NITRO-GLYCERIN MAGAZINE EXPLODES AT PETROLEA

Big Plant Completely Wrecked Early This Morning And Oil Town Given Bad Scare.

HEAVY PROPERTY DAMAGE, BUT NO LIVES LOST

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Petrolea, Oct. 17.—Citizens of Petrolea and vicinity were awakened about 4 o'clock this morning by a terrific detonation and it was soon learned that the magazine on the property of the Petrolea Torpedo Company had exploded. The magazine was located on the 12th line about two miles north of the town, but so powerful was the concussion that plate glass and other windows were shattered all over the town and also in Wyoming, a village five miles north of the scene of the explosion.

The magazine where the explosion occurred was built of concrete and brick. It contained about three to four hundred quarts of nitro-glycerin and the force of the explosion scooped out a hole in the ground fully twenty feet deep. The building was entirely demolished, not a piece of either concrete or brick larger than a man's hand being found. The factory was situated some fifty yards north and west of the magazine, and is nothing but a pile of kindling wood. There are several residences in the vicinity of the explosion and none are left with a whole window. Doors were torn off their hinges and walls moved, but fortunately no person was seriously hurt, A young lad named Glass was cut about the face with glass, a window being blown into the bed in which he was sleeping. The Glass home was practically ruined.

CAUSE A MYSTERY.

The cause of the explosion cannot be learned. The owners of the property claim they have not been manufacturing glycerin since May last. Some of their employes were working around the magazine yesterday morning, but left the premises at 11:30 and no one was near it since, to their knowledge. A rumor is current that too great heat was the cause, but this cannot be verified. The damage cannot be estimated yet. At the property, the plant is a complete wreck and a total loss. The damage to the various residences in the vicinity will run up into the thousands, one man alone having fully a thousand dollars damage done to his barn and pumping station. In Petrolea also ,and in Wyoming, the chief damage is from broken glass.

Petrolea, Oct. 17.—The plant of the Petrolea Glycerin Works was completely destroyed at 4 o'clock this morning by the explosion of 400 quarts of nitro-glycerin in the magazine of the building.

Fortunately, because of the early hour, there was nobody about the premises, and, as the factory is situated at an isolated spot, two miles outside the town, there has been no loss of life connected with the disaster.

The shock was a terrific one, dozens of plate-glass windows in Petrolea were shattered, while everything breakable in residences within a half mile of the spot was reduced to atoms. Of the building there is scarcely a board or brick left, while beneath is a hole in the ground ten feet deep and thirty feet across.

The loss has not yet been ascertained. The plant is controlled by Petrolea people.

FELT AT FOREST.

Forest, Ont., Oct. 17.—About 4 o'clock this morning, the residents of Forest and vicinity were awakened by what appeared at first to be an earthquake. Windows and doors rattled, and in some instances houses trembled considerably. Many persons were so frightened that they would not go back to bed. Reports from Camlachie, 10 miles west of here, state that the shock was also felt there. Rumors are afloat that an explosion occurred in Petrolea, but nothing authentic has been learned.

SHOCK TRAVELED TO CHATHAM.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Ont., Oct. 17.—At about 4 o'clock this morning, a large number of persons in the city were awakened by a heavy explosion, that sounded as if it came from a great distance, and was much akin to an earthquake shock. The general query on the street this morning was: "Did you hear the noise?"

For a time no explanation was forthcoming, but later it was learned that at a factory, two miles from Petrolea, 400 quarts of nitro-glycerin exploded, doing great devastation, though fortunately no one was close at hand.

A Big Saving on Street Watering

Chairman Gillean of No. 2 committeee is getting his year's work reduced to figures, and the result is most gratifying to the citizens generally.

The actual cost of street sprinkling this year is just $2,887 90, less than it cost the committee last year under the direction of Ald. Matthews.

In addition to this there is $3,500 that the water cost last year that will not be paid iver to the water commission this year, as per the agreement made in the spring.

This makes a total of $6,377 90 that the committee has to the good. Chairman Gillean and his committee have worked diligently for the citizens and it is expected that the total surplus of the committee will be over $7,500.

The street sprinkling was done by day labor.

Big Position for Dr. Robert Barnes

Dr. Robert Barnes, formerly of this city, has been appointed to one of the most important positions attainable under the new meat inspection act.

Dr. Barnes left this city early in September to take charge of the meat inspection in the city of Toronto.

Last week he received notice that he had been appointed traveling inspector for the Dominion Government, with headquarters in Ottawa.

This means that Dr. Barnes will have full supervision over all the meat inspectors in Canada, and that he will practically direct the whole policy in regard to the manner in which the meat inspection will be carried out.

The position is a most important one as there are a large number of factories to be looked after, and it is the Government's aim to make Canadian packing houses second to none in the world.

Dr. Barnes has a host of friends in this vicinity who will hear of his success with considerable pleasure.

Dan Cupid Very Busy This Fall

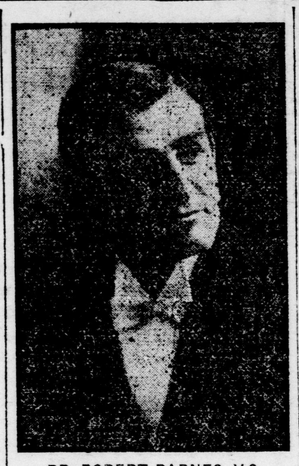

"This year will be a record-breaker in the number of marriages that have taken place in this city," said City Clerk Baker this morning.

"The figures will show probably an increase of over 25 per cent. October and November in other years are the months in which the largest number of weddings have taken place, and so far this season October is easily leading any other year."

Every month shows an increase over the number of weddings in past years. For instance, in 1906 there were 478 weddings, while this year the figures will be well over 500.

Only a very small percentage of those married in the city leave it, and as they all need houses to live in it means a considerable item in the building line.

Last year there was only one more wedding than in 1905.

WAGES PETITION HAS FALLEN FLAT

So It Is Alleged in Regard to the Street Railway Employes.

The petition being circulated among the street railway employes asking for an increase in wages has fallen by the boards, so it is said. Many of the men signed the petitions, but it was thought that the method of asking for the increase was not the best, and it was decided to pass the petitions up.

The men will make a direct appeal shortly, it is rumored.

LIBERAL CONVENTION TONIGHT

The attention of every Liberal in the city is directed to the convention called for tonight in Hyman Hall, to discuss the political situation.

There should be a very large representation of Liberals at the meeting, as it is a very important one.

The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock sharp.

Let every Liberal be on hand.

Police Officers on Wild Goose Chase Sent to Hyde Park on False Alarm

Were Told That a Big Robbery Had Been Committed West of the City.

To be routed out of bed at half-past 11 last night and railroaded five miles on a wild goose chase was the unpleasant experience of two police officers residing in this city.

The Grand Trunk operator at Hyde Park, five miles out of the city, was the indirect cause of all the trouble, and to say that he is now no near and dear friend of the officers in question would be putting it mildly.

A Rush Call.

One of the officers received a rush call over the 'phone last night somewhere about 11 o'clock to the effect that half a dozen odd cars, used for quartering Italian laborers at the Hyde Park work of the Grand Trunk Railway, had been broken into, and everything in sight stolen. The message also contained the information that an extra to Windsor would pull out from East London at midnight, and that a stop would be made at the Richmond street station for the officer and his aides.

The first officer called went part way across the city, and aroused a fellow-officer, after which an effort was made to locate Detective Teasdale, of the G. T. R. service, but without success.

A Small Affair.

When the train arrived at Hyde Park a large group of wildly excited Italians were seen around the small station at that point. All appeared to be trying to tell the equally excited operator just what had happened at the same time.

After some delay, during which much time was spent in trying to call the excited laborers, it was learned that a shirt, a razor strop and an old razor had been taken from one of the Italians' bundles in a lodging car.

That's about all, except that there is said to be a distinct chilliness all along the Grand Trunk line whenever Hyde Park is mentioned.

The officers in question arrived back in the city at five o'clock this morning.

It is supposed that some tramps, who were seen hovering about the camp just before supper time yesterday, entered the car and took the missing property.

Nothing Doing Re Talbot St. School

"I do not think the board will do anything," said Chairman Fitzgerald, of the Board of Education, this morning to The Advertiser when spoken to about the conditions of Talbot street school.

"We had a report that the school was all right. Principal Liddicoatt says there is very little sickness in the school, and much less than in many of the other schools. Some improvements down stairs have been suggested, and they will be carried out. Occasionally there may be a bad smell in the rooms, but that does not kill anyone. It is a trifle inconvenient, but otherwise it is all right.

"There cannot be much done with the present system of heating and ventilation. I understand that the Smead-Dowd system is all right if properly installed. I have been informed that the system has not been properly installed, and that has been the cause of the trouble. Two years ago, when the same complaints were made, we had a report prepared, and it was fund that there was nothing wrong with the school."

"Will nothing be done?" asked the reporter.

"As far as I can see, nothing will be done," Mr. Fitzgerald replied.

Printers Favor Old Age Pensions Referendum Is Now Being Taken

Local Members Think That the Proposition Is a Good One.

Local members of International Typographical Union are much interested in the referendum vote on proposed amendments to the constitution of their organization which is now being taken.

Two of these measures are most important, and provide for an old age pension and the increase of salaries of officers.

Pension Clause.

The pension clause reads as follows:

"Age of eligible applicants sixty years; continuous membership in the International Union 20 years; weekly pension, $4; source of revenue for fund, one-half of one per cent weekly assessment on earnings of entire membership; qualifications of applicants for pension are based on 20 years continuous membership for members 60 years of age, who earn not less than $4 in any one week, and who have no other income or means of support."

Favor Pensions.

Local members of the Typographical Union who have been interviewed favor the pension fund scheme, and will support it.

The result of the referendum will not be known for some time.

CLARKSON IN LONDON.

London, Oct. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clarkson were in London Monday, Oct. 14, and visited several Catholic priests regarding their marriage. The couple during the day called on the famous Father Bernard Vaughan, of the Society of Jesus, and frankly told him their identity, the circumstances under which Clarkson eloped with Helen Maloney, and urged the priest to legalize their marriage in the eyes of the church. The result of the interview between the Clarksons and Father Vaughan is not known.

APPEAL TO LAW TO BLOCK SUNDAY CARS THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE WILL DO SO

Act of Legislature Stands in Way of Petitioners.

City Solicitor Meredith Preparing an Opinion for Council.

Whole Matter Is Now Up in the Air—Petitions To Be Discussed on Friday.

Friday afternoon No. 1 committee of the city council will deal with the petitions for and against Sunday street cars. The parties in favor of the cars have presented a petition signed by over 6,000 persons, and it is understood they will present an additional petition signed by a large number more.

The Lord's Day Alliance will present its petitions, which have been largely signed, on Friday.

Both sides will be represented by delegations, and the question will be thoroughly discussed.

Mr. D. A. McDermid, who has been in charge of the petitions, reports that the Lord's Day Alliance will stand by the law.

Against the Law.

"We take the ground that Sunday cars are against the law," he said to The Advertiser this morning. "It is definitely stated that Sunday cars are against the law, and we will stand by the law. The names on the petitions do not matter a great deal."

"Do you think the bylaw should be submitted to the people?" was asked.

Against Taking Vote.

"I do not think so," he answered. "The law is definite, and it says that there should be no cars. Of course, if it is submitted to the people we will oppose it as best we can. But it will be clearly a matter for the Legislature to deal with in the end. The Legislature, in the case of Port Arthur, refused to allow cars to run even where the people wanted them. That may apply to London."

The Port Arthur Case.

In Port Arthur the council was unanimous in favor of Sunday cars. The matter was submitted to a vote of the people, and carried by an immense majority. The case was then referred to the Legislature, and that body refused to grant Sunday cars.

The decision was based on the Ontario act, passed three years ago, which stated that no cars will be allowed to run henceforth in any city or town in Ontario where there were no cars before the passing of the act. This effectually shut out Port Arthur.

This is the act which it is intimated the Lord's Day Alliance will ask to be enforced.

City Solicitor's Opinion.

City Clerk Baker has had the matter under advisement for some time, and he has asked City Solicitor Meredith to prepare an opinion on the subject.

Mr. Meredith has done so, and it will be submitted at the meeting of the committee Friday evening.

When spoken to by the Advertiser today Mr. Meredith said he did not care to say anything on the subject until the written opinion he has made out for the council is made public.

Mayor Speaks.

Mayor Judd was asked about Sunday cars, and he came out as being opposed to them at present. He stated that the city was not large enough as yet for them, and consequently he could not see any reason for them.

"I am opposed to Sunday cars," he said. "The city is too small. They may be needed in a few years, but not now. In the light of the experience of Port Arthur, where the council was unanimous in favor of Sunday cars, and where the bylaw was carried by an immense majority, yet the Legislature refused to give that city Sunday cars, because the Ontario act passed three years ago would not allow it. I don't see what can be done.

"I do not see how we can avoid the same experience. What will be necessary a few years from now does not concern me. We do not need cars now, and I will oppose them."

London Firemen Want More Money Petition Presented to Committee

Request Is Favorably Considered, But Is Laid Over for the Present.

A meeting of No. 3 committee was held last night, when Assistant Fire Chief Aiken presented a petition from the firemen asking for an increase in pay. It was pointed out that the local firemen were paid less than in Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto.

The committee was favorable to the increase, but the matter was laid over until the return of Fire Chief Clark from Washington.

City Engineer Graydon and Fire Chief Clark were instructed to prepare estimates of the cost of fire halls for the north and east ends.

Chairman Gillean brought a garbage scheme before the committee and thoroughly explained it. The matter was discussed briefly, and an effort will be made shortly to install an up-to-date garbage system. It is also proposed to bring the matter of an abattoir to the attention of the council soon.

Ald. Gerry moved that an electric light be placed at the corner of Bruce street and Marley Place. This corner is rather dangerous on dark nights, especially to the firemen. The motion carried without objection.

Are Grouped With the Fastest of the Intermediate Teams.

It was given out at noon today that the London Rugby Football Club has decided to join the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union, which has been placed under the ban of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union.

The local team has been grouped with the Hamilton Cubs, the Dundas Intermediates and the Argonauts, of Toronto.

The first game of the new series will be played in this city Saturday, when London will meet the Hamilton team at Tecumseh Park. At the same time the Argonaut Intermediate team will play Dundas.

The London team will have three away-from-home games, one at Toronto, Dundas and Hamilton each.

The boys were much disheartened when Petrolea and Parkhill dropped out of the district, but the news of big games ahead has cleared things up, and they are now on edge to take a fall out of the Hamilton team on Saturday. The practices will take on new life from this out, and all players are requested to report tonight as early as possible. As several changes in the line-up will likely occur on Saturday, there will be two practices to decide who are the most deserving.

The action of the London team in joining the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union leaves open the question of whether or not they will be professionalized by the C. A. A. U. or not.

Secretary Spry, of the local club, when questioned as to this today, stated that he understood that it was only the senior branch of the I. R. U. that had been blacklisted by the C. A. A. U., but this seems to be an open question. At all events the local players confine themselves almost wholly to football, and express themselves as being unconcerned in any action the C. A. A. U. may take at the instigation of the Ontario Rugby Uulon which formerly controlled practically every big team in Canada, outside of the Quebec Rugby Union.

The O. R. F. U. would seem to have put itself into a whole lot of hot water by its loose methods of conducting business, and the fact that both Hamilton teams, as well as a host of others have left the ranks augurs ill for the future of that ancient body.

The new schedule is as follows:

Oct. 19—Hamilton at London; Argonaut at Dundas.

Oct. 26—London at Argonaut; Dundas at Hamilton.

Oct. 31—Argonaut at London; Hamilton at Dundas.

Nov. 2—London at Dundas; Argonaut at Hamilton.

Nov. 9—Dundas at London; Hamilton at Argonaut.

Nov. 16—London at Hamilton; Dundas at Argonaut.

Twenty Cent Dinners Now in Sight

According to a seemingly well founded report there will be something stirring in the line of prices for meals in local restaurants shortly.

One proprietor of a well-known local cafe, so it is said, will raise the price of dinner from 25 cents, as at present, to 30 cents, in a few days.

Another restaurant keeper doing business near the first man, has been quoted as saying that he can sell dinners at 20 cents and make fair profit, and that he is seriously considering doing so.

Londoners will not take to a raise in prices kindly, and if they go in effect there is a certain young man in the city who ought to make a mint of money within a very short time.

This industrious businessman proposes to offer to the business people of London somewhat of an innovation which is sure to be appreciated and patronized. His proposition is to supply his patrons with a hot dinner right in their offices at the rate of $1 a week. Such a plan has been followed in the large cities for years, but so far as is known it has never before been tried here.

Beer Prices Likely to Go Up at Once

A Toronto dispatch says: The brewers have to decide about the wholesale price of ale and lager on an early date, and for that purpose a meeting of the trade has been decided on, which will be held as soon as the preliminaries can be arranged.

At the offices of one of the local brewers it was stated that as all the Canadian brewers are members of an association, London brewers will be affected by the move.

As yet, no notice of the meeting has been received in London, but the increase in the prices of barley,hops, etc., are given as a good reason why the prices of beer and lager should be advanced.

If the breweries run up the price the hotelmen say they will simply reduce the sizes of the glasses of beer sold.

I have been informed that the system has not been properly installed, and that has been the cause of the trouble. Two years ago, when the same complaints were made, we had a report prepared, and it was fund that there was nothing wrong with the school."

"Will nothing be done?" asked the reporter.

"As far as I can see, nothing will be done," Mr. Fitzgerald replied.

Printers Favor Old Age Pensions Referendum Is Now Being Taken

Local Members Think That the Proposition Is a Good One.

