STEAMERS BEING WORKED BY OUTSIDERS AND CREWS

No Developments Today in the Ship Laborers Situation. Capt. Walsh Says C.P.R. Have All the Men They Need-- What President Sullivan Says On the Side of the Men.

The work of loading and unloading the steamers in port is still being carried on by the laborers brought here from Montreal, together with the crews of the steamers. No more men arrived from Montreal today and the situation remains practically unchanged.

Capt. Walsh, of the C. P. R., said there was no need of any more men at present, as they had all they needed. The Mount Temple having been wrecked, would cut out one sailing and the next Express steamer has a large enough crew to take care of herself. In addition to the fifty-four men brought from Montreal yesterday they could call upon the Donalson line men if needed, so they had over 100 men in all.

In conversation with President Sullivan of the Longshoremen's Association, he said the men were determined to hold out for the higher rate. According to his view the men brought from Montreal were unskilled for the work and some were already dissatisfied and wanted to get away. Many people, said Mr. Sullivan, think that the men receive $3.00 a day right along, whereas many days they don't work at all, and other times only for an hour or two. He mentioned an instance last winter when he waited on the west side from 5 o'clock in the morning and only worked 2 hours in the afternoon, and he received 40 cents, and paid 25 cents for his dinner. He thought the men were ultimately well out.

The Donalson steamer Tritonia is being loaded by the Montreal men, the Montreal and Lake Manitoba of the C. P. R. line, by the Montreal men, and men of the crew.

According to one of the steamship men, there has already been paid out in wages mostly to the crews, over $8,000, which the load men would have had, had they been working.

COUER DALENE CITY, Idaho, Dec. 3.—It is reported here that the steamer Defender was wrecked on a reef a mile and a half from Mica Bay in Lake Couer Dale last night and that fifteen passengers and the crew were lost.

A despatch to the Spokane Review from Couer Dale City Idaho says that steamer Defender is thought to have gone down in Lake Couer Dale with a thick fog and boats will not venture out. It is thought that the passengers were mostly lumberjacks on their return from the camp. The Defender's whistle was heard blowing a distress signal and a steamer lying in Mica Bay answered the call but got no return from the Defender. The navigators believe the Defender struck a dangerous reef near Mica Bay and sank after whistling furiously for aid.

P. E. I. WINTER SERVICE. CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Dec. 3.—(Special)—Tomorrow the steamer Minto will begin the winter service between Charlottetown and Pictou, leaving here at 7 a. m., and making tri-weekly trips. Next Monday the Stanley will run in conjunction with her on the same route, leaving here on the same date. The Northumberland leaves tomorrow to go on the slip at Pictou. The Minto and Stanley will run on above route while weather permits, and then be transferred to Georgetown. The Express is still on the Summer Point-Du Chene route and will keep on until the ice stops her.

The circuit court met this morning, Judge Gregory presiding, and adjournment was made as none of the non-jury cases could be taken up.

THE RESCUING PARTY FOUND NO SIGN OF LIFE IN MINE

Bodies of 25 Victims of Naomi Mine Horror Have Been Found--Rescuers Overcome by Gas.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 3.—The bodies of 25 of the miners caught by an explosion of the deep Sunday night in the Naomi Mine of the United Coal Co., located near Fayette City, 35 miles south of this city, had been reached by rescuers at 4 o'clock this morning. The rescuers are now near the end of the workings and they have found no signs of life anywhere. In the opinion of the owners of the mine few, if any more victims will be found. Among miners and others in the village there is a firm belief that the total number of victims is between 40 and 50. After finding 11 bodies near the 29th entry shortly before midnight, the rescuers went to work with renewed energy to explore the remaining seven entries. There are 37 entries in all and until the last of these has

IMMIGRANTS IN HARD LUCK

Four Hundred and Fifty Men Huddled Together in Toronto With No Money and Little Food.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 3.—(Special)—About four hundred and fifty men, principally Bulgarians and Macedonians, are huddled together in a group of houses in Eastern avenue, without money and with little food, waiting for something to turn up. Seventy of them are living in one house and fifty each in two others. The men came here, so they say, because of the glowing reports sent home by some of their countrymen who preceded them earlier in the year, and because of the same number of money they had sent the wives and families of these men receive.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Annie Bradley, charged with the murder of former Senator Brown of Utah, has returned a verdict of not guilty. The jury was out since 4 p. m. yesterday.

LAKE MANITOBA IN LAST NIGHT

The C. P. R. steamer Lake Manitoba arrived off Partridge Island last night about 6 o'clock and anchored. She departed at 8 o'clock and at 9 o'clock this morning the Manitoba sailed from Liverpool on Nov. 29 and during the same passage encountered strong westerly gales, and was blown off course. She called at Belfast, Ireland, and took on passengers and freight. She had on board 265 passengers divided as follows:—7 saloon, 79 second class and 179 steerage. The Manitoba was off the mouth of the Bay of Fundy during the heavy storm early Monday morning. The big steamer had plenty of sea room, however, and Captain Evans came through it all right under reduced speed.

