BASEBALL NOTES AND JOTTINGS

Mechanics Take New Lease of Life and Win Two Good Games in Succession

Last Friday evening under perfect conditions the Mechanics and Victorias met in deadly strife at the bawlyard. The attendance was much better than usual, including representatives of the Church, the judicial bench, Doc. Price, two policemen, Jack Reid, suffragettes, sweet girl graduates in white and many others too numerous to mention. This game also marked the reappearance of our one and only Slipp in the box for Mechanics. Just to get his arm into working order in the first innings Davie gave Delaney such a soft one that Paddy knocked it over the fence for a home run, at which Davie smiled. In the 7th Slipp ran to third to get Delaney who was safe, then walked back to the box and allowed Delaney to seal home, but Davie kept on smiling.

The Victorias are much to be commended for their sportsmanship a wrong decision in the third when Pond was called out in error by the Umpire going unquestioned. The

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF THE CAMPBELLTON FIRE

Views of Some of the Prominent Buildings Now Erected in Place of the Old Wooden Structures

A THREE YEARS PROGRESS

Friday, July 11th is the anniversary of the great fire of 1910 which practically wiped out Campbellton three years ago. Today looking around our town with its broad streets, handsome buildings and residences which are in very truth HOMES, travellers are amazed at the change, and with wonder in their voice cry "How was it done." We are certainly proud of our town, proud of its inhabitants, and proud of what has been accomplished.

Three years ago Campbellton as a town was dead, it was thought, her life smouldering in the ashes of ruined and destroyed homes, the labors of a lifetime consumed in a moment before the eyes of many struck dumb with horror; yet hope and ambition are virtues which even fire cannot quench and from the old has arisen a new Campbellton, a fairer, brighter city.

A new era has dawned for the people of the town, history has begun anew and there are now only two dates marked on the calendar of Campbellton time and these are "Before the Fire" "After the Fire."

We have said we are proud of the town and of the people, why? True we can never forget the open-hearted generosity of all shades and classes of people, who contributed so largely to our help in the time of

CLASS PROPHECY OF GRADUATE CLASS

What is Propheesied to Happen to Graduates of Class 1913.

At the request of a number of readers and friends of the graduates we herewith reproduce the "Class Prophecy" of 1913 read in a clear and convincing manner by Miss Greta Metzler, and also the "Last Will and Testament" which was read by Miss Helen Carter.

Class Prophecy

Dear friends and fellow classmates as you know it is always the custom for someone in a graduating class to foretell the future of his or her classmates. By some strange stroke of fortune, this fell to my lot. Although I may often appear to be a dreamer, and as our Principal could tell you I do dream in school yet I waited in vain to dream about my classmates and their future. Moreover, no gypsy fortune teller happened along to help me out, or to reveal to me the future of our class.

One evening about dusk I sat down to think about this matter and to thinking real seriously too, wondering what I was going to do. As it grew darker a white curtain appeared before me, and on this curtain were flashed the figures 1, 9, 2, 3. A voice whispered to me. "Now you are going to have a peep into the future when this curtain rises you will find yourself in the West in a large city and in the year 1923."

Sure enough, the curtain gradually rose and I found myself in a large western city. It was quite early in the morning of a beautiful summer day and along with a number of friends were gathered on the outskirts awaiting the arrival of an aviator. Presently he swooped down to the earth, he explained and told us all about his airship and then asked did we care to go for a spin through the air. After a time my turn came.

Let me add that while he was explaining the various parts to us I thought I recognized his voice but as I could not see his face plainly, on account of his cap and goggles, dismissed that thought from my mind.

You may imagine how one would feel having her first ride in an airship. We flew over the large campus on which the people were gathered, several times. Then Mr. Aviator started on a new route. Never doubting but what he would soon bring me back I settled back to enjoy the scenery and landscape, at least what I could see of it. But it soon grew tiresome flying over a strange country and with an aviator one did not even know.

After a time I managed to say "Mr. Aviator, don't you think you had better take me back now?" The man at the wheel took no notice of me, and thinking him very rude I said no more but as you may know I was beginning to get frightened. Once more I asked him to take me back, and it was then he burst out laughing and removed his cap and goggles and there before me sat my old school friend Mott Lingley.

We were soon talking over old times and the good fun we used to have at C.H.S. How I laughed when he told me he knew me at once and this was the reason why he had not taken me back. Then and there we decided to hunt up all our old class, just to see how they had gotten on.

It was now about ten o'clock and as he knew that we would find Arnold Alexander in Vancouver we set out to hunt him up. On the way Mott told me about his great success as an aviator, showing me the medal he had received from the King for flying across the Atlantic.

game was safe for the Mechanics in the first innings when five runs came in, yet but for the wrong decision the Vics in the third when two runs came in Pond's hit might have meant something. Mechanics completed their seventh inning adding two runs to the game already won.

with the kind assistance of Mr. Errors. A goodly number were present and occupying expensive seats in the stand besides the spenders of good real hard earned money were a bunch of sports who had just beat their way back from Van Buren. Many reasons have been advanced for the failure of the aforesaid to make proper connections at Van Buren on their return from Fort Fairfield, but we beg to inform the public that at great expense we have been able to secure the correct reason, but just at this moment we forget what it was.

The Railway boys batted first and got two runs in the first stanza, and got another little one in the sixth spasm making a grand total of three. The Machine boys also started with a two, a one, and one, and then in the fourth blew up the need. That help was received in the same spirit in which it was given loyally, graciously and thankfully, yet without our own hopes and ambitions all the wealth of the universe could not have raised a post even for the most humble shack. But with an optimistic spirit burning in our hearts, and with the assurance of a continued prosperity, the people of this town set about the rebuilding of homes and business, and as it should be, success has crowned their efforts. Public buildings have been erected, banks and churches have been established better and stronger than before. Whereas nearly all buildings were in the past all wood, now the large stores, banks and other buildings are constructed of brick, concrete, and stone. Even those homes built of wood are now more commodious and beautiful than before, and although many treasures of home which once lost can never be replaced, still there is peace and contentment where once three years ago, there was sorrow and sighing.

