The Colony of Tasmania Adopts the Principle.

Mr. MacLaren's Argument for Ontario's Prohibitory Power.

BETTER ARMS FOR CANADIAN SOLDIERS.

London, Aug. 8.-Major Wilson, of the Canadian artillery, who, with several other Canadian officers, in April last came to England to train with the Imperial forces, has finished his course and passed his examinations. He will sail for home today. The officers who accompanied him will remain a few weeks longer.

The negotiations with the War Office pave resulted in an offer by that de-partment to supply the Canadian milila with several hundreds of Lee-Metord rifles and carbines for purposes of experiment on favorable terms.

MR. MacLAREN'S ARGUMENT. London, Aug. 8.-Argument in the Province of Ontario appeal case before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council was resumed yesterday. Mr. J. J. MacLaren, Q.C., for the Province, replied to the contentions of Mr. Blake, who yesterday argued against the ap peal in the interests of the Brewers' and Distillers' Association. Mr. Mac-Laren maintained that the local option law passed by Ontario was not prohibitory, as Mr. Blake had stated, but was merely a restriction of the traffic. Lord Watson said he agreed with Mr. Blake that it was prohibitory to a certain extent, and asked whether under that law a number of workingmen could not form a club so as to obtain liquor. Mr. MacLaren replied that he thought in such a case the matter would have to be submitted to the county judge. Lord Herschell, one of the lords "Your opponents of the appeal, said: contend that the Canadian Temperance Act implied the appeal of the Prohibitory Act of the Ontario Legislature. Supposing the Temperance Act was in operation at the time the Ontario Legislature passed its restrictions, were the two acts so inconsistent that the Canadian act repealed the Ontario act?" Mr. MacLaren proceeded to quote the Maine liquor law with a view to showing the interpretation generally given it by powers of the highest authority when Lord Watson said: "There is little good to be gained by these quotations. We are dealing with the meaning to be put on a general statement That can be obtained only by recourse to the statute and a consideration of the meaning which the Legislature which passed it intended it to have." This doncluded the arguments, and judgment was reserved.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Interesting Notes from the Government Weather Map from July.

Toronto, Aug. 7 .- The weather man fer July, issued by the meteorological service of the Dominion, contains some valuable general notes regarding the condition of the crops in the various provinces.

A summary of the reports received from the various counties show that Bruce has suffered considerably from drought, especially the Indian peninsula. where all crops are light, excepting fall wheat, which is fair.

In Grey, Wellington, Perth and Huren, although the rainfall was small, crops appear better than in Bruce. Wheat is considered slightly below the average, other grain crops fair, and nasture very light. In Middlesex, Elgin and the counties westward the rainfall, though greater than in the last mentioned counties, came too late to help the grain crops, which can be considered only fair, hay being light and pastures improving.

In Oxford, Brant, Norfolk and the countles eastward, forming the Niagtra peninsula, wheat, which has been cut in some places, is fair; oats an average, especially in Welland; other crops fair.

Waterloo, Wentworth, Halton and Peel. with the exception of fall wheat and barley, which appear to be a little below the average, and hay, which is very light, all other field crops are fair; recent rains have much improved the pasture lands. Muskoka, Simcoe and Dufferin-Although the rainfall has been small in this section of the Province, all the Peterboro and countles eastward-Nearly an average grain crop is generally expected, while hay is fair. Reports of fall wheat along the line of the C. P. R. from Algoma eastward state that all the crops are fair.

THE CHURCH AND TEMPERANCE.

Meeting of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union in New York.

Rev. Father Cleary's Pronounced Posi tion and Powerful Statement.

yesterday of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union Archbishop Corrigan made a brief address in introducing Archhishop Ryan. Archbishop Corrigan welcomed the delegates to New York and told them what great interest the clergy took in the total abstinence movement. After the mass luncheon was served at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan to the distinguished ecclestastics. At the afternoon session the president, Rev. Mr. Cleary, read his report, in the course of which he said: "What a mighty revolution this Catholic organization for the uplifting of the unfortunate has wrought during a few years. It has silenced the suspiciens of the weak. It has covered with confusion the criticisms of the cowardly. It has rescued the church from any suspicion of unhallowed alliance with the saloon, the foulest enemy of the church and our country. It has won fairly the lasting admiration and confidence of wise and conservative men in state and church. It has shamed from the festive board of all assemblages of self-respecting Catholics intoxicating drink in any form. It has earned the warmest commendation of the great pontiff who has sat in St. Peter's chair for centuries.

"The practical problem for the American workman to solve is not the amount he may be fortunate in earning, but the sum he may prudently save to provide for happiness and plenty in a contented home. Excessive drinking is not the only cause of dependence and poverty, but it far outstrips all other sources of these misfertunes. It is not the sin of drunkenness alone that our organization is repared to combat. Our purpose is to aid in correcting the foolish drinking customs of society, to make the practice of total abstinence popular, and to brand with odium the indefensible and dangerous social customs that are a stumbling-block to the weak and a temptation to all.

"Our church has again and again voiced its convictions in no uncertain terms. There can be no affiliation between the church and the saloon. The church will not and cannot permit that the drinking shall flourish beneath the shadow of the consecrated house of prayer. A man cannot be a good Catholic, a faithful and docile child of the church, and continue in the unbecoming business of conducting a liquor saloon."

Kirschinski, the Accused, Takes the Matter Coolly-Suspicious Scratches.

Berlin, Aug. 8.-Gustav Kirschinski, who lies in Berlin jail awaiting trial on the charge of murdering Jeanerette, reems quite self-possessed. He, however, bears some scratches and cuts about his face, which some say happened Sunday, the day of the murder, and which may play an important part New York, Aug. 7.—At the meeting and which may play an important part in the drama. Crown Attorney Bowlby has wired the Attorney-General's office to send up an experienced detective to work up the case. In the meantime the prisoner stands remanded for a week. A four-bladed jack-knife, in good order, was found on his person, which had some indications of lately being cleaned.

DECEASED'S INJURIES. Some further interesting particulars are given by Dr. Browby of the postmortem examination. The bruises on the shoulders and arms were not, in the doctor's opinion, caused by blows from the weapon which mangled the head. They have more the appearance of injuries inflicted in a personal struggle, and indicate that deceased was gripped by powerful hands, the marks in some cases almost indicating the actual finger marks. Dr. Browby is satisfied that a most terrible struggle took place, and that deceased was overpowered by sheer brute force, and afterwards pounded with the stick. No bones were broken, however. The fatal gash in the throat was square across from side to side, and not on either side, as it would be if self-inflicted. It was remarkable that with such a terrible cut the main arteries were not divided, but all were left intact. The knife found on the prisoner could, he thinks, have been used to produce the wounds found.

Wreck of a British Passenger Steamer Only Four Landed.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 8.-A boat's rew of Chinese has been landed at Forster, about 100 miles north of this port. The men reported that the British steamer Catterthun, 1,406 tons, which sailed from Hong Kong on May 27 for Australian ports, was wrecked vesterday evening. The fate of the other members of the crew and passengers is unknown. Later in the day some details were received. The steamship, it appears, was wrecked on the seal rocks, off Cape Hawk, early yesterday morning during a gale. The passengers, who numbered 70 persons, of whom 55 were Chinese, were asleep below when the Catterthun grounded. Only three of the European passengers and the second mate of the steamer were saved. The others are missing, but is is believed to be possible that they succeeded in taking to the boats, and that they were afterwards blown out to sea and may be heard from later on.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

Against a Stratford Doctor-Accused of Malpractice.

Stratford, Ont., Aug. 8.-The preliminary examination in the case of Dr. J. G. Yeamans, charged with having performed a criminal operation on Alice Dunn, of Mount Forest, was begin before the police magistrate yesterday. Only representatives of the press and legal profession were admitted to the court room. Several witnesses were examined, proving Miss Dunn's visit to Stratford on June 21, the date of the alleged operation, and her condition on returning home. Dr. Reynolds, of Mount Forest, testified as to her subsequent illness and the necessity of an operation, which gave relief and resulted in an improved condition. Miss Dunn, on being called, did not prove a very satisfactory witness, owing to her weakness and unwillingness to testify, and her examination was not concluded when court adjourned.

DARK DAYS

Brought About in China During the War With Japan.

What the Missionaries Had to Contend With-Mobs Cause No End of Trouble.

Rev. F. G. Newton, of Strathroy, received by a recent China mail a circular letter from Rev. Dr. Stewart, the missionary, who, with his wife and familv. was recently massacred at Ku-Cheng by a mob. The letter was dated April 29, and contains much that is very bright, but there is much to show that the life of a missionary is very hard. Dr. Stewart says:

"But we have our dark days, too, owing doubtless to the Government being fully engaged with the war. A sect known as the Vegetarians, but hitherto without influence or power, has suddenly sprung into vigorous life in this part of the country. They first came into prominence in August last, a month after the declaration of war, at a village caled A-Deng-Bang, where an unusually large number of men were joining the church. They attacked the converts, beating some, pillaging the ship of another, and finally cut down and carried off $100 worth of rice crops belonging to a leading convert of the place.

