other friends. The interment was in Willow Brook cemetery.

Graduated War Tax on Income.

THOSE ENJOYING HIGHEST INCOMES WILL PAY LARGEST AMOUNT. If the income tax law, about to be applied, did nothing more than cause a national stock-taking, it would serve a most useful purpose.

The taking of an inventory of one's resources invariably in 1917, a desire to save and a desire to save when translated, as it very frequently is, into a determination to save, means getting on with the war, as well as happiness all around. This process, first an inventory of one's resources, then a desire to save, applied to every unmarried person, or widow and widower without dependent children, receiving an income of $1,500 and over, and to all other persons receiving an income of $3,000 and over, will unquestionably result in a large proportion of cases, in a determination to save. And that means more general prosperity and renewed national strength.

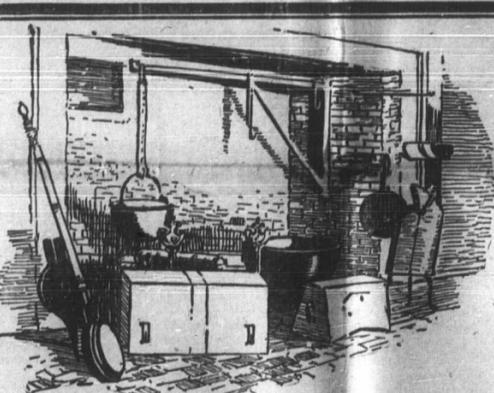

But a nation's stock-taking is only incidental, of course, to the chief purpose of the income war tax, which is to provide revenue for the prosecution of the war in as equitable a manner as possible. The tax is to be graduated, according to one's ability to pay. Those who are in receipt of only a living wage or salary will not be called upon to pay; those enjoying the high-st income will be called upon to pay the greatest amount, and the great body of income receivers between, will be called upon to pay their due proportion.

Moreover, the purpose of the act is to distribute the burden equitably among all classes. By way of illustration, the farmer will be required to do to the value of his actual income, the value of the home-grown produce which his own family consumes. The places the farmer on a plane with the salaried man, the value of whose services is wholly represented in the income received and against which he must charge all his living expenses.

Canada has established a war record that is the envy of the World. How certain that the Canadian people will run true to form in answer to this call of their war government.

Many stenographers are satisfied with their Typewriting Machine just because they know it well, but if they've not used or tried a Remington they can hardly give a verdict as to its merits. A fair trial, say a week, would reveal its advantage of speed and convenience to employer and employee alike.

Baking Day in Grandmother's Kitchen

GRANDMOTHER did her baking in tin kitchens set before the fire. Sometimes she baked a sponge cake in an iron kettle, browning the top with hot coals heaped on the lid. On baking day the kitchen was filled with delicious fragrance because Grandmother made her cakes and pies with old-fashioned brown sugar.

None are the cranes and bellows and tin kitchens but we still enjoy Grandmother's favorite dishes. Mince pies, plum puddings, cakes and many sweets and beverages are much better made just as she made them with soft brown sugar. It is easy to get both the recipes and the sugar with which to make them up. Lantic Old-Fashioned Brown Sugar come in three kinds—Light, Brilliant and Dark Yellow—and are for sale by grocers throughout Canada. Brilliant Yellow is particularly good for baking. Grandmother's Recipes have been reproduced in a delightful little book which we will send to you for a 2c. stamp to cover cost of mailing.

Lantic Old-Fashioned Brown Sugar

is put up only in 100-lb. bags with the well-known Lantic trademark from which your grocer will serve you any quantity you require. Our booklet tells you among other things how to keep brown sugar fresh, moist and ready for use. Lantic Old-Fashioned Brown Sugars are made by the same firm that makes the famous Lantic 'FINE' Granulated. Atlantic Sugar Refineries Limited Montreal, Que.

A Plea For the Band.

DEAR SIR,—It was indeed gratifying to note in your last issue that our band made such an impression upon those who heard it on the evening of the Scout reception. Since that time we had the privilege of playing at a reception given to returned soldiers over at Church Street, and I wish you could have heard the nice things that were said about the Wolfville boys. Some said that they were not aware that Wolfville had such a musical organization. Now, Mr. Editor, the band, as it stands at the present time, is a credit to the town, and not only so, but an asset, but we are handicapped for instruments, chiefly on the bass section, which of course means that the band is not as good as it would be if this deficiency were made up. In addition to the band here an asset to the town. It is a splendid thing for the boys themselves.

