

HOSPITAL HAS "ADDITION DE LUXE" ROOMS TO BE HAD AT $5 A DAY

Private Bath With Each Apartment, and Everything Made Attractive for Sufferers Who Are Willing to Pay.

Finishing touches are now being put on the interiors of the new private rooms that have been added to the private wards of Victoria Hospital. These rooms are practically ready for occupancy, and in them is embodied the latest and most modern construction. Each is equipped with private bath and the latest in furniture.

In all six rooms—two to each floor—have been added to the private wards by the recently completed addition, and these rooms are on a par with the finest hospital rooms in the country. Their fittings are luxurious. Primarily the addition to the private wards was made to increase the lavatory facilities.

$5 a Day the Rate.
The new private rooms were built at the same time to meet the demand of those patients who desired private bathroom attachments. They form a sort of "addition de luxe" to the hospital, and are $2 per day higher in price than the other private rooms, $5 per day being the rate placed on them.

Three stories high, the new addition is in keeping with the same style of architecture as the private ward building. It contains two private rooms on each floor, one on each corner, the private baths for these rooms, and private baths for the old corner rooms of the different floors that have been added to the "private-bath-attached" class. The addition has also provided for the installation of two ward lavatories on each floor, one for each six, replacing the small lavatory that formerly did service.

Of Modern Type.
These new lavatories are of the same sanitary design as the others in the equipment of the new private rooms. They are made in three sections. Not only is the ward lavatory accommodation made, but the entire equipment of the private wards has been greatly augmented by the new addition. The old lavatories have been torn out, and their place taken by new serving-rooms, each containing a gas stove, steam table, refrigerator and the necessary equipment for serving and preparing the patients' meals. The old serving-rooms have been transferred to the lavatories for the use of the nurses and attendants, and for the disposal of refuse.

Of the new private rooms themselves, no pains have been spared to make them the latest word in hospital construction.

Cheaper Than Others.
This, too, in spite of the comparatively modest rate—$5 per week for the same style of room and private bath attachment that is rated at $7.50 per week and up in Toronto hospitals. The rooms are all corner ones, having side and front windows, and are brighter and cheerier than the majority of high-class hotel rooms. The furnishings are correspondingly better.

Superintendent T. H. Heard is well pleased with the new addition, and particularly with the new signal service that has been installed in the entire private ward building. This is a silent service, replacing the old-time bells. The pressing of an electric button in the patient's room lights an electric lamp outside the door and in the nurse's room. The light can only be extinguished by the nurse in the room from which it was turned on.

Accommodation for 350.
When present additions are completed the hospital will have accommodation for 350 patients without the slightest crowding. Another 100 can be handled with little "doubling up." Over 60 patients can be handled in the private wards. Half as many will be accommodated in the new advanced tubercular ward that is being built. This ward will be on the third floor of the old building that contained wards 5 and 6. When completed, the third floor will be devoted entirely to tubercular cases that cannot be handled at the Byron Sanatorium by virtue of their extreme advancement. The roof will be a flat one, and tubercular patients will be allowed to use it as a roof garden.

The second floor of this building is to be utilized as a semi-private ward, and will accommodate 30 patients of that class. On the ground floor the new eye, ear, nose and throat department, made possible by the Victoria Hospital by the gift of the Gunn family, will be installed. A complete operating room is to be equipped.

The roof of the main hospital kitchen has been raised four feet, and new sanitary floors installed, greatly increasing the facilities of that important department.

Crosstown Line of Civic Motors Is Latest Scheme
Commissioner Stevenson Would Run Autobuses Up and Down Waterloo St.

Proposes That Street Should Be Paved From End to End.

A cross-town line of auto buses operated by the city and run on Waterloo street from its northern to its southern extremity is the plan suggested by Water Commissioner Hugh Stevenson as a solution of London's problems.

Dr. Stevenson thinks that the street railway would not be seriously affected by the line; that there would be business for a municipal line, and that London's traffic problem so far as the northern, central and southern sections of the city were concerned would be greatly relieved.

Pave All Waterloo Street.
In order to bring the scheme into effect it would be necessary, in the opinion of Dr. Stevenson, to pave Waterloo street from one end to the other with cement or asphalt. Then with three-cent fares and four or five large auto buses in operation, he is confident that the city would make enough to pay for the pavement and the system of buses.

The city has the right to operate transportation systems on streets not run on by the street railway, and the commissioner says that he may bring this scheme forward before long and see that it goes before the citizens.

Buses On Fifth Avenue.
He has in mind the type of auto "used on Fifth Avenue in New York. They will accommodate nearly forty persons, and make good speed. They are operated at small cost per hour, and there is no overhead construction or trackage to keep in shape. They could be secured with motive apparatus and charged at the hydro station.

Dr. Stevenson is confident that there is more than enough business for the street railway and the motor bus line at the present time, and he has hopes that the scheme will be forwarded.

Another scheme advanced by Dr. Stevenson recently was the plan for a Ridout street subway. It was promised that this would be taken up in the council, but nothing definite was done.

Old Men Still Out On Grand Trunk

Grievance Committee Returns From Montreal Without Having Seen President Chamberlin—Appeal to Government May Be Made.

After some time spent in Montreal in an endeavor to secure an audience with President Chamberlin, of the Grand Trunk, the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Order of Railroad Conductors returned to their respective homes on Tuesday.

The committee did not have an opportunity to interview Mr. Chamberlin, as he is at present in the Canadian west with Mr. Wainwright, going over the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Old Men Still Out.
One of the grievances to be aired by the committee is failure of the company to put back on their old runs a number of trainmen who went out on strike three years ago last June. Some time ago an order commanding these men to go to Toronto and write the company's rules and to report to the divisional superintendent at the terminal where they were located, was sent out. The men complied with the order, but since then have heard nothing about returning to work. It is also said that the men are dissatisfied with working conditions on the road, and that in the event of not being able to arrange matters with Mr. Chamberlin, the brotherhoods will request the Minister of Labor to appoint a commission to look into the matter.

Telegraphers' Requests.
A similar request from the telegraphers of the road, including the men in charge of stations at small places, has been made to the Government. The telegraphers are asking for higher wages and better hours.

Two London men were on the grievance committee, but they were reticent about saying anything until after reporting to their local. The committee will endeavor to meet Mr. Chamberlin as soon as he returns from the west.

GIRL GETS GARNISHEE ON RING FOR EX-SWEETHEART

Wants Her Presents Back After Fickle Swain Stops Calling, and Tries To Keep Cupid's Bauble.

Some time back in the dim and dusty regions of the past—a philosopher, wiser than his fellows, opined and deposed that the course of true love never runs smooth. Since that time there have been a goodly number of mortals who have thought likewise. Among the latest is an employee of a certain shop in London. His "discovery" was a rather unusual one, having been made through the somewhat unusual legal way of garnishee and lawyer's letters.