"A month or so later, in another part of the district, these Vegetarians, with whom are allied one of the most dangerous secret societies, committed some offense, but not in any way connected with the church, so heinous that the magistrate was compelled to seize three or four and imprison them. This was the signal for a rising; messages were quickly dispatched in all directions, and a mob assembled round to Yamen. All that day they beat around the house, shouting threats of vengeance. On their way to the Yamen they passed outside our city church; some were for rushing in and demolishing it; others advised them to move on to the Yamen and if they proved unsuccessful there they could return and take it next. The poor women and others in the church building, hearing all this, were, as you may imagine, terrified, knowing by past experience that there was every chance of the threats being carried out. At last, as the evening was drawing on, and the mob showed their determination to have their way, a Mr. Lang, one of the best known men in the city, came out with the mes-sage that all they asked would be granted; the prisoners would be liberated and sent home in state, and the self defeated by allowing his secretary to be publicly beaten before the people. Poor wretch! he got 300 blows of the bamboo, and was dismissed next morning from his office. present 3,000 Vegetarians have been

"I have just learned that up to the enlisted in the last half-year, mostly of the lowest order, and at the present time the reins of Government are practicaly in their hands. What the immediate future will disclose no one can say. The outlook is a little dark. At our principal baptismal service at the end of the year no less than 60 at one time were admitted into the church, and that in this one districtsome of them coming from the villages where most of the persecution has been. In other centers I baptized smaller numbers, and many times had cause to exclaim, 'What hath God wrought?" " "P.S.-Since writing the above the danger has passed over; and now that peace with Japan is declared we need expect, I think, no more interruption to our work. The effect of these troubles on the native church has been to bring them near to God as their only help, and to strengthen and deepen their faith, though in some places it has thinned our ranks. Last Sunday four men from A-Deng-Bang, where the persecution began and was most severe, came to me for baptism. It was encouraging." MANITOBA'S REPLY.

Will Not Be Whipped Into Subjection-

Privy Council Warned. Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 8.-The declaration of an eastern newspaper that if Manitoba did not obey the order to restore Roman Catholic parochial schools it would be whipped into subjection by force of arms, has intensified the bitterness here. The Tribune, the organ of Premier Greenway, in an article headed "The Crisis Approaches,"

"Manitoba will not be whipped into subjection to that ridiculous aggregation which supposes it is governing the country. On the contrary, it proposes subjugating that aggregation. there be no misunderstanding, that if the Imperial Privy Council should at any time exceed its jurisdiction, and by doing so should injuriously affect the interest of Manitoba, their province may be counted upon not to question its jurisdiction. Manitoba is a truly loval, and not mock loyal, community True loyalty is not unreasoning subserviency, and true loyalty is not incompatible with resistance to the oppressive coercive restrictions or deprivation of constitutional rights."

The fair was subsidized by the Dominion Government.

Struck His Wife on the Forehead With a Plate.

The Murphy Home Has Not Been a Happy One.

The Husband Has Been Up Before for Assaulting His Wife-Committed for Trial-Other Police Court Chat.

With a wide, wide bandage tied about her head, and very faint and weak from loss of blood, Mrs. Maggie Murphy, of Queen street, appeared in the Police Court this morning to prosecute the charge of assault against her husband. Thomas Murphy. She was accompanied by her eldest child, a bright-looking girl of 13 years, and a neighbor, who has been caring for her in her trouble. Murphy was in the cage, and throughout was a very sullen spectator. The assault occurred on Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock, but according to Mrs. Murphy the trouble began to brew about midnight. Shortly before 12 o'clock she retired, and around 2 o'clock she was awakened by a noise in the bedroom. She got up, and went to the front room, but had no sooner reached a table in the center than she received a heavy blow on the forehead with a dinner plate. Murphy did not say a word to her. The children, fearful of receiving a whipping from their father, had run outside after the first noise.

When Mrs. Murphy got this far with her story she became very faint, and had to be given a chair next the magistrate. "What was the effect on the plate?" asked Crown Attorney Magee. "It was broken in several pieces," replied Mrs. Murphy. "The wounds bled profusely and caused great weakness." Mr. B. C. McCann, counsel for the risoner, questioned the woman about her habits, but she denied ever drinking, or striking or starting a quarrel with her husband. She had, however, gone into a saloon with him on Saturday nights and taken him home. The physician who attended Mrs. Murphy stated that there were four wounds-three on her forehead and one on her nose. One extended from the hair to the angle of the left eve. was crescent-shaped, two inches long, and penetrated to the skull. In fact, all three on the forehead did. The large wound may have a serious effect on the eyesight, and was liable to cause erysipelas.

James McKenna, who resides opposite the Murphy home, heard the first row about 12 o'clock, and saw the wo man and two children out in the yard. The second time he was awakened by loud yelling on his veranda, and on getting out of bed he found Mrs. Murphy, with blood streaming down her face, and her clothing saturated. She im wored him to go over to the house, but he declined to interfere with their family affairs, and brought her into his own house, where efforts were made to stop the flow of blood. It was use less, and a physician was called. The wounds were then sewed up. McKenna knew the Murphys had frequent quarrels, and of what he had seen of them he considered the husband the instigator. Murphy offered no defense, but elected preliminary trial. The magistrate glanced over his record, and found that of eighteen appearances in nine years. Murphy had thrice been charged with assault, his wife being the complainant once. That was in February, 1890. "Why," said the magistrate, "if they are going to live together, they will require a police officer in constant attendance at the home."

The prisoner was sent for trial. THE GENERAL GRIST.

The general grist was unusually heavy, but "quickness and dispatch" was the motto. Arthur Roote, a colored man, was charged with being drunk and disorderly at the Salyation Army Shelter. He had been living in the place since Feb. 10, and the offices said had been in the habit of coming for his supper after the closing hour Last night Roote came around late with two companions, and because he was refused his meal he began dancing around the street, and wanted to fight the captain. That was the captain's story and the magistrate had "$4 or 20 days" on the end of his tongue, when Roote wanted to go into the He flatly denied the statement of the officer, and, according to his story, was a model young man. The magistrate took the captain's word and let Boote go on suspended sentence. Roote is said to be a hard character. A letter was found on him from a chum in the Central, to which place it is claimed he (Roote) was sent for 20 months from Hamilton. The letter was handed to the magistrate, who understood it to have been found on another Roote had been discharged.

Wise hadn't a cent in his clothes. He claimed to have worked for a farmer up north for two months. He was not used right, and left so suddenly that he did not even wait to draw his wages. He was a farm student, having come from Kent, England, under the direction of the late Dr. Armstrong. He came to the city to see the doctor, and was greatly surprised to hear that he had died. Wise was discharged.

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION.

The Right to Make Drains and Levy As sessments for Them.

Mr. Justice McMahon has given judgment in the action Sombra vs. Lambton, tried without a jury at Samia, April 22, 1895, to retrain the defendants, the corporation of the township of Chatham, from proceeding under their bylaw, passed Feb. 27, 1894, to raise $4,742 80 to repair the "Whitebread" drain, and $2,102 76 to cover the costs and damages recovered in action in the Queen's Bench division by the plaintiffs against the defendants, in respect of the same drain; and on a motion referred to the trial judge for a mandamus to compel defendants to complete the "Whitebread" drain. The plaintiffs, without prejudice to their rights, appealed from the plan, etc., pursuant to the bylaw, and also asked that defendants be restrained from prosecuting the appeal. The learned judge holds that the "Whitehead" drain being still incompleted, as decided by the Supreme Court on appeal in the action in the Queen's Bench civision, under the Municipal Act lands in a drainage area cannot be assessed for repairs to a drain until such drain is completed; and directs defendants to complete the drain before Jan. 1, 1896; and perpetually enjoins the "plaintiffs from proceeding to assess, etc., under the bylaw in question, which involves restraining the defendants from proceeding before the referee with the appeal instituted by plaint-iffs." Plaintiffs, if they desire it, to have an account of moneys come to the hands of defendants to build the drain, and as to its expenditure. Costs of action and motion to plaintiffs.

LETTERS TO THE "ADVERTISER."

If you have a grievance to ventilate, informa-tion to give, a subject of public interest to dis-cuss, or a service to acknow edge, we will prin-it in this column, provided the name of the writer is attached to his or her communication for publication. Make it as brief as possible.

MR. BOWMAN AND THE INSPEC-

In a recent Free Press there is an account of an interview of Mr. Henderson, license inspector, by a reporter. Since which Mr. Henderson was called on and asked if he were correctly reported. He said that he did not know that what he said was for publication, and that he had been misrepresented, except in one statement. This statement he repeated: "That in his opinion the liquor law is better kept since the hour of closing has been changed from 10:27 to 11 o'clock." When asked how he had arrived at this opinion he said: "From observation and hearsay." Now, "from hearsay" is too silly to consider as a foundation for an opinion of a man in Mr. Henderson's position, so he was asked what he meant by "observation." "Well," he said. "I notice there are lights in fewer hotels after 11 than there were with 10:27 closing." Mr. Henderson was asked to show his record of convictions of breaches of the liquor law. I can hardly imagine the astonishment of the public when I tell them what it is. For five quarters prior to the change to 11 o'clock there were four convictions. In the first quarter since the change there were four convictions. That is, as many convictions in one quarter when 11 o'clock is the closing time, as in five quarters when the hour was 10:27. And yet Mr. Henderson thinks the law is now better observed. Of what earthly good are record and reason to an inspector of this sort? I am sorry to te obliged to hold Mr. Henderson up to public ridicule, but by expressing his opinion publicly he has made it necessary. My object in writing this letter is merely to put facts before the public that they may judge where the sympathies of our license inspector are. Faithfully yours, JAS. H. BOWMAN.

A PUBLIC SLAUGHTER HOUSE MUCH NEEDED.

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": The item in your local column on Saturday in regard to a proposed abattoir or public slaughter house was called to my attention. It seems to me, and I believe to a good many others, that something of this kind would really "fill a long-felt want."

While there is of course a great deal While there is of course a great deal of good, honest meat sold on our market, there is much, especially of veal, which is not fit for anything but crows. Every butcher knows that veal, to be fit for human food, should be, at the very youngest, four weeks old when slaughtered; but there is, I may say, every market day in summer veal sold on our market which is from one day to two or three weeks old. No one should get this stuff but the scavenger, but people buy it because it is cheap, and eat it because they know no bet-ter. Also some concienceless people dress for beef animals which have died by accidental choking, or other accident which unfits the meat for use, or even by disease. An expert butcher may recognize this, but an ordinary man in some cases would not. So the meat comes on the market and is sold -bought by somebody and eaten by Now if all meat were required to be inspected alive as well as dead, at one point to which all animals for slaughter were to be taken, such stuff as this could not be foisted upon an unsuspecting public. For my part, I am glad to see this movement, and wish it success. Yours, etc.,
GEO. F. MORRIS,

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": THE TEAMSTERS' PICNIC.

