Tale of Mystery

CHAPTER XVI.

The girl kissed him, and his resolute confidence had some little effect in easing her mind; but she answered: "It's no use. Nothing can do any good." Her tone was not so gloomy however, and her lover noticed this with pleasure as he went out of the room with a smile and a cheery look. But his face gloomed and he frowned in deep perplexity before he reached the bottom of the stairs, so that the housekeeper who saw him leave the house thought he and Dessie had quarrelled.

As he walked away he was very troubled and anxious at all that had passed, but quite clear as to his first step. He would see the Count de Montal, or whoever he was, and try to get from him a clue to the mystery.

He had first to go to his chambers. His uncle was no better, and Tom had felt great reluctance about staying in London the previous night. Telegrams were to be sent to him that day reporting progress, however, and his object now was to ascertain if any had arrived during his absence, and also to arrange for their being sent on to him at South Kensington.

He was completely baffled by the turn which things had taken. It was clear that in some way this de Montal had gained some strong and extraordinary influence over Dessie, but why should he use it to prevent their marriage. What on earth could it matter to that man whether Dessie was married or not? For a long time he could not get away from that thought, and by no ingenuity could he suggest an answer to the question.

Who was the man? There were several ways of attempting to find out a man's antecedents and past career; but in this case the task seemed the more difficult because he had absolutely nothing to go on. He knew no more about him than he called himself the Count de Montal, had picked up Mrs. Markham through George Vezey, and meant to marry her. Vezey himself knew nothing.

He was turning these considerations over and over in his thoughts all the way to South Kensington; and could get to no satisfactory conclusion.

He found Mrs. Markham and the Count together, and at once explained to the former that he wished to have a few minutes' conversation with her companion alone. The two men went at once to the library.

"I want to speak to you about Miss Merrion," said Tom, plunging right into the subject. "I have just had a long conversation with her, and I gather from it that you have some hold over her by which you have induced or compelled her to take a course which has plunged her into great unhappiness, and has caused her to break off her engagement to marry me."

"In what capacity do you come to me?" asked de Montal with a sneer. "Do you wish me to meddle with your love affairs?"

"No, I do not, sir," Tom sturdily answered. "And if you cannot speak civilly to me, I shall be glad if you will not speak at all."

The other man shrugged his shoulders as a reply.

"I ask you first what is the nature of this hold you have?"

"Has Miss Merrion told you I have any hold at all?"

"Miss Merrion has not told me a syllable of any kind. You have seemingly closed her lips with your threats. But I am speaking of what I can see for myself."

"Then you had better carry your observations farther, and find out the answers to your own questions."

"Do you deny that you have put this pressure upon her?"

"I neither admit nor deny anything. I simply decline to answer you. I presume Miss Merrion is able to decide for herself; and if she doesn't like you, how can I compel her to marry you?"

"I will put it in this way," said Tom, passing over the insult. "In consequence of what has passed between you and Miss Merrion this change has been brought about. Will you give me any clue to the reasons for it?"

"If I had any I wouldn't give it," was the curt and angry reply.

"Very good," said Tom, firmly. "I have come in the first instance straight to you. I have other steps to take; and you will not suppose that I intend to let this matter alone until I have plumbed it to the bottom. I am not without means of ascertaining all that lies behind, and my practice as a criminal barrister has taught me to be suspicious of any man who trades on the fears of women to compel them to be silent. You are doing that; and I will know the reason why. I warn you well in advance, and I hold a clue to your motives and your past which you have little anticipated would come my way."

"When you connect me with your criminal practice, you forget yourself, sir," said de Montal, with an assumption of greatly offended dignity, as he rose and walked toward the door.

"I will come with you," said Tom readily. "My first intention is to explain your grossly dishonourable conduct to Mrs. Markham, and I prefer greatly to do it to your face," and with that they returned to the room where they had left the widow.

When they entered the room, however, there was a surprise for them both, as Dessie Merrion was in close conversation with her friend.

CHAPTER XVII.
THE COUNT'S NEXT MOVE.

DESSIE Rose in some surprise not unmixed with alarm and agitation when the two men entered; and she directed a glance of somewhat eager appeal at Cheriton. But though he saw and understood the look, he answered it only by shaking his head and smiling to her.

"I am very glad you are here, Dessie, as what I have to say now concerns all who are present—you as well, Mrs. Markham, and I would much rather say it when we are all together." Mrs. Markham was a little perplexed by this opening, and looked toward her lover, who immediately went to her side and sat down, with a slight shrug of the shoulders and a lifting of the hands and eyebrows in to suggest his complete inability to understand Cheriton's actions.

