The Star says editorially—"If the earlier returns furnish a reliable index, Indiana is Democratic by more than 5,000 majority."

THE MERCEUR ESTATE.

A New Claimant Appears.

The Mercer will case, which created a sensation a couple of years ago, is likely to be revived, a new claimant having appeared in the person of Robert Mercer, of Hagerstown.

It having become known that Mr. William Higgins, of the law firm of Rogers & Higgins, is instituting proceedings on behalf of the new claimant, a Mail reporter called upon that gentleman on Monday to state the grounds of his claim.

John Mercer had called upon him in reference to the estate, claiming that he was the rightful heir to the estate of John Mercer, a brother of the late Mr. Mercer, who had died in the British army but had deserted with a number of men, and had come to Canada. His parents had settled in the neighbourhood of Cayuga, and he had grown up there following the business of farmer. Mr. Higgins asked for the proof of his claim, and he said that he could furnish ample proof when the proper time arrived. Mercer claims that he is a nephew of the late Mr. Mercer, and has no other relatives.

He has not yet furnished his counsel with proof, but he has secured good lawyers, and he will do so in a few days.

SUDDEN DEATH.

A Servant Girl Found Dead at the Commercial Hotel.

Agnes Hooper came from the country about three weeks ago, and found employment as a chambermaid at the Commercial Hotel, in Jarvis street. Monday her corpse lay at the morgue, wrapped in a funeral sheet, and covered by a coarse canvas sheet, commonly used at the dead-house. The girl was seized with pains in the abdomen on Thursday, and Dr. Oldright was called in to attend her. She had fully recovered by Saturday, and went out for a walk, but on Sunday she again took ill, and next morning Dr. Oldright said she was dying. She died on Sunday afternoon, and when her attendant called her for the night she expressed herself as considerably better. On Monday morning she was found dead in bed. Mr. Moulton, the proprietor of the hotel, notified Constable Riddell of the occurrence, and asked him for an order to have the body removed to the morgue. The body was removed as requested, and next morning Dr. Oldright said he held a post-mortem examination. The deceased came from Newington, township of Onondaga, near Oswego, and was about 20 years of age. Her name was Agnes Hooper, and she had been employed at the Commercial Hotel for some time.

TORONTO, FRIDAY, OCT. 15, 1880. THE PACIFIC RAILWAY NEGOTIATIONS.

The details of the negotiations concerning the Pacific railway are, of course, looked for with much interest by the public. But, as might have been expected by those accustomed to great business transactions, these details are not definitely settled.

UNDER CONTRACT. It is always interesting to watch any structure in the process of building, and a Reform platform is not an edifying object of contemplation in the making.

THE IRISH AGITATION. Our latest English files contain full reports of Mr. Parnell's addresses at New Ross, Portlaoine, and elsewhere, and as might be expected, give all his views upon his utterances.

It is impossible to pursue one of these will utterances without perceiving that Mr. PARNELL either does not know what he wants, or, as a matter of fact, wants nothing except turmoil and disorder.

was a failure. Then some of the wisest proposed a convention—that is, a sort of political main-bau, at which the whole platform was to be put up, much as JONAH'S gourd rose, in a night.

Despairing of Dominion principles, some of the Reformers who are anxious to reform something propose to set Mr. MORAY and his colleagues free from the control of the Legislature for two years at a stretch.

EMIGRATION FROM CANADA. For some time past the following paragraph has been going the round of the Opposition press:

DOG MATIC PREACHING. There probably never was a time when Christian men and women were entirely agreed as to the fittest method of pulpit instruction; perhaps there never will be such a time, and that for the sufficient reason that human nature is not cast in a stereotyped mould.

THE SYDNEY, C. B. Express.—"At the shipping pier here, vessels of the very largest capacity and steamers are always to be found waiting for cargo or taking on board."

The Collingwood municipal authorities lately incurred the censure of the Messenger for having neglected to charge a circus fee to Palma & Hamilton's show, which exhibited there. A recent decision at Ottawa indicates that the circus is not to be taxed.

A good deal has lately been said in the "London Society" journals in reference to the alleged high intelligence and high life, and socially amiable habits.

