Our local contemporary prints a story to the effect that 15 years ago the Jacques Line of steamers did a large business at Port Stanley with London shippers, but that some of the latter deserted the steamship service for the railroads, which came down in their rates. Here we have these significant admissions:

First, a steam road connection with Port Stanley enabled London shippers o make an extensive use of the

COURTHOUSE DEAL

Original Cost of Repairs Has Been Increased Three Times.

What Would Happen if Graham Ring Controlled L. and P. S. R. Contracts?

One of the strongest possible arguments against the carrying of the electrification bylaw is the fact that the ylaw's success means that Mayor C. M. R Graham will be a seeker for mayoralty honors for a third time. It has been asserted by those who know that Mayor Graham "for services rendered" will be the official choice of the electrophobe party in the event of success. His sudden switch to the electrification side forestalled his opposition by a hand-picked electrophobe last year, and it is claimed that for "meritorlous work"-for the electrophobes and the Free Press, he will be rewarded by having a third term presented to him on a silver platter-if the electrophobes have anything to do with the mayoralty campaign

Big Firms Behind It. By the passage of electrification some uicy contracts and jobs would be 'made that the supporters who, it has been aleged, have the combined strong boxes f a number of big electrical construction ompanies to draw from, would be averse hair. His "family promotion" record and his unswerving servility to the Free Press, et al., during the two years he has been mayor of London would make him an ideal candidate for the "interests" that are claimed to be financing a large portion of the electrification campaign.

Predicting a Walk-Over. Already the Free Press is predicting a walk-over' for Mayor Graham for next year The Free Press opinions are generally dictated ones, and apparently the paper has received its little orders to 'boost Graham for a third term."

With the majority of the present council aubmitting to the ignominy of being led anywhere, the Graham misrule ring has had an opportunity to do almost as it pleased during the present year. However, there has been no $700,000 to spend. With similar conditions in the council, and with such a sum of money on hand, it is hard telling what the result would have been. On the basis of the courtwould have run to at least $2,100,000.

Big Comedy Success, "Brewster's Millions."

"Brewster's Millions" will be the attraction at the Grand tomorrow and Saturday evenings, special matinee on Saturday, at popular prices. Louis Nilsen will be seen in the title character of "Monty" Brewster, which he has played for upwards of 100 weeks, and the excellent cast supporting him, including Katherine Francis as Peggy Gray, Earl Christie, James Morey,
Will Lyons, Frank Backus, Wilfred O.
Nixon, Jack Murray, Tom Springer,
Emily Burke, Maisie Ivis, Beulah
Leighton, and a score of others.

There is nothing new to say about the play. Of course, it is all wildly improbable, so was the book, but there is fun enough in this whimsical story of frenzied finance to make even the blase playgoer laugh. Seats on

The Eminent English Actor, Mr. Cyril Maude.

The sale for Cyril Maude's engagement at the Grand Opera House, London, Monday and Tuesday nights, is going along at a gait which shows how firm is the hold that he has upon the affections of theatregoers. London is going to give the distinguished player the warmest kind of a welcome. An English actor will have rarely commenced an American tour under more favorable conditions or auspicious auguries. The very completeness of the preparations for Mr. Maude's season shows the character of the business expected. ### How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

Sixteen ounces of cough syrup - as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat trou-

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 21/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfect-ly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other prepara-tions will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Can-ada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

LONDON, THURSDAY, OCT. 9.

A LANDSCAPE OF MANY COLORS. Was there ever a season when Canada, or this part of it, seemed fairer than now? The summer has been more than usually fine, September has gone serenely over full barns and loaded peach trees, and now October weather, as rare as that of June, rests on a landscape that is everywhere a wonderful kaleidoscope of color.

