Commercial Union

PRESIDENT TAFT.

In a speech at the joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, held in New York on April 27th last, when it became necessary to explain to the people of the United States just what Reciprocity meant, just what the President hoped for by the measure, he said:—
"I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of Reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to Reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. THE FORCES WHICH ARE AT WORK IN ENGLAND AND IN CANADA TO SEPARATE HER BY A CHINESE WALL FROM THE UNITED STATES, AND TO MAKE HER PART OF AN IMPERIAL COMMERCIAL BAND REACHING FROM ENGLAND AROUND THE WORLD TO ENGLAND AGAIN BY A SYSTEM OF PREFERENTIAL TARIFFS, WILL DERIVE AN IMPETUS FROM THE REJECTION OF THIS TREATY, and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption we must take it NOW, or give it up forever."

From President Taft's message to Congress with the Reciprocity Agreement, Jan. 26, 1911: "Ought we not then to arrange a commercial agreement with Canada, if we can, by which we shall have direct access to her great supply of natural products without an obstructing or prohibitory tariff? ... The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are COMING TO THE PARTING OF THE WAYS." ... "Should we not, therefore, before their policy has become too crystallized and fixed for change, meet them in a spirit of real concession, facilitate commerce between the two countries and thus greatly increase the natural resources available to our people?"

PRESIDENT TAFT:—THE BOND UNITING THE DOMINION WITH THE MOTHER COUNTRY IS LIGHT AND ALMOST IMPERCEPTIBLE.

FROM EDITORIALS IN THE HEARST PAPERS.

The day that Reciprocity becomes a fact, the chief interest of Canada will be here in the United States.

Should we not with Reciprocity be far more important in the eyes of Canadians than the IMAGINARY "EMPIRE OF GREAT BRITAIN" which they look to now?

THE IDEAL CONDITION, OF COURSE, WOULD BE A POLITICAL AS WELL AS A BUSINESS UNION OF ALL THIS NORTH AMERICAN CONTINENT.

Is it not a fact that Reciprocity, bringing the people of Canada and the United States closer together every day, will do more than anything else to PROMOTE EVENTUALLY THE COMPLETE POLITICAL AND BUSINESS UNION of the United States and all the great territory north of us?

We look forward to the day when this whole North American Continent will be one great nation, as it should be.

The wisest members of Congress realize that the people endorse the very sane and conservative plan of the President. Many of the very able men throughout the country are working in behalf of the measure—with the President at their head—and this Congress will be known not as a dull Congress of reaction, but as THE SPECIAL CONGRESS THAT UNITED CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES IN BUSINESS MATTERS, WHILE WAITING FOR AND DEVELOPING THROUGH TRADE A CLOSER UNION IN POLITICAL MATTERS.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S APPRECIATION.

The President's Cottage, Beverly, Mass., July 23, 1911.
Editor New York American, New York—I wish to express my high appreciation of the energetic work of the SEVEN HEARST papers and of the members of your staff for their earnest and useful effort to spread the gospel of Reciprocity, and I congratulate them on the success that has attended the Evangel.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Motherland

"Little lonely mother watching o'er the waters
Tell me what you look for with your wistful eyes of grey?
"Far beyond the ocean I have sons and daughters,
What mother's heart can love, her eyes can see away.
Day by day I see them, day by day I hear them,
Hear the murmur of their voices ever in the sea;
And my heart is yearning, yearning to be near them,
Children, I your mother am; cry 'mother' back to me.
Make me proud, my children; that one word my heart shall fill,
Grey haired England is your mother—call me 'mother' still."

"Little lonely mother watching o'er the waters,
Let your bosom swell with pride, your mother's heart rejoice,
Far beyond the ocean you have sons and daughters,
Sons and daughters swift as flame to leap up at your voice.
Whisper but a summons, sign to them in need,
East and west and north and south sounds back the answering hum;
Stir of children marching; best of hearts that bleed;
Thunder of ten thousand lips, 'O mother! Here we come!
England, mother England, all our blood cries back to thee,
Blood of kinship beats to blood like waves that seek the shore,
Bind us close, O mother, let us gather at thy knee,
Hand in hand, there let us stand, thy children evermore."

Stand Canadians, Firmly Stand

Britain bore us in her flank,
Britain nursed us at our birth,
Britain reared us to our rank
'Mid the nations of the earth.

Stand Canadians, firmly stand
Round the Flag of Fatherland.

In the hour of pain and dread,
In the gathering of the storm
Britons raised above our head
Her broad shield and sheltering arm.

Stand Canadians, firmly stand
Round the Flag of Fatherland.

O, Triune Kingdom of the brave,
O, sea-sirt island of the Free,
O, Empire of land and wave
Our hearts, our hands are all for thee.

Stand Canadians, firmly stand
Round the Flag of Fatherland.

Mr. J. J. Hill, American railway magnate: It is not what we have gained by the Reciprocity treaty that is most important, but what we have PREVENTED. What would have happened if we had not passed the treaty? That is the big question. There would have been a revival of a move for IMPERIAL FEDERATION, and if we had refused to trade with our good neighbor we should have been sorry for it in years to come.  IN ENGLAND IT WOULD HAVE MEANT THE BEGINNING OF ACTION FOR SUCH IMPERIAL TRADE FEDERATION AS WOULD HAVE SHUT US OUT.

Mr. R. L. Borden at Halifax:—"Above and beyond all considerations there is the question of our nationhood. The question is above all parties and individuals. Sir Wilfrid Laurier insists that if the American Trusts get possession of our natural resources they will pay for them. Esau was paid for his birthright, but his example has never commended itself to the approval of mankind.
"It is not only the right but the duty of the Canadian people to transmit unimpaired to their children the heritage which came to them from their forefathers. That heritage was won by men who sacrificed every material possession for their allegiance to their King and to their Flag.
"The President of the United States has issued grave warnings to the Canadian people. This treaty, he declares, will prevent Canada from becoming a part of an Imperial commercial band, reaching from England around the world to England again, by a system of preferential tariffs. The British people are our best customers, the people of the United States are our strongest competitors in the markets of the world. With whom they should we seek to make reciprocal trade arrangements?
"The President has likewise declared that the ties which unite us to the Mother Country are light and almost imperceptible, and he has averred, not once but four times, in his public utterances that Canada stands 'at the parting of the ways.' The way upon which we have hitherto proceeded is the path of Canadian development, the path of Canadian prosperity, the path of Canadian unity, the path of Canadian nationhood within the British Empire.
"Let us follow that well defined path of national unity and greatness and let us not be dismayed at the task, now almost completed, which our fathers undertook, under difficulties now practically surmounted, the task of building up on the northern half of this continent the greatest nation of the greatest Empire the world has ever known."

SAINT JOHN, FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 15, 1911.

PUGSLEY'S BROKEN PLEDGES.

The Times, which rushes to the defence of Mr. Pugsley with all the ardor that the late Don Quixote tilted at a windmill, only makes itself ridiculous when it stated as it did last night that "if Dr. Daniel and others are sincere in declaring that Reciprocity will destroy the east and west trade of Canada, then their party, if in power, would not dare to spend any money developing the port of St. John."

The policy of the Conservative party is utterly opposed to Reciprocity with the United States under the terms laid down in the Taft-Laurier compact, and therefore would not have to meet such a condition of things as are stated by the Times.

Reciprocity would most certainly destroy the east and west trade of Canada, and the Canadian people, particularly the people of St. John, in considering their own interests, are fully justified in doing their utmost to prevent the agreement being assented to by the Canadian Parliament. They are justified in using every and all legitimate means to prevent the surrender of the control of our commercial interests to the Congress of the United States, because such a surrender is a sacrifice of Canadian independence in all matters of trade, and a reversal of the policy under which Canada has grown prosperous and has developed an export business which is three times per capita that of the United States.

Under Reciprocity Sir Wilfrid Laurier has stated that trade will flow from Canada to the United States as "water through a mill race." These are the words he used in addressing the people of St. John and there is nothing that Mr. Pugsley and his organs can say that will controvert the statement of the Leader of the Liberal party. It is absolutely true and its truth is conclusive proof that instead of increasing year by year as it has, the trade of St. John under Reciprocity would gradually fade away into nothingness. The only safe thing for the electors of St. John to do, if they desire to preserve their winter trade, is to cast their votes against Messrs. Pugsley and Lowell in favor of Messrs. Powell and Daniel.

The Conservative party of Canada is fully pledged to provide facilities as they are required for the increasing trade of this port and the electors need have no fear that St. John will suffer in any way through a change of government at Ottawa. All the indications are that Laurier will be hopelessly defeated. The people of Canada are not to be deluded by the promises that he and other ministers are making of vast expenditures for public improvements throughout the country. Such promises are always made by governments and government speakers prior to and during an election campaign.

