

The Semi-Weekly Telegraph

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1905

NO. 81

RIGGS ATTEMPTS SUICIDE TWICE

Despondent Over Four Years' Sentence for Threatening Miss Clark

TRIED POISON FIRST

Then Beat Head Against Cell Bars--Farewell Letter Left for Girl Whom He Annoyed--Rev. Mr. Rideout Performed Four Marriages Wednesday--Other News of Fredericton.

Fredericton, N. B., June 29--(Special)--George Riggs, who was today convicted and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary, for writing threatening letters to Miss Besie Clark, made a desperate attempt to end his life in the county jail this evening by swallowing a dose of horse powder, containing morphine which he had concealed upon his person.

Fortunately he was discovered before the poison had the chance to work, and taken out into the jail yard and given exercise. Dr. G. J. McNulty was called and administered medicine which had the desired effect.

The prisoner, on being returned to his cell, made a second attempt to kill himself by pounding his head against the bed post. He said that he was tired of living and was bound to commit suicide. Upon being searched by the jailer lances used for bleeding horses were found concealed in his clothing.

Before swallowing the poison he wrote a touching note to the young lady he has been annoying, in which he bade her farewell and stated that he was giving up his life for her.

The prisoner will be removed to the penitentiary tomorrow and in the meantime a sharp watch will be kept on him. It seems to be that general opinion that the fellow is mentally unbalanced.

Weddings Galore.

At the Free Baptist parsonage on Wednesday Rev. A. A. Rideout united in marriage Alexander McFarlane, of this city, and Miss Mabel Edney, of New Brunswick.

At the Free Baptist parsonage on Wednesday, June 29th, Rev. A. A. Rideout performed a ceremony which united Thomas E. Mitchell, of this city, and Grace Munn, daughter of Samuel Mitchell, of Marystown. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, after spending a week in Calais, will make their future home in Marystown. They left for Calais last night.

At the Free Baptist parsonage on Wednesday Geo. S. Lacey, of Clarendon Station, Queens county, and Mrs. Miss Humphrey, of this city, were united in marriage. They will live at Clarendon. Rev. A. A. Rideout performed the ceremony.

At the home of Miss Alice Pond, Needham street, Otis Carr and Miss Vina Till, both of Burton, were united in marriage. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. A. A. Rideout. Miss Louise Till was bridesmaid, while Howard Harvey performed the duties of best man. Mr. and Mrs. Carr left last evening for their home in Burton. Dr. James Henry will leave here next week to commence his work in connection with archives of the maritime provinces. Dr. Hagmy will go to Halifax, where he will be for two or three months. From Halifax he goes to Sydney, and thence to Prince Edward Island. He will return to Fredericton for the session of the legislature, which it is understood will open in February. In April he expects to go to England to continue his work as archivist.

At the Cathedral last evening John Edgar Kirk, son of the late John Kirk, led to the altar Miss Gertrude Hazlett, daughter of John Hazlett, Queens Park. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Dean Partridge. The bride was becomingly attired in cream crepe de chene, with applique trimmings. She wore a bridal tulle veil with orange blossoms, and was unattended.

The assessors have made up the roll for the ensuing year. Per hundred dollars this year on property and income is $5.31 and the poll tax is $6.69. The amount assessed is $100,000. Fred B. McGeorge is the heaviest individual taxpayer, his assessment being $928.23.

MONCTON LADS NABBED ON STEALING CHARGE

St. John and Moncton Parties to Tour British Isles--Y. M. C. C. Ball Team to Play Halifax.

Moncton, N. B., June 29--(Special)--Miss Barton, of Victoria school, and Miss Bertha Lewis will leave tomorrow night for Rimouski where they take a steamer en route for England on a tour of the British Isles. They will be joined here by Andrew Gibson and daughter, of St. John, and Mrs. Macnamara, of Albert. The party will visit the leading places in Great Britain together, being absent about two months.

Two lads named McDermott and Thomas were arrested this afternoon on a charge of stealing goods from C. Elliott's gunshop.

Y. M. C. C. base ball team will go to Halifax tomorrow to play two games Saturday with the Crescents.

In the local league tonight the Trojans defeated the Frankies 4 to 1.

Pictou Conservatives Choose Candidates.

Halifax, N. S., June 29--(Special)--At a Conservative convention held at Pictou today to select candidates to contest the county at the next provincial election, C. E. Shaw, Geo. E. Munro and J. M. Bell were chosen.

MUTINEERS BOMBARD ODESSA; CZAR PROCLAIMS TOWN IN STATE OF WAR

TERRIBLE WORK OF GEORGIA MOB

Drag Nine Prisoners from Jail and Shoot Eight Dead

ALL VICTIMS NEGROES

Seventy-five Men Overpower Jailor and the Rest Was Easy--Two of the Men Were Only in Jail for Minor Offences, But the Other Six Were Charged With Murder of Man and Wife.

Watkinsville, Ga., June 29--A mob entered the jail at Watkinsville this morning at 2 o'clock and took nine prisoners, eight of whom were shot to death and the other escaped only by being thought dead by the mob. The prisoners killed were Lon J. Aycock, white, charged with the murder of F. M. Holbrook, and wife, of Oconee county.

Richard Robinson, Lewis Robinson, Claud Elder, negroes, charged with the murder of the Holbrook couple.

Sandy Price, a negro, charged with attempt to assault Mrs. Weldon Dooley.

Richard Allen, a negro, convicted and under sentence of death for murder.

Gene Yerby, negro, charged with theft, and Bob Harris, a negro charged with shooting another negro.

The mob of seventy-five men, heavily masked, came into Watkinsville quietly. The men went at once to the house of Town Marshal L. H. Aiken, overpowered him and took him to the jail. The jail was opened by the town marshal under the cover of pistols and, inside the jail, the mob held up Jailer Crow and secured his keys to the cells. Jailer Crow begged hard for Aycock on the same ground that Aycock was not charged with any crime, but they told him they were going to clear out the whole jail.

They got every prisoner in the jail except Ed. Thresher, a negro, charged with gambling. The mob then carried the prisoners to a point some 100 yards from the jail and tied them to fence posts by their necks. Aycock protested his innocence, but they told him they were going to clear out the whole jail.

The other prisoners, who did not speak during their march to their doom. After the prisoners had been tied to the fence posts the mob lined up and fired five volleys into their bodies. All died without a struggle with the exception of Joe Patterson, a negro who was killed by pointing a gun at Albert Ward. He was shot several times in the body, but was alive after the mob left and will recover.

The mob left quietly after doing its work.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN FINISH SESSION

Mrs. McLean of Lorneville Elected President--Next Place of Meeting Likely St. John.

Fredericton, June 29--At this morning's session of the St. John Presbyterian women's society, Mrs. McLean of Lorneville was elected president for the ensuing year. The next place of meeting is likely St. John.

At this afternoon's session a delegation from the Methodist church attended and presented fraternal greetings. Mrs. F. P. Thompson acted as spokesman and Mrs. King replied. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. J. Hunter Boyd, Mrs. McLean of Lorneville, and Miss Jessie Cummings.

The visitors were entertained on a very pleasant drive about the city by the ladies of St. Paul's Auxiliary this afternoon.

This evening's session wound up the business of the meeting. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. McLean, Lorneville; vice-president, Mrs. Macdram; secretary, Mrs. Hunter Boyd, Wascoville; treasurer, Mrs. McFarlane, Nashwaakias.

The usual standing committees were appointed and a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies of St. Paul's church for hospitable entertainment provided for the delegates was heard.

The meeting was adjourned, a pressing invitation was received from St. John for the next meeting and will likely be accepted.

A Double Hanging

Lancaster, Pa., June 29--Lee Parman and John O'Brien were hanged here today for the murder of Samuel Rosler, an aged toll-gate keeper on the night of July 1, 1904.

Water Front in Flames; Sailors and Strikers Prevent Attempts to Stop the Conflagration

Cossacks Shoot Down Hundreds With Machine Guns, and the Dead Are Hauled Away in Wagon Loads--Another Ship Captured by Crew--Part of Squadron Ordered to Relief of Odessa Reported to Have Mutinied--Orders Are to Sink Battleship if She Will Not Surrender--Mysterious Delay About Fleet Leaving Sebastopol.

Odessa, June 29--The crew of a government transport which arrived here today from Nickolief mutinied, seized their officers, and joined the crew of the battleship, to whom they turned over the captain and other officers of the transport. It is reported that the foreign consuls have applied to their respective governments to send warships to Odessa.

MUTINEERS STILL HOLD THEIR SHIP

St. Petersburg, June 29--8.05 p. m.--Another untimed despatch received this evening from Odessa, and which may have been delayed by the authorities, says: "The mutineers of the battleship Kniaz Potemkin still hold the ship. Admiral Kruger's squadron has not arrived here."

"Another fire is destroying the shipping in the harbor and the buildings along the shore; and in the streets a continuous rattle of small arms is heard. The military are shooting into the crowds, which are panic stricken, and rushing hither and thither for shelter. The number of victims is large."

CZAR PROCLAIMS STATE OF WAR

St. Petersburg, June 29--The emperor has issued the following ukase, addressed to the ruling senate: "In order to guarantee public safety and to terminate the disorders at Odessa and neighboring localities we have found it necessary to declare a state of war in Odessa and district and to invest the commander of the troops in the military district of Odessa with the rights of military authority and special rights of civil administration for the defence of order and public tranquility."

SURRENDER OR SINK ORDERS

St. Petersburg, June 29--It is reported that the volunteer fleet cruiser Saratoff has been burned at Odessa.

Admiral Kruger's squadron is expected to arrive at Odessa tonight. His orders are to summon the Kniaz Potemkin to surrender and on refusal to sink her, after which he is to assist in restoring order in the town.

A DESPERATE SITUATION

St. Petersburg, June 30--2.50 a. m.--The Russian government, which has been almost paralyzed by the terrible events at Odessa and the news that the sailors at Libau also have mutinied, is making desperate and even frantic efforts to meet the situation and to stamp out the flames of revolution before they can spread to the army, which is now the last bulwark of the monarchy.

With Poland red with the spirit of revolt, the Caucasus already almost in a state of civil war, agrarian disorders spreading rapidly; the whole country profoundly stirred and the intelligent classes solidly arrayed against the government, and conditions seem ripe for the long-predicted revolution.

The first act of the government, after dispatching Admiral Kruger's squadron from Sebastopol, whose mutineers have now been joined by the crews of the two torpedo boats which accompanied it to Odessa, to surrender under the threat of firing upon and sinking the vessel. This was followed by the declaration of martial law at Odessa and Libau and the closing of the military commissars with plenary powers.

Great fear is expressed that many regiments are homebound with sedition and there is grave doubt of their loyalty should they be called upon to fire on the revolutionists.

What effect the news of the happenings at Odessa will have upon the troops and the people in general is problematical and is puzzling the press. The precautions taken by the authorities to keep the news from the public have been in vain, the revolutionaries and the Liberals everywhere spreading it by word of mouth, and within twenty-four hours, it will be known in the uttermost corners of European Russia. When the news reaches the armies in Manchuria, it is bound to create a deep depression.

At the admiralty, where the temper of the Black Sea sailors is known, the orders sent to Admiral Kruger's squadron were by no means unanimously approved. Among others, Vice Admiral Skrydloff openly expressed the opinion that the blue jackets of Kruger's squadron would not fire on their comrades on board the Kniaz Potemkin, but that on the contrary they might revolt should they be ordered to shoot.

Fire Sweeping Odessa Water Front.

St. Petersburg, June 29--A state of rage has been declared in the city. The conflagration is sweeping along the harbor front, the sailors and strikers refusing to permit attempts to extinguish the flames. Three uninsured ships of the Pan-Russian Company have been destroyed.

HINTS AT STATE LIFE INSURANCE

Sir Richard Cartwright Says Government May Have to Consider It

DEBATE IN SENATE

McMullen Withdraws Bill to Restrain Life Companies from Investing in Trust Company Securities, After Assurance That Hon. Mr. Fielding is to Take Up the Question During Recess.

Ottawa, June 29--(Special)--In the senate today Mr. McMullen moved the second reading of the bill to amend the insurance act as regards the investment of funds of life insurance companies in securities of trust companies. He did this to protect insurers, in view of the facts connected with companies on the other side of the line. Life insurance was one of the most important matters and the laws pertaining to them should be amended as necessary from time to time. Canadian societies were well guarded.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell thought Mr. McMullen's speech might give wrong impression as to the value of the securities held. There was no more important matter than life insurance, but Mr. McMullen's bill would not reach its object. There were no more solid companies than the Canadian trust companies. The danger was not in allowing shareholders in life insurance companies to become shareholders in trust companies, but in life insurance companies forming themselves into trust companies which had been done before in the past.

Sir Richard Cartwright said it was impossible to exaggerate the importance of the question of life insurance. He believed the present amount of insurance was some $700,000,000 or $800,000,000, three or four times the amount of the national debt. Every government had carefully safeguarded the insured.

He believed that Mr. Fielding intended to look into the whole matter. He believed the attention of the government had been called to recent events arising from the accumulation of large funds by certain companies in investment in trust company funds, he drew attention to the very wide range of stocks, etc., in which insurance companies might invest. He would call the colleagues' attention to the matter and asked that the second reading be not pressed.

In view of this statement the bill was withdrawn.

The bill giving running rights to the I. C. R. over the C. A. R. was read a third time.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL HEAR ANNUAL REPORT

Mrs. Thomson, the President, Alludes to Benefit Obtained by the Organization--Lady Aberdeen Sends Regards.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 29--(Special)--At the meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, the president, Mrs. Thomson, presented her address. She said that the council filled the need felt everywhere of systematic organization. Much had been done towards forming societies for the improvement of sanitary conditions and general health of communities, especially with respect to infants and children.

Among the events of the year was an invitation to the national council to attend the convention at Washington, D. C. A cable was read from Lady Aberdeen extending affectionate greetings and expressing sincere regret at her absence.

The corresponding secretary reported that an earnest attempt had been made during the year to have the same ladies apply to women working in factories extended to offices. Much had been done towards the betterment of the poor. It is expected that bureau registration for trained nurses will soon be established. A good deal has been accomplished towards improvement of the marriage laws.

The vice-presidents of the province reported the establishment of consolidated schools at Tryon and Hillsboro. Mrs. McNaughton, for Quebec, said that the French and English ladies worked harmoniously together, doing much towards obtaining instruction in domestic science in schools, succeeding in having one young lady sent to Paris each year in order to be fitted for instruction.

A long discussion followed re-necessity of a public health organization aimed at making clothing for the poor. An animated discussion took place over a resolution brought in by Mrs. Duggan, president of the Women's Art Association of Canada, asking the council to request the dominion government that Miss Wallace's pictures be obtained in the next purchase of pictures for the Ottawa art gallery.

Appointed Organist at Dorchester Penitentiary.

Ottawa, Ont., June 29--Miss Lucy McGowan has been appointed organist of the penitentiary at Dorchester (N. B.).

SOLDIER IN QUAD IN CAMP SUSSEX

Private Under Arrest Charged With Insulting His Superior Officer

FINE WEATHER AND BUSY DAY

The Various Arms of the Service in Active Work Thursday--Veterans of Many Battlefields Among the Redcoats--The Work of the Signalmen and Army Service Corps.

Sussex, June 29--(Special)--This morning was radiant, but the dark shadow of insubordination rested on the camp.

Private Walsh, of the 73rd Regiment, North Shore, is in the guard tent, charged with an offence for which other men have stood blindfolded before a firing squad, at break of day. But Private Walsh's hair is short, and that fact may serve to mitigate the seriousness of his transgression.

The commandant will doubtless perceive this, and also realize that the highest degree of justice is always tempered with mercy; so it may not be rash to indulge in the hope that the prisoner's days are as yet unnumbered.

He is charged with insulting his superior officer--always a monstrous violation of regulations, when in face of the enemy. He was evidently unable to comprehend the beauty of discipline, which is unusual, for he claims to be a veteran of the Boer war.