It happened thus: Some time since the young man in question was going with a young woman. The love apparently was sincere on both sides, and to cement the sincerity she presented him with a ring. All went well for a short time, and then there was a "bust up." The young man left. He has not yet returned. Neither has the ring. Now she wants it. She asked for it. It was refused. Then she sought legal advice. Yesterday a garnishee was served on the man's wages for the value of the ring.

LITTLE INDIAN STOIC WON'T TELL HIS NAME

In Children's Shelter, and Has Not Spoken Since He Arrived.

Inspector Sanders, of the Charities Organization, has an Indian boy in the shelter, who will not tell his parents' name, or where he comes from.

The lad, who is between 10 and 12 years old, was brought to Mr. Sanders from Thorndale two weeks ago, but since then he has never spoken. All efforts to learn his name, or the name of his parents, have been without success, and Mr. Sanders has written to the Muncey Reserve to see if he can gain any information about the boy.

QUAKE AT MESSINA.

THAW TO BE DEPORTED IS DECISION OF COURT

MAKE A JOYFUL SOUND!
COAL HAS NOT GONE UP

London Dealers Do Not Raise Price on Sept. 1, but Won't Tell Why.

Something did not happen on the 1st of September this year in London that has been happening annually on the 1st of September for many years previous to this.

And that something that did not happen will prove a great boon to the poor consumer if it fails to happen during the rest of the year.

The "something" was the usual fall advance in the price of coal. In former years coal was always advanced 50 cents a ton on the first day of the first fall month. But this year it did not. Just why the dealers would not say. Neither would they say that the advance would go into effect later in the fall. But they would admit that it might.

The advance went into effect in Toronto and there the consumer is now paying $8 a ton for his black diamonds. In London the prices range from $7.25 to $7.75 a ton, and the dealers claim that there is no scarcity of coal at present.

Big Sum Will Be Needed for Struggle in Vermont Shortly.
No Decision in Regard to Deportation, But It Is Expected Shortly.

Sherbrooke, Sept. 3.—Bulletin at 3 o'clock.—Thaw loses. Writ sustained.

[Canadian Press.]
Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 3.—Lawyers working for and against the deportation and return to Mattawan of Harry Thaw, were on the alert today mindful of the fact that Superior Judge Hutchinson might at any time hand down his decision on the habeas corpus writ, arguments on which he heard yesterday.

Although the court did not say definitely when he would render judgment there were those who believed that he would announce his findings today. Others contended that the case would require more mature thought, and that it might be Thursday or Friday before a decision was had.

Will Be Written.
—Long will be rendered in writing, and he agreed to summon counsel to chambers in ample time before its delivery. If the writ is sustained, Thaw will be ejected from the Sherbrooke jail, where he has been confined for more than two weeks since his escape from the asylum, and arrested by immigration officers, for deportation. His counsel may then seek to get another writ of habeas corpus, demanding his release from the immigration department.

Lafamme Retained.
N. K. Lafamme, of Montreal, one of the most eminent criminal lawyers in the Dominion, was due here today to reinforce the Thaw lawyers. He was retained in the case some time ago, but up till now has taken no active part in the fight.

There were current today reports that Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the fugitive, would soon arrive in Sherbrooke to insure counsel of their fees and expenses. Some of the Thaw lawyers, it is said, have again expressed dissatisfaction over the fact that no response has been made to the demand for the return of the Thaw family, and more recently, that the Thaw family has remained on the scene, and that while money was talked of, no large amounts have been in evidence.

Money Needed.
A great deal of money will be needed to carry on a protracted legal fight, particularly in Vermont, in the matter of extradition proceedings, or in case of an appeal from the ruling of the immigration authorities. The New York interests, it is understood, have made elaborate plans for getting Thaw from Vermont to New York, while Thaw counsel, handicapped by lack of funds have so far confined themselves to keeping him in jail.

Chaufeur's Trial.
A by-product of Thaw's escape as it were, the case of "Gentleman Roger" Thompson, late of Times Square, and more recently chauffeur of the car that whirled Thaw away from Mattawan, was set for trial before Magistrate Mulvena today. Thompson was held in $500 bail last week on the double charge of kidnapping the Dominion by stealth, and of assisting Thaw, an undesirable, to cross the border. He is subject to a maximum fine of $500 and three months in jail. His chief defence, as outlined in a preliminary hearing last week, was that he was a British subject. For several days past Thompson had been in Montreal, but he returned to Sherbrooke last night ready to face trial. He was emphatic in his statements that he would not squeal on Thaw, although he admits having driven him in his dash for liberty.

Geo. Warwick Was Horribly Burned
[Canadian Press.]
Brookville, Sept. 3.—George Warwick, the ex-McGill hockey star, who starred as a goaltender, was badly burned last night when his motorboat caught fire on the river. When Warwick started the engine at the dock it back-fired, and in an instant he was enveloped in flames. He managed to reach the wharf and was hurried to the hospital. It is thought he will recover. The boat was scuttled by parties who went to the rescue.

MRS. William Wilson, formerly of this city, who was killed in runaway.

By this process clear lumber of great width is obtained, and the effect when put into panels is extremely also of oak, and the intention is to apply a fine wax finish, that will display the beauty of the graining. The carpentry work will all be finished to the end of the week, according to Mr. Harry Tozer, who has the contract in hand.

Mr. George S. Gould, who is responsible for the work of plastering the exterior of the historic old towers of the courthouse, has still a lot of work on hand. The north and west sides of the building have been almost completed, but the east side is little more than half-finished, and practically nothing is done on the south side, overlooking the jailyard, beyond the first rough coat. Every effort is being made to have the work completed before the frost comes.

Marble Tops on Steps.
The ironwork on the staircase leading to the courtroom is completed and the workmen are now busy putting on the marble tops to the steps. The tile floors have all been completed. The new main vault is already finished and ready for use. It is a commodious chamber, being about 18x35 feet. Steel shelving of the most modern type has been installed.

It is improbable that all the rooms will be ready for occupancy before the end of the year, however, and in the meantime the occupants of the offices are putting up as best they can with the discomforts occasioned by having the workmen changing their quarters about.

New Men For Force.—Three recruits were added to the police force Tuesday morning, and will be put on probation for six months before being added to the force permanently. They are Messrs. William Knight, Harry Burton and Galvin Monahan. All are residents of London.

MAJOR ADVISED TO SELL JUNK AT $50 PRICE
Told That City Was Getting Good Price for Scrap at Fair.

Mayor C. M. R. Graham believes that the junk dealers of the city who protested against his sale of Western Fair junk, following the recent fire, for $50, are exercising themselves unduly.

In explaining his action today, he declared that he had received the opinion of several builders and two ward foremen on the value of the old iron and copper before he disposed of it, and that they were of the opinion that $50 was a big price.

