practically perfect and the wind which blew down the stretch on Thursday had materially moderated.

But there was no moderation to the enthusiastic and excited crowd that gathered in the grand stands and on the bleachers. Arrangements were much improved and the management is to be congratulated on the excellent order maintained and the keeping clear of the track throughout the day.

The work of the racers throughout was phenomenal, and the finishes were magnificent. But the triumph of the day rests with Angus McLeod, the sturdy Sazais boy, who smashed the five mile Cananian record by some 34 2-5 seconds in the finest spart of the Meet. The pace set throughout the race was a killing one and but four riders, McCarthy, Davidson, Greatrix and McLeod, in the order named, stayed the clip till the final half, when the pace was still further quickened. Just before the quarter was reached the curly haired Scot, who was then in the rear, commenced a most phenomenal spurt, passing up foot by foot and turning into the stretch at the head of the bunch. A grand sprint followed, but McLeod rather increased his lead, and shot across the tape at a good six feet in lead. The record-breaking time, the magnificent sprint and the popularity of the rider sent the throng wild, and on being recalled McLeod smilingly wanter.

No less exciting were the wonderful finishes between McCarthy and Davidson in the half and mile open. In the first of these races the two riders came down the stretch like whirl winds and down the stretch like whirl winds and met the tape so nearly abreast that many were impressed with the fact that it was a dead heat. The race was awarded to McCarthy, who was, if possible, a fraction of an inch ahead of Harley.

In the mile the same riders challenged a sprint on the stretch and again McCarthy won out by inches, while McLeod, scarcely six inches be hind, captured thind seeney.

LIBERALS AND TITLES.

With Liberal sneering at the tin-pot knights; with the Liberal premier of Ontario purposely absenting himself from the jubilee festivities to avoid honors which no one thought of thrusting upon him; with the Liberal mayor of Toronto ostentatiously refusing a title which was never offered him; with the ill-concealed regrets of the Liberal press at Mr. Laurier's acceptance of a K. C. M. G., it seems a little curions that Mr. Greenway's personal organ should complain that he-although a democrat to the bilt, like Sir Wilfrid -should have been overlooked when the decorations were passed around. The list, it says, might very appropriately have contained the name of Manitoba's premier, "for of all the men in the province there was no man approaching Mr. Greenway."

But the organ, which has hitherto held these colonial knighthoods up to public ridicule, is bouyed up with hope. It understands that Mr. Greenway's claims were considered, "and that it is understood that henor will be con ferred later on," and it concludes "Our premier deserves the honor, and should have had it." And this is the party which in the past has affected to despise the empty geegaws and gliftering tinsel-as it was termed-of a decoration, even when bestowed by the hand of the greatest ruler of the greatest Empire the world ever saw. The times have indeed changed-but not more quickly than these Liberals .-Montreal Gazette.

Brussels (Special) June 28—Mr. W. P. Jackson, a telegraph operator of of this place has had an experince which should be, when known, of value to every man in Canada. He says:—Without relief for five years, I have gone from bad to worse with kidney disease. Have been treated at two hospitals—Chicago and Montreal—and took the hot springs course all to no purpose. I have taken doctors advice and their medicine with the same result. My cure commenced as soon as I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after taking ten boxes I am happy to say my cure is perfect.

The sixtieth anniversary of our be-loved Queen's accession to the throne was fittingly celebrated in our little was fittingly celebrated in our little town. The committee in charge of the celebration worked hard to make the day a success, and we are not astray when we say that the day's proceedings were carried out in a manner which reflects the greatest credit on those in charge. Long before the hour for commencing the proceedings the principal streets were thronged with people. A few minutes after nine o'clock the trade and calithumpian procession formed and paraded the principal streets. This was followed by a decorated bicycle parade. The next attruction was a game of baseball between Newbury and Highgate, which resulted in a victory for the Highgate teem. This brought the morning proceedings to a close. Promptly at one o'clock the school children of our township and Fraternal societies of Highgate and surrounding/places formed in procession and paraded the principal streets, ending at the fairground, where speeches befitting the occasion were delivered by Dr. Samson, of Windsor, and Hon. David Mills. Quite a lengthy program of athletic sports was then carried out, followed by a tug of war between teams chosen from the north and south of the township.

The Van Horn Bros. have purchased from a firm in St. Marys, a fine power cream separator. This is a great improvement on the old way of separating cream from milk, as it separates the cream effectually and rapidly, just as it comes from the cow, taking out all impurities and sterilizing it very thoroughly. Their specialty will be cream and butter. W. S. Bisherie Chatham's enterprising respectively. Richards, Chatham's enterprising restaurant keeper, has secured their cream for the season. This, in connection with their herd of thoroughbred Jersey cows should be remunerative to them. Their cows are of the celebrated "Messina" strain and are wonderful ream producers.

WHERE TO BUY SWITCHE

...Table Talk...

Edited by May Tenalp

"I beg pardon! Can I interest you in bustles? Excuse me. I thought this was a typewriting office!" The speaker, a tall, dark young wom-an, blushed a lovely pink and beat a hasty retreat from the law office into which she had inadvertently stepped. "Will you tell me about the bustles?" I asked, following her out into the hall and bidding as hasty a goodby to the lawyers as she had done. "And why you are selling them and how you came to be here, in an office building—with bustles?"