Witness that interesting volume of promises made by Mr. Pugsley in 1908. How many of these have been fulfilled? The West Side to be lined with wharves, Courtenay Bay was to be dredged, and berths provided for a large number of steamers. Have these promises been fulfilled? Hardly! As the net result of three years of Mr. Pugsley and the expenditure of two millions of dollars, if Mr. Pugsley's figures are correct, we have one new wharf and a hole dredged for another one. The cost of this work has been far in excess of any value the money has received. Instead of the city getting full benefit of the money the Dominion has spent, much of it has fallen into the hands of a gang of political plunderers whose rapacity grows greater each year.

So far as Courtenay Bay is concerned, not a spoonful of mud has as yet been lifted to make room for the wharves which Mr. Pugsley said would be lined with shipping before now. The real truth of the matter is that Mr. Pugsley, in making the promises he did, was merely fooling the people in the hope of securing their votes. Now in 1911 he is still engaged in the same occupation. He comes to Ottawa and with the aid of a stereoscopic lens up for inspection a series of views of improvements which he says the government proposes to make in Courtenay Bay. Surely Mr. Pugsley has not the temerity to think that the public generally have any hope that he will carry out the pledges that he has made during the past few weeks. He thoroughly fooled the electorate in 1908 and obtained his majority as the result of his promises on that occasion. He does not find the people susceptible this year and has been very plainly told by many who were deluded into voting for him three years ago that they do not propose repeating their folly by again voting for a man whose solemn pledges are so easily broken.

Mr. Pugsley and his organs fail to realize how utterly filigree their present position is. They ask the people to vote for a policy that would completely destroy the trade of this port and at the same time promise to increase the terminal facilities for handling a trade that would flow through the United States instead of through St. John. Mr. Pugsley may have done a great deal for his own benefit and a few of his political supporters while he has represented this city at Ottawa but unless he were able to secure a substantial reduction in the cost of dredging, the opposition in his own party at Ottawa would become so great that he would be unable to obtain grants to continue the work at this port. That is, if Mr. Pugsley is re-elected, a circumstance which in the present state of the public mind in this constituency is extremely doubtful.

The Conservative party in St. John are sincere in the belief that Mr. Pugsley's record is certain. There are hundreds of Liberals who realize that there has been a remarkable change in the feelings of the majority of people towards Mr. Pugsley since 1908 and a still more remarkable change since the opening of the campaign. The country is against Reciprocity and St. John is in line with the rest of the Dominion. Laurier and Pugsley are going down to certain defeat on Thursday next.

YANKEE TRUSTS' MONEY IN THE ELECTION.

"McAllister will win by 1,000." This is a heading in the Telegraph. Perhaps the reason why the Telegraph is so confident in the victory of the Liberal candidate in Kings-Albert is that the "long green" of the Yankee trusts is to be lavishly distributed in the counties of Kings and Albert during the remaining days of the campaign. During his canvass Dr. McAllister informed an elector of Portage that the American trusts would not allow him to be beaten, suggesting at the same time that there would be plenty of those well known Liberal "resources of civilization" at his command to reject him from Parliament and swamp the Conservative candidate. This statement was made in the presence of a reliable voter and Mr. W. B. Jones of Sussex has informed Dr. McAllister that he can have the name of this gentleman if he so desires. The voter is prepared to make an affidavit to the truth of the charge he has proffered against the Liberal candidate for Kings-Albert.

There has been unmistakable evidence of a large Yankee slush fund in many of the constituencies of New Brunswick. Mr. W. S. Fisher openly stated at a Conservative meeting on Monday last that a United States gold certificate for $5,000 had been passed through one of the banks of the city by a leading Liberal worker. Although the charge was so publicly made there has as yet been no satisfactory answer. The reason is now apparent. The slush fund has arrived and is being distributed for the purpose of corrupting the electorate of the whole province.

It is two weeks now since the Liberals realized that they were hopelessly beaten in New Brunswick and an appeal immediately went forth for more money to help them out of their predicament. The money has arrived but the Liberal party will discover that money is of no avail in the election. Canadian voters will not sell their allegiance. They know that the object of Sir Wilfrid and his traitorous crew is to bring about Continental Reciprocity, and, after that, political union with the United States must follow. They recognize that Canada is truly at the "parting of the ways" and that they must either opt for Laurier and his treasonable policy or for a continuance of closer relations with Great Britain. The introduction of Reciprocity as an issue has forced upon Canadians a greater question. It has aroused a feeling of loyalty to the Empire that will go on increasing in strength until imperial unity is obtained.

The people of Canada have no reason to love the United States. In all its dealings with this country the American Republic has shown a desire to absorb Canada. It has made war upon us and invaded our country with its armies. It has sought by the adoption of an adverse tariff to destroy our trade and render the absorption of Canada a greater question. The invading armies, driven out of Canada by British and Colonial bayonets, and the adverse tariff which was to destroy the trade of the country made it only the more prosperous. Now when both of these methods of subjugation have failed, our Yankee neighbors across the border have their pockets lined with gold in the hope that they will find enough venal voters to re-elect the party of treason to power and secure what they were unable to get in any other way.

There is still enough and to spare of honor and loyalty in Canada to defend the hopes of those who desire to see the flag of the United States waving over every section of the North American Continent, from the pole to the tropic. Canadians will not be bought.

PUGSLEY AND THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Mr. Powell in one of his addresses called attention to the fact that it was not the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company which had purchased the lands at the head of Courtenay Bay but another company altogether. Mr. Pugsley has since obtained from Mr. William Walwyn, an official of the Grand Trunk Pacific, a telegram stating that the company holding the lands is subsidiary to the Grand Trunk Pacific. Just what is meant by subsidiary in this instance was not explained by Mr. Pugsley, who says, however, that it is a common practice for railroad companies to acquire lands through subsidiary organizations rather than to purchase direct. Perhaps Mr. Pugsley had in mind the subsidiary organization which holds a piece of land on Prince William street, which may be required for a post office in the near future.

Apparently Mr. Pugsley was very indignant that any one should doubt the purchase of land by the Grand Trunk Pacific or his statements concerning that purchase. Let us see, how many years is it now since the Grand Trunk Pacific was to take over the Central Railway, in a few weeks or a few months, at least, as Mr. Pugsley said it would? Mr. Pugsley forgets that, even if he is insincere in his pretensions regarding Courtenay Bay and the Grand Trunk Pacific terminals there, the people of St. John are thoroughly in earnest in their desire to secure the winter export trade of Canada's second transcontinental railway. They have been humbugged now on this question for three years and their patience is exhausted. Within a few days it has come to light that on January 31st of the present year, persons presumed to be operating in the interests of the Grand Trunk Pacific, secured an option on some land on the Marsh road owned by Mr. John McGuire at a price fixed at $5,000. This option expired on September 1st and no effort was made by those who obtained it to secure possession of the land. What does this mean? The transaction was brought to the notice of that astute politician, Mr. James Lowell, who failed to give Mr. McGuire any hope that his land would be ultimately used by the Grand Trunk Pacific.

All quotations in the Liberal press is making from Sir John A. Macdonald's attitude on Reciprocity refer to the campaign of 1891. This was the campaign in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier stood for Commercial Union, which Sir John denounced as a policy of "veiled treason." Sir Wilfrid has repeatedly told the people of Canada that it was still in favor of Unrestricted Reciprocity and that it was the policy of the Liberal party. Is there any reason, therefore, why the people of Canada should not regard Sir Wilfrid's Reciprocity pact as the entering wedge of Unrestricted Reciprocity which he said was the aim and object of his political life? Mr. Pugsley, who at that time was on the other side of the fence, said he believed in a few years it would lead to political union and that "it would be better and more manly for Laurier to declare boldly for annexation." Why has Mr. Pugsley changed his mind?

The Telegraph in poster type yesterday announced that "Conservatives insult the intelligent electors by telling them increased trade with their nearest market is disloyal." Conservatives are not telling the people anything of the kind. The statement of the Telegraph is an unqualified lie. The Conservative contention is that the Laurier-Taft compact is nothing more or less than a scheme to force Canadians into trade relations that would be disadvantageous to the country and which, if carried to a logical conclusion, mean that Canada would be compelled to become a portion of the United States and to be subjected to the rule of the United States. To adopt Reciprocity means that Washington not Ottawa will be the commercial capital of Canada.

