A SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE VOLUNTEERS.—We understand that some of the ladies in town have taken the matter in hand for getting up a social entertainment to our gallant volunteers, and that the same will take place on Tuesday, either in the Town Hall or Drill Shed, as may be agreed upon. That's right, ladies. We have never doubted your loyalty to the cause, and to these brave fellows who daily parade our streets, and who have lost their precious time and money for the protection of our lives and our homes.

GRAND MILITARY CONCERT.—On Tuesday afternoon there will be a review of the 30th Battalion, and the same evening there will be a grand military concert in the Drill Shed, in which the Battalion Band and several talented amateurs from Hamilton and Guelph will take part. A splendid programme has been prepared. We feel sure the Concert will be well patronized. This is the first time the Band has appealed to the public, and as the proceeds will be applied to the Band fund, we trust that the amount realized will serve to show our appreciation of its excellence.

SCHOOL PIC-NIC.—The children attending Messrs. Grafty and Martin's schools held a picnic yesterday in Mr. Rickaby's grounds, previous to the annual summer holidays. The young folks, numbering 150, marched to the grounds with flags flying. They were soon engaged with the swings, base ball, and other amusements provided for them. A plentiful supply of refreshments was served to all at five o'clock, and during the afternoon lemonade and sweet-meats were also distributed. The young folks agreeably diversified the amusements by singing a number of pieces which they had learned at school. Racing, leaping and other games concluded the day's amusements, and the happy party broke up at an early hour in the evening.

THE CHEAP PRESS IN ENGLAND.—The London Daily News has at last made its long meditated change of price and appears as a penny sheet. So far as the experiment can be tested in a week it is a great success. Its circulation increased so rapidly that the publishing office could not supply the demand. In appearance the paper is but little changed, except that it is no longer printed on the thick white paper which the three penny journals alone can afford. It stops halfway between that and the dingy thin blue sheet of the Standard and Telegraph, retaining still a handsome and readable page. Its price being once cut down we can see no reason why the News should not rival the circulation of the Telegraph except that it is too good a paper.

Grammar School Reunion.

The third annual Reunion of the Guelph Grammar School was held in the Town Hall last night. The attendance was small and far below what the character of the entertainment merited, for of the Reunions held by the pupils of this school the one last night was in many respects the best, whether we regard the talent of the performers or the excellence and variety of the programme. Mr. Geo. Pirie presided. The programme in the first part was a glee—"Life's a Bumper," by Messrs. Brown, Wheatley and Warburton; recitation—"The Diver," by Mr. J. Black; dialogue—"Courtship under difficulties," H. Griffin, H. McDonald, and J. Wilkie; song, "Janet's Choice," Mrs. Cuthbert; declamation, "Red Cross of England," Master Stevenson; dialogue "Classic and Blackletter," T. Goldie and E. Stevenson; song, "God bless us all," Mr. Brown and chorus; recitation, "Malt," A. Walker; dialogue, "Student and Deacon," H. McDonald and J. Wilkie; duet, "England's Quadrilles," Misses Pike and Goefellow; recitation—an original poem addressed to the Volunteers, G. H. Porter; glee, "Soldiers Love," Messrs. Brown, Walker, Wheatley and Warburton. The recitations and dialogues were given with much spirit by the young men, and all of them—especially the humorous pieces, were greatly applauded. The original poem composed and recited by Mr. Porter, is an able production, and was greeted with warm applause. The glees, solos, &c., were also well sung and well received.

The second part opened with the glee, "When Winds Whistle Cold," by Messrs. Brown, Walker and Wheatley. This was followed by a recitation, "A Texan Eulogium," by T. Goldie. Masters McKenzie, Walker and Perry came next with a dialogue, "Pedagogue and Pupils," which was followed by a declamatory piece, "Parrhasius," recited by W. Armstrong. Mr. T. H. Taylor sang "Man the Life Boat," which was so well sung and so heartily encored that he was constrained to come out and give "Meet me in the Lane." The remaining pieces in the programme were "The Forest Anthem," by E. Stevenson; song by Mrs. Cuthbert; dialogue, "Hob and Nob," T. Goldie and E. Stevenson; recitation, "The Kiss in School," J. Wilkie; dialogue, "Scraping an Acquaintance," H. Griffin and J. Wilkie; glee, "The Bark before the Gale," Messrs. Brown, Wheatley and Walker; which were all remarkably well done. Several of the pupils possess first-class elocutionary powers, which combined with special training, render them very successful when they appear on the platform. We trust that the next Reunion will be better attended, and that greater encouragement will be held out to the pupils to persevere in their studies.