Eight Drowned in Wreck of Launch
[Canadian Press.]
Newport News, Va., Sept. 3.—Three petty officers and five men of the battleship Nebraska were drowned today when one of the ship's launches was wrecked in the hurricane sweeping the coast here. The old Dominion liner Nobjack is reported sunk in the bay with a crew of eight and some passengers. The report is unconfirmed, and the line has no information.

BRYAN HAS RECEIVED NO WORD FROM LIND
Conference Between President Wilson and William Hale on Thursday.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, Sept. 3.—With the return of President Wilson from the summer White House, and the arrival of William Bayard Hale, who has been making observations in Mexico for the administration, interest in the Mexican situation was revived.

Secretary of State Bryan announced that no word had been received from John Lind, who still remains at Vera Cruz, was said to be the bearer of personal messages to the President.

Before leaving late today for a lecture engagement, Secretary Bryan planned to go over Mexican developments of the last few days with President Wilson and discuss particular inquiries by Americans regarding means of protection to their property if they leave Mexico.

Conferences between the President and Mr. Hale were arranged for late today, Mr. Bryan said that he would confer with Mr. Hale tomorrow.

"Guns" Will Do Well to Give London a Wide Berth for the Week.

The detectives who will be present for the Grand Trunk are: Mr. J. Hodge, chief of the middle division, and Messrs. J. M. Bond, W. Fraser, J. Gordon and W. Bryant.

Twenty-One Dead On New Haven

Fast Train Loaded With Home-Coming Tourists Was Run Down by Second Section—Accident Was Due to Faulty Block System.

Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 2.—Twenty-one persons were killed and nearly fifty injured in a collision shortly before 7 o'clock this morning on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, a few miles north of here. The first section of the White Mountain Express was speeding along at probably forty miles an hour in a thick fog and rushed past a danger signal, crashing into the rear section of the "Bar Harbor Express," standing 100 feet beyond the block signal.

Cut in Two. The White Mountain engine cut through the two rear Pullman cars, both of wood, splitting them in two and tossing their wreckage and three score of mangled human bodies, some alive, some dead, on either side of the track.

The third car, also of wood, and occupied by forty boys on their way from a summer camp at Monmouth, Me., was lifted into the air and the car fell on its side, crumpled up, crushed two of the boys to death and injured several others.

Hurled Over Fence. Some of the victims of the two rear Pullmans were hurled from their berths over a fence paralleling the track fifty feet distant; mattresses, bedding and clothing found lodged in telegraph wires.

A Bad Start. It was the third serious wreck which the New Haven has suffered within a year, and inaugurated the first day of the regime of Howard Elliott, the newly-elected head of the road. Mr. Elliott, returning from his summer home in New Hampshire to assume his duties, passed over the scene of the wreck on an earlier train, less than an hour before.

Were Coming Home. Practically all the passengers on both trains were returning to their homes from summer vacations, and all but two of a camping party of nine, guests of S. Crozer Fox of Ellington, Pa., returning from Maine, were wiped out. Fox was among those killed. No one was hurt in the White Mountain train.

List of the Dead. The death list, revised from the coroner's report and from the list issued by the railroad company, is as follows:

Killed in the wreck: Wm. Altech, Norwalk; Miss Margaret Armstrong, Washington, D. C.; Miss Marie L. Bullitt, Philadelphia; Albert Green, New York City; Royal W. Hotchkiss, New Haven, Conn.; Miss Harriet Bidwell, Torrington, Pa.; H. F. Martin, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Mrs. H. F. Martin, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Daniel N. McQuillen, Philadelphia; S. Crozer Fox, Ellington, Pa.

Denied Life Insurance

because his bodily health failed to meet the company's rules, Mr. Jas. Connors says Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey built him up so that he successfully passed three different physical examinations by the same Life Insurance Company, which formerly rejected his application. No wonder he will not accept substitutes for Duffy's.

"I have great faith in your wonderful remedy which I have taken regularly for the past twenty-five years. Before I took Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I was subject to chills and heavy colds in the winter and had very poor appetite. My family physician advised me to take a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey before meals. I followed his directions and found it created an appetite, and while taking it I was not subject to the cold chills that I formerly suffered with."

"Twenty years ago I was rejected by a Life Insurance Company, and since taking your whiskey I have built myself up and have passed three times since in the same company."—James Connors, 397 Baltic Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

brings into action all the vital forces: it makes digestion perfect and enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains. It builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood.

It is invaluable for the overworked, delicate and sickly. It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of good health and longevity, makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and relief of nervousness, typhoid, malaria, all stomach troubles, diseases of the throat and lungs, and is recognized as a medicine by doctors of all schools. Beware of imitations and substitutes. They are positively harmful and are sold for profit only by unscrupulous dealers. Look for the trademark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. Sold by most dealers and hotels, at $1.25 a large bottle.

KEIR HARDIE REGRETS DUBLIN STRIKE RIOTS

Employers Are Now Considering Proclaiming a General Walk-Out.

[Canadian Press.] Dublin, Sept. 2.—James Keir Hardie, the Socialist labor member of parliament, who is here in connection with the street car strike riots and the conflicts between the strikers and the police, said today:

"I regard what has happened here as the most serious event the trade union movement has had to face for at least a century. The action of the authorities against the strike leader, James Larkin, and others, sweeps aside the whole of the trade union legislation, and restores us to the exact position in which the trade unions were before they were legalized. It is a form of action against trade unionism which is very common in America, but I did not expect to find it in any law-abiding country like our own, that the anarchist precedent of the United States courts would have been followed."

Mr. Keir Hardie went on to declare that apart from the merits and demerits of the dispute, the action of the authorities was so alarming that it must be checked at all costs. The employers of Dublin are considering the proclamation of a general lockout.

Two Burn to Death in Fire at Cobalt

Old Frame Building Proved a Trap For Many Boarders.

Cobalt, Sept. 2.—Fire early today gutted an old frame building in which several people were living at the rear of J. B. Miner's lodging-house on Argentine street, and in the debris the remains of Thomas Malley, a mill hand, and Rectave Forget, a lumberman, 52 years of age, were found.

A miner named Quigley, who is employed at the O'Brien Mine, was badly burned about the arms and body. A Finlander is dying in the mine's hospital from burns, and Frederick Roy, a young Frenchman, and his bride of but two months, had a thrilling escape from death. Finding his wife in his arms he kicked through a pane of glass with his bare feet and jumped with her in his arms from a balcony to the ground 12 feet below. Both escaped uninjured.

Forget came in from a lumber camp to spend a holiday with his daughter. He has a wife and two daughters residing in Ottawa, and a son living here. The building was owned by J. B. Miner, and was valued at $5,000. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Land Act Will Be Amended Shortly

Dr. Roche Plans to Restore Former Homesteading Clause.

[Canadian Press.] Calgary, Sept. 2.—Dr. Roche spent a busy day in Calgary granting audiences to deputations and conferring with local leaders of the Conservative party. In an interview he stated he would introduce an amendment to the land act of next session to provide for the restoration of the old "clock" clause relative to homesteading.

