Machine Guns Used in Strikers' Battle

Seven Men Killed in Colorado Troubles

FIGHTING STILL GOES ON

Chambers in Three Places But in Only One Was There Serious Results—Rifle Shooting Kept up Through the Night

Walsenburg, Colo., April 28—Sheriff Jeff Ryan reported early this morning that firing continued at the Wilson Mine near here and that seven men had been killed during the night. All of the wounded are dead, he said, were mine guards. Troops arrived just before midnight and set out for the mine. Much usefulness is felt here for the safety of the troops. There are only fifty of them, and the force of strikers is estimated at more than 200. The troops marched directly to the mine upon detaching here at midnight, each provided with 100 rounds of ammunition. The defenders still hold the property and they last reported to the sheriff that they were able to do so until the troops relieved them, provided it was before dawn. The union official made no report to the sheriff as to possible fatalities on either side. At seven o'clock this morning, Sheriff Ryan reported that the fighting at the Wilson mine had assumed renewed vigor. The fifty members of the state militia are outnumbered ten to one, and a clash between them and the strikers is expected at any moment. No further details were reported. The fighting continued all night. Use Machine Guns Boulder, Colo., April 28—Strikers last night at Layfette left the mine at 10:30 for half an hour, a fight waged between them, the guards and the strikers' assault with rifle and machine guns. The strikers were more formidable than the guards opened fire with two machine guns. A few minutes later the strikers drove the strikers back, and all afternoon the strikers could be heard here, there were no casualties. The German mine near Marshall was also attacked by strikers at the same hour last night but the machine guns were brought into action at once, and the strikers withdrew after only a few minutes of firing. It is not known what were wounded in the attack. The entire northern strike field, which had been comparatively quiet for a few days, was again in a state of commotion. The strikers in the southern field had been most active because the scene of violence last night. The militia was withdrawn from this district on Sunday and sent to the northern district. This left the strikers in the southern district without protection except a small force of deputies. WEST END WEDDING Miss Helen F. O'Leary is Bride of James T. Keilher The marriage of two popular young people of the West Side took place this morning in the Church of the Assumption, West End, when Miss Helen F. O'Leary, the only daughter of Mrs. E. O'Leary, became the bride of James T. Keilher, son of Patrick Keilher. The ceremony followed a nuptial mass, which was celebrated by Rev. J. O'Donovan. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Daniel O'Leary, looked charming in a costume of oriental lace over white satin. She wore a white lace hat and carried a white prayer book. Miss Kathleen Keilher, who was bridesmaid and wore yellow chiffon over yellow satin and a black shadow lace hat with white accents, carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. Thomas E. O'Leary, brother of the bride, supported the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Keilher will leave this evening for their future home in Montreal, followed by the best wishes of a large number of friends. Many handsome and useful presents were received by the young couple, testifying to their popularity. DIED IN BANGOR Word was received this morning from Bangor, Me., telling of the sudden death of Joseph J. Kelly, a resident of this city, and a sister of Mrs. John Campbell and Mrs. D. J. Gillespie of West St. John. Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Gillespie will have a funeral in Bangor tonight. Seeds for the Garden Planting time has come again. Many things will be needed, of course. Seeds must be chosen, implements bought—perhaps men hired to do the work. A timely season to make use of the service offered by the advertising in your daily newspaper. Many merchants and manufacturers have anticipated your every want. They are using the advertising columns to tell you what they have to offer. All you have to do is read what they have to say and decide to the advantage of your own pocketbook.

INSURANCE ON THE WOODWORKING FACTORY

Some Idea That Last Night's Fire Was Incendiary

The insurance on the Christie Woodworking Company's factory in City Road, which was destroyed by fire last evening, amounted to $25,000, and was distributed as follows: Merchants $10,000; Commercial Union $10,000; Atlas $1,000; General Fire Assurance Company $1,000; Aetna $1,000; Hartford $1,000; Providence and Washington $1,000; New York Underwriters $1,000; Liverpool, London and Globe $1,000; and with companies represented by Gale and Stone, Boston, $6,000.

St. Edward Carson and Captain James Craig say they are quite ready to be arrested. They say it would not affect the Ulster organization, which is now complete.

It is declared that no obstacles will be placed in the way of arresting the Ulster leaders. The men arrested would have to be held in the cells at Belfast, and their appearance there as prisoners is likely to cause serious trouble.

The Unionists profess complete unconcern about the threat of the government to punish everybody connected with the gun running. The Standard argues editorially that gun running in the absence of its express prohibition is as legitimate as landing coal.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 28—A young lady student at Alma Ladies' College, here, was awakened by a noise about two o'clock this morning and discovered a man in the corridor. BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM ON I.C.R. BEING INSTALLED

(Special to Times)

Moncton, April 28—The block signal system is being installed on the I. C. R. between Moncton and Palace Junction and it is reported that work will be commenced shortly on the double track between St. John and Hampton. Several car loads of material have arrived.

