"I Had Terrible Backache From Kidney Disease"

Mrs. M. A. McNeill, Coonan St., N.B., writes:
"I was troubled for years with terrible backache, resulting from kidney disease. At times in each month I remained in bed, the pain was more than I could stand, and to walk was almost impossible. I used about $50.00 worth of other medicines, but with little result. Now I am completely better, after using only five boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

The Heir of Bayneham
—AND—
Lady Hutton's Ward.

CHAPTER XVII.

In the far distance Hilda heard the sound of the music, broken every now then by the wailing of the wind, that bent the trees and mourned with the cry of a lost soul round the castle walls. She was a very fair picture, seated in the dim, mellow light of the little boudoir, the frelight gleaming in her costly jewels, and throwing a half halo round her golden head. The remembrance of Lady Bayneham's words was sweet to her. Young, beautiful, and loved, she had not one sorrow or care.

She might have laughed at the dismal wail of the winter wind. It was chanting some sorrowful dirge of grief and want, woe and death. What had such to do with the beautiful, brilliant lady who listened, with a smile on her lips thinking how perfectly happy she was? Then, remembering she had promised Bertie Carlyon the last dance before supper, Lady Hilda rose to return to the hall-room.

"I was just coming for you," said Lord Bayneham, drawing his wife's arm in his; "Greyson has been here in search of you. He wants to speak to you; it is something about the arrangements I suppose. I will send him to you."

Greyson was the butler, who had served Lord Bayneham's father, and was consequently looked upon as a valuable and confidential servant. He approached Lady Hilda, looking carefully around to see if anyone could hear what he had to say. His young mistress stood near a large recess; it was half divided from the hall-room by a thick crimson curtain.

"My lady," he said, producing a folded paper, "I have been asked to give you this, without letting any one see or hear of it."

Lady Hilda hastily opened the note. It was almost illegible, as though the hand that wrote it had trembled and shook.

"Lady Hilda Bayneham," it began, "the doctor tells me I am dying. I have been dying for two days past, but I cannot leave this world until I have seen you. I shall have no answer to the questions I must be asked unless I see and speak to you. It is from the threshold of eternity I summon you. Do not delay; and as

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and gives you sleep.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine is famous for this purpose. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup. To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make 16 ounces—more than you can buy ready-made for $2.00. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children take it eagerly. You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours—less, splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Reverse of instructions. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

you value the love and happiness around you, do not say one word of this. I am lying at the little cottage near the Fir."

"How strange!" said Hilda as she read the little note over again. "Who brought this, Greyson?"

"Old Mrs. Paine, from the Fir, my lady."

"Was any message left with it?" she inquired.

"None," replied the man, "except that she asked me to give it to you soon, and when you were quite alone."

The butler imagined, as old Mrs. Paine had done, that it was a request for alms. Every one in sorrow or want sought Lady Hilda, and no one ever sought her in vain.

As there was no more to be said, Greyson hastened to resume his duties, leaving the lady bewildered and surprised with the note in her hand.

"It must be an appeal for money," she said. "I will not be anxious over it. I wish whoever wrote the letter would have asked plainly for what is wanted."

She tried to believe it was but a somewhat uncommon way of soliciting money. Yet they were solemn words; she heard them above the soft, sweet, dream-like music that filled the hall-room—above the courtesies and homage offered to her; above the voice of flattery and love they rang out clear, cold and solemn. "From the threshold of eternity I summon you."

Bertie Carlyon wondered what spell lay on those rosy lips—they were mute and still; the bright, beautiful face had a troubled, wondering look.

"I fear you are very tired, Hilda," said Lord Bayneham to his young wife.

"I am not tired," she replied hastily. "But I am—"

Then she stopped abruptly, remembering those other words. "As you value the love and happiness around you, do not say one word of this."

"You are what?" said Lord Bayneham smiling, yet wondering why his wife's face flushed and the words died upon her lips.

She made some evasive reply and turned away. It would have been a great relief to have shown him the note and asked him what he thought; he would have understood it, but a strange fear and dread had seized the brilliant lady; she dared not disobey that command.

At the head of that sumptuous banquet she was obliged to talk and listen, obliged to give her whole attention to her duties. Yet there were many who thought their young hostess looked strangely tired and distraught. She was grateful when the Duke of Laleham took his departure. The other guests were not long in following his example.

"We have had a delightful night," said Barbara Earle, as the little family group assembled in the boudoir; "but even pleasure fatigues me. I propose—and you must second my resolution, aunt—that no one speaks another word. Let us retire; Hilda looks very tired and worn out."

"Though it would be delightful to talk over the ball," said Bertie, "I for one obey Miss Earle;" and off he went to the smoking-room.

Yet even when they were all gone, when she stood in her room alone, Hilda still heard these mysterious words.

"Who is it," she thought, "that from the threshold of eternity would summon me?"

Almost for the first time in her life Lady Hilda Bayneham found herself unable to sleep. The golden head tossed wearily to and fro. For the first time she listened to the wailing of the wind, as to a strange, wild music that told of sorrow and despair.

"I will end this suspense," she thought. "No one will be down much before twelve. I will rise at eight, and go to the Fir. If Claude discovers that I am out, he will think I am taking a morning walk."

Yet even that, the first concealment she had ever practised in her simple, guileless life, troubled her.

It was a gray, cold morning—there was not even the glimpse of a sunbeam—when Lady Hilda dressed herself for her walk.

