Dominion Government Moves to End the Strike on Grand Trunk Railway

NO FREIGHT MOVING TODAY STOCK TRAINS ARE TIED UP CATTLE FEEDING IN EAST END

Grand Trunk Railway Cancelled Two Trains Today But Officials Are Keeping the Through Trains Moving.

TICKET MONEY WAS HANDED BACK

To Those Who Bought Transportation on the L., H. and B. and Also on Trains Due to Leave for the Falls This Morning —"A Fight to a Finish" Say Both Sides.

"It is a fight to a finish."

That is the way both parties sum up the Grand Trunk strike situation this afternoon.

Local officials are absolutely certain that the company will not come to the men.

The men say they will not accept the proposition as laid down to them by Mr. Hays.

At strike headquarters in Cullis' Hall, on Wellington street, this afternoon, it is stated that close to 250 men, including conductors, brakesmen, switchmen and baggagemen are out in London.

Superintendent Bowker stated to The Advertiser that he estimates that 60 per cent. of the men are out.

NO FREIGHT MOVING.

Not a pound of freight has moved since the men went out at 9:30 last night, and it is only by using the most strenuous measures that the company have been able to keep their through expresses and the mail trains going.

The mail trains have got to go at any cost, and the company naturally concentrated their efforts in getting crews for them.

Everybody was pressed into service.

No. 17, the early morning express from Toronto arrived in London at 3 o'clock with Superintendent Bowker as conductor and Travelling Engineer Fish as brakeman.

Chief Dispatcher White is missing from the local office today, and it is reported that he went to Sarnia last night and went through to Suspension Bridge this morning as baggageman on No. 4, the early morning express for New York.

Stationmaster Thomas Shortt was sent out as baggageman on No. 46.

All through the morning new men were being taken on, the majority of them absolutely green.

They were given a map of the country, a lantern or a punch, according as to whether they were to be conductors or brakemen and sent out.

These new men, together with a percentage of the old men who have remained loyal to the company are operating the trains over this division today.

BETTER THAN WAS EXPECTED

"We are getting along better than we expected," said an official this afternoon. "We only had to cancel two passenger trains. The morning train on the Bruce was cancelled, and No. 24, the accommodation for Niagara Falls and Toronto was consolidated with No. 46, and left London at 6 o'clock this morning. It carried the mail, and also a car of express, which usually goes over to Stratford on the "Cannon Ball" at midnight and connects with No. 4, the fast train over the old main line from Sarnia for Toronto.

A SUDDEN STRIKE.

The men were on duty up to 9:30 last night, and to all appearances everything was going on as usual.

In less than two minutes after half-past nine there was hardly a man to be seen in the yards.

They quit in a body and went to Cullis' Hall on Wellington street, where they held a meeting. As fast as the various trains came in their crews or those of them who were going out headed for the hall. It is said that the switchmen went out to a man.

The great majority of the conductors and brakesmen also went out, although some of the older men remained at work, and were again on duty this morning.

A DRAMATIC INCIDENT.

A dramatic incident occurred when the crew which takes No. 418, the fast freight which leaves London for Toronto at 10 o'clock came down.

It was just a few minutes before 9:30 then.

The men came down with their lunch baskets and everything all ready for the run. No word came at 9:30, and they immediately went to the hall. They were on strike, and the train did not go out.

The two late trains, which bear special through freight from Sarnia, were cancelled.

NO FREIGHT ACCEPTED.

Freight Agent Harold told The Advertiser that no freight will be accepted at the local sheds today. The sheds are filled with the incoming and outgoing freight that accumulated during yesterday afternoon and evening, and as fast as possible the incoming stuff was distributed by the Shedden Company this morning to make room.

So far the entire switching in the local yards has been done by Yardmaster Cloghesy and Night Yardmaster O'Leary. Mr. Cloghesy was on duty all night, and this afternoon he was still switching passenger trains.

STOCK TRAINS HELD UP.

Three cars of stock which arrived last night, were run into the siding near Wellington street early this morning by the single yard engine which is in use, and the animals were turned out and are being fed on hay. It is not known when they will be forwarded to their destination.

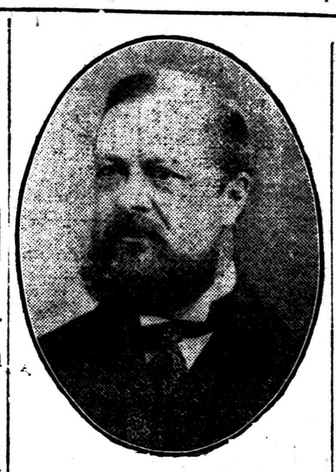

There is a persistent rumor that the telegraph operators will go out. Nothing, however, could be learned that would verify this. It was also stated that there was some talk of the engineers refusing to take trains out with inexperienced men as conductors and brakesmen.

ALL IS QUIET.

So far everything has been perfectly quiet and orderly locally. Notwithstanding the Grand Trunk have a large force of special detectives in the city, and they were to be seen all about the station yards this morning.

'One of the first things we were told last night when we met was

SCRATCH CREWS MOVING TRAINS

G. T. R. Passengers Being Operated, But No Freights.

ALL QUIET AT TERMINALS

The Situation at St. Thomas, Sarnia, Stratford, Montreal and Toronto.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, July 19.—Between 500 and 600 conductors, yardmen and brakemen went out at 9:30 last night. About five hundred sympathizers gathered at the depot. Not a wheel turned since 9:30 last night, except trains number five, eight and four, through passengers, and all were late.

Two cars of strike-breakers at Port Huron Monday were stopped by Canadian immigration officials. Detective Hodge and several G. T. R. officials are hiring special constables. The men are keeping the best of order, as they are confident of victory.

All freight trains are cancelled. One yard engine was running under Yardmaster McKee. Stratford train, due to leave here at 6 a.m., was cancelled. Number 27, from London, arrived here on time, 9:30 a.m. Conductor Douglas was in charge. Niagara Falls train, due to leave here at 9:55, had not left at 11:15.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, July 19.—Several train crews here were affected by the G. T. R. trainmen's strike, called last night, as most of the trains are operated by joint Wabash-Grand Trunk crews. The No. 22 joint Wabash-G. T. R. train crew went out as usual this morning, but the local was cancelled. Several crews of the Wabash struck out of sympathy.

No. 1, a crack flyer of the Wabash, westbound, was cancelled at Buffalo last night owing to inability to have the train handled at the Falls. There are enough yardmen here to operate the Wabash trains. The situation here is a peculiar one, as although the crews are joint Wabash-Grand Trunk ones, the trainmen are paid on the same schedule as the Grand Trunk men. The Wabash eastbound express from here last night was also cancelled.

Battle Creek Tied Up

Battle Creek, Mich., July 19.—Not a wheel on the Grand Trunk Railway has turned since 8:40 o'clock last night. An eastbound stock train arrived at that time, and although 40 train crews were called, not a man would respond.

No violence is anticipated on the part of the strikers, though the police dispersed a crowd which had congregated near the yards late last night.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, July 19.—Everything is remarkably quiet here today considering the big strike is on. G. T. R. passenger trains are kept moving, but that is all, and these are running hours behind time. The strikers are very quiet and orderly.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, July 19.—Everything was quiet around the Grand Trunk terminals in this city this morning. Trains seemed to be coming and going with regularity, although, as might be expected, a good many of them were not operated on schedule time. The approaches to the station were in the hands of the police and ticket-takers, and only ticket holders were admitted to the station platform. The approaches at the Mountain street crossing, which marks the western end of the station yard, were also guarded by police.

There was no indication of trouble of any kind and Grand Trunk officials expressed themselves well satisfied with the progress made with operating trains so far. It was evident that extensive preparations had been made, and that the company was in good shape to enter into a struggle.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, July 19.—Grand Trunk passenger trains on the main line are running through almost on time. The accommodation train from London did not run today. No trains have yet been run on the Stratford and Port Dover branch, but the company hopes to run one each way before night. No freight trains are in motion.

Wabash Is Hit.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 19.—As a result of a strike of the Grand Trunk trainmen and conductors, the Wabash Railway is partially tied up.

MACHINERY SHIPPERS HARD HIT BY BIG GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

With a Large Number of Orders to Fill, They Are Badly Tied Up —Will Affect Farmers in Harvesting of Crops.

Shippers in the city are going to be hard hit if the strike on the Grand Trunk continues.

Just at this time of year the majority of manufacturers have large number of orders to fill, and the strike will have the effect of tieing these up.

The International Harvester Company is one of the concerns to suffer most by the walkout. "It will mean thousands of dollars' of loss to us," said Mr. J. A. McConvrey, manager of the company, to The Advertiser.

"We are so overstocked with orders that even without the strike we were finding it almost impossible to fill them. Just yesterday we delivered a carload of binders to the Grand Trunk for shipment and these are stalled

"This morning we could have shipped three carloads of binders, but we simply can't do a thing.

"In many cases we are duplicating the orders, recalling shipments on the Grand Trunk, and shipping them via C. P. R., Pere Marquette and Michigan Central."

"Just to show how much the strike is effecting us we recalled a carload of binders and repairs booked for Chatham by G. T. R., shipped them by Pere Marquette to St. Thomas, and thence by Michigan Central to Chatham.

JACOB ENOS WAS MURDERED LONDONER KILLED IN CHATHAM

Colored Man Who Formerly Lived at 51 Adelaide Street Had Throat Slashed in Wicked Row in Maple City— Left London a Month Ago.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, July 19.—Jacob Enos, a colored man, was murdered in this city last night and Guy Needham was seriously slashed across the front of his body as a result of a row on Wellington street. All of the participants in the row were colored.

Enos and a man named Griffin were walking down the street when they met Guy Needham, Parker and Jackson, and a number of others. A row followed, with the above result. Enos was not found until this morning, but Needham's injuries were found out last night. Griffin has been arrested, but it is not thought that he did the shooting. The police are working on the case, but can find no clues. The incident has stirred up quite a lot of excitement in Chatham. An inquest is being held this afternoon.

Jacob Enos, who was found murdered at Chatham this morning, lived in this city for many months. He left here about a month or six weeks ago to make his home in Chatham.

This followed a separation which was arranged between Enos and his wife in the police court. Enos came to London from Chatham to live several years ago, and for some time had had trouble about his wife and had on more than one occasion appeared in the police court over it. He was in London on a visit as late as two weeks ago.

It is said that Mrs. Enos is a sister of Mr. Leburtis, who a short time ago committed suicide in Woodstock by shooting himself through the head with a revolver.

Enos was between 40 and 45 years of age and although at times of somewhat intemperate habits was very popular with the colored people of the city. He was a laborer and lived at 51 Adelaide street.

SUN IGNITED SOME MATCHES LEFT ON KITCHEN WINDOW SILL

King Street Residence Damaged to the Extent of Several Hundred Dollars By a Fire at Noon Today.

A couple of hundred dollars' damage was done to the residence of Mr. Richard Cluff, 421 King street, at 1:30 this afternoon by a fire which started in some unknown manner.

The brigade had just returned from a run to Oxford street inside the city limits in West London, where a stack of hay had been ignited, and the horses were hardly out of the wagons when the second alarm sounded.

Mr. Cluff noticed the rear of his home blazing while working in his garden, and although the fire had gained considerable headway, his wife who was working in the front part of the house, was unaware of the trouble.

It is thought that matches on the window sill were ignited among the curtains by the heat of the sun, causing the fire.

NO VAUDEVILLE FOR LONDON BUT RUMORS ARE IN THE AIR

One Story to the Effect That Sullivan-Considine Interests Are Coming to This City—Another That Acts Will Be Put On Three Days a Week at the Grand.

The Toronto News says: The Majestic Theatre, from which the William Morris vaudeville attractions were removed last spring, has been leased to Sullivan & Considine, a well-known firm of vaudeville managers, the chief member of which is the celebrated "Tim" Sullivan, of Tammany Hall, connection. Under the new management the house will be leagued with a score of other theatres playing vaudeville to popular prices. The admission scale will probably be 10c., 15c and 25c.

The policy of the house, which will likely open in August, will be to give a good range of vaudeville, keeping up the average of merit rather than presenting headliners. The price-scale will be considerably less than any other vaudeville house in the city, and, with the extensive theatrical connections of the new lessees, and an abundance of material to make up good programmes it is expected that it will turn out a good venture, for the coming season.

The usual hot weather story of a vaudeville theatre for London is again going the rounds, and this time it is stated that the Sullivan-Considine interests will be behind the move, and that they will book the house in conjunction with the Toronto theatre. No confirmation of the story is obtainable.

Manager Logan, of the Majestic Theatre of this city, stated that the representative of the Sullivan syndicate was in London some time ago and wanted to book acts to be run in conjunction with the moving pictures now being shown at the theatre, but that nothing had come of the move. Mr. Logan doesn't think there will be any vaudeville in London this season.

It is understood that the Sullivan people are booking in Toronto through Mr. A. J. Small, but it is claimed that this does not mean that vaudeville will be seen in the Grand here. It was rumored that vaudeville might be put in for three days of the week and legitimate attractions for the balance.

MEN WANTED CHICKEN AND WENT ON STRIKE

A Laug[illegible] Incident at Port Stanley on the Forest City —Men's Places Filled.

The so-called strike on the steamer Forest City at Port Stanley seems to have been something of a joke.

It appears that the purser, who is a son of General Manager Thompson, of the steamship line, was given a couple of chickens by a friend in Chatham. When the fowls were cooked the purser divided them with several of his friends. Other members of the crew jumped to the conclusion that they were being discriminated against, and they told the captain that they would have to have chicken or they would quit the job.

The captain explained matters, but the strikers were insistent and demanded fowl.

Then they quit, and the captain filled their places and the steamer went out on schedule as usual.

EDDIE MINES IS IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Alleged Crook Taken Into Custody by Detroit Police.

A Detroit dispatch states that Eddie Mines, known to the police of all the Canadian cities as one of the shrewdest confidence men in the business, was arrested there last Thursday night as he stepped off the big passenger steamer Northwest from Chicago. He was taken into custody for investigation purposes and was lodged in the cells until the big Elks' convention was over.

The local police say that they know a man by that name from Hamilton, but whether or not it was he who was referred to they do not know.

Mines was arrested in London during a race meet years ago.

LABOR MINISTER SAYS GOVT. WILL STAND ARBITRATION COST

If Company and Men Will Accept the Findings of the Award, the Men, Meanwhile, to Return to Work.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, July 19.—"If the Grand Trunk Railway Company and the conductors and trainmen and yardmen now on strike can come to an agreement to the suggestion already made from both sides that the matters in dispute be submitted to a board of arbitration whose findings shall be binding on both sides, then the Government will bear all the expense of that arbitration, the officers of the department of labor will assist in the prompt appointment and organization of the board, and meanwhile the men might return to work."

Cannot Intervene.

Hon. Mackenzie King, minister of labor, made the above statement this morning to your correspondent in suggesting what now looks like the most probable way out of the disastrous strike on the Grand Trunk. Unless, however, both parties agree to the arbitration proposed, the department has no authority to intervene by ordering a new investigation under the old conciliation and labor act as was suggested by President Hays in a letter sent to the minister of labor last week.

Mr. King's View.

In reply to that letter Hon. Mr. King wrote in part as follows: "Your letter has evidently been written under the impression that the power to refer a dispute to arbitration afforded the minister by section 15 of the conciliation and labor act, is a power to refer to arbitration in the commonly accepted use of the term, viz., to name a board which will have powers greater than those of investigation merely, and the finding of which would be final. I regret that it does not seem to me I have the requisite authority to take either of the courses suggested by you, nor under the circumstances do I believe it would be in the public interest to do so. If, however, either the company or its employees can suggest any way in which the good offices of the Government can be further exercised towards mediating the present differences, I shall be pleased to do my uthost to see that they are immediately placed at the service of the parties."

TWO LIFE-SAVING MEDALS MAY BE GIVEN BY SOCIETY

The saving of the life of Miss Ethel Symonds, of Queen's avenue, may result in two men receiving medals for bravery from the Royal Humane Society.

Inspector Sanders, after a Sherlock Holmes inquiry into the circumstances, finds that Messrs. Parkinson and Robinson both helped to take the young lady from the water.

Both have made affidavits to this effect, and claim to have made the rescue.

Miss Symonds in a statement to Mr. Sanders, modestly admits that she was unconscious when the saving occurred, and that she does not know the hero to whom she owes her life.

Consequently, medals may be given both gentlemen.

Inspector Sanders would be pleased if persons who saw the rescue of Miss Symonds would call on him at the city hall or drop him a card.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE AFFECTS THE RASPBERRY SHIPMENTS

Raspberries are likely to be very scarce in London as a result of the strike on the G. T. R.

As it is the crop is very small this year, and the fruit dealers state that shipments are being held up on the line.

Practically all the fruit shipped into London comes from the Niagara district. Shipments reached London all right this morning, but it is improbable that any will be received tomorrow.

From now out fruit will be shipped via C. P. R., and the only fruit lost will be whatever is now held up on the G. T. R.

"The fruit dealers do not expect to suffer any very serious inconvenience or loss," said Mr. Chancey Smith to The Advertiser, "besides losing what is already on the way by G. T. R.

"One day's shipment, however, means quite a bit at this time of the crop, and will result in a smaller supply, and will probably keep up the price."

FRESH AIR FUND GROWS TO $246.80

Mr. Screaton Finds Three Boys Who Never Saw Springbank Park.