The new system is what is known as the single block. The track is cut into blocks of a mile each. There is one semaphore per mile for each track. On the double track between Moncton and Palace Junction there will be two semaphores a mile. On the east bound track the semaphores will be placed at the west end of the block, and on the west bound track the government semaphores will be at the east end of the block. If, for instance, a train enters a block east bound the semaphore at the west end of that block shows a wooden arm at danger, while the semaphore at the east end shows a red light at danger. This danger signal comes to show until the train has entered the block a mile away. Huge battery wells are sunk opposite each signal post, and the signals are operated by a series of electrical contacts, the action of the train entering a block immediately raising the semaphore behind it.

When trains approach such dangerous signals they must either be brought to a standstill or slacken speed. The block system thus gives warning of a train ahead. It is not a train stop device. The system now being installed is used on the C. P. R., G. T. R., and other big railways.

P. E. I. FOX INDUSTRY

(Special to Times)

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 28—The announcement of the loss of twelve litters of young foxes on the Charles Dalton Company was as unexpected as the thunder storm which is thought to be responsible for the calamity in the ranch.

One of the theories is that the mother, becoming alarmed during the storm, carried out her young and buried them, not to destroy them, but to put them in a place of safety. Another theory is that a sleek storm which occurred soon after may have been a factor in causing the death of the pups.

Walked Floor at Night To Quiet Irritated Nerves

Sleep Was Impossible—Suffered from Faintness and Dizzy Spells—Great Change Effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Monotonous as well as over-excitement is often an unbearable strain on the nerves. And who can say that woman's work in the home is not deadly monotonous? Doing the same thing day after day, year after year out, gets on the nerves, and after a while the strain is more than the system can stand.

You feel faint and dizzy at times, cannot rest and sleep at night, little things worry and annoy, you have no appetite and cannot digest what you eat.

If you are a stranger to the merits of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of restoring feeble, wasted nerves, this letter will be a revelation to you. It brings a message of hope to all who suffer from diseases of the nerves.

Mrs. J. E. Berryman, 25 Bay street north, Hamilton, states: "I was so very nervous that frequently I could not sleep at all, and would be so uneasy that I could not remain in bed, but would have to get up during the night in order to quiet my nerves. I also suffered considerably from faintness and dizzy spells, and though I had doctored for some years, I never seemed to get anything that did me any real good until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It worked a great change in my condition almost immediately, and after a regular use of this preparation I believe that it has effected a permanent cure."

lace ruffles and a vest of all-over lace. To make the dress requires:
5 yards 48-inch silk or 2 1/2 yards 36-inch silk at 20c yard..... $5.00
5 yards 4-inch lace at 20c yard..... 1.00
1/2 yard 18-inch all-over lace for vest..... .50
5 yards 4-inch satin ribbon for make..... 1.00

Today's dressmaking lesson deals particularly with the skirt, which may be used separately if desired. In cutting it out, the material should be laid open on the table and the pattern marked A, placed over it. Pin down smoothly and cut. Now fold the silk and along the fold place the muslin (B). Arrange the pleating for the tulle along a lengthwise thread of the material.

Now pleat the front edge of the skirt, creasing on slot perforations; bring per edges between double "O" perforations; press and tack edges together. Pleat upper edge, placing "O" an corresponding small "O" perforations and tuck. Close center-front and center-back seams, leaving front seam free below and back seam above single large "O" perforation.

Close back seam of tulle from large "O" perforation to lower edge, finish edges above for pleated. Gather upper edge between double "O" perforation. If desired gathered at lower edge, gather the entire lower edge. Arrange on skirt, muslin and skirt to skirt along crossline of double "O" perforations, bringing single small "O" perforations in tulle and skirt together. Stitch upper edge together, bringing single large "O" perforation in tulle to corresponding perforation in skirt.

Adjust a webbing or a straight strip of canvas 1/2 inches wide to position underneath upper edge of skirt for a stay; stitch upper edge together.

Finish the sleeves and bertha with lace, and draps the mesh on the skirt with the bow either at the front or back.

AS artistic frock for young women, carried out in amber tulle trimmed with lace and satin ribbon.

Amber is not a shade that every young woman can wear with complete success, yet for those to whom it is becoming, there is nothing more effective. The dress shown today is made of amber colored silk of soft, luxuriant quality, with a figure in dark greenish brown. The skirt has the lower edge finished in round effect and is trimmed with ruffles of lace or silk. It has a tulle that is draped about the hips, although it may hang in straight effect, if desired. The waist has a mesh of its own material, edged with 2 1/2 yards.