"Well, yes." laughed she, "if you will come where I can talk to you. There is a nice little lunchroom across the way,

"Now." said she, when we had crossed the street to the little lunchroom and she had deposited her funny looking satchel under the table, "to answer the first of your questions, I am selling the bustles because it is my business to do so. I am a woman drummer. I am doing what we call hustling up trade, so that when I come through again next week I can sell the starters."

"I am a drummer," she went on, laugh-ing at my wondering face, "who intro-duces novelties. Every year some manufacturer gets out something new 'on a spec,' and I am the one that brings them before the public. I am the advance agent, so to speak, of the drummer."

"Tell me about it," said I, as mystified as a newspaper woman ever allows herself to be. "Well," said my drummer friend, "I "Well," said my drummer friend, "I will give you an example. Suppose a manufacturer has patented a new shoe fastener. He wants to get it on the market. He sends his drummers to the dealer. The dealer says, "We have no call for a new above fastener," and he refuses to buy it. And the manufacturer must either place his own agent in the stone to talk it up to shappers or almost give away the goods the first year. To avaid defing this he sends me out as his advance agent.

"Just now I can travaling for a figure that is marking busties. The tendency is bustleward, but wemen are not buying them yet. They do not sak for them, and dealers will not purchase anything that is not onlind for. Here comes the work of M. Scoville."

At this she windped out a nest slip of MISS MINNIE SCOVILLE,

"I create a demand for bustles. When you saw me, I was on my nounds in the X. building. In one band I had a list of all the offices where more women were eman office I buttomholed the first woman and proceeded to show her samples of bustles. There are six little ones in this bag, and, of course, I went one. I show the women my bustle and allow them to punch me on the back, crample me up, twist-me around and do pretty much as they please.

"Then I shake myself out and show them how admirably my skirt hange with the bustle to support it. They ask where they can buy such bustles, and I say at the tores of A., B., C. and D., mentioning nerchants that buy of me. A week later all there and offer them my bustles. Of course they have had orders for them-six ghls inquired for bustles in one day—and they order 500 or 5,000 from me, according to the size of the stock they carry.

"This is the way I create a demand for bustles. Queer, isn't it?" said she, "and the queerest thing about it is the odd times one has out selling them. Take your case, for instance #I must have got the floors mixed, and if you hadn't been there I should have found myself, from force of habit, talking up my bustle samples to a sedate lawyer.

"Are there many in your business?" "Do you mean in the drumming busi-ness? No, not as many as you would supness? No, not as many as you would suppose from the money there is in it. Last year there were only 40 successful women drummers. Twice that number started out, but either got sick or grew tired of the work. It is hard. You travel all night and talk all day, but you can do it if you know how to spare yourself. I can drum from May till May, from the Portlands of Maine and Oregon to the lakes and the gulf, without stopping off a day except to sell goods, but you see I know what to eat and what to let alone on the road, and I understand how to drop asleep on a train and wake up fresh and ready to talk without waiting for a night's sleep to refresh me."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Metal Beds and Drapery.

The present fashion of the metal bedstead, with its open head, demands the revival of the bed tester. Adde from the picturesque effect of bed dampery, it is eminently useful in shielding the head from the drafts of air which should be admitted freely to every sleeping room. The head-piece of the old fashioned wooden bedstead was made saild in order to do away with this drapery, but the head of the sleeper was still left exposed to drafts, and, worse still, to strong light. The fabite of modern times have made at impossible for every one to size with the lapk, and the best that can now be done is to moure as meaning as possible the conditions of high during those early morning bour

Boudoir Gymnastics.

.To be supple is one of the chief embitions of the woman who makes any pre-tensions to beauty and grace. She feels that rheumatism is a crime, not merely an unhappy visitation of fate. She regards stiffness as a fault, not a misfortune, and she scorns the thought of easy chairs or walking sticks before the age of 70.

One of the chief aids to attaining this desirable grace and lightness and to remethod of boudoir gymnastics. They are intended to develop and exercise the body in ways in which the ordinary athletic in ways in which the ordinary athletic sports fail. Four simple exercises which require no apparatus are described here. They should be taken immediately after rising or before going to bed and in loose clothing.

The first one is known as the free arm and leg movement. Poise the body lightly on the toe of the right foot, raising the right arm and allowing the left foot to be raised from the ground. Now bend the body slightly ferward, allowing the leg to swing backward; reverse the action, throwing the leg forward; repeat several times, and then go through the same exercise with the other leg and arm. It will be a little difficult at first to keep the balance, but this will gradually be acquired by constant practice.

In the second movement the arms and hands are raised at any angle, the exercise

In the second movement the arms and hands are raised at any angle, the exercise being to stand upon the tees and to raise the heels up and down, on and off the ground repeatedly, in as light and springy a manner as possible. This strengthens and develops the calves of the legs and gives a good arch to the instep.

In the third, called the "ballet" movement, the right foot is planted firmly on the ground and the left leg raised, with the knee bent as high as possible. This pose is retained while you count ten, and is repeated six times. The other leg is then exercised in the same manner.

The fourth movement is devised for strengthening the hips. With the left knee bent almost so that it touches the floor, and the right leg stretched out from the life and the himse on the hips gradu-ally sain the late.