Donations to the Fresh Air Fund for the poor boys of London now total $246 80. Mr. Fred Screaton in his hunt for worthy boys, found three lads who have never as yet seen Springbank, though they have lived all their lives in London. These certainly deserve an outing.

Rev. T. B. Clarke, pastor of All Saints' Church, East London, has consented to supply a chaplain for the party, and either Mr. E. J. Cartlidge, of St. David's Church, or Mr. H. C. Light, of St. Mark's Church, will be with the boys during the entire outing.

Mr. Graydon in Office.

Consulting Engineer Graydon occupied his old office in the city hall today, and straightened out many matters which had become mixed up since he left some days ago.

Superintendent Treleaven's Remark.

In yesterday's edition, some of the Grand Trunk employees ascribed to Superintendent Treleaven of the Grand Trunk carshops a statement to the effect that all the Grand Trunk conductors made at least $100 a month. The Advertiser is informed that this is an incorrect version of a casual remark by Mr. Treleaven. What he did say was that "some" of the conductors made $100 a month.

SMART CHINESE CAPTIVE

Got Out of Honolulu Jail and Raised Money on Its Credit.

Honolulu, July 19.—Tin Soon, half-Chinese and half-Hawaiian, will be a captain of industry if he can keep out of jail. He escaped recently from the county jail here, but was caught when the steamer on which he embarked reached San Francisco.

After his escape he forged the signature of Deputy Warden Bourke to orders on local merchants for several bales of sugar bags and then sold these bags to Japanese merchants. With the money he paid his passage to San Francisco.

The forgery was discovered when Sheriff Henry asked a wholesole bag house why they had charged the territorial prison with $80 worth of sugar bags. They replied that they held Bourke's orders for bags. Then Bourke was called in and pronounced the signature a forgery.

Tin Soon was soon found to be the one who had profited by the fraud. He was serving a year sentenced for a misdemeanor, but had a ten-year sentence hanging over him. As he was a prison trusty his escape was easy. He stole and sold a horse and buggy, realized on the sugar bag speculation and shipped on the steamer. He was all safe until the wireless got him.

MAY LAMPOON KAISER NOW

And the German Papers Do—His Generalship Questioned.

Berlin July 19.—Not long ago criticism of the Kaiser verbally or in the press was swiftly punished by imprisonment on the charge of lese majeste. For years the severity of the punishment inflicted for trivial offences of this kind was the subject of ridicule in other countries. Those prosecutions have gradually ceased, and a while ago they seemed to cease entirely. The Kaiser's doings are now criticised with ever-increasing outspokenness.

Three recent examples which a couple of years ago would have been regarded as aggravated lese majeste, earning long terms of imprisonment for the editors concerned, suffice to show the revolution that has taken place in German press conditions. The first case was a violent attack in the anti-semitic newspaper Hammen because the Kaiser persists in associating with wealthy Jewish merchants and bankers, particularly Herr Ballin, manager of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company; Herr Delbruch, a Berlin banker, and Herr Friedlander, a coal merchant. The Hammen declares that the ancient Prussian nobility will boycott the court unless the Kaiser refuses intimate friendship to Jews.

The second attack, which is made by the Walt am Montag, is of a kind peculiarly offensive to the Kaiser, being an imputation on his capacity for generalship. The paper quotes an article, in which Gen. Bounal, of the French army, says: 'If there should be war between France and Germany it would be the most fortunate thing in the world for us if the Kaiser chose to be his own general and conducted the operations himself."

The Konigsberg Volkszeitung, finally, severely criticised the recent increase in the Kaiser's civil list, declaring that the fact that he had to provide for his sons was no reason for granting the increase.

STRANGE LOVE STORY FROM OLD COUNTRY

She Desired Nothing but Right to Wait on Her Master.

London, July 19.—In sharp contrast to divorce court bickerings stands an old world romance revealed in an interesting human document, the will of Arthur J. Munby, a London barrister and poet, who recently died, aged 81.

He left about $130,000 and his will reveals that he was not a bachelor, as his relatives and the world at large supposed, but that many years ago he married his cook, Hannah Cullwick, who, he says in his will, "has been for forty-five years and upwards beloved by me with a pure and honorable love, and not otherwise, and she, the said Hannah, had during all that time been as faithful and loving and devoted to me as ever woman was to man, and whereas after vainly trying to explain this state of things to my father I married the said Hannah (she being then in my service) publicly in the presence of all her kindred who could be got together at the parish church of Clerkenwell, in the county of Midlesex, on the 14th of January, 1873.

'And whereas there is no issue of the said marriage, and whereas, notwithstanding her said marriage, the said Hannah has always refused and still refuses to have the position which as my wife she might and could have had, and has always insisted and still insists on being my servant, as well as my wife, her one grievance being that she cannot be my only servant; and whereas, owing chiefly to this noble and unselfish resolve of hers, I have never been able to make known my said marriage to my family or to the world at large, and the same is known only to her kindred and three of my most intimate college friends."

Mrs. Munby disliked London, and preferred to live in the country, and her husband spent as much time as possible with her. She refused all presents, cared for neither jewelry nor social recognition, would take nothing but her wages, $25 a month, and would wear nothing but the regulation English hired girl's cap and gown. Out of her pay she had saved $1,000, which she gave to her husband to do what as he thought best for her.

The couple worshipped each other. Mrs. Munby died a few months before her husband. There were no children, and her tombstone at Shifnal records that beneath it lies: "The body of Hannah, the beloved wife and servant of Arthur Joseph Munby, and concludes the pure and honorable love of thirty-seven years."

NEARLY ALL THE TRADES ARE BUSY IN LONDON

Unskilled Labor Is Not in Such Great Demand, Says the Labor Gazette.

The last number of the Labor Gazette contains the following report from its London correspondent:

Bricklayers and carpenters are all working. Lathers and plasterers are fairly well engaged. Painters are busy. Plumbers report trade fair. Iron molders and iron workers are very busy. Machinists report trade good. Electrical workers and linemen are exceptionally busy. Carriage and wagon makers are busy. Car shops workers are busy on repair work. Coopers are very busy. Printers are exceptionally busy, and several firms are adding new machinery to cope with their increasing trade. Pressmen are very busy. Tailors are busy, as are also garment workers. Boot and shoe workers report trade good. Bakers and confectioners are busy. The leading cigar factories are closed owing to the strike. Tanners are exceptionally busy. Railroad train crews report more work than last month. Teamsters are busy. There is an over-supply of the unskilled class here, and a number out of work.

THIS MAN WROTE OWN DEATH NOTICE

His Wife Is in Canada and He Wanted to Get Her Back.

New York, July 19.—It is not every man who has the privilege of reading his own death notice written by himself. The distinction belongs to John H. Buttle, an insurance broker of Brooklyn. Yesterday in one of the morning newspapers there appeared the following:

Buttle—Suddenly, July 14, 1910, John H. Buttle, 40 years old, of 259 Madison street, Brooklyn. Notice of funeral hereafter. Please omit flowers. Canadian papers please copy."

The notice was inserted by Buttle himself. Yesterday his friends who read it went around and said, "Poor John." Several persons who would have sent flowers to show their respect for his memory regretted his request that they refrain from so doing.

Buttle was dead as a mackered to his friends until a call was made at the home of W. H. Buttle, father of the supposed dead man. There was no crepe on the door and no evidences of mourning. There were no showers of grief at the wooden house of W. H. Buttle in Manhattan.

Mr. Buttle was found last night. He was alive and not inclined to be communicative, but explained that his desire was to reach the eyes of his wife with the advertisement. She is in Canada, and has, according to the husband, been away six months on a visit to her sister, Mrs. George H. Ross, in Glengarry, N. W. T.

She had shown no inclination to return home, and Buttle believed if she heard he was dead, she would come back.

If he could fool her into returning under the belief that he was dead he was sure he could induce her to remain.

Just why Mrs. Buttle would return to a dead husband, when she would not come back to a live one, was not explained. Mr. Buttle admitted that his strategic plan of campaign had not been a great success, and he feared the Canadian newspapers might not "copy."

AFTER SUNKEN GOLD

Search for the Spanish Galleon in Tobermory Bay Has Been Resumed.

London, July 19.—The search for the Spanish Armada galleon Florencia, which sank with treasure of fabulous amount in Tobermory Bay in 1588, has been resumed.

This fresh venture is being undertaken by a London syndicate, which secured a lease from the Duke of Argyll in September last. Lieut.-Col. K. Mackenzie Foss, who has had extensive experience of submarine work in Ceylon, is superintending the actual operations.

The silt under which the galleon lies will be bored by a mining expert, and when anything resembling a hull has been located, native pearl divers from Ceylon will take up the investigations.

For at least two years inquiries of a historical character have been prosecuted in Spain and Italy as well as in this country, with the view of establishing the actual facts. As a result the situation of the wreck has been located to within four hundred square yards, and the problem correspondingly narrowed down.

Col. Foss has discovered that the Florencia was 120 feet in length, with forty feet beam, and carried fifty-two guns, in addition to a very large sum in coin and bullion.

TIGHT MONEY.

Montreal, July 18.—The advance to 5½ per cent in the bank rate on call loans to the stock market made some time ago by three banks, has become general, and very little money can be secured at that rate. Most of the leading banks sent out their notices on Thursday and Friday.

GARONNE BREAKS BOUNDS.

Berne, Switzerland, July 18.—The Garonne River, which rises in the southeastern part of the Canton of Vaud and flows westerly into the Rhone, today broke its dykes for a distance of two miles.

Two firemen lost their lives in rescuing two girls from the flood.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then castor oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by all dealers. 2

The first ascent of the Dom, in the Mischabel group, a spur of the Monte Rosa range, was accomplished on Monday by Mr. Tornan, an Englishman, accompanied by the two guides. The Dom is 14,942 feet high.

LAYS HARD PAPERS TO HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

A Public School Principal Says They Were Arranged With Object of Plucking.

Toronto, July 19.—Although complete returns have not yet been received, it is stated on good authority that of the 20,000 or more Ontario children who wrote on the entrance examination a few weeks ago less than half were successful. A few towns and cities made a creditable showing, but the majority of schools fell far below the average of former years.

Toronto passed 55 per cent of its candidates, Hamilton 52, Kingston 58, London 62, Galt 75, Preston 100, and Brantford 48 per cent, while in some centres not a pupil succeeded in making the grade. In Bobcaygeon 23 candidates wrote and all failed.

A well-known member of the Ontario Educational Association was responsible for the statement today that this large percentage of failures was undoubtedly caused by the difficulty and general trickiness of the papers.

"That arithmetic paper was not only mean and catchy," said another principal, "but I firmly believe it was set with the express intention of plucking candidates rather than testing their knowledge." The high school teachers want well-trained pupils, and it is to their interest to make the examination as rigid as possible, and we of the public schools have to bear the brunt of their unjust and misdirected control."

MON FRERE.

Queen Victoria's opinion upon the Czar's failure to accord the usual embrace to King Peter would have been interesting. Her majesty had no sympathy with Russia's grudging civilities, and her championship of Napoleon III., when Russia refused to admit his imperial position, won that monarch's devotion and staunch alliance in the most practical form all through the Crimean war. It was Nov. 7, 1853, that Napoleon established his dynasty. His agents immediately proceeded to obtain for the new emperor the "mon frere," by which European sovereigns recognize one another's equality of rank. Britain at once accorded this to Napoleon.

With that instinctive grace which always characterized the acts of Queen Victoria, and which was so infallibly followed by the other sovereigns, the Queen did "the right thing" in a perfectly spontaneous way. Prussia and Austria hastened to follow the example of the Queen, but the Czar absolutely declined, and only reluctantly consented to recognize Napoleon as the head of the new dynasty. Time soon brought its revengegs, for Napoleon stood by us in the Crimea, while Russia was humbled in the dust and lost 150,000 men. When the war was over, Russia laid herself out to smash up the Anglo-French alliance, and in this she failed miserably.—Pall Mall Gazette.

KAISER WRITES POETRY

German Emperor Telegraphs Quatrain to Twenty Young Ladies.

Berlin, July 19.—Twenty German girls who are studying physical culture at Loftus, near Odde, sent a telegraphic request to Emperor William last week that they be permitted to visit his majesty and bring an offering of fruit and flowers while the imperial yacht Hohenzollern was in the vicinity of Odde.

The emperor replied, inviting the girls to tea. The delighted young women arrived in due season, bringing with them a quantity of chocolate to make doubly sure their welcome.

After the yacht had sailed the emperor telegraphed to the girls a quatrain which translated into English read as follows:

You who with us your chocolate
drank,
Fair maidens, one and all, we thank;
And wish your lives as sweet may seem,
As sugared chocolate crowned with cream.

The verses were signed "William II. and Travelling Companions."

A RICH ESTATE.

Granite City, Ills., July 19.—By the death of Mrs. Mary Niedringhaus, at her summer home at Jamestown, R. I., yesterday, the $7,000,000 estate of her husband, the late William F. Niedringhaus, will revert to her four sons and six daughters, to be divided among them. William F. Niedringhaus died July 13, 1908. He was the founder of Granite City as an industrial community, and his estate consisted chiefly of stock in a manufacturing concern and real estate here and in St. Louis. His will directed that a trust company be formed to manage the estate. The four sons were named as directors of the company. The trust company was ordered to pay Mrs. Niedringhaus $20,000 a year from the income of the estate. The death of Mrs. Niedringhaus ends the trust.

LONDON, TUESDAY, JULY 19.

THE RAILWAY STRIKE.

For the first time in thirty years, the Grand Trunk Railway Company is confronted by a strike on a large scale. The effect will fall with special severity upon this province, which embraces most of the Grand Trunk mileage. It is the only railway serving thousands of Ontario communities.

The strikers are the conductors, baggagemen, brakemen, and switchmen. The organization of railway employees is in watertight compartments. Each of the several brotherhoods carries on its negotiations with the company independently of the others. Only yesterday the telegraphers and the company agreed to refer their wage dispute to arbitration, while the company and the representatives of the trainmen and yardmen failed to agree. The engineers, firemen, and telegraphers remain at their posts, so that the company can move its trains if it can man its cars. Its first care will be no doubt the mail trains. Whether it can find men enough to maintain even the mail service, remains to be seen.

The striking brotherhoods contend for what are called standard wages. The wages and conditions of work on the majority of the trunk roads east of Chicago have been standardized, or made uniform, and the strike is the outcome of an effort to assimilate Grand Trunk wage rates to the rates on these eastern lines. The Grand Trunk management pleaded inability to pay, on the ground that the earnings of the Grand Trunk per mile were much less than the earnings across the line. "It would be as reasonable to ask an individual with an income of $3,000 per annum to standardize his expenditure with that of an individual with an income of $6,000 per annum," was Mr. Hay's rejoinder. The dispute went to a conciliation committee of three, one being chosen by the company, one by the brotherhoods, and the third, the chairman, by the Government. The chairman and the brotherhood representative submitted a majority report. The company accepted their award, which conceded an increase of wages averaging 18 per cent. Judging by interviews with Grand Trunk employees, there is an impression among them that the working out of the award would reduce the wages of some, while adding to those of others. There seems to be no definite information on this point. Yesterday Mr. Hays conferred with 40 representatives of the brotherhoods, and agreed to accept the eastern standard on January 1, 1913, when the Grand Trunk would be in a position to profit by its western connection. The employees' committee stood by the demand for immediate standard wages, claiming that they had no right to override the wishes of the men, expressed in the recent plebiscite.

The public is not a disinterested party in this matter. The disorganization of a great railway system would disturb business and industry in a wide area, and inflict loss, and even hardship, upon thousands of persons who are in no way responsible. Such a state of affairs could not long be allowed to continue. The Government would be justified, and in duty bound, to interfere, and use all its power to compel the contending parties to settle their differences.

A FRENCH PROBLEM.

All France appears to be xercised over the vital statistics in that country for 1909. Not in 110 years has the number of births been so small. Notwithstanding the success of the marriage law of 1907 in promoting wedlock, the births of last year totalled but 770,000, against an average of 960,000 for the years since the war with Germany. Meanwhile it is calculated that in two years and a half the easier marriage laws have induced about 12,000 persons to wed who would not have done so under the old system.

France is not becoming depopulated. Against the 770,000 births there were only 747,000 deaths in 1909, leaving a net gain of 23,000 persons. The anxiety arises from the fact that every other country grows so much faster in population. France, once the most populous of the larger European countries, is now the least, with the exception of Italy, and Italy is rapidly overtaking her. What causes most uneasiness is Germany's enormous growth of population, which has taken place despite an emigration approximately a million [illegible] between 1889 and 1908. German emigration has now almost ceased, and naturally a still more rapid increase in the population may be looked for in coming years.

A phase of the question often mentioned is that France offers an invitation to German conquest for colonizing, owing to the overcrowding of Germany and the temptation of unoccupied spaces in France. French statisticians figure Germany's population at close on 120 to the square kilometer, while that of France is only 72. In France the average of births is between two and three to each household; in other countries the average varies between three and four.

Numerous measures of a remedial character have been introduced in the Chamber of Deputies at the present session. They all run along similar lines, and include taxation of bachelors (a favorite proposal); obligatory marriage of state employees who have reached the age of 25 years, and—the most radical proposal of all — the repeal of the law requiring the distribution of the great bulk of every estate among the decedent's children in equal shares—a law which, though much praised as the cornerstone of French prosperity, is believed to have been the main cause of "race suicide" in France. Other measures in contemplation are supplementary salaries to state employees as children are born, and increased superannuation pensions for the fathers of three children or more reaching maturity.