Current Comment

(New York Herald.)
A newly arrived Englishman comments on the many tired and worn-out looking men and women he sees in the streets. He evidently does not know that about this time many persons return from their vacations.

(Kingston Standard.)
Every day the ranks are swelling with men, both Liberal and independent, who will strike a blow against the "tyranny of greed, graft and misrule which has oppressed Canada too long."

(London Free Press.)
The annexationist Hearst newspapers of the United States, bearing the endorsement of President Taft, are actively engaged in advancing reciprocity in Canada. An "unholy alliance."

REMINISCENCES FROM THE TELEGRAPH AND HOW TRUE TODAY!

Concerning Panics.
Daily Telegraph, Feb. 15, 1908—It is pleasing to note that the government press is moderating its tone when it discusses the outlook. The administration is pretty badly scared at the present time, and there are sound reasons for believing its fear will increase as election day approaches.

The Colonel's Activities.
Of course the McLean Christmas cards and the McLean promises to extend his favor to the people must be reckoned with, but these arguments do not answer the wretched record of the local government or explain why the electors of Queens should show any mercy to its standard bearers.

So Personal!
E. H. McAlpine is said to be stumping in Queens. A correspondent whose letter is printed elsewhere, seeks to convey the impression that there is some connection between Mr. Alpine's receipts from the public treasury and his serio-comic oratorical activity at election time. Perhaps the thought.

At the Same Old Game.
Daily Telegraph, Feb. 15, 1908—Hon. Mr. Pugsley is here, and we shall have a lavish programme of promises. The minister's promises, however, are not "like Adonis' gardens, that one day blossomed and the next were the next." They are usually made to serve for two or three campaigns.

Is This The Telegraph?
Daily Telegraph, Feb. 14, 1908—The party workers who had waited long and patiently for the arrival of the minister of public works, exhibiting the excitement, the hopes and the disappointment, were disappointed. They had followed his coming. They had confidently predicted that Dr. Pugsley would unfold a few schemes that would make the electors of this much promised constituency, sit up in astonishment or yield at discretion. Therefore the interview which Hon. Mr. Pugsley wrote for a government newspaper—there is no mistaking the workmanship—fell upon the expectant like a wet blanket. Horings in Courtenay Bay, to be sure! Why, Aid. McGoldrick and General Manager Morse, of the G. T. P., discussed that mighty enterprise a full month ago, and reports of their conference were followed by absolutely no evidence of public interest. The horizon can scarcely be finished until after March 3rd, and when it is done there will be no development which can properly be termed a political event. There is, too, no disguising the fact that the politicians are more interested in the Grand Trunk Pacific's deals with any offer which might be made in St. John Harbor. If they want terminal facilities here they will establish them, but evidently they are not to be hurried even by the necessities of the local government which has an election on the cards. These projects, notwithstanding, material however irrelevant.

Gentle Reminder to "W. P."

Did Hon. Mr. Pugsley ever hear of the Central Railway? Some weeks ago Mr. Frank Carvell, M. P., made the announcement that within six months he had secured the financial genius of our provincial politicians, would be taken over by the new transcontinental road. The immediate occasion for this statement is now forgotten. The same statement had been made, in and out of the Legislature, by Dr. Pugsley and other Liberal politicians. It is now mentioned a week as the limit of uncertainty. Soon after Mr. Carvell made this assertion, these projects were dissolved. It was still confidently asserted by local government leaders that the Central business would be fixed up satisfactorily. These projects, notwithstanding, the evident fact that the Central must remain the property of the province until the new Legislature meets and the $1,200,000 railway. Still, the more sanguine who awaited the arrival of Dr. Pugsley, asserted that he certainly would announce the sale of the road. Instead he talked about borings in Courtenay Bay.

An Unprofitable Subject.

He did not even mention the Valley railway. At last accounts Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann would not take the project unless the proposed guarantee of bonds were doubled. Here again there is difficulty. No increased guarantee can be promised or discussed until the Legislature meets again. The Central and the Valley roads are thus eliminated as campaign arguments that the reciprocity pact spells disaster for their lumbering and fishing industry.

Northumberland WILL BE IN LINE

As the campaign draws to a close indications point to a sweeping victory for the Conservative party in the county of Northumberland. Not only have the people lost confidence in their representative, Mr. Loggie, but the dwellers along the Miramichi realize that the reciprocity pact spells disaster for their lumbering and fishing industry.

DOCTORS HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

"Fruit-a-lives" Saved My Life

Rivere A. Pierre, Q. May 9, 1910. "I look upon my recovery as nothing short of a miracle. I was for eleven years, constantly suffering from Chronic Dyspepsia and Indigestion. I was treated by several doctors and they simply did me no good. During the latter part of my illness I was so thin that I weighed only 90 pounds, and I vomited everything I ate.

THE DOCTORS HAD GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

"Don't tell me women can't keep secrets. I know of three who can." This was the remark of John J. Talcott, once co-ed of the United States Revenue Cutter Service School in Baltimore, when his secret wedding became known a few days ago in Washington.

AN ELECTION FORECAST.

John, N. B., Sept. 14th. To the Editor of the Standard. Dear Sir:—I noticed in tonight's Times that Mr. Carleton Olive of the West Side gave an estimate of the number of seats each party will have in the next parliament. Now Mr. Editor, the only conclusion that I can draw on this matter is that the Penteman did not know what he was saying when he gave such a report. All he will have to do is to wait and see. Hereafter you will see how I estimate the result of the election which I think is reasonable:

LOWELL TRIMMED MARATHONS
BUT IT TOOK EXTRA INNINGS

Game Between Greeks and Champions of New England League Went Ten Innings, Yesterday,

There was a good crowd at the game between the Marathons and Lowell on the Marathon grounds yesterday afternoon.

It was in the eighth inning that the Marathons gained their third run.
Callahan drew a base on balls and went to second on Winter's sacrifice.

After the big game on the Mar-

ST. STEPHEN
MEN BEATEN
BY CALAIS

Special to The Standard.
Chatham, N. B., Sept. 15.—The third day's racing in connection with the exhibition drew a smaller crowd than the first two days, about eight hundred people being present. There were two named races, one for losers and one for winners of the previous days.

Special to The Standard.
Calais, Me., Sept. 15.—The old rivals met once again and for the last time this season. Manager Cronin's winning St. Stephen aggregation have been obliged this week to hand over their winning streak to Manager
Jarvis's classy nine, losing to their American cousins two straight, the last one Friday afternoon at the Charlotte county exhibition by the score of 7 to 3.

From the very first inning the Calais heavy wielders of the hickory stick created havoc with Urquhart's offerings. Neptune fanned Johnson, the next man to face the young Bow-doin college twirler, connected for a double that moved the grass in deep center. Wilder doubled to left, Mc-Govern doubled to the same garden.

THE ST. JOHN

TEAM WON IT

Special to The Standard.
Sussex, Sept. 15.—The shoot for the Moncton Citizens' Challenge Shield held here today, resulted in a victory for the St. John City Rifle Club, first team. The weather was bad for shoot-

Urquhart twirled for St. Stephen and suffered at critical times, while his opponent was more effective and was able to come out of the tight plays and heavy hitting was done by Wilder, F. McGovern and Fredette,

Winchester, Hurley, Callahan, Finna-

Pandora
Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixing with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

Ask your local dealer to show you the Pandora range, or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

Certain names have always been linked together. Damon and Pythias, Paul and Virginia, Klav and Erlanger, Weber and Field, Mathewson and Meyers, Brown and Kling, Rucker and Berger, Walsh and Sullivan and Ford and Sweeney come in the same breath. Wouldn't Damon and Meyers sound funny? Or Brown and Erlanger or even Rucker and Sweeney? These combinations haven't the right ring to them. They grate on the ear. They listen as bad as a lead quartet when dropped on the pavement or a split infinitive between the teeth of a college professor.

Mathewson and Kling for the Giants," shouts the umpire, and then the fans sit up and stir about. What is wrong? A false note has been struck. The sensitive ear of the baseball fan has detected the discord. It doesn't sound right. And then the fan realizes, "Kling" Why, the idea! That name doesn't go with Mathewson. But—Mathewson and Meyers for New York," sings the umpire. Ah! That's harmony, as Bert Williams might remark. It is music to the ear of the fan, carefully tuned to the pitch—or pitcher. When this announcement is vatted over the audience of thirty thousand there is no stir. It is received as a piece of music perfectly rendered. It rings right. Why?

Because Mathewson and Meyers always work together," replies the fan. More. They are baseball affinities. Listen to the resonance in the combination of names, and the alteration and the poetry when they win, which is quite often. Separate them and it sounds unnatural.