MARRIED FOR LOVE AND LOSES $300,000

Mrs. Elizabeth Bagnell, Niece of Bishop Potter, Cut off in Mother's Will

New York, April 28—A loss of $300,000 to Mrs. Elizabeth Bagnell, niece of the late Bishop Potter, because she married the son of an English clergyman against the wishes of her mother, Mrs. Harriet Duer Potter, is disclosed by the transfer tax appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Potter filed here. The report also shows that if any of the daughters of Mrs. Bagnell marries a son of a woman living with Mrs. Bagnell, to whom Mrs. Potter took a dislike, such granddaughter is to lose her interest in the estate.

Mrs. Potter was the widow of James Nielson Potter, brother of Bishop Potter, who had made her home for the last thirty years at Pau, France. She died at Aix-les-Bains on May 8, 1913. Her estate in this country is appraised at $1,845,000. She had real estate and personal property in France, including paintings, jewelry and art objects, which will increase the total estate to more than $1,900,000.

Her estate in this country included ownership entirely or in part of over thirty parcels of property. The most valuable are 592 Broadway, in which she had a 37 per cent. interest, appraised at $1,800,000, and 75 Fifth avenue, worth $127,000. She had mortgages worth $4,4213 and securities valued at $86,742. Three pews in Grace church were appraised at $460. She inherited the bulk of the real estate from her father, Edward Jones.

The will of Mrs. Potter contained no expression of her feeling toward her oldest daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Bagnell, who now lives at Dulon Lodge, Norfolk, England, except that she gave her only $16,000 outright, and left her an income of $5,000 a year for life. The only bequest to Mrs. Bagnell's three daughters, Vivian Margot, Hope Dorothy and Irene Helen Bagnell, was an annuity of $1,000 each.

Mrs. Potter gave her residuary estate to her three unmarried daughters who lived with her at Pau. They are Henrietta Nielson Potter, Margaret Renahaw Potter and Katherine Duer Potter. The interest of each of these daughters was appraised at $382,891, while the present value of the annuity to Mrs. Bagnell, together with her bequest of $15,000 out-

Representative women of all nations will meet in Rome next month for the session of the International Council of Women, held once every five years for the review of women's progress and planning of new activities. The total membership of the organizations included in the international council is about 6,000,000 women from twenty-one countries. Mrs. T. H. Bullock of St. John will be among those present.

This great affiliation of interests was founded by Susan B. Anthony and other American women leaders in 1888, and the women of the United States represented in it, numbering 8,000,000 lead those of all other countries.

The Countess of Aberdeen, president of the organization, is busy at the viceregal lodge in Dublin, concluding arrangements for the gathering, which she believes will be the largest in the history of the movement. The purpose of the international meeting is the broad inclusion of all movements designed to better humanity—men not excepted.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., APRIL 28, 1914.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Castlereagh Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE STANDARD AND GLOBE

The Standard and Globe continue to devote a good deal of space to a discussion of the Dugal charges, the lumbermen, Mr. Carvell and others. There is one simple and brief announcement which if it were made by those newspapers would be of more public interest than many columns of the matter they are now publishing in relation to this question.

Why should there be any delay in the appointment of the Royal Commission? This is a question which might be discussed by the Standard and Globe, and it should afford them an opportunity to say many things that would be of far deeper interest to the public than assertions and assumptions concerning lumbermen and others against whom no charges have been made, and who are only to be summoned as witnesses in the matter of charges made against gentlemen in whom both the Standard and the Globe are much more deeply interested.

A CURIOUS BLUNDER
Quoting a statement by Premier Borden that "in the event of war in Mexico Canadian life and interests in that country would be protected by the British government." The Standard this morning says—

"Thus Canadians once more are placed in the position of seeing British warships, paid for by British taxpayers, used to protect the people and interests of a country that is big enough and wealthy enough to pay something toward the cost of that protection."

Continuing the Standard makes the amazing charge that the responsibility for this disgrace must rest upon the Liberal senate and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It also refers to certain Liberals who declare that, "we owe nothing to Britain," and sneeringly observes that "a great thing is our autonomy."

The Standard has made a curious blunder. They are not Liberals, but Mr. Borden's Nationalist allies who say that we owe nothing to Britain. This was made very clear in the general election in 1911, when some of Mr. Borden's friends boasted about those who had found it necessary to "shoot holes in the British flag."

MEMORIES OF IRELAND.
Occasionally a visitor comes among us who has the power to take us out of ourselves, and away from the things which relate to our daily life, and transport us to a different atmosphere; and by the power of his genius compels us for a time to forget everything but that to which he directs our attention. Such a visitor was with us yesterday, in the person of Mr. Seumas MacManus, whose Rambles Around Ireland last evening gave such unalloyed pleasure to those who thought it worth while to attend.

person of Mr. Seumas MacManus, whose Rambles Around Ireland last evening gave such unalloyed pleasure to those who thought it worth while to attend. Mr. MacManus is a Celt of the Celts. He is a poet, and he dreams of a day when Ireland shall be an independent country. Those who do not share his dream are none the less compelled to be sharers of his enthusiasm concerning Ireland, as they listen to the story he tells, while views of Ireland and the life of the Irish people are thrown upon the screen. The wit and humor, the pathos and the beauty, as well as the simplicity of rural Irish life, are revealed by him in such a manner as to grip the listener and hold him or her with a peculiar fascination.