He also said the report of the ranching commission in so far as it relates to Saskatchewan would probably be adopted in its entirety, but the recommendations with reference to Alberta would be only partially adopted. The Stony Reserve Indians claimed that various religious denominations, including Indians have made promises when taking Indian children to be placed in schools that when their education should be completed they would be given assistance, and given a start in farming, and that these promises so far as the Stony River reserves were concerned had not been carried out.

Insane Man Drove Horse to Death

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2.—Philip Adams, 37 years of age, apparently became suddenly insane today, drove across the river to Windsor, fled to a horse which he picked up in Essex, and is now locked up at Windsor.

It is understood Canadian immigration officers will not return Adams to the United States until a lunacy commission determines his mental condition. Should he not be adjudged insane he may be tried on a charge of horse theft.

Until recently Adams was a driver for a local creamery. While delivering milk he left his horse in an alley and disappeared. The next heard of him was when he bought an automobile, placed it in a pile of lumber and set fire to the lumber, destroying the machine. His lunacy took on a new form today, when he crossed the river.

Senator To Try To End Disputes

[Canadian Press.] Washington, Sept. 2.—Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, replied today to the recent speech by his Democratic colleague, Senator Hollis, who declared New England's textile industry was being ruined by the tariff bill and assailed the textile manufacturers for recent labor troubles.

"New England believes in a protective tariff," declared Senator Gallinger, "and no man who supports the bill now under consideration or defends men like Ektor, Haywood and others of their ilk, represents in any way her views."

He assailed the Democratic bill as a whole. Democratic senators in caucus beginning tonight will endeavor to settle the differences over the income tax, cotton tax and other questions. Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, expects to confer with President Wilson upon the latter's return from the summer White House about some of the disputed features before the caucus finally decides. Mr. Simmons looks for a vote on the bill the latter part of next week.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 3.

THE WESTERN FAIR.

Less than a week has passed since a large section of the buildings used by the Western Fair were burned down. It looked like a serious catastrophe. But early Friday morning the directors were on the ground. Before the ashes were cold, men were clearing up the debris. Every available mechanic in the city was engaged. Plans were quickly drafted. Material was requisitioned. Alternate gangs of men were set to work. All day and all through the night the sounds of hammer and axe and saw were heard. The municipal authorities and the board of directors were determined that nothing should prevent the opening of the fair at the usual time.

And they were successful. In a celebration in a neighboring city lately they built a house in a day. That was nothing compared with what London has done. It has put up exhibition buildings in less than a week. This is but a specimen of the energy that has characterized the Western Fair Association since its inception away back in 1863. In those days there was an itinerant provincial exhibition. London had it every three or four years. But that was not enough for our people. So the local societies, the municipality, and some of our leading citizens got together and formed the Western Fair Association. The backbone of the organization was composed of the East Middlesex District Societies, and their officers were the prime movers in the new enterprise. All honor to those pioneers—James Johnson, George Macree, William McBride, Henry Anderson, Thomas Routledge, Maynard Smith, John Campbell, James Durand, John Elliott and their associates, who inaugurated an enterprise that has become the great annual celebration of Southwestern Ontario.

The first Western Fair was but a small thing. A prize list of less than $3,000 looks very trifling compared with this year's list of nearly $20,000. But the organization has grown because it was necessary, and because those in charge have acted with energy and with wisdom. And it has not only grown in extent, but in usefulness. It is the farmer's summer school, where he can not only see the latest implements in his department of work, but can learn how to use them. And not alone the farmer, but men and women of every class and condition find instruction as well as amusement. It supplements our common school course, for the children, as they wander through the buildings and over the grounds, see and hear the practical application of much that is given them in theory in their daily studies.

Other cities have followed the course laid out by London, and have established their annual fair, but the Western fair has not lost its pre-eminence. Only Toronto, whose large population gives it special advantages, has surpassed London in its expenditure and in its attendance. In some other respects it is not our equal. But even though Toronto may bulk larger in the public eye, London is the centre of Southwestern Ontario. The Western Fair is ours. The people of the surrounding country support it. The villages and towns send in their hundreds and thousands; from every concession line the farmers and their families come in to the great show. Let the citizens of London keep well to the front. Let us show equal pride in our own institutions. Help on the Western Fair; if you have anything worth exhibiting, send it in; do not neglect to visit it, and more than once. It pays London; let London support it, and make it a bigger success this year than ever before.

EAST MIDDLESEX CONSERVATIVES.

Our local contemporary reads a lesson to East Middlesex Conservatives, who insist on a farmer candidate.

We agree with the contention that a candidate's postoffice address should not be a factor, but our contemporary has often taken a different view. East Middlesex farmers are merely acting on its advice given in former elections.

The Liberals have more than once run city or town residents in East Middlesex, and the other Middlesexes, and when they have been opposed by farmers the Free Press never missed the opportunity of raising a sectional cry. Its denunciation of Liberal law candidates is as recent as the last federal and provincial elections. In West Middlesex, particularly, farmers were urged in 1911 to vote against Mr. Duncan Ross because his opponent was a son of the soil. Happily Liberal farmers have never listened to these appeals. Our contemporary finds its chickens coming home to roost; but they are returning on its own invitation.

The United States Government assumes that President Huerta is as bad as he looks.

Canada is the costliest country in the world to live in. Our combines are new-born, but they are lusty youngsters.

Lord Haldane says that Anglo-German relations are excellent. However, this was not said with the idea of hurting the Borden Government's feelings.

The promised workmen's compensation bill can compensate many workers or their dependents for the arrears of years of injustice.

A naval contribution is money spent not to defend the empire, but to disrupt it.

There is a fine blend of humor and reproach in the New York World's description of Thaw as "our most popular young insane millionaire murderer."

The old age pension act in Britain has reduced outdoor pauperism by 94.9 per cent. In another year it should be unanimous.

The Nationalists of Ulster have taken to singing "God Save the King." Perhaps they think he needs to be saved from the wrath of the Ulster "loyalists."

Rev. C. W. Gordon ("Ralph Connor") says that he found the old land full of youth and virility, and away ahead of Canada in regard to social work. Evidently Ralph was not dining with dukes over there.

TROUBLES OF A PAVEMENT.

[Washington Star.] They took a little gravel And they took a little tar With various ingredients Imported from afar. They hammered it and rolled it, And when they went away They said they had a pavement, That would last for many a day. But they came with picks and smote it, And then they put it back again.

To lay a water main; And then they called the workmen To put it back again. To run a railway cable They took it up once more; And they put it back again, Just where it was before. They took it up for conduit To run the telephone. And then they put it back again As hard as any stone. They took it up for wires To feed the electric light. And then they put it back again Which was no more than right. Oh, the pavement's full of furrows, There are patches everywhere; You'd like to ride upon it, But it's seldom that you dare. It's a very handsome pavement, A credit to the town; They're always diggin' of it up Or puttin' of it down.