For Est and Thin Women A table of relative heights and weights given by Mrs. Eria Morse Hudders in "What to Eat" is worth repeating. The weight of ordinary dothing is included in the table. The article in which the table is given contains a restricted dietary, which is dedicated to Mrs. Slim. In advising Mrs. Slim as to how she may gain flesh, Mrs. Hudders mys that she should eat only Hudders says that she should eat only what agrees with her, eat slowly, chew the food thoroughly, eat plenty of nourishing, easily digested fond, but, she adds, do not overeat. The last is emphasized. Plenty of sleep, plenty of cheerfulness and moderate exercise are recommended. No ice water or cold drinks are to be taken at meals, but plenty of water not iced between meals. A cup of hot water after meals is said to aid digestion. Highly seasoned foods, pickles, pastry, salted and pickled meats, acids and fried foods are to be avoided. But few sweets are to be taken, and none if the stomach is easily demanged.

Weman's Opportunity.

Starting from the premise that "there are a great many women whose capacities and desires seem much beyond their opportunities." Mr. George S. Merriam, in his recent book, "The Chief End of Man," presents these golden thoughts in glowing words: Wherever your life touches another life, there you have opportunity. The finest, the most chlimats, the most treasistible force lies in the mutual touch of human lives. To mix with men and women in the ordinary forms of social intercourse.

There is but one eight more beautiful than the mother of a family ministering happiness and summine to them all, and that is a women who, having no family of her own, finds her life in giving cheer and comfort to all whom she reaches and

She shares the blessedness of that highest life the earth has seen, of him who, hav-ing no home or where to lay his head, brought late other homes a fiew happiness and who spoke the transforming word, "It is more blessed to give than to re-ceive."

The Children. The Children.

Children are the salvation of the race. They purify, they elevate, they stir, they instruct, they console, they reconcile, they gladden us. They are the ozone of human life, inspiring us with hope, rousing us to wholesome sacrifice. If, in the faults which they inherit, they show us the worst of ourselves, and so move us to a salutary repentance, they also stimulate our finer qualities. They cheat us of weary caro. They preach to us, not so much by their They preach to us, not so much by their lips as by their innocence. Their questions set us thinking and to better purpose than the syllogisms of philosophers. Their help-lessness makes us tender. Their loveliness surprises us into pure joy. A child is a sunbeam on a winter see, a flower in a prison garden, the music of bells over the noise of a great city, a fragrant odor in a noise of a great city, a fragrant cour in a sickroom. If any one thinks this exag-gerated, I am sorry for him. It is literally true for me and for tens of thousands who have far more right to it. These fingers tingle with a kind of happiness while I am writing about the here. My chilly friend need not have my joy if he does not believe in it or care for it. I will not force it on him, but he shall not take mine from me.-Exchange.

Laundresses, housekeepers and men who, are particular about the looks of their linen, have been more or less worried because they could not secure the high luster and finish to their collars and cuffs. A scientist has put his wits at work to pre-pare a compound that will give the de-sired finish without injury to the articles on which it is employed. The results of this research are herewith given: "Heat together 90 parts of spermaceti, 50 parts of gum arabic, 50 parts of borax, 120 parts of glycerine and 750 parts of rain or disof glycerine and 750 parts of rain or distilled water, with constant stirring until complete solution is achieved. Let cool and fill into suitable bottles, which must be thoroughly stoppered. Directions: Take an ounce of good starch and add just enough cold water to make a paste, carefully rubbing with a spoon until all lumps are broken down. To a pint of boiling water add 5 teblespoonfuls of this liquid, pour the whole over the starch paste and boil not less than half an hour. These proportions are intended for collars, cuffs and fine shirt bosoms. For other articles less of the liquid is required."—New York

Damp Towels. When the chambermaid is going through ber round of morning duties, see to it that she understands about the towel rack. It

French Bread. Miss Parkon says that one of the secrets of the genuine French bread which it seepers to duplicate in their kitchens lie in the face that the dough is worked with-out too much dry four. It is not kneaded very much and what little kneading there shed with less flour than the average bress maker would consider possible. This scant kneeding accounts, too, for its quick drying. Training Children. The unsatisfied look on your child's face will fade when instead of trying to make her happy you set her to make some one else happy. Of course it is really easier, less of an effort, more satisfactory, to de things for yourself, if you are a mother, than to teach your children, often against their will, to do them for you-to take trouble of any kind, go on an errand, read alond, write a letter. In many cases of inflammation an ice poultice is a very useful application. It is made in this way: Spread a layer of linseed meal three-quarters of an inch thick on a piece of cloth and upon the meal put at intervals lumps of ice about the size of a marble. Sprinkle meal over the ice, and cover all with the cloth, turning the edges over. In this way the ice will last much longer than it otherwise would, and the poultice will be quite comfortable. When the tablecloth is removed, after a neal, it should not only be very carefully meal, it should not only be very carefully folded in the creases into which it was ironed, but it should be laid away under some heavy weight. A small marble slab, if procurable, is excellently adapted for this purpose. If the well smoothed cloth is laid beneath it three times daily, it will keep its freshness remarkably and last much longer before need of change.

It explains itself:

Bothwell, Ontario.

I send this card this 15th day of June, to H. A. Lozier, & Co., Toronto, expecting them to forward to anyone they wish (lady or gentleman). My motive as to see how many places and persons it will reach before the "Chatham Meet," so keep it going, and will the person that receives it on the 28th of June forward to S. R. Wilkie, Blenheim, Ont., and he will forward to the tyresident of the C. W. A., Chatham, and it will be there by the 1st of July, so go little postal, go—and try and not get lost, strayed, or stolen.