So far as he became an officer's officer--always a monstrous violation of regulations, when in face of the enemy. He was evidently unable to comprehend the beauty of discipline, which is unusual, for he claims to be a veteran of the Boer war.

So far as he became an officer's officer--always a monstrous violation of regulations, when in face of the enemy. He was evidently unable to comprehend the beauty of discipline, which is unusual, for he claims to be a veteran of the Boer war.

REPORT OF SECOND CANADIAN MAIL SERVICE TO BRITAIN

London, June 30--3.45 a. m.--A despatch which arrived here this morning from Sebastopol announced that a squadron of battleships, the Tri Sviatitsa, Sinsop and Kozlovsk, with a cruiser and several torpedo boats, only started for Odessa at 8 o'clock last evening.

This explains the non-appearance of the squadron at Odessa, but it is difficult to conjecture the reason for delaying the departure two days at such a critical juncture.

Warriors of Bloody Fields There.

There is a lavish sprinkling of old service men in camp. An scores of breast you see the ribbon of South Africa, and of other regions in which Downing street has seen fit to make war.

There's Sergt-Major Kilburn, of No. 1 Company Canadian Engineers, commanded by Major Tompkins. Across the left breast of the sergeant-major's khaki coat stretches some thing resembling last night's rainbow in miniature. The vivid bits of cloth tell of the Sudan and Transvaal, and many additional events sandwiched in between the campaigns of '81 and '01. He's had more than twenty-one years of continuous service, looks young and lithe, seems engrossed in his profession, belongs to the I. S. C. C. hulls from Cham-ham (Eng.), and runs no danger of losing his accent. The whole story is summed up in his general pose, the crown on his sleeve, and the colors on his coat.

The engineers, to which the sergeant-major is attached number 192 men and 30 horses, Odette Layton, Pure and Stearns of the Kingston Military College, are also attached, and the officers of the corps and Bearer Corps officers' mess together.

The Signal Corps. Lieut. Powers' signalling corps have had a strenuous morning. They teach you how to signal in a variety of ways, and men proficient in the art can converse with each other, though miles apart. The telescope, however, might be considered a valuable adjunct. The instructor of the corps is Sergeant Leavitt, formerly of the 2nd Contingent, and the first lesson he teaches you is the lesson of learning (Continued on page 10.)

FROM A LUMBER TO THE MARITIME PROVINCES

FREDERICTON

Fredericton, N. B., June 28.—The trial of George Riggs, charged with writing threatening letters to Miss Clark, was commenced this morning before Judge Landy and jury at York Circuit Court. J. H. Barry, K. C., and A. R. Slipp appeared for the crown, and the prisoner being unable for some reason to procure the services of counsel was compelled to conduct his own defence.

The witnesses examined by the crown were Benoit Clark, Col. Marsh, J. Hal Methey, John M. Wiley, Helen Clark, J. B. Hawthorne and Policeman Redout. The letters alleged to have been written by the accused to Miss Clark were put in evidence and his handwriting was identified by several witnesses.

The prisoner gave evidence in his own behalf this afternoon and absolutely denied that he had written any letters. He gave an account of his doing since 1901 and admitted that he had been sent to the penitentiary from St. John for threatening to injure his brother, but claimed he was drunk at the time the offence was committed and remembered nothing about it.

Under crown examination by Mr. Barry he became badly rattled and contradicted himself a number of times. Contrary to the usual custom the crown counsel addressed the jury first and Riggs spoke a few words in reply, denying his guilt.

When court adjourned at 9 o'clock the judge had not finished his charge to the jury.

The annual meeting of the St. John Presbyterian in connection with the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, opened here today with over fifty delegates in attendance. An address of welcome was read by Mrs. J. H. Hore, followed by reports from the various societies.

At this afternoon's session the president, Mrs. Macdonald, delivered an address reviewing the work of the year in an inspiring manner. She revealed the outlook for the future as very bright.

Treasurer Mrs. McFarlane reported that nearly $3,000 had been collected during the year for home and foreign missions.

Mrs. John Thompson, of St. John, read an instructive paper on "The Lord's Prayer and Why Needed." An address on missions was given by Miss McCully, of Truro, brought the proceedings to a close.

The local auxiliary were to have entertained the visitors to a drive about the city, but on account of wet weather it had to be postponed until tomorrow.

This evening a well attended public meeting, presided over by Mrs. Leo Johnson, was held in the St. John church. The speakers were Rev. Jas. Ross, of St. John West, and Miss McCully, returned missionary from Corea. A musical programme was also carried out.

At the annual sale of "no mark" and "mixed mark" lumber of the Fredericton Boom Company took place this morning at the office of A. F. Randolph & Sons.

171,820 feet, had been rafted. The terms of sale were similar to those of the Boom Company's sale. W. H. Murray bid at $8.00 per thousand.

Fred. B. Edgecombe then offered about 3,000,000 feet of spruce owned by the firm of Edgecombe & Eaton. The lumber is the balance of unsold logs owned by the firm. Bidding on this lumber was fairly brisk. W. H. Murray's bid was $12.10 per thousand, but Mr. Edgecombe bid $12.20 and holds the lumber. This lumber will probably be disposed of at private sale.

Another result of the recent visit of Superintendent Ross, of the post office department, to this city is being enjoyed. The train arriving here at 10.40 p. m. now brings the mails from up river and Charlotte county points, including St. Stephen, St. Andrews, Woodstock and Edmundston.

The wharf committee held a regular session on Monday evening. It was decided to defer the building of Phoenix Square wharf, the lumber for which was to have been purchased at the sale of "no mark" logs today.

The work at the booms will be discontinued at the end of this week. The men have enough work to last them until Friday or Saturday only. This morning Messrs. Jewett, Murray, Miller and other St. John lumbermen went to the Michiche boom in the Boom Company's steamer Latonia and looked over the work there. They made the trip after the sale of no mark logs.

The total rafting operations for the season, unless there is a rise of water sufficient to bring out some more logs, at the Michiche boom and Sugar Island booms will be about 20,000,000 feet.

At the annual meeting of the St. John Baptist church, held at the residence of W. H. Murray, on Sunday, June 26th, the following officers were elected: Dr. H. Palmer, of Grand Lake, Queens county, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ritchie, of West St. Martin's, come to St. John for a few weeks here with her aunt, Mrs. John Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hanford Brock, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. Bradshaw. Vernon McComber will stop this morning to the McDaniel Junction.

A number of the enterprising farmers of Little Beach and Fairview have purchased cream separators.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, of St. John, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McCurdy.

Henry Lewis is holding revival services in the vicinity of Killam's Mills.

M. S. Keith, of Moncton, returned home this morning after spending Sunday at Killam's Mills.

The Sussex Mercantile Company after giving their store a complete renovating job engaged digging a cellar the whole size of the building which will be about 115 feet in length and some 27 feet wide. The cell of the building has a cellar now.

Mr. and Mrs. Duxberry, of Moncton, have just returned home after a visit to Mrs. Duxberry's old home in Steeves Settlement.

James Carson, aged 87, a respected farmer of Springhill, K. C., was buried on Sunday. Service was held by Rev. Jos. Pascoe in the Methodist church here. There was a large gathering present to see his last respects to their relative and friend. He leaves five sons and three daughters, all married.

At the annual school meeting at Upper Ridge, Stanley Albert was re-elected trustee and the usual amount voted for school purposes.

Mr. Delong, teacher of the Havelock Superior School, will sever his connection with the school at the close of the present term. Miss Bessie Howard will take Miss Jamison's place in the primary department and Mrs. McCluskey will be in charge of one of the primary departments.

Grand Falls, June 24.—John Coishin, who came down from Ottawa on Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. J. F. McCuskey, this morning left on the express train for Boston.

Mr. Parviss is building a neat and commodious residence on the terrace, in the rear of the C. P. tracks, and will have it ready for occupancy within a few weeks.

A large tow boat for service on the St. John is being built at the lower basin, and will be ready for launching in a few days.

Wild strawberries are now ripe in this vicinity, and have already appeared in the market in small quantities. The berries are ready to sell at twenty-five cents a quart.

Pat. Quinn, a tonsorial artist from St. John, has opened a barber shop in Gabe Point's store on Main street.

Mrs. F. H. Wheeler and child, of West St. John, intend to pass the summer months in Grand Falls, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kipparick.

A trot will be held on the Grand Falls trotting park tomorrow under the auspices of R. J. McKee, Sammie Loyd, Wm. Frier and W. J. Boyce. Purse totaling $100 will be contested for. A large crowd is expected to attend the races.

Alfred Burgess, of Burgess & Sons, returned today from a business trip to Salmon River.

Rev. J. P. Manning, C. S. C., and T. H. Manning, of Fort Fairfield (Me.), were visitors to town on Saturday.

W. H. Smith and W. J. Nagle, of St. John, passed Sunday in town, guests at the Carleton hotel.

Dr. Frank Kilburn, of Presque Isle, was in town several days last week.

Lord's Day Alliance gave an address. Among other things he referred to the Sunday street car service, Sunday excursions, Sunday letter writing, post offices being open at certain hours Sunday, and said he had heard it whispered that the Chatham post office was open part of the Lord's Day. He compared the Sabbath observance in Canada with that of other countries and showed that the sanctity of the day was better preserved here, than elsewhere.

Miss Blanche MacLean has graduated in stenography and typewriting at the Mack Business College.

Chatham, June 27.—Mrs. James Nowlan died at her home at Beunamin Saturday after a lingering illness. She leaves a husband and four daughters. Funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

A meeting of the ratepayers of the town was held in the Masonic hall last evening for the purpose of considering the advisability of issuing debentures to cover certain former and proposed expenditures.

Mayor Nicol presided and our new town clerk, P. J. McIntyre, acted as secretary. After the mayor had clearly and concisely explained the meeting and the considerable discussion took place, it was moved and carried that debentures to the amount of $11,100 be issued to pay for the electric light station, was lost, and the debentures that were to be deferred until the opinion of an expert be obtained was carried.

On Saturday Earle Freaker met with a very painful accident at the pulp mill. His right hand came into contact with a rapidly revolving fan, two of his fingers were broken and his hand was badly injured. While at work at Richards' mill near the dam, James Leggett was struck by a moving mill with a wheel.

Moncton, N. B., June 28.—The funeral of Mrs. George McKenna, of B. S. McKenna, in the seventy-fifth year of her age. Deceased was an uncle of Hon. A. G. Blair, and was a resident of Halifax, but for the past year he resided here with his son. Deceased is survived by a young son, George McKenna, clerk in the I. C. R. audit office.

Moncton, N. B., June 28.—(Special)—A. E. Peters was married this evening to Miss Lida Kincaid. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kincaid. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kincaid. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kincaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Melatchy, James McKee, of the I. C. R. freight claims department, was married this evening to Miss Lida Kincaid, daughter of Jas. D. Gibson, of the I. C. R. Rev. Mr. Allaby performed the ceremony.

A young man named Janie LeBlanc was sentenced to three months in jail, this afternoon for stealing from a house in which she had been employed as domestic.

The police are looking for the thieves who broke into the restaurant on lower Main street. Quite a lot of stuff was stolen last night.

The Amherst Ramblers will play the A. A. A. baseball team here on July 1st. The game will be at 8 o'clock.

The Imperial Coal Company are bringing miners from Port Hood, (C. B.), to work in their mine at Beaverville.

Hopewell Hill, June 27.—Chief Justice Tuck presided at the June session of the Albert circuit, which was held at the Hopewell Hill court house. The business and only one case on the civil docket, that of Albert J. Gray vs. Stillman Ayles, an action of trespass. The members of the Hopewell Hill baseball team were defeated by the team of Moncton, and by A. W. Bray. The grand jury were John J. Steves, foreman; H. E. Graves, Alonzo Abbott, Wm. D. Collier, Wm. D. Collier, Alfred Gaskin, Spurgeon Lander, Heber J. Steves, Clifford Steves, Jordan Steves, Heber Colpitts, Chas. Colpitts, Heber Wilson, Frederick Ross, Frank Brennan, Jeremiah Steves, Ezra Q. Barber, Albert S. Mitton, G. V. Peck, P. W. F. Brewster, J. Edgar Martin. Following the case of H. B. Lander vs. Wm. D. Collier, the grand jury returned a non-jury case and resulted in a verdict of $100 for plaintiff. The case was not defended.

Deer Island, Charlotte county, June 28.—Mrs. O. L. Haney returned from her home at Fairfield on Tuesday last.

RUSH OF BIDDERS FOR DURR'S HEARTS

He Has Two, and Advertises to Sell Them, Title to Pass at His Death. REFUSED $10,000 FOR ONE. He is Healthy, But Physicians Have Discovered His Abnormal Organ.

New Rochelle, N. Y., June 28.—Telegrams and telephone messages in answer to his advertisement to sell his body and two hearts to be delivered after his death, have kept A. Durr, of New Rochelle, busy today. It is known that Durr has been offered large sums for his body, but he refuses to take the amounts. None of the offers received so far has been accepted, nor is it likely that a choice will be made for some time, as he wishes to give the entire medical profession of the country a chance to entertain the proposition.

Durr is a carpenter. He is thirty-five years old, single, and the picture of health. He works every day, and leads a regular life. Up to a few years ago Durr had not known that he possessed two hearts. This was discovered when he called a physician to treat him for a slight attack of illness. Since then he has subjected himself to examinations by many of the best and most celebrated specialists in the country.

Recalling a prominent specialist offered Durr $10,000 if he would allow him to perform an operation and remove one of the hearts. This the carpenter declined to do, as he feared he might die and not be able to enjoy the money. If Durr succeeds in getting his price for his body the money will have to be paid over immediately and he will give the person a deed, good after death. It is said that Durr expects to receive several thousand dollars from some medical college for his hearts, as his case will be of great value to medical science.

Alliance at Beulah HAS BEGUN ITS WORK. A Report of the First Business Session—Officers and Committees Chosen—Ready for Camp Meetings.

Brown's Flats, June 28.—(Special) The annual meeting of the alliance of the Reformed Baptist Church of Canada is taking place this week at Beulah Camp ground. Brown's Flats. The first session was held Tuesday evening and consisted of a social service. The president, Rev. G. B. McDonald, read scripture and emphasized the thought of following Christ. Testimony interspersed with songs, was given.

This morning at 9 o'clock camp business sessions took place. The president occupied the chair and a good number of delegates were present; also the following ministers and deacons: Rev. J. G. Gray, J. H. Coy, A. H. Trafton, W. D. Wiggins, S. A. Baker, C. D. Trafton, H. H. Cosman, M. F. Trafton, Z. C. Grass, H. Archer, S. F. Trafton, G. B. McDonald, L. Barber and licentiate Henry S. Smith, I. F. Kierstead and H. F. Grass.

The following officers were elected: President, Rev. J. G. Gray; vice-president, Rev. S. A. Baker; recording secretary, Rev. A. L. Barber; assistant recording secretary, Rev. H. C. Archer; corresponding secretary, Rev. G. D. Trafton; treasurer, E. C. Gray; assistant treasurer, Rev. M. S. Trafton; auditor, W. D. Wiggins.

It was resolved to send a letter of thanks to Dr. N. E. Colter, post office inspector, for giving a daily mail during the alliance and camp meetings. The reports of the standing committees on Sabbath observance, temperance, Rev. H. H. Cosman, the treasurer of the executive and the treasurer of River Side Camp were adopted.

In the afternoon the nominating committee reported the following standing committees for 1906: "The Highway"—Rev. S. A. Baker, Rev. G. B. McDonald, W. D. Wiggins, Rev. A. L. Barber, Rev. M. S. Trafton and C. N. Goodspeed.

The Alliance executive—Rev. S. A. Baker, G. B. McDonald, W. D. Wiggins, G. B. McDonald and H. V. Nobles. Temperance—Rev. C. J. Trafton, Rev. B. Colpitts and Mrs. W. D. Wiggins.

Sabbath observance—Rev. H. H. Cosman, I. S. Kierstead and S. H. Clark. Camp meeting workers—Rev. G. B. McDonald, M. S. Trafton and W. D. Wiggins.