It was a source of satisfaction to the committee who have charge of the railroad teamsters' fifth annual demonstration to know that the city has at least two representatives who are capable of and appreciate the effort of energetic citizens who endeavor by such demonstrations as we are in the habit of holding, and to which citizens of all classes look forward to as the most enjoyable holiday in the year. They have only to glance back at our last grand celebration of 1894 to know that such a procession and pienic was not gotten up without a great deal of personal labor and expense, and which was carried out by sheer pluck, and not money, for if we had not been favored with fine weather, our bank account, which troubles Ald. Parnell so much, would have been a deficit. We might then have had to ask the city for a grant to enable us to meet our expenses, which we have not done up to the present time, as we consider that the civic holiday—the only holiday that is granted by the mayor for the citizens to celebrate as a city's holidayshould be supported by the city, and when demonstrations of this kind are got up on this day in a public park belonging to the city, the park should be so lit up, should occasion require it. for the proper carrying out of an evening programme, free of expense to those getting up the demonstration to the benefit of the city. We have had the support of the merchants and citizens in general up to the present, and will continue to have it as long as we centinue to get up the kind of celebrations such as we have in the past, even if we have to beg from door to door. It it a noteworthy fact, however, that neither Ald. Parnell nor Ald. Brener's names have appeared among the list of contributors. While on this subject, I might also state for the benefit of those who support us that making money for our own use is not our object. Our sole aim has been to get up celebrations each year that would keep the money and people in the city, and to prove to citizens that the railroad teamsters are capable of getting up and carrying out a demon-stration as good as that attempted by any others; and by having a small bank account we have been enabled to assist poor families and our railroad teamsters who have been sick, and we are ready to come to the front and assist in any charitable work. We have also an object in view, that when the time comes to make it known, will put aside any such ideas as those enter-tained by Ald. Parnell. Knowing that these few lines will be read with interest by the citizens who have supported us in the past, I remain, respectfully yours,
ALFRED F. WICKS,

London, Aug. 7, 1895.

CHICAGO'S BIG STEAL.

Immense Body of Water To Be Taken from the Lake.

All to Flush the Prairie City's Sewage Out of Ch cago River Into the Illinois River and Thence to the Mississippi-Interesting Facts by Mr. T. C. Keefer.

Mr. Thomas C. Keefer, C.E., has the following in the Montreal Witness: Chicago has been struggling for the last forty years with her drainage system. Her lake frontage is low, and the principal portion of the business section was originally drained by the Chicago River with its branches and forks, which are stagnant streams in dry weather. After much effort to flush these still water cesspools in the dry season by pumping water into their upper levels, it was determined to cut through the dividing ridge between Chicago and the Illinois River, and send the sewage into the latter. This was done in 1871, but it was soon found that the fall between this summit cut and Lake Michigan was so slight that when the lake was lowered by wind, the current was reversed and the sewage came back through the city and into the lake, supply. A BIG ENTERPRISE.

where it, as before, affected the water

Six years ago the city determined to make the canal through the dividing ridge so deep and so wide that it would maintain a constant flow from the valley of the St. Lawrence into that of the Mississippi. This work was commenced in 1892, and is now all under contract. It will be double the width of the Lachine Canal, and nearly double its depth, when fully enlarged, or 26 feet. It will be 28 miles long, and is estimated to cost about as many millons; or a million dollars per mile, the total excavations reaching 40,000,000 cubic yards. It is designed to handle the sewage of 3,000,000 people, and when the full dimensions are reached it will be capable of abstracting from the St. Lawrence 600,000 cubic feet of water per minute. This will be about 4 per cent of the low water flow of the Niagara River, and about 3 per cent of that of the St. Lawrence at Montreal.

NO FEDERAL AUTHORITY There is no authority for this diversion of the waters of the lakes except an act of the Illinois State Legislature. The only defense of it (besides that of necessity, which recognizes no law), is that "it is the accepted geological teaching that the great lakes at one time emptied into the Gulf of Mexico.

It is an accepted legal maxim that if you divert water from the channel of a river in order to utilize it for any purpose you must return it to the river again. This is done at Niagara Falls without any influence on the levels of the river where navigable. The diversion in such a case is sending the water through a useful channel to do its work on the wheels, instead of falling ornamentally over the cataracts.

AN ABSTRACTION. The Chicago enterprise is an abstraction, not a diversion, and is so looked upon by everyone out of Chicago. Engineers estimate a reduction in the lake levels, below Superior, from three or four to seven or eight inches, and the Federal Government has appointed a commission to ascertain the probable effect of Chicago's sewer upon the navigation If a permanent reduction of the lake levels is established, every harbor is affected, as well as the deepened channels in St. Mary's, Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, and the carrying capacity of the lake fleet will be diminished to the extent of perhaps millions of tons, and their earnings reduced at least a million of dollars each year. WILL BE CONTESTED Under these circumstances, although the matter is a fair subject for protest by Canada, little interest has been shown here, because there is a certainty that this "abstract right" will be tested without effort or expense upon ur part. Some in Chicago, as well as outside, have connected this big drainage ditch with a scheme for making Chicago an ocean port—because so far as it goes the ditch will be a magnificent ship canal-being wider than and as deep as the Suez and Manchester Canals; but its dimensions have been determined entirely by the flow required so to dilute the sewage of 3,000,000 that it may not become objectionable to the dwellers on the Illinois River. It would only make Chicago an ocean port via the Gulf of Mexico, and ocean steamers, except, perhaps, the smallest ones (fruit steamers from the Gulf, etc.), would not find it profitable to steam for 1,000 miles the current of the Mississippi, and then ascend the Illinois River nearly 300 miles, with about 500 feet lockages to reach Chicago. INJUNCTIONS AHEAD. Chicago may be assailed by injunction from the navigation interests of the harbors and shipping of other States. The charter of the State of Illinois may legalize any pollution of the waters in that estate, but if the dwellers on the Mississippi should scent an odor and a lawsuit in this gigantic sewer of so rich a city she may also be attacked from the rear as well as the front

MODERN APPLIANCES. The enormous quantities of excavation in so short a canal have given rise to the invention of new methods of handling the material—and to the employment of machines and power to a greater extent than elsewhere—resulting in a great reduction of the cost. Channelling machines put a smooth face on the rock sides of the canal; hydraulic dredges suck up all that can be made fluid enough and spout it over spoil banks. Air hoists are used to clear out the large rocks. Belt conveyors carry off earth as they do grain from a vessel. Steam shovels, of half a dozen patterns, fill cars which are sent over "cantilever conveyors." "bridge conveyors," and "incline coneyors," emptled and returned to place without manual labor.

Men do not object in the least to their wives, or sisters, or daughters, wearing "gym" suits for athletics, divided skirts or Turkish trousers for bicycling, or even for business, so long as the touch of femininity, of modesty, is never lost in the making of such costumes. Here is one that curred to the great planist Paderewski in England. He received a polite note from an invalid lady, asking him if he would spare the time to play her one piece during the afternoon, as her health would not permit of her going to any crowded concert room, the letter closing with an offer of half a guinea reward.

Paderewski replied with an invitation to call at his hotel, appointing an hour when he would receive her. The lady called, and Paderewski, after pleasantly greeting her. sat before his piano, and played a prelude, a nocturne of Chopin, and Songs Without Words. The little impromptu concert over, the lady rose, thanked the virtuoso most graciously, and extended her hand to bid him adieu, slipping the promised half guinea into his palm. "Ah, what is this?" Paderewski in-"Why," she said sweetly, "it's the half guinea I promised you.' "Now, I really believe," he answered, with a smile, "that I shall be able to get to the next town without it." And pleasantly returning the coin, he bowed the lady out.-Harper's Monthly.

sticks, inlaid with gold. A medallion, painted on satin, occupies a center position, and from it radiate points of spangles.

Much the same idea is carried out in white gauze, with ivory sticks, some of the fans having three painted medallions, while others are made entirely of satin, painted in water colors.

These fans are rather costly, and very pretty imitations of them in paper may be obtained.

Paper fans come in large varieties, and almost any gown can bematched in color. Unfortunately, the manufacturers have not yet hit upon using perfumed wood for the sticks, which would add greatly to their popularity and price. Gold bronzes are used with good effect on the fans, but those of all gilt should be avoided, as their wearing capacity is not good. One fan there is which will never lose favor. To a business man or woman, on a hot day, when work must be done, what is the greatest blessing? Why, the dear, old-fashioned, palm-leaf fan.

The summer girl may cast aside her old favorites, and she herself may make way for a new summer girl, but never will the man of business be disloyal to his old friend, the palm-leaf fan.

Fire Place Decoration.

lre-place may be months when a fire is not desired. There are the Japanese umbrella and the tall vase with its sheaf of peacock plumes and the jar of growing plants. A new idea is to insert a mirror in the fire-place; an especially satisfactory plan, as it closes the opening completely, and offers no chance whatever for the collection of dust and dirt. The looking-glass may be inserted into a wooden frame about six inches wide, and this frame may have a | ply? few little brackets at each side suitable for tiny fern pots or similar ornaments. Plants are beautiful wherever they may be, and if there is something to be said against placing them in the earth, there is also the advantage of securing a place where moisture will do no mischief. If it is thought necessary to preserve a current of air, muslin may be stretched into the already mentioned frame instead of glass. There are some handsome art muslins, with Japanese designs, in finely shaded colors enriched with a great deal of gold, which would make a good background for any decomation. Much of the dust from the chimney would be intercepted, and art muslins are certainly preferable to the tawdry paper and tinsel screens which have hitherto been in favor. Amongst the best suggestions that have been put forward are wooden screens, fitted with shelves and brackets to hold small books, bric-a-brac or photographs enameled in white or some pale color. Another satisfactory fire-screen is composed of either four or six large red autotypes taken from old pictures, framed in a wooden screen, which may be enamelled in black or white. It suffers little comparatively from dust, being glazed, and may be useful in winter for other purposes. Bamboo screens of various patterns may be fitted with hooks for attaching small baskets filled with flowers, foliage and grasses. Bamboo screens painted with gold or other metallic colors to match the gathered or plaited silk with which they are filled in, look fresh; they are made with one, two or three folds; the latter, which is much the prettiest design, has a shelf for plants in the middle; for whatever feeling may exist against their use, in most cases flowers play a prominent part in fire-place decora-

A Beautiful Tea Gown. But I admired the tea gowns that she showed me last, most of all. As the model slipped it on, Madame smiled quietly, and said, "You will be interested in this, I am sure."

