FRANTIC MOTHER THINKS WHITE SLAVERS HAVE SPIRITED AWAY HER DAUGHTER, 22 YEARS OF AGE

Pretty May Murphy Left Hom e at Dawn Friday and Has Not Been Heard of Since —Man and Woman Are Both Su spected.

Pretty May Murphy, the 22-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, 413 English street, crept quietly out of bed between 4 and 5 o'clock last Friday morning, dressed herself and as quietly disappeared. She has not been seen since by her frantic parents, who have put the matter in the hands of the police. Detective Thomas Nickle is investigating.

Mrs. Murphy was almost distracted when intervtewed by The Advertiser this morning: "It is my opinion that she has been spirited away out of the city by some person or persons," said Mrs. Murphy. "I am convinced that some white slavers have been after my May, and that she has been taken out of the city by them. I would sooner that she die than have anything to do with such people. If my mother in Ireland knew about it, it would kill her for May was her favorite granddaughter.

Possibly a Woman.

"It might be a woman that took her," continued the frantic mother, "for lately I have heard her speak about a woman and a house where she went for tea, where there was music and dancing.

"One night recently on the street car the conductor was laughing and carrying on with her until I asked him to stop. May is a pretty girl, and innocent enough to go with any person that asked her. She has not been quite well mentally, and I am so afraid that she has been taken advantage of."

Man, Too.

Mrs. Murphy also has an idea that a man wearing an Imperial army decoration and speaking with a Scotch accent may be involved in her daughter's disappearance. Last Wednesday night this man came to the Murphy house and asked if May Murphy lived there. On being informed that she did, he stated that he had sent her out for some biscuits and that she had not returned. He stated that Miss Murphy had dined that evening with himself and mother at 40 St. Patrick street. (There is no such number). He gave a name that Mrs. Murphy could not remember. She told him that he was not to dare to speak to her daughter again, because she was a married woman.

Mrs. Murphy told The Advertiser that her daughter had been married to a W. O. 1. soldier two years ago last Christmas, and that he not only deserted from the army, but left his wife as well. She does not think that the husband has returned to claim his wife, for she is of the opinion that he would be afraid to return to Canada.

Thursday Night.

Thursday night the young girl returned home at 10 o'clock after spending the evening down town. She told her sister that she had secured a job washing and ironing for a woman, but refused to divulge her employers. It is just possible that May is working in the city and has neglected to come home. However, her mother does not hold with this view, stating that her daughter was always more or less of a home girl, and would not think of staying away for any length of time.

When the girl arose at dawn Friday she was careful not to disturb the slumbers of her sister, who occupied a bed with her. She packed several dresses in her suitcase and dressed in her dark winter coat, trimmed with black velvet, a grey hat with rose colored ribbon trimmings, and wore either a blue or raw silk dress. Miss Murphy had on black high boots.

She has a pale complexion, light brown hair, dark blue eyes, and is about five feet five inches in height. She had not been at work for several weeks, having hurt her finger.

Farewell Note.

Mrs. Murphy stated that her daughter had left a note of farewell, but that none of the family had been able to decipher it.

Mr. Murphy, who has been in the army since he was 17 years of age, is seriously ill at home. His nerves were shattered in the great war, and he is heartbroken at his daughter's disappearance.

That the Murphys are having more than their share of trouble is borne out by the fact that one of Mrs. Murphy's close relatives, Chief of Police Dennis Moreney of Londonderry, Ireland, was shot and killed a week ago by Sinn Feiners.

The family has lived in London for the past eight years. May was the eldest daughter.

MISSING SINCE FRIDAY

MAY MURPHY, age 22, who is being sought by her parents, who will be grateful for any information regarding her whereabouts.

LABOR PARTY TO IGNORE DEBATE ON HOME RULE

Will Vote Against First Clause and Take No Further Part.

TWO IRISH SENATES

Lloyd George Government To Introduce Plan For Upper Chamber.

London, May 18.—The home rule debate in the House of Commons today had two important results—first, the Government's concession of two senates respectively, and, second, the decision of the Labor party announced by John Robert Clynes, to vote against the first clause of the bill, and thereafter to take no part in the discussions, following the example of the Nationalists, and to a certain extent, of the free Liberals. Henceforth, therefore, the bill will meet with serious opposition only from the Government side of the House.

Voiced Preference.

Many of the members had voiced their preference for one or two senates, instead of the proposed central council and the discussion of the amendment proposing two senates gave the Government the opportunity desired. Walter Hume Long, first lord of the admiralty, and member of the cabinet committee of Ireland, explained that the Government was aiming at the creation of a federal system for Great Britain and Ireland as the best security for the minorities with the Central Parliament at London, but had not yet decided whether the senates would be nominative or elective. He, therefore, proposed and recommended that the amendment under discussion should be withdrawn and the Government would introduce its own plan later. This course was adopted.

It was during this discussion that Major-General Seely expressed the hope that Mr. Long's plan would not involve delay in the bill, which might be fatal to British relations, not only with the United States, but with the British Dominions.

Exclusion of Ulster.

Another amendment, moved by Lord Robert Cecil, proposed the exclusion of Ulster altogether from the bill, so that it could remain part of the United Kingdom. The Government opposed the amendment, which was strongly supported by Sir Edward Carson, who, mentioning the possibility of Sinn Fein Ireland attacking Ulster, appealed to the Government to consider even at this late date whether the proper course would not be to allow Ulster to be governed from England so that in the case of certain eventualities England would have "a jumping-off place." This amendment was rejected, 204 to 80.

Mr. Clynes' motion to eliminate clause 18, which is an essential part of the bill, was rejected 213 to 61, the majority comprising Laborites, Independent Liberals and a few Unionists. Mr. Clynes explained that the Labor party's resolve not to participate further in the debate did not have as its motive a desire to embarrass the Government, but was due to conviction of the utter helplessness of this bill solving the Irish problem.

VIGOROUS PROTESTS AGAINST NEW TAX PROPOSALS; PROFITEERS ARE LET DOWN EASY, BUT MASSES PAY

Finance Minister's Budget Pla ns Condemned by Many Leading Canadian Journals— Tax On Luxuries in Many Instances Is Really Tax On Necessities—Means Another Jump in Already High Co st of Living—Overburdened Consumer Is One Hardes t Hit.

Brantford, May 19.—The Expositor says: "The overburdened consumer in Canada is not to find any hope of relief in the latest tax proposals of the finance minister. The excise tax to the purchaser on boots, shoes and clothes must add considerably to the cost of living for the great majority of the Canadians who are only promised 'some time in the future' a revision of the tariff, but not until after a thorough inquiry has been made. The avowed purpose of the excise tax on clothes selling above a fixed price is to curb the tendency towards extravagance which is all too prevalent in this country at the present time, but, when the maximum exemption on shoes is placed at $9 and on suits at $45, the "luxury" tax really becomes a tax on 'necessities,' since it is only too well known how difficult it is to buy these articles below the prices fixed by the Government.

Taxes, however, are never popular, and it is quite impossible to conceive a scheme of raising the country's money that would meet with general approval. Canada has a big burden to shoulder, and every Canadian is willing to bear a fair share of the load, but Sir Henry Drayton seems to have failed to grasp the present critical situation from the consumer's standpoint.

BURDENS THE POOR.

Calgary, May 19.—The Albertan says: "The budget is chiefly remarkable for what it does not contain. The announcement regarding tariff revision while vague, leaves no room for hope of drastic action such as the country demands. The luxury tax is a misnomer, as the list includes mainly ordinary wearing apparel. It cannot have the effect of bringing down prices apparently, and is in reality a cost of living tax which will hit hardest families of constricted income. The effect it may have in fomenting campaigns for salary increases and permitting union organizations among professional and middle class people may be greater than any of us imagine.

"The budget ignores war profits of all kinds, succession duties, etc., and is an audacious attempt to pile the national debt directly onto the poorer people. The moment is opportune for a 10 per cent increase in the cost of living. The budget is trifling, reactionary and exasperating.

PROFITEERS ESCAPE.

Hamilton, May 19.—The Times says: "There is nothing in the budget speech to allay the unrest of the country. Instead, the situation has been created that will accentuate the financial and industrial trouble. The ultimate consumer will have to meet the extra taxation. Of course, we know that no tax can be made popular, and we know also that we have a huge debt that must be paid off some time, but the burden of the taxation has been thrown on the people at large and the taxation that touches those higher up has been reduced instead of increased. No attempt has been made to get at war profiteers."

DEFENDS LUXURY TAX.

Ottawa, May 19.—Ottawa Journal: These new taxes have three supreme merits. They fall upon the shoulders of those best able to bear them; they discourage a reckless spirit of extravagance; and, by checking expenditure upon luxuries they incidentally tend to help adjust our adverse of trade for importation of luxuries is largely re-

PLANS TO BE RUSHED FOR NEW CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Architects Have Received Inst ructions — Financial Returns Have Been Encouraging.

It was announced here today that Watt & Blackwell of this city have been appointed architects for the new Children's Hospital, and have received orders to rush the plans. The new building will be erected on the north side of Ottaway avenue, near Colborne, east of the new Western University Medical School, and opposite Victoria Hospital.

Financiay returns have been encouraging in connection with various campaigns for funds to erect the kiddies' hospital, and it is likely that final arrangements for building to commence will be made as soon as the plans are prepared.

PEOPLE WILL BUY NO MATTER WHAT TAX IS, STATE BUSINESSMEN

London Merchants Take Different Views On Budget Proposals.

MAKE PEOPLE THINK

Some Merchant Tailors Declare Tax Will Kill Their Business.

"The penalty for extravagance," was Philip Pocock's incisive comment on the budget announcement.

"Whose extravagance?"

"Largely the Government's extravagance."

"Who will pay?"

"Largely, the consumer," said Mr. Pocock.

"Rotten!" said Frank Windsor, manager of Nordheimer Piano Company's local branch. "Music has become a necessity to everybody. The idea of making a workingman pay 20 cents to the Government for the privilege of buying a $1 gramophone record is intolerably unjust."

"They couldn't touch tobacco with any more tax or they would have killed the trade entirely," said W. J. Clark. "Any more acise tax and duty on raw leaf would have closed the small factories entirely and kept the big ones humping to keep their doors open. So they've put the extra tax on pipes and cigarette holders. But not more than ten or fifteen per cent of our patrons buy pipes over $2.50, so it won't be too bad. Playing cards are hit most. Here's a set selling for 50 cents. Eight cents of that is war tax. With the tax increased 50 cents, the selling price will be 92 cents."

Will Make Them Think.

Another tobacconist admitted that the tax on expensive pipes would be a mighty good thing. It would make the man think who has never thought before. Now, when a near capitalist comes in to purchase a seven-dollar smokestack, and is asked $1.40 more for the Government, he's likely to begin thinking seriously about taxes and governments, and he'll take the trouble to ask himself whether the Government really

REPORT OF COMMISSION SHOWS STREET RAILWAY REVENUE DOES NOT JUSTIFY A WAGE INCREASE

City Council Will Meet Tonight To Discuss Board's Findings —Comprehensive Sta tement On the Road's Condition Made.

Present street railway fares will not produce sufficient revenue to operate the railway and pay an increase in wages to the employees, even if no provision is made for dividends or depreciation.

This is the main feature of the report of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board handed to Mayor Little at noon today. A special meeting of the city council has been called at 8 o'clock tonight to consider it.

"If railway operation is to be carried on, it is absolutely necessary to procure additional revenue," the report states. "The board cannot operate at a loss, as there is no fund available to which it can resort to meet losses in operation. In the view of the board, there is only one possible source of additional revenue, and that is by way of an increase in fares. It seems to the board that the question of a new wage scale and the question of increased fares are so interdependent that the duty of determining by negotiation with the company's employees the minimum demands of the latter, as well as of making such alterations in the agreement in respect of fares as may be necessary to provide additional revenue, and insure the continued operation of the railway, falls upon the municipal council of the corporation of London as one of the original parties to the agreement.

"The board has arranged with the employees of the company to continue until the 29th day of May, 1920, the operation of the railway under the above interim arrangement in order that the municipal council may enter upon and complete negotiations with the company's employees looking to the settlement of a permanent scale of wages, and may pass the necessary bylaw to authorize the permanent operation of the railway under the new fare conditions.

"The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board has no power to increase the fares or otherwise modify or change the agreement between the City of London and the London Street Railway Company. A recent decision of the appellate division of the supreme court for Ontario indicates that the municipal council of the city of London has the power to increase the fares, but such increase is limited by the Ontario railway act to an amount not exceeding 5 cents per passenger.

"The board engaged Messrs. Falls, Scott & Co., accountants, of Windsor, Ont., to examine the company's books and vouchers, and the result of their examination is set out in the accompanying report. A perusal of this report clearly establishes the following conclusions:

"1. That the present fares will not produce sufficient revenue to operate the railway and pay any increase in wages to the employees, even if no provision is made for dividends or depreciation.

"2. That of the $637,480 capital stock now outstanding, $578,640 was paid for in cash, and $58,840 was paid as stock dividends properly declared out of earnings. The average yearly dividends of the shareholders for the 25-year period has been 4.82 per cent, which was paid, 4.54 per cent in cash and .28 per cent paid in stock dividends. Since December 31, 1915, the total amount of cash dividends declared was $17,180.40. No dividends were declared in the years 1918 and 1919.

"3. As will be seen from the comparative statement of working capital, the financial position of the company as of December 31, 1918, shows a deficit of $48,268.30, and as of December 31, 1919, shows a deficit of $33,179.38.

According to the auditors' report attached to that of the railway board, a straight five-cent fare will yield an increase in income of only $166,190. This would be sufficient to grant an increase in wages of 16 cents an hour, and bonded indebtedness of $36,000. If provision for paving costing $55,000 is made it will yield an increase in wages of only 9.50 cents per hour. The men are asking an increase of 25 cents.

Gross earnings from operation in 1918 were: Passenger, $450,183; miscellaneous, $6,172; total, $456,355, compared to gross earnings in 1919 of: Passenger, $525,798, and miscellaneous, $6,671, totalling $532,469. This is an increase in 1919 of $75,615 in passenger earnings and $498 in miscellaneous earnings.

From these amounts must be deducted operating expenses. In 1918, these were: Material, $120,364, or 26.38 per cent of the gross earnings; wages, $235,123, or 51.52 per cent of the gross earnings. In 1919, the operating expenses were: Material, $131,935, or 27.78 per cent of earnings, and wages, $300,670, or 56.47 per cent. This shows an increase of $11,570 in material and $65,546 in wages.

PROHIBITION IS NO JOKE IN U. S., SAYS SIR HENRY PELLATT

Famous Torontonian Declares Officials Entirely Too Ardent.

SEARCHED EVERYTHING

Experience Is Described in a Letter to New York Sun.

New York, May 19.—Sir Henry Pellatt and Gordon Perry of Toronto, while on a recent trip to New York, were given a personal demonstration of the enthusiasm displayed by some United States officers in the enforcement of prohibition. The experience is described in a letter from Sir Henry printed in this morning's issue of the Sun.

Sir Henry declares that the incident convinced him that prohibition in the United States is bringing about "a condition of things in which the old-time name of 'land of liberty' becomes little more than a joke."

"It involves an intrusion upon ordinary individual rights," Sir Henry continues, "that is contrary to the simplest principles of British liberty. No man is my longer free to arrange his own life is he likes. His going and coming are watched by a horde of spies and informers. The ordinary peaceful traveler is treated as if he were a criminal."

Sir Henry thus describes his experiences with the United States officials:

"When we came to the American border, in walked a customs inspector. He first went through our valises, then our overcoats that were hanging on the pegs. Then each of us in turn had to get up so that he might lift up the seats and look underneath among the pillows, etc.

"He then took the sofa seat off and made a thorough examination of the cushions. After this he went into the washroom and looked around, even taking the top off the ice tin. I truly believe that the only place he did not look was down our throats!"

SHORTHORN PRIZE-WINNER.

Montreal, May 19.—"Monvic Mollie," a Shorthorn cow, owned by T. B. Macaulay, who couples pony breeding with general farming at Hudson Heights, has broken the Canadian record for the Shorthorn breed. "Monvic Mollie," in a Government test of one year, gave 16,815 pounds of milk, with 711 pounds of fat, or 4.23 per cent of butter fat.

She comes of a good milking strain of Shorthorns, and her sire was bred from heavy milkers on both sides.

Six Shiploads Of Sugar For St. John's Plant

Supply Is Expected at Atlantic Port Soon.

St. John, N. B., May 19.—Six ships laden with sugar, which will relieve the Dominion's near famine in this commodity, are now en route from Cuba to this port, harbor officials stated today. The boats were held up in Cuba by strikes. More are to follow them. So great is the quantity of sugar to be laid down here in a few days that the local refinery has chartered a portion of the extensive government sheds to store it.

NO FOUNDATION FOR COMPLAINTS, REPORTS JUDGE

Judge Macbeth Completely Exonerates Hospital Staff.

Toronto, May 19. — Judge Talbot Macbeth of London, in his report to Hon. C. S. Nixon, provincial secretary, completely exonerates the superintendent and staff of the Ontario Hospital for Insane at London of every charge laid against them. Harry Lawder entered a long list of complaints, including wholesale theft, brutality to patients and general maladministration.

Judge Macbeth failed to find any ground for the charges.

VESSEL OWNERS POOL EQUIPMENT IN PLAN TO OVERCOME TIE-UP

Arrangement Is Made At the Request of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 19.—At a meeting yesterday of representatives of 75 coal companies, members of the ore and coal exchange, lake coal shippers pooled all their coal and ore equipment to overcome the freight tleup caused by the strike of railroad switchmen.

Under the terms of the pool, formed at the request of the inter-state commerce commission, in a telegram to the ore and coal exchange, the war organization of 1918 will be revived to move coal and vessels as needed.

ADVENTISTS LIKELY TO GAIN GOVERNMENT SANCTION TO UNION

Ottawa, May 19.—Canadian Press.—The move to incorporate the Western Canadian Union Corporation of Seventh Day Adventists is again before the private bills committee of the Commons today. It was explained that the objection arising from the fact that there was not a majority of British subjects among the incorporators, had now been overcome.

Several members of the committee urged that every precaution should be taken to prevent desecration of the Sabbath day, it being charged that some religious sects had caused the breaking up of families by fixing their own Sabbath day. It was pointed out, however, that all persons were amenable to the law in respect to Sabbath observance.

Kills Himself Over Graves Of Victims

Grenville Alleged Murderer Commits Suicide.

Grenville, Ill., May 19.—After hiding in a woods five days and nights while posses hunted him on charges of having murdered his wife and two boy babies, Harley O. Beasley, 25 years of age, went to the graves of his alleged victims yesterday and committed suicide, by firing a bullet through his brain.

SAYS FRICTION IS CREATED BY STUPID JOKES

Sir John Foster Fraser Slams So-Called Patriotism.

New York, May 19.—Sir John Foster Fraser, special British parliamentary correspondent, speaking last night at the dinner of the national budget committee, said that one of the causes of friction between Great Britain and the United States is that they are always "making jokes about each other."

"It's just this way," said Sir John, "whenever you've got some stupid joke you fasten it on some Englishman. I really believe if humorists were asked to cease their calling the relations between the two nations would be more amiable.

"We hear so much talk about 100 per cent patriots these days. But to my mind this is made up as follows: Fifty per cent provincialism, 30 per cent offensive, 10 per cent ignorance, and the remaining 10 per cent represents the honest article."

CLOTHING PRICES ARE COMING DOWN

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—Silk shirts and suits for men are the first articles of clothing to suffer radical price reductions in Indianapolis, and several of the leading merchants of this city are offering men's furnishings today at from 20 to 30 per cent below former prces. The leading store at Terre Haute, Ind., is offering all men's and boys' garments and shoes at a reduction of 20 per cent.

CALMER METHODS BY ORGANIZED LABOR TO GAIN MEN'S LIBERTY

Reasonable Action Will Prove More Effective, Says Minister of Labor.

Winnipeg, May 19.—Speaking at a meeting of the trades and labor council last night, Ernest Robinson, secretary, stated that Hon. Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, had declared there was more chance of the convicted strike leaders being released as a result of calm, reasonable action on the part of organized labor than as a result of wild resolutions and threats.

Mr. Robinson said he could quite well imagine that this was a logical course for the government. He would make bold to say that in the event of any organization which had the law as it was behind it, being attacked, it, too, would prefer to wait till the storm had spent itself and the critics were in a mood for calm and quiet discussion. "If we can convince the labor movement," he added, "that protests and threats are of no avail, and that the issues raised by the strikers and prosecutions can best be settled by taking them up in a statesmanliko way, then I am sure the men would be released at an earlier date."

METHODIST MINISTERS ASK HIGHER SALARIES

Competent Men Will Not Enter Field Unless Demands Met.

Montreal, May 19.—The Methodist ministers of the Montreal district want higher salaries. At the annual meeting of the churches, held yesterday in St. James' Church, some red hot comments were made by the ministers on the low salaries they are receiving now, and it was predicted by some that unless money was paid for church service there would be a great dearth of competent men for the pulpit soon. The result of the keen discussion was the adoption of a resolution to be sent to the conference declaring that in their view all Methodist ministers should have a salary of $1,500 annually at the lowest, with parsonage and horse provided.

BRITISH LABOR MEN ACCUSE GOVERNMENT OF VIOLATING PLEDGE

Claim Britain Helped Poles in Offensive Against Russian Reds.

DELEGATION WELCOMED

English Trade Unionists Arrive in Moscow.

London, May 19.—Definition of the Polish attack on Bolshevik Russia, and what is claimed to be Great Britain's complicity in that offensive is contained in a manifesto issued here by a number of Labor leaders, including John Robert Clynes, William Brace, and William Crooks, Laborite members of Parliament. The manifesto states that the attack of Poland on Soviet Russia means "a prolongation of war and chaos, the victory of secret diplomacy and the defeat of the League of Nations." The British Government is accused of violating its pledges by sending munitions to Poland."

ARRIVE IN MOSCOW.

Moscow, May 19.—An impressive popular demonstration greeted the English trade union delegation upon its arrival here at noon today.

Following addresses of welcome by the chairman of the Moscow soviet and the chairman of the All-Russian Federation of Trade Unions, the British delegates assured the representatives of Russian workers at the station that English workmen were opposed to the blockade of Russia, intervention in this country, and Polish aggression. They declared they would, upon their return to England, bring the pressure of organized labor to bear upon the British Government for the purpose of forcing a resumption of relations with Russia.

SAYS RECIPROCITY LAID THE FOUNDATION FOR SHORTAGE OF NEWSPRINT

St. Louis, Mo., May 19.——The foundation for the shortage of newsprint paper was laid when the reciprocity bill was put through with Canada, declared R. P. Andrews, of Washington, D. C., president of the National Paper Trade Association of the United States, in an address before the annual convention of the Wholesale Stationers' Association of the United States here today. Since that time, he said, there have been practically no newsprint paper mills built in the United States. He said that the United States Government always threatened paper mills in the United States with government control when they were about ready to operate, and consequently capitalists were somewhat reluctant about investing.

FAVOR $3.13 AS WHEAT PRICE.

Hutchinson, Kas., May 19.—A declaration that $3.13 a bushel should be the basic price for the 1920 wheat crop was adopted at a meeting here yesterday of the Wheat Growers' Association of the United States. The declaration was adopted after statistics had been presented to show that the average cost of production in the Middle Western States was $2.75 a bushel.

HIGHER SALARIES FOR METHODISTS

Clerical Association Talks Over Matter, But Comes To No Decision.

Though the matter of raising the minimum stipend of Methodist ministers in the London district to $1,500 from $1,200, was discussed at the London District Methodist annual meeting this morning, no motion was made concerning the matter. It was the view of laymen present that the minimum stipend should be raised, but there was a feeling evident among them that perhaps it should not be made $1,500. The question was laid aside for fuller discussion this afternoon.

In connection with the co-operation scheme planned between the rural Methodist and Presbyterian churches in the London district, which are not self-supporting, the majority of the clerics and a greater number of the laymen thought it quite an acceptable scheme, and advocated that it be carried out. Nothing definite was done in connection with this matter.

Reports of the various country circuits were given by the representatives from each circuit. The reports showed that the membership of the rural churches had increased by 224. Special mention was made of the Ridout Street Methodist Church report, which was an excellent one from every standpoint.