RELLA LUKE, C. W. A. Set down the busket and draw a single tusket-full of water from your well. By looking at and tasting it you know the condition of all the water in the well. A man doesn't need to talk long on a subject in which he is interested in order to show you his real character. You can form a pretty correct estimate of him in ten minutes. On the same principle you are frequently able, from the occurrences of an hour, to judge of the history of years. This is Nature's way of teaching large truths by samples.

For inistance, there are two or three short sentences taken from a letter, which in all does not comprise more than a hundred words; yet they point out what went on during twelve years of the writer's life.

"Sometimes," he says, "I had an awful pain and distress in the stomach, which no medicine that I took relieved. I had a sour taste in the mouth and pain after all I ate. There was also a sense of fullness and tightness at the chest, and I was constantly belching up wind. From time to time I consulted a doctor, who gave me medicines, but I got no better. In this mounner I continued to suffer for twelve years."

New think a minute what this mouns. Healthy people cannot understand it at all; but most of us have undergone min enough, some time or other, to help us to fancy what such a long and weary stretch of it must be. In is like a cold mainstorm that never causes; like a course in the house that is never removed; like a screech-RELLA LUKE, C. W. A.

You know you are weak, faint, languid, have loss of memory, depression of spirts, with a wasting of flesh. Your troubles proceed simply from nervous exhaustion, and though you are not suffering pain and agony, be assured your condition is extremely perilous, and demands immediate attention.

The wonderful stream (the blood) that runs to every part of the body, supplying the most minute nerves and tissues, is foul and poisoned. In your present condition your blood is not a life stream; it is a stagnant pool of disease and death.

The healthy, hale and strong, that bear up during the hottest weather, and that are blessed with clean, pure blood and steady nerves, are the people who make use of Paine's Celery Compound, that fortifies the nervous system, that gives perfect digestive power, sound sleep, and a new lease of life to those advanced in years.

Paine's Celery Compound is truly the great modern elixir of life, and no wonder that doctors approve of it and strongly recommend it.

Why go on in wretchedness and missay when such a medicine promise.

Bow to Ruild a House Out of Bursed Matches and Other Simple Things.

After having lighted the gas in the kitchen range you thought that the burned match stub was of no further use and tossed it aside in the waste basket. But to girls or boys who are elever with scisors and punknife out of these burned matches any number of pretty things can be made. Consider the good ands of the matches as logs just felled in some great forest and ready to be worked into lumber under the skillful hands of the builder, and under the skillful hands of the builder, and you can construct houses, fences, bridges and anything else that men make out of wood.

It may be made in almost any shape that your imagination suggests. The prettier you make it the more of an architect you are. For the first trial you can use the dimensions shown in the diagram. One side of the house should be made at a time, the logs being glued together one above another until the required height is reac d. The ends should be cut off smoo ily with the knife, so that they will fit together without leaving any cracks. The roof is made exactly like the sides of the house and glued into place, or it can be made of cardboard and painted with water color paints to represent shingles. The chimney is made of the little odds and ends of matches left over. The diagram B will show the details of the work. Bits of glass or mice are fitted into the windows and divided into four panes each by means of little splinters of match. Before gluing the house to the bristal board the floors may be painted blue and red or brown and gray, to represent tiling, and rich lace curtains may be painted on the mice windows. If you care to put in any furniture, tables, chairs, sofas and stools, they can be made out of the matches and glued to their places on the floor.

A Queer Way to Lure Larks.

A Queer Way to Lure Larka.

American country boys have many devices for snaring birds and small beasts, but so far as the writer knows they have never yet undertaken to capture birds by means of mirrors, as French boys, and elder persons besides for that matter, sometimes do. The process is described as follows by an observant traveler:

A number of tiny mirrors are set in a wooden disk, which is then mounted on a pivot in an open field or glade, where the tiny, silvered glasses will reflect the rays of the sun. A string is so attached to the disk that it can be made to revolve rapidly, and the ruirrors, being thus kept in motion, send out continuous flashes. These attracts the birds, as the beacon of a lighthouse attracts them at night, and they hurry to the spot from all points of the compass and fall an easy pray to the ambushed hunters.—Denver News.

Harry's Discovery. When Harry was 4 years ald, his grand mother was trying to teach him to count and asked:

"How many legs have you?"
He answered promptly "Two."
"How many legs has Brownie?"
Leoking at the dog for a moment he relied, "Brownie has one on each corner."

The shape of the finger tips hould determine whether the nail is to be ointed or more or less rounded at the top, should determine whether the hall is to be pointed or more or less rounded at the top, for nothing looks more ugly than to see tapering fingers with naile out straight across, or, on the other hand, square tipped fingers with finely pointed nails. Entremes in either case should be avoided, and after filing the nails well away from the sides they should be trimmed so as to correspond with the finger. The nails require constant care if they are to look nice, and to prevent the skin round the base growing up and getting dry it should be attended to once a day. The best time to devote to the toilet of the nails is at night after the hands have been washed and the skin is soft. Pour a little glycerin and elderflower water, or any other liquid emollient you may have at hand, into a saucer and dip the suttle knife or the sharp end of the file constantly into it, and carefully loosen the skin around each nail, weekling the light developed the sharp round the skin, the sides of the light developed to the sides around each nail, weekling the light developed to the sides of the sides of the sides around each nail, weekling the light developed the sides of the sides of the sides of the sides around each nail, weekling the light developed the sides of the sid carefully loosen the skin around each nail. working the liquid down under the skin. Marrying a Man to Reform 17tm. "The most subtle and deceitful hope which ever existed, and which wrecks the which ever existed, and which wrecks the happiness of many a young girl's life," writes Evangelist Dwight L. Moody in The Ladies' Home Journal, "is the common delusion that a woman can best reform a man by marrying him. It is a mystery to me how people can be so blinded to the hundreds of cases in every community where tottering homes have fallen and innocent lives have been wrecked bemunity where tottering homes have fallen and innocent lives have been wrecked because some young girl has persisted in marrying a scoundrel in the hope of saving him. I have never known such a union, and I have seen hundreds of them, result in anything but sadness and disaster. Let no young girl think that she may be able to accomplish what a loving mother or sympathetic sisters have been unable to do. Before there is any contract of marriage there should be convincing proof that there has been real and thorough regeneration."