In a business sense Campbellton has progressed in a most wonderful way since the fire. It would almost seem as if the destructive conflagration had been a direct source of advertising the facilities, the opportuni-

MANY WHITE GIRLS IN EASTERN HAREMS

Sad Fate of Young Women Who Marry Polygamous Orientals

The perils undergone by white women who marry colored men were emphasized by Mr. Foster Fraser, a widely known Asiatic traveller, in an interview at London.

These dangers formed the subject of a warning recently issued by the Australian Government at the request of the Colonial Secretary. This warning primarily concerned marriage with the Pathans and others of the hill tribes of the North-western Frontier of India, but Mr. Fraser extended the warning so to include Mongols and Caucasians.

"It is extraordinary," he said, "to find the number of white women who are in the harems of Persia, for example. They are mostly English and American dancing girls who have met Persians who were travelling abroad and, fascinated by tales of life in Eastern palaces, have married them."

"When I was in Persia I came across a typical case. It was that of a girl who had been an attendant at a state at the Crystal Palace. There she was seen by a Persian in the entourage of Nasr-ed-Din, a previous Shah, who he visited England. She married him according to Roman Catholic rites and with her sister went to Persia with him.

"Once in his own country, however, he immediately placed her in the harem, where she found herself but one of several wives, and was forced to live a life of seclusion, cut off from her own people. She met only the Persian ladies of the royal harem, to whom, curiously enough, she used to translate Conan Doyle's detective stories, in which they were greatly interested.

"Eventually her husband died, and she desired to return to England, but many difficulties were placed in her way, and it was only by the persistent good offices of the wife of the British Minister that she was able to depart, taking with her her son on the strict proviso that he returned to England when he was sixteen years of age. Subsequently, I believe, she married an Englishman, and now lives at Peckham."

"Marriages between Chinese, Japanese, Egyptian, Siamese, or Persian men and white women are rare, but the men from these nations who travel are naturally wealthy, and women who become fascinated by them forget that they will have to live in a totally different atmosphere. An intolerable longing for home comes to them, and escape is impossible."

As an example of the danger of mixed marriages to white women a legal case may be cited, in which it was held that a white woman married in England was no longer the wife of a Siamese after she had been deserted for three months, this process being sufficient for a husband to end his marriage in Siam, and the wife was bound by the laws of her husband's country.

MYSTERIOUS ISLANDS

They Rise From Lake Bottom and Look Substantial

A curious phenomenon is frequently seen on the Panama Canal. At times the Gatun Lake has not a speck of any kind on its surface except for an occasional white-capped wavelet; an hour later the surface is seen to be dotted with small green islets. These small "floating islands," as they are called, are masses of vegetation and earth loosened from the bottom of the lake, and they have been found on examination to consist mainly of sticks and leaves held together by clay, with grass and other vegetation growing upon them. Though these islets have been found as large as three acres in extent on the lake they are no obstacle to a steamer, though they would impede a launch, and they are firm enough for a man to walk upon safely. The sudden appearance of these islets is caused by the change of wind.

Spanish Jews in Asia

How many people know that there are some Asiatic Jews who speak Spanish? When the Jews were driven from Spain by Ferdinand and Isabella, a large number fled from the persecution of the Christian to the protection of the Mohammedan. They settled in Asiatic Turkey, Greece, and the Balkans. Their language is more correctly described as a Castilian-Hebrew-Portuguese dialect of Latin, and it is said that many of them speak Hebrew, modern Greek, and Arabic.

The Queen Knits Petticoats

Two woollen petticoats knitted by Queen Mary were sent by her Majesty for sale at an Old Village Fayre, which was opened at Gravesend by Princess Louise to raise funds for the town hospital.

THE HUMAN HAND A MAGNETIC POLE

Instrument Perfected Which Detects the Vital Magnetic Fluid

A French scientist, M. Payol, asserts that he has made an important discovery in establishing the polarity of the human body.

The theory that man has positive and negative magnetic poles was advanced long ago, but no instrument had been invented capable of measuring the electric force satisfactorily. M. Payol perfected an instrument with which, he says, delicate observations of the vital magnetic fluid emitted by the human body can be made. He asserts that the positive pole is in the right hand and the negative in the left, while with left-handed persons the reverse is the case.

The scientist's instrument consists of an adjustable oak board, whereon a delicate metal cylinder swings in a perpendicular position between ball bearings, in order to minimize friction. The operator places his left hand on the board, the palm facing the cylinder and the thumb uppermost. In moment the cylinder begins to revolve, slowly at first, and then faster, in the same direction as the hands of a watch.

If the right hand is placed behind the cylinder it will revolve in the opposite direction.

Let another person put his right hand on the shoulder of the first, and the cylinder will move even more rapidly.

Mr. Payol states that he is able by this means to measure the vitality of subjects who have no reaction observable on the instrument in the case of infants, but between the ages of 25 and 45 years the magnetic force as recorded increases annually. After the latter age it diminishes till it almost vanishes in the case of the very old.

This magnetism may pass from person to person, and the vital emanation of one may be received by another and stored up by him. The theory of sympathetic souls is explained by the assumption that such persons have similar magnetic personalities.

A CHRISTIANIZED ESKIMO

In Spite of All Persecution He Stuck to New Faith

The whole life of the primitive Eskimo is governed by precedent, and though outwardly the freest and most irresponsible being in the world, he is in reality the slave of public opinion, and the numberless customs and superstitions of his ancestors. The war of his fathers are good enough to him, and the world of the old man and witch-doctors, who treasure ancient precedent like the Pharisees of old, is the standard he lives by.