Why should there be any delay in the appointment of the Royal Commission? This is a question which might be discussed by the Standard and Globe, and it should afford them an opportunity to say many things that would be of far deeper interest to the public than assertions and assumptions concerning lumbermen and others against whom no charges have been made, and who are only to be summoned as witnesses in the matter of charges made against gentlemen in whom both the Standard and the Globe are much more deeply interested.

Observe what even small Maine towns do in the matter of education. The Lubec schools are to introduce the special study of music and drawing during the next school year, and expert teachers for these studies are to be engaged. It is intended to add music and drawing to the list of studies in the Eastport schools next term.

A despatch from Washington says that on the first of August a quarantine will be declared against Maine potatoes, preventing their export from Maine, because of the prevalence of powdery scab in that state. The Maine potato raisers who raised the outcry about powdery scab for the express purpose of shutting New Brunswick potatoes out of their market will now get a dose of their own medicine.

GREAT COMBINE OF THE BRITISH LABOR FORCES
Propose to Have General Working Arrangement Staggering in Its Possibilities
London, April 26—Proposals of the greatest importance to the British labor movements were discussed when representatives of the National Union of Railwaymen, of the Miners' Federation, met at Westminster to consider a scheme for a general working arrangement which would in effect establish a giant labor combine. The gathering was the outcome of a proposal made by the Miners' Federation at a Scarborough conference last year, and sectional meetings of the three organizations have meantime given their assent to a national discussion of the possibilities of the proposal.

The proposal, staggering in its immensity, owes its origin to the growing labor belief that industrial organization must be rendered more potent and influential, and so comprehensive that trade concessions may be secured without resort to the arbitration of the strike.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

TUESDAY, APRIL 28.

Today, children young and old might well extend a word of congratulation to that delightful entertainer, Palmer Cox, creator of the Brownie Books, who is celebrating his seventy-fourth birthday on this date. Perhaps it may not be generally known that Mr. Cox is a Canadian. Though he has lived most of his life in the United States, he still spends several months each year in his native town of Ganby, Quebec, where he has a fine residence called "Brownie Castle."

LIGHTER VEIN
Happy Thought.
Miss Snip—Take back your ring, Mr. Sharp, I love another!

Mean Brute.
"This is a beautiful book," said Mrs. Gabb. "This philosopher claims marriage as a remedy for loneliness."

Blaming the Women.
"Whatever the matter with McGrouch? He is more bitter against women than ever."

Humors of Aviation.
Fair Damsel—Aren't you afraid when you go up in the air?

Gay Old Dog.
Higgins—Twiggins is always bragging about his den at home.

Tender Memories.
"His was engaged to a charming widow at one time."

His Method.
"Truth is stranger than fiction."

Standing Room Only.
Methinks the best way to describe the modern skirt we know would be to hang up its side.

LADIES! Here is your chance for that new spring bonnet you have been wanting. Go to the Opera House Saturday night. You may be the one to get that beautiful black hat, now on display at Mar's window, No. 1 Charlotte street.

OUR ancestors would great cumbersome watches with keys and were satisfied if they ran within a couple of minutes a day.

Our ancestors bought diamonds of any shape, any color, any cutting.

Today there is a growing demand for watches that are small and thin and that will run within 30 seconds a month.

Today there is a big demand for the finest diamonds to be had. They must be WHITE, ROUND, FREE FROM FLAWS AND PERFECTLY CUT. WE HAVE THEM.

WE EXTEND A MOST CORDIAL INVITATION TO ALL TO EXAMINE OUR GOODS AND VALUES.

WASHINGTON, April 28—The great progress that has been made in New York City saving the lives of babies was described in a paper by Nathan Straus, before the International Child Welfare Congress. Mr. Straus, who was unable to be present, had a friend read the paper, and telegraphed his greetings to the congress.

In writing of the child welfare work, Mr. Straus recalled that when he began his milk campaign, twenty-three years ago, nearly half the deaths were of children under five years, while now fewer than one-fourth of the deaths are in this age group. At the same time, he pointed out that in the entire country 3,000,000 babies die each year without reaching their first birthday anniversary.

Referring to the duplication of his pasteurized milk stations by other private agencies and by New York City, and the city's adoption of regulations requiring the pasteurization of all milk except that which is certified, Mr. Straus said that the death rate in New York among children under five years had fallen by year from 98.5 per 1,000 in 1901 to 87.8 in 1913, and that this meant that 19,750 lives had been saved last year.

