Boys, Beware!

Yesterday when the Fogota was coming up to Crosbie & Co's wharf two boats rowed by boys were directed in her way, and as the youths became excited and being unused to the manipulation of boats, Capt. Barbour, who saw that to continue would be to run them down, had to alter his course and caused him delay in berthing his ship. Boys are given boats by out-harbor men on Sundays to pleasure about the harbor. Many of these lads know nothing about the handling of boats and run great risks, especially when they go outside the harbor. Boys should be more careful.

Truckmen Hurt.

Saturday afternoon a truckman loading fish in Job's Cove to be hauled to the Borna, narrowly escaped being killed. When nearly all the fish, which was in casks, were on the cart the horse started and one rolled off, striking the man and knocking him down. Had the cask gone over his body he would have been killed, and as other truckmen near ran to his aid, this was averted. He was hurt about the head and body, but not seriously.

"Weary Willies" Arrested Saturday.

Last year, about this season, Summers' barn on Freshwater Road was a place of refuge for men belonging to St. John's who had no visible place of abode and who worked only when they had to to avert starvation and to obtain liquor. For some weeks past the place has again been the rendezvous for such characters, and during the past week locks were broken, and as soon as they were replaced by the owner of the barn they were broken again, so that these fellows could get in there and use the place for sleeping quarters. Last year it was known that the men who frequented the place purchased pork, &c., out of their earnings and cooked cabbage, potatoes and other vegetables secured from nearby farms in a paint can, which had been cleaned out for the purpose, and had a fire place over which they cooked their meals while they slept in the barn at night. They supplied themselves with liquor on coming to the city, especially on Saturdays, and Head Constable Peet, learning that others were at the same game recently, paid the place a visit with the night watch early yesterday morning and found four men asleep in the place. All were arrested and taken to the police station. They were more or less under the influence and there was great danger to their setting fire to the place and being themselves burned to death, while their presence in the building was a menace to the other residences and buildings near. Head Peet did not go to the place to make the arrest without a good backing and took officers McGrath and Squibb with him when he went to Freshwater. Two at least of the occupants of the barn were known to be hard cases and it was believed would resist arrest. When the Head and his men entered the place, which they did quietly, with lantern, they handcuffed the two most likely to kick, while they slept, and aroused the others and brought them out the road. Near Hennebury's two became violent, but officers Merce and Cleary were stationed there as a reserve force to meet just such an emergency and the men were brought to the station. A fifth man who was in the building escaped when the police entered. At the lockup when the Guard searched them they had in their pockets liquor, tobacco, matches, turnips, potatoes, &c., with a little cash. There was over two tons of hay in the barn which the men frequented. Not so very long ago three of the number broke into and stole liquor from Mr. P. J. Shea's saloon. They were found in a stable last year under conditions similar to this and served three months on a charge of vagrancy. Some petty larcenacies which have not been solved are attributed to this quartette by the police.

Tim Shannahan and Delaney Good Friends Again.

Delaney Arrives From the Labrador.

Poor Delaney, he's back from the Labrador to face a hard winter. He did absolutely nothing, and now he thinks he will go on the railroad to try and make up a few shillings. Mrs. Tucker says 'tis not as easy as you'd think to get on the railroad, there's a bit of chasing around, she heard, and you're likely to lose your fall as well as your summer trying to get on.

Delaney is simply mad, every body he makes shows he's mad. "What in the name of fortune," said he, "were ye doin' up around here this summer, why to take the papers you'd think ye were all after takin' leave of your senses?" "Oh," said Mrs. Tucker, "tis no use of you getting vexed with the whole world because you did nothing in Griffin's Harbour; you know, Delaney, as well as I do, that if you are in St. John's you must do as St. John's does. Why, take the Governor for instance, he couldn't keep himself barred up in that old stone building. Even he had to get out and keep up with the crowd, and the only shortage we had was in the way of lions. Oh, if we only had lions we'd be as good as South Africa. We had Earls and Dukes and Dukes' wives out to Grand Falls to the upper ten is like a good trouting excursion to the man with the pledge. The people you know get glowing accounts of these trips and big shows in the papers, much in the same way that they give an account of a trip to the Pole, but a man who was there and who knew it all told me that they have the time of their lives. Certainly some very enthusiastic speeches are made on the deck of the yachts, and sometimes they cry over the backwardness of the country. Then they send in their pictures to the papers again; you know to be prominent and to keep yourself as your face must appear in the papers, at least three times a week then get some big talk underneath; and a continuation of trust is assured."