"You will be cold, my lady," said her maid, who wrapped a thick cloak around her.

"Yes," replied Lady Hilda; "but a long walk this morning will do me good. If Lord Bayneham asks for me tell him I am gone out, but shall be back soon after eleven."

If Pauline thought there was anything extraordinary in her lady's proceedings, she made no comment.

The air was cold and bleak, the sky dull and leaden; there was a gray mist that hid the trees as Lady Hilda went on her way through the park. Once a new idea came to her and made her pause.

"Suppose it should be a plan to rob me?" she thought. "But robbers and thieves could fear no question that should be asked in another world."

She reached the little cottage at last. Mrs. Paine was up, and busily engaged in preparing breakfast. She looked dazed and confused when Lady Hilda, her face glowing with exercise, stood suddenly before her.

"You have some one here very ill," said Lady Hilda, "who wishes to see me."

The old woman made a profound reverence to the golden-haired lady.

"It will be my lodger, I suppose, my lady," she replied. "She begged me to take a note to you last evening; she is very ill—like to die the doctor says, any minute."

Lady Hilda was relieved to find it was a woman who wished to see her.

"She lies upstairs, my lady," continued Mrs. Paine. "Shall I go up with you, my lady?"

"No," she replied. "I need not trouble you. The poor creature wants some little assistance, I have no doubt; I will go alone."

Even as Lady Hilda went up the narrow staircase she heard those solemn words, "From the threshold of eternity I summon you." The mystery was soon to be solved. She knocked gently at the door of the room, and a faint, sweet voice bade her enter.

When in after years did Lady Hilda forget the scene? The room was small but clean, and even pretty. There was a little white bed with white hanging, a neat toilet-table with a few ornaments. A little table stood near the bed, a small fire burned cheerily in the grate.

Lady Hilda entered the room quietly, moving gently, lest any sound should annoy the one who lay dying there. She went up to the bedside and then uttered a low cry of surprise.

Madame And The Monkey Gland.

Among all the folks who have been trying to obtain a second edition of youth through the grafting of some mysterious gland, I do not think that there has been one woman, and this in spite of the fact that old age is the classical bugbear of woman rather than man. She who is supposed to dread the coming of wrinkles and grey hairs more than any man ever did, yet holds back from the remedy—and why? Not from any fear of suffering, for she will submit cheerfully to the torture of having her face skinned and its contours "litted"; nor because she shrinks from any association with monkeys, since she feigns herself most contentedly with their fur; but rather because her craving for youth is not as man's craving, writes Sylvania, in "The Sphere."

Woman's longing to remain young becomes most acute when she finds her first white hairs, and sees for the first time that the mysterious crow has left his tell-tale footprints at the corner of her eyes, man's only being when a round of golf takes it out of him unduly, and he notices that the young men call him "sir." She prizes youth when she sees it first begin to slip away from her; he seldom misses it until it has gone. To a woman the loss of her youth means the loss of her looks. It does not worry her in the least if she cannot walk as far as she used to do or play as strenuous a game of tennis; she is only concerned with the fact that her cheeks have lost their bloom and her hair its color, the rest does not matter. And when the beauty specialists and the masseuse, and the rest of the experts have done their best, or their worst, she resigns herself, more or less to the inevitable. Besides, she may have the consolation of being a grandmother, and only a woman knows the joy of that. Being a grandfather is by no means the same thing; he is invariably either suspected of spoiling the children or considered unreasonably hard on them, and like the father, in times of domestic crises, is made to feel uncommonly in the way. But grandmothers do not as a rule labor under any of these disabilities. A grandmother is a precious possession; her advice is sought and her opinions referred to, and when measles or whooping cough descend upon the household, not even the psycho-analysis and Montessori methods can stand against her, and the knowledge that this is so is worth all the rejuvenation in the world.

Age brings far more compensations to a woman than to a man, in spite of popular belief to the contrary; when a man grows old he probably has to give up doing most, if not all, of the things which to him make life worth living, while to the normal woman the things which demand merely physical strength for their accomplishment will always take a secondary place. Loss of power, whether physical or mental, affects the average man more strongly than the average woman. You will not often find a woman who breaks her heart because she has to retire from business, yet it happens often in the case of men. You cannot gainsay nature indefinitely, and the ordinary normal woman would never change a happy grandmotherhood for a second helping at the banquet of youth—though probably she would never admit it; which explains why men are the principal clients of the gland doctors. Incidentally, of course, second helpings seldom taste so good as the first.

A Flying Wing.

NEW AEROPLANE DESIGN. There is no fuselage or body to the machine. The pilot will sit in a place or less than a flying wing; has been designed, and is being built by the Dits-Moiseu firm in France.

about 12 horse power, will also be placed inside the wing, driving an air-screw which revolves just in front of the wing. Wheels underneath for landing and a tapering tail, carrying a rudder and elevators, comprise all there is external about this simplified machine.

Upon the flying draft obtained with this experimental craft it is believed that it will be possible to inaugurate a new era in "air express" design, great machines being simplified till they represent merely one enormous wing rushing through the air.

The Chinese
Go on Strike.

In opposition to the Paris decision on Shanghai, the students of Peking "started something." For the first time in thousands of years they organized and effectively asserted Chinese public opinion. The merchants and students of North China met during the second half of May, declaring a general boycott of Japanese goods, and demanding the dismissal of the three "traitors," Tsao Ju-lin, Lu Tsung-yu and Chang Chung-hsiang, the notorious agents in the Sino-Japanese negotiations. The popular sense of equity, which in China asserts itself naturally in strikes, responded everywhere. Unless the Government dismissed the three offenders, merchants would close their shops. Teachers, students, shopkeepers, chauffeurs, dock hands, all classes of workmen would strike. All China, indeed, would go on strike.

