ESTCOURT CUT OFF

Durban Reports Communication With It Interrupted.

An Important Position Re-occupied by the British on the Kimberley Route.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 22, 5a. m.—It is announced from Durban that communication with Estcourt is interrupted, which seems to confirm the belief that a Boer commando has established itself at Willow Grange or near the Mooi River, and have cut the telegraph wires. Nevertheless, whatever definite knowledge the British commanders may have obtained from the scouts of the disposition of the Boer commando in Natal and the conditions of the beleaguered garrisons, particularly, nothing has been allowed to develop for the public information. A Pretoria despatch, dated the 21st, via Lorenzo Marquez, says—Monday's report from Gen. Joubert's headquarters, which was presented to the thorized Mr. Macrum, the United States consul there, to honor the checks of the British officers to the extent of £1,500, and generally to do his best on their behalf.

The reoccupation of Naalpoort is good news for the British. It is not known from what source the troops came, but it is claimed they were from De Aar, in which event it won't be long before Stormberg is also re-occupied. Naalpoort commands the gap in the Kikvorsburg, the last strong fighting position south of Orange River, and was admirably suited to Boer tactics.

COMING ADVANCE.

Preparations for it go on Very Slowly.

Lord Methuen's Baggage Addressed to Pretoria—A Messenger Arrested.

London, Nov. 22.—It is certain that owing to the heavy work of debarkation and entraining at Durban, the preparations for the relief force are in MILITARY BALLOON IN USE BY GENERAL WHITE AT LADYSMITH. IT HAS PROVED MOST USEFUL IN LOCATING GENERAL JOUBERT'S CONCEALED BATTERIES WHICH USE SMOKELESS POWDER.

Transvaal council of war to-day, says: "Heavy gun firing was heard in the direction of Estcourt on Saturday, and continuous rifle firing is proceeding south of Ladysmith. A small sortie from Ladysmith this morning was repulsed. The Transvaal's heavy guns fired a number of shells into the town this afternoon."

REOCCUPIED.
A Cape Town despatch of the 21st says:—"The British troops reoccupied Naalpoort on Sunday. It is announced from Naalpoort that the Boers are repairing the bridges previously destroyed by them. This, according to the Cape Times, is because the Boer invasion of Cape Colony was against orders." The same authority says that no defence of Bloemfontein is intended. U. S. Consul General Stows, who has just visited the Boer prisoners on board the Penelope, at Simon's Town, is interesting himself to secure good treatment for the British prisoners at Pretoria, and has authorized Mr. Macrum, the United States consul there, to honor the checks of the British officers to the extent of £1,500, and generally to do his best on their behalf.

WAR NOTES.
The Natal Witness says:—"The German farmers in the Greytown district have rejected the Boer ultimatum to swear allegiance or to quit their farms, and have defied the Boers to oust them from their homesteads."

IS CANTANKEROUS.

President Kruger Administers a Snub to Uncle Sam.

Declines to Allow the American Consul to Transmit Further Information.

London, November 22.—Callers at the United States embassy yesterday were informed that the United States was no longer able to forward messages or secure information regarding the British prisoners, President Kruger having refused the request to permit Consul Macrum to transmit a list of British prisoners. Though Mr. Macrum apparently still remains the nominal agent of Great Britain, he is practically deprived of all powers pertaining to the position.

It is understood that President Kruger objected to Mr. Macrum on the grounds that the United States claims to neutrality were prejudiced by her evident friendship for Great Britain. All communications to British prisoners now go through the military channels, which render their ultimate delivery doubtful, and certainly slow. The British government so far has not taken any steps to ameliorate the present condition of the prisoners. A government official informed a representative of the Associated Press that he did not see any good in trying to get any other power to act in their behalf, as President Kruger would doubtless treat its representatives in the same manner that he had treated the representative of the United States. Moreover, the official added, "It is not likely that President Kruger will be there long. If we did ask any other power to act in behalf of Great Britain it would possibly be Portugal."

MAFeking's LOSS.

It is Heavy Both in Officers and Men.

The Boers' Guns Continue to Pour in Shells at Long Range.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 22.—Late last evening the War Office made public two despatches from Gen. Buller at Cape Town. The first had been received from Gen. Clery, dated Monday, Nov. 20, and announced that three privates were wounded the previous day at Mafeking. The second was from Col. Baden-Powell, dated at Mafeking, Nov. 6th, saying:—"All well here. We have had a few successful sorties. Our loss is two officers and seventeen men killed and four officers and 29 wounded. The enemy's loss is heavy. His numbers are decreasing, but his guns remain and shell us, keeping out of reach of our small guns. Have had no news from the outside since Oct. 20."

NEAR NATAL'S CAPITAL.
The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch from Pietermaritzburg:—"An official communication from Ladysmith, dated Nov. 18, says the garrison is maintaining its position. A Boer force is reported to the rear of Boston, a day's ride from here."

LADYSMITH ALL RIGHT.
A Durban despatch says:—"The Government has received the following despatches from Col. Royston, commandant of the volunteers at Ladysmith, under date of Nov. 10:—"All the volunteers and police are well and there are plentiful supplies for men (Wednesday), and the same condition exists this morning. There has been no further bombardment and the effects hitherto have been trifling. We are anxious for news from the south."

Col. Royston's despatch finally disposes of all reports of another great British victory last Wednesday.

MORE THAN HALF ADULTERATED.

In Michigan, during the month of October ninety-two samples of food products were analyzed by the state pure food commission. Forty-three samples were proved pure and forty-nine adulterated. There are thirteen cases brought by the commissioner for violating the pure food laws now pending. If those food adulterators were doing business in Canada they would meet with little check. We are altogether too lenient in this country in the way of permitting the sale of unwholesome food stuffs.

NO SUCCESSOR.

By the death of Mr. Hobart the office of vice-president of the United States becomes vacant for the rest of President McKinley's term, as the law provides for no successor. A president pro tempore of the senate will be elected by that body when congress convenes, who will hold the office until March, 1901.

By law the succession to the presidency of the United States in the event of the vacancy falls on the vice-president, and in the event of the latter's death, to the secretary of state, the next in line being the secretary of the treasury, then the secretary of war, and down through the list of cabinet officers in order of precedence fixed by act of congress when the death of Vice-President Hendricks disclosed the necessity of such a provision.

THE LATE VICE-PRESIDENT HOBART.