"Is anything the matter, Mr. Cheriton?" asked the widow.

"Yes, a great deal is the matter and I want you to help to put things right. You know that Dessie—"

"Stop, Tom," interrupted the girl. "You know nothing can alter things. I have told you so. This can do no good."

"My dear girl, I am going my own way in this," he answered.

"Have you two quarrelled then?" cried Mrs. Markham, not without a suspicion of a smile. In her present frame of mind a lovers' quarrel was about the most interesting thing on earth.

"Quarrelled? No, certainly not," cried Cheriton, with a smile. "Dessie and I would never think of doing anything like that. But between us there has come some kind of barrier which I think you—and that gentleman—waving his hand towards the Count, who smiled, "can help to remove. That is, if you will."

"If we will. Of course we will, won't we, Goderich?" said Mrs. Markham, with ready good nature.

"I have already explained to Mr. Cheriton that I know nothing whatever about it, and can do nothing—much as I regret it." He added the last sentence as a sort of concession to Mrs. Markham's appeal.

"Whatever does it all mean?" she cried, looking in perplexity from one to the other. "Have you all got a lot of secrets?"

"It is the secret I wish you to help me to find," said Cheriton, an answer that puzzled Mrs. Markham more than ever.

"Why don't you ask Dessie?" she cried. "I don't understand."

"This shall all be made plain now, if you will give me one moment. On the day you were coming back—"

"Tom!" cried Dessie, with an interrupting protest.

"Dessie and I were just the same as usual," continued Cheriton, taking no notice of the interruption. "We had a cup of tea together and a chat, and both of us were looking forward to the time of our marriage. That evening she came here. You have already told me that she was in her usual spirits when she first met you, and that everything was just the same as usual. That evening she was introduced to this gentleman—"

"What do you mean?" cried Mrs. Markham, momentarily alarmed that Tom was going to say something which would show her own love affair to be in jeopardy. "What has that to do with—the Count de Montal?"

"That is precisely what I do not know; what I want to know. I want you to now ask M. de Montal whether he can give you any reason for this."

"Goderich!" asked Mrs. Markham, to them with a glance.

"You had better let Mr. Cheriton say all he wishes with Miss Merrion, though I am a comparative stranger. I shall of course be delighted—"

"I left London the day Dessie came here," said Tom Cheriton, "and then I got a letter from Dessie hinting that some kind of trouble was brewing; then another urging me to come back at once; and then a telegram and another letter couched in the same urgent terms. I came, of course, and as you know, Dessie was away; no one knew where or for what. I waited until to-day, and on going to her rooms this afternoon I found that gentleman here—"

"Goderich!" exclaimed Mrs. Markham, starting.

"There had obviously been a serious conversation between them, and one of the results was that Dessie met me in a condition of some hysterical emotion; said that all was at an end between us; that she could no longer give me any reason whatever; that she was bound to silence; but that the separation had nothing to do with any change in her feelings toward me. The man is the cause; and Tom pointed at the Count, who assumed the demeanour of a somewhat amused but quiet unconcerned spectator.

"There has been no other possible cause for this change in Dessie."

"Where you in Dessie's rooms?" asked Mrs. Markham of the Count, going straight to the one part which seemed to touch her personally, and

"I am very glad you are here, Dessie, as what I have to say now concerns all who are present—you as well, Mrs. Markham, and I would much rather say it when we are all together."

MIRACULOUS RESULTS IN DUNVEGAN, C.B.

GIN PILLS Brought Relief

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment from the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good or relieve my painful condition. My trouble was inflammation of Kidneys and Bladder."

I finally determined to go to the Victoria Hospital, Halifax, for treatment. Two days, however, before my intended departure, a neighbor called and happened to have a GIN PILL in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the hospital, I sent for a box of GIN PILLS with the result that I am a cured man. I recommend GIN PILLS to everyone suffering from Kidney Trouble."

"My dear child, if you will think a moment you will see that I could be nowhere else, if I wished to please you," answered the Count. "I knew your anxiety on Miss Merrion's account; I saw you were troubled; and it grieved me. When the telegram came from her I thought I would go and see that all was well with this eccentric young woman journalist. If not, and there was bad news of any kind, I should better know how to break it to you than anyone else in the world. At least, I thought so. This is the Wonderful New Flour that has made such a sensation throughout Western Canada. Made of highest grade Saskatchewan wheat, in the newest, best-equipped, largest mill on the prairies. Made with the determination to give users better flour-value, greater certainty of baking-success, fuller satisfaction with the final result, whether with biscuits, cake or bread. Housewives throughout all the West admit that Robin Hood Flour gives all this. Therefore, Madam, it is the flour for you.