The Chinese showed their ability to organize quickly. From the thousand students striking in Shanghai, the movement spread to the merchants and chambers of commerce. Even associations of servants were formed, under such names as "Industrial National Salvation Society." In Peking, fifty groups of student speakers were sent out to appeal to the public. Martial law was proclaimed, and students trying to speak were arrested. The government soon saw that, though it could imprison them, it could not stem the tide of feeling they were creating.

The government, weakening offered to release the students if they would return to work and make no further trouble. The students, seeing their advantage, stated that they had no wish to leave their prisons, if doing so meant promising to abstain from expressing their opinions; and that, in any case, they would not leave until the government had apologized for their unjust arrest.

The jelling of so many of the youth of China finally brought such ill-considered opposition that the government complied with the students' ultimatum. An apology was offered them, and the students returned to their colleges and their work. But they continued their street lectures. In Shanghai the boycott and the strike of the shopkeepers were in full force. Their shops were closed; they threatened to pay no taxes unless the "traitors" were ousted.

Even the mafios (horse boys) at the Shanghai Race Club were on strike. A run on the Bank of Communications was associated with it. Tsao Ju-lin was associated with it. More and more serious grew the situation, but the demand on the government was steadfast: "When the three traitors are dismissed, the strike will be called off; otherwise, still more people will strike."

The government finally yielded on June 11. The insistent demand had come from all parts of China that the three unpopular officials go in disgrace. The Peking government complied.—"Asia Magazine."

Exchange of Professors.

PRODUCTIVE OF GOOD RESULTS.

EDMONTON, Alta.—Favorable results have followed the exchange of professors which was instituted two years ago by the universities of Western Canada following the visits of professors between the universities of Manitoba and North Dakota. University authorities are elated over the success of the new system which brings Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta universities in closer touch. Arrangements have been completed for an exchange during this winter. The visiting professors remain in Edmonton for three days during which time they give a public address to the students of the university, the staff and all members of the general public who care to attend. This occasion is treated as a formal academic event at which members of the faculty are present in academic costumes. The visiting professor meets the staff of the university on another occasion and also visits the class rooms and laboratories, and meets the students of the particular university department with which he is intimately related in his own university.

Siki Signs to Fight.

Paris, Dec. 14.—A formal agreement for a fight between Battling Siki and Georges Carpentier on a date yet to be fixed, but between February 15 and March 15, has been signed by Siki and his new manager, Charles Brouillet, says the Matin.

Carpentier also would have signed but for the absence of his manager, Francois Descamps, who will affix his signature to the documents. Friday evening.

The bout will be for twenty rounds under the usual boxing rules. Four ounce gloves will be used. Meanwhile Siki is playing hide-and-seek with the French Boxing Federation, saying that he will not appear before the committee which is investigating the alleged frame-up in the Siki-Carpentier bout in which the negro fighter decisively licked the white man. The Federation is still awaiting an answer from Siki before the committee on Friday to make a statement.

The champ optimist is the chap who goes to a banquet to get something to eat.

Bifocal Eyeglasses
Should be Cheaper.

BUFFALO.—The price of eyeglasses, especially of the bifocal type, will be materially lower next year, it is asserted by Dr. D. E. Sharp, an exclusive of one of the largest concerns in America engaged in the manufacture of magnifying glass. Patents which now cover this type of eyeglass will expire and with the resulting competition among manufacturers and the elimination of royalties, material reductions come, he said. Rapid progress has been made in America since the industry, formerly controlled by Germany, was virtually forced upon American manufacturers by the great war. Telescope lenses of all sizes are now successfully made in American plants.

TURKISH FEARS JEOPARDIZE CONFERENCE.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 19. Turkish fears of submarines, Turkish fears of swiftly moving military airplanes landing with bombs, and generally, Turkish fears of aggression from without that will put Constantinople in danger, have tonight placed the whole Lausanne Conference in jeopardy. The United States is silent on the situation, but the Allied leaders say tonight that they have uttered the last word on the question of the liberty of the Straits. Tomorrow the Turks must say yes or no to the Allied project. The diplomats are endeavoring to convince the Ankara statesmen that the Straits project is essentially framed to meet conditions in times of peace, and that the Allies are not in any sinister manner seeking facilities for war, and especially against Turkey. They say they have only sought equality of all fleets passing through the Straits on peaceful errands. The Allies have emphasized that they cannot accept the Turkish request for suppression of submarines and military airplanes, especially they have been unable to accept the Ottoman suggestion that combined foreign fleets entering the Black Sea shall not exceed in strength the fleet of the strongest naval power of the Black Sea. "That would make the Black Sea forbidden ground," said the French expert tonight. An additional fear of the Turks, which the Allies must calm tomorrow, is that with which they surround the proposed international commission to supervise control of the Straits. The Turks claim the Commission will be inquisitorial in nature, that it may infringe Turkish sovereignty, and finally it may be used as a club by some powers to threaten Turkey. Hence their ambition to have a general guarantee pact signed at Lausanne that will assure neutrality of the Straits and prevent acts of hostility in Turkish territorial waters. The Turkish delegates tonight seemed unruffled and did not appear at all impressed at the ultimatum, talk with which the Lausanne atmosphere is charged. It is pointed out tonight that failure of the Straits negotiations would not necessarily imply failure on other vital matters of the Lausanne agenda, one of which is arranging peace between Greece and Turkey and between Turkey and the Allies

Paris-New York Flight Projected.