SIR FREDERICK WILL PRESS IT

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—(Special)—Sir Frederick Borden stated last night that he had as yet received no word from his solicitors in London relative to the press dispatches announcing that the Nineteenth Century magazine was publishing an apology for publishing a libelous story from the Couer Eye-Opener concerning Sir Frederick. He intimated that he had received word that a retraction and apology would be made by the publishers of the magazine, but at the same time he declared that this did not necessarily mean by any means an abandonment of the suit for damages. Publication of apology however, might tend to reduce any damages which might be awarded if the suit were pressed.

FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

THREE RIVERS, Que. Dec. 3.—(Special)—Last night at about ten o'clock Mrs. Puhont, living on the St. Marguerite Road, some three miles out of town noticed that the house was on fire. She ran out, clad in her night dress, to get assistance from neighbors, leaving six children sleeping in the house, with the result that four of the children are dead. The woman is in a very critical condition from her exposure in the cold. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Willie Burns, aged 13, who was arrested November 22 for stealing $3 from the home of Mrs. McIntyre, Main street, north end, was this afternoon brought into court and sentenced by Judge Ritchie to three years in the Boys' Industrial Home.

MONTEMPLE'S ENGINE ROOM AND CABINER HOLDS ARE NOW FULL OF WATER

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 3.—(Special)—The latest news received from the stranded steamer Mount Temple is to the effect that the engine-room and all the hold-ways were full of water, and nearly 100 passengers were being transferred on board the government steamer Lady Laurier to be brought to Halifax today.

Arrangements were being made for saving the cargo by the steamer Canada and schooners, and divers were examining the ship's bottom. The Canada, which left here last night had on board two divers. It was so rough at the island early this morning that the tug Trinity which took on load of passengers to the water tank last night, had to cease the work because of the danger of the getting alongside the island.

One hundred and thirty of the passengers who have been landed at Bridgewater and arrived by a special Halifax and Southwestern train at an early hour this morning are at the immigration building. The people are exceedingly glad to be alive today. Numbers had expected their end had come when the steamer struck. Through an interpreter some of the passengers said that the snowstorm began about 10 o'clock, and in half an hour it

James Pringle, quartermaster of the Seventh First Regiment, has been awarded a silver medal for long service in the militia. Pringle was for ten years with the militia. He is a native of Scotland, and spent some years in the army and saw active service in South Africa.

Susie and Maggie Henney, daughters of Samuel Henney, of Upper Magalloway, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Byles, on Friday last, charged with robbing clothes belonging to Bradford Currier, of Gagetown. They were arraigned before Magistrate Holen yesterday, and after acknowledging the offence, were sent up for trial at the next term of the court.

Judge Barker held a sitting of the county court here this morning, and transacted considerable business. Hearing in the case of McKenzie vs. McLeod, a Charlotte county case, was held for January sixth. In the matter of the Dunn infants, Mr. Sanford made application for permission to set certain real estate in the parish of Lunenburg, St. John, and Mr. Barry asked for the order to allow costs to be paid for the widow out of the funds. Court considers.

THINKS ST. JOHN IS A DUMPING GROUND

A man, giving his name as Nathan Goldenberg, called on the mayor this morning, and asked for assistance in getting to England. Goldenberg said he had been sent here with his wife and child by the mayor of Montreal, who told him he would be able to get passage to England from here. The man was without funds, and he said he was a cabinet maker by trade, and had been brought out to Montreal about two years ago to work for the C. P. R. He was one of some 300 or 400 men who were discharged recently, and he has been trying to get work since, but without success.

THE COBAN ASHORE

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S. Dec. 3.—(Special)—During the height of last night's fierce blow, and in a thick snow squall which prevailed about 7 o'clock the Dominion Coal Co. steamer Coban, Captain McNeill, ran aground on the rocks at Black Point. A message was sent here to Montreal about 10 o'clock, and the Dominion was seen. Their services evidently were not sought as all three boats returned without putting out a line.

MARITIME BAPTIST

There are special articles by eminent Baptists relative to the two forward movements, and the number is one that will be highly prized by all members of the denomination.

MR. SKINNER HAS NOTHING TO SAY

A. O. Skinner, chairman of the commission appointed by the government to look over the matter of a prohibitory law in this province, when asked by the Times today if he had anything to say with reference to the work of the commission, said that the commission would report its findings to the government, and in the meantime he had nothing to say. Chairman Skinner's attention was drawn to the recent criticism of him by Rev. H. E. Thomas, of Moncton, for certain alleged statements regarding the Prince Edward Island prohibitory law.