This flour cannot be described in an advertisement. We use this paper merely to give the introduction—to say: "Let us make you acquainted with Robin Hood Flour."

It is the guaranteed flour. If you are not satisfied with it after two fair trials, ask your grocer for your money back. He will give it to you.

Add more water than usual when using Robin Hood Flour. Made of such hard, dry wheat, it absorbs more moisture—producing a larger, whiter loaf.

The difference between Robin Hood Flour and other flours you have to find out for yourself. That there is a difference every woman who now uses Robin Hood admits.

CHESLEY WOODS

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

It was an afternoon tea. "Who is that d d a distinguished looking woman over there?" I heard a stranger say.

"Why, that's Mrs. R.," was the answer. Now Mrs. R. is one of my closest neighbors, and I turned interest to look at her through the eyes of a stranger who saw her as distinguished looking.

And although I had lived too closely to her to quite realize that before, I admitted it now. Yes, she was rather distinguished looking. In the group of women who chatted over their afternoon tea cups one would have undoubtedly noticed her among the first.

But why? I studied her for some moments before I answered my own question and then made this decision: Chiefly because in that gathering of marcel waves and puffs and rats and coronet braids, Mrs. R.'s soft hair was parted and done very simply. She has an excellently shaped head and this simplicity showed off its fine contour admirably.

If you looked at the group of five of which she was one, I'm sure you would have seen her first, just because she had distinguished herself in this way.

She made me think somehow of one of those beautiful old houses set far back for the street in stately simplicity, that occasionally delight the eye that is wearied of the flaunting showiness of its much more expensive neighbours.

Now, the greatest desire of woman-kind is to be noticed—there's no blinking it, no glossing it. Acknowledged or unacknowledged, conscious or deeply subconscious, that is the purpose of all the silks and laces and musical training and high heeled pumps and gossamer stockings and knowledge of French and German, and puffs and jewels and artistic erudition with which we bedeck our minds and bodies—to win other men and women's notice.

And here is this woman winning attention in the simplest manner possible—by being natural when all the rest of the world elects to be artificial. Isn't she clever? And isn't she worth imitating? Quickly, of course, before the rank and file grows tired of artificially and decides to affect simplicity again, and simplicity consequently ceases to be a distinction.

Indeed, fashion notes inform us that such a move is likely to be made soon, so if you like my suggestion and decide you would like to find some simple, gracious, becoming method of wearing your hair, and thus easily winning the title of distinguished looking, now is your time. You'd better not wait a day, but pull off those puffs and rats this very day and try it.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol or habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y., take the advice received and be well.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Business is rushing at the factory of the Harbor Grace Boot and Shoe Co., and the hands are at work each night to catch up with the orders.

Quite a shower of snow, almost of the dimensions of a small snow storm was experienced here yesterday morning.

At a meeting of St. Andrew's congregation held in Victoria Hall last night, it was unanimously decided to request the present pastor, Rev. F. S. Coffin, to remain in charge for another year. Mr. Coffin has been here three years, and his friends, who are all our citizens who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance, will be glad to know that the rev. gentleman has intimated his intention of remaining.

At a recent meeting of the Agricultural Society Mr. John Bruntes was re-appointed Secretary. Mr. Bruntes is an untiring worker in the Society and spares himself no work in his effort to have all his duties done faithfully.

It is seldom our police officers get a chance to practice at the capture of a burglar, but such was Constable M. Grouchy's experience last night.

The constable, who was on night-watch, had just taken charge of the street for the night when he noticed a man boldly walk down Banerman Street and try the rear door of Strapp's pharmacy. Suspicion being aroused, the keen officer shadowed his man for a minute and finally saw him enter the premises by a small window nearby. Pressing a couple of civilians into the service he soon had the place well guarded, and on opening the door arrested a young man named George Perry, who has been before the court on several occasions lately. Another young man who was waiting for Perry at Harvey Street, junction of Banerman Street, was also run in as an accomplice to the attempted burglary. His name is Griffin. The latter was arrested by Constable Dwyer, who used the coat and cap of your pencil-pusher so as to disguise himself, and thus make sure of his escape. He was seen by the police before Judge Oke this morning. Constable Grouchy is to be congratulated on the clever way he set to work and also on the quickness with which he noticed something wrong. On several other occasions recently Constable Grouchy has shown much detective ability and is to be highly commended.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Methodist Church last night when Mr. John Kennedy, of Bear's Cove, led to the altar Miss Minnie Tetford, eldest daughter of Robert Tetford, of the firm of Tetford & Lee contractors. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. B. Dooly in the presence of a large congregation. The bride was attended by her sister, Beattie, and by Miss May Kennedy, sister of the groom. The bride was given away by her father, and Mr. Robert Tetford, jr., supported the groom. After the ceremony the party in a number of carriages drove to the residence of the bride's father, where supper was partaken of. We wish the young couple much happiness.

