THE united testimony of our delighted customers serve our purpose in advertising our Handsome Suits, which, to us, is to be lauded, but to us it is to be lauded with pleasure and delight at the comfort experienced—sitting everywhere—binding nowhere. This high standard has only been attained through years of unceasing toil, but now our well-worn habits are happily appreciated by a long suffering public. Come and be made happy likewise.

Yes, said he, 'since we were here in a storm, now we are here in a calm.' Nature was indeed, in strange contrast to the state of these poor creatures...

A SPANISH ANECDOTE. The following beautiful lines on Wilke's conversation with a German in the same Spanish conversation, a picture of 'The Last Supper' by Lord Houghton, father of the House of Lords...

MOY O'BRIEN. A TALE OF IRISH LIFE. CHAPTER XXXIII. 'It is not enough to meet them as by chance, in lighted rooms, and feel a cold regard, where I tremble to try their slight glances...

They were silent for some little time. At last he said: 'When I was in Ireland last summer I had a good deal of anxiety even at the very first, but I was never so happy in all my life...'

They both laughed at this, but they felt it was almost impossible to get any fun out of her opinions; so she said: 'I suppose she is shocked to see how few of the nobility devote their leisure to anything really worth doing...

They are a blessing not only to their country, but to the whole world. I am not a Republican in my ideas, said Mr. Gilmarin. I think there is nothing so good as our own social system, which reduces the grandson of a duke to the position of a simple gentleman...

Man like, he was now thoroughly interested in this subject; so true it is that love, however deep, does not take up the whole of a man's existence, as it often does of woman's; but Mr. Gilmarin was being educated up to them...

They Said Ditto. At one of the largest shipping offices in the city, the majority of the clerks reside in the most fashionable part of the city, and the amount of grace is allowed them for arriving in the morning. They are, however, required to explain on a list specially required for the purpose the cause of their absence...