Mr. Skinner said that he had paid little attention to Rev. Mr. Thomas' criticism for the reason that the clergyman in question had credited him (Skinner) with something he did not say. "I said that the amount of 'stuff' shipped to the island was a fright, but did not say, nor was I speaking of the prohibitory law, as Mr. Thomas suggests," Mr. Skinner said. "I said that the quantity of liquor that was sent over, was from my commission had not received altogether outside of the commission. It is believed Rev. Mr. Thomas was misinformed," added Mr. Skinner.

DREDGING IS SATISFACTORY

The dredging for the site of No. 3 crib is now said to be satisfactory to all parties, as is also the channel leading to the site of the crib. The dredging will drive piling all right tomorrow along the line of the crib site so that the structure can be started on Monday. Engineer Valiquet, who is here from Ottawa to give his personal attention to the matter has apparently succeeded in straightening out the trouble.

AN OUTRAGEOUS PROPOSAL. Aid. Frink is in disfavor in aldermanic circles. He proposes to deprive every member of the council of the patronage of the aldermanic heart, and make it impossible for them to spend an afternoon discussing an appropriation of two dollars and a half for one of the wards. Such a course as Aid. Frink proposes would be the greatest blow to the encouragement of the art of oratory that has ever been delivered in St. John. It would deprive the average citizen of his favorite topic of conversation—the city council. The reporters would be compelled to resort to the scissors to get copy. The dog tax might be increased. "BANISH THE CIGARETTE" PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S PRAYER OF THE WOMEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Roosevelt presents today his annual message to congress. It is a voluminous document, making thirty thousand words. The president's opening words are an answer to criticisms of his policy towards large corporations, which his critics have sought to show, are responsible for the recent financial flurry in the country. The fundamental business conditions of the country are sound, the president declares, and it is foolish for people to withdraw their money from the banks and hoard it. Moreover, the business of the people is conducted with honesty and propriety, although in any large body of men there are certain to be some dishonest. When the misdeeds of these successfully dishonest men are discovered, neither comes, not only to them but upon innocent men whom they have misled. In an effort to punish the guilty, it is both wise and proper to endeavor to minimize the effects of those who have been misled, but it is not possible to refrain, because of such distress, from striving to put an end to the cause of the suffering, and as a means to this end, where possible, to punish those responsible for the suffering. Referring to the tariff on wool pulp, he said there should be no tariff on any forest produce grown in this country; and, in special, there should be no tariff on wool pulp; due notice of the change being given to those engaged in the business, so as to enable them to adjust themselves to the new conditions. The repeal of the duty on woodpulp should, if possible, be accompanied by an agreement with Canada, that there should be no export duty on Canadian woodpulp. He again advocated currency reform and strongly defended his own attitude in regard to the corporations.

The manifest of the cargo of the wrecked steamship Mount Temple has been received by the C. P. R. people, owners of the steamer. It is a large and valuable one, but the manifest was not given out for publication. One German firm, George Borgfeldt & Co., whose agent in this city is H. C. Olive, has on board about 200 packages of merchandise, and firms in this city have large importations of glass and earthenware goods from London and were very interested for the Christmas trade.

Mr. McKee, president of the W. C. T. U., followed, stating that it was not possible to legislate for the whole dominion, then the dominion can give power to the provinces to do so. Mrs. Baglow was heard for Alberta and Saskatchewan. Mr. Cole appeared for Quebec, which she said was the largest and most beautiful of the provinces. Mrs. Kennedy was heard on behalf of British Columbia, and Mrs. Stephens spoke on behalf of the maritime provinces. All joined in praying for the cigarette being banished from the land. Rev. Mr. Holmes, president of a Montreal association, and Rev. John Richardson, endorsed all that had been said. Mrs. Gordon Wright, president of dominion W. C. T. U., said that any age limit is abortive. No one should use cigarettes; the boys of today are the men of tomorrow and the government of today were responsible for the nation builders of tomorrow. Mr. Keane of the associated charities of Ottawa touched on the evil of the cigarette habit.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that, personally, he was not in favor of the use of tobacco, any kind, and if he had his own way he would go further. Mr. Scott, who was beside him, neither used tobacco nor liquor. Mr. Graham did not use any, but as to smoking he was not so sure. What the delegation asked was rather drastic. While he objected to using cigarettes, he did not see harm in them, when they came to man's years, using tobacco. At any rate the house of commons had not been converted to that view. As to extending the power to the provinces to pass a law, the same was done with the Scotch law, in respect to counties, that was a new proposition, which would be looked into.