We are looking forward to playing out during the summer evenings, but this serious handicap somewhat dampens our ardor, because it is not very encouraging to look forward to playing out with a section of the band weaker than it should be. I have just been wondering, Mr. Editor, if there is not sufficient public spirit to assist us to make up this deficiency. We sorely need a new E. Flat Bass and a Tenor Trombone. These would cost perhaps about one hundred and twenty dollars and I don't think it is such a large amount to ask for to assist the band, 'The Wolfville Band,' to get on its feet. I might go on, Mr. Editor, and outline the advantages of a band to the town, but I feel that the majority of the people feel as I do in the matter. So this is unnecessary. Then some might say, why not get engagements here and there and raise this money? But, Mr. Editor, if the boys are willing to give their time for the pleasure of the citizens, it would surely be unjust to ask them to give more than they are giving to raise the money for the instruments.

I ask the citizens of Wolfville through your paper to come to our assistance in this matter—if they will provide the instruments then we in turn will provide the music. There is just a possibility that a canvasser might wait upon the citizens in the near future, and if such should happen to be the case, can we not have a good list of responses so that the necessary money shall be forthcoming to put us in a position whereby we can appear out the summer with a merry band and help to make other merry also. I believe it is coming.

On Tuesday evening, March 19th, at 8 p. m., in College Hall, Lt. Leon Archibald, of the Royal Engineers attached to the Black Watch, will give an address. He will speak chiefly of the part played by the Canadians in the war, giving intimate sketches of trench life and an account of all the engagements in which the Canadians participated up to July, 1916. There will be no admittance fee but a collection will be taken, the proceeds to go to the Daughters of the Empire, under whose auspices Lt. Archibald is speaking. The Scout Band will be in attendance.

Owing to an embargo on Cotton Seed Meal our car does not arrive. We have rolling one car Linsseed Oil Cake due to arrive any day. There is no question but that this is the cheapest feed material available in Canada today. It is suitable for feeding all kinds of stock, in fact better than Cotton Seed. Prof. Cumming states that the Oil Cake Meal is without question better than Cotton Seed Meal for fattening purposes. It can easily be broken up in lumps about the size of a walnut in which form it is most suitable for feeding.

The Boy Scouts' Music a Real Treat.

Patrons who attended the play 'Jerry', presented so well by Mr. W. S. Herkins and players, enjoyed the comedy very much and it was considered the best play seen in Wolfville for many months. However, the music furnished by members of the Boy Scouts was indeed a real treat and a credit to the Scout organization. Special mention is due Mr. McAvoy for the admirable way in which he has trained the boys in so short a time.

On Monday evening the first Goldwyn production featuring Mae Marsh, was presented in a large house, considering the weather, and was pronounced one of the best productions presented on the Opera House screen for some time.

On Monday and Tuesday of next week patrons will have presented a spectacular production. 'Last of the Ages'—featuring the beautiful Lillian Walker who is a great favorite here. The story is most interesting and pictures wonderfully that gold is not all that money does not always bring happiness. The cast is an excellent one.

The producer is entitled to particular credit for his treatment of the screen in the theatre, and certainly I have never seen one production in which so much difficult technical work was so intelligently handled. This picture is different from any other feature, and pictures vividly episodes of this present war some excellent bits of spectacle, passages involving big crowd effects and attractive scenic surroundings. The pastoral scenes are particularly charming, while the action and handling of an invasion of the country village by an army of berserkers is strikingly well done.

We can recommend this picture as an exceptionally interesting one and should be seen by all who can attend, especially the ladies. The 'Grey Ghost' shows every Friday and Saturday in proving a very interesting serial, and it is getting more exciting every week.

Wedding Bells.

THE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR NEARY, CANALING, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, February 23rd, when their only daughter, Sheila Blanche, was united in marriage to Mr. Harlan L. Fosyth, of Greenwick. The parlor was tastefully decorated with potted plants and flowers. An evergreen arch with a floral drape which suspended from the centre under which the bride and groom stood, formed a part of the pretty scene. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Frigman, pastor of the Catholic Methodist church. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Bertha Rand, of Wolfville, niece of the groom. The bride wore a gown of white silk with pearl bead trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. At the conclusion of the ceremony congratulations and good wishes were extended by the guests present, and a possibly repeat served, after which the happy couple started on their honeymoon trip to Wolfville, thence to St. John's. The bride was the recipient of many useful presents, consisting of silver and gold, furniture and a number of substantial things. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful set of red fox furs.

On their return they will reside at Canaling where the groom will engage in farming.