Substantial orders for metal propellers have been placed by the Air Ministry as a result of the performance of a British made metal propeller in the great duration record made by the French pilots Bossoutrot and Dronhin last month. When Bossoutrot landed after 34 hours 14 minutes 7 seconds in the air his first words were in praise of the British three-bladed Leitner-Watt metal propellers with which his machine, a Farman Goliath, was equipped. He ascribed the success of the flight to the absence of vibration and the perfect pitch of the propellers. Both pilots endured the strain of this continued flight with ease.

Next month a French attempt will be made on the world's highest record, again with the aid of metal propellers, and in the near future M. Farman proposes to send a Goliath machine, similarly equipped, on a direct passage from Paris to New York. The distance down in the duration test exceeded the mileage between the cities. By way of proving the condition of the propellers after the record flight they were used the next day on the Farman passenger service to Brussels and back, after which they were placed on exhibition in the Paris showroom of M. Lumiere, who is making similar propellers for France under licence from British inventor. Saving in Cost. If, as now appears possible, the metal propeller is generally adopted by the French and British air services, there will be a saving of cost to the taxpayer, for metal propellers do not deteriorate in stock, and being adjustable to the required pitch of different machines, fewer spares are needed. In mass production they will also show a saving over wooden propellers, being made from common steel and stamped out. Ultimately, it is hoped, the metal propeller will provide a new industry for the British metal trade. The inventor, Mr. Henry Leitner, an engineer, and cousin of Col. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty, so far has secured a world monopoly in an invention essential to flight. Old Ladies' Comfort Boots for $4.00 the pair at SMALLWOOD'S Shoe Sale.—dec18,22

C. of E. Colleges Annual Speech Day.
OPERETTA A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

Bishop Fell and Spencer Colleges held their annual Speech Day and presentation of prizes in the Casino Theatre last night, before an assembly of people that packed the hall to its utmost capacity, principally the parents and relatives of the pupils. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Allardyce accompanied by Miss Viti Allardyce and Capt. Goodfellow were present and occupied seats in the box, while the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, the Prime Minister, Hon. Tasker Cook, and J. R. Bennett Esq., a number of clergymen and the Executives of the Colleges were among the invited guests. The programme of the evening was opened with an exhibition of drill by C. Co. of the College. The squad was very proficient in their drill and the various exercises, when completed, brought forth rounds of applause. Mr. R. Withers, in his first appearance before the footlights, cleverly recited "Forty Years On" and was warmly received by the entire audience.

CHARMING OPERETTA.

Then followed the presentation of the Operetta entitled "The Enchanted Glen," staged by the pupils of Bishop Spencer College, and produced under the direction of H. W. Stirling, Music Master of the College. The story of "The Enchanted Glen" features Dame Grampus, whose tongue is the terror of the village, and who throats with great harshness Nora, an orphan whom she has adopted. The village girls interview the Dame on Nora's behalf and are soundly rated for their pains. Nora is sent to fetch water from a distant spring, but is misled by the "pixies" to the Enchanted Glen, and carried off to the Court of Queen Mab. Meanwhile she is missed, and the girls of the village set out to find her. They, too, wander into the Enchanted Glen, and are taken before Queen Mab and put on trial as trespassers. On learning the real cause of all the mischief, the Queen sends for the Dame, who is promptly shown the error of her ways, and eventually turns over a new leaf. The playlet was acted in three parts, the scenes being: Outside Dame Grampus' Cottage; The Enchanted Glen, and the Court of Queen Mab. The character personated by Miss Muriel Earle as Dame Grampus deserves special mention. Miss Earle acted a very difficult role and throughout the proceedings kept the audience in good humor, while Miss Audrey Chafe, as Nora, the orphan, and Miss Shirley Green, as Queen Mab were seen and heard to advantage. Miss Chafe has a very sweet voice, and her singing last night bespeaks well for a brilliant future. The various performers, consisting of Village Girls, Milkmaids, Fairies, etc., in pretty costumes, presented a beautiful picture, while the stage lighting effects added greatly to the beauty. The presentation was an unqualified success in every way, and all the performers are to be congratulated on their excellent acting and singing.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

Mr. R. R. Wood, Principal of Bishop Fell College presented a very lengthy report in the form of an address, and showed that an excellent record had been made by the pupils in all branches of study. Miss Cherrington, the new headmistress of Bishop Spencer College, who has been only with us for a period of two months, captivated the audience with a very fine speech. As she had only recently joined the staff she was unable to present any actual report, but from what she had already seen of the classes she was very hopeful for the future, and a better lot of girls could not be found. For some minutes Miss Cherrington discussed the matter of physical training, and said it tended to make the girls stronger in mind and body, and made them more alert mentally, thereby increasing their efficiency and promoting knowledge among them. Without the physical training a weakness would grow in the girls' minds and they would be unable to grasp things quickly. Physical training is an imperative necessity while girls are undergoing their studies.

GOVERNOR DISTRIBUTES PRIZES.