And what woman could help loving it? Its foundation was blue taffeta, a delicate shade, with just a suspicion of robin's egg in the tint-a suspicion that was softened some by the beautiful lace that enveloped the whole-a lace in the finest quality of application. The ribbon was exquisite, also-heavy white satin, with each edge closely run with small gold spangles. Bows of this ribbon were most effective; and a small one was shortly looped at the neck, in the back and had streamers to the feet. A thin ruffle of lace, deep, encircled each shoulder; and a shorter one trimmed the

Down the front the lace fell very full. The spangled ribbons started each side of the belt, were caught down with small bows, half way from the front, and then fell in long ends. The sleeves of the blue taffeta only-a rather peculiar puff, shirred in at the side, then shaping off into a plain lower sleeve that flared at the cuff.

London's Waterworks

Reported Upon by Engineer Keating, of Toronto.

Four Pertinent Questions Fully Answered.

Extra Hydrants To Be Placed in the Heart of the City-New Mains, To Be Laid.

The water commissioners met in the City Hall yesterday afternoon and transacted a heavy grist of business. A There are many ways by which an open long report from Engineer Keating, of Toronto, who inspected the London waterworks on July 5 and 6, was presented. Mr. Keating at the inspection had four questions submitted to him by the commissioners. They were:

> Colville springs, Griffiths' springs and water on the north side of the river; and if taken in what remedy will they bring about and what increase of sup-2. Could any scheme of storage be adopted with the available water sup-

1. Is it advisable to take in the lower ply on the north and south sides of the river to answer permanently or for any length of time?

3. What is the best means of taking the lower Colville water to the pumping station? 4. What is the best manner of permanently increasing the water supply and maintaining pressure in the city? In answer to the first question Mr. Keating said he had measured the quantity flowing from the different springs mentioned, and found they discharged the following amounts every day: On the south side—The large Col-ville springs, 318,000 gallons; small Colville springs, 80,000 gallons; Griffiths springs, 210,000 gallons; a total of 608,-000 gallons. On the north side a spring east of Ward's was good for 27,000 gallons; Murphy's spring yielded 30,000 gallons, and Thompson's 23,000 gallons, a total of 80,000 gallons. It would be advisable to take in the Colville and Griffiths' springs. At the time of the inspection, however, the upper Colville springs were being utilized, so that the only additional visible supply from that quarter over what the city was re-ceiving in the early part of July would be about 290,000 gallons per day. Owing to the very limited capacity and the apparent improbability of getting any furher increased supply from that sec-tion, Mr. Keating considered it inadvisable to take in the north side springs. As to the remedy from taking in the Colville and Griffith springs, the amount was so small that it could scarcely be called a remedy. Additional storage could be obtained to the best advantage by enlarging and deepening the lower collecting pond, the capacity of which could be increased to 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 gallons, but the quantity available was so limited-not exceeding in the dry weather from 3,-000,000 to 3,500,000 gallons a day—that it would not appear practicable to adopt any scheme of storage. The question of permanently increasing the supply and maintaining the pressure in the city was one which would necessitate a thorough examination of the country and its surroundings, involving considerable expense in acquiring data and information to arrive at definite conclusions. The returns from May 21 to July 1-41 days-showed that the average amount pumped daily was 2,-759,035, while the estimated average consumption was 2,768,943 gallons. Thus the total available supply was consumed, and Mr. Keating considered that the only other source to which the citizens could look for an increased supply would be one branch or other of the river. "Under all the circumstances," concluded the engineer, "it seems to me that the money proposed to be expended in laying a new 18-inch main from the pumping station and reservoir to the city (the estimate for which was placed at from $68,000 to $78,-000) could be applied to better advantage in duplicating the system as outlined, as some such plan will in all probability have to be adopted before many years.' The report was ordered printed in the annual statement.

PROVIDING FOR FUTURE WANTS. Engineer Moore reported on the recent suggestion of the Board of Works that the water mains on Dundas and Richmond streets be enlarged to save tearing up the asphalt pavement. Mr. Moore thought it would be advisable to lay 6-inch mains on Dundas, from Wellington to Ridout street, and on Richmond, from York to Fullarton street, the mains to be connected with WHISKARD'S

> Total$3 380 The suggestion of the engineer gave rise to a long discussion on the probable future requirements of the city in the district named for fire and other purposes. The board had not the necessary funds to carry out the work, and to save expense, and convinced that it would meet the requirements, the board decided to put in extra hydrants on the pipes on King street, from Ridout to Wellington, and on Queen's avenue and Carling, between the same streets, thus relieving the Dundas street mains. Extra hydrants will also be put on

Richmond street. A LITTLE GENERAL.

Mr. Charles Lilley appeared before the board and asked that he be allowed reparte of $5 charged him for service on a small lawn on which he had paid no rates. He had used the service only once, and that for between ten and fif-teen minutes, and he considered the assessment an injustice. Mr. Lillay brought his tenant, Mr. Smith, to corroborate the statements.

"But you used it in a very bad season," said Mr. Cowan. Mr. Lilley-Why, I know of hydrants where more water is wasted in half an hour than I used in the whole time. "That is another wrong," said Mr. Judd, "and two wrongs will not make a right." Action deferred.

Mr. W. H. Brown, of Elias street, East London, applied for a half-inch service on his premises, instead of a three-eighth as at present. Chairman Cowan told Mr. Brown that there were over 2,000 three-eighth inch services in the city now, and if the commissioners changed one the rest of the consumers would want the same change. The request was granted, on Mr. Brown agreeing to pay the expenses.

WILL NOT STAND IT. Mr. T. H. Purdom asked for a refund of a rate charged him for a bath. Inspector Plastow's report stated that the bath was not connected with city water, but a motor had been attached to the main and used for pumping soft water into it. This fact caused a great deal of talk, as Chairman Cowan said it required two pails of city water to pump one of soft with a motor. Many of them were in use, and as a large quantity of city water is used on them, and no rates paid, a report will be received from the inspector. One resident residing on Richmond street north has even gone so far as to detach the service to his closet, attach a soft water pipe, and use the city water through the motor to pump the soft.

"But we cannot allow that," said one of the commissioners in amazement. That is a fraud, and we will not stand it. Set the inspector on the track." Agreed.

NEW MAINS TO BE LAID. The attention of the street railway cmpany was recently called to the fact that one of their iron poles had been erected so close to the Parislan Laundry main that the service could not at any time be shut off. Manager Carr replied that the location of the pole had been named by the city enrineer, and any change would have to be made at the city's expense.

The letter drew some very sarcastic remarks about the alleged "jewishness" of the company, and their "owning the city." Chairman Cowan was willing to dump the pole in the middle of the road. It will be removed, but just far enough to meet the requirements of the Re free transportation for water-works inspectors, Mr. Carr said the bylaw did not call upon the company to carry the inspectors until eighteen months from June 6 last. However, they would carry them, provided the officials were furnished with badges. The Western Fair application for water service during the exhibition wa referred to the engineer. The Aged People's Home objected to alleged excessive rates, and laid the trouble to the meter. This had been fixed, and the engineer and secretary were appointed to name the rebate to which the home is entitled.

Engineer Moore recommended the placing of a 4-inch main on Thornton avenue, between Oxford and St. James. at a cost of $400, and a 4-inch main on Edward street, south from Langarth, to cost $150. Mr. Moore also recommended several repairs at Engineer McLean's house. All were adopted.

CANADIAN FRUIT FOR ENGLAND. California fruit growers have set on foot a movement to regularly offer fresh fruit in the British markets. The shipments are made in refrigerating cars across the American continent to New York, where they are shipped in refrigerators to old world ports and regularly sold by auction. Some idea of the magnitude of the business may gleaned from the fact that fewer than ten carloads were shipped to England by the Paris on her last voyage. Of a previous consignment, comprising 1,550 cases of pears and 270 cases of peaches, sold by auction this week at Covent Garden, London, the cable sends us some interesting particulars. Although the greater part of the fruit was in bad order, being considerably overripe, the prices realized were slightly in advance of those obtained at last week's sales. In many cases the plums brought 6 shillings to 8 shillings, but one-eighth of the entire lot being too rotton to sell, the average was brought to 5 shillings and 9 pence. The fancy grade fetched

15 shillings. Peaches ranged from 5 shillings to 6 shillings and 4 pence, some of them selling as low as 2 shillings and 6 pence, owing to their bad condition.

The consignment of pears was a great disappointment. They were anything but uniform in quality. The average price fetched was 11 shillings and 6 pence. The auctioneer said that all of the pears would have brought fancy prices if they had been in good condition. This, he said, was proved by the fact that French pears, 36 in a case, perfectly green, sold at 7 shillings a case, and smaller fruit, 48 to the case, and equally green, fetched 6 shillings and 6 pence. According to the prices brought at the French sale, the California pears, he believes, would have brought from 20 shillings to 25 shillings a case if they had been green. It is apparent from this statement that fruit cannot be exported to Great Britain to successfully compete with the supplies from the European continent unless it is of prime quality, and care is taken to have it reach buyers before it becomes too ripe. We in Canada are about to try the experiment of sending the earliest Canadian fruits to the British markets, by the aid of refrigerator cars and refrigerators on board ship. It should be less difficult for us to market our fruit in good condition, for the distance between the Western Ontario grape, peach and pear gardens and Great Britain is very much less than the distance between California and the old land.