Local members of International Typographical Union are much interested in the referendum vote on proposed amendments to the constitution of their organization which is now being taken.

Two of these measures are most important, and provide for an old age pension and the increase of salaries of officers.

Pension Clause.

The pension clause reads as follows:

"Age of eligible applicants sixty years; continuous membership in the International Union 20 years; weekly pension, $4; source of revenue for fund, one-half of one per cent weekly assessment on earnings of entire membership; qualifications of applicants for pension are based on 20 years continuous membership for members 60 years of age, who earn not less than $4 in any one week, and who have no other income or means of support."

Favor Pensions.

Local members of the Typographical Union who have been interviewed favor the pension fund scheme, and will support it.

The result of the referendum will not be known for some time.

CLARKSON IN LONDON.

London, Oct. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clarkson were in London Monday, Oct. 14, and visited several Catholic priests regarding their marriage. The couple during the day called on the famous Father Bernard Vaughan, of the Society of Jesus, and frankly told him their identity, the circumstances under which Clarkson eloped with Helen Maloney, and urged the priest to legalize their marriage in the eyes of the church. The result of the interview between the Clarksons and Father Vaughan is not known.

APPEAL TO LAW TO BLOCK SUNDAY CARS THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE WILL DO SO

Act of Legislature Stands in Way of Petitioners.

City Solicitor Meredith Preparing an Opinion for Council.

Whole Matter Is Now Up in the Air—Petitions To Be Discussed on Friday.

Friday afternoon No. 1 committee of the city council will deal with the petitions for and against Sunday street cars. The parties in favor of the cars have presented a petition signed by over 6,000 persons, and it is understood they will present an additional petition signed by a large number more.

The Lord's Day Alliance will present its petitions, which have been largely signed, on Friday.

Both sides will be represented by delegations, and the question will be thoroughly discussed.

Mr. D. A. McDermid, who has been in charge of the petitions, reports that the Lord's Day Alliance will stand by the law.

Against the Law.

"We take the ground that Sunday cars are against the law," he said to The Advertiser this morning. "It is definitely stated that Sunday cars are against the law, and we will stand by the law. The names on the petitions do not matter a great deal."

"Do you think the bylaw should be submitted to the people?" was asked.

Against Taking Vote.

"I do not think so," he answered. "The law is definite, and it says that there should be no cars. Of course, if it is submitted to the people we will oppose it as best we can. But it will be clearly a matter for the Legislature to deal with in the end. The Legislature, in the case of Port Arthur, refused to allow cars to run even where the people wanted them. That may apply to London."

The Port Arthur Case.

In Port Arthur the council was unanimous in favor of Sunday cars. The matter was submitted to a vote of the people, and carried by an immense majority. The case was then referred to the Legislature, and that body refused to grant Sunday cars.

The decision was based on the Ontario act, passed three years ago, which stated that no cars will be allowed to run henceforth in any city or town in Ontario where there were no cars before the passing of the act. This effectually shut out Port Arthur.

This is the act which it is intimated the Lord's Day Alliance will ask to be enforced.

City Solicitor's Opinion.

City Clerk Baker has had the matter under advisement for some time, and he has asked City Solicitor Meredith to prepare an opinion on the subject.

Mr. Meredith has done so, and it will be submitted at the meeting of the committee Friday evening.

When spoken to by the Advertiser today Mr. Meredith said he did not care to say anything on the subject until the written opinion he has made out for the council is made public.

Mayor Speaks.

Mayor Judd was asked about Sunday cars, and he came out as being opposed to them at present. He stated that the city was not large enough as yet for them, and consequently he could not see any reason for them.

"I am opposed to Sunday cars," he said. "The city is too small. They may be needed in a few years, but not now. In the light of the experience of Port Arthur, where the council was unanimous in favor of Sunday cars, and where the bylaw was carried by an immense majority, yet the Legislature refused to give that city Sunday cars, because the Ontario act passed three years ago would not allow it. I don't see what can be done.

"I do not see how we can avoid the same experience. What will be necessary a few years from now does not concern me. We do not need cars now, and I will oppose them."

London Firemen Want More Money Petition Presented to Committee

A meeting of No. 3 committee was held last night, when Assistant Fire Chief Aiken presented a petition from the firemen asking for an increase in pay. It was pointed out that the local firemen were paid less than in Brantford, Hamilton and Toronto.

The committee was favorable to the increase, but the matter was laid over until the return of Fire Chief Clark from Washington.

City Engineer Graydon and Fire Chief Clark were instructed to prepare estimates of the cost of fire halls for the north and east ends.

Chairman Gillean brought a garbage scheme before the committee and thoroughly explained it. The matter was discussed briefly, and an effort will be made shortly to install an up-to-date garbage system. It is also proposed to bring the matter of an abattoir to the attention of the council soon.

Ald. Gerry moved that an electric light be placed at the corner of Bruce street and Marley Place. This corner is rather dangerous on dark nights, especially to the firemen. The motion carried without objection.

Are Grouped With the Fastest of the Intermediate Teams.

It was given out at noon today that the London Rugby Football Club has decided to join the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union, which has been placed under the ban of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union.

The local team has been grouped with the Hamilton Cubs, the Dundas Intermediates and the Argonauts, of Toronto.

The first game of the new series will be played in this city Saturday, when London will meet the Hamilton team at Tecumseh Park. At the same time the Argonaut Intermediate team will play Dundas.

The London team will have three away-from-home games, one at Toronto, Dundas and Hamilton each.

The boys were much disheartened when Petrolea and Parkhill dropped out of the district, but the fews of big games ahead has cleared things up, and they are now on edge to take a fall out of the Hamilton team on Saturday. The practices will take on new life from this out, and all players are requested to report tonight as early as possible. As several changes in the line-up will likely occur on Saturday, there will be two practices to decide who are the most deserving.

The action of the London team in joining the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union leaves open the question of whether or not they will be professionalized by the C. A. A. U. or not.

Secretary Spry, of the local club, when questioned as to this today, stated that he understood that it was only the senior branch of the I. R. U. that had been blacklisted by the C. A. A. U., but this seems to be an open question. At all events the local players conine themselves almost wholly to football, and express themselves as being unconcerned in any action the C. A. A. U. may take at the instigation of the Ontario Rugby Union which formerly controlled practically every big team in Canada, outside of the Quebec Rugby Union.

The O. R. F. U. would seem to have put itself into a whole lot of hot water by its loose methods of conducting business, and the fact that both Hamilton teams, as well as a host of others have left the ranks augurs ill for the future of that ancient body.

The new schedule is as follows:

Oct. 19—Hamilton at London; Argonaut at Dundas.

Oct. 26—London at Argonaut; Dundas at Hamilton.

Oct. 31—Argonaut at London; Hamilton at Dundas.

Nov. 2—London at Dundas; Argonaut at Hamilton.

Nov. 9—Dundas at London; Hamilton at Argonaut.

Nov. 16—London at Hamilton; Dundas at Argonaut.

Twenty Cent Dinners Now in Sight

According to a seemingly well founded report there will be something stirring in the line of prices for meals in local restaurants shortly.

One proprietor of a well-known local cafe, so it is said, will raise the price of dinner from 25 cents, as at present, to 30 cents, in a few days.

Another restaurant keeper doing business near the first man, has been quoted as saying that he can sell dinners at 20 cents and make fair profit, and that he is seriously considering doing so.

Londoners will not take to a raise in prices kindly, and if they go in effect there is a certain young man in the city who ought to make a mint of money within a very short time.

This industrious businessman proposes to offer to the business people of London somewhat of an innovation which is sure to be appreciated and patronized. His proposition is to supply his patrons with a hot dinner right in their offices at the rate of $1 a week. Such a plan has been followed in the large cities for years, but so far as is known it has never before been tried here.

Beer Prices Likely to Go Up at Once

A Toronto dispatch says: The brewers have to decide about the wholesale price of ale and lager on an early date, and for that purpose a meeting of the trade has been decided on, which will be held as soon as the preliminaries can be arranged.

At the offices of one of the local brewers it was stated that as all the Canadian brewers are members of an sold.

association, London brewers will be affected by the move.

As yet, no notice of the meeting has been received in London, but the increase in the prices of barley, hops, etc., are given as a good reason why the prices of beer and lager should be advanced.

If the breweries run up the price the hotelmen say they will simply reduce the sizes of the glasses of beer

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, attributes a great deal of his success to the following simple vegetable prescription:—

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Salatone;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mix, shake well, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Your druggist can supply the ingredients, and the mixture can be prepared at home at very little expense.

This, the doctor says, acts directly on the kidneys, assisting them to filter the poisons from the blood and expel same in the urine, at the same time restoring the kidneys to healthy, normal action.

We feel that a great many readers will be pleased to learn of this simple prescription, and knowing the ability of the physician whose formula it is, we do not hesitate to recommend it to any sufferer.

BAPTIST ASSN. IN CONVENTION

Delegates From Ontario and Quebec Are Now Gathered at Woodstock

Woodstock, Oct. 16—The Baptist Association of Ontario and Quebec opened in annual convention here today. Close on 700 delegates are in attendance. The delegates had been arriving all day and the convention was formally opened in the evening. Following a religious service the Rev. R. D. Warren, retiring president, delivered an address It was an eloquent and powerful effort

His subject was, "How can we most successfully make Christianity and the Christian church acceptable to the masses?"

"At the very outset I am met by the orthodox brother, who says the Gospel or Christianity can never be made acceptable to the masses, or at least to the unregenerate masses of the people. He says: 'The carnal mind is enmity to God, and is not subject to God, neither indeed can be.' Hence, he says, so long as human nature remains in its unregenerate state, or its state of enmity, the Gospel and Christianity will rouse its antagonism, and no amount of dressing or decoration can make it attractive and acceptable. Did not Jesus himself say, 'I came not to bring peace but a sword.'

"I do not propose to discuss in any way the theological problems involved in such an argument. I shall leave that for the theologians. The practical everyday working fact, as seen by practical, everyday people, is that, whatever the 'enmity' referred to may mean, it does not mean that there is nothing in the human heart to which the Gospel and Christianity and the church can appeal. On every hand we find evidence that there is something in the man that will respond to the touch of the good and the pure and the true, as these are found in the Gospel, and in genuine Christian lives. This fact forms the basis of all our efforts to win men, and furnishes us with the only reasonable ground of appeal to men. The great problems today for the Christian minister, the Christian church, and the individual Christian is, How can we find that something? How can we secure that response? What kind of truth must be preached and what kind of life must we live in order to get the common people in the common walks of life to feel that Christianity offers them something that will cheer, brighten, beautify and strengthen their whole Christian manhood and womanhood, something that will make them better businessmen, better husbands and wives, better fathers and mothers, and that will at last give them a title to the inheritance of the saints in light?

Regenerate Individual.

"The wording of the subject I have chosen seems to imply that there is a choice of methods, that the question is one comparative excellence amongst a number of methods. On the contrary, I am quite sure that there is only one right way, and that all other methods, however promising and attractive at the outset, are doomed to ultimate failure.

"There is nothing new in the problem which my subject presents, for there never has been a period in the history of the Christian church when this was not its greatest problem. As now, so always, there has been amongst men the struggle for existence, the race for gold, and class antagonisms, which have stood in the way of the church; and the peculiarity of the situation is that while we believe that Christianity, and Christianity only, can meet and overcome these great problems, yet Christianity and the church cannot set themselves directly to the solution of these problems, but must content themselves with operating indirectly against opposing forces. Our Lord found himself surrounded by the most adverse social conditions, and the apostles worked amidst similar conditions, but they inaugurated no crusade against the social and political institutions of their day. They found the rich and the poor pitted against each other, and designing men fattening upon the spoils of the simple, but they refused to take any part, directly or indirectly, in the great labor and capital struggles of the day. Christ himself refused to pass judgment upon the legality or justice of the tribute Rome demanded of the Jewish people. The Apostle Paul was never known as a political or social agitator, and the general fact corresponding to these statements is that while nearly all the great social and political reforms of the world have been the outcome of Christianity, they have been the indirect results of its ministry, and not the primary object towards which its energies have been directed. Christianity strikes at the root of all such evils, by aiming at the regeneration of the individual.

The Gospel and Class.

"The Gospel, or Christianity, or the church can never be the champion of a class. The very moment it becomes such it ceases to be a universal Gospel, The Gospel has been preached to the poor, but only as men, not on the ground of their poverty. And so is it in every case. It is a Gospel for the ignorant or the learned, the rich or the poor, but always it is simply a message to men, not to a class. The Gospel refuses absolutely—and the church ought to do likewise—to recognize social distinctions. It addresses itself to every soul as being created in the image of God, but now marred and defaced by sin, and needing renewal. It is a great mistake to suppose that Christianity and the church are called upon to settle all disputes and right all wrongs, social, civil and political. If it does this, it must be, as already stated, an indirect result. Its great purpose is to lead men to God, and in doing so it deals with man simply as man, and ignores all class distinctions. And I need not remind you of what your own observation has taught you, that whenever a minister of Christ identifies himself with a class or a party, he wrecks the church, discredits himself and loses the influence."

This evening a nominating committee and a committee on arrangements were appointed. The nominating committee reported recommending the appointment of the following officers: President, Rev. Dr. Gordon, Montreal; first vice-president, D. W. Karn, Woodstock; second vice-president, Rev. L. S. Hughson, Windsor; secretary-treasurer, Rev. C. J. Cameron, B. A., Toronto.

NEWS FROM SARNIA

The Lambton Rural Deanery Meets on Thursday—Approaching Wedding.

Sarnia, Oct. 16.—Large crowds are attending the evangelistic services being held in the Central Methodist Church by the evangelist, Rev. Mr. Turk.

The membership of the Sarnia public library has nearly reached the 2,000 mark.

The marriage of Miss Bessie Carlisle Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Morrison, to David Watson Rennie, will take place at the residence of the bride's parents, Vidal street, this evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

Contractor Ellis has a block of South Christina street ready for the cement and the street is plowed up as far south as Devine street. The Front street water main has been extended to Wellington street, the work being now complete.

The annual report of Sarnia General Hospital shows during the past year 371 patients have been treated, being 30 in excess of the total for the year ending Sept. 30, 1906. There were 61 cases of typhoid, the majority of which had originated at places outside the town of Sarnia. The ambulance had been called into requisition 39 times, and there were 25 births and 25 deaths during the year. On 80 occasions persons not patients had received treatment or relief at the hospital. A tribute is paid in the report to the gift of a new operating table by Provincial Secretary Hanna, and to the gifts by the Masonic brethren, by Mrs. Reuben Proctor, Mrs. David Milne and others.

John W. Brown, of Sarnia, who was arrested at Superior, Wis., on a charge of manslaughter has been honorably acquitted. Brown was a sailor on the steamer Kensington, and became involved in a quarrel with Joseph Krantz, a fireman. In the course of the altercation Krantz was struck and fell into the hold with fatal results.

THIS BEEF ON ICE FOURTEEN YEARS

Will Be Fed to the Office Dog As Investigators Consider It Unsafe

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16. — Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, Uncle Sam's wizard in chemistry, is about to release from captivity a side of beef that has been held in a refrigerating plant for more than fourteen years. This is the story:

Two years ago Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, inaugurated a series of experiments with a view to determining the nutritive value of meat, game, poultry, eggs, butter, milk, cream, and other food products kept in cold storage for indefinite periods. The results are about to be placed in the form of a report, which will be submitted to Congress at its coming session. These experiments demonstrate, it is understood, that it is unsafe to eat foods that have been kept on ice for three months or longer.

"When we started these experiments," said Dr. Wiley today, "notice of our intention was sent broadcast to the managers of refrigerating plants. One of them in Cleveland informed the department that he had a side of beef that had been in refrigeration for more than twelve years. We asked the Cleveland man to contribute it for use in our scheme of experimentation. He did."

Dr. Wiley was asked if this long-lived piece of beef would be fed to the poison squad, whose members have laid their stomachs on the altar of science, and who for several months have been devouring all sorts of foods selected because of the belief that they are deleterious to health.

"I will not," said Dr. Wiley emphatically.

"Why not?" he asked.

"We will first try it on the dog," he replied with a smile.

Then Dr. Wiley explained. Meat and other foods, if appearances are to be accepted, may be kept in cold storage for long periods without any apparent degradation in their nutritive value of quality. But between the time they are removed from a refrigerator and the time they are prepared to be fed ptomaine or alkaloidal bodies may develop that would make them fatal if taken into the human stomach.

The meat, poultry, game, and other articles that have been in Dr. Wiley's icehouse for the last two years will not, therefore, be fed to the poison squad. Their condition will be tested by the chief chemist and his assistants in other ways. When put in the refrigerator plant in the first instance the tissues of the meat were carefully measured, and since have been remeasured at intervals.

TRIBUTES TO LATE DR. POTTS

Noble Qualities and Splendid Achievements—A Great Loss to Methodism

Toronto, Oct. 16.—It has been decided that the funeral of the late Dr. Potts will be conducted by the Methodist Church Connexion. At 1 o'clock on Friday, there will be a short private service at the late home of deceased. Then the remains will be taken to the Metropolitan Church for the public service.

Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church, will be in charge of the public service. Three speeches of eulogy will be given by Rev. Drs. Burwash, Sutherland, and Briggs, who were members with Dr. Potts of the "Old Guard" of Canadian Methodism. The pall-bearers will be chosen from the leading members, lay and ministerial, of the Methodist Church. Interment will probably be made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The students of Victoria College will turn out in a body. Further arrangements are being made by Rev. Dr. Burwash.

The board of control today decided that the city council should attend the funeral. The members of the board paid earnest tribute to the deceased.