For an Eskimo to break one of the unwritten laws is to render himself a social outcast. Although treated as a member of the tribe, a brother-in-law of an Eskimo chief had early embraced Christianity, but as the first missionaries were few, and the conscientious man, he soon recognized the incompatibility of retaining his faith and conforming to the worship of his people. The spirit of the Scotch Covenanters was in his veins. He refused to go through the usual rituals of his people, and prayed to the God of the white stranger at home. As a result he was forbidden his place in the village koga (or meeting place), where every man has his recognized station, carefully graded according to merit. His son was not allowed to dance with the young men or witness any of the councils or witch-doctorings reserved for the men; his daughters could not take part in the annual dance of the women, nor was any member of the tribe bold enough to ask them in marriage. They all married Siberian strangers and left the old man's house desolate, but he stuck to his faith to the last. Always cheerful, always ready to help, living daily the faith that was in him, he was one of the few of his race who was brave enough to withstand the witch-doctor.

Calendar Stone of the Aztecs

The famous Aztec calendar stone, now in the National Museum of Mexico, is a block of basalt weighing 25 tons and having a diameter of 11 feet. Encircling the head of the sun god is a diadem bearing hieroglyphics representing the divisions of time and the Aztec method of numbering the years. The number of days in their year was 365, as in ours. Each year had a different emblem repeated every four years. The first year was called Fochtlil, or rabbit; the second, Acatl, or reed; the third, Teotl, or flint; the fourth, Calli, or house. The years were further arranged by thirteens, four such periods making a Mexican age. When the City of Mexico was taken by Cortes in 1521, and the great temple destroyed, the calendar stone was left in the square. It was buried in 1555, and not recovered again until 1790.

Work and Food

According to a French scientist a man who eats liberally should regenerate in weight every 24 hours; if he loses weight, he works too hard; if he gains he has not expended his maximum effort.

Disinfecting Baggage

Cars containing apparatus for disinfecting the clothing and baggage of passengers who have been exposed to contagious diseases have been put into service by an Italian railroad.

The Wind Put to Work

Coal is hoisted and water pumped from a Kansas mine by a specially designed windmill with four broad sails.

NEW CAPTAIN TAKES CHARGE

Captain M. Landry of Dalhousie is Appointed to Command S. S. Canada

Captain Murdock Landry of Dalhousie has been appointed to command the S. S. Canada, and P. Bolduc, a former chief engineer takes charge of the engine room. Captain Landry is well known around here and his appointment a most popular one. Under his hands the traditions of the Canada for safety, punctuality and reliability will be well maintained. Since discharge of the late Captain chief engineer many rumors have been in circulation regarding safety and stability of the steamer which as in the case of all run are very difficult to trace to origin. For the benefit of those interested we might say that the steamer has been making her regular trips calling at all ports and having no mishaps as far as the present is concerned. The vessel was inspected by the Quebec before going on her regular run and nothing has happened since arriving here which would invalidate her certificate. Minor repairs were recommended by the inspector at Quebec which since been carried out. From what we learn there is no reason to believe that the vessel is anything but a well maintained and thoroughworthy and the matter appears but the empty talk of two disgruntled employees who have been discharged. The steamer is on her regular run on time and passengers are receiving the courteous consideration which has always been received on board Canada.

Captain Murdoch Landry of Dalhousie has been appointed to command the S. S. Canada, and Mr. P. Bolduc, a former chief engineer takes charge of the engine room. Captain Landry is well known around here and his appointment is a most popular one. Under his hands the traditions of the Canada for safety, punctuality and reliability will be well maintained. Since the discharge of the late Captain and chief engineer many rumors have been in circulation regarding the safety and stability of the steamer which as in the case of all rumors are very difficult to trace to their origin. For the benefit of those interested we might say that the Canada has been making her regular trips calling at all ports and has met with no mishaps as far as the press is aware. The vessel was inspected at Quebec before going on her regular run and nothing has happened to her since arriving here which could invalidate her certificate. Some minor repairs were recommended by the inspector at Quebec which have since been carried out. From what we can learn there is no reason to believe but that the vessel is all she is claimed to be and thoroughly seaworthy and the matter appears to be but the empty talk of two disgruntled employees who have been discharged. The steamer is making her trips regularly on time and passengers are receiving the same courteous consideration which they have always received on board S. S. Canada.

ties and the natural resources of our town and district. Every year since 1910 the exports from this section have been increasing, mostly in shipments to the United States and from recent information received this present year will exceed all others by a large margin.

Notwithstanding the increased space in the railway yards (Campbellton being a divisional point on the I. C. R.) time and time again have the large freight yards been so congested with traffic, that it was found almost impossible to get cars moved and an extra shunting engine had to be requisitioned.

In this issue we are publishing a few cuts of several of the better known buildings, which would do credit to many a larger town than this. The Post Office and Custom House, the banks, the new station, St. Louis and Waverly hotels, Grammar School, Baptist and English churches and many other buildings are built of brick and stone.

The Town Council has purchased land for widening streets, new sewers are being put down and new sidewalks are being constructed in several districts. In the past year a fire alarm system was installed, which with our own municipal Electric lighting plant puts Campbellton in her proper place, that being one of the most progressive towns on the North Shore. Long may she thrive and flourish.

Howe's London Much Bigger.
The Glasgow Horses Also Coming.

The great London aggregation of colossal and renowned features will be in Campbellton, Monday July 21st. Acrobats from the Old World and the new; giants, pigmies, beasts of the wildest forests of the world; strange birds and daring bareback riders. Circus day comes around about right. A fellow gets old during the winter. Notes tall due; things must be attended to; life looks serious any way one looks at it. A thousand things press down upon the mind until the head aches. Wrinkles grow deep during the winter, and the hair borrows a tinge from the frosts. It's different circus day. You're a boy again—or ought to be. The $25,000 Glasgow Prize Horses are also with Howe's London Show this season. Beauties say the critics everywhere.

