Lose Aix La Chappelle and Other Places Despite Strenuous Defense-Are Actively Opposed by the Communists and Labor Interests in Occupied Districts.

COBLENZ SEAT OF NEW GOVERNMENT

Paris, Oct. 24.-A Rhineland Republic has been proclaimed at Coblenz and a provisional government has been appointed, but, as a satirical French newspaper puts it, Republicans seem lacking.
The situation of the Separatists this morning is not brilliant.

They made no headway yesterday; rather the reverse. They appear definitely to have lost Aix La Chapelle and also their hold on other places as the loyalist police react from the first surprise of the coup and realize that the French and Belgian authorities are perfectly sincere in their neutrality and have no intention of interfering except to stop bloodshed.

The separatists are actively opposed by the communists and the labor interests. Thus at Wiesbaden the employees of the street car and gas works services went on strike. The police also ceased to function, obliging the French military to preserve order. The castle occupied by the separatists is a former imperial castle, now used for the prefecture offices. When the police told the iseparatists to leave the building they did so without incident. French troops had been held in readiness in the precincts of the castle, but their ntervention was not necessary.
On the other hand, the separatists appear to be in full control at Treves, Bonn and Duisburg.

The correspondent of Le Matin at Aix La Chapelle quotes Leo Deckers, leader of the movement that resulted in the capture of that city on Sunday, as saying: "I believe that in eight days everything will have ended in our favor. We have been successful in places where we expected stubborn resistance."

"Duisburg is in our hands. The Bonn citadel of Prussian militarism is also ours. Crefeld is surrounded and Coblenz this (yesterday) aftermoon proclaimed the Rhenish republic."

From numerous other parts of Germany came reports of strikes and rioting. At Erfurt street fighting followed demonstrations, one policeman being killed and two policemen in-jured in addition to other casualties. At Grimma, Saxony, fighting occurred this morning. At Annaburg, Saxony, communists occupied the town hall. A telephone message from Hamthis afternoon said the main force of the communists was en-trenched 32 miles from Hamburg be-

Tut! Tut! Alas! Dear Me! The Poor F.P. Has Misery!

Yesterday in half a column of front page pervishness the Free Press pressed its sorrow that The Advertiser had been bold enough to give a disagreement vote of the jury in the Melbourne murder trial. The Free Press was so sorry about being beaten that it said publication of the vote in The Advertiser might now force a change in the Middlesex Officials Agree That Early Action Should Be Taken to Get Bandit.

ASK SPECIAL SESSION

After the evidence given in the Murrell-Williams murder trial by "Slim" Williams, who led the court room to believe that the mysterious "Pat" Norton was the leader of the robber gang that rifled the cash drawer of the Home Bank, public sentiment in the county of Middlesex is such that the county counci reward for the capture of Norton when the council meets early in when the council meets early in December.

Inquiry in county circles today elicted the information that a special session of the counil would not likely be called to deal with the question of a reward as the council session was but little over a month distant.

Urges Action.

Warden William Ross of Ailsa Craig stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that in his opinion immediate action in the matter was imperative. He declared that he would talk the matter over with other members of the council and that there was a strong possibility of a special meeting of the council being called.

"I haven't talked it over with any of the council," said the warden, "but my own opinion is that something should be done at once."

Ex-Warden John S. Cousins is also among the members of the council who want speedy action in the matter.

Mr. Hunt hopes to be back in harness again next week, though his medical man suggests a longer rest from the arduous duties that his work has entailed this year. Howard Cluff, for the defendant, put up a strenuous defense. Druggists were placed on the witness stand and a bottle of wood alcohol stand and a bottle of wood alcohol produced. All his efforts, however, could not offset the silent testimony of the bottle found in Murray's possession. It was labelled "Old London Brew," but the contents proved to be much stronger than that.

Mr. Cluff admitted his client was very drunk and covered with burrs. He claimed Murray did not partake of wood alcohol. He was perfectly within the law when he purchased the bottle and attempted to carry it to his home when nabbed by the police.

A constable discovered Murray at the back of the Empire Hotel, east Dundas street. He was "all over burrs," and looked as if he had been lying down in the dirt. Murray was searched and a bottle about half full was found. Before searching, the annually, compared with a similar pre-war average of $32,000,000.

Mr. W. S. Laidlaw of Wilton Grove, ship, believes that each generation has its duty to perform. He points, and the immediate relatives in such when discussing farming conditions of today, to the part played by the pioneers of the province, and to the excellent way in which they did raged common sense for the man their work. He gave an interesting account of a Scout, Stuart Roberts, who by saving two people from drowning and for Scout service, was presented with the highest Scout award—the silver wolf.

Churchill Prepares For Attack of German Fleet-Lloyd George Tells of Plans-Kitchener Still Continues in High Favor Despite Attack of Northcliffe.

ASKED TO RESIGN CABINET MINISTERS

By RIGHT HONORABLE WINSTON S. CHURCHILL, C.H., FIRST MAYOR OF THE ADMIRALTY, 1911-1915.

ARTICLE XV. A New Combination.

I was by no means sure that I should not be confronted with the resignation of the other three sea lords. On the Sunday morning, how-ever, I learned that Sir Arthur Wilson had been consulted by the sea lords and he had informed them that it was their duty to remain at their posts and that no case for resigna-tion had arisen. I was led by this to ask Sir Arthur Wilson whether he would be willing himself to fill the vacancy of first sea lord. He asked me for an hour to consirer the matter, and then to my gratification, and I will add surprise, he in-formed me that he would do so. By Sunday at noon I was in a position to reconstitute the board of admiralty in all respects. I then motored down to the prime minister, who was in the country. I told him that Lord Fisher's resignation was final, and that my office was at his disposal if he required to make a change. He said, "No, I have thought of that. I do not wish it, but can you get a board?" I then told him that all the other members of the board would main, and that Sir Arthur Wilson would take Lord Fisher's place. him to assent to this rrangement. I and that I understood from the prime minister that he would approve the reconstruction of the board of admiralty with Sir Arthur Wilson as Wilson was willing to accept office and that all the other members of he board would remain. I said that if these arrangements were finally approved by the prime minister that fternoon, I would make an immediommons and court a debate. Mr Balfour was indignant at Lord Fisher's resignation. He said that it ould greatly disturb his Unionist and that he would himself go and prepare them for it and should be sorry to leave the admirsteady that opinion. Raymond Sinclair, the speaker candidate of the Spartan party, was the next to essay the wiles of oratory. Without any flourishes, Mr. Sinclair stated that the motto of the Atheni-