SAFE THERE.

[Simcoe Reformer.] If Thaw had only managed to reach Hamilton, Canada would have been saved much expense and bother. Once in Hamilton, he would have been safe from discovery.

A GRAVE SOCIAL EVIL.

[Public Opinion.] When Lord Morley welcomed the Medical Congress in London he said: "Another painful subject catches the eye on your fifty pages of agenda—I mean the horrible dangers of a certain disease transmitted in the dark through generations after generations of a community, and the further question of Government control and responsibility in connection with it. Here, again, ethical considerations hold, and rightly hold, a leading place in our public opinion. What we may call the surgeon's reason of state, important as it must be, cannot stand as the single decisive factor. That is certain. At the same time there would be sheer moral cowardice in shrinking from a large and serious inquiry into the extent, the causes, the palliatives of this hideous scourge just as we investigate the ravages of tuberculosis or cancer."

JUST THE REVERSE.

[Ottawa Citizen.] The Montreal Star makes the strange query: "Are women degenerating?" They are "getting down to business" as regards their rights; it is no reason to assume that it is any kind of a decline.

SLIPS OF THE NOVELISTS.

[Manchester Evening News.] Novelists are in a hurry at times, but only a few of their readers are critical. In a detective story of many years ago, the villain carried up to his room a basket containing 50,000 sovereigns. He handed it to a accomplice on a ladder. This is eclipsed in a novel by Guy Boothby. Here the villain stipulates that 100,000 pounds in "hard cash" shall be brought to him secretly at the place appointed. A gentlemanly at the place appointed. A gentlemanly at the place appointed. A gentlemanly at the place appointed.

AEROPLANE PARACHUTE.

[London Daily News.] A remarkable feat was accomplished yesterday at the aerodrome of Chateau Fort, near Versailles, with a parachute invented by M. Bonnet, a Canadian, who has already been awarded a prize of $200 by the Aero Club of France. The aviator, Pegoud, on a Blériot monoplane, to which the parachute was attached, rose to a height of 300 feet and then, stopping the motor, set free the parachute, which was strapped to his body. The mechanism worked perfectly. The aviator descended in safety, while the monoplane came to earth a few yards away with very little damage.

MR. HARRY LAUDER'S THEAT.

[Manchester Guardian.] The terrible news reaches me tonight that after Mr. Harry Lauder has appeared for another two weeks at the London Palladium and then for a few weeks at one or two other London halls, and then toured the continents of Africa and Australia for two years, he will retire from the variety stage. Experience teaches us that men who threaten to leave the stage live long upon it, so there is yet no necessity for us to save our hawtens over against a stupendous "last night." Still it is interesting to know from Mr. Lauder's representative that the Scots comedian has amassed a huge fortune, and that there is no necessity for him to continue to delight the public. The only thing that really stands in the way of his retirement, Mr. Lauder explains, is the applause of the public, by which he knows he has succeeded in amusing it. Did he not get this appreciation "all the money in the Bank of England would not repay him." This is as it should be. If at the end of the time Mr. Lauder feels he cannot leave the public, he proposes to play throughout the country in an entertainment lasting one and a half hours, when he will be singing ten songs at a stretch, as he has done in America.

THE SOUL OF A WORKING GIRL.

[Chicago Tribune.] A girl was afflicted with the last New York in a stupor. The practiced eye of a policeman perceived at a glance that she had taken poison. He rushed her to a hospital. A doctor pumped her for the deadly drug. Then the police pumped her for her story. It was simple. Her father and mother died within a short time. Left upon her own resources, she had taken to the streets. She earned little at it in her native city and was advised to go to New York. She went there. She looked for work for months, but did not find it. Her capricious dandies and those for dollar. She gave up her room and slept in the parks. After a few more days her last dollar had shrunk to the last quarter. The girl held communion with herself. It was either "the street" or suicide. She decided that she would rather die unloved. With the last quarter she bought the deadly drug.

WHAT ABOUT SIGHT DRAFT?

[Kindergarten Review.] The poet speaks of the "viewless wind," but what about the sight draft?

TRAVELLER LOSES 4 HATS IN SUCCESSION IN CITY.

Someone Scores Again on D. H. McGraw When He Goes Into Breakfast.

Mr. D. H. McGraw, claims agent of the Grand Trunk, is at a loss to understand whether several misfortunes that have befallen him lately are the direct result of a desire on the part of someone to get even with him over the settlement of a claim which he may have refused, or whether they are just cases of hard luck. I went to London he loses his hat. He says he would not care so much if the loss had occurred once or twice, but when it comes to four times, and those four times in succession, he says it begins to look suspicious. He has been in London on four different occasions lately, and each time he has lost his hat. Each time he stopped at the hotel on the last four occasions someone has walked away with his hat. "I thought I would be safe this time, and left my hat in a usual place when I went to breakfast, this morning, but when I came out I found that my hat was gone again," said he. "Whoever took it made a good selection, and got the best of the bargain." He has been playing a dilapidated chrisi that had seen much wear and that was turning green.

EXPECTS TO HEAR MORE ABOUT THE DEAR CASE.

Crown Attorney Does Not Think Man Who Victimized Cantrell Will Escape.

No move has yet been made by the Attorney-General's department towards the extradition of John Dear, who was arrested in Detroit for the police of this city on a charge of securing $150 from Joseph Cantrell, of this city, under false pretences. When Dear was arrested in Detroit and an attempt to have extradition proceedings instituted to bring him back, a hitch occurred, caused, it is admitted, by an official, by the unwillingness on the part of the Ontario authorities to spend the money necessary to extradite a man from the United States. Dear's wife and Dear himself, it is said, offered to settle with Cantrell if they were given an assurance that the charge against Dear would be dropped. But the authorities would not agree to this, and so far Dear has gone free, with a possibility of not having to face the charge in the Ontario courts and evading the payment of the money which he is said to have secured from Cantrell. Hon. Adam Beck, several days ago, signified his intention of taking up the matter with the Attorney-General's department. The first time he went to Toronto, but as he is out of the city, it could not be learned whether any new move had been made. Crown Attorney McKillop admitted that the meter had been dropped for a time, but said he expected to hear something more about it before the end of the week.

REV. COLLINS HAS RESIGNED

Wingham Baptist Pastor Tired of Receiving Anonymous Letters.