"What about the oil wells," said Delaney, "have they done any working on them yet, or do you think there is any chance of a job on one of them this fall?"

"Look here, Delaney," said Mrs. Tucker, "don't be so sarcastic, you know as well as I do 'twould never do to rush these wells; why, man alive, they have been talking oil wells night, noon and morning. Every one you'd meet was talking oil until I actually could get the taste of oil off my tea; but now you know they'll knock off as 'tis getting too cold, but it will be a nice start for the spring, and 'tis likely we'll have an airship with oil experts in the spring."

"Are any of those Earls or Dukes going to stop around here the winter?" asked Delaney; "for 'twould be a nice chance for them to get Mr. Downey and Mr. Seymour to take them out to the ice. You know nearly all the public men have had their excursions, and the few who hadn't might be thrown in, and then we'd have no jealousy. I heard Mr. Morrison is going to be knighted, the poor man, he deserves it for he worked hard all his life time trying to earn an honest dollar. Mr. Morrison is a nice, quiet, harmless man, and I'm sure he'd make a good looking knight. Anyway, this is his chance and if he doesn't grasp it he will only have himself to blame."

"Well," said Delaney, "I'm tired as a dog to-night, but I must go down and have a chat with the Premier in the morning; he and I were, always good friends, and I have a few wrinkles to give him of what people are saying on the Labrador. Success is all right, you know, but look out for the turn of the tide when people get disgusted with tomfoolery."

McMurdo's Store News

Monday, Sept. 12, 1910.

After the summer, gloves will be found soiled with perspiration, etc. They should be cleaned with McMurdo's Cleaning Fluid which will effectually remove grease, dirt and stains of various character and render the gloves, as far as color goes, equal to new. This cleaning fluid will also remove stains and grease from clothes and fabrics. It is very effective and much more pleasant in odor than benzine, gasolene, etc. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Duchess Massage Cream stands deservedly high among preparations of this class. It will be found of just the right consistence for applying and is very pleasant in use. To put the skin in proper form we have no massage cream to surpass it. Price, 50c.

Budget of News From Greenspond and vicinity.

In this vicinity last week fishing was at a standstill owing to the high winds and stormy weather that prevailed; squid continues scarce.

The schr. "Camperdown," Skipper Percy Barbour, of Newtown, arrived home from the Labrador on Sunday, Sept. 3rd, with a load of 630 quintals. His report adds nothing to what is already known.

The weekly half holiday which has been observed throughout the summer at Greenspond, has been discontinued on account of the revival of business.

George Norris, a respected citizen of Newtown, entered into rest last Tuesday, at the age of 68. He was buried on Wednesday at his birthplace, Pinchard's Island, Revs. J. T. Hiscock and Mr. K. Gardner officiating at the sacred service.—R. I. P.

Schools have now re-opened, and they enter the scholastic arena imbued with the confidence that success brings and strengthened by a summer's recreation.

The Methodist Church at Greenspond, is being generally renovated in the interior, Mr. William Blackwood being in charge.

Greenspond has always attained a creditable position in the Pass and Honours Lists of the C. H. E. Examinations, but this year its success is exceptional. A peculiar feature is that this one outpost secured this year both of the $100 Preliminary Outport Scholarships. Miss Maud Saunders, of the C. E. High, and Master Percy Dewey, of the Meth. Superior, are the fortunate winners. Mr. Samson and Mr. Crumme, the respective teachers, may well be proud of their pupils, and of this tribute to their teaching ability.

At George St. Church.

The service at George St. Methodist Church last evening was well attended and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Bartlett, who delivered a most brilliant discourse from a text found in the 27th chap. St. Matthew's Gospel. The sermon was most eloquent and the preacher rose to great heights in its delivery. The four principal parts of the sermon that stood out in bold relief were:

1. Pilate aimed against justice.
2. Pilate sinned against light.
3. Pilate sinned against conscience.
4. Pilate sinned against love.

The lessons drawn therefrom and their application to present-day sinfulness were strikingly set forth.

St. Patrick's Association.

Last night in the Convent Schools, Riverhead, a large and enthusiastic gathering of the ladies of the West End took place, and an Association of the above name was formed. The object of the Association is to collect funds for St. Patrick's Church, which is being repaired at present. A committee of thirty members was elected, and every lady present promised to work energetically in the good cause. The committee decided to hold quarterly meetings, at which all the members of the Association promised to attend. The ladies of the committee also determined to have a refreshment tent in St. George's Field, on Wednesday next, when the City Cricket Clubs will play in aid of St. Patrick's Church.

Steamers Arrive.