A drive in the country, a journey on the train, or a trip to Springbank, gives a picture of loveliness, shining in the sun's rays, which begin to slant, that would be hard to imagine. The trees stand scattered or in blocks, many of them still unmarked by autumn's flery finger, in their varying shades of green, some yellow in spots, others a living blaze of scarlet and crimson. An oriental carpet or tapestry could hardly show more richly varied hues, from the scarlet of the maple as it "burns itself away," and the gorgeous streamers of the sumach to the deep tones of the oak leaf. Horse-chestnut burrs have cracked open, and the shining brown and white of the nuts show through as they prepare to drop. Athwart the air, which is not yet hazy with Indian summer, but clear almost like Maytime, the flaming leaves fly earthward, while mountain-ash berries attract the robins to a last dessert.

After so plentiful a summer the robins look almost too fat to fly. The $123,500. robin population must have had a everything their own way, enjoying London and Port Stanley Railway. In- street, quarreled the other day. grand migration.

Against this vineyards are enjoying an excellent ripening season, the deep blue and bronze green bunches adding to the October scene a grateful touch. Pumpkins gild the cornfields, while wild asters empurple the banks in all directions. It is a lively web of many-colored strands that spreads out under this summer aky of October in the garden of Ontario. It is the carnival of bright and freakish costumes before lenten winter suddenly blows a white breath to

"THE INTERESTS."

Great stress is laid by the advocates of electrification on "the interests" that they imagine are opposing their pet scheme. By this is understood the various steam roads concerned in the traffic of this locality. Now, it is a noticeable fact that these same "interests" are taking no part in the fight. They seem to have realized that the matter is one for the people of London to settle, and they appear quite willing to let us settle it. When they have been asked what course they will follow in case of the electrification of their intentions; but they have made no attempt to argue the question, nor trade agreement of two years ago. to threaten us with penalties. But sums that would be trifling to run through a tunnel, even though the them become of considerable importance to the average citizen whose property is already under a heavy mortgage of taxation. And the finance department has been rather supercilious in this matter, and shown no disposition to interfere.

There would seem to be some hope now for more sanitary conditions when we hear a report of an investigation at Ottawa which resulted in finding large numbers of microbes on each note examined, together with a fatty extract which holds the germs of disease. The ordinary man does not recognize these germs because he has no microscopes in his eyes, but he can recognize the fatty matter by touch and sight and smell, especially smell. There are probably few things more note which has been long in circulation. It is only the fact that, whether clean or dirty, we are always eager to get them, that has prevented an outery sufficient to bring the banks to time long before this.

However, if our finance department has at last discovered what everybody has long been assured of, that these parasol and a hand-bag. notes are filthy and dangerous, we may hope that some measures will be taken by the Government to remedy the evil. The banks make enough profit to justify the demand for clean notes.

NO MONEY IN IT.

The hydro-electric commission has prepared a financial statement on the project of a radial railway from Toronto to Whitby, 71 miles long, touching such flourishing towns as Markham, Uxbridge and Port Perry by a roundabout route.

The capital cost is estimated at $2,470,500; the operating revenue at $450,500 and the operating expenses at $396,660. The annual surplus of $53,840 for all the other divisions of the United would not go far toward meeting the Kingdom. With a general plan there interest and sinking fund. Schamel has been speially favored. As a child he was a playellow of the King of Rome, and can still emember being picked up by Napoleon, Emperor's guard

He has lived under two emperors, three ings, ten presidents, been present at two revolutions, taken a hand in a coup d'etat and a civil war, lived through the Elba, the abdication of Napoleon at Fontainebleau, visited St. Helena during the emperor's internment. Within his span of life science has changed almost every mode of locomotion and not a few nabits. He has watched the development of steam as an industrial force and witnessed its retreat before electricity. He has seen the invention of wireless telegraphy and the passage of airships and aeroplanes over the city in which he has chief costumier at the opera, he now enjoys the evenings of his days in his little pachelor cottage at Neuilly, where his fund of recollection and anecdote attracts a host of visitors.

power to injure other persons simply by LOOKING at them is still widely accepted among most of the "queer peoples" of our globe Especially is ft true in Asia Minor,