With an old brush syply the thickly over the stops, heave to on for several house and then wash it off with a stout, study brown and cold water, sembling it well and using plenty of water.

New Eliting For Cushing When making contrious, it is the usual plan to stuff them with either funders or down. A very good substitute is to be found in the cork dust used for packing found in the cork dast used for packing fruit, principally grapes, coming from abroad. This can be bongfit quite incapensively from gropers or fruiterers, for when once the fruit is unpacked there is no further use for the cark. It is very light, and coshions stuffed with it are almost as comfortable as those for which down or feathers have been used.

Shells usually lose a good deal of their natural polished appearance when they are kept in the house as ornaments. They are kept in the house as ornaments. They get dry in a way that cannot happen when they are lying on the seashore. To remedy this and to give them a more lustrous appearance they should be brushed over with the white of an egg or with water in which a little gum arabic has been dissolved. When dry, they may be polished with a leather.

Those women who possess valuable pearls should understand how to care for these delicate jewels. Clear water does them no harm, but soap will discolor them and in time cause them to peel. They should never be worn constantly, as con-tinued exposure to the light and air often seems to have a similar effect. They should be placed, as soon as they are taken off, in the closed case, as this is the surest way to preserve their beauty.

To stand in a porcelain lined bathtub is as risky a proceeding as to stand upon glare ice, and there is much danger of slipping and being seriously hurt. Mats made like Turkish toweling, but much thicker and of the size of the bathtub, are made to be placed in the bottom of such tubs. They are heavy enough to keep their place and afford a secure footing.

These will be found useful where there are no scales kept in the kitchen: A tumblerful is half a pint; a wineglassful is half a gill; one quart of fine sifted sugar equals 1% pounds; a pint of butter equals a pound; a piece of butter the size of an egg equals two ounces; ten eggs weigh about a pound.

A Wash For the Waterproof. The following solution is said to be good for restoring a stiff waterproof to its original softness and flexibility: A teaspoonful of best gray lime, dissolved in a pailful of water. Apply this solution with a soft cloth to the surface of the waterpoof, repeating in three hours, allowing the garment to dry thoroughly between the application.

THE TURTLE EATERS.

MOST OF THEM ARE DWELLERS NEW YORK AND LONDON.

sported to Market—Turtles Live For a Month In Captivity Without Food-VItality In a Snapper's Head.

It takes about 5,000 turtles a year to keep New York in turtle soup. This city and London are the great turtle eaters. All the rest of the world together would not equal either one of these cities in the amount of turtle meat consumed, and New York consumes 2,000 more of the "big fish" than London does. Nearly all the turtles received in this city come from Key West.

They are caught on the coral see's sur-rounding the Florida keys, and, after be-ing taken into Key West, are brought to this port by a Mallory line steamer. The turtles are laid on their backs in a com-partment below decks. The compartment is kept warm, and that is all the care the creatures receive. They are not fed at all. Strange to say, in a large shipment it is rare that more than one turtle dies in the four days' trip up the coast.

A few turtles arrive here at odd intervals from Jamaica, but they do not arrive in as good condition as the Key West turtles and are not considered such good eating.

Londoners, in spite of all that has been said about aldermanic turtle soup, do not really know what good turtle soup is. Their turtles come from Jamaica.

The turtle trade, both in London and New York, is in the hands of a few men.

T. K. Bellis controls nine-tenths of the London trade and Engene Blackford at least two-thirds of the New York trade. Up above Mr. Blackford's place in Ful-ton market he has a room to which the turtles are hoisted and laid on their backs in a mild temperature as soon as they are received from the steamer. In summer, when the market is full of turtles, they are placed in pens in the East river, back of the fish market, and fed on chopped cab-

Sometimes, when there came a sudden and unexpected demand, turties have been sent up from Florida by express, but that makes a turtie cost so much that it is only in emergencies that he travels that way.

For the New York market the turties required are from 15 to 325 pounds for Florida turties. Jamaica turties are not good when they weigh more than 180 pounds. Kingston is the place where most of the turtie fishing for the London market is done. The great sea turties, with all their possibilities of steak and soup, swarm their possibilities of steak and soup, swarm over the coral reefs north of Jamaica, and over 100 men work on from 8 to 15 small schooners catching them.

Strong nets are stretched from rock to rock of coral, and against these nets the "fish," as the turtles are called by their hauters, swim and cling with their flippers. Then the fishermen gather them in, each schooner carrying back to Kingston from the reef as its catch from the reef as its went to place it on the floor, the creature snapped his nose clean off. When a snap-ping turtle is sold, a piere of wood is placed in his beak and tied there with strong cords running around his head. Otherwise he could not be handled with any sort of safety. Only about 250 pounds a month of snapping turtle are sold in New York.—New York Press.