S. S. CUNDALL.
The S. S. Cundall, Captain Lonie, arrived here at 4 p.m. on Saturday from Halifax, after a run of three days. She left there at 4 a.m. on Wednesday, and from the start had bad weather. She had dense fog after leaving Halifax lasting for several hours, had no steam slowly, and had a strong N. E. gale and heavy sea all Friday and Friday night. She brought over 300 tons of cargo but no passengers.

S. S. DURANGO.
The S. S. Durango, Capt. Chambers, arrived at 7.30 p.m. yesterday after a run of 7 1/2 days from Liverpool. The ship had beautiful weather crossing the Atlantic, and on Friday passed two schooners on the Banks which from their appearance, were well fitted. The ship has 250 tons of cargo, and her passengers were Messrs. A. K. Lumsden, Jas. Stick and Mrs. Wilson and child. She brought considerable general mail and also a seal for H. M. Ships Brilliant and Calypso.

S. S. SHENANDOAH.
The S. S. Shenandoah arrived here at 2 p.m. yesterday from London after a passage of 7 1/2 days, during which she had splendid weather, except for about a day's roughness off the coast.

Boy Had Fits For 6 Years

Druggist advised DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD—Cure complete and lasting.

Mrs. J. D. Palmer, 28 Park St., Amherst, N. Y., writes: "When six years of age my boy began to have fits. They came on in the night. He would make strange noises, stiffen out, froth at mouth, face would twitch and sometimes turned purple. After the fit he could not talk.

"The family physician said all he could do was to keep them down some what. The second physician pronounced trouble Jeffersonian epilepsy, but could not cure him. He suffered for six years and before beginning the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food had three fits in about five days. Our druggist recommended Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. He has taken seven boxes and has not had the symptom of a fit since. His color has greatly improved; he is not nervous and irritable like he used to be, and we consider his cure complete."

Such results are only obtained by the use of the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food—not from imitations or substitutes. 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.

She brought 600 tons cargo, mostly dry goods, and has some dynamite on board. She has on board 5 passengers for Halifax.

S. S. FOGOTA.
The S. S. Fogota, Capt. E. Barbour, arrived from the Northward at 12.15 p.m. yesterday. She left here at 4 p.m. on Tuesday last and had fine weather on the run to Change Islands, which she reached at 9 o'clock on Thursday night. She started coming south at 2 a.m. on Friday and then encountered a S. W. gale with thunder and lightning which lasted over 3 hours. She brought up 350 packages of freight—a full cargo—which included fish in casks, oil and partridge berries. She carried 150 passengers for the trip, and her saloon passengers to this port were—Rev. J. J. Curtis and wife, Miss Curtis, Master C. Curtis, Mrs. M. Pike, J. A. Ward, Mrs. A. Milligan, J. Cornick, Mrs. J. Whitshire and two children, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pike, Miss Pike, E. Templeton, W. Forbes, K. H. Anderson, P. Coldridge, Miss Somerton, D. O'Neill, Miss J. Parsons, W. LeRoux, Miss M. Wills, Miss J. Simms, Capt. Job Keen, Capt. George Hann, Miss E. Normore, R. B. St. Hill, Miss L. ### Man Reported Missing.

At 10.20 last night Mrs. Dillon, of Signal Hill Road, proceeded to the Eastern Fire Station reporting there that her husband, Mr. J. Dillon, had been missing from his home since 9 o'clock Saturday night. She believed that the man might have gone off somewhere with friends and imagined he would turn up to dinner yesterday. As the evening and night advanced she became very uneasy and then determined to inform the police. Dillon was rarely absent from his home at night and his absence created great uneasiness to his wife and family.

The regular at 8 p.m. on Saturday took out about 120 passengers on the week-end excursion.

Messrs. Shea & Co's Damaged Pier.

Yesterday quite a number of people visited Shea & Co's premises to view the damages done to the pier and shed. On the night the accident occurred a strong southerly wind blew and there was a big undertow in the lower part of the harbour. The S. S. Mongolian which had a heavy list for hours surged against the pier, and it is believed weakened the structure, so that with the weight of cargo on it it went down. We understand that none of the consignees will suffer loss on their shipments, as the insurance on the goods does not expire until 24 hours after it left the ship's tackle. All Saturday and for several hours Saturday night men were busily engaged getting flour, oats, cattle feed, etc., up on the uninjured part of the pier, and it will be all pretty well secured to-day.

Children Went Astray.

Saturday afternoon a little boy and girl named Young, aged 6 and 4 years respectively, strayed away from their home on Hayward Avenue and for a while their parents were very anxious about them. They were found down on Battery Road at 7 p.m., and brought to their homes.