SAYS DEVIL IS IN CHURCH

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, Sept. 3.—Rev. G. V. Collins, for the past three years pastor of the Baptist Church at Wingham, sprung a big surprise at a meeting of the congregation when he rose and announced that he intended to resign. Holding an anonymous letter above his head in the pulpit he said he had received several such communications, all unsigned, and all containing mean remarks. Throwing the letter to the floor Mr. Collins ground it beneath his feet, with the remark that any man who would write such letters was filled with the spirit of the devil. He told the congregation that there was an Achim in the camp, a snake in the grass, a devil in the church, and he proposed to resign. The affair comes as a culmination of a series of troubles. Some months ago the organist resigned, and Mr. Collins took it upon himself to hold the choir together. Later another organist was engaged and he resigned. Then the church was practically destroyed by fire. The structure was rebuilt, but the new organ was not at all satisfactory and the choir fell away. An effort will be made, it is understood, to have Mr. Collins reconsider his decision.

EXPERTS ENGAGED FOR THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Both Andersen and Weaver Have Had Experience in Trade Training.

The two new teacher-instructors for the Industrial School, recently appointed by the board of education, have arrived in London, and have already commenced their duties here. They are teachers as well as master mechanics, both having had successful training in vocational education. J. C. Andersen, the new head of the woodworking department, learned the cabinet-making trade in Scotland. After working at his trade in Scotland and South Africa, taking a course at the Teachers' Training College at the University of Toronto, he was appointed to the faculty of the Saunders Trade School, York, N. Y., where for the past four years he has been head of the woodworking department. Mr. W. Weaver, the second new teacher-instructor, will be placed in charge of the machine shop and electrical department. He is a graduate of the Hamilton Trade School, and has since been instructor to the apprentices of the Pittsburgh Iron Company, where he was in charge of the Hamilton Watch Company. The last four years he has been one of the instructors in the engineering course of Haverford College.

TRACTION CAR HITS THRESHING ENGINE.

Trolley Came Around Curve, Striking Apparatus on Tracks.

Shortly after leaving Lambeth at 5:50 this morning, a south-bound trolley and a traction engine, owned by the Erie Railway and Transportation Company, collided with and damaged considerably a threshing machine owned by Messrs. Willis & Davis, of that section. The machine was being drawn by a traction engine, and as the accident happened on a curve of the road, the motorist was unable to see the trolley until he was right on it. The car was in charge of Motorman H. Thompson, of the Hamilton branch. Both of St. Thomas. The latter, seeing that a collision was about to occur, jumped from his engine and sustained minor injuries. The motorman stuck to his post and was not hurt.

Fear Murder in Edmonton Death.

[Canadian Press.]

Edmonton, Sept. 3.—Covered with a mattress and bedding, and lying upon the floor of a one-roomed shack on the Hudson Bay reserve, James McNulty, really salesman, was found dead by his partner, Burrard Mohler, on the latter's return from work on Tuesday evening. McNulty had been killed by a 12-bore gun at close range, and had been dead six to eight hours when found. Up till a late hour no arrests had been made. McNulty had been in Edmonton three years employed generally as a hotel clerk. He came from Norwood, Ont., where his father is a prominent farmer.

MELROSE.

Petrolia, Sept. 3.—The bowling tournament of yesterday was a great success. Rinks came from all over Lambton, and the crowd was very large. Mr. Hodgins, the new science master at the high school, has arrived. Scholars are coming from Courtright, Kimball, Bridgeport, and Wyoming and the surrounding territory. Mr. Chester Booth has returned to Detroit after a brief holiday here. Mr. W. Clyde has returned from his home in Kingston, and has again taken up the task of superintending the high school.

Unknown Man Was Horribly Mangled.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Sept. 3.—Crushed beyond recognition, the body of a man possibly 40 years of age, was picked up by the crew of a passing freight train at the foot of Strachan avenue early today, and conveyed to the Union Station, and later to the morgue. It is supposed he was walking along the tracks and was struck by another train. When found by the train crew the body was lying beside the tracks, both legs had been completely severed, one arm torn off, and the face and head badly crushed. The man, who had dark hair and a

TWO FINE PAPERS AT ONTARIO CONVENTION.

President Richter Says Pavements and Sewage Documents Are Invaluable.

Ald. J. G. Richter, newly-elected president of the Ontario Municipalities Association, returned from Rochester, N. Y., last night, after spending some time there in investigating municipal affairs, following the conclusion of the Ontario Municipalities in Toronto last week. Ald. Richter is enthusiastic over the work of the association which paid him the signal honor of electing him to its presidency.

Two Fine Papers.

"The convention this year was one of the best in the history of the association," said Ald. Richter. "Two papers, especially, of those presented at the meeting, were worth many times over the cost of membership to the various municipalities in the association. One of these was the paper on pavements, read by City Engineer McCallum, of Hamilton. In his work the engineer dealt with the various kinds of pavements, referring to the serviceability and durability of different kinds under different conditions. He differentiated between the heavy traffic business streets and the less travelled residential streets. On the second day we had a paper from an American sanitary engineer now commissioned by the city of New York to prepare a thorough report on the sanitary system there. This was a paper that was and will be invaluable to the municipalities. It dealt with sewage and sewage disposal. If any of the municipalities had the report prepared for them it would have cost $500 or more, so you can readily see the advantage of belonging to such an association. Reports to Be Printed. "Both the sewage and the pavement reports are to be printed. They will be published in pamphlet form, and will be distributed to the municipalities having membership in the association."

DOG IMAGINES HE IS GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

At Least He Holds Up Car Traffic for Some Time on Stanley Street.

A large black and white dog, evidently suffering from an attack of indolence, decided with his own mind that the space between the rails of the London Street Railway Company on Stanley street, was an ideal spot to rest at his ease. Several cars, crowded with people returning from their work, were compelled to stop or slow up until his dogship decided to vacate that particular strip of land. "Tiring of the track, where his rest was so frequently interrupted, the traffic-blocker took it upon himself to hold up passing autos and other vehicles, or causing them to make a sharp detour, to avoid him. The dog was too full of that listlessness characteristic of a warm day, for strenuous exercise, he decided. Therefore, there was no necessity for hurrying. He was not from Mexico or St. Thomas, either as later events proved. The physiological moment came when one car, taking the corner rapidly, escaped the dog's tail by a matter of decimals. The doggie emitted a wail similar to a locomotive in distress and precipitated himself in the direction of the sidewalk. Down this home stretch he cantered, all the listlessness of his opinions as to the climate foregone. In a mad dash, resulting from wounded puppy dignity. His day dreams and most haunting hopes were rudely shattered. He was disillusioned of any willingness on the part of the world to feel for a fellow sufferer.

EIGHT LOTS SOLD ON SEE HOUSE PROPERTY.

All Purchasers Will Erect Houses at Once or in the Spring.