Vice-President Hobart, of the United States, who died yesterday, was born in 1844 at Long Branch, N.J. His ancestors on his father's side were Dutch and on his mother's side Dutch. Thirty-three years ago he was graduated from Rutgers college and began teaching school. Three months later he began the study of law with Socrates Tuttle, then mayor of Paterson. Young Hobart is said to have arrived at Paterson with but $1.50 in his pocket, and from this small beginning he made his way unaided to wealth and prominence. In 1879 he was admitted to the bar, and the same year he married the daughter of Mr. Tuttle. In 1871 he was made city counsel of Paterson and in '72 he was elected to the state assembly, of which body he was chosen speaker in the following year. The demands of his party would not admit of his remaining long in private life, and in 1876 he was elected to the state senate and was chosen president in 1881. From 1880 to 1891 he was at the head of the state republican organization of New Jersey. From 1884 until 1890 he was a member of the national republican executive committee. At the time of his election as vice-president he was director in no less than 60 different companies. After election to the vice-presidency he went to Washington and took up his residence in the old Cameron mansion, which during the past two years has been the scene of many delightful social affairs. Mr. Hobart's genial temperament and charming personality made him very popular. He leaves but one child—Garret A. Hobart, Jr., a boy of 14, Fanny, a girl of 22, died in 1895, in Italy.

POOR ARCHIE GETS ANOTHER SCORCHING.

Toronto would like the western grain carrying route to the seaboard to run through that city from Collingwood. In a speech the other evening, Archie Campbell said if the Queen City wanted government favors in the way mentioned, it should send supporters of the government to Ottawa to get them. Now, the Toronto Telegram, an independent journal, comes the delapidated remains of Archie's political morals down with the fine tooth comb of honest criticism in this manner:

"Thrashing Machine Logic." Archie Campbell, M. P., knows the Liberal parliamentary party, and he knows the Laurier government. Therefore it is impossible to doubt the accuracy of Mr. Campbell's theory that the Liberals at Ottawa are small enough and the Laurier government is corrupt enough to attempt a wholesale transaction in bribery.

The Toronto-Collingwood grain route either is or is not a work of great public necessity and advantage. Until Mr. Campbell spoke, Canadians generally credited the Liberal party and the Laurier government with being honest enough and big enough to consider this question apart from the opinion or prejudices of Toronto.

Toronto is the home of one-twenty-fifth the entire population of the Dominion of Canada. At least a twentieth part of the revenues of this Dominion come from Toronto, and yet Archie Campbell stands up amid the applause of presumably honest men to attempt the bribery of a municipality with a fraction of its own money.

Archie Campbell knows the Liberal party in parliament, and there is no reason to hope that it is broader than his speech would indicate. Archie Campbell knows the Laurier Government, and it must be quite capable of acting on the narrow, corrupt lines of Mr. Campbell's speech. But Mr. Campbell does not know Toronto if he imagines that this city is on the market, and the toleration, not to mention the applause, which greeted his speech on Friday night would almost indicate that the political morality of the Toronto Liberal Association could be no lower if its membership was limited to Thrashing Machine Artists.

Perhaps it is a Boer sympathiser in disguise who is sending those 10,000 plum puddings to the South African troops.

As long as the aldermen in this city sit down, fold their arms, and do nothing but mournfully bewail the bad streets, we are not going to have good ones.

Gen. Joubert objects to lyddite because it scatters shell fragments too promiscuously. As a matter of courtesy between belligerents he would probably prefer shrapnel on the half shell.

Here is the conclusion of a letter on the situation at Ladysmith, published in the Westminster Gazette: "And who is to blame for this?—I am, dear sir, yours truly." The writer is very frank. We were blaming the British Government for it.

If purity is to be maintained in our political institutions it will be only by visiting condemnation upon corruption and debauchery when and wherever it is proved to exist, and where it is found thickest and in its worst phases.

—St. Thomas Times.

Very true—London Advertiser.

Then begin on London, the home and birthplace of the "machine," one of the most detestable political agents that ever was used to defraud an electorate.

A large number of Chathamites are disconcerting the Detroit Free Press in favor of the Tribune of that city, because of the maliciously senseless misrepresentations of the former concerning the South African situation. The principal feature which shines through its war leaders is absolute, uncondemned, unintelligible ignorance of the facts which it pretends to discuss. No one could object to the Free Press sympathizing with the Boers if it did so in a dignified and truthful manner. But the school boy rubbish it publishes can only have the effect of disgusting intelligent readers whether they are pro-Boer, British, or indifferent.

According to the Toronto Globe, Hon. Mr. Latchford explains his narrow escape from defeat by blaming the newspaper portraits of him published by the opposition press. He is in luck the electorate did not turn his picture to the wall.

HEAR! HEAR! HE CAN'T BEGIN TOO SOON.

Windsor Record.

A Toronto correspondent says: "Mr. Ross has already intimated that he will simplify the legal procedure of the province. That will be truly a blessing. Although we are not an old province, the Upper Canada Law Society has succeeded in accumulating enough procedure to sink the Inner Temple. The hand of the reformer will find plenty of work at Osgoode Hall. It is only a pity that while Mr. Ross is sweeping away cumbersome and expensive legal processes he does not also abolish some of the fat but unnecessary offices which are being held by lazy survivors of the Family Compact to the third generation."

TO JOE.

Harrowgate (Yorkshire) Herald.
There's a little bit of trouble now upon the boards again.
An 'ere's Tommy Atkins packed his kit and gone across the main.
For a little mild persuasion, and to make his meaning plain.
(With a Maxim if it need be) on the Rand.

An' the sand that's in the hour glass has filtered thro' at last;
An' Old England's gettin' weary, an' agettin' nasty fast;
For it's business only meant, you'll understand.

So there's Joe, he pins his orchid in an' sets his eyeglass straight.
An' sends a few more men across before it is too late,
For he thinks that Tommy's presence there will have a bit of weight.
They'll be handy (if he wants 'em) on the spot.

So it's orders down to Barracks, an' its orders to the men,
An' it's kiss her, 'an' God bless you an' send you home again.
For the transport she's a-waitin', an' there ain't no knowin' when There'll be meetings (maybe never like as not.)

There's a rod that's been in pickle now for eighteen years or more,
There's a little bit of hist'ry—an' we still feel rather sore;
There's the wiping off a slate, lads, there's the paying off a score;
For you bet we ain't forgot Majuba Hill.

We've been waiting long, and watching for the chance to get a snap
On the can'ting, wily humbugs, an' to wipe 'em off the map;
An' to raise the dear old colors at the finish of the scrap.
An' you bet your bottom dollar that we will.

So you needn't start to trouble, Joe, about the lot that go,
An' try to little England, an' are friends with every foe,
For the country's standing with you—we're a-looking to you, Joe,
You've the heart of every man that's worth a rap.

So go ahead an' hurry up, an' set to with a will.
All we ask is that you'll show 'em that Old England's England still;
An' there won't be any grumbling when we're asked to foot the bill,
For we're with you—men an' metal too—old chap.

OLEOMARGARINE.

How the Stuff is Made and its Probable Sale on its Merits. Effect of Legislation.

The discovery of oleomargarine, which is such a menace to the butter industry of our country, was made by a French chemist, M. Hippolyte Mege of Paris, writes Professor Hayward of the Minnesota State college. About 1869 he was commissioned by his government to try to find a substitute for butter that could be used by the army and navy. So successful was he that in January he was granted a patent by the commissioner of patents in London for "the preparation and production of certain new animal fatty bodies."