Rev. Dr. Albert Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, paid the following tribute to the deceased:

"The death of Dr. Potts is a sore bereavement to Canadian Methodism, and will be keenly felt throughout our entire work, and to our remotest mission. World-wide Methodism will mourn with us over his bier. And we venture to think the churches of a mighty evangelism, yes, all churches, will mingle their sympathies with our grief. Canadians and Britons everywhere will rejoice that he long stood a pillar of the church, and of the state; that he stood for the best and largest things in humanity, patriotism, and religion. The cause of the sanctity of the Sabbath, of the dissemination of the Holy Scriptures, of the sobriety and intelligence of the common people, of sound theological education, and of the efficiency and success of the Sunday schools, each and all, and many other humane and uplifting enterprises, had in him a steady support and unwavering friend. The most largely representative man in our Methodism, he was a brother and companion, trusted and beloved in all the churches, and a citizen true and faithful in all our Dominions and commonwealths. Would we had ten thousand such men."

His Work as a Pastor.

Rev. Dr. Burwash, chancellor of Victoria University, and a life-long friend of Dr. Potts, paid this tribute:

"Dr. Potts, in his early ministry, was distinguished by great fidelity and self-sacrificing work as a pastor, a work in which the poorest and most needy were never forgotten, and in which he won the universal affection of his people. He was no less successful as an administrator, leaving every charge in which he was placed in a prosperous condition as to all its enterprises and contributions to the institutions of the church. But his pre-eminent gifts were seen in the pulpit. There he attained a power such as few men of his time possessed, not by pretentious learning, or glittering rhetoric, but by the presentation of great fundamental truth with a deep fervor of spirit and felicity of diction, which charmed the imagination and taste of all his hearers, as it powerfully moved their emotions and won their heart's affections. Attracted by these pre-eminent qualities thousands flocked to his ministry, and were won to a nobler moral and religious life by the power of his word.

As Educational Secretary.

"In 1886 the general conference of the United Methodist Church met in the city of Toronto, and the important question of the federation of Victoria College with the University of Toronto passed its first stage of approval. The financial effort required to make such a movement successful was initiated, and Dr. Potts was chosen to lead the movement, as secretary of a building and endowment fund, as well as secretary of education for the church at large. For this work his gifts as a public speaker as well as an administrator, were pre-eminently adapted, and from the first his work was most successful. When he entered on this work the income of the educational society was $11,000, and the assets of the college less than $250,000. In the course of twenty years the income of the educational society has been multiplied by three, and the assets of the college by five—a result largely due to his strenuous work. But in addition to the financial outcome of his work he now became a man of the whole Dominion, the churches from Newfoundland to British Columbia all delighted in his pulpit ministrations and profited by the power of his word. He never in the pulpit became a mere pleader for money, but preached the evangelistic message to the hearts of the people, and found in response no lack of gifts to the cause which he represented.

STANDARD OIL PROBE

Effort to Learn Ownership of Security Company of Texas.

New York, Oct. 16.—Howard Bains, an officer of the Security Oil Company of Texas, was called as a witness today in the federal suit against the Standard Oil combine, to tell about the owners of the Security Company, which Mr. Kellogg, the Government counsel, says he believes is controlled by the Standard Oil Company. The witness said that all the stock of the company, except three shares, was owned up to two years ago by the London Commercial Trading and Investment Company. Mr. Bains said he knew nothing concerning the organization of the Security, but that it was selling its oil supply to subsidiary companies of the Standard Oil Company. The Security was organized in 1903, but the witness did not know who furnished the money to build the refinery. Mr. Bain said he knew nothing about the London Commercial Company, which had placed about $4,000,000 in the Security's plant in Beaumont, Texas. The company did not market oil to the consumer but sold to the refineries.

James Donald, a selling agent for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, testified that the New Jersey Company sold oil only in a defined district made up of New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina.

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR INJURED

Mr. H. G. Purchase, Conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, happened with a nasty accident. The trolley pole caught in the wires, and was forced up. Purchase held on to the rope, and his hand was drawn up until it caught the top of the car, and the rope pulling through his fingers by the force of the moving car, tore and lacerated to a shocking extent three fingers, tearing several pieces of flesh completely away. Zam-Buk was applied, and eased the pain very quickly. Writing to this effect, Mr. Purchase says:—

"I bound the fingers in Zam-Buk, and it was most gratifying the way in which this balm soothed the pain. Two days after the wounds were closed, and new skin was beginning to form over the top. My hand is now as sound as ever, and to look at it you would never know it had been so terribly torn and lacerated. I do not think there is anything to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk is a marvel of healing. Absolutely pure, it is nature's balm, and as a first aid is without equal. Try it! Zam-Buk will also cure ulcers, festering sores, ringworm and sores due to blood poison, boils, eczema, piles, etc., etc. Write Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for free trial box, sending 1c. stamp. What Will The Settlement of Your Estate Cost?

We will be pleased to tell you, if you will furnish us with particulars. No charge.

We will also supply you with will forms and place your will in our fireproof vaults where it cannot get lost.

The Canada Trust Company is a trustworthy, experienced executor that will manage your estate most economically, and impartially carry out the terms of your will.

Our intimate connection with the Huron & Erie Loan and Savings Co. enables us to obtain numerous investments which come under the "Trustee Act," and of which a private party would never hear. This enables us to keep our Trust Funds always invested, and Estates derive a larger profit than otherwise.

Services of Family Solicitor always retained.

Correspondence invited and answered promptly.

TALK WITH KEYMEN FAILS OF RESULTS

G. T. R. Telegraphers and Manager Brownlee Unable to Reach Agreement.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—A serious difficulty has arisen between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and their railway operators through the refusal of Mr. Brownlee, general manager of transportation, to consider the request of the general committee representing the operators for extra pay for all Sunday work.

At the conference held at the Union Station today the men were offered a ten per cent increase in wages if they would allow the other regulations to remain as they are. The men, however, would not consent to this. They were firm in their demand for extra pay for all Sunday work, since this had been granted to the C. P. R. operators.

"Mr. Brownlee called off the negotiations this morning when he saw the attitude of the men," said the committee after the conference. "We are going back to work for the present, but Mr. Brownlee has promised to arrange a meeting for us with Mr. Fitzhugh, the third vice-president of the G. T. R.

"We told Mr. Brownlee that 60 per cent of our men had to work on Sunday and got nothing for it.

"He replied that the Grand Trunk was not making nearly as much as the C. P. R., and could not afford to grant our request because it would cost the company so much.

"The G. T. R. operators as a body are quite in earnest on the Sunday question, especially since the new Lord's Day act was passed, and we think that they will back us, even to the extent of walking out.

"About eight hundred operators are employed on the G. T. R. between Detroit and Portland, without including the old Canada Atlantic section, which has a separate agreement, which is still in force."

A CANADIAN-MADE TREATY.

In his Halifax address, Mr. Fielding naturally dwelt upon the French treaty, which is the work of Canadian negotiators. There are diplomatic reasons for not publishing its terms at present, but he believed it would be found satisfactory and advantageous to both nations. Apart from its provisions the treaty is of interest and importance as an evidence of Canada's growing stature and the elasticity of the imperial organization.

The Canadian negotiators went to Paris as Canadian ministers, but also as the accredited representatives of the King. The British ambassador at Paris signed the treaty as a matter of form after its terms had been agreed upon by the French Government and the Canadian ministers. The latter had the use and advantage of British diplomatic machinery, but there was no interference by the imperial authorities. Canada could have had no greater freedom of action if she had been a sovereign state. The British Government has fully recognized the right of Canada to determine for herself her commercial relations.

This assertion of Canadian commercial independence and treaty-making power has been brought about without any constitutional modifications. Theoretically the treaty could be annulled by the British Government, but the British constitution is not a thing of theory or logic. It is a practical, workable instrument, because of the political genius of the race. Its flexibility is such that it adapts itself almost automatically to new conditions and problems constantly arising in a world-wide Empire. Without organic changes in the organization of the Empire, the Dominion is gradually rising into the position of equality to whch her growth and power entitle her.

LICENSE LAW AND PARTY PULL.

In Ottawa, as in Toronto, politics and the license business have became badly mixed. The local Conservative machine undertook to make the license administration a feeder of the patronage crib. One of the commissioners, who was under the delusion that he was expected to divorce politics from his official duties, has resigned out of self-respect and a regard for his personal comfort. The spoilsmen have won the first round.

At Hensall the other day, Mr. M. Y. McLean illustrated how the license law was enforced in South Huron, where a proper administration was promised by Mr. Harry Eilber, M. P. P., and other Conservative speakers. The commission thought that no hotel was needed in the village of Khiva, and decided to cut the license off. Mr. Barney Cunningham, a Conservative worker, went to see Mr. Eilber. Mr. Eilber went to see the commission, and after a heated interview, the board saw new light, and the license will be continued.

In Exeter, the board decided, on the ground that there were too many hotels for the size of the population, to cut off a license held by a Liberal. The hotel premises passed into the hands of a Conservative, and the commission at once restored the license.

This is the history of the license administration under the Whitney Government in many ridings. The promise of a non-partisan administration of the law was deliberate humbug. The Government has been convicted of false pretenses.

THE PHILIPPINE EXPERIMENT.

The opening this week of the Philippine Assembly, a representative native body, is a notable historical event, and the result of the efforts of these wards of the United States at legislation and the solution of practical problems will be watched with interest the world over. The presiding officer, the leading orators and workers will be natives, all of whom are 'prentice hands in the art of government. It is to be expected that the spirit of the Assembly will be in favor of Philippine independence, if not at once, certainly in the near future. That this desire will find expression in the debates may be taken for granted.

Whatever may be said as to the wisdom of the United States in assuming the responsibilities of a colonizing power, it cannot be questioned that the experiment will prove of benefit to the natives of those islands. If they make the best use of their opportunities, it is certain to raise them in the scale of civilization and progress. They are now aware that municipal autonomy works well in the islands, that they possess among themselves men capable of acting as governors and judges, and that their children have gained useful knowledge in the public schools. Peace prevails where not long ago rebellion reigned, and in the maintenance of order a native constabulary assists.

The presence at the opening ceremonies of Secretary of War Taft will no doubt have a restraining effect on the more vigorous of the Filipino Nationalists, who no doubt require a curbing of some sort. If, eventually, the United States Government consents to allow these natives their independence, it will be when they have proven themselves qualified for such a responsibility, and are willing to take it on terms similar to those under which Cuba enjoys it.

The Victoria Colonist, a Conservative newspaper, says the press of Canada should treat the Japanese question with great restraint until the result of Mr. Lemieux's mission to Japan is known. The rebuke is well deserved by some of its eastern contemporaries.

Premier Whitney informed the press on Monday that the Government's power policy would be laid before the public in a few days. Today it is announced that the statement has been postponed. Doesn't the Government known its own mind, or has it two minds on the subject?

A MODERN PROPOSAL.

[Somerville Journal.]

Mildred—Sure!

THE CHILD VISION.

[Argonaut.]

When Lord Elphinstone was in America a couple of years ago he was entertained at dinner by a family, the head of which was to accompany his lordship on his hunting trip through the wilds of the Northwest. A child of 5 years, named Ethel, during the dinner, was big-eyed and big-eared with wonderment—in fact, completed over-awed by the presence of the distinguished foreigner. Ethel heard her mother and father say, "My lord this and my lord that," or "Will you have some of this, my lord, or some of that" the dinner being a purely informal one. Finally, when the moter was interested in the coversation of another guest, Ethel noticed that milord was gazing interestedly at a dish of relish quite out of his reach. The child thought she saw a chance to please Lord Elphinstone, and in a firm, clear voice, exclaimed: "Mamma, God wants some pickles."

THE DIVORCED LIFE.

[Argonaut.]

"What does your father do to earn his living?" asked a New York principal of a pupil who was being admitted.

"Please, ma'am, he doesn't live with us; mamma supports me."

"Well, then, how does your mother earn her living?"

"She gets paid for staying away from papa," replied the child, artlessly.

PRO BONO PUBLICO, ETC.

[Toronto Star.]

The civil engineers having decided to use the newspapers in their controversies, we beg to remind them that the way to get the newspapers in good humor is to write on one side of the paper only, to say it all in a paragraph, and then forget to post the letter.

NOISY VESTS COMING.

[New York Sun.]

Evolution in weaves and revolution in colorings is the alarming foreword vouchsafed by a well-known Gotham waistcoat expert, whose commercial crest bears the indorsement, "As I go, so go the fashions," speaking of the new season's styles. "Since my return from European capitals I have received confirmation of the prediction that in superior grade garments the radical departures from conventional modes will disclose a tendency toward adopting selections from the range of fabrics shown for dress goods." In the matter of particularizing the wise merchant thus relieved the situation: "Novelty silks of brilliant finish, such as grosgrain treatments, are prominent factors. Ornate buttons will unquestionably be in high favor this fall, harmonizing in tone as well as in general design with ground of waistcoat. Watch out for reproductions of effects in vogue a score of years ago, for both informal and formal wear."

FALL POEM.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

O sweet, sad memories of the leaf-strewn way!
This is a theme
That poets seem
To feast upon today.

The golden summer days, alack, have went.
Eheu! Eheu!
They always do;
A fact which bars lament.

The golden summer days beyond recall
Away have flown
To the unknown,
And left us naught save fall.

But ye who love the wistful autumn-tide,
Accept this song
Three inches long,
Two-and-a-quarter wide.

DICKENS INNS.

[London Daily Mail.]

To the lover of Dickens the news of the sale, which has just taken place, of the famous Bull Hotel at Rochester, at which the famous Pickwick party "put up" on their drive from London to the country, recalls a host of associations, for it was here that Mr. Jingle "applied himself with great interest to the port wine and dessert"; where Jingle, too, insulted Dr. Slammer; where Tracy Tupman and the widow, Mrs. Budger, tripped the light fantastic toe, and where Charles Dickens himself slept in bedroom 17 on several occasions.

The announcement for sale of Barnard's Inn in Holborn recalls still further associations with Dickens. Barnard's Inn is the Red Tavern at which Pip, of "Great Expectations," lodged. It is mentioned both in "Barnaby Rudge" and "Pickwick," and Dickens had his lodging in the inn for some time. The hall at the back, the smallest of all the halls of the London inns, will be saved.

AT ST. JOHN'S, LEAMINGTON

Harvest Home Services—Interesting Session of Deanery Chapter.

Very interesting harvest home services were held on Sunday, Oct. 13, in St. John's Church, Leamington, the preacher on this occasion being Rev. F. A. Chadwick, rector of A.. Saint's, Windsor. The sermons were timely and much appreciated. The church was beautifully decorated with grain, fruit and flowers; surpassing former years. Miss Easton was the leader in this work. The choir did nobly under the direction of Mr. Wm. Morris, and Mr. Howe, of Sandwich, contributed beautiful solos during the offertory. The collection amounted to $100.

On Monday evening the Ladies' Guild gave a harvest tea, which was largely attended and proved a very enjoyable affair. The ladies of St. John's are noted for their harvest teas, and this last was quite equal to former efforts. The net proceeds were $45.

The Deanery Chapter of the County of Essex met in the church on Monday, Holy communion was observed at 10 o'clock a.m., and the business of the deanery was taken up at 11. During the afternoon interesting papers were read, accompanied with profitable discussion, occupying the time from 2 to 5 o'clock. Among the subjects dealt with were the following: "Bruce's Apologetics," by Rev. W. H. Battersby, of Walkerville; "Work of the Day," by Rev. E. C. Jennings, of Kingsville; "The Secret of Effective Preaching," by Rev. J. M. McLeod, of Colchester.

Rev. Mr. Chadwick presided with his usual skill and urbanity.

The rector of Leamington, Rev. J. Edwards, and his wife, entertained the clergy to luncheon at 1 o'clock.

THE STANDARD'S DEFENSE

New York, Oct 16,—Counsel for the Standard Oil Company have prepared an elaborate defense in the Government's suit for dissolution of the oil combine, which they say will be developed in its entirety when the Government's attorneys have concluded taking their testimony.

The Standard's lawyers said today that they had not sought to adduce testimony on cross-examination of officials and employes of the so-called oil trust which would refute the allegations made in the federal complaint, but had deferred bringing out much evidence until later, when it could be produced continuously and in bulk. No intimation was given of the nature of the testimony which counsel for the Standard said would be brought out.

A telegram was sent to William G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey, last night by counsel for the Standard that the Government desired him as a witness before the adjournment is taken on next Friday for a month.

Frank B. Kellogg, counsel for the United States, spent the entire day in placing on the record statements submitted by several witnesses, showing the profits made by the Standard in various localities of the country. Statements were also produced showing that the Standard not only secured information concerning competitive shipments in the United States but in foreign countries.

THE PRESIDENT'S BALE.

60 DAYS FOR BERTHA.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Bertha E. Maloney was this morning sentenced to 60 days in jail for receiving stolen goods. Mrs. Maloney is the woman, who 12-year-old Bertha Wilson swore had taught her to steal, and had taken the proceeds of the child's robberies.

The home secretary has declined to interfere with the imprisonment of a newly-married couple at Sunderland. Becoming intoxicated at the wedding festivities, the bridegroom smashed a window at a public-house. The bride took her husband's part and both were arrested. As they were unable to pay for the damaged window they were sent to prison.

About forty Crimean and Indian mutiny veterans from the county of Dorset were present at the festivities held at Blanford in commemmoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the blowing up of the Cashmere Gate at the siege of Delhi in the Indian mutiny by a Dorset regiment. It was also the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Plassey in which the Dorset regiment played so important a part.

Sir Donald Currie and Mr. Carnegie offered to pay £6,000 to free the Edinburgh University Union from debt if the union raised a similar amount within a year. At a luncheon in the Students' Union, the secretary, Mr. J. Forbes Watson, stated that the sum had been raised, but owing to recent extensions a debt of £581 still remained. In responding, Sir Donald Currie intimated that he would make up the balance.