If there is anything in the new process for the preservation of green fruit during railway transit, invented by a Californian, it will be well for our fruit exporters and railway men to profit by its adoption, It consists in sterilizing the air in the car containing the fruit, and is said to be more economical than the present refrigerating system, and much more successful. Ordinary cars can be fitted with the apparatus for the process at small expense, while the cost of the process Atself is said to be comparatively nothing compared with the refrigerating process. Our fruit will necessarily not reach the British markets in time to successfully compete with early Callfornia and French fruits, but it should nevertheless have a fair chance for sale at a moderate return to the shippers if it is marketed in good condition. There should be an effort on the part of everyone affected to make the best possible beginning. Warranted prejudice at the start might seriously retard the growth of a good export trade in our really excellent fruits.

THEY SINK DEEPER.

The Hamilton Spectator (Conservative) is moved to remark that the farther the Dominion Government goes in the matter of the Manitoba school question "the lower it sinks in the mire." The Spectator and the Free Press in this matter are at loggerheads. As we have pointed out, the proper course of the Government was to simply transmit the judgment of the British Privy Council to the Manitoba Legislature, giving that body full opportunity to respect that judgment. Instead of that, the Ministers issued their blundering dictatorial "remedial order," in which they commanded Manitoba to so beyond what the British authorities deemed requisite. Now the men in power are trying, without withdrawing that order, to get away from the effects of it.

Now it falls to Mr. Parkin to weld Upper Canada College into one harmonious whole.-Toronto Globe.

It is a big job, for the Upper Canada College, being a class institution, is almost certain, in course of time, to get into an harmonious hole, if it is not already in it.

The Christian Guardian prints the following suggestive paragraph, written by the operator of a linotype machine, such as is used in the "Advertiser" office, which not only the men of God, but the heathen who may contribute to the press may well ponder over and profit by: "The Linotype is a great machine. You can set almost any kind of matter on it. from a sermon to a divorce case, and the machine doesn't kick about it, if you have good copy; but it does object to poor copy, especially if it is written by a preacher. That the preachers are notoriously guilty of producing bad copy is the sentiment of ninety-nine printers out of every one hundred. If the men of God would bear this in mind when they write for publication, they would confer a great favor on the poor printer, and would erhaps gain a convert once in a while from the ranks of those who may need salvation as badly as almost any class of men they ever tried to convert."

When the electric railway is run up and down the side roads of the country, and the rural population are able to have speedy communication with the city, the hundreds of progressive farmers who now read their daily newspapers will be turned into thousands. Meanwhile, a large section of the rural population are contented with a first-class weekly newspaper, such as is the "Western Advertiser," our weekly edition. It is issued today, and before many hours have elapsed it will have a warm welcome in many thousand Western Ontario homes. In its sixteen large pages, with their 96 columns of live news, stories and general gossip from home and abroad, the reader has a most attractive budget.

THE QUEEN AN UNLICENSED

LIQUOR-SELLER. An extraordinary decision was given by Police Magistrate Denison at the Toronto Police Court yesterday. If it is in accordance with law, the law cannot too soon be changed. Two sergeants of the Toronto Military School were charged with selling intoxicating liquors without a license. Detectives swore that they were given lager and brandy in the barracks. This was denied by the sergeant in charge, but even if it had not been denied Col. Denison would have acquitted the accused. The magistrate pointed out that the sergeant in charge of the mess is there temporarily, and is not the occupant, but is placed there simply to maintain order, and if liquor was sold in his absence it would not be right to send him to jail for three months. Technically the real occupant is her Majesty the Queen, explained Col. Denison, and the law clearly lays it down that the occupant is responsible. This is a farcical condition of affairs. How can the Queen be a liquor seller in Canada for the military or for any-

Our view is that if the military surgeon orders intoxicating liquors as a medicine, the supply should be so served; but if a Canadian soldier wants liquor as a beverage he should obtain it, like any other citizen, from a duly licensed establishment. It is wrong to set up a bar in every military school in the country, and it is doubly wrong to do so in the name of the Queen.

THE BICYCLE AS AN ASTHMA

When a person first takes to cycling he is troubled with shortness of breath, his heart beats uncomfortably, and his legs get tired, but after effect a cure. some training these discomforts disappear. Why should not people liable to attacks of asthma also train their respiration by such a kind of exercise -of course on condition of the heart and lungs being in perfect health? Cy-cling exercise first of all increases the depth of breathing, and that without fatigue, as the respiratory movements are automatic. At the same time it will accustom the rider instinctively to take at each respiration the volume of air required to aerate the blood and to eliminate a fixed proportion of carbonic acid, leaving in the circulation the precise amount compatible with health .-London Daily News.

SEND IRON TO ENGLAND. The shipment of 1,000 tons of iron from Youngstown, Ohio., to England, is one of the first movements in a current of trade that promises to assume in a short time very large proportions. We have not the least doubt that iron can be produced at lower prices in America than in any other part of the world, and we should make the same statement concerning steel if it were not for the limitations upon the easy procurement of needed raw materials that the customs tariff has thrown and still throws in the way of the natural development of this industry. It seems something like sending coals to Newcastle to send iron of any kind to England; but if we cannot find a market for it there, we can elsewhere, where tariff prohibitions do not intervene, and it should not be forgotten that the enormous production of iron in England, combined with the need of having a cheap and large supply of coal, has caused a partial exhaustion of supply, and a relative advance in the cost of manufacture. In this country, on the other hand, the last few years have tended to bring to the front new sources of supply, while modern inven-tion has gone far toward cheapening the process of manufacture. Our friends who are claiming that this is merely the result of the protective tariff should now admit-for discussion on that head has become academicthat protection is no longer needed Price 25 Cents Per Box. THE WHEEL.

IT CAPPED THEM ALL. Of all the club runs and social evenings indulged in by the London Bicycle Club since its inception a few years ago, none were more enjoyable than the time which the boys and "girls" spent last night. Col. and Mrs. Leys, of South London, were the entertainers, and to give all guests a good time no NATIONAL LEAGUE SCORES-WEDNESpains were spared. Besides the members of the club, about 75 or 100 of No. 6 ward's leading residents were invited. The club members fell in at the rooms on Dundas street. There were about 150 wheels all told, including twenty ladies, and as they proceeded to Col. Leys' residence on Elmwood avenue, they let every person know that they belonged to "The greatest club west of Toronto—the L-O-N-D-O-N-S." Nobody atempted to deny it, and the wheelmen went on their way rejoicing. The always beautiful surroundings of the colonel's home presented a gorgeous spectacle. The trees and shrubs in every quarter were decked with pretty Chinese lanterns and other decorations, and it all tended to make the evening thoroughly enjoyable. After wheels had been stacked, the riders went straight in for having a right royal time. Some went one direction, some went another, and all inhaled with delight the sweet music by the full band of the London Musical Society, under the leadership of Mr. Fred L. Evans. The house was thrown open for dancing, and while some took that means of enjoying themselves, others strolled about the illuminated grounds. Then supper for the 250 guests was spread on tables on the lawn. There was plenty and to spare. At midnight the wheelmen lined up and gave three hearty cheers and a tiger for the host and hostess. Col. Leys was compelled to respond, and in appropriate terms thanked the boys for their attendance and gladdened their hearts by expressing the hope that it would not be the last privilege he would have of entertaining them. The band played, and the crowd sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the riders went home more than delighted with the evening they had spent with Col. and Mrs., the Misses, and Messrs. Great Improvement in the Health of a Well-Known Peterboro Lady. Peterboro, Aug. 5.-General satisfaction is expressed here at the greatly improved condition of health of Mrs. K. Stephens, the well known music teacher of this town. Her friends have been much exercised over her condition for a long time, and a number of remedies have been tried during the ten years she has been a martyr to a complication of complaints, which recently became severe. She suffered frightfully with pains in the back, nervous prostration and swelling of the limbs. She has been taking the new remedy for kidney troubles, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has already experi-enced the most beneficial results.

If clergymen, lawyers, scholars, merchants, or any one with over-worked and tired brain would use Dr. Story's Five-Minute Headache Cure, they would be relieved wonderfully. GIBBONS TO RETURN.

Will Bring a Message From the Pope to America.

New York, Aug. 8 .- Cardinal Gibbons has engaged passage on the Campania, which is due at this port on Aug 27. Since his departure from Baltimore, seven or eight weeks ago, he has spent most of his vacation in Rome, but he has also visited his parents in Ireland. While in Rome he was very often in conference with the Pope, and on this account it was extensively rumored that Leo XIII., now an old man in declining health, looked upon him as a probable successor and desired that the American Cardinal should take up his residence per manently in the Eternal City. Cardinal Gibbons' return to America will have the effect of putting a stop to those and sensational reports of a similar nature. The Cardinal will bring a message from the Pope.

CALIFORNIA'S USEFUL BUGS.

Farmers Wondering What They Will Eat When the Parasites Are Gone.

California is having great luck in her experiments of importing insects to prey on and exterminate the various parasitic pests that have caused so much damage to vines and orchards; but a few cautious people are the least bit worried over the voracious appetites of the imported insects and the pos sibilities of what they may turn to feed upon when all the parasites to their taste have disappeared.