FIRE AT LITTLE CURRENT. LITTLE CURRENT, Dec. 3.—(Special)—Fire destroyed here Mr. Arthur's office, the east wing of the household Little 9-year-old Leonard Gerrard, their second son, a particularly bright boy. It was only yesterday afternoon that he, with some companions, was romping about near his mother's home. His mother had been away during the afternoon and on her arrival towards evening the little lad came to her complaining of severe pains. Dr. Motz was hurriedly summoned but could do nothing to save him and he passed away at 3 o'clock last evening. Dr. Motz gives as the cause of death acute indigestion.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Although they went into the ring a model well trained man, evidently as hard as a board and with a pull of a stone in weight and the advantage of over two and a half inches height. Though outclassed generally, Moir seemed incapable of altering his method. (Continued.) "Why the Vicome de Bragelmont only, and not the Three Musketeers?" she mused aloud. "And if the Life of Goethe, why not his poems, his essays, Werther?—Ah, I know—the crowning offence of Werther. A Stevenson library! Each volume he recommends in 'Books which have influenced men,' I suppose? What a charming idea! I shall never forgive myself for not having thought of it long ago."

Courtenay laughed and blushed like any school-girl. Elsie's appreciation had a downright, honest ring in it that went far beyond the platitudes. She accorded him the ready comradeship of a kin soul. "Many people have been surprised by my collection; you are the first to discover its inspiration," he said. "That is not strange. There are so few who read. Reading means discerning, interpreting. I am a worshipper of R. L. S., but I have been shocked to find that for a hundred who can talk glibly of his novels there is hardly one who has communed with him in his essays."

"We have actually hit upon a topic that should prove inexhaustible. Believe me, Miss Maxwell—that is my pet subject—More than once, needing a listener, I have even lectured my long-suffering terrier, Isobel, laughing softly. The two standing in front of the bookcase started apart, with a sudden consciousness that they were speaking unguardedly for Isobel's mirth had mockery in it—there was a laughing devil in her sneer. "By the way, where is Joey?" she asked. "The dog answered her question by appearing with a stretch and a yawn, from beneath a bunk. He had heard his name in Courtenay's voice. That sufficed for Joey at any time. "What a strange animal!" went on Isobel, "I should have thought that he would bark, or peep out at us, at the least, when we came in." "Joey had a disturbed night," said Courtenay. "We passed the evening in the Hotel Colon, and he regards South American hotels as the natural dwelling place of cats, and other bad characters. Here, he is at home, and he knew that I was present."

"Otherwise, he would have classified us as suspicious?" "He is far too discriminating. What do you say, pup?" "Joey looked up at his master. Apparently, he found the conversation trivial; he yawned again, capaciously. "You darling! You must have slept with one eye open," said Elsie, stooping to pat him. "Oh, take care!" cried Isobel. "He may bite you." "Not he! When you see that wistful look in a dog's eyes, have no fear. He wants to speak to you. You won't bite me, will you dear?" And Elsie sank on one knee, to stroke Joey's white coat; whereupon Joey tried to lick her face. "Between the Stevenson Library and the captain's dog you are installed as a prime favorite on board the 'Kansas,'" commented Isobel. The other girl rose hurriedly. She had caught the touch of malice in the smooth voice. "Captain Courtenay is too polite to remind us that we are intruders," she said lightly. "We forget that he is busy. Joey, sandily canine, did not try to hide his feelings."

Isobel swung her chair round to face the foe. "This is quite the best place in the ship," she said. "I am very comfortable, thank you. Please don't send us away, captain."

Before Courtenay could answer, the officer of the watch looked in. "Cape Caranulla bearing south-west of the Basil Rock, sir," he announced, and vanished again. "Don't hurry," said Courtenay, taking up his cap. "I must leave you for a few minutes." He was gone, with Joey at his heels. "Really, Isobel, we should go back on deck," urged Elsie, uneasily. Already she half regretted the impulse which led her to intervene in her friend's special hobby. "I like that. I didn't credit you with such quiet, Elsie Maxwell. You snap up my nice captain beneath my very nose, and coolly propose that I should vacate the battlement. Oh dear, no! I can't talk literature, but I can flirt, and I have not finished with Arthur yet by a long chalk."

"Isobel, if you knew how you hurt me!" Miss Barrington crosses her pretty feet, folded her arms, and gave her companion a smiling glance. "So artful, too. 'Love me, love my dog,' eh? You actually took my breath away." "It may amaze you to learn that I meant to achieve that much, at any rate," was Elsie's quiet retort as she turned to select a volume from the queer miscellany in the bookcase. "Oh, don't be cruel. Leave me my Frenchman! Say you won't whoodle Edward by quoting the classics of his native tongue! Poor me! Here I have been warning a serpent in my bosom."