Building activity in South London is steadily increasing. Mr. Len G. Westland, real estate agent, has in the past two or three days sold eight lots on the old See House property on Ridout street, all the purchasers of which will erect houses either at once or early next spring. On Windsor avenue, running from Ridout street to Wortley road, houses costing from $2,000 to $3,000 are either under way or will be commenced this week by Mr. W. R. McDonald, Mr. Norman Roberts, who is erecting two such houses, Mr. George Raymond, and Mr. W. Bowley. The Metcalfe Agencies are preparing to start work on a dozen houses on Merwin Heights, Oxford street, which they propose to sell on the instalment plan. The houses will be completed early this fall. Mr. F. W. Benwick, another real estate man, says that the demand for houses has never been so heavy in London. People are beginning to realize that it is difficult to rent suitable houses, practically no houses being available, and are buying homes for themselves. Many houses are changing hands every day. Transfers of homes being more numerous than sales in any other branches of real estate activity.

Sarnia, Sept. 3.—Announcement was made today that Sarnia is to have in the near future a new factory to cost $200,000, and employ 150 men. It will manufacture all kinds of oil and gas stoves. No names are mentioned as yet in connection with the management, but it is generally understood that the Imperial Oil Company is behind the enterprise, as in the charter they obtained a few months ago there was a clause embodying the manufacture of goods similar to those the new firm will make. While a definite location for the factory has not been secured it is stated that it will be either at Point Edward or right in Sarnia. "Peaches"

Fruit desserts are far more wholesome and enjoyable at this season than are the heavy pastries and puddings of the winter bill of fare. They also require less time and labor in preparation, thus proving an inestimable boon to the housewife during the months when kitchen work is the hardest.

In my opinion, the peach heads the list of summer fruits in points of healthfulness and delicious flavor, and certainly none lends itself to greater variety in serving.

PEACH SNOW.

Dissolve one-fourth box of gelatin in half a cup of boiling water, after soaking until soft in a very little cold water, the juice of a lemon, one-half cupful of sugar and the same of peach pulp which has been forced through a potato ricer or a colander. When the mixture begins to harden whip in lightly the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs and turn into individual molds. Serve in sherbet glasses, garnishing each portion with slices of peach and a single ripe blackberry. Macaroons may form the accompaniment.

PEACH CUSTARD.

Fill sundae glasses about a quarter full of chopped peach, and then nearly to the top with soft custard. When ready to serve cover each portion with sweetened whipped cream and invert half of a chilled peach in the centre.

PEACH BLANC MANGE.

Make a peach jelly by thickening a cupful of peach pulp with one and three-fourths tablespoonsful of gelatin dissolved in a little water, and adding sugar and lemon juice to taste. Mold in a single layer between two of plain blanc mange. Turn out upon a plate, garnish the top with half of a fresh peach and decorate the base with a border of alternate peach slices and candied cherries.

Peel and weigh your fruit. Clingstone peaches are best. To every five pounds of fruit allow two and one-half pounds of light brown sugar, one pint of vinegar, ten cloves, three sticks of cinnamon and a blade or two of mace. Let peaches lie in this syrup for two hours. Drain and put juice over fire. Boil rapidly. Skin all peaches and remove stones. When no more scum appears put in enough fruit to fill one can and boil for seven minutes if the peaches are firm and if they are nearly ripe boil only five minutes. Remove peaches from syrup and place on platter and allow to cool. Add the spice to the syrup and boil at least fifteen minutes longer. Strain the syrup through a colander. Line a dish with stale sponge cake soaked in some of the peach syrup, spread over them the peach pulp. When ready to serve cover with one pint of heavy cream sweetened and whipped. If desired add one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

PEACH TRIFLE.

Peel and slice enough peaches to make one quart. Put one cup of sugar and one cup of water into sauce pan and boil. Add peaches and six or eight stones. Boil until tender. Set aside to cool, then press through a colander. Line a dish with stale sponge cake soaked in some of the peach syrup, spread over them the peach pulp. When ready to serve cover with one pint of heavy cream sweetened and whipped. If desired add one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

PEACH GELATINE.

Soak one box of gelatin in one cup of cold water. Boil one and one-half cups of sugar and one cup of water and the rind of half a lemon for ten minutes. Pour the syrup over gelatin and stir until dissolved. Put one pint of sliced peaches in mold and add half a cup of blanched almonds. Fill mold with syrup and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

PEACH FANCIES.

This simple but delicious dainty is a combination of lemon sherbet and sliced peaches, served in glasses and garnished with green minted cherries.

PEACH COMPOTE.

Peel and slice two dozen ripe peaches. Make syrup of one cup of water and one cup of sugar. Add four small pieces of stick cinnamon. When sugar is all dissolved and boiling add peaches and boil slowly until clear and tender. Serve cold with marmalade.

PEACH MARMALADE.

Peel peaches and remove stones. To six quarts of fruit add one quart of water and put in preserving kettle and cook for one hour. Stir almost constantly so it may not burn. Add three quarts of granulated sugar and boil one hour longer, stirring so as not to burn. The marmalade should be thick, smooth and glossy at the end of this time. Put in small glasses or jars and seal at once.

Half an Hour With the Cook

Readers of this page are requested to contribute recipes or helpful hints along culinary lines for publication in this column, the desire being to make it one of mutual benefit. Original recipes, or any found to be tried and true, will be especially appreciated.

"Corn," or "maize," is without doubt an national vegetable. From the time when the Indians and settlers used it, it has been in favor increasingly, and justly deserves the place it holds in the housewives' esteem. Corn, by analysis, shows these ingredients: 75.4 water, 3.1 protein, 1.1 fat, 19.7 starch.

They tell us that corn is largely a "starch" food, with a small proportion of protein. Since this is so, potatoes or rice should not be served at the same meal at which corn is eaten heartily. It is at its best either boiled or the cob or in many of the "made dishes" to which it lends itself so well, and in which the other food elements may be added, so that the dish may approach a "balanced" or complete meal.

Since corn is largely "starch" it is therefore a "heat-producer," and fattening, especially when combined with butter or other fat. It is the tough outer shell of each kernel that is often injurious to children, causing diarrhoea, and for that reason it should be carefully scraped so that these portions are not included in the food.

Here are three toothsome corn dishes: Corn Fritters.—Eight ears of corn, scraped from the cob, 2 eggs, 4 level tablespoonsful flour, 1/2 teaspoonful salt. Scrape the kernels and milk carefully into a bowl, add the eggs, beat and add flour and salt. Drop in spoonfuls carefully into pan greased with bacon fat, and fry on both sides light brown.

Corn Toast.—One cup cold cooked corn or grated fresh corn, 2 level tablespoonsful butter, 1 pin cream, 1 teaspoonful onion juice, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/4 teaspoonful paprika, toasted bread slices.

Put butter and onion juice in skillet, add corn, cream, seasonings. Bring to the boiling point and pour over toast slices. Excellent luncheon dish.

Scalloped Corn.—Two cups corn pulp scraped from ear (or cold boiled corn), 2 tablespoonsful butter, 2 tablespoonsful flour, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 finely-chopped onion, 1 small green pepper finely shredded, 1/2 cup milk, yolk of 1 egg, 1 scant cup fine cracker crumbs.