Owing to the rapid spread of Socialism at Tunbridge Wells in the working class quarters resulting from open air demonstrations addressed by powerful speakers who have visited the district, and from the wide distribution of democratic literature, the local Unionists have organized an Anti-Socialist League and invited the Liberals to co-operate. The latter, however, have declined, although not sharing the extreme political views of the Socialists.

Summoning her two little girls from play, Emily Balley, the wife of a pitman living at our Ashes, near Wolverhampton, took them to the adjacent canal, and after throwing the younger one, aged six, into the water, she ran after the other girl, aged nine. The latter, however, got away, and the mother returned and drowned herself. The bodies were subsequently recovered by the father. A verdict of wilful murder and suicide was returned at the inquest.

A curious episode marked a meeting of members of the English Church Union at Claydon Rectory recently. After service in the church the party proceeded to the parish room, where it had been arranged for luncheon to be served. The order had been given, but although it was ascertained that a van had started with the eatables, it did not arrive and could not be found. In this dilemma the rector, the Rev. Ansell Jones, taxed the resources of his larder and fed the company.

Preaching at a friendly societies' service at Woking, the Rev. Price Devereaux said there were men and women in that town who were living more the lives of beasts than of human beings, and who were a curse to their surroundings in almost every way. Even as he spoke, he said, he saw those who wished they were outside. He appealed to their manhood to show that the age of chivalry was not past, and to do their utmost to banish this lamentable evil of impurity from their midst—an evil that was veritably bringing men and women into the gutter.

Par chimney-stack, near St. Austell, the largest in the west of England, has been successfully thrown by Mr. William Larkins, the well-known expert. It has been disused for a quarter of a century. Standing 260 feet high, it was composed of a million and a half of bricks, weighing, it is calculated, 8,000 tons. Larkins thinned the base of the walls to the extent of a brick and a half, and then cut to a depth of three feet half-way round. The stack stood near the railway and the high road and its fall was watched by a large crowd. Engine drivers of passing trains were warned of the event by flagmen.

Racing Costs Millions Annually

Millions of dollars are spent each year in racing. Magnificent racing plans are maintained, the State is enriched by hundreds of thousands through an annual tax of receipts, racing associations declare handsome dividends, owners, trainers and jockeys reap rich and fabulous rewards, and thousands are paid out in salaries to those employed in various capacities. And who contributes the monumental fund from which all of the foregoing must be drawn and who reaps the benefits?

The answer is easy. August Belmont, Harry Payne Whitney, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Senator Reynolds, "Big Tim" Sullivan, Pat McCarren, James R. Keene, Andrew Miller, Phil Dwyer, "Brighton Beach" Engeman and some others not so prominently identified with the sport are the financial beneficiaries of the great money-making institution known as the race track. They get most of the money poured in by the public. The bookmakers get little, and the players, or, rather, the bettors, get less. If a $5 bill wagered on any old horse could be traced or tell its story, its progress would finally end in the safe of the racing association, or, as it is known, "the kitty."

TWO PLAYERS TO GO

Connie Mack Parts Company With Collins and Cross.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—It is reported here today that Connie Mack will part company with two of his players, Third Baseman Jimmy Collins and Shortstop Monte Cross being the two in question. Why the wily one should want to get rid of Collins is not understood in local circles. Neither of the two has had any trouble. It is said that several deals are pending with the other teams.

ENTRY BLANKS FOR THE HERALD RACE

Entry blanks for the Hamilton Herald road race, which comes off in Hamilton on the 31st of this month, can be obtained from the sporting editor of The Advertiser.

It was in this event that such men as Longboat and Davis were developed.

A large entry list is looked for, and the Hamilton people are desirous of getting some London starters in the race.

HANLON TO QUIT REDS

Announces That He Will Handle Baltimore Next Season.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—Edward Hanlon, the great baseball manager, is back home, and declares that he will not have charge of the Reds next season.

Hanlon says this is positive, and next season he will give his sole attention to the Baltimore Club, of which he is the owner. His sole ambition now is to give the Orioles a pennant team next season.

RACING CONCERN CLOSES

Investors to Tune of $200,000 Are Somewhat Excited.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—The Columbus branch of the Cargill Co., a race horse investment concern, closed today, and excited investors who, it is said, put $200,000 into the company, are asking for the agent, L. Sinclair.

According to a circular from the company, he is in New York, having gone from here last night with the books. The circular states that the company has had several losses which have wiped out its entire capital, and that an effort will be made to reorganize within 30 days.

The final meeting of the City Baseball League will be held in the City Hotel tonight, when the business of the league for the year will be closed up.

Some very interesting reports will be read.

Everybody interested is invited to be present. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

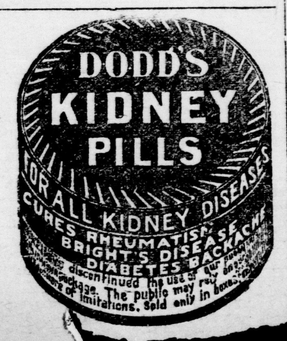

BIG GIFT TO OXFORD.

London, Oct. 16.—Lord Curzon, chancellor of Oxford University, announced today at a meeting of the university to appeal for funds that W. W. Astor, who already has contributed $50,000 to the university, had promised an equivalent sum as soon as the first $500,000 issue be subscribed.

AS A MAN SOWS

Copyright, 1907, by the North American Company.

BY HELEN WALLACE,

Author of "The Greatest of These," "Their Hearts' Desire," Etc.

Three is no company, I know," a high treble voice, and Basil's of hot words remained unspoken. ought to efface myself, I suppose; I can only do that by taking the ger way to the house, and I am e you would not wish to put me to at trouble," and Lady Carruthers, ose step and tapping cane had been audible on the mossy walk, looked om the one to the other and broke to her high-pitched, cackling laugh, sound before which sentiment and tender feelings shrunk and fled ghted, as ghosts at cock-crowing. ave never had a word yet with you, dear," putting her heavily-ringed on Isobel's slight arm. "Oh, no, will not be required at the house. a very easy task to speed the ing guest. We are all quite l to that; but you had better go, dear boy," nodding at Basil. "You ld help to pack the Duncaird dow- s into their shandry-dans. You Isobel can make up your little dif- ences by and by. That will be a asure to look forward to."

CHAPTER X.

Evelyn Ashe's Opportunity.

"Well, my dear," said the old lady, ng her young companion with her tering black eyes, when Conyers force had strode wrathfully away, wonder who you really are?"

he girl, a-tingle with smarting and hurt feeling, turned sharply at this amazing query. "Who ?" she echoed.

s, who are you, or what are you ? You are flesh and blood,' dly pinching the slender arm, "but are more like your great-grand- t come to life again than your old . What have you done with that self, eh?" peering into the aston- d gray eyes.

"Am I really so much changed?" ked Isobel, in a low, troubled voice.

"You're like another person, my ar," said the old lady, briskly. "How- , I am glad to see that other s are unchanged, that you have ked up the dropped stitches again mean, of course, that the engage- t is going on," in answer to the ht arching of the delicate brows. sil is a nice boy, though he's nged, too," reflectively. "I should wonder but what this will make an of him."

"I don't know what you mean," ex- imed Isobel, drawing away her arm suddenly that Lady Carruthers' gs clinked together as her hand pped down. "I—we are not en- ged!"

"Dear, dear," said the old lady, king her head, with a smile. "I w it was a lovers' quarrel, but I not think it was so serious. I uld make it up, though; a broken gagement does a girl no good, and re has been quite talk enough about already, my dear. "Now, now," hing, as a steel-like flash came the gray eyes, "what's the good of being 80 years old and more if you can't say what you like?"

"Then you will say a little more, please, and explain what you mean."

The old woman looked at the pliant figure strung tense, and at the high young head.

"You'll do, my dear," nodding appreciatively, "you've a fine spirit of your own, wherever you've got it, but since I seem to have put my foot in it, I may as well make the plunge. I took leave to doubt whether you could really have forgotten everything; but if a girl forgets that she is engaged there is no more to be said on that score, at least."

"Then, I was engaged to my Cousin Basil?" coldly.

"Yes. Has he not refreshed your memory yet on that point? I quite supposed he had."

"You have saved him any further trouble. He should thank you for it. Shall we go back to the house now? You are tired perhaps; would you like to take my arm again?" The brief sentences were uttered in the same level sustained voice.

This was no "bruised reed" certainly, thought Lady Carruthers as she hooked her hand again through the extended arm. She would as soon expected the fluttering bird to turn upon a watching cat as little Isobel to show fight in this fashion.

Up and down the avenue vehicles of all sorts were passing, coming round from the stables or driving away from the house. With her eyes looking straight and fixed before her Isobel paid little heed to this bustle of departure as she crossed the drive.

Suddenly there was a rush, a frantic toot from a horn, a cry of fright or warning which seemed to break out all around her. Wrenched sharply away from one all-absorbing thought, she hesitated, bewildered. Before she could realize that that panic cry was directed at herself she was seized in a strong grasp and snatched aside, while something huge and dark whizzed by so near that the waft of its motion stirred her hair and fluttered her soft-sweeping skirts.

Before another breath could be drawn it was all over. She found herself supported by Evelyn's Ashe's arm, his face a shade or two paler, a glint in the opaque eyes fixed on hers. Everyone was crowding round her, excited, curious, clamorously-sympathetic. The Balachallan motor was drawn up a short distance off, and its occupants were hurrying forward to swell the group. Next moment Ashe gently withdrew his arm. In such matters his tact never failed.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Stormont, but there was no other way. The driver had lost his head apparently. He had no right, of course, to start off at such a pace when so many people were about, but we needn't be too hard on him now, poor devil. He's had his lesson, I think, as the luckless amateur chauffeur, who had aspired to steer the Balachallan motor, came up white with fright and consternation to make what apologies he might.

Isobel met them with a quiet "I think it was I who was most to blame; I should have been more careful," as she let Ashe hurry her away from the stares and comments.

Miss Rudgeley shrugged her shoulders as the group dispersed. "I told you you would kill something or somebody. Tommy," she said to her would-be charioteer; "but I hoped tht village hen would have satisfied you. Jackson had better take us home, for I don't want to be accessory to murder or manslaughter, as we all might have been if it hadn't been for Evelyn Ashe. I hope you're properly grateful to him, though you're done him an uncommonly good turn, too, you and that mooning girl between you. I fancy there are a good many who wouldn't have objected to the chance."

And foremost among them was Basil teeth when a luridly colored version Conyers, who secretly guashed his of the story reached him. Good God! why had he not been there! He would have given his right hand to save a hair of Isobel's head from danger, and it had been left to this fellow to snatch her from a hideous peril, and his vague dislike of the man flamed into an unreasoning but most human hatred. He had to admit, though, that Ashe bore his new honors well. Not every man can fill the position of hero of the moment gracefully.

And Basil was not the only one who wished that the little drama could have been played with a somewhat different cast. Up in her dainty room Isobel sat looking out over the now deserted lawn, across which the shadows of the trees were stretching longer and longer in the last of the sunset. If it had not been for Mr Ashe she might never have seen it all again. That was the bare truth. And yet, when the mists of sudden, uncomprehended terror had cleared away, and she had looked up into Evelyn Ashe's eyes, why was it that another face had flashed before her—a face eager, tender, triumphant, with the great old hall for a background—her first conscious sight of her cousin Basil's face since that black cloud of forgetfulness had blotted out all else? "Why was it Mr. Ashe? Why wasn't it he? It should have been he?" The gasping words seemed torn from her as the climbing sobs fought their way up the slender, convulsed throat.

But there was no sign of Niobe in the young Diana who entered the drawing-room a little later, a certain cold brilliance in her young beauty suggesting the comparison. The soft sheen of the pearl seemed to have been changed for the glitter of the diamond. Her mother glanced at her once or twice uneasily. She had begged her in vain to rest, not to appear at dinner, and Isobel would have snatched at any excuse for avoiding such a large party. This was a change indeed!

Lady Stormont was another of those who grudged Ashe his chance. He had done them an unspeakable service, and yet she was ashamedly conscious of a note of effort in the grateful words which she strove to make all the warmer, since her husband's acknowledgment seemed somewhat inadequate for so great a debt. Probably, he, too, wished it had been Basil; but be the man who he might, they owed him more than they could ever repay.

Ashe was not the man to underestimate what was due to him, but for the present he was satisfied with the first fruits. No need to angle now for an invitation to Stormont through Lady Carruthers. He could dispense with her aid. He had secured that coveted foothold now. Even his place at table witnessed to the change. He was not relegated to the knot of partnerless men who brought up the rear of the long procession, but was seated opposite Isobel, where he could watch the play of her features and even catch snatches of her talk.

Now that he was under the same roof, it would be strange, indeed, if he could not solve the mystery of that curious likeness and even more curious unlikeness, on which all Miss Stormont's acquaintances were remarking, and which seemed to open up a wider field, though it was all vague as yet, than even the causes or happenings of that singular disappearance on which he had first built his hopes.

And how great the prize might be! Wealth, assured position, ease, after all his tortuous shufflings and strivings. It was beyond his wildest dreams. What more could he want, he would once have said; but now even Stormont itself was not enough. That strange dull glow kindled in his eyes as they swept round the loftly paneled room and fixed upon the girl opposite, in her simple-sumptuous white dres, wtih a handful of heavy-petaled white hothouse roses, drooping at her young bosom, as white as they.

Yet, there was something more, something which he wanted supreme-ly, something which, cost what it might, he would have. He knew it now, as across the shining table and through the subdued glow of light and color he looked into Isobel Stormont's face!

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

6985—A SMART WAIST IN CHIFFON CREPE DE CHINE.

One does not always desire plain waists or simple ones, though the home needlewoman is often deterred from attempting the more elaborate models for fear of the difficulties which they present. A waist which deserves special mention for its graceful charm is here sketched. It is made of chiffon crepe de chine, but any soft silken fabric or a soft-draping wool would make up prettily. For the vest and cuffs embroidery is used, while an all-over lace is employed for the chemisette and mitten extension sleeves. Pleats adorn the waist very effectively, with velvet ribbon applied in strap effect and enhanced by small buttons. If the mitten sleeve is not desired, this may be omitted, and the sleeves made in a single long puff to the elbow. To develop this pretty waist in the medium size 3¾ yards of 27-inch material will be needed.

6985—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

DOOMED TO DIE FOR KILLING SQUAW

Chief of Tribe Tried in Far North for Crime Incited by Devil Worship.

Selkirk, Man., Oct. 16.—Commissioner Perry, R.N.-W.P.M., and his party arrived here tonight after an absence of a fortnight. The commissioner sat as judge with special powers in the district of Keewatin, to try the famous wholesale strangling case which had been agitating the far north for the past few years. Chief Fiddler, or Pa-cje-quan, credited with 26 murders in as many years, committed suicide at the police barracks by deftly strangling himself with his waistband a few days before the head of the police arrived at Norway House to hold his trial. However, his brother, Joseph, Pa-cje-quan, the second high priest of the awful cult, was arraigned, and on his arraignment pleaded guilty the morning after the commissioner's arrival at the ancient Hudson's Bay post. The trial of Joseph occupied thirteen hours, and at its conclusion he was found guilty by the special jury of six, and condemned to death by hanging on January 7, 1908, at the police barracks at Norway House. On account of the remoteness of the prisoner's tribe from the habitation of the white man, and his consequent ignorance of the white man's laws, a recommendation for mercy was added to the verdict. The most sensational evidence was that given by two Indian youths, mere boys, who had married into the Fiddler family, and on their evidence proved the prisoner's guilt in the murder of their kinswoman, Wa-Sake-Peequay, by strangulation. They also admitted having held her hands down during the dreadful deed, and stated also that they had seen and patricipated in other such murders. A profound sensation was created in court when Mi-No-Wa-Pa-Win, "Eyelids," or Owl Rae, told of the rites by the camp fire, and how he held his cousin's wrists while the old stranglers did the dreadful deed.

Assisted in a Subsequent Crime.

Still more sensational even was the statement by Mana-Wa-Pait, or Angus Rae, when he described his part in it, and quietly added that he had helped to strangle a man three weeks after the murder for which the prisoner was now being specifically charged. The deeds were done generally for the purpose of putting people out of misery, and the evil spirit legend only came into play as a secondary consideration. C. C. Sinclair, the Hudson's Bay accountant at Norway House, tells of a horrible tragedy which occurred in a Crane band at Gods Lake a few years ago, where he was stationed then. The executioners partially strangled a man and tied him up and flung the body in the flames. The thongs burned through, and the sizzing burning wretch ran round the camp until burned to death. Angus Rae was detained on a charge of participating in these murders, and a small but heroic band of police will again make the long march to Sandy Lake, 400 miles northeast of Norway House, to bring out the Meekises and Raes. The scarlet coated police are determined to stamp out the awful practice, and "Eyelids" Rae will go back with the police to Sand Lake to spread the story of the King's justice.

COMING TO THE WEDDING.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 16.—Private dispatches received here from abroad say that Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and the Duchess of Marlborough were leaving for New York. They will arrive in time for many of the entertainments that will continue to be given for Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and her fiancee, Count Laszie Szecheny, and will attend the wedding, which society now generally understands will take place in New York Dec. 4. Reports of family dissensions because of the match find no official confirmation here.

Citizens Inspect Talbot Street School Find Ventilation Is Very Faulty

Threaten to Take Their Children Away—What Is Wanted to Improve the Place.

The sanitary conditions of Talbot street school are very bad. This is not very sensational news. It has been known for some years, at least three, that the school was very unsanitary to say the least. Conditions have not improved since this was first known; in truth they have become very much worse,until today the conditions are such that parents consider the school a menace to the health of children.