With a mose of make-believe anguish Isobel leaned back in her chair. She was innocently conscious of her superior attractions. Was she not the richest heiress in Valparaiso? Had not her father chartered this ship? And was not Elsie even now flying from an unbecoming suitor? She knew full well that her friend would resent the slightest semblance of love-making on the part of any man on board already her astonishment at Elsie's unlooked-for vivacity was yielding to the humor of meeting such a rival. The Count might serve as a foil, but the real quarry now was the captain. That very night there would be a moon. And the sea was calm as a sheltered lake. Isobel's lips parted in a delighted smile as she tried to imagine Courtenay deserting her to discuss those celebrities whom Elsie had made the motif of. And how she would play off the Count against the captain. They ought to be at daggers drawn long before the Straits of Magellan were reached. Certainly she never expected such sport on board such a humdrum ship as the 'Kansas.' Suddenly they both heard an excited bark from the dog, and the quick rush of feet along the deck; Courtenay's voice reached them with a new and startling note in it. "Stop that!" he shouted. "There was an instant's pause. Their alert ears caught the sounds of a distant scuffle. Then a pistol shot jarred the peaceful drone of the ship. "Sheer off, there!" roared Courtenay again. "Next time I shoot to kill!"

With terror in their eyes, with blanched cheeks, they rushed to the door and peeped out. Courtenay was not to be seen, but the officer of the watch was swinging himself over the canvas side of the bridge. He disappeared. Joey, barking furiously, trotted into view and ran back again. Creeping forward, they saw the solid sailor within the chart-house agitate at the compass and give the wheel a slight turn. That was reassuring. Yet another timorous peep, and through the curving window they could discern Courtenay, holding a revolver in his right hand, but behind his back. The report of R. A. Macintyre, the special auditor, showing that the amount of cash unaccounted for by Chamberlain Sandall on Nov. 1 was $11,228.36, was adopted. The next section recommended that P. Sandall be removed from the office of chamberlain and receiver of taxes, and that his appointment be cancelled. After some discussion the section was adopted. There was considerable discussion on the matter of appointing a controller and permanent auditor, but the recommendation finally passed. Ald. Bullock moved to add a section to the report that the recorder be instructed to serve on the guarantee company notices of the amount of the deficit and take steps to recover the balance remaining between the value of the securities held by the city and the total default. The alderman mentioned that the amount to be recovered was between $800 and $1,200. Ald. Baskin said he had been opposed to the city accepting any more deficit, and that of Mr. Sandall. He was told at first that the securities and cash were being held in trust for the guarantee company. Ald. Bullock replied that he was actuated by the idea of saving Mr. Sandall in any way that was possible. He could not forget that he was a brother citizen. It was true that he had gone wrong, disgraced his family and ruined his reputation, but he was a man for a job, and that was why he moved the resolution. It was not going to do the city any great injury. In closing, Ald. Bullock made a strong and eloquent plea to the council to exercise a little sympathy.

tone. Hip and breast pockets have rather wide flaps pressed flat. The collar is faced with black satin and the sleeves are of moderate size and full length. Black and white is the coloring of the material, and to further carry out this fashionable combination, an all white hat with trimmings of huge wings and folded malinette, and black lace gloves and kid boots are worn. The resolution was carried without further discussion. The reports of the board of works, and water and sewerage board were adopted as read. The safety board report was adopted, with the exception of the section recommending an increase of $225 in pay to the city hall janitor in lieu of rent on his vacating the top flat. Action on this was deferred. The report of the appeals committee was adopted and appointment of the heads of departments was deferred until the adjourned meeting tonight. Communications were read from the agents of different ocean steamship lines, warning attention to discrimination in wharfage rates against east side berths, and asking that the tariff may be amended so as to provide for through traffic via St. John which must be handled at the McLeod, Pettigall, and Corporation wharves to connect with the I. C. R. The matter was referred to the board of works. A communication from Wm. Thomson & Co., asking that an exception be made in the charges on lumber in the case of agreement made before Oct. 1 for shipment during the winter season, was received and referred to the board of works. Ald. Bullock moved the customary resolution relating to the sale of the fisheries. Charles McLaughlin and John Stubbs were appointed directors on the east side and George Clark and E. C. Woodward on the west side. Arrangements were left in the hands of the following committees: Ald. Lantieri, McFolrick, Baxter, Baskin, Holder, Pickett and Vanvar. Ald. McGoldrick gave notice of motion to bring the placing of lamps in Stanley ward under the control of the safety board. When the Stomach, Heart or Kidney nerves get weak, these organs always fail. ALD. FRINK OUT FOR A COMMISSION Gives Notice That He Will Move for Abolition of City Council and Government of City by a Commission.