The distribution of prizes followed. His Excellency, and Lady Allardyce, the directors of the College, and staff took their places on the stage, while the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, occupied the chair. The prizes were presented to the boys and girls by His Excellency, and as each prize winner came forward to receive his or her prize, the head teachers announced the class or distinction under which the prize winner received the award. During the prize distribution proceedings, a "little lot" of Spencer College appeared on the platform and presented Lady Allardyce and Miss Cherrington with beautiful bouquets of Chrysanthemums.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Dr. Blackall in his report commented on the excellent results of the examinations and during his remarks paid a warm tribute to the good work accomplished by Mr. R. R. Wood, who has been headmaster of Bishop Fell College for the past 14 years. He advocated the erection of a new college, to be used jointly, which would be for the betterment of the education of both boys and girls. A vote of thanks was proposed by Rev. E. C. Earp to His Excellency and Lady Allardyce for their kind attendance, which was seconded by Mr. Brian Dunfield and accorded by acclamation.

VICE REGAL APPRECIATION.

His Excellency arose, and in acknowledging the vote of thanks, took occasion to refer to the splendid reception accorded to himself and Lady Allardyce since their arrival in Newfoundland. "The warmth of the welcomes," he said, "would more than offset the rigor of the climate." Speaking on educational lines, he urged the children to stick by their studies and thereby win for themselves a proper place in the world. Thus, His Excellency said, there were a lot of our people who did not have all the education that they would like to have had, but it is the same all over the world. In His Excellency's closing remarks he said the boys and girls did not want to hear any talk about studies at this season of the year, and for a few moments concentrated the thoughts of all on a recipe for a favorite plum pudding.

Batch of Prisoners From Curling.

Constable Quinlan of Curling, recently arrived from Curling, accompanied by Constable Dempsey of St. George's, bringing three prisoners, convicted before Magistrate Scott at Curling on charges of larceny. The offenders were natives of Lark Harbor, and were charged with the stealing of money from the cabin of schooner Donald Silver, and the burglary of the store of M.G. Sheppard of the same place, getting away with rope to the value of $50. All charges being proven the money stealer was sentenced to four months in the penitentiary, and the rope peddlars each received a three months term in the same institution. Constable Quinlan investigated all cases eventually locating the culprits and proving the charges. He returns to his station at Curling by express to-morrow. The cases as above were somewhat complicated, but the officer kept on the trail until he had apprehended his men.

Lawyers and Laymen.

ADDRESS BY H. A. WINTER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON.

The guests at the Rotary luncheon, held yesterday at the Green Lantern, included Messrs. W. J. Higgins, K.C., J. C. Oosterbridge, J. A. Winter, J. H. Quigley, Herbert Winter and D. M. Phelan. The speaker of the day, H. A. Winter, B.A., took as his subject "Lawyers and Laymen." Preceding his address, the Rotarians Dr. T. M. Mitchell and Mrs. Ayre gave a brief outline of the arrangements made for the entertainment to be given next Tuesday to some poor lads of the city.

Mr. Winter's address, which was very instructive, abounded in wit and humor. He outlined the code of ethics which a lawyer was governed and how often the popular idea as to his duties and ethics was in error. Very often too much weight was given to the position of counsel, who were cases in court, as they were the parties who make the decisions. They had to put forward the facts and arguments and it was the judge who had to decide. The judge's special pleading and technicalities were passed and now cases were tried on their merits. Certain legal principles had to be applied and while some cases these might appear to be wrong, on examination it would be found that they were not. Lawyers would come and go but the law remained and his experience had led him to have an increasing respect for the law being man-made cannot be a perfect science but it is as near to perfection as possible. It is a profession a vote thank moved the chairman, Rogers Barker, enthusiastically accorded.

Next week's BISHOP'S Tuesday and Wednesday at four thirty; Thursday, Friday Saturday at ten thirty and again on Wednesday thirty.

TWO KINDS OF GOOD SPORTS

Don't you love a good sport in the finer sense of that oftentimes abused phrase? In the recent playing for the golf championship Bobby Jones while preparing to stroke his ball, touched it very lightly causing it just to sit on the tee. Under the strictest ruling in golf that is counted a stroke. No one else saw the movement but Bobby Jones. But he saw it, and counted it against himself. That's true sportsmanship. I love it. Just to read about it makes a queer lump come up in my throat, a kind of tears-of-happiness lump, to feel that there is something so very fine in the human race.

The Game Sport and the Life Sport. I think most of us feel that way. Good sportsmanship in games has always been one of the traditions of the Anglo-Saxon race. Men have long measured each other by that ideal. Women are beginning to. But let's not put too much emphasis on good sportsmanship in games, and too little on good sportsmanship in general. In a novel which is coming out in one of the current magazines the devoted husband sums up what was the trouble with his ex-wife: "That had been their whole trouble, his first wife had not been a good sport. Oh, she didn't squeal when they took her money at bridge or when the other woman holed the putt in the finale. She had that kind of sportsiness. But in the serious game of husband and wife, of having children and of not having children, in that game was not on the level and no one could expect her to be on the level. She, who in tennis gave her adversary the benefit of every doubtful in or out, she who was above suspicion with a ball at a bunker as the Bible is in church, she who at cards seemed not to care whether she won or lost—was in the great game of life the most flagrant and outrageous little cheat imaginable."

Life A Trifle More Important

I like the thought in that, don't you? I suspect the author who wrote it was enjoying the chance to express his opinion of a certain person through his hero's mouth. Nevertheless there is a big thought there.

It's rotten to be a poor sport in the matter of games, but ten times rotten to be a poor sport in the game of life.

There are as many ways of being a good or a poor sport in life as there are days in the year.