Handling the big guns of baseball is no easy job. It takes a certain man to do it, as it takes a trained marksman to make the guns of the navy effective. The pitchers get all the credit and the glory, but the catchers are the marksmen who direct the fire of these big guns and train them to do the most deadly damage. Separate the big pitcher from his regular catcher and it is like taking away the negative electrode of a storage battery. It promptly loses its power to produce electricity.

ing, but nevertheless it is practically certain that he misses Kling, with his steady manner and quiet assurance behind the bat.

Rumor hints that the trouble started between the old battery mates after the second game of the world's series in Philadelphia last fall. The three fingered one was chosen to pitch the game, and it was predicted that he would make the Athletics look foolish. He had gathered inside data on their styles and he knew just what each disliked. For the rest he depended on Kling. Now, if that game had some of the experts had forecast the famous old battery might have been disrupted.

Brown was knocked out of the box, and he blamed Kling, so rumor continues. He charged that the backstop refused to consider his judgment and insisted on feeding certain batters a kind of ball that he (Brown) knew they would thrive upon. More, Brown asserted that Kling was given his signals in such a way that "Topsy" Harnel, whose eagle eye and keen scent signs make the celebrated St. Louis look like a blind man, was getting each flash from the coaching lines and communicating it to the batsman. The result was that the hitter knew exactly what to expect, and the tri-triglit pitcher was working with loaded dice. So said Brown in his ire after he was knocked out of the box.

Champions lose hard. J. J. Jeffries said that he was doped after meeting one dark net too often at Reno on the national holiday. Perhaps Harnel was getting Kling's signs. He is a genius at it. Perhaps Kling was being out-guessed by some of the fleet footed base runners of the Athletics, whom he had been predicted he would out-down with his arm as if it were a scythe. It is certain that Kling was doing his best. He alone of all the Cubs lacked the confidence of chestiness before the series. The others thought they were meeting a team of kids.

John Kling's Opinion.

"Say for me if you want to quote me," urged Kling the night before the first game, "that I don't feel at all sure. Mack has got a great team. Then, after Brown had disintegrated in that second game, Chance came down on Kling with all the drive of speech of which he is capable, and he is a very competent orator along some lines. This team of kids had stolen his signs. It is always signs, not signs, among ball players.

It was in one of the baseball tournaments in Texas that Ralph Glaze, of Dartmouth found Meyers and tried him to go to college. He was induced at football. The manager of that club went to Butte in the northwest league, and while he did not think that Meyers had the makings of a catcher, he had not been asked to renew his contract with Harrisburg the year before, and he went to Butte with the inevitable tag of his career attached to him:

"He'll never make a catcher."

ENGLISH BOXERS INVADE UNITED STATES BECAUSE OF NEW LAW

The new boxing law in New York has stirred up the pugilistic pot in England, so much so that English boxers are dropping into this country with regularity. The three latest arrivals are "Young" Smith and "Young" Cohen. They are under the management of "Lou" Saunders, and all hail from London. Judging from the assertions of Mr. Saunders all three are likely boys in their classes and have good records.

"That is a hard thing to live down in baseball circles. It's like dragging a ball and chain into your profession after you. The sentence, 'He will never make an actor' has killed many a young man just trying to chisel his way into that school of art. It is usually uttered by some manager who would have declared that Henry Irving would never make good.

Meyers next went to St. Paul, a club in the American association, and with him went the label, "He will never make a catcher." He stayed in St. Paul for one year and was sold to the Giants for $6,000.

"He'll never make a catcher," said Mike Kelley, the manager of the St. Paul team, as he accepted the check for Meyers.

I hated to see a pitcher with all that ability go back to the minors. He has just begun to find himself now, and he is going to make one of the greatest pitchers that the game has ever known, if you don't believe it sit behind home plate some day and watch his curve ball. He still needs steadying up occasionally, but he is practically over his stage fright, and now is the time that he is going to get revenge on all those players who tried to spoil him when he was breaking in.

A NATIONAL CRISIS IS NO TIME FOR PARTY POLITICS.

LET THE YANKEE DESTROYERS IN. AND THIS COUNTRY WILL SOON HAVE NO NATIONAL RESOURCES TO BOAST ABOUT.

Why the United States Wants Reciprocity

President Taft believes that it will prevent an Imperial Commercial Federation. He believes that it is the prelude to annexation.

Champ Clark, Democratic leader, thinks that Reciprocity will be followed by annexation.

J. J. Hill sees in Reciprocity a means of developing St. Paul and Minneapolis and the great milling industry of those cities at the expense of Canadian cities and our industries. But the supreme advantage of Reciprocity in his opinion is that it will prevent "imperial trade federation."

Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, thinks that by it traffic will be diverted from the St. Lawrence and Maritime Province ports to American cities. He also says that it will keep American manufacturers from establishing branches in Canada as would have been inevitable if the National Policy had been continued by the Dominion.

Mr. Knox, the United States Secretary of State, who took a large share in the framing of the Agreement, thinks that it will hand over the control of our grain to the Americans.

The Northwestern Miller acclaims it because it will stifle the Canadian milling industry and build up the American export trade.

Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, also shares this view. In his opinion the policy of protection has already driven American manufacturers into this country, built vast plants with American capital on Canadian soil and given employment to Canadian workmen.

The New York Journal boosts the arrangement, giving as its reason that "eventually, beyond question the whole North American continent will be one people."

The New York Oriental Review is of the opinion that the great Republic has morally added to its union one more state without fighting for it and without any future need of knocking it into shape.

The Troy Press thinks that Champ Clark's remarks were "eminently proper and prophetic" and intimates that Canadian annexation would be as wise as Hawaiian and Philippine annexation was foolish.

Writing in the same strain The Los Angeles Herald says that Mr. Clark's utterance was unfortunate because it aroused Canada's suspicions but all the same, though it was the wrong time to say it, many Americans will doubtless live to see the very result that Champ Clark hopes for brought about by the Reciprocity Agreement.

The Philadelphia Ledger considers that the details of the Agreement are trivial when compared with the Continental sentiment underlying it and a writer in The New York American points out that the scheme will check the East and West development of Canada and make this country a business part of the United States with lines of traffic running to north and south. Reciprocity, it says, will really cut Canada into two countries. The section east of Lake Superior will merge with the New England and Eastern States, while the great agricultural section of the West will become part of the great West of the United States.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press says that the dream of a federated British Colonial Empire closed against the States by preferential duties and trade agreements is vanished forever once Reciprocity is consummated and The New York American also sees the finish of Imperialism in the same thing.

The Minneapolis Journal believes that the Taft policy spells not only North American commercial union, but also the doom of British Imperialism in the same thing.

Following along the same lines The Cincinnati Inquirer informs us that "The fears of the British as to the political results of Reciprocity with the United States are soundly based, for with the closer commercial relations which will result there will come a unity of political sentiment between the people of Canada and those of our own country. The people of Canada have ever been friends with us, and as the years go by that friendship will become stronger, until it produces, first, alliance, and then possibly union."

The pact will injure both Canada and Britain. The future of Canada's success depends in a great measure on her securing a preference in the British market. The United States dreads this, and the Reciprocity pact means death to the British preference. In this connection The St. Paul Dispatch says:

The effectuation of that Agreement would practically destroy Great Britain's scheme for Imperial Federation, a scheme which not only makes closer bonds politically between Great Britain and her dependencies, but closer relations commercially, and undoubtedly increases the profits of the products of the great markets of the world located in Great Britain. If our government rejects the proffer of Reciprocity now under consideration, Canada will certainly turn the current of her trade as far as possible toward Great Britain. In that direction will pass her entire agricultural output through her own water channels to Liverpool markets, and from there manufactured goods of all kinds. Our food products will have to compete in the world's markets of Liverpool and London at a disadvantage with the products of Canada.

DO CANADIANS WANT TO LOSE THE GREATEST MARKET IN THE WORLD?
DO CANADIANS WANT TO SEVER THEIR CONNECTION WITH THE EMPIRE?
DO CANADIANS WANT TO SACRIFICE THEIR CANADIAN NATIONALITY?
DO THE PEOPLE OF NEW BRUNSWICK AND THE CITIZENS OF ST. JOHN WANT TO SEE THE WINTER PORT OF CANADA, SIDETRACKED FOR BOYTON AND PORTLAND?
IF SUCH IS THEIR DESIRE THEY WILL SUPPORT THE LAURIER POLICY OF RECIPROCIITY AT THE POLLS.

Are the grooves in which Canada's external commerce has now become settled to be switched, and brought into connection with the channels in which the United States' external trade runs?