With the introduction of the art work, came also the suggestion that the many wonderful carvings and examples of 16th century furniture, as exemplified by the desks in the school, should also be put on exhibition. It was then suggested that if antiques were to be made a hobby of the school, the heating system, which ante-dated the ark, in the opinion of one speaker, should also be thrown open to inspection.

Last but not the smallest plank in the platform of the Athenians was the plan that the Student Legislature actively co-operate with the London East citizens in their efforts to secure a new London East Collegiate.

Whether this plank is a warty one or the school were forced to sit on the floor while doing so.

A more laudatory ideal is that embodied in the last plank of the Spartans program, this being the promotion of student self-government to such an extent that detentions and impositions will never be necessary. By this, it was explained, was meant the teaching of the student in applying himself to work to be done at home and in study periods. One speaker stated that she felt sure that the principal would feel much happier if he knew that his students were carrying on and working out their own salvation without the penalties for disobedience and neglect which have, from time to time, to be inflicted and which cause him more pain and distress than they do the pupil.

Substitutes Man Stuff"

To Win a Quiet Girl, First Appeal to Her Brain: Then to Her Maternal Instinct: Then Become a Habit, and Finally Sweep Her Off Her Feet.

A young man asks me if I will give him some hints on how to woo et, unemotional girl to whom caveman stuff does not appeal. Well, son, I am not denying that when a maiden is several thousand years beyond secretly craving to be courted with a club, and to have a man drag her off to his two-by-four flat by her lovely red hair, winning her presents a good many more diffi-cuities than it does with the more primitive of her species.

Still, it can be done, for every girl's heart is a citadel with a door that she leaves un quarded in the hopes that the right man will have the gumption to guess the combination of its locks one day, and walk in and take possession of the prem-

So it is up to you to find the key; and do a little porch-climbing, and here are a few suggestions about now to do the trick:

First, get her really interested in you. Spend less time in making love to her than you do in talking to her about world affairs, and books, and the philosophies of life. Unemotional girls generally have as much head as heart, and they are more apt to ask themselves, "Will this man bore me to death if I marry him?" than they are to inquire of their souls whether he will always thrill them or not.

The girl who is just a bunch of throbbing nerves and senses never looks beyond the moment. It is enough for her that some man's kisses fill will BRING PRESIDEN her with ecstasy. The girl of colder temperament looks beyond the chills ague state of courtship to the placid days of matrimony where her is going to depend on how entertaining as a daily companion

If you can get a girl so interested in what you think that she saves up subjects to discuss with you, you have got her going. You're as fascinating as a to-be-continued-in-our-next serial, and she will marry you to get some intelligent person with whom to talk, and to whom to listen.

If the quiet girl's eyes brighten when you come, press your suit with vigor. But if she yawns, and says that mother does not approve of callers after 10:30, waste no more time upon her. She has found you tedious, and you haven't touched either her heart or her brain cells.

Your second play is to convince your quiet, unemotional girl that you need her. Ordinarily, a man who is courting a girl piques her interest by keeping her guessing, and the more uncertain she is that he wants her, the more she wants him. But with the cold type of girl these tactics must be reversed. She never falls in love with a man until he is abject before her. He has to stir her .pity before he does her heart.

Therefore, make yourself picturesquely wretched before your quiet girl.

Threaten to commit suicide if she says "no," or convince her that you will pine away and die of a broken heart. Tell her all the hard-luck stories you can conjure up, and make her realize that all the comfort you have in this sad and sordid vale of tears is her understanding and sympathy. The poet who said that "pity is akin to love," said it all in regard to the quiet, unemotional woman. Her real passion is the maternal, and she loves only the man who will let her mother him, and treat him as if he were a bad little boy that she had scolded, and then kissed his tears away.

If you have a past, do not hide it under a bushel when you go courting the quiet, unemotional woman. Above all things else, she adores reforming people, and if you can make her believe that all you need is her sweet, womanly influence to lead you to the higher life, and that with her by your side you will never listen to the voice of the bootlegger again, or play another eard, or see another skirt, she is yours for the taking.

She will lecture you, oh, so gently, and pray for you, oh, so fervently; and when a woman undertakes to be a man's guardian angel, it is all over but sending out the announcement cards.

Your third play is not to be weary of well doing. Have patience. Camp on your lady love's doorstep. Become a habit with

Let her get used to depending on you for most of her pleasures and entertainment, and then, if she still persists in telling you that she can only be a sister to you, suddenly tell her that you accept her decision as That will give her a shock that will make her sit up and take notice. Then begin giving her dearest rival a grand rush, and it is nine chances to one that your lady love will discover that her feelings toward you are

Finally, son, do not put too much faith in the theory that a girl is unemotional because she does not fall in love at first sight, and broadcast her feelings to the world. Because a girl does not wear her heart upon her sleeve is no sign it isn't doing business at the old stand in her breast.

Often the quiet people who have least to say about their affections love the truest. Still waters run deep, you know, and there are volcance

And these quiet people, who are too shy to show their own affections. are the easiest to sweep off their feet with violent and tempestuous love-making. They yearn to be loved, to be flattered, caressed, cajoled. They ong to be told that a man can't live without them, and there's not a other's daughter of them who can resist the man who sets the wedding day, and tells her that he is going to marry her whether she will have

So, if I were a young man in love with a quiet, unemotional girl, I'd just just step on the gas, and break the speed laws going to the parsonage with her. DOROTHY DIX. Copyright, 1923, by Public Ledger Company.