THE GUELPH POLICE COURT.

Before T. W. Saunders, Esq., Police Magistrate
Saturday, 27th June.—Mary Keleher, a little girl, was charged this morning with having stolen from Robert Burns, on the 6th inst., a purse containing $2.50 cent pieces.—$2.50 was sent to goal for a month.

Jerry Connor was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and fined $5 and costs, or 21 days. Jerry had to accept the days.

CHURCH PARADE.—We are requested to state that the church parade of the Battalion will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock.

BATTALION INSPECTION.—Col. Taylor, Deputy-Adjutant General will be down from London on Monday morning by the 10 o'clock train, and will immediately after inspect the Wellington Battalion.

TAKEN ILL.—While on parade this a. m., Major Clarke, from the heat and fatigue, fainted and fell off his horse. Assistance was at hand in a moment, and he was taken up and brought into town in a buggy. We are glad to hear that he is all right again.

NO SABBATH SCHOOL.—We have been requested to intimate that in consequence of the Battalion assembling for worship in Knox Church at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, there will be no meeting of the Sabbath School. Parents whose children have been attending will please take notice.

THE 30TH BATTALION.—A special despatch to the Globe from Guelph thus speaks of the 30th Battalion: "It presents a most soldier-like appearance on parade, and is headed in its marches by one of the first volunteer bands in the Dominion. The men are remarkably fine in physique, and considering the fact that this is a rural battalion, well up in drill. They look like fighting men every inch of them and as if they could stand the fatigues of a campaign. Wellington will sustain its martial name by turning out such a gallant body of the British material."

BASE BALL.—A challenge from the Maple Leaf Base Ball Club of Guelph has been given to the Young Canadians to play for the Champion Silver Ball, which has been accepted—game to be played on the agricultural show ground here on Tuesday the 7th of July next. We are glad that the old champions are going in to practice and we feel confident that when the time comes they will present as bold a front and be as successful as in the days of old.

The Richmond Murder.

On Tuesday evening the village of Richmond, in the county of Carleton, was thrown into great excitement, by the murder of Mr. George Brownlee, a respectable young man, a farmer in the neighbourhood, and a member of the volunteer force. The particulars of the melancholy event, as we have been able to gather them, are these:
A man named Robert Hamilton, a shoemaker in the village, and also bailiff, who has a large family some of them grown up, had a son a member of the Volunteer Company, who, it is said, refused to turn out until a constable was sent after him. Hamilton was indignant at this and showed vengeance. He appeared dissatisfied that his son should have joined the volunteers and had been drinking pretty freely in the evening. Some reports says that an old grudge existed between him and Brownlee, but that as it may, a short time after Hamilton left Riley's on Tuesday night, a pistol shot was heard, and soon after the body of Brownlee was found on the road. An alarm was instantly raised and conjecture at once pointed to Hamilton. A party immediately afterwards organized, who surrounded Hamilton's house and called upon him to get up; he, in the meantime, having gone to bed. When charged with having shot Brownlee, he is reported to have said, "Yes, and I'll shoot him again." It is also reported that Hamilton was heard to say immediately after the shot was fired, "There's one of the boys gone."

Hamilton alleges that Brownlee and he had a quarrel; that Brownlee had knocked him down, and was kicking him when he got up and shot him; but other parties who were near the scene of the tragedy maintain that it is impossible that any row between them could have taken place, as no noise was heard preceding the discharge of the pistol shot. Brownlee was a young man, of about twenty-eight years of age, and had been married about a year. He was very much respected in the neighbourhood. Hamilton is a man verging on fifty, and has not been heretofore very popular with his neighbours. An inquest was held on Brownlee's body at Richmond yesterday, and Hamilton was committed on the coroner's warrant.—Ottawa Times.

Another Life Insurance Murder.