Complaints are innumerable that the place is unfit for pupils. Many parents have been obliged to keep their children out of school until they recovered from indispositions developed there. It is a well established fact that there is more sickness in the Talbot street school than in any other school in the city. This is a patent fact.

Merely Promises.

It has been the custom of boards of education to promise to better conditions. Innumerable inspections have been made, and all have resulted in the report that conditions were very bad. Then the board of education would promise that improvements would be made—in the summer, or as soon as the Christmas holidays began. Thus from year to year complaints have been coming in, and nothing has resulted. There is considerable feeling expressed among the citizens of the locality concerning the conditions, and there is a well-expressed demand that the board of education do something and do it quickly.

Deputation Inspects.

Yesterday afternoon a deputation of citizens, who have children going to Talbot street school, headed by Mr. J. H. Carling and Mr. David Cowan, and accompanied by an Advertiser reporter, visited the school, and found that the conditions had not been exaggerated. Mr. Carling has been compelled to keep his children away from school for a couple of weeks, and Mr. Cowan had much trouble with his children. These were not isolated cases, but were just samples of the many. Their children complained of the bad odors, and all complained of headaches. All were of the opinion that there was not a bit of wonder that the children's heads ached. The odors were abominable, and the ventilation very bad. The condition of the water closets was disgrace, one of the deputation said. The fetid odors were discernible as soon as the school was entered, and the condition did not improve with acquaintance. A thorough inspection was made over the building.

Mr. Carling Speaks.

"The conditions are disgraceful," declared Mr. Carling. "If we had any regard for the health of our children we would not send them to the school at all. The ventilation is abominable. The windows are closed up tight, and there is no fresh air in the rooms at all. I do not wonder at the youngsters having headaches. It would be a wonder if they did not. Put any man in that room for half a day and he would have a headache that would frighten him. I have told the board about the conditions, but none of the members have made any attempt to improve conditions."

Mr. Cowan was of the same opinion.

What Is Wanted.

What is needed for the school is as follows, as far as could be seen:

First—The closets should be removed outside of the building, and connected with the sewer system of the city. At present the closets are disgraceful. They are used by over 400 children, and are of an old and worn-out style. There is no sewer connection, and they are cleaned out but twice a year. These closets in a building, no matter how large, are enough to ruin the health of a regiment.

Second—A modern system of ventilation should be installed. The present system is a mistake, and always has been. The Smead-Dowd system has never been a success, and is being replaced in every building where it can be replaced. The air that is forced into the rooms at present comes over the closet pits, and cannot be, and never has been, wholesome.

Third—A good system of furnaces to replace the Smead-Dowd system.

An Excellent School.

The school itself is a well-built school with high ceilings, and plenty of air space. It is well-lighted, and could be easily made one of the finest schools in the city. The improvements suggested would not cost a very great deal, but would be of infinite help to the children. It is not going wide of the mark to state that there are quite a number of parents who are seriously considering the question of taking their children out of school. They have become weary of the delay, and are now anxious for something to be done. Masterly inactivity is not making much of a hit with them.

Board of Health.

Dr. Niven, chairman of the board of health, has visited the school, and he gave it as his opinion that the conditions were very bad, and he thought that the school should be closed for three weeks or more until the ventilation of the rooms could be improved. He is seized of the fact that the school is in a very unhealthy condition, and that it should be improved at once.

All Proposed Increases Indorsed Teachers' Salaries Given a Lift

Board of Education Adopts the Proposals of No. 1 Committee.

The members of the board of education held a special meeting yesterday afternoon at which the recommendations of No. 1 committee's report were adopted. In addition to the fixing of the salaries of the Collegiate and public school teachers, two other recommendations for increased salaries were carried.

Chairman Fitzgerald stated that Mr. Quantz, the music master, and Miss McIntosh, of the domestic science department, had not had their salaries increased.

Trustee Graham moved, seconded by Trustee McRoberts, that Mr. Quantz's salary which is now $900 a year, be increased to $1,000. It was decided also to increase Miss McIntosh from $400 to $500 per year.

The matter of fixing the salary for the proposed male teacher to be appointed to take charge of the principal's room in the different public schools was the cause of considerable discussion.

The Basis.

Trustee Westervelt asked what basis they were going to establish such a salary upon.

Trustee Graham thought the same as the public school principals would be fair.

Trustee McRoberts moved that the salaries be from $1,300 to $1,500 a year, to start, the same as the principals. He thought the position would be a very hard one to fill, as the assistant principal would have so many different classes to meet and would have to maintain order with them all. To do this he would have to be an excellent disciplinarian. In addition to this he would have a lot of running about to do in order to reach the different schools.

Trustee Weekes took strong exception to this motion and moved in amendment that the salaries be from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Mr. Weekes thought the duties would not be nearly as arduous as those of the principal. The new man would have practically no responsibility.

Trustee Westervelt supported Mr. Weekes'motionandChairman hh h h h Weekes' motion, and Chairman Fitzgerald asked the members to hear Inspector Edwards before voting upon it.

Duties of Assistants.

Inspector Edwards said the duties of the new man would be to go into the principal's room and take charge of it while the principal went out and went through the different rooms of the school to see that all was in order. In the majority of cases the principal could complete his inspection in one day, but in the case of a sixteen-room school it would take two days at least. The position would be one where a good man would be required.

Trustee Westervelt thought the whole thing was an experiment and that they could get a good man who would take the position and give every satisfaction for $1,000 a year.

On a vote being taken the amendment to make the salary $1,000 to start with was carried.

A Question.

Trustee Teasdall asked why the salaries of the non-graduate male assistants in the Collegiate were less than those of the principals in the public schools, they getting from $1,000 to $1,400 while the principals got from $1,300 to $1,500.

Trustee Graham stated that the committee had arranged the salaries in that way as they thought the public school principal had far more work and considerably more responsibility.

The resignation of Mr. William Govenlock, of the Collegiate Institute, was read and accepted, and a new man will be advertised for at once.

Appointments.

Miss S. A. Kilbourn, of Owen Sound, was appointed to the kindergarten staff as assistant director.

The name of Miss Blanche E. Hayes was added to the list of substitute teacher.

The committee's recommendation that the apparatus for the Collegiate Institute be purchased at a cost of $239 37, was carried.

Those present were Chairman Fitzgerald, Trustees Weekes, Westervelt, Tillmann, Teasdall, Granger, Graham, McRobert, Inspector Edwards and Secretary McElheran.

CHOPS OFF HIS QUEUE

New York, Oct. 16.—The lights were turned out in the all-night resorts in China town yesterday morning when a little stout Chinaman, with a long black and gray queue and attired in his native garb, came out of the hallway of a house on Mott street. His eyes were red from weeping, and he was frightened as well as worried. Suddenly he drew a pair of scissors from his blouse and cut off his queue.

He was Fung Lee, one of California's richest Orientals. He came to this city ten days ago with more than $12,000. The money was in a strong leather belt which he wore day and night. Lee had never been in New York before. Besides the $12,000 he had with him a Chinese jewel said to be 400 years old and worth $10,000. He is now minus the costly jewel as well as the money. He lost a large part of the money playing fan-tan for the last week with Chinese gamblers, and was robbed of the jewel while asleep.

LETTERS OF VICTORIA GIVEN TO THE PUBLIC

London, Oct. 16.—The London papers this morning publish elaborate extracts from the "Letters of Queen Victoria," which made their appearance today by authority of King Edward. These letters form an interesting autobiography which, without revealing any important political matters not already known, present a deeply absorbing picture of the queen's life and character. Editorially the newspapers express their grateful thanks to the King for these selections from the 600 volumes at Windsor, in which the queen's letters and papers are classified and indexed.

BOWLING CURLING RACING

Margot Takes the Windsor Stake Race The Event Very Poorly Contested

Lexington Lady Wins Second Event From Virginia Maid in a Stirring Finish.

Windsor, Oct. 17.—The Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company stake was run at Windsor yesterday under ideal weather and track conditions. The day was warm and bright, and a surprisingly large number of spectators were on hand to witness the racing.

An excellent card is announced for today and the managemnt announces Ladies' Day for tomorrow.

The feature of yesterday's racing was, of course, the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company stake, a five and one-half furlong affair for all ages. The purse was $1,000 with a value of $800 to the winner. Margot took the lead after a good start and was never headed. She had the speed of her company all the way. Goes Fast and Ketchemike put up a game race, but did not seem to have it in them to catch the leader. Ketchemike took the place and Goes Fast came over third. It was one of the tamest races on the programme.

The three-quarter-mile race for 3-year-olds and upward went to Redondo, Mulcahey gave his mount a clever ride, holding off to the stretch and coming up from fourth position. Taunt and the winner fought it out down the stretch, but the gelding had the best of it, crossing the wire a length to the good. Tyrolean came over third.

A stirring finish was that in the five and one-half furlong event for 2-year-olds. Lexington Lady won, but the credit belongs more to Foley, her rider, than to her own speed. She took an early lead, but it was only a slight one. At the half she led her field by a neck, and at the three-quarters Virginia Maid was only a head behind. If Rosen had been Foley's equal Virginia Maid would have taken the first money, and as it was the winner got there with only the tip of her nose to spare. Eonite came strong down the stretch, finishing third by a neck.

After a delay of five minutes at the post caused by Awawegang's desire to push everybody else over the fence, a good start was had in the seven-eighths-mile affair for 4-year-olds and upwards. The race was between Bonnie Reg, Showman and Awawegang, and the former won by a length. He did all his racing in the last eighth, coming up from sixth position and racing the leaders down through the stretch. Showman finished second and Awawegang third. The latter had no excuse for finishing where he did. He led at the stretch and should have been able to maintain the pace to the finish.

In the three-quarter-mile race for 3-year-olds and upwards, Sweet Kitty appeared to have it on her company to the stretch. She led all the way around, but had not enough in reserve to pull her through when the pinch came. Grace Kimball took command at the stretch and won in a drive. Florentine was coming strong, but had to skirt the whole field, losing a lot of ground at the last turn. The two leaders had a lot left when the finish was passed. Glena MacBride had to travel all she knew to take third position from Grifton.

Although he was under a hard drive all the last quarter of the one and one-sixteenth miles for 4-year-olds and up, Oberon had the speed of his party and held them safe throughout. After three minutes at the post and a good start he forged to the front and was never headed, although King of the Valley kept him running down the stretch. At the finish the King was crowding him and he won by the small margin of a neck. Harry Scott was outrun from the start, appearing to have nothing of the brilliance that characterized his race with Rather Royal Tuesday. Jungle Imp ran a good race, but hesitated a bit at the finish, and came over outside the money.

Cure, the French Billiardist, Has Peculiar Style of Shooting

Willie Hoppe Has an Entirely Different Way of Hitting the Balls.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Louis Cure, the Frenchman, has the most striking position at the billiard table of any of the cracks. Cure is a big man, but is down lower when he shoots than players of fewer inches. He squats. Then, too, he bends his knees, stands rather lightly on the fore part of his feet and pumps up and down as he is getting ready for the shot. He lowers, keeps his body in motion all the time, and the knee bend distinguishes him from other players.

George Slosson is the rigid type of player. He stands up fairly high with the butt of his cue lower than is the case with Schaefer. He does not turn his head as much as Schaefer, and is more solidly set on his feet. He has not as much weight to carry as George Sutton, whose position is not the personification of grace.

Sutton is short and stout and stands close to the table, closer than the other big man, Cure. He squats something like Cure, however, but is inclined to sprawl on the table, getting his embonpoint up close to it and spreading out on it. He is firm on his feet, has the arm extended and sights along the cue like a man aiming a gun.

The youngster, William Hoppe, is pretty well up over the balls when he shoots. His feet are firmly planted, but not heavily so, for he shifts easily. His whole attitude suggests the unstudied. He does not stoop much. His head is turned a bit, making it appear as if he were looking out of the corner of his eye. There is a noticeable spread of the fingers of the left hand. He has a very expressive hand.

Photographs of Hoppe and Vignaux in their 18.1 balk line championship match in Paris show Hoppe to be closer to the table than Vignaux. The veteran Parisian is built on dignified lines and takes all his dignity to the billiard table. He stands up high, though well over the balls, looks straight ahead, carries the cue low and has a straight wrist and a sweeping movement.

Probably the firmest of all on his feet was Frank Ives, the Napoleon of billiards and by many considered the best player that ever lived. He was an extremely careful player, one who more than anybody else realized the risk of carelessness. He had a habit of fairly planting himself on his feet when getting ready for a shot, bent his body at a medium angle, but stood up straighter over a masse shot than anybody else. Every part of him had to be fixed just so when preparing to shoot, and a friend tells how he has known Ives to wear depressions in the end of his cues from adjusting his fingers.

Albert Garnier, the Frenchman, has a supple wrist like Schaefer, but swings more. Ora Morningstar is a graceful player, with a pretty stroke and free wrist movement, who leans well over. Cutler, the Bostonian, shoots with a noticeably short bridge and doubles all but the fore-finger underneath, the middle knuckles of the other fingers resting on the table. Tom Gallagher is a straight-backed player, as is John Roberts, the English expert, who has an imposing presence at the table, squarely poised and using the thumb bridge that all Englishmen favor.

SWEET MARIE DEFEATS THE MAJOR

Allentown, Oct. 16.—Two world's trotting records were broken today on the Allentown Fair Grounds before 10,000 people.

In the match race for $5,000 between Sweet Marie and Major Delmar, best two in three heats, the fleet mare won in straight heats, and incidentally broke the half-mile track record for a mile race. Her best time was 2:08, made in the second heat, bettering the former record of 2:09¾, held by Dandy Jim.

Sweet Marie's time in the first heat was 2:10.

The other record was made by George G., this season's unbeaten trotter, which, paced by a runner, broke the world's half-mile record for an exhibition mile. His time was 2:06¾. The former record was 2:07, made by Sweet Marie on the Allentown track Sept. 20, this year.

In the match race Sweet Marie was very steady, while Major Delmar had trouble in making the turns. The latter was swept off his feet in making the first turn in the first heat, losing three lengths, which he nearly made up to the wire, being a neck behind the winner. In the second heat Alta McDonald pushed the gelding ahead in the first eighth and gained two lengths to the quarter.

At the half the horses were neck and neck, but nearing the three-quarter pole Major Delmar broke and Sweet Marie won with ease in 2:08. Summary:

Special race, for $5,000—

Sweet Marie, b.m., by McKinney (Andrews)	1	1
Major Delmar, b.g. (McDonald)..	2	2

Time by quarters:

First heat—33, 1:06, 1:38, 2:10.

Special race, against time, for $10,000:

George G., by Homeward (McDonald)	1
Time, 2:06½.

Time by quarters—31½, 1:02½, 1:34½, 2:06¾.

GAMBLING BARRED

Kentucky Racing Association Prohibits It on State Tracks.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 16.—The Kentucky state racing commission yesterday adopted a resolution prohibiting gambling on all race tracks within the state licensed by the commission. The new rule will not go into effect until the opening of the spring meeting.

The action of the commission means that there will be no bookmaking save under the English betting system, which has been tried successfully at Bennings.

The action of Sheriff Ballett, of Jefferson county, in refusing to sanction gambling at the fall meeting of the New Louisville Jockey Club brought about the passing of the new rule by the commission. Sheriff Ballett's stand resulted in the declaring off of the Louisville meeting. The new betting system, it is thought, will do away with all opposition, and permit the running of all meetings scheduled for the state next year.

A SPECIAL PERMIT FOR INDIAN AND SELLEN TO RUN IN EAST

Irish-Canadians Apply to C. A. A. U. for Protection at Montreal Road Race.

Toronto, Oct. 17.—The Irish-Canadians are taking no chances with Tom "C." Longboat, Percy Sellen, and W. F. Cumming, or any others of their runners who go to Montreal for the big Herald Around-the-Mountain road race on Thanksgiving Day.

"Big Chief" and his comrades are venturing into the enemy's stronghold, and Tom C. Flanagan, the I.C.A.C. generalissimo, has been carefully surveying lines of retreat in case trouble arises. He has applied to the registration committee of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union for permission for his men to run in the race. The C.A.A.U., after considering the circumstances, has concluded that it would be a good thing for the cause to have Longboat and some of the team run down there, and will issue a permit for Longboat to appear at a meet not under C.A.A.U. sanction. This permit is the same sort of a protective document that the union issues when a Canadian athlete or team crosses the border to compete.

The Irish-Canadians are simply competing in a district where the federation claims jurisdiction, therefore they are in the same circumstances as if they were crossing the border for sports under A.A.U. control.

Of course if the Herald race were under federation sanction, Longboat would not go, but, as every athlete who enters has to take the C.A.A.U. affidavid of amateurism, the C.A.A.U. feels that Longboat, Sellen, Cumming, and company, can safely be allowed to compete.

"No football mixup for me," says Mr. Flanagan. "You can bet your bottom dollar Tommy and Percy and Billie and I will know just where we get off before we buy our pasteboards for the town down on the St. Lawrence."

Race Horses That Turn Rogues Natural Racers That Won't Run

Cairngown and Keenan Notable Examples—Cost Bettors Thousands

New York, Oct. 16.—"Look at the old rogue—ears pricked, tail a-swishing, and he won't run fast enough to keep himself warm, although everybody knows that if he'd try he could beat anything now running on the New York tracks," observed a keen trainer at the Bay the other afternoon when the once fine thoroughbred Cairngorm, now turned rogue, was clomping along in the sulks, far in the rear of a very ordinary field of horses. "There's a crackerjack that can't be figured on at all any more now that he's turned mean and cunning and sour. He was meant for one of the clinkers of the game, but he has always been more or less of a sulker. Now he's gone completely into the rogue class, and there's no curing that.