Rev. W. J. Ashton, chairman of the district, presided at the morning session.

CONCILIATION BOARD UPHOLDS EMPLOYEES IN THEIR DEMANDS

Award of Special Body Completed After Thorough Investigation.

St. Catharines, May 19.—The board of conciliation today handed its award on the questions under dispute between the employees and management of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway.

The award on all counts, with one exception, is in favor of the men. The board finds that Shopmen Carroll, Crosbie and Robinson are entitled to be paid from April 21 to April 30; that McGeachie is entitled to the back pay claimed; that Gordon is entitled to reinstatement from September 1, 1919, and wages from April 22, 1920. The board also finds that Swan was improperly discharged, and that he is entitled to the back pay claimed.

The board upholds the claim of the company that Reece was properly discharged and is not entitled to be taken back.

The appointment of the board, which served without remuneration, prevented a strike on the road at the last moment.

HALF-BROTHERS GET MONEY.

Toronto, May 19.—Ebenezer F. Rutherford, formerly of Toronto and Havana, who died in Los Angeles February 28, left $339,544, according to his will, which was probated today. By the will, Marjory Wilhemena Davis of Portland, Ore., receives a legacy of $10,000, and the residue is divided into nine parts, one for each of his nine half-brothers.

It was twenty minutes afterwards when the body was recovered. Miss Blair succeeded in reaching shallow water and was rescued.

DEEP WATERWAY WOULD BENEFIT FARMERS OF NORTHWESTERN STATES

Delegates From Dakota and Other Sections Present Views.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 19.—The proposed deep waterway to the Great Lakes through the St. Lawrence River would be of great benefit to the farming sections of the northwest through lower freight rates, the international joint waterways commission was told here today.

Delegates from various sections of North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota presented their views to the commission, which left for Regina, Sask., where a hearing will be held Thursday.

The general view expressed by those heard today was that the proposed channel would result in a material reduction of freight rates on wheat and other agricultural products shipped to the Eastern States and Europe, thus raising the price received by the farmers.

About 25 Per Cent of Increase On Theatres and Movie Houses.

EXEMPTIONS REMOVED

Charitable and Patriotic Affairs Will Be Included Under New Law.

Toronto, May 19.—Heavy increases in taxes on theatres and moving picture houses are announced in Hon. Peter Smith's changes to the theatre and cinematograph act. Altogether, the increased taxation will be about 25 per cent of the whole. Amusements generally come under the change and the exemptions from taxation which patriotic and charitable affairs have enjoyed will cease to exist on June 1.

In municipalities of over 10,000 theatres will pay a license fee of 25c a seat instead of 25c. Places of 5,000 to 10,000 pay 25c a seat instead of 5c. In places of 3,000 to 5,000 the tax will be 20c a seat instead of a flat rate fee of $75. Instead of $50 flat in towns of 1,500 to 3,000, the tax will be 15c a seat, while in municipalities beneath 1,500, where the rate has previously been fixed to meet individual cases, the tax will be 10c a seat.

Dance halls, ball parks and skating rinks in municipalities of 10,000 or over will be taxed $10 a year. Beneath 10,000 population the tax will be $3, where it was formerly a flat rate of $1.

Film exchanges will pay $400 for a license fee instead of $200, and $4 for the censorship of a reel instead of $2. Traveling movie shows will pay $300 license fee and $25 instead of $15 for the censorship of each reel. A permit for motor-driven picture machines will cost $5. Movie operators will have to pay $15 for examination and $5 for renewal of licenses. Traveling theatrical companies will pay $25 a year tax and traveling vaudeville companies will pay $1. Amusement tax tickets will have to be sold at each amusement place, whether it be theatre, ball park, rink or dance hall.

Spread Out Order To Beat Luxury Tax

One Way of Avoiding Extra Payment On Clothes.

Toronto, May 19.—Already the "wise ones" have discovered a way to beat the new luxury tax on a suit of clothes.

"You go to a tailor that you know, and you order a coat. Next day you go in and order a vest. Day after that you drop around and tell him to make you up a pair of pants. Three separate orders, and no tax on any one of them, as not one is up to $45, and there you are."

BOLSHEVIKI WIN SUCCESSES OVER POLES ALONG DVINA

London, May 19.—The Bolsheviki won important successes over the Poles in passing the Dvina River at Polotzk in the government of Vitebsk, according to an official statement sent out by the soviet government at Moscow today. The Poles were forced to withdraw, the statement adds, and the population received the Bolsheviki troops with enthusiasm.

REPORT OF COMMISSION SHOWS

Total operating expenses in 1918 were $355,488, and in 1919, $432,605, an increase of $77,117.

Net earnings from operations in 1918 were $100,867, and in 1919, $99,864, a decrease for that year of $1,003. Interest on funded and floating debt and taxes, amounting to $40,528, or 8.88 per cent of gross earnings, in 1918, and $39,541, or 7.43 per cent of gross earnings, is deducted from the net earnings. This leaves a net income before providing for depreciation and contingencies, of $60,399, or 13.22 per cent of gross earnings in 1918, and $60,322, or 1.33 per cent of gross earnings in 1919.

This is not a cash surplus available to meet the demands of the men for increased wages and to carry on the operations of the company as heretofore. The apparent surplus in each year, 1918 and 1919, is absorbed by unavoidable obligations, such as accounts and notes payable of the company. The true state of the company's affairs is shown under the heading of Working Capital, which shows a deficit of working capital in each of these years.

Earnings.

It will be noted that there was an increase in gross earnings in 1919 over 1918 of $76,113.86, accounted for by the fact that the company carried 1,300,000 more passengers and enjoyed increased fares from July 11, 1919, to October 28, 1919, amounting to $17,439.95. This increase in gross earnings was not sufficient to meet the increase in the cost of material used, $11,570.75, and additional wages paid, $65,546.48.

The passenger earnings would be considerably increased if the free transportation, which appears to be abused, were restricted.

The low-priced tickets unduly increase the operating expense for the following reasons:

1. These tickets are used at the congested traffic hours and, therefore, fix the peak load on which the cost of power is based.

2. These tickets are used at times which necessitate extra cars manned by tripper crews.

Expenditure.

The company has an excellent system for following the distribution of expenditure as between capital and income.

The distribution of interest on funded debt and taxes is as follows:

Interest on bonds, 1918, $28,438.72; 1919, $27,216.76.

Interest on floating debt, 1918, $3,335.36; 1919, $1,933.08.

Taxes (including war tax), 1918, $8,698.68; 1919, $10,391.61.

Miscellaneous, 1918, $56; 1919, nil.

Total, 1918, $40,528.75; 1919, $39,541.45.

The maintenance charges were lower in 1918 and 1919 than ordinarily for the reason that only repairs of an imperative nature were made.

The surplus as on December 31, 1919, was $307,469.72. This surplus has been used in the improvement of the road and equipment, and does not represent cash available for either working capital or dividends, and, as stated below, had depreciation sufficient to cover the ordinary wear and tear and obsolescence been written off, the surplus would, in our opinion, be absorbed. In fairness to the company, however, it should be stated that the railway act under which the company operates, does not say that depreciation must be provided for before dividends are declared; and, until recent years, it was not the practice for street railways to lay aside reserves for depreciation as such, but whether they did or did not, the depreciation is there, and it follows that this factor must be taken into consideration in determining financial position.

WORKING CAPITAL.

	1918.	1919.
Current Assets—
Cash	$ 4,967 40	$ 5,401 22
Accounts receivable	2,142 00	2,993 31
Advances to conductors	1,671 55	1,811 55
Inventories	31,132 32	29,068 58
Prepaid insurance	117 87	419 54
	$40,031 14	$39,694 20
Deduct: Current Liabilities—
Accounts payable	$22,275 99	$26,930 82
Notes payable	40,000 00	15,000 00
Wages due and unpaid	9,661 78	13,734 33
Outstanding tickets	16,361 67	17,208 43
	$88,299 44	$72,873 58
Balance—Deficit in working capital	$48,268 30	$33,179 38

The above figures make it quite clear that, unless the company finds some means of making good the deficiency in working capital it cannot carry on.

Paving.

The financial position of the company is such that they have no capital to do new paving as required under Bylaw No. 916. Unless the company can provide new capital to discharge its obligation to the city of London under the bylaw, its only recourse is to take funds from working capital which in turn must be augmented by surplus earnings over operating expenses.

Bylaw No. 916.

After a perusal of Bylaw No. 916, and an examination of the company's books, and taking into consideration the abnormal cost of operating in recent years, we are of the opinion that it is absolutely impossible for the company in its present financial position to fulfill the obligations required of it thereunder.

Fares.

We have made a calculation of the fares required to absorb the company's operating charges, the amount of the bond redemption and obligations under Bylaw No. 916, as follows:

Since the total hours of employment for the year 1919 were 784,355, it is evident that every cent increase in wages per hour during that year would have cost $7,843.55. For the sake of convenience let us divide the passengers (exclusive of cash fares and children) into two classes, those with unlimited tickets, of which there were 9,480,939 in 1919, as class (A), and those with limited tickets, of whom there were 1,383,709 in 1919, as class (B). Let us assume that the fares in effect in 1919 had been each one of the following:

	Class (A)	Class (B)
(a)	6 and	8 tickets for 25c
(b)	6 and	7 tickets for 25c
(c)	6 and	6 tickets for 25c
(d)	11 and	11 tickets for 25c
(e)	5 and	8 tickets for 25c
(f)	5 and	7 tickets for 25c
(g)	5 and	6 tickets for 25c
(h)	5 and	5 tickets for 25c

Then for the same number of passengers as traveled in 1919, the increase in income would be as shown in the following schedule for the various bases of fares. The schedule also shows the effect of the assumed increase in income if it is used to increase the wages classified under two heads, in one where provision is made for paying $55,000 for paving together with $36,000 for bonded indebtedness, and the other where the item of $36,000 only is taken, the paving item not being provided for.

The following schedule shows the increases in income which the foregoing classifications would provide. The second column shows the increase in cents in wages per hour that could be provided, making provision for $36,000 for bonded indebtedness. The third column shows the same except that provision is made for paving costing $55,000, in addition to the $36,000 for bonded indebtedness:

(a)	$ 61,238 85	3.22	*...
(b)	67,416 15	4.01	*...
(c)	75,652 54	5.06	*...
(d)	116,805 65	10.30	3.29
(e)	140,246 36	13.29	6.28
(f)	146,423 66	14.08	7.07
(g)	154,660 05	15.13	8.12
(h)	166,190 91	16.60	9.59

*Deficit.

It is to be noted that no account is taken in these calculations of such factors as reduction in the number of passengers through an increase in fares, or of the factor of increase in the population, etc.

The item of $55,000, on which the above calculations are based, represents the city engineer's estimates of the factor of increase in the population, etc.

The details are:

Excavation, at 90 cents per foot, single track	$ 4,752
Concrete, at $3.05 per foot, single track	16,104
Asphalt paving, at $2.09 per foot, single track	10,560
	$31,416
Rails, fastenings, etc., at $4.46 per foot, single track	23,584
	$55,000

If, therefore, more than one mile of paving and track is required in any one year, $55,000 for each additional mile will have to be provided.

Touching on the scope of the examination, the auditors state that they have made:

A careful examination of the capital stock account, the bond account and the dividend account of the company from the date of its organization in 1875.

A detailed examination of the voucher register, the cash book, the bank pass books and pay rolls for the two years ended December 31, 1919, and for three months period ended March 31, 1920, giving particular attention to the classification of wages and material as capital and maintenance expenditure respectively.

A more or less thorough examination of the statistical records prepared from time to time for the guidance of the board of directors of the company.

Condition of Books.

The condition of the company's books as to receipts and expenditures is satisfactory. All records have from the outset been audited by responsible men and we have no reason to doubt the mechanical accuracy of the bookkeeping. Within the last three years the accounting system has been brought into conformity with the Government standard for street railways, they add.

Financial Statements.

"The printed statements of the company in years previous to 1917 are faulty in construction and the custom of making a general profit and loss account serve the purpose of both a statement of earnings and income, and a statement of surplus would have the tendency to convey a total misconception of the actual state of affairs.

"The printed statements for the years ended in 1917 and 1918 are much better as a result of the improvement in the general accounting system. The statements for the years ended in 1918 and 1919, submitted with this report, show o different result of the company's operations, because we have, for reasons stated later, omitted the depreciation factor."

INCREASED FARES ONLY WAY OUT, SAYS MANAGER KING

Copies of the report of the railway board on the street car system are not yet in the hands of the majority of the city council, members of the company, employees and others interested, as it was issued too late for general distribution to be made.

Manager C. B. King of the street railway had not seen a copy of the report when interviewed by The Advertiser. When told that the railway board stated that operation on present fares was impossible and that an increase in wages could not be granted without an increase in fares, he expressed the opinion that the company's statements to this effect throughout the past year had been entirely vindicated. He did not wish to comment further on the report until he had had an opportunity to make a thorough examination of it.

Ald. O. I. Cunningham, chairman of No. 1 committee of the city council, had not received a copy of the report at a late hour this afternaan. When the general facts were stated to him he characterized the situation as somewhat "blacker" than expected.

"The agitators who prevented a small increase in fares last January have certainly got the city into a nice muddle," he said. "The company and the men were willling to operate for a year for six and eight tickets for a quarter. From what you tell me about the report it is evident that this will not be enough, and that we will be lucky if we get off with a straight 5-cent cash fare."

John Colbert, president of the employees' union, had not seen a copy of the report. He was asked if the men would continue to operate the road until the 29th of the month as stated by the railway board. He replied that they would remain at work until that date, provided the railway board remained in charge.

"If they give up control of the road the men will leave work also. They have promised to give us 24 hours' notice when they intend to leave."

BABY CLINICS CREATE INTEREST

Mothers Anxious To Have Doctors Examine Children.

That the baby clinics at the Technical School are creating a great deal of interest in the city was demonstrated again this morning, when from 125 to 150 more babies were registered and passed through the hands of the clinic doctors.

"The school has been literally swarming with babies during the past two days," said an enthusiastic worker. "Although there is some difficulty in getting mothers out to lectures, there is absolutely no difficulty in getting them to present their babies for examination, especially when there are prizes concerned."

NEW CONCILIATION BOARD FOR L. AND P.S.?

Rumor That London and St. Thomas Mayors, With Third Appointee, To Act.

With regard to the London and Port Stanley Railway employees' strike, a story emanating from St. Thomas railway circles is to the effect that a new conciliation board, composed of Mayor E. S. Little of this city, Mayor Brinkman of St. Thomas, and a third man to be appointed by them, is to be formed at once with a view to immediate adjustment of the wages in dispute at present. Mayor Brinkman of St. Thomas and Mayor Little were both present at the meeting held in the city hall here Tuesday night, when council members of the railway directorate endeavored in vain to bring the strikers and commission to an amicable agreement.

Mayor Brinkman was called upon by members of the commission to express his views to those present last night, but he declined to do so. As he is a prominent railway employee of St. Thomas it is probable that his post on a conciliation board would be favored by both factions in the strike, as would also that of Mayor Little.

When interviewed by The Advertiser this afternoon Mayor Little declared that he knew nothing of the above proposed arrangements, excepting what he had read in a Toronto paper regarding the rumor from the Railway City.

LANKA TEA 75C A POUND

By a mistake an insertion, appeared in this paper quoting the price of 70c per lb. instead of 75c per lb. for Lanka Tea, and any purchaser who noticed this price and raised the question with the retailer should be satisfied with this statement that the paper was responsible for the wrong price.

VIGOROUS PROTESTS

sponsible. They represented nothing else than the principle that taxation ought to be paid by wealth and prosperity, they would even then be greatly worth while. For the man or woman who in these days is in a position to purchase luxuries, thereby supplies prima facie evidence of capacity to pay more to the state."

TIME TO SETTLE BILL.

Vancouver, B. C., May 19.—Commenting on the budget, the Vancouver Sun says:

"The new budget will bring home to everyone the financial position of the country. We have got to settle down to the task of paying for the war. There is no escape from our obligations; hence a budget which six years ago would have seemed impossible if not suicidal."

HIT RICH AND POOR ALIKE.

Montreal, May 19.—The Gazette says: "We sometimes hear of systems of taxation which make the rich richer, and the poor poorer. The finance minister's proposals savor nothing of that kind. They make the rich poorer and permit the poor to escape. Indeed, there is a sop thrown to the poor in relieving from excise duty their popular source of entertainment, moving picture films. Perhaps, however, the most important of the new taxes is that imposed on all sales of manufacturers, wholesale dealers, jobbers and importers. The levy is only one per cent, but it is virtually applied to the whole mercantile business of Canada, with the exception of foodstuffs, coal, sugar and syrup and goods sold for export. That we believe to be a novel tax never before resorted to in any country. It is a tax that may involve as in the case of the luxury tax, a small army of officials and a vast mount of vigilance. Sir Henry Drayton makes no estimate of the amount of revenue expected to be derived, but it should be very large, falling as the tax does virtually upon the business turnover of the Dominion."

WILL HIT CUSTOMER.

Montreal, May 19.—Criticism of the Government is expressed by prominent businessmen here and considerable disappointment was felt that the business profits tax had not been abolished.

H. A. Ekers of Ekers Brewery was of opinion that the 30c tax applied to imported beer and not the home-brewed article. George G. Galea, boot manufacturer, thought that the tax on boots over $9 in price would simply be paid by the customer. Wm. M. Burks of the well-known jewelry firm, pointed out that the heavy taxes on articles of gold and jewelry generally was dangerous, as it would certainly affect legitimate users, but allow unscrupulous dealers to avoid it.

RICH WILL HOLD MONEY.

Toronto, May 19.—Toronto Globe: "The result of the reform of the excise taxation will be the retention in the pockets of many already rich beneficiaries of the tariff of large sums that should have been diverted to the public treasury."

SUPPORTS PROPOSALS.

Toronto, May 19.—Mail and Empire: The new taxation can hardly be described as of the painless variety. It will make the budget unpleasantly familiar to many people whose path it was never known to cross before. The new fiscal scheme is not got up for the purpose of humbugging taxes out of anybody, or for deceiving a population of Red Riding Hoods, but for the stern business of raising the wherewithal to pay off the debt on account of that other stern business into which the nation went without beguiling, the waging of the war.

PRODUCE AND ECONOMIZE.

Windsor, May 19.—The Border Cities Star (Independent) says editorially:

"Though there have been many forecasts that something in the way of a luxury tax would be imposed by Union Government this year, the country is bound to be surprised by some of the proposals brought forward by Sir Henry Drayton. With Sir Henry's claim that articles of luxury should be heavily taxed there will be general agreement. The question arises, however, as to what constitutes luxury.

"We must have revenue, and the taxation of luxuries can be defended for many reasons. The strongest criticism the Government is likely to hear, though, will be on its determination of the dividing line between necessity and luxury.

"The national debt is large, very large, and the country's requirements are many, but these facts need not cause pessimism when one considers our natural wealth. There is need now, though, for such production and economy as we have never known before."

PRINCIPLE IS APPROVED.

Hamilton, May 19.—The Spectator says: "The budget statement has its surprises, but will be received by the country, if not with approval, at least with philosophy. It is a candid statement of the existing situation, and an attempt is made to spread the sacrifices necessary to meet that situation as evenly as possible. Canada is carrying her burdens well and has no need to be appalled at their magnitude, great as it is. The principle underlying the budget is good—extravagance has simply got to be curbed."

TORONTO WOMAN HAS GAINED 30 POUNDS

Tried for Ten Years to Find Health Without Success—Troubles Overcome by Taking Tanlac.

"I have changed so much for the better that when my friends meet me on the street they don't know me, and no wonder, for I have gained thirty-five pounds in weight," was the remarkable statement made by Mrs. Davies of 55 Beaty avenue, Toronto, recently.

"I was a sick woman for ten years," she continued. "My ill-health was caused by overwork, and then a severe shock which shattered my nervous system, and I had a complete breakdown. I was in the hospital for a year, and when I came out I wasn't very much better. I had headaches that nearly drove me out of my mind, and all the sleep I ever got was after I was completely exhausted. I was as weak as a baby and went down from one hundred and thirty-eight pounds to a hundred and six. I was so pitiably pale and thin that you wouldn't have recognized me for the strong, healthy woman I used to be.

"It was my husband who persuaded me to give Tanlac a trial. He read of a case in the papers which almost described my own, and he was convinced that it would help me. That was just before Christmas, and that bottle of Tanlac was the best Christmas present I ever had, for it was the turning point of my illness. The first thing it did was to make me sleep better, and soon my appetite improved and I began to eat as I had not done for years. My whole condition steadily improved, and I gained in strength and weight rapidly. I now weigh one hundred and thirty-six pounds, so that I have gained thirty pounds, and really I feel fine. For ten years I have been trying to find something to restore my health, so you can imagine how thankful I am for what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

SETTLEMENT HOPED FOR IN L. AND P. S. STRIKE DISPUTE

Possibility of Increased Rates Is Discussed.

In the opinion of some of the members of the London and Port Stanley commission and of the officials of the employees' organization, something will be done by the commission to discover some way, in which increased revenue can be secured, so that the wage problem on the L. and P. S. R. may be amicably settled.

It was thought by one of the directors this morning, that the men must have misunderstood the proposed arrangement last night under which the men were to go back to work until some arrangement could be made. The commission, he said, would have done its best to find a way of increasing the wages by increasing the rates or by some other method. If the men were not satisfied with what was accomplished nothing could prevent them from stopping work again. The idea that they would be bound for a year if they went back was entirely erroneous in his opinion.

According to Philip Pocock the commission would undoubtedly strive hard to find a way to increase the revenue. Personally he was against any proposal to increase the excursion rates to Port Stanley as has been proposed. He did not believe that an increase of the fare from 50 to 75 cents would meet with a popular reception from the citizens.

"Every man of the union is determined to hold fast to gain what they believe is right," said an official of the union. It is for that reason the men did not go back to work this morning. He thought that the commission would find a way to meet the demands. He said that he would not be surprised if a settlement was reached by the end of the week.

A meeting of the men is to be held this afternoon, although nothing startling is expected to develop. The international representative of the union left for Hamilton at noon. The two-hour service is being operated on the road without interruptions.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

Picnic Will Be Held in July—Committees Appointed.

At an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of the members of St. Andrew's Society, held in the I. O. O. F. Hall, Tuesday night, it was decided to hold the annual picnic at Port Stanley in July. All natives of Scotia, whether members of the club or not, are invited to attend, the idea being to stage a bumper cotch picnic for the district. A. G. McCullough was elected convener of committees to make arrangements for the affair.

During the meeting Past President W. Forbes paid a tribute to the good work and ability of the late A. Fraser, a former president of the club, who died recently. As a mark of esteem, members of the club last night stood in silence for two minutes in memory of Mr. Fraser.

Following the meeting, a euchre drive was held. The following picnic committees were appointed: Transportation, Roland Munro, W. Forbes and Dr. M. C. Dewar; sports, Sergt.-Major T. MacDonald, J. Ferguson, J. McIntosh, R. Munro, W. Sangster, J. Rodgers, I. B. Ballantyne, A. Splers, R. A. Mercer and J. Haldane; advertising, J. Ferguson, J. Bell, R. Munro, G. W. Stark, I. B. Ballantyne, J. WOMEN ARE CARELESS

This has been proved over and over again during the war. They overestimate their physical strength and overtax it. Their ambition is commendable, but does not compensate for the hours and days of misery which they suffer from symptoms caused by female ills brought on by overwork.

Women who are weak, nervous, despondent, with headaches, backache and dragging-down pains should remember there is one tried and true remedy, that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, now recognized everywhere as the standard remedy for such ailments.

COMEDY SKITS FEATURE POLICE COURT SESSION

Police court's ringside attendance witnessed a number of bright comedy skits this morning.

Before the rooster ushered in the day, York street residents were awakened from their slumbers by noises not unlike those made by a circus assemblage hurrying to its camping grounds to get into place before the curious public was about. As many of the said residents had to go to work at an early hour, they called upon Carling street officials to put an end to the racket.

Sergt. William McCullough and P. C. Louis McCaughey hastened to the scene, and after entering a house charged John Flynn, the landlady, her husband, and Charles Teale with being disorderly.

Persian Cat, a Fighter.