The trial of one of the most revolting cases of murder recorded in the annals of criminal jurisprudence was concluded last week in the Niagara (N.Y.) Court of Oyer and Terminer, by the conviction of one Charles Mason or (Charles Tucker), who is sentenced to be hanged for killing his wife by slow poisoning. Mason is about 27 years of age. His wife was his senior by a few months. The couple were married about three years ago, in Boston, where they remained till the Winter of 1867, when they moved to Troy. In March of that year they moved to Rochester, whence they went to Buffalo in July. About this time he made application at the office of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company for a policy of $5,000 upon the joint lives of himself and wife, payable to the survivor on the death of either. The application on behalf of his wife was signed by Mason, and the certificate of the examining physician shows that she was in a good physical condition and weighing 150 pounds. In the middle of July, Mason went to Lockport, and there opened an office for the sale of certain works by subscription, and on his return to his boarding-house at Buffalo, a few weeks subsequently, his wife was taken with frequent and severe paroxysms of vomiting, accompanied by diarrhoea, which prevented her from leaving her room. The attending physicians were informed by Mason that the illness was caused by pregnancy, and they treated her accordingly. On Aug. 14, although unable to walk or sit up, she was removed from her comfortable boarding-house and taken to Lockport, where she was placed in a third-story attic room, which was very warm and had little ventilation. Here, for two days, she had no attendant but Mason, and was afterwards chiefly under the care of his sister, until her death, which occurred on Sept. 18th. On her arrival at Lockport a homeopathic physician was called in, and he was told the old story of pregnancy, Mason saying that it was the worst case of gestation he had probably ever seen. The physician perceiving in the vomiting manifestations of arsenical action, prescribed arsenicum in the third decimal alternative, one drop of which contains 1-1,000th of a grain of arsenic. During the ensuing three weeks the woman took 200 granules of arsenicum, put up in the proportion of 1-1,000,000th of a grain of arsenic to the granule. A second physician was called in, and he was told an improbable story of supposed intimacy between Mason's sister and the former physician, and informed that he might have the case if he would procure an abortion. A few days before her death Mrs. Mason seemed much improved, and was able to be up. This was of short duration, for the symptoms returned with increased violence, and she soon succumbed, and was buried the day after her death, September 19. After waiting three months, Mason went to Rochester, and called on the agent of the insurance company. The agent lost no time to inform the District Attorney, who ordered the disinterment. In January last the remains, having been disinterred, were found to be in a remarkable state of preservation. An analysis of the stomach and liver revealed considerable arsenic, and established the cause of death. It was proved that the quantity prescribed by the physician did not exceed 63-1,000 of a grain. It was also shown that the husband only could have any motive for taking the woman's life. Further investigation revealed the fact that in May or June he had been very intimate with one Nellie Williams; that on the day after the burial he had told her mother that he had nothing to do but to enjoy himself and make her daughter happy. The second day after the burial Mason received from one of the physicians a sworn affidavit of the pretended cause of his wife's death, on his representation that he wanted to send it to the members of his wife's family. This was sent to the insurance company. On the trial, every link in the chain of evidence was found perfect, and Mason was sentenced to be executed on the 6th of August.

The Melbourne parliament has made it penal to refuse to drink the Queen's health, and to discuss the situation of the Empire in the Consistory at the same time.

Fruit Growers Association of Ontario.

We learn from the Hamilton Times that this Association have completed their preparations for a show of fruit at the Provincial Exhibition, and have requested the Board of Agriculture to appoint six judges for fruit, the following gentlemen being nominated: W. Holton, R. N. Ball, Rev. R. Burnet, Chas. Arnold, George Leslie and D. W. Beadle. An honorary medal will be awarded to the originator of any new kind of fruit, which shall have been tested according to the regulations prescribed for ascertaining the merits of such fruit. Any person competing for the honorary medal, shall place at the disposal of the Directors one dozen plants, or, in the case of apples or pears, one dozen scions, of the variety to be tested, which shall be placed under their direction in different localities, with the understanding that the parties so receiving them shall not disseminate the new variety. Any member wishing to exhibit a new fruit on his own grounds, is required to notify the Secretary of his desire, in time to enable the Directors to appoint a committee to visit his grounds and examine and report thereon to the Directors; and any person desiring to receive such a visit shall, in his request to the Secretary, state the kind of fruit he wishes to have examined, its origin, and the points of excellence. The Association offers a discretionary prize of $40 for the best essay on the apple and its cultivation, as applicable to the Province of Ontario. The essay is not to exceed eight printed pages, octavo, to be forwarded to the Secretary of the Association, D. W. Beadle, St. Catharines, on or before the 1st of September next—the essay to bear a motto, accompanied with a sealed note containing the name of the author, upon which note the same motto shall be endorsed. The Association hold themselves at the disposal of the Board of Agriculture to assist them with a committee of arrangement and classification of fruit during the ensuing exhibition at Hamilton. The annual meeting of the Association will be held in the city of Hamilton, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of September, at 7 o'clock, p.m., at the Court House. Among others are Rev. W. F. Clarke, Geo. Murton and David Allan.

HEAVY PENALTIES.—We presume there is not a man of the Battalion at present assembled here who entertains a thought of shirking his duty or absenting himself from drill; but if there be it would be well for him to remember that there has recently been promulgated a Militia Order which authorizes the infliction of a severe penalty on skulkers. The following extract from the order has probably been read by the officers, but we print it in order that the memory of it, like Daisy Deane's, may be ever fresh and green. It is as follows:—"The volunteer force, and every officer and man belonging to it, shall be subject to the Queen's regulations and orders for the army, and shall from the time of being called out for actual service, and also during the period of annual drill prescribed by this Act, or by any Act amending the same, or by any order of the Commander-in-Chief under the authority thereof, and also during the continuance of any drill or parade of his corps at which he shall be present, be subject to the Rules and Articles of War, and to the Act for punishing mutiny and desertion, and all other laws then applicable to Her Majesty's troops in the Province, and not inconsistent with this Act."

SHORT WORK.—They do up matters quickly in Montana. A Helena paper tells us of a horrible murder which was committed about nine o'clock on the evening of May 30th, by a character named George Ballou. After completing his murderous work, he attempted to escape across the gulch, but fell into a prospect hole and was there captured. Couriers were immediately sent to the mining camps in the vicinity, for the purpose of calling the people together, in order that they might determine what should be done with the murderer. By midnight 200 men had assembled, a judge and jury were selected, and the trial began. A vacant building was used as a court room. After about two hours deliberation, the evidence, both for and against the prisoner being carefully taken down, he was found guilty of murder, and without a dissenting voice, sentenced to death. The hour which had been granted the prisoner, in order that he might arrange his earthly affairs, having elapsed, the sentence was put into effect. A vacant building, several doors below that in which the trial had been held, served for the place of execution; a heavy beam served for the attachment of the rope, and a couple of boxes answered the purpose of a "trap." At three o'clock in the morning—six hours after the commission of the crime of which he had been convicted—Ballou was hung. The sheriff took charge of the body.

The Ulster Orangemen are still in a state of effervescence. They lately took offence at the presence of three members of the Redemptorist order in Banbridge, who have been performing religious services twice a day in the Roman Catholic chapel of that town. So they marched in from the neighboring villages, smashed the windows of the Catholics residing in Banbridge, and pelted the police, who with difficulty protected the chapel, which the rioters were anxious to wreck. The local authorities invoked the aid of "the army," horse and foot.

The Dominion Rifle Association recently formed, intends holding the first great prize meeting at Lapanais, commencing on September 16th. The prize list will shortly be published, and will embrace a large number of prizes of greater value than were ever before offered at a Canadian rifle match. It is expected that there will be marksmen present from all parts of the Dominion.

Pardon and amnesty to all who participated in the Garibaldian movement against Rome last year, was announced by the Pope in the Consistory at the Vatican.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Despatches to the Evening Mercury.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.
London, June 26th—Prince Albert arrived in England, and is now en route for Vienna.

Belgrade, June 26th—The late Michael left a will, in which he bequeathed his sister and two nephews as his heirs. The evidence elicited at the preliminary examinations of the assassins of Michael, implicates Prince Karawich in the conspiracy.

Vienna, June 26th—During the absence of Prince Napoleon at Bucharest, he was waited on by a deputation of 300 students in that city, who took the opportunity to present a respectful address to Prince Napoleon, setting forth the conditions, asking an amelioration of condition, and thanking the Emperor for his known liberality toward all people.

London, June 27, two a. m.—The debate on the bill of the Slave Trade was continued. An immense number of persons were present on the floor and in the galleries, and great excitement manifested. Lord Cairnarrow regretted that the motion was made a party measure, and never had gained anything on the field of party politics. He criticized the Irish policy of the late Derby, and said he distrusted the present Cabinet. He thought the Church to make terms with the opponents to trust his friends; if the Church of England remained a minority, his affection would remain, but his conscience would not support it as an establishment. He was in favor of disestablishing the Irish Church, but he would not disendorse the declaration that the vote for the Suspensory Bill cheering for the Whig benches.

Lord Rodd said this bill would be a disgrace to the Commons, and ought to be barred by the Commons. Lord Marlborough said that the only effort of the Liberals since the 18th of June was to get the bill passed at all cost.

Lords Dufferin and Romilly supported the bill, and Archibald York and Armath in opposition. The Marquis of Salisbury should have been made an ex-officio holder of the benefits from the Commons as this was not done, he thought the object of his framers was to give the Commons the bill.

Lords to some ulterior design, no plan of disendowment, but threatened that if it were worse would follow; if a worse were framed, they would have conceived of nothing worse than that. Enquiry should be made as to the right of spoliation; if envy were the reason for it, it would be corporate property. He thought the Fenians would regard it as the land; land, and not the church, their object, and the real badge of the Commons they had better question. If the Lords become the Commons they had better question the Commons at all. He wished to yield to the opinion of the people, but if they would probably interpret the will of the people better than the Commons done. The debate then ended, and the bill for Ireland was read for the time in the Lords, and an adjournment took place.

Lisbon, June 26—A general election has been declared in favor of the persons who participated in the disturbances last winter.

The Railway Deputation at London.

WALKERTON, J. Considerable excitement existed day on railway matters. The delegates addressed the County Council in the morning, and the Toronto delegation left via Southampton for London, while the Toronto gentlemen remained to hold meetings already advised by the County Council appointed by a special committee to consider the positions of the different companies, instructions to report this session.

NEARLY DROWNED.—Three boys bathing in Blain's dam, Galt, on Friday evening last, when one of them named Adam Kain narrowly escaped drowning. His two companions on the shore when he sank from them they both struck out to his assistance. One of them saw him below the surface and caught him, while the other caught the other, and there was of all three going to the bottom. The rescue was rendered from the boat which the party was saved by the quarter of an hour before Kay gave up returning animation.

FAIR FOR HOLLIN.—At a meeting of farmers and others interested it was resolved that a fair should be held in the town on Monday before the Eleventh of August, and it is thought the effort to establish a fair at Hollin successful, as that which was formerly held at Drayton has been discontinued.

BIBLES BURNT.—The Arthur of the British & Foreign Bible Society had their repository in the same building with Dr. Henderson's drug store, and that which was lately destroyed, and a fine collection of bibles and tracts were entirely burnt up.

THE ELIZABETH ROAD.—A petition of the Council of Woodstock praying for help to construct two bridges on the Elizabeth Road has received a number of signatures and will be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

THE WORMS CELEBRATION.—The celebration at Worms, in which all German participates, is a matter of great interest to Protestant Christians. It was Worms that Luther was summoned to the Imperial Diet by which he was proscribed, and there he acknowledged the writings and opinions which were in the Reformation.

At Glasgow, three men in a keel frolic went on board a small yacht, got up steam, and took the air, as far as Govan. Subsequently abandoned her, and she was seen. They were arrested for theft, but the full facts were known, and promising to pay for the yacht.

THE PROPOSED RAID.

Colonel Dennis of Toronto received a letter from a person in Ohio who formerly was attached to one of the Companies in the army under his command. The person is represented as in every way reliable, and though there may be exaggerations in his statements they are worth giving, that the person may judge for themselves.

It is said:—That Canada is to be invaded beyond doubt, and if the month of July passes over without an invasion taking place, I shall be much surprised, in fact I look for an invasion at any moment now, but probability is that it will be postponed till the Democratic Conventions in New York on the 4th of August, which time the raid will take place, and the Fenians expect resolutions to be passed by this Convention looking to their recognition. At present there is a footing gained in the Dominion.

One thing I feel very certain, that is, though the attack at first may be made with about 5,000 to 10,000 men, that the longer they remain in Canada, the stronger their force will become, and if they meet with success at first, you will see many Americans join their ranks, and for this reason I sincerely trust that the Dominion Government will give them a warm reception.

It is a man composing these raiding parties, and the most contemptible villain in this country, and are despised here by native Americans, excepting when an election is going on, as there is at present. The Canadians are fully prepared to meet these fellows, and hope they may be lost in showing a bold front at the commencement, for if you thrash them in the first contest you will have your hands full for some while.

Fenians will be destitute of food and a very small force of regulars, and against them would be no service to you. I hope you will be able to do this way.

Female Soldiers of Paraguay. There has been a struggle going on in America for the last three years, and in the interests of humanity, the United States or some of the nations should endeavor to stop it. It has excited but little attention, and comparatively few know the cause of the war originally. The bitterness, the persistency, the bloodshed, of this contest far surpasses the famed Peloponnesian war, and to the last extremity the work has been obliged to take the lives of soldiers. The Buenos Ayres Herald gives the following picture of the war:

Col. Margaret Ferreira and Capt. Gill are the female officers in command of the river Tobocuari, a very respectable force of girls, who are held under arms to dispute the passage of the river by the Allies. The tenor of the advice that last year was given down from Paraguay, and every informed person in military matters is of the opinion that they are correct. Brigadier General Eliza Lynch, with the main body of the female army, is encamped midway between the pass of a river and a small town. On the road to Villa Rica is the right wing of her army, under the command of the mother of Capt. Herrero, deployed slightly to the left, so as to be ready to move should they effect the crossing of the river, and cut up Mrs. Ferreira and her heroic girls. Reports of girls and women keep constantly coming in at the headquarters of the female commander-in-chief. From what we can learn from letters and statements, it is clear that the male portion of the Paraguayan army is very reduced, and occupied in defending the fortress of Salta, the positions near Timbo, the campment at Villa Rica, and the fortification at Lambare. The guerrilla portion of the campaign—or what is termed the "guerra de recursos"—is entirely in the hands of the women of Paraguay; and all the data have been received that troops are north, near the Trancquera Loreto exclusively composed of women. As the exact number of women under arms in Paraguay, at the present it is impossible to say, owing to the varied and conflicting statements; but for years past the portion of the heavy work attending on camp life has been performed by unfortunate daughters of that once happy country. Even in trenches around Salta the weak arm of women has held out the earth to make a grave for the allied invaders; female chasques have gone from point to point over the army with despatches; the steamers in the port of Asencion have frequently discharged and laden by trembling hands of the women in the camp. Everything of worth and value these poor women possessed has been taken from them to assist in defence of their country. They have toiled in the fields for the last four years; they have been raised, and harvested the crops; they have made clothes for the soldiers in the fibres of plants, they have maintained the hospitals, cared for the sick and maimed; they have supplied the army; now, with Satanic power, they are ordered to the front, and placed in the ranks to fight the whole allied army—for our part, demand of the foreign powers to send commissioners up to Paraguay to investigate the real condition of affairs and report thereon. If, as news goes, the Allies, in attempting to cross the Tobocuari, have to fight the women, then the honor of Europe is at stake, and once stopping this horrible war—the Allies themselves must see the utter impossibility of carrying on hostilities on such terms; supposing that it were possible, the allied army could afford a so unfortunate as to win the day, not all the wealth of Mato Grosso, not all the trophies of Paraguay, would compensate for the tarnished honor of such an ill-starred victory. If the war is to be carried on under such circumstances, if the Allies must fight the women of Paraguay to carry out the tenets of the triple alliance, then at least let it be on equal terms—let women be ranked against women, and man against man. South America is a strange land, where such eventualities come to pass, and when women have fought it out on their own line, and the men also fought it on theirs, then let us take to the children, send for General Tom Thumb and his wife, and thus bring to a felicitous conclusion this never-to-be-forgotten Triple Alliance War.

NEW LINE OF STEAMERS.—There is to be another effort made to establish an American line of steamers to run between the States and Europe, those which were formerly started being swept from the Atlantic by the English, French and German lines. If that which is now talked of goes into operation the vessels will run between New York and Bremen via Southampton. Congress does not propose to subsidize it by giving a stated sum of money at stated times, but it proposes that when an American Company shall have fitted out seven vessels to ply between the ports named that they shall have the privilege of carrying the American mails, and receive therefor the total amount of postage paid on them. This it is considered will be sufficient to induce capitalists to engage in the enterprise.

THE FISHERIES OF THE GULF.—We are glad to learn that the prospects of the Codfishing are better than they have been these last two years. Although the fish struck in lately they are very plentiful, and the quantity put ashore is much larger than that saved at a corresponding time last year, on the north and south shores of the St. Lawrence. Herrings were very numerous, over 30,000 brls having been exported from the Magdalen Islands alone within the space of three weeks. A considerable quantity of salmon has also been taken, the principal portion of which has been packed fresh in ice, and sent to the Quebec market. Mr. Morland, of Montreal, has caught within the last few days 15 splendid salmon with his rod, averaging over 20lbs. each.

OFFICE.....MADONNELL STREET.
SATURDAY EV'G. JUNE 27, 1868.

There Comes a Time.
There comes a time when we grow old,
And like a sunset down the sea,
Slope gradual, and the night wind cold,
Comes whispering and chillingly;
And looks are gray
As winter's day,
And eyes of saddest-blue behold
The leaves all weary drift away,
And lips of faintest rose say,
"There comes a time when we grow old."

There comes a time when joyous hearts
Which leap as leaps the laughing mirth,
Are dead to all save memory,
As prisoner in his dungeon chain;
And dawn of day
Hath passed away,
The moon bath into darkness rolled,
And by the embers, wan and gray,
I hear a voice in whisper say,
"There comes a time when we grow old."

There comes a time when manhood's prime
Is shrouded in the midst of years;
And beauty, fading like a dream,
Hath passed away in silent tears;
And then how true
But oh, the spark
That kindled youth to hues of gold,
Still burns with clear and steady ray,
And faint affections, lingering say,
"There comes a time when we grow old."

There comes a time when laughing Spring
And golden summer cease to be,
And we put on the Autumn robe,
To tread the last declivity;
But now the slope,
With rosy hope,
Beyond the sunset we behold,
Another dawn with falser light;
While watchers whisper through the night,
"There is a time when we grow old."

The Braes of Yarrow
An Historical Tale of the Sixteenth Century.

Before the gentlemen of the guard could interpose to save her the self-appointed delegates of the people had seized the lady and were dragging her away from the presence of the Queen to whose rein she clung despairingly.

"Back," cried the Queen imperiously, her eyes flashing irefully; "back, every one of you, or you shall answer for it with your lives."

"She is guilty, she is guilty," cried the men, persisting in their attempt to carry off the lady.

"How, gentlemen," cried the Queen glancing fiercely around her, "are we so poorly guarded that the rabble may with impunity forget the respect due to us? Fly upon you. Are ye such poor men that you would see a woman murdered in your presence and raise no hand to help her? Upon them, I say; beat them back, and let their own rashness bear the consequences of what illhap may befall them."

Before these indignant words of the Queen were half spoken the gentlemen of the guard had rushed upon the people, and with drawn swords beaten them back and had formed a bulwark round the intended victims.

"On to the Palace," commanded the Queen, "and let Mistress Spens go with us."

One of the gentlemen of the guard lifted the lady and her child on to his saddle bow, and the royal party moved hastily onward to Holyrood amidst the dissatisfied murmur of the populace.

"Courage, lady, courage," whispered the guardsman who supported Mistress Spens; "Her Majesty will befriend you; so do not fear."

The unfavourable termination of the morning's ride had not left the Queen in the most amiable mood desirable. She was vexed with the people, vexed with Angus, and perplexed by Lady Spens. So she had her robes changed with unusual speed, and summoned her nobles to attend her in the King's cabinet. She was impatient to have the matter settled, and she had scarcely taken her seat when she spoke brusquely.

"My lords, you can divine the business upon which I have thus hastily summoned you. Speak freely then, for we desire your counsel."

There was silence. None of those present seemed to be anxious to be the first to offer an opinion. At length, Douglas—

"Since none other will advise your Majesty I must speak. The lady whom your good heart, I see, is disposed to shelter is wife of a man condemned by your lords in council of the blackest treason. First, under his direction Surrey was enabled secretly to obtain the vantage ground which lost to us Flodden, and, second, by his machinations our King has been carried away—murdered, most like. The proof of his guilt have been examined with due care, and upon them sentence has been pronounced. Your Majesty cannot in the despite of their lordships' judgment and of the people's voice revoke that sentence."

"I did not seek to know my lord, what I should not do, and what I should do," said the Queen sharply.

Angus moderated his tone as if conscious that he had spoken too boldly.

"I desire to help your Majesty to a conclusion that may be in accordance with law and the wishes of your people."

"Proceed."

"I have said the proofs of the guilt of Sir Walter Spens were so convincing that he was condemned by the Council, and even those of their lordships who had known the man and regarded him favourably could not gainsay the justice of the sentence. But more than that, there were matters laid before us which implicated this lady in her husband's crime, and orders for arrest have been issued. Upon this your Majesty must see that, as Regent of Scotland and guardian of its laws, you have no other course to follow than to hand this lady over to their lordships to be dealt with by them as they may think just and right."

"You have done?"

"I have said, my liege, what I have thought my duty and my love to you required."

"And the earl bowing low withdrew a pace. The Queen turned to Hamilton.

"My lord of Arran, you may help to solve this riddle."

The rival earl inclined his head, and with a blunt honesty of expression—

"Not I, my liege, for in truth I am no reader of riddles even of the plainest sort. I lack the subtlety of his lordship of Angus. You will do with the lady and her bairn as may best please your Majesty; but this I say, for many years her godman was a faithful servant to our King, and for one do not credit the proofs we have of his treachery. I have said."

At a signal from the Queen the door opened and Lady Spens was conducted into the chamber by two gentlemen of the guard.

Behind her Majesty stood the dark-eyed Mistress Douglas. Her soft lips were compressed, and she regarded the accused lady with an expression in which was mingled pity and suspicion. The suspicion did not bear upon the question of her complicity in the crime charged against her husband; it seemed, however, to have some association with the tall, well-made gentleman who stood beside Mistress Spens, and who had carried her to the Palace. The gentleman was Gilbert Elliot.

Just as the lady was entering, and whilst all eyes were fixed upon her, a page hastily whispered something in the ear of Angus, who replied with one word and the page retired.

The Queen spoke with dignified calmness to the kneeling woman.

"Margaret Spens you have thrust your sorrows upon my attention when they should have been carried to those who have the administration of law in their hands. I am disposed to be merciful, but to the wife of a condemned traitor, to the man who has been found guilty of falsehood and treachery to his master, our sovereign—my husband—I must be just before I can be pitiful. Therefore I must deliver you to the safe keeping of the lords in council to be dealt with as they may deem just."

A low moan of pain escaped from Lady Spens as she covered her pale face with her hands.

India & China Tea Co.

Home Depot at London and Liverpool.
Canada Depot, 23 Hospital Street, Montreal.

THE India and China Tea Company beg to call the attention of the Canadian community to their directly imported Teas, which for purity and excellence will be found unequalled.
The Company have made arrangements whereby they have secured the entire produce of some of the best plantations in Assam and on the slopes of the Himalayas, and by a judicious blending of these magnificent Teas with the best varieties of China produce, they are enabled to offer to the public Tea of quality and favour hitherto unknown to the general consumer. These Teas are in single favour in England and France, and a single trial will prove their superiority.
The Company supply two qualities only, either Black, Green or Mixed. Their Black Teas will be found to possess great brightness and flavour, combined with colour and strength, and to be entirely different to the flat and rapid article usually sold as Black Tea, while their Green Teas are altogether free from the deleterious mineral powder so commonly used for coloring the leaf.
PRICES: Rich, full-flavoured Tea, for family use, at a genuine and fine article 70 cents per lb. Finest quality procurable, one dollar per lb.
The above can be had either Black, Green or Mixed.
To be had in packets of Quarter Pound Half Pound, One Pound, and upwards, or in tin containers of 1 lb. and upwards, from the Company's Agents in all the chief towns of Canada—N. B. All the packages are lined with tin foil paper, and the Tea will consequently retain its flavour any length of time.
UNSERVED.—All packages have the Company's Trade-mark, without which none are genuine.