Two little girls, residents of Cabot Street, aged 3 and 4 1/2 years respectively, left home at 10 a.m. yesterday and were found in the afternoon near Gau's on Topsail Road, having walked the whole way. They were conveyed home by a young lady who met them, much to the relief of their parents.

Was Handled Roughly.

Alleging that he had insulted a young woman there, a crowd of young men followed a well known tradesman from George's Street down Water Street to Water Street Station Saturday night, and overtaking him as he turned into the latter thoroughfare they pretty severely handled him. Blows rained on his face and head, his pipe was smashed in his mouth, his hat battered and he was pretty badly cut about the face. He broke away from the crowd and took refuge in the watchman's store, where he remained until the police arrived and escorted him out of the danger zone.

Schooner M. B. Fashion Floated.

Mr. M. B. Cashion's schr. "M. B. Cashion," of Gimbo, which went ashore at Star Harbor Point last week, was refloated Friday last. Mr. John Whealan doing the work. She was towed into Frederickton and will be repaired there. A contract for $240 to float and repair her was entered into, but many think it will take far more than that to do the work.

Eucharistic Procession.

Most Unique and Impressive Ceremony Ever Held in America—Half a Million People Witnessed the Demonstration.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MONTREAL, Sept. 11.
The Eucharistic Procession, the crowning event of the Eucharistic Congress, took place to-day, and was participated in by 40,000 men and was witnessed by half a million people. Never has any city of the New World witnessed such a spectacle, and the demonstration was of such a stupendous character, that it took four and a half hours for the procession to pass a given point. Over a hundred bishops, three princes of the Church, two premiers, thousands of priests, all united to proclaim their attachment to the Eucharist. The route of the procession, which was two miles and three quarters, was through long lanes of densely packed humanity, and when the commanding figure of Cardinal Vanutelli bearing aloft the Host passed by, the sight of thousands kneeling in adoration was impressive. The first marchers reached the Sanctuary on the slopes of Mount Royal before the clang of Notre Dame's famous bells heralded the fact that the Cardinal Legate, bearing the Host, had left the Mother Church of Canadian Roman Catholicism. A rough estimate showed that the processionists passed at the rate of ten thousand an hour. Never has Montreal or any other Canadian city witnessed such a huge gathering of people during the past two days. Over 200,000 poured into the city from all parts of the Continent. The tremendous influx resulted in something like a food famine and hundreds waited in line at the various hotels and restaurants for a chance to get something to eat. The resources of the railways were taxed to the uttermost, and the dense throngs packed the stations waiting for the special trains which took them back to their homes until a late hour to-night. The trains were leaving every 15 minutes. Montreal to-night is invaded by hungry throngs, and prices of food have soared. The monster procession passed off without a hitch, and with the exception of a few cases of fainting, the Red Cross Stations along the route had little to do.

Rush Home of Americans.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Sept. 11.
The several steamers which left British ports for the United States to-day carried between six and seven thousand passengers. The rush was so great that many well-to-do Americans were obliged to content themselves with third-class or even steerage berths, and gladly paid emigrants handsome premiums to surrender their accommodations. The Mauretania had quite a number of such unusual occupants of the steerage among her two thousand passengers. Sir Evelyn John Ruggles, and other delegates to the International Prison Congress to be held at Washington, on October 24th, are in the Cunarder.

Cotton-Lockout Imminent in England.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Sept. 11.
The week promises to be a grave one in the industrial world. Unless the operatives in the cotton mills agree to arbitration to-morrow, and they thus far have remained defiant, the Employers Association will recommend a lock-out of the men from the mills, which would affect several hundred thousand cotton operatives.

Raising of the Maine.

Special to Evening Telegram.
HAVANA, Sept. 11.

He will make a survey of the battleship Maine to determine the practicability of his plan for raising the wreck. Mr. O'Rourke conferred this afternoon with Col. William Black, Corps Engineer, who is making a thorough examination of the wreck, taking measurements and soundings. A joint examination of the hull will be made to-morrow.

Over 200 persons left by the excursion train to Kelligrews at 2.30 p.m. yesterday and returned at 9.20 last night.

The S. S. Fogota's Fishery News.