The process of manufacture is as follows: The fat, which consists of ox tallow and other fats, on arriving at the factory is first weighed and then thrown piece by piece into large tanks and covered with tepid water for an hour. The tepid water is then removed and the fat thoroughly washed with cold water, then covered with cold water and allowed to rest another hour. It is now taken and put through a hasher which cuts it very fine and also forces it through a fine sieve into a tub.

The fat is then removed to a melting tank surrounded by hot water and heated and stirred until a temperature of 110 degrees F. is reached, when the steam which heats the water is turned off. The water surrounding the tank, being much warmer than the melted fat, increases the temperature of the fat to 122 to 124 degrees, when the fat completely melts. The adipose tissue, or scrap, of the fat separates and settles to the bottom, leaving the melted fat at rest, and a clean yellow oil floats on top, covered by a film of white emulsion of oil with water contained in the fat.

When the scrap has completely settled, the thin layer of emulsion is baled off, and the clear yellow oil is drawn into wooden cars, which are removed to a room having a temperature of about 70 degrees F., where it is allowed to crystallize or granulate. This step requires some 12 to 20 hours of time and is a very important operation. The car containing the solidified oil is now removed to the pressroom, which has a temperature of 85 to 90 degrees, where it is packed in molds to form packages about 4 inches wide, 7 inches long and 1 1/2 inches thick. These packages are then put into a press and pressed until no more liquid oil can be obtained.

The solidified oil is then cooled to about 70 degrees F., when it is taken to the churning room, where 100 pounds of oil are churned with from 10 to 20 pounds of sour milk, together with enough coloring matter to give it the desired color, for 10 to 15 minutes. The whole mixture is then withdrawn from the churn and allowed to fall into a tub containing powdered ice. As the oil flows on the ice it must be kept in constant motion until the tub is filled with solidified oil, when another tub is put in its place.

The solidified oil is left in contact with the ice for about two hours, when it is dumped on an inclined table, where it is crumbled up so that the ice may melt and leave it. It is then crumbled up fine and put into a churn again with two-thirds to five-sixths as much sour milk and the whole churned for about 15 minutes. During this agitation the solidified oil takes up a certain percentage of milk and odor which the melting ice had washed out before.

It is then removed from the churn to the working table, where, after standing for a time, it is salted and packed and ready for sale.

The product is not butter, however much it may be made to resemble it in taste, color and smell. It is, however, a substitute for butter, and those familiar with the best oleomargarine claim it is not inferior to poor butter, a claim which we dairymen must admit. We must admit also that oleomargarine has come to stay, and all the dairymen can do now is to see that it is sold for what it is, and not in the semblance of butter. This can be done by concerted action on the part of the dairymen. It is believed by a number of the most progressive dairymen in this state that the oleomargarine bill passed by our late legislature will be very effective in stopping the fraudulent sale of oleomargarine and, by obliging it to be sold on its merits, will reduce its sale to the minimum.

Skim Milk For Milk Cows.

J. Lindstrom, a Swedish farmer, has conducted experiments with a view of utilizing skim milk as a food for milk cows, says The Dairy of England. He recently gave an interesting account of his experiments and of the method of procedure followed in making the "skim milk food," the main features of which are given below. The milk is first pasteurized, or simply boiled, in order to kill all bacteria which it may contain. It is then cooled to 80 degrees, and rennet is added. This mass is mixed in a tank or vat and left for two or three hours. The whey not absorbed by the curd is run off, and the curd is left for 48 hours, when it will be fermented and ready to feed. It is stated that enough of this food may be fed to correspond to four kils (8.8 pounds) of whole milk per head per day, and this will replace about 4 1/2 pounds of ordinary grain food. The method appears to be simple and easily worked. No doubt other coarse foods, also ground oats, etc., can be incorporated with the curd in the manner described.

Emulsified Milk.
In spite of the fact that "emulsified" beef has caused so much adverse comment, it is claimed that considerable of the milk and cream shipped to the large cities is "emulsified" with various preservatives—Live Stock.

STRINGS OF PEARLS

Real Danger of Losing Them Through the Breaking of the Cord.

They should be strung at least Every Three Months and Watched Continuously.

It might seem as though the care of a string of pearls was a very simple matter, and yet the possessors of these precious gems are often heard bewailing some misfortune that has happened.

"Naturally I was three-quarters of an hour late to dinner the other evening," one woman said. "My string of pearls broke just as I was clasping it around my neck."

"The being late is immaterial, but did you find them all?" she was asked.

"No," the speaker continued, "there were 73 on the string, and five of them have slipped away. I fear never to be recovered, as every crevice and spot in the room has apparently been searched into. Perhaps I have been a little careless about not having them restrung often enough."

As a fact, pearls should be unfailingly restrung every three months, or they cannot be worn with security. The heavy silken cord that is generally used to string them appears to be only a question of time before one of these weak spots will break and let fall the precious stones. It is equal to the not inconsiderable weight of the pearls. As soon as in places it begins to fray it is only a question of time before one of these weak spots will break and let fall the precious stones.

Since the very long strings have been worn this accident has not been an unfrequent occurrence in ballrooms, and last winter a commotion was caused in the hallway of an opera house simply by the breaking of one of these silken cords. As a precaution and to keep them from swinging many women when dancing fasten their pearls to the front of their bodices with a brooch or if the string is long enough they wind them about their wrists. It is a most reckless habit to twirl them nervously about the fingers and to make a plaything of them, for they will necessarily hasten the fraying of the cord. The cost of having a string of perhaps 50 pearls restrung at a reliable house is about 75 cents or $1, and surely considering the comfort it brings the money is well expended.

Savage Crabs.
The most savage specimens of the crab species is found in Japan, seeming to dream of nothing but fighting, to delight in nothing half so much. The minute he spies another of his kind he frays his claws together in rage, challenging him to the combat. Not a moment is wasted in preliminaries, but at it they go, hammer and tongs. It sounds like two rocks grinding against one another. The victor is the warrior who lacks conscience, that he goes going to use his influence for me because I was an honest man and would pay every dollar I promised in return for votes.

Where Children Marry.
The farther south one goes the earlier one finds marriages take place. A case was taken lately in Algeria, and it was found that the youngest Arab married man was 12 years old and that there were very many boys who were married at 13 and 14, while some at 15 had several wives. There is a youthful Algerian widow of 15 and a divorced husband of the same age. Girls are still more precocious and are sometimes married when only 11 years old, though 12 is the more usual age. There are 189 widows of 15 and 1,176 divorcees of the same age.

No Gentleman.
Superintendent—Did he purchase a copy of that commonplace book?
Salesman—Not even when I assured him it was a work without which no gentleman's library was complete.
Superintendent—In other words, he considered himself no gentleman and that therefore his library was complete.—Boston Transcript.