This problem is certain to engage much of the attention of the chambers during the session now in progress.

MR. MONK'S DECISION.

Mr. Monk has taken his logical position beside—or behind—Mr. Bourassa. Together they addressed a meeting at Montreal on Sunday, and attacked both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden on the naval question.

Mr. Monk has been the acknowledged leader of the Quebec Conservatives in the federal arena. No doubt he will admit he has forfeited his place in the inner councils of the party. He could not honestly hold it while combatting the views of his leader, and of the majority of his associates in Parliament, upon so important an issue. If he believes what he says, he has taken the only course consistent with his integrity as a public man. He might have continued to pose as the French-Canadian Conservative leader, in order to gain for his party the advantage of the sentiment against the Government's naval policy. He has taken the more candid position.

Mr. Monk must be credited with sincerity, but it is a pity he could not agree to sink his personal opinions for the sake of the great cause of Canadian unity. The sentiment of the English-speaking provinces is overwhelmingly in favor of some form of imperial naval defence, and the opposition of Mr. Monk plays into the hands of the minority in these provinces who are always too ready to appeal to race prejudice by throwing suspicion upon French-Canadian loyalty. Happily the great majority of the French-Canadian public men and newspapers have accepted the Government's policy, so that Mr. Monk will probably do little or no harm.

The Grand Trunk carshops have been closed. Another case of the innocent bystanders being hurt.

The Quebec Nationalists have tried to make the naval question a race question. Mr. Borden has tried to make it a party question.

General Botha is behaving so admirably as the prime minister of South Africa that even Colonel Denison may be reconciled some day.

The city of Ottawa has gone into the milk business for the summer. This may be rank socialism, but the city fathers have reflected on the infant mortality rate, and have decided that it is a condition, not a theory, that confronts them.

Sir Wilfrid was at Brandon, Man., yesterday, and was heckled on the tariff question. Brandon is the riding in which Hugh John Macdonald felt that his only chance for election lay in declaring for duty-free agricultural implements.

Rumor says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has an eye on Editor Dafoe, of the Winnipeg Free Press, as a cabinet possibility. Mr. Dafoe is a big man, big in body and big in mind. Messrs. Fielding, Templeman, Graham and Oliver are newspapermen, and they have all "made good" as cabinet ministers.

Mr. Taylor, of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review, is to be commended for his chivalrous protest against the surly demeanor of a Canadian immigration official toward a lady as she was crossing from the United States to Canada on a passenger train. The official has been suspended for a month, and will be given different work. There have been innumerable reports of similar treatment of Canadians at the hands of United States officials at the border, but this is the first case in which a complaint has been laid against a servant of the Canadian immigration department. It may be taken as the exception, which shows that as a rule the officers of the department are fair and courteous.

LAURIER AND BOTHA.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

Premier Botha has justified the faith which was reposed in his loyalty to the empire. There are busy-bodies in South Africa, who would set race against race, just as there are in Canada, but as Laurier has proven a conciliator here, so will Botha in the new daughter nation of the empire.

WEDDING DAY HUMOR.

[Washington Star.]

If there is one form of homicide which can be regarded as justifiable it will be the slaying by some infuriated bridegroom of one of those mindless, heartless fiends in human form who regard a wedding as a jest, and organize tricks and embarrassing jokes to humiliate the newly wed. For some inscrutable reason certain people consider brides asd grooms as their natural prey. They follow them out of the house with the old shoes and rice of tradition, wishing them good luck and starting them on their career of double blessedness with symbols of well-wishing that have descended from ancient times. There is no objection to that sort of wedding pranking if it stops at the front door. But when this form of humor goes so far as to decorate the bridal carriage with rags and ribbons, and to hang placards upon it, drawing the attention of the world to it as Cupid's coach, and to pursue the couple even beyond the railway station with such attentions, the joke loses its point. It becomes a vicious persecution.

ENGLISH AS SHE'S TAUGHT.

[Hamilton Times.]

Some of the Ontario Tory organs attempt to defend the Ontario Education Department for permitting the use of the word "eat" in the Ontario readers in such sentences as these: "That night I eat my first tomato." "The birds eat them and were not ill." Is that the sort of teaching to be provided for the children of this Province?

THE WAYWARD BOY.

[Ottawa Journal.]

That parents are the only force that can govern or control a wayward boy is shown by the fact that the very great majority of the boys who appear before the local court are either orphans of one or both parents, or sons of parents who themselves have appeared before the magistrate on one or more occasions, or who are known by the authorities to pay little attention to the doings and whereabouts of their children.

THE DEADLY REVOLVER.

[Montreal Herald.]

One young Englishman in Medicine Hat is dead, and another is in jail. This time they were cleaning the revolver. The Pittsburg lady who shot her husband in mistake for a burglar, when he came home late, was only carrying out his instructions. What is the use of having a revolver if you don't use it?

A BEAUTIFUL IRISH HYMN.

[London Nation.]

I offer Thee—
Every flower that ever grew,
Every bird that ever flew,
Every wind that ever blew.
Good God!

Every thunder rolling,
Every church bell tolling,
Every leaf and sod,
Laudamus Te!

I offer Thee—
Every wave that ever moved,
Every heart that ever loved,
Thee, Thy Father's well-beloved,
Dear Lord!

Every river dashing,
Every lightning flashing,
Like an angel's sword,
Benedicimus Te!

I offer Thee—
Every cloud that ever swept
O'er the skies, and broke and wept
In rain, and with the flowerets slept,
My King!

Each communicant praying
Every angel staying
Before Thy throne to sing:
Adoramus Te!

I offer Thee—
Every flake of virgin snow,
Every spring the earth below,
Every human joy and woe,
My Love!

O Lord! and all Thy Glorious
Self, o'er death victorious,
Throned in Heaven above,
Glorificamus Te!

DESPERATION.

[Washington Star.]

"John," exclaimed the shocked woman, "you are eating with your knife!"

"I know it. I'm economizing. When you eat with your knife you have to learn to balance your food. You eat less and it takes longer."

AND NO RAISE.

[Cleveland Leader.]

"When did you commit your first fatal extravagance?"

"When my boss referred to my wages as my salary."

"And when did you perpetrate this latest folly?"

"The day my wife called my salary my income."

HER 'PLAINT.

[Buffalo Express.]

"Do your eyes bother you, Charlie?" she asked.

"No; but yours do."

THE "ENEMY."

[London Opinion.]

Bill (at the territorial field day)—Ain't that the "enemy" over there, 'Arry?

'Arry (of the same firm)—You're right; it's the "boss"!

NOT ALL HOG.

[New York Times.]

The devil does not care how meek
A man may be on Sunday,
If he can use him all the week,
Beginning early Monday.

THE WORLD'S ESTIMATE.

[S. E. Kiser.]

He has a cultivated mind,
He has ideals that are high;
He is intelligent, refined,
And would not steal or cheat or lie;
He never sought by hook or crook
To gain an undeserved reward;
His page is fair within the book
Where angels all men's acts record,
But he's a failure, after all,
Because his salary is small.

His record bears no ugly stains,
He romps with children and is glad;
He would not sin for worldly gains,
The tears of orphans make him sad;
The songs of running brooks he hears,
His hopes are high, his dealings fair;
The trembling drop of dew appears
To him a jewel rich and rare;
But he's a failure, after all,
Because his earnings are so small.

He scorns to try to profit by
The poor mistakes that others make;
He sleeps in peace while others lie
Through half their dismal nights awake;
He keeps the spirit of the law,
Hates meanness, though 'tis richly dressed,
Beholds true worth alone with awe,
And grips his honor to his breast;
But he is petty, after all—
Because his income is so small.

THE KIND OF A FOOL HE IS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

He never rocks a boat
Or hangs around a bar;
He never smokes in bed.
But he always sticks his head
From the window of the car.

OUTCLASSED.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

"Are you going to spend your vacation with your country relatives this summer?"

"No. I can't afford the clothes that would be necessary if I expected to make a proper appearance among them now."

The Safety of "Fruit-a-Tives"

May Be Taken For Years

The Ideal Remedy For Young and Old

Nature's gifts do us good, if used judiciously. We eat bread from babyhood to old age without ever tiring of it. We drink water, year in and year out, with the greatest benefit to our health. So too, we eat fruit in season and are better for the change of diet. This is true, because such things are the natural foods and drink of man-wind. It is for this reason that "Fruit-a-tives" may be used for years in correcting some ill of the body. As is well known, "Fruit-a-tives" is made of the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes.

Just as fresh fruit may be eaten at every meal, so "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken every night for 20 years or more with the greatest benefit.

The absolute safety of "Fruit-a-tives" has been a great factor in its success. Those who suffered with chronic troubles, such as Constipation, Dyspepsia Rheumatism, etc., naturally took a number of boxes of "Fruit-a-tives."

As they became better, they found that instead of being compelled to increase the dose as in most medicines, they were decreasing it, and gradually taking fewer doses.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ALBERT FISHER MAY LOSE EYE

Lad Was Badly Injured in the Explosion in Callard's Drug Store.

FIRE A STUBBORN ONE

Brigade Had a Hard Fight to Overcome the Blaze—Financial Loss Will Be About $500.

Albert Fisher, a 14-year-old boy living at 180 Hamilton road east, will probably lose his right eye as a result of dropping a match in a barrel partially filled with alcohol at Callard's drug store, at 390 Richmond street, yesterday afternoon. As soon as the match reached the alcohol there was an explosion that could be heard half a block away, and immediately a fire started.

Young Fisher ran into the front of the store and told Charles Waum, the clerk, what had occurred, and the fire department were telephoned for. By the time they arrived green flames were shooting through the rear windows and dense volumes of acrid smoke were pouring from the front door.

Screaming With Pain.

Dr. Evans Davis, who was passing, took charge of young Fisher, who was screaming with pain from terrible burns about the face. The burns were temporarily dressed and then Fisher was sent to Victoria Hospital. He refused to tell his address, saying that he did not want his mother to know about it. Finally, however, he told where his sister could be found. Dr. Davis stated to The Advertiser today that Fisher's left eye is badly burned, but he hopes to save it. The right eye, however, is much worse, and the doctor states that he cannot tell yet whether the sight will be lost or not. All the hair on the front part of Fisher's head was singed off.

Another Lad Injured.

A lad named Wilfrid Dalton, who was in the back part of the store, got away with a slight cut on his arm.

Assistant Chief Scott had his hand badly cut by an exploding bottle. Mr. Callard stated to The Advertiser today that he cannot estimate his loss yet, but it is expected that $500 will cover it fully.

NOT SURE THAT BODY IS CRIPPEN'S WIFE

Startling Statement by Surgeons at London Murder Inquest.

London July 19.—After hearing the testimony of friends and members of the police force the inquest into the death of a woman supposed to have been Belle Elmore the actress wife of Dr. H. H. Crippen was adjourned today for a month with the belief growing that even if arrested Dr. Crippen could never be convicted of any crime whatever.

The sensation of the hearing was sprung by Dr Marshal, the police surgeon, who assisted Dr Pepper, the famous criminologist, in the autopsy on the dismembered and lime-eaten flesh disinterred from the basement in the Hilldrop Crescent home of Dr. Crippen.

Dr. Marshall swore that a prolonged examination of the flesh had failed to furnished any tangible or legal evidence that the body was even that of a woman. He could likewise furnish no legal proof that a murder had been committed, the remains having been so frightfully decomposed by the quicklime that it was impossible to tell what had caused death.

In view of this startling admission, legal authorities declare it would be impossible to convict Dr. Crippen, if captured, unless Miss Leneve could be forced to narrate something of the crime or Crippen should confess. The police cannot prove in any other way that a murder had been committed or that, even should they prove a murder, the body was that of the missing Mrs. Crippen. Under the British common law it is absolutely necessary to prove the "corpus delicti" before a prisoner can be adjudged guilty.

PENNSY EMPLOYEES ADJUST TROUBLES

Each Side Claims to Have Carried Its Point.

GET A TEN-HOUR DAY

Standard Rates To Prevail With Twenty-six Days to the Month.

Philadelphia, July 18.—General Manager W. H. Myers, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the committees representing the 15,000 trainmen and conductors employed on the lines of the road east of Pittsburg today agreed on a basis for the settlement of the wage controversy. Each side claims to have gained all that it had been contending for in the negotiations which have been in progress for the past six months and which culminated last week in the strike vote by the employees.

A Ten-Hour Day.

The proposition offered today by the railroad officials and accepted by the men includes a minimum day of 10 hours, as detailed in the New York Central award. On certain runs where the company's present rate is higher the rate will not be disturbed.

The classification of these exceptional runs and the question of overtime were left to be decided at conferences between the various members of the committees and the division superintendents of the lines which they represent.

It was further agreed that the men would be guaranteed 26 days' work a month. While the men regard this as a concession, the railroad officials say that during the recent hard times the men were benefited by being worked on short time rather than being laid off altogether.

Until today's conference the railroad officials, it was declared, were under the impression that the men were really demanding a 10-hour day with 11 hours' pay. But the company today stated that it had all along offered to grant the standard rate and was satisfied not to reduce the pay of any of its men if none was increased by the New York Central award above that of the standard rate. An official of the company stated that by readjusting the runs they can pay the new rate without greatly increasing the expenses of the company.

A. B. Garrettson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, said: "The company has granted the principle for which we have been contending all along, maintaining its present high rates and giving a minimum day at standard rates."

None of the leaders would discuss the situation on the lines west, but it is believed that a satisfactory agreement will also be arrived at in Pittsburg.

FRENCH RAILROAD STRIKE.

Paris, July 18.—The engineers and firemen affiliated with the National Railroads' Union will meet on July 28 and pass upon the action of the central committee of the union, which has decided upon a general strike. Pending this meeting it is believed that the men will continue to work.

The central committee demands an increase in wages and minor concessions, but thus far has made no progress in its negotiations with the railroad companies.

FORMER OTTAWA MAN FACES MURDER CHARGE

Said to Have Killed Man Who Slapped His Wife's Face.

Boston, July 19.—Because he remonstrated with his landlord for having, as he claimed, slapped Mrs. Lawson's face, James H. Lawson, a boarder, is dead here after being shot in a Washington street boarding-house last night. James F. Farrell, aged 46 years, the proprietor, is under arrest charged with murder. Lawson, who is 28 years old, and hails from Nashville, Tenn., had been stopping at the house with his wife for several weeks. Yesterday there was a quarrel, it is claimed, between Farrell and Mrs. Lawson, in which Farrell is said to have struck the woman.

Last night Lawson spoke to Farrell about the matter, with the result that Farrell, it is alleged, drew a revolver and fired two shots at Lawson, both of which took effect, killing him instantly. Farrell came to Boston from Ottawa, Ont.

CLARKSON RELEASED SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Stratford, July 19.—Reginald Clarkson, on trial charged with fraudulent use of money of the American dye works, of which he was local manager, was yesterday released on suspended sentence. Clarkson's defence was that Head Manager Holmes, of London, Ont., had given him permission to use all funds of the company. The magistrate held that the original contract between the pair had been broken. Clarkson was released on bail.

MANITOBA GRAIN MEN WAIT ON THE PREMIER

Want the Government To Acquire and Operate Terminal Elevators.

Brandon, Man., July 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and party arrived here yesterday morning, and the Premier in the afternoon learned the views of the Manitoba Grain Association on four important questions.

The association also asked the Government to acquire and operate the terminal elevators, so as to prevent the manipulation of elevator companies and they want the Government to hasten the Hudson Bay Railway and to operate it, not lease it, and also to aid in the establishment of an export trade in chilled meat under public control, the stock now being raised at a loss through defective market conditions.

George Nagel's Players are presenting this week at Springbank one of the best shows they have offered this season. "The New Claim" is a very pretty comedy drama, and appeared to please those present. Nagel, Adams and Chandler were a hit in their songs and dances. "A Joke on the Joker," a sketch, had the audience screaming with laughter throughout the entire piece.

CROPS AROUND LONDON ARE IN FINE SHAPE

Wheat and Barley Are Especially Good This Year.

Wheat cutting is the order of the day in the farming district surrounding London.

A few farmers already have their wheat crop cut and are busy at the barley, but the majority commenced this week.

The universal note in regard to the wheat crop is one of optimism, as it is very thick and well filled.

In the vicinity of Belmont the growth is simply immense, according to farmers from that neighborhood. One farmer averred that eight loads were taken from a two-acre field. "I never saw anything like it," was his comment.

If the wheat is good the barley is giving even more cause for satisfaction. Farmers state that there has not been such a good crop of barley in years.

LIKE DOWIE'S DAYS

Zion City Under Overseer Voliva Gets a Fresh Start.

Chicago, July 18.—Silver coins and bills a foot and a half deep were thrown into a tri-colored barrel placed before the pulpit at Zion City Tabernacle yesterday by the followers of Wilbur Glen Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Apostolic Church of Zion, and successor to John Alexander Dowie, who marched over the north shore city and took formal possession of the buildings which last week again came into their control through the action of the federal court in dissolving the receivership.

It was a revival of the old days of Dowie. The call for the freewill offering preceded the march about the city and thousands of men, women and children filed past the tri-colored barrel that stood before the pulpit and cast therein the offerings, ranging from five-cent pieces to twenty-dollar bills. After the band came Overseer Voliva and the elders of the church and behind them came the hundred who compose the "White-robed Choir."

These in turn were followed by the "Junior Seventies" the "Intermediate Seventies," and "Senior Seventies." Those who were too old to stand the three mile walk were allowed to ride in omnibuses.