The golden-winged lady bird, imported from Australia a few years ago to eat up the cottony cushion scale, has completed that work in most of the southern counties of the State and has turned its attention and appetite to the woolly aphis on the apple trees. Another beetle, imported to destroy the red and black scale, has also cleared the parasites from several counties, and lately has appeared in great numbers in the cornfields. Just what its mission there is has not been accurately determined. The experts believe, and the farmers hope, that it will destroy the larvæ of a destructive bug which eats and spoils much of the sweet corn raised on the coast. What the farmers are beginning to pray fearfully is that the little beetles may not develop vegetarian appetites; and they are also beginning to wonder what the constantly increasing hordes of the now beneficial insects will live on when their natural pray is exterminated. They hope they will contract consumption or some other convenient disease, and reason that doubtless nature will kindly fix up the matter satisfactorily. Some of them bear in mind the fact that the mongoose was imported into the island of Jamaica to kill off the rats which ate up the sugar cane, but now the mongoose has eaten up almost every living thing in the island less than a lamb in size, and the Government would give a year's revenue to be rid of the pest.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

Aug. 1, in the beautiful grove of Dr. Robson, Vanneck. An invitation was sent the Ailsa Craig club, and about 16 or 18 wheelmen, including ladies and gentlemen, arrived and enjoyed the pleasures of playing football, lawn tennis, croquet and other games. At 5 o'clock about 100 guests sat down to an excellent tea provided by the ladies of the vicinity. After tea about 30 wheelmen enjoyed a ride to Ilderton and then to Denfield. The pleasures of the afternoon are due to kindness of the excellent host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. Robson. About a dozen ladies took part in the run.

SILVER BALL PLAY. At St. Ives, England, a feast is held on the nearest Sunday to Candlemas, and on the following Monday the silver ball is thrown. This ball is kept in custody of the mayor, but on this particular day he brings it out and throws it to the young men, who toss it to one another until they are tired, and then it is returned to the mayor.-Notes and Queries.

SUMMER COMES

With the flowers and sunshine. Birds pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching corns will remove every semblance of comfort, make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke cloudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sun-shine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in 24 hours. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the best.

THE WEATHER TO-DAY Fair and warm.

WONDERFUL BARGAINS

The next lot we are selling at $2. In this lot some are worth from $5 to $10-none less than $5.

The third lot is still more attractive at $3. In it are Jackets worth all the way from $5 75 to $20-none less than $5 75.

Every one of these jackets must be sold within a few days. They have been placed on the tables to clear and at these very low prices they are bound to sell. They are and medium cloths, suitable Port. for summer evenings and early fall. Many of them are lined with silk and all are really worth a great deal more than we are asking.

We would like our best customers to see these-those who spend all their money with us. It's a great chance but those who come first, no matter who they are, will have first choice, and first choice means a great deal in this case.

BARNUM'S WIDOW WEDS.

The Great Circus Man's Widow Marries a Greek,

Who is Worth $2,000,000-A Love Match.

New York, N. Y. Aug. 8.-Mrs. P. T. Barnum was married yesterday to Demetri Callias Bey, at the Greek Church, Agia Trias. A civil service was first performed. The religious ceremony was conducted by the Greek priest Paisios Ferentine, of the Fifty Third Street Church. The bride was attired in a Worth gown of dark blue silk. The bridesmaids were Miss Carrie Leigh and Miss May Read, both of Bridgeport, Conn. Benjamin Fish, one of the executors of the Barnum estate and a cousin, and Mrs. Barnum, was also present. The bridegroom was accompanied by his best man, Demetri Bey. Also present were the Spanish consul, the Greek consul and the Turkish consul. Immediately after the ceremony there was a breakfast at Delmonico's. Mr. and Mrs. Demetri Callias Bey are to pass a couple of days at Bridgeport before sailing Saturday for Paris. This is necessary because of the bride's determination to part with Marina, the estate just outside of Bridgeport. There has always been great curiosity as to the age of the bride. In the certificate she is named as Nancy Barnum, age 45, and the bridegroom is set down at 47. The history of the courtship is interesting from the fact that the widow of P. T. Barnum met her husband in Cairo, Egypt, a year and a half ago upon her first trip to the East after the death of her first husband. She was introduced to Demetri Callias Bey by the American consul at the time the latter presented Mrs. Barnum a mummy for the historical society of this city. It was love at first sight. Callias Bey hails from Constantinople, but his fortune is in large olive plantations on the island of Mettia, in the Grecian archipelligo. He is worth something over $2,000,000, therefore it cannot be said that the handsome Greek wooed Mrs. The Ilderton Bicycle Club held their Barnum for her money-it was rather for first meet of the season on Thursday, her self. During Mrs. Barnum's last trip abroad Mr. Callias Bey visited Marina. He was pleased with the place and would have been contented to reside there but for the fact that a bronze statue of heroic size of the late P. T. Barnum is placed in the park directly in front of the house. The statue cannot be removed, as it belongs to the city of Bridgeport, and therefore Mrs. Barnum decided to sell the place and go abroad.

Under Mr. Barnum's will his widow inherited besides Marina, which cost $300,-000, an annuity of $40,000 and other property amounting to $1,000,000.

FOR HER WOUNDED HEART.

An Elgin County Woman, Aged 67, Wants $5,000 Balm.

St. Thomas, Aug. 8.-Some time ago a Malahide lady, a widow, some 67 years of age, through her solicitor, Mr. N. H. Mc-Intosh, of Aylmer, entered an action to recover $5,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage against a wealthy Yarmouth farmer, who is 78 years of age. It was expected that the case would come up for trial at the approaching Elgin Assizes, but nothing further has been done, and the case will not likely be ready for trial at that time. Both because of the age of the parties, their prominence, and the large amount of damages claimed, the case promises to prove an especially interesting one.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett, Hopkins Company.

Chicago, Aug. 8 .- Too many statistics and not enough orders based on the statistics is what seems to ail the mardemonstrated that It can be ket. wheat is cheap at $1, but when it is offered at 67c not one trader in ten can be induced to touch it. There is so little trade that the bears find little opposition. If Europe should take our grain in liberal quantities it would doubtless bring in the public, and there would be a renewal of the speculative activity that prevailed in April and May, but at this writing no fresh export business has been reported from the seaboard. About 150,000 bu has been worked here for shipment, the price rallying 1-2c in consequence, but the market soon turned weak again. The news is as bullish as could be asked for, but the fact that the market does not respond is taken to indicate that nothing can bull it at the present. When the short interest becomes unwieldy and anxious to cover, we may yet have another violent upheaval. Corn and Oats-The options have shown some strength, but Sept. corn has been very weak, due in part, it is claimed, to the failure of a Boston house, and the sale of their long stuff. Provisions-A better feeling has prevailed, and prices have worked upward on a light business. Chicage, Aug. 8.—Leaders in the corn trade are predicting that the trade is near a crisis in old crop months. It is well enough to depress the May price in face of the growing crop, but to force the September below 40c, with cash sales reaching half a million a day, and such an export demand as exists at present, is a proceeding that will be disastrous to all who short the market. The following, compiled by local staticians, is about the wheat situation: There is an estimated shortage in English, French and Russian crops compared with last year of 95,000,000 to 143,000,000 bushels. The India crop is reported to be 32,000,000 bushels short. Argentine is known to have had a short crop. Australia has had about a three-quarter crop. The United States will be short from 50,000,000 to 100,000,-000 bushels. The amount in store and afloat for Europe is about the same as a year ago—83,000,000 bushels. The American visible is 21,000,000 bushels less and invisible perhaps 30,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. The Chicago market is relatively 5c to 6c below other winter wheat markets, compared with a year ago.

Davis, the statistician, estimates the world's available wheat for the current year to be 400,000,000 bushels short of last year.

at Glencoe for pulling a revolver on G. T. R. Constable Bradley, was arraigned before Judge Edward Elliott this morning. He was willing to plead guilty to carrying concealed weapons, but three charges are lodged against him-carrying concealed weapons, drawing a revolver with intent to shoot, and attempting grevious bodily harm. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried on Saturday. Ballard is a Southern cowboy. NOT ENOUGH WAGES.

A couple of months ago several C. P. R. drivers and firemen were transferred from London to Toronto. Work has been dull in Toronto lately and Drivers George Blencoe, Albert Phillips, John Gilmour, with Firemen Atkinson and Grigg (of the transferred men) accepted positions on the construction trains of the T. H. and B. Drivers on C. P. R. construction trains receive $3 50 a day, but the contractors on the T. H. and B. can get all they want for $2. The C. P. R. men refused to work for the wages and returned to Toronto.

MONKEY SHOWED FIGHT. A monkey with half of his tail cut off. adorns a Richmond street barber shop window. The end of the curtailed caudal appendage is red and raw, and as the monkey has a carpet of sawdust it keeps her pretty busy picking off the pieces of wood. It is large and strong, and when a colored youth was bringing it across the market this morning, it turned on him. The monkey showed fight and the man showed fright. He dropped the chain, and the monkey scampered away across the market enjoying her freedom immensely. She tried to climb to the top of the rear of a shop but was recaptured. The animal is constantly attempting to bite through the chain that binds her.

DESERTED AND DIED. A poor little waif died out at the Salvation Army Rescue Home yesterday and one young woman may be conscious stricken when she hears of the death of her child. After the Army people had seen her through her trouble and cared for her when sick, the girl repaid their kindness by deserting the Although in kind hands the child missed its mother and yesterday it breathed its last after a short six months of life. Today the women of the home applied to the city officials to bury the child and the interment will be at the expense of the city. The baby's name was registered as Roy Ostrander, and the mother came to London from a neighboring town when she found herself in trouble. AN ARMY EXPERIMENT.

Brigadier Margetts reports the following Salvation Army transfers: Ensign Gale, to leave Windsor and go to Grand Forks, N. D.; Ensign Myles, St. Catharines, to succeed him. The work of sending Canadian officers to the United States is new. Lately, as an experiment, the Salvation Army of Canada assumed control of a section of the army in Dakota, and now the corps in that far away state is managed in Ontario and controlled by the officers here. The Salvation Army recognizes no boundary lines and if the experiment is successful it may lead to quite a change in the government of districts hinging on the border. So far the only antagonism shown has been the popu lar aversion to foreign control. AN UNSAFE HALL.