Those who think a large family handicaps a man should explain how the old timers who are dying rich and leaving large families made their money.

With Pleasure.
McSwatters—I always love to hear that girl next door play "The Star Spangled Banner."
Mrs. McSwatters—I thought you said you couldn't stand her piano playing?
McSwatters—Well, when she plays "The Star Spangled Banner" it's a sign she's got through.—Syracuse Herald.

How It Happened.
Jones—What a funny looking house that is across the street.
Smith—Isn't it an oddity, though? I understand the owner instructed the contractor to follow all the plans suggested by his wife.—Ohio State Journal.

Men quite incapable of writing themselves down fools in the old way do it very readily with the help of a stenographer.—Detroit Journal.

There are many people who will never grow rich, because their habit is to spend all they get.—Evening Wisconsin.

"How far back on the family tree did you trace his lineage?"
"To the third limb."
"Why did he stop there?"
"His great-grandfather was dangling on it."

"Did you notice what an attitude Ruggles struck when he stepped up to Dewey and shook hands with him at the reception?"
"I did. What did he mean by it?"
"He had bribed 50 amateur photographers to take snap shots of him at that moment."

LAUGHING GAS.

Yon Yonson in Denver.
A clever piece of verse appeared in the Denver papers recently. It was the story of how "Yon Yonson" went to Denver, as follows:

Ay room er en das Burlington
Das vas snap lightning tren!
Ay tenk de journey just begun
Ven "Too-oo-oot!" and har Ay banel
Das poety quick, yo bat mae life.
But not a yolt or yar.

En Ay just lak a hard yar
Ay tenk Ay shed mae hair.
Ay got sax dollar money on
Mae pocket. Das all right.
En you just bat mae life dar bane.
A hot time har tonight.

Politics in Billville.

Public office is a public trust. We hired out the children, overhauled the mule and the newspaper and then got left by six votes!

We have elected another man to the mayoralty, but the former mayor still holds the office. He has barricaded the doors and awaits he will not surrender alive.

The other day we turned the prisoners out of jail to vote, but they outran the candidates, and now the sheriff can't catch 'em.
We tried the Australian ballot system, but it didn't work to suit. It don't elect half the candidates who wanted to get in. We have just laid out a new town to accommodate our disappointed office seekers.

A Crying Need.

Wanted, an India rubber desk.
One to expand and contract at will;
One to expand, though, most of the time—
A desk I could never hope to fill.
Mine is one of the usual size,
Big enough for methodical men,
But, good Lord, not of a size by half
To hold the things that come in my ken!

Day after day do I lay aside
On my desk the things I take up next;
Week after week I forget these things,
Which pile up higher, and I am vexed.
At best, once a month I make a sweep
Of the gathered stuff to show my zeal,
And, swearing a virtuous reform,
Shuffle the cards for another deal.

But what's the use? In another month
I'm back in the same old rut again.
An India rubber desk is all
That will keep me out of that, that's plain.
For business men who follow the rule
Don't know the troubles we're forced to meet,
Who follow the grind of the daily press
And haven't the time to keep things neat.

Complimented.

"I don't know when I have been more touched by a personal tribute," said Senator Sorghum.
"Was it something the man who just left said to you?"

"Yes," he said; he was tired of dealing with politicians who lacked conscience, that he was going to use his influence for me because I was an honest man and would pay every dollar I promised in return for votes.

The Irresponsible Candidate.

He took an run for office—they beat him out of one—
He saw another heave in sight an still kept up the run.
An when they beat him out of that he saw another rise
An tried to run with his titles clear beneath them office skies!

He just kept on a-runnin from more to evenin late;
He jumped the highest fences to reach the office gate.
He never stopped for rest at all—to ketch a single breath—
But run so fast at last—at last he run himself to death!

—Atlanta Constitution.

A Harassing Problem.

"William, I don't know whether to telegraph or not before I start out to Cousin Caroline."
"Why are you undecided?"
"Well, if I don't telegraph maybe she won't be at home, and, if I do, maybe she will go off visiting somewhere."—Detroit Free Press.

Ready For Duty.

If James clamor to be kissed
Until a hero's nervous he
Of deputies appoint a list
For such a trying service.
True courage fills this mighty land.
Our lads know naught of fearing.
Sound forth the call! You'll find at hand
No lack of volunteers! —Washington Star.

Misapprehension Corrected.

"That is the blind asylum, isn't it?" asked the visitor.
"The what it is called," replied the resident. "They call it the blind asylum, but I should think that anybody could see that its site is admirable."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Woman's Way.

She treats one summer romance just like a paper book—
To read, to thumb and then to lose in some woody nook.
Another love she treasures like a volume bound—
To reread and gloat o'er all the long year round.

Almost an Insult.

The Sentimentalist—Poets, you know, are born, not made.
The Materialist—Oh, yes, I know, but if there were any demand for the goods a poet factory would be started inside a week.

A Choice.

A day off with the daisy, the lily or the rose
May be the thing for poets, who are simple, I suppose.
But give me in the autumn time, the best in all the land,
A day off with a cider mill and doughnuts close at hand.

Where He Was Lucky.

"Whatever became of that gambler who went to Alaska?"
"He struck gold all right."
"In the Klondike?"
"No; on a prospector coming back."—Chicago Post.

Objections.

"To learn to swim," I told her,
"Assuredly one ought."
"But if one learns," quoth she, "one may't continue to be taught."
—Detroit Journal.

LOUSE-PROOF ROOST.

Description of the Mechanism of This Peculiar Article.

Other Notes and Information Useful to the Farmers.

Make a foundation of 4x4 scantling, in the shape of a frame, about as long as the building, and wide enough to make the roosts of suitable capacity. For the perches use 2x4 or 4x4 scantlings, ripped through the middle so as to make two pieces 2x1 1/2 or 4x2. The upper corners are rounded off as shown, and the perches are supported on standards of inch pine, 18 inches long, or half-inch iron rods. An old fruit can is attached to each support by being soldered at the bottom of the can, the top being left open. These cups are kept half-full of coal oil or crude petroleum.

The roosts can be lifted off the supports for cleaning and to give access to the floor of the building. They may receive an application of coal oil or be whitewashed themselves occasionally. Instead of using the framework for foundation, the pipes or rods may be simply driven into the ground in their proper places. In the cut but one support and one end of a perch are shown. The perch may be any length, and is supported at the end not shown, in the same manner as at the one illustrated.—American Agriculturist.

Economy With Fallen Apples.

There is much waste in the common practice of turning hogs into orchards to pick up fruit and make that their exclusive diet. The hog will soon learn to eat only the ripened fruit, leaving that which is wormy. This fruit can be sold or dried, and if forced to do it the hog will eat the wormy fruit before the worm escapes. But to make this really economical some grain and milk should be given to hogs in addition to their fruit diet. This will make the young pigs grow and will strengthen their digestion for the exclusive corn feeding that will come when they are put up to be fattened.