There is a legend, says Justin McCarthy, to the effect that after Lord Stanley came into the house of peers, a lady somewhat indiscreetly asked Lord Brougham at a dinner party who was the best speaker in the house of lords, and that Lord Brougham promptly and emphatically answered, "Lord Stanley, madam, is the second bast."

THE MOST CONVINCING AND ABSO-LUTE PROOF GIVEN.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure When Other Medicines Fail—What They have Done for Others, They Will Do For You.

Will Do For You.

No remedy of modern times has offered more, or stronger proof of its sterling merit than has Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The cures are not those of people in foreign lands, but from all parts of our own country, and the statements made are easily verified by everyone in the vicinity in which the cures reported occur. When such proof as this is offered, doubt must cause, and the medicine must be awarded the palm of superiority over all others. Every mail brings letters from grateful people in all parts of Canada, who have been cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, sometimes after years of illness and after other medicines had failed, and it is the words of gratitude spoken by sufferers thus restored to health that has created the enormous demand this medicine has. The following letter is but a fair sample of hundreds constantly being received:—

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.

Dear Sirs.—I have great pleasure in terring testimony to the medicinal value of dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a blood purifier und health restorer. For ten years I was a victim to a complication of troubles, beginning with quin-

As, I have already, stated, I was a sufferer for years, and during that period spent a small fortune in doctor's medicine and duags, only to find in the end that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills accomplished what all other medicines failed to do. When the priority of the pills accomplished what all other medicines failed to do. When the priority friends who know how often I was laid aside with illness asked me what curred me I am always happy to say Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

THE HURRIED WINDING UP

Was Not to Let His Excellency Go Fishing. But to Make Money Votes Secure— Ratiway Committee.

Ottawa, July 1. - (Special.)-The statement in a Toronto -paper that Parliament was hurriedly prorogued on Tuesday evening to enable His Excellency to get away on a fishing trip is wholly incorrect, as well as very unfair to the Governor-General. The explanation of the celerity displayed by the Government to close up or Tuesday, when it was found that the Senate was willing to leave the Drummond Counties investigation until next mond Counties investigation until next session, is that certain sums had been voted by Parliament for the fiscal year ending yesterday, and it was essential to get these appropriations assented to before the end of the fiscal year, in order that the money might not lapse.

est of the commissariat corps, who was und killed by concented natives while kind on the evening of June 22 (Jubilee Day), Plugue Commissioner Rand being dangerously wounded at the same time, are still at large.

The aggressive attitude of the natives prior to the shootings was remarked. There were whisperings of impending disaster to Europeans, and it is thought that the whole native community, including the police, and foreknowiedge that something was going to happen. On Jubilee night a delayed anonymous letter arrived at Commissioner liand's nungalow, saying:

"You will die to-day, and the Queen will die two days after. Hany others will follow, and the soldiers will all be killed."

Threattening letters have been received by other Europeans. During the progress of the plague prominent Hindoos made violent accusations against the British soldiers, charging them with reobling, ravishing and ill-treating all who came in contact with them.

The allegations that the Brahmins are responsible for the murders which have recently occurred are repudiated vigorously. The whole matter is causing the gravest disquiet in official circles.

The Liteting Ended. Calcutta, July 2.—The rioting has ended, a compromise on the plague measures having been arranged between the authorities and the riotes, whereupon the disturbances have monediately ceased.

The absence of rain is causing the greatest anxiet, arroughout India.

T " 'he Trouble Arese. Calcutta, J. ly 2.—The rioting arose out of the gr. w. g practice of the Mohammedans of s. i hag and refusing to pay sent for certain s. called mosques, built contrary to the feast of the Mohammedan religion on ground be maring to insidels.

The demolition of a mud but, a so-called mosque, led to the outbreak. The rioters were continually reinforced, in respons: to telegrams seet up the country, in which they appeared to all true Mohammedans to come to the aid of their co-religionists. For 48 hours the 14-like and military were repeatedly obliged to clear the streets. Detached parties of Mohammedans stoned Europeans wherever they found them, in some cases dragging them from their giveries. All telegraph lines were cut and the build-ings containing Europeans were besieged. There were many narrow escapes. The rooters shouted war cries and vite epithets and grossly insuited the European women.

... rittl in tranger, In several parts of Calcutta it is still den-gerors for k. opeans to go about, and it will remain so, owing to the nature of the compromise to which the riot was brought compromise to which the riot was brought to an end.

The trouble is greatly increased by the absence of the higher officials, most of whom are now in the hills. Those who remained behind health to undertake the responsibility of extreme measures. The result was that the troops were not allowed to fire or to take the offensive, even when exposed to every kind of indignity and insult. Their behavior and self-restraint under the circumstances were admirable. It is understood that the compromise is based upon the unconditional surrender of the land, but it is helieved that this concession will prove a standing menace to the safety of Europeans, as the rioters will celebrate the vectory throughout all India. In spite of the cessation of the riots, the situation is regarded as extremely grave, and it is felt that unless some official is invested with pleancy powers during the absence of the governing authorities. Having special knowledge of the subject, I think this remark gave the ground for saving it was wished the rising would occur immediately."