THREE MEET DEATH IN A QUEBEC TRAGEDY

Returning Home on a Hand Car They Were Crashed Into by an Engine.

Quebec, July 19. — Joseph Gregore, his wife, and his brother Adolphe were killed Sunday night shortly after 9 o'clock at Bugville, four miles south of Beauceville, in the county of Beauce. All three were coming back from St Georges de Beauce, where had been held during the day the blessing of an organ. Joseph Gregore is employed as a sectionman on the Quebec Central Line and he was coming back home with his relatives on a handcar when, at a sudden curve of the track, the party faced a special engine running at high speed. Before they could jump their small vehicle was tossed in the air by the locomotive and the victims were thrown to the side of the track. Joseph Gregore was killed on the spot, his wife died on the train while being taken to Beauceville, and Adolphe Gregore died at his home, Beauceville.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

AFTERNOON FROCK

Transparent cottons, figured or plain, become more and more the accepted material as the summer waxes. They are usually made in the quaintest fashion possible, and frequently tax the ingenuity of the designer.

The one illustrated was in a wonderful tone of faded rose and trimmed with simple bands of embroidery. Elbow-length mandarin sleeves are used, and the neck of the bodice is cut out in the most approved fashion.

FASHIONS

It is said that there is an effort to revive long skirts.

The habit back skirt is to be the favored one the coming season

Among the handsome scarfs which the season has brought forth are some of crepe, with handpainted borders.

Blouses of coarse fishnet in black or colors, with embroidered applications in varied cashmere coloring, look well with almost any toilet.

Smart are the "co-ed" sweaters with white and blue collars; they fasten on the shoulder and under the arm with white or pearl buttons.

For a coat costume or linen nothing is prettier than a simple shirtwaist of cotton voile pinchecked with white and the color of the suit.

The new corset is a good deal lower in the bust than was the case last year. Its waist is still long and its hips are narrow, straight and long.

White wash lace veils are very fashionable as well as practical.

THE PET CAT.

Cats need careful feeding, and it is not generally believed that they can and will, if taught to, eat green vegetables They should be given these in the form of cabbage, cauliflower and asparagus once every day, and that at noon.

Strangely enough, the pet cat's heaviest meal, consisting of four ounces of meat, should be given at night, and it should invariably be run through a chopper. Potatoes are excluded from the diet of all well-cared-for cats, but sardines are given twice a week, and only in cold weather.

Cats have individual tastes that may be gratified within reason. The ordinary American cat—and he is more satisfactory than the Angora—may even be given peaches or currants or cocoanut. These are mentioned because they were the peculiar dainties most liked by a cat of the writer's acquaintance.

All of the cat's milk is boiled and given warm and well diluted; and last, but very important, a daily supply of fresh water and green grass is absolutely necessary.

The Woman of Tact

BY CYNTHIA GREY.

"Mary's a mighty smart women, but she ain't got no tack," I heard a wise old man say the other day of his great-grandson's new wife. And he sighed and shook his head ruefully, as much as to say, "There's trouble ahead for John."

And there probably is—for the tactless woman is always unwittingly treading on someone's toes. John will in all probability spend much of his life in hot water because of Mary's thoughtlessness.

We all know that if the tactless one had thought twice before speaking, the feelings of the other person would have been saved, for it's true that it is usually the good-hearted, impulsive woman who is guilty of this offence.

In a mixed assemblage there's no telling where a casual criticism will light, nor whose feelings will be wounded. The words, "Be on guard," should ever be the motto of the tactless.

There's no quality more to be desired than that of tact. The tactful woman is a patient and appreciative listener. She manages to get her own way in such a gracious, submissive manner that her friends firmly believe they are getting their own way—not hers.

She is always popular socially, and has a reputation for cleverness that her more brilliant but tactless sister never can attain. Her friends are legion and are among the best in the land.

Who wouldn't be in her shoes. Let's put on our thinking caps. Are we guilty or not guilty? If guilty, let us sentence ourselves, and begin to think today right. The motto 'Be on guard," must never be forgotten.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: The joints of my big toes pain and turn red and swell, but when I wear old shoes the swelling goes down. What can I do?

MARY E. K.

A.—The irritation may develop into bunions unless you are careful. Take a hot foot bath three times a week—as hot as you can bear for five minutes, then plunge feet into cold water for half a minute. Alternate this way three times. Wear a pad between your large and next toes to push large toe out. Wear shoes which are wide across the toes. Avoid excessive standing or walking.

Dear Miss Grey: Suppose a man is in love with a girl with whom he has been corresponding, but has refrained on account of her youth, and the fact that she is not through school, to tell her that he loved her—would it be dishonorable to try to win her after she has promised another? A READER.

A.—Being a mere woman, I hesitated to answer this question, so I consulted an honorable married man and an honorable bachelor. They both advise you to go ahead and win the girl if you can. They claim that "All's fair in love and war."

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Please tell me how to make penochle. 2. Is it right for a girl of 17 to have young men callers? ANXIOUS.

A.—1. Cook three cups light brown sugar with one cup milk. When it has cooked enough to make a soft, firm ball when dropped into cold water, add a teaspoon butter. Remove from fire, flavor with vanilla, and add a cup of broken pecans or other nut meats. Turn out on well greased pan and crease into squares. 2. If her mother is willing.

Dear Miss Grey: Please suggest pretty, odd and short names for twin boys. A MOTHER.

A.—Don't give them similar names. The good, old-fashioned names are best, such as John and Paul.

LET GIRLS GLORY IN DAINTY ROOMS

Much Happiness Is Found in Quarters All for One's Own Self.

There isn't much of anything a girl will be more proud and happy over than a room of her own. She will tease for it till she gets it, and the getting may be made contingent upon her keeping it in order, and be thus a means of grace in the way of neatness and system.

Wherever possible, give a girl her own room. One of the obnoxious things about flats and apartments is that people are so crowded in them. The cramped quarters prevent personal expansion. Childless people, bachelors and spinsters are the only folk who should inhabit them. A family should be housed.

Give the girl her room and let her furnish it according to her taste, insofar as your means permit. Let it be the expression of her individuality. An ingenious girl can do wonders with inexpensive materials. Matting, if she cannot afford a rug; home-made bookshelves, a packing case, dressing table or a common pine table dressed to suit; screen window curtains, cretonne-covered couch and chairs and pictures framed in passe-partout—why, you would be surprised to see what dainty and artistic results can be obtained by a tasteful girl. And quite a good deal of the work can be done by the girl herself, or big brother if she is lucky enough to have one. She may paint the woodwork herself; paints come ready mixed these fortunate times. Paper hanging is a more difficult task, but girls have done it before now—the present scribe can swear to that. And it is such a joy to have a place all one's own for one's own belongings.

Training in Economy.

For the sake of the rug or other comfort she covets for her room a girl will save money out of her allowance that would otherwise be spent foolishly, if not injuriously; and the training in self-denial and economy is good for her.

If two girls must share the same room give each her own bed. A little iron bedstead can be bought for $3 50 or $5, springs about the same, and for a mattress one may pay as much or as little as one likes, but it pays best to get all these as good as one can afford, because they are to last for years. Given a frame, there are few girls who cannot manufacture a screen out of silkoline or Japanese crepe that insures privacy.

Each girl should be required to keep her belongings in order. It spoils the room for the orderly girl if her untidy sister persists in her disorderliness.

The Boy's Room.

The boy's room is generally the asylum for the antique furniture that has outlived respectable use downstairs. This is because the only use a boy is supposed to have for a room is for sleeping purposes. The room as a means for keeping him off the street and for getting acquainted with his friends is very seldom considered.

Let the boy's room express his individuality as well as the girl's. He doesn't want anything dainty; neither will he be satisfied with the ugly. Don't use a flowered nor a very light paper. If the wall can be wainscotted with burlap and then painted, and a paper in geometrical design be used above, the result is usually satisfactory. There should be a picture rail, shelves where he may store his "collections," a place for the implements of his favorite sport, and the furniture should be strong enough to endure rough usage. Don't give him a white spread for his bed, have one of figured art muslin or denim, with a cotton fringe or an edge of very heavy lace. And provide a cot covered with a cheap cover on which he may pile his cushions.

JACK'S FEAST.

Now, Jack was the groceryman's delivery horse. He was a big, fat, slick, black fellow, and very proud was he of his nice shiney coat. Like a great many people he had the fault of too much curiosity. He always wanted to examine everything he could reach with his velvety nose.

This day it happened that Jack on his daily round stopped a short distance behind another grocery wagon. In fact, there were quite a number of horses standing near. And Jack, tossing his head, proudly arched his neck, as much as to say "Just see me! I'm the prettiest horse here!"

But in front stood this tempting grocer's cart, with its many queer sacks and mysterious parcels, such as Jack had often seen put into his own wagon. Now, here's a good chance, he thought, while the driver's away, to see what these packages contain. Up walked proud Jack and sniffed and pushed things about with his nose.

Here was a white sack. "Hum. Smells good. I'll tear the paper to see what's inside," reasoned Jack. "It's fine white powdery stuff and tastes good."

But as he ate, some of the powder kept getting up his nose, making him sneeze and blow the powder all about.

When the driver came out Jack wondered why he looked at him and laughed. His own driver came just then and scolded, and said he was ashamed to drive such a queer-looking horse. For Jack had been eating flour, and now his black head and shoulders were all powdered white.

The men and passing children laughed at him, and Jack felt sure the other horses smiled to themselves. He drooped his head, wishing he were home, where he could hide in his stall. Never again would he be so inquisitive, he decided.

HILMA

William Tillinghast Eldridge.

"Her Highness?" I repeated, and then suddenly I realized what he meant. "Do you mean to say she—the one I just—that she is the princess?"

"She saw you were a stranger, and asked of you. I told her you had come with Count von Merlder, and she bade me call you back. You know—" his voice lowered—"his late majesty was very fond of English-speaking people, and so her Highness would speak with you."

"The princess?" I repeated, hardly believing that this girl could be she.

"Yes, monsieur, yes," the landlord insisted. "She will be leaving as soon as the carriage is ready, and she would see you. Come!"

He led me, still half doubting, to the porch at the left where, under a light sat this girl, this princess, in whose cause I had come to Zakbar.

She was talking with a woman little older than herself, but as I came forward rose quickly, a welcoming smile on her lips.

With all the grace in the world she held out her small, daintily gloved hand.

"It is a pleasure to welcome an American to my country," she said with a rare smile. "Our good host has told me that you have just arrived, and I am glad I could so speedily greet you. It is not often one of your country travels so far as to little Scarvania."

It was a simple welcome, and I appreciated that it was extended to me as a representative of my nation, not as an individual. I looked up as I took her hand, and realized I was speaking to a woman not only beautiful, but one who spoke but to be kind, who thought not of herself but of others. There was something in the face that I had never before seen in any woman's face—something you felt at the first glance, and yet you could not say what it was. Her eyes, which studied you so calmly, were deep and clear and yet so full of latent power and fire. There was only the slightest color in the cheeks. The whole face seemed rather pale.

She was tall—tall as myself—straight and slight. Her light golden brown hair, falling back from her forehead, was coiled low at her neck. Her eyes, I noted as she spoke again, and I looked into them, were deep blue, and their depth made me think of the lake.

"It is kind of you," I replied slowly, "to give such welcome to a stranger in your land."

"It is kind of a stranger to come to us," the princess replied softly. "We see so few from the outside world. We must go to them, for they never come to us. A stranger is indeed an event," she added, as if possibly to explain the reason for her speaking if I had not already discerned it.

"If your fairy lake and land were known, you would find your little city overrun. The tourist is always looking for wonderlands."

"It is a wonderland, is it not?" she agreed, turning quickly and with pride to the subject of her country. "I go to beautiful places, but I never think any of them can compare with this when I come back and see it again."

"And I have just had that pleasure for the first time but a brief hour ago."

"Ah! you are to be envied as well as welcomed," she exclaimed. And then, as a groom approached: "My carriage is ready and I must hurry on. I trust you will find your second impression of our little city as pleasing as the first."

It may have been meant as a dismissal, but I had forgotten it was to a princess I spoke, who bade one begone at her will, and instead of making my adieu, moved forward at her side.

Again for a brief instant her hand rested in mine as I helped her enter her carriage. Again I looked deep into eyes that seemed to have no bottom to their depth. Again she smiled, the rarest smile I had by chance ever seen. Then she was gone.

But I stood there, staring like a yokel—stood there for a good two minutes before I realized the servants of the inn were in turn staring at me.

Who was I that took such liberties with their princess! Who was I and why had I come? Why had I come?

CHAPTER VII.

The next morning I was up early and had my breakfast served on the little verandah that opened from my rooms and overlooked the lake.

One could hardly imagine a more entrancing spot. Before me stretched the emerald sheet of water. On the right hand shore the deep battlements and turrets of six castles dotted the rocky edge of the lake, seemingly almost a part of the massive rocks from which they rose.

Far down on the other shore, a white quay, perhaps a quarter of a mile long, was plainly visible, and close to it many small boats were moored.

If the town had looked like a fairyland in the sunset glow and its twinkling lights, now, under the warm rays of the rising sun, it seemed carved from ivory, and no more than a play-city set for an emerald sea.

Truly, the fairies live in the castles yonder, and each night they come sailing across the lake on gossamer wings to deck this little village with a new coat of alabaster, and they do it because the good people of the village at morning light set afloat on the emerald waters cases of honey and figs that go drifting over to the castle walls.

It was truly a dainty picture, set in a frame of dark green mountains. The whole looked small, far smaller than it truly was, for the upper end of the lake was lost to view by reason of a bend in the shore.

With such a view before me, and while a cool breeze came wafting across the water, I sat and ate my first breakfast and began my first day in Scarvania. It seemed now, even more than when I viewed it from the mountain road, that it must be the home of peace and contentment.

Surely, I could not help thinking, no one would dispute the right of the princess to rule these people. She, above all others, must be eminently fitted to govern such a fairyland.

"Second impressions?" I questioned aloud. "Yes, the second impression is better than the first" and then I fell to thinking of my strange greeting of the evening before. And while I sat thus thinking of many things, of my greeting and of my talk with Karl, late into the night, I looked out over the waters and saw a small launch crossing toward the inn. The boat moved over the rippling waves and turned them back from her bow in white flashes marked vividly against the green waters.

There was something fascinating about the little vessel, it moved so quickly, so easily, and withal so truly. And then as I noted there was but one occupant in it, and that a woman, I turned from the table and leaned my elbows on the railing of the verandah. There was something familiar about the figure in the boat.

It ran on close to the left shore, and for an instant shot out of view behind a jutting headland. As it came into sight again, drawing nearer, my waiter came to carry away the tray, and catching sight of the boat, spoke quickly.

"It is her royal Highness, monsieur. Each morning when it is fair she goes out either in the boat or for a ride. She can run the engine, she can do anything."

There was deep admiration and pride in the fellow's tone.

I nodded, for I had recognied the occupant of the boat almost as he spoke. My one wonder was that I had been in doubt at all, for how could any one once having met her mistake her.

She sat well back by the engine, steering by a side lever, her body leaning forward slightly in an easy position, as if alive to each movement of the boat or the shifting wind. She wore no hat, and her hair flew about her face, while her lips were parted a trifle, as if slowly and daintily to drink in the fragrant breeze. The impression of the first meeting was heightened by this second glimpse, and it was only that, for the boat kept well out from the shore.

As it headed away I dropped my chin into my hands and sat watching the last glimpse of the tiny launch, my elbows resting on the railing.

"What was it?" I asked myself slowly. "Was there something remarkable about this girl?" for she drew me to her in some strange way. I had seen her once. I had, it is true, heard of her, and I had come a champion in her cause. Yet it was not that. There was some strange thing that drew me to her and held me a most willing prisoner to her interests.

And then as the launch ran in toward the shore at that point where the grounds about her castle reached the water I rose slowly, stood for a moment looking out over the lake, and then turned toward the park. A sudden longing came over me for activity. Why did not Karl come and let us get started on the matter.

I passed down the steps and turned into the garden on the right of the inn, but had hardly started down the path when an officer in a dark grey uniform came toward me. In another instant I recognized Karl.

"I was just expressing a wish you would turn up," I exclaimed as he grasped my hand. "Let's see, what's the title?" and I nodded to indicate the uniform.

"Captain, captain of the guard. I'm detailed as aide to our general, the Grand Duke of Kurlmurt."

"I see; and how does the duke accept your explanation of the lost papers?"

He has said little. If he had said more"—there was a sharp catch in his voice—"I would have wondered less. He feels it means defeat."

"When did you see him?" I demanded.

"I have just left him. He was out of the city last night, as you know, so I only saw him this morning."

"And the woman?"

"She has not arrived, so far as we can learn. We are on the watch now, so will know as soon as she comes."

"Good! And in the meantime?"

"Come with me; Kurlmurt is at the palace. He wants to see you."

"I am prepared," I answered.

We passed out of the park about the inn and down a long avenue which led straight through the heart of the city, and to the square.

It was my first real glimpse of Zakbar. From a distance it had seemed small, but once treading its streets, that impression left you.

In the square one had the feeling of being in the capital of some country much larger than Scarvania.

On the left as we entered stood the castle, a huge pile of grey stone, with its ancient sally-port, moat and drawbridge.

At the far end stood the cathedral, a more modern building, with a flight of broad marble steps leading up to its wide entrance faced with eight massive pillars.