How the Good Sport Acts.

When powers beyond your control make things uncomfortable for you, do you turn around and make things uncomfortable for the people over whom you have some form of power? Do kicking I call that form of poor sportsmanship, for though it may not be a dog and may not be a kick, it's the same emotion that makes a man kick his dog.

When life is hurting you, do you go around with a long face or do you keep a stiff upper lip, and grin?

If you are a partner in the firm of Mr. and Mrs. Somebody in the business of living, are you eager to do your share? If you have the woman's end of the partnership, are you as keen to spend money wisely and make a comfortable home as you would be to do well if you were working in an office and would get fired if you didn't do your best?

When you are jealous and envious, do you try to play fair?

Are you as quick to give another person the benefit of the doubt when scandal arises about him or her as you would be to give your adversary the benefit of the doubtful point in tennis?

It's not easy to be a good sport in games—not if you care a lot about them. But it's about ten times harder to be a good sport in life.

Making Black Men White.

A young Brazilian scientist, Octavio Felix Pedro, has invented a device whereby Negroes can be changed into white men without difficulty. Up to the present colour transformations have been conducted with rats, and they have been successful. A blood irrigation device is the means. This is a pump whereby the blood is drawn from one arm or leg into a series of rubber coils, where it can be treated by heat or inoculation with serum, and returned to the body through the other arm or leg.

About a month is required to change a black skin into a white one, the change being accomplished by the introduction of white corpuscles and the elimination of black corpuscles in the blood.

In the experiment on rats a change of colour occurred at the end of fifteen days.

Relief Supplies Reach Saloniki.

SALONIKI—One thousand tons of supplies for the relief of refugees from Turkey have been unloaded here recently, and will help care for the needy until the arrival of the American Red Cross shipments from the United States. The unloading was done under the direction of R. M. Davidson, of Ashland, Kentucky, local representative of the Near East Relief. At Kavalla a committee of American tobacco men have done heroic work in the distributing of refugee supplies. At Dedeagatch Doctor W. V. M. Wright, of Philadelphia, is directing the American relief effort.

The Methodist Orphanage Christmas Tree will be held at the Orphanage on Thursday, Dec. 28th at 3.30 o'clock. Grave Robbers Hunted With Dogs.

VIENNA—Ghouls have become so active in the great cemeteries of Vienna, according to the press, that police guards now patrol these resting places of the dead every night, accompanied by dogs. The grave robbers are disintering newly buried bodies and robbing them of clothing, the little jewelry souvenirs that loving families have sent with dear ones to the grave, of gold filled teeth, and even shearing the tresses of women.

Mexico Lacks 70,000 Bales of Cotton.

MEXICO CITY—A deficit of 70,000 bales of cotton in the normal stock of 100,000 bales, usually kept in Mexico City, is reported in commercial circles. It is pointed out that at present at least 85,000 bales are in warehouses in Lower California, but are not available for Mexico City consumption because of lack of transportation facilities. Fads and Fashions.

In Vienna, sports hats of esparto made are worn. The haten line seems to be the fashioning favor. Tired effects are particularly for southern wear. The scarf of fox fur is worn on the draped velvet frock. For the opera, white, silver and shades rival black velvet. Fur-trimmed gowns of unusual design were noted at the opera. Smoking is used on the sides of jacket of a dark green suit.

to Reform Not to Punish.
WINNIPEG—Declaring that the idea in prison work was to reform men and not simply to punish them, Governor J. C. Downie, of the province of Manitoba, stated before a committee of the Winnipeg Municipal Council recently that the introduction of the honor system and the operation of a prison farm has proved a distinct success in Manitoba. Governor Downie said the effect of the farm, which is situated on the border of Winnipeg, Waterbury, Bell and about 30 miles northeast of Winnipeg, was to effect on the prisoners a change from an atmosphere of industry in the outside world and to get them up inside four walls. The results of this industry brought in substantial cheques for the benefit of the great result was the wholehearted assistance in the types of the men. Convicts and other inmates of the establishment are provided with religious worship and are allowed to be and far, the inmates of the farm and jail. The establishing of a common dining room and the operation of a canteen for the prisoners were also discussed by Governor Downie. Although enough had not been thought of when the common dining room was put into operation in 1913, Governor Downie said it had been a success. A saving of one cent per person per day had been effected in spite of the fact that the prisoners had increased in number since the system was instituted.

Exhausted Land Birds.
FIND HAVEN AT SEA.
LIVERPOOL—A flock of American land birds, which had been blown off course by a storm, were seen on the deck of the Cunard liner Scythia on her last trip from New York, and were on board until she docked in Liverpool. When misfortune overtook the feathered travelers they were probably blown from the north Atlantic states to the warm and sunny shores of the Caribbean. Now many thousands of miles from their destination, and were supposed to be a bird lore have not yet been able to give satisfactory answers to questions of interested passengers as to whether the birds would endeavor to reach their summer haunts in the West Indies, or join the flocks and flocks of England in their flight to southern France. The great flock, several thousand in number, settled on the Scythia's decks. The steamer was about 400 miles from the American shore, and transferred her into a floating aviary. Wild ducks, robins, linnets, thrushes, and plovers and juncos, fluttered about the decks, perched on the rigging and even penetrated the lounge and stateroom. The passengers were well cared for, their giving them food and shelter, but even so some of the smaller birds died from exhaustion. Three owls and a score of plovers were easily captured. Old travelers say they never have seen birds to alight before in such numbers on a single ship.