After the arrival of the Fogota yesterday a Telegram reported interviewed Capt. Barbour as to fishery conditions in Fogo District and other places north, and the captain's reply was that it could not be poorer, there being practically no improvement since last report, owing mostly to the almost entire absence of bait squid. At Greenspond, Bonavista, Elliston and Catalina the fishermen are doing fairly well, as they secure bait occasionally, but at all other places no more than half a quintal per day is the average, and as the season is getting late and the prospects not improving, many are quitting the fishery and intend going to Bell Island, Sydney and the new branch railway to seek employment. Capt. Barbour's report is:

Fogo—From 1/2 to 1 qtl. per boat; cod and bait scarce.

Change Islands—About the same; bait scarce.

Peckford's Island—Practically nothing doing; botmen gone to Bonavista.

Off Wadhams—Nil.

Cat Harbor—1/2 qtls. per man per day.

Newtown—The same; one or two boats a couple of quintals.

Greenspond, Bonavista, Elliston and Catalina—There is fairly good fishing and boats get from 1 to 4 qtls. daily, as squid are plentiful. There will be an average voyage in these places.

Musgrave Hr.—Unchanged since last report.

Tilton Hr.—Nothing doing.

The Fogota's Labrador News.

By the Fogota we learn that every day of late there are arrivals from the Labrador at Fogo, Brookfield, Wesleyville, Pool's Island, Found Cove, and Newtown with very poor fares, there being only a few exceptions to this rule. The schr. Camperdown arrived at Newtown Sunday week with 700 qtls., and Friday last Thos. Ridout arrived with 400 qtls. and S. Tiller with 600 qtls. Three of the Blackwoods got to Wesleyville with from 80 to 200 qtls. each, and 50 sail of craft have to date arrived in that section with fares ranging from 80 to 200 qtls. Baxter Barry of Alexander Bay secured 1,400 qtls., half of which he took in the Straits with his crew of 75 men. Quite a number of men are coming up from the Labrador coast in these vessels, and some will continue fishing at their own plickey but most will seek employment at Bell Island, Sydney and the new railway line.

By RUTH CAMERON

Well may we say our infelicity is of ourselves; since there is nothing there to which we should not do, but we know it and yet do it. —William Penn.

"It is horrid, I know, but I can't help it," philosophically remarked my quack-tempered friend after one of her outbursts had spent itself. "It's just my disposition to go off the handle and say what I mean and a good deal more."

That's the kind of philosophy that keeps the world from getting better any faster than it does—the philosophy of "I can't help it." It's just my disposition.

It is almost a universal philosophy. Everybody says it once in a while and some people say it continually.

If you think that's exaggerated, watch for it. Ten to one, you will hear that or its substance half a dozen times in the next few days. And the same odds that you will be one of the offenders.

Hardly an hour after I had decided to write about the prevalence of the habit I actually caught myself answering, when I was accused of worrying unduly over something, "I can't help it. I've always been frightened to death of typhoid."

"I can't help feeling that way. I've always been terribly jealous."

"I can't help being so nervous when I'm in a boat. I've always been afraid

Picnic at Upper Gullies

On Friday evening, September 9th, the annual Sunday School Picnic was held at this place, aided by the Sunday School teachers, and headed by Fr. R. Bailey, Superintendent. On Thursday evening preparations were made at Mrs. Charles Dawe's field; amp built and all things useful to make the event successful, were got ready. Friday morning came; the day was fine and all that could be desired. The flags were hoist, which hewed to the children's delight, that he event was to take place. At 10 o'clock the children gathered in the school room from where they marched in procession to the church; the boys bearing flags and banners; the girls flowers. A short service was held at St. Peter's Church by the incumbent, Rev. E. K. H. Caldwell, who gave them a brief address on "Sabbath-keeping," which the children paid deep attention. Immediately after the service the children paraded to the selected field where an enjoyable evening was spent by all. Many interesting competitions took place, for which the children received many and useful prizes; after which the children were gathered and tea served. After eating a hearty meal they spent the remainder of the evening in various games. In the meantime tea was served by the teachers to the older folk, and all who entered the field did not leave until having a part of the refreshments. This was kept up until the sun disappeared and darkness made its appearance. The children then made their way to their homes very tired and quite satisfied after their day's sport. The L. O. A. men gave a dance in their hall to the young men and women, and thus ended the picnic for this season.

Another Schooner Wrecked at Cranberry Head.

Through an error of judgment the little schooner Nyanza, owned by three brothers named Buffett of Rose Blanche, Nfld., and commanded by one of them is a total wreck at Big Pond, quite near the place where the steamer Beatrice went ashore a couple of years ago. The Nyanza was loaded with a cargo of twenty-five tons of coal from the Mackay mine, and was bound from the home port. About midnight Monday when rounding Cranberry Head the captain mistook the land, and the little craft was soon high and dry. The Douglas H. Thomas took a pull at her last night, but only succeeded in pulling out her stern post. The loss will be complete, there being no insurance on either vessel or cargo. The schooner was recently purchased by the Buffetts for $1,000.—Sydney Herald, Sept. 7.