Syria and Palestine, where Jesus Christ gave the world its great lesson on the omnipotent power of the Divine Being. The eye is as potent to ignorant people, whose minds are full of fanciful inter-pretations of natural laws, as superstition may conceive; the error arises from a lack of understanding of its operation, rather than a recognition of its power. The person who felt himself under the spell of a lustrous eye, with a penetrating gaze, would be too agitated calmly to consider the cause of his terror, and attribute to another the results for which he himself was mainly responsible. The uncommon color of an eastern eye might enchance this feeling and cause the victim to regard it as the means of conveying a malevolent influence. Hence the fact that blue eyes amongst the inhabitants of Palestine and the surrounding countries have always been responsible for consequences disastrous to those who have been subject to their gaze. It is really the man who is smitten with ter-ror that gives to the eye of the other its baneful power, and he fears less the force of character behind it than the fancies with which his own timidity has invested

The safest and best cure for the "evil eye" is supposed to be a bit of clothing from the man or woman through whom the pernicious element has passed, and to burn it below the victim. The fumes will immediately remove the ill-effect. Another method adopted is to take a piece of tamarisk wood, a pinch of salt or alum, and place it in a pan on the fire. The person afflicted must walk around it seven times, and as soon as a crackling sound is heard the spell is broken. To praise anything, particularly a child or a horse, will cause at once some misfortune, and even if sick-ness should follow some time after, it will be attributed to the words of favor.

That the evil eye may be visited upon their children is the especial fear of Palestine mothers of today and many to ward it off. The more of these am i ets a child has the better mother it is con-

I am to wear ivory-white satin, two maids were to wear corn-colored and the others were to wear pale green. She was omitted in the first sentence; Insists upon wearing pink, What can you

A .- As it is considered an honor for friends to act as an attendant at the bride's wedding they are usually willing to comply with the bride's wishes. If the bride's family cannot afford to purchase the gowns for the attendants, and the maids are not financially able to go to such expense, then they should not accept the invitation to act in this capacity. Do not make yourself sick over the matter. Tell your friend kindly that if she does not care to wear the color chosen by you for your wedding color motif, then she will have to give place to some other friend. Perhaps you have a friend dear enough who will be glad to help you out in this matter. If not, then have three, letting one act as maid of honor.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you mind putting this in your column for me. What would cure the habit of blushing when any young man looks at you or when he speaks to you.

Plank also bounded weakly to Wiltse, and another good throw to the home plate trapped Barry. There was still a man at third, however, with Eddie Murphy, a dangerous hitter, at bat. Eddie banged a hot bounder to Mathewson, who speared the ball just as it seemed about to clear his head, and tossed out the batter, ending the greatest inning of Christy's career.

How's that for getting out of a hole, and against the strongest batting club in the world at that?

Mathewson had saved the day, which was all that anybody could ask of a pitcher. The old master was not through, however, for having prevented defeat, he was also to be the agent for bringing victory. McLean opened tenth with a single, and was immediately replaced by Eddie Grant, a fast runner. Wiltse sacrificed Grant to second, and Mathewson came to the plate in the midst of an ovation which the Philadelphia supporters joined as heartily as the Giant adherents.

Nine innings constituted Plank's time. In this period he did the work of a mas-Then He Pasted It. Plank got two strikes on his rival, and then Matty pasted out a long, clean single to left centre. Grant scored easily with the run that won the game, the other two that came in this same inning being superfluous. Matty used his fadeaway much more of the than he usually does, and made some of Mack's best hitters look very silly with it. Collins, as good a hitter as anyone will find in a day's march, struck out twice, while the great Baker and the formidable McInnis once took their three swipes just like a couple of the systems. hese came as a result of an error by Collins, who hit Mathewson on the head with the ball trying for a force play at second, a hit batsman and eletcher's rather lucky single to left. But Matty's biff was the one that put the gloom in Philadelphia and gave the Giants new hope of winning the

