NO LYNCH LAW FOR US.

Lynch law can never obtain a foothold in Canada. The crime for which Almeda Chatelle was apprehended was the most atrocious and diabolical that has ever disgraced our criminal annals. But the accused is safe in Stratford jail. He will be taken to the inquest and to the preliminary examination. He will be placed on trial in due time, and whether innocent or guilty, the slow-measured but certain process of the law will be allowed to take its course. Canadians have implicit confidence in the administration of our laws and no matter how loudly the heinousness of a crime may cry for the wild and speedy justice of the mob, there is a sufficiently strong sentiment of order pervading the community to restrain any popular outbreak.

And it is well that such is the case. There is nothing so unreasonable in this world as a crowd, even a small crowd, swayed by any great emotion. At Listowel the other day, before the train bearing Chatelle pulled into the station threats of lynching could be heard on all sides. When the prisoner stepped off the train, and each of the witnesses there assembled declared he was not the guilty one, the people who thirsted for the man's blood a few moments before showered silver into his brawny hands, and though the account does not say so, we may rest assured many women there assembled regretted they had no flowers presented as a peace-offering to the accused.

The verdict of the mob is variable, erratic and uncertain. The justice of the courts is in this country, thank God, certain and undeviated.

OUR CREDIT ALL RIGHT.

The loan of $2,350,000 which Hon. Geo. E. Foster went to England to negotiate has been successfully placed on the London market at 2 per cent premium. This, in face of a deficit in the national revenue, shows that Canada's credit stands higher than ever in the money markets of the old world.

Mr. Richard Glynn, chairman of the Bank of British North America, and one of the foremost capitalists in England, paid a high compliment to Canada at the annual meeting of shareholders in September, for the way he commercial concerns came through the period of depression. "The banks," he said, "were a credit to the Canadian banking system. Canada had an immense advantage, in that she banked on her own capital, and had not, like other colonies, to borrow money in London on deposit, which generally fell due at inconvenient times. Not only did Canada lead in banking, but in everything affecting the welfare of the colonies." Statements of this nature, emanating from so high a source, have all the greater weight when they are borne out by the actual state of commerce and the public finances. The expenditures have been kept within reasonable bounds despite the constant demands for necessary and progressive works. To quote the language of the Finance Minister on the occasion of his last budget speech: "It would not be anything more than pardonable for me, and for the Government, and for the party which supports the Government, to take note of this fact, and to emphasize it—that, in a period of Canada's growth, with services over a widely extended range of country constantly growing, and new ones constantly coming to the front, and in a time of progress and competition when those services have to be generously met, we have been able to meet them and have been able to keep the country's expenditure on Consolidated fund at an almost stationary figure. The expenditures in fact had risen only from $36,718,400 in 1888, to $36,814,000 in 1893, showing almost an even rate from year to year in the interim. Facts like these, together with the maintenance of public confidence here through the late financial crisis in the neighboring States, and the depression passed through by many other countries, are calculated to inspire British investors with a respect for Canadian securities, which will probably never be repented in the history of the country. The identification of such a desperado is of no small moment, but when the two men pronounced against him with no uncertain sound, a feeling of relief prevailed among the officials present.

SCARCELY A DOUBT NOW

As to the Murderer of Little Jessie Keith at Listowel.

HIS STORY TO THE POLICE.

STRATFORD, Oct. 24.—The interest in the Listowel murder case has changed its centre for a day, and the interest during the past twenty-four hours has greatly increased. Yesterday a man suspected of the murder passed through Listowel, and was declared not to be the tramp who is believed to have committed the crime. The half-dozen witnesses who did not recognize him so satisfied the crowd upon the station platform of his innocence that where lynching had been threatened a donation of silver quarters was given. To-day the pendulum of public opinion has been swung back to the other extreme. The guilt of the Erin suspect is doubted by no one, and the men who gave him silver would now give him a hempen rope. This has been brought about by the second series of identifications. Most of all, it has been done by the identification of the woman's garments which were found in the possession of the man when he was arrested as the property of the Alida Orsag woman from whom they were stolen, and the identification also as her property of the black valise and some of its contents, as well as, and most important of all, the white skirt found around the neck of the dead girl.