Brockton, Aug. 31. — For the first time in 25 years Mrs. George Oliver, of St. John's, Newfoundland, has met her sister, Mrs. Edward Farrell, at the home of the latter, 25 Banks St. So long had the sisters been apart that Mrs. Farrell failed to recognize her sister, and the recognition was only brought about when little 14-year-old Katherine Farrell, the namesake of Mrs. Oliver, remarked to her mother, "Mamma, this must be my aunt, she looks so much like you."

At 9.28 Saturday night an alarm of fire was turned in from box 226, bringing the Central and Western firemen to the residence of Mr. Jno. Noseworthy, Carter's Hill. No damage was done and the "fire out" signal rang at 9.30.

Many new waist models are worked out in chiffon, either of the plain variety, mounted over underbodies of printed satin in Persian designs, or made over plain colored satins and finished with white lace yoke and sleeves.

Striped and checked materials are very popular just now, and they make very charming tailor-made suits. The stripes or checks are either close or widely separated, and in some cases they are used in combination with plain material.

Rather effective and equally unusual is the gown of two-toned silk veiled with chiffon or other shimmering material. The combination is intensified if the underdress is itself trimmed with handwork or done in the Persian colors of metallic threads.

The beauty of the wall silks indicate that they will have greater vogue than ever. Satin liberty, messaline, satin crepe and crepe de Chine are foremost because of their substantial quality and the artistic effects that are wrought by their supple texture.

Scant fullness characterizes the skirts of afternoon gowns when they are made of soft thin materials, such as crepe de Chine, messaline and similar fabrics. When they have slight gathers at the waistline they are very carefully arranged so that no thickness of the figure results.

Jerseys of every description are the order of the day, and some of the coats are the smartest, and most charming things; armed with these light-weight suits are quite practical. A knitted cap "to match" completes a useful and yet becoming outfit. Gray, white or blue are first choices.

Rough surfaced cloth is very strong white or blue are first choices.

The Ferment in India.

1. As Seen by the "Times."
2. As Seen by the Indians.

II.—THE INDIANS' CASE—THE FACTS AND ARGUMENTS BEHIND THE INDIAN NATIONALIST MOVEMENT.

(Concluded.)

Fighting India's Cotton Trade.

It was the absolute duty of a Government, attentive and interested in the country, to prevent the ruin of the old industries, or to aid the birth of new ones, and, in short, to defend the country against the lust of foreign exploiters. But the Government of India does not take the requisite interest in the country, while the great manufacturers exercise a pressure without counterpoise in London. When in place of the hand-workers the spinning mills commenced to raise their heads in Bombay, threatening to compete with British products, the manufacturers began a campaign in London, sent a deputation to wait upon the late Lord Salisbury, the then Secretary of State for India, and succeeded in getting abolished the slight tariff of 10 per cent. ad valorem on cotton piece goods.

"This was done in the name of free trade, for India is the country which has been applied to her, or rather against her, free-trade principles in all their rigour in anima vili. And when to balance the budget deficit they were obliged to reimpose an insignificant tax of 21 per cent. on all merchandise imported into the country, Lancashire obtained in 1896, in the name of free trade, the imposition of a similar tax of 3½ per cent. on all cotton piece goods manufactured and sold in the country itself.

Our Indian Education Policy.

"The same industrial policy which forced free trade on India had at the same time also given her secondary and superior education. The Indian University is the work of Dalhousie, and it is from that institution beyond everything that the India of to-day is born. Macaulay decided to offer to the middle and the higher classes in India the classical English education of Oxford and Cambridge. To the Hindus, whose classical language is the Sanskrit, they teach English as the first language, and Latin, Greek, or the French of the Middle Ages as the second language; to the Indians smitten with metaphysics they explain the philosophy of Locke and Mill; submissive, respectful Indians learn by heart the passionate