Opposite the cathedral was a huge building used for military purposes. On our right the square was open, and a wide approach led straight to the lake, running from the square to the lower end of the white quay I had noticed from the inn. Down it and across the square faced the castle. A wide avenue led out between the castle and the cathedral, and between the castle and the barracks. These four streets entering the square, in the centre of which was a fine bronze statue of the late king, with the parkway leading down to the lake, the whole width of the square itself, made it seem very open and the buildings much smaller than they really were.

We passed across the square over the drawbridge and through the sally-port, received the salute of the guards in their dark green coats, white breeches, high boots and brass helmets. The gold lace on the green and the rich contrast of that color to the white made a very attractive picture.

The court of the castle echoed to our footsteps as we turned in through a deep door at the right and up narrow winding stone stairs to the second floor. It was all old, and I marvelled with much interest when I learned that while now used for business purposes it was the original stronghold of the old duke who broke away and, with his retainers, set up the kingdom of Scarvania so many hundred years before.

It was the same castle he had lived in, the same castle from which his men at arms had sallied forth to uphold his rights, and had been the home of each succeeding king, until Michael I., father of the late king, had built himself a new castle farther up the lake, the one now occupied by the princess. Then this one was given over to the ministers and grand dukes. Each grand duke had a suit of offices within its old walls, and in the banquet hall, high arched in stone, with fine old colored glass windows, much like a chapel, they met in weekly session.

We walked on through low-ceiled passages and finally entered a large apartment. From there on extended a smaller room.

ENGINEER LOSES SUIT

Injury To His Eyes Was Not of a Permanent Nature.

Toronto, July 18.—The appeal of James Copeland, a locomotive engineer, of Sarnia, from the decision of Chancellor Boyd dismissing his action against the Locomotive Engineers' Mutual Life and Accident Insurance Association, has been dismissed by the divisional court.

While working as an engineer on the Grand Trunk, on Aug. 26, 1905, Copeland sustained an injury to one of his eyes, and sued to recover $1,500 from the benefit fund. The court finds that the plaintiff has not suffered "total and permanent loss of one or both eyes," as required by the by-laws of the association, to make him entitled to benefit insurance.

HOW TO PREVENT TYPHOID FEVER

Hamilton Medical Health Officer Gives Some Valuable Pointers.

DANGERS OF HOUSE FLIES

Citizens Are Given a Timely Warning —An Article Which Should Be Read by Londoners.

Dealing in an interesting way with typhoid fever and its causes, Dr. Roberts, the medical health officer of Hamilton, in his second health bulletin, advocates that such cases should be strictly isolated. The doctor speaks in good, plain, understandable English, and all citizens interested in the prevention of disease should read the bulletin, which is as follows:

"Health and the protection of life are more precious to the people and more necessary to their happiness than even the extension of our commerce, the fostering of our agricultural interests, the solving of our financial problems the cheapness or efficiency of our postal service, the improvement of our rivers and harbors, or the enlargement of our navy."—From a resolution adopted by the Board of Trade of the City of New York.

Typhoid Fever.

The annual summer outbreak of typhoid is about due. The cause of typhoid fever is known to be a germ. This germ is a living thing and comes from another of the same kind. It cannot develop of itself. Bad sanitary surroundings (such as lack of drainage, defective plumbing, open cesspools, sewer gas, decaying animal or vegetable matter, etc.), may predispose a person to the disease; they cannot themselves cause the disease. It requires the presence of the typhoid germ.

The breeding and multiplication of the typhoid germ is practically confined to the intestines of a person sick with typhoid. One case of typhoid comes from another cause.

The disease is contracted by swallowing the germs. Not every person who swallows the germs gets the disease. Some have a so-called resistance that enables them to overcome the germ. Others not having this resistance get the disease from even small doses.

The typhoid bacillus leaves the body of the patient in the passages from the bowel and bladder, in the bath water, the bed linen and in the dishes used in feeding. It is practically never carried in the dust through the air.

If the discharges are not disinfected, but are simply poured on the ground, they may be washed into a well or a watercourse, and anybody drinking water from that source might get the disease. In this way many large streams have been polluted and many cities have suffered terrible epidemics of typhoid as the result of the carelessness of the people living higher up the stream from which the supply of water is taken.

Such contaminated water may be used in washing the pails in which milk is handled, or the milk may be contaminated from the hands of someone who has nursed a case of typhoid fever. The germs grow and multiply, very well indeed, in milk. Many epidemics of the disease have been spread in this way.

Anything that has been handled by these typhoid cases is liable to give the disease if put into the mouth.

A common means of spreading the disease is by flies. Flies breed and feed in the privy and the stable. They light on the food or drink that is taken into the mouth, filling them with the deadly germ of the disease and render them poison to those who partake of them.

Typhoid fever may be contracted by contact with a patient having the disease. While not contagious like measles or scarlet fever, it is spread by contact, and every case of typhoid should be strictly isolated and cared for just as if it were a case of true contagious disease.

Remember that when a person takes typhoid fever it means that the person has taken into the mouth food or drink contaminated with human excrement containing the typhoid germs.

This is plain talk, but where human life is at stake it is best to be plain.

From what has been said it is clearly apparent that the best way to prevent the spread of typhoid fever is to prevent the germs leaving the bedside of the patient.

No more people should go into the sick room than are necessary. The attendants, if possible, should be taken from those who have had typhoid. Those not in attendance upon the sick should be kept away from the sick room as much as possible. It not only lessens the danger to the well, but it increases the chances of the patient for recovery. The more complete the isolation of the patient the better for him and the family. The less disturbance that the patient gets both during the illness and convalescence, the better it is for him. If the patient must be visited, the well person should not touch anything in the sick room and should particularly avoid kissing or touching the patient or bed clothing.

The world's most successful medicine for bowel complaints is Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It has relieved more pain and suffering, and saved more lives than any other medicine in use. Invaluable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers. 5.

THE DEADLY CANOE.

Toronto, July 18.—The city, in view of the many recent drowning accidents, caused by the capsizing of canoes, probably will pass a bylaw prohibiting the hiring of canoes by those who cannot properly use them.

"HONEST JOHN" IS ALIVE AND PEEVISH

Mr. Kelly Annoyed by Report That He Is Near Death.

New York, July 19.—"Honest John" Kelly awoke in his green and gold bedroom in the somewhat famous Maison de Kelly, which extends from No. 139 West Forty-first street to No. 141 on that thoroughfare, and read in his morning paper—which Mose, the versatile valet, brought in with the honest one's melon, coffee and rolls—that he was dying. This annoyed Mr. Kelly perceptibly. He has nothing to die for, he says.

The roulette wheels were being dusted and the green baize table tops undergoing their matutinal brushing when a reporter called to see if it were really true that Honest John was as the morning paper in question said: "suffering from a serious organic trouble that had already rendered two operations necessary, and that a third is contemplated for appendicitis."

Through the bronze grating, behind which Mr. Kelly modestly retires from the world, Mose said he would convey word of the caller's errand upstairs to his master's bachelor quarters. This was said at No. 139. Said Mose:

"You all had bes' go fru to numbah One Fohty-one. Mistah Kelly lives dah."

A Bit Under the Weather.

At No. 141 the faithful Mose slid back a panel in the door and announced:

"Mistah Kelly will see yo'."

But if Mr. Kelly could see the reporter the caller could in no wise perceive him. After a prolonged scrutiny through the slide, however, a sort of nimbus of orange-colored pajamas was perceptible at the head of a polished wood stairway after bolts had rattled, chains clanked and iron doors slid back like a West Farms express getting under way.

"Well, what is it?" came from the slight glow at the top of the stairs.

"This morning a paper prints a report that you are seriously ill," was the reply, through the grating. "Is it so?"

"Clink, clankety-clink, clank-clink," went the chains. Then came a voice from the mysterious darkness.

"I've been a bit under the weather, that's all."

"There is a report on Broadway that you were shot by a visitor to your place the other night," was the next question.

"Shot?"

Wasn't Even Shot.

"Yes, shot."

"Oh, nothing to that."

The name of the informant was then mentioned.

"Oh, that fellow," said the voice; "he's no good. He don't know what he's talking about, if he says that."

"May I ask if you are Mr. Kelly?" said the reporter.

"Sure, I'm Kelly."

"Sometimes known as 'Honest John'?"

"That's me. Say, if you are going to print anything about this, just say there's no news in a man's being sick, won't you?"

The ghost-like shadow that had been flitting about at the stairhead vanished.

"Clink, clink, clankety-clink, clank," musically went the chains.

"Gr-r-r-wump—bump!" went the door.

"I guess dat's all: he done shet dat do'," said Mose.

And before it could be inquired if Mr. Kelly's door always acted like a roller-coaster going into action the panel also was closed.

HARDEN GLOOMY

Says Progress of German Socialism Means Grave Peril.

London, July 19.—Herr Maximilian Harden, the foremost political expert of Germany, is pessimistic about the growth of socialism. He believes that the general election next year will startle Germany by disclosing the strength of socialism at the ballot box. Herr Harden, of course, is not a socialist, but he tells Germany frankly what it may expect in the future, and outlines the cause that have nurtured the extraordinary and even alarming growth of socialism in the empire. Herr Harden says:

'We are at the beginning of a revolution. Most people cannot realize it yet, although the unmistakable signs of the times ought to warn them of its approach, but the majority has never noticed the beginning of a revolution.

"What history names revolution was almost always the last and most violent phase of the revolutionary movement which had been silently and gradually growing for a long time eprevious to the actual outbreak. The German people feel that their Government institutions no longer satisfy their political needs, and that many class privileges, almost all the exceptional rights possessed by the members of the civil service, and the whole administration of the country, have become intolerable, and their modest wishes having remained unfulfilled too long, they now desire to rush into the other extreme of complete democracy."

Herr Harden then elaborates the various phases of the danger which he sketches in outline in the above sentences, and arguges that the only way to combat socialism is to pursue a policy of sane and moderate reform. An undiluted reactionary policy, he points out, merely assists the socialists in the propaganda, whereas a progressive policy would tend to disarm them and to deprive them of the support of large numbers of electors who now vote for socialist candidates solely for the purpose of demonstrating their discontent with the existing condition of things.

THE SUFFRAGETTES WILL DEMAND A HEARING

Opponents of the Cause Hold Big Outdoor Demonstration in London.

London, July 18.—The toppsy-turvydom produced in Parliament by the cross voting on the woman's suffrage bill and by the adoption of a blocking motion, after the second reading of this fantastic conciliation measure, which had irritated many friends of the cause, has encouraged the opponents of suffrage to undertake a strenuous outdoor campaign.

The first big demonstration was held on Saturday in Trafalgar Square, where preparations had been made for addresses from five platforms. Lack of organization was evident from the outset, and the crowd, while large, did not equal the immense uprising of suffragettes in the previous week.

The speakers were mainly men, among them half a dozen members of Parliament, Charles T. Mills, William R. Pringle, T. W. Hills, and others, and a resolution protesting against the passage of a conciliation or any other woman's suffrage bill was adopted. Lord Cromer's leaflet on the dangers of the political emancipation of women was distributed and messages were read from prominent opponents of the extension of suffrage.

Prominent women who were prejudiced against the movement stayed away, and there was little enthusiasm. The anti-suffrage leaders have succeeded in creating a large organization in the west end of London, but they are not well prepared for taking the field against the rival suffrage crowd, with working women's branches, a big war chest, and hundreds of banners, yet they have been convinced that something more strenuous than Mrs. Humpphry Ward's long letters in the Times is needed if the aggressive suffragettes are to be checked and women are to be kept out of politics

May Come Up in the Fall.

Undoubtedly a demand will be made upon Mr. Asquith to grant time at the autumn session for further debate; but he will undoubtedly refuse, and the suffragists will have to bide their time until a new parliament is elected before they even get a limited franchise. It is apparent that the Liberal Government is determined to withhold the parliamentary franchise from women. The members of the present House are relieved to receive assurances that there will be no resumption of militant measures, although there is some uncertainty as to whether individual members of the militant branch may not resume the warpath on their own hook, regardless of the policy of the remainder of their party. Scotland Yard men continue to maintain surveillance over the members of the cabinet in order to protect them from offence, if not violence.

The vote on the bill disclosed a remarkable cleavage of opinion, party distinctions being completely obliterated. The vote also disclosed acute family differences on the question. The vote of the master of Eilbank, the chief Liberal whip, against the bill was neutralized by the vote of his brother, Captpain Murray, in favor of it. Lord Morpeth opposed the measure, while his brother voted for it. Lewis Harcourt voted against, his brother for it Lord Hugh Cecil and Mr. Balfour for it, while the cousins opposed it. Capt. Markham was the most eloquent supporter of the bill. His sister Violet took the stump against it. Votes for women has become the dominant topic of conversation at dinner tables everywhere.

The Lords' Veto Conference.

Amid the week's political clamor over the suffrage bill little has been heard of the progress of the conference of the party leaders over the Lords' veto. The House of Commons seems to be reconciled to a long continuance of the truce on the question. The proceedings of the conference continue inviolable. Nothing has leaked out. Even the leaders of the Government and of the Opposition are kept in the dark.

Some members of the House assert that there is no intention of bringing the question to a crisis this autumn, and that the Government intends to use all devices to defer the final struggle until after the coronation of King George. They also assert that the idea of a general election in January has been abandoned and that there may be a proposal for a joint session of the two Houses early in the spring, which will result in tiding the issue over the coronation.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S ANNUAL GATHERING

Meeting This Year at Brockville One of Most Successful.

Brockville, July 18.—The Provincial Historical Society held its eleventh annual meeting here last week. The members pronounce the meeting to be one of the most successful the society has ever held. Although no local historical society had existed in this town, arrangements had been made by the president, Barlow Cumberland, and the secretary, C. W. James, Mayor Patterson and Judge Macdonald, assisted by a committee of the town council. They supplemented and completed the plans, which insured the success of the meeting. One of its results is the organization of a strong local society.

The shore of the St. Lawrence River east and west of Brockville was settled by U. E. Loyalists, and there are many historic points not far distant. The papers and speeches naturally related chiefly to the period of Canadian history extending from the beginning of the revolution to the treaty of Ghent in 1814.

Visited Historic Spots.

The closing day of the meeting was spent aboard Mrs. Fulford's steam yacht, which she had kindly placed at the disposal of the mayor and council for the occasion. The old fort at Prescott was visited, and the windmill that figured in the rebellion of 1837, the old Blue Church where the remains of Barbara Heck, "the mother of Canadian Methodism," repose, and other points of interest were observed. The closing session took place off Chimney Island, where the troops of the French king made their last stand in Upper Canada.

The officers elected for 1910-11 are: President, David Williams, Collingwood; first vice-president, John Dearness, London; second vice-president, C. M. Warner, Napanee; council, Mrs. E. J. Thompson, J. S. Carstairs, Alex. Fraser, Toronto, and A. F. Hunter, Barrie; treasurer, W. A. McLean, Toronto.

The next annual meting will be held at the city of Brantford.

WINS A MILLION BY KINDLY DEED

Man Who Helped Poor Teamster Inherits His Great Fortune.

McDonald, Pa., July 19. — Word came from Texas today that the will of John Ennis, who recently died at Corpus Christi, leaves all his estate, valued at $1,000,000, to his wife during her life, and at her death it is to be equally divided between Boyce Rankin and his wife, Nancy Ferguson Rankin.

This uncovers a romantic tale of the McDonald oil fields of 20 years ago. Jack Ennis, who has just died worth a million, was then a very poor teamster in the oil fields there—a teamster without credit. Rankin, who was clerk in a feed store, took pity on Ennis, and extended him credit for horse feed at a time when credit was needed. Ennis declared he would make Rankin his heir for this, and some time later he struck oil on his own account, and with a small fortune rushed to the then opening Beaumont oil fields in Texas, where he quadrupled his money and retired to Corpus Christi, building an immense pleasure resort hotel and bathing pavilion

In the meantime, Rankin, still a poor man, had married Nancy Ferguson, a young friend of Mrs. Ennis, and two years later Ennis came north and found Rankin at Cambridge City, Ind., and offering him double salary and a life position if he would take charge of his Corpus Christi business interests, quickly carried the Rankin family off to Texas, where they have since been.

Rankin is to be employed at a large salary during the life of Mrs. Ennis, taking care of the Ennis business interests.

LOOKS LIKE FOUL PLAY.

New York, July 18.—Detectives today are trying to trace the movements after his arrival here from Youngstown, Ohio, of a man believed to be J. W. Horton, a well-to-do contractor of that city, whose body was found floating in the harbor yesterday. Reports that he had a considerable sum of money in his possession when he reached this city, led to suspicions that he may have been the victim of foul play.

RED SOX GET TO MULLIN IN FIFTH

Champions Lose First Match of Boston Series by Score of 9 to 4.

WORKS FINISHES GAME

Ralph Replaces George in Sixth and Keeps Winners From Tallying—Jones Triples.

Boston, July 18.—The Tigers started their continuation of their eastern trip here this afternoon, and they did it in the same way as they opened it at Philadelphia last week. They never had a chance to defeat the Red Sox, who won by a score of 9 to 4.

George Mullin was hit hard as long as he stayed on the mound, and in the fifth he met his Waterloo, and did not return to the box in the next inning, Works taking his place. Previous to the fifth inning the Red Sox had been able to drive three men across the plate, but in the fifth they scored just double this number, making their total nine. They pounded Mullin for six hits, including a home run and two doubles, and three bases on balls by the big Tiger aided them considerably.