Committees were also appointed for the Tabernacle and grounds, the rooms, the hotel and the quarterly meeting. Miss Lottie and Helen Dixon spent Saturday with friends at Cummins Cove. Mrs. Wm. D. Collier, of Lobe, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thompson, Miss Allingham and Miss Maud Fountain spent Sunday at Kenad's Head.

MR. GEO. A. HUGHES "I FEEL AS GOOD AS I DID AT 20."

Many Suffer With Catarrh and Don't Know It. The Phase of Catarrh Most Prevalent in Summer is a Run Down, Worn Out Condition Known as Systemic Catarrh.

Peruna is the medicine for the Poor Man. Mr. Geo. A. Hughes, of New Rochelle, N. Y., writes: "Peruna has done more good than anything I have ever taken. I am forty-two years old now, and feel as good as I did at 20. I was very thin and run down, but Peruna acted just right in my case. I am a carpenter and some times need a tonic. Peruna is the medicine for a poor man."

Congressman Uses Peruna in His Family. Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, Member of Congress from Illinois, and Lieutenant of the Union Army for eight years, writes from the Lemon building, Washington, D. C., as follows: "Peruna has been used in my family with the very best results and I take pleasure in recommending your valuable remedy to my friends as a tonic and an effective cure for catarrh."

Catarrh assumes different phases in different seasons of the year. In the early summer systemic catarrh is most prevalent. That tired, all worn out feeling in nine cases out of ten is due to a bacterial condition of the mucous membranes. Peruna cleanses the mucous membranes and cures the catarrh wherever located. There are no remedies for catarrh just as good as Peruna. Accept no substitutes.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

RYAN HAS RISKED ALL ON THE DEAL

Powerful Financier That Vast Interests Are at Stake.

Chicago, Ill., June 27.—In his third letter to the Record-Herald on the Equitable situation, Walter Wellman says: "Thomas F. Ryan is the greatest plunger in town. He stands to make or break on this Equitable deal. It is a toss up as to which it will be."

This was the statement made to me by one of the most powerful leaders of the financial world—a man who knows Mr. Ryan and his career and character thoroughly, and to whom the inner secrets of the financial district are an open book.

Mr. Ryan's plans and hopes are thoroughly understood. What he aimed to do in this venture was to raise himself from second or third place in the world of finance to the very first rank. He wanted to reach the summit, but alluring empires on which stand the high and mighty few—Rockefellers, James Stillman, J. Pierpont Morgan, E. H. Harriman, George Gould, Henry H. Rogers, Jacob Schiff and August Belmont.

If he could do this at a jump it was worth $2,500,000. It warranted the risk of the stock, leaving Ryan and his $2,500,000 in the lurch. On the other hand, these current troubles may blow over. Paul Morton may be able to save the ship. In that case Ryan stands to win.

Mr. Ryan has not only the general ambition to become a king in the financial world, but he has a definite and particular ambition to become a king in the Equitable. This is nothing else than to combine all the transportation systems of New York into one vast trust with himself at the head of it.

In his amazing career there are two central facts. One is the extraordinary ability and energy of the man; his genius for money making for the peculiar promoting and combining activity which has marked the last decade not only in New York but throughout the world. The other is the use of political power as the base, the fulcrum, of all his operations in corporations and finance.

well might exceedingly valuable asset. What William C. Whitney was to Croker, Thomas Fortune Ryan is to Murphy. Murphy from all accounts is getting wealthier as fast as Croker did. Whoever seeks a fortune in the transportation line in New York must reckon with Tammany. That means he must reckon with Ryan. The secret of Ryan's mastery of Murphy is as much a mystery as was the secret of Whitney's dominance of Croker, but the fact remains.

Tammany is not as absolute as it was. The Tammany secret is not worth as much, though it is still worth a good deal. Hence Ryan's earnestness to stretch himself in other directions. He must gain other power than the purely political. He must become potent in the circles of "high finance."

Hence his purchase of a majority of the stock of the Equitable. That was a bid for power. That was a purchase of prestige or an attempt to purchase prestige. The man who aspires to kingship of a transportation trust embracing all New York and controlling its property companies, its stock, its transportation rival, with the Rothschilds back of him, was stronger, Harriman, with his mastery of the market of half the continental area, was in a class two or three degrees higher. But if he could add the Equitable to his string—the Equitable, with its subsidiary companies, its vast assets, its manipulative surplus—indeed, that would be different.

Hence, Mr. Ryan, "the greatest plunger in town," coolly drew his check for $2,500,000 and passed it over to two share holders more than a majority of the capital stock of the Equitable—$2,500,000 for 502 shares of stock which by law can net him only seven per cent. per year in dividends, or $35,140. From this standpoint it was a good transaction, an investment in prestige.

As to whether it is likely to be a good or a bad thing for the Equitable and the policy holders, that is another story. It is not necessarily a bad thing. There are many indications that it may turn out well.

Paul Morton, as a personal and character national, during the last fifteen years, embracing the Great Cleveland regime in the Democratic party and the country, will appear simple when referred back to the Whitney-Croker alliance, curiously but half understood.

Mr. Ryan's ambition to be king of transportation in New York has one practical Heo You should use the New Wash-Bal Machine? It will save you a lot of money and time. It is the best thing you can buy for your laundry.

Sunlight Soap brightens and cleanses everything it washes. Quite as good for cleaning houses as bold utensils as washing clothes.

FOOT ELM. Makes your feet healthy and comfortable.

Canada for Canadians. We have the greatest country in the world and a great future awaits us if we only prove loyal and patriotic.

CURZON MAY GET HIS WAY IN INDIA. A very pretty and quiet marriage was solemnized at the home of Henry T. Scholey, Centreville, on Tuesday, June 27.

Boys' Knicks. Figure it out—it's easy. Buy Boys' Knicks of Shoddy. Each box contains 100 pieces. Price $2.40. Buy Boys' Knicks of Hewson. Each box contains 100 pieces. Price $1.25.

OWNERSHIP OF OLD FUNDS BOTHERS N. S. TEMPERANCE BODY

Convention at Truro Resolves Itself Into Rightful Possession

Prohibition Resolution Adopted --Officers Elected--Miss Archibald Throws Bombshell by Urging Woman's Suffrage Resolution.

Truro, N. S., June 27--The afternoon session of the provincial temperance convention was a lively one, and many opinions were rife as to the manner of obtaining the one end--total prohibition. The discussion was general and at times quite warm. It culminated in the adoption of several resolutions.

A difficult and somewhat trying position presented itself in that there was some difference among the various temperance factions as to which organization was entitled to certain funds in a bank at the present time. A temperance alliance, which met at Halifax about two years ago, claimed a right to the money as being the alleged successor to the original prohibition convention in Truro in 1902, from which the money remained on hand. The grand scribe of the Sons of Temperance had blocked the payment of the money to the alliance. The difficulty was overcome by proclaiming the present convention the successor to all alliances and conventions previously held in Nova Scotia, to be known as the Nova Scotia Temperance Alliance; a constitution was adopted and the following officers elected:--

President--B. H. Eaton, Halifax.

Vice-president--Rev. H. R. Grant, Trenton.

Secretary--W. S. Saunders, Halifax.

Treasurer--A. B. Fletcher, Truro.

Executive committee--The officers and F. S. Cox, Annapolis; P. A. Cunningham, Antigonish; G. H. Crowe, Colchester; John A. Scott, Hants; Sydney Purdy, Cumberland; B. O. Dawson, Kings; Rev. Benj. Hills, Queens; Wm. Burrill, Yarmouth; A. Huxley, Halifax; J. R. Ruffee, Lunenburg; B. F. Lawson, Cape Breton; Dr. McAskill, Richmond; J. Morrison, Victoria; W. McDonald, Inverness; P. A. McGregor, Pictou; R. G. Irwin, Shelburne; A. Outhouse, Digby.

The purpose of the organization was set forth to be the securing of total prohibition of the liquor traffic in Nova Scotia. Probably the most important resolution adopted was:--

This convention, believing that in the present circumstances provincial prohibition is the best possible method of dealing with the liquor traffic resolves itself to endeavor to ascertain from the leaders of both political parties within thirty days, their attitude on the question and pledges itself to support the representatives of the party that undertake to immediately provide for the enactment and efficient enforcement of the strongest prohibitory legislation possible under our constitution. In event of the leaders refusing to commit themselves to provincial prohibition we pledge ourselves to work for the nomination and election of candidates irrespective of party who will pledge themselves to cast their votes for the enactment of prohibitory legislation when introduced by one of the other of their parties or by private member.

It was decided to ask the government to not grant licenses to any new breweries in Nova Scotia; and a resolution was also adopted protesting against any legislation that might be brought forward tending to the countenancing of the liquor traffic as a

THE TELEGRAPH-TIMES GOSS PRESS WHICH PRINTS 24,000 EIGHT, TEN OR TWELVE PAGE PAPERS AN HOUR.

The best three-deck 24-page press in the Dominion of Canada is now in operation in the Telegraph-Times press room, and may be seen at work any day between three and half-past three in the afternoon, or between four and five in the morning. The matines, when the Times is being printed, is of course the better opportunity for sightseers.

This machine, which was built specially for The Telegraph and The Times by the Goss Printing Press Company, of Chicago, has, as has been said, no equal at present in this country, for while there are similar machines in operation in Montreal and Toronto, they lack some of the latest attachments.

When printing from sixteen to twenty-four pages at once the Goss three-deck is fed by three rolls of paper, one for each deck. The speed for sixteen, twenty, or twenty-four pages is from 12,000 to 14,000 an hour.

Today's Telegraph, ten pages, is run off at the rate of 24,000 an hour, and an eight or twelve-page paper is turned out at the same speed, folded, and ready for the mail.

A special color attachment permits the use of colors when needed, as for the Saturday edition, when special features are added. Color may be used, of course, on any day, but in the main it will be employed only on Saturdays. Of sixteen pages four may be colored, and one hue may be given to the first page and quite another hue to the eighth, ninth or sixteenth. This allows of the novel and artistic production of such pages as figure in the newspapers of the great cities.

With this press color work was done last Saturday for the first time in this province on a newspaper press, and both in speed, finish and variety of accomplishment this Goss machine is far in advance of any newspaper press in the Maritime Provinces.

The Telegraph has been enlarged to meet the pressure of an increased news service and advertising patronage, and more local, provincial and outside telegraphic news will appear daily hereafter. The Associated Press service covers an immense field, but in addition to this The Telegraph is increasing its list of special correspondents. The New York despatches which appear exclusively in these columns and which have attracted much attention are written by a Canadian journalist who is engaged on the staff of one of the great metropolitan dailies and who is in touch with all the big news of the day. His knowledge of Canada and Canadian tastes and affairs gives him a great advantage for this work.

With a magnificent mechanical equipment and a willingness to spend money to get all the news and illustrate it whenever possible, The Telegraph and The Times intend to keep things moving.

legal traffic especially striking at the Goltzberg system.

Miss Jessie B. Archibald, of Truro, caused quite a sensation by asking permission to address the convention and by bringing forward woman's suffrage in strong terms. She urged a resolution committing the convention to work for legislation in favor of it, and a resolution was introduced by Dimock Archibald, of Amherst. Consideration was the result, and a motion to postpone the resolution by way of shoving it was voted to a tie. President Eaton voting to have the resolution set aside.

This evening a large public mass meeting was held, and strong temperance addresses were given by Rev. H. R. Grant of Trenton; Rev. Joseph Coffin, of Parrsboro; P. F. Moriarty, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Halifax, and S. C. Mulhall, of Middleton.

At the morning session B. H. Eaton, of Halifax, was elected chairman, and S. C. Marshall, of Middleton, secretary pro tem.

The most important work was the moving by W. S. Saunders, grand scribe of the Sons of Temperance, of the following resolution:

Whereas, the governor of Nova Scotia in a speech from the throne in 1895 said: "In accordance with the provisions of the act of the last session, arrangements were made for the taking, in connection with the general elections, of a plebiscite on the question of prohibiting the liquor traffic throughout the dominion. The returns which have been published in the Royal Gazette indicate a very strong public sentiment in favor of prohibition;" and

Whereas, in the same speech from the throne, the only valid reason that could be assigned for non-compliance with the expressed will of the people was that the decision of the supreme court of Canada placed the subject beyond the provincial authority; and

Whereas the motion of the Truro convention of 1902 was based upon the knowledge of the fact that the decision of the Privy Council had reversed the supreme court decision, which restrained the legislature of 1895 from acting in obedience to the proper mandate; and

Whereas, the legislature, after hearing a delegation from the Truro convention of January 15, 1902, without assigning any reason, refused to accept the proposal for a law in accordance with the "very strong public sentiment in favor of prohibition;" and

Whereas, in subsequent legislation, the majority in the legislature has submissively obeyed the minority of eighteen per cent, and disregarded the wishes and sentiments of the sixty-five per cent of those who elected the legislature of 1895, and because in words of the Right Hon. Prime Minister of Canada, "If the voice of the people ask for what is right and honorable it would be a wicked thing not to follow;" therefore

Resolved, that the issue involved appeals to every citizen who values those rights treasured by the patriotic heart. It is a question of minority or majority rule. It means slavery or freedom. It protests the detronement of the sovereign power, the enshrouding of a privileged class. At such a moment every patriot's heart should echo the words of Howe: "Not a Briton in name only. Give me, give my country the blessings of her constitution and her laws. Let us be content with nothing else or less."

And further resolved that this convention recognizes the greatness of the task before the people of this province. In the words of John B. Finch, "This struggle long ago ceased to be a moral pastime, which men can pick up and lay down at their will. That it is a bitter fight which must eventuate in either the destruction of the liquor power or in the annihilation of everything that is dear to a Christian nation." It is therefore a question of vital and transcendent moment beside which all other political questions of today, all party interests sink into insignificance.

With this in view the men and women who compose this convention pledge themselves to make all reasonable sacrifices of time, means, and energy to arouse the public to a sense of the danger that menaces their rights and privileges as a free born citizen and to do all in our power to unite all classes for the overthrow of the power of the illegal and legal liquor traffic in this province; and further

Resolved that this convention hereby commits itself to the completion of the work begun at the convention of 1902 and to take such steps as it deems necessary to replace in our legislature those hostile to prohibitory legislation with those who will faithfully represent the wishes and opinion of the majority on this question by the enactment and enforcement of prohibition. This resolution was referred to a committee for consideration.

MILITIA CHANGES AND PROMOTIONS

Ottawa, June 27--(Special)--Militia general orders contain the following items of interest:--

Maritime province command--To be principal medical officer, in addition to being principal medical officer of military district No. 9, Lieut.-Colonel G. C. Jones.

60th Regiment, Princess Louise Fusiliers--Lieut.-Colonel J. Menger is transferred to the reserve of officers at his own request. To be lieutenant-colonel and to command the regiment, Major F. G. Kenny.

71st York Regiment--Lieut.-Colonel T. G. J. Loggie, upon completion of his period of tenure of command, is transferred to the reserve of officers. To be lieutenant-colonel and to command the regiment, Major J. S. D. Chapman.

73rd Northumberland Regiment--Captain G. J. McCreary is transferred to the corps of guides, with rank of provisional lieutenant.

74th Regiment, the Brunswick Rangers--Capt. A. J. Tingley is permitted to resign his commission. To be paymaster and honorary rank of major, Amase Judson Tingley.

19th Field Battery--To be major, Lieut.-Colonel Geo. West Jones. To be captain, Captain Frederick Caverhill Jones. To be lieutenant, Captain Walter Edward Foster.

YARMOUTH BANK OFFICIALS' TRIAL

Yarmouth, N. S., June 28--(Special)--The case against John and Perry, the former charged with sending to the government monthly returns of the position of the Bank of Yarmouth which were wilfully misleading, and the latter with theft, being several thousand dollars short in his cash, was finished today, and Judge McGeachie will address the jury tomorrow morning.

It is the general opinion that a verdict of not guilty will be returned.

CANADA'S IMMIGRATION SHOWS GOOD INCREASE

Ottawa, June 27--(Special)--Returns compiled by the immigration department show a total immigration of 129,942 into Canada during the period from July 1894, to May of this year, an increase of 14,491 over the corresponding months of the preceding twelve months. The immigration through ocean ports totalled 89,796, an increase of 15,842. From the states we got 37,176 settlers, a decrease of 1,261.

Advertisement for Manitooba Flour. The Demand for MANITOBA FLOUR Has Been Steadily Increasing in the Maritime Provinces. The People Find That it is More Profitable to Purchase Flour Made From Manitoba Wheat. KEEWATIN "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR Is the Best Flour Made From Manitoba Wheat. It is Manufactured by the LAKE OF THE WOODS MILLING CO., LIMITED.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TELEGRAPH is published every Wednesday and Saturday at 11:00 a.m. PAYABLE IN ADVANCE...

ADVERTISING RATES. Ordinary commercial advertisements taking the rate of the paper, each insertion, $1.00 per inch.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. All remittances must be sent by post, in the form of registered letter, and addressed to The Telegraph Publishing Company.

AUTHORIZED AGENT. The following agent is authorized to canvass and collect for The Semi-Weekly Telegraph, viz: Wm. Somerville.

Semi-Weekly Telegraph ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 1, 1905.

A SLANDER REFUTED. For 101 these many years men who spoke with forked tongues have grown up and down the land from Dun to Bras...

REVOLUTION OR REFORM? The killing of the people at Loda in Russian Poland, appears to have been deliberately resolved on as a means of suppressing the agitation that has been going on since the outbreak of the war.

RAFTING ACROSS THE PACIFIC. The proposal to raft 10,000,000 feet of spars and piling on the Pacific coast and tow it to Shanghai recalls the Leary raft...

A TRAGIC INCIDENT. The crew of a great Russian battleship in the Black Sea has mutinied, killed the officers and seized the vessel.

AT BIRMINGHAM. In his address to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday Mr. Chamberlain sounded a high note of imperialism.

MR. ROCKEFELLER'S SQUAD. Mr. John D. Rockefeller, President Hadley announced yesterday, has given a million dollars to Yale University.

GRAFT IN THE ARMY. The government agents were selling certain articles for (over) a dollar to persons who promptly resold them to the government for two dollars.

THE BOEY MAN. Recognition of Emperor William as the bogey man of the present generation appears in the course of the Boston Herald's editorial discussion of the Morocco situation.

TOO GENEROUS. The province of New Brunswick could have induced the Harmsworths of London to establish here their great pulp and paper industry, but the Harmsworths wanted about half the province free.

with appeals to the electorate headed "No Canadian Need Apply." And the Unionist candidate's name is Cohen. The Canadian is placarded as an outsider. "Cohen" is billed as the native product.

A PITIABLE PROCESSION. A London correspondent discussing the annual attempt of the unemployed workmen of England to direct public attention to their pitiable condition, describes "a march to London," of which there have been several recently.

THE COMING BATTLE. (Montreal Witness). It appears to be now understood that the peace plenipotentiaries are not to meet at Washington till some time in August.

KITCHENER'S VICTORY. (N. Y. Evening Post). It is reported that the Kitchener plan for the reorganization of the Indian army is slated to pass the commons.

NOTE: D'D COMMENT. It seems to be pretty near time to cry "God Save the Czar!"

THE BLACK SEA SQUADRON, which left Sebastopol Tuesday under command of Vice-Admiral Kruger, was due to arrive at Aden last night and a battle with the Russians may occur at any moment.

THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK could have induced the Harmsworths of London to establish here their great pulp and paper industry, but the Harmsworths wanted about half the province free.

THE AMERICANS suspect the German emperor of designs upon China, or South America or some hold in the Caribbean. The British observe with interest the growth of the German navy, and note with some impatience frequent anti-British demonstrations in German newspapers or the utterance of public men.

THE INSURANCE evils are by no means cured, says Collier's Weekly, "mystery is still thick, and we do not believe the Equitable business will reach its former volume until more has been done to reassure the plain man throughout the country who yearly sacrifices present indulgence to his wife and children's safety."

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent. The Czar has not the decision to concede defeat till all is lost, and such is the advantage of Japanese position that a cessation of hostilities now would seem to them equivalent in its effects to losing a battle.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

frankly confessed that the situation was very grave and that he did not know what to expect.

THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK could have induced the Harmsworths of London to establish here their great pulp and paper industry, but the Harmsworths wanted about half the province free.

THE AMERICANS suspect the German emperor of designs upon China, or South America or some hold in the Caribbean. The British observe with interest the growth of the German navy, and note with some impatience frequent anti-British demonstrations in German newspapers or the utterance of public men.

THE INSURANCE evils are by no means cured, says Collier's Weekly, "mystery is still thick, and we do not believe the Equitable business will reach its former volume until more has been done to reassure the plain man throughout the country who yearly sacrifices present indulgence to his wife and children's safety."

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

that Mr. Rockefeller keeps the peace between the ruthless methods of the Standard Oil Company and the law of Holy writ.

THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK could have induced the Harmsworths of London to establish here their great pulp and paper industry, but the Harmsworths wanted about half the province free.

THE AMERICANS suspect the German emperor of designs upon China, or South America or some hold in the Caribbean. The British observe with interest the growth of the German navy, and note with some impatience frequent anti-British demonstrations in German newspapers or the utterance of public men.

THE INSURANCE evils are by no means cured, says Collier's Weekly, "mystery is still thick, and we do not believe the Equitable business will reach its former volume until more has been done to reassure the plain man throughout the country who yearly sacrifices present indulgence to his wife and children's safety."

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

pounds The report taking the oat transaction for a text, says "On or about Jan. 10, 1903, Meyer was formally declared the purchaser of a vast quantity of furs throughout the Transvaal and Orange River Colony. Ten days earlier he had already begun to supply the troops at rest which probably made him the real master of profit of whom the history of military contracts has any record."

THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK could have induced the Harmsworths of London to establish here their great pulp and paper industry, but the Harmsworths wanted about half the province free.

THE AMERICANS suspect the German emperor of designs upon China, or South America or some hold in the Caribbean. The British observe with interest the growth of the German navy, and note with some impatience frequent anti-British demonstrations in German newspapers or the utterance of public men.

THE INSURANCE evils are by no means cured, says Collier's Weekly, "mystery is still thick, and we do not believe the Equitable business will reach its former volume until more has been done to reassure the plain man throughout the country who yearly sacrifices present indulgence to his wife and children's safety."

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

Men's Black Suits. There is no suit as suitable for any and every occasion as a BLACK SUIT. It is just the thing for WEDDINGS, A FURBER, A PARTY, A SOCIETY PARADE, and its always ready dress for business wear, and it wears like iron when put to every-day use.

J. N. HARVEY Men's and Boys' Clothing, 199 and 201 Union Street. See our Men's Black Suits at $5, $8, $8.75, $10, $12 and $15.

W. H. THORNE & CO., LIMIT. D. Market Square, St. John, N. B. In a British police court the other day a prisoner was charged with refusing to break the regulation quantity of stones in the prison yard. The magistrate deferred sentence until he could investigate for himself.

THE COMING BATTLE. (Montreal Witness). It appears to be now understood that the peace plenipotentiaries are not to meet at Washington till some time in August.

KITCHENER'S VICTORY. (N. Y. Evening Post). It is reported that the Kitchener plan for the reorganization of the Indian army is slated to pass the commons.

NOTE: D'D COMMENT. It seems to be pretty near time to cry "God Save the Czar!"

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

THE BATTLE OF MANCHURIANIA. The report that President Roosevelt is exerting himself to secure an armistice before the battle may be put down to the imagination of the correspondent.

PAGELAIN FENCE. Instructible, Handsome, Perfect. Only 20 cents per running foot. Supplied by mail or local dealer.

ARDOR OF TROOPS TRIED BY RAIN

Camp Sussex Takes Shape, But Downpour Makes Things Unpleasant

Sussex, June 27.—(Special)—The red phalanx from the north, the lean and watchful cavalry from the south, the rumbling guns of the field artillery, and all the minor, but none the less essential, corps are today assembling in Sussex—and rain descends on each.

The sky is leaden, the trees drip, the roads glisten and stick. There is no convenience, not to say real discomfort, in any place not under a roof, but by the formidable looking young gentlemen who have been here since the downpour commenced, the rain is regarded as something that must be borne with fitting fortitude.

COL. E. H. McLEAN Infantry Brigade Commander at Camp Sussex.

The Army Service Corps at Work No whining for New Brunswick's antipiece men, if you please. They cheerfully defy the elements, as well as all creatures beneath it, and work together for the good of the service.

The Hussars' Wet Ride. A couple of young Hussar officers reach here early last evening. They were from St. John, and had come the entire distance astride their mounts—which were not grey.

Capt. Arnold, of a squadron from the district around Sussex and Millerstream, it may be believed, realize this also, but though moist, are debonair, notwith standing the fact that it is their privilege to growl.

Col. McLean Early Atr. Col. McLean, the infantry brigade commander, was early about this morning, and expressed his satisfaction with the progress being made. He anticipated much effective work from the field batteries, and was of the opinion that on Thursday week, the field day would be held.

About a half-hour prior to the arrival of the artillery, Nos. 1 and 2 of the 74th Regiment (Hampton and Clifton), under Capt. Jones, in special cars, went past the station.

The proper solution for an officer commanding a district, necessitates considerable training. There are many antipiece movements, inseparable from the accomplishment. When, in the distance, you sight your superior, it is to count casualties, to show symptoms of being unafraid, to be alert yet outwardly, profoundly unconcerned. Let it be assumed that he is also nearing you, and as you approach nearer, continue to maintain your attitude. Be, as it were, unconscious of his presence, until within comparatively few paces.

Then bid the gulleons look on your face begone, bring the feet together, and throw back the shoulders and head, swing the hand to forehead, cease breathing until you think three seconds have passed, then throw three hands and proceed, for the tension has relaxed.

The Army Service Corps and 10th and 12th Batteries are in camp this morning and the remainder of the staff. The Hussars' horses and also the battery horses were inspected this morning.

The Officer and "the Bar." A compact little officer, with trading sword, and swaggy stick, arrived at the hotel in the nearest hotel. In the office, he met an acquaintance, and gave him courteously greeting. He is familiar with many facts, is this looking at the mission, but it was not until last evening that he was enlightened upon the painful conditions existing here.

The Barber Shop. The facilities for barbering on the grounds are on a higher scale of civilization this season. In a marquee within the hospital lines, Pte. Robert Barle, of the corps, has established a public chair of hair, and to it the warriors have been flocking all day, for there is no room for argument when the commandant's edict is concerned. Barle, with hand-sawed scalp, and anticipates a heavy and varied crop of hair on the morrow.

The Field Barber Shop at Camp Sussex. From the harmless civilian's point of view, the front is a locality not without drawbacks, when the rain promises indelimitness. The defenders of our hearts, it may be believed, realize this also, but though moist, are debonair, notwithstanding the fact that it is their privilege to growl.

The First Casualty. First blood was spilled last evening. The sufferer will receive honorable mention in the despatches. He is Private Thos. Peters of the 71st Regiment. In endeavoring to open a bottle, the glass broke and the back of his right hand was deeply cut. He was placed under the influence of an anesthetic, the wound was dressed by Major McLaren, A. M. C., and thus it is that the field hospital of two tents and sixteen cots has its first patient.

To Be Colonel Chipman. The 71st Regiment is now commanded by Major J. D. Chipman, of St. Stephen. He will be promoted to the rank of colonel, the regiment's former commanding officer, Lieut.-Colonel T. J. Lyggo, being transferred to the reserve of officers, he having completed his tenure of command.

Both batteries are here. The guns from Newcastle, known as the 12th Battery, arrived about 11 o'clock this morning. There are four cannon, and as they are much effective work from the field batteries, and was of the opinion that on Thursday week, the field day would be held.

Major Lawlor was in command. The D. O. C., accompanied by Colonel

Armstrong and Capt. Simon, P. V. O., made the rounds of the camp this morning and walked with a fine contempt for the rain.

The Ethics of "the Salute." The proper solution for an officer commanding a district, necessitates considerable training. There are many antipiece movements, inseparable from the accomplishment.

The Officer and "the Bar." A compact little officer, with trading sword, and swaggy stick, arrived at the hotel in the nearest hotel. In the office, he met an acquaintance, and gave him courteously greeting.

The Barber Shop. The facilities for barbering on the grounds are on a higher scale of civilization this season. In a marquee within the hospital lines, Pte. Robert Barle, of the corps, has established a public chair of hair, and to it the warriors have been flocking all day.

The Field Barber Shop at Camp Sussex. From the harmless civilian's point of view, the front is a locality not without drawbacks, when the rain promises indelimitness. The defenders of our hearts, it may be believed, realize this also, but though moist, are debonair, notwithstanding the fact that it is their privilege to growl.

To Be Colonel Chipman. The 71st Regiment is now commanded by Major J. D. Chipman, of St. Stephen. He will be promoted to the rank of colonel, the regiment's former commanding officer, Lieut.-Colonel T. J. Lyggo, being transferred to the reserve of officers, he having completed his tenure of command.

Both batteries are here. The guns from Newcastle, known as the 12th Battery, arrived about 11 o'clock this morning. There are four cannon, and as they are much effective work from the field batteries, and was of the opinion that on Thursday week, the field day would be held.

Major Lawlor was in command. The D. O. C., accompanied by Colonel

Armstrong and Capt. Simon, P. V. O., made the rounds of the camp this morning and walked with a fine contempt for the rain.

He officer commanding, who will check all names of men and horses on the pay sheets and will be responsible for the money drawn in behalf of any one not entitled to receive it. Each muster roll will be rendered to the camp paymaster for the information and certificate of the commandant.

Neither pay nor allowance is to be issued to or for any officer or man for any day he is absent from camp for more than twelve days, with the following exceptions, to whom an extra day or days may be allowed. The exceptions are the officers and non-coms of the staff who are actually required to be in camp one day in advance or to remain on the grounds after camp has been struck.

This Month's Tide Through Ellis Island Alone is Placed Officially at 84,085—Beats Last June by 22,364.

New York, June 26.—Streams of immigrants continue to pour into New York through Ellis Island, breaking all previous records. More than 72,000 immigrants have landed at Ellis Island since June 1, and the official estimate up to the end of the month is 84,085, as against 61,731 in June of last year, an even larger proportionate increase than in May, 1904, when 94,712 as against 70,417 in May, 1904. The high water mark in immigration is usually reached in May.

Little Change in Character. There has been little change in the general character of the immigrants in the fiscal year about to close. Lithuanians and Bohemians have been rushing here, mainly to work in the coal mines, and Russians come and scatter throughout the country, many settling in southwestern Ontario and in the St. Lawrence valley. Sweeds and Greeks had their way to the northwest. There are fewer Germans than of former years, and Ireland seems to have passed its thoroughly dry season.

Two of the Bravest Deeds He Ever Saw. (By Admiral George Derry.) I shall have to relate two deeds of bravery, for I have never been able to determine which of them was the greater. At one time during the war, I was attached to the Monongahela during the siege of Fort Hudson in the Mississippi river. We were being fired upon by a shore battery, and the commandant was particularly brave, and he and his men were shot at or shell which then fell upon the deck.

Maritime Province People Successful. The result of the examinations in Domestic Science, Nature Study and Manual Training at the MacDonald Institute, Guelph (Ont.) stand. In the senior normal course in Domestic Science Miss L. L. Ross, of St. John's, stood seventh, and in the junior normal course in the same subject Miss M. P. Shaw, of Penobscot (N. B.), was sixth. The junior course in house-keeping was led by Mrs. E. Danbrack, St. John's. The following completed the three months' course in Nature Study and are entitled to certificates: The Misses A. Connel, A. Stewart, Charlottetown (P. E. I.); H. Carter, Truro (N. S.); S. J. Gordon, Lunenburg (N. S.); E. M. Hill, Dartmouth (N. S.); J. Stephens, Ellerslie (N. S.); C. Whitman, East Angusville (N. S.); M. Colpitta, Forest Glen (N. B.); M. Curran, Fairville (N. B.); M. Rebetson, Hatfield Point (N. B.); M. Morris, A. H. Matthews, Alberton (P. E. I.); L. A. d'Entremont, West Palmico (N. S.); M. C. Foster, Port Louis; D. MacInnis, St. George's Channel (N. S.); A. E. Fildy, Truro (N. S.); W. J. Conah, Hillsboro; F. S. Small, Apohaqui; S. K. Smith, Blisville (N. B.); Mr. H. B. McLean, Charlottetown (P. E. I.), as completed part of the prescribed course and successfully passed in primary work and woodwork and metal work respectively.

Inspector of Railway Accidents Retires. Ottawa, June 27.—(Special)—J. C. G. Kubring, who holds an important contract at Ellis Island, "Very many of those who come here work for a few months and then return to their native countries, either for visits or for good. Some come back here, others do not. I believe the outgoing steamer lists for the year ending June 30 will show about 32,000 departures, or, in other words, about one-third of all who have landed in the United States." This factor forms an important consideration in estimating the increase in population through immigration.

Gaynor and Greene Lose Again. (Ottawa, June 27.—) The supreme court today quashed the appeal of Gaynor and Greene. The application on behalf of the United States made by Mr. McMaster, K. C., has been granted and the appeal of Gaynor and Greene has been quashed with costs. The judgment was unanimous.

RECORD BROKEN BY 1,061,659 ALIENS

U. S. Census Office Gives This Estimate of Immigration for Fiscal Year

HIGHEST WAS 857,046

This Month's Tide Through Ellis Island Alone is Placed Officially at 84,085—Beats Last June by 22,364.

New York, June 26.—Streams of immigrants continue to pour into New York through Ellis Island, breaking all previous records. More than 72,000 immigrants have landed at Ellis Island since June 1, and the official estimate up to the end of the month is 84,085, as against 61,731 in June of last year, an even larger proportionate increase than in May, 1904, when 94,712 as against 70,417 in May, 1904. The high water mark in immigration is usually reached in May.

Little Change in Character. There has been little change in the general character of the immigrants in the fiscal year about to close. Lithuanians and Bohemians have been rushing here, mainly to work in the coal mines, and Russians come and scatter throughout the country, many settling in southwestern Ontario and in the St. Lawrence valley. Sweeds and Greeks had their way to the northwest. There are fewer Germans than of former years, and Ireland seems to have passed its thoroughly dry season.

Two of the Bravest Deeds He Ever Saw. (By Admiral George Derry.) I shall have to relate two deeds of bravery, for I have never been able to determine which of them was the greater. At one time during the war, I was attached to the Monongahela during the siege of Fort Hudson in the Mississippi river. We were being fired upon by a shore battery, and the commandant was particularly brave, and he and his men were shot at or shell which then fell upon the deck.

Maritime Province People Successful. The result of the examinations in Domestic Science, Nature Study and Manual Training at the MacDonald Institute, Guelph (Ont.) stand. In the senior normal course in Domestic Science Miss L. L. Ross, of St. John's, stood seventh, and in the junior normal course in the same subject Miss M. P. Shaw, of Penobscot (N. B.), was sixth. The junior course in house-keeping was led by Mrs. E. Danbrack, St. John's. The following completed the three months' course in Nature Study and are entitled to certificates: The Misses A. Connel, A. Stewart, Charlottetown (P. E. I.); H. Carter, Truro (N. S.); S. J. Gordon, Lunenburg (N. S.); E. M. Hill, Dartmouth (N. S.); J. Stephens, Ellerslie (N. S.); C. Whitman, East Angusville (N. S.); M. Colpitta, Forest Glen (N. B.); M. Curran, Fairville (N. B.); M. Rebetson, Hatfield Point (N. B.); M. Morris, A. H. Matthews, Alberton (P. E. I.); L. A. d'Entremont, West Palmico (N. S.); M. C. Foster, Port Louis; D. MacInnis, St. George's Channel (N. S.); A. E. Fildy, Truro (N. S.); W. J. Conah, Hillsboro; F. S. Small, Apohaqui; S. K. Smith, Blisville (N. B.); Mr. H. B. McLean, Charlottetown (P. E. I.), as completed part of the prescribed course and successfully passed in primary work and woodwork and metal work respectively.

Inspector of Railway Accidents Retires. Ottawa, June 27.—(Special)—J. C. G. Kubring, who holds an important contract at Ellis Island, "Very many of those who come here work for a few months and then return to their native countries, either for visits or for good. Some come back here, others do not. I believe the outgoing steamer lists for the year ending June 30 will show about 32,000 departures, or, in other words, about one-third of all who have landed in the United States." This factor forms an important consideration in estimating the increase in population through immigration.

Gaynor and Greene Lose Again. (Ottawa, June 27.—) The supreme court today quashed the appeal of Gaynor and Greene. The application on behalf of the United States made by Mr. McMaster, K. C., has been granted and the appeal of Gaynor and Greene has been quashed with costs. The judgment was unanimous.

Good Complexion

When Pimples and Blotches Disfigure the Skin

It means bad blood, bad digestion or constipation. First two are the result of the last. FRUIT-ACTIVES cure all three. When the bowels don't move regularly, poisonous matter remains in the system. Instead of the blood taking up wholesome nourishment to build up the system, it absorbs part of this poisonous matter which causes pimples and blotches on the skin. Gases are formed by the stomach, upset digestion, get into the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move. Fruit-Actives purify the blood—correct digestion—and clear the complexion—because they cause constipation.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

Good Complexion

When Pimples and Blotches Disfigure the Skin

It means bad blood, bad digestion or constipation. First two are the result of the last. FRUIT-ACTIVES cure all three. When the bowels don't move regularly, poisonous matter remains in the system. Instead of the blood taking up wholesome nourishment to build up the system, it absorbs part of this poisonous matter which causes pimples and blotches on the skin. Gases are formed by the stomach, upset digestion, get into the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move. Fruit-Actives purify the blood—correct digestion—and clear the complexion—because they cause constipation.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

"I am on my second box of Fruit-Actives and can honestly say they are the best medicine for Constipation and Skin Trouble I ever used."

These wonderful little tablets are pure fruit juices—prepared according to the secret formula of an Ottawa physician who discovered the method of using fruit to cure disease. Fruit-Actives act directly on the liver, increase the flow of bile, and thus cause the bowels to move regularly and naturally every day.

ARMY SERVICE CORPS AT WORK

NO WHINING FOR NEW BRUNSWICK'S ANTIPIECE MEN

THE ARMY SERVICE CORPS AT WORK

THE HUSSARS' WET RIDE

THE FIELD BARBER SHOP AT CAMP SUSSEX

THE BARBER SHOP

THE FIRST CASUALTY

TO BE COLONEL CHIPMAN

BOTH BATTERIES ARE HERE

MAJOR LAWLOR WAS IN COMMAND

RECORD BROKEN BY 1,061,659 ALIENS

U. S. CENSUS OFFICE GIVES THIS ESTIMATE OF IMMIGRATION FOR FISCAL YEAR

HIGHEST WAS 857,046

THIS MONTH'S TIDE THROUGH ELLIS ISLAND ALONE IS PLACED OFFICIALLY AT 84,085—BEATS LAST JUNE BY 22,364

NEW YORK, JUNE 26.—STREAMS OF IMMIGRANTS CONTINUE TO POUR INTO NEW YORK THROUGH ELLIS ISLAND, BREAKING ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CHARACTER

TWO OF THE BRAVEST DEEDS HE EVER SAW

MARITIME PROVINCE PEOPLE SUCCESSFUL

INSPECTOR OF RAILWAY ACCIDENTS RETIRES

GAYNOR AND GREENE LOSE AGAIN

GOOD COMPLEXION

WHEN PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES DISFIGURE THE SKIN

IT MEANS BAD BLOOD, BAD DIGESTION OR CONSTIPATION

RAFFLES, the AMATEUR CRACKSMAN.

THE GIFTS OF THE EMPEROR

Sixth Story in the Absorbing Raffles Series
BY E. W. HORNUNG

PRINTED IN THIS TERRITORY EXCLUSIVELY BY THE TELEGRAPH

COPYRIGHT BY CHARLES SCHIRMER'S SONS

When the King of the Cannibal Islands made the black had taken simultaneous leave of their fourteen senses. But when it transpired that a gift of peculiar significance was to follow the congratulations, to give them weight, the inference prevailed that the white potentate and the black had taken simultaneous leave of their fourteen senses. But when it transpired that a gift of peculiar significance was to follow the congratulations, to give them weight, the inference prevailed that the white potentate and the black had taken simultaneous leave of their fourteen senses.

The incident would have been a godsend to the press a few weeks later. Even in June there were leaders, letters, large headlines, led by the Daily Chronicle devoting half its literary page to a charming drawing of the island capital which the new Pall Mall, in a leading article headed by a pun, advised the government to blow to flinders. I was myself driving a poor but not dishonest quill at the time, and the topic of the hour spoked me into satirizing the picture which obtained a better place than anything I had yet turned out. I had let my fat in town and taken inexpensive quarters at Thames Ditton on the plea of a disinterested passion for the river.

"First-rate, old boy," said Raffles (who must needs come and see me there), lying back in the boat while I sculled and yestered. "I suppose they pay you pretty well for these, eh?"

"Not a penny."

"Nonsense, Bunny! I thought they paid you well? Give them time and you'll get your check."

"Oh, no, I shan't," said I gloomily. "I've got to be content with the honor of getting in; the editor wrote to say so in so many words. I'm sorry, but I gave the gentleman his distinguished name."

"You don't mean to say you've written for payment already?"

"No; it was the last thing I had intended to admit. But I had done it. The murder was out; there was no sense in further concealment. I had written for my money because I really needed it; if he must know, I was cursedly hard up. Raffles nodded as though he knew already. I warned to my wits. It was no easy matter to keep your end up as a raw free lance of letters; for my part I was afraid I wrote neither well enough nor ill enough for success. I suffered from a persistent intellectual feeling after style. Verse I could manage, but it did not pay. To personal paragraphs and the baser journalism I could not and I would not stoop.

Raffles nodded again, this time with a smile that stayed in his eyes as he leaned back watching me. I knew that he was thinking of other things I had stooped to, and I thought I knew what he was going to say. He had said it before so often; he was sure to say it again. I had my answer ready, but evidently he was tired of asking the same question. His lids fell, he took up the paper he had dropped, and I sculled the length of the old red wall of Hampton Court before he spoke again.

"And they gave you nothing for these? My dear Bunny, they're capital, not only qua verses but for crystallizing your subject and putting it in a nutshell. Certainly you've taught me more about it than I knew before. But is it really worth £50,000 a single pearl?"

"A hundred, I believe; but that wouldn't scam."

"A hundred thousand pounds!" said Raffles with his eyes shut. And again I made certain that was coming, but again I was mistaken. "It's worth all that," he cried at last, "there would be no getting rid of it at all; it's not like a diamond that you can subdivide. But I beg your pardon, Bunny. I was forgetting."

And we said no more about the Emperor's gift, for pride thrives on an empty pocket, and no privation would have drawn from me the proposal which I had expected Raffles to make. My expectation had been half a hope, though I only knew it now. But neither did we touch again on what Raffles proposed to have forgotten—my "apostasy," my "lapse into virtue," as he had been pleased to call it. We were both a little silent, a little constrained, each preoccupied with his own thoughts. It was months since we had met, and as I saw him off toward St. John's that Sunday night I fancied it was for more months that we were saving good-bye.

But as we waited for the train I saw those clear eyes peering at me under the station lamps, and when I met them I knew Raffles shook his head.

"You don't look well on it, Bunny," said he. "I never did believe in this Thames Valley. You want a change of air."

I wished I might get it.

"What you really want is a sea voyage. And a winter in St. Moritz, or do you recommend Cannes or Cairo?" It's all very well, A. J., but you forget what I told you about my funds.

"I forget nothing. I merely don't want to hurt your feelings. But look here, a sea voyage you shall have. I want a change myself, and you shall come with me as my guest. We'll spend July in the Mediterranean."

"But you're playing cricket?"

"Hang the cricket!"

"Well, I thought you meant it."

"Of course I meant it. Will you come?"

"Like a shot—if you go."

And I shook his hand and waved mine in farewell, with the perfectly good-natured conviction that I should hear no more of the matter. It was a passing thought, no more, no less. I soon wished it were more; that week found me wishing myself out of England for good and all. I was making nothing. I could but subsist on the difference between the rent I paid for my flat and the rent at which I had sublet it, furnished, for the season. And the season was near its end and creditors were waiting in town. Was it possible to be entirely honest? I had run no bills when I had money in my pocket, and the more downright dishonesty seemed to me the less ignoble.

But from Raffles of course I heard nothing more; a week went by, and half another week; then late on the second Wednesday night I found a telegram from him at my lodgings, after seeking him vainly in town and dining with desperation at the solitary club to which I still belonged.

"Arrange to leave Waterloo by North German Lloyd special," he wired, "9.25 a. m. Monday next with your Southampton aboard Uhlán with tickets arranged."

And write he did, a light-hearted letter enough, but full of serious solicitude for me and for my health and prospects—a letter almost touching in the light of our past relations, in the twilight of their complete rupture. He said that he had booked two berths to Naples, that we were bound for Capri, which was clearly the island of the Lotus-eaters, that we would bask there together "and for a while forget." It was a charming letter, I had never seen Italy; the privilege of initiation should be his. No mistake was greater than to deem it an impossible country for the summer. The bay of Naples was never so divine, and he wrote of "faery lands forlorn," as though the poetry sprang unbidden to his pen. To come back to earth and prose, to might think it ungrateful of him to choose a German boat, but on no other line did you receive such attention and accommodation for your money. There was a hint of better reasons. Raffles wrote, as he had telegraphed from Bremen; and I gathered that the personal use of some little influence with the authorities there had resulted in a material reduction in our fares.

Imagine my excitement and delight! I managed to pay what I owed at Thames Ditton, to squeeze a small editor for a very small check and my tailors for one more flannel suit. I remember that I broke my last suitcase to get a box of Sullivan's cigarettes for Raffles to smoke on the voyage. But my heart was as light as my purse on the Monday morning, the fairest morning of an unfair summer, when could think of nothing but the swift grace which preceded a start of well-weighed astonishment.

"Why, Bunny?" cried Raffles. "Where have you sprung from?"

I stammered something as he pinched my hand.

"And are you coming in this ship? And to Naples, too? Well, upon my word! Miss Werner, may I introduce him?"

And he did so without a blush, describing me as an old school-fellow whom he had not seen for months, with well-circumstance and gratuitous detail that filled me at once with confusion, suspicion and revolt. I felt myself blushing for us both, and I did not care. My address utterly deserted me, and I made no effort to recover it, to carry the thing off. All I would do was to mumble such words as Raffles actually put into my mouth, and that I doubt not with a thoroughly evil grace.

"So you saw my name in the list of passengers and came in search of me? Good old Bunny! I say, though, I wish you'd share my cabin. I've got a beauty on the promenade deck, but they wouldn't promise to keep me by myself. We ought to see about it before they shove in some alien. In any case we shall have to get out of this."

For a quarter-master had entered the wheel-house, and even while we had been speaking the pilot had taken possession of the bridge as we descended the tender left us with flying handkerchiefs and shrill good-byes, and as we bowed to Miss Werner on the promenade deck there came a deep, slow throbbing under foot and our voyage had begun.

It did not begin pleasantly between Raffles and me. On deck he had overborne my stubborn perplexity by dint of a forced though forcible joviality, in his cabin the gloves were snarled.

"You idiot," he snarled, "you've given me away again!"

"How have I given you away?"

"I ignored the separate insult in his last word."

"How? I should have thought any clod could see that I meant us to meet by chance!"

"After talking both tickets yours?"

"They know nothing about that on board; besides, I hadn't decided when I took the tickets."

"Then you should have let me know when you did decide. You lay your plans and never say a word, and expect me to fumble them by light of nature. How was I to know you had anything on?"

I had turned the tables with some effect. Raffles almost hung his head.

"The fact is, Bunny, I didn't mean you to know. You—you've grown such a pious rabbit in your old age."

My nickname and his tone went far to reconcile me; other things went further, but I had much to forgive him still.

"If you were afraid of writing," I pursued, "it was your business to give me the moment I set foot on board. I would have taken it all right. I am not so virtuous as all that."

Was it my imagination or did Raffles look slightly ashamed? As so it was for the first and last time in all the years I

POSED BY KYRLE BELLEW, ARRANGEMENT LIEBLER CO. "IN WHICH RECLINED A GIRL IN A WHITE DRILL COAT AND SKIRT"

I do not ask to set foot aboard a finer steamship than the Uhlán of the Norddeutscher Lloyd, to meet a kinder gentleman than her then commander, or better fellows than her officers. After breakfast at least let me have the grace to admit, I hated the voyage. It was no fault of anybody connected with the ship; it was no fault of the weather, which was monotonously ideal. Not even in my own heart did the reason reside; conscience and I were divorced at last and the decree made absolute. With my scruples had died all fear, and I was ready to revel between bright skies and sparkling sea with a nasal laugh, or his quiet voice talking soft nonsense into her ear. Of course it was nonsense! It is conceivable that a man like Raffles, with his knowledge of the world and his experience of women (a side of his character upon which I have purposely never touched, for it deserves another volume)—is it credible, I ask, that such a man could find anything but nonsense to talk by the day together to a giddy young school girl? I would not be unfair for the world. I think I have admitted that the young person had points. Her eyes, I suppose, were really fine, and certainly the shape of the little brown face was charming, so far as mere outward charm. I admit also more candour than I cared about, with enviable health, merriment and vitality. I may not have occasion to repeat any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a mean thing to have to confess to report any of this young lady's speeches (they would scarcely bear it), and am therefore the more anxious to describe her without injustice. I confess to some little prejudice against her. I resented her success with Raffles, of whom, in consequence, I saw less and less each day. It is a

WANTED.—First or second class teacher in district No. 13, Parish of St. George, Charlotte county, Apply, stating salary, to W. R. Westworth, LaTete, secretary to school trustees, address, Nottawa, Gosford, Point Kings County, N. B.

TEACHER.—With superior school license is wanted by school district No. 2, St. Martin's, Parish of St. George, Charlotte county, to teach in the school at Nottawa, Gosford, Point Kings County, N. B.

WANTED.—Second or third class female teacher for district No. 6, in the parish of Robb, Kings county, Apply, stating terms, to J. H. Saunders, secretary school trustees, address Nottawa, Gosford, Point Kings County, N. B.

WANTED.—Provincial Hospital, two young women to engage in nursing. Good wages. Previous experience not essential. Address Medical Superintendent, Dr. J. V. Anglin, Fairville, N. B. 6-24 41

LOCAL and General Salemen wanted in every town and district in New Brunswick to represent Canada's Great Nurseries. Special list of hardy varieties for New Brunswick. State your best selling season. Write for prospectus and send $2.00 for our handsome aluminum advertising magnifying 4x times, just the thing for botanical. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont. W-38

MEN WANTED.—Reliable men in every locality throughout Canada to advertise our goods. Look up all conspicuous places; also distribute small advertising matter. Commission $2.00 per year or $50 a month. Expenses, $5.00 per month. Write for prospectus and send $2.00 for our handsome aluminum advertising magnifying 4x times, just the thing for botanical. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont. W-38

WANTED.—First or second class teacher for School District No. 2, W. K. A. Apply to School Secretary, D. C. 109, Wicklow.

MEN WANTED.—Reliable men in every locality throughout Canada to advertise our goods. Look up all conspicuous places; also distribute small advertising matter. Commission $2.00 per year or $50 a month. Expenses, $5.00 per month. Write for prospectus and send $2.00 for our handsome aluminum advertising magnifying 4x times, just the thing for botanical. Stone & Wellington, Toronto, Ont. W-38

WANTED.—Centennial on July 1, 1905. Experience unnecessary. M. W. O'Keefe, 121 Bay Street, Toronto. 2-10-05

Ambitious young men for large Insurance Company as agents. Experience not necessary. Men of character, energy and push can make big money and position. A few good country districts open for the right parties. Address at once, "AGENT," P. O. Box 13, St. John, N. B.

FOR SALE.—SITUATED in the parish of St. John, N. B., containing 200 acres of land, with a half mile of water frontage on the Bay of Fundy. The land is well wooded and is a fine place for a country residence. For particulars apply to the undersigned, P. O. Box 13, St. John, N. B.

MONEY TO LOAN.—H. H. PICKETT, B. O. L., Barrister, Solicitor, 20, Canada Building, St. John, N. B. Loans negotiated.

A Splendid Reputation is the Drawing Card of Frederickton Business College and the large and increasing attendance proves that it is a good one.

This first-class, well equipped school is open to you at all times of the year. Young men and women who look out for NUMBER ONE, will attend this school. Write for free catalogue.

W. J. OSBORNE, Principal, Frederickton, N. B.

CALDER ACCUSED OF SERIOUS CHARGE

Former Presbyterian Minister Declared to be Insane When He Assaulted His Little Daughter.

Sydney, N. S., June 27.—(Special)—The "Calder scandal case," which was taken over from the February term of the Supreme Criminal Court, was tried again today and the jury tonight returned a verdict of not guilty, finding that the prisoner was insane at the time of the commission of the offence, charged in the indictment and acquitting him on the ground of his insanity.

Calder was at one time minister of one of the largest Presbyterian congregations in the county was indicted for an assault upon his four year old daughter. The evidence adduced was repulsive in the extreme. Court ordered that he be kept in close confinement until the pleasure of the lieutenant governor. The case was tried twice in February, the jury disagreeing in each instance.

NO LIGHT YET ON WOOD MURDER MYSTERY

Campbellton, N. B., June 28.—(Special)—Contrary to expectations nothing new was brought to light at today's sitting of the coroner's inquest that would tend to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Alex. Wood on the night of the 19th inst. The problem seems to be a difficult one to solve, but the prosecution is leaving nothing undone to get at the facts. It looks now as if the inquest would be concluded on Friday.

More Equitable Directors Resign

New York, June 28.—Chairman Morton announced today that John Jacob Astor, of the city, and J. B. Parsons, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, had tendered their resignations as directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

It used to be said that the Southern tied a knot in a pig's tail to keep him from crawling through the fence. This was the Southern idea of a pig's tie.

RAFFLES, THE AMATEUR CRACKSMAN THE GIFTS OF THE EMPEROR

(Continued from page 6)

forget in what Book it comes; I'm only sure of the Testament. But Samson was the unlucky hero and one Delilah the heroine."

And he looked so knowing that I could not be in a moment's doubt as to his meaning.

"So the fair Australian has been playing Delilah?" said I.

"In a very harmless, innocent sort of way."

"She got his mission out of him?"

"Yes, I've forced him to score all the points he could, and with his great stroke, as I hoped it would be. He has even shown Amy the pass."

"Amy, eh and she promptly told you?"

"Nothing of the kind. What makes you think so? I had the greatest trouble in getting it out of her."

"His tone should have been a sufficient warning to me. I had not the tact to take it as such. At last I knew the meaning of his furious outburst, and stood wagging my head and shaking my finger, blinded by his frowns by my own enlightenment."

"Wily woman!" said I. "Now I see through it all; how dense I've been!"

"Sure you're not still!"

"No; now I understand what has been on all the week. I simply couldn't fathom what you saw in that little girl. I never dreamt it was part of the game."

"So you think it was that and nothing more?"

"You deep old dog—of course I do!"

"You didn't know she was the daughter of a wealthy quater?"

"There are wealthy women by the dozens who would marry tomorrow."

"It doesn't occur to you that I might like to draw stumps, start clean and live happily ever after—in the bush?"

"With that voice—it certainly does not!"

"Bunny!" he cried so fiercely that I braced myself for a blow.

But no more followed.

"I still don't understand," said I. "Why should he be after you? He couldn't come all this way to marry a girl who was perfectly safe for all he knew. What's your own theory?"

"Simply that he's been on my track for some time, probably ever since friend Crawshaw slipped clean through his fingers last November. There have been other indications. I don't recall them now, but I'll defy him to bring anything more for this. But it may be pure suspicion. I'll defy him to bring the pearl theory, my dear Bunny. I know how he got here as well as though I'd been inside that Scotchman's skin, and I know what he'll do next. He and I know each other's minds."

"You're humbuggin' us," said Mackenzie. "What's the use?"

"I'm doing nothing of the sort," laughed Raffles. "I'm testing you. Where's your pipe?"

"It's here, jokin' apart?"

"On that table, by all my gods," Mackenzie said, pointing to the table. "I'll show you each particular cigarette case and you shall see that Mackenzie is not smoking one of them."

"Not there, not there. Try the cartidges."

"Mackenzie emptied them into his palm and shook each one at his ear without result."

"Ob, give them to me!"

And in an instant Raffles had found the right one. He had bitten out the bolt and placed the Emperor's pearl with a flourish in the centre of the table.

"After that you will perhaps show me your little consideration as to in you, power, Captain. I have been a bit over-willing to be in iron all night if you deem it requisite for the safety of the ship. All I ask is that you do me one favor or two more directly in my own defense."

"That shall depend on wad der valor has been."

"Captain, I've done a worse thing aboard your ship than any of you know. I have become engaged to be married, and I want to say good-by to you."

"I suppose we were all equally amazed, but you Heumann, whose deep-chested German oath was almost his first contribution to the proceedings. He was not averse to a vigorous protest with a vigorous protest against the proposed farewell; but it was overruled and the masterful prisoner had his way. He was to have five minutes' lock-up while the captain and Mackenzie stood within range (but not reach) with their revolvers behind their backs. As we were moving from the cabin in a body he stopped and gripped my hand."

"So I've let you in at last, Bunny—at last and at all. If you know how sorry I am, you'll see why you'd get anything at all. Can you forgive me? This may be for years, and it may be forever, you know! You've a good pal always when it came to the scratch; some day or other you may be so sorry to remember you were a Saddy—no instant—and the thing was done—a thing I had never known, whether to admire or to detest. He caught her, he kissed her before us—then flung her from him so that she almost fell. It was that action which foretold the next. The mate sprang after him and I sprang after the mate."

Raffles was on the rail, but only just.

"Most certainly I can," said I indignantly. "The ship's boys can bear witness to that."

Mackenzie laughed and shook his head at his reflection in the polished mahogany.

"That was very clever," said he, "and like enough it would've served you had I not stepped aboard. But I've just had a look at your ventilator, and I think I know how you worked it. Anyway, captain, it makes no matter. I'll just be clapping the dabbies on these young sparks, an' then—"

"By what right?" roared Raffles in a ringing voice, and I never saw his face every set and stuck we possess, but you dare to lay a finger on us without a warrant!"

"I wouldn't dare," said Mackenzie gravely as he fumbled in his breast pocket, and Raffles fixed his hand into his own. "Hand his wrist, shouted the Scotchman; 'never!'"

"The man with the beard who came aboard last."

"Are you sure?"

"I was only sorry to see you didn't recognize him too."

I took my handkerchief to my face; now that I thought of it there had been something familiar in the old man's gait, as well as something rather youthful for his apparent years. His very beard seemed to me to have a certain resemblance in the light of this horrible revelation. I looked up and down the deck, but the old man was nowhere to be seen.

"That's the man who said Raffles."

"I saw him go into the captain's cabin twenty minutes ago."

"Hardly this time," said I. "I cried miserably. Can it be a coincidence—it is somebody else's after?"

Raffles shook his head.

"Then you think he's after you?"

"I've been afraid of it for some weeks."

"Yet there you stand?"

"What am I to do? I don't want to swim for it before I must. I begin to wish I'd taken your advice, Bunny, and left the ship at Genoa."

"It doesn't occur to you that I might like to draw stumps, start clean and live happily ever after—in the bush?"

"With that voice—it certainly does not!"

"Bunny!" he cried so fiercely that I braced myself for a blow.

But no more followed.

"I still don't understand," said I. "Why should he be after you? He couldn't come all this way to marry a girl who was perfectly safe for all he knew. What's your own theory?"

"Simply that he's been on my track for some time, probably ever since friend Crawshaw slipped clean through his fingers last November. There have been other indications. I don't recall them now, but I'll defy him to bring anything more for this. But it may be pure suspicion. I'll defy him to bring the pearl theory, my dear Bunny. I know how he got here as well as though I'd been inside that Scotchman's skin, and I know what he'll do next. He and I know each other's minds."

"You're humbuggin' us," said Mackenzie. "What's the use?"

"I'm doing nothing of the sort," laughed Raffles. "I'm testing you. Where's your pipe?"

"It's here, jokin' apart?"

"On that table, by all my gods," Mackenzie said, pointing to the table. "I'll show you each particular cigarette case and you shall see that Mackenzie is not smoking one of them."

"Not there, not there. Try the cartidges."

"Mackenzie emptied them into his palm and shook each one at his ear without result."

"Ob, give them to me!"

And in an instant Raffles had found the right one. He had bitten out the bolt and placed the Emperor's pearl with a flourish in the centre of the table.

"After that you will perhaps show me your little consideration as to in you, power, Captain. I have been a bit over-willing to be in iron all night if you deem it requisite for the safety of the ship. All I ask is that you do me one favor or two more directly in my own defense."

"That shall depend on wad der valor has been."

"Captain, I've done a worse thing aboard your ship than any of you know. I have become engaged to be married, and I want to say good-by to you."

"I suppose we were all equally amazed, but you Heumann, whose deep-chested German oath was almost his first contribution to the proceedings. He was not averse to a vigorous protest with a vigorous protest against the proposed farewell; but it was overruled and the masterful prisoner had his way. He was to have five minutes' lock-up while the captain and Mackenzie stood within range (but not reach) with their revolvers behind their backs. As we were moving from the cabin in a body he stopped and gripped my hand."

"So I've let you in at last, Bunny—at last and at all. If you know how sorry I am, you'll see why you'd get anything at all. Can you forgive me? This may be for years, and it may be forever, you know! You've a good pal always when it came to the scratch; some day or other you may be so sorry to remember you were a Saddy—no instant—and the thing was done—a thing I had never known, whether to admire or to detest. He caught her, he kissed her before us—then flung her from him so that she almost fell. It was that action which foretold the next. The mate sprang after him and I sprang after the mate."

Raffles was on the rail, but only just.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of a Doctor. In Use For Over Thirty Years. CASTORIA. Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and Loss of Sleep. Fac-Simile Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson, NEW YORK. 35 Doses—35 CENTS. EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SHIP NEWS.

PORT OF ST. JOHN. Arrived. Tuesday, June 27. St. M. Croix, Thompson, Boston via Maine ports; W. G. Lee, mds and pass.

Departed. Tuesday, June 27. St. M. Croix, Thompson, Boston via Maine ports; W. G. Lee, mds and pass.

BIRTHS.

FULTON.—To the wife of Rev. R. G. Fulton, a son, June 26, 1905.

HAINES.—A daughter, June 26, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haines, a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

MOORE-BROCK.—At St. Paul's church, Robbsey, on June 27, 1905, by the Rev. A. W. Leland, rector, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Isaac E. Moore to Mrs. Mary Brock, daughter of the late Frederick W. O. Brock, of Robbsey.

WALDORF-FORSTH.—On Tuesday evening, June 27, at the Zion's street Methodist church, by Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Maine pastor, the Rev. E. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Lydia and Newburyport (Miss) papers please copy.

LAYBOLD-HAMM.—At St. Paul's church, Robbsey, on June 27, 1905, by the Rev. A. W. Leland, rector, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Isaac E. Moore to Mrs. Mary Brock, daughter of the late Frederick W. O. Brock, of Robbsey.

STARKHOFF-KNIGHT.—On June 26th, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Knight, Helen Knight to Edwin Charles Starkhoff, all of this city.

FRICE-PORTER.—At the Zion's street Methodist church, on June 27, by the Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Maine pastor, the Rev. E. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Priscilla E. Frice to Mrs. M. J. Porter, of St. John.

EBBETT-McGARRITY.—At the residence of the German street Baptist church, on the 27th inst., by Rev. G. G. Gates, William H. Ebbett and Della McGarrity, both of St. John.

DEATHS.

WALKER.—In this city, at his late residence, 115 Dorchester street, on the 27th inst., Samuel L. Walker, in the 49th year of his age.

WILSON.—In this city, on the 27th inst., Eunice J. H., daughter of Amos A. and Maria L. Wilson, aged 43 years, of pertussis.

SUBERT.—In this city, on the 27th inst., at her late residence, 115 Dorchester street, two daughters to mourn their loss.

TODD.—In this city, on the 27th inst., at his late residence, 115 Dorchester street, two daughters to mourn their loss.

WALLAGHER.—In this city, on the 27th inst., Francis Gallagher, in the 83rd year of his age, of pertussis.

DORRIS.—In East Cambridge (Mass.), June 27, John, husband of Ellen Dorris (nee McCall).

McKENNON.—In this city, at his residence, 115 Wellington row, on the 27th inst., Capt. Denis Mahony.

One Came Out After The Other.

St. John with Boils for Six Months.

Mr. Eric Brazeau, Meadowside Station, on tells of his experience with Boils and Burdock Blood Bitters.

"He said"—"In the Spring of 1889 I was continually troubled with boils—one coming after another for about six months. I suffered terribly, and was in a very bad condition. In August I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and began to feel better after taking it. I kept on until I had used five bottles, and can truthfully say that I was cured, and have remained so ever since. I have not had the least sign of a boil."

There is nothing like Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, indigestion, or any trouble arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

There is nothing like Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, indigestion, or any trouble arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of a Doctor. In Use For Over Thirty Years. CASTORIA. Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and Loss of Sleep. Fac-Simile Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson, NEW YORK. 35 Doses—35 CENTS. EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

SHIP NEWS.

PORT OF ST. JOHN. Arrived. Tuesday, June 27. St. M. Croix, Thompson, Boston via Maine ports; W. G. Lee, mds and pass.

Departed. Tuesday, June 27. St. M. Croix, Thompson, Boston via Maine ports; W. G. Lee, mds and pass.

BIRTHS.

FULTON.—To the wife of Rev. R. G. Fulton, a son, June 26, 1905.

HAINES.—A daughter, June 26, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haines, a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

MOORE-BROCK.—At St. Paul's church, Robbsey, on June 27, 1905, by the Rev. A. W. Leland, rector, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Isaac E. Moore to Mrs. Mary Brock, daughter of the late Frederick W. O. Brock, of Robbsey.

WALDORF-FORSTH.—On Tuesday evening, June 27, at the Zion's street Methodist church, by Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Maine pastor, the Rev. E. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Lydia and Newburyport (Miss) papers please copy.

LAYBOLD-HAMM.—At St. Paul's church, Robbsey, on June 27, 1905, by the Rev. A. W. Leland, rector, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Isaac E. Moore to Mrs. Mary Brock, daughter of the late Frederick W. O. Brock, of Robbsey.

STARKHOFF-KNIGHT.—On June 26th, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Knight, Helen Knight to Edwin Charles Starkhoff, all of this city.

FRICE-PORTER.—At the Zion's street Methodist church, on June 27, by the Rev. C. W. Hamilton, Maine pastor, the Rev. E. J. Wilson, pastor of St. John, Priscilla E. Frice to Mrs. M. J. Porter, of St. John.

EBBETT-McGARRITY.—At the residence of the German street Baptist church, on the 27th inst., by Rev. G. G. Gates, William H. Ebbett and Della McGarrity, both of St. John.

DEATHS.

WALKER.—In this city, at his late residence, 115 Dorchester street, on the 27th inst., Samuel L. Walker, in the 49th year of his age.

WILSON.—In this city, on the 27th inst., Eunice J. H., daughter of Amos A. and Maria L. Wilson, aged 43 years, of pertussis.

SUBERT.—In this city, on the 27th inst., at her late residence, 115 Dorchester street, two daughters to mourn their loss.

TODD.—In this city, on the 27th inst., at his late residence, 115 Dorchester street, two daughters to mourn their loss.

WALLAGHER.—In this city, on the 27th inst., Francis Gallagher, in the 83rd year of his age, of pertussis.

DORRIS.—In East Cambridge (Mass.), June 27, John, husband of Ellen Dorris (nee McCall).

McKENNON.—In this city, at his residence, 115 Wellington row, on the 27th inst., Capt. Denis Mahony.

One Came Out After The Other.

St. John with Boils for Six Months.

Mr. Eric Brazeau, Meadowside Station, on tells of his experience with Boils and Burdock Blood Bitters.

"He said"—"In the Spring of 1889 I was continually troubled with boils—one coming after another for about six months. I suffered terribly, and was in a very bad condition. In August I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and began to feel better after taking it. I kept on until I had used five bottles, and can truthfully say that I was cured, and have remained so ever since. I have not had the least sign of a boil."

There is nothing like Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, indigestion, or any trouble arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

There is nothing like Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, indigestion, or any trouble arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

Domestic. Music. Moulton College. Address.

JURY DISBELIEVES MARY DEGAN, MATE KATE HAMILTON IS SET AT LIBERTY

End of Dugan Inquest--No Cause for Fire Found--Beer Licenses in That Section a Cloak for Drunkenness and Immorality, Jury Say, and They Would See No More Issued--Fire Department's Work Upheld.

The coroner's jury to inquire into the death of Samuel Dugan in the Sheffield street fire on Wednesday and also the death of Annie Hayes, who died some days later as a result of burns received in the same fire Tuesday brought in a verdict concerning the woman, Kate Hamilton.

Bodied in the verdict were strong recommendations recommending that no beer licenses be issued in the Sheffield street section between Carman and Wentworth streets, as in their opinion the licenses were used as a cover for immorality and drunkenness.

More Firemen Testify. Oliver Thompson, of No. 3 hose company, said he reached the fire about 11.45 o'clock. They then had a steam in the window of the shop.

Continuing he said they crawled into a bed room but the heat and smoke drove them out later. He and Keyes, foreman of No. 1, and Nixon went into the back bedroom. The bed clothes were turned back. They examined all the bedrooms and found nobody there.

Detective Patrick Killen, sworn, said he received instructions to bring Edward Armstrong to court, but had information that Armstrong had left for Nova Scotia.

George B. Barber, book and ladder No. 1, testified that he arrived at the fire five to fifteen minutes after the alarm. He went into the beer shop, the door had been broken open before he arrived.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

The coroner here announced that if anyone present knew of anything that the department had set, he should come forward. No one coming forward, the coroner commended his address to the jury.

It must be remembered, he said, that after the loss of life on Wednesday last the exhaustive inquiry held was necessary. So much was known that two citizens had their lives, citizens whose reputations were of an unsavory nature, nevertheless, it was a loss of life.

F. M. TWEEDIE HOME FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

New Brunswick Manager of Gold Mine on Pacific Talks Entertainingly of Princess Royal and Matters in General.

F. M. Tweedie, manager and superintendent of the Princess Royal gold mines, British Columbia, arrived in the city Tuesday.

Speaking to a representative of the Telegraph last evening Mr. Tweedie said the mine was turning out well and extensive developments had been in progress for the past two years.

Continuing he said it is clear that they were all drunk, the man bought liquor at a public house and brought it in for the woman to drink; one man had been in the Dugan house the night of the fire was so drunk when giving evidence Tuesday night that his word was of little value.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

He reviewed Mary Degan's evidence, referring to that part in which she stated that the child had lighted the oil-burner, saying that the evidence had been corroborated that the child had left the lamp and been put to bed by Mrs. McGuigan between 7 and 8 o'clock.

MARITIME PROVINCE YALE GRADUATES

George W. Massie and H. J. McLatchy of Fredericton to Get B. A. Degrees, and E. C. Weyman of Apohaqui, N. B.

Among those receiving degrees from Yale University today are six maritime province men.

Geo. W. Massie and H. J. McLatchy, both of Fredericton, who graduated last year from the University of New Brunswick, have each completed a very successful year in the senior class.

Mr. Massie is looking forward to journalism work in the west, and Mr. McLatchy will enter the same line in this province.

E. C. Weyman, of Apohaqui (N.B.), has been studying political economy in the graduate school. He received a Master's degree. Next year he will return to Yale for further graduate work, where he has received a scholarship and an assistantship in economics.

P. H. Gage, of Wolfville, and A. H. Taylor, of Kentville (N.S.), both graduates of Acadia in 1902, receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. They will return to Acadia in the fall to pursue graduate work in social science.

Mr. Gage has been granted a fellowship, and Mr. Taylor a scholarship. Both have assistantships at Acadia.

M. W. Martin, of Prince Edward Island, gets a Ph. D. degree. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

Mr. Martin is in pastoral work in Ohio. He is in pastoral work in Ohio.

HAMPTON EXCURSION VISITS THE KINGSTON MACDONALD SCHOOL

Hampton, Kings county, June 27--Yesterday a party of ladies and gentlemen belonging to Hampton Station, accompanied by a few visiting friends, drove over to Kingston on a prarrangement with Principal Hamilton, to inspect the Macdonald school and prepare themselves by personal inquiry as to the probabilities of a consolidated school working satisfactorily at this centre.

Among those in the party were Dr. F. H. Wetmore, Jas. W. Smith, J. F. Glegg, T. C. Donald, John Marshall, Andrew Roddy, G. F. Robinson, Geo. M. Wilson, Alex. Cormier, Geo. M. Freeman, John F. Frost, Fred. Board, Jas. F. Sprad, Mesdames T. W. Barnes, Wm. Langstroth, Wm. Patterson, T. C. Donald, Jas. Brown, R. A. March, L. A. Tule, J. L. Patterson, F. Skinner, Jas. Barnes, Geo. M. Wilson, J. F. Frost and the Wives Stewart, E. M. Gervin, F. Barnes, W. Barnes, Jessie McLeod, E. Ruddle, F. Pritchard, and others.

Shortly after the start was made rain began to fall, and continued throughout the day, making the drive of more than twenty miles out and in, anything but a pleasant experience. Wind and rain, and mud, however, made no perceptible effect upon the spirits of the party, for they were as jolly during the homeward journey as at the moment of starting out in the morning, notwithstanding that most of the conveniences were open wagons.

All the departments of the school were opened up to the view of the party, which will close the term's work, next Friday, but the principal, after welcoming the party, and receiving a report from the principal, and a personal conducting of them through the building and answering the many inquiries made in regard to what they saw.

Classes of pupils were also set off to man the manual training room, and the domestic science department, while the primary department in charge of Miss Millie Stewart, who is a personal friend of most of the visitors, was kept busy in showing off their skill in paper folding, straw designs, and blackboard work generally.

Miss Young, the newly installed teacher of domestic science, gave practical lessons in the culinary art, and the visitors were permitted to test the results of the work in a sarab, made under their eyes, as well as some baked stuffed potatoes, "done to a turn." There were also illustrations of laundry and general kitchen work.

The boys and young men in the manual training room worked away with saw and plane, and showed that they are making excellent progress. Their benches were in good order and the special bit carpentry they were employed upon gave indication as to the results of the work in a sarab, made under their eyes, as well as some baked stuffed potatoes, "done to a turn." There were also illustrations of laundry and general kitchen work.

Sections of the party also roamed at will from room to room, and were permitted to ask all the questions on the blackboards, which the pupils were in course of answering. It is to be hoped that their minds were not too much distracted by the presence of the strangers to admit of their securing good marks.

At the hour of closing all the children were marched to the assembly hall, where the closing exercises and a brief programme of music were held. Then came the interesting sight of about a hundred of the boys and young men in light summer clothing, skipping from the sheltering entrance hall, down the steps, into the open air, where they were waiting for their conveyance to their respective homes.

There was no confusion, no loss of time, every section came forth separately and in order, and all were safely and comfortably conveyed to their respective homes. The party was most interesting and profitable, and the school was most favorably impressed with the results of the visit.

A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Hamilton and his assistants for the attention shown and the information given, to which the principal replied by an invitation for them to occupy the room for the laying out and partitioning of the school building, which had brought with them. This was thankfully accepted, and with hot coffee and the cold collation everybody was soon busy trying to subdue the senses which had been brought to a long drive and much tramping up and down stairs had left in their wake.

This over, the tables were cleared up and by about 1 o'clock the Hamptonians were on their way back in a driving rain, which tested their sociability and with a rapid exit all were safely and comfortably conveyed to their respective homes.

It now all the rest of the ratepayers of the school, who were invited to the workings of consolidation, there would be little or no opposition to its being adopted at the school.

Wedded at Rothesay. The marriage of Isaac E. Moore, principal of the Rothesay School for Boys, to Miss Ida Mary Brock, daughter of the late P. W. Brock, took place Tuesday afternoon in St. Paul's church, Rothesay, at 3.30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Daniel, assisted by Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond.

The church was beautifully decorated with white lilies, snow drops and ferns and never looked prettier. The bride was given away by her brother, C. Harold Brock, and the groomsmen were Fred. R. Taylor. The bride was unattended. The ushers were Wm. Henry Harrison and J. A. L. Patterson.

The bride was married in a brown traveling suit. The presents were very handsome, consisting of cut glass, silver and many work from friends in England, Scotland, the United States and different parts of Canada. Amongst them were a silver mounted watch, a gold watch, a silver school at Rothesay College, and a cut glass pitcher and glasses from the Old Boys' Association; also a handsome landscape painting from the Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond, and a handsome picture from the Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond, and a handsome picture from the Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond.

Every Family in the Province Will Want a Wall Chart with the very latest map of the Maritime Provinces showing the proposed route for the Grand Trunk Pacific through New Brunswick. If you are a subscriber to The Telegraph 35 Cents sent to The Telegraph will bring one of these by return mail. Regular price $1.00. Semi-Weekly Telegraph for one year and Chart, $1.35. SUBSCRIBE TODAY.

THE TELEGRAPH PUBLISHING COMPANY, ST. JOHN, N. B.

June Brides. McCann-Hanlon. A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday morning in St. Rose's church, Fairville, when Daniel McCann, engineer, of Macaulay Brook, was married to Mary C. Hanson, second daughter of Michael J. Hanson, of Millford. The bride wore a dress of dove colored cloth, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha M. Hanson. The bridesmaid dress was pale green over white taffeta, and old rose red; she carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond ring, and to the bride a cheque. The bride is a very popular young lady, and received many beautiful wedding remembrances. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Millford.

Doggett-Black. At the home of the bride's father Tuesday morning, Miss Emma I. Black was united in marriage to D. Herbert Doggett, of North Head, Grand Manan. Rev. Mr. Barnett of Lanseur Street, Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman. The bride's wedding gown was a handsome one of blue broadcloth, trimmed in white, with large picture hat to match. Mr. Doggett is a very popular young man, and the bride is a very popular young lady. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Millford.

Walton-Forsyth. Tuesday evening in Exmouth Street Methodist church, paragon the wedding of Miss Annie Forsyth, daughter of Jas. Forsyth, 30 St. Patrick street, to Charles W. Walton, of the I. C. R., took place. The bride was dressed in a handsome one of blue broadcloth, trimmed in white, with large picture hat to match. Mr. Walton is a very popular young man, and the bride is a very popular young lady. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Millford.

Lamborn-Hamm. Benjamin Lamborn, of New York, was married to Miss M. Louise Hamm, only daughter of Wellington Hamm, of this city, Tuesday afternoon, in St. Paul's (Valley) church. The bride wore a dress of dove colored cloth, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha M. Hanson. The bridesmaid dress was pale green over white taffeta, and old rose red; she carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond ring, and to the bride a cheque. The bride is a very popular young lady, and received many beautiful wedding remembrances. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Millford.

Stachouse-Knight. On Tuesday evening, the 27th inst., a very pretty wedding took place in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

Stachouse-Knight. A quiet though pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday morning at 103 Portland street in the presence of immediate relatives, when Helen, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin T. Knight, was united in marriage to Edwin Charles Stachouse, where Arthur S. Beckwith and Miss Mary A. Coughlan were united in marriage by Rev. A. W. Meahan. The bride was attended by Miss Maggie McEachern, while Frank E. Nugent, supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future home where a wedding supper followed. The ceremony was most beautiful and costly presents.

BRUTAL MURDER OF MAINE WOMAN

Mrs. Annie Bishop of Rockland Believed to Have Been Killed in Drunken Brawl--Two Arrests-Made.

South Thomaston, Me., June 27--Mrs. Annie Bishop of Rockland, 45 years old, was found dead this afternoon at the home of James Maloney, in this town, with an ugly wound on her head and cuts on the fingers of the right hand. The walls of the room were splattered with blood, and there were many evidences of a struggle.

John Maloney, 40 years, the son of a farmer, is under arrest on suspicion, and his father is being held as a witness. The woman's husband, James Bishop, is said to be at work in Stockton Springs. A brief examination of both father and son resulted in the arrest of the latter on suspicion, and the former as a witness. They were taken to the Thomaston jail and lodged up, pending further investigation.

Coroner Jenkins took the necessary steps this evening for holding an inquest tomorrow after the autopsy is performed by the medical examiner.

James Maloney is about 65 years old and his son, 18 years younger. They live alone in a small house on the outskirts of the town. Mrs. Maloney has been dead for some years.

Inquiries at Rockland this afternoon showed that the husband, James Bishop, was at Stockton Springs, some distance up the Penobscot river, and an effort was made to reach him tonight.

BOY DROWNED AT EDMUNDSTON SATURDAY

Lad Fell Into Sluiceway While Fishing--Body Recovered--A Successful Bazaar.

Edmundston, N. B., June 25--On Saturday morning while fishing from the mill dam, the oldest son of Napoleon Bernier slipped and fell into the sluiceway and as no assistance was near he was drowned. In a few minutes a large crowd had gathered but owing to the swiftness of the water at this place nothing could be done to save him.

About 4 o'clock the body raised and was found on a jam of logs. This is the first drowning of a child in this town, and the parents of the family who have the sympathy of all.

Hon. John Costigan, M. P., registered at the Royal on Friday. H. A. Powell, ex-M. P., and Mrs. Powell, Moncton, spent Sunday in town, guests of the Royal.

Arthur McKenzie, of St. Stephen, was a guest at Hotel Hebert Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Blouchet arrived in town on Saturday and will make their home at the Royal on Friday.

Miss Jean Balloch, of the Victoria Hospital, Fredericton, is in town visiting Mrs. P. S. Marohie. D. Costigan is home again from the drive and will remain until August when he will go in the woods as clerk for the St. John Lumber Company.

The home of Frank B. Murchie was brightened on Sunday when Mrs. Murchie presented a little daughter to the already happy family.

The ladies of the Roman Catholic church held their annual bazaar on Wednesday and Thursday of last week and are to be congratulated on the excellent way in which it was conducted. The meals served were of the best and the refreshments were excellent.

The fancy table consisted of many beautiful articles and the prices were within the means of all purchasers. When the amount taken in was counted it was found after all expenses were met that the goodly sum of $800 was left to be the credit of the convent, so well worthy of the help of all.

The death of Samuel L. Walker, brother of Dr. A. B. Walker, of this city, occurred at his residence, 115 Dorchester street, on Monday morning last. The deceased leaves four children, two daughters married in Boston, a young son and daughter at home.

FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER

Death of Francis Gallagher Last Evening at Home Here.

Late Tuesday night Francis Gallagher, one of the oldest and most respected residents of this town, died at his home, 115 Dorchester street, at the age of eighty-three years. Deceased was a native of Kings county, but had lived in this city for upwards of sixty years, on the way being employed as a school teacher, but followed that profession for only a few years, he became a surveyor, in which capacity he was engaged for many years ago. His wife predeceased him fifteen years. A son and a daughter, John F. in Fredericton, and Augusta, home in this town, are left. There are two sisters living, Mrs. McBarney, of this city, and Mrs. John Kelly, of Bellefleur. Mr. Gallagher enjoyed the respect of a very large and select circle of friends, who looked up to him as to a model of probity. Faithful in all the relations of life, he will be missed by many.

The BERRY BOY QUESTION. It may be that the representation of the berry and fruit growers in the maritime provinces will stay for a time the operations of the new regulation in respect to the size of packages. It is said that growers, those of them who have not used a large box as others, protest against the law because their stock of boxes is already in the hands of the public. They say they plead for another season to send out berry boxes which apparently hold as much fruit as any, but in reality are so fashioned and abbreviated in depth that the berries weigh much less in each package.

Almost without exception the fruit dealers are a unit for the enforcement of the new law. They and their customers have for so long a time been "held up" as it were by the deceptive box without any power for redress that they do not wish this opportunity for the enforcement of common honesty methods to pass without being utilized. However, no word has been received from the agricultural department at Ottawa instructing inspectors to enforce the law or giving them any particulars about it. To this time fruit inspectors have been appointed for short seasons rather than for the year and their duties have been limited. It is not thought that the same men cannot act for berries as well as apples, but they claim their wish for definite instructions is but natural.

Hill Wins Over C. P. R. Ottawa, June 27--J. Hill and the Great Northern scored again today in their fight with the Canadian Pacific. This is the third time. The season of the railway committee of the commons, in which this morning's struggle over the third clause of the Victoria Vancouver and British Columbia bill was as stirring as the previous two. Speakers had the greatest difficulty in being heard and to command the attention of the committee was impossible. The clause under discussion was the one which sanctions the crossing of the Canadian boundary. The bill carried 75 for and 60 against the passing of the clause.

It is understood the specifications for the truck to be done at the I. C. R. depot call for considerable pile driving, as the land upon which the big structure stands is reclaimed. The addition to the train shed will be given a very strong foundation, so that there will be no danger of a recurrence of the sinking and sagging which has from time to time been discovered in the parent building.

OBITUARY. Mrs. Mary J. Gallagher. Mrs. Mary J. Gallagher, wife of Thomas S. Gallagher, died Wednesday in Somerville (Me.), after six days' illness. She was a member of the First Methodist church, and leaves besides her husband, three sons and two daughters. Her husband was a native of Kings county, but had lived in this city for upwards of sixty years, on the way being employed as a school teacher, but followed that profession for only a few years, he became a surveyor, in which capacity he was engaged for many years ago. His wife predeceased him fifteen years. A son and a daughter, John F. in Fredericton, and Augusta, home in this town, are left. There are two sisters living, Mrs. McBarney, of this city, and Mrs. John Kelly, of Bellefleur. Mr. Gallagher enjoyed the respect of a very large and select circle of friends, who looked up to him as to a model of probity. Faithful in all the relations of life, he will be missed by many.

Alexander Colter. Frederick, June 27--Alexander Colter, a respected resident of Keegan, died Monday evening at his home. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Alexander Brewer; four brothers, Rev. J. J. Colter, of Fredericton; William, of Keegan; Richard, of Texas (U. S. A.); Henry Charles, of Fredericton; and one sister, Mrs. Dr. Day, of St. John West. The funeral will take place on Wednesday, 28th inst., at 2 o'clock p. m.

George N. Earle. Kingston, Kings Co., June 23--There passed peacefully to rest an early hour Monday morning, George N. Earle, an old and highly respected member of this community. Although in poor health for many years, and for the last four years confined to his bed, he died suddenly. The deceased was born of Loyalist parentage, on the very farm on which he died, the 3rd of March, 1817, and had all his life in this community. Mr. Earle was twice married, his first wife was Miss Caroline Mabee, by whom he had eleven children, four of whom are living, they are: Mrs

THE STATE OF MADM ISABEL

By SCHUYLER STAUNTON

Copyrighted 1905 by The Reilly & Britton Company and published exclusively in The Telegraph by special arrangement with the Canada Newspaper Syndicate.

A STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND ADVENTURE

CHAPTER V.

Madam Isabel. I slept well in my pleasant room, but wakened early, the bright sunbeams pouring in at my open window and the songs of many birds sounding a lively chorus.

She turned upon him with a fierce gesture. "The letters to Picoto are not finished, sir," she exclaimed. "I know. But Mr. Harcliffe will not sign them until they are ready."

had been influenced by his sister's enthusiastic championing. Leoba seemed fully in her brother's confidence, and although she was not a recognized member of the conspiracy, I found that she was thoroughly conversant with every detail of our progress.

over his shoulder I saw a slight of stairs reaching far downward. De Pintra turned and took the candle from my hand. "Follow me," he said.

timeliness of the great movement for liberty. The idea that monarchs derive their authority from divine sources—so prevalent among higher classes—had dissolved before the leader's powerful arguments and the object lessons Dom Pedro's corrupt ministry constantly afforded.

"She Rose to Her Feet, Her Eyes Flashing."

Dom Miguel drew a sigh of relief as the door closed, and rubbed his forehead vigorously with his handkerchief. "That order is at last over," he muttered.

Madam Isabel had not returned to the court, as she had threatened in her indignation. Perhaps she realized that it would mean to place herself again within the power of her husband, who had learned to hate and despise her.

Next moment, as I listened intently, I heard a slight grating noise, followed by a soft shooting of many bolts. Then a match flickered, and Dom Miguel held it to the lock and unlocked the door.

"In the Floor of This Chamber Was a Trap Door."

"She shook her head as if disappointed. "No one ever understands Francisco but me," she returned, regretfully.

"I beg that you will not wrong my daughter with hasty suspicions," he continued, pleadingly. "I do not wish you to confide our secrets to her, since I have myself refrained from doing so, out of respect for the wishes of my associates."

"But should they discover who our leaders are, and capture them, there would be no one to lead the uprising," I suggested.

"I hope I shall be spared until I have accomplished my task," he said, at length. "I know my danger is great; yet it is not for myself I fear, but lest the Cause be lost through premature exposure."

"I BEHELD MADAM ISABEL STANDING BESIDE US"

"Let me hope, donzella, that your brother will soon count me among his intimates." It was the least I could say in answer to the pleading look in her eyes, and to my surprise she seemed to smile at me, for she blushed with pleasure.

"I am sure he likes you already," she announced, "for he told me so as he bade me good-by this morning."

"I have said that Paola impressed me as being conceited. This might well be true in regard to his personal appearance, his social accomplishments—playing the piano and guitar, singing, riding, and the like—but I never heard him speak lightly of the Cause or boast of his connection with it."

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

opposed it. We could not have remained in the room had I questioned either his truth or ability.

ring unlocked the vault. Now that Isabel has learned the truth, I must guard the ring as I would my life—more, the lives of all our patriotic band."

"I prefer to keep her under my own eye. And, strange as her actions tonight seem, I still hesitate to believe that she would conspire to ruin me."

"The secret is not your own, sir," I ventured to say. "True," he acknowledged, flushing deeply. "The secret is not my own. It belongs to the Cause. And its discovery would jeopardize the revolution itself."

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

"I lighted the candle, as directed, and turned toward him expectantly. He drew a rug from before the fireplace, and stooping over, touched a button that released a spring in the flooring.

Advertisement for 'Boys' Education' by Woodsstock College, Woodstock, Ont.

ring unlocked the vault. Now that Isabel has learned the truth, I must guard the ring as I would my life—more, the lives of all our patriotic band."

MUTINEERS SEIZE BEST RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP

Most of the Officers Killed and Thrown Overboard; The Others Forced to Join--Other Warships of Baltic Fleet Sent for and Desperate Battle is Expected--Steamer Seized and 2,000 Tons of Coal Taken on Board.

Odessa, June 28--The red flag of revolution is hoisted at the masthead of the Kniaz Potemkin, Russia's most powerful battleship in the Black Sea, which now lies in the harbor in the hands of mutineers.

Reports of the mutiny, which occurred while the battleship was at sea, are difficult to obtain, as the mutineers refuse to allow communication with the shore; but it is ascertained that it arose from the shooting of a sailor who was presenting on behalf of the crew a complaint against bad food.

presented a joint complaint of the crew. The authorities have made no attempt to remove the body, the sailors having served notice that the ship would open fire on anyone seeking to interfere with it.

INTERCONTINENTAL RAILWAY On and after JUNE 4, 1905, trains will depart and arrive daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

TRAINS LEAVE ST. JOHN. 6.00--No. 3 Express for Point du Chene, Halifax, Campbellton, Pictou, the Sydney.

Students Can Enter At Any Time As we have no summer vacation, do not divide into terms and the instruction given is mostly individual.

Could Not Walk Ten Yards Without Resting. Mrs. D. Herkimer, Hall's Bridge, Ont., was Troubled with Weak Heart and Sleepless.

MR. KIDNER IN TOWN BRINGS FINE REPORT FROM ALBERT COUNTY C. J. Osman, M. P. P., Makes Generous Offer to Start Manual Training

T. B. Kidner, director of manual training work in New Brunswick, was in the city yesterday afternoon on his way to Fredericton from Albert county. On Wednesday evening he was at a well-attended educational meeting at Hillsboro.

Harcourt Items. Harcourt, June 29--Granville Division, No. 449, S. of T., elected the following officers last Saturday night:

Senator King, who is at the Royal, told Telegraph reporter last evening that the Survey work for the G. T. P. route was being rapidly proceeded with.

SOLDIER IN QUOD IN CAMP SUSSEX (Continued from page 1) the alphabet. Hold your arms and body in a certain position; there's the first letter.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

TALK DIVORCE QUESTION AT BEULAH CAMP

Alliance Business Meeting Transact Much Important Business. STRONG RESOLUTION ON TEMPERANCE

Beulah Camp, June 29--An important matter taken up at the business meeting of the Reformed Baptist Alliance today was the subject of divorce. There were important resolutions on temperance, Sabbath observance and other matters.

Sabbath Observance. The committee on this matter reported that the committee on the Sabbath beg leave to submit the following: In the observance of the Sabbath is the security of our material and spiritual welfare.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

Statistics and Finances. The afternoon session was of great interest, as a most important report were presented--those of the corresponding secretary and Sunday school report.

ST. JOHN MARKETS

On Wednesday last, says a despatch, the Federal Reserve Commission of New York advanced the price of all grades of refined sugars five cents per 100 pounds. There is no change, however, in the local market.

Table with multiple columns listing market prices for various goods such as flour, sugar, and other commodities.

On Wednesday last, says a despatch, the Federal Reserve Commission of New York advanced the price of all grades of refined sugars five cents per 100 pounds.

RIVALRY IN LUMBER IN EARLY DAYS ON RIVER ST. JOHN

Rev. Dr. Raymond's Interesting Story Resumed--Searchers for Masts for His Majesty's Navy at Loggerheads Over Place to Select the Best Trees--An Old-time Diplomat.

After an interval which has been regretted by the many who have followed Rev. Dr. O. Raymond's history of the early days of this region, the story is now resumed.

It is rather a curious circumstance that very soon after Franklin, Hazen and White embarked in the masting business they found themselves at logger heads with William Davidson, whose workmen they had for two years been endeavoring to protect from interference on the part of the "rebels" and Indians.

Success in the Klondike failed to turn J. W. McCuskey's thoughts from his little affair of the heart away back home in New Brunswick, and on June 28 at the home of Capt. A. W. Granville, Durham street, North End, he was wedded to the lady of his choice, Miss Martha B. McLean.

Success in the Klondike failed to turn J. W. McCuskey's thoughts from his little affair of the heart away back home in New Brunswick, and on June 28 at the home of Capt. A. W. Granville, Durham street, North End, he was wedded to the lady of his choice, Miss Martha B. McLean.