Replying to a question from Mr. Henry Labouchers, relative to Under-Secretary Fairfield's remark Mr. Chamberlain said it was a "casual observation, and," he added. "It was possible Mr. Fairfield was laughing at Miss Shaw."

The Banquet to the Colonial Premiers by London, July 2.-The Duke of Connaught presided at a banquet given this evening by the Colonial Institute to the colonial premiers at the Hotel Cecil. Covers were laid for 600. Among those present were Lord Salisbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Selborne, the Faul of Jersey, Lord Loch, Mr. Goschen, the Pirst Lord of the Admiralty, Sir George Faudel-Phillips, the Lord Mayor, and most of the consular agents-general. The Duke of Connaught toasted the "United Empire," coupling Sir Wilfrid Laurier's name with the toast.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in responding, said that if the colonial premiers remained much-longer in England, they would all be killed by kindness. He admitted that the goal of his aspirations was to see Canadians of French descent sitting at Westminster. If he was a younger man he would hope to realize that ambifion, but to-day his only ambition was to get a denunciation of certain foreign vening by the Colonial Institute to the London, July 2.—(Telegram Cable,)—The Camadian contingent, on leaving London for Windsor to-day, to be inspected, with the other colonial troops, by Her Majesty, were fixteringly received all along the rorse to Paddington Station. To-morrow-they will bid good-bye to London and embark at Liverpool for home.

The people of Windsor gave a grand reception to the colonials on arriving, and all the way to the castle cheered them repeatedly. Her Majesty, after the inspection, expressed the greatest satisfaction with the appearance of the men.

20,000 PEOPLE BOMELESS.

London, July 2-A despatch to The Daily Mall from Braila, the principal port of Rou-manta, says that 20,000 inhabitants of Gaomeless, as a result of the recent floods homeless, as a result of the recent floods. Most of them are destitute also and camping in the streets, where they are fed by the military. The Roumania gunboats are busy rescuing families still in danger. It is estimated that no fewer than 100 persons have been drowned, though the authorities are reticent on the subject, for fear of censure for their failure to adopt precautions earlier which might have mitigated the disaster.

A NEW SCHEME ON

London, July 2-The Berlin corresp of The Daily Mail asserts that Dr. W. J. has engineered a syndicate, ostensibly French, in order to conceal its political nature, which has bought up all the available shares of the Mozambione Company. The money is actually contributed, according to the correspondent, by the Transvaal Government and several German financial houses, and the syndicate will pay Fortugal a large sum for a new charter to the Mozambique Company, including the whole of Deingon Ber, with its port customs and entire administration.

"Thus," continues the correspondent, "unless Engiand acts quickly, the Delagon region will full within the control of a Boer-German group."

Victim of an Accidental Wound

Toronto, July a.

The well-known barrister, W. G. Murdoch, died yesterday morning in Grare Hospital in this city. On Wednesday afternoon he was taken to the hospital, suffering from if wound in the eye, which he had received during the previous evening in a friendly fencing bout with umbrellas whilst in the Caer Howell Hotel.

A post-mortem was held yesterday afternoon and an inquest at the Hospital at night.

The only mark of violence on the body was that on the left eye, or more definitely between the eye ball and the eye brow. The attendants stated that if was badly swollen when the body was taken to the Hospital.

Dr. P. J. Strathy, deposed that he dressed the wound in the eye. When he saw deceased the latter had made light of what had happened and Mr. Charles Mead had told him that deceased and Frank Lockwood had been fencing with umbrellas and Lockwood's umbrella had gone into the eye of-deceased. Charles Mead swore that, in company with Dr. Strathy, he had found in the Caer Howell Hotel Frank Lockwood, Killally, Robertson and deceased. They went into a room and he heard deceased say to Lockwood: "Are you any good at fencing? you are not much good 2' anything else. Stand upon your feet." Lockwood did so and deceased made a sort of lunge at Lockwood: "Are you any good at fencing? Pon are not much good 2' anything else. Stand upon your feet." Lockwood did so and deceased made a sort of lunge at Lockwood with his umbrella. The latter put up his umbrella to foll the thrust and deceased ran into it catching it in the eye.

The Coroner: Did Mr. Murdoch lose his balance and fall upon the umbrella? Witness: Yes; he lunged too far, and fell over.

Frank Lockwood was next sworn. He had met deceased at the Caer-Howell

Witness: Yes; he lunged too far, and fell over.

Frank Lockwood was next sworn. He had met deceased at the Caer-Howell Bowling Club about 5.45 p.m. on Tuesday. Deceased challenged him to a game of bowls. He accepted, and, the ground being wet, they only played a few minutes. Each won a game, then witness had won the final, the scorer being Mr. Killally. Messrs. Robertson and Mead were in the club room when the players went in. Deceased said to witness. "You can't bowl; can you fence?" Witness had objected, but tapped on the shoulder he arose and held up his umbrylla to defend himself. Deceased bad made a forward movement and had received witnesses' umbrella in the eye. Continuing, witness remarked that he had apologized to deceased, but the latter had said. "That's all right. It was my fault." Deceased seemed soher, but was in a funny mood. Everyone in the party was sober also.

The inquest was adjourned till next Wednesday evening at the Police Court.