At the monthly meeting of the common council yesterday, Ald. Frink gave notice that he would move, at the next regular meeting, that at the civic elections in April next a plebiscite should be taken on the advisability of the dissolution of the common council and the appointment of a commission of five citizens to administer the affairs of the city. The reasons given were the cumbersome nature of the present system and the impossibility of economical administration of civic affairs under it. Ald. P. Macintyre, accountant at the Portland Rolling Mills, was appointed city controller and auditor, at a salary of $2,000 a year. The office of chamberlain was declared vacant. The report of P. Neil Bédou on improvements at city hall was submitted, the estimated cost being $7,500. Action was deferred until this evening, at which time the meeting adjourned. It was decided that no renovation of Stanley street by the I. C. R. should be permitted during the winter, and the St. John Railway Company are to be requested to open up their double track City street. The mayor occupied the chair, and the full council was present, with the common clerk, Marshal Coughlan was in attendance. At the opening of the meeting and presented to Capt. J. L. McAvity, president of the St. John Rifle Association, the Corporation cup, held this year by E. F. Gladwin. The report of the treasury board was then taken up. The recommendation that the bills and by-laws committee prepare a bill to recover the balance remaining between the value of the securities held by the city and the total default. The alderman mentioned that the amount to be recovered was between $800 and $1,200. Ald. Baskin said he had been opposed to the city accepting any more deficit, and that of Mr. Sandall. He was told at first that the securities and cash were being held in trust for the guarantee company. Ald. Bullock replied that he was actuated by the idea of saving Mr. Sandall in any way that was possible. He could not forget that he was a brother citizen. It was true that he had gone wrong, disgraced his family and ruined his reputation, but he was a man for a job, and that was why he moved the resolution. It was not going to do the city any great injury. In closing, Ald. Bullock made a strong and eloquent plea to the council to exercise a little sympathy.

BOARD OF TRADE

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday and John H. McRobbie Re-Elected President.

The annual meeting of the board of trade, held yesterday afternoon, was largely attended. J. H. McRobbie was elected president and Walter E. Foster vice-president. The members of the incoming council will consider the project of holding an annual banquet at which matters of interest to the city will be discussed. W. S. Fisher suggested that in order to secure a larger membership, that the fee be reduced from $10 a year to $5, which is the rate at Halifax. In the absence of the president, W. E. Foster presided and announced that he had received a telegram from Mr. McRobbie in which he expressed his regret at not being able to be present. The annual reports of the council and treasurer were read. In connection with the treasurer's report, W. S. Fisher said it might be well to explain that a charge for housing at board the sister city is a bit steep, but there is room here for much forward work and great need for it. He thought that with St. John's population there ought to be 1,000 members of the board. Different schemes had been tried to increase public interest. It might be the annual fee of $10 is too high. In Halifax it was only $5, and it ranges from that to $20 for banking concerns. Mr. Jarvis endorsed the remarks of Mr. Fisher, and urged that the meetings of the council should be more largely attended. The following were the members of the council: W. H. Thorne, G. E. Barbour, T. H. Estabrook, John Sealy, W. C. Green, W. E. Hatheraway, J. N. Harvey, G. Hunter White, H. B. Schofield, and W. S. Fisher. At some future meeting Judge Wilcox will read a paper on How to Promote New Industries in St. John Along the Lines as in American Cities. The members of the board of arbitration were re-elected. They are George McKean, Joseph Bullock, W. S. Fisher, Andrew Malcolm, S. S. Hill and James F. Robertson. Application for membership was received from H. L. Coombes. He was proposed by C. H. Eason and elected. In connection with the matter of wharfage rates charged by the I. C. R. here and in Halifax, the secretary then read a communication from the Intercolonial Railway Company to the effect that the Intercolonial wharfage rates both in Halifax and St. John were based on the rates charged by private wharf owners. The chairman thought the whole question of rates in the harbor of St. John was a very serious one. He thought that rates here should be on the same basis as at other Atlantic ports. He suggested that the incoming council should obtain all possible information on the subject, including longshore rates.

Items of Interest It is often difficult to remove the grease and soot from iron cooking utensils, but it will be found that if the pieces are placed in an old boiler, with a strong solution of soda and a good sized piece of soap and the boiler filled with water, is allowed to boil the grease will be thoroughly removed and the vessels rendered clean and wholesome. After the utensils have been thus cleaned they may be rinsed in clear water, and set on the stove to dry. A useful suggestion to those who burn wood in open fireplaces or open stoves is that in putting on fresh fuel, draw the pieces already burning to the front and put the new wood at the back. This throws the heat out and prevents smoke. If distern water is used in the household, any disagreeable odor can be removed by using an ounce of permanganate of potash crystals, which will also destroy any deleterious germs it may contain. The first effect of the drug is to turn the water brownish, but it will clear in two or three days. On this account, it should be used several days before the water may be used for washing. A few crystals of this drug added to half a pail of water makes an excellent disinfectant for cleaning a refrigerator or sink. BEATRICE CARRY.

MR. BORDEN AND SIR WILFRID CROSS SWORDS IN THE DEBATE

Opposition Leader in Stinging Speech Arraigns the Government for Its Maladministration--Laurier Has Word of Praise for Late Mr. Blair But Nothing for Recent Cabinet Importations.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—There was a large attendance in the house today when the real work of the session commenced with the debate on the speech from the throne.

