OSTENTATIOUS WHO BEAR THEIR OWN WEIGHT. - Messrs T. M. DeBible, W. D. W. Hubbard, James Macfarlane, John Sears and R. B. Boggs were standing on Prince Wm. street to-day, "taking of the good old times," when a reporter happened along. "Look here," said Mr. DeBible, "these are five men whose joint ages make 888 years, or an average of 77 years."

"Yes," said another, "and all can read without glasses." Another of the gentlemen remarked, "and not one of them ever belonged to the Sons of Temperance, or any other temperance society." Just before the reporter came along, Mr. Thomas Kalford, aged 71, was with the group. While the above gentlemen were figuring up their ages, and laughing as heartily as young men just out of their teens, Mr. Shives came along. He, too, was stopped, and of course he had to tell his age, which he said was 72. The liquor question was again mentioned, and Mr. S. said he could probably say what very few could say, and that he had never drunk a drop of liquor in his life. One of the other gentlemen jokingly remarked that Mr. DeBible was a good deal of a "bar" for men generally administer a little gin to the baby."

The laugh went round, and the six hearty old gentlemen separated in pairs. Mr. DeBible, who was the oldest of the group, having been born in the first year of the century, has seen a good many long years. - St. John Globe of 31st.

EXCESS OF PREMISES. - Some time ago Messrs. Sutherland & Creighton had the offices along of their store fitted up as warehouses for carpets and oilcloths, and still they were too much crowded. There was a building at the rear of the store, which they thought to utilize by raising it up until its floor and the floor of the main store were level and then joining it on to the main building. The building was raised several feet, while the workmen were at work at it, from being insufficiently blocked it came down with a crash, fortunately without injury to any of the workmen. The old building was then torn down and the new addition is being erected to enlarge the premises. It is 35x40, and will be carried up to the same height as the main building, 2 1/2 stories and basement. When closed in the rear will be torn out of the store and it extended into the new structure, making it 40 feet longer than at present, or a total of 85 feet. This will give them the ample room required for their large and growing business as well as lots of storage room.

It is intended to place a tank for water, of a capacity of one thousand gallons in the site of the new addition which will be supplied from the artesian well at Mr. Creighton's residence, the pipes being laid down to the store last year. From this tank hose will be stretched on each flat for use in case of fire, thus greatly lessening the risk. - Advocate.

Parliament. EVERYTHING DECLARED TO BE VERY SATISFACTORY. LONDON, Aug. 30. In 1877 the Queen in her speech of prorogation said: - My Lords, - It is with much satisfaction I release you from the labors of a protracted session. Our relations with other powers continue the most cordial since the beginning of the session and nothing has happened to diminish the confidence and expectations of unbroken European peace.

The only exception to the tranquil course of events has been a very partial renewal of attempts formerly made by followers of the Mahdi to invade the southern frontier of Egypt. The invading force was arrested and dispersed with conspicuous skill and complete effect by the Khediv's troops, supported by a small British contingent under General Grenfell, and having the necessary evidence are requested to communicate with Mr. Brown.

The act reforming the local government of Scotland will, I am convinced, contribute largely to the welfare and contentment of my people in Scotland.

I note with satisfaction the improvements introduced into the constitution of the universities of Scotland, and the steps you have taken towards the establishment of technical education in England and Wales. The intermediate education act for Wales will supply a deficiency in the educational system which has been sorely felt for many years.

I am thankful to be able to recognize signs of growing prosperity, the fruits of the industrial revolution, the progress of our wise counsels it may be strengthened by the hearty consent of all my subjects, I recommend you reverently to the merciful care of Almighty God.

Don't Trust Them. The ways of politicians are devious and the craft of the St. John river politician are particularly devious and crafty. As the following from the Globe show: "Mr. David Morrow had been a firm friend of Mr. R. D. Wilnot in the last Dominion election. His services were recognized as having contributed largely to the success of Mr. Wilnot. An appointment as guardian of fisheries for that district was to be made. Mr. Morrow's friends thought that he should have the honor of the appointment."

NOTES AND NEWS. THE LONDON "TIMES." The London Times has the following apt remarks on the Behring Sea seizures. They seem to sum up the case with considerable penetration: - "There is a curious want of seriousness about the Behring Sea seizures. It appears they are intended to frighten away Victorian sailors by sham formalities of capture, and not to exact the usual penalties. America appears to think this course will appease the Alaska company and please the Irish electors, yet not provoke British reprisals. But she has no right to play a game of 'bonnes' with the weapons of illegal capture and search. Unless England takes some active step America will be perfectly content with an interchange of views till doomsday. Americans will not find us unreasonable on the score of preserving our rights. If they persist in refusing to discuss any settlement only consistent with taking vigorous steps to see that our rights are respected."