"Fortunately not many of them do go cunning that way. Still it's easy to remember plenty of instances of soured horses. Ormonde's Right, for instance, was meant for a topnotcher, but his disposition was always against him. He was a man eater from an early age and had to be muzzled. He had the conformation and the power to run fast and all day, but he turned cranky and mean and crafty early in his career. He'd have been one of the main ones if it hadn't been for that. Toward his finish on the main tracks he'd have a decent streak occasionally and then something could be got out of him—he'd just forget to sulk, that is.

"Under bamboozing and petting and cajolery he'd go out once in a great while and put it all over the best of them, but even his trainer never could tell when that one intended to run straight and true, and so he was never any kind of a betting proposition. Ordinarily he'd stand stock still at the barrier, or wheel when the barrier flew up, or if he got off he'd sulk if the boy tried to kick him a little to make him overtake his flying field, and then, just to show that he could do it if he wanted to, he'd take after the field and catch his horses easily, and then, having done that much, he'd pin his ears and chuck it as if somebody'd hit him behind the ear with a beer mallet.

"Another one of the unconscionable rogues was Blues, the really great horse owned by Frank Farrel. From every angle Blues was a ripper, but Farrell lost tens of thousands of dollars on him, both in bets and in tossed stakes, because the horse had a mean mind and wouldn't give up the best he had in him more than once or twice a year.

"Then, going further back, there was Keenan. Keenan was one of the greatest race horses ever produced in this country, but he turned from a sweet dispositioned colt into one of the sourest rogues in American turf history, almost in a night, without anybody ever being able to offer an explanation. He raced not only in the United States, but in England, and in India, and the profoundest student of the idiosyncrasies of race horses was never able to dope it out how Keenan was going to run after he had taken it into his head to join the sulkers' brigade. Once they got Keenan all sweetened up while he was racing in India, and entered him for the great Indian cup, which is run at Calcutta. His trainer gave it out that Keenan was acting as pretty as a seminary girl at her graduation exercises, and as it was known that the famous rogue was on edge they made him a top-heavy favorite for the race.

"The Keenan rogue got off in front and just tincanned along in that position, leading by eight or ten lengths to the very middle of the stretch, and at that point he was going as easy as a slag train bound down a steep grade and all brakes off. Then he suddenly pinned his ears and began to flail his tail up and down, and then he stopped so suddenly that his boy almost went over his head. Keenan deliberately permitted every other horse in the race to pass him, and it was estimated that the story of his renewed sweetness of temper, which his trainer really believed in himself, cost the Calcutta bettors that day something like a million of our money."

Ball Tossers Have Queer Names Many Humorous Misnomers Noted

Cy Young Is Not Young—Kane Plays When He Is Able

There are a whole lot of things peculiar to baseball, but without a doubt one of the most peculiar is the great collection of names hitched to players who engage in the great national pastime. Every one from a Hogg to a Lord seems to be in the sport professionally. They even have Angels, a person by that name having been transferred from Denver to Little Rock recently.

According to the latest bulletin of Secretary Farrell, Ed L. Goes from Springfield to Oklahoma City, but that is not strange, Springfield being in Missouri, the management probably had to be shown.

To the religiously inclined there is some consolation in the sport. Sunday baseball, notwithstanding. Pope is with Terra Haute, Pastor holds down short for Norwich, Conn. Pastorious pitches for Brooklyn, Lord plays third for Providence, Crist is with Trenton, and an eminent player Devine is center fielder for Lawrence. Kane also plays left field for Brocton when he is Abel, which is considered a poor joke.

West pitches for Toledo and Walter East plays second base for Akron, South is a member of a South Atlantic League, but North can't be found.

One of the best combinations is a battery that works at DuBois, Pa. Watosky pitches to Businsky, which is going some.

Meek holds down first base for Birmingham, but as yet Moses has not butted into the game. Noah, however, flings for Newcastle, Pa., and is said to be one of the greatest rainy day pitchers in the business.

The ladies are well represented. Misses, left field, Marshalltown; Ruby is right field for Springfield, Lizette plays first for Rock Island, Ethelbaum is a pitcher for Eau Claire, Hezel works at second for Oshkosh, and Magie is Utica's first baseman. Bell pitches for Brooklyn, while Rose plays second for Burlington.

Marguerite and Sadie may come out next season.

Steel, of Wilkesbarre, is said to be one of the greatest runners in the business. Noyes, of Hartford, doesn't live up to his name and never is seen on the coaching lines.

Fred Snow, with Lansing, is a great cold-weather player, and Winterrs, of Boston, usually makes good on a hot July day. Thus it will be seen that there is little or nothing in a name. Chill is a Central League umpire and his is a Burlington flinger. Burt Blue, who catches for Columbus, is one of the most cheerful men in baseball, and continually works with his face wreathed in Smiles. George Upp, a pitcher with the same club, is a steady man and seldom if ever ascends.

Just by the way, it might be well to mention that in Lee Sage, Oshkosh has one of the wisest gents in baseball.

For unusual names the Virginia League taken collectively has it on all the rest. Loos plays right field for Portsmouth, Lavinder pitches for Danville, Flowers does the same for Roanoke, while Henn is an outfielder with Danville. Reggy works at short for the same club, but Algernon and Percival have not been discovered. To cap the climax Salve pitches about once a week for Richmond. That is going some for one league. Grover Laudermilk is with Matoon. Yont pitches for Keokuk.

The Eastern League has quite a collection of pitchers in Vowinkle, Kissinger and Tozer, Buffalo; Hesterfer, Toronto; Pfanmiller, Jersey City; Pappalau, Rochester.

Plummer, Quincy; Barbour, New London, and Mason, Troy, represent the trades. Lemon is a catcher in the west, and in spite of the handicap of his cognomen nobody has suggested trying a can on him.

Schoop works for Augusta and House for Marshalltown, while Louis Hall does stunts at Sioux City.

Charlie Starr is conceded to be the leading shortstop of the O. and P. League, working at Youngstown, while Redman, catcher there, wears a complexion which often causes inquiry if he is a descendant of a "big chief."

There are all sorts of colors in the game; Blue, Columbus; White, Chicago; Black, who used to be in Oil City; Greene, Buffalo; Brown, Montreal, and Stratford, and a few others.

And there sure is nothing in a name, when Upp pitches steadily, Lemon is a finished player, and Young is the oldest pitcher in organized ball.

HIGHBALL TAKES M'DOWELL STAKE

Comes Within Fraction of Second of Breaking the World's Record

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 16. — Highball added to his list of winnings for this year the famous McDowell stake for 2:09 trotters in easy fashion today. Much disappointment was felt because Lillian R. did not start against Highball, because it was generally conceded that she is the only horse here in Highball's class, except Sonoma Girl and Wilkes Heart, which were not eligible to race.

Highball was driven by Ed. Geers and came within a quarter of a second of the track record.

The Lexington stake for 2-year-olds was won by Benvolo, after Helen Hale had trotted the first heat of the race in 2:13¼, the fastest mile ever trotted in a race by a filly.

Lady Maud C. and Hedgewood Boy, sister and brother, won the third race (2:10 pace) and the fourth race (2:07) in the most exciting finishes of the meeting.

OLD ORIOLES LOSE

McMahon Carries Off Pitching Honors —More Errors Than Runs.

Baltimore, Oct. 16.—The old Oriole Baseball Club members, thrice pennant winners, today lost by a score of 2 to 1, to the Baltimore Eastern League team of the past season, the second of a series of three games arranged for home-coming week, but lost it by a narrow margin, and not until the ninth inning was the winning run scored by the youngsters. It was a pitcher's battle, in which McMahon, for the veterans, carried off the honors, even though his team was defeated. Indeed, all three runs that made the game's total were chargeable to errors, and not to the work of either McMahon or Burchell, who was his opponent. The attendance was even larger than that at the first game played on Monday. The youngsters made two runs, six hits and one error, and the veterans one run, five hits and five errors.

WANT THE OLD RULES

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Previous to the College-Queen's game at the oval Saturday there was a long dispute over the action of the executive committee of the Intercollegiate Union in making alterations in the constitutions. Mr. McInnes of Queen's argued that the committee had no power to amend the constitutions, and that the game must be played under the old rules. The changes provided for no interlocking in the scrimmage, and a difference of the touchline rules. Rev. Father Stanton, coach of the local students, opposed the views of the Kingston men, and finally Referee Eddie Gleeson settled the matter by saying that he would allow the men to touch in the scrimmage, but that they would not be allowed to interlock or seize one another until the ball was put into play. This he did, and the result was that both teams were well satisfied.

The Queen's men will bring their contention that the executive committee have no power to change the rules up at the next meeting of the Intercollegiat

LATEST GOSSIP OF THE KICKERS

Secretary Spry, of the London Rugby Club, this morning stated that the prospects of a game here Saturday were rather slim. Efforts were made to get either a Dundas or Hamilton intermediate team to visit the Forest City, but without success. It is possible that the Dundas junior team or a Hamilton Y. M. C. A. squad can be procured.

The boys had another good practice last night, and are very anxious to get busy.

It is said that Hamilton will have Gordon Southam at center half Saturday against Argonauts.

"Fleet is one of the greatest backs I have ever seen," says Tom Clancy, "but the Argonauts are working him to death, and he will not last three games, keeping up the pace that he has been compelled to maintain against the Montreals and Ottawas."

Muir Edwards, of Montreal, writes that he did not give Hamilton or the Argonauts any information for or against the amateur standing of Ernie Russell, a knowledge he did not possess. Mr. Edwards is not the C.A.A.U. representative in Montreal.

Chad Toms, Varsity's outside wing, who had his leg injured in practice and again shortly afterwards getting off a car, is still confined to the house, but expects to be out in the course of a day or two, but will not be able to play again this season.

Varsity has suggested Russell Britton, Sheriff, Stephens, Dr. Hetherington, Geo. Richardson, from whom to select officials for Saturday's battle with Ottawa College at Varsity Field.

H. M. Wheaton, Yale's star drop kicker, was carried from the field yesterday on the shoulders of his comrades not to return again this season, for the ligaments of his right leg are badly torn. He was drop-kicking when blocked by Philbin of the second team, who crashed into him with terrible impact.

NOTES ON CANADIAN HOCKEY

Hockey Player Leaves.

Fred. Whitcroft, the best hockey player Peterboro ever produced, and one of the fastest forwards that ever played the game, leaves on Sunday morning for Edmonton, where he will play this season in the Northwestern Professional League. A dozen clubs have been trying to land him, but he has finally decided to go to Edmonton, which will have an all-star team this year, and a number of other eastern players will go west for the winter. Whitcroft has played on four championship teams in the last six years—with Peterboro, when they twice won the Intermediate O. H. A. championship; with the Peterboro Colts when they captured the junior championship, and last year with Kenora, the champions of the Manitoba League.

He took part in the Stanley Cup games last winter, and was looked upon as the best goal-getter and stick-handler of either team.

The Champion Wanderers.

The Wanderer hockey team, Stanley Cup holders, organized Monday night for the coming season. Ernie Russell, over whom all the dispute has been in the Inter-Provincial Rugby League, was elected captain, and while the team loses two of their best men in the persons of Lester Patrick and the late Hod Stuart, it is still strong.

Although not officially given out, it is understood that Art Ross, the Brandon cover-point, will play for the Wanderers this season. The officers elected are:

Hon. patron—George Hodge, sen.
Hon. president—James Strachan.
Hon. vice-president—R. N. Ahern.
President—William Jennings.
Vice-president—Thomas G. Hodge.
Secretary-treasurer — George G. Gales.
Captain—Ernie Russell.
Executive—C. W. Blanchford, R. R. Stevenson, F. Strachan and Harry Watson.

Hockey in Manitoba.

The Strathconas have already landed a couple of star Eastern players, and with those of last season playing the game they are capable of, there are many who concede them an equal chance of winning the Manitoba honors.

Just what the circuit teams will compose the professional hockey league is not known as yet, as no league meeting has been held. Brandon and Portage la Prairie can be counted on though, and with the Strathconas these three teams are assured. A few dispatches link the name of Kenora Thistles with the International League, but when the season opens these old favorites will doubtless be seen playing in the same organization as last year. There is also a well-founded rumor that the Winnipeg team will sever their connection with the amateur league and fall in line with the professional teams.

Big Baseball Row Is Threatened Association To Become Outlawed

American Association Likely to Invade Chicago Next Year.

Detroit, Oct. 17.—The national baseball family is likely to have a big quarrel on its hands this winter, as the American Association, the biggest of the minor leagues, is up in arms and threatening to withdraw from the national agreement. The club owners of that league say they are deriving no benefits from the alliance, and, in fact, are tied hand and foot by being connected with organized baseball.

M. E. Cantillon, owner of the Minneapolis franchise of the American Association, was outspoken yesterday in his denunciation of the conditions which he claims pin his league down to mere serfdom.

"We are under protection now which doesn't protect," said Mr. Cantillon. "With the present conditions it is absolutely impossible for a club in our league to know where it stands in regard to the make-up of a team until the major league magnates are ready to hand us their discarded players.

"Half the players in our league are really owned by major league clubs, and nobody knows when the string will be pulled and a team broken up by the recall of those players.

"Then again, the patrons in the American Association cities don't like the idea of getting discarded players all the time.

"Belonging to the National Association of Minor League Clubs doesn't do us any good, for we have one vote in 37. A class D league has just as much power as the American Association when it comes time to vote on important affairs, and there is no chance to correct the present evils. The association is foolish if it doesn't pull out, and I fully expect it will be run next season independent of the national agreement."

There is no doubt that the leading lights in organized baseball expect some move on the part of the association toward pulling away from the fold. President Johnson, of the American League, one of the members of the national commission, was seeking to find out yesterday where the dissatisfied minor league magnates stand. A break in the ranks is looked for, and means of checkmating the belligerents are being contemplated.

When Rabelais was on his deathbed a consultation of physicians was called. The dying man opened his eyes and looked at them. "Pray, gentlemen," he exclaimed, "let me die a natural death."

The "Semi-ready" Guarantee

What does it mean? "Money returned for any cause.

Cause means reason—and for any fair reason or cause of dissatisfaction we give a new suit or refund your money. "Is not such a broad guarantee often abused?" asked a merchant.

An absolute guarantee of your money refunded for any cause — any defect in workmanship or material.

Not often. Sometimes it is. In one instance a man demanded his money back after he had worn a $15 Suit for one year and a half. Did he get it? Very nearly. The President said, "Give it to him—just for his nerve." But the Cashier objected, "that this was unreasonable."

For any reasonable cause — and the customer is the judge of that word "reasonable." Does it pay? Honest, good work always pays the workers. Yes, always.

Keep Your Eye Peeled for Bad Money

The police have been notified by a large number of merchants and businessmen that bogus quarters are being circulated in the city in considerable quantities.

Investigation by the detectives shows that in the last ten days the parties who are circulating the bad money have been very busy.

One businessman stated that he has been offered several in the last few days.

The quarters are excellent imitations as far as appearance goes, but when handled feel quite light, and if dropped lack the true ring. On being filed it only takes a few minutes to discover that they are hollow and made of a composition of alumium.

The police have also been notified that a gang of swindlers have been operating in border towns with the old-time bogus check swindle.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PROGRESS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, Oct. 17.—This morning session of the Baptist convention was taken up entirely in discussion of Sunday school problems.

The report of Rev. B. W. Merrill, of Toronto, general superintendent of the Sunday school board, showed evidences of substantial growth. There are 471 churches in the convention, with 49,491 members and 446 Sunday schools with 44,413, teachers, officers and scholars. The average attendance was 27,931. The total addition to churches by baptism was 2,826. In 220 Sunday schools there were no baptisms. There was contributed to missions $9,476 06, an increase of $2,358. Twenty-three thousand dollars was expneded for school purposes.

The treasurer's report showed a deficit this year of $175. Discussion took place on Sunday school problems. Rev. J. J. Ross, of Toronto, talked of Sunday school evangelism. Mr. H. W. Brown, of Toronto, discussed teachers' training, Rev. J. M. H. Allen, of Shelton, the adult Bible class.

Slept Between Rails and Was Arrested

It was a lucky thing for one of the prisoners in the cage at the police court that a policeman arrested him. Late last night he was found sleeping peacefully between the rails of the Pere Marquette Railway in the south end of the city.

He probably didn't know it himself, but he had a remarkably close call for being run over.

Only a few minutes before the express from St. Thomas was due, he was discovered by a policeman who happened to be passing.

Great Interest in the Soccer Games

The Public School League soccer games continue to prove interesting. Victoria school and Princess avenue are equal in points, and have each one game to play in this series. Should they both win, they will have to play off on Victoria's ground, as they have played a tie on Princess' ground, and shared points.

Each of the teams have won five games and lost none.

The Victoria team lines up as follows: G. Fish, H. Scandrett, George Chander, L. Marlott, W. Dutton (captain), D. Tindall, R. Bryden, S. Seltzer, B. Cottam, G. Arthur, A. Murray.

LASSIE CAME OVER THE SEAS TO MARRY

The Man She Loved—A Romance of an English Couple in London.

To travel across the ocean, locate in his new home, become successful in his chosen line of work, to send for his bride in the old country, to get married, and to settle down, all in the space of six short months, has been the experience of Mr. Robert Drummond, a young Englishman who came to this city less than half a year ago and immediately fell into a good job with a prominent East End firm.

Previous to his departure for this country, Mr. Drummond fell in love with beautiful Miss Ethel Jane Berry, of Kent, Eng., and the two were betrothed.

A month ago the young man sent for his bride-elect, and she arrived in London two weeks ago, when arrangements for the wedding were made.