OTTAWA, May 18. In the Commons to-day replying to questions respecting the annexation of the Bahamas, Fielding said that the Government knew nothing of the matter beyond what had appeared in the press. He intimated that some enthusiastic citizens of Montreal were advertising the proposed scheme extensively. He thought it possible that Laurier would take up the matter with the Colonial Office.

BERLIN, May 18. The arbitration proposed draft which serves as the basis of the negotiations, which Secretary Knox, yesterday, submitted to the British and French Ambassadors at Washington, attracts but minor attention of the German press. The Tageblatt is the only paper that greets the proposition as a loyal attempt towards complete arbitration. This paper asks whether Germany was sounded with regard to acceptability of the tentative document by the German Government before it was submitted to the British and French Governments. Revisionist papers adopted an attitude unfriendly to the proposal.

RHEIMS, May 18. A monoplane, carrying Lieut. Du Bois and Pierre Bourneuf, fell from an altitude of 250 feet. Dupuis was killed, and Bourneuf fatally injured.

LONDON, To-Day. In the course of a statement on the Post Office Appropriations, the Postmaster General last night announced that arrangements to obtain control over the cablegram companies, saving the Government power to protest against excessive rates in cases of dispute and to refer the matter to arbitration, had been agreed to by the cable companies have agreed to reduce by 50 per cent. the rates on telegrams written in plain language, which will be liable to a delay not exceeding twenty-four hours.

LONDON, To-Day. Yesterday the Government was criticized by the Earl of Selborne in the House of Lords, for what he termed their "extraordinary supineness" in failing to safeguard the interests of the United Kingdom in the American-Canadian Reciprocity Agreement.

In a very remarkable speech he declared that when President Taft said the Annexation talk was all bosh, every one accepted the President's word. Nevertheless the agreement formed a precedent capable of very large extensions. It was the first time in the history of the Empire that one part of it had obtained better terms from a foreign country than the United Kingdom had, and the step between receiving and giving better terms was a short one. Lord Lucas, the Parliamentary Under Secretary for War, declared that Lord Selborne had greatly over-estimated the damage to the trade of the United Kingdom and the difficulties that might arise as a result of this Reciprocity Agreement. Canada was perfectly within her statutory rights, and the Government could not interfere. The United Kingdom could never offer Canada the same advantages as could the States. Canada with a great trade of this kind cannot fall to be more prosperous, and that Canada will afford better markets for our goods, and be able to do more trade with ourselves. Lord Haldane said it was the policy of the Government to give the people of Canada every facility for doing the best they could for themselves. Britain must give Canada a fair field for promoting her own prosperity in whatever way she thought best. We do not think it a good thing to attempt to stifle or influence the policy of our great Dominion in matters of trade. We are Free Traders and we intend to remain Free Traders.

In Dread of 'Something'

You can scarcely tell what it may be Hysteria, Insanity, Nervous Collapse.

You can only throw off this depression when the nerve cells are restored to health by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Your digestive system has failed to supply proper nourishment to the nerves and you are compelled to seek aid from other sources.

It will take some patience and persistent treatment, but there is no way by which you can so certainly restore health and vigor as by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The best time to restore the nervous system is long before such a critical condition is reached. Such symptoms as sleeplessness, headaches, nervous indigestion, muscular weakness, loss of energy, failure of memory and power of concentration, irritability and discouragement tell of a failure of the nervous system and warn you of the approach of serious trouble.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Received Shabby Treatment.

The "60 cent Government" have shown their regard for the poor man in the treatment meted out to Messrs. Chas. Runsey and W. Ring, who were stricken with small pox on the Newfoundland. These men after leaving the hospital asked for their clothes from the Government servants, who had charge of them, but could get no satisfaction from them. Their clothing was worth $40 to each, and both being poor men cannot afford to lose such an amount. They were kept running from pillar to post for two weeks, were then told that the clothes could not be found and were sent about their business without a cent as recompense. And this is the Government the personnel of which call themselves the People's Party. Runsey and Ring, like thousands of others, will soon get their revenge.

Mr. Munn's Letter.
Elsewhere in this issue appears a second letter from Mr. W. A. Munn, in which he does some tardy justice to Sir Robert Bond in reference to the Bond-Blaine and Bond-Hay Treaties and the strenuous fight against Gloucester. But what "the diplomatic policy of Sir Edward Morris" had to do in bringing these U. S. fishery matters to a crisis is not disclosed by Mr. Munn. His reference to Sir Edward Morris is somewhat enigmatic in view of the fact that the Submission to the Hague had been settled and signed before Sir Edward came into power.