Are we to efface our national trade mark, haul down our commercial flag, obliterate ourselves as a separate trading community, and lose our commercial identity in that of the United States?

If so, we shall not long retain any other identity. Once a trade merger is formed with the United States, a political merger will not be long deferred.

What is it that gave Britain her marked individuality and conspicuousness among the nations of the world but her commercial enterprise and her commercial fame?

The British name was brought into respect no less by trade than by arms.

But the British name was kept to the front. It was not covered by the label of some other nation acting as Britain's selling and buying agent.

Canada must keep up her own sign-board, must continue to carry on business as a great mercantile establishment doing a growing trade on its own account, and upon its own resources.

Then Canada can hope for a career like that of the Mother Country—Maid and Empire.

Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba—"I have unbounded faith in the intelligence and the ability of the electors of Canada to judge as to the merits of the proposition that is now before them, and I believe that they will with a voice that cannot be mistaken, declare on the 21st of September that we want no entangling alliance with the United States; we will not surrender our fiscal independence, we will not endanger our British trade."

President Taft—"My! Laurier; what a savage beast!" From The Toronto News.

John Canuck—"My relatives are a little too demonstrative. Think I'll keep an eye on my valuables." From The Toronto News.

"And I Nearly Got There." From The Toronto News.

Canadian Farmers fail to appreciate the visit of Taft's P.T. From The Toronto News.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY NEW BRUNSWICK FARMER

The Toronto World publishes a signed statement as to Canadian live stock and Reciprocity from H. G. Whaley of Rice and Whaley Commission dealers in cattle, hogs and sheep on the Toronto live stock market, which will be read with interest by every New Brunswick farmer. The firm have been established in Toronto for years, do an immense trade and are known to every owner and cattle dealer in Ontario. They also do business in Buffalo.

The statement shows the claim made on behalf of reciprocity, that it will give the farmer a "wider market," and therefore, higher prices for his live stock, is not true—that it is absolutely contrary to the facts. The Canadian farmer is being appealed to today to vote for "reciprocity and the wider market."

But something else is undeniably true; that the only "wider market" that the farmer will get from reciprocity is a "wider market of COMPETITION." If the duty is taken off all live stock from the States entering Canada, and reduced on dead meat, lard, etc., as reciprocity will do, the American farmer will be able to invade the Canadian market with his sheep, hogs, meat, hams, bacon, etc., and undersell the Canadian farmer in his home market.

Mr. Whaley says: Receipts of Canadian live stock at the port of Buffalo, for the year 1910, were as follows: Sheep and lambs, 2,445 head; cattle, 35 head; hogs, 3,106 head; horses, 127 head.

As To Sheep.
The receipts of sheep and lambs have gradually fallen off since the year 1899, when there were 197,086 head sold on the Buffalo market. Up to and until about that time Canadian lambs sold at a premium over American stock. Breeders of American sheep, however, found out just what the trade demanded, and they started in to produce a class of sheep and lambs that are wanted by the American trade. The result is that there is practically no demand for Canadian sheep and lambs on the American markets.

The class of lambs that sell on the American markets are a grade weighing from 70 to 85 lbs., and sheep weighing from 90 to 110 lbs. Any sheep or lamb weighing over these weights are culled out and sold at lower values, or else exported to the English market.

The American farmers have produced a lamb that will sell for $1 per cwt. more on the American markets than the Canadian lamb. The same is also true of sheep. Heavy Canadian sheep are almost unsalable on the American market. On the contrary American sheep are worth about $1 per cwt. more on the Toronto market than Canadian sheep. Canadian sheep and lambs are selling on the Toronto market at from $1 to $1.50 per cwt. more than they would bring on the Buffalo market.

Under the present conditions I do not see how reciprocity would possibly help the Canadian sheep and lamb trade, as they have nothing to offer that suits the American market.

Unless they dispose of the sheep they have on hand, and start breeding a lighter class of stock they have no chance to compete for the American trade. Their best outlet is the home market with the English market for any surplus they may have for extreme heavy-weight sheep or lambs.

As To Cattle
I have sold great numbers of Canadian stocker and feeding cattle on the Buffalo market at 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents for the best with the common and medium stock steers, heifers and bulls at 2 1/2 to 3 cents. The same grade are selling on this market fully as high, if not higher, than they are in Buffalo. There are not enough good stocker and feeding cattle coming to market to supply the home demand. Export cattle are worth about as much in Toronto as the same class would bring in Buffalo.

It costs very little more, if any, to get them to the seaboard from the Toronto market. All classes of fair to good butcher cattle are higher on the Canadian markets than they are on the American side. We have two classes of cattle on the American side that sell much higher than Canadian cattle are quoted. One class is called "Baby Beef." This class of cattle are killed when they are yearlings. They are given the best of care and are continually on high-priced feed from the time they are born until they are sent to the market to be slaughtered. It costs time and money to produce this kind of beef.

The other class are strictly good heavyweight cattle, that have been corned for eight months to one year, or possibly longer. It is the custom for Canadian farmers to sell their cattle during the summer and fall without any expense for feed or time wasted in feeding, as all they give them is the grass God provides for them. Would it pay them to change this custom in order to compete for the American trade?

As To Hogs and Horses.
As a general rule, Canadian hogs sell from 15c. to 25c. per cwt. lower on the American markets than our own hogs bring.

Our firm does not handle horses, so I am not posted on the horse market. I have had enquiries, however, lately from one or two large firms here (Toronto), wanting to buy horses on the Buffalo market.

I have been handling Canadian live stock for the last twenty-five years on both sides of the line. The above are facts just as they exist at the present time.

Yours truly,
H. G. WHALEY.

What It Means to the Farmer

Mr. Pugsley and his organs have been telling our farmers all about getting free entrance into the market of ninety millions. Look at the tariff bars the Yankees are taking down. They do not tell them about the barriers that protect the Canadian farmers' home market and which are to be taken down by reciprocity. Here they are:

	Under Present Canadian Tariff.	Under Reciprocity.
Cattle	25 per cent.	Free
Horses, value less than $50	$12.50 each.	"
Other horses	25 per cent.	"
Swine	14c a lb.	"
Sheep and Lambs	25 per cent.	"
Other live animals	25 per cent.	"
Poultry, alive	25 per cent.	"
Poultry, dead	30 per cent.	"
Meats, fresh	3c a lb.	1 1/2c a lb.
Meats, canned	2 1/2c per cent.	20 per cent.
Bacon and hams	3c a lb.	1 1/2c a lb.

Honey	7c a lb.	"
Apples	40c a bbl.	"
Peaches	$1 per 100 lbs.	"

On all these things we are giving the American farmer free entrance into the Canadian market. He can beat the Canadian on:

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The S. S. Lesson by Evangeline Sept. 17, Dan. 3:15-25.

Twenty years had passed. Let us imagine that Shadrach is returning to Daniel, who has just returned from a trip to the west, various experiences of his old friends during his absence. "The eventful day arrived at length," he says, "and once more the Tower of Babel was the centre of confusion of tongues. Visitors from every part of the whole habitable earth crowded into the city and overflowed into the plains of Dura to inaugurate a national religion and to witness the unveiling of the Statue. Bands were playing, flags flying, bells ringing—a greater display of pomp and grandeur, power and wealth never before was seen. The image, which is solid gold, stood nearly ninety feet high by nine feet in diameter, appeared like a burst of light as it reflected the rays of the noonday sun. At length the trumpet sounded—the herald shouted: "To you it is commanded, O people, nations and languages that at what time ye hear all kinds of music ye fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up and who so falleth not down and worship shall on the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace."

Then the signal was given. As God's "Thou shalt not," sounded and I would not, nor could not bow, nor could the other two. You are probably aware of the envy created by our appointment as provincial governors and of our unpopularity among office-seekers. Many of us in the hope of securing our removal, without success. Realizing that this was their golden opportunity they kept us closely under observation. How ever they could have observed us had they bowed down themselves is a marvel.

A Most Extraordinary Thing The Son of God suddenly appeared. The Son of God suddenly appeared with us in the furnace to fulfil His promise and held in suspension the laws governing the effects of fire upon material substances for the Creator cannot tie His hands with His own laws and we are enabled to walk about unharmed. I wish you had seen the sensation it created," continued Shadrach, "the king strolled down with a look of grim satisfaction to witness the execution. Great was his consternation when he saw the miracle which God had wrought. "Did we not cast three men bound into the midst of the fire?" he asked. They said, "Yes, O King, who had loosed himself, I see four men loose walking in the midst of the fire and the form of the fourth is like unto a son of the gods."