OUR BIRTHDAY

Today marks another mile stone passed. With this issue we begin our sixteenth year as a local journal, and we look forward to many more years of continued prosperity. The policy which the Graphic has advocated will still be continued, that being to advance the interests of Campbellton first, last and all the time. We desire to thank our subscribers and the merchants of the town for their continued interest and pecuniary help in using the columns of this paper for advertising purposes, and we are glad to state that our circulation is steadily increasing every day, and is now the best medium for advertising in this district, embracing as it does a large section of Bonaventure county. Our columns are open for news from every district, as it is our desire to give to our readers a purely local paper chronicling all the doings in the town and in the immediate vicinity.

TOO FAR

The proper sphere of a small country newspaper is to give its readers full reports of all local happenings, leaving the matter of politics as a political game to the proper channels, those being the highly paid city dailies. Yet there may be some political happening which calls forth the indignation of the local people irrespective of their political leanings, and such has happened to the eternal disgrace of the conservative party. A vacancy occurred in the train despatchers office for a stenographer. A young lady who was in employment applied and was found by the officials to be entirely capable of taking the position. She was engaged on the recommendation of Mr. D. A. Stewart one of the patronage committee and her former employers were begged to allow her to start her duties at once. To help out by all in their power, and to allow the young lady to take full advantage of a better position they allowed her to enter the service of the I.C.R. on a moment's notice.

The lady in question held the position for one month and then at the request of the conservative office-seekers was dismissed. Why, because she was the sister of a noted liberal politician Mr. A. E. G. McKenzie. It was not because she could not do the work, for she was retained to show her successor what to do, although she herself had to find things out for herself, it wasn't because she had a vote, and it wasn't for lack of appreciation among the officials and clerks of the I.C.R. No, it was because of this damned patronage system which is the root of all evil in our political life, and if not checked will ruin the honor of anyone who enters the political arena, and turn into a gang of grafters, those men who as members of legislature should be as Caesar's wife, above reproach.

A grave error by the party has been made in allowing this disgrace to be perpetrated, an error which will yet come back to them in ways that they wot not of. We quote the words of a leading conservative of this town, when asked his opinion on the matter. Here's what he said, "Things have come to a pretty pass when the political game is so debauched as to destroy the chance of a young girl earning her own living. If it had enough getting after men who as often as not have shown they took no part in political work, but when they start the persecution of a family and desecrate the maidenly feelings of a young girl making her a political football, it is an inhuman disgrace. I am ashamed to say I am a conservative." Are there any others feeling the same way?

BEER LICENSE

We desire to call the attention of our readers to an interesting letter on this subject in this issue. According to the act the town could scoop quite a respectable sum by proceeding against those beer shops which have no license for if there is one in the town there is fifty. This matter will be gone into fuller next week.

Struck out by Shirley 3, by Slipp 6. Bases on balls by Shirley 1, by Slipp 2. Left on bases I.C.R. 6, Mechanics 4. Umpire F. McKae. The attention of players is called to the fact that the proper averages are being well looked after, and some little better work is looked for before any of the league players can have a mortgage on Mayor Andrew's Dressing bag.

The game on Wednesday evening between the Mechanics and Victorias was some hummer, the machine boys winning in the seventh by 5 to 4. They got the game safe in the fifth when a bunch of errors and passed balls gave them three runs on two little infield taps. The game was viewed by a goodly sized gathering, the magnates being on the stands and the small boys with "paling" tickets. The ground did not belie its name as the "Bawly yard", on several occasions the noise disturbing the motherly intentions of a setting hen in a nearby yard, and giving some of the lieges the impression that a free fight between Suffragettes and Police was in progress.

The score was tied at the end of first. In second Love got a hit, stole second and scored on overthrow to third from Paterson after Young's at first. In the fourth McLean hit to centre field, got to second on Fraser's hit and third when Paterson failed to hold Shaddick's throw, scoring on Dickie's out at first. In the fifth Young hit safe, Fraser running for him, got to second on Matthew's infield hit and scored when Moore's dropped Delaney's fly. In this inning the Mechanics scored three runs. Wall was safe on infield hit to Matthew's, got second in passed ball, third on Matthew's fumble of Floyd's hit, and scored on Paterson's life, when Delaney left his base to field the ball. Floyd scored on Shaddick's out. Paterson got third on passed ball and scored on Slipp's out at first.

Score now a tie. Honors even in the sixth. Mechanics scored the winning run in the 7th. Wall was out at first. Floyd was safe at first on error by short stop, second on passed ball, came home with the winning run on Shaddick's wallop to right field.

EDITOR GRAPHIC,

Dear Sir:-

In reply to your query "Is there any license required before one can open a beer shop" see chapter XLV. section 22 consolidated statutes 1903, an act passed 13th April, 1911. Section one states relating to beer licenses, being sections 119 to 123 inclusive, of said act together with all amendments, shall apply to the town of Grand Falls and the town of Campbellton.

Section 120 states "A Beer License shall be construed to mean a license to sell temperance drinks such as ginger beer, spruce beer, hop beer, root beer, soda water, syrups and similar liquids as beverages, simple or mixed, not being spirituous, malt or intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one quart."

Section 121 states should any person not having a beer license sell in quantities less than one quart or keep for sale for the purpose of being sold in quantities less than one quart any of the drinks for which license is required by this chapter, he shall be liable to the same penalties as a person selling intoxicating liquor by retail without being duly licensed therefor which would be covered by section 62, first offence $50 and costs, second offence four months, third offence six months. If any one will read the Liquor License Act and amendments they will readily understand that the liquor law is being broken every day in Campbellton. But why should the beer sellers be troubled when liquors of all kinds are being sold in many places in our own town, we believe, to many of the officials whose duty it is to see that the liquor license law is carried out.

We wish to thank you, Mr. Editor, for asking for information in reference to this matter, and that you will secure a copy of the act and print them in order that parties interested may know where we stand.

	I.C.R.	7	4	3	572
Mechanics	8	4	4	550

Speaking of ball games the Sackville Tribune says:-

Those in charge of the gates are not overburdened with the coin taken in. The crowd seem to get there just the same, but how we would not wish to say. Surely no one is mean enough to sneak in by an unguarded entrance to avoid paying the small admission fee of ten cents. The brand of ball may not be worth the money, but the games would become more interesting if given your hearty support."