We wonder whether our banking skippers and crews will share the view of Mr. Munn that an unlimited supply of bait, in Newfoundland, free gratis, would be no good to Gloucester bankers, should the American-Canadian arrangement be ratified. To us the view is novel, and will need more than Mr. Munn's ipse dixit to obtain for it acceptance. As to the supply of bait to Canadians, Mr. Munn would refuse to sell it to them and leave them to get it themselves. We doubt if such a policy is feasible. Mr. Munn would have a big contract in organizing and carrying out such a voluntary boycott of Canadian bait.

The possible loss in Porto Rico which is feared is comparatively small and does not seem commensurate with the loss which must follow from stimulating Gloucester banking into greater activity by giving them free bait and access to all our ports for ice and fishery supplies. In reference to pulpwood, it is well known that America needs pulpwood. The pulp and paper industries require a certain quantity from Canada, but they do not get enough. Mr. Pepper was sent here last December to learn all he could about the resources of Newfoundland in this respect. The Government could get a reciprocity agreement any time on the basis of free pulpwood. Secretary Knox only recently put out a feeler in this direction, making free export of pulpwood a sine qua non. But the policy of placing an embargo on pulpwood, according to Mr. W. D. Reid, who was by no means an admirer of the Bond Government, led to the establishment of the great industries at Grand Falls and Bishop Falls. We want more industries of this kind. Grand Falls was worth $200,000 last year to the revenue. Such industries mean much to the country in employment and wages. We want industries like these on the Terra Nova, at Grand Lake, in Fortune Bay and elsewhere. The reason is that paper is a much more valuable product to export than pulpwood.

Here is what Lord Northcliffe said on November 16, 1909, in an address to the Canadian Club at Montreal:—"It is a crying shame that Canada should receive $6 a cord for pulpwood, which is sent to the United States and made into paper, realizing for the latter in the neighbourhood of $40 a cord, thus building up huge manufacturing establishments in the United States at the expense of the Canadian people." Newfoundland should insist on retaining the benefit of this enhancement in value and build up paper factories here. There is a wide margin between $6 and $40 a cord, and Newfoundland should have the advantage of it.

Reported Watch Stolen
Skipper Jas. Walsh, of the boat Mary of Caplin Bay, had a watch stolen from his vest pocket on board the craft at Goodridge's wharf last night or early this morning. He went to sleep last night and this morning found that the watch had been taken from his trunk in the cabin and brought to the fore-cabin where the ticker was taken off the guard by some thief and he can get no trace of it. It was worth $20.00. He had intended to get a large sum of money at the bank yesterday and had had done so, would have that in the same trunk so that more than likely this also would have been taken.

POLICE COURT NEWS.—In the police court to-day two disorderlies one convicted 5 times and the other 11, were each fined $10 or 30 days. A third was fined $5 or 14 days. Two deserters from the S. S. Calm and fine. The S. S. Adventure passed in at 7 and S. S. Florizel west at 10 p.m. yesterday. Bar. 29.72; ther. 40.

GOING TO SCOTLAND.—By the Corinthian, Capt. Job Vine, who will be chief officer of the ship with Mr. S. Duder, 10 seamen, 10 firemen, leave here for Glasgow to bring out the new ship Stephano. A steward will also go along in the ship.

FARES FROM CAPE.—There is a very good sign of fish at Cape St. Mary's and last week Messrs. P. Tobin, P. McKee, M. Power and others in their boats arrived from there at Fox Hr. with 20 qts. each. They were fishing from Monday till Saturday. Herring bait is also plentiful.

HERRING AND SALMON.—Messrs. Grouchy and Churchill, of Portugal Cove, got 2 fine salmon to-day and sold them here for 20 cents per lb. There was too much to bring to the city, and the men would not take the fish from them.

MR. DRAYTON POORLY.—Mr. W. V. Drayton who was knocked out of his carriage by a street car yesterday is very poorly to-day and is in bed unable to move. His arms and shoulders are much swollen and he suffered intense pain last night. He had a narrow escape from being killed.

SEAMEN DESERT SHIP.—Monday two seamen of the s.s. Helsingborg deserted the vessel and warrants were sworn out for their arrest, but the men can't be found. They left their clothing after them and must have suffered a deal in the cold weather prevailing. It is believed they went to Bell Island.