Green Crops for the Orchard.

Bare soil soon loses its humus and becomes infertile. This must be prevented. Here is one way of preventing it: Plow the orchard in the spring, cultivate both ways and keep all weeds down till September 1, at which time the soil will be in fine condition for a seed bed. Sow rye at the rate of two bushels per acre. This will cover the ground well before winter, and therefore protect the ground from blowing or hard freezing during the winter. Let the rye stand till knee-high in the spring, then turn under and proceed with clean cultivation through the summer.

Cause and Effect.

If you starve your cow your pocket-book will be starved.

Our government has decided to encourage the culture of the tea plant, and tea farms will soon be heard of. Our tea imports cost $10,000,000, which the farm advocates say can mostly be kept at home.

English barbed wire manufacturers having reduced prices, while American goods have advanced, hope to be able to compete in South Africa with what has heretofore been almost an American monopoly.
Calico print works use 40,000,000 dozen eggs per year, while wine clarifiers use 10,000,000 dozen, the photographers and other industries use many millions, and these demands increase more rapidly than table demands.

RANDOM COMMENT.

Redlands, Cal., has a giant mowing machine which cuts a strip of wheat fifty feet wide.

Judge William A. Day has received three, honorary degrees since he was at the head of the State Department.

Mrs. Mary Jane Douglas, of Galena, Kan., who says she is one hundred and two years old, was married the other day to James Morgan, who is seventy years old.

General Phil Sheridan's widow still lives in the house in Washington which was presented to the general by his friends when he took command of the army. It cost $45,000, and has trebled in value.

Many animals in desert regions never have any water except the dew on vegetation. A parrot in the London zoo is known to have lived fifty-two years without drinking a drop of water.

Don Jaime, the only son of Don Carlos, has just won $100,000 as the first prize in a lottery at Warsaw, where he is stationed as an officer of a Russian cavalry regiment.

One of the Speakers of the national House of Representatives (Polk) became President, another (Colfax) vice President, and three of them (Clay, Bell, and Blaine) were nominated for the Presidency.

The oldest practicing solicitor in England is Mr. Henry John Davis, of Newport, Monmouthshire, who was admitted in 1835. He still holds and personally attends to several public appointments.

"She refused me point blank," "Did she give any reason?" "Yes; she said I didn't look half as eager and interested when I proposed as I did when making a rush at foot-ball."

"They Said It Was Fatal."

An instance of the way doctors may be mistaken is shown in the experience narrated by Dr. Joseph Pike, of Lost Springs, Marion Co., Kan.

"Ten years ago," he says, "there was an emigration from Russia to this country, and there was a lady in the company who was badly affected with that dreadful disease scrofula. Her mouth and throat were in an awful condition, and there were lumps on the outside below the jaws the size of a hen's egg. Other doctors had been called and they said it was a fatal case."

"I was called and made my diagnosis; I felt confident that none of my remedies would do her any permanent good. It came to my mind that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was recommended for it, so I went to the drug store and bought one bottle and gave it to her to use as directed. Five bottles cured her and she is well today. She is married now and has three healthy children."

"If this is a credit to your medicine," adds Dr. Pike in a communication to Dr. Pierce, "you can use it. I am using a good many of your medicines in my practice."

In his own profession Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., is honored as among the foremost of living specialists in diseases of the blood and nervous system. If your health is poor write to him in perfect confidence for good advice. It will be sent you in a plain sealed envelope, without charge.

A PAINFUL DISCOVERY.

It was Made in the "Wee Smas" oers and Under Conditions
The Most Puzzling Sightings will not now Attract the investigation of This Explorer.

"It was about the witching hour," said the suburbanite. "I had left the station some distance behind me and was on my way up the road toward home. I had got comfortably cool by that time, and the charming influence of the starlight night possessed me and made me feel at peace with all the world. Nor did the fact that I and my new suit had made a bit with the friends I had been visiting detract from the fullness of my self satisfaction."

"All went well until I came to a street crossing my road. At the corner was a street lamp, which from some cause was not lit, and from this lamp flattered what seemed to be a handkerchief. You know I am a little bit near sighted."

"I reached over to take it, but it was touched by the wind and waved just beyond my grasp. I reached over farther, leaning full against the lamp post. This time I was successful, and I found that the supposed handkerchief was a piece of paper on which was written in bold and dashing letters the legend 'Fresh Paint.'"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Real Reason.
Long ago he had taken the resolution always to be perfectly honest with his children.

"My son," he accordingly observed, "I am beating you with this trunk strap not for your own good, but because I am hot under the collar! No, it does not by any means hurt me more than it hurts you!"

In the face of such a luminous example it would be strange if a boy did not grow up to be an honest man.
It was perhaps possible to overdo this thing and render a boy so honest that he would be unable to earn his living in any of the learned professions, but that difficulty, if it existed at all, was theoretical rather than practical.—Detroit Journal.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Wear the Barrington hat, $2.50. The 2 T's, sole agents.

Miss E. Robert has returned from Ridgeway, where she spent a few days with her sister.

$7.50, $10, $12, and $15 are the prices at the 2 T's for the New Method Suits and overcoats.

Take care of your eyes and your eyes will take care of you. Neglect them and they will remember it. The human eye is a wonderful, tricky little organ. Examination free. E. J. MacIntyre, leading optician opposite Grand Opera House, Chatham.

John McAuliffe, proprietor of the Dynamite alloy feed and livery stable, has moved his business quarters to the old church opposite the Central school. He will establish there well and fully equipped stables and feed barn. Mr. McAuliffe has been established in Chatham for over nine years and needs no recommendation to the local public. He invites his many friends to call on him at his new and improved quarters. 221w.

MRS. TOTTEN'S DEATH.

Mrs. Mary Totten, wife of Joseph Totten, Walkerville, died at St. Joseph's Hospital this morning, in her 37th year, after a long illness that she has borne with Christian fortitude. The deceased lady entered the hospital in April last and underwent an operation that only prolonged her life. No hope was entertained for her ultimate recovery. She was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kerr, Lorne avenue, and a niece of Mrs. Garner. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the residence of her parents, Lorne avenue.

STRONG BOER FORCES

Now Occupy the Railroad South of Estcourt--Raiding Cattle.

Durban, Monday Nov. 20.—Seven hundred Boers from Waenen took up a strong position on the highlands, thirteen miles south of Estcourt, Sunday, occupying Turner's farm, northeast of the Mooi river. Major Thorncroft, with a detachment of mounted infantry and the Estcourt Carbineers, engaged the Boers, of whom three were killed, including their commander. The Boers withdrew, taking two hundred head of cattle, captured at Turner's Farm. The main Boer force south of Estcourt is reported to have retired.

BOERS SOUTH OF ESTCOURT.