Flynn was somewhat lacerated. He denied fighting, although the furniture was very much disarranged. His explanation of his wounds was novel, to say the least. He and a Persian cat had not been on unfriendly terms. The feline was upstairs and dared anyone to bring it down. Undaunted, the defendant advanced to the upper story. After successfully tying a string around kitty's neck, Flynn started to drag the animal downstairs. It came, but faster than he expected; in fact, it came with such speed that it walked right over him.

"It bit me just like a dog," said Flynn, "so I threw it against the wall. That's what upset the furniture and made all the noise."

The excuse failed to save him, adding $5 to the police sinking fund.

The other three persons had been comparatively quiet and were dismissed.

Flynn was next charged with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling.

He admitted that he had secured a prescription and with it had secured a bottle of gin. He was a boarder at the place of his arrest, but had a family in another part of the city. He was a wreck-handler on the railroad, and it was necessary for him to be within half an hour's walk from his work. He could not cover the distance from his family's residence in that time and so decided that it was better to be separated from his family than from his job.

His prescription called for a quart of whiskey. Court officials were interested to know how he could get gin for it. Even he could not explain this.

The landlady could, however. She had been given a prescription for gin. The bottle that was produced in court was hers and not her boarder's, she claimed. He had obtained the whiskey.

After this evidence had been given, Magistrate Graydon dismissed Flynn, stating that he did not think it an offence to have liquor, secured on a prescription, in a boarding house for medicinal purposes.

George Beadle, who follows the flights of the birds by going south in the summer and north in the winter, was found wandering about town in night slippers in broad daylight.

When questioned by an officer during his meanderings, he said that a kindly autoist had brought him here from Chatham. He had no intention of staying in such a place as this for long, and hoped to go to Toronto this morning.

He claimed Sault Ste. Marie as his home. Within a week he will again grace the prisoners' dock.

"Is there a Christian Science Church here?" he asked the court.

"I don't know, I'm sure. I'm not a member of it," was the reply.

Mary Benford was very excited about a window that had been broken in her house. Louisa Gales and Myrtle Gales were charged with doing the damage, and with trespassing. Myrtle admitted breaking the window, but said that she had done it because she had been insulted by Mrs. Benford.

Mrs. Benford then told of her own goodness, saying that she always went to church, and had never been in police court before.

"I'm sorry you came this time," said the magistrate.

"So am I," said the complainant.

When the defendants were giving their evidence, Mrs. Benford was informing the audience in the court that her opposition was telling untruths.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, as she heard that she had been insulting.

"If you can't keep quiet, I'll fine you," said the magistrate.

Inspector Birrell's formal: "Order, please," silenced her.

Frank Cameron was fined $5 for using abusive language towards his neighbors, Mrs. Ada Ridley. She admitted that it was likely that she had amputated the wing of one of the defendant's ducks, which had come into her yard. She was asked what the objectionable language was. A blue streak shot across the courtroom. Even one of the constables made a hurried exit.

Recently, Barney Parsons of the G. T. R. station parcel room had occasion to handle an egg crate as it was unloaded from a train. With all due respect he carefully carried the crate across the platform and gently laid it down. Soon the owner arrived on the scene, and taking possession of the crate, he removed the cover to see if all was well. Barney was astounded, for instead of seeing rows of thin-shelled eggs, he saw potatoes.

"Well, what do you know about that?" said Barney. "I have heard of farmers selling potatoes like eggs, but this is the first time I have seen potatoes shipped like them. They sold at 80 cents a dozen last Saturday in one place, I read in the paper, so perhaps, after all, there is method in the farmer's madness," he said.

ATHLETIC GROUNDS.

Gangs of men were put to work Tuesday afternoon on the new G. T. R. athletic grounds, which are to be located near the George White & Sons property. The park was measured and staked out. Superintendent C. F. Forrester of the local division has detailed men to plow and level the grounds. The finest athletic grounds in the city are promised.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST.

This is the order in which No. 115, the G. T. R. night train from the west, arrives in the city: One baggage car, then comes one whole car of milk, followed by TWO cars of whiskey.

IN HOSPITAL.

R. C. Telfer, operator at the C. P. R. Richmond street station, is in the hospital undergoing a painful operation. Operator Killingsworth of St. Thomas is working in his place.

MYSTERY ENSHROUDS THE G. W. V. A. CLUB

Secretary Holds Dark Secret and Refuses To Talk.

Mystery shrouds the Great War Veterans' Club this morning. Just what it is all about only the secretary and a few of the select members know. According to John Cunliffe, the association secretary, the dark and gloomy secret he holds locked in his breast will astonish the city when he finally decides to make it public.

As before, Mr. Cunliffe flatly refused to hand out any information to the press, stating that the time was not yet ripe for the matter to be given publicity. He did, however, say that it would be let loose at the next regular meeting of the association, but by then everything would be thoroughly investigated and the replies back from Ottawa.

It is thought by a number of members of the organization that the mysterious work being carried out is another investigation of the Westminster Hospital, but until the investigation committee has delved to the bottom of the matter nothing will be given out.

TIE VOTE CAST ON NURSE APPOINTMENT

Another Meeting of Board of Health This Afternoon.

At a meeting of the board of health held Tuesday afternoon no successor to Miss Friend, public health nurse, was appointed, owing to the fact that there was a tie vote on the board between Mrs. Margaret Patterson and Miss McDermid, a returned V. A. D. nurse. It is expected that Mayor E. S. Little will be present at a meeting this afternoon to cast the deciding vote on the appointment. The new nurse will begin her duties at $1,200 per annum. Miss McDermid has requested a salary of $1,400, but the board is reluctant to pay this amount.

The resignation from the board of E. H. Russell was asked by the Building Trades Council because of remarks he had made as a member of the special committee investigating the plumbing bylaw. Chairman J. H. Saunders and Dr. W. S. Downham were present at the meeting when the remarks were made. They did not consider them as a slur on "working people," and the request was therefore filed.

Mr. Russell said that his statement on that occasion was to the effect that the average workingman could not live in a six-room house, because it would cost $40 a month to own it and live in it, and that he must of necessity come to living in two rooms, because that was all for which he could afford to pay. That was true when he said it, and he considered that it was even more applicable today.

Official Complains.

Dr. George S. Weir, school attendance officer, complained that quarantine regulations were not being enforced properly, particularly in regard to school children. Dr. Downham reported that all such cases were carried out in strict accordance with the public health act. He pointed out that it was impossible to maintain an absolute quarantine without a large staff. The only man whom he had ever had safely quarantined was in a jail at the time. The public health act does not call for quarantining of all members of the family for most diseases.

George Tustin, inspector for the Humane Society, was appointed as sanitary inspector.

A report on the emergency hospital maintained during the influenza epidemic indicated that only $655 had been paid by patients who were cared for. There was still $560 owing. The report was referred back to Victoria Hospital authorities to see if further collections could not be made. An appropriation of $3,000 was made for the institution, of which $2,970 has been spent. The city treasurer has not received any of the money collected, it was stated.

PEOPLE WILL BUY

is the best old Government that its humanly possibly to pay taxes too.

"It won't affect our company," said a representative of A. B. Greer & Sons, commercial car manufacturers, "unless they impose the increased tax of 15 per cent on commercial as well as pleasure cars. We only make commercial cars and at present the chaussis for such cars are being admitted free."

R. H. Dowler, clothier, thought the new budget would work out all right. The national debt was everybody's debt, and everybody ought to be willing to pay his share.

Mr. Dowler thought that the heavy tax on good clothing would not reduce the sales or increase the demand for cheaper quality clothes. It hasn't decreased the sales of good clothing in the United States, where a tax has been in effect for some time. The abolition of piecework and the paying of a flat rate by manufacturers to all clothing workers, good and bad alike, has greatly increased the manufacturing cost of cheap clothing, on which inexperienced and less efficient workers were formerly employed at priece rate. Now, to keep the price down on cheaper clothing, since it costs so much more to make, cheaper and ever cheaper quality of cloth is being used, and the cloth has become so poor that cheap clothing is hardly worth buying.

Will Buy, Anyway.

J. R. McPhillips, music dealer, thought the new budget would not affect sales a great deal. The addition of the 10 per cent tax did not have a very noticeable effect, and probably the increase to 20 per cent will not make much difference, etc.

"The public has got so inured and hardened to increasing taxes and prices that they pay any price you ask them. They don't remember values any more. They expect the prices to be increased," said Mr. McPhillips.

A prospective customer outside of a tailor shop himself interviewed the reporters as to whether the tax on clothing was in effect today. "Well, I won't pay the tax. If the tailor will sell part of a suit today, he won't cost over $45, and I'll take it or leave it on that basis," said the prospective purchaser.

Drug and novelty store people expect that the popular demand for broken pieces of manicure and toilet sets will be increased by the tax on all articles over $2.50. It's quite customary for people to buy nail files, manicure scissors, nail buffers, ivory trays and other parts of a manicure set separately. Few of these separate articles would cost over $2.50, but the completed case would cost all the way up to $10 or $15.

It is expected that separate ivory and silver toilet articles will increase in demand and that the sales of sets will drop off.

Most dealers expressed the opinion that the new budget will increase the demand for cheaper goods that escape the tax. Some consumers were so optimistic as to look for a general drop in high prices.

Merchant Tailors Hard Hit.

Some merchant tailors declared it would kill their business entirely and others grinned and said, "What's the use of kicking? It's pure matter of inexorable fate. Kismet," they faintly murmured. "It is the will of Allah."

The chain stores of $26 to $35 tailoring establishments cheerfully disclaimed any interest in the new tax, and declined to be quoted, although several of them admitted having heard the old

CONVICTED OF STEALING SUGAR

Matthew Demas was convicted in police court this morning of stealing fifteen pounds of sugar from the Metropolitan Cafe, and was remanded a week for sentence.

Sergt. William McCullough had seen him coming out of a lane on King street with two boxes on his bicycle. The prisoner told him that he had some stale bread in them, but later admitted that he had a little tea with him. He said that he had not been paid for eleven days, and so took the tea, intending to instruct the proprietor to take the money for it out of his wages. However, he had not weighed the goods, and would, therefore, not know what it was worth. Demas stated that he did not care how much he was charged.

C. H. Webster came to court to attempt to withdraw a charge of assault laid against Clifford Cotterill. As the offence was an indictable one he was told that only the crown attorney had the power of withdrawal.

METHODIST PASTORS MAY HAVE SALARIES INCREASED SHORTLY

Question of Raising From $1,200 to $1,500 To Be Considered Today.

The annual meeting of the London district Methodist ministers opened in Askin Street Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon for a two-day session. Forty ministers were in attendance.

Maxwell Parr, a probationer for the Methodist ministry was questioned regarding his religious principles which he answered satisfactorily, and he was recommended for ordination at the next annual meeting of the London Conference. Luther Butt, R. S. Hosking, A. A. Johnson and C. E. Taylor, other probationers were also asked certain theological questions and were all recommended to be continued on probation.

George H. Penrose, son of James Penrose of West Lorne, was recommended by the quarterly official board of Askin Street Methodist Church for a probationer, after being examined regarding his religion. He was received as a candidate for probation.

At the evening session routine business was transacted. Rev. W. J. Ashton, chairman of the district, presided. The matter of minimum stipends for the clerics of the Methodist ministry will be discussed fully at today's session, and it is expected by local ministers that it will be fixed at $1,500 instead of $1,200, as it is now. The matter of church federation, which has been before the London Ministerial Association for some time, will also be discussed. Delegates to the conference will be appointed.

STRIKERS TO STAND FIRM FOR THEIR DEMANDS

Unanimous Decision Reached At Session Early This Morning.

JOINT CONFERENCE HELD

Lively Tilt Between Organizer Parker and Sir Adam Beck.

By a practically unanimous vote taken at 1:30 this morning, the striking London and Port Stanley Railway employees, decided to stand firm for the demands, and not to return to work, the offer of the railway commission submitted at the previous meeting in the city hall being rejected.

It was thought by those negotiating that cars would be run by regular crews this morning, but when Manager J. E. Richards announced that no increases were liable to be given over the award of the conciliation board a vote was taken with the above result.

Manager's Warning.

Manager Richards, addressing the employees, said: "Don't come back thinking I will make a report for increases that cannot come out of the revenue, and then you will go out on strike again."

Other speakers included Aldermen Cameron Wilson and John Ashton, Organizer Parker, John Colbert and Dominion Fair-Wage Officer E. N. Compton. President Willsie of the union acted as chairman.

John Colbert said: "In speaking to several members of the railway commission recently, they stated to me that they had no knowledge of the report on revenues and increases as submitted by Manager Richards."

The manager said: "You are absolutely wrong, as they all saw my report, which can be proven by the minutes of the commission meeting."

Continuing, Mr. Colbert said: "It is a rotten deal to offer one class of men a one-cent increase per hour, and others four cents. In the street railway union we fight for our car cleaners as for conductors. This road (L. and P. S. R.), cannot be operated by rats and scabs. The citizens of London will not patronize it. There is lots of room here for reconstruction of wages. We on the street railway are fighting hard for our money, and if we get an increase everyone will get the same."

Wants It Final.

Fair Wage Officer Compton urged both sides to conciliate slightly.

"Don't have it said that either side had to climb down, because if you do there is sure to be enmity on the losing side," he said. "Be sportsmen and shake hands. Whatever you do, however, do not go back to work with the possibility of a future strike. Although my duty is the prevention of strikes which are industrial war causing the innocent to suffer, I feel that I would rather have you stay on strike than to go back temporarily.'

Several members then rose in turn and explained to the 90 strikers in attendance that developments had changed since the city hall meeting last night. Here it was thought that revenues of the road might warrant an increase over the conciliation award, but in view of Manager Richard's statement that this year the revenue would hardly reach $20,000, in contrast to $31,000 of last year, the strikers felt that they would not receive any greater increase than the award, and accordingly voted to prolong the strike. They stated that they would remain firm in their demands, and that higher fares seemed the only solution.

Express Satisfaction.

The striking employees voiced their appreciation of Manager Richards for visiting them and addressing their meeting, giving them the plain facts of the case. They extended to him their sympathy for his recent serious illness, the president asserting that had Manager Richards not been in the hospital recently the strike may have been averted.

Contrary to expectation no members of the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission accepted the invitation of the men to be present to address the meeting at the city hall.

The meeting at the city hall was attended by the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission, representatives of the strikers, including Organizer Parker, Mayor E. S. Little, and members of the city council, composing the directorate of the railway. On motion of Ald. Drake, Ald. Cameron Wilson was elected chairman. Mayor Little then outlined the situation of the London and Port Stanley Railway Board, stating that the road was leased to the commission for a period of 99 years.

"All we have to say in it," he stated, "is the collection of $20,000 per annum rent. That is the situation and we have actually no jurisdiction in operating the road."

Who Owns It?

Ald. Watkinson queried "Who owns the London and Port Stanley Railway? We hear a great deal of talk about the actual ownership."

The chairman replied that on the assurance of the commission the road was the property of the citizens of London. Sir Adam Beck then rose to address the meeting.

"We, the commission, are here at the invitation of the council," he said. "I was called from Toronto and as chairman I thought it proper to be here. I do not suppose that you (the council) presume you have any authority in this matter, because you have not."

Public Inconvenienced.

Ald. Cameron Wilson interrupted to say, "Our idea is to come to an amicable agreement. The London and Port Stanley Railway is inconveniencing the public at present and the employees are out of work. The matter must be compromised if at all possible."

Ald. Watkinson asked if the commission was in a position to grant the 25 per cent increase asked by the employees, to which Sir Adam Beck replied, "We are only to pay out what we take in, and if you say, we will pay out the $20,000 annual rental if you will forego it."

Ald. Moorhead asserted that the council could only make recommendations as to an amicable settlement.

"We, as the council, are treading on dangerous ground in going over the board," he said.

A Serious Question.

Organizer Parker, acting on behalf of the strikers, then addressed the meeting. He said in part: "I have no more to add to our previous statements. It is a serious question with us and we are ready now to talk business, as we always have been. We claim that our demands are just and reasonable, and I do not think that the commission doubts this. The commission has been good, but good-fellowship will not pay the men. All we ask for is a living wage, to which we are entitled. I think that the council should and can make recommendations. Manager Richards refused to make us a proposition on Monday. We were disappointed at the board of conciliation award, and the responsibility for this trouble lies at the doors of Judge Snyder and John M. Campbell, who made the award, knowing that the offer had previously been refused by the men."

Will Accept $38,000.

"We said last night we would accept an increase totalling $40,000 per year," he concluded, "tonight I say we will accept $38,000. We do not want the trainmen to work night and day to make a living wage. Pay us a fifteen-cent increase per hour all round and we will be satisfied. The commission has all kinds of money to plant shrubs, trees and build fancy fences with the money our men have earned. They would like some of it to plant trees about their homes. We will go back to work in the morning if a settlement can be made. By a fifteen-cent increase I mean one over and above the wage offered by the commission before the conciliation award."

Not Getting Anywhere.

Sir Adam then rose to remark: "I do not think that this is getting us anywhere. The men know that we have tried in every way to treat them fairly, and wages have been advanced on various occasions without their solicitation. The fact that during all the labor difficulties of the past four years, the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission has escaped any controversies with the men, speaks highly for the men and the commission. The severe winter, with its snow has entailed heavy loss, and prevented ferry operation. The increase offered is equal to the increase accepted by the men on similar railways with which Organizer Parker has had considerable to do. We accepted these standards in making our offer, considering the money we had to pay out in increased wages, allowing nothing for contingencies such as damages to rolling stock, unless we borrowed it, or overdrew our account with the city, or defaulted payment of our rental. Why did Mr. Parker settle with these roads with a greater revenue at two cents less, when living is cheaper here in London? He says the men here are starving. Will he let the employees of the other railways starve?"

Expected Notice.

"He knows that our duties as trustees of the city of London are well defined," continued the speaker, "and a trustee is something sacred. I have less trouble with my own business in one year than with my public duties in one week, but I never shirk them. We are a go-between, and we had no notice of a strike except by the newspapers, while we understood by Mr. Parker that the public would be served. We do not take the onus of this strike, and no matter who is damaging the railway property, it is being done. I hope the citizens will volunteer to keep the road going until we get an opportunity to adjust matters. Why should John M. Campbell be abused any more than Burley Bennett? It is merely a matter of judgment, and it does not get us anywhere to abuse these men. Campbell is in direct competition with hydro at Kingston, yet favoritism to us is intimated. We anticipated one month's notice from the men.

More Than Dollars.

"There is something else involved in the strike besides dollars. I have fought for the great principle of public ownership for which the province stands out above others, with the London waterworks and our railway as a shining example. This is the first real black eye public ownership has had, and public ownership of radials throughout the province has been handicapped by it. Whatever agreement was to have been reached it was to be retroactive to February 1, so there was no hurry for the men to strike. No one has approached us for further negotiations. Whether the wages given on the other roads was fair or unfair it created a precedent. We have given you all the money we have, and the conciliation award will take all our money for next year."

Increase the Fares.

"The only way that I can see," continued Sir Adam, "is to increase the fares. A Dominion charter fixes all our rates excepting summer and commutation rates, which are fixed by act of parliament at the request of the city of London. Your provincial member for London stated that he would reduce the Wednesday and Saturday excursion rates. If such a thing were possible and he could succeed we would still have to pay increased wages. Can we increase the fares? We have no authority to do so. If we did so I feel confident that we would lose more than we could gain. It is quite true that we spent a few thousands on trees, shrubs and a first-class baseball diamond so that the poor man and family could go to a decent park, and we have not taken it out of our men. Some of us have contributed personally out of our own pockets. Some of the plants came from my own greenhouse. Surplus earnings have shown the difference in traffic, resultant from the transformation of a rotten park into a decent one by the commission."

Will Go the Limit.

"We have always had confidence in our employees. We will go the limit. That $3.20 is a nice thing to talk about, because it has effect. It does not go far with potatoes at $6 per bag, and other necessities in proportion. On investigation we learned that steam roads pay the same to sectionmen, but have enormous earnings with which to do it. If you class us with them how are we going to justify ourselves with the citizens of London? We have no money to do it, and I urge the council to leave the matter in the hands of the commission. One thing I will not do. I will not blow in the citizens' money. I will not take money from their pockets to please anyone. If you will issue debentures we will increase the capital of the railway, as other roads have done.

A Heavy Loss.

"We therefore must increase the fares," concluded Mr. Beck, "before we can increase wages. The board this afternoon decided to ask for ways and

FREE ADVICE ABOUT YOUR

Manly Strength

TO MY READER:

Whether or not you lack an abundant vigor here is a free offer which will surely interest you, and through which you may easily profit from now on to the end of a ripe healthy, advanced age. I have compiled a little treatise for self help (book form), which I am pleased to send absolutely free by mail, in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope, to any man anywhere who writes for it. Over a million copies have already been thus distributed to those who wrote for them from all over the world. There is no obligation whatsoever involved in this offer, nothing which you are required to buy, nothing which you are required to pay for in any way, either now or in the future. It is simply an out-and-out free proposal. In this little book of 72 pages, 8,000 words and 30 half tone photo reproductions, I have endeavored to give a straightforward talk to men, young and elderly, single and married, a concise compendium for self-reference, a perfectly plain discourse upon those important, personal matters relating to vital strength of men, the preservation of virility, its possible self-restoration, its legitimate uses and its wanton abuses. Every man should be in possession of this book. One part describes a little drugless mechanical vitalizer which I make and distribute, but whether or not you wish to use one of these vitalizers is for you yourself to determine.

However, aside from anything it contains in reference to my vitalizer, the book should be read by all for its real worth. Therefore, please use free coupon below. SANDEN, Author.

Reader, the whole world is today alive to the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much-discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.

Manhood, no matter where or in what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this manly influence, this result of a vigorous sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.

It is my opinion that any man may hope for a complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but make up his mind that he WILL conquer himself. Of course, I do not include the man of extreme old age or the one who is incurably diseased. Life vitality is not according to my theory of an organic disease. It is more a sick condition of the mind and the nerves, and a lowered state of the whole body, all combined. My free book tells you just what you may do.

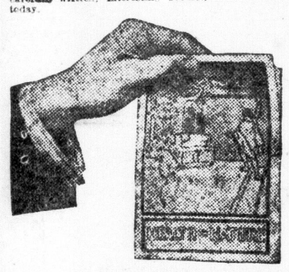

IT'S THE MAN, NOT THE CLOTHES, THAT COUNTS.

The vitalizer referred to above, which I make and distribute, is a little appliance that men who desire to restore lost vitality are using everywhere today. The book in each part fully describes it. You wear this vitalizer comfortably upon your body all night. It weighs but a few ounces, and apparently pours a great, gentle stream of FORCE or VITALITY into your blood, your nerves, your muscles and organs while you sleep. Men say it drives away the nervous weakness or pain in small of back, that vigor is restored in 60 to 90 days. With special attachments my vitalizer is also used for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. It is a wonderful little appliance and generates and sends out a marvelous force. Possibly you might want to use one of these vitalizers in your own case. If so, you can, after reading the free book, let me know, and I will make a special proposition whereby you may have one. If you live in or near this city I should be most pleased to have you call and get a free demonstration of the vitalizer, otherwise write. Hours, 9 to 6. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case.

PAST YEAR ONE OF SUCCESS IN ALL "Y" DEPTS.

Association Looks After Welfare of Thousands of Men and Boys.

NEW BUILDING SOON

Is Absolute Necessity Because of Increasing Work — Money by Subscription.

At the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held on Tuesday night for the election of six men as a board of directors, the following were put in by acclamation: W. R. Yendall, E. E. Reid, C. T. Glass, J. F. White and R. D. McDonald.

Owing to the increase in the membership of the "Y," the board of directors desired its number increased from 18 to 21. The three additional men should be chosen by the board, it was thought. Two of them should be ministers.

Great praise was bestowed on the work of the Y. M. C. A. by George M. Reid, president of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Reid, although not a member of the "Y," was asked to take part in the annual meeting as a representative of the United Welfare Campaign Fund Association. Mr. Reid announced that the organizations would receive the amount called for in the budget of the organization.

Little Criticism

During the year very little criticism had been heard of the Y. M. C. A., which, at one time, was said to be one of the main excuses for the selfish man refusing to give to charitable funds.