The feature of the evening was a short address by Miss Wade on "Mothers of Men." in which the speaker pointed out that the world had no substitute for mother love. A very fine musical program included violin selections by Miss Pauline Fitzgerald, Mrs. Frank Smith acting as accompanist; by Miss Pauline Fitzgerald, Mrs. Frank Smith acting as accompanist; vocal solos by Miss Myrtle Corbin. Mrs. English the accompanist; and vocal selections by Mr. Wilson with Mr. Minnitt as accompanist. Clever readings by Mrs. Kathleen Patton were also included in the program. During the evening the members of the club presented Miss Corbin who is leaving the teaching staff of the school, to be married shortly, with a handsome cut glass bowl. The meeting was made more interesting by the presence of several members of the Empress Avenue Club. And the club is planning to have the St. Lawrence Club with them at the November meeting.

An interesting debate has been arranged for the January meeting, the subject being "Resolved That the World is Getting Better and Better." Mrs. A. E. Tutt and Mrs. H. Simple Furniture Is Best, All Pieces Matching-No Tablecloth Style 1s Commended.

The dining-room, you say, is used less than any other room in the apartment or house. Perhaps that is true, and yet I think it very important to have it sunny, if possible, portant to have it sunny, if possible,

Should Be a Set.

The dining-room is the only room which, in my opinion, permits the use of a set of furniture. Perhaps I should not say "permits." for of course a set is permissible in any room. Rather, I should say the dining-room is the only room in which a set is not uninteresting. Of course, it is not necessary to have a set, but

In other words, if I had to choose between a lovely sideboard and a lovely table, I should the table be originally either of good wood or prettily painted; it is also dition. But these are comparatively simple matters and, after all, unless great deal, and a modern one can look just as well as an antique.

The choice of a sideboard and serving table (if it is to be seen) is more difficult. I have noticed that in general the simpler the design of dining-room furniture, the better. I think the rather recent fashion of rarely using a tablecloth is an excellent one. In the first place, it is economical—both in the original cost and in one's laundry bills—and the table and sideboard is an important one. It is always better to in the second place, I think an oblong or round centerpiece with doilles make a much prettier table.

Do YOU know what LINOLEUM Really is?

VERY woman should know what linoleum is, what it is made of and why it is unquestionably a most sanitary and health promoting floor for her home. She can then buy with assurance and obtain genuine linoleum.

Ground Cork and What it Means to Linoleum

You have used corks in the home in various ways. Take up one now and squeeze it. It responds to the pressure exerted by your fingers, but once this pressure is released it immediamer shape. Throw it into a basin of water and it tosses about lightly riding the surface of the water without absorbing a drop. It is entirely non-absorbent. Take a knife and whittle it-its softness is different from that of anything else, and yet, withal it is tough. Is it any wonder that, when finely ground and employed as a primary ingredient of genuine linoleum it retards moisture, ensures a resilient tread, and wears and wears indefinitely?

Oxidized Linseed Oil is a Wonderful Material

Most people have observed the filmy substance that gathers over a neglected pot of paint when the lid is removed. This is really oxidized linseed oil, or oil mixed with oxygen. It is tough and rubberlike, yet soft and pliable. When produced in a modern oxidizing

plant and added to ground cork and other important oils and gums it brings to linoleum added springiness and toughness. It is decidedly germicidal, the very feature that modern housewives should insist upon when buying a floor covering. This pure product of flaxseed, grown in the Canadian West, is specially compressed and scientifically treated for use in making linoleum.

the manufacture of linoleum that the linoleum "mix," just de-scribed, and the burlap, become as one. If you look

Organist Once

Is Coach Now

From church organist to coach of the Canadian Olympic team seems a far Jamp. Capt. Cornelius, word of whose appointment as coach of the Canadian Olympic team for the Paris Olympic in 1924, was announced Wednesday, was a church organist in Brantford before the war. On being invalided back to Canada as the result of wounds received in France, Capt. Cornelius became secretary of the Brantford War Veterans', then coach of the Hamilton Collegiate. Here his work attracted wide attention, and the Hamilton Collegiate team became feared at all track meets, making their mark on two separate occasions at Penn States games. Cornelius, to show this wasn't luck, took a schoolboy rowing crew and their first year out got them placed in the Canadian Henley.

SARNIA CITY LEAGUE

rift in the city basketball lute at present, but indications were today that a meeting between the London and District Bas-ketball Association officials and the take place within e few days to do some repair work on the instrument and produce something like harmony.

London wants a representative men's and girls' team. All sections of basketball enthusiasts are unanimous on that point, and from what can be learned from officials of both basketball groups. from officials of both basketball groups.
they, too, are among the hearty "yeas."
The outcome will likely be that the
L. A. A. A. sub-committee will continue to promote girls' basketball, runming first as a league and then choosing a representative team, and will at once issue a call for senior basketball rlayers to be placed in a senior basketball group of the O. B. A. probably with Windsor and cities to the east if they enter senior teams.

In Agreement.

The London and District Basketbail Association is quite in agreement with this plan, it is understood, but do not favor both organizations trying to run hoys' leagues and players inter-changing, with a chaotic effect all around. "If the L. A. A. A. wants to run a senior team, and I believe it is the organization to place a representative team in the field for London," declared one official, "then they should issue their call for the best players in London, and put them to work at once under a competent coach. They should be drilling now, and by Christmas time they would be a real basketbail machine. However, if there is an attempt to run two leagues, mone of the teams will be strong, competitive spirit will be stunted, with players constantly interchanging, and London will not be very far on the way toward a senior basketbail team. If the best players are commandeered right now, the London and District can go ahead with its senior series with those left, develop new ones and produce real competition, and will not be wrecked around Christmas time by an invasion for senior O. B. A. players." In Agreement.

by an invasion for senior O. B. A. piayers."