After dwelling upon the elaboration of effort and the multiplication of measures for the welfare of the child, Mr. Straus said: "I beg you to mark well and to hold fast to the fundamental truth that much of the sickness that robs the cradle and frustrates the mother with grief is unnecessary and can be avoided by the simple expedient of pasteurizing the milk that is fed to the babies, so that their food may not by any chance be the means of death. This is the foundation of the work of child welfare, the fundamental factor. Without it the movement would be robbed of half its beneficiaries. With it there will be an ever-increasing proportion of children reared, an ever enlarging army of little folks to come within the range and influence of the child welfare movement that has been so admirably developed by the National Congress of Mothers."

THE SECRET All true success is the outcome of real personal interest and genuine endeavor. You may be designing a business or you may be thinking out a bright idea for a 15 cent toy, controlling a commissariat or pushing and experimenting with fruits and spices in order to perfect a new dish for the home table, but the real road to success is just the same in one case as in each of the others. It is not what work you are doing, but how you are doing your work that really counts. You cannot know, unless it were told you, how much personal interest was shown into the manufacture of H. P. Sauce before its name began to be a household word. The manufacturers—the largest firm of manufacturers in the world—were determined upon producing a sauce that should be perfect and so make a name for itself and bring success to the makers. The Midland Vinegar Company of England are proud of their H. P. Sauce, proud of the reputation it has earned of being the richest, most piquant, fruity sauce obtainable. Choicest Oriental fruits and spices and purest malt vinegar are the constituent parts of this sauce—but you may be thinking out a bright idea for a 15 cent toy, controlling a commissariat or pushing and experimenting with fruits and spices in order to perfect a new dish for the home table, but the real road to success is just the same in one case as in each of the others. NEW RAILWAY ACT DISCUSSED

Charter For Section of All Red Line

AIRSHIP TRANSPORTATION

Burnham, M. P. Says Company is Ready to Carry Grain by Dirigible Balloons—Effect of Welland Canal on Atlantic Ports

Ottawa, April 27.—At the opening of the house this afternoon Premier Borden moved the appointment of a special committee to consider in conjunction with the senate committee, the new railway act. Hon. Geo. P. Graham asked if the bill was likely to pass this session. He said that it was a unanimous act which should have careful consideration and believed it would take a month to handle properly. Premier Borden agreed as to the importance of the bill and necessity for careful consideration. The government would like to see it pass this session if at all possible but there was no intention, Hon. Dr. Reid told W. F. Carroll that the standard rules were in force on part corporate the All Red Railway Company was taken up Hon. J. D. Reid, acting minister of railways, replying to a question by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, said that when this bill came before the railway committee it provided for a charter from Labrador to the Pacific coast. At the first meeting of the committee it was decided to cut the charter off at Winnipeg. At the next meeting the bill was amended so as to provide only for a road from Labrador to Quebec. Mr. Reid said that he was opposed to the original of the Intercolonial Railway, and that fourteen instructors were engaged in teaching the employees at a cost of $4,000. Mr. Carroll asked if any employees had resigned as a result of the adoption of the rules and was answered in the negative. Dr. Reid informed J. G. Turfiff that no changes had been made in the valuation of binders, resins and mowers for customs purposes since October 1, 1911. When consideration of the bill to incorporate because he did not believe that the promoters could get the money to build the road. E. M. MacDonald wanted to know what right parliament had to grant a charter to a line which would cross that portion of Labrador considered to be under the jurisdiction of Newfoundland. Mr. Reid said that the charter was granted only to the boundary. The promoters would have to arrange with the government of Newfoundland for the rest of the line. Mr. MacDonald then referred to the fact that in connection with the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway, a steamship service would soon be plying along the Labrador coast. That would bring the question of the jurisdiction over this coast line within the realm of practical politics. Had the government taken any steps to protect the rights of Canada? Premier Borden explained that the Canadian and Newfoundland governments had agreed to have this boundary

CHRISTIE FACTORY TOTALLY DESTROYED BY MIDNIGHT BLAZE

Big Wood-Working Plant Wiped Out—Loss About $60,000 With $20,000 Insurance—Firemen Successful in Preventing Spread of Conflagration

Damage which is estimated at $60,000 was done last night in a fire which totally destroyed the factory and warehouse of the Christie Woodworking Co., City Road. About $20,000 insurance is carried. The blaze was first noticed, by an I. C. R. employe in the basement of the main building about ten minutes after the night watchman had passed through the place. Three alarms were sent in from box 31 and soon twelve streams of water were being played on the fire with the assistance of five engines. All the city apparatus was on the scene and for two hours they worked to save the burning building. When it was seen that nothing could be done to save it, they turned their attention to the adjacent buildings and succeeded in keeping the blaze from spreading. The safe and all the office furniture and papers were saved by the Salvage Corps. Commissioners McLellan and Wigmore were on the scene and assisted materially in the fight. The all-out bell was struck at three o'clock. It was said last night that $60,000 would be a fair estimate of the loss and the insurance, amounting to $20,000 is held with the London, Liverpool and Globe; Commercial, Union, Lamb Mutual, of Boston, and other insurance companies. The Christie Woodworking Co. have another factory on Erin street at which their work will be carried on until the destroyed plant can be placed. At the end of life we shall not be at all how much pleasure we had in it, how much service we gave in it.