Then Nebuchadnezzar came to the mouth of the furnace and said, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the servants of the most high God, come forth and come hither." And we walked out in triumph. The king, who had defied God had to admit before the whole world that he was beaten. "There is no other God," he said, "who can deliver after this sort." What about gold worship? Has it been confined to the time of Nebuchadnezzar? Was there ever a time when gold is piled up and bowed down to as at the present? Marie Corelli's description of this characteristic of the present age bears repetition. He says: "I imagine that I can see Daniel clap his friend on the shoulder as he said: "Good for you, old boy. I always thought you three fellows would be men of grit. "What happened then?" "They served us with a summons," continued Shadrach, "and of course we had to appear."

When the charge was read the king said: "Is it true that you fellows refuse to bow down and worship the golden image?" "Are you aware," replied Shadrach, "that we are allowed to go unpunished that the whole nation will brush aside my laws as though they were cobwebs?" "Well, what your gratitude?" "Are you deficient in common sense? Come now—don't be fools. If ye fall down and worship the image which I have made—well—but if ye worship not ye shall be cast into the midst of the fire. And who is it that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?" To which we replied: "Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter. If it be so our God whom we serve is able to deliver us and He will deliver us out of thine hand O King. But if not, be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not worship thy gods nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up."

"Well done," interrupted Daniel. "You certainly gave him the clear steel to go on." "The rage of the king was beyond description. He was furious. No one dares diverge one hair's breadth from imperial orders unless willing to take the consequences. When he signed the death warrant, the words of Isaiah came like a message from Heaven: "When thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee." Now let me tell you "The Devil's Motor" she pictures a large car sweeping out of the air upon the earth and catching away a race steeped in pleasure and money getting. The devil who steers the car at a terrific rate speaks most of the time in a sneering, triumphant way. He describes the people as "mute beasts and blind, they snatch at every lie I offer them, rejecting eternal life they choose eternal death. No room to breathe—no time to think—no good to serve. Honor shall be a rag on a fool's back and gold shall be the pulse of life! Gold, gold, gold. Fight for it. Steal it. Hoard it. Count it. Hug it. Eat it. Sleep with it. Die with it. Lo, I give it to you in millions—packed down and pressed together. I scatter it among you as a destroying rain." All honor to the men who would burn rather than sacrifice principle for the sake of the almighty dollar! "The day is coming when all who have taken a firm stand for God and the right shall be called forth by a greater than Nebuchadnezzar, before all nations and kindreds and tongues to receive their rewards. Will you be there and if?"

With $800,000 worth of jewels and a silence she says she will not break for any interviewer, Miss Emille Grigsby, ward of the late Charles T. Yerkes, is again at her home, the "House of Mystery," in New York city. She could not be induced to discuss the reports about her homecoming following her alleged triumph at the coronation ceremonies in London, when, report said, she was the guest of the Princess Mary.

SAYS WOMEN MAY HAVE STOLEN "MONA LISA"

MRS. STANLEY FLEETWOOD.

Advancing a theory which implicates two women in the theft of the "Mona Lisa" from the Louvre, in Paris, on August 22, Mrs. Stanley Fleetwood, of New York city, will lay the facts in her possession before Mons. Etienne Lanet, the French Consul General. Mrs. Fleetwood believes that the painting was stolen, or its theft copied at, by one of two women whom she saw standing before the famous picture just before the Louvre was closed on the evening before the day the theft was discovered.

AMUSEMENTS

His Visit Will Be Remembered.

The visit of William Jennings Bryan, the eminent American politician and public man, to the Opera House in this city on Tuesday next, will be a refreshing break in the monotony of electoral excitement. Mr. Bryan comes in the interests of the Y. M. C. A. and has already been heard during the past few days in Eastern Canada to the delight of large audiences. His subject is "The Prince of Peace," considered by many to be one of the finest oratorical and literary efforts heard on this continent. The noted American has long since made himself famous by brilliant speech-making. It was his "Cross of Gold" declamation in Chicago a number of years ago that won for him the candidacy for President in the interests of the Democratic party. Three times has he failed to land the presidential chair, but the people of the United States, aside from party affiliations, consider Wm. Jennings Bryan the Man from Nebraska, one of their grandest citizens, and his name will certainly go down in history as such. The people of St. John will no doubt attend Mr. Bryan's lecture in large numbers and thus spend a most profitable evening as well as assisting a laudable movement.

HARRIET QIMBY, AMERICA'S FIRST WOMAN AVIATOR, MAKES FLIGHT

MISS HARRIET QIMBY.

Miss Harriet Quimby, the first woman in America to receive an aviator's license, made her first public flight at the Richmond (Staten Island) county fair grounds on September 2. She had some difficulty in starting her machine, but shortly before six o'clock in the afternoon ascended, flying around the grounds and out over Midland Beach and return. Passing close to the grandstand before the finish of her flight, she waved her hand at the spectators.

If you have ever felt that you would like to make money, If you have ever felt the need of money, If you have thought that if you can only find an investment in which you could make money without any risk, If when you have seen your friend or acquaintance ride by in his auto and have envied him not having one yourself, If at times when you have met old friends who had no better start in life than yourself, but who are now much better off than you are, you have wished that you were doing as well, If you have money in the bank that is only bringing you three per cent, and you consider an investment that you will, without doubt, make three times the amount you invest within twelve months, and an investment in which the worst that can happen to you is that you will get a guarantee against loss and 6 per cent. interest (twice what your bank gives), If you have a little money lying idle, not enough, we'll say, to buy central city property that would show you a quick profit on your money, If you have a certain amount of money each month which you would like to put into something from which all risk was eliminated, and in which you had absolute protection when sick or out of employment, Then, friend, read the following carefully; you will find it well worth your while. The proposition is new, but so was a flying machine a short time ago. The offer we are making is unusual, but so was the use of wireless messages not long ago. But, friend, you know right well that it is usually the unusual, the unheard of, the unbelievable that the most money is made out of in these days.

If you have ever given a thought to real estate, if you have ever bought a single piece of property, if you know anything about real estate at all, you know what an exceptional offer the one I am now making you is, and if you have never invested, then here is the chance of a lifetime. I have without doubt the finest money-making, the best laid out and the most beautifully situated piece of property in Western Canada; it is RICHMOND PARK, MOOSE JAW—Richmond Park fronts on Main St., which is to Moose Jaw what Portage avenue is to Winnipeg, and lies in the direct line of growth; and property on this street will increase in value to the same extent in proportion as the property has that borders on Portage avenue. The property is 2 1/2 miles from the C. P. R. Depot, 2 1/4 miles from the centre of the city, 2 miles from the site of the C. N. R. Depot, and a mile and a half from the site of the G. T. P. Depot. Every street is graded and sidewalks are to be laid down at once. Richmond Park is on a hill overlooking the city and will be the finest residential district in Moose Jaw. The proposed street car extension will run by the property next year.

WHAT IS HAPPENING IN MOOSE JAW.—Six new railroads are coming into Moose Jaw; two of them will be in within the next thirty days. The population has been increasing at the rate of 42 per cent. per year; the census for 1906 showed a population of only 6,000. The estimated population for 1911 is over 20,000. The new post office being built by the Dominion Government is the largest in the West, outside of Winnipeg, costing $300,000 — The building permits for June were nearly $700,000—Moose Jaw being sixth on the list in all Canada.. Moose Jaw is the principal divisional point for the C. P. R. and is the only town west of Winnipeg having direct connections with Minneapolis and St. Paul.

PRICES AND SIZES OF LOTS.—The prices are $90 and $100 for lots 25 x 125; $200, $225 and $250 for lots of 50 feet by 125. Each lot runs to a lane, is perfectly high and dry and fit for building. Payments are one-tenth each month. Fifteen per cent. discount for cash; 10 per cent. discount on any amount you pay over and above your first installment.

SPECIAL AND EXTRAORDINARY TERMS.—Torrrens title, no interest, taxes paid to 1913, no payments to make if ever you are sick or out of work, even though this may be for six months; then when you have been working 30 days, start your usual payments again by making one payment. Think what this means when the winter comes on! Your money refunded plus 6 per cent. if you so wish. This guarantees you against any possible loss. A clear title at once given to your widow or next of kin should you die before you have completed your payments, even though you have only made one payment on your purchase. Now, sum these facts up. You cannot lose, you are risking nothing, and yet you will without any doubt make a huge profit, for this is one of the choicest pieces of property in the whole city. These lots will sell for from $750 to $1,000 within a very few months. Three lots given free to the first person erecting a $2,000 house, and two lots to the second builder.