Durban, Natal, Nov. 22.—A despatch from the Mooi River says the telegraph line was cut Tuesday evening near Highlands station. The despatch adds that the railroad station is in possession of a large force of Boers. A train bound to Estcourt returned. It only got a mile and a half northward of the Highlands station.

The Natal State Co's farm has been raided and 3000 blooded horses, valued at $75,000 have been captured.

THE NATAL SITUATION.

New York Nov. 22.—A despatch to the Tribune from London says:—The siege of Ladysmith has evidently failed, but the resources of Boer craft are not exhausted, and both White and Clery need to be on their guard against being entrapped at the last moment when the union of their forces only requires caution and patience. This was the undertone of talk at the war office, and hope was expressed they would remain quiet and Clery would not allow himself to be hurried.

While the facts of the military situation in Lower Natal are carefully concealed, it is plain that Clery will have in the course of a few days a force of 17,000 or 18,000 troops, including the naval brigade and the battalions which were on the ground before reinforcements began to arrive at Durban.

MAY BE IN DIRE STRAITS. While the campaign in Natal is wrapped in mystery, so much light is thrown on the movement toward Kimberley that some military writers decline to believe that it will come on, as freely advertised. Lord Methuen has two brigades and apparently the Highland brigade under Wauchope will join him. There will then be a body of nearly 15,000 men. Skeptics assert that the censor would not allow the press despatches to go through if Kimberley were the real destination of the column, and predict that it will occupy both banks of the Orange river, and draw off the Dutch troops from Cape Colony. Others writers urge that Kimberley may be in greater stress than the public supposes, and that Buller knows the relief column must march speedily. The censorship in that quarter has evidently been relaxed from some secret motive.

THE MARKETS

CHATHAM GRAIN MARKET.

Wheat—Local receipts are light. The market has a little better feeling. The price per bush, in Chicago shows little change, but it inclines to firmness.

Oats—Light supply on street, with unchanged prices. The demand is fair for both export and eastern points.

Barley—Small receipts. Demand for carloads quiet. Export trade dull owing to scarcity of tonnage at the seaboard, high freight rates and no improvement in the English market.

Corn—New has only been delivered in small quantities as yet. Another fortnight will probably see the usual large receipts which come to hand at this season. Present prices range from 27c to 28c, per 80 lbs. for corn in the ear.

Beans—Light receipts. The crop, being small this year, largely accounts for this. The market is fairly active and is holding firm. Prices are thought to be at around the top notch. Good samples of hand-picked top $1.15 to $1.20 per bushel.

Dressed Hogs—Very good receipts are to hand this week considering the mild weather. The demand is fair for them from shippers at around $4.75. The change to colder weather will increase the business to its usual large proportions at this time of year. Prospects, however, point to lower prices.

Wheat 66 to 67c.
Mixed oats, 23 to 24c.
White oats, 24 to 25c.
Barley, 70 to 73c per cwt.
Corn, in the ear, 27 to 28c per bu.
Beans, $1.05 to $1.20.
Buckwheat, 45c.
Clover seed, $1 to $1.75.
Alsike, $3.50 to $5.25.

HAY AND HOGS.

Hay, timothy, per ton, $7.50 to $8.
Hay, clover, $4 to $4.50.
Hay, baled, $5.50 to $6.50.
Hogs, fat, $3.25 to $3.50.
Hogs of the right kind, weighing from 170 to 200 lbs., $3.60 to $3.65.
Dressed hogs, light weights, $4.75.

HOUSEKEEPERS' PRICES.

Wednesday's market brought out a fair attendance. There were several loads of potatoes in and they sold at 65 cents a bag. Apples were also in rather good supply at from 15 to 20 cents a peck. The ordinary cooking apples brought 10 to 15c, superior 15 to 20c. In the shed both butter and eggs were rather scarce, but the prices asked were lower than on Saturday. Eggs sold at 18 cents and butter at 20 cents. Chickens were in fair supply at from 20 to 30 cents apiece.

Eggs, 15c.
Butter, 20 to 21c.
Apples, 15 to 20c a peck.
Cabbages, 5 to 12c each.
Peas, 20 to 25c a peck.
Apples, 10 to 15c a peck.
Potatoes, 60 to 65c a bag.
Cauliflowers, 5c up.
Onions, yellow, 20c, white, 30c.
Carrots, 10c a peck.
Parsnips, 15c a peck.
Turnips, 10c a peck.
Beets, 15c a peck.
Green peppers, 5c a dozen.
Celery, 4c up.
Cider, 25c a gallon.
Chickens, 20 to 30c.
Spring chickens, 15 to 20c.
Ducks, 25 to 30c.
Turkeys, 75c to $1.
Mutton, 6 to 7c.

MORPHINE ROUTE.

A Bothwell Girl Took it to the Other World

In Detroit—The Man She Lived With Arrested but Subsequently Released.

Detroit, Nov. 22.—Charlotte Fysh, of Bothwell, Ont., was found dead in bed at 136 Third street yesterday morning by her companion, Kenneth Hare. Apparently she had taken a larger dose of morphine than usual. Hare gave himself up at police headquarters, but soon was released when he explained things to the satisfaction of the detectives. He said she had previously threatened suicide. His acquaintance with her dated back two years, when she came to Detroit from Bothwell. County Physician Henderson, who held a postmortem, is of the opinion that the direct cause of death was heart disease, aggravated by the morphine.

Hare lived with the girl and they pretended to be man and wife. He appeared at the office of Dr. Dayton Parker, at 7:30 o'clock. "My wife has taken something," he said, "and I can't wake her up." Dr. Parker hastened to the woman's side. She had been dead for hours. A powder wrapper in the adjoining pantry, with a spoon beside it showed traces of morphine. The package must have contained 15 grains. Hare said he had returned home the night before at 11 o'clock. He found his wife groaning in the bed, but he did not attempt to aid her. He went to sleep beside her and when he awoke this morning found her lifeless. Blood stained her clothing, but there were no marks of violence on her person. The blood evidently came from here stomach. "—her, she's done it now," Hare said to the doctor. "She's tried it several times before." Dr. Parker thought the circumstances surrounding the case so suspicious that he notified Coroner Hoffman and the body was removed to P. Blake's Sons.

Hare is a paper hanger. His wife, he says, lived in Bothwell, Canada, before her marriage, with her family, who still reside there. Hare notified them by telegram yesterday.

About a year ago Mrs. Hare was employed as a domestic at the Hoffman Hotel, corner of Seventh and River streets.

Mrs. Margaret Lindsay, landlady of the Third street rooming house, did not even know the couple's name. "She came last Saturday and rented the room, paying for it. She had applied for a room some before."

"You aren't married, are you?" I asked her. She seemed so young. "Oh, yes," she replied, "I have been married four years."