R. H. Hall, of Peterboro, moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne. Mr. Hall is a fluent speaker and made a very favorable impression. Mr. Laurier seconded the address.

R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition, congratulated both speakers for the tone of their speeches. Both were temperate and no fault could be found with either, except that they were inclined to give too much credit to the government for the property of the country.

Mr. Borden went on to quote from Liberal statements, in the past, against such a platform of the party. He said that the platform of the party was opposed to it.

Mr. Borden proceeded to refer to the content in getting a reduction on light wines, seeing it was not going to apply to his champagne.

Mr. Borden said that under the contract of 1903 with the Quebec Bridge Company the government was responsible for the methods of construction. He desired full information upon these points, seeing that the catastrophe resulted in the loss of so many lives and so much property.

Mr. Borden—What about it? Mr. Laurier—What about it? Mr. Borden—What about it? Mr. Laurier—What about it?

Mr. Borden—What about it? Mr. Laurier—What about it? Mr. Borden—What about it? Mr. Laurier—What about it?

honorable gentleman was quite within his rights. He traveled very far afield, indeed, but there is one subject of which he never spoke, and yet of which we have heard a good deal of late both from him and his supporters.

Having read that platform with some care, I do not think I am at all unduly severe if I say that in my humble judgment almost every proposition advanced in it is coupled with a qualification, coupled with an if or a but which makes it susceptible of a double interpretation.

We have heard the rumbling echoes of discord and thunder within the party circle. Of course, I do not pretend to be in the secrets of the party, but there are some secrets which are as public as stage whispers and one can easily understand that would have been quite natural for a voice in the framing of their policy.

Mr. Foster—I do not want to interrupt my right honorable friend, but in my honorable friend speaking now of the views held by the minister of the conference.

Mr. Foster—Then will my honorable friend please mention the names of those who wish to make the daughter colonies subordinate or satellite?

Mr. Foster—I do not think my honorable friend can.

Mr. Foster—I have read every page of it and it cannot be found there. And he framed it in a question of appreciation. I have read every page of it. It can be found there. With all due respect to my honorable friend and with all due respect to his own convictions, passions and prejudices.

Mr. Foster—I do not think my honorable friend can.

Mr. Blair (Peel), whose bill to prohibit the sale and manufacture of cigarettes, was still on the order paper when parliament adjourned last year, has taken steps to get a speedy hearing for it this session.

Mr. Foster next went into the western lands scandal. The premier asked why the Conservative party were not called together. There were two ways of doing a thing. A convention might be called, resolutions might be passed, the convention dismissed and the leaders refuse to put into force any of the things they promised.

Mr. Foster referred to the All-Red route, and said that Sir Charles Tupper and not Sir Wilfrid was the originator. For his own part, he would like to see it a success.

Mr. Fielding moved the adjournment.

BURNS HAS EASY THING

Disposed of English Champion in Ten Rounds.

London, Dec. 2.—Tommy Burns, of Canada, knocked out Gunner Moir, of England, in the tenth round of their fight here tonight for the National Sporting Club title...

After the fifth round Burns' victory was certain and in the tenth, when the Gunner failed to rise to the call of time, and was literally cut to pieces, Burns left the ring with scarcely a mark.

Moir was his right to participate in championship matches more to influence than to merit and his defeat therefore was not a general surprise.

Except for the difference in weight and Moir's advantage of two inches in height, the men were evenly matched and in perfect form.

They fought at long range again in the third, Burns being too clever for his adversary who began to show signs of the punishment he had received.

In the fourth Burns took a breathing spell, which allowed Moir to have a slight edge the better of a light round.

Burns returned to his tactics in the fifth forcing the fighting from the sound of the bell. He landed a right on the jaw and a long left swing cut Moir severely over the eye.

The sixth round was all in favor of the Canadian, whose footwork was particularly lauded by his opponent.

In the seventh Burns sent home a terrific swing which brought ugly gashes in Eugene's cheek. They came to close quarters, the Englishman clinching and this time avoiding the full force of Moir's right.

With 630 Passengers On Board She Struck at Mouth of La Have River

Early Sunday Morning—Passengers Landed On Cliff By Means of Breeches Buoy—Steamer Was Twenty Miles Out of Her Course.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 2.—The annals of the sea contain few stories of more remarkable escapes from death than that to be recorded of the Canadian Pacific steamship Mount Temple, which last night struck on La Have Island, at the mouth of the La Have river, and which will be a total loss.

The steamer had 630 passengers and a crew of 190 men, but though in awful peril for many hours and subject to the extremity of exposure and privation for many hours more, not a man perished. Their lives were saved, but only by a hair's breadth.