IDENTIFICATIONS.

Detective Murray came to Stratford yesterday accompanied by Featherstonhaugh, who saw the tramp at Listowel and who, it will be remembered, called the attention of a companion to his tough appearance—and Robert Morris, who saw him going into Farmer Grey's store, where he was seen at Feversham's, where he was seen at Palmerston's, and so on. Morris' statement that he had not a valise when he saw him, can easily be accounted for. He had probably set it down at the gate, preferring not to carry it up to the house. Featherstonhaugh is a prominent citizen and local representative, and when the man Almeda Chatelle was produced in the corridor of the Stratford jail, he said without a moment's hesitation:

"THAT'S THE MAN."

Robert Morris was also brought and corroborated Smith's identification. Not a shadow of a doubt now remains. This man's footsteps have been traced foot by foot from the time that he was seen at Feversham's to the time that he reached the scene of the murder. From thence his movements were not easily discernible, but it transpires that without a doubt he went east on the town line about a mile and three-quarters into the side road leading to Gomps' 2½ miles east of Listowel, whence he directed his course north for a short distance, and then struck a north-westerly route across the hill leading to the grand road leading from Listowel to Palmerston.

He was overtaken by a farmer named Moses Smith, who gave him a lift to Gowestown, a flag station between Listowel and Palmerston, where he struck the railroad, and this accounts for his own statement. On being asked if he had been at Palmerston, he said he had come to Barrie, whence he had come to Erin. That he never was at Hamburgh, Galt or Guelph is certain, and his story so far as these places are concerned is a fabrication.

The scene at Stratford jail is a sombre one, and one which will probably never be repented in the history of the county. The identification of such a desperado is of no small moment, but when the two men pronounced against him with no uncertain sound, a feeling of relief prevailed among the officials present.

HE HAD A VALISE.

Crown Attorney Idington and Detective Murray examined the prisoner at some length. After repeating the story of his movements he was asked where he was about 1 o'clock on Friday, and replied, "I was at home." His pockets were searched, and it was found that he had been at Palmerston. From Palmerston he had gone south as far as Galt, where he had come to Barrie, whence he had come to Erin. That he never was at Hamburgh, Galt or Guelph is certain, and his story so far as these places are concerned is a fabrication.

AROUND AND ABOUT US

Epitome of the Week's Events in Different Parts of the County.

EARLY AND NEWLY BUDGETS

(By THE HERALD'S Staff of Special Correspondents.)

Rockwood.

ROCKWOOD, Oct. 24.—Mr. Slavin has sumptuously recovered from his injuries to leave the hospital.

James Penwell, for some years mail carrier between the station and post office, died suddenly on Monday evening at 78 years of age.

A Nassauway sport and local miller saw a dive on Gray's mill pond on Friday and supposing it to be a duck went to it and found it was a gun. Nassauways may fired several ineffectual shots at the bird and becoming riled he rammed a double charge into the old musket loader and fired again but failed in killing the bird. The gun kicked him off the boat and man and duck went to the bottom of the pond together. The man was promptly rescued and offered the gun to a gentleman who would fish it up. The gun probably had more than one shot in it hunting in the woods than on water.

Saturday evening John Osborne had his horse in Farnham stabled while he transacted some business in the store. On coming out he could find no trace of his rig. He telephoned to Hugh Black, who went out to investigate and found the horse going along the road and a man was walking rapidly ahead of it as if he had just abandoned it.

In 1862 G. F. Pasmore, then a boy, presented a lady in the village as an American five dollar silver plate as a christening gift. When she was born the parents thought her appearance in Uncle Sam's domain. Last week the old lady presented Mrs. Pasmore with some piece of money, having kept it carefully for 32 years.