Armenian Losses.
in Smyrna.

ATHENS—The losses of the Armenian community in Smyrna total $2,000,000, according to a tabulation made by a committee under the direction of the Bishop of Smyrna. The total loss of this total is, in real personal property, and the remainder in intangible property. The losses in Asia Minor. The total income of 3,000 Armenians in Smyrna used to be $7,000,000, whereof 15 per cent. was given to charities and to the church. Smyrna was the richest Armenian community in the world before the coming of the Turkish army, with 20 millionaires, but to-day every one of these men is virtually penniless. The largest losses are the jewellers, textile importers and exporters of fruits, cereals, carpets and so on. The number of Armenians in Smyrna, according to the statistics, is 4,000, and the number of persons who are missing or who have been made prisoners is stated to be 10,000 men and 15,000 women. The prominent Armenian business men killed were Garkie and Kaperandzian, and Gurbalian and Gurbalian, textile merchants.

Swedish Salesmen For South America.

STOCKHOLM—A new Viking vessel from Sweden, manned with expert salesmen armed with literature on up-to-date railroad engines, will sail shortly for South America. This unique way of finding new markets for their products has been devised by Swedish locomotive builders, who have just delivered the two hundredth locomotive on an order from the Russian Soviet. A fine steam yacht of 500 tons has been purchased in Spain, and will be fitted out for the expedition. A commander of the Swedish Navy has been secured to serve as skipper, and his crew will include several of the men who have just completed a round-the-world cruise on a sailing yacht. The president of the company, together with several of his technical experts, will direct the work of the expedition. It is expected that most of the South American republics will be visited. Swedish locomotives have formed a big item of Sweden's exports to Russia, and shipments are continuing, though the number originally ordered by the Soviet has been reduced.

World's Heavyweight Wrestling Championship

LEWIS RETAINS HIS TITLE.
St. Louis, Dec. 15.—Ed. (Strangler) Lewis to-day retains his title of world's heavyweight wrestling champion after a grueling three fall match last night with Stanislaus Zbysko, from whom he won the championship a year ago at Wichita, Kansas. Outweighed and with the additional handicap of 12 years in age, the Polish veteran brought all his craft into play in the second attempt to regain the title, taking the first fall with a flying mare when he threw the champion over his head and smashed him against the floor. Lewis' crushing headlock won the second fall, however, after a series of toe holds weakened his 43 year old opponent. In the struggle for the fall Zbysko's right shoulder was dislocated and it was with an arm-lock around the injured shoulder that Lewis won the third fall and match. Zbysko gamely went on for the deciding fall after his shoulder had been snapped back into place and fought his way out of dangerous holds repeatedly after his seconds were about to toss in a towel in token of defeat.

The men wrestled before the largest crowd that ever saw a mat contest here, approximately 12,000 persons. Receipts were approximately $15,000. Lewis received $7,500 and Zbysko $4,500.

Brigadier-General.

CONDUCTS A RESTAURANT.
LONDON.—(Canadian Press)—Behind a desk during business hours in an unpretentious but spotlessly clean restaurant in Marlborough Court, Carnaby Street, London, stands the proprietor, no less a personage than Brig-General W. B. Hulke, D.S.O., one of the heroes of the Great War. The restaurant was recently opened by the General. It is appropriately named "The Venture," and so far it is not known whether it may prove a profitable one or not. It's proprietor, however, seems to have faith in it, and this is a big part of the battle. When the war began, Brig-General Hulke was a retired officer, farming in British Columbia. He left everything in Canada and went to France, where he had a brigade in the 38th Division. He was wounded in the knee, and, in fact, only recently ceased to be under medical treatment. "My property, which deteriorated during the war, is over in Canada, waiting to be sold," General Hulke told an interviewer here recently. "I cannot climb and jump now, because of my knee, and like tens of thousands of others, I cast around to look for a means of livelihood. My wife is assisted by Mrs. Wallis, the wife of a Colonel; my chef is an ex-soldier and, perhaps, our circumstances have impressed us with the need of a place where people of refinement may obtain lunch, tea or supper, served on linen skin to their home life, at reasonable prices." Simply decorated, "The Venture," with tables covered with snowy white table cloths, with serviettes, serves a really well cooked and substantial lunch for one shilling and sixpence. The General is not too dignified to go out and obtain for a customer a bottle of Guinness, if asked.

OFFICERS EXONERATED; PILOT WARRIOR.
MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—Judgement in the Dominion Wreck Commissioner's Court exonerated Captain William Whitehead and Chief Officer L. Halcrow for blame of stranding the Thompson liner Cairn Dhu in the St. Lawrence on November 21. Pilot Garvey erred, but owing to his good record he was only warned to be more careful. The cow is milked four times a day, and has frequently given more than 11 gallons in one day. She has had five calves, and has yielded more than 50 times her own weight in milk. There are said to be 50 "2000 gallon" cows in this country, of which 55 are British Friesians.

Keel of Schooner Columbia Laid Down.

VESSEL IS BEING BUILT AS A POSSIBLE CONTENDER FOR INTERNATIONAL TROPHY.

ESSEX, Mass., Dec. 13.—The keel of the fishing schooner Columbia, to be operated by Captain Ben Pine, of Gloucester, owner of the ill-fated Puritan, which was lost on Sable Island last at the shipyards of A. D. Story. The Columbia was designed by Burgess and Paine, of Boston, as a possible contender for the International trophy.