THE SOUL TRAPPER

The Story of a Man Who Went Mad and a Woman's Fight For His Life

BY JAMES FRANCIS DWYER

Copyright, 1914, By The Newspaper Enterprise Association

"But a white woman did come to this spot," said the German naturalist, stretching himself on the plaited Dyak mat. "There is no place on the earth where a man goes that a woman will not follow if the necessity arises, and for that I thank God. This Samarahan river is as near hell as you can go without making a hole in the wall, yet a woman came here."

"I will tell you first of the man," said Hochdorf quietly. "We call him Hanslaw, that is as good a name as any, and he came from Baltimore. He had the bungalow on the other side of the river, and after he was here some time we became great friends. He was a fine naturalist, even better. He loved his work, and he would not stop from dawn till midnight."

He picked her up very gently and carried her up to the bungalow. "Hanslaw, I would say, 'you are fool to work like that. You are just what all you Americans are, just a bundle of nerves, and if you go pounding along like that, something will stop all of a sudden in your head, and you will go up like a rocket on the Kaiser's birthday.'"

"No, we will leave it till the morning," I said. "We will invite him on down to your place and he gets the spicuous we must kidnap him." "Now I know that Hanslaw did not do as what Brechmann and I had planned to do. We took good care to be out of hearing when we talked the matter over, but instinct is better than hearing."

was weird. I cannot explain it to you. But it was a soul calling to a soul. "I stayed awake all through the night. There were no more stones or no more laughter. But she sang on. Toward dawn, when the first bit of baby pink came up out of Micronesia, I shook myself and stumbled down through the clearing. She was standing near the tapping tree where she had been eight hours before, and I took her by the arm and led her inside the bungalow. Her dress was all wet with the dew, and her face was as white as the snow on the Himalayas. But she never spoke. Not a single word."

FARMERS' BANK RELIEF SCHEME IS FLAYED BY MR. ECKARDT

In Article in London Journal He Quotes Report to Effect That Shareholders of Defunct Bank Agreed to Finance the Relief Campaign for Depositors in Return for a Share in the Proceeds—"Wretched Transaction"

H. M. P. Eckardt, a well-known Canadian financial writer, has the following vigorous statement of the situation concerning the Farmers Bank in the last issue of Canadian News (London): "In connection with Canada's last bank failure—which occurred a little more than three years ago—a peculiar and interesting situation has arisen. Since Confederation in 1867 some twenty-four Canadian banks have gone into liquidation. Reliable information as to how the shareholders of such banks as failed prior to 1895 fared is not available; but in case of all banks failing since 1895 the shareholders received nothing in a number of cases they were called upon to contribute additional funds under the double liability clauses of the bank act, and in a few instances when liquidation was completed they received back a small proportion of the extra amounts paid by them under the double liability, but in no case did the shareholders of the insolvent institutions receive back any portion of their original investment."

Throughout the whole period of thirty-seven years since the dominion was formed there is no instance of any relief having been given by government to any parties suffering loss through failure of a bank. Efforts have been made on the part of depositors and others connected with the failed institutions to induce the government to compensate them in whole or in part for their losses, but such efforts invariably proved fruitless. So far as the stockholders were concerned, the government always took the ground that they put their money into a business venture over which they exercised daily control. When, through the dishonesty or incompetence of those representatives or of managers employed by them, the enterprise was ruined, the owners had no claim on the public treasury by reason of the losses suffered by them. In other words, the owners of a bank that failed were no more entitled to compensation at the hands of the government than were the owners of other corporate enterprises that met disaster."

Voluntary Creditors. With reference to the creditors the case is somewhat different. The creditors of the banks have been regarded as belonging to two classes. The note holders are considered to be entitled to special consideration, for the reason that they in many cases become creditors involuntarily. A store-keeper or other business man, for example, cannot well avoid accepting in the ordinary course of business the notes of any going bank. On the other hand, the depositors are, as a rule, voluntary creditors. A man is not obliged to deposit his money in any particular bank. If he wishes to be safe he can entrust his funds to banks of undoubted strength, or to the government itself if he fears the banks. No arrangements were made in 1890 whereby the holders of Canadian bank notes were made absolutely secure through the institution of the bank circulation redemption fund. But in case of the depositors the government recognized no responsibility for their losses. The view was taken, quite properly, that the people who put their money in to a weak bank were not entitled to reimbursement of their losses out of the public treasury when the bank failed any more than the creditors of an insolvent industrial, mercantile or other corporation were so entitled.