William Frederick Parker

It is with the most sincere regret that we have to record the death of our esteemed fellow townsman, Mr. W. F. Parker, which occurred at his home in Wolfville on Sunday evening last, the tenth of March. A few weeks ago he was seen on our streets in about his usual health, and now we are to look upon his familiar face no more. To our citizens who knew him best, and who have delightful memories of intimacy with him, his absence will be keenly felt in the time to follow. The true friend and genial companion will long be recalled with gratitude and affection. A man with such a bright and well-to-do mind, with skill in apt and forcible expression, with keen sense of humor, and with firm loyalty to well-trying friends, cannot be forgotten by those favored with his friendship.

Mr. Parker graduated from Acadia in the year 1881. After that he went to Halifax for studies in connection with his chosen profession—the law—and there received the LL. B. degree in 1884. The year following he was admitted to the Nova Scotia. For a time he was connected with the well-known law firm in Halifax of which the present Premier of Canada, Sir Robert Borden was the head. His prospects in his profession were exceedingly promising, and he could easily have reached the highest places attainable therein in our Province had not the coming of insidious disease changed the whole course of his life. About sixteen years since he took up residence in Wolfville, finding this locality well suited to the demands of his impaired physical condition. For a while he had an office here and practiced law, but a little later he retired to the ease and quiet of his own home that he might the more successfully contend with bodily weakness. Apart from occasional visits to the home of his boyhood at Dartmouth, while that home remained, and on two occasions spending a short while with his son, Dr. Fred Parker, in Needham, Mass., he kept almost exclusively in his family at the head of Westwood avenue, where his intimate friends took pleasure in going to his friendly intercourses. And it was a long and heroic fight that the good man waged against disease. His last illness was one in which intense suffering was endured, and it was a relief, indeed, when the spirit took its flight from the worn and weary body of the blessed father of one who had unwavering faith in the Saviour of mankind.

Mr. Parker has left three sons, Dr. Fred, Arthur and Allan; and three daughters, Mrs. Edith, wife of Dr. Kelstead, of Toronto; Mrs. G. G. Galt, wife of the present Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia; and Miss Parker, who has been with her brother most of the time since the breaking up of her Dartmouth home.

A few years since Mr. Parker performed a labor of love in the writing of a voluminous biography of his father, the greatly esteemed and much-loved Dr. D. McN. Parker.

Dr. Parker was widely known among us both as a physician and as one long connected with the government of our Province. Every good and noble cause had the heartiest support of this "beloved physician"; and while he wrote this book for the use of the immediate family and descendants of his father, it was at the same time rendered a fine service to our country in preserving what will hereafter prove of much advantage to the historian. The Memoir is not only a fitting tribute to the generous and useful life of the father, but it is also a monument to the excellent gifts and the warm heart of the departed son who, in the years of bodily limitations, conceived such a task and brought it to so honorable a finish. No discriminating reader who has gone through the six hundred pages of this biography has not the book down without a new admiration both for the subject and for the writer of these interesting chapters.

Early on Wednesday morning a brief funeral service was held at the home of the deceased, conducted by his Col. J. C. Clouston and long time friend and neighbor, Rev. A. C. Chute and participated in by Dr. Gates and Rev. N. A. Herkins. The body was taken to Halifax by the morning train and laid to rest beside the father and mother at Fairview Cemetery, and beside the wife who was called away nearly four years in advance of her husband. Rev. F. B. Bishop, pastor of the Dartmouth Baptist church, officiated at the graves. A few well-honored friends, "until the day break, and the shadows flee away."

OVER 40 YEARS ON THE ROAD

The name of W. G. Reid of Hamilton, Ont., is a familiar one to thousands throughout the Dominion. For over forty years Mr. Reid has seen service as a commercial traveller. A letter recently received from him indicates how he suffered from Rheumatism, and at last found relief.

Hamilton, Ont. "About four years ago I wrote you of my condition from Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble and my efforts through travel and change of climate to rid myself of these unwelcome guests, and how I only found relief in Gin Pills after spending a lot of time and money in foreign lands. Since then Gin Pills have been my sheet anchor. I find in advancing years a tendency of the kidneys to get out of order more easily than formerly but a few doses of Gin Pills puts them right and wards off other and more serious trouble. I feel it not only a duty but a pleasure to recommend Gin Pills for Kinley and Binkler troubles to my thousands of personal friends throughout Canada to whom I am well known as a commercial traveller of over forty years' service."

Yours truly, (Signed) W. G. Reid.