Last evening the happy couple were united in marriage at the Christ Church rectory by the Rev. Mr. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Drummond will reside on Hill street.

POULTRY SHOW ON OCTOBER 31

Will Be a Local One, But It Will Be a Sure "Hummer"

If indications count for anything, the coming big local poultry show, under the auspices of the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association, at the Fair grounds on the afternoon of the 31st of this month, should be the biggest thing of its kind that this city has ever witnessed.

The affair will be purely a local one, and outside entries will not be received. It is expected that at least a thousand entries will be received, and when it is remembered that London is the poultry center of the American continent, and that local fanciers took almost every prize in sight at the Chicago, St. Louis and Pan-American exhibitions, it can readily be realized that the show will be worth going some distance to see.

No entries were sent to the Jamestown show.

Eight challenge cups will be placed up for competition.

Mr. S. Butterfield, of Windsor, will be one of the judges. Messrs. Wm. McNeil and R. Oake, of this city, will also give decisions on other entries than their own.

The purpose of the association, explained a prominent member this morning, has always been to advertise the city of London as far as possible. The small admission fee of ten cents which is charged to the show goes to pay expenses, and is not for the purpose of profit.

Pay Water Rates.

Water rates are still coming in slow, and there will be a jam on Saturday if more do not come in before. "Come early and avoid the rush," says Secretary Ellwood.

BREAD WEIGHTS WERE ALL RIGHT

Except in a Few Instances—Inspector McCallum Makes a Raid.

Inspector McCallum went out after the bread men this morning, and got about two dozen loaves of bread under weight.

He examined thirteen wagons, and in the majority of cases found the bread all right.

There was a great deal of bread that did not weigh two pounds to the loaf, but the loaves were all labeled. The act governing the sale of bread says that the weight of the bread must be stamped on it, if it is under two pounds.

All unlabeled bread must weigh two pounds.

The bread seized was all unlabeled and weighed in the neighborhood of a pound and a quarter.

It will be turned over to the charitable institutions.

BREAKFAST FOOD PRICES BOOST

High Figures for Oats Cause of Big Advance in Local Market.

The person who eats breakfast foods in the morning will soon have to switch off to beefsteaks or chicken.

According to the latest advices the price of rolled oats and oatmeal has advanced 25 per cent, and the increase has already gone into effect in local grocery stores. Ten-cent goods now sell at 13 cents, or two packages for 25c. The higher priced articles advanced in proportion.

Already the big grocery stores of this city have been notified that all breakfast foods, wheat and otherwise, will go up a few cents the first of next month.

Dealers state that the high price of oats is responsible for the boost in oatmeal, but they do not attempt to explain the proposed raise in other grain foods.

St. Thomas and other nearby places have even suffered a raise of 50 per cent on oat breakfast foods.

It is expected by local grocerymen that another 25 per cent advance in oatmeal will have to be made shortly. The increase effects both packed foods and those in bulk.

Well-Deserved Increase.

At the regular meeting of the quarterly board of the Empress Avenue Methodist Church last night, the board unanimously increased the salary of Rev. I. B. Wallwin, B.A., the pastor, by $100 a year. Under the present pastorate the church has prospered greatly. Practically a new church has been built, and a new pipe organ installed. The recording steward, Mr. Wm. Gibson, says that the church never was in such a prosperous condition as now.

SPENT EVENING WITH THE PASTOR

Pleasant Time at the Rectory of St. Paul's Evangelical Church.

About 40 young people of St. Paul's Episcopal Church spent a very pleasant evening at the home of the pastor, Rev. H. G. Schwake, on Wednesday, it being the first social gathering of the newly-organized C. E. Society. The hearty welcome of the pastor and his wife made all feel at home, and with the rendering of a highly-appreciated programme, the hours passed but to quickly. Mr. Dixon, president of the society, in his address, demonstrated how through the hard work of the pastor, the society had grown, and urged all to co-operate with him, that unity meant strength and that this should be the aim of St. Paul's C. E. S. Among those who helped to make the programme a musical one were: Messrs. Vincent, Myer, Pawlitzki, Rev. and Mrs. Schwake and Messrs. Clark, who played several fine piano duets. The readings and orations by Messrs. Lenz, Blackwell and Hewer were brimful of humor. After a light lunch, which was served by Mrs. F. Stark, mother of Mrs. Schwake, all went to their respective homes having had "a jolly good time."

CONDENSED LOCAL NEWS

—The anniversary of the Arva Methodist Church will be held next Sunday, Oct. 20, The Rev. H. J. Fair will preach morning and evening, and the Rev. Geo. W. McAllister, M. A., in the afternoon at 2:30. The public are cordially invited.

—The death took place in London Township this morning of Mrs. John Walls, a well-known and highly-esteemed resident. The funeral will take place from the residence of her son, Mr. James Walls, lot 25, concession 14, London Township, on Saturday afternoon to Woodland Cemetery.

Beauties of Shakespeare.

Professor P. J. Duggan lectured this afternoon in the Sacred Heart Academy on "The Beauties of Shakespeare."

Salary Increases.

The salary increases to the teachers of both the public school and Collegiate Institute will go into effect on Jan. 1.

Visitor From Borneo.

Mr. H. D. Ellis, a former civil engineer of London, now commissioner of public works of Borneo, was in London today and called upon City Engineer Graydon.

Again at the Office.

Assessment Commissioner Grant has returned to his office from his holidays. Practically all his time has been spent in the house, owing to an accident in which his ankle was strained.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Hanna Davis took place this morning from the family residence, 561 Grey street, to St. Mary's Church, where requiem high mass was said by Fathers Tobin and McKeown. Interment took place at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Strong's Baking Powder, once used, always in favor. Our new Cook Book free to housekeepers on application.

"Jappyland" Proceeds.

"I do not know exactly what we will have from the 'Jappyland' entertainments," said Mr. S. Screaton, chairman of the hospital trust, this morning, "but it will be considerable." The entertainments were very successful, and a nice sum will be set aside for the furnishing of the isolation hospital."

Doing Nicely.

Mr. Glen Graham, son of Mr. Geo. Graoham, of Birnam, and grandson of the late Peter Graham, M. P. P. for East Lambton, had his leg amputated at Victoria Hospital the other day. The limb has been affected for some years with a malignant disease, and Dr. Hedley Williams decided to amputate it. The patient is doing nicely.

Another Find.

Another watch was recovered by an Advertiser "Lost" advertisement last evening. Under the "Too Late to Classify" heading a watch was advertised in Wednesday's paper, to be returned to 290 Waterloo street. A phone message received this morning requested the second insertion to be withdrawn as the lost article had been returned by a party who read of it in The Advertiser.

Late John Lamond.

The funeral of the late John Lamond took place this afternoon from his former residence, 218 Maitland street, to Woodland Cemetery and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Moffatt. The floral offerings were very beautiful, and included wreaths from the Grand Trunk, Messrs. Stirling Bros., the Havana Cigar Company and many others. A large number of Grand Trunk employes attended the funeral in a body. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Robert Wonnacott, William Bailey, William Walton, J. Kennedy, J. Elson, and E. Hulbert.

Liquor at Sergeants' Messes.

The Globe says: Numerous letters have been received by Rev. Dr. Chown referring to the deplorable results from the sale of liquor at sergeants' messes. He says that Warden Gilmour picked up two officers on Strachan avenue on a recent holiday who were unable to take care of themselves, and, being unable that day to obtain liquor at the hotels, must have got it at the barracks. Dr. Chown has placed the matter before the Minister of Militia, Sir Frederick Borden, and he has promised to exert the power of his department to put a stop to the practice of dispensing liquor at such posts.

CARRIED OFF COAT AND BOOTS CHARGE MADE AGAINST JEFFERSON

Detective Nickle arrested Jefferson Slaght last night on a charge of stealing an overcoat and some boots from a local livery stable. Slaght has an unenviable record in the police court, having been up many times before on charges of stealing and of non-support. Last week he was allowed to go on condition that he leave London, and it is altogether likely that this time he will be taken care of for a long time to come. At the court this morning the case was adjourned for a week as the police have not yet been able to locate the missing property. The coat is a handsome one, and Slaght is believed to have disposed of it to someone.

Raymond Neville was fined $3 for acting in a disorderly manner in the Tecumseh House last night.

Three first-timers were allowed to go.

G. T. R. TELEGRAPHER'S OPTIMISTIC FEEL SURE OF GETTING ADVANCE

There is no change in the attitude of the Grand Trunk telegraph operators in this city, owing to the failure of the recent conference to settle the dispute. The men in London are represented on the committee, which will meet the officials of the road, and they feel confident that the matter will be settled to the satisfaction of everyone. The C. P. R. men, having secured an increase in wages and shorter hours, there is every reason to believe that the G. T. R. men will be accorded similar concessions, and in the mean time the operators are content to await the action of the general committee, who has charge of affairs.

W. U. LITERARY SOCIETY

Officers Elected for the Year.—"Cap and Gown" Will Soon Be Out.

At noon yesterday a rousing meeting of the students and staff of the Western University was held for the purpose of electing officers for their Musical and Literary Society for the ensuing academic year.

A full attendance and keen competition caused much enthusiasm.

Dr. W. H. Alexander was elected chairman of the meeting. Messrs. Price, Hardy and Ashby were appointed as a committee with power to choose a staff for the college paper, In Cap and Gown.

This paper has been in existence for several years, but appeared in print for the first time last year, and proved to be a great success, and it is with no little interest that the first copy for this year is being looked forward to.

The results of the election were as follows:

President—Mr. W. Harvey Moore, '09.

Vice-President—Miss Ila Hayman, '09.

Secretary—Mr. S. Stuart Hardy, '09.

Treasurer—Miss Norine Butler, '09.

Members of the Executive Committee—Miss Jean Thompson, '10; Miss Alma Price, '10; Miss Laura Butchart, '10; Mr. H. B. Ashby, '11; Mr. Chas. F. Price, '09.

Representative to Local Press—Mr. H. E. Stiles.

OTTAWA TO LUNCH POET

Kipling Will Address the Canadian Club at the Capital.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—A telegram has been received from Mr. Kipling from Toronto, stating that he will accept a luncheon from the Canadian Club in Ottawa. It will be on Saturday or Monday, and will take place in the railway committee-room of the House of Commons, which has been given by Dr. Pugsley and Speaker Sutherland for the occasion. Mr. Kipling will arrive here on Saturday morning, and will be the guest of Lord Grey during his stay in the city.

COMMITTEE AT BOSTON

Legislators Looking Into Prisons Entertained at the Hub.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—Before departing for New York this morning the legislative committee from Ontario, including P. J. Downey, Col. Hugh Clarke, Mr. Patterson and M. Postlethwaite, under escort of Chairman F. G. Pettigrove, of the Massachusetts prison committee, called upon Governor Guild at the Massachusetts State house, this city. They also met Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, of the prison committee, a daughter of the celebrated Irish poet.

660 NAMES WERE ADDED TO LISTS

Registration of Two Days Not Very Heavy—Is Continuing Today.

Four hundred and twenty-three names were added to the voters' list yesterday by registration, making a total for the two days of 660. This is not very heavy, but it is expected that it will be larger today and Saturday.

The booths will not be open on Friday, but will be open today and Saturday at the usual hours.

Those entitled to register must comply with the following requirements: (a) He must be a British subject by birth or naturalization. (b) He must have resided in the Dominion of Canada one year prior to Oct. 15 last. (c) He must have resided in London three months prior to that date.

The hours that the registrars sit are 10 to 1, 2 to 6, and 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Every male person 21 years of age, whose name is not entered on the last municipal voters' list as being entitled to vote for both municipal and provincial purposes, may register, provided he possesses the above-named qualifications.

Places to Register.

For registration purposes the city has been divided into seven districts, and persons desiring to register must appear personally before the registrar for the district in which he resides and make oath to the required qualifications. There is, however, a provision in the manhood suffrage act for registering persons who are unable to attend personally owing to sickness or absence.

District No. 1 comprises subdivisions 1 to 7, inclusive, of ward No. 1, being all that part of the ward lying north of the river. Place of registration, city hall.

District No. 2 comprises the whole of ward No. 2, including West London. Place of registration, Smith's carriage shop, corner Richmond and Maple streets.

District No. 3 comprises subdivisions 8 to 13, inclusive, of ward No. 1, being all that part of the ward lying south of the river. Place of registration, Trebilcock's hall, corner Wortley road and Bruce street.

District No. 4 comprises subdivisions 1 to 8, inclusive, of ward No. 3, being all that part of the ward lying west of Adelaide street. Place of registration, 241 Colborne street, corner Horton street.

District No. 5 comprises subdivisions 9 to 13, inclusive, of ward No. 3, being all that part of the ward lying east of Adelaide street. Place of registration, East End town hall, corner Dundas and Rectory streets.

District No. 6 comprises subdivisions 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 and 8 of ward No. 4, being the southerly and eastern portions of the ward. Place of registration, 644 Dundas street.

District No. 7 comprises subdivisions 5 and 9 to 14, inclusive of ward No. 4, being the northerly portion of the ward. Place of registration, Harding's Hall, corner of Colborne and Piccadilly streets.

WORST IS OVER ON WALL STREET

H. C. Becher, stockbroker, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, Oct. 17.—Noon.—At the opening the market was obviously supported. Heavy liquidation took place, but stocks were easier to sell than for some days. Declines ensued when it was known that an old firm in Hamburg had failed with liabilities of some three to five millions, and at the same time it was asserted that a firm closely identified with the recent movements in United Copper would be forced to the wall. One of the partners, however, made a statement in regard to the firm referred to, and it is now believed that no failure will take place. After the sharp break, quite good rallies ensued, and the feeling seems to be that for the time being at any rate the worst is over.

Big Game.

Mr. J. A. Oliver, the crown timber agent at Port Arthur, who was at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, yesterday on departmental business, reports that moose and other big game are plentiful in his district this season. At one point in the woods between the C. P. R. and the C. N. R. in the Thunner Bay district, last week he counted 26 moose traveling together—an unusual number, as moose usually travel in much smaller parties. Hon. Mr. Hanna is not hunting in this district where the season does not open until Nov. 1, but has gone north of the C. P. R., where hunting started yesterday, so that all of the 26 moose mentioned are safe for a while.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Toronto, Oct. 16. — T. Mortimer Woodhouse, manager of the Electric Treatment Institute, is under arrest on the charge of manslaughter in respect to the death of a two-days-old child of Mrs. Grieg, a patient of the institute. The jury's verdict was "that the child Grieg, came to her death at Toronto General Hospital on Sept. 28 by premature birth, caused by unskillful treatment of the mother by T. Mortimer Woodhouse."

DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED

C. P. R. and Its Machinists Reach an Agreement as to Wages.

Montreal, Oct. 17.—The matters at dispute between the machinists employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the management which have been a subject of negotiation for some time past have been satisfactorily adjusted, and in future the men will be paid 30 cents an hour instead of 26 cents, as in the past. The new schedule provides for Saturday afternoon off without pay. The new regulations will effect about 5,000 men. The chairman of the men's committee in the negotiations was Mr. McVitty, of Vancouver.

SAVE WHILE YOU EARN

Don't forget that each day brings you nearer to the time when your talents will no longer serve you as a money-earner. Save while you earn—prepare for the future. Even the money of millionaires has to work for them—indeed, if they had not early put it to work they probably would not have been millionaires at all. In any case, your money should be working for you, and you may begin a savings account here with as small a sum as you please. It will earn 3½ per cent interest. It will work for you.

AUTUMN CONVOCATION

The Faculty of Pedagogy Inaugurated at Queen's University.

Kingston, Oct. 16.—This afternoon before a large audience in Grant Hall, the autumn convocation was held, when degrees were conferred, Sir Sandford Fleming, chancellor, presiding. Addresses were made by Dr. John Seath, Toronto, and by a half dozen of the men receiving honorary degrees. The faculty of pedagogy was inaugurated, and Dr. Morrison, the new professor of history, installed. A bust of Sir Sandford Fleming, given by the graduates, was also unveiled.

HAMILTON BARBERS' ROW

Hamilton, Oct. 16.—There is a row on between the journeymen and master barbers. A couple of weeks ago the members of the Juorneymen Barbers' Union decided not to work after 11 o'clock on Saturday nights. Inasmuch as Sunday shaving is not allowed, the master barbers do not think that they should be required to close their shops before midnight on Saturdays, and last night they formed an association for the purpose of opposing the journeymen in the matter of early Saturday night closing.

TYPOS' PENSION FUND

New York, Oct. 16.—Members of the International Typographical Union throughout the United States are participating in a referendum vote on proposed amendments to the constitution of the organization, and the results will be complied on the 21st instant. The most important of these measures are an old age pension and the increase of the salaries of the international officers. The propositions come from the committee of the body and were suggested at the last convention of the union. If carried, they will come operative on Jan. 1.

Then old age pension proposition provides that indigent members who have reached the age of 60 years, and have been in good standing for at least 20 years, shall receive a pension of $4 per week. It is objected to that that this makes it necessary for a man to be practically a pauper before receiving this pension, and other members would be eligible although they had been assessed steadily to maintain the pension fund.

ASSAULTED DOCTOR.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Nicholas Noble, for assaulting Dr. James Eadie, was this morning sentenced by Judge Winchester to six months' imprisonment Dr. Eadie had attended Noble's son, who died, and Noble blamed the doctor for the boy's death. A petition was presented to the judge asking for clemency.

You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Will Not Resign Unless Deafness Is Permanent

Mr. Aylesworth Will Retire If Expected Recovery Is Not Realized.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—"If my partial deafness cannot be cured, I shall retire from the Government, but I am assured that the trouble is but temporary, and quite susceptible to treatment.