The reports of the secretaries showed that the work of the association had increased greatly during the past year. All branches of the organization have a greater number of members than ever before. This has overcrowded the building. The gymnasium is most affected by the overcrowding, as it is only possible for 70 boys to work in it at a time. Some of the classes have as many as 200 members.

New Building.

In answer to the above statement, W. E. Yendall said that a new building for the association was expected in a very short time. The money for it will be raised by public subscription. It is absolutely necessary that the Y. M. C. A. secure a new building before it can expand to any great extent, he stated.

Mr. Yendall said that the city needs a new "Y" just as much as it does a new hotel, which is very badly, according to some of the stories he told. "The hotel is going to be built all right, as Mr. George Reid has mentioned," Mr. Yendall said, "and there is no reason why the Y. M. C. A., which is carrying on work among some 2,500 boys and men of the city, should not have a building which is large enough to house them properly."

Boys' Division.

The report of the boys' secretary showed a very encouraging increase in the membership and the work. In the boys' division there are 329 schoolboy and 165 industrial boy memberships. The aggregate attendance for the year of this division amounts to 21,493, which is itemized in the following manner: Physical 7,764, social 8,784, educational 2,583 and religious 2,362.

The boys' program showed that there were 82 suppers held, totalling at attendance of 3,500; 35 educational lectures, with 1,450 attending; Bible classes to the number of 178, with an attendance of 1,424, and 12 C. S. E. T. groups, totalling 1,920.

In the report of the work among the boys it was mentioned that 94 passed their swimming tests, 16 were given employment, and 70 were induced to return to their churches. A new industrial class was formed and a library was established. It is expected that the industrial class will become one of the strongest in the city.

C. S. E. T. Groups.

Among the C. S. E. T. activities is the work of groups, of which there are 48. These groups have held all kinds of sports and meetings.

Father and son banquets were held in all churches and in the Y. M. C. A., the total attendance being 1,125. The results of this were said to be beyond estimation.

Hockey, baseball and basketball were indulged in by nearly all of the "Y" groups. The sports this year were considered to be of ever higher standard than those of last year, owing to the three C's campaign which was conducted.

During the year the gymnasium was used by an 81,061 persons. The medical students examined 183 members. The total class attendance for the year was 14,337. Of this number 65 were taught the art of swimming.

Industrial Report.

The report of the industrial secretary showed that 24,800 attended the meetings held at the different factories. The winter picnics, which were held in the building resulted in an attendance of 9,625.

The men's department had a membership this year of 867. This is an increase of 240 over that of last year. In the young men's department the aggregate attendance for the year in the C. S. E. T. groups was 5,066.

Praise For Staff.

At the close of the reading of the reports President Yendall thanked the staff for its good work, stating that the directors were of the opinion that it was the hardest working staff that the local branch had ever had.

Rev. W. J. Knox gave a short address on the relationship of the "Y" to the church. Two resolutions were also read by him. They were copies of those presented at the meeting of the representatives of the various churches, held in Toronto some time ago, for the purpose of forming a co-operative council to work with the "Y" and to help with the mission work in foreign countries. Mr. Knox stated that a great deal of money was sent each year to New York from this country for work abroad, but that the canadian supported churches in foreign lands received nothing from the fund with which to call in the Y. M. C. A. to give them help if it was needed.

ALL MINISTERS IN LONDON PRESBYTERY FAIRLY PAID NOW

Minimum Salary in the District Is $1,500 Per Annum.

At the afternoon session of the London Presbytery on Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church it was announced that all the minister in the Presbytery were now receiving the minimum salary of $1,500. Arrangements were made for a picnic of the Presbytery to be held at Port Stanley on the first Tuesday in July. A committee was appointed to arrange a program of sports.

A committee was appointed to visit the churches which would be affected in the new co-operation scheme between the Methodists and Presbyterians. As all the churches which are to be affected are outside of the city, Rev. N. N. Campbell was appointed convener of the committee. Rev. T. A. Symington was given the convenership of the committee working on evangelism, and Rev. J. M. McMillan that of the home missions and social service committee.

The resignation of Rev. J. R. Laverie of the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church was accepted. He has accepted the call from the Presbyterian Church in Calgary. It was announced that the Diamond Jubilee of the English Settlement in the Presbytery would be celebrated on June 27 and 28. The moderator of the Presbytery, Rev. Mr. Robertson, was appointed to attend and represent the London Presbytery.

Rev. T. A. Symington gave an interesting report on the work of co-operation committee of which he was convener.

NO RIVALRY AMONG THESE TENORS.

Robert Quait, who is to appear at the May Festival next week, was booked to sing in the oratorio "Caractacus" at the Springfield Festival May 7. Contracts had just been signed, when his manager, Walter Anderson received an offer of two engagements with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra May 7 and 8. He immediately phoned to Springfield with the result that George Hamlin, the other tenor engaged for the festival, very generously consented to change dates with Mr. Quait and so enable him to accept the double engagement at Philadelphia. Mr. Quait is to sing the tenor role in the "Creation" with the Musical Art Society choir here.

means to increase revenues. We have been embargoed by ice, and strikes across the border. Now we are embargoed by the men, which is a great loss. This may have been avoided by a 30-day notice. Two or three hundred cars per day have been diverted to London via other roads since the strike."

Organizer Parker then rose to speak. "I have listened to Sir Adam and his great flow of oratory," he began. "I want to tell him without prejudice that I did not come here to be attacked by him, but to settle this dispute; to tell him that I am not opposed to public ownership. I am not a big man, but I have done more for the workingman than Sir Adam has ever done or ever will do. I did not come to be insulted by him."

Sir Adam—Name your insult and I will apologize like a man.

Chairman Wilson—I have heard no personalities here, and we must settle this amicably.

Mr. Parker, continuing, said—He is looking right at me when he says these things. A small electric line from Chippewa to Queenston pays 60 cents per hour on a twelve-mile road in contrast to a big hydro raidal here, and they are arbitrating between 60 cents to 88 cents now. I agreed to the conciliation terms at St. Catharines to check the men temporarily and avoid trouble for a month. Not wanting to cast aside the good work of the conciliation board and in expectation of good work in the future I did this. I came to London with the same spirit to affect a settlement, and restore the men to service. I will not recommend to the men that they accept an increase that they previously rejected.

Does Not Like It.

"John M. Campbell is the fairest man to organized labor in Canada. Bennett, whom I never met before, stood up like a man for a fair wage. I do not like any one to sit and stare at me as if I were the agitator here. I want a settlement and to get these men to work to stop these cars from being diverted to other roads. We gave the public 24 hours' notice of the strike through the press. I hope the city council can make a recommendation, and not refer this back to the commission, as we have dealt with them and got nowhere."

Ald. Cameron Wilson, acting chairman, then said: "The situation is now boiled down. It will take a few days to estimate the increases which can be granted. Will the men be willing to go back tomorrow to accept the conciliation award and remain at work during such time as is necessary for the railway commission to determine what advance is necessary?"

Organizer Parker replied: "Can we get some offer pending the increase to be figured? The men will not accept a proposition that they rejected.

"It is merely temporary," stated the chairman, "and we ask you to accept it," to which Sir Adam Beck added: "It suits us, and we cannot commit ourselves further at the present time."

Ald. Ashton interjected: "How can the men go back when they rejected the award? There will be no better revenue next month. There is about $30,000 difference between Parker's estimate and that of the commission on the increases."

Commission Estimates.

Manager Richards then explained that the commission based its estimate of $60,000 on the entire staff, while Organizer Parker's estimated increases on the strikers only, and that in addition the latter estimate was in his opinon rather low. T. W. Burrows said that prior to the strike he acted as inspector of electrical equipment in the local shops at a wage of 40 cents per hour, so that sectionmen were not the only ones receiving $3.20 per day. He stated that he had worked for the railway eleven months.

Mayor Little said: "You are asking the city council to grant 90 men wages which we could not grant other employees. We cannot deal with that. We must pay one as another." Organizer Parker then asked the commission members to attend the midnight meeting of the strikers to be held on Richmond street. He wished them to put the proposition directly up to the employees, and to have it understood that the final settlement should be retroactive to February 1, over and above the conciliation award.

When the commissioners seemed to be reluctant to attend the employees' midnight meeting, Government Fair-Wage Officer E. N. Compton said: "These men require persuasion, and will accept a proposition more readily if the commission members explain it to them." This decided the matter, and the commissioners promised to address the men, except Sir Adam Beck, who was called back to Toronto on urgent government business.

ST. THOMAS, May 18.—The striking employees of the L. and P. S. at this end of the line are meeting at midnight to again consider the offer of the commission, and to determine, if possible, to reach a figure that would be mutually acceptable. The trains in and out of St. Thomas have been fairly on schedule time and the mail service has been much improved. High Constable Hopkins engaged several local special officers this afternoon, and he was directing their movements tonight. Otherwise the situation in St. Thomas is decidedly quiet.

BAD BREATH?

The bad part of Bad Breath is the fact that nearly every case shows considerable trouble from indigestion, belching gas, bloating, piles or some form of stomach misery. Oftener than not a pimply face, a sluggish, constipated condition, is the true cause of many a man's failure in life.

By aiding digestion and building up the weak muscles of the stomach and bowels, DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS completely overcome constipation and all forms of stomach illness.

"I was terribly run down with stomach trouble that arose through neglected constipation," writes Mrs. P. D. Quigley, from Washburn P. O. "I simply couldn't half digest my food. I had dreadful headaches, piles and yellow, muddy skin. The effect of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS was phenomenal. I have gained in weight, have a clear skin, sleep well and enjoy my meals."

Swift as Lightning, Sure as Time!

THE big, hot spark given by an "M. & S." spark plug strikes as swift, and, in comparison, as hot and as true as lightning. It gives a spark that is as sure and dependable in its function as the passage of time.

Big claims for the ordinary spark plug, perhaps, but not for the new "M. & S." plug.

The heavy ball point concentrates the current and intensifies the heat, giving a much hotter and bigger spark. That means more power, new life, to any car. Furthermore, "M. & S." plugs are unquestionably dependable.

"M. & S." plugs have a one-piece centre electrode of 97% nickel steel, which considerably reduces carbon fouling.

The high-grade porcelain has a perfect chemical glaze, which heat cannot affect.

It has a three-in-one terminal which is adapted to any style of ignition, except Chevrolet, for which special ball terminals are supplied.

Our No. 500—½ inch standard is used on Overland "4."

Cleans Thoroughly--
Polishes Brilliantly

THE remarkable, beautiful effect obtained from the O-Cedar treatment, is due to the fact that O-Cedar "cleans as it polishes."

It is important that all dust and grime be removed from any surface, in order to give it that lustre which is something more than a mere surface polish.

This O-Cedar accomplishes. A few drops of O-Cedar on a wet cloth will form a soft lather that removes all scum and dust.

The final operation consists of a brisk rub with a dry cloth. The result is all that could be desired—a hard, dry lustre on furniture and floors; a dazzling radiance on your automobile.

O-Cedar Polish, 25c. and 50c. a bottle; $1.25 and $3.00 a can.

O-Cedar Polish Mop, without handle, $1.50. The handle, 54 inches long, is 25c. extra.

SECRET DIPLOMACY.

Secret diplomacy, the habit from which nations are seeking to be set free, seems to have a particular appeal for the Unionist cabinet at Ottawa as evidenced by the course they have pursued in the negotiations respecting a Canadian representative at Washington. One may wonder what there is in these negotiations that is so strictly confidential that not even Parliament may know of it. We have it on the authority of Mr. Rowell that there is no change contemplated in the status of Canada within the Empire, so that it is not as a constitutional safeguard that the preliminaries must be so shrouded. It may be, of course, that it is to ward off the many friends of the Government who are ambitious to hold the job that the precautions are necessary, but that could scarcely be regarded as sufficient reason for keeping Parliament entirely in ignorance of what is going on. What is probably the real reason is the Government's state of mind. The men who ruled things with high and mighty hand during the war years, issuing orders-in-council by the thousands, arresting, censoring, deporting, have not yet learned that the war is over, that these are days of peace and that whatever extra powers may have been intrusted to them in a time of peril end automatically with the coming of peace.

The premier and his associates make a poor defence in trying to find a parallel case in the secrecy with which the reciprocity negotiations were carried on by Mr. Fielding and his associates in 1911. Between that case and the present there is no likeness. The negotiations in 1911 had to do with the tariff and never in the history of this or any other country has a Government revealed beforehand tariff changes that it contemplated making. This is a recognized principle, to depart from which would be to demoralize conditions. The Government brought down its budget yesterday. That budget contains tariff changes; not the least hint was given previously of what changes were to be made. This is eminently proper. In the other case, however, somebody in the Government's confidence is going to receive the appointment as first Canadian official representative at Washington. He will be the mouthpiece of the Canadian people at the capital of our big neighbor. It is stated that Britain has raised no objections to relinquishing the duties that have formerly been performed for us by the British ambassador at Washington. Evidently there has been no controversy with England that might react upon public feeling. Similarly, if one may judge the American press, the United States has taken it as a compliment that Canada desires her own representative. Yet Parliament was told on Monday that there would be great harm done if the correspondence were made known. One thing certain is that the correspondence will have to be produced after the appointment if it is not produced before. If the Government defies Parliament today it cannot do so tomorrow. Mr. Fielding and his associates are in the right absolutely in demanding to know the circumstances under which the new appointment is being made. The principle that is involved is far greater than the mere case around which the dispute lies. The rivalry of cabinets and parliaments is as old as our form of government. It is a sound principle which proclaims that the people's representatives at large and not a small body within Parliament shall have the final decision in all that concerns the welfare of the country.

ARE PRICES FALLING?

The local gas company wants an increase of at least 50 per cent in the price of gas. It is losing money and estimates that operating expenses will increase by $100,000 in the coming year. A Manitoba official was assuring us the other day that banks have effected already a decline of prices and will do more yet! Evidently the gas company does not believe this. It expects a more rapid rise of costs than ever.

A tourist conductor advertising trips to the European battlefields puts in a large headline: "Prices are not going to fall." For, he says, if they were expected to fall, "hotels would not be refusing to quote rates for July and August." Similarly building contractors won't guarantee a figure. It is more than clear that one business man does not believe another who says that there has already been a fall in prices, and they will be pressed down still further! Who does believe such talk, with wheat, eggs, butter and meats all going up last week?

CHAUTAUQUA'S FOUNDER DEAD.

John A. Vincent, the man who started the world-famous Chautauqua assembly, is dead. Back in 1870 Bishop Vincent realized that there was a great need amongst the Sunday school ...hers of his church—the Methodist—for in...ed knowledge and culture in order to ... the best results in Sunday school work, ... this object in view he established a ... summer course, held in the open. ...nt, however, quickly spread far be... ...odist Church, and for many years ...ctarian, thousands gathing from ...rld to listen to the greatest ...n subjects that touch ... countless thousands ... been an inspiration, ...unity. Referring to the death of Mr. Vincent the New York Sun says:

> John H. Vincent made the name Chautauqua immortal, and he made hundreds of thousands of men and women happy by showing them that education should not end with youth, and that vacations need not imply vacuity of mind. No person who ever visited the mother of all the Chautauquas in the days of the bishop's reign can ever forget the founder. He was a strong man, typical in mind and body of his creed; an impressive figure of a purposeful age.

HELP THE WESTERN PLAYERS.

During Convocation Week members of the Western University Literary Society will present Oscar Wilde's great success, "An Ideal Husband," in the Grand Theatre. That there is dramatic talent available in our universities is admitted by critics, and for Western this fact was recently proven when a medical class presented "The Mollusc," with a popular return engagement, in a very creditable manner.

However, there is more than ability required to make these offerings the best from every angle. The time and effort spent in preparation of them is deserving of the patronage of local theatregoers. If the players are not greeted by capacity audiences their hopes naturally become dampened, and aside from the pride gained by doing a thing well, their returns for the enterprise are very meagre. In fact, many local dramatic clubs have endured tedious rehearsals and other work in connection with their plays, only to play to empty seats, and suffer financial reverses, when the receipts from the box office have been finally checked up.

Naturally, this does not encourage amateur theatricals. In a city such as London such a state of affairs should not be, and the first step in removing this evil should be a liberal patronage of "An Ideal Husband," when presented here by the Western University students at both performances on May 27.

MAY IN THE PARK.

Victoria Park is a vision of beauty this week. In morning light the infantine leaves are a variegated mist scintillating with soft gleams that come through their filmy texture. The word gem originally meant bud, not strange to say.

In this supreme week of the fifty-two it is not hard to understand the poet's passion for beauty that shines a moment and is gone, their regret that it cannot stay and be fixed. What is debutante will soon be full-blown, familiar, or rusee! The exquisite perfection of the nearly arrived, the dawn's first pink finger, the crimson young maple leaf turning brown, and then green as it unfolds its small fan, lasts but a little spell, a moment, radiant, then gone forever.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

What does St. Patrick think of Ireland now? He seems to have been the vanguard of invasion from the larger island, but identified himself with the land of his mission.

Hunger-striking makes a farce of the prison. Almost anyone can fast a week without suffering much from it. Perhaps water should be withheld from those who hunger-strike to make the game really strenuous.

WAR WEALTH.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

A British parliamentary committee has reported it to be "administratively practicable" to impose a special levy on wealth accumulated in Great Britain as a result of or during the war, though it does not express any opinion as to the advisability of such a course. It will be for the British Government to assume the responsibility of recommending such a procedure, if thought desirable. This is an interesting development, and an indication of the democratic spirit which now obtains in the old country, and it is also an impressive evidence of Britain's determination to reduce her huge burden of debt.

According to a recent statement of Mr. J. R. Clynes, M.P., during the five years of the war a sum of no less than four billion pounds sterling was made in increased profit by contractors and persons employed for war purposes. "If it was right for the country during the war to call on men physically to save their country, it was right for the state now to call on men financially to save their country," he said. It is a valid argument. Out of these colossal profits a proportion could easily be spared for the replenishment of the impoverished national exchequer. There is surely no injustice involved in appropriating for the restoration of the country a percentage of the wealth which has been wrung from her agony. A few—a very few—who have been made rich by the war have voluntarily surrendered part of their fortune to the state; the majority need a considerable amount of urging in this direction. An act of parliament is the only effective means of persuasion. Will the British Government have the courage to introduce it, and to pass it?

THINGS WE NEED.

[H. Addington Bruce in Ottawa Journal.]

There are a great many things we need in these troubled times—and we need them exceedingly.

We need leaders who will talk less and effect more. We need followers who will think, not merely cheer.

We need workers willing to work, and we need workers fit to work. Wherefore we need fit food, fit homes, fit clothing for workers.

Mouths agape, we marvel at labor unrest and clamor. Wonderingly we ask whence this discontent springs.

The bursting warehouses of the profiteers, the slum homes of multitudes of the producers, furnish at least in part the answer.

Also they suggest that one of our greatest needs is a keener human sympathy.

We prate of our charity. We plume ourselves on our generosity. Yet all the while we permit men and women and little children to live and die by the thousands in tenement ant hills.

Absorbed in our private affairs, give the unfortunate scarce a passing thought unless they burst forth in "socialistic agitation." For our own sakes as well as theirs we need to bestir ourselves in their interest.

We need to realize that they can hope and despair, love and hate, rejoice and suffer as keenly as we. We need to recognize, in fine, that we are no more truly human beings than they are, despite their rags and grime and squalor.

And we need further to recognize that it is not only inhuman to ignore their wretchedness, but that by so doing we may be risking a social conflagration the beginnings of which are plainly in evidence today.

We need, accordingly, to ask some pretty sharp questions about our industrial organization, our governmental efficiency, even about our much-vaunted educational system.

Are we really educating all the children of all the people? Is our education making for social solidarity and personal success and happiness among the masses? Or is it benefiting the comparatively few?

Educational reform is, in fact, one of our present day needs. And reform must extend to home education no less than school education.

Too many people are being reared to be wasters, not makers; spenders, not savers.

Too many are unwittingly trained to shallow, callous, selfish modes of thought.

In too many—children of the well-to-do as of the poor—the seeds of class antagonism and class hatreds are being sown.

These are a few—a very few—of the things we need. Unless we honestly endeavor to obtain them greater and always greater evils will be befall us, to the increasing misery of all and the final collapse of what we call our civilization.

From Here and There

WHERE INTEREST CENTRES.

[Minneapolis Tribune.]

There seems to be less popular interest in cheaper cuts of meat than in lower cuts of gowns.

PERSIAN HOUSES.

Every Persian house is constructed upon a plan of secrecy. No windows are visible from the streets, but the interior is constructed around several courts with lovely gardens, basins, shrubbery and even luxuriant groves of fruit and shade trees, of all of which one obtains not the slightest hint from the street.

"GARDENS OF THE DESERT."

The Canadian Magazine for May has an article by Hamilton M. Laing, illustrated with choice and lovely photographs by the author, on "Gardens of the Desert." This is a description of the wild floral beauty of Western Canada, as seen on a trip on horseback. Many of the pictured blooms and descriptions are familiar to the Ontario nature-lovers, and, as the writer says, "For the man who loves nature, life is ever a quest of this sort; greeting of old friends; seeking of the new and unknown. And here in these gardens of the dry lands most of the flower faces are but half familiar—like old friends in new clothes."

GOATS OF NAPLES.

[Montreal Gazette.]

Goats in flocks, wearing wooden collars, and escorted by goatherds, usually women and children, make free of the sidewalks of Naples, and constitute one of the most characteristic sights of that city. The herds are driven through the various streets and are taken into the houses, and even up to the third or fourth story, and there milked. The explanation that is given for the custom of driving the goats into the city and into the houses, sometimes to the top floors, to be milked, is that the consumers are thus assured of having the same quality of milk every day, and of knowing that it is not diluted.

Although it would ordinarily be expected that quantities of milk would be sold in a city like Naples, of nearly a million inhabitants, it is, however, not used to a great extent by all classes of native Neapolitans. It is used by invalids, infants and old people, and then only by the proper classes, because of their inability to get nourishment from other sources.

Naples gets its supply principally from nearby towns through the dairies and other establishments which distribute the milk to the people through the agency of the "latterie," and from the goats or cows kept in or near the city. There is also a small amount of donkey's milk, which is used only in small quantities, and for those who are ill.

CHARLES DICKENS'S CREED.

My moral creed is very easily summed up. I have faith in the existence of beautiful things, even in those conditions of society which are so degenerate, degraded and forlorn that, at first sight, it would seem as though they could not be described but by a strange and terrible reversal of the words of Scripture: "God said, Let there be light, and there was none." I take it that we are born, and that we hold our sympathies, hopes and energies, in trust for the many, not for the few; that we cannot hold in too strong a light of disgust and contempt before the view of others, meanness, falsehood and oppression of every grade and all kind; above all, that nothing is high because it is in a high place, and nothing is low because it is in a low one.—At Hartford, 1842.

THE WIND SHE BLEW,

[Orillia Packet.]

President Wilson's effusion about how the naval war should have been won recalls a recent opinion we know of. On a train lately coming from Chicago an Orillian was somewhat irritated by a sharp-voiced American, who was holding forth in loud tones on the topic of "We won the war." "It didn't take us long, when we got into it, to finish the job." "Their boasted Lloyd George could not even draw up the terms of peace, when we had won the day for them, and had to send for our president to help him out," and so on, with tiresome iteration. But nobody contradicted, or offered any comment, until the Canadian border was reached. By that time a fierce storm was raging. "Oh, dear!" exclaimed the American, "one of those awful Canadian blizzards. Does the wind always blow in this country?"

"Yes, sir," blandly answered the Canadian. "In this country the people keep quiet and let the wind do all the blowing."

STRIKES UNPOPULAR.

[Waterbury American.]

Strikes are not popular at present. There have been increasing evidences of this. Strike after strike has failed of late. The great body of people are so much concerned about their own difficulties in making both ends meet that they have no sympathy with the efforts of others, whom they think better off than themselves, to better themselves, especially when these efforts add to their own burdens. Public opinion is unsympathetic. Public opinion comes from the great middle class, which at present considers itself the chief sufferer from high prices. They are intelligent and orderly. They know that the cure of present troubles is economy and hard work, the revival of industry, the restoration of steady, continuous transportation, the co-ordination of the parts in the machinery of living. They are practicing self-denial and giving up their own way in many things in order to bring about normal conditions. They think others should do the same thing. They have no patience with discontent which manifests itself in ways that make matters worse. That is why strikes are not popular and fail. The thing for everybody is first to pitch in and help get out of the hole and then take up individual or group grievances in the way to get them settled.

AVOID EXTRAVAGANCE.

[Winnipeg Telegram.]

The overall campaign is an expression of the spirit of protest against vanity over all. When people are willing to buy garments, rent houses, and be entertained at prices which are within their means; when people stop trying to live like others with ten times more money, then the stores will proffer the kind of things asked for, and at prices people will be willing to pay. Such things today are to be had in the store. They may not be in the windows. Why should they be. They are obtainable if anyone wishes to ask for them. But nobody does. The spirit of the age is extravagance.

"FROM HIM THAT HATH NOT——"

[Toronto Star.]

The pastor of a church is supposed to dress himself and his family decently, or whispers about "slovenliness" begin to circulate in his congregation.

He must keep his library up to date, or folk allege he is a back number.

He must see that his children get a fair education, or he is setting a bad example to other people.

His home must be maintained in good repair, or the Ladies' Aid will say that his wife is a poor housekeeper.

He must give liberally to all good causes, or be denounced as a hypocrite who does not practice what he preaches.

He must assist, out of his own pocket, those needy cases which require help, but dread publicity. Otherwise his own conscience will accuse him.

He must house and feed all the visiting speakers who are not billeted elsewhere in his congregation, or the stigma of being inhospitable will attach to his church.

He must always and without exception "take delegates" when there is a convention, or his deacons will say that he lacks interest in the work of the denomination.

He must, if his congregation is scattered, keep either a horse or a car, lest he be accused of forgetting the sick and neglecting pastoral calls.

He must, of course, have a telephone, and in some congregations he is expected to supply a typewriter. If he maintains a machine for turning out the church's circular letters, there are many willing to forget that it costs him money.

Above all, he must be prompt to pay and accumulate no debts, lest he should be scorned as "bad pay."

He must never ask for an increase of salary. If he does, he is in the ministry, for money. Or so, at any rate, will say some of the people.

And in many cases in Toronto and throughout Ontario the pastor is expected to live up to all these obligations on a salary scarcely larger—if at all larger—than was paid before the war. While others cannot make a dollar go further than sixty cents used to go, the pastor is asked to make it go as far as eighty or ninety or even a hundred cents. Or [illegible] failure. But isn't it the congregation which is the failure in cases like that?

Poetry and Jest

THE PASSING STRANGER.

[John Masefield in Yale Review.]

Since moons decay and suns decline,
How else should end this life of mine?
Water and saltness are not wine.

But in the darkest hour of night,
When even the foxes peer for sight,
The byre-cock crows; he feels the light.

So, in this water mixed with dust,
The byre-cock spirit crows from trust;
That death will change because it must.

For all things change; the darkness changes,
The wandering spirits change their ranges,
The corn is gathered to the granges.

The corn is sown again, it grows;
The stars burn out, the darkness goes,
The rhythms change they do not close.

They change, and we, who pass like foam,
Like dust blown through the streets of Rome,
Change ever, too; we have no home.

Only a beauty, only a power,
Sad in the fruit, bright in the flower,
Endless erring for its hour.

But gathering, as we stray, a sense
Of Life, so lovely and intense,
It lingers when we wander hence.

That those who follow feel behind
Their backs, when all before is blind,
Our joy a rampart to the mind.

JUST HOW TRUE?

A girl and a man sat under the palm just outside the ballroom.

"Is your love true?" asked the girl.

"As true," the man answered in low, impassioned tones, "as true as the delicate flush on your cheek."

"Oh—er—ah," the girl stammered hurriedly, "isn't—doesn't the band play nicely?"

KIPLING ON WORK.

[Halifax Chronicle.]

Kipling has added the persuasiveness of his poetic genius to the world's need for more work and greater production. In a stanza from his latest verse he writes:

"In the carboniferous epoch we were promised abundance for all
By robbing selected Peter to pay for collective Paul;
And, though we had plenty of money, there was nothing our money would buy,
And the Gods of the Copybook Maxims said, 'If you don't work you die.'"

JUST JAZZ.

Mr. Hopper (rising from the table)—Shall we dance this fox-trot, Miss Flopper?

Miss Flopper—That wasn't the orchestra starting up—one of the waiters just dropped a tray of dishes.—Life.

PEACE.

[Risa Lowie in New Republic.]

I have become quiet as the ground beneath the pines,
And my hours fall slow,
Like the fragrant lines
Of needles slipped on needles long ago.

Beneath young pines,
That pattern all their yearnings dark against the sky.
I lie,
And through their wild unrest
My starlight shines.

Young fern-coils stir
And dream designs,
Where once my dreams close-folded were,
And I—
I give them shelter and the balm of fir.
I have become as quiet as the ground,
Beneath the pines.

ABSOLUTELY NOISELESS.

Elderly Gentleman (wishing to rent room)—Yes, this room pleases me, but I notice there's some sort of a manufacturing plant in the rear facing the alley; doesn't it make considerable noise?

Landlady—Oh, no, sir; not at all. That's a felt slipper factory.

PRAYER.

[Louis Untermeyer.]

God, though this life is but a wraith,
Although we know not what we use,
Although we grope with little faith,
Give me the heart to fight—and lose.

Ever insurgent let me be.
Make me more daring than devout;
From sleek contentment keep me free,
And fill me with a buoyant doubt.

Open my eyes to visions girt
With beauty, and with wonder lit—
And let me always see the dirt,
And all that spawn and die in it.

Open my eyes to music; let Me thrill with spring's first flutes and drums—
But never let me dare forget
The bitter ballads of the slums.

From compromise and things half-done
Keep me, with stern and stubborn pride;
And when, at last, the fight is won,
God, keep me still unsatisfied.

DON'T TAKE LODGERS.

Hard luck had struck Smith a fearful blow. In desperation he took on a job to sell books from door to door.

All down one street he went without making a single sale. Then turning the corner, he determined to try a new method. At the first house he came to a frowsy female answered his knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?" he asked politely.

"No!" snapped the female.

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"No!"

"Or a Walter Scott?" asked Smith, hope dancing momentarily in his eyes.

"No, we ain't," said the woman sharply. "And what is more, this ain't a boarding-house. If you're looking for them fellers you might try next door; they take lodgers."

CONSOLATION.

From the Agony column: "Young man, recently rejected, desires apartments adjoining those of young couple possessed of a baby that cries all night, causing father to promenade in pajamas; good, loud swearer preferred."

TRUE SARCASM.

"Shake before taking," read the fever-and-ague victim from the label on the bottle of medicine.

"Talk about sarcasm," he said to himself, "that is quite the real thing."—Pearson's Weekly.

DAISIES.

[Christian Science Monitor.]

Spring stands with feet expectant
At the parting of the ways,
The west wind lifts her tresses
As to and fro she sways.

Her lips are parted slightly
As the breezes move her hair
While her hands hold blossoms loosely
With an air most debonair.

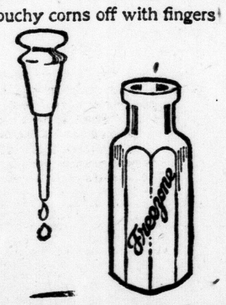

She issues from the woodland
And turns toward meadows green,
And where she treads so lightly
The daisies soon are seen.

OUCH! CORNS!

LIFT CORNS OFF

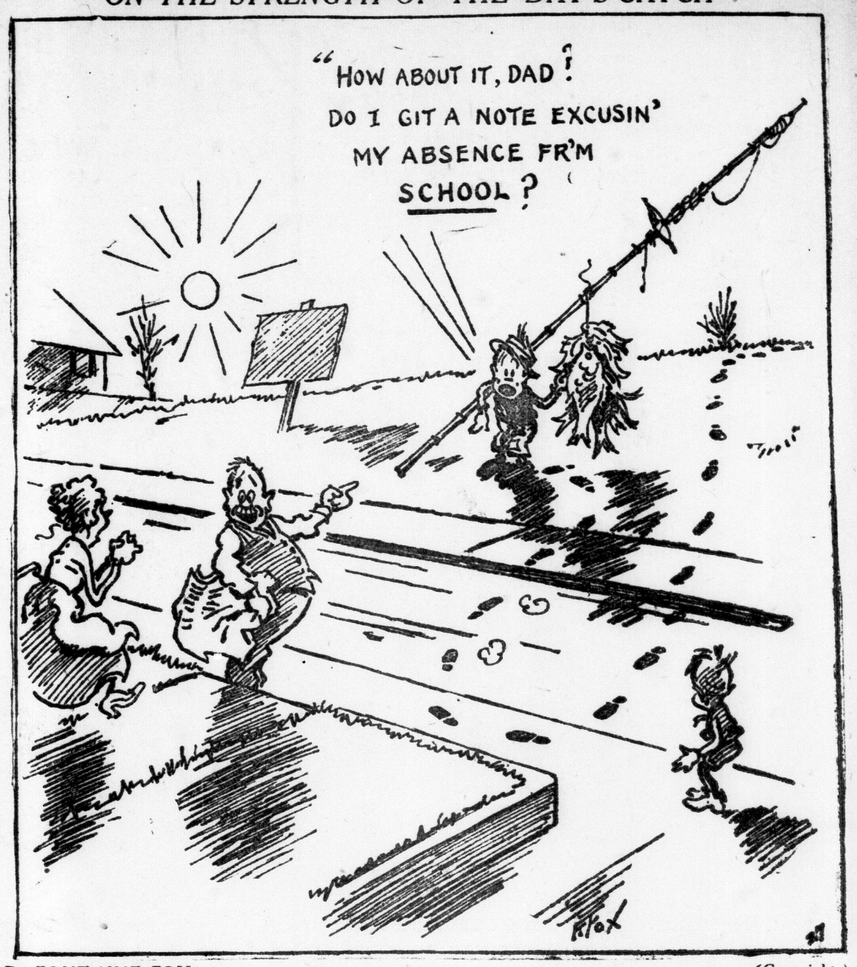

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers!

Yes! Magic! Drop a little Freezone on a bothersome corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right off. No pain! Try it.

A few cents buys a tiny bottle of Freezone at any drug store. This is sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, also all calluses, and without the slightest soreness or irritation. It doesn't hurt at all! Freezone is the magic ether discovery of the Cincinnati genius.

ON THE STRENGTH OF THE DAY'S CATCH

By FONTAINE FOX (Copyright.)

98% Metal

A Maxwell is 98% metal, and the very best metal that metallurgists can specify. Pound for pound it equals the metal in any car built.

The Maxwell is made of light-weight but strong metals.

They had to be light because the mission of the Maxwell is economical transportation.

They had to be strong because the Maxwell is built to carry just as heavy a passenger load over the same roads and at the same speed as any car, despite its price or size.

Any engineer will tell you that in getting that rare combination of strength with lightness high prices must be paid for the metals.

Their use, however, repays the makers of the Maxwell in many ways because each car each day is winning friends.

To-day these friendships, expressed in terms of cars, are well on the road to 400,000.

You cannot go back of these numbers any more than you can go back of the fact that the sun rises in the morning.

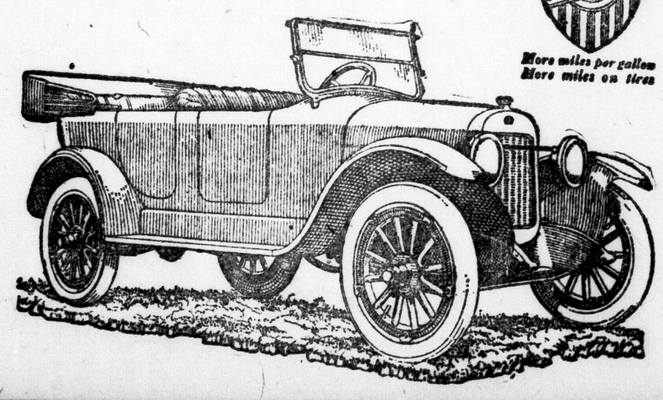

They tell the story; and it's largely a story of what the Maxwell is made of—fine metals.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

TELL IT TO THE SOCIETY EDITOR.

Mrs. John Pelley and her daughter, Miss Annie Pelley, will spend the summer at Port Dover.

R. A. Laragh, who has been visiting his brother, H. Laragh, has returned to his home in New York.

The many friends of Miss Annie Clarke will be delighted to know that she is to be soprano soloist at the Wellington Street Methodist Church.

The Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., is holding a bridge and euchre at their chapter rooms, above the Grand Opera House, on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Lebert H. Jones, 371 Maitland street, will receive on Friday afternoon. She will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Winnett, and her sister, Mrs. J. Gilmore.

Mrs. Florence Parsons, 825 Dundas street, announces the engagement of her daughter Effie to Mr. Albert H. Whitlow of this city, the marriage to take place in June.

The Ontario Hospital dance hall was gay with young people last evening, when the Janey Canuck Chapter, I. O. D. E., entertained in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital. Abundance of ferns and colored lights made the hall present a very pretty scene for the occasion, the success of which was due to the regent, Miss C. Fitchett, and the committee in charge of the ball arrangements, which included: Mrs. Egelton (convener), Miss Aileen Raymond, Miss Marjorie Skinner, Miss Beth Evans, Miss Florence Jackson and Miss Florence Widden.

There is a great deal of interest being shown in the second meeting of the London Drama League, which is to be held at the Institute of Musical Art on Thursday evening, May 20. The chief feature of this meeting will be a dramatic reading of Lady Gregory's one-act play, "The Workhouse Ward," by Miss Mary Love, Dr. W. H. Cronyn and the Rev. G. Q. Warner. Following the reading the newly-formed constitution will be submitted to the members of the league for approval. This meeting will probably be the last regular meeting of the league for the season. However, it is rumored that there may yet be some special meetings, one of which may take the form of a reception in honor of a distinguished actress who may visit the city shortly.

SPROULE—BURGESS.

An interesting wedding took place at the manse, Brussels, when Hazel V., second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burgess, was united in marriage to Mr. Oswald Sproule of Britton, Perth County, the Rev. A. J. Mann performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Sproule will reside on the groom's farm.

CARTER—ROBINSON.

Miss Mabel Robinson, a former resident of Thamesville vicinity, and Mr. John Carter of London were recently married at the George Robinson Memorial parsonage in London. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. B. H. Robinson, the couple being attended by the bride's sister, Miss Thelma Robinson of St. Thomas, and the groom's brother, Mr. Harold Carter of London.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robinson of Komoka.

PELFREY—MEAD

The Wardsville Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding recently when Miss Grace M. Mead became the birde of Earl H. Pelfrey, the Rev. T. M. Mead, father of the bride, officiating. The bride, who was given away by Mr. B. Duncan, was attired in a gown of rich ivory crepe de chene, hand embroidered in beads, with wreath of orange blosoms and brussels net veil. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and maidenhair fern. Attending her were two bridesmaids, Miss Lenore Crispen, in a peach color gown of crepe de chine, with picture hat, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, carnations and fern, and Miss Irene Mead, sister of the bride, in embroidered voile and lace with hat to match, and carrying a sheaf of pink roses and carnations. The groom was attended by C. Minor. The groom's presents to bridesmaids and organist were gold and pearl pins, and agold cross and chain.

The church was very beautifully decorated for the occasion in green and white, the archway having been transformed into a veritable bower with roses and ferns and ribbon bows. It was under the arch the wedding ceremony took place.

Mrs. Carter, the organist, played the wedding march as the bride entered the church, and other specal music during the signing of the register. Many friends were present from a distance, and after the ceremony a reception was held at the parsonage.

The bride's traveling suit was of navy blue cloth, with taupe hat trimmed with ostrict feathers.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

Health and Pedagory.

Of all professions pedagogy, from its very nature, ought to be the most progressive. Upon the ability of the teacher depends the child's whole future career. If the standard of teaching in the common school is permitted to fall a little below the very best, the training of the pupil will necessarily be poor. If a community seeks to purchase the services of teachers for a price below the compensation commanded by the best trained teachers, that community is cheating itself.

I find that in all parts of the country a practice which I believe most physicians condemn for the same reason that I do—keeping children after school—prevails most where the teachers have the poorest training. In cities where the highest standards prevail one finds that this ancient rite is no longer retained—and children in city schools are neither brighter nor more amenable to discipline than children in country schools.

Recently a number of teachers, some country school teachers and some city school teachers, have written me letters resenting my published remarks about this habit of keeping children after school. Some of these letters are weird examples of spelling and punctuation: some are written in pencil; some are written on both sides of the paper; some are not signed. As I say, poorly trained teachers keep children after school, and poorly managed schools have a place for such teachers.

The younger the child the greater the injury to health done by such teachers. It is really too much to make a little child sit prim and quiet for four or five hours a day. It is nothing less than wicked to repress little ones who should naturally be active and almost constantly on the move. It is ridiculous from the common sense viewpoint, and harmful to the child's nervous system, in my opinion, to prohibit the child from whispering, from glancing at the clock, from going after a drink of water or from answering the calls of nature without a special permit from the teacher. None of these crimes are penalized elsewhere in a child's life than in the unprogressive schoolroom by the teacher in a rut.

Parents with the best interests of their children at heart ought to make a great fuss whenever a teacher keeps a child after school, even though the teacher thinks it is necessary for the maintenance of the child's standing in his studies. If parents would let no such incident pass without creating a little uproar at school about it, I am sure that great good would come of the protest.

It is a curious face that even in places where medical school inspection is in vogue the physicians so employed sometimes lack the courage or interest to make known the valid objection so this practice from the plain viewpoint of health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Feather Beds.

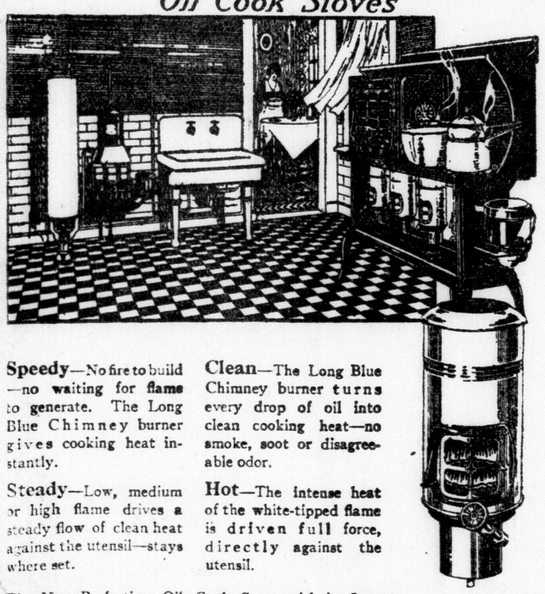

Is it unhealthful to sleep on a feather bed —(Mrs. C. A. R.)

Answer—No. Only in exceptional instances an individual is sensitized to the protein of feathers and suffers an asthmatic seizure if he or she sleeps on feather bed or pillow.

PROCLAIMED CATHOLIC SAINT IN ST. PETER'S

Joan of Arc Is Canonized Before Seventy Thousand People in Rome.

ROME, May 17.—The canonization of Joan of Arc, the French national heroine, was celebrated by Pope Benedict this morning in St. Peter's. It was one of the greatest and most impressive functions ever performed in the historic basilica.

The interior of St. Peter's was lighted by thousands of incandescent bulbs and the soft radiance of innumerable wax candles. A passage was kept open in the middle basilica for the papal procession to the high altar, behind which the papal throne was erected, having a small tribune for the papal family. Another tribune that attracted much attention contained 140 descendants of the family of Joan of Arc. These, belonging to all ranks of life and coming from all parts of France, had for the most part never met each other before.

Roman Tribune.

Further along there was a tribune for the Roman aristocracy, the Knights of Malta, headed by Count Lambertenghi, the diplomatic body accredited to the holy see and a special mission headed by Gabriel Hanotaux, sent by the French republic. The diplomatic tribune, which glittered with uniforms and decorations of all kinds, contained among others the Duke of Vendome, Princess Irene Alexandrovna, Princess Jousseuroff, Prince Theodore Alexandrovich and Prince Miguel of Braganza.

The ministers of Chile, Argentina and Brazil, with their wives, Count de Salis, British minister to the holy see, and M. Doulcet, the French representative at the vatican, were among the 60,000 to 70,000 persons present at the canonization ceremonies.

WOMAN HONORED

MRS. W. H. STEVENS, the first woman to be elected president of the board of directors of the Children's Aid Society, Vancouver, is president of the Women's Forum, and has occupied high offices in the Women's Canadian Club, Local Council of Women, the King's Daughters, and other important women's organizations at the coast.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

"One who claims that he knows about it
Tells me the earth is a vale of sin;
But I and the bees, and the birds, we doubt it,
And think it a world worth living in."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Requests.

Just thought I'd write to the Mail-Box. I wonder if any of the readers have an April or May edition of the Photoplay Classic or any photoplays that they could spare? Will pay postage on same.

BERT LYTELL ADMIRER.

To Join Canadian Navy.

I have been a reader of your interesting page every day for four months out of five which I have been in Canada. Well, could you kindly tell me where I can go to get in the Canadian navy near here, as I have been discharged out of the mine-sweeper section, in which I served for three years and nine months during the great war? Also if you have any old sea songs to spare, would you kindly send them on to me, and I would be greatly obliged. A dime for C. H. F. JOHN O'HARA.

Ans.—Write to Minister of Marines, Parliament Buildings, Ottawa, for the information you wish. If any songs come for you will be pleased to forward them. What proud record of service you have. Welcome to our Box Circle.

Helpful Hints.

I see where Spring says two drops of honey are a great help for deafness, but does not say how often to use it. Will she kindly send word to the page? Also a pagelte is inquiring for a remedy for ants. Just take a small piece of fly pad (poison) and saturate it with water, add a little sugar and set around where they are,and they will simply disappear, and you will never see an ant dead or alive. They just seem to vanish, leaving no tracks. The Mail-Box sure is a credit to The Advertiser, and so is Miss Grey.

A CAMBRAI HERO'S MOTHER.

Before blanching almonds soak them for two or three minutes in boiling water, and the skin will slip off easily. It is best to scald milk before making custards, as it will insure smoothness. When the oven is not available and you wish to bake apples, they may be boiled and will prove very delicious. Cereal left over from breakfast may be fried in slices for breakfast the next morning.

To make meat juicy when it is cooked in a gas oven, place a jar half filled with cold water on the bottom of the oven. The steam from the water makes the air moist and prevents the meat from drying.

COSY CORNER CHATS.

For a long time I have been a silent, but a very interested reader of your charming circle, but have grown tired of being on the outside looking in, so ask to be given a chair in the great family circle. At last on the inside and how much at home I feel.

Saw where some one was asking for the song "I'm a Longing in My Heart for You, Louise," so am copying it for her. SUNBEAM.

Have you a recipe for canning rhubarb and pineapple together, as the pineapple season will soon be here now? I have candied the orange and lemon peel, and it's quite satisfactory. Boil till soft, then dip in a thick syrup and dry. Repeat several times. One of my white celluloid knife handles got burned off. Can any of the readers suggest a way to make a handle. I have an old copper with a dried codfish on one side and "Success to the Fishers," and on the other side a plow and "Speed the Plow on it." Can you tell me if it is of any value, Miss Grey. Also have another copper, French 1 think, with flowers on, and one sou. I am inclosing an envelope. Will you please send me Mrs. J. T. H.'s address, as she said you had her address. I wrote you about two months ago, also sent a mite for S. C. H., but perhaps you have not come to it yet. I wonder if any of the readers have a man's coat to spare to replace a lost one; one to save a second best suit in the country. Size I don't know, but should measure sixteen inches across back of coat at sleeves; to wear driving to town in wagon, etc. My address is with Miss Grey. If anyone can help out. Often there are men in town who have clothes that are worn too much for city wear, which would do to save good clothes in country. ANCHOR.

Ans.—Your contribution to C. H. F. reached us safely and was acknowledged. Probably you missed seeing this in the Mail-Box. It would be necessary to know the dates and conditions of your coins before they could be valued.

I wonder if I may venture in and ask for that piece, "J. R. Burchell." Living in the place where the Burchell case happened, I thought I would like it, and I see where someone asked for the piece, so thought maybe I might have a copy; also the "Basket-Maker's Child"—my mother used to sing it. The Mail-Box seems to be enlarging in spite of the gardening and housecleaning time. Say, readers, what do you think of potatoes at $8 a bag? It nearly took my breath, and really potatoes are one thing the farmers make nearly all profit on—my mother used to sing it. The Mail-Box seems to be enlarging in spite of the gardening and housecleaning time. Say, readers, what do you think of potatoes at $8 a bag? It nearly took my breath, and really potatoes are one thing the farmers make nearly all profit on—my mother used to sing it. I do them different ways—boil them, then put tomatoes, pepper and salt, and bake them; another way, boil and drain, bake with pepper, salt and butter about 15 minutes; you can eat with vinegar. Another good substitute is macaroni; boil, then drain, and add ¼ cup cheese and half can tomatoes, pepper and salt and bake 15 minutes, or boil macaroni, make white sauce and add some cheese and pepper and salt, bake. SLIM.

As my first letter appeared in Mail-Box gave me courage to write again. I am asking for a little help. As it is house-cleaning time I thought some of the readers would be getting rid of some of their old clothes, etc. I would be very thankful if they would give me a thought, as I have three children to care and work for, and every little helps.

Here are answers to requests: To remove scorches from cloth spread over the scorched places a mixture of the juice of two onions, 2 ounces fuller's earth and ½ pint of vinegar. These ingredients should be mixed and thoroughly boiled and cooked before using.

Fruit Punch—1 ounce breakfast tea, 4 oranges, 6 lemons, 4 cups sugar, 1 can pineapple grated, teaspoonful almond extract, 4 bananas, 1 pint gingerale, 3 quarts ice water. Put tea in stew pan and cover with a quart of boiling water. Cover for 20 minutes and strain. Grate the rind from half the lemons and oranges, adding this to the sugar, and mixing all with the infusion. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. Place over fire and bring to boiling point and boil five minutes. Strain and cool. Add the juice of lemons and oranges and all the other ingredients. Turn this in the punch bowl with a nice block of ice and serve. Fresh berries may be added to this or grape juice may be used instead of gingerale. A BUSY BEE.

Faded Lily—Thank you just ever so much for the beautiful gift you sent to Cynthia Grey. It is so fine and beautifully crocheted, among the very loveliest I have ever seen, and it was most kind of you to take so much of your time and thought.

I have been a reader of your page for some time, though this is my first letter. Like many who write you, I am asking for help. Is there, among your readers, I wonder, a country woman who would take a couple of boarders for a few weeks this summer? My mother is in poor health, and in need of a change. We do not wish to go to a summer resort, as we do not want to be so near the water. A quiet, comfortable place in the country would suit us best. Would prefer to be where there are no young children.

I am inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, so if anyone will write me in care of Miss Grey, stating terms, etc., I am sure she will forward it to me with very little delay.

Have you a Catharine in your large family? If not I will sign myself CATHARINE.

Well here comes Little Chatterbox into your cosy corner again. Can you please tell me what will take dry paint stains off window panes? Also iodine stains off cabinet shelves? Mother received the asthma cure from Mrs. Home at Times. Thanks. Am sending 10 cents for the sick children's hospital. LITTLE CHATTERBOX.

Ans.—Try turpentine for paint on window pane. Cannot advise about the iodine stain.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

FELICIA.

Felicia has the augury of happiness, since that is the significance of her name. She is the feminine of Felix, which seems to have been an agnomen assumed by any individual at will when he considered himself unusually fortunate. It appears first in the reign of Herod Agrippa. It means "happy," and has given rise to all manner of words and names signifying good fortune in modern languages.

There are eleven masculine saints by that name in the Roman calendar, and Felice, the feminine, first appears in Italy, Spain and the south of France. From Felice have come Felicia in England and Felise in France. There was a Felicia who was Queen of Navarre in 1067. The old Romans had a Goddess of Happiness whom they called Felicitas. The slave-martyr of Carthage who suffered with St. Pepetua, was so called, and there was another Felicitas under Antonius Pius, who, with her seven sons, presented a Christian parallel to the mother in the Maccabees.

Through the votaries of the young slave-martyr Felicita became popular in Italy, and this same character is responsible for the rise to favor of Felicite in France. Faustina is an Italian form of the same name, but has never had popular favor. Felicia has always been the favorite form in English-speaking countries, though Felicity was much used among the Puritans, and still prevails in religious communities.

The pearl is Felicia's talismanic stone. It insures her charm, affability and sincere friendships. Monday is her lucky day and 3 her lucky number. The daisy, signifying simplicity, is her flower.

PETE'S SEARCH"

Part Eleven

"Off Again."

At last Pete's leg was better. He could walk without a limp and walk a good long way without feeling an ache in what had once been his sore leg. How overjoyed he was to think that he could start out on his travels once more. The longer he delayed, the more he felt he would arrive too late, for his mother was not a young dog, and dogs, especially dogs that aren't treated kindly, don't live to be very old.

So, one day the kind lady who had nursed Pete back to health, searched and whistled in vain for him. He had started out once more. The kind lady could not understand Pete being so ungrateful, but if she had known he had left even kinder friends than her and why he had left them, she would not have felt so. Pete was loathe to leave the kind lady. He almost felt as bad as when he had left Mary and Fred, but he knew that some day he would come back that way, and he hoped, oh, how he hoped, that Betty, his sweet-eyed old mother, would be with him.

What if he was going in the wrong direction? For the first time this thought came to Pete. He had been such a little dog when he left his mother he could hardly remember what it was like around his old home. The roads were all strange to him, but of course they would be, for you will remember Pete floated down a river for many miles and had landed at Mary's and Fred's home, half drowned.

But Pete was on the right road, he was sure of it. But how was he to know when he was near his mother's cruel master's home? He would just have to trust to luck to find that out.

And luck came in a very funny way. Pete was getting tired on this day and was looking for some place to sleep. What should he spy in a field near but a big funny bag-like house with a wicker basket affair hanging from it and touching the ground. The house was all tied down with ropes and looked a very swayey uncertain thing but Pete had slept in wicker baskets before and knew how comfortable they were, so he took one leap and landed in this one. What a funny basket it was and how large. Pete found a cosy corner and went to sleep. I wonder if Pete would have slept so soundly had he known he was in the basket of a giant balloon.

30 Highs Send 275 Boys Here for Big Track Meet

Entries For Western Ontario Interscholastic Meet Closed Yesterday—Some Schools Unable To Compete On May 24 Because of Hough Cup Games.

Entries for the first Western Ontario interscholastic championships closed yesterday noon, with 30 schools sending 275 boys to battle for the track and field honors for this part of the province. There are several schools which have been training for the events that have not as yet sent in their entries, and although Secretary Mel Brock endeavored to locate them both by phone and wire he was unsuccessful, and the entries closed without them. Four schools which had promised have been ordered to play Hough cup soccer matches and wired yesterday that they could not postpone the games, and consequently could not send teams to the meet.

Good List Yet.

However, there are enough entries to warrant a wonderful day's sport. Competition should be exceptionally keen as the various schools have divided their boys well, and, although there are 302 individual entries from the 275 boys, no boy is attempting too many events. Glints From Mint Diamonds

Wenike and Witry are the batteries for today's game at the Health Town. The Custers are hitting them these days, and the series is an even toss, with the Cockneys good and fresh after a two-day layoff.

The rain sure robbed London of two more in the win column by the looks of things. The Wolves should have been easy picking, judging by the way the Cockneys jumped on the Aces on Sunday.

Kennedy is not likely to be lost to the Tecs after all. He came here in a regular trade from the Moline club for Papura, a Western Canada player. Wetzel had strings on. If Papura does not report the London club is not concerned in Moline's action.

With every possibility of Bert Lamb, last year with Battle Creek, who was secured by Wetzel in a deal for Fearnley during the winter, deciding to play again this summer, and reporting within a week, and a further possibility that one or two of the three Pittsburg players with whom the London club is in touch deciding to quit their roaming, some paring down is going to be necessary on the London team. Where it will be is problematical, but there are some guesses still open.

Some fans even think that Neitzke on his Michigan trip shows like a busted phenom. However, the boy who grooved the straight ones for home-runs those cold days over at the west side resort is just getting used to some of the curve pitching he is being served just now.

Calvert is taking them all, curves straight ones and fast ones. He is said to have hit over forty homers last season over Oklahoma way, but nobody knows how they measure up their playing fields in that part of the country.

Wetzel was here yesterday for a short time, but beat it back to Battle Creek in the afternoon.

Knotty Lee still hopes to get Mickey Lalonge. Lalonge has refused to report to Kansas City, and is still at Oil City.

It is said in Brantford that Duffy of the Leafs offered to trade Bobby Heck for Tom Estelle. Knotty Lee spoke thuswise: "Duffy, Christmas comes with men on December 25th, and you're just a month or two ahead of time."

Bobby Heck's return to this circuit would be a popular one, no matter what team he hits. The death knell of the spitter looks to be Bobby's too, although he has been getting by with a few whispered prayers up to date.

MASTY CUTTLER IS KNOCKED OUT BY BOSTON TAR BABY

Cuttler Knocked Out in Second Round of Ten-Round Bout —Barrieau Knocks Out Louie Mack.

WINDSOR, May 18.—After he had stood up to two rounds of superior fighting at the hands of Sam Langford, Boston tar baby, Masty Cuttler, aspirant for heavyweight honors, missed a wide swing at the world's colored heavyweight champion, lost his footing, hit the ropes sideways and was only saved from crashing over on the reporters by the ringside, when spectators jumped to save him. His second threw the towel into the ring, when they learned Cuttler had suffered a severe gash on the side of his head, which struck the side of the ring. The fight was originally scheduled to go ten rounds, but in the two rounds and fifty seconds they faced each other Langford completely outclassed his opponent in footwork, ring generalship, and took full advantage of his greater experience to overwhelm Cuttler, who was beaten from the first gong, although he put up a game fight while he lasted. Cuttler was revived in a few minutes. Arthur Pelkey, Canadian heavyweight champion, issued a challenge to meet Langford.

In the fourth round of their scheduled ten-round bout, Ernie Barrieau, welterweight champion of Canada, slipped a haymaker to Louie Mack of Chicago after three sessions of furious fighting in which the two boxers showed free desire to mix it up, and frequently stood at close quarters, while they exchanged heavy blows in a furious slugging match. Mack started out well, and for a short time gave Barrieau plenty of action, but later checked this lead with vigorous and offensive tactics. It was easily one of the best bouts presented on any of this season's cards, and Barrieau was given an ovation at its conclusion.

C. P. R. Trounces Bolt Works by Score of 17 to 0—Hand Pitched Steady Game.

The first game at Queen's Park in the Manufacturers League between the C. P. R. and the Bolt and Hinge Works was won by the C. P. R. by the one-sided score of 17 to 0. A number of fans from different factories in the city were at the game. The game could not be called snappy, because of the large score, but it showed promise of a good brand of ball that will be played in the league this year. Not once throughout the game were the Bolt and Hinge in danger of scoring off the Trainmen's pitcher, Rusty Bond. Waud and Bice were the batteries for the Bolt and Hinge Works. Waud was charged up for several hits, while his teammates were accountable for many errors.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., May 17.—Entriees for the Ontario Provincial Olympic Marathon trial to be held in this city on May 24, over the peerless Martin electric road race course, will close on Thursday, May 20. Several entries have already been secured by the secretary, and every indication points to a large entry list for the distance grind. The race will be a modified Marathon of 15 miles 6 laps over the 2½-mile triangular course on which Stuart Allan made his ten-mile record. It will start at 2 o'clock summer time.

The event is being held under the joint auspices of the Martin Amateur Athletic Club and the Chamber of Commerce by special authority of the Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and is open to any registered amateur in good standing, who produces his card and can pass the physical test necessary for a Marathon race.

The prize list is unique. In addition to ten valuable place prizes, with several specials and consolations, the local committee is prepared to place in the hands of the Canadian Olympic committee a cheque for the transportation and expenses of the winner of this race to the Olympic games at Antwerp.

Any further information can be secured on application to W. A. Moore, secretary Ontario Olympic Marathon trials committee, St. Catharines, Ont.

GALT ATHLETIC ASSOC'S GOAL IS 1,000 MEMBERS

GALT, May 18.—The G. W. V. A. membership campaign continues with good results, and by the end of the week it is expected to have over 1,000 members in the big athletic organization.

LONE SCOUT BALL TEAM WANT GAME.

The original London Lone Scout Baseball team, of which Phil Birch (phone number 1027) is manager, is challenging any baseball team in London, whose members' ages will average 16 years. The members of this Lone Scout team claim that other teams have been playing as Lone Scout teams and getting defeated. Birch's team has been organized since three years ago, but has not lost any games yet this year, and its challenge is open to any boys' team in London. There are several hundred members of the Lone Scouts of America in London, the organization being entirely a boys' organization, and unique in that wherever there are sufficient numbers of Lone Scouts to form local organizations, such organizations are independently managed and controlled by the boys themselves, subject to Lone Scout rules.

HOW IS YOUR APPETITE?

Are you always hungry at mealtime, or do you feel as though you don't care whether you eat or not? Do you feel weak and irritable?

If so, your kidneys are to blame. They need a tonic to restore them to their natural working-order. If you neglect them they will give you more trouble later on. Diseased kidneys lead to rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gout, dropsy and other dangerous ailments.

Doctor Clement's Juniper Pills are a sure remedy for all ailments of the kidneys and liver. Get a box today and clear up your poisoned system. Price 50 cents a box, at your druggists, or sent by mail prepaid. The Clement Medicine Company, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

AS YOU WERE

With Tommy Burns on a still hunt for a "hope" in the United Kingdom, and Tex. O'Rourke engaged likewise on this side, probably they'll get a heavy who will fight finally, but thus far their efforts are meeting with no more success than if they were looking for the exchange rate on the Russian rouble. O'Rourke claims to have found one from one of the five strenuous industries—a big logger this time. This will be a change, anyway, from cowboys, miners and firemen—or mere fighters.

Deciding on the five strenuous industries and then locating one of them would be the hardest part of the hunt. Railroad crossing watchmen were struck off the list early, they say.

Anyway, the fight public is getting fed up with a movie champ, and a "leetle" bit with Carpentier's journeyings on a private car, to and yon from one-night $6,000 stands to more of the same price. And still the public, as sick as they are of it, displays in chunks each night the thing it's most noted for—its willingness to pay for being bamfoozled. Carpentier's tour is not panning out any too good, as the Toronto experience showed.

The resumption of track meets is in full swing. With the big Western Ontario interscholastic meet next Monday, the biggest athletic attempt ever made in London, and certain to have far-reaching effects, the track game will have been ushered into this neck of the woods with band music. Word of the revival of the old Manufacturers' Athletic Association and the holding of a meet in June comes right at this juncture, showing that the return is at once permanent and far-reaching. We probably interfered with track athletics in Canada more than with any line of sport, and its return to the city will be welcomed generally.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

There was a ballplayer once upon a time who got a wire as he was catching behind the bat that he had been left $75,000. He called the game and quit right there, and hasn't had a uniform on since. Most ballplayers nowadays would threaten legal proceedings for "annoyance" for being interrupted at their work with such a trivial matter.

To Have Wavy Hair Like Nature's Own

Here's a brand new recipe of unquestioned merit, that you should make note of, unless you are one of the few possessors of naturally wavy hair. It's very simple, for all you need do is to apply a little liquid silmerine before doing up the hair—with a clean tooth brush—and in three hours you will find this has dried in the sweetest curls and waves imaginable. They will be just like "Nature's own," having no resemblance to the effect produced by a hot iron, which is so obviously artificial.

The application is really beneficial to the hair and gives it that lively lustre so much desired. As it is so easy to obtain a few ounces of the liquid silmerine from your druggist—sufficient to keep the hair curly for many weeks—there's no reason now for putting up with either that straight, contrary hair or with the curling iron nuisance.

DON'T GET THE WRONG DESSERT

Many housewives who want Jiffy-Jell get the wrong dessert.

They expect a real-fruit flavor—a condensed fruit juice. They look for a bottle in the package and they fail to find it.

Be careful of the name. There are names which sound like Jiffy-Jell, but the products are not like it.

Jiffy-Jell is the only dessert with these fruit-juice essences in vials. The fruit is crushed then the juice is condensed and sealed in glass vials.

You get real fruit in Jiffy-Jell and the flavor is abundant. You get the delights and the healthfulness of fruit. And fruit is needed daily.

But you wil not get these bottled flavors if you don't get Jiffy-Jell. Be careful.

Why Physicians Recommend Magnesia For Dyspeptics

"Take a little magnesia after meals" is now a favorite dyspepsia prescription among thousands. The reason for this lies in the fact that practically ninety per cent of all stomach trouble is due to acid which irritates and inflames the delicate mucous membrane lining of the stomach and makes natural digestion impossible. Medicines, drugs, and diets all fail simply because they do not remove the acid, the cause of all the trouble. The value of magnesia, which is neither a medicine nor a drug in the ordinary meaning of these words, lies in the fact that it neutralizes the acid. Of the many forms of magnesia such as the oxides, carbonates, milks and fluids, the best is undoubtedly Bisurated Magnesia, a teaspoonful or four tablets of which in a little hot water, after meals, instantly neutralizes the acid, stops the fermentation of the food and thus insures painless, natural digestion. Pure Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist and stomach sufferers should give it a trial—Advt.

HELENE'S MARRIED LIFE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

LXXVI.—A Mad Family.

My thoughts as I went downstairs reverted to my first meeting with that kindly, care-worn man, Mr. Travis Lloyd. He was unhappy. He had told me so. That first walk from the railway station—our discovery of poor Jim lying helpless—my lonely vigil by the roadside—and that dreadful, mad laughter coming from the bushes——

Here my thoughts began to take a definite shape. I began to connect that eerie laughter with the woman who had sought twice to attack me, and who even now was lying—a prisoner—in this house!

That long, low chuckle that came from behind the dining-room curtains late last night—had it not been the counterpart of the eerie sounds I'd heard from the undergrowth while I held my injured husband's head, and prayed that he might live? Yes, the laughter was the same, and must have come from the same demented creature!

Perhaps, then, it was she was had attacked my Jim? She was capable of murder, that I knew. . .

But—what could the motive be?

What was her grudge against poor Jim?

And what had Mr. Travis Lloyd to do with things?

Was it possible that she'd mistaken Jim for Tony? Their height and build were much the same.

But—what grudge could she cherish against Tony?

Perhaps she was merely homicidal, and didn't care a bit about the identity of her victim.

Why had she shot at me tonight? Why had she broken stealthily into my room, and tried to strangle me? What was the motive?

The vague insinuations made against Mr. Travis Lloyd crept back into my memory. Tony had more than hinted at some dark affair. The butler, too, tonight.

That torn fragment of letter I had found, with the instructions written on it! Amy—who was she?

The mystery was thickening, and I couldn't solve it!

I found Alice's husband in the breakfast-room at half-past seven. He was alone, and seated at the table, evidently partaking of a hearty breakfast.

"I want to speak to you a moment, Helene," he said, rising at my entrance. "I've just had a telephone message from Travis Lloyd. He says he's coming over this morning. And he particularly asks me not to communicate with the police, with reference to the affair of last night. Chap seemed awfully worried. He said he guessed from my description that the woman who caused all the disturbance is an old family servant of his. Apparently he knows her. Anyhow, he's coming over, and he assures me that he'll hand her back to the place she came from, with strict injunctions that she won't be permitted to escape again."

I must have looked a shade uneasy, for Alice's husband continued:

"And I want Alice and you to go off somewhere for a change of air. New York, if you like. Or travel a little. Remember, this is my show, Helene. I pay the bills."

I flushed a little. Any reference to money always embarrasses me. Besides, I wasn't in the least hard-up.

"Oh, no. I couldn't possibly permit you to do such a thing. I've trespassed on you far too long——"

He waved aside my protestations. He can be quite authoritative at certain times.

"Why, no, Helene. You've been a blessing. What Alice would have done without you, I don't know. And I leave her in your charge, remember." He regarded me intently. "I think you know what Alice and her happiness mean to me. I want you to promise that you'll keep an eye on her, Helene. She's mighty fond of you, although I know"—here he stammered a little—"I know she's rather difficult at times. But at heart Alice is a splendid girl. And you—you take her the right way, Helene. I'd be so relieved if you promise to stand by her while I'm gone."

The man's voice was full of earnest pleading. It touched me. Heaven alone knows that Alice isn't worthy of such a regard as her husband showers upon her. But there! Life is like that.

"I'll do my very best," I said gently, "I'll give Alice all the time I can. And—if you wish it, and Alice is agreeable—I'll go away for a little holiday with her.

He looked enormously relieved. Evidently the problem of his flighty, spoiled, little wife had been weighing on him.

"Helene, there's just another thing——"

"You must sit down and take your breakfast," I insisted. "You can talk to me at the same time, you know." Deliberately I poured myself out a cup of coffee.

He sat down at the table, and for a moment applied himself industriously to the liver and bacon. Then he said:

"It's about that rotter. Tony Lascelles. I hate Alice to have anything to do with him. Of course, I don't want to curtail her liberty—but a line must be drawn somewhere." He looked tentatively at me. "I've been wondering, Helene, if you'd try to influence Alice. She thinks so much of your opinion——"

I could have laughed aloud, had it not been for Mr. Anstruther's serious and intent expression. What was my opinion to Alice??

PRICE-CUTTING WAVE IN RETAIL CLOTHING COSTS

Spreads From Middle Western To Pacific States, Says Report.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A wave of price-cutting in retail clothing costs reaching from the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific coast were reported today. Dispatches from 24 cities in that territory told of promised reductions in these necessities ranging from 15 per cent to minus profit.

Financial authorities here said that the indications were that the price decline would be limited to ready-to-wear clothing, principally women's garments and silks. Shoes were in the list affected.

Tight money and inadequate transportation facilities were cited among the prime reasons for the mercantile movement. Delays in delivery of goods in which much money had been tied up, together with inability of farmers to get grain and livestock to market, were said in many instances to have worked a hardship on merchants. An officer of one of the leading department stores in Chicago declared that the price reduction now in progress meant also that the merchants were trying to satisfy what he called a hysterical demand from the public for lower prices. These current reductions, he said, might only be temporary.

A financial authority here said that if reports of price-cutting were dependable they indicated a tendency toward a reduction in inventories. Though this might be temporary, he said, it was undoubtedly good, in that it suggested that merchants were going ahead cautiously. Sales are being held under various names.

The murder is supposed to have been a Black Hand affair, but the murderer or murderers got away, and no arrests have been made.

Mandrolo had been living with the wife of another man, who is supposed to know something about the identity and the motives of the men who did the shooting.

BICYCLE THE MOST WONDERFUL MACHINE IN INDIAN'S OPINION

WINNIPEG, Man., May 15. — The Indians who were brought from the Far North to participate in the Hudson Bay anniversary pageant, some of whom had never been in a large city before, when asked what they thought was the most wonderful thing witnessed here, declared it to be the bicycle. The reason for this, it is said, is because he can see the working of the bicycle, whereas he fails to understand in the slightest the wonderful mechanism of the locomotive engine, the aeroplane, the automobile, or the immense structures of the city. The bicycle with its simple mechanism appeals to the Indian's mind, and interests him much more than the more complicated machinery of modern civilization.

The Indians see the value of a bicycle over any other form of transportation.

All This Extra For You

Many a bright, shiny-looking bicycle is a gay deceiver. It is merely built to sell.

In a few short months it becomes a chipped, rusty-looking object that runs as hard as it looks.

Don't be "persuaded" to buy a bicycle merely on its looks.

Extra Satisfaction

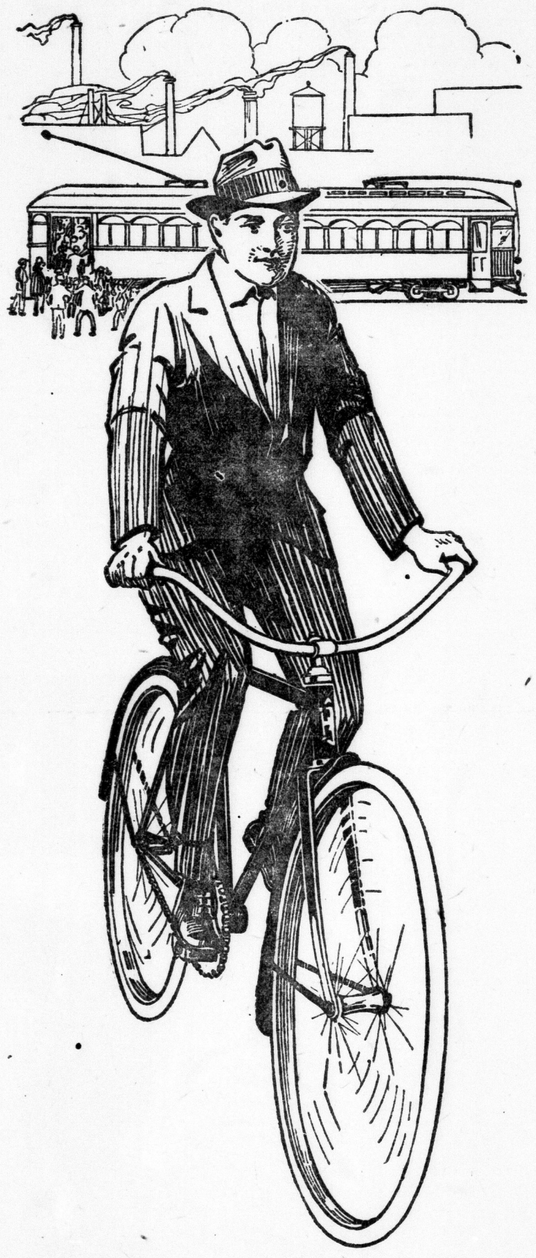

Buy one of the well-known C.C.M. bicycles—made in Canada for more than twenty years.

The C.C.M. trade mark on the frame is an assurance to you of extra quality and satisfaction.

The beauty of the C.C.M. is more than surface deep. There are three coats of rich, brilliant, waterproof enamel over a coat of anti-rust. That means a tough, elastic enamel that will stand wear and weather.

Two Hour Nickel Bath

The smooth, highly-polished nickelling is over rust-proof copper. The parts to be nickelled are left in the nickel baths in a double-strength solution for two hours. Cheap nickelling is given only twenty minutes or so. You see now why C.C.M. nickelling keeps its bright appearance and wears so long.

You don't always spin along smooth pavements. Sometimes you have to bump over ruts and cobble stones. So the C.C.M. is built with a large margin of safety.

The C.C.M. frame has the long, strong, "Fish-mouth" reinforcement at the joints. This makes a rigid, powerful frame. It is a safeguard against "buckling".

Extra Strength

The wheels will stand the jars and jolts, too. The selected hard maple rims have no knots or weak spots. The spokes are of special toughened piano wire.

The C.C.M. is a safer-than-ordinary bicycle.

It is also easier-riding.

The special construction of the driving parts gives the direct line drive that makes the C.C.M. run with the least effort. It steers more easily, too. It's a joy to ride a C.C.M.

New Hercules Brake

And the new Hercules Positive Drive Brake—the Coaster Brake without a side arm — is included as regular equipment without extra charge.

There are C.C.M. dealers in almost every locality in Canada. Look for the C.C.M. sign. Then drop in and see the new models.

DRAYTON WOULD TAX NECESSARIES OF MASSES UNDER LIST OF LUXURIES; FIELDING MOVES TO REVISE TARIFF

Union Government Proposes To Place Burden On People.

EVERYTHING IS LUXURY?

The Finance Minister Again Promises Commission To Work On Tariff

OTTAWA, May 18. — A crowded House and crowded galleries welcomed Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, as he rose today to make his first budget speech. The speech was long and occupied the greater part of the afternoon. Sir Henry dealt first with the economic and financial position of the Dominion. He emphasized prosperity in trade; the growth of revenue—last year's revenue of $388,000,000 was the best ever collected. He spoke of Canada's strong position in regard to currency.

Features of Budget.

The main features of his budget proposals were:

Taxes on luxuries.

Excise taxes on motor cars increased from 10 to 15 per cent.

Increased duties on beer, wine and spirits.

Tax of one per cent on the sales of all manufacturers, wholesale dealers, jobbers and importers.

Tax will not apply to specified essentials.

Additional stamp taxes on bills of exchange and promissory notes of $100 or over. Tax of two cents for each share of stock transferred.

Tax on moving picture films removed.

Tax on incomes of $5,000 per annum and upwards increased by five per cent.

Business profits tax renewed and modified. Exemption to be extended from seven to ten per cent.

System of collecting business profits and income taxes changed. Each taxpayer to be made his own assessor.

Entire removal of customs duty of 7½ per cent.

A feature of the luxury tax is its general application. It hits articles of all kinds.

Public Sittings.

After prorogation, Sir Heenry announcd, public sitting with a view to tariff revision would be held throughout the Dominion. The investigations would be conducted by the department of finance with the assistance of such expert and other advisers as would be necessary to conduct a thorough inquiry. The policy of the Government called for a thorough revision of the tariff with a view to the adoption of such reasonable measures as were necessary:

(a) To assist in providing adequate revenues.

(b) To stabilize legitimate industries and to encourage the establishment of new industries essential to the proper economic development of the nation, to the end that a proper and ever-increasing field of useful and remunerative employment be available for the nation's workers.

(c) To develop to the fullest extent Canada's natural resources.

(d) Specially to promote and increase trade with the mother country, the sister dominions and colonies and crown dependencies.

(e) To prevent the use of the tariff for the exploitation of the consumer and,

(f) To safeguard the interests of the Canadian people in the existing struggle for commercial and industrial supremacy.

To Adjust Tariff.

"As a means of raising revenue," Sir Henry added, "the tariff should be so adjusted as to place the chief burden upon those best able to bear it."

Articles of luxury should be heavily taxed through the imposition of customs and excise rates. Necessaries of life, not produced nor manufactured in Canada, should, if taxed at all, bear only such imposts as were necessary for revenue purposes.

As Sir Henry was outlining the proposed increases on alcoholic liquors, Hon. Jacques Bureau raised a laugh with the query:

"Why tax beer?"

"Cheer up," replied Sir Henry, "we aren't going to tax two per cent."

Sir Henry was followed by Hon. W. S. Fielding, former minister of finance in the Laurier cabinet.

Drayton's Tax Proposals

OTTAWA, Ont., May 18.—(By the Canadian Press).—The following is a summary of the taxation proposals submitted to Parliament by the minister of finance this afternoon:

LUXURY TAXES.

Ten per cent of the total purchase price on boots and shoes costing over $9 a pair, men's and boys' suits costings over $45 each, men's and women's overcoats costing over $50 each, fur coats and robes over $100 each, women's dresses over $45, women's suits over $60, and on hats, hose, neckwear, shirts, purses and gloves costing above certain specified figures, as well as on some other wearing apparel, all fans, opera cloaks, ivory-handled cutlery, cut glass ware, velvet and silk fabrics, lace, ribbons, silk embroideries and sporting goods; also on trunks over $40 each; and vallses, suitcases, etc., over $25 each. This tax to be paid by the purchaser to the vendor at time of sale.

Ten per cent on pleasure boats, yachts, canoes and motor boats, cameras, candy and confectionery, chewing gum, firearms, shells or cartridges, pianos, organs, musical instruments, and plated ware adapted for household use. This tax payable at the time of sale by Canadian manufacturer, or when imported.

TOILETWARE AND JEWELRY.

Twenty per cent of total purchase price on such articles as cigar and cigarette holders and pipes costing over $2.50, humidors and other equipment for smokers, hunting, shooting and riding garments, fancy pocket knives, gold, silver, ebony and ivory toiletware, jewelry, articles of silver adapted for household or office use, fur wearing apparel (except as mentioned above), liveries, Oriental rugs, expensive carpets and curtains, and chandeliers. This tax payable by the purchaser at time of purchase.

PIANOS, GRAPHOPHONES.

Twenty per cent on mechanical player-pianos, graphophones and mechanical musical instruments and records used therewith. Fifty per cent on articles of gold for household use. These two taxes being payable at the time of sale by manufacturers or when imported.

PLAYING CARDS.

Twenty-five cents a pack on cards selling at wholesale rates not over $25 per gross pack, and fifty cents a pack on cards above $25 per gross pack.

BEER, WINES AND SPIRITS.

Increase in excise duties on beer of 30c a gallon, non-sparkling wines, 30c on a gallon; spirits $2.00 a gallon, and on sparkling wines, $3.00 a gallon.

MOTOR CARS.

Excise tax on Canadian manufactured and imported cars increased from ten to fifteen per cent.

SALES TAX.

One per cent on the sales of all manufacturers, wholesale dealers, jobbers or importers (not retailers). This tax not to apply to large list of essential foodstuffs, cattle foods, anthracite or bituminous coal, or to goods exported.

STAMP DUTIES.

Existing tax on checks continued, but rate increased on bills of exchange and promissory notes. Two cents for bills of $100 or less, and two cents for each additional $100 or fractional part thereof. Stamp duties on patent medicines, etc., henceforth to be affixed by manufacturer or importer instead of retailer as now.

TAX IS ABOLISHED.

Films—A tax of 15 cents for each day used abolished because of inequality of incidence as between small and large theatres.

All the above taxes are effective from tomorrow, the 19th inst.

INCOME TAX.

By last year's legislation income taxes payable this year on 1919 income were very substantially raised. A further general addition to these taxes of five per cent is now added, on incomes of $5,000 and up to be effective this year.

In future, income tax returns must be accompanied by a check for at least twenty-five per cent or the whole of the amount estimated to be payable. If paid in installments, interest at 6 per cent is to be charged and payment in full is required within six months after return is made by means of three equal bi-monthly installments. Heavy penalties are provided for incorrect returns.

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX.

Present tax is modified to increasing the exemption allowed from seven to ten per cent and changing the schedule of taxation to the following:

On profits in excess of ten per cent on capital, but not exceeding twenty per cent, tax will be twenty per cent.

On profits in excess of fifteen per cent, but not exceeding twenty per cent, tax will be thirty per cent.

On profits in excess of twenty per cent on capital, but not exceeding twenty per cent, tax will be thirty per cent.

On profits in excess of twenty per cent on capital, but not exceeding thirty per cent, tax will be fifty per cent. On profits in excess of thirty per cent on capital, tax will be sixty per cent.

For small businesses with capital of not less than $25,000 and under $50,000, twenty per cent on all profits exceeding ten per cent will be taken instead of twenty-five per cent, as at present.

Under legislation of last session the maximum scale of business tax is in effect this year, and the modified tax will apply to 1920 profits taxable in 1921.

TARIFF CHANGES.

The seven and a half per cent war customs duty it taken off all remaining items. Last year the five per cent British preferential war tax was entirely removed, as well as the seven and a half per cent on food, clothing, agricultural implements, etc. The war customs duties imposed in 1915 are now entirely removed.

Sir Henry also announced that public sittings for tariff revision would be held throughout Canada after prorogation. "Our policy," he said, "calls for a thorough revision of the tariff with a view to the adoption of such reasonable measures as may be necessary."

Articles of luxury, Sir Henry said, should be heavily taxed. Food commodities and other necessaries of life, not produced or manufactured in Canada, should, if taxed at all, bear only such imports as were necessary for revenue purposes.

HON. W. S. FIELDING REPLIES TO DRAYTON BUDGET PLANS

OTTAWA, May 18.—(By Canadian Press).—Introducing the resolutions embodying his tax proposals at the end of his formal budget speech today, Sir Henry Drayton expressed the belief that the Canadian people would meet the task of liquidating Canada's financial burdens during the coming year.

"Some people today think that the country is in a bad state. I don't," said Sir Henry. "Some people apparently believe that the task ahead is a bigger one than Canada can look after. I do not. I wonder if we are not altogether too prone to forget what Canada has done during the war. The nation that has done so much for Europe and the world, the people which formed the spearhead in the forces of righteousness, cannot fail to do something for that Canada which is all the dearer to us for the sacrifices which have been made by her men and women, on the principle that it is impossible to do too much for Canada."

Applause for Mr. Fielding.

Hon. W. S. Fielding was greeted with great applause from the Opposition benches when he rose to reply to the minister. He congratulated Sir Henry upon his speech. The minister of finance, he said, had taken office at a time when conditions were difficult. It was not during the war that the Government was confronted with difficulties in financing, because at that time the spirit of the country was aroused, people were ready to give freely in support of the cause for which Canada was fighting, and Parliament was willing to vote money for war purposes. Now was the time when financing would be difficult. The new minister of finance had taken office at just about the time the last Victory Loan was floated. Mr. Fielding congratulated him on obtaining six hundred and seventy million from the people without issuing tax-free bonds.

White Lacked Courage.

If the former minister of finance had been more courageous bonds issued in previous Victory Loans would also have been subject to taxation and the country would have derived considerable revenue therefrom. As it stood now, Victory bonds to the value of $1,380,000,000, all exempt from taxation, had been sold by the Government.

Mr. Fielding said that Canada had discovered herself financially. The fact that the people of the Dominion did subscribe two billions to various Government loans might be regarded as gratifying. But there was no rose without its thorn. If one turned up the last volume of the public accounts issued on March 31, 1919, two items would be found under the heading of Bank of Montreal—trading account. One of these items showed that the Government had paid out $7,450,000 and received back $5,177,904, making a net loss of $2,272,000.

Was Playing Stocks.

These items simply showed that the Government had been trading on the stock exchange with the money of the people of Canada. It would be said that this trading had been undertaken to stabilize the loan, but that did not after the fact of the loss. The loss in the trading account for the last fiscal year would be more.

Mr. Fielding said the Government had made an arrangement with the banks for the purpose of keeping up the prices of bonds. Sir Thomas White retorted that stabilization had not cost the country a cent. Mr. Fielding reiterated that the public accounts showed a difference of $2,272,000 in receipts and expenditure. He did not blame the finance minister for offering the banks protection. War-time conditions demanded war-time provisions, but now that the war had passed he warned the minister not to do any more of this sort of financing than he was forced to do. If he had made promises he must keep them, but no further protection should be offered.

Banks Hard Up.

It was gratifying to note that Canadian people had subscribed so much money. It must not be overlooked that this meant so much money taken out of the regular channels. One result of this heavy subscription was seen in the fact that the banks were finding themselves hard up and were contracting their credits. The housing situation arose because there were no loans available for people wishing to build houses.

The Government had drawn this

How "Luxury" Tax Works

OTTAWA, May 18.—Mr. R. W. Breadner, commissioner of taxation for Canada, was asked tonight how merchants would proceed tomorrow morning in connection with the collection of the new taxes, which become effective as soon as business opens tomorrow.

Mr. Breadner said that each merchant selling goods that come under the new taxes would show the price of goods on his invoice and also the amount of tax, whether it was ten, twenty or fifty per cent. Two copies of the invoice would be made out, the merchant keeping one. He would keep his copy in hand and ultimately hand it over to the inland revenue department. The department would then collect the money as represented by these invoices.

Thus, anyone getting a $50 suit will get a bill reading:

To suit of clothes	$50.00
To luxury tax, ten per cent	5.00
Total	$55.00

The man who buys a $200 phonograph will receive a bill reading:

To phonograph	$200.00
To luxury tax, twenty per cent	40.00
Total	$240.00

The man buying a $500 diamond or gold ornaments costing this amount will receive a bill:

To diamond ring	$500.00
To luxury tax, fifty per cent	250.00
Total	$750.00

Mr. Breadner was of the opinion that the matter would work out all right, and that after the first day or two there would be little confusion.

Union Govt. Budget Adds Burden To Careworn Housewife.

TOILERS MUST PAY

Shoes and Clothing Taxed As Luxuries Under Drayton Proposals.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, May 18.—The first budget of Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, delivered this afternoon in the House of Commons, further illustrates the old and time-worn adage that the consumer always gets stung. Its affects will be felt almost immediately by the already harrassed and careworn housewife, and the salaried man, who has been endeavoring to cope with the ever-increasing cost of living, for its provisions go into force automatically. In fact, it is a high-cost-of-living budget pure and simple. But instead of undertaking to reduce the high cost of living it will very substantially increase it.

In order to arouse the people to further heroic deeds of sacrifice, Sir Henry stripped the financial statement of the Dominion of all the pitiful and deceiving camouflage with which his predecessor, Sir Thomas White, had during all the years of war attempted to hoodwink the public. He declared that the national debt, instead of standing at something short of two billions, actually amounted to two billions and a quarter, because of the fact that the Canadian Northern and other white elephants acquired by the Government which had in the past been balanced off as assets were really non-realizing so far as interest is concerned, and were really liabilities. He announced further that, in spite of this serious burden of debt, the Government proposed this year expending the enormous sum of over half a billion dollars.

Cheerful Declaration.

It was a cheerful declaration indeed. But the minister was very hopeful, very optimistic. What the gallant soldiers of the Dominion had done toward winning the war they could do toward whittling down the national debt, and paying for the Government's modest expenditures. What their dependents had suffered trying to eke out an existence on a stationary separation allowance they would not mind suffering again in order that the interest on the bonds purchased by the profiteer should be duly met and paid. In fact, he had no apprehensions of the future at all. These, it may be admitted, were not his exact words, but that is just about what it amounts to.

The excess profits tax (which has since the war commenced, reaped but the miserable sum of a $125,000,000 at the outside), has had the sting taken out of it, and has been much reduced. It was really a very irksome tax to those who made excess profits during the war, and while it is to be continued for the accounting period of 1920, the force of it has been much reduced. The 7½ per cent war duties are to be entirely abolished, and that is supposed to be some relief to the general public, but the 10 per cent exchange will act perfectly well in its place so far as protection is concerned, so the consumer can look for little relief in that direction. The income tax has been bucked up, and will hit the man of moderate means as hard as the man of wealth.

So-called Luxuries.

But the crowning exploit of the new minister of finance is his so-called tax on "luxuries."

Probably the average man is not much concerned over the imposition of a tax of 10 per cent on yachts, motor-boats or expensive automobiles. Neither, it may be said, will the average rich man. It is also possible that there will be no kick against a tax of 20 per cent on gold, silver, ebony and ivory toilet-ware, or on chandeliers or on tapestry curtains, or on liveries, livery boots and hats, or on oriental rugs or on other real luxuries. But the trouble is that it is not on real luxuries that the revenue will be collected.

Boots and shoes at less than nine dollars a pair these days are not a luxury; they are a curiosity, and in most cases made of paper. Yet anyone who pays in excess of nine dollars for a pair of boots or shoes must also pay to the Government 10 per cent of the purchase price. Hose or stockings at a dollar at present are usually full of holes at the end of the first day. Yet the same imposition is placed upon the person, who buys a pair at a price in excess of that.

Precarious Investment.

A forty-five-dollar suit of any kind these days is a precarious investment. Yet a suit costing above that amount is considered a "luxury," and the bold purchaser must pay 10 per cent of the price of it to the Government. Other luxuries include neckties at a dollar each; ladies' dresses at $45 each; ladies'

Gillette Brings Down the Budget

TODAY in 20,000,000 homes, the Gillette Safety Razor brings down the cost of shaving. The only increases are in Comfort and Shaving.

As in the past, those who sit and wait for others to shave them will be subjected to the normal fee, an optional tip and a heavy tax on time, while only Gillette self-shavers will be exempt from Stropping and Honing duties.

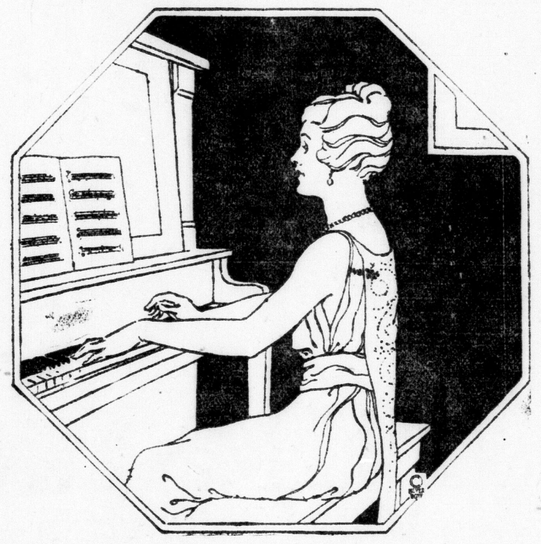

It is obvious, under the general budget, greater production, and increases in the number of working hours will be necessitated, so that the ten minutes that can be saved every morning by Gillette Shaving advance in relative importance.

The price of the Gillette Safety Razor is still Five Dollars.

suits at $60; ladies' bonnets and hats at $12; men's hats at $5; men's shirts at $3 and a long list of other articles, whose specified price (under luxury standards) has not been seen since before the war. In fact there is scarcely an article of apparel which will not be jacked up 10 per cent in price by the new budget proposals.

Not satisfied with that, Sir Henry proposes that the innocent sporting organizations of the country shall pay toward the defraying of the debt which his predecessor has piled up. Sporting goods of all kinds, from billiard tables to base balls, which cost in excess of 50 cents, must pay to the treasury 10 per cent of the actual cost. The person who plays solitaire or other games of chance must pay an extra 25 cents for his pack of cards. The person who loves music is to be mulcted 20 per cent of the cost of his player-piano, his gramophone, and the records therefor.

Tax on Glass of Beer.

And last, but not least, the man who when his day's work is done desires a glass of beer must in the future pay 30 cents per gallon more than he paid in the past, while on stronger liquors there is an extra tax of $2.00 a gallon. This, of course, does not affect the man who has already stocked up his cellar, and who can laugh at taxes.

The ultimate consumer comes in once again for trouble. There is a new "sales" tax of 1 per cent. Under this interesting impost the manufacturer adds 1 per cent to the cost of his goods to the wholesaler. The wholesaler passes it on to the retailer. And the rtailer (of course) passes it on to the consumer. Stung once more.

It is a very interesting budget, indeed.

HON. W. S. FIELDING

money from its regular channels by offering high interests. It was offering 7 per cent in New York for railway funds. The Government should gradually get its finances into shape where Canada could float her loans through regular channels, so that home capital could be left intact to care for home financial needs.

The man in the street did not understand the present time methods of talking in millions and billions. These terms came as a knockout blow to him. Mr. Fielding argued that the average Canadian should be given an opportunity to understand what the country was really facing, then he would know that every man would have to do his share to meet the future. Mr. Fielding was still speaking when the House rose at 6 o'clock for dinner.

Shared Optimism.

Resuming the debate at 8 o'clock, Mr. Fielding said he shared the optimism and confidence in the future of Canada expressed by the finance minister.

"I think the Canadians are about the sanest people on earth," he said.

Mr. Fielding gave statistics on Canada's indebtedness in 1914 as compared with the fiscal year just closed.

The national expenditure in 1914 was $24.11 per head, and $75.01 per head in 1920.

In 1914 Canada, with a population of 7,725,000, had a gross debt of $554,391,368.86; in 1920, when government officials—and he hoped they were correct—estimated the population at 9,000,000, the gross debt was $3,014,483,774.12. This worked out at $71.75 per head before the war, and $334.90 now.

"This is an immense debt and a moment's reflection will make any thinking Canadian realize the gravity of the situation," he commented.

Mr. Fielding did not give the figures for any partisan reason or to cause anyone harm. In 1899 Canada's assets were placed at $77,000,000; now they are estimated at over a billion. He hoped the Government would not rely too much on assets and find itself in the position of the man who, when he gave a note off-hand, said, "Thank God that is another debt paid.

Serious Situation.

With all the economy the minister has manifested or that he can manifest there is certainly going to be a very serious financial situation. While we who understand it are willing to face it bravely and courageously—and I believe the people of Canada will feel the same—yet we must understand quite clearly that we have got to carry a largely increased burden of taxation."

Hon. Mr. Fielding then touched on the duty of every member to impress upon his constituents the need of leaving over every possible item of public expenditure. Only the most urgent undertakings should be gone ahead with, and the Government should be willing to adopt a self-denying ordnance.

Mr. Fielding condemned alike the policy of absolute protection and of wide-open free trade. On the one hand, the laudable policy of protection of infant industries became folly when it permitted the infant, after it had obtained vigorous maturity, to "knock the old man around the house." On the other hand, a policy which permitted manufacturers abroad to flood the Canadian market with cut-rate products until it had closed out domestic manufacture, and then to exploit the field which they had unchallenged was especially foolish.

Solves Problems.