A New Departure. However, it appears that the course of events in connection with the winding up of the Farmers' Bank of Canada will constitute a new departure in the matter of government policy towards depositors of failed banks. At the last session of parliament, Premier Borden gave a definite promise that the depositors of the Farmers' Bank would be relieved from the national treasury, and while the measure of relief has not been announced up to the date of writing, there is general expectation that the government will pay these people 100 cents on the dollar—the aggregate amount of their deposits in the bank was $1,200,000. There were two small French-Canadian banks—Banque de St. Jean and Banque de St. Hyacinth—which failed disastrously a couple of years before the Farmers' Bank came down. Naturally the depositors in these banks considered that they, too, should have their losses made good from the public treasury. Their claims were pressed by representatives in parliament; but they have not received a very sympathetic hearing. There are several reasons why the Farmers' Bank depositors are thus receiving exceptional treatment. The ostensible reason is that the charter of the bank was procured through fraudulent representations made to the former minister of finance, Hon. W. S. Fielding. The provisions of the bank act were not properly complied with; and it is argued that the negligence of the finance department, in not seeing that the law was complied with, gives the depositors and creditors of the defunct institution a valid claim on the public treasury.

Alleged Pool of Interest. It is well understood, however, that the real reason why exceptional treatment of the creditors of this bank is proposed is that the bank had branches, and therefore a considerable number of depositors, in fifteen or sixteen constituencies. The Conservative candidates in those constituencies in the general election of 1911 thought it good policy to express the warmest sympathy for the Farmers' Bank depositors; and a number of the candidates, doubtless in the opinion that there was no prospect of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's government being overthrown, were so inebriated as to promise that if the Conservatives came into power they would pay the losses of the depositors. As everybody knows, the Liberals were overthrown in the election; and when Hon. Mr. Borden assumed control of the government, this unwise or incautious promise, made on his behalf, projected itself forward to plague and embarrass him. To make the matter more complicated, the Farmers' Bank depositors are said to have entered into a compact or bargain with stockholders of the bank, whereunder the latter furnished political and financial support to the agitation for reimbursement of depositors from the public treasury, and the depositors in turn agreed to share with the stockholders any bonus or gifts they succeeded in getting from the government. So the wretched transaction is likely after all to result in the government indirectly reimbursing private parties for losses suffered by them through the break-down of their own business venture.

EVIDENCE COMPLETE IN SUIT AGAINST VALLEY RAILWAY

J. D. Seely Was Last Witness—Says He Put More Into Company Than Any Other Except Mr. Gould—Over Until Wednesday

The suit of Thomas Nagle vs. the St. John and Quebec Railway Company and the Quebec and St. John Construction Company for $12,000 on their note was continued yesterday afternoon and then adjourned until Wednesday morning. Mr. Seely resumed the stand at the opening of the afternoon session, and Mr. Mullin continued his examination. Q.—Did you ever contribute any money for stock? A.—There was no call made. Q.—Answer the question. A.—No, I didn't. Mr. Mullin read a communication from Mr. Gould to Mr. Seely, dated Dec. 21, in which the former said he would give Mr. Seely a note for $4,000 with right of renewal. He said, however, that he should not be held personally responsible for the note, but added that he would pay it at the earliest opportunity. First he would have to secure permission from the directors, but he felt that all were agreeable excepting Mr. McDonnell. Mr. Mullin referred to another letter from Mr. Gould to the witness enclosing a four months' note for $4,000. The letter read that if anything should happen that all would be driven out and nothing made, he could not be expected to pay the note. "There is a large risk in these big undertakings and there is a possibility that nothing will be made, especially where one has to depend upon a few politicians and they, as a rule, are a mighty poor dependence." Mr. Gould in the letter said that he himself had sunk money in the undertaking and had yet received nothing in return. "If I get nothing it will be impossible for me to get some for you," he wrote. Mr. Mullin—Did you not tell Mr. Gould that the $12,000 note was on discount in the bank? A.—I have advice that you would call it that. Q.—Was it on discount or as collateral? A.—It was attached to two notes of mine for $1,850. Q.—Do you call that discount? A.—I would say so from the advice I received. Q.—Did you not say to Mr. Gould on Dec. 5 that the bank owned the note? A.—I did not use that term. Q.—You have said that the note was in the Bank of Nova Scotia as discount or as collateral?