"You may say, therefore, that there is absolutely no ground for reports of my resigning from public life."

The minister of justice made that statement to a correspondent this afternoon.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, who has been suffering from a few weeks past from a sudden attack of partial deafness, has absolutely no intention of resigning his portfolio as minister of justice, unless the treatment he is now undergoing should prove unsuccessful. Mr. Aylesworth is himself quite satisfied that the trouble will be cured, and, indeed, he is already on the road to recovery, although it may be some weeks before his hearing is fully restored. He is under daily treatment by one of the best ear specialists in Canada, Dr. J. B. Courtenay, who is unable, however, to afford the instant cure that the minister's friends would naturally like to see accomplished.

A Hard Worker.

No man who ever entered the ministry of justice gave up his time more unreservedly than Hon. Mr. Aylesworth has to the multitudinous duties of this responsible post. It is no secret among the politicians that Mr. Aylesworth, in giving up his immense law practice to enter public life, yielded only to the persuasions of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Since entering the House and cabinet the fascination of public life has gained the same hold upon him as it has upon so many others, and the minister of justice today is as keen a politician as any man in the cabinet group. His temporary deafness has made absolutely no difference in his attention to the work of the justice department. During part of the time, indeed, he has been administering other branches of the Government service, and is at his post early and late—too early and too late, his friends think, for his own good.

However, when the present attorney-general and minister of justice finds himself no longer equal to the strain that is imposed upon him, and the promised recovery from his present ailment is too long deferred, he will cheerfully retire and make room for somebody else. Mr. Aylesworth's resignation will leave a gap that will prove exceedingly hard to fill. In the meantime the Prime Minister will simply not hear of his colleague's withdrawal under the present circumstances.

HEAD OF POLICE UNDER ARREST

Commissioner Bingham of New York Charged With Assaulting Captain

New York, Oct. 16.—Police Commissioner Theodore Bingham was placed under arrest today following the service upon him of papers in a civil suit in which damages of $25,000 are asked.

The complainant is ex-Police Captin James G. Reynolds, who was ejected from police headquarters yesterday, where he called to lodge a formal protest against his enforced retirement from the department. The commissioner immediately furnished bondsmen in the persons of Second Deputy Commissioner Bugher and Robert B. Lawrence, secretary to Third Deputy Commissioner Hanson, who qualified in bonds of $5,000 each.

Captain Reynolds is 65 years of age, and was appointed to the department in 1873. Last week he was ordered before a board of surgeons for examination. They pronounced him unfit for duty. Reynolds took his retirement much to heart, and decided to seek reinstatement through the courts. He called upon the commissioner to notify him of his intention.

Yesterday the call was a short one, and, according to the affidavit of the complainant, Gen. Bingham, in the presence of witnesses and without provocation, "deliberately and in a brutal manner did assault plaintiff by raising his cane in a threatening manner and using threatening language."

On the commissioner's orders, the complainant further recites, the plaintiff was forcibly ejected from the building by two patrolmen.

Late today, on application of Bernard J. York, ex-police commissioner and attorney for Capt. Reynolds, Justice Aspinalt, of the supreme court, Brooklyn, issued a warrant, which was turned over to Under Sheriff Johnson and served at police headquarters.

A year and a half ago a board of surgeons recommended Reynolds' retirement, but he at once sought the courts and was reinstated.

BOOST BEER PRICES

The Toronto City Brewers Decide Upon an Advance.

Toronto, Oct. 16. — Following close upon the announcement of an increase in the price of whisky comes the announcement this morning of the meeting of city brewers to increase the price of beer. Another meeting is to be held when they will organize to fight local option and discuss retail prices. It is probable that beer will be advanced 5 cents a dozen on bottles, and three cents a gallon in bulk.

HARNESS STRAP A CLUE

Woodstock Livery Employe Suspected of Being in Recent Hold-Up.

Woodstock, Oct. 16.—Andrew Jackson, suspected of being implicated in the hold-up of C. P. R. Operator Walcott, at the station here last Wednesday morning, was before the magistrate this morning charged with vagrancy and was remanded for a week. He was arrested in Hamilton yesterday, and it is said the police have strong evidence against him. He worked in a local livery stable, and it is claimed that the strap with which he bound Walcott's feet, has been identified as one which was missing from the livery.

TWENTY CARS DERAILED

G. T. R. Train in the Ditch Near Ottawa and Traffic Tied Up.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—A spreading rail caused a freight train on the G. T. R. from Killaloe to Ottawa to leave the track at 3 o'clock this morning. Twenty cars in all were derailed, of which sixteen contain lumber and four grain. No one was injured, but traffic will be tied up for a day or two owing to the accident.

John Neuersky, a Pole, who was stabbed in a fight at Brantford two weeks ago, succumbed yesterday to his injuries. John Padgorney, who is alleged to have committed the assault, will be tried for manslaughter.

ATTACKS MAYOR FOR D. U. R. DROP

Montreal Star Makes Savage Attack on Mayor Thompson of Detroit.

Montreal, Que., Oct. 16.—The Montreal Star, which is supposed to be in sympathy with the local investors in Detroit limited stock, tonight turns its guns upon Mayor Thompson, of Detroit, and holds him responsible for the disaster which it states has been brought upon numerous widows, orphans, and other innocent holders of Detroit limited stock, who have been ruined by the slump in that security this week.

"It is cold blooded for Mayor Thompson to gloat over the downfall of Detroit United," wails the Star.

"He is the man who is in a measure responsible for the troubles of the company, as he has harassed it in every conceivable way and done his utmost to destroy its credit. Then a stupid board of directors comes along, and wrecks what portions of the shareholders' hopes Mr. Thompson has overlooked."

But the Star also shoots it into Jere C. Hutchins, by printing a cartoon showing the unbane president of the Detroit United sitting on top of a pad-locked safe and turning away a sorrowing widow who pleads with him for her dividends.

PUTS OFF STATEMENT RE THE POWER POLICY

Toronto, Oct. 16.—After a conference with Power Minister Beck, Premier Whitney announced that he will postpone the announcement of the Government's policy in the power question until later.

It was stated that several matters, which were pointed out by Mr. Beck, made it advisable to postpone the statement until a few weeks later.

A MERITED PROMOTION

British as Well as Canadian Honored Sir H. M. Pellatt.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—In respect to the promotion of Sir Henry Pellatt to the rank of colonel, although no record is kept of the grounds on which such steps are taken, it is pointed out that this promotion, as well as Sir Henry's command of the Canadian contingent to the coronation, is a testimony to the deep interest he has taken in military affairs and the services he has rendered to the Canadian militia. Not only have these services been acknowledged by the Canadian Government, but by the imperial authorities as well in the honor of knighthood which was recently conferred upon him. No word has yet been received at Ottawa of the resignation of Lieut.-Col. Davidson.

CONTRACTUAL DEBTS

The Hague, Oct. 16.—The principal subject taken up today was the proposal of General Horace Porter (American) on the subject of the collection of contractual debts.

The substance of the proposition is that in order to avoid between nations armed conflicts, "of purely pecuniary origin, caused by contractual debts claimed by the subjects or citizens of one country from the Government of another, and also to guarantee that all contractual debts of this nature which are not settled in a friendly manner, through diplomacy, shall be submitted to arbitration," it is understood that coercive measures, implying the use of military or naval forces to collect these debts shall not occur until the creditor country offers arbitration and the debtor country refuses or leaves the offer unanswered or until after the decision of the arbitrators is not fulfilled by the debtor country.

The proposal was approved by 39 votes, with five abstentions, Belgium, Sweden, Roumania, Switzerland and Venezuela, twelve American governments making reservation.

LOOKS LIKE SUICIDE.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Albert Wilson was found dead in his room at his boarding-house, 34 Baldwin street, this morning. The gas jet was turned on full. It is supposed to be a case of suicide.

DELAWARE HAD EXCELLENT FAIR

The attendance at the Delaware Fair yesterday far exceeded even the most sanguine expectations of the directors, and all who were present went away with a feeling that their visit had not been time wasted.

With the exception of apples, which were somewhat smaller than in previous years, the exhibits were at least as good, if not better, than in former shows.

As a special attraction the Hewer Concert Company, of London, rendered an excellent concert in the evening, which was well received. The races were pleasing, and were productive of some keen competition.

Summary:

200 yards dash—A. Wrightman, A. McLaughlin, C. McDonald.

Relay race—Delaware, Westminster, Oneida.

2:50 trot—Tony Bars, Ian Bars, Betsey B.

Free for all—Tony Bars, Madison G Dumont.

The directors of the popular Delaware Fair are as follows: W. M. Baker, president; W. Harris, first vice-president; A. Ryckman, second vice-president; E. Weld, secretary, and H. C. Johnstone, treasurer.

"Jappyland" was repeated last night to a very large audience. The performance was much improved, the nervousness so noticeable the night before having worn off to a great degree. The drills were well executed, and the songs and choruses were well rendered. The audience was very appreciative.

Miss Kate McLaughlin, Miss Lillian Elliott, Miss Grace Twohey and Fred Reed all sang solos in good voice. In the musical comedy part, the principals all did well. Miss Bessie Stewart was very good as the Canadian girl, and sang splendidly. Miss Bessie Oliver, Miss Lillian Elliott, Miss Pearl Scarrow, Mr. John McLaughlin, and Mr. Oscar Dunstan also did well. Miss Scarrow made a great hit in the trio.

The two entertainments were highly successful, and the furnishing fund of the Isolation Hospital will be increased by a large sum of money.

Sam Bernard comes to the Grand tomorrow evening in his new musical farce, "The Rich Mr. Hoggenheimer," in which he appeared last winter for six months at Wallack's Theater, New York. The musical numbers in this farce are tuneful and timely, and a company of 70 reveals row after row of chorus beauties. Mr. Bernard has a substitute for his famous "Sufficiency" which he calls "Shush." Nobody but himself knows what it means, but it never fails of its planned effect, the procuring of a roar.

An undoubted success has been accredited to Allen Doone, the sweet singer and Irish piper, who is conceded to have stepped into the place made vacant by the retirement of Joseph Murphy from active theatrical work, and who will be pleasantly remembered for his excellent impersonation of the latter's best roles in "Kerry Gow" and "Shaun Rhue" in seasons past, and who will be seen at the Grand on Saturday (matinee and evening) in his new scenic comedy-drama, "A Romance in Ireland."

Ben Greet, manager and scholar, is going to take the threater-going public in London back 300 years to the time when stage gossip revolved about such folk as Will Shakespeare, Tom Heywood, Frank Beaumont, Ben Jonson and kindred spirits, instead of Pinero, Jones, Fitch, Thomas and Sutro of today. At the Grand next Tuesday and Wednesday the English manager will present Shakespeare's plays in precisely the manner of representation of the days of the author himself.

Copper Slumps to $10 a Share and Drives Big Bokerage Firm to the Wall

New York, Oct. 16.—Trading in both the New York Stock Exchange and the Curb stock market was in turmoil today from the excited movements and violent declines in the price of United Copper stock on the latter market.

The suspension of the firm of Gross & Kleeberg, members of the New York Stock Exchange, contributed materially to declines in both markets. This firm has been trading actively in United Copper stock and it was reported that it was a member of a pool formed to support the price of the stock.

Apparently there was a break in this pool yesterday, the result of which was the common fell from $59 to $36 a share and the transfer agents of the company declined to record the transfer of a block of 16,930 shares, which he said had been sold in violation of the rights of parties having some interest in it. It was reported that Gross & Kleeberg, acting for the interests identified with F. Augustus Heinze, had bought in some of the stock and that the Heinze interests refused to accept the stock because of the manner in which it had been placed on the market.

United Copper, common, which closed at $36 yesterday, opened at $25 today and during the excitement of the afternoon went as low at $10, from which it recovered to $15 before the close.

The preferred stock, which today had been quoted last at $74, reached the low point of $24 for the day. Trading in these stocks was confined to the Curb market. Evidences of active liquidation in the New York Stock Exchange appeared during the closing hour of the week and were attributed to heavy selling by interests which had suffered in the copper movement in the Curb market.

Active stocks declined at the rate of a point per sale until net losses ranged from 2½ to 7½ points. The copper stocks were seriously affected. American Smelting and Refining losing 5¼ points for the day, and Amalgamated 2⅞, the latter stock dropping to 49, the lowest it has reached since 1904 and, closing at 50⅝. This was accompanied by rumors of unfavorable action on the dividend tomorrow. Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and St. Paul showed net losses of 2¾ to 4¾ points.

A rally set in at the close of the market in the belief that the effect of the failure had been discounted.

Death of L. Waterman.

The death took place in Rochester, N. Y., on Tuesday, of Mr. Louis Waterman. Deceased was a brother of the late Isaac Waterman, of this city, and many years ago lived here. He is survived by his wife and two children. Death was due to cancer.

The Pipers' Band.

The general meeting of the London Highland Pipers' Band took place at the armories last night. All members were present. After going over the past year, which was very successful, the new officers were elected as follows: Pipe major, T. McDonald; sergeant, J. Falkner; secretary, W. H. Poure. The band is in good shape for the coming year, and the members hope to be as succesful as they have been in the past.

London Junction Wedding.

The nuptials of Mr. Stanley Grosvenor and Miss Effie Daunce were celebrated quietly at London Junction last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Armes, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Hector Mackay, B.A., in the presence of a few friends. Chaste and appropriate decorations, consisting of a background of Union Jacks, an arch of many-tinted maple leaves, with a festooned canopy of red, white and blue. The bride was prettily gowned in white net over organdie, trimmed with satin, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and roses. Miss Sadie McKellar, of this city, acting as bridesmaid, was gowned in lace-trimmed Persian lawn, and held a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink roses. The groom was supported by Mr. H. Stanley Turner, late of London, England, now of London Junction. After the usual felicitations, the company sat down to a bounteous supper. The newly-wedded couple are to spend their honeymoon in some of the western cities, after which they will make their home in London Junction.

Sky Stunts by Guelphite.

As an aeronaut and balloonist, Mr. Harry Thomas, of Guelph, a veteran of the South African war, has been coming into prominence lately. He has been touring the county and attending all the fall fairs, giving exhibitions with his mammoth balloon Imperial and parachute drop. His highest flight during the tour was 2,000 feet, an altitude at which things on this earth assume microscopic proportions.

A Great Fish.

Mr. John McPherson, son of the late Archibald McPherson, has presented to the Museum of the Collegiate Institute a large and beautifully mounted salmon caught by himself in Lochrammoch, Scotland. The trout is a beauty, is two and a half feet long, and weighs nine pounds. The specimen is a beauty, is two and a half kind, which inhabits the lochs of Scotland and Northern England.

Pierce-Ball.

The wedding took place last evening in the B. M. E. Church, Grey street, of Miss Minnie E. Ball, second daughter of Rev. R. A. Ball, and Mr. Harold G. Pierce, of Brighton, N. J.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Rev. R. R. Ball, wore a pretty gown of white silk poplin over white taffeta, and carried white roses. Miss Edna Ball, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Fred Seelig, of Cleveland.

A reception, at which a large number of guests were present, was held after the wedding at the home of Rev. Mr. Ball. Mr. an dMrs. Pierce left for Bridgton, where they will reside.

Social Gatherings.

The first of a series of social evenings to be held during the fall and winter season by the Liberal Christian Union was held in the Chapter House last night, when a large audience were present. On Wednesday evening next, Rev. V. Gilpin will discuss "The Third Degree: A Study in Psychology." At later meetings, Mr. J. Marks will give an address on "The Asiatic Labor Question"; Prof. Dearness, of the Normal Schol, an address on "Education"; Mr. John Cottam an address on "Cosmic Consciousness." Other addresses will include "The Church for Today," by Mr. F. W. Daly; "Dr. Drummond," by Mr. Frank Lawson; "The Subconscious Mind," by Mr. Ernest Atkins, and the "Influence of Environment," by Mr. W. Jex.

MOTHERS' CLUB ORGANIZED

In Connection With Lorne Avenue School in the East End.

Last week a Mothers' Club was organized in connection with Lorne Avenue school. It is the purpose of these mothers to meet once a month and discuss matters of mutual interest regarding children, physically, mentally and morally.

A very large number attended the opening meeting, at which Miss Howie very ably demonstrated the gift games of the kindergarten. The mothers were loud in their praise of the way in which the work was handled, and went home feeling that they had learned a very great deal.

These meetings are to be held the second Thursday of each month at 4:15, and all mothers are cordially invited to attend. The following are the officers for this year:

President—Mrs. Greensides.
Vice-President—Mrs. Richards.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. Rose.
Secretary—Mrs. Burch.
Social Committee—Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Roblin, Mrs. Gollomore, Mrs. Cruickshanks.

WILL NOT PURCHASE OLD P. M. BRIDGE

Structure Would Not Span the Thames to Connect the Wharncliffe Roads.

The special committee appointed to consider the purchase of the old Pere Marquette bridge met yesterday afternoon, and decided not to purchase it. On investigation it was shown that the structure was only 150 feet long, while the space to be bridged across the Thames required a bridge 300 feet long. To use the Pere Marquette bridge two abutments would have to be built in the river, and this would cause ice jamming in the spring, and materially increase the danger of a flood in London West. In view of these facts the committee decided to inform Superintendent Pyeatt of the Pere Marquette, that the city could not use it.

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith informed the committee that in view of the fact that there would be considerable litigation regarding the payment of the new bridge over the Thames, it would be just as well not to purchase the old bridge, as it might add to the complications of the case.

City Engineer Graydon informed the committee that it would cost between $12,000 and $14,000 to construct the rest of the work necessary to complete the bridge provided it was purchased, besides the abutments, which would cost at least $4,000 each.

The committee soon came to the conclusion that the purchase of the bridge was impossible.