This does not apply to Campbellton people. They prefer to have a seat on the lumber pile and spend the necessary dime on a cigar.

NERVE NECESSARY FOR GOOD BATTLES

"Home Run" Baker Talks of Pitcher:
Who Aim at the Head to Frighten a Man

"I believe hitters are born, not made," says "Home Run" Baker, "but I also believe it is possible for weak hitters to improve. The first thing a boy needs to become a good batter, is good eyes. He must have nerve, too. Strength is necessary, but almost every ball player is strong. The exercise he gets, playing, is bound to strengthen him. The big thing is nerve, though. Unless a boy has plenty of nerve he cannot hope to succeed. It requires nerve to stand up to the plate and let the pitcher throw at your head. The good hitter will duck out of harm's way and return to his position and dare him to do it again. If a batter backs away because he is afraid of the ball, he is gone."

"There are any number of pitchers whose stock in trade consists of a 'bean ball' and a prayer. They throw the ball at the batter's head until they drive him from the plate and then sneak a couple of fast ones over the middle. A batter needs just as much nerve in a minor league as he does in the majors. In fact he needs more, for many minor league pitchers are 'bean ballers.' I mean that many are shy of control, not that they throw at your head more frequently than the big fellows."

"My receipt for batting is to look upon the star pitchers as if they were bush leaguers. If a recruit gets the idea that the great pitchers are going to beat him, he never will get anywhere. No player can afford to be afraid of a pitcher. I think this feeling helps me when I face such men as Mathewson. I know such men have such good control that they will not hit me and I simply wait until I get a good one."

the phenomenal French boxer. English critics say Carpenter is a marvel of cleverness and generalship; that he has a knockout punch and two of the best hands that ever graced a boxer. They are big, heavy boned hands, and may be indicative of the size of the boy when he is fully developed.

BEST OUTFIELDERS

Oldring, Strunk and Murphy the Choice of Connie Mack

Speaking of outfielders, Connie Mack believes he can name the three best. "Oldring in left field cannot, to my way of thinking, be duplicated. He's not only a hard and timely batsman, but an A1 fielder, sure on flies and line drives, and he has an arm that makes Cobb, Milan and the other phenoms think twice before trying to stretch a bit, with him in possession of the ball. "Strunk is a marvel. He is one of the fastest men that ever broke into baseball; so fast, as a matter of fact, that most all the fans fail to realize just how speedy he is. Not only that, Strunk is a great hitter. "Murphy is quite a youngster, but a sure born ball player. I know he will soon show the fans what he really is in the baseball line, not only at the bat, but in the field as well. Just keep your eyes on the Athletics' outfield and you will agree on everything I have said."

Washing Grimy Hands
Every automobilist who has had to repair his machine has longed for some way to wash his hands, ordinary soap and water being almost useless as a means of removing the many and tenacious varieties of dirt that gather upon them on such occasions. So chauffeurs and men who drive their own cars will welcome the directions given by an authoritative French scientific magazine. This paper directs that the hands be rubbed with gasoline, the operation being twice repeated; then they are to be washed in sweet oil or butter after which a thorough washing with soap and water will remove the last vestige of dirt. The nails, however, require special attention, and it will repay the automobilist to keep a mixture of benzine and alcohol expressly for his hands.

New Photographic Light
Photographers now receive light very similar to that through the traditional studio skylight by vapor tube electric lamps filled with carbon dioxide instead of mercury vapor.

Never in Theatre
Speaking at Toronto, Hon. S. H. Blake declared he had never been at the races, or in a theatre or had played cards in his home.

PARALYSED AND COULD NOT WALK

"Fruit-a-lives" Completely Restored
New Brunswick Merchant To Health.

BRISTOL, N. B., July 25th, 1913. "I am unable to say enough in favor of 'Fruit-a-lives' as it saved my life and restored me to health, when I had given up all hope and when the doctors had failed to do anything more for me. I had a stroke of Paralysis in March, 1910, and this left me unable to walk or help myself, and the Constipation of the bowels was terrible. Nothing did me any good and I was wretched in every way. Finally, I took 'Fruit-a-lives' for the Constipation, and it not only cured me of that trouble but gradually this fruit medicine toned up the nerves and actually cured the paralysis. Under the use of 'Fruit-a-lives' I grew stronger and stronger until all the palsy and weakness left me. I am now well again and attend my store every day and all day."

HELPS PROSPECTORS

Claims Staked as the Result of Information Given by Indians

There are many successful mining camps in British Columbia which owe their beginnings to the curiosity of Indians who have, during their hunting expeditions, come across some mineral-bearing rock and have brought it to the white man to identify. Others wishing to guard their hunting grounds from the invading prospector have, discovering any mineral indication, shrewdly kept their find a secret test by its discovery the privacy of their hunting preserves should be molested by the white man. Not far from Observatory Inlet, B.C., an Indian hunter chanced to come across a fallen tree which had been torn up by the roots, thus uncovering a vein of goodlooking ore. Fearing its discovery would start a mining camp in the best part of his hunting ground, and so drive away all the fur-bearing animals from its vicinity, he spent the greater part of a day covering up the lead with moss which he had to pack from some distance. To an old bear hunter of the Naas River is due the credit of calling attention to the mineral deposits of Observatory Inlet. He is one of the first full-blooded Indians to hold in his own name a free miner's certificate in the Coast district of the Skeena Mining Division, in which district the Granby Bay mines are situated.

TRAINER OF STARS IN CONNIE MACK

Leader of Athletics Always Has His Eyes on the Future and on Young Players

There is an expression, "Connie Mack luck." It is shouted whenever Connie brings out a new star. It isn't luck. It's hard work. It's perseverance. It is careful selection of players and patient teaching. It is prudent handling of the raw material. It is weeks, months, years of preparation. It is a constant, never ending effort to be prepared always for the day when a star begins to go back.