SIG ER TAKES DEAD BROTHER HER HEIR

Odd Clause in Document Disposing of Anna Welch's $25,000 Estate

New York, April 28.—The will of Anna Maria Welch, who died on April 8 at 168 West Sixty-sixth street, leaves half her estate to her brother, James Welch, although he died forty-eight years ago and Miss Welch caused him to be buried in Green-Wood Cemetery and erected a monument over his grave. Miss Welch left the other half of her estate to a friend, Jane Guthrie, on condition that Miss Guthrie give aid to her brother's family if they be in want at any time. At the time the brother died in 1866 he was unmarried and his sister was his only near relative. An explanation for the unusual provision of Miss Welch's will was made in an affidavit filed with the will by the Rev. Dr. Daniel B. Lorenz, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, who was made trustee of half of Miss Welch's estate for the benefit of her brother. Rev. Dr. Lorenz said that Welch joined the Union army in 1861 with the Seventy-first Pennsylvania Regiment and was wounded at Antietam. At the close of the war he became a clerk in the office of the adjutant-general of the war department in Washington. In 1866 Welch went to Baltimore on business and disappeared. A body identified as his was found in the water ten days later and it was taken to Arlington Cemetery by the Masons and buried. A year later Miss Welch brought the body here and had it reinterred in Green-Wood. "I don't know when in 1867, when Miss Welch was walking at Broadway and Sixty-sixth street, she was accosted by a man who said: 'Hello sister; don't you remember your brother?' Miss Welch told Doctor Lorenz she was so startled by the sudden appearance of the man that she hurried on and did not even stop to see if she could recognize him. After she got home she began to worry over the incident, and before she died she decided that possibly the man she buried was not her brother. Accordingly she made provision for him in her will in case he is still living. Doctor Lorenz said that the war department records show that Welch died on November 20, 1866, and he believes that the body buried by Miss Welch was that of her brother, Miss Welch made her will on July 30, 1912. She left about $25,000 and gave small bequests to the Salvation Army and Presbyterian missions.

BONAR LAW IS RAKED BY THE PREMIER'S SON. London, April 28.—The prime minister's son, Raymond Asquith, speaking at Derby, referred to Bonar Law's attack upon his father. "Mr. Law has on two occasions called my father a 'liar' and claimed young Asquith, 'and announced his intention of doing so again. I have less scruples therefore than I might have had in saying what I think of Law. He is one of those unfortunate persons who contrive to be violent, forcible and vulgar without being funny, combining in a distressing degree the unrefined sensibility of a schoolboy with the unbalanced temperament of a schoolgirl."

BIG MONEY MADE IN SMUGGLING CHINESE ACROSS THE BORDER

One of Those in the Business, Sent to House of Correction, Gives Some Pointers. Detroit, Mich., April 26.—That the smuggling of Chinese across the United States border is not a sporadic game, indulged in occasionally by a few men willing to gain a sum by taking long chances, but a tremendous, organized business, in which many thousands of dollars are made each year, is the statement of George La Tour, so-called "king of the smugglers," who pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years in the Detroit house of correction.

"A Windsor Chinaman," said La Tour, "is at the head of the Chinese smuggling trade in this part of the country. The owners of many Chinese laundries in Windsor are engaged in the trade. This is the plan: When the leader thinks the time is ripe he notifies his associates in Vancouver, and they ship the Chinaman to him in lots of ten or twelve. When they arrive in Windsor he hides them, and they wait until a good chance presents itself for getting over the river."

Excitement will reign supreme on the Marathon grounds next Friday afternoon when the ball-tossers of the Thompson-Woods Stock Co. will meet the newspaper men of the city in a big baseball battle. Teams No. 1 and No. 2 are now pitted against each other for the final struggle in the Five Men Team Bowling Tournament on the Victoria alleys. The games should prove interesting.

A very pretty wedding took place in Carmarthen street Methodist church at half past three o'clock this afternoon when Miss Janet Deinstadt, daughter of Rev. T. J. FAIRVILLE NEWS

Yesterday afternoon the fire department was called to put out a fire in the fence and endangering property nearby. The firemen were promptly on the scene and soon put an end to the matter.

In the evening about 7:30 o'clock an alarm was rung in for a fire in Orange street, but a mistake had been made, the reflection from a bonfire being taken for flames. The error was communicated to the fire department before it had turned out. Just at this season of the year many people are burning refuse and care should be exercised.

Harry Ellis, who has been conducting a meat department on the premises of B. L. Wood, grocer, during the last year, moved across the street yesterday into the Mason building.

The need of a public play ground becomes very apparent as the summer time approaches and children utilize the streets for games of ball and other recreation. There is a good deal of talk at present regarding the matter and it is said a statement as to public meeting to discuss the question will be available in a day or two.

It is learned that the authorities are considering a change in the hours of the policeman. As pointed out before the village requires the diligence of a watchman more during the silent hours of the night than any other time.

There is very little change in the condition of James Lowell, South Bay, and doctors hold out little hope for his recovery.

The Turkey Bussers held their second annual meeting last evening in Lancaster. Mr. Campbell presided and more than forty of the fraternity attended. A splendid time was spent. A programme of varied selections was given, afterwards the members adjourned to William Pink's restaurant in Main street, Fairville, where luncheon was served. Among those who took part in the programme were Adam Campbell, James Catherwood, George Costley, Charles Masson, Charles Compton, W. Duffy and W. A. Fox.