It may be that you, perhaps, will doubt some of the facts I have stated. Our offer is so good, so unusual, so seemingly impossible that I want to impress upon you, and stand ready to prove to your entire satisfaction by the most authentic and reliable information, the truth of all my statements. If you have any doubts, or if you think you can pick a flaw in the proposition I am offering, won't you let me know what these doubts are; just what objections you have, just what points you don't believe, just what statements you imagine are not exactly true, just what points you want further information on? I cannot read your mind, but I can read your letters, and if you will tell us what you have in your mind that makes you hesitate about taking hold of such an extraordinary money-making opportunity as this, I know beyond a doubt I can satisfy you on every point, and remove every obstacle in a few moments, for I am absolutely sure that every dollar you invest will return you four or five within a very short while.

Fill out the literature coupon and send to us at once. Prompt action is advisable, as the lots are being purchased very quickly. Do it now.

Please send me maps, plans, literature and fullest information about Richmond Park, Moose Jaw. Name Address St. J.S.

CLEAN designed by E. J. BUCK

WITH the assurance of the clarity of the element the retreat that we offer you a centerpiece today know will meet with your approval. The easy, graceful way in which blossoms have been placed around the circle is very attractive, is it not? Then, too, the small amount of that is demanded speaks much in favor of that should be accorded design before you in one-half beauty. If you are going to trace it, suggest that you use medium lines and a soft mercerized cotton working. In transferring you will see the design is not balanced exactly, will necessitate your using one three "repeats," and when it comes to filling out the design on the other of the middle line you can overlapping flowers with those of the entire motifs and "go away." It is really very easy. I would suggest outline work for large petals. Do this in coarse and secure a heavy corded applique if you are going to work in it. Fill the central part in solid satin. Trace, legis and work the outlines in outline stitches, using thread. Another pretty method is the outline stitches for the petals filling in of the frims with seed or running stitches that give a effect and very successfully cover surface. Try this if you yearn for effects at small cost of labor. Work the stems in heavy stitch and combine solid and seed.

FANCY

From pieces of crotonna HAVE you seen these—those nating halitands made of bon and silk over cardboard. Most women realize the factory way of keeping their hats or best bonnets in halitands are found, sooner or later, to be trimmed to become flattened mused, besides being a constant to lift from the closet shelf or out from under the bed. You can make yourself one of holders and keep it on one end dresser or on a convenient table in room. If you do not want to keep hat in the wardrobe.

HOW TO TRANSFER

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working. Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the glass. If one-half of the design only is given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain. If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

WITH the assurance of the popularity of the clematis and the regret that we see so little of this lovely flower, I offer you a centerpiece today that I know will meet with your approval. The easy, graceful way in which the blossoms have been placed around the circle is very attractive, is it not? And then, too, the small amount of work that is demanded speaks much for the favor that should be accorded to the design before you in one-half of its beauty. If you are going to trace it, let me suggest that you use medium-weight linen and a soft mercerized cotton when working. In transferring you will see that the design is not balanced exactly. This will necessitate your using one of the three "repeats," and when it comes to filling out the design on the other side of the middle line you can match the overlapping flowers with those in one of the entire motifs and "go on your way." It is really very easy. I would suggest outline work for these large petals. Do this in coarse thread and secure a heavy corded appearance if you are going to work in this way. Fill the central part in solid stitches or French knots and work the radiating lines in outline stitches, using fine thread. Another pretty method is the use of outline stitches for the petals and a filling in of the stems with seed stitches or running stitches that give a darned effect and very successfully cover the surface. Try this if you prefer for new effects at small cost of labor. Work the stems in heavy outline stitch and combine solid and seed stitches on the leaves, using one kind on each half of the leaf. Work the ends in solid stitches after padding slightly. If your time be unlimited, work the clematis flowers in long-and-short stitches from the outside. This is beautiful when finished and really pays for every minute that you have—enjoyed with it. Pad the scallops, which you will see I have had made shallow so that your work will be curtailed. Work them in buttonhole stitches and give a second treatment of buttonholing to strengthen and to prevent from fraying. Colored threads on gray or tan linen give pretty effects for the library or sitting room. The purple or white flowers look well with pale-green leaves. Gray is a good neutral tone on which to work in colors. Whites touched with pink is another suggestion. And do not forget to use the pale, bluish green for the leaves. And I think that it will make you glad that you can still sew—if not for yourself, for your friends.

Hand-Run Lace

WITH lace so great a factor in woman's dress, she who is "handy with her needle" will find it a pleasure to make herself some handsome pieces of real hand-run lace. This is far easier than it sounds. Beautiful "alovers" can be made by tracing the desired pattern on fine net. Put this on the embroidery frame and darn in the pattern, or outline it with the satin stitch known to all embroiderers. The work can be done in white or even mercerized cottons; or if you want something very lovely, do it with fine silk. The design can be worked in any color you wish; sometimes two or three shades are used on the same piece of lace. Very beautiful effects are produced by working in silver or gold thread on black net. For the yoke of the evening gown this is lovely and is far less expensive than the kind you buy. The work is fascinating for the woman who has leisure hours to employ in making pretty things.

For Amateur Milliners

THE woman who trims her own hats will find a fine thread and needle quite inadequate for fastening ornaments on her hats. The amateur milliner will find linen shoe thread quite satisfactory if used with a large glove or milliner's needle. Wrap the thread about the center of a bow of velvet and attach it to the hat that way. When sewing on quilts, be sure to pierce the stem of the quilt, in order to hold it firm and in one position on the hat. Feathers should be sewed on in the same manner; but if you wish to hold the tips of ostrich feathers in place, sew them with a fine thread and tie them in place so the thread will be invisible. The amateur milliner, as well as her sister in the profession, will often have better results by pinning the trimming on her hat with a long steel pin, concealing the head under a loop of ribbon or the petal of a flower.

FANCY HAT HOLDERS

From pieces of cretonne

HAVE you seen them—those fascinating hatstands made of ribbon and silk over cardboard? Most women realize the unsatisfactory way of keeping their picture hats or best bonnets in hatboxes that are found, sooner or later, to cause the trimming to become flattened and matted, besides being a constant trouble to lift from the closet shelf or to pull out from under the bed. The accompanying illustrations show three pretty styles. The first has the top and base covered with white linen, embroidered with pale blue roses. A silk lining of blue accentuates the embroidery. Frills of narrow valenciennes edge trim the top and base and are used to wrap the stem of the holder, which has first been covered with silk. Figured ribbon is used to cover another attractive hatholder. One edge of bordered ribbon has been used to cover the stem, while the other edge and the rest of the ribbon covers the base, which in this case is made of a hollow pasteboard box, filled with coarse hair and covered with ribbon, over which is a circular piece of silver net. A band of silver braid finishes the edge. This hair-filled box is in reality a cushion for the hatpins. The top disk is first padded slightly with a thin piece of cotton thickly sprinkled with violet sachet, giving a dainty perfume to the lining of the hat. Flowered cretonne makes a pretty cover and is used with effect on the holder here pictured.

The covering of a wooden frame is not hard to accomplish. First cut a circular piece of material—satin, silk, ribbon or soft cretonne—one inch larger than the size of the disk and run a drawing thread in the edge. Fit it smoothly over the top of the disk and draw up the thread tight. Cut another circular piece the same size as the disk, turn in the edge and sew fast to the top covering underneath the edge. Repeat this process for the base. The stem is covered with a straight piece of material sewed down the center. If trimmed, the lace or embroidery is applied before the covering is put on the frame.

Nightcaps

WHAT woman is there who has seen the fascinating little nightcaps that are now displayed in the shops and has not longed to possess one? They are of net, lace and embroidered or dotted swiss, and are designed to protect the hair during the hours of sleep. They are quite simple to make. All that is required is an eighteen-inch square of material and a yard or so of ribbon, with the addition, perhaps, of a few yards of lace edging. They are cut exactly in the same manner as the old-fashioned mobcap—or the dustcap of a later day. Cut a circle eighteen inches in diameter and sew around it several rows of narrow valenciennes lace. Run a casing all the way around, two and one-half inches from the edge, and through this run a narrow ribbon, which is drawn up to fit the head and tied in a bow on the side. That is all. The cap is ready to wear. A variation of this style can be made by shirring the circle into a band of lace insertion cut long enough to fit the head. This has a lace frilling about the edge and a folded band of ribbon that joins in front with a soft flat bow or on the side in a many-looped chou. One of the prettiest models I have seen is of dotted swiss, gathered into a headband which showed a garland of tiny pink and lavender ribbon roses embroidered on it. On the left side was placed a soft bow of pastel shaded ribbon, and a narrow lace frill peeped out from beneath the headband. Another one of handkerchief linen had tiny blossoms embroidered at intervals all over it. This was held in about the head line with a pleated frill of linen edged with lace, the joining point being covered with a cord of pale blue ribbon, which began and terminated under a wreath of tiny forget-me-nots. The needlewoman can vary her nightcaps as much as she chooses and have as many as she likes, for the cost of the material is small and it requires very little time to make one. A set of these little caps would be an ideal gift for a bride. Another pocket contains a small pin-book, fitted out with various sizes and kinds of pins, not forgetting several small and a few large safety pins. In this pocket is a folding shoe-buttoner and in a similar pocket is a little purse where the child can safely carry her handkerchief and the change for her fare. The slippers and fan are carried in the main portion of the bag. Such a bag would be acceptable and pleasing to any little girl who knows the joys of attending dancing class.