Badly Hurt In Threshing

Blood poison set in—Great suffering
Cure effected by DR. A. W. CHASE'S OINTMENT
Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., writes:—"I feel like shouting the praises of Dr. Chase's Ointment. While threshing grain, my son got badly hurt. One of the men who was pitching sheaves, missed the sheaf and ran the prongs of the fork into my son's leg. He did not take much notice of it and in a day or two it got sore and very itchy and blood poison set in. We did everything for it but it would heal one place and break out at another and kept on this way for three months. "Finally I thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment and in a week's time we noticed a wonderful change. By the use of three boxes he was completely cured and the wounds healed up. There has not been a sign of a spot on him since." Wherever there is itching or irritation of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can apply Dr. Chase's Ointment with every assurance that the results will be prompt and satisfactory. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. harangues of Milton and Burke against despotism. "With that stupefaction did they not read the history of a nation which has beheaded a king, dethroned several, and imposed its terms on others! This education purely literary and theoretic, this disconcerting, dissolvent, and revolutionary education, they give them—don't forget, to those Asiatics, used, by the traditions of their country, their caste, and their family, to passive obedience, to respectful submission, and to religious adoration, and, most of all, to the Asiatics whom they wished to continue in their sentiments of total repose.

"Suppose that to young men trained and brought up in such principles, to young men who have received the education of a mandarin, and who are therefore fit to become only officials, and suppose that they refuse to admit these young men to high public offices to which they believe they have a right, and that they severely restrict them to subordinate offices? There you have all the conditions necessary to make the word of Lord Cromer become true—and there is every chance of the ruin of the soil and the industry, for the propaganda of the embittered journalists and the agitators in despair to echo in long reverberations among the populations of the country districts and the towns.

Causes of Revolt.

"For fortifying and propagating the National movement, the viceroyalty of Lord Curzon, and the long echoes, in all Asia, of the Japanese victories in Manchuria, these two causes, I say, have done more than the efforts of the agitators. At all events, the above two events have seconded the efforts of the agitators in the nick of time.

"The maladroit division of Bengal into two provinces on Oct. 16, 1905, let loose the tempest. The date of the partition of Bengal will ever remain a memorable one in the history of modern India. It was a deep, penetrating wound to the patriotic sentiment, which they had never believed to be so much alive; and a unique occasion was soon seized to group together and organise all the rencours which ran, all the distrusts which spied, and all the discontents which slept in the popular heart. Before, parliamentary agitation touched only the Europeanised elite; now old-fashioned Hindus, privileged Brahmans, merchants, landlords, villagers, and coolies, and even rajahs protested almost unanimously.

The Swadeshi Protest.

"The boycott of British merchandise and the preference given to indigenous products is what they call Swadeshim. One hundred and sixty-seven meetings, held in less than fifteen days and at which assisted from 600,000 to 700,000 persons, proclaimed the boycott. In most parts of India people followed the lead of Bengal. And they even saw a Hindu merchant in a paroxysm of enthusiasm, himself apply the fire to his stock of merchandise valued at more than 100,000 rupees.

"If the clerks, the employees of the Post Office and of the railways, the domestic servants, and the police, if all crossed their arms with a complete accord, what would become of the British bureaucracy?

Lord Morley's Reforms.

"One does not carry defiance of the most profound sentiments of the people one governs without punishment for a long time. The Radical John Morley, Secretary of State for India, now become a viscount and a peer, has so well understood this that he has decided to conciliate loyal and moderate opinion by the grant of large constitutional reforms. "Stupid contumely is no form of government. India will not yet have the parliament which her National Congress demands, but she has forced her admission to the Legislative and Executive Councils, and the bureaucracy must henceforth loosen its mouth to answer embarrassing questions."

A Grave Crisis.

"The present crisis is the gravest that India has experienced since the sepy rising of 1857. The Sikhs have not budged this time. The unrest has remained exclusively civilian. The revolt of 1857 was only a rising of soldiers, without any echo in the country, while to-day Indian opinion asserts itself and makes a stand, united, conscious, solid, and all the regions of the vast peninsula, all the classes of society, Brahmans, low castes, rich zemindars, sayasias, and even ladies—all the races hold their hands and contend, shoulder to shoulder, against the British foreigner encamped in their dear old Hindustan."

"If the British power does not succeed in bringing together the rulers and the ruled in cordial co-operation; if it continues to drain the miserable savings of the rayat for the benefit of British stockholders and manufacturers, if it does not give the Indian primary education, and above all practical, professional, and technical education, which the people need for exploring and exploiting the resources of their country; and lastly, if they are persuaded that the 'native' is resolved to be no longer a beast of burden, or a tool which they can use and then throw away, then the British domination will be very fragile. The tall oak does not see the anthill whose denizens slowly nibble away at its roots.

Renewals of Humanity in Asia.

"Others will say: But are these remedies tardy? India and Asia have much advanced and in too good a road to think of stopping. The vast movement of nationalities could not extend itself to the course of the century. I do not know, but I think that one who lives may see in the transformed Asia curious spectacles, and, in fact, renewals of humanity."