The owners have stated that the vessel's lines, designed before the announcement by the Canadian trustees of the trophy of the displacement rule giving vessels more freeboard than is customary in the New England fishing industry would not be altered, race or no race.

The Columbia is to be 105 feet at the waterline and will have a much lower side than the Bluenose. This is to provide ease in transferring fish from dory to deck while trawling.

The schooner, which is to be built along the general lines of the Puritan, lost on Sable Island, is expected to be commissioned early next April.

Miracle Healer of New Zealand.

TO ENTER POLITICS.

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—Wiremu Ratana, the Maori miracle man of New Zealand, is reported to be about to enter politics. Ratana came under world notice about two years ago as a worker of miracles in healing. Unlike the usual healer, however, he shunned publicity and continued to work on his farm, teaching his people industry and temperance. He denounced the ancient Maori wizardry, and ascribed his powers solely to faith in the Divine Power. Ratana is now believed to be backing the movement of four of his followers to contest the Maori seats at the general election in December. He is being criticised for the alleged use of his spiritual powers in the material field of politics.

Sailing Ship Industry.

SHOWS IMPROVEMENT.

LONDON.—The annual report of the British Empire Ship Owners' Association, which has 916 ships of 113,046 net tons on its books, says that the depression of the shipping industry for the past year has been worse than at any period since the war. Despite the fact that freights are still unremunerative, however, conditions in the sailing ship industry are improving. At the recent annual meeting of the Association the chairman said the index number of shipping freights was 46 in January, 1921; 33 in December, 1921, and in September, 1922, it was as low as 27. Although there had been a smaller decrease in the number of sailing ships since pre-war times, as compared with the previous decade, the result was due principally to the increase in the United States, which at present owned 41 per cent of the world's sailing tonnage.

the ancient days, and the mighty deeds of our fathers.
6. So they appointed a day, and many were gathered together—a mixed multitude from the Land of Cakes and of Thistles, from the West and from the North, and from the Isles of the Sea.
7. And, behold, a great feast was prepared, and men in white raiment ministered unto them, and a ruler of the feast was appointed, and set in the midst.
8. And forthwith to each man was given a writing of the good things of the feast, and the writing was in a tongue no man could understand, for the language was the language of the Crapan, which signified in the heathen tongue, a frog.
9. And some there were who pretended to know the writing, and the interpretation thereof; now these were hypocrites; for they knew but six letters of the writing, and these letters were HAGGIS, and even this much was a great mystery.
10. And the dishes no man could number; the people ate mightily, as it were the space of one hour. And no man spoke to his neighbour till his inner man was comforted.
11. And while they ate, behold there drew near three mighty men of valour, clothed in many-coloured garments; and they bore in their arms musical instruments shaped like unto a beast of prey.
12. And they blew mightily upon what seemed the tall thereof, and straightway came there forth shrieks and sounds as if it were the howlings of the damned.
13. And the hearts of the people were comforted, for this is that wherein their great strength lieth.
14. And wine was brought in vessels, but the children of the North would have none of these; for they quenched their thirst with the Dew of the Mountain, which is the water of fire.
15. Then spake the wise men of the congregation unto them, and called to mind the ancient days and mighty deeds of their fathers, and the people rejoiced exceedingly.
16. Now it came to pass when they had eaten and drunk greatly, even unto the full, that the hinges of their tongues were loosened—yea, even the joints of their knees.
17. And the ruler of the feast fled to his home, and a third part of the multitude followed, and a third part remained, saying, we thirst; and a third part rose up to play.
18. And they played after the fashion of their country, and their movements resembled the peregrinations of a hen upon a girde which is hot. Yet they sought to think it pleasant, for they shouted with joy.
19. Now, as for them that were athirst, behold their drinking was steady, but their limbs were not so; yet, they also shouted for joy and sang amazingly.
20. And they answered one to another, and said that, notwithstanding the crowing of the cock or the dawn-ing of the day, they should still partake of the juice of the barley. So they encouraged one another with these words.
21. Now it came to pass that, as they sat, one came and said he had seen a strange fire in the sky, but what it was he could not tell.
22. And some said, it is the moon; and others said, it is the sun; and some said, Doth the sun rise in the West? and others said, this is not the West, but the east; and some said, which is it, for we perceive two in the sky.
23. And one said, I see nothing. Now the name of that man was Blin' Foo. He was the son of Hand Foo; and his brethren—Buz Foo, Sing Foo, Great Foo, and Dam Foo—were speechless.
24. Then each man bade his neighbour farewell, embracing and vowing eternal friendship, and some were borne home by men in scanty raiment, and others in carriages which jingled as they went; and others drove their own chariots home, and saw many strange sights, for they found grass growing and ditches in the midst of the way where they had not perceived them before.
25. And it came to pass that in the morning many lamented, and took no breakfast that day; and the men in white raiment brought unto them many cunningly-devised drinks. Yea, pick-me-ups, for their tongues clove unto the roots of their mouths, and the spittle on their beard was like unto a small silver coin, even a six-pence.
26. But, when they thought on the previous day, they rejoiced again, for they said, Our brethren whom we have left will hear of it at the Feast of the New Year, and they will remember us and bless us, and our hearts and hands shall be strengthened for our labour here.
We are nae foo—we're no that foo, But jist a wee drap in oor e'e. The cock may craw—the wind may blaw, But—we weel't taste the barley bree.
The bray's happier is grand, my friend, The bray's happier is fine, We'll sauk another pibroch yet, For the days o' auld lang syne.