Captain Boothby, who was in command of the Mount Temple, met the land at 3 o'clock this morning. He said that he did not know just where he was, but he saw that he had no business there.

As the steamer grounded a tremendous sea washed over her decks, smashing the boats and leaving only half of them fit for service. But no boat could have lived in that sea, anyway.

Then the precipitous banks of the La Have, on which only two families live, were seen to the westward. The sea was running high, and the high cliffs of Iron Bound were visible.

Quickly the cable was made firm. Suspended from it was a basket with ropes attached to the ship and the shore. Captain Boothby ordered that the women and children should first go ashore by the basket, which was passed above the waves.

On the present voyage the Mount Temple carried 3,500 tons of valuable cargo. C. P. R. officials here report that this is the first time in the history of the line that a steamer has been wrecked with such a heavy cargo.

The commissioners to enquire into the Scott Act arrived last night by the late train from St. Stephen, where they closed their inquiry. They probably hold a session or two in St. John to consider the evidence and frame a report of the findings to lay before the government.

Advices from the county are to the effect that trouble is brewing because one or two men who desire the local government nomination for the eastern section of the constituency believe that Mr. McKean is not the man to lead in the city, whereas, it is said, there is a very strong understanding that at the next general election he would lead the county and head the government ticket in the city. It is reported that F. M. Cochrane, of St. Martins, gave way to Mr. McKean in the by-election, and now Mr. Cochrane's friends think he should have a chance.

ST. DAVID'S Y. P. A.

A very pleasant time was had last night by the members of the Y. P. A. The programme was under the auspices of the literary committee and was divided into three parts— Irish, Scotch and English. Miss Bessie Finley read a very interesting paper on the life of Thomas Moore. She was followed by Miss Bertha Forbes, whose paper was on Irish songs and ballads. The first part of the programme was brought to a close by a vocal solo, The Harp, by St. J. McGowan.

The Scotch part of the entertainment consisted of a paper by Miss Jessie Milligan on the origin of songs, The Bonnie, Bonnie Banks o' Loch Lomond, Miss Seton sang the song very effectively.

Miss Cochrane opened the third part of the programme with a piano solo, The Life of William Shakespeare (Thackeray). Miss Ethel Hannah followed reading an extract from Vanity Fair. Each of these papers showed good knowledge of the various subjects treated of, and was well received by a large audience.

HEARTY WELCOME FOR HARKINS' CO.

"Squire Kate" Given An Excellent Production at the Opera House Last Night.

That W. S. Harkins and his excellent company have lost none of their popularity among St. John theatre goers was evidenced by the hearty reception accorded them last night when they presented the powerful English drama, Squire Kate. It was well staged and splendidly handled.

Catherine Sharp, a girl of twenty, was left at her father's death to care for his large farm, and to bring up a younger sister, Bessie, in such a way that she might marry well. On this account Catherine came to be known among the neighbors as Squire Kate. In all her work she was guided and assisted by one Geoffrey Doone, the farm overseer.

An old miser to whom Catherine had been very kind in time of illness, died, and left her his vast fortune. This attracted many suitors to Catherine, and among them was Gaffer Kingsley, a rich and miserable wretch, who came to ask her hand and particularly her newly acquired wealth, for his step-son, George Heathcote, but without the consent or even knowledge of Heathcote, Kingsley, a ready admirer of George, readily agreed to such a union, only to find that her younger sister, whom she had cared for so much, had already won the affection of George Heathcote and that they were engaged.

Both Catherine and Gaffer Kingsley determined that George must not marry Bessie, but agreed to accept Catherine and her money, and to care for her further. In this Gaffer Kingsley procured poison from an old shepherd and administered it to the younger sister that she might be put out of the way. The stepson George became aware of this and secured the assistance of a shepherd, Jasper Arundel, who, knowing the poison, gave the required antidote and saved the girl's life.

Suspicion rested on Catherine, since she was the one in whose way her sister must stand, and to assure the public of her innocence, she resigned her affections for George Heathcote to her sister, and then accepted the offer of her best and truest friend Geoffrey, the overseer, and she remained on the farm as of old.

Orson M. Dunn, of Gaffer Kingsley, of the Warren, had one of the best parts in the play, and his was a masterful portrayal of the avaricious old villain. Mr. Dunn was most heartily and deservedly applauded for his excellent work.

Miss Van Duser was seen in the very difficult role of Squire Kate, which she took in a most pleasing manner. Kent Bowditch, as George Heathcote, gave great satisfaction for the entire performance, and the scene in the fourth act between him and Kingsley brought forth generous applause.

Miss Farnsworth, Miss Anderson, Harry Stubbs, Aldrich Baker, Carl Fey, and Fred Cummings also appeared to excellent advantage. The Private Secretary will be the bill for this evening.