The L. A. A. A. committee apparently is of the same opinion, but because no effort has been made to get together on the basketball situation, had not been able to voice their intentions.

The L. A. A. A. will start all over again with its basketball program. A fourth girls' team will be added to the league, making possible double-header girls' games when the senior quintet is not working against one of the L. and D. teams or rlaying an exhibition with outside teams. Because the program came to a temporary halt does not necessarily mean that interest has sagged. The committee was a bit premature in a seasonal way.

L. and D. Enlarges.

The Church Basketbail League and the Manufacturers A. A. A. men's and ladies' groups will affiliate with the London and District Basketbail Association this season, bringing practically all basketbail in London under the supervision of the branch body of the Ontario Basketbail Association.

W. Christianson, president of the London and District Basketbail Association has called a meeting the Y. M. C. A. for the first part of next week, when the officers will be elected for the ensuing year and the date set for the closing of entries. L. and D. Osgoode Hall, Toronto Varsity, Guelph O. A. C. and the University of Western Ontario will comprise the intermediate intercollegiate basketball and hockey groups, according to information received by Dr. George Smith, director of physical education at the U. of W. O. A meeting of the basketball officials will be held in Toronto today, when the plans will be outlined for the season and the schedule adopted. Western has many basketball prospects and expects to be a strong contender in the intercollegiate games.

pects to be a strong contender in the intercollegiate games.

The intercollegiate hockey series will also be of additional interest to Western, as arrangements are being made to have the home games staged in the new London arena. During the past years Western has been unable to take an active part in the intercollegiate hockey series through the lack of adequate facilities for the games.

Osgoode Hall is a new entry in the basketball and hockey series, the intermediate series having been a three-group affair in the past. The two Toronto teams are sure to send out strong aggregations, but Western and the Guelph Aggies will provide keen competition for the Queen City aggregations.

MAKE DRAW FOR MATCH Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, Oct. 23.—The Sarnia City PLAYED AT HIGHLAND

League will have a representative in the junior series of the O. R. F. J., word having been received from Secretary Harry McFee that a place will be found for a Sarnia team. At present the Northviews and Wanderers are fighting it out, the Bear Cats having dropped out. The juniors will have to finance themselves, but no difficulty is anticipated in this regard, particularly if the survivor of the London-Petrolia-St. Thomas circuit happens to be the Hard Oils.

The big wallop the intermediates imposed on the Forest City on their own grounds Saturday has instilled enthuslasm into local fans, both of the rusby of followers and otherwise, and a heavy gate receipt for the opening game Saturday is assured.

Jack Newton will have the team out regularly, and will see that the Blue and White are not prone to look on Saturday's tussel as any foregone considered in this regard, particularly is the coming two weeks. Many entries have been made, and enthusiasm for the match is keen. The draw for the preliminary round has been made and is as follows:

Having smoothed their own internal difficulties away, the London rugby club has nothing heavier on its mind than the apparently gigantic task of beating Sarnia in Sarnia on Saturday. Sarnia teams make it a rule never to be beaten in Sarnia, and especially on a Saturday, so it seems the locals are up against a granite proposition for the week-end. Besides teaching Sarnia a new habit, they've got to break some of their own, master a new set of signals and plays, start all fresh again in morale, and all this on and before Saturday of the current week. It looks like a stupendous task, but it hasn't visibly discouraged the players of the team, who are more enthusiastic now than they have been for weeks.

There is plenty of stray crumbs of comfort the locals have swept up from other years, and from last Saturday defeat. Last year, with a very much weaker team than London boasts this season and against a slightly weaker Sarnia team, the latter was held to a tie on a Sarnia gridiron. It didn't look possible then, but it was done, and the local players find great comfort and encouragement in the philosophical view that what has been done has nothing heavier on its mind than possible then, but it was done, and the local players find great comfort and encouragement in the philosophical view that what has been done once may be done again.

From Saturday's game they learned that, while the score may not have shown any glaring weaknesses in the Sarnia team, the play did, and the London team will concentrate on these in the few remaining work-outs, which will be staged under the direction of Sinc. McEvenue and with the assistance of Doug, Huestis.

The material fit for the Sarnia trip Saturday will be conned over thoroughly and it is believed that the strongest combination so far this season will line up for the whistle. Men that have been played out of their positions will be shoved in at familiar jobs, and several other switches made that should strengthen every part of the team. Two hard drills will be put in before Saturday, and an afternoon practice is likely for those who can get out and do a double shift.

The ragby committee is awaiting word from the O.R.F.U. regarding junior Elks game with St. Thomas. Meantime, the Juniors will turn out to work with the intermediates every night this week. The squad is practically at full strength now and are hopeful that they'll be abie to finish their schedule out. If the O.R.F.U. considers the game defaulted, the locals will play their games with Petrolia in any case, the committee has ruled.

The visitors were plucky players and secured a touchdown in the first period and it was not until the final moments of the equalized. The third period was scoreless, and it looked as if an overtime session would be necessary, but Wilk-inson was bucked over the line after ten minutes of the period had been consumed, and Medcalf converted.

Hyatt was the star of the opposing line, and he kicked well and often. It was he who scored the only touchdown for the Hard Oils." It proved to be the hardest-fought game staged in St. Thomas this year. There was much kicking, but Medcalf was a match for Hyatt, and often returned his punts with good results. Searle scored the first touchdown for St. Thomas in the second period, after a number of piercing bucks.

Hyatt, who played in the back division for Petrolia, was laid out in the fourth quarter, but was not injured seriously. He has played rugby for three years and has been injured a number of times, according to his statements. But the jockey club gave the impression that it was a sporting event, that America's representative three-year-old was to race Papyrus.

Then for some inscrutable reason the jockey club permitted the owner of Zev to dodge a match race with Admiral Grayson's My Own, a race that would have determined America's representative three-year-old.