Going on to speak of the farmers' party, Mr. Fielding said that he was not sure that a farmer government would solve the national problems. If the farmers came into power, he thought they would have to moderate their views a good deal. If these views were pressed on the country at this time it was doubtful if they would be generally popular. "The farmer is not a dangerous man," said Mr. Fielding, "but if he wants to achieve the good of the nation he must come out of his isolation."

Mr. Fielding prophesied a drastic rearrangement of the House at the next election. "My old friends on the treasury benches will be beaten. I think they feel that themselves. The Liberals, I think, will be the largest party in the House. There will be a strong party representation."

The farmers could not do any constructive work if they remained in isolation, he said. They must associate themselves with some other body in the House.

Laid Down by Liberals.

Mr. Fielding declared that the only safe and sane tariff policy in times of stress and strain was that laid down by the Liberals in 1911, with the amendments about to be made when that party went out of power.

Mr. Fielding urged that the tariff be reduced on necessities and comforts of life. Canada was doing less than Great Britain or the United States in this matter.

Moves Amendment.

Concluding his speech, in the budget this evening, Hon. W. S. Fielding, former minister of finance, moved, seconded by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Opposition:

"That all the words after 'that' to end of the question, he omitted, and the following inserted thereof:

"The minister of finance in the budget speech in the session of 1919, gave assurance to the House that during the ensuing parliamentary recess there would be a public inquiry by the minister and one or more of his colleagues, into the customs tariff, with a view to a general revision of the tariff at the following session.

"That the promised public inquiry has not taken place, and the expected proposals for tarrif revision at this session have not been submitted to the House.

Burden of Taxation.

"That in view of the continued increase in the cost of living; of the greatly increased burden of taxation; of the hardship which many of the people suffer from these causes, and the unrest naturally arising therefrom; and in view of the desirability of adopting measures to increase production, and effect such relief to consumers and producers as may be within the power of Parliament, the House is of the opinion that, pending a wider revision of the tariff, substantial reductions of the burdens of customs taxation should be made with a view to the accomplishing of two purposes of the highest importance—first, diminishing the very high cost of living which presses so severely on the masses on the people; second, reducing the cost of the instruments of production in the industries based on the natura l re-industries based on the natural re-development of which is essential to the progress and prosperity of this country."

WALL STREET.

New York, May 19.—Stringent credit conditions provoked further extensive selling of Liberty bonds and Victory notes, mostly at new low records, on the stock exchange today. By 12:30 o'clock, on sales approximating $20,000,000 par value, new points of discount were established by Liberty first and second 4's, the secon dand fourth 4¼'s the econ dand fourth 4¼'s, and Victory 3¾'s. Heavy liquidation over the counter or at private sale also was reported by bankers and dealers in bonds.

New York, May 19—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The movement of prices was again mainly downward at the opening of today's stock market session. A majority of the active issues reacted fractionally, but Royal Dutch, American Woolen and Studebaker soon forfeited 1 to 2 points. Dealings were very light, pointing to another dull session. In the bond market, however, there are early indications of further extensive liquidation of Liberty issues.

Noon.—Stocks extended their decline during the morning, the reaction embracing oils, motors, steels and food shares at extreme losses of 1 to 5 points. Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, Pierce-Arrow, Chandler, Republic Iron, Baldwin Locomotive, Atlantic-Gulf and American Woolen comprised the weakest issues. United States Steel offered some resistance to pressure, and rails suffered only moderate reaction. Sentiment continued to be adversely affected by the depreciation of Liberty bonds. The first and second 4's and Victory 3¾'s recorded new minimums. Offerings of call money at 7 per cent failed to stimulate trading.

1:30 p.m.—The market became active at midday, but wholly at the expense of values, all leaders making further losses. Steady offerings of Liberty bonds at lower prices, and an advance of discounts by the local federal reserve bank directed renewed attention to the strained credit situation.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Montreal, May 19.—The local market displayed considerable strength during the first hour this morning. Brompton and Howard Smith were the leaders, with Breweries running close behind. Brompton opened at 101½, ¼ below last night's close. It soon gained, and in eight sales rose to 104½, from which point it sagged to 103. Howard Smith opened at 98 and went to par, where it was steady during the first hour. Abitibi under good demand was steady at 67½. Breweries lost a point in the early trading to 50. Brazilian was steady at 43¼, and Atlantic Sugar at 94¾. Other issues were quiet.

HOG PRICES FIRMER ON LOCAL MARKET

Fat Sows Selling At $15 and $15.25 Per Cwt.

Hogs were firmer on the local market this morning, dressed selling at $26 per cwt., and live at $19 to $19.25. Fat sows are now up to a new high price, at $15 to $15.25.

Rhubarb has taken a considerable fall in price, the outdoor product being sold at 75 cents a dozen bunches. Asparagus eased somewhat today, selling at $1.40 and $1.50 per dozen.

Hay, straw and oats are firm. Oats are scarce at $3.70 to $3.75 per cwt. Only one load of hay was offered on the local market this morning by 9:30. The price is steady.

Wheat is again on the upward trend $2 per bushel being the leading price. This price does not include the 40 cents allowed by the government. Wheat has been scarce for some time, none having been recorded on the market for the past two weeks.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, May 19.—The market opened weak and immediately broke badly in sympathy with a break of 12c in May corn at Chicago.

May oats opened unchanged to ⅜c lower, at $1 17½@1 17⅝; July unchanged to ⅝c lower at $1 08@1 07⅝.

Barley 2c lower for July at $1 62.

July flax opened 5c lower at $4 85.

Chicago, May 19.—Opening: Corn—July, $1 67¾; September, $1 57½.

Oats—July, 88¾c; September, 74c.

Chicago, May 19.—Acute weakness manifested itself today in the corn market. May delivery at one time showed a fall of 12c a bushel, but trade in that month was comparatively small, being restricted to dealers who have government food licenses. Setbacks in the more active options, July and September, although not so extreme, gave clear evidence of unusual selling pressure both on the part of longs and shorts. Opening prices, which ranged from ¾c to 2⅞c lower, were followed by decided further setbacks and then something of a rally.

Oats showed relative firmness as compared with corn. Big commission houses were aggressive buyers, and were able to take all the offerings. After opening ¾c to 1⅜c lower, the market sagged a little more and then began to harden.

COTTON.

Liverpool, May 19.—Cotton—Futures closed steady; May, 25.30d; June, 25.12d; July, 25.02d; August, 24.82d; September, 24.49d; October, 24.19d; November, 23.79d; December, 23.48d; January, 23.25d; February, 23d; March, 22.75d; April, 22.50d.

PROVISIONS.

Liverpool, May 19.—Hams—Short cut, 184s.

Bacon—Cumberland cut, 184s 6d; Wiltshire cut, 187s; clear bellies, 212s; long clear middles, light and heavy, 202s; short clear backs, 191s; shoulders, square, 138s; do, New York, 134s 6d.

Lard—Prime western, in tierces, 158s 6d; American refined, in pails, 155s 6d.

Chicago, May 19.—Provisions were steadied by new upturns in the value of hogs. Only slight declines occurred owing to the weakness of corn.

OILS.

Liverpool, May 19.—Turpentine Spirits —185s.

Rosin—Common, 55s 6d.

Petroleum—Refined, 2s 1½d.

War Kerosene—No. 2, 2s 2½d.

Tallow—Australian, 87s 6d.

EXCHANGE RATES.

Paris, May 19.—Another marked decline in foreign currency occurred in the Paris market this morning. The pound sterling opened at 48 francs, and the American dollar at 12 francs 50 centimes. Yesterday's closing quotations were 53 francs for th pound and 13 francs 54 centimes for the dollar. A high official of the Bank of France expressed the view today that the sharp decline of the exchange rates meant the beginning of a return to the old equilibrium, ruled by the law of supply and demand. He considered that the French Government decree prohibiting importations of luxuries from Great Britain and the United States was the starting-point, and that other reasons were the results of the Hythe conference, when the settlement of the German indemnity question began to take definite shape, the French business world becoming for the first time confident that Germany would pay something of her debt.

New York, May 19.—Sterling exchange was easy today at $3 80¾ for demand and $3 81½ for cables.

Canadian dollars were quoted at 89.75c.

CLINICS WELL ATTENDED

Keen Interest Is Shown by Mothers in Child Welfare Work.

Col. W. M. Gartshore, president of the local Child Welfare Association opened the evening meeting at the Technical School last night with a few words expressing gratification at the splendid attendance of mothers at the clinics and progress of child welfare work in the city. Dr. E. J. Pratt of Toronto was one of the chief speakers of the occasion, his subject being the work done in Toronto with regard to mental defectives. Dr. Pratt has been working for the last four years on the psychiatric clinic in the Toronto General Hospital.

"The only logical solution to the feeble-minded problem is the institution, where such children are happiest and best, and are no longer a menace to the community," he declared. "People talk about the expense which such will entail, and I can reply to them only by saying that the expense must be entailed one way or another—either to prevent crime by the establishment of such institutions or in punishing it in hospital wards, jails and reformatories. And the people had better put the money up in the most honorable way, which is for prevention. What we need today is a broad and statesmanlike policy of dealing with crime, which takes into account the preventive and precautionary methods.

Closely Related.

"Everybody is noticing today the close and alarming relationship between juvenile delinquency and mental defectives, and is beginning to see that the letting of these mental defectives loose on the streets is a crime against society. Out of 12,000 children in some of the Toronto public schools recently investigated, 173 were discovered to be below the 70 per cent grade of mental deficiency. A few of these might be trained to manual labor in special classes in the schools, but the majority of them are fit only for institutions.

"Oh, but cannot you appeal to the moral sense of these children?" say some. I am not one to decry moral reform in any way whatever, but I know that there is a type of individual to whom you cannot appeal on any moral grounds whatever, because that basis of response does not exist in them."

Compliments London.

The second speaker of the evening was Miss Mary Power, director of the Provincial Bureau of Child Welfare. She began by congratulating the city of London on the wonderful progress made in baby welfare work during the last three years, giving special mention to Col. Gartshore, Miss Bertha Smith and her assistant nurses. The London association was as yet a private agency, she said, its child welfare work not being done under any civic body. In Toronto there were over 100 public health nurses, all, however, working under the board of public health; in Hamilton the work was being done by a private agency as in London, and in Kingston and Whitby under the auspices of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Alarming Statistics.

Some of the statistics she gave were alarming.

"In Ontario we are losing about 7,000 babies yearly," she said. "In 1918 7,000 babies born alive, died in their first year and that same year there were in addition 3,000 still births registered. And of the 7,000 the greatest percentage died under one month of age, and of these latter, the greatest percentage died during the first week, showing that a great many infant deaths are caused by lack of pre-natal care.

"Toronto's infant death rate is now below 30 in every 1,000, Hamilton's is 97 in 1,000, and London's almost 117 in every 1,000, so that you see London has a long way to go yet, even to arrive at Toronto's present state. It is the aim of most communities, however, to get their infant mortality down to New Zealand's rate, which is but 40 in every thousand."

Gift of Health.

At the close of the addresses a splendid educational film was shown, entitled "The Priceless Gift of Health." Here two babies were seen starting off in life with the same chance, the one arriving at boyhood perfectly fit and ready for a splendid job on account of the excellent care which had been given him by his mother, and the other handicapped through ill health caused by ignorance and lack of care. A vocal solo by Miss Josephine McCarthy, accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Jordan, completed the evening's program.

In the afternoon excellent practical talks were given the mothers by Dr. W. J. Tillmann, who spoke on "The Baby's First Year"; Dr. Robert Ferguson, who spoke on "The Care of Mothers Through the Pre-Natal Period," and Miss Stuart, who gave a talk on "Preparations of Food For Young Children." T. G. McCullough opened the meeting with a brief address.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Fred Landon Chosen as President for Ensuing Year.

The London and Middlesex Historical Society held its annual meeting in the Public Library last night, when officers for the year were elected as follows: Honorary president, Dr. Ch. T. Campbell; president, Fred Landon; first vice-president, Mrs. Brickenden; second vice-president, Miss Evans; secretary, Harold Rennie; treasurer, Dr. J. Davis Barnett; auditors, Major T. J. Murphy and Henry Macklin.

The society held seven meetings during the year, printed the tenth number of the society's transactions, and has a balance on hand of $150. Miss Priddis read concluding portions of the diary of Rev. William Proudfoot, a section of which, it is expected, will be printed by the society this year.

It was suggested that a special effort should be made this coming year to encourage younger people in historical research, particularly Western University students, by giving them the opportunity to present papers before the society and receive the comment and criticism of the members. A program committee was named, consisting of the president, Professor John Dearness and Andrew Stevenson.

AWARDED M. C.

LIEUT. JOHN A. ELDER, who was killed in France, October 30, 1918. Rev. John Elder, Melbourne, has received the military cross awarded his son.

RECEIVES MILITARY CROSS AWARDED SON

Rev. John Elder of Melbourne Recipient of Decoration.

Rev. John Elder of Melbourne, Ont., has just received from Brig.-Gen. Panet the Military Cross awarded his son, Lieut. John Andrew Dow Elder.

Gen. Panet writes as follows:

"Inclosed herewith is the Military Cross, awarded to your late son, Lieut. John Andrew Dow Elder, 38th Battalion, also citation of the deed performed on the battlefield, to which the award applies. Will you please accept my sincere regrets that your son did not live to receive in person this token of his gallant service?"

The citation is as follows: "Awarded the Military Cross: Lieut. John Andrew Dow Elder, 38th Battalion, Canadian Infantry, Eastern Ontario Regiment. During operations in the vicinity of Bourlon, between September 27 and October 2, 1918, he, as battalion signalling officer, personally superintended the upkeep of communications under heavy shell fire and machine gun fire. The communication in the battalion was maintained throughout, the entire operation in a most satisfactory manner, which made possible several quick changes in disposition necessary owing to enemy counter-attack. He showed great gallantry and energy throughout."

Lieut. Elder was a graduate of London Collegiate Upper School. After leaving school he served for a year on the staff of the Royal Bank. He entered McMaster University, Toronto, in 1914, and was in the graduating class of 1917. He enlisted in January, 1916, as signaling officer of the 147th Battalion, and went to France attached to the 38th Battalion. He saw two years' service at the front, and was through most of the important engagements during that time. He fell on the field of honor on October 30, 1918, and is buried in the little French cemetery at Emercicourt.

CANE PRESENTED TO RETIRING JEWELER

At a banquet of the London Jewelers' Club held last evening in the Royal Cafe, Alfred Morphy was the guest of honor, and during the meeting was presented with a very handsome cane. The presentation was made by C. H. Ward, and short addresses eulogistic of the cordial relations that have always existed between Mr. Morphy and the men in the trade were made by President John S. Barnard, A. E. Cooper, Charles Jones, W. G. Young and H. H. Young. Mr. Morphy is retiring from the jewelry business. He made an appropriate reply in acknowledgment of the club's gift.

John S. Barnard and Harry H. Young were re-elected as president and secretary of the organization.

ALL PATHS LEAD TO GOD, SAYS HANCHETT

Speaker Commences Series of Lectures Explaining Theosophy From All Viewpoints.

Francis G Hanchett of Los Angeles, formerly assistant United States attorney at Chicago, now a national lecturer for the American section of the Theosophical Society, gave his lecture on "Paths to Heaven" last evening at Theosophical Hall, 212 Dundas street.

Mr. Hanchett said that theosophy, having as its watchword tolerance, sees many paths upward—that all paths lead to God—to heaven, or harmony, which is heaven. They all lead up the mountain of knowledge to the goal of human evolution. Some of us come up on one side of the mountain and some on the other side, but we all meet at the top.

Among the "paths to heaven," of which theosophy teaches, are the "path of knowledge," the "path of devotion," and the "path of action or service." The "path of pursuit," by which the man of the world seeks happiness, is also a good path, as in playing with the tops of wealth and fame the man gains will power and the power of thought, which he can use for service when he takes the "path of return" towards heaven, which is the native house of the soul.

The "path to peace" is taught by all great religions. Christ called it "the straight and narrow path." The Hindu religion calls it "the razor edge path," as it is so straight and narrow and so difficult to travel. The Buddha called it "the middle path." The cultivation of moderation and equilibrium is one of the surest and safest ways to promote the growth of the soul. This path leads to illumination and joy.

This evening at the same hall Mr. Hanchett will speak on "Death an Illusion."

At The Theaters

GIRL STRIPPED OF HONOR AND HAPPINESS BY RUTHLESS YOUNG MAN.

Brought up in innocence, living under the protection of the false modesty which her parents had believed the proper way to bring up a young maid, knowing nothing of the wicked world and its ways, she readily trusted him and yielded to his advances. His insinuations became more and more persuading, and she, believing in her innocent young heart that this was a necessary adjunct to true love, gave to him all the love and freshness of her charming, alluring youth. But joys once tasted never have the same appeal, and his passionate love-making soon cooled as the months went by. He then started going with the young girl's chum, and word went round that he was engaged to her. Then came the calamity that wrecked the happiness of many and the life of one.

Oh, must you girls remain in ignorance, an ignorance which leaves them easy prey to every slinking human wolf, a mark to every vile passion and lustful gaze. Or shall they be protected in the armor of clear knowledge, imparted in a beautiful and instructive way, tread the path of life secure against the slime which has drawn millions of innocent young girls into a life of misery worse than death. Mothers, fathers, there are only two kinds of parents—those whose narrow-minded preaching against the knowledge of life, making a mystery of God's work, unknowingly awake a curiosity in the minds of their growing children, which they will somehow satisfy, and more than likely to their undoing, or are you of those who, recognizing the intelligence of your child, make sure that they are instructed in a proper wisdom of life's greatest mystery, of the pitfalls of the world, and give them every opportunity to gain knowledge which will enable them to be the worthy fathers and mothers of the generation to come, the backbone of our Canada?

Showing All This Week.

Have you yet seen "Enlighten Thy Daughter," that wonderful successor to "The End of the Road," which is showing at the Majestic all this week. The picture, which, choosing a page from the life of two different kinds of parents, pictures the life of the daughters of the two houses—how one, secure in a thorough knowledge of good and evil, protected against the most horrible of all mistakes, makes a happy and beautiful success of life, and a young mother, proud of her new husband and her baby. The other girl, whose curiosity has never been satisfied, seeks away from home that which she could not learn from her parents. Needless to say, there were any number of men who were more than willing to instruct this young novice in the way to walk the primrose path. Truth, shining forth unafraid, the rawness of a life of evil, the burning, all-devouring flame of heated passions, all are shown in "Enlighten Thy Daughter," and are giving to the world their first glimpse of a new era, when false modesty will die and beautiful truth will walk naked with a radiance which will drive away for ever the worst of all evils, which is today ruining each civilized nation.

"Enlighten Thy Daughter," indorsed by the Canadian National Council of Women, praised by such people as Mr. McCullough of this city, the Rev. Mr. Pugsley, Mrs. Edwards, the patrons of the Y. W. C. A., and every right-thinking man and woman of London.

Owing to the tremendous crowds, it is advisable to come as early as possible, and ladies are requested to attend the matinees if possible.

"MOLLY AND I" ENDS ITS SUCCESSFUL RUN.

Miss Shirley Mason will leave the Patricia Theatre after tonight's performance of "Molly and I," William Fox's screen version of Frank R. Adams' successful novel "Molly and I and the Silver Ring." This is one of the best photoplays in which the delightful little star has appeared, and is well worth seeing. A well-balanced cast and fine direction have emphasized the personal triumph of the star.

AT LOEW'S.

Miss Ferguson has been for years a favorite with theatregoers, and since her appearance in motion pictures her popularity has increased by leaps and bounds. Her winsome personality, her beauty and artistry have won for her an immense clientele of admirers, so that all of her screen appearances have been in the nature of a triumph. In her latest Paramount-Artcraft picture "Counterfeit," now holding the screen at Loew's, Miss Ferguson is seen as a Southern girl who belongs to a proud but impoverished family. To repair the fortunes of her widowed mother, who is unaware of the disaster that has overtaken her family, the daughter becames a secret service agent, goes to Newport and succeeds in running to earth a band of counterfeiters, thereby earning a large reward. Incidentally she also wins love and happiness. A picture you cannot afford to miss.

Cardo & Noll, London's favorite sogsters, are delighting capacity audiences with their offering of popular and grand opera numbers. Clayton and Lennie, a nifty chap and a real honest to goodness English comedian, have a turn that is a riot. Their comedy is of that wholesome sort, which wins over an audience in short order. Charlotte Worth, a winsome miss, with a barrel of ability and looks, the Mystic Hanson Trio, and McIlvar and Hamilton round out a tidy bill of amusement.

AT THE GRAND LAST TIME TODAY.

Patrons of the Grand found Eugene O'Brien in "His Wife's Money," much to their liking when the picture was shown yesterday and Monday. "His Wife's Money," which will have its final showing today, has a story which is absorbingly interesting. It sends everyone who sees it out of the theatre, wondering what he would have done under the same circumstances. The production is adequate, and Mr. Eugene O'Brien and Zena Keefe give splendid performances.

Five acts of superior quality comprise the vaudeville portion of the bill, Colvin and Wood in their delightful offering of originalities entitled "Oh, Please, Doctor" is the feature attraction. Other acts include Norwood and Hall in a pleasing singing, talking and dancing offering; Jenks and Allen in an uproarious rural skit; Lutes Brothers, musical comedians, and Ralph Seabury, the comedy cartoonist.

Larry Semon in his newest two-reel comedy, "School Days"; the Pathe News, Topics of the Day and the Pathe Review complete the bill.

"KEEP HER SMILING," AT THE GRAND TOMORROW, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

For the past several years Richard Walton Tully, the eminent author-producer, has stood for something orginal and unusually attractive in the theatre, and his most recent production is no exception to the rule. This recent play which Mr. Tully is now presenting is a sparkling comedy of domestic life, entitled "Keep Her Smiling," will be seen at the Grand Opera House three days, beginning tomorrow night, with a matinee on Saturday.

It was written by John Hunter Booth, author of "The Masquerader," and is founded on a series of stories by Edgar Franklin, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. This attraction has had long runs in New York, Boston and Chicago.

"Keep Her Smiling" tells the adventures of Henry and Polly Trindle. Henry is cashier for a big construction company in New York. He finds his salary inadequate to his needs, or rather his beloved wife's needs, for when Polly smiles he can refuse her nothing. He is induced to load himself up with promises to pay for a suburban villa, a player-piano and other luxuries, and finally, a terrifically expensive party his wife gives to their wealthy neighbors. He is sore beset to find a way to pay for all those things. At this juncture, through the force of necessity he bluffs and plunges and by blind luck gains the means not only to give Polly the things she wants, but a great many she never dreamed of. The complications are consistent and uproariously funny and audiences quickly approach a condition of exhaustion from uncontrollable laughter. The comedy is thoroughly clean and wholesome. The company numbers 25 excellent players, including the noted English comedian David Miller, Isabel Withers, De Witt G. Jennings, Lillian Concord, Rose Emerson, Ethel Conroy, W. A. Whitecar, William T. Hays, John M. Washburne, Enrico Sbordi and Marie Bantzhaff. The scenic settings which Mr. Tully has provided are unusually handsome and pretentious. Seats now on sale.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE WONDERFUL GOWNS IN "THE INFERIOR SEX?"

Have you seen the wonderful gowns, hats and clothes which charming little Mildred Harris wears in "The Inferior Sex," that brilliantly-set photoplay which is showing at the Allen today for the last time. Clothes which would make a princess envious, cars fit for a queen, homes and luxuries, everything that wealth could buy was this little bride's, all but the love of her busy husband. Somehow she couldn't seem to hold that. Then she conceived the wildest scheme imaginable to win him back, to awaken his interest afresh. And helping her in this plan was one of society's parasites, a man about town, with no known income, dancing his way into the best homes, winning his way into young wives' hearts with his polished manners. But the best laid plans of mice and men go wrong, and so would Mildred's plans have led her far astray if friend hubby had not made a few little plans of his own. If you like wonderful scenes and beautiful women, pretty clothes and artistic settings, you must see "The Inferior Sex," which was taken in the famous California pleasure resorts.

What day are you coming to see "The River's End" at the Allen next week? This special film adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's stirring story of the Royal Canadian Northwest Mounted Police is said to be the most thrilling photoplay of the year, and a worthy successor to his former film triumph, "Back to God's Country."

Special music by another big augmented orchestra for this personally-guaranteed Allen presentation.