On Monday night the council granted the use of the East End Hall on labor day to Mr. Hugh Johnston for the purposes of a dance. Some remarks were made then about the hall being unsafe, and since that time the engineer has been asked to report upon it. - He has done so and has again declared that the building is not fit to stand the strain of this morning. The latter explained matters as they stood, but Mr. Johnston intimated that the Trades and Labor people had interfered so that they would not have competition. This was denied by the mayor, and the hall will not be used on September 2.

Britain Must Take "Swift and Deadly Vengeance"—The Consul's Body Guard.

London, Aug. 8.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette, from Shanghai says that further and reliable news of an alarming nature has been received there. It is stated that fanatical outbreaks against the Christians have occurred at Ching-Chow, a sea port of the province of Fo-Kien and at Hupeh, Taiping and An-Hui. These outbreaks, it is added, are not merely the work of Vegetarians; but, they are said to be organized and carried on by the Chinese officials. The extent of the damage done, it appears, is not yet known; but the foreigners are reported to have escaped. Owing to the unsettled state of the Province, 200 Sikhs, reliable British Indian troops, from Hong Kong, will escort the British consul from Foo Chow to Ku Cheng, where the consul will conduct an inquiry into the recent outrages. In conclusion, the Shanghai correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette expresses the opinion that further outrages are inevitable unless Great Britain "takes swift and deadly ven-

Hong Kong cables to the Associated Press last night, announce that the British and American missions at Fat-Shan, near Canton, were attacked yesterday afternoon by a large and infuriated mob, which demolished the hospitals and caused some of the missionaries to flee to Shameen. It is stated that the Wesleyan mission has one of the most important medical missions in China at Fat-Shan. The hospital and station are under the charge of Dr. Wanyon, who has just arrived here after a perilous overland journey, during which he was arrested in Armenia as a spy. The rest of the mission staff of the Wesleyan mission at Fat-Shan are Chinese. They were attacked a few years ago, upon which occasion a missionary was killed.

PROMPT PUNISHMENT DEMANDED. SURED. Hong Kong, Aug. 8 .- At a public indignation meeting, just held here, resolutions were passed expressing anger at the supposed connivance of the Chinese Government in the Ku Cheng massacres, and disgust at the apathy and Indifference of the British Government in failing to recognize the gravity of the situation. Those present at the meeting further declared that money compensation for such outrages is wholly inadequate, and that swift and stern action is required.

AN OLD HORSE THIEF.

W. B. Chisholm is Again Behind the Bars-Stole a Horse and Buggy from Oneida.

W. B. Chisholm, one of the oldest horse thieves known to the authorities here, is again reposing behind the bars of the county

He is to answer this time to the theft of a horse belonging to Abraham C. Cornelius and a rig belonging to Rev. C. W. Vollick. The theft occurred only a few nights ago, and High Constable Schram was notified. Notices were sent out and Tilsonburg's chief of police nailed the man, horse and rig there on Wednesday. County Constable Luke Jeffrey went to Tilsonburg this morning and brought Chisholm to jail. A good many years have elapsed since Chisholm was here before. He is upwards of 65 years old, very badly crippled, but in spite of the great physical change he was recognized by Mr. Schram. "Are you ever going to stop stealing horses?" was asked of Chisholm.

"No, I can't stop it and what is more cannot get away with them as I used to, replied the prisoner. The buggy Chisholm had stolen from Oneida was traded to a farmer about fifteen miles from Tilsonburg, and Chisholm received $8 to boot. It was afterwards recovered and with the horse returned to its owners. The catch is considered a good one. Chisholm comes up in a week before Squire Lacey.

The Secret Out.

Be patient; it is a hard story I have to tell and I must tell it in my own way. The eccentricities of Mrs. Gretorex, and the pride which she had doubtless been told I possessed, are her excuses, probably, for the underhand course she took in the matter. If her mother—I allude to Mrs. Gretorex-had responded to her as she ought when asked if it were too late for her to break her engagement with me. or if I had shown her even the beginning of that interest in her own welfare which I feel now, she might have been tempted to reveal the truth, and not resorted to such violent and unheard of measures to satisfy her own imagined wishes without endangering that open censure of society which she felt herself too weak to meet. For it was not enought that she contemplated giving herself that very night to another than the one she was pledged to, but she had also made her plans for supplying me with a more willing bride than herself; a bride whose bright eyes, in the one short glance I had of her, deceived me into thinking I had my own Genevieve back, happy and restored, and whom, Genevieve had not returned, penitent and eager, a short half hour before the time for our descent to the pariors. I should have doubtless led below, to my great undoing and that of every person concerned."

Mr. Gryce uttered an ejaculation. "A surpasses everything I have ever known," cried he; "it makes me young again; it recalls the old wonders of

He paused, cast an apologetic look into the heart of the pen-wiper and murmured some excuse. His professional ardor had made him forget his feeling as a man. He did not lapse again, but his eye burned like a spark

"The likeness between the sisters must have been most marked, or two such sensible women would not have entered into so tremendous and dangerous a scheme. And yet the ignorance of the one and the passion of the other are sufficient excuses, peraps, for even so great a folly as this, especially as the latter failed to support the necessary courage for the execution of a plan which probably coked more feasible in prospect than n reality. That Julius Molesworth himself stepped in and put an end to an attempt he certainly had too much good sense to sanction, may be the true explanation of her sudden return to duty and the true affection of one in her own station in life. But at this I can only hazard a guess, for my knowledge begins and ends with an account given by Genevieve of her state of mind between the time she first saw Dr. Molesworth and the afternoon of the day when she expected him to respond to her summons by visiting her at the C— Hotel."

As he said this the doctor's hand strayed mechanically to his pocket; which Mr. Gryce, observing, for all his studied attention to the pen-wiper, exclaimed:

"Papers? Let me see them; I like to get my facts at the fountain-head." Dr. Cameron frowned, greatly annoved at himself; but upon considering that the same result would have followed his necessary explanation of where he had obtained his knowledge. he thrust his hand into his pocket, and drew out the small roll which we have seen once before in his grasp.

"Letters written by my wife," he asserted, shortly, "to the gentleman already mentioned between us. Not sent, but kept as a gift to be placed in his hand when the law had sanctioned their affection. That moment never came, and the roll taken from the hotel to her own room in her father's house was found by me in hiding between the cushions of an old sofa. That she did not destroy it is doubtless due to the fact that she felt it to be the best plea she could present if the truth in regard to her conduct on the day of our marriage ever came to light."

"Miss Gretorex's writing and no mistake." was Mr. Gryce's sole comment, as he turned the pages over with busy hand. Then, shortly, "How came your attention to be directed to the safa as a place of concealment?"

"I don't know. It was one of those discoveries that follow an impulsive thought. I had the sofa before my eves, and feeling assured that the roll had been hidden somewhere-Here he explained how he came to know there was a roll at all, and Mr. Gryce, listening, smiled a little smile of congratulation, though inwardly vexed that he had to depend upon another for so important a discovery.

This matter being made clear, Mr. Gryce turned to the first sheet unfolded before him and began to read. The words thus perused were as fol-

"I write because I cannot keep silent. I write to you because you are the first person I have ever met who made me feel I had a soul above the ordinary comings and goings that occupy my days. You will never see these lines, but that makes no difference. Does the sun note all the flowers that turn towards it? I am helped, I am vivified by the thought of you, and that is sufficient for me. God knows I needed help; life was so monotonous to me before I saw you."

"I have been thinking and asking myself questions. Are you the man I believed you to be, or have I been creating an ideal out of my own imagination? You certainly have said but little in my presence, yet

I feel that I know you; and knowing you, I am better, and nobler, and wiser. Are these instincts whispers of my good angel, or are they — Do not make me complete my thought; a trembling has seized me, and I think if I am to be happy in the engagement I have made for myself I must cease looking too deeply into this new soul that has lately been developed within me."

"Again! And this time you made me feel that my presence was to you what yours is to me. Dangerous revelation! I cannot control my imagination when I think of it."

"What has happened? The old thoughts, the old feelings have all left me. and I live as it were in a new world. Is it the look you gave me which has done this? If so, it has weakened bonds you have little recked of, and done an evil whose extent I cannot yet measure. Yet is it evil? That I can ask, shows I am no longer a fitting wife for the man who expects

"Why have you lived for months under the same roof which covered my prototype and never given her the look you east this day upon me? Is it becaust the souls differ though the bodies are so alike? Or is it that the unat-tainable is ever the most alluring, and you believe that I am as far above you as I know you are above me?"

"My mother is dead, and it is on my breast she drew her last sigh, in my ears she breathed her last word; yet I cannot feel unhappy, cannot realize that I have lost anything. For in that hour I heard your first word of love, and received in the offer you made me more than anyone else could take from me if they took all I possessed."

"I answered you nothing; for what words could I utter, who am bound to another by a solemn engagement of marriage? But you are generous, and expected none. You told your love and let it suffice; it is for me to make that a possibility and its expression our highest honor as well as our keenest delight. Shall I have the courage? When I think of the difficulties in the way of this, I say No. When I think of you, my whole heart responds with a glad and fearless Yes."

"You did not know I was engaged when you spoke; you only knew I was far above you in wealth, position, and worldly consideration. I am glad to hear this; it clears your image of what some might think a shadow. But you know it now. Mildred has told you, and you do not withdraw your lovebecause you cannot, you say. And so I still hold that treasure, to my undoing, or my everlasting joy and honor, as destiny shall decide."

"I have never known a care from my birth. I have never known a want. Is this the reason that a marriage which will insure me the same monotonous life of ease, seems less desirable to me than one which will awaken every latent energy of my soul, and make of my daily existence a struggle and a victory? I cannot say; I only know that it is not the fear of losing the splendors and luxuries which surround me that makes me shrink from the step before me, for they are no longer necessary to my happiness; indeed, they only seem like clogs upon it, to be shaken off without a pang. I speak to my mother-the only one who has been a real mother to me-tomorrow."