One is forced to the conclusion that the jockey club either prefers the owner of Zev to Admiral Grayson, one of the finest gentlemen in this land, or that the jockey club is dominated by influences that favor the owner of Zev. However, there should be no reason why the drastic retrenchment suggestions made by the president and different club owners should not make it possible for the league to be carried on practically as it was last But magnates and players alike must keep in mind that gate receipts will never be the swollen figures they have been in the past.

London, Woodstock and Stratford, the other teams that comprised the Southern Ontario loop last year, are favorable for the change, and a strong representation will no doubt accompany Mr. Gifford to Toronto to battle for the adoption of the proposal.

The president was very well satisfied with the success of the Southern Ontario league, which has only been in operation two years, and he predicted a very bright future for the local group next season. The prospects in St. Thomas are not as bright as they might be, but if a new ritcher is secured, the roster will be greatly strengthened. ocal Default—Rumor Elks Needed Intermediates.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Oct. 22.— Referring to the announcement that the London Elks would fight the default of Saturday's game to St. Thomas, Secretary Fred Palmer called it a "pipe-dream." He declared that he had been asked whether he would consent to the Elks entering this group at the last moment, and had done so with the understanding that the games would be played on Oct. 13 and 17. He further reported that he had received no official cancellation of Saturday's game from the London officials Palmer has written to the officials at Toronto, proclaiming London's default.

It was rumored here in rugby circles that the London Elks could not field a team because the intermediates were viaying on the same day, and, as the Elks are very weak, they desired to use a number of intermediates on the tine-up. The O. R. F. U. schedule should be completed by Oct. 27, so that the postponement of the game until Thanksgiving Day would be out of the question. The decision of the O. R. F. U. regarding the alleged default will be watched with keen interest here.

All Marier Definition of the year. Pupil vs. Master.

The announcement that Sisier will manage the St. Louis Browns in 1924 is simply a formal way of putting something which had been known for some time. It ends the hopes of some of Frank Chance's friends that he might be given a try in St. Louis, and, incidentally, it puts Sisier, who was once Rickey's puril, against the master.

Sisier, as manager, is an untried quantity. No one knows what he can keep the influence of the owners away from the players, the better his hopes of success. If the men behind the stock certificates mingle as thickly with the players as they did when Lee Fohl was manager, Sisier will wish his job mixed up with a brick factory before the season is over.

Gleason's departure from Chicago, half anticipated, now is a fact. If Comiskey decides to put Eddie Collins at the head of the team, it will mean that all the western American League clubs have playing stars for managers—Cobb at Detroit, Collins at Chicago, Sisier at St. Louis, and Speaker at Cleveland.

Pilot of the Tigers Finishes Eighteenth Year Batting Over .300.

HAS 3,454 SAFE HITS

Associated Press Despatch New York, Oct. 23.-Ty Cobb, flery pilot of the Detroit American League club, has added new glory to his alltime batting record. With the end of the 1923 campaign, Cobb ended his eighteenth consecutive season above the .300 swatting class and came into possession of the all-time record, which he had shared for a season with Hans Wagner, famous old shortstop of the Pittsburg Pirates.

Wagner set the mark at seventeen years, and when he retired it was the opinion of many that that was one mark that would stand to the credit of Wagner for all time.

Another record which the Detroit manager pried loose from the former Pirate shortstop was that of making the largest number of hits. Wagner, in his major league career accumulated 3420 safe driver while Cobbilated 3,430 safe drives, while Cobb's 188 made in the 1923 season, gave him a total of 3,454.

The Pioneer Spirit

FROM the first horse-drawn McLaughlin vehicles to the new 1924 McLaughlin-Buick cars seems a far cry, but the lessons learned in those early days are in a measure responsible for the present popularity of 'Canada's Standard Car."

Rough roads were the rule in the early seventies and they dictated the McLaughlin policy "One grade only and that the best."

To-day, though the automobile has superseded the horse and carriage, though poor roads are now the exception to the rule, still the same enduring quality is built into the McLaughlin products. But, to this quality have been added the sound engineering principles of Buickthe vast experience and facilities of General Motors.

So the McLaughlin-Buick, not only by its honorable record of past achievement, but also by its present mechanical excellence, has earned its title of "Canada's Standard Car". And the pioneer spirit which prompted its first venture keeps McLaughlin-Buick in the fore-front of every worth-while advance made in motor-car construction or design.

Mining Stocks and Smelters Reach New Low Levels.

By STUART P. WEST.

Wall Street, New York, Oct. 24.—The stock market today once more was a mixture of individual moves, mostly downward. Teh professionals, realizing that the typical industrial leaders were pretty well deadlocked, went in search of more weak spots among special issues.

pretty well deadlocked, went in search of more weak spots among special issues.

The coper and smelting issues were under particular pressure, and a number of them, like Anaconda, Kennecott and Inspirations, made new lows for the year. Superficially this was set down to the news about Germany, but there was no reason to believe that even if the separatist movement were to succeed, Germany buying power would be weakened. The German disorders have had some sentimental influence both on the market of the copper stocks, but mainly the position of the latter has been affected adversely by the failure of new business to materialize, by the statistical record showing production running well ahead of consumption, and by the constant fall in copper prices.

Ray Consolidated and Chino held better than the other North American coppers, probably because they figure in the southwestern merger deal. Chile Copper was comparatively firm, reflecting its low production costs as compared with the mines in this country.

Among the specialties there were several features. One of these was Congoleum Company stock, which rose with some violence on the report of an impending stock dividend of 300 per cent. Another was Famous Players, which broke badly to a new low for the year. This stock has been in disfavor ever since the publication of the balance sheet under date of June 30. But the more immediate reason lay in the testimony at the federal inquiry indicating that no stock was any longer held in the name of the president and very little in the names of other officials. Wall street drew the inference that the insiders had "unloaded."

Sugar stocks were sold on the reduction of raw sugar prices from 5% to 5% cents, although only one small transaction was reported at the latter figure.