There was a lively day in the village. There were about 50 Grand Trunk employees at work on the iron bridge repairing it. They got over half the bridge and will complete the job next Sunday.

Marden.

MARDEN, Oct. 23.—Farmers in this locality are taking advantage of our glorious fall weather to put up their turnips and any boy capable of lifting a root is in demand at good remuneration. Contrary to the general expectation, earlier in the season this crop had turned out above an average, but the quality both was not satisfactory to the growers. Late potatoes, also, far exceeded the calculations of a few weeks ago, so that the prospects of abundance now has had a cheering influence on the minds of those engaged in the soil generally.

Last week Miss McKinnon, of Guelph, visited Mrs. Blyth and Miss McDonald, of Marden.

Mrs. McKenzie, Brudenell, visited her mother in Marden here.

Miss Fassina, of Nichol, visited Mrs. McDonald, remaining a few days.

Jas. F. McDonald, Palmerston, has been back to see friends and on business.

Miss Ella of Marden, is away on a visit to her brothers, Colin Blyth and John Blyth, ex-M.P.P., of Normandy, and other friends.

John Thompson, of Alberta, lately home on a visit, has gone the Old Country again.

This week Mrs. A. Kennedy, of Guelph, paid a visit to A. Kennedy, of this place.

Mrs. A. White, of the Royal City, dropped in to call on some of her friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Buttons and Mr. Plewelling have also been among the visitors here this week.

Mrs. Young of Glasgow, Scotland, has been here for about a week at Mr. Holmwood's.

Miss Lizzie Goetz is home from Detroit.

Mosbore.

MOSBORE, Oct. 22.—Miss Alice White, returned Saturday from a two weeks stay with her sister, Mrs. Thos. of Fergus.

Wm. Lidaway's team of colts got the lines in a tangled condition last week and gained control of their master's vehicle. On examination, when they had been brought to a standstill, one was found to be rather severely cut, although the run had been a short one.

Mrs. Anna Eramose, is staying at Alex. McIntosh's residence of her son-in-law,

Alex. McIntosh.

Joseph Hobson judged cattle at the Erin fair last Thursday.

Mrs. White, of Hartington, is at present visiting the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, the former of whom is in a very weak state of health.

In our notice of the post-office changing hands last week, we said it was this time in the name of Mr. Cleghorn as names control.

The entertainment given in No. 1 school by the Paisley Block Boys' Temperance, last Tuesday night, was attended by a large number of the public, who could well accommodate and quite sustained the reputation this place carries for the largeness of its audiences, and the merits of the programmes which it presents at different intervals.

On the occasion referred to, the programme was as follows:—Instrumental, Misses MacIntosh and Nettie Derby; speech from the chairman, Alex. Fyfe; by choice selection, Govt. Quarte; songs; Whitelaw; recitation, W. Atchison; exhibition of heavy weight lifting, E. Meyer; play, "Out in the streets"; Miss Cowan, of Guelph; Spiks and Malton; and Messrs. Linton, Atkinson, Henderson, Jackson, McIntosh and Derby; chorus; Misses Hawking and McIntosh; Messrs. Thosford and Hawke; Lillian Lizzie Goetz, G. W. White; local choral singing, W. Atchison; and chorus by the choir, brought the meeting to a close. The performance was a success, and the audience enjoyed the show.

Dr. Low's Worm Syrup cures all kinds of worms in children or adults. Price 25c. Sold by all druggists.

Certainly hog raising may be condoned among the inhabitants of the county of Waterloo, who almost every Monday you can meet wagons with double horses coming into town, and should the aromatic odour which precedes them not make you aware of their contents, you would be compelled to tell that this was shipping day for pigs. The brand favored is still the "long lean," and the color white, and the weight from 150 to 180 pounds. There are no statistics to show how many hogs are raised in the country during the past year, but the number must be very large and the price, though not high, has been fairly remunerative.

Mrs. Chas. Clark left on Monday for a short visit to the country town of Port Michie, has returned from Philadelphia.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castera.