"In vain. I knew it before I had said a word; she is so wedded to the ways of the world. I must marry where I have promised and the fairest dream of my life-the only dream of my life -must remain a dream and nothing Can I bear it? Can you bear it? I shudder at my fears, which whisper No."

"Mildred has told you my decision, and what was your response? That the woman who loved you must be willing to make any and every sacrifice for your sake. Did this mean that you demanded and expected of me a renunciation of my present intentions, whatever the world thought, or whatever the world said? I fear so, but you cannot know what this implies; you cannot know the strength of those invisible ties which bind us to the honcr. the esteem, the will of those who have ministered to our every want from childhood. It would take a superhuman love to make a woman willing to rend these as they would have to be rent, if I dismissed, without my parents' sanction and support, the proud man whose home is all but prepared for my unworthy self. I feel that I have not the courage, shall I say the hardness of heart, to do this; and yet to please you I would lie down on my bed and die. Ah, can that be the sacrifice you meant? Make me hap-py by saying so."

150 MILES AN HOUR.

Electricity United with the Old Sys= tem of Railway Locomotion.

Great Things Expected from the Amalgamation of the Baldwin Works with the Westinghouse Electric System.

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Official announcement is made that the Baldwin Locomotive Works and the Westinghouse Electric Company have formed a working partnership. The two concerns represent an aggregate capital of about $20,000,000. Negotiations had been going on for about two months. The coalition of interests will, it was stated, result in the early introduction of improved forms of electric motors for railroad companies and give employment to upward of 10,000 men in busy seasons. Each company will conduct its own plant, as at present, extensions being made as the business warrants.

A member of the hig locomotive firm in speaking of the matter said: "We have been seriously discussing the matter ever since the latter part of April, and in view of the improvements which we jointly considered the electrical developments of railways to have been we thought it to our advantage to combine our interests, and in furtherance of that policy have concluded contracts which make a practical partnership, and we are now prepared to construct electric railways, locomotives and everything that pertains to electrical operation of railroads.

The Baldwin Locomotive Works was founded by Mathias W. Baldwin, who, on April 25, 1831, put his first miniature locomotive in motion and then built a locomotive, "Old Ironsides," which made its first trip on the Germantown road on Nov. 23, 1832. The first building on the present site was erected in 1835, and the works so well known are now owned and managed by Burnam, Williams & Co. They cover fourteen acres of ground, and the capacity, on full working time, is one locomotive in each eight hours. There are 4,900 men employed. The capital of the firm—the enterprise never having been incorporated-is placed at $5,000,000.

The Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company is incorporated, having its plant in Pittsburg. Its capital is $10,000, 000. Its last statement showed its assets to be $14,722,315. Its stock is divided into $3,671,966 preferred, $5,165,481 assenting, and $179,150 common. Its charters, franchises and patents are rated as worth $4, 379,832.

The Westinghouse Company controls some of the most valuable electrical patents in existence, its only formidable rival being the Edison General Electric Company, of New York.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—W. D. Uptegraff, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, said to day in confirming the report from Philadelphia that the company had formed a partnership with the Baldwin Locomotive Works of that city to manufacture electric locomotives:

"The long experience of the Baldwin Company will give us everything that is necessary in carriage machinery, and we will supply the power. If our plans are successful—and there is every reason to believe that they will be-railroading will be revolutionized. We have figured that locomotives can be built to run 150 miles an hour, and we will see them going at that rate within a few years. This may seem like a flight of imagination, but it is not. We have the motor and the Baldwin people say they can furnish the carriage to allow this high speed."

George Westinghouse, who is at the Windsor Hotel, in New York, said to a reporter last night:

"We have entered into a working arrangement with the Baldwin people, under which we provide the motors for electric engines and they build the rest of the gear. There is an increasing demand for electric locomotives, and they may become the chief traction power in the future. In order to supply the great demand for them we have taken the necessary steps in advance. So far these locomotives have had a very limited use They have been assigned to work in freight yards in situations where their freedom from smoke made them especially valuable. But these limitations cannot last, and we realized that plans must be made to build the machines on a large

She is quite a fine looking woman, with dark hair and eyes and a wellmolded figure.

Mrs. McDonald was born in Dennisport. down on Cape Cod, and was first married to Samuel Small, who was the father of her two children. She was herself married at the age of 15, but her daughter eclipsed that record by marrying (she ran away to Weymouth to do so) at the age of 13 years

The daughter, Mrs. Loretta Perry, is a pretty woman, only 22 years old now. Her first child, who lived only two weeks, was born when she was less than 15 years old. It is doubtful if Mrs. McDonald would have consented to such an early marriage on her daughter's part if they had not stolen a march on her, and left her with nothing but the certificate (which she did not read) to sign. The oldest grandchild is now 7 years old, and there are three more to keep it company. Mrs. McDonald is now 38 years old.—Boston

Plumbers, Steam and Gas Fitters. 274 | Councilor Moore After the London West School Board.

He Demands an Investigation - The Amount Is Small-Committee

Named. Councilor Wm. Moore of London West, who at his first nomination meeting said he would clean out the village officials, and who kept his word after his election, is out on the war path again with all his old-time paint and feathers. He claims to have discovered something "queer" in the school board affairs for the year 1892, and as a ratepayer-not as a councilman-he has demanded an investigation. The amount, however, is trifling, compared with recent steals in the village. In July, 1892, the school building was insured for $6,000 in the London Mutual, and the premium was placed at $42. Turning up the old treasurer's book, Mr. Moore has found that the insurance company is credited with having re-ceived $50. The stub of the check book also corresponds with it. Therefore the "queer" question to be cleared up is, "Into whose pocket did the $8 go?"

At the meeting of the board last night Mr. Moore, armed with the cash book of the ex-treasurer, the stub of the receipt book, the insurance policy and other required information, appealed for an investigation, and laid the facts before the trustees.

"I tell you," said he, "it is a matter which should be investigated. The amount involved is small, but then look at the principle of the transaction." It also transpired that another payment of $3 95 had been made for insurance in the same year. The minute book also showed that the board of 1892 had decided to place $7,000 on the school building, but had never done so. The $3 95 item was accounted for by Trustee Pudney, the only member of the 1892 board now holding office. The insurance had originally been placed by a committee with one agent, but the board afterwards cancelled it and placed it in the Mutual. Mr. Pudney, however, always understood the policy called for $11,000. As a member of the old board, he firmly demanded an investigation by a special committee. Trustee Jones made a few sly hits at the council, and Chairman Ludwig named Messrs. Jones and Pudney as the investigating committee. Trustee Jones called attention to the fact that the board had originally called for $2,500 for the year's expenses. At the last meeting, when he was absent, he understood it was decided to ask for $3,000. Yet the minutes contained no note that the original motion asking for $2,500 had been rescinded, and a $3,000 motion passed. If some record was not kept, the people in years to come would be wondering where the $500 went. It was shown by the secretary that the board had asked for $2,500 exclusive of the balance from 1894, the Government grant and non-resident fees. The matter then dropped. The members present were: Chairman L. W. Ludwig, Trustees Jones, Pudney, Paul, Dell, Crockett and Secretary Liddicoatt.

DEAD WHALES. When a dead whale came ashore at Santa Monica, Cal., recently, and failed to attract the attention it deserved, the Southern Pacific Railway Company, as we learn from the Oakland Enquirer. invested $50 in advertising, attracted 40,000 visitors from Los Angeles, and took in $20,000. Every city has its dead whale, which only needs judicious handling to convert it to economic ends. In fact, almost every large store has dead or dying whales upon its hands at every turn of the seasons. The Southern Pacific Railway Company has shown the way to deal with them.—[Philadelphia Record.

A very painful accident happened last evening to Mr. Wm. Lobb, night foreman at the chemical works. Mr. Lobb was operating a mill for grinding chemicals, and in some manner his left hand was caught up by the cogs and frightfully crushed. He was taken to an East End doctor, and three of the fingers were found to be merely hanging by shreds. These were amputated. The first finger and thumb remain, and Mr. Lobb will probably have the use of these. Mr. Lobb lives on Lovett street and has a wife and three children. Dr. Hutchinson a Delegate to a Belleville Sanitary Convention - A Queen's Park Nuisance-Sewer Wanted.

After a thirty-five minute effort to obtain a quorum and nearly wearing out the engineer's telephone, the regular meeting of the Board of Health called for last night was postponed. Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, J. W. McCallum, Ald. Skinner, Dr. Hutchinson (medical health officer), Ald. Callahan and Inspector Bell were on the scene early, and it only lacked one to make the coveted quorum. At 8:30 Ald. Skinner had to leave, and shortly afterwards Dr.

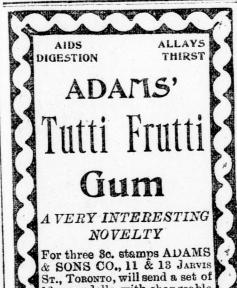

The board merely did one thing-apcointed Dr. Hutchinson a delegate to the sanitary convention in Belleville, on Aug. 14 and 15. The proceedings were not official, but the balance of the board will be expected to uphold the

Dr. Hutchinson's report was very gratifying. It read: "I have the honor to state that the health of the city is unusually good. There's at the present time one case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria in the city. At the City Hospital there are seven cases of typhoid fever, and three at St. Joseph's. Of these ten cases six or seven are from outside places, and did not originate in the city. During the past six months there were only two cases of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever. This is unprecedented in the history of the city. Medical Health Offier Hutchinson also reported that the closet at the King street entrance of the Fair Grounds was a nuisance and an anicvance. It should be removed to some more secluded spot. The doctor further reported that a public sewer is badly needed on Fullarton street, from Richmond to Talbot street. The London Township Board of Health sent in an account of $20 10 for inspecting the place on lot 9, con. 6. London township, used for the deposit of night soil. The chairman refused to "O. K." the account, as he understood the agreement was simply to pay the inspector's expenses, and not those of the whole beard.