On the other hand, stocks which had been under pressure were doing better.

On the other hand, stocks which had On the other hand, stocks which had been under pressure were doing better. Among these were United States Rubber common and preferred, Goodrich common and preferred, American Woolen, and Vivandau. These stocks were helped by the declaration of the regular 11-3 per cent dividend on Goodrich preferred. Vivandau sold at 15 against 12 on Tuesday as the result of reassurances of a semi-official sort regarding the next dividend. The interrupted advance in International Mercantile Marine preferred sold above 80 in expectation that at the meeting Thursday an extra $2 will be declared.

Educational Officials to Pass on Arthur Phillips Recovers Full Figures Before Going Payment and Costs From to Council.

Members of the board of education and the vocational advisory committee, as well as officials of the board, will hold a special meeting at the Technical School at 12:15 p.m. Friday, for the purpose of discussing the tentative estimates for 1924, before presenting them to the city fore presenting them to the city council. Phillips claimed Stover had fraudulently represented to him that he could have the pick of thirteen lots on the Hillcrest Subdivision. He claims he paid $500 to Stover on the purchase price of the lot, which was $675. The agreement was dated January 1, 1923. W. 4. R. Bartram was appearing for the plaintiff and Arrangements are being made to serve lunch at the school, after which the estimates will be discussed. It is expected that 25 will attend. The figures will in all likelihood be presented in four groups, dealing with purchase price of the lot, which was 3875. The agreement was dated January 1, 1923. W. (L. R. morning, coupled with late hours at night, is responsible for a large num-ber of children failing in their school examinations, is the opinion of Chief Inspector Greer, who this morning stated that without doubt the children who neglected their breakfast went to school unprepared for coping with the morning's work, with the result that they could not pay strict attention to their lessons or devote the proper consideration to them.

He states late hours also bear a part in the number of failures at examination time. These, children, who are allowed by their parents to stay up at night till around 11 and 12 o'clock, reading and playing cards, etc., are not at their best in the morning, the lack of sleep reacting on the youthful mind, with the result that its action is more or less sluggish.

"The matter is one that cannot be definitely determined unless an actual survey of the school children of the city is made," said the inspector, "and this would take a long time It is also largely a matter of medical opinion. Of course there is a large number of pupils who have not the necessary ability to advance quickly, but a large percentage of the failures Bazaar Conveners Arrange In-The lodgerooms of the Forest City Chapter, Order Eastern Star, will be the scene of an interesting gathering tomorrow night, when a sshower for their bazaar which is to be better.

Nothing definite in the line of potential candidates for the 1924 Board of Education has yet been ascertained, there being a complete lack of rumors as to possible opponents of the retiring members, provided they seek re-election. The trustees whose term expire this year are A. E. Silverwood, Edwin Smith, Byron Campbell, Ward Casselman, Thomas Rowe and J. B. Wright. Of this number, two have definitely declared that they will not run this year—Edwin Smith, who will be an aldermanic candidate in Ward 4, and J. B. Wright, who wishes to retire from public life. The remainder have not yet committed themselves eithey one way or the other Dr. George Weir has been named as a possible candidate, but beyond this the matter is very much in the dark.

Getting More Out of Your Farm

IF you could increase your production a little and reduce your expenses even slightly, it might mean the difference between a fair living and failure in some seasons.

Sheep, poultry, hogs, and a regular "milk cheque" have saved the day for many a farmer when his crops have failed.

Shelters from the heat, rain or snow for your live stock and protection from the weather for your outbuildings, machinery and implements, will minimize your losses and reduce your yearly repair bills by many a dollar.

Rev. Dr. J. Campbell Morgan Urges Fulfillment of Responsibilities.

ASKS ENTHUSIASM

Hundreds Thrilled By Words of Famous Pulpit Orator.

"Is the church fullhiling her responsibility?" the subject of last night's address by Rev. Dr. J. Campbell Morgan in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, proved a question which the preacher made no attempt to answer, but which he imposed on the individual members of his audience, asking them to look with sincere introspection into their own lives, as being a part of the church on earth, and, having done that, to make such answer as they found make such answer as they found justified by the facts.

Dr. Morgan's text for the evening was taken from the First Epistle of living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." He described carefully the context of the text, quoting an appropriate saying of Dr. John Hut-ton to the effect that "a text with-out a context is just a pretext for the preacher ta say what he thinks the text should say," and drew word pictures of the little Christian colony in the city of Ephesus headed by the young Timothy, living in a city which at that time was the third city of the world, famous for the luxury and materialism of its life.

"I think that the things they worshipped in Ephesus when Paul wrote his letter to Timothy, young bishop or presbyter of the house of God in that third city of the Roman Empire."

"And when I refer to church, I mean the church of God without reference to denomination. I am personally, an unrepentant Congregationalist. I shall die one. I have every respect for a man who has strong denominational feelings, but I have no respect for a man that for the sake of his denomination or because of it is unwilling to accept the greater fact of Christian fellowship.

"My text was that phrase used by cannot live without a Bible, but the real Christian man is the best Bible, and it seems we need a number of revised versions. Then John Ruskin says you cannot give a child the Bible in a morocco binding, meaning that merely the gift of the physical book will never teach any child the real Bible. N THE MATTER OF THE HOME BANK OF CANADA AND IN THE MATTER OF THE WINDING-UF BANK OF CANADA AND IN THE MATTER OF THE WINDING-UP ACT.

Pursuant to the order of Mr. Justice Fisher made in this matter on the 8th day of Oct., 1923, a meeting of the creditors of the Home Bank of Canada will be held in Massey Hall, corner Shuter and Victoria Sts., Toronto, on Thursday, the 6th day of Dec., 1923, at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Friday, the 7th day of Dec., 1923, at the same place at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, a meeting of the shareholders of the said bank will be held, the purpose of such meetings being that the wishes of the creditors and shareholders respectively may be ascertained as to the appointment of liquidators under the Winding-up Act, and to ascertain their wishes as to borrowing sufficient money to pay an immediate dividend of 25c on the dollar to creditors, and their wishes as to the advisability of transferring all, or any part, of the assets of the bank to a realization company.