A WELL BUILT SCHOONER.—The schr. Mary J. C. A. arrived here yesterday from Claitice Harbor, P.B. She is a vessel of 28 tons owned by Jas. Parsons, and was built was John Pitman for the owner. She is constructed of whitehazel and juniper, is a fine strong vessel and was built last winter. She will be used at the Cape St. Mary's fishery.

TWO FINE SCHOONERS.—Skipper Lyall Balsam arrived here yesterday from Heart's Ease, P.B., with a fine schooner, which was practically rebuilt the past winter. She measures 22 tons and will be measured and given a name to-morrow. She left Fox Hr. Bandon, yesterday morning went to Deer Cove, took 6000 lumber and was in St. John's before dark.

HANDLED MUCH REFUSE.—On Monday last, "clean-up day," 700 loads of refuse matter were carted off the streets to the sanitary dumps. The average daily on ordinary occasions is 80 loads, and some of it came from back places that had not been cleaned out for ten years or more. Since that day an army of boys have been in at the dumps ridding up old copper, brass, rubbers, bottles, &c., which they sell to dealers in the city. This we think should be stopped, for boys so acting may spread disease through the city.

Marine Notes.

SEVEN SCHOONERS IN DANGER.—There were seven schooners anchored in Bird Island Cove (Elliston) last Tuesday in danger of being driven ashore. "Beaver Flour" is the finest blend of the two best wheats Canada produces —Manitoba Spring wheat and Ontario Fall wheat. One provides the rich gluten that makes bone and muscle, the other gives lightness and whiteness to the bread and pastry. Beaver Flour makes more loaves to the barrel than any other flour on the market —loaves that are sweet, nutritious and light, and it also makes delicious biscuits, cakes and pies.

Reciprocity.

Editor Evening Telegram:
Sir,—You ask the question whether it would not be more advantageous for Newfoundland to have a similar treaty without the same terms being accorded to Canada.

Certainly you are right in that supposition and Sir Robert Bond showed his statesmanship when negotiating those famous Bond-Blaine and Bond-Hay Treaties.

Unfortunately these were rendered negative, first by the jealousy of Canada, for which Newfoundland has not yet forgiven her, and afterwards by a difference of opinion in the Senate of the U. S.

In the present proposition our Newfoundland Government, as far as we know, has not been offered the same terms that Canada has for a Reciprocity Treaty, and, therefore, unless we make a proposition to Washington we have to wait until they approach us. We can readily see that the Washington Government have changed their policy on fishery matters.

It was the strenuous policy of Sir Robert Bond in fighting Gloucester followed up by the diplomatic policy of Sir Edward Morris that has had its effect in bringing these U. S. fishery matters to a crisis.

Now instead of following up, and taking advantage of present circumstances, we are playing a waiting game, while we see Canada picking the plums. As Hon. John Harvey points out, all the advantages of the Port Rican trade, the Boneless Cod-fish trade and many other advantages go to Canada, unless we can get the same terms from the U. S. as they offer to their rivals in the fish trade.

Mr. Harvey is right in saying that our offer of free bait to Gloucester carries no weight to-day. The fishing interests of Gloucester have been kept alive for years by the protective tariff of the U. S. and the fostering judicial interpretation given by the courts to their fishing laws.

Both these proposals now cut away and the Gloucester fishing interests cannot survive, even if they have an unlimited supply of bait, free gratis. It is different with Nova Scotia, they have a large banking fleet, and as they will tell you in Halifax, "the lower provinces were never so prosperous as when they had free trade for fish with the United States."

If our politicians will only get ahead and secure the same terms of Reciprocity for Newfoundland as Canada is offered, we can easily let matters regarding Bait for the Lunenburg fleet adjust themselves.

But if Canada has this advantage over Newfoundland we must cut off their bait supply or else our rivals will endanger our stability. I do not mean with Mr. Harvey that we would have any great difficulty to enforce this policy here.

Let us refuse to sell our bait. There is no British law that can force a man to sell what he doesn't want to sell. The Canadians as British subjects can have access to our shores but if they catch the bait themselves and I believe they will have as much success as foreigners have had at the same operation.

We have abundant reasons for such a policy. It has been our policy for years to conserve our bait supply, and in that policy Canada has opposed us in every way, giving every facility to both the French and American fishing fleets, while we were fighting for our lives against bounty fed competition and unjust American aggression.

We have proof that Canadians who have bought our herrings and pledged their word to our Government that these herrings were to be used for food, only have gone and sold them for bait purposes contrary to their agreement and to our detriment.

The first law of Nature is self-protection, therefore it is our bounden duty to carry out that law to the best of our ability.