The Montreal Witness has discovered a funny circumstance in the Indiana campaign.

Among the amusing incidents of the Presidential campaign in Indiana is the appearance of General Butler and Senator Hendricks in the same place, and at the same time.

While Mr. Crooks is apparently determined to ride roughshod over any one who questions the paramount importance of the classes in a new country, there is a strong movement in progress in England in a contrary direction.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says "an attempt by a section of the Tory press in this market to make a political capital out of the appointment of Mr. J. D. Merrick, of Toronto, as Sheriff of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell."

had supposed that belief in facts was something quite distinct from dogma. But the dogma of the Loyalists, Malloy, and Ryan, life-long workers for the Reform party, were studiously ignored, and their claims displaced for those of a stranger.

The charge successfully brought against Mr. Mackenzie of systematically ignoring the claims of rising towns to appropriations for the erection of public buildings cannot be laid upon the late Liberal Government.

The prediction of Sir Leonard Tilley that the large cities would feel the trade renewal first, but that it would extend to every town and village, is being literally fulfilled.

enthusiastic over the project. Here is the plea—"It appeals to the loyal sentiment of every section of the Dominion. The descendants of the U. E. Loyalists of Ontario would cordially co-operate in such a celebration. The people of St. John would put forth such efforts as were never before exerted even to demonstrate the growth and prosperity of the city founded by the Loyalists."

The action of the Grand Trunk authorities in ejecting from a train a passenger who presented a ticket which, according to the company's rule, had expired, will probably lead to a test case being submitted to judicial authorities. It is desirable that the question should be settled by our courts, as there have been contradictory judgments elsewhere.

reached 31,062,000 pounds, while the exports of oleomargarine were 19,333,000 pounds, or more than half as much. The butter brought on an average 240 or 250 cents a pound, while the oleomargarine brought over thirteen cents. It is essential that laws should be enacted requiring each packet of oleomargarine to be so marked. In no other way can the farmer who produces butter be protected. Strict measures should be adopted to prevent the surplus products of American oleomargarine factories from entering the Dominion.

The suggestion is offered to our farmers that they should change the butter season. Authorities do not see any insuperable difficulty in the way, in the shape of conveniences; cows are now generally well housed, and it has already been found profitable to give them all that they can consume of a nourishing quality. The Dances have made a move in this direction. They have learned by experience that the butter season is higher at one season than another in the London market, where the principal part of their butter is sent.

The Montreal Witness has discovered a funny circumstance in the Indiana campaign.

Among the amusing incidents of the Presidential campaign in Indiana is the appearance of General Butler and Senator Hendricks in the same place, and at the same time.

While Mr. Crooks is apparently determined to ride roughshod over any one who questions the paramount importance of the classes in a new country, there is a strong movement in progress in England in a contrary direction.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says "an attempt by a section of the Tory press in this market to make a political capital out of the appointment of Mr. J. D. Merrick, of Toronto, as Sheriff of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell."

reached 31,062,000 pounds, while the exports of oleomargarine were 19,333,000 pounds, or more than half as much. The butter brought on an average 240 or 250 cents a pound, while the oleomargarine brought over thirteen cents. It is essential that laws should be enacted requiring each packet of oleomargarine to be so marked. In no other way can the farmer who produces butter be protected. Strict measures should be adopted to prevent the surplus products of American oleomargarine factories from entering the Dominion.

The suggestion is offered to our farmers that they should change the butter season. Authorities do not see any insuperable difficulty in the way, in the shape of conveniences; cows are now generally well housed, and it has already been found profitable to give them all that they can consume of a nourishing quality. The Dances have made a move in this direction. They have learned by experience that the butter season is higher at one season than another in the London market, where the principal part of their butter is sent.

The prediction of Sir Leonard Tilley that the large cities would feel the trade renewal first, but that it would extend to every town and village, is being literally fulfilled.

DOG MATIC PREACHING. There probably never was a time when Christian men and women were entirely agreed as to the fittest method of pulpit instruction; perhaps there never will be such a time, and that for the sufficient reason that human nature is not cast in a stereotyped mould.