"You ought to be whipped," I said jokingly. Her husband came in that evening. Sunday they were in the room most of the day, I think. "Last night she came to me and said her husband had the key to the room, and she could not get in. I gave her another. Later in the evening we all heard strange noises. I thought it was a neighbor's dog and went out of doors to stop it. Finally it seemed to come from the room. We thought the husband must be in there drunk and I made up my mind to make them move in the morning."

"We went to bed. I could not sleep. At 11 I heard the husband come in. Then he went out again, but returned, slamming the door behind him. Then I heard a sound as though he had knocked against the table, shaking the lamp. The next thing I knew about the case, Dr. Parker took me aside and asked me if I knew the woman was dead."

The morphine was purchased by the woman from the drug store of F. A. Cook, corner Cass street and Michigan avenue.

Hare was detained at police headquarters.

Steps a Windsor School Principal Has Taken

To Stop Cigarette Smoking Among School Boys—Four Vendors Convicted.

Principal Chisholm, of the Central school, Windsor, marched into police court yesterday, accompanied by about thirty of his pupils, ranging in age from 10 to 14 years. He and the boys were there as witnesses against Frank Girardot, Goldie English, Mrs. Corbett and Mrs. Tompkins, all of whom were charged with having sold cigarettes to the boys contrary to law.

Principal Chisholm told the magistrate that a large number of his pupils are excessive smokers and that they are making no progress in their work on account of using cigarettes. He said that the number he had brought into court are not all that use the weed, and he asked that an example be made of those in the habit of selling tobacco to children in the city. He expressed the opinion that his school is not any worse than the other schools in the city.

All of the defendants were found guilty, but sentence was deferred for one week. Before dismissing the boys, Magistrate Bartley gave them some good advice on the use of cigarettes.

SMALL-POX CASES

There Have Been 63 in Essex up to Date.

Health Authorities now Have the Epidemic Well in Hand.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—The Provincial Board of Health feel now that they have the small-pox outbreak in Essex county well in hand. There have been a number of new cases since the last report of the board's representative, on Nov. 10th, but they all occurred in the infected houses, which have been isolated, and are now under the eye of the sanitary police and special directors. In a report received from Dr. Hodgkiss, sixty-three cases are reported all told, and in twenty-five infected houses. Since the last report, on Nov. 10, one hundred had been infected in Maidstone and Tilbury West, while there have been three in Tilbury village and nine in Rochester township. Speaking of the outbreak of small-pox in the Province of Quebec, Dr. Bryce said that the Provincial board were not alarmed of it reaching Eastern Ontario. The Quebec board were quite able to cope with the epidemic, and he felt no fear.

WHAT DR. CASGRAIN SAYS.
Windsor World.—Dr. H. R. Casgrain says that there is plenty of small-pox east of Windsor and that it is the real article and no novel edition as has been insisted upon by Dr. Gibbs and other physicians.

"I tell you a doctor cannot rush into a house with his fingers to his nose, glance at a suspected case of small-pox and then run out again. That is being done over here. In order to determine a case of this disease, the physician must make repeated calls on the person afflicted in order to make a thorough diagnosis. I have listened to Dr. Gibbs and others, but there is nothing to such talk."

KILLED 3,000 SHEEP.

Over 3,000 sheep belonging to the Geddes Sheep Company were driven from Wyoming into Routt County, Colorado, last week to a range forty miles north of Craig. Last Saturday fifty masked men captured the herd, and then proceeded to kill the entire flock. The herders were warned not to bring any more sheep into Colorado, and were released.

HEAP OF TROUBLE

Results From Bishop McEvay's School Mandate.

Four Belle River Trustees Summoned Before Police Magistrate Bartlett, of Essex.

There is a hot row on at Belle River among the school trustees, and, as a last resort, Magistrate Bartlett and F. P. Boutellier will hear both sides of the case at Belle River on Thursday. The trouble has arisen over the action of Bishop McEvay to have the school a strictly Catholic one. It is that to all intents and purposes now, as the teachers are nuns, and religious instruction is given during school hours. There is only one Protestant trustee on the board and he made a hard fight to have the school remain as in the past, and was upheld by one of the Catholic members, but the other four voted to have the separate school. Then the Protestant demanded a meeting of the board to determine what portion of the school property belongs to the Protestant families, about twenty in number. The other members of the board would not attend a meeting. They were summoned on a charge of neglecting their duties as trustees and they will have to answer to that charge Thursday.

ENGINEERING NOTES.

The American Line steamer "Paris" left Falmouth on August 14, under her own steam.

Emperor William visited Dortmund on Aug. 11, and opened the Dortmund-Eme Canal.

A De Laval steam turbine motor has been used in a slate mine for running a ventilating plant. The high speed of the turbine is reduced by means of proper gears, so that the actual speed of the fan is about 1,000 revolutions per minute.

Notwithstanding an increase of the output of all products of Baku, Russia, about 200,000,000 gallons of petroleum in a total of 2,000,000,000 the average whole output per well has fallen from 225 gallons in 1896 to 199 in 1898. This would apparently indicate a permanent weakening of the wells.

The British steamer "Puritan" sailed from Philadelphia on August 12 with a large cargo of railway materials in fact the largest cargo that has ever been taken from any port of the United States. She took out forty Baldwin locomotives and tenders, and eighteen steel bridges for the Chinese Eastern Railroad, in addition to several tons of miscellaneous cargo. Another steamer will leave in a few weeks with a similar cargo.

The number of failures from all causes in automatic block signals as compared with the total number of movements of each signal does not exceed more than one in 30,000, says The Railroad Gazette. In case of failure of a signal it causes a stoppage of the train until the cause can be ascertained. The failures which are entirely erroneous, that is to say, which make a signal show safety, when it ought to show danger, are less than one in a million movements. This is a far better result than can be obtained from any system of block signals depending upon human agency.

The Navy Department has received from the agent of Vickers & Maxm, of England, reports of the trials at the company's proving ground of the new 6-inch gun fired by the company for the navy. This gun was ordered by the Chief of Ordnance of the Navy a year ago. In the recent trial a number of charges of cordite were fired with very satisfactory results. The rate of ten rounds per minute was obtained. This gun has been adopted by the British Admiralty, and the United States recently purchased the right to use its mechanism.

The Gruson Iron Company, of New York, which was recently incorporated, has acquired the exclusive right in the United States to manufacture and sell cast iron rotating turrets and other chilled armor construction for coast defense and also all the rights for the manufacture of port gun carriages and all machinery connected therewith. According to the contracts, the German allied firms of Krupp and Gruson are to furnish all possible information and experience required in the process. A large plant will be constructed at some point which has not yet been determined upon.

Workmen who are engaged in digging a trench in Park Row, New York city, in front of the Federal building, have unearthed a section of the first water main ever laid in the city, being one of those put down by Aaron Burr's company. Clay pipes of their manufacture, was so great that they could not be used, and chestnut logs were substituted. Those which have been unearthed were found to be in good condition. We have on another occasion described the interesting water tank by which Aaron Burr's banking company obtained its franchise.