Mack develops his own players. He gets them very young, usually out of high schools or colleges. He aims to secure them before they have had baseball habits; that is, false or incorrect methods in batting, throwing, pitching, etc. Mack first watches a lad's physical faults. He tries to correct them. If the youngster will not listen to advice off the team he goes. His ticket to a minor league city reads only one way. Only one man in 11 years ever came back to the Athletics. This was Bris Lord.

After curing a player of his false motions, Connie starts to train him physically and mentally. He coaches the lad on the field and he seats him near him on the bench during a game and explains the various plays as they come up. He next tries him in every position until he finds the one the boy can play best. Then he waits for the decline of a veteran. Some day a man is needed for a man's job on the diamond and the recruit who has been trained carefully steps into the line light a finished baseball product. It was so with Collins, Barr, Leary, McInnis and it will be so with others.

Twice a day Mack meets his players. They discuss the plays of the game before. They plan the battle that is at hand. Every opposing pitcher is put under a magnifying glass, so to speak. Every twirler has certain little motions which he makes in delivering different kinds of balls. These are pointed out. It was because a member of the Athletics discovered that Mathewson made a certain movement with his foot when he pitched his deadly "fadeaway" that the Athletics beat New York when Mathewson was pitching in a memorable world series.

Having culled the youngsters he notices worthy, Connie rubs them with the veterans. Not one of the latter could ever dare attempt to discourage a youngster. The star may see his job slipping from him, but he has an abiding faith in his manager. He knows that Connie is watching out for the future of his club and a veteran seldom leaves his men without first getting a job as manager of another team.

A Bull's Strength
The following authentic tale comes from a South Wairarapa (New Zealand) station, and shows the immense power possessed by a bull. Two shepherds were driving bulls from various paddocks, and bringing them down to the homestead. As each fresh bull was added to the mob there were trials of strength and savage skirmishes between the various members of the herd. At one stage a large roan short-horn bull was waiting for the rest and as soon as the gate was opened he charged out, and after the usual roaring and grunting, came to look at a well-grown red short-horn bull of equal size. After several bouts with horns locked, the red bull slipped past the roan's guard, and getting him under the body, heaved him bodily over the fence into the paddock where he had just come from. The roan bull weighed nearly a ton, and his body cleared the fence, one of the post being broken by his horns.

A bread that is not kneaded, the invention of a Philadelphia woman, is said to be more digestible than bread made in the usual way from the same ingredients.

What This Sectional Firepot Means to You

These are some of the advantages of the Sunshine Furnace. Our agent will be pleased to show you others, or write for booklet.

The "Sunshine" has a straight-sided semi-steel firepot, extra heavily ribbed and made in two sections. The two sections allow for contraction and expansion—which prevents cracking. The heavy ribs and semi-steel give extra strength and added radiating surface. Ashes cannot adhere to the straight sides which assures an all-over clear fire. This means the greatest heat from the fuel consumed.

The Cadet Corps of New Carlisle had their annual Church Parade on Sunday evening. Assembling at the east end of the town they marched to St. Andrew's church and entering to the singing of Onward Christian Soldiers occupied special seats in the centre aisle.

At the conclusion of a most appropriate address delivered to the lads by the Rector, Rev. B. Watson, in which allusion was specially made to the proposed visit to Camp at Levis, the National Anthem was sung and the corps then returned to their rendezvous. The marching was particularly good under the command of Lieut. Col. Baker and Lieut. Basil Hamilton.

COUNCIL MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

Number of New Sidewalks Will be Put Down This Summer.—New By-Laws

The Town Council met on Tuesday evening His Worship Mayor Andrew in the chair. At opening of session there were present councillors Quinn, Lunan, Miller, Pinaud, Alexander and White.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communication read from Canada Iron Corporation offering crushed rock for sale for road making and concrete purposes. Referred to Public Property and Street committee.

Communication from police officers, T. Mann and Silas Perry requesting holidays was referred to Police and License committee.

Petitions for licenses were received and referred to Police and License committee from H. R. Humphrey, jeweller; Peter S. Martin, auctioneer; T. Letourneau, 1 horse truck and A. J. Arseneau, 1 horse truck.

Councillor Lunan from Police and License committee presented reports recommending that licenses be granted to R. Ellsworth for 4 horse livery, A. LeBlanc 2 pool tables, N. Audet 2 horse cab, also recommending payment of $20 to Chief Hughes, grant toward expenses to Halifax. Report received and adopted. Councillor Lunan read a short report from the chief on his visit to the convention at Halifax which was received and placed on file. The following reports from committees recommending payment of accounts were received and adopted: Councillor Miller, Finance $92.10, Councillor Pinaud, Public Property and Streets $12.55, Councillor Alexander, Water and Sewerage $906.34, Councillor White, Electric Light $278.81. In a further report Councillor White recommended that 50 per cent of the contract price for the new street lighting equipment now past due be paid, the amount being $821.65. The report was adopted.

The letter from the president of Union of New Brunswick Municipalities which was held over from last meeting was then taken up and it was resolved to reply to the letter stating that no delegate would be sent from here to attend the convention in Saskatoon.

Councillor White then brought up the matter of the new gas producer. He laid before the council additional information he had gathered, and an interesting discussion took place on the subject. It still appeared to some of the councillors that the amount asked viz $5300 was rather high, and councillor Miller was added to the Electric committee to go fully into the matter and look over the correspondence with other firms regarding Gas Producers and report back at next meeting.

The council then went into committee of the whole on the report of the By-Laws committee to deal with Circus licenses, the result of their deliberations being that the fee for circuses is now fixed at from $100. to $500, for a circus, menagerie, wild west show or any others of a similar nature.