"The Editor of the Hindustan Review contends that Lord Morley's reforms are a recognition that India has not been merely crying for the moon."

WHO RULES INDIA?

"Serious controversy has been excited in the Indian Press, by Lord Morley's claim, more and more asserted in fact and form, to exercise an unprecedented authority over Indian affairs," says the Observer. "The Pioneer argues with its usual ability that the Viceroy is not and cannot be merely the subordinate of the Secretary of State at home. More light will doubtless be thrown upon the legal position when Parliament meets. The practical position is plain enough. Recent tendencies, in our unhesitating judgment, are disastrous.

"Lord Morley does not know, and cannot know, India. Whitehall is hopelessly removed from the atmosphere of India, and the past experience of even the most expert of the Indian Secretary's advisers must always be a little behind the present facts. The authorities at home, instead of yielding to the very human temptation to magnify their office, should be vigilantly anxious to keep their interference at a minimum. They should act more in the spirit of a Board of Directors. It is the undoubted interest, both of this country and of India, that the authority and prestige of the Viceroy and his Council—recently overshadowed—should be exalted to the utmost." So far the Observer.

Mr. Montague, the Under-Secretary, who started this controversy, spoke in the Commons of "Lord Morley and his Council, working through the agency of Lord Minto, having accomplished much."

"The issue seems to be this—Is the Viceroy to have a free hand or to be responsible to Parliament?"

"Historicus" Gives Credit

TO SIR ROBERT BOND AND J. M. KENT, K.C.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Mr. Editor,—The telegram from Hon. D. Morison in to-day's Daily News giving a summary of the award assures us that the Colony has gained a great victory.

Under it we have won on essential points, and as a result the many complex questions that have arisen out of the claims of the Americans to fish in our great bays inside the headlands and within three miles of the shore is settled in our favour forever.

I notice that the Daily News congratulates only Sir Edward Morris, Mr. Morison and Sir Jas. Winter, and ignores the brilliant services of Sir Robert Bond and Mr. Kent. I have no desire to lessen any credit that is due the present Government or the counsel engaged by them in this case, but I submit that the common instincts of British fair play should prompt giving credit where credit is due.

A perusal of the correspondence published by the British Government will show that the Bond Ministry made a magnificent fight for the Colony's rights on this question. It was a heroic struggle for a small Colony like Newfoundland to fight against indifference in England, the treachery of the Tory section of the Newfoundland Press, and the arrogant claims of the Gloucester fishery interests. The name of Sir Robert Bond will forever be associated with this historic struggle. He fought the case inch by inch with the Colonial Office, and through his persistent energy and heroic determination we have compelled the leading jurists of the world to award that the little Colony had justice and right on her side.

The settlement of the French Shore question is also in a large measure due to his able despatches and the magnificent fight that he put up in England for his native land.

I do not mean to say that other men of all political parties cannot share some of the glories of these two great struggles, but I do contend that no man living to-day has done as much to force from England, France and America an honorable settlement of these problems as Sir Robert Bond, and when impartial men write the future history of this critical period there will be a high pedestal for the great fighter, whose energies and ability were always used in the defence of our fisheries and the maritime rights of his countrymen; and while not taking any credit from others I feel that to Mr. Kent is due a large measure of praise. He directed the legal case for the Colony in its earlier stages; he framed the terms of submission; he laid the foundations on which others built, and to his foresight and legal ability we owe a great deal of the success that has been gained at the Hague.

I thought, Mr. Editor, that these few thoughts may serve to direct public attention to the services of Sir R. Bond, Mr. Kent and the late Liberal Ministry. Yours faithfully, HISTORICUS.

A Record Salmon.

For several years I have been predicting that very large salmon would be taken in our rivers. My expectations were founded on reports from the River Wardens. Late every season they told of seeing monster fish ascending the streams. Sir Bryan and Lady Leighton rather poo-pooed my views, but before he left Sir Bryan wrote me: "I take back all I said. I am now of your opinion. I have seen tremendously big fish going up; quite forty pounders." The forty-one pounder taken at Little Codroy by Mr. Walker on the fly is so far the biggest fish yet caught. There have been others of 36, and one, I believe, of 38 lbs. In my Guide Book there is a picture of one taken in a net, 50 lbs. Salmon run to five feet in length and have been caught in Norway and Scotland up to a very heavy weight. A forty pounder is, however, a record, and I will do my best to publish it abroad and boom our splendid sporting rivers.