Collins for the Red Sox had the visitors going in fast time till the Red Sox got their total of nine runs, then the Tigers scored once in the sixth, and in the ninth they started a rally which brought in three runs, owing to a triple by Davy Jones with the bases full. The score:

TO SUE JOHNSON FOR A DIVORCE

Hattie McCraig, of Philadelphia, Claims To Be the Wife of Negro Champion.

A FRIEND OF LITTLE

Lately Deposed Manager of Negro Champ Appears To Be Working the Case.

New York, July 18.—There is now stopping at the Hotel Albany, up on Broadway, a Caucasian lady who announces that she is the lawfully wedded wife of John Arthur Johnson (colored), heavyweight champion of the world, and that she is about to sue him for divorce and $50,000 damages. Stopping at the same hotel and giving her moral support and sympathy, is George Little, of Chicago, who recently lost his job as the manager of Johnson's pugilistic, financial and social destinies.

A reporter saw the prospective plaintiff in the parlor of the suite which Little is temporarily occupying. Several other women, all extensively decorated, were also present.

The woman who called herself Mrs. Jack Johnson wore a loose flowing wrap of some pinkish stuff. She said her maiden name was Hattie McCray, and that staid Philadelphia was her home. In support of her assertion that Johnson was her husband, she first of all showed a collection of pictures, photographs, telegrams and bills.

Couldn't Show Marriage Lines.

Unfortunately she couldn't show her marriage certificate, because, she said, the champion had carried off that valuable document, along with several other papers of importance belonging to her. She said she first met Johnson in August of 1907 in Marshall's cafe, and went with him to Atlantic City, and from there to Boston, where she was married to him on Sept. 28 by a magistrate whose name she could not recall. She said also that she had lived with Johnson until Dec. 30, 1909, and had witnessed nearly all his fights, including the one with Tommy Burns in Australia. Also that the champion had basely and in a manner unworthy of a gentleman, whether white or colored, deserted her, and that for the last six months she had been supported by remittances from the kindly Mr. Little, who modestly acknowledged that such was the case.

To Sue Within a Week.

As a further proof of her love, which had now turned to hate, she said that on one occasion she pawned all of her diamonds and family heirlooms in order that Johnson could get money to go abroad, he being for the time financially embarrassed. Within a week, she declared, her lawyers in Chicago would file suit against Johnson for an absolute divorce and $50,000 damages, alleging cruel and barbarous treatment, nonsupport and misconduct. Two women were to be named as co-respondents.

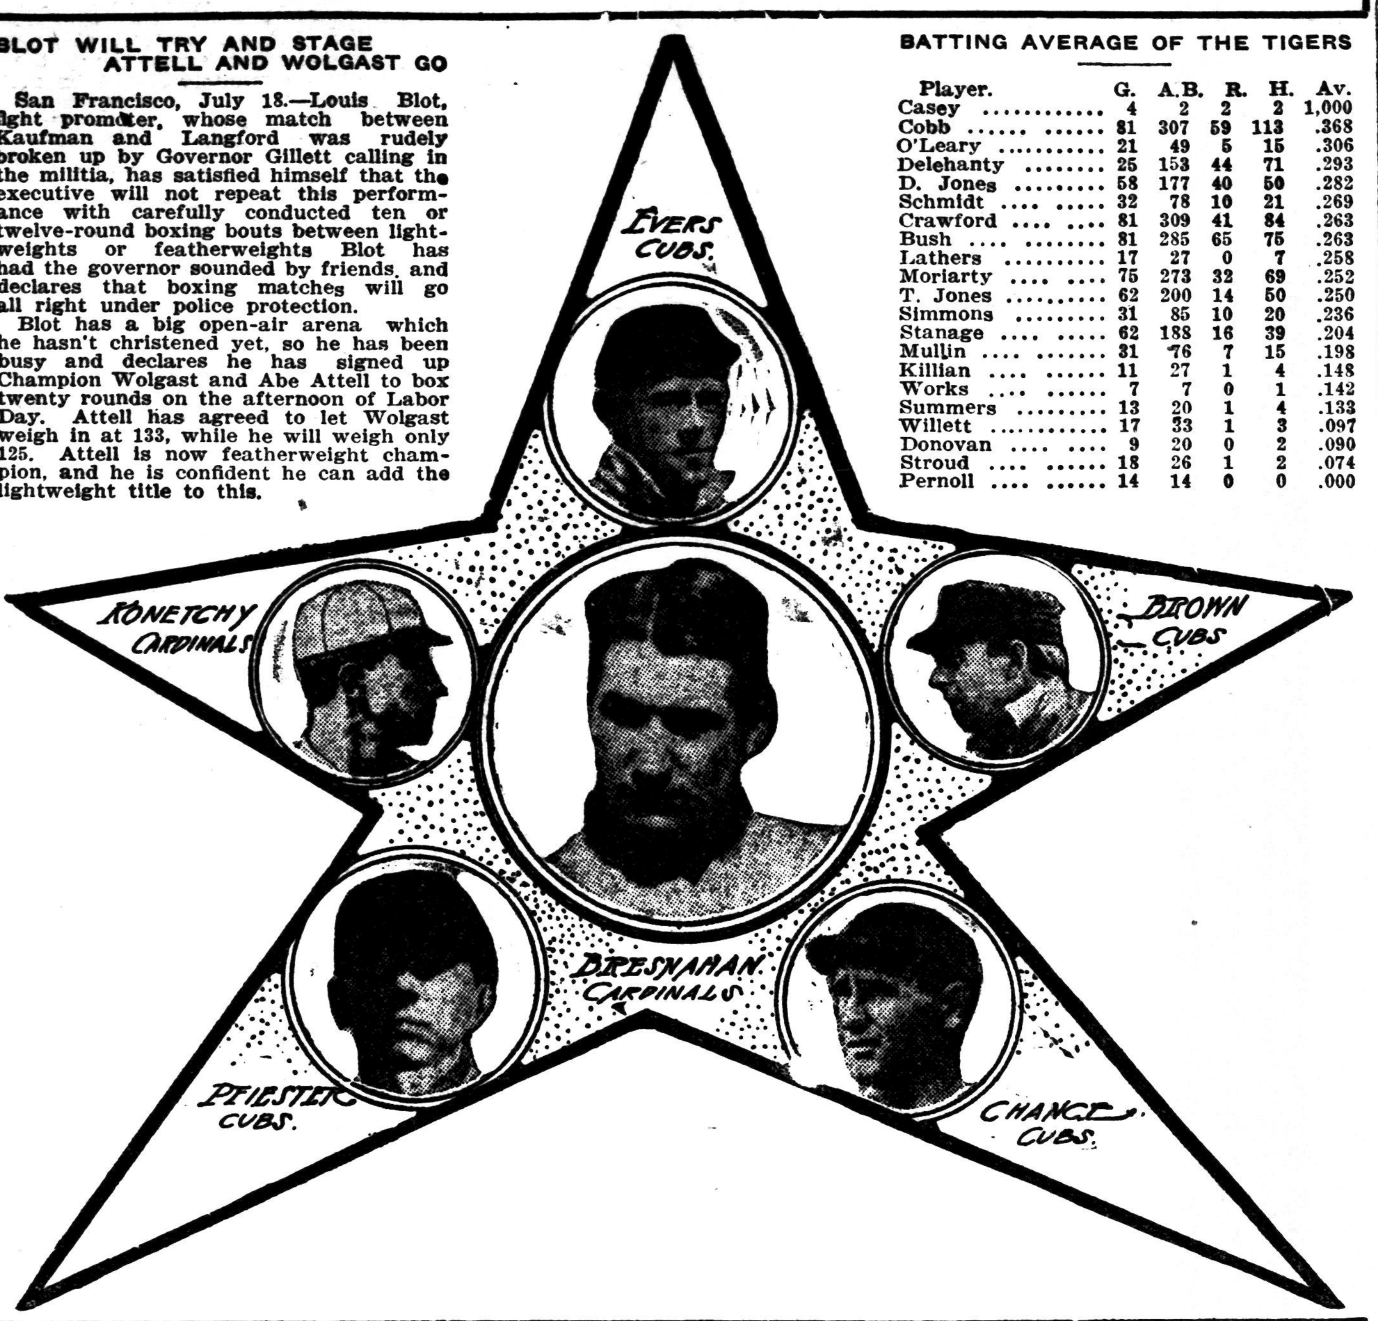

At the cafe Baron Wilkins, in West Thirty-fifth street, the champion denied that the woman was his wife. He accused Little of influencing her to make trouble for him.

BLOT WILL TRY AND STAGE ATTELL AND WOLGAST GO

San Francisco, July 18.—Louis Blot, fight promoter, whose match between Kaufman and Langford was rudely broken up by Governor Gillett calling in the militia, has satisfied himself that the executive will not repeat this performance with carefully conducted ten or twelve-round boxing bouts between lightweights or featherweights Blot has had the governor sounded by friends, and declares that boxing matches will go all right under police protection.

Blot has a big open-air arena which he hasn't christened yet, so he has been busy and declares he has signed up Champion Wolgast and Abe Attell to box twenty rounds on the afternoon of Labor Day. Attell has agreed to let Wolgast weigh in at 133, while he will weigh only 125. Attell is now featherweight champion, and he is confident he can add the lightweight title to this.

BIG LEAGUE CLUBS AFTER TED CORBITT

South Bend, Ind., July 18.—Pitcher Ted Corbitt, of the South Bend Central League team, who last Thursday established a new world's record by not allowing a hit or run for eleven innings in a game against Zanesville, is already in demand by major league clubs. The offers for Corbitt were received by the South Bend management however, previous to the date on which he pitched the wonderful game.

Corbitt, according to the big league scouts who have witnessed his work, is by far the best pitcher in the league. He also has speed and curves that can compare favorably with the big league twirlers. He was with Denver in the Western Association last year.

UNKNOWN WANTS TO BATTLE NEGRO

Corbett Has Heavyweight to Regain Title for White Race.

BOUT TO LAST 20 ROUNDS

Hugh McIntosh Puts Up Challenge to Champion and Backs It With $5,000 Forfeit.

New York, July 18.—James J. Corbett has an "unknown" under cover, whom he hopes will show himself fit to win the title that Jim Jeffries lost to Jack Johnson at Reno.

Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, who staged the fight between Johnson and Tommy Burns, has been sufficiently impressed to put out a challenge today in behalf of the unknown, backed by a $5,000 forfeit, to be used later as a side bet. If Johnson declines, the offer is open to any other man worthy to be considered a candidate for heavyweight honors. Corbett refuses to make known the identity of his protege, and there is some doubt in sporting circles that he has anything more specific in mind than a desire to see Johnson licked.

The Challenge.

McIntosh, who is now in New York, says in his challenge:

"The unknown will be named by James J. Corbett, and will also be trained by him, the fight to take place in the United States, England or Australia, and I agree to offer a purse the amount of which is to exceed that offered by any other person.

"As an evidence of good faith, I am willing to deposit the sum of $5,000 as a guarantee with Timothy Sullivan or any other responsible person, the same deposit to go as a side bet if desired.

"The only stipulation I make is that the contest be 20 rounds or over."

JOHNNY McGRAW PEEVED.

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, wired to President Lynch, of the National League, protesting at the distribution of umpires, and asking that his team be given "half a show."

"Tom Lynch doesn't know his business," said McGraw. "He's been out of the game too long. He has forced on the Giants joke umpires like Moran and Brennan all the season, and those two men are responsible for at least six defeats for my team, through their incompetence. Why doesn't Lynch appoint as umpires old players who can follow out a contemplated play? His umpire staff is the worst I've seen in twenty years."

BROOKLYN WAS BEATEN

Chance Makes the Victory Certain by Singling After Scanlon Walks Two Men.

Chicago, July 18.—Overall today signalized his return to the slab after an absence of six weeks, owing to a lame arm, by beating Brooklyn, 3 to 1. Chance clinched the victory, which is the third straight, with a single, after Scanlon had walked two Cubs in the eighth. President Thomas J. Lynch, here to investigate complaints against the ball now used in the National League, witnessed the contest. The score:

The visitors pounded the ball hard for a total of 12 hits, while Kisinger held the locals to four hits, but allowed four passes, which with errors gave Toronto its quartette. ORIOLES STICK CLOSE TO HUSTLERS AND WIN OUT

Rochester, July 18.—Baltimore tagged onto Rochester throughout ten innings this afternoon, and finally won out in the tenth, 3 to 2. Ragan and Lefty Russell were about even. Ragan had things safe in the ninth, and when he threw to Batch to catch Clancy at third he thought Heinie would hang to the sphere, but Heinie didn't. Clancy scored on the next out. Bescher has stolen the most bases, and Merkle and Wheat are tied in long-distance hitting. Mathewson is the best pitcher, with Phillippi leading the Pirates.

COAKLEY, SOLD BY CUBS TO MONTREAL, WON'T REPORT

Louisville, July 18.—Pitcher Andy Coakley, formerly with the Chicago National League team, who has been sold to the Montreal team, has announced that he will not go to the Canadian circuit until he gets a settlement of his claim for back salary by the Louisville management. The dispute will go to the national commission if Coakley refuses to go to Montreal, it is said.

LEXINGTON MAY DECIDE TO HOLD FALL MEETING

Lexington, July 18.—A call has been issued for a special meeting of the board of directors of the Kentucky Racing Association to be held here July 21 to decide whether a fall meeting shall be held in conjunction with those of Churchill Downs and Latonia. It is said the decision hinges on the way the directors look at the situation in the east. With New York's latest stringent law going into effect Sept. 1 horsemen here say there is no reason why a meeting here should not be a success. If the races are held they will be either late in September or early in November

TRAINMEN STRIKE ON GRAND TRUNK

Conductors, Brakesmen and the Yardmen Quit Last Night.

4,000 MEN ARE INVOLVED

Company Holds To Position, and Monday's Conference Fails.

[G. N. W. Dispatch.]

Montreal, Que., July 18.—A strike of all the conductors and trainmen on the G. T. R. System went into effect at 9:30 o'clock tonight and over 4,000 men are involved. The strike is the result of the failure to arrive at an amicable settlement. A committee representing the men has been in Montreal for some time negotiating with the company The committee demand the adoption of the standard territorial wage, but President Hays refused to agree to this demand. A strike vote was taken last week all over the system, and the men were practically unanimous for a strike unless their demand was granted. The ultimatum of the men was made known to President Hays at a final conference today, but he absolutely refused to grant the demand, and the conference was accordingly broken off, and a strike was called and went into effect tonight.

Company's Last Offer.

At the final conference this afternoon Mr. Hays offered a substantial increase all round, amounting to about 18 per cent, and also to grant the standard scale by Jan. 1, 1913, but the committee insisted that the standard scale should be granted at once, and Mr. Hays declined to accede to this. In a statement made by Mr. Hays he says that he made the best offer he could to the men and did not see his way to go further. Until a settlement is reached all shops on the system will be closed.

The strikers are to receive the support of the international orders, according to a statement made by Vice-President Murdock tonight, and each man will receive a monthly allowance.

The G. T. R. telegraphers today agreed to submit their demands to arbitration, so there will be no strike.

Stratford Shops Close.

Stratford, July 18.—Notice was received by Master Mechanic Robert Patterson from headquarters about 6 o'clock this evening to close down the local G. T. R. shops until further advised, on account of the strike of trainmen and conductors to take effect at 9:30 this evening. As a result of closing down of the shops some 900 will be thrown out of employment.

Situation at Toronto.

Toronto, July 19.—The trainmen's strike was declared here last night at 9:20, and was promptly obeyed by the men on runs. Officials acted as train crew of the Eastern Flyer. Superintendent Coleman, of Belleville, as conductor, and Car Distributor Gordon as brakeman.

News at Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 18.—News of the strike on the Grand Trunk was received here tonight with varying exhibitions of feelings on the part of employees in this, the Grand Trunk's "big shops" town. The trainmen think the strike is just right. The shop men seem more indifferent than anything else.

In all probability the strike will mean even more work in the shops, because the road will be likely to take advantage of any tie-up to repair and renew the operating equipment. The harder the tie-up the more the system is likely to get ready for the day when peace will be declared.

Situation at Windsor.

Windsor, July 19.—The strike of Grand Trunk employees started at 8:30 o'clock last night. Trains were abandoned where they stood, and for a few minutes the tie-up of the road was complete. Soon passenger and mail trains were started again in charge of strike-breaking crews, and the regular passenger schedule was practically maintained. Freight, however, was abandoned entirely.

The road has many strike-breakers within reach, and promises that the passenger service, at least, will be as usual.

At Hamilton.

Hamilton, July 18.—At 9:30 tonight the wheels on local branches and the main line of the Grand Trunk ceased to move. Crews deserted their trains at the first station they reached after 9:30. Yard engines were left on the track to grow cold and cars are standing with perishable freight. It is estimated that everything in connection with the road is still at midnight. No attempts have been made so far to handle the trains with strike-breaking crews, and the men think they have a good chance to win. They claim that the company has not nearly enough volunteers for strike-breaking work to inaugurate anything like an effective schedule and think the road is in a precarious condition, while the C. P. R. is running on time. It was impossible to estimate the number of men who went on strike in this city and the surrounding small stations when 9:30 was reached by the hands of the clocks.

READY FOR LONG FIGHT SAYS TRAINMEN'S CHIEF

International Brotherhood Has Million Dollars Behind the Men.