Hats off to this man Mathewson. Anybody who can do what he did in the ninth inning deserves the favor of the gods, and there probably were not 50 persons in the crowd, violently partisan toward the Athletics as it had been, who didn't feel glad deep down in their hearts that the grand athlete had reaped his reward. Even those who of Murphy's tap, Oldring's single and Collins' sacrifice. This brought up none other than the terrible Frank Baker, whose very name spells disaster to New York. Frank couldn't locate that fadeaway, however, and fanned. McInnis, who had the chance to send the waiting runners home, hit the ball very hard, but straight into Burns' hands. Near Danger in Fourth.

Matty was again beset by danger in the fourth, when Baker got to second and Strunk to first after two were out. Barry apparently had a base hit started on this occasion, but Doyle made a fine play and retired the side.

The Macks kept getting on now and then after that, but didn't make much of a threat until the eighth, when Collins and Baker singled in succession with Snodgrass, was run down. Then danger-ous Doyle lined to Oldring, and Eddic was out of that pickle.

You cannot blame the veteran for giving way in the tenth. There is a certain psychology about the game of baseball that tells the players when their time has come and gene, and Plank knew by intuition, though he hated to admit it in his stout old heart that he was not going to win the battle after the Athletics fell feetly. It is just possible that Mack was prompted by sentiment in letting Lapp hit, just as he was two years ago when Coombs parent to everybody that he was in

Maybe Connie did not want to rob Jack of the credit for hitting home the winning run, especially as there would still remain two chances to get the tally in It was a costly bit of sentiment, if such it was, for Lapp's weak effort fell into the clutches of Wiltse, whose fine throw and McLean's good blocking combined to thwart Strunk at the plate. The decision was fairly close, but eminently correct, as the runner, although he got there with the bail, could not touch the a proceeding rendered doubly difficult by

Better Excuse for Plank. There was perhaps a better excuse for leaving Plank in as a batter, though the writer helds that this was the spot in which either to win the game or lose it Plank had been batted fairly hard for a couple of innings previously and was showing signs of tiring. A pinch batter might have removed all necessity for any nore mound work, and even at the wors new twirler might have held up his end Plank, it must be admitted, is a fai hitter, but there are a lot of better ones on the Mack muster rolls who were available at this time. Plank is not in the habit of hitting long files, and one of these flies was much desired. Eddie's grounder was puny and Wiltse easily cut off Barry at the plate, and the Giants were able to run him down Then, of course, the head of the batting order came along and there was no further need for substitutions. Murphy tried hard, but Matty got his hopper. It must be remembered that the critics of Mack's strategy have the last guess while he must make the first one. I either Lapp or Plank had delivered, notheither Lapp or Plank had delivered, noth-ing would have been heard about any "bonehead." Every play is a good play if you win and none is good if you lose. Boarding With Governor Carter Londoners Getting Taste of What Has Climbed From 6 to 8 Cents.

FIGURES FOR THE YEAR ONLY ONE THING TO DO

Year, Only 69 of Whom Were Females.

Governor Carter has completed the nnual statement for the county jail for the year ending Sept. 30. It is a lengthy document, and contains many statistics of interest. The high cost of living has invaded even the governor's domain, and it cost 8.02 cents a day during the year to board each of his guests. This is almost 2 cents lower than Hamilton jail, but is some-Open High. Low. 2 p.m. ... 7334 7418 7214 7378 what higher than in previous years. There was a time not very long ago, Mr. Carter said, when 6 cents did very nicely, but times have changed since then. During the year 743 persons were confined in the jail, of which 674 were male and 69 female. Drunk and disorderly was the principal cause commitment, 436 suffering for that misdemeanor. Fifteen were of un-sound mind. Two hundred and eleven males and forty-one females were acquitted when tried. Forty-six male prisoners were sentenced to Central Prison and two to the penitentiary.