TAN MADE TO ORDER

The Fake Kind Comes in a Bottle and is sold Cheap.

A lady, who removes wrinkles and restores hair, and does other wonderful things to you to make you a delight to the eye, has revealed to me one of the dark and lucrative secrets of her profession. You have noticed, of course, how tanned the summer girl is. Her face is as brown as a berry and her hands are browner still. You think of sea bathing and driving and golf, and other expensive pleasures when you see her, and you figure to yourself that she has come to town just for a day or two. Not to be tanned is to be as hopelessly out of the fashion as if one wore big sleeves or wore congress gaiters, and the lady who makes over ordinary mortals into dazzling beauties tells me that half the tan one sees doesn't even know the gun by sight.

It is nothing in the world but a make-believe. It actually comes in a bottle, and I think she said it is made from walnut hulls in some way. Skillfully applied, it looks precisely like the real thing. It is just as hard to get off, and it is not nearly so tedious nor so expensive to get on. It is simply a stain, and when you see the summer girl, trust her not. If she isn't fooling thee, it's either because she has already done it, or because she hasn't got around to it yet. She's a delusion and a snare—a whited—no, a walnut stained sepulcher.

Time was, and not so very long ago, either, when the summer girl cherished her complexion as the apple of her eye. She fought freckles and tan with balms and creams and lotions all summer. It's a healthy state, this fashion of being tanned, I suppose, but really I do think that it is carried to the extreme. Say what you will, tan isn't becoming to the average girl. Above a shirt waist and under a rough rider hat, it is in a way picturesque but with a befuddled mullin as its accompaniment it is not pleasing to see and in an evening gown the effect of a nut-brown throat set on alabaster shoulders is weirdly dreadful.

I spent two days in the mountains last week and I couldn't begin to count the number of girls and women of all ages I saw riding and driving and walking in the blazing sun, bare-headed. It fairly made my eyes ache to see them. The bleaching sun gives to their hair is anything but pretty, and the glare in their eyes can't possibly be pleasant, but it is necessary to suffer to be in the fashion, I suppose. I like the out-of-door girl, with her heavy shoes and her swinging stride and her tan and her bobbed-off skirt, but if I were a man, I wouldn't make love to her any more than I would to her little brother. I'd pick out a girl with high-heeled shoes and a rose-colored lining to her parasol, and a chiffon hat, if I were a man. Of course, though, the athletic girl doesn't care to be made love to, or at least she says she doesn't, which is—no, it is not at all the same thing.—Washington Post.

INGERSOLL LIKED BRIGHTNESS IN GIRLS.

A New Orleans girl was asked once if she would not like to be presented to the prince of agnostics, and she said "she reckoned she would so," if it could be made for her through the introduction which cornered him. The introduction was accomplished, and three or four young women brought forward at the same time. Colonel Ingersoll bowed gallantly to each, and, showing his marvelous memory and tact turned to one, who had a difficult name, said he had heard A. M. Palmer speak of her as the most promising actress in his ranks, and to each of the others he said something personal, calling her by name, a hard thing to do in the haste of an introduction. To the New Orleans girl he said: "I once knew a gentleman of your name. Is he any relation to you?" giving the initials. The home girl glanced up and smiled demurely. "He is my father by marriage," she said. The Colonel's brows—heavy affairs they were—rose perceptibly, and it is doubtless true that he grinned. Then he bowed to his little petticoat court and offered his arm to the little woman of ours. "You're the sort of girl who can talk," he said. "Let us go over to that window seat; I've been looking for you all the evening."

THE HINDU IDEAS OF RELIGION.

I met in India an intelligent Sikh from the Punjab, an asked him about his religion. He replied: "I believe in one God, and I repeat my prayers, called Japji, every morning and evening. These prayers occupy six pages of print, but I can get through them in a little more than ten minutes. He seemed to pride himself on this merit. I said, 'What else does your religion require of you?' He replied, 'I have made a pilgrimage to a holy well near Amritsar. Eighty-five steps lead down to it. I descended and bathed in the sacred pool. Then I ascended one step, and repeated my Japji in about ten minutes. Then I descended again to the pool and bathed again, and ascended to the second step and repeated my Japji a second time. Then I descended a third time and bathed, and ascended to the third step and repeated my Japji a third time; and so on for the whole 55 steps; 85 bathings, and 85 repetitions of the same prayers. It took me exactly 14 hours, from 5 P. M. one evening to 7 A. M. the next morning.' I asked 'What good did this task?' He replied, 'I hope I have laid up a great store of merit, which will last me a long time.' This is the genuine Hindu idea.—Montreal Witness.

IN A GOOD CAUSE.

Ladies' Assisting Society's Annual Sale Will Begin Nov. 30.

Fancy Goods, Lunch, Tea, Coffee, Candy, etc., the Temptations.

A very largely attended meeting of the Ladies' Assisting Society was held at Mrs. N. H. Stevens on Tuesday afternoon. Final arrangements have been made for the sale which will open on Thursday, Nov. 30th, in the store next to the C. P. R. express office, the use of which has been very kindly given to the ladies by Mr. McVean, the manager of the opera house. It will pay all who are looking for either useful or fancy articles, dolls, or candy, to visit the sale, which will continue for three days. Lunch and tea will be served each day of the sale. The lunch will be equal to a good dinner and the tea all that can be desired. There will be four booths. The Ladies' Assisting Society will have dolls and aprons. The First Presbyterian church ladies' Aid will have a miscellaneous booth, while the Ladies' Aide of Holy Trinity church and the Baptist church will have the candy booth. The ladies of Holy Trinity church have also generously decided to take charge of the lunch and tea on Thursday, the first day of the sale, providing all refreshments for these two meals. The Ladies' Aide of St. Andrew's church, the Park street church, Christ church and the Victoria church, although not taking charge of booths, are contributing many articles to the sale. All are asked to send in what ever they are giving to the store next to the C. P. R. on Wednesday afternoon the 29th of Nov. There will be no canvas made for provisions, but contributions will be gratefully received from friends on any of the days above mentioned.

FALSE PRETENSES ALLEGED.

At the police court this morning, after a half hour for the crown attorney, the case against Thos. C. Faun, was proceeded with without his presence. The accused was charged by R. S. Dunlop with securing goods from his grocery establishment under false pretenses. The evidence of the complainant and Angus R. Crow, a former employer on whom the accused claimed the right to issue an order, was taken for the prosecution, and then Faun secured a remand till Friday to put in some evidence on his own behalf.

Corticelli Skirt Protector is all wool and the wool is selected for its elasticity, fineness and softness. It has a porous, elastic weave. It will not chafe the finest shoes. It is better than any other Skirt Protector because there is no cotton in it.

Any "binding" with cotton in it will skrink and pucker the skirt.

When the pile wears off it will wear the gloss off your shoes.

Corticelli Protector will outwear the skirt.