Montreal, July 18.—Following is the official announcement of the beginning of the strike as declared by Vice-President Murdock, of the Trainmen's Brotherhood:

"The joint committee returned to their homes on Saturday night after bringing in the strike vote, leaving the general officers and a small sub-committee here to see if a settlement could still be arrived at. The instructions left with the sub-committee were that unless the company conceded the wage schedule recently adopted for the territory east of Chicago, with the temporary modifications of this standard that has been agreed to, that all the men employed in the train and yard service of the company should leave the service on Monday night at 9:30, Eastern time.

"In accordance with this we met Mr. Hays today when he elaborated somewhat upon his original offer, to the extent of saying he meant by it the award of the board of conciliation, and that the standard wage for the territory should be adopted by January, 1913.

Must Obey Men.

"Mr. Hays was told that the subcommittee and officers could not believe they had the right to set aside the strongly-expressed position of the men, even if they were inclined so to do.

"Therefore, we positively refuse to accept his proposition, on behalf of the men, who had left us our instructions with power to act. As a result the men will leave the service at 9:30 this evening, because they will not get the telegram from us advising that a satisfactory settlement has been made. Every delegate on leaving last Saturday night had instructions that unless otherwise ordered the strike would start at 9:30 this evening.

A Protective Fund.

"Each delegate also carried a sealed envelope containing a duplicate telegram. If a satisfactory settlement was reached today I would wire each delegate. He would then open his envelope, and if the contents tallied exactly with the telegram sent by me it would mean that a settlement had been reached, and that the men could keep on working. But any telegram differing from the contents of this envelope, no matter who signed it, would be ignored. No such telegram was sent, so that the strike must automatically start at 9:30."

Asked as to what backing the international unions would have for such an extensive strike, Mr. Murdock said:

"There is a protective fund of $1,000,000 back of us now, and there will be no difficulty in getting $350,000 a month to keep the strike going with 3,500 men out on the Grand Trunk and 350 on the Central Vermont. The full protective features of both the conductors and trainmen's unions will be given, with payment of strike pay of $50 a month to members of the Order of Railway Conductors and $35 a month to members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Falls Switchmen Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 18.—The G. T. R. switchmen in both eastbound and westbound yards walked out to a man at 9:30 this evening. If the day staff refuses to come on duty in the morning it means 100 men will obey the instructions of their union leaders. It is expected that the trainmen and the conductors will follow suit as they are called for their trains. The G. T. R. officials feel confident that they will be able to keep traffic moving after a few hours' organization.

G. T. R. TELEGRAPHERS WILL NOT WALK OUT

Company and Men Will Arbitrate and Abide by the Award.

Montreal, July 19.—The G. T. R. telegraphers and the company will submit their differences to arbitration and abide by the award. This was decided upon at a conference yesterday between President Hays and Mr. Duncan Campbell, vice-president of the Canadian Order of Telegraphers.

HAYS STATES CASE FOR THE COMPANY

Declares His Proposition for Standardization in 1913 the Best He Can Do.

Montreal, July 18.—An official statement was issued today by President Hays, of the Grand Trunk System:

"Messrs. Berry and Murdock, with a committee representing the Grand Trunk trainmen and yardmen, met the officers of that company this morning and advised that they had received the authority of a large majority of our trainmen to order a strike in the event that a settlement was not reached with the company.

"A general discussion of the situation took place, during which we have advised them that we are not in a position to offer more than had been offered in my former proposition, giving the men an increase of approximately 18 per cent, with the promise that they should be given the same standard rate of pay as the Canadian Pacific as soon as the Grand Trunk, through its relation with the Grand Trunk Pacific, is in a position to participate in the high rates obtaining on traffic in the Northwest, by reason of the completion of that road and the obtaining of through rail connections with the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, which should be accomplished within two years.

Could Do No Better.

"It was explained that if there was any question of indefiniteness as to the date when the standardization of rates was to take effect, we would agree that it should not be later than Jan. 1, 1913, or earlier if the board of railway commissioners, upon hearing of the facts in the case, should so determine

"This was not considered satisfactory, and the conference was adjourned until this afternoon, when we were handed the schedule of rates of pay and rules, which are practically the eastern standard. To this reply was made that we could do no better than what had already been offered, and we had no further proposition to make.

"Should a strike be ordered we are confident that it will be found that many of the employees of the company in the train service will disregard such strike and will continue service with the company. We have a large number of applications from other parties desirous of obtaining employment, and shall also receive largely from our own forces in other departments. In the meantime we shall make effective the rules and rates of pay offered the employees.

All Shops Closed.

"Pending settlement of matters, all shops on the system will be closed.

"We have done the best we can, having reference to the interests of the shareholders and of the men themselves," said President Hays. "Taking into consideration the responsibilities of our position, we have done all we could to meet the demands of the men and avoid trouble. Whether the men strike or not, we cannot do anything more. The men have consistently said that nothing I offered would be satisfactory unless it was the standard wage they are calling for. They have said the same elsewhere, and have consented to arbitration, but now they refuse it with us."

EFFECT OF STRIKE ON PRICE OF COAL

Dealers Say Unless of Long Duration Prices Will Stay as at Present.

Coal consumers need have little fear of an advance in the price of coal by reason of the strike of the Grand Trunk employees.

"The strike will have no effect on the price of coal unless it continues too long." This was practically the unanimous answer of coal dealers in response to a query in this regard.

"Coal is now selling at a ridiculously low figure, and the dealers all have a pretty large supply of coal on hand," said Mr. Wm. Heaman to The Advertiser. "Consequently the strike would need to be of a lengthy duration to affect the price."

"I don't think it will go any higher as a direct result of the strike," said Mr. J. M. Daly. "It is bound to go higher sooner or later, but we are well supplied, and the strike would need to last two months to cause a jump in price."

As a strike of two months' duration is very improbable the outlook for a jump in coal does not appear likely.

M'CLARYS BLANKED COWANS IN FIRST

Tin Men Supported Pitcher Pirie in First-class Style.

The first game of the post series between McClarys and Cowans, in the Commercial League, was played last night at Springbank, when McClarys defeated Cowans 12 to 0. G. Pirie, for McClarys, pitched splendid ball, and was given good support at all times. The McClary infield was especially strong. Crummer, for Cowans, was hit hard in the first three innings and was given poor support. Eyre, who pitched the last two innings, succeeded in holding McClarys to one run. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
McClarys	6	0	5 1 0—12	10	2
Cowans	0	0	0 0 0— 0	2	6

Batteries: McClarys—G. Pirie and C. Pirie. Cowans—Crummer, Eyre and Walsh.

With the laudable desire of creating a township absolutely free from "graft," American philanthropy is financing the building of a city in Kentucky, near Evansville, on the Ohio River, where all the public services will be owned by the people, who will share in the profits, and there will be no public houses and no public officials.

SIXTY PER CENT OF MEN STRUCK

This Was the Statement of Supt. Bowker, of the G. T. R., This Morning.

THE STRIKE SITUATIONS

Two Trains Cancelled This Morning—Officials Manned Some Trains—All Is Quiet.

The strike on the Grand Trunk Railway began here at 9:30 last night, when practically all the switchmen, conductors and brakemen who were in quit work and went to Cullis' Hall, where a meeting was being held. As fast as the other trains came in their crews went to the hall also. Only one passenger train, No. 8, due here from the Sarnia Tunnel at 12:09, left London after 9:30, and it was in charge of the crew who were bringing it through.

Expresses No. 4 and No. 7, which cross in London at 3:30 in the morning, went through in charge of new men. Chief Dispatcher White, of the local office, took express No. 4 through to the bridge; No. 7 also had a local conductor and brakeman.

This morning all the passenger trains with the exception of No. 24, the accommodation for Niagara Falls and Toronto, and the Huron and Bruce train, left as usual. Most of the regular crews were missing and the trains were manned by other employees and new men.

The two trains mentioned were cancelled by the company owing to lack of crews.

Superintendent Bowker stated to The Advertiser today that as nearly as he could estimate at the present time 60 per cent of the men are out. The men say that all crews will quit just as soon as they are called by the company.

Officials state that they expect a number of the old employees, particularly those on the through runs, to remain loyal to the company.

No Freight Moving.

At the Grand Trunk freight sheds no freight is being taken, as no freight trains are moving at all. Inquiry there today elicited the information that the sheds are filled with freight, and that no more will be taken until what is now in can be cleared away.

It was stated that this would not be before the evening in all probability.

Last night the officials had an exceedingly busy time.

The train from Toronto, due in London at 10:10, came in in charge of Superintendent Bowker, who happened to be on his way home from Toronto. The switching in the local yards was done by Yardmaster Jack Cloghesy and Night Yardmaster O'Leary. They switched only passenger trains.

The men gathered in Cullis' Hall early in the evening, and held a short meeting. Their instructions were to go out if no word came by 9:30 o'clock last night. No word came, and they went out

At 11 o'clock they were still standing around in groups on Wellington street discussing the situation. They are confident of winning. The officials, on the other hand, are just as confident that the company will win.

"In five days," said one official, "we will have everything running as usual and with practically no loss of time or inconvenience in our passenger service."

London businessmen are keenly interested in the situation, and the hope is generally expressed that the strike will be of short duration. London is one of the largest shipping points in Western Ontario, and the complete tie-up of the freight to many points only reached by the Grand Trunk is a matter of great inconvenience and loss to merchants and manufacturers. On points that can be reached by the C. P. R. a good deal of freight is already being sent over their lines. The C. P. R., it is stated, have made extra preparations to handle extra local freight that may come their way and also fast through freight.

City Will Discuss Strike.

A meeting of the manufacturers' committee of the city council will be held this afternoon, and it is likely that the strike will be one of the most important things dealt with.

Mayor Beattie has as yet received no reply whatever from the minister of railways regarding the petition from the carshops employees which was sent down by the council a couple of days ago.

An incident that aroused much interest occurred last night when No. 418, the fast freight which leaves London for Toronto at 10 o'clock, was made up and the crew were called as usual. They came down, but did not take the train out, and it was cancelled.

The two freights that usually go through at midnight from Sarnia were also cancelled.

The "Cannon Ball," which leaves London for Stratford at midnight, did not leave until 6 o'clock this morning. This necessitated some delay in the transportation of express, as a special car is attached to the "Cannon Ball" and takes goods over to Stratford, where it is attached to No. 4, the fast early morning express which goes through from Sarnia over the old main line.

MACHINERY SHIPPERS

Hits Farmers, Too.

"While the effect is going to be serious on us the farmers are going to suffer to a great extent. They are waiting for these binders and repairs, while the crops are standing in the fields."

Other shippers had a similar tale to relate, some feeling the strike more than others. Mr. A. W. White, manager of George White & Sons, said: "The harvest is now on and farmers are acquiring their threshing machinery. We have a large number of orders to fill and consequently the strike is going to be a serious thing for us. But it will be far more serious for the farmers not being able to get machinery to harvest their crops."

Congestion of Orders.

"The strike will be a serious thing for us," said Mr. C. H. White, manager of the London Rolling Mills. "We have not many carloads on the road, but we have a big list of orders to fill, which is practically impossible under present conditions. As far as possible we are using the C. P. R. and Pere Marquette, but this does not by any means relieve the congestion.

Leonard & Sons is another firm experiencing considerable loss as a result of the strike. "Tied right up," was Mr. F. E. Leonard's response to a query regarding the effect of the strike.

"Our orders will have to stand, it is simply impossible to fill them."

The McClary Manufacturing Company will not be so badly affected as some of the other manufacturers.

"As far as our local business is concerned," said Mr. J. H. K. Pope, secretary of the firm, "we will feel the strike, but our carload shipments to points farther away than the immediate vicinity will not be seriously impeded."

"Shipments to points in this vicinity where there are no other connections than Grand Trunk will, of course, be held up."

REGENTS CANAL MAY HOLD KEY TO MYSTERY

Scotland Yard Thinks Members of Actress' Body May Be Found.

London, July 19. — Scotland Yard found today what is believed to be a clue to the disposition of the bones which with the flesh unearthed in the cellar in Hilldrop Crescent, once formed the body of Belle Elmore, the American actress—wife of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen. As the result of a tireless search among the friends and acquaintances of Ethel Clara Leneve, the typist, who disappeared recently with Dr. Crippen, the detectives ran across a woman who said that Miss Leneve had been her friend, and had talked to her in confidence. The typist, the woman said, had spoken to her of mysterious visits paid by Dr. Crippen to the neighborhood of Regents Park. The theory woven from these circumstances by the police is that the disjointed bones of the murdered woman may have been carried in small parcels to Regents Park and deposited in the Regents Canal. The authorities ordered that the waters of the canal be thoroughly dragged.

Miss Leneve Innocent.

This development has strengthened the belief of Miss Leneve's friends that if Mrs. Crippen was murdered, the woman who is said to have won her husband's affections was innocent of any knowledge of the crime.

At the inquest yesterday the physicians who examined the dismembered body testified that none of the bones had been found, and that analysis indicated that the flesh had been carefully and skillfully carved from the skeleton. It has been deemed of great importance to discover the missing members, including the head, hands and feet in order to complete the body, and thus establish legally the case of murder. With the evidence at hand the experts have not as yet been able to determine so much as the sex of the victim.

JEWISH PERSECUTION GOES STEADILY ON

Hundreds of Families Being Exiled From Kiev by Czar's Decree.

Kiev, Russia, July 19.—The expulsion of Jews from Kiev continues at the rate of 45 individuals a day. From July 4 until July 15, 497 were expelled by what is known as the second method. That is they are forced actually to leave town. During the same period 1,121 persons were expelled by the first method, which, in effect, is a warning for their departure, but permits them time for a settlement of private affairs. In the majority of cases the latter method proved ineffective, as the Jews in that country are prone to return to Kiev after a temporary absence.

During the twelve days mentioned there were 165 expulsions from Solomonka and 151 from Demieffka.

The Imperial Decree.

Since May 14, when the imperial decree became effective, ordering that all Jews who could not establish a legal right of residence elsewhere should be returned within the pale, the restricted district of the Polish provinces and the Ukram, there have been expelled from this city, Solomonka, and Demieffka suburbs, 3,011 persons by the second method, and 3,641 by the first method. However, in making this total of 6,652, allowance must be made for a large percentage of duplications in the count. Many have been expelled only to return and be sent away again, while the expulsions from Solomonka and Demieffka are largely composed of those who were originally expelled from this city.

Officers of the Jewish relief committee of Kiev stated today that roughly estimated, seven hundred families had already been sent out of the city, and four hundred families were still subject to such treatment.

In the case of those who returned after expulsion the authorities have adopted drastic measures, the returning ones frequently being accompanied from the city by gendarmes, and in many cases banishment "by Etappe" has been resorted to. This system provides for the shipment of batches of Jews to their final destination under escort of relays of armed guards.

The number of expulsions is constantly growing owing to the discovery of illegal makeshifts employed by the Jews to gain the right of residence

Since Jan. 1 the authorities have received 17,272 petitions for right of residence, accompanied by documents purporting to establish such right. Among the number were discovered 2,152 fraudulent tradesmen's certificates. These certificates were issued by former officials of the Velikocech Technical School of Poland, which was closed in 1903 upon the order of the governor-general of Warsaw. After the closing of the school officials continued to issue and dated certificates to Jews, paying the necessary sum.

The authorities now require the holders of tradesmen's certificates to keep practical demonstration of their skill. The greater number are unable to pass the test. A large number of cases against Jews alleged to be trading illegally outside the pale are pending in the courts of Kiev. Where convictions are secured the goods of the defendants are confiscated.

BROTHER OF "LIJE" CLAIMS SUCCESSION

'King" Dowie at Zion City to War On Overseer Voliva.

Chicago, July 19.—Prospects of another battle for power in Zion City are seen with the arrival in Chicago of "King" Dowie, professed brother of John Alexander Dowie, "Elijah II.," and claimant to the throne of a South Sea island. It is said to be the intention of "King" Dowie to overthrow Overseer Wilbur Glen Voliva.

Overseer Voliva said last night that he would ignore the self-styled regent. "I know of him only what I have heard," said Voliva. "As far as I am aware John Alexander Dowie had no brother." "King" Dowie is supposed to be located at present on the south side, having arrived from Minneapolis during yesterday. With him is "Pope" Schrader, who is in charge of a church in San Francisco. Dowie, it is said, claims the rule of Zion City by the right of succession.

A MEMORIAL SERVICE

In Honor of the Late Dr. Savage.

The large and closely-attentive congregation assembled on Sabbath afternoon in the new Salem Church, Derwent, to join in the impressive memorial service in honor of the late Rev. Dr. William Savage, of Guelph, was a fitting tribute to the personal worth and work of that remarkable man in the pioneer days of Western Ontario. The church was established by him over fifty years ago, when he travelled the Belmont circuit, and has ever since been a centre from which good influences have radiated. Rev. Albert E. Jones, the pastor, conducted the exercises, which included a most interesting reminiscent address by Mr. Andrew Venning, of Belmont, who paid a deservedly warm tribute to the deceased clergyman, whose death occurred recently at the age of 92 years and 2 months. His personal characteristics and influence were next briefly sketched by Mr. W. Thompson, Rev. Mr. Jones concluding with a short and effective discourse on the function of the Christian minister. Special musical selections, including the favorite hymns of the late Dr. Savage, added greatly to the uplifting nature of the occasion, and Rev. G. I. Burns, of Gladstone, joined, offering the closing invocation.