By the same order the further consideration of the petitions presented herein was adjourned to Friday, the 14th day of Dec., 1923, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and the said petitions will then be heard by the Honorable Mr. Justice Fisher in chambers at Osgoode Hall, in the City of Toronto, and notice of such hearing is, pursuant to the said order, hereby given to all parties entitled to be heard.

By the same order all persons claiming to be creditors of the said bank are required to file their claims with the Provisional Liquidators, G. T. Clarkson and I. E. Weldon, at No. 15 Wellington St. West, Toronto, on or before the 29th day of Nov., 1923, with their Christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims, a statement of the securities, if any, held by them, and the nature thereof, and in default thereof they may be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the winding-up proceedings herein and the liquidators may make distribution without regard to their claims, but no claim shall be excluded if the master on application being made shall ot

DANGERS FOLLOW

Intruding Polar Bear Retreats Under Hail of Burning Sticks.

Life on Wrangel Island that first winter must have seemed to the boys of the Stefansson party like a Fenimore Cooper romance come to life. Their imaginations were fanned to a high flame. They had journeyed into the nonth from a southern land. They had cut themselves off from their own kind, had left civilization behind them. To Crawford and Galle it was the first great breath of adventure.

it was the first great breath of adventure.

The Polar bears, the ice packs, the blinding snowstorms—they had been but names to fire their minds. Here they were, living realities to challenge their manhood; actual enemies against which to pit their strength. They were feeling for the first time that greatest of all thrills—the thrill that comes when a man is in danger and sure of his ability to meet it. The thrill of facing the almost unsurmountable obstacle just as it is about to be surmounted.

Knight had been in the north before. These things were common places to him, yet in his diary I can sense the mood of the party. Imagine Crawford, for instance, fresh from the Toronto University and the protection of a cultured home, meeting his first Polar bear face to face.

Imagine young Galle, who had

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daugh-ter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, wornout feeling which sometimes comes to us all." Mrs. J. McDonald, 2947, 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

About a Fateful Telegram and Miles' Arrival at the Yacht

When Miles reached Algiers at the early dawn, a day and a half had passed since his wife's arrival. She had appeared on board "Silverwood" about noon one day; had lunch, rested, gone out for the afternoon; had come back for dinner; had sent her maid on shore to a charity ball; and had remained up promenading the deck, or sitting in the moonlight till after midnight. She had been seen once or twice moving about in her glittering white dress, and had then vanished into her own quarters. It was natural that after a tiring day and a late night she should glear. The Third Telegram.

Sheridan had not been long gone from Bousaada, when a telegram arrived for him. It was put out of light until he should return; but when (after his meeting with Nazlo) he rushed back unexpectedly for an hour, in slipshod, oasis fashion, the clegram was forgotten.

Later, when the landlord chanced to remember the folded slip of blue paper, he could do nothing save shrugh his shoulders. Le monsieur should have asked if there was anything for him. He must not expect busy people to keep his affairs at the top of their brains! Besides, the message was probably unimportant. These rich Americans and English telegraphed to each other about nothing at all, to save the trouble of a letter! And in any case, le monsieur had said at the very last that he expected to come back next day.

The azure oblong would have remained where it was for the night if madame la patronne, being consulted, had not advised that it be seent to the room of mademoiselle. A knock at the door brought forth the duenna. There was a moment's discussion within. Then the sleepy waiter with the telegram on a tray was bidden to take it away again. Monsieur Sheridan alone had authority to read the message addressed to him.

The Shadow of a Great Fear Lies Over the Forest People

Crisp and clear and beautiful were October days. Painted in gay colwere the leaves. Food was plen-ul, and Mother Nature was doing best to spread joy and content-it everywhere. But there was no for the little people of the Green rest and the Green Meadow. A dow lay over them, although jolly, nd. bright Mr. Sun shone all shadows, the shadow of great r. of light. The dreadful hunting season was on.

Now as you know, no hunters were allowed on Farmer Brown's land. The little people who lived there knew this. But still the shadow of fear lay over them. It was not just fear for themselves, but fear for their friends who did not live on Farmer Erown's land. And there was some fear for themselves, for they had learned that there were hunters who did not heed signs if they thought there was a chance that they would

In all directions the bang, bang of terrible guns could be heard from daylight to dark. With every bang the little people in feathers and fur would shiver, and their hearts would be filled with dread and sadness. Each time they wondered which of their friends they would see no more. Day after day stories of dreadful things were brought to the little people of the Green Meadow and in the Green Forest. They were stories that were whispered, for they were too dreadful to tell aloud. They were not the stories of those who had been killed that seemed so dreadful. They were the stories of those who had been wounded, but had escaped the hunters only to suffer helplessly. So the beautiful October days were filled with dread, The little people in feathers and fur became so filled with fear that the rustling of a falling leaf would make their hearts jump. They ate because they must eat to live. But they took no joy in their food. They ate hurriedly, snatching, a bite and then looking and listening for the approach of a hunter with a terrible kun. Between meals they sought hidthen looking and listening for the approach of a hunter with a terrible gun. Between meals they sought hiding places. Even those who were supposed to be protected by the laws passed by man, shared in this dreadful fear, for they had learned that there were hunters who would shoot at any living thing. Not even Striped Chipmunk was safe from these hunters.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS BRITAIN ONLY SEEKS TO END STRIFE

Urges United States Aid Europe in Avoiding Great Catastrophe —Pays Tribute To Memory of Harding by Visiting Tomb.

Cleveland, Oct. 23.—Declaring that Great Britain seeks nothing in Europe except a cessation of strife, and that "there you can help us," David Lloyd George, the war-time premier of Great Britain, at a cham-ber of commerce luncheon here to-day, renewed his plea of "effective day, renewed his plea of "effective co-operation" between the two great English speaking commonwealths.