A Child's Slipper Bag

IF YOU are a lover of children you will not fail to make glad the heart of your favorite little girl friend by giving her a dainty bag to carry her slippers in when she goes to dancing school. This you can make from three-fourths of a yard of a dark colored silk and the same amount of a bright flowered satin or brocade for a lining.

AROUND THE CITY

To Provincial Hospital. Chief of Police Kelley, of Woodstock was in the city yesterday having brought an insane patient to the provincial hospital.

Portion of Watch Found. One of the permanent men at No. 2 Fire Station found part of a watch on the street yesterday and the owner can receive the same on application to the station.

Moose Season Open. Yesterday was the first open day for shooting moose and a large number of hunters for the big game took to the woods. Reports reached the city last night that three large moose were shot on the Shore Line and daily there will be reports of the big fellows being slain.

The Busy East. The September number of the Busy East Magazine appeared yesterday, and is being favorably commented upon in all quarters. This issue took the form of a special builders' number, and contained full descriptions of most of the construction work now under way in the Maritime Provinces. The boosters' paper is better than ever.

Y. M. C. A. Secretary in China. Arthur Rush, one of the national secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association in China, will arrive in the city at noon today and will speak on Sunday at the morning service in German street Baptist church, and in the evening at Centenary church. Mr. Rush is thoroughly conversant with Far Eastern affairs, and presents the work with singular ability.

Was the List Padded? William Stanley, of 85 Hawthorne Avenue, ex-business agent of the Longshoremen's Association, desires The Standard to state that he has not signed Mr. Pugsley's nomination papers. On the list as published there appeared the name of William Stanley, and the gentleman on Hawthorne Avenue is not the man. There have been reports that the nomination papers of the Grit candidates were padded, but this is the first case which has come to light since their publication. There are probably others.

Junk Stealers in Court. In the police court yesterday afternoon the case of George Wiley and Richard McCausland arrested on suspicion of stealing a quantity of scrap iron from the old ferry Quaggonody, was resumed. McCausland had given evidence that he was home when he was supposed by the police to have been in a boat and his mother and sister corroborated his testimony. The prisoner was discharged. The prosecution stated that they had further evidence to bring up against Wiley, and he was remanded to jail again.

Mr. Flemming Denies. Hon. J. K. Flemming, the provincial secretary, was at the Victoria yesterday. Speaking of the report in the Times of an alleged interview with a clergyman, in which the clergyman is quoted as saying that Mr. Flemming remarked to him last February that reciprocity was what Canada, and particularly the Maritime Provinces wanted, Mr. Flemming said: "To the best of my knowledge I never made any such statement. The story was made out of whole cloth, like the story that I had said something similar to Frank Clements."

A Juvenile Promiser. Wm. Pugsley, Jr., and John A. Barry handed out a bunch of promises to the few electors gathered in the Orange hall, Fairfield last evening. William, Jr., seems to be even a more promising young man than was his father, who has dealt in this commodity all his life. Not even the brilliant imagination of the most rabid Grit organ could apply the adjective "enthusiastic" to the gathering last evening. Curiosity prompted those present to attend and the general sentiment at the close of proceedings seemed to indicate that in the estimation of those who heard him, the budding politician was a chip off the old block.

Wm. J. Bryan Lecture. Tickets may be secured at Nelson's and Watson's boot stores and Burpee & Brown's drug store. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents. Reserved seat tickets may be exchanged at Opera House today and Monday.

PUGSLEY'S PROMISES WERE NOT WORTH BANKING UPON

The Times' Yelping About G. T. P. Subsidizing Companies and Courtney Bay Merely Buncombe—One Company which Would Not Take Up Its Option.

The Times is making much political capital out of the statement that subsidiary companies of the Grand Trunk Pacific have secured land in the vicinity of Courtney Bay for improvement work just what subsidiary companies, and what land the Times has in mind is doubtful, but the statement is nevertheless made, and reiterated. A careful investigation of these assertions has been made, resulting in the discovery that an option was sold to one of these companies by John McGuire, Marsh Bridge, on his property in the vicinity of Courtney Bay, for the sum of one dollar. The transaction was made on January 21st, 1911, and the option expired on September 1st. No effort has been made to secure a renewal. No further deals of a similar nature have been made, as far as can be learned, and the fact that this company were willing to lose their deposit will put into the hands of the discoverer their opinion of the chances of St. John becoming the terminus of the railway.

LOOK OUT FOR KNAVERY ON THE DAY OF ELECTION

Grits Becoming Daily More Desperate. will Resort to Anything to Stem the Rapidly Rising Tide Against Them.

Evidence of the desperate straits to which the Liberal party is reduced, is supplied by the unscrupulous means employed by the heeled to swing every possible vote. The government is not prepared to take chances. Realizing the pitch to which anti-reciprocity sentiment has risen in this country, they are bringing every available influence to bear upon the more mercenary class of voters to prevent them from endorsing the Conservative ticket. Besides the stereotypical displays which have now developed into a regular feature of the campaign, other ingenious methods of beguiling the innocent voter have been devised. For example, automobiles and motor boats are available for those whose allegiance is doubtful, to convey them to the country over election day. By this means they are relieved of the stress and strain of the night, and incidentally of the trouble of voting.

This is identically the same manoeuvre that was adopted by the Liberals in 1908, when a number of Conservatives were marooned at Spruce Lake, and would have remained there until after the closing of the polls had not some of their friends hearing of their plight, gone to the rescue. Funds are not lacking to buy the purchasable votes, but so hopeless is the cause that the Liberals doubt the sincerity even of those who have bought. The old substitute will be repeated on the 21st. Voters who have taken money for their ballots will be challenged at the polls to avoid any chance of their using the franchise for the best interest of the country. The ward heeler is by no means inactive. A house to house canvass is being made on behalf of the Liberal candidates, and neither pains nor money are being spared to win over every vote. One instance is recorded where a laboring man on returning home at night found an envelope awaiting him, with the information that it had been left by a grit heeler. On opening the envelope it was found to contain a five dollar bill. American Gold for Reciprocity. Even the candidates of the party seem to be lacking in inclination to confine themselves to facts. In the course of his nomination speech at the Sussex nomination proceedings, Dr. McAllister denied that he had made a certain statement with which W. B. Jones had charged him. The statement was to the effect that McAllister had told an elector of Portage that he (McAllister) would win out through the efforts of American trusts and corporations who would swamp the Conservative candidate with the funds they are sending into the country.

CAMPAIGN IN CITY GOING WITH SWING

Conservative Ward Rooms Filled Every Evening with Enthusiastic Workers who Realize that Victory is Near

As the campaign draws to a close excitement is running higher in all the city wards. Last evening the Conservative headquarters for Dukes, Queens, Kings and Sydney wards were packed to the doors and a general feeling of satisfaction as to the manner in which the campaign is going was prevalent among all the workers. Never have the people of St. John given so much of their time to the discussion of political matters and the issues at stake. They realize that this question of Reciprocity is one which is bound to affect the destiny of the nation. They have finished the supervision of the lists and all is ready for the great day when the people of Canada are going to show the Laurier administration that they never will submit to a pact which is detrimental to the markets of the Dominion and which they have the power to reject by the privilege given them at the polls.

The Best Shoe in America

For the money is what we are offering. Each and every pair is guaranteed to give satisfaction. Call and see the New Styles. This seems to indicate that the campaign tales of the Liberal organs about American trust money being poured into Canada to defeat reciprocity were merely a sham to cover the perjury of their own party. Does not this show more clearly than anything else the predicament in which the Liberals find themselves? If desperate and unscrupulous means can win votes we will have reciprocity with the United States after election day. But Canada is not so easily bought. Whether the party motor boats and five dollar bills can be served up as substitutes for legitimate arguments is a question for the electors to decide on the 21st.