It is no small wonder that all Newfoundlanders are opposed to Confederation when we receive such treatment from Ottawa on questions that are vital to us.

It is not on fishery matters alone that we have to find fault with Ottawa. The "impudent official map issued, pushing our Labrador boundary line to the water's edge, shows the true inwardness of their feeling towards Newfoundland better than many letters could express.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I notice in your issue of the 17th, that you object to Newfoundland giving pulpwood to the U. S. in exchange for free entry of our fishery products. Give us your reason on that point? Surely you don't compare Newfoundland with an inland province like Ontario? The American pulp mills are situated near the boundary line between Canada and the United States where a large supply could be obtained cheaply. But if they want to get a supply from Newfoundland or our dependency, Labrador, they have first to get our people to cut the pulp wood in our interior or in the far north, then pay for transportation to the nearest harbour. They must pay a steamer to freight the wood to New York or Boston, and then tranship it 1,500 miles inland by rail to their mills.

Is there any person with a grain of sense ready to believe that the U. S. pulp mills can afford to pay all these charges on a bulky article like pulpwood. Even if they could afford to pay such charges, the U. S. capitalists who wish to invest their money here, business would quickly realize that it would be money in their pockets to manufacture the Newfoundland or Labrador pulpwood into paper on this spot, as Harnsworth does to-day, and then ship the manufactured article.

I believe it is to our advantage in every way to offer free pulpwood, more especially if we are to gain a special advantage on our great staple the codfishery.

Yours truly,
W. A. MUNN.

S. S. Home From North IN MEMORIAM.

The S. S. Home, Capt. Jacob Kean, returned from North just before noon on Monday. Capt. Kean reports skirts of ice all over the Straits. He went north inside of the ice and succeeded in reaching Flower's Cove, Saturday, where he found the ice so heavily packed that it was impossible to cross to the Labrador side. On Friday the Home met with W. S. W. gale and thick fog. She was unable to call at Bartlett's Harbor owing to a heavy jam of ice. A strip of ice from 1 1/2 to 2 miles wide extended on Sunday from Point Riche to the Port land Hill and off shore up to Cow Head. Capt. Kean reports thousands of seals on this strip of ice. He also reports Capt. Gilliam, of Channel, just north of Daniel's Harbor hunting seals, and he thinks there is a good chance of him getting a haul. The Home brought several passengers from Bonnie Bay.—Western Star.

Concerns Taxpayers.

Now that the "Observation Hospital," so-called, which was built to put the non-vaccinated men of the Newfoundland in is being torn down, people are asking the question what is being done with the furniture and fittings which it contains and the material whereof it is built. The taxpayers have a right to know where this $10,000 worth of their hard-earned money is going, and they should know. Rumour already has it that party favourites are receiving a share of this either gratis or at a bargain. There should be no favour in this matter, and if the material, furnishings, etc., are to be disposed of they should be sold openly and at public auction. The action of the Government in the premises will be closely watched.

Election of Officers.

The L. S. P. U. held a meeting last night when the officers for the year were elected as follows:—President, James J. McGrath; Vice-President, A. Walsh; 1st Vice-President, W. Howells; 2nd Vice-President, R. Stamp; Treasurer, M. A. Halloran; Asst. Treasurer, S. Rogers; Fin. Secretary, T. J. Allan; Recording Secretary, S. Thistle; Grand Marshal, W. O'Toole.

Tim Shannahan

ON MAKING A SHORT CUT TO HEAVEN IN THE LAST LAP IN THE RACE OF LIFE.

"Some men," says Delaney, "think they're getting very religious when in reality they're getting old and stiff. You'll meet men," he says, "who get a good slow go to church step on when they get about sixty-two years old, and they put on a get to heaven look that's simply too funny for anything. Up to about fifty-eight they'd 'chisel' you out of a fish ha'penny, and they'd give the deaf ear to the cry of the poor, but when they get darty pains of rheumatism under the shoulder blade, and when they have to put spectacles to their eyes, and when they get a cent from their bulging purses, they give to a poor woman, the thought strikes them that 'tis about time to make a short cut for a seat in heaven.'"

Delaney does not believe in anything of this kind of religious man, and says if that individual could live to be a hundred and fifty he wouldn't get religiously struck, till he was a hundred and forty years old. We have a big number of religious old men in this town, he says, who are religious simply because they're getting old, and nothing else. These people, Delaney says, are going to find that it is not all sunshine making short cuts to heaven. There's a pretty accurate account kept up there, and walking nice and slow to church with well polished boots, and their whiskers nicely groomed, and not going to accomplish half as much as if they gave a poor fellow a help along in their younger days. Leaving all your spontidities to charity on your death bed, because 'tis no sort which needs no admiring, while you're young and sprightly. 'Twill count a great deal more than repentance in your gony age."