Nicely warmed, brilliantly lighted and gaily decorated with flowers, the library is very well managed and deserves the fullest support.

There is talk of several changes on Mountsberg, but we do not know what they will be.

Never to late to mend, and on the same principle it is never to late to make, and the Rev. Mr. Middlemiss thinks so too, for late in life he has in the season he has commenced to make a home. It has only got as far as the foundation, but is rapidly progressing.

Battie is down to 15c. in Elora. The same principle applies to all over the province which think they should pay as much as Toronto is compensated somewhat by the neighborhood of creameries and cheese factories, but in spite of all those butters, the cost is likely to be quite lower.

The Rev. Mr. Booth wants to plant a few thousand more London and poorhouse incapable in Cashel. He gets $75 each for what he can place in Cashel, and when he appears to assist him by turning our own children into tramps to work for him, he says, "I am not far away, but in Toronto, London, etc., and in this time, when we are packed a long time and severe winter, to add to the evil?" No thanks, no more papers.

New Germany.

New Germany, Oct. 23.—The evening of Thursday last was spent by the majority of our young people in the trip to the little fantastic tea at the residence of Francis Gehl, while the older people of the vicinity spent a happy time at E. Schmalz's place celebrating the anniversary of his wedding. Everybody had a good time.

H. W. Brothman, of Brantford, spent a few days visiting friends in this vicinity. He returned on Tuesday evening, after their appearance in Uncle Sam's domain. Last week the old lady presented Mrs. Pasmore with some piece of money, having kept it carefully for 32 years.

CINNOCK, Oct. 24.—Turnip picking season is around again and a number of the farmers have taken advantage of the fine weather to take up their

Some of the Cinnock boys went out coon hunting last Thursday night. There was a big hunt and it seemed as though they had lots of fun. All had not gone out in the big tree, which was so high that the hunters failed to bring down the coon with their shotgun, and their ammunition running out one of the party took his coat, clung to the tree and notwithstanding the bad fall it received, it jumped up and gave the dog a good tussle before they killed it.

Mr. Thomas Muir, of Fergus, who has a sore knee is visiting friends in this vicinity. We are very glad to see him.

Jas. Sackett and son, from Eramose, paid a visit to friends in the neighborhood.

A LUCKY MAN.

Laid up for Months by a Severe Form of Kidney Disease—The Simple Cure he used—He's Well Now.

THURSDAY, Oct. 23.—Some men don't know when they are in luck and others do. Albert Mathers, of this place, is one of the lucky ones who knows of his good fortune and tells about it. He says he was laid up for a little while but soon got well again.

When kidney disease has such a hold on a man as that, he is in a serious condition. Mr. Mathers recognized this and used every means that could think of without wasting any time in beginning to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him and he is attending to his affairs once more and is as healthy as ever.

The entertainment given in No. 1 school by the Paisley Block Boys' Temperance, last Tuesday night, was attended by a large number of the public, who could well accommodate and quite sustained the reputation this place carries for the largeness of its audiences, and the merits of the programmes which it presents at different intervals.

On the occasion referred to, the programme was as follows:—Instrumental, Misses MacIntosh and Nettie Derby; speech from the chairman, Alex. Fyfe; by choice selection, Govt. Quarte; songs; Whitelaw; recitation, W. Atchison; exhibition of heavy weight lifting, E. Meyer; play, "Out in the streets"; Miss Cowan, of Guelph; Spiks and Malton; and Messrs. Linton, Atkinson, Henderson, Jackson, McIntosh and Derby; chorus; Misses Hawking and McIntosh; Messrs. Thosford and Hawke; Lillian Lizzie Goetz, G. W. White; local choral singing, W. Atchison; and chorus by the choir, brought the meeting to a close. The performance was a success, and the audience enjoyed the show.

We know whereof we affirm when we state that Ayers Pills, taken promptly and in full strength, cure the above named diseases.

One of the most striking of the gentlemen's feats was perhaps the taking of fourteen men needful to move the average weight, although not the most difficult which he claimed had even to have performed.