STRUCK BY G. T. R. TRAIN

St. Marys Man Seriously Hurt at a Level Crossing—Boy Bitten By Dog.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Marys, July 19.—John Routley, sen., an aged resident of the east ward, living on Queen street, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon at the G. T. R. level crossing on Elgin street, opposite he J. D. Moore Company's cold storage building. Just as the 3:25 p.m. express touched the north side of the street on the east side of the crossing, Mr. Routly fell on the pilot of the engine, which threw him about six feet to the same side of the track that he approached the engine. The train was slowing down at the time, as the G. T. R. town station is just north two blocks on the north side of Queen street. The train stopped to quickly that the last car was not clear of the crossing. Routly was picked up unconscious and taken to his home, which is two streets north and two blocks east of the G. T. R. track. Drs. Knox and Mathieson were quickly in attendance. The man was found to have three bad scalp wounds, his skull fractured, and a bad wound at the lower part of the back bone. A part of the fracture of bone of the skull was raised, relieving the pressure on the brain and restoring consciousness to the patient. At a late hour last night Mr. Routley was resting as well as could be expected.

A dog belonging to W. H. Eyles, of the south ward, bit a boy last week. The animal was shot and its head sent to Toronto to be tested for rabies. No word has yet been received as to the results of the test.

VICTIMS OF DOCK FIRE.

New York, July 19.—The bodies of two men, believed to be members of the crew of the freight steamer H. F. Dimock, plying between here and Boston, which was badly damaged during the pier fire of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, Saturday, were found floating in the Hudson River at the foot of Fulton street today. The Dimock caught fire from the burning pier and most of her crew jumped overboard. Nearly all were rescued by harbor boats, but at least two were found to be missing after the blaze on the Dimock had been extinguished by fire boats, which hauled her into midstream. The bodies found today were apparently those of a fireman about 35 years old and of a deck hand or longshoreman about 28 years old.

There is an outbreak of Rhodesian cattle fever on the Orange Free States border. The probable consequences of the outbreak will the virtual disappearance of cattle in the whole up-country regions. The losses will probably far exceed those which accompanied the rinderpest of 1896.

VANCOUVER VANCOUVER VANCOUVER VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The City of Vancouver, Canada's most westerly commercial and industrial metropolis, is situated on a promontory of the mainland of British Columbia, overlooking the waters of Burrard Inlet and the Gulf of Georgia, with their perennially fascinating wealth of scenic beauty.

Although the city was founded as late as 1886, it now boasts a population of 150,000 souls, and is admittedly one of the most important commercial centres on the Pacific Coast. Its commercial standing is founded on the fact that it is the terminal of three trans-continental railways, and the home port of several fleets of trans-Pacific steamship companies. Besides the railway lines already entering the city, two others are rushing construction to Vancouver, while several lines to connect the various parts of the interior of the province with Vancouver are being surveyed.

Vancouver enjoys an ideal location, being particularly well adapted for business purposes and at the same time possessing the best possible conditions for a place of residence. The business section of the city, together with the older residential portion, is situated on a peninsula with gentle elevation, sloping both northward and southward to the salt water channels which all but surround it.

THE RASPBERRIES WERE VERY SCARCE

Small Supply On the Market This Morning and Prices Were High.

Those who looked for a large supply of raspberries on the market this morning at cheap prices were doomed to disappointment. The supply was small, black raspberries outnumbering the red variety, which is a somewhat unusual state of affairs. Red raspberries were quoted at 13 to 15 cents a box, or two for a quarter. Black raspberries were a little dearer at 15 cents a box, or two for a quarter. Some extra choice black berries went off at 20 cents a box. Raspberries have not yet reached their biggest day, but the supply is not expected to reach by any means large dimensions, nor will the price drop to any appreciable extent.

Hay Is High.

New hay is commanding a very high figure. One load this morning went at $13 a ton, but this is considerably above the normal figure. This was the only load which went above $12. The normal quotations are from $10 to $12 a ton. Eleven loads were in, all being new hay.

Oats are down a little from last week's high figures. Three loads went off at $1 25 to $1 28 a hundredweight.

Butter and eggs were scarce commodities this morning. A few baskets of eggs in dairy hall were quoted at 21 to 22 cents a dozen. The wholesale price is still 18 cents a dozen.

The retail price of butter is 23 to 25 cents a pound, and the wholesale from 19 to 21 cents.

The market gardeners had a good supply of garden produce. Beans are selling at 10 cents a quart; new potatoes, $1 50 a bushel; cucumbers, 50 to 65 cents a dozen; cabbage, 30 to 40 cents a dozen; beets, 40 to 50 cents a dozen.

TORONTO, July 18.—The total receipts for todays' market were 100 cars, with 2,304 head of cattle, 269 sheep and lambs and 28 calves. In view of the heavy run of cattle offering, the regular buyers for the large packing houses started in on the assumption that a lowering of prices was due. In this move, however, they met with a stubborn resistance, and pending a settlement of the point trading was for a time slow. There were a number of loads of export cattle of very fine quality in the market, and these proved a temptation to one or two buyers who were anxious to secure them. Operations, therefore, opened and soon trade began to move more briskly. Prices proved to be steady and fully maintained at former levels, with an advance of from 10c to 15c on the choicest lots. The top price for a part load of extra steers shipped in by Richard Madden was $7.25. The general run of prices for export was from $6 80 to $7 15; medium export, $6 60 to $6 70. Butcher cattle—Choice firm at $5 75 to $6 75; butchers' cows firm at $4 65 to $5; common, $4 30 to $4 50. stockers, choice steady at $4 75 to $5. Milch cows dull at $25 to $45 each. Sheep steady at $4 25 to $4 50; heavy ewes, $3 50 to $4 25. Hogs firm and unchanged at $9 15 f.o.b., and $9 40 to $9 50, fed and watered at Toronto.

NO FREIGHT MOVING TODAY

to behave ourselves during the strike," said a striker today. "A special order asked that there be no violence of any kind, as there was nothing to be gained by that sort of thing. The men, I believe, will stand by that, too, whether they win or lose."

MONEY HANDED BACK.

During the morning a large number of people who had purchased tickets for the early morning trains up the Bruce and to the Falls, called at the depot and received their money back. It is stated that the C. P. R. are bringing special engines and equipment to this division in order to handle traffic that the G. T. R. cannot accept.

Meetings of the strikers will be held every day.

Conductor Wm. Durkin, who represented the local men at the conference, is in St. Thomas, and the men are waiting for him to return to get his report of what was done at the last conference.

A meeting will be held this afternoon, but as far as could be learned there was nothing particular to come up.

ANXIOUS FOR A SETTLEMENT.

Merchants and businessmen throughout the city are unanimous in the hope that the strike will be settled speedily. Besides the annoyance and inconvenience to general shipping, it means a great loss in many other ways. At a meeting of the manufacturers' committee to be held this afternoon, the strike will come up for discussion.

The carshops employees were conspicuous about the city today. Five hundred of them are out of work pending the settlement.

The pay car was expected in last night, but did not arrive. The men are expecting it tonight, and there is a good deal of speculation among them as to when they will draw their next checks after their receive their pay up to date.

A DARING ATTEMPT TO STEAL A HORSE

Valuable Animal Removed From a Car in G. T. R. Yards.

One of the most daring horse thefts ever perpetrated in the city, took place between 9 and 10 o'clock last night in the Grand Trunk yards, when a black gelding belonging to Dr. Routledge, of Lambeth, and valued at $500, was taken from a car. No trace whatever of it has been found so far, although it is stated that the railway officials believe the horse was taken out while the car was in a siding between Waterloo and Colborne streets. The animal was going to Orillia, and had been in the stables of Mr. Cook, of the King Edward Hotel, all day. It was loaded on at the Wellington street chutes at 9 o'clock. When Mr. Cook heard that the men were going out on strike, he notified the officials to have the car brought back, as he had called up Dr. Routledge and decided not to ship the horse. When the car was brought back it was discovered that the horse was missing.

NEW CREWS WILL BE PUT TO WORK

Grand Trunk, It Is Said, Have Men to Take Strikers' Places.

STRIKE DECIDED SUNDAY

Several Men Have Been Sworn in as Special Constables Under Mr. Robert Logan, G. T. R. Constable.

A number of engine crews, some of them residing in this city, others in Hamilton and Windsor are out of employment this morning. The engines are in readiness, and numerous trains are to be taken out, but no trainmen can be secured.

It is alleged that a number of men were imported this morning from Toronto, and that they will be put to work this evening. Several cars of live stock are waiting to be shipped in different parts of the district. Two cars are at Thorndale, according to reports, but will have to be unloaded and fed at the expense of the company until traffic is resumed.

The Car Works.

The car shops here have been closed, but as business picks up again, the men will be taken on a few at a time until things are running as usual again. When the 428 employees of the shops arrived this morning they were told that any who could qualify could secure positions as baggagemen, brakesmen and conductors, by applying at the office of the assistant superintendent at the city station. A large number took advantage of this offer, it is said.

But two men, both conductors, failed to go out on strike with the local men.

Several who were dismissed from the service a couple of years ago, and others who were pensioned recently, are working again, having been assured, the strikers allege, that the age limit or anything else would not interfere with them in the future.

Two conductors have been made trainmasters today. They are now running on passenger trains, but will be located later, according to the story.

Several men have been sworn in as special constables under Constable Logan, and are now on duty in different parts of the city. The gates at the car shops have been nailed up, and a couple of the constables are on the ground at all times.

Decided on Sunday.

A story is current that the strike was decided on Sunday morning, when the men's delegates returned from Montreal. The notices said in a very mysterious way that something would happen unless something else happened.

The men did not hear of the "something else" happening, so all prepared for the strike at 9:30 last night. Trainmen who were out on the road remained on duty until they reached their terminals, while the yardmen left their engines any place they happened to be.

Groups of the men were scattered along the crossings in the East End this morning, and lined up to see who was in charge of the different trains as they passed through. A number of very obliging engineers slowed down to assist such groups, but the majority of the men remained in the cars to the end of the run.

Many people appear to be of the opinion that the switchtenders and watchmen on duty in the yards at present are strikebreakers.

They are not organized in any way, and have nothing to do with the troubles of the trainmen.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN NEUTRAL IN STRIKE

They Belong to Separate Unions—Some of Telegraphers Not Pleased With Action of Their Chiefs.

The action of the representatives of the telegraph operators on the Grand Trunk in agreeing to accept any award made by the board of conciliation, thus putting the matter to arbitration for the third time within a few months, is variously viewed by railway employees.

There is now no likelihood of a strike by the telegraphers, but it is reported if the award does not give the men what they consider a "square deal," the operators' union will be a thing of the past within a very short time.

All kinds of complaints are being levelled against the heads of the organization by operators who allege that they have no protection.

Engineers Are Neutral.

The engineers, who belong to a distinctly separate union from the trainmen, are keeping out of the trouble, and will probably remain neutral until the finish.

The schedule of wages for the engineers and firemen stands until Oct. 1 under the present agreement, and although the men could go out if they so desired, there is little possibility that any move will be made.

In case of a strike of the telegraphers, inside of 24 hours, it is said, telephones could be installed along the line for the dispatching of trains, and messages could be transmitted by the office boys.

This morning 25 engines were in the stalls at the roundhouse here. Usually a half a dozen locomotives are in the shops at a time, but all freight traffic and much of the passenger business cannot as yet be handled.

BRAKESMANN'S MOTHER FOILS ATTACKERS

Flint Crowd Rushed To Take Him From His Train.

Flint, Mich., July 19.—The brakesman on a westbound Grand Trunk train which passed through Flint shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, was attacked by strikers here. They threatened taking him off the train, and rushed the car he was on. Just as they were mounting the steps, a woman, who said she was his mother, stepped on to the platform and shouted that before they could touch her son they must deal with her. The strikers were somewhat abashed, and before they could decide upon further action the train pulled out. When it left the station the woman stepped off and walked down the street.

LONDON MEN ARE MADE TRAINMASTERS

G. T. R. Announces a List of Recent Promotions.

Superintendent U. E. Gillen, of the Grand Trunk, announced that a number of new assistant trainmasters were appointed yesterday on the middle division.

Three London men, Alex. Muir, W. White and F. A. Rutherford, are included in the list of appointments. The new officials are: W. Jackson, Sarnia; A. Muir, London; George Cooper, Hamilton; R. Bennett, Hamilton; W. White, London; J. H. Gordon, formerly of this city, and now of Toronto, and F. A. Rutherford, London, and will be stationed on the 16th, 17th and 24th districts; W. Hall, Sarnia; T. Wheatley, Toronto; W. R. Kloephel, Toronto; G. Black, Stratford; R. Fish, Toronto, at present locomotive inspector in this district; G. H. Brown, Stratford, and D. W. Hayes, Guelph, are appointed assistant trainmasters on the 15th and 21st districts.

James Lavelle, of Stratford, and R. Shea, of Palmerston, will be on the 22nd and 23rd districts in the same capacity.

SCRATCH CREWS

bound for St. Louis, which arrived at 2 o'clock this morning from the east, did not get away for nearly seven hours. Other trains were delayed, but not so seriously.

John J. Messman, general agent for the Wabash along the Niagara frontier, today said: "The strike on the Wabash is the result of the Grand Trunk strike, and we were powerless to prevent it.

"On its line from Buffalo to Windsor the Wabash is operated in connection with the Grand Trunk, and we are bound by the Grand Trunk agreements, so there was no choice about the strike. Some of our trains have been delayed, but only at this end, and we expect no serious trouble. So far we have been able to operate all trains with our own men.

On Central Vermont.

White River Junction, Vt., July 19.—Manned by crews of strikebreakers, two trains on the Grand Trunk Railroad, whose conductors and trainmen struck last night, left here on scheduled time early today. The first train to pull out of the station this morning was the 12:45 express to Montreal, while the other train was the 8 a.m. local for St. Albans. There were no demonstrations when the trains left the station

Scratch Crews.

Stratford, July 19.—The big G. T. R. shops here are closed down, and 800 or more men are temporarily out of employment. All scheduled passenger trains have been moved so far with scratch crews, but they are carrying very few passengers. No freight is moving except that nearly all passenger trains carry refrigerator cars with perishable goods. In some cases the railway company are refusing to issue tickets, not being able to guarantee that passengers will get through. The company are advertising for men and have succeeded in some cases in enlisting ex-employees to man the trains.

Gloom at Belleville.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Belleville, July 19.—This city is despondent over the G. T. R. strike. The Masonic Grand Lodge meets here tomorrow, and the G. T. R. is the only line connecting with the city. The old boys' reunion is dated for the end of the week. The city is being decorated but it is doubtful if many will attempt the trip under the circumstances. Two hundred men are idle.

Serious at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 19.—The most serious result of the G. T. R. strike in Ottawa was the closing down this morning of the big J. R. Booth lumber mills at the Chaudiere, thus throwing out of work upwards of 2,000 men.

The lumber cut at the mills is moved by G. T. R. shunting trains every night to the yards outside the city, but this could not be done last night and today, consequently the mill yards are congested with upwards of a million feet of fresh cut lumber waiting removal.

J. R. Booth stated today that the mills would remain closed as long as the strike lasted.

There are about 50 conductors and trainmen out here and the situation is quiet.

Rifles at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., July 19.—Orders were received this morning to close down the Grand Trunk shops, throwing 650 men out of employment. Outgoing trains were late in departing. The local depot is being guarded by eight men armed with rifles, but so far no signs of disturbance have been seen.

Detroit, Mich., July 19.—It is estimated that 300 men are out on strike in Detroit on the Grand Trunk. Passenger service is being continued and the mails have not been delayed, but freight is tied up on all of the local Grand Trunk lines.

The strikebreakers are quartered at the Wabash Hotel opposite the depot, and the strikers have made their headquarters in front of the city hall, only a few blocks away. It is feared the proximity of the two factions may lead to trouble, and a squad of police is being held in reserve at police headquarters.

FRENZIED COTTON MARKET.

New York, July 18.—There was plenty of excitement and some frenzied trading on the cotton exchange today with the bull element retaining its control of the market. July was up 11 points, August 17, and October 13. Plenty of buying orders were in sight. The announcement that the south was being "combed" of spot cotton, which was being rushed to the local market on special trains, had a disquieting effect in certain quarters, but it was generally accepted that there would be little falling off in prices of the staple for some time to come.

The excitement was maintained during the entire morning session.

Size of the Loaf.

It looks as though 24-ounce loaves at 6 cents would be the ultimate solution of the bread problem in London. Mayor Beattie stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that he understood that this was what most of the bakers intended doing. A number of bakers have already ordered the new-sized pans, and will turn out the 24-ounce loaves. They will also make the 16-ounce loaves to sell at 5 cents. Flour has been going steadily up, and bakers say that there is absolutely no chance of them making a 24-ounce loaf for five cents.

WHAT MEN LIKE.

A bright woman writes and asks if we will tell her what are some of the principal qualities in women which most attract men. We think the word attract is not correctly used by our correspondent. If she will allow us to say so, for often the things in women that attract men are possessions of doubtful value in any woman.

What attracts a man is one thing; what will hold him and command his respect is quite another.

A woman's smile, for example, attracts a man, but an even temper retains him.

A pretty gown, attracts a man; the knowledge that it was inexpensive delights him.

A pleasant manner attracts man; brightness of brain holds him.

A respect for the religious belief of every human being attracts a man; irreverence in woman is to him abominable.

A consideration for his comfort attracts a man; a combination of this makes him your most humble slave, says Woman's Life.

A chat in which there is no malice attracts a man; neither scandal nor evil speaking makes a woman seem sweet and lovely to him.—Montreal Star.