Cleveland, O., July 2-A national strik of the coal mine workers has been ordered to take place on July 4. This order affects all the mine workers i Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia and Kentucky, 250,000 in all. The struggle will be a long and bitter one ,as the operators have expected trouble and have prepared for it as far as possible by accumulating stocks of coal.

tircular to Miners. Columbus, O., July 2.-The officers of the Union Mine Workers sent out this moruing a general order for a strike in all the bituminous coal mining States to go into effect on July 4. The strike was decided a week ago to-day, but it was the intention of the officials to keep it quiet up to the last minute. The circular is in part as follows:

To the mine workers of the country, greeting:
Fellow Miners.—At the last annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America held in the city of Columbus. Obio, Jan. 12-16, 1897, after a full and careful review of the distressing condition of our craftsmen, brought on by the continued reductions in our wages; in order to prevent any further reduction from taking place and to secure for us a living rate of wages that will enable us to live as Americans ought to, so as to realize from our labor at least a sufficiency to provide the necessaries of life, it was determined that the scale of prices should be advanced to the following rates:

Pennsylvania (Pittsburg district), pick mining, 63 cents per ton.
Ohio, pick mining, 60 cents per ton.
Litting, Green of the prices and prices.

Litting Green Crass, mich mining, 65 cents per ton. To the mine workers of the country, greet-Indiana, bituminous pick mining, 60 cents per ten.

Illinois, Grape Creek, pick mining, 55 cents per ton.

The baiance of the State Gilinois mining rate of 1884.

Mining to be paid three-fifths per ton of the price paid for pick mining, except in indiana bitumipous, where the price shall be four-fifths per ton of a per ton price shall for pick mining; other mining sections a corresponding increase in price that will place them on a relative basis.

It was further agreed that the time for enforcement of the scale be left with the National Executive Board and the district president to determine when it would be most opportune.

Therefore, pursuant to the instructions of the National Convention, the National Board and District Presidents met in Columbus on June 24-26, and decided that in their judgment the time was opportune to muspend on July 4, 1897, for the enforcement of the before-mentioned scale rates.

Therefore, mine workers everywhere will take notice and govern themselves accord-cars at any time of place, or under any circumstances.

Bulletins will be issued from time to time to keep you informed of the progress of affairs.
Signed by members of the National Executive Board and district presidents:
Fred Dilcher, R. L. Davis, J. H. Kennedy, Henry Stephenson, James M. Carson, Patrick Bolan.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 2.—Next Sunger, or prior to that day, circulars will be placed in the hands of all bituminous miners in the United States, calling them out on strike. It is estimated that 250,000 men will be involved. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and parts of West Virginia and Kentucky will contribute to the movement. The strike is to enforce the Columbus scale of 69 cents per ton for Pennsylvania, 60 cents for Ohio, 60 cents for Indiana and 55 cents for Illinois. When the Columbus scale was adopted it was not thought advisable to attempt its enforcement. A committee was then appointed to take in hand the matter of a strike, and to order one as soon as such a course seemed opportune. This committee has decided that the time has come to act.

Strentor, Ill., July 2.—A mass meeting of miners here voted unanimously to go of strike now, and not walt for a general sus-pension order. As a consequence, no coal is being mined here, and nearly 3000 min-ers are idie.

Bradwood, III., July 2.—The miners of the entire Wilmington field met at Glack-en's Grove and decided by a unanimous vote to go on strike when the National officers shall order a suspension of work.

Five Thousand Men Affected. Cleveland, O., July 2.—The Cleveland Rolling Mill Company and the Britton Iron and Steel Works have shut down, failing to sign the amalgamated scare. About 5000 men are affected.

Tin Plate Works Closed Anderson, Ind., July 2.—All the tin-plate works in the gas district around Anderson, Elwood, Atlanta, Gas City and Montpeller have closed in all of the departments governed by the wage scale. All skilled labor in the union window glass factories is suspended, pending a readjustment of the wage scale.

Toronto, July 3

certainly be most serious if the strike should extend and production cease. Three years ago, in connection with the last strike, coal was at what was called famine prices. Nova Scotia coal had to be brought to Toronto. The Grand Trunk has not much coal ahead and the stocks of all railroads are at present very light.

Sir Richard Cartwright is taking a few days'rest in Kingston and is not expected to return to the Capital before Tuesday.

A prominent lumberman said to-day he was very glad to hear of the reduction

A prominent lumberman said to-day he was very glad to hear of the reduction in the American duty on white pine to a dollar, and hoped it would be finally passed by the President. He does not think Canada should retaliate, as the duty formerly was $1 a thousand. If the United States duty had been left at $2 and a Canadian export duty put on logs, it would practically prohibit all export. The new duty will, he thinks, be not too hard upon the Canadian trade. The Journal urges an export duty on logs equivalent to the duty on sawn lumber. Mgr. Merry del Val, the Papal Able agr. Merry del val, the rapal Amegate, will stay in Ottawa the remainder of this week. Next week he will pay a visit to Toronto, and as he expressed a wish to view Niagara Falls it is likely he will go there for a few days' rest. This will end the delegate's visit in Canada. After seeing the Falls he will pro-eed direct to New York and thence take steamer home to Rome.

MONKEY MALARKEY A PUZZLE. At Syracuse—Malarkey was a Chinese puzzle to the Brownies until the eighth innings, and then they did not hit hard enough to overcome the lead gained by Syracuse, who landed hard on McFarlin in the fourth, when Rochester made errors. Umpire Gaifney failed to put in his appearance and two of the players had to do his work. Manager Weldman was forced to go to centre field for Rochester, owing to the absence of Richter. Score:
