WINNIPEG, April 29.-Wires have just been repaired beyond Qu'Appelle and communication has been restored with Clarke's

Events in regard to the Northwest troubles follow each other in quick succession, and what was but a small speck in the horizon a month ago bids now to develop into a regular Indian war. Disbreed runners having reported that Gen. Middleton was defeated in the late battle. This feeling manifests itself strongly around Fort Qu'Appelle.

The Sioux Indians report that the half_ breeds threaten to massacre them if they do not join Riel, and they further state that it is the intention of the halfbreeds to rise and attack the fort and also to capture the supplies which are now going north for Gen. Middleton's forces. It is the intention of the government to have the Sioux brought to the fort and placed under military protection. Lieut.-Col Turnbull has fortified the town and taken other measures for de tence. Arms and ammunition were served out yesterday afternoon to citizens of the fort. Mounted infantry sentries were placed on all the surrounding hills last night and a hundred men were kept under arms all night. The cavalry have brought in Norbet Welch, a halfbreed recently arrived here, claiming that he had been plundered at Bateche by the rebels. He was captured with a wagon which is supposed to contain supplies for the rebels, being taken north by special train for Swift Current,

The Edmonton Column. CALGARY, April 29.—Information Edmonton is making good progress. The Indians have information of the advance of the troops, and there is expectation of an

The troops are all well at the front and rested from the fatigue incident to the recent fight.

The friends of the right wing of the Mid-land battalion under Col. Williams, now on the way down the South Saskatchewan from Swift Current to Clarke's Crossing need not feel alarmed for their safety as yet. The facts are that every spring, nay, after every great flood in the river the bars shift, consequently it is probable the boys are having fun hauling the Northcote off successive sand bars.

England's Mercantile Marine. From the London News.

The total mercantile marine under British flag has a value of some fifty millions sterling. Our vessels go everywhere even Russia is dependent on the British flag for the conveyance of much of "its foreign trade. The figures a few years ago were 13½ per cent. under the Russias flag compared with 8½ per cent. under foreign flags, showing that were Russia dependent on its own vessels it would do next to no trade at all. The larger the shipping interest in this country the broader is the surface exposed to the broader is the surface exposed to attack. Russian cruisers might get their teeth into a quantity of British mercantile shipping before we could do much damage to the smaller mercantile tonnage of Russia. One thing, however, is to be kept in mind, and that is the complete interlacing of telegragh wires from port to port, across the world. A telegraph map is a network of submarine lines connecting all countries and almost all ports of any consequence. In former naval wars there was no such network. News of the appearance of the enemy's cruisers could be at once flashed to the requisite spot whence help could be got; and there is this advantage in the possession of the fast semi-mercantile boats, that Russian vessels — few of which exceed a speed of twelve knots per hour—could be watched by a kind of marine detective force, most useful in keeping the whereabouts of the most dangerous vessels known to our naval authorities. Some damage to our mercansurprise at their conduct in forcing him to wage battle against them the Afghans have become indignant at Gen. The significance of Mr. Gladstone ords goes down deep and reaches far. It cannot be satisfactory to the "grand old man" himself, because it amounts to a confession that he was wrong before, and is now trying to get right. A few years agobeing then in opposition, he set the heather on fire with denunciations of Disraeli and the "unspeakable Turk" together. It was England's interest, he said, to shut down on the Turk and work in harmony with Russia. Nor is it enough to say merely that he advocated this view. He actually drove Disraell from power and came into power himself on the strength of it. It was not on the question of enlarged franchise, or redis tribution of seats, or of domestic reform In any shape, that he carried the country with him and overthrew his great antagonthese things; it was on the question of

It is in this way, let us not doubt, that Mr. Gladetone's speech is understood on the continent and not merely that a great statesman has changed his views, but that a great nation, for some time stupefied by radical and free trade chloral hydrate, has aroused, and begins to shake itself.

Let the awakening be as effective as it may, the responsibility for rendering it mecessary still lies heavily upon Mr. Gladstone. He it was who put England to sleep regarding Russia's designs. He must feel himself now a deceived and betrayed man, and what more likely than that he should resent the treachery? He was, as it has been said, "Russia's best English friend." But, even with England ruled by this best friend of hers, Russia plays the robber's game. Mr. Gladstone's words today mean at once the confession of a mistake by a great man, and the new resolve

Bir Henry Tyler, president of the Grand Trunk railway, will sail for Canada at a very early day-possibly on Saturday next. It is stated that the main cause of his journey is to endeavor to re-arrange the traffic pools with the American lines of railway on a better basis. It is understood that some matters now the subject of negotiations between the Grand Trunk railway company and the dominion government will occupy his attention during his visit to Canada. We can quite believe that the main cause of his journey is as above stated. The fact is that the Grand Trunk has for some years past been making itself more of an American than a Canadian road. Its profits come from local traffic in Canada, its losses and its troubles from American through traffic and the fight to get it. Competition among American roads has become gigartic, and whether a "pool" system can or can not be maintained in a question. Some worths be maintained is a question. Some months ago Mr. Albert Fink, the manager of the great pool system, sent in his resignation, in utter despair of being able to make the n utter despair of being able to make the thing work. He was induced to with. Two points in the proposed scheme take port of the directors for the last half year.

In its comments our railway contemporary takes a favorable view of Grand Trunk policy, endeavoring to show that the beat had been made out of a very bad situation. The American pool fight is the great trouble of all, and the Railway News says that, warned by past experience, the managers of the company in Canada will no doubt, hesitate before they again commit themselves to arrangements which have hitherto proved so inefficient. And it quotes the following from the directors report:

The Chicago and Grand Trunk railway has a greed to remain a member of the Chicago Pool until May 1. in order to afford moves the forthe adoption of measures to prevent a general demoralisation in rates. The arrangements hitherto subsisting proved to be binding only on companies acting in good faith, whilst less scrupious competitors were only bound as far as they might think their immediate interests were concerned, and the directors and officers of the Grand Trunk company, whilst feeling it might be better.

The arrangements hitherto subsisting proved to be binding only on companies acting in good fath, whilst less scrupulous competitors were only bound as far as they might think their immediate interests were concerned, and the directors and officers of the Grand Trunk company, whilst feeling it might be better, rather than to repeat the experience of the past year, to have no pool at all, have done all in their power, and are still determined to continue to assist Mr. Fink in his arduous task, and they trust that the ruinous results to all the companies concerned of prolonged "railway wars" may at length terminate in wiser counsels and combined action.

English capitalists have a perfect right

English capitalists have a perfect right to run an American railway business, if so they choose. But if that American business turns out a losing one, they should not blame Canada for it. The main fact with which the Canadian people have to deal is that our own home traffic is taxed to pay the losses made on American traffic-This identical province of Ontario is the Grand Trunk's milch cow; its other con. nections are "suckers" mostly. may be regarded as certain that the leaders of the Methodist church have pretty unanimously decided in favor of university ederation and removal of Victoria college to Toronto. The Guardian shows that the denomination's religious and educational influence will be extended while the rev. enue of the college will be both increased and made more efficient.

> We have received several letters objecting to convicts in the Central prison being employed as broom makers in competition with the regular tradesmen. Most of our correspondents think that the prisoners ought to be employed at work which doesn't bring them into competition with skilled labor; for instance, those in Toronto could be employed in carrying out an extensive system of improvements on the Don, widening that stream, deepening it, building docks and laying out a public park. It is true some understanding would have to be reached in regard to how much the city would have to pay the province for the labor, but that ought to be arrived at with no great trouble. The general question, however, how to deal with convict laber is one of the most difficult social problems of the day, but it's solution will not be approached with any more cele

Annual Meeting of the Union of Canada— Lecture by Dr. Taemas.

The annual convention of the Baptist union of Canada opened at the Bloor street church yesterday morning. Representa-tives from all the provinces in the dominion were present. The secretary read a letter from Hon. Wm. McMaster, president of the union, announcing his inability to be present on account of ill health, and equesting Rev. Dr. Thomas, of the Jarvis street Baptist church, to preside. Accordingly Dr. Thomas presided, and delivered the president's address. He demonstrated the advantages of unity and co-operation, and hoped the Baptists of the dominion would be strongly (and lastingly bound together in the propagation of good. A number of standing committees were appointed, and several delegates addressed the meeting on behalf of their constituencies.

Meeting of Oreditors. A meeting of the creditors of Mr. W. J Devlin, harnessmaker and dealer, of Peter boro, was held at the Shakespeare hotel yesterday. Mr. Maher, barrister, o Peterboro' attended on behalf of the debto A statement showing the liabilities to be in the neighborhood of $3000 and the assets about two-thirds of that amount was presented. The debtor made an offer to his creditors most of whom live in this city to compress by city, to compromise by a cash payment of 25 cents on the dollar or 35 cents on the dollar secured if time were given. The creditors were very indignant at the offer and after a stormy discussion the meeting adjourned without any decision being arrived at.

-Every lady reader of this paper is requested to purchase a pair of kid gloves for 69 cents, being regularly sold at $1.00. They are only to be had at the Waterloo house, 278 Yonge south, corner of Alice, Mr. McKendry has also purchased during the past week a wholesale stock of mantle ornaments, gimps, buttons, &c., which are being sold at prices that will astonish the closest buyer.

Headache.

Headache is one of those distressing complaints that depends upon nervous irritation, bad circulation, or a disordered state of the stomach, liver, bowels, etc. The editor and proprietor of the Canada Presbyterian was cured after years of suffering with headache, and now testifies to the virtue of Burdock Blood Bitters. 246

The most extreme type of cutter yet undertaken is now being built at Glasgow, from designs of G. L. Watson. Her length is forty three feet, and her beam only five feet seven inches. It must be recollected that the Macge, that cutter of cutters which defeated her American competitors here in 1881, was about the same length as this one, but her beam was a mirage of the lake yester-day afterneon. . . . quently very insolent. It is reported that they are arranging a plan of attack on this place, but as there is only a couple of hundred of them without reinforcements we are not very much afraid, although they might give us some trouble.

Already the wire between here and Touchwood has been cut, so that communication with the Fort by wire is interrupted and nothing can be heard from Middleton or Col. Otter for some days. An effort will be made to remedy the trouble.

Reports have come in stating that both halfbreeds and Indians celebrated the Fish Creek fight as a rebel victory. The dangers are that the rebels will keep up a system of guerilla warfare, which will be extremely difficult to meet. The country will have to be overrun with cavalry and crack shots at that.