On reassembling of council, councillor Pinaud introduced the matter of new sidewalks giving a list of streets which the committee thought should be done this summer with the estimated cost. On motion of councillor Alexander the committee were authorised to lay down the following sidewalks:

Argyle Street 270 feet
Aberdeen " 1200 "
Minto " 240 "
Sugarcloaf " 300 "
Prince Wm. " 150 "
Duncan " about 200 "

and necessary amount on Paterson Street. The estimated cost will be roughly about $500.

The matter of water and sewerage to the back part of the Gerrard property was introduced by councillor Alexander and after discussion the committee were authorised to lay water and sewerage pipes from Gerrard street to Arran street following the line of Gerrard Lane and the east line of the Gerrard property, this work to be proceeded with when deed of the streets is given.

At the request of the Town Engineer the Water and Sewerage committee were requested to look into the matter of placing a hydrant on the Sharpe property for fire protection purposes.

The matter of water and sewerage on the Pichette property was held over in the meantime.

In reply to a question by councillor White the Water committee informed the council that in the petition of residents of Hillside street for water privileges nothing had been done as the cost would be too great. Council then adjourned.

OPENING OF NEW SODA FOUNTAIN

With characteristic energy Mr. Thos. Wran has installed a new soda fountain in his store at the Windsor Building, the official opening of which will take place tomorrow. The fittings and appointments of the fountain are most elegant. The serving counter is of white marble with marble and onyx front, the pilasters dividing the panels being relieved with touches of gilt. The counter is twenty feet long, the fountain standing in the centre, surmounted by heavy leaded glass shades in dark colors. Across the full side of the wall on top of wall counters are heavy mirrors, set in colored mahogany frames, the dome in the centre showing a rich effect in dark leaded glass. The hanging electric rollers are of crystal and when lit up the whole effect is very beautiful. Among the extra appointments to the fountain is an electric egg mixer and an automatic electric carbonator which is the very latest thing in fountain fitting. One will travel a long distance before they will see anything to equal let alone surpass Mr. Wran's Soda Fountain.

As the skating season advances Helen Davidson bequeaths to Lulu McKenzie the privilege of taking an afternoon off whenever the skating is extra good.

Fedora Renault leaves to Edmund Gallagher, her Webster's pocket dictionary which is perfectly good; excepting the fact that it is minus covers, and several pages, this she hopes will be very useful to him in the Literature lessons of the coming year, for Edmund is certainly a wonder along that line.

Florine Andrew leaves to Georgina Oatman, her treasured scribbles containing almost correct translations in Cicero, Caesar, Virgil, and Esther, which she has obtained through hard work, for when her own ability failed, she still added to her collection, by the painful method of "begging or borrowing."

Georgie Appleton leaves to Georgie Currie her chemistry of which subject she is so exceedingly fond. For a proof of this, I would refer you to our principal, Mr. Carr, who was the first to draw our attention to that fact.

Hope Quinn remembering the times when feeling in a cranky mood, and the great enjoyment which she took in slapping those sitting near her, therefore leaves this right to Enid McKenzie, and also the right of practising her music lesson on the desk when the teacher is not looking.

Mott Lingley leaves to Reginald McLean the faculty of being the best little boy in the class.

The big boy of our class Guy Wyers, bequeaths a foot or so of his extra height to Bert Burgess who will then be about four feet high.

AUTOMOBILE VS. HORSE VEHICLE

Decision Given in Case where Auto Passed on Wrong Side.

A case which is of much interest to automobile owners was heard before Sitting Magistrate Kelly on Monday, when Mr. Chas. Johnston on the complaint of Mr. John Harquail was charged with passing a horse and rig on the wrong side of the road.

From the evidence laid before the court it appears that Mr. Harquail and his wife and two children were driving on the public highway on June 15th and on descending Adams hill were overtaken by Mr. Johnston in his car. The evidence showed that Mr. Harquail was driving on the right hand side of the road and on hearing the horn of the auto did not look back and made no move to cross to the left hand side until the car was at the rear wheel of the rig. There was no room to pass on the right hand side with safety and Mr. Johnston passed on the left, hence he was guilty of an infringement of the law and was fined $1.00 and costs.

The decision is an interesting one to auto owners, as in future when overtaking a team going in the same direction the motorist will require to slow down behind the horse and await the driver's good pleasure to get out of the way, even though there should be a clear passage on the left of the road.

ing orders and in general as a walking boss.

Jos. Alexander wishes to advise Stanley Fraser to always carry a dictionary, for he has always found it a very necessary thing, and he thinks ones authority for things should be placed in the dictionary. He also leaves him the duty of affording amusement for the whole room.

Louis Annett the brave and the bold leaves some of the strength of his voice, to Gilford Bruce the gentleman of Grade X.

The little mouse which during the last part of the term caused considerable confusion in our room, is bequeathed to Mr. Carr from the whole class, a cage will be added if desired. We also leave him our best wishes for his success in the future.

Signed: (in behalf of the class)

CLASS PROPHECY OF GRADUATE CLASS

After some time we were in Vancouver and had no trouble to find the large druggist shop of A. H. Alexander. The proprietor's surprise at seeing us cannot be put in words. His old time generosity still remained and remembering my old failing for chocolates and Motts for soda-water, he treated us royally. He took us up to his home to meet Mrs. Alexander and who should it be, none other but our shy little friend Florine Andrew. We were not very much surprised after all, as it was always though it would end that way. We were sorry to leave, but the time was passing so quickly, and wishing them all good fortunes, we went back to the aeroplane and were soon soaring over a very pretty little town.

One object in particular attracted us, and that was the school. On for adventure we stopped and were soon in the school. On one classroom door was a card and on this card was printed, "Principal's Room—and underneath this was printed M. J. Adams. It struck us that this could be none other than the learned pupil of the class of 1913—Margaret J. Adams—and sure enough it was. Here she was, principal of the school, teaching Latin and History.

Our next stop was about noon and we lighted near a very handsome and prosperous looking farm house. Who should come to meet us, but Ray Ferguson. It was just dinner time, and as flying through the air makes one slightly hungry, you may rest assured we did ample justice to the lovely dinner which his "Alma" was so kind to give us. Leaving Ray in all his prosperity we continued on our way and were soon in Winnipeg.