TIM SHANNAHAN.

Littledale Garden Party

This year the Littledale Garden Party will be held at Smithville, where there will be ample room for the Sports which the Star of the Sea Athletic Committee and some other gentlemen are organizing. Mr. J. Finlay, the popular sportsman and chairman of the Star Committee, will leave nothing undone to make the Sports a success. Smithville is a resort which needs no description. It is so well known. Medals and a cup will be competed for in the round of sports which include football, five, tug war, and probably a marathon.

Skin Like Velvet.

Is greatly to be desired and is very attractive. There is one sure way of making your skin like velvet, and that is by using Snow Cream. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and the general verdict is "it makes your skin like velvet." W. T. COURTENAY, the Prescription Pharmacy, corner Duckworth and Prescott Streets, sells the Cream at 25c. per bot.—tf.

Knocked Overboard.

A telegram was received from Harbor Breton yesterday afternoon by Mr. Hutchings saying that George Keating, of Sagona, had been knocked overboard by the mainboom of his boat there yesterday morning, coming from the fishing grounds, and was drowned. The body was not recovered.

NORTHERN FISHERY NOTES.—Good catches of herring were to-day made on the Humber. The same applies to Fogo, and at Nipper's Hr. fishermen took from 50 to 100 barrels of herring about the latter part of there was a fair sign of codfish in traps.

Mr. Drayton Injured.

Mr. W. V. Drayton, the well-known piano and organ dealer of this city, was thrown out of his carriage on Bank Square at 1 p.m. yesterday and severely shaken up. His right arm and shoulder are badly bruised but no bones are broken. Mr. Drayton was near the side of the street car track leaning over the carriage speaking to Mr. Squires, the lawyer, when the street car going west struck his hind wheel and threw him out on the street. He was taken into his store by friends who were passing. Dr. Tait was called and after examining the wounds said no bones were broken. Mr. Drayton, we trust, will be all right in a day or two.

From Butte City.

Mr. John Wall, of Harbor Main, arrived here by Monday's express from Butte City, Montana, where he has resided for the past 13 years. He has been employed with a large mining concern there and did very well. He returns after spending a holiday at his home. He says there are many Newfoundlanders at Butte City and other parts of the State, mostly working as miners, and all receive big wages. He was at Wallace and other places in Idaho also, where he met several of our people, who are making good. Mr. Wall now intends to go to Cobalt, where he believes as a practical miner he will do well.

WILL LOAD PULP.—The s.s. Marino is expected at Botwood next week to load pulp for the A. N. D. Co. The s.s. Tritonia sailed for England with a load a few days ago, and the s.s. Castalia is also expected from London to take a load during this month. The s.s. Marino is now at Sydney taking a load of coal for Botwood, having come from Glasgow. She is of the Donaldson Line.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

Put seven dollars ($7) in the bank as soon as you can do it; prepare for seasons lean and lank, and you will never rue it. I used to blow my wages in as fast as I could earn them; whenever I had some cents of tin, I made a rush to burn them. I bought them down all kinds of raiment gay, and shining ties and collars; and then one happy, fateful day, I picked seven dollars ($7). I put those roubles down in brim—an impulse led me to. And now just take this hunch of mine: Go thou likewise and do it. Seven dollars would soon called for more, and oftentimes I had twenty, each week I put in three or four and soon I'll roll in plenty. Since I began this banking graft my self respect increases; I feel that I'm as big as Taft, and just as slick as grease is. I am the young man unafraid, the youth with glad kyoodle; the whole town wants to get my trade, because I have the boodle. I do not fear the rainy day whereon the broke man hollers; so take my plan—go right away and salt down seven dollars ($7).

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach trouble. It can be obtained at

MOLASSINE MEAL, FOR HORSES.

"Holds the field."
Keeps them in good health.
Prevents and cures coughs, colic, diarrhoea and other complaints.
Prevents and eradicates worms.
Aids the digestion, thereby increasing the value of other feeds as well.
Keeps their skins and coats in fine condition.

IT IS IMPORTANT THAT

- (1.) Molassine Meal, when it is given, should take the place of an equal weight of oats or other feeding stuff, and not be given in addition to the ordinary allowance.
- (2.) A portion of Molassine Meal should be given in every feed all the year round; not only as a pick-me-up when the animal is out of condition. It is not a condiment, but an economical food of great feeding value.

FEEDING DIRECTIONS.

Substitute from 2 to 4 lbs. daily of Molassine Meal for the same quantity of ordinary food and mix thoroughly therewith.