THE SYDNEY, C. B. Express.—"At the shipping pier here, vessels of the very largest capacity and steamers are always to be found waiting for cargo or taking on board."

The Collingwood municipal authorities lately incurred the censure of the Messenger for having neglected to charge a circus fee to Palma & Hamilton's show, which exhibited there. A recent decision at Ottawa indicates that the circus is not to be taxed.

A good deal has lately been said in the "London Society" journals in reference to the alleged high intelligence and high life, and socially amiable habits.

New York, Oct. 9.—"The country is in a state of great excitement over the other evening, discoursing on the prosperous state of affairs."

"It is such a misfortune," said a former resident of New York, "that my husband is forced to retire from the account of his health just at the time he could only stay in five years."

Such are the present conditions of business matters in New York which one may expect to see in a similar observation. A visit to the goods stores, for instance, will find ward changing the mind of the wisest of our people.

Some American journals are seeking to establish a case of injustice against the Dominion Government to Mr. Snider in prohibiting the return of his cattle sent to the Michigan State Fair.

The export of American wheat to Russia presses home a lesson that our farmers should not only learn but act upon. Ten years ago the czar's empire was the granary of Europe, and it controlled the markets.

The northern portion of Russia is not growing sufficient wheat for its own needs. This change is, however, not greater than that which has occurred in some parts of Quebec.

Not many years ago the district lying between the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay was a splendid wheat-growing land, but now it is mainly pasture.

It is a pity that the Government has not adapted for raising breadstuffs for the European markets.

The Reform emigration agents in the Dominion press have apparently abandoned their advocacy of Kansas as a suitable field for Canadian emigration.

The reverse of the coin is also true. The charitable efforts of the poor are being put forth for their relief. Texas is not being.

The London Advertiser and the Montreal Advertiser are both in agreement in their views on the subject of the shilly-shally policy of Mr. Mackenzie.

The grain crops of the world form the subject-matter of a large volume just issued by M. Bruy Estienne, of Marseilles, and the conclusions arrived at from the reports is that the world is in a state of famine.

The fact that the Government of Ontario has built a railway across a fertile region has been a source of complaint. "How favourably does their conduct compare with that of Sir John and his colleagues? Why, the Government are being directed to tapping the prairie region of the North-West for the earliest possible moment by the Thunder Bay and Lake Superior Railway.

Among eligible fields for settlement lying near home, the country lying to the back of Bruce Mines, on Georgian Bay, is attracting considerable notice. The new townships are being settled by men of means, and the country is well watered by living springs, creeks, and rivers. The timber is hardwood, and principally maple and beech. The soil is rich and fertile, and there is no need of artificial manure. The climate is well adapted for agriculture, and the soil is well adapted for agriculture, and the soil is well adapted for agriculture.

Some American journals are seeking to establish a case of injustice done by the Dominion Government to Mr. Snider in prohibiting the return of his cattle sent to the Michigan State Fair. It was impossible that the animals could have taken any disease. Had the Government permitted the landing of the cattle fresh from intercourse with the United States, the agents of Mr. Lane in Canada would have telegraphed the fact to the Dominion Government, and the result would very probably have been the scheduling of Canada as an infected country, and the exportation of cattle from that country would have been prohibited.

The export of American wheat to Russia presses home a lesson that our farmers should not learn too late. The wheat of the year is the best ever raised in the Dominion, and it is controlled by the market. At this time its far-reaching demand upon its producers is changing their minds, and they are pleading what must come, but not what they want to them. A succession of failures of the harvest has since been witnessed, and its export to Russia has been prohibited. The wheat of the year is the best ever raised in the Dominion, and it is controlled by the market.

The Reform emigration agents in the Dominion press have apparently abandoned their advocacy of Kansas as a suitable field for Canadian emigration. The reason is palpable. The Kansas farmers are not so successful as the charitable efforts of the American people are being put forth for their relief. Texas is not popular. The Dominion Government is not so successful as the charitable efforts of the American people are being put forth for their relief.

The grain crops of the world form the subject-matter of a large volume just issued by M. The Dominion Government is not so successful as the charitable efforts of the American people are being put forth for their relief.