While down town we passed a large theatre and stopped to read the bill-board. There was a picture of a lady whom we knew, Helen M. Davison. It said that Miss Davison was giving a recital, it spoke of her talent, adding that she was a graduate from the Emerson School of Oratory. It would have been foolish to miss this lovely recital and we thoroughly enjoyed it. Our friend, Helen certainly had fulfilled the promise of her youth and indeed was a great elocutionist. After the recital we had time to speak to our noted friend and to wish her still further success.

On our way back to the aeroplane we chanced to meet Marguerite Henry. I should not say Marguerite Henry for she had some time before changed her name and was now quite happy in her Winnipeg home. While talking to her she chanced to tell us that she was on her way to her husband's store. It was really out of curiosity that we accompanied her, and found her husband none other than one of the boys of the C. H. S., class 1914. Just to give you a hint let me tell you it was a large departmental store.

Leaving Winnipeg, we kept on flying for some time, never stopping till we got to Toronto. Almost the first person we met while in the city was Gladys Kean. She was a teacher in the Toronto Conservatoire of Music and during our conversation she told us that during her vacation she was going to travel over Canada, organizing hockey clubs for the coming season. Her success as a hockey player was something phenomenal and she felt she ought to awake more interest in this game.

We had heard nothing of Georgie Appleton for some time and we did not have any idea where to find her. But something lead our steps to the Royal Victoria Hospital, while we were in Montreal. Sure enough, Georgie was one of the nurses. The matron informed us that nurse Appleton was resting as she had a very trying case on hand. However, she sent her word that we wished to see her and she smiled when she said it was a "trying" case. When the object of our visit came in you know very well how she welcomed us. On being questioned about the mysterious "trying" case, she told amid much blushing that she was nursing a Methodist minister back to health and strength. Perhaps it was because she blushed so, anyway we soon guessed her secret, for as you all know, our friend Georgie always had the greatest affinity for young Methodist students.

This same afternoon there was to be a great ball game. Georgie's minister could wait, so we three went off to the game. The bleachers were crowded and every one was very much excited, and as we would say in the vernacular, it was going to be "some game". On the line-up appeared the name Annett. It seemed probable that this might be our old class-mate Louis Annett and when he did appear, our belief was confirmed. Who could forget Louis with that hair of his. When he took his place at the plate, a mighty roar burst from hundreds of throats, "Annett's at the bat." Needless to say, his side won, as they always did at school.

It seems that the newspapers at this time were full of suffrage notes and we noticed the name of A. E. H. Quinn very often. We had heard that Hope was to be punished in some way for her notorious acts by which she tried to secure the ballot, now it was the custom to send any such suffragettes off to the island of St. Helena. Following the crowd down to the dock-yard, the aviator and myself found that there were some fifty of them being sent off that afternoon. Among the crowd, with her hands bound with chains, Mott and I saw our defiant friend Hope. Recognizing us, she greeted us with her old time smile, but sad to relate we had to leave poor Hope to her fate.

Once more we were in the airship and after flying at quite a speed we came to Quebec. In a convent there we found our clever friend Feodora. She was teaching and everyone seemed to love her. She was the favorite teacher, although she taught two very horrid subjects, at least what I would call horrid subjects, Geometry and Chemistry. Now continuing our course we came to Tide Head. Here who should be running a T. Eaton establishment in a store "two by two", but Jos. Alexander. Poor old Joel How glad he was to see us! We began teasing him, telling him how a Methodist minister got ahead of him in Georgie's case, but he only laughed and said:

"The time he'd lost in wooing, In chasing and pursuing, The light that lies in women's eyes, Had been his heart's undoing."

The mode of travelling in this air-car was certainly speedy and before we really knew where we were, we had come to Campbellton. It was just train time and the depot was crowded. We went down to see what all the fuss was about. There among the crowd we saw the Hon. Fred Mowat, setting out on business to see about the interest of Campbellton. It was plainly seen by the way the crowd cheered, and the manner in which they were sending him off, that he was a popular citizen and a very prominent one at that.

On our travels we met our Principal. Among the many things he said to us was, that although he had had many nice classes since 1913, still with all our faults, he could truly say that he never had a class that he liked better.

There were still two of our old class that we had not found and we were truly disappointed. Flying out over the river, we noticed the passenger steamer coming in, all gaily decked with flags and bunting. From all appearance it looked as if there were some notables aboard.

Filled with wonder, we came back to land and Mott and I walked down to the pier. The stately boat steamed in and a bridal party got off and when we recognized them it was none other than Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wyers (nee Miss Helen Carter). Imagine our surprise, but we soon got over it and went up to congratulate them, before they started off to their handsome residence on Rosebery street.

We sailed through the air once more, out over the harbor and then up over Andrew St.

All of a sudden Mott vanished away from the wheel, the aeroplane vanished and I came down with a thud when I realized where I was I looked about and managed to get a glimpse of the white curtain as it vanished from my sight and I found murmuring C. H. S.

DEARER THAN GOLD

Many Metals Are Far More Costly—Some Are Peculiar

Gold is generally looked on as the last word in costliness; but, as a matter of fact, there are more metals dearer than gold than there are cheaper. The number of known metals is about seventy.

Iridium, for instance, of which a big find was made recently in Austria, is three times as expensive as gold. Gold is worth nearly $20 an ounce. Iridium is worth some $68, though the price will probably come down now.

Osmium is another metal much dearer than gold. It costs about $50 an ounce. It is by far the heaviest of all known substances, being more than twenty-two times as heavy as water. This metal has the peculiar property of being able to stand without melting the most intense heat known.

Palladium—about $40 an ounce—is just the reverse. It is quite easy to make palladium vanish in steam. Being of a white, silvery color, and unchangeable, it is used for the division marks on scales and delicate scientific instruments.