"At this hour," the former premier asserted, "there is a deadly, grim, ghastly struggle going on in Europe, not for the moment with cannons and machine-guns, but, none the less, it is a deadly struggle, and I ask you, don't turn your backs altogether on Europe. You saved it once; don't give it up. It has been a great continent. There have been great men thrown up through the ages in it to whom you, as well as ourselves, owe much.

Associated Press Despatch.

Cleveland, Oct. 23.—Declaring that ireat Britain seeks nothing in Europe except a cessation of strife, and that "there you can help us," this presperous land, this peaceable land, this land of liberty, once more than the eyes toward Europe that land, this land of liberty, once more to turn the eyes toward Europe that once saved it, and will yet do so."
Lloyd George arrived in Cleveland at noon today for a 12-hour stay, coming here from Marion, Ohio, where he paid tribute to the memory of the late President Harding by visiting the Harding tomb and paid his respects to Mrs. Harding this morning. Thousands of cheering people lined the streets of Cleveland from the station and throughout the route of a short parade before Mr. Lloyd George went to the Chamber of Commerce for luncheon.

Declare Rental Value Basis as Used in Quebec Is Fairer.

CLAIM INJUSTICE

A special committee of the Lon-don Chamber of Commerce is at present engaged in collecting opin-ions of London businessmen on the method whereby the business tax is assessed in London, for the benefit of Assessment Commissioner Bennett, who is preparing a statement for the provincial authorities on the assessment in London and throughcut the province. The committee finds many complaints from busi-nessmen on the score of a lack of equity in the assessment. For in-tance the tax is arranged in Ontario on the basis of a list of percentages equity in the assessment. hich are purely arbitrary and thich are set up by the provincial

Montreal Tax Less. In Quebec and Manitoba the tax is assessed on the basis of percentage of a rental value, which is a distinct handicap to Ontario business. The committee found also that in Montreal and Winnipeg the business tax is just one-fifth of the same tax in Ontario. The differentiation between the various kinds of business in the city also is felt to be unjust. The tax is assessed as follows: retailers, 25 per cent; wholesalers and manufacturers, 60 per cent; loan and trust companies, 75 per cent; and department stores, 30 per cent. department stores, 30 per cent.

At the meeting this afternoon of the directors the following commuttee was appointed to consider improved methods of fire prevention in London: J. K. H. Pope, chairman; T. C. Benson. L. E. Carruthers, Frank Ashplant, A C. Deacon, C. M. Duffield, and Henry Hayman. Mr. Pope stated that the fire loss in London for 1922 had been $1.100 per day. A committee was also formed which would comprise members of the Rotary. Kiwanis, and Lions Clubs, Kiwanis, and Lions Clubs, which will endeavor to form these clubs into one service club whose aim will be to further social and civic service in the city and in so far as this is concerned, to act in unison Choose Committee. The directors felt that this was in accordance with the universal desire of the clubs mentioned and that it would prevent a great deal of over-apping in this kind of work. The election committee which will take charge of the coming election of di-rectors of the chamber was chosen as follows: Gerald Pearson, chair-man; E. H. Morrow, T. R. Brymner, W. J. Chisholm, Arthur Wilkes, W. F Marshall, A. H. Murphy, R. S. Wilson, A. R. Douglas, and W. W. Beid

A notification was received from the president of the London G. W. V. A. to the effect that the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A. was disbanded and that no provincial or Dominion charter for their organiza-tion had ever been or would be is-sued. It was read at the meeting.

Declares Adam Was Most Perfect Body That Ever Lived.

ASKS AID FOR CLUB

Speaking in St. Peter's Parish Hall last night Bishop Fallon delivered an interesting address before a goodly crowd. The meeting was called for the purpose of reorganizing the Catholic Club, and the launching of a membership campaign.

Bishop Fallon said the recent announcement of an Aberdeen professor denying that there was any such person as Adam was shameful and destructive to the true fundamentals of Christianity, and caused him to diverge from his original topic. The bishop said he was going to establish the fact that Adam was the father of the human race, and the most perfect body, both physically and intellectually that was ever created and known in this world "If Adam wasn't, Eve isn't," declared the bishop.

isn't," declared the bishop.
Futhermore, he said that nine out of every ten non-Catholics were staggered by the statement of the professor in Aberdeen. He told his fessor in Aberdeen. He told his hearers that the publication of such things did an enormous amount of damage to religion, and hoped that Catholics would not let these state-ments go unheeded. If Catholics are to live secure in their faith, they must live in a Catholic atmosphere and defend the principles of the Catholic faith.

An Event of Unusual Importance A Revue of French Model Dresses

-ON THIRD FLOOR-

For the Coming Social Season Thursday, Friday and Saturday We have arranged a special setting for the display of these afternoon, evening party or dinner Paris frocks—all by themselves—away from all other garments, that you may see their fine style and beauty, as they would appear in your own drawing-room. This special display will be the event of the week, and will be well worth a special visit to the store from purely a standpoint of fashion education. It will show the newest dresses from Paris for all afternoon or evening functions. As interesting a display as we have ever had the pleasure of offering, and never have so many beautiful gowns been shown here at any one time. This store has maintained a leadership in women's apparel, and this event will prove that we have justified our position. See these French Dresses tomorrow and following days—Third Floor. THE SLIM SILHOUETTE TRIUMPHS IN AUTUMN COATS The slim silhouette is the correct silhouette for Autumn and Winter-but varied in so many interesting ways that one forgets they are basically the same. Ruffles, tiers or bandings of self-fabric. Lavish use of fur as border, collar and cuffs is seen on many of the higher-priced models. Tasteful embroidery and cape backs. But all slender of whole treasure-house full of line as a young sapling, and exceedingly becoming lovely gowns! But I'm not going to even try to describe them to you, for there are so many of them.

to all figures. The coal fabrics are of the most luxurious, in richest shades.