Cook pepper, onion and butter five minutes. Add four cups milk with seasonings, and then pour on milk, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling point and add egg and cracker crumbs. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake in hot oven until brown.

The Poets' Corner

THE PANSY AND THE BOOK.
Following across the moors a sound of bells,

We found a church, the smallest that could be,
Hid in a tamarisk-grove beside the sea,
And graves of shipwreck'd men set round with shells.

We enter'd when the prayers were almost done;
The little children nodded on their knees,
The preacher's voice was drown'd in hum of bees.

That danced about the lectern in the sun,
Awhile we knelt I let a pansy glide
Between her sweet, grave face and open book,

And whisper'd as she turn'd with child-ing look—
"Heaven has not will'd, dear heart,
This word be thine;—Love, pure and true,
Love pure as ours, nor blames if thought of me
Comes like this flower between thy God and thee."

Comical Creature Has Cute Pocket In Its Long Beak—Feeds on Fishes

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

This is a pelican.

It isn't a bit pretty on land, but it makes up for it in the water.

When it stands on a rock with its web feet spread out and its thin neck and bill curved like a hook, it looks such a comical creature.

The pelican, you know, is as large as a swan. Its white feathers are usually tinged with red, while the breasts of the really old birds are quite yellow.

The remarkable feature of the pelican is its beak. The upper part is long, large and flat, and has a hook at the end, which curves over the lower part.

And what do you think?

Mother Nature has provided this strange bird with a sort of pocket in the lower part of its beak into which it can put fish.

When there is nothing in this pouch or pocket it looks very small. But it can be widened so that several fish may be carried in it.

You see, the pelican is a wonderfully clever fisher and fishes for its food every day in the streams and ponds.

When there are baby pelicans the old mother pelican catches fish, but doesn't swallow them. Instead she keeps them in her pouch till she gets back to her babies. Then she opens her beak and each baby pelican takes its turn pushing its bill down the mother's mouth to take out fish to eat. Although the pelican is not at all beautiful when on land, it is very, very graceful flying through the air. Sometimes you will see a whole flock of these white birds going at a great height overhead.

NEW MOTOR WRAP FOR FALL RIDES

Among the newest motor wraps is one of dark red ratine cut in a long, full kimono shape, the ends brought up and thrown over the shoulders. To do this one must slash the back and place under it a sharp point of the plain cloth. This wrap is beautifully braided and finished with tassels. It is lined throughout with pale blue satin.

Hints That Help

If a piece of sugar is put into the water that flowers stand in, they will keep fresh quite a long time.

Wet shoes should be stuffed with paper before they are put away. They will dry more quickly and not be so hard.

Finger marks on the doors will clean off easily if the cloth is first dipped in kerosene. Then wash in the usual way.

In preparing eggplant press it under water instead of just salting it. This prevents the vegetable from turning black.

Wall paper can be cleaned by making a paste of whitening. Lay it thick on the marks, allow it to dry; then brush off.

Half a lemon squeezed into a glass of warm water and drunk before breakfast is said to be good for the complexion.

Linens can be rendered non-inflammable by washing it in a solution of two ounces of alum dissolved in a gallon of water.

It is best to iron underwear on the wrong side. This makes the surface smooth and it will not be apt to irritate the skin.

Tea-Table Talk

A London Lady's Trip.

The London woman who has spent the summer in the vicinity of Edmonton told the writer some delightful, interesting things the other day about her trip and her impressions of the vast Canadian West.

The lady from the Forest City was accompanied on her long trip by her three children, and it was not the least part of her charming description to hear of the kindness accorded her all along the route by other travelling folks. "On one occasion through some error, sleeping accommodation had not been reserved for me, but a fellow traveller immediately insisted upon my accepting his berth for the night. It was the same everywhere. All along the journey both men and women did all in their power to make it easier for me and the children," she said.

"Another thing that impressed me particularly in the West was the neighborliness of the people in the farming country around Edmonton. Practically all have rural telephones in their houses, and whenever one family was going to town they would telephone around the neighborhood to see if there was any errands to do or purchases to make for them. It was not 'Are you going to town?' 'Will you get me this?' but 'We are going to town. Can we do anything for you?'

"Then on Sunday evenings two or three or more families meet together and sing hymns and enjoy a few hours' chat. Their cordiality and friendliness with each other is remarkable to one from the east. These gatherings are particularly enjoyable to the newcomer. For in the evenings when the house is quiet, and the world, dismal cry of the coyote comes across the prairies, often sounding quite near, the stranger is apt to get rather blue."

"In the section I visited they seem in a fair way to solve the church union problem. The same building is used for Methodist and Presbyterian services, a Methodist minister preaching one Sunday, and a Presbyterian the next. 'Are the Presbyterians attend the Methodist services, and vice-versa?' was asked.

"Yes, very well, indeed, but what I noticed most of all was the number of men in the country quite free from many cases they quite outnumbered the women, and not old men either—it was young fellows, and men of 30 and 40 who filled the seats and made up the larger part of the congregation."

"Of the climate and beauty of the country in and around Edmonton the London lady spoke very highly. 'The climate is very bracing,' she said. 'And the days delightful, neither cold nor hot. Although we were there in the supposedly hottest months, I cannot recall one day's discomfort because of the heat. The nights were almost cold at times. In fact, we often used to have as much bedding in July as we do in December at home. It was all so strange to us and especially the long days, for the darkness does not descend until ten and eleven o'clock.'

"The time passed very quickly, while we were visiting on the prairies. We were allowed the use of a pony and took long drives across country quite frequently. I had expected nothing but flat, level land, but around Edmonton it is beautifully undulating, and one drives along the roads with grassy banks at each side, thickly sprinkled with pretty wild flowers, blue, yellow and pink. Duck shooting is a popular form of sport there and how we used to enjoy the duck dinners!" here the London lady smiled reminiscently.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

The Fashionable Shoe and Its Absurdities.

It is really jerky, stiff, often very labored and painful to see. How can it be otherwise of appalling to see in the fashion sheets that drag the shoes off the feet at the heels is fatal to good walking, to graceful movement of any kind, and when the pump is removed at night, the strain to the foot is felt in cramps and pains that make life a burden. Now, if there were other nice-looking shoes, pumps and slippers to be had one would have no grievance, for common sense would declare that there is no need to buy the modern foot-deformers we call shoes, etc. But one is forced into buying the high-heeled, stiff-soled monstrosities of fashion, especially in slippers, because outside of these there is nothing but things that are the extremes of ugliness, commonness and cheapness, and the feet of the Chinese women! It is quite impossible to have the heel so high without forcing the ball of the foot and the toes into the ridiculously inadequate space ending in points the size of the great toe, and designed to hold the whole five toes. Is it any wonder that grace in walking is a thing of the past? The easy undulation in motion that the moderate heel and flexible sole gives is no longer seen. [Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

Spots on Blue Dress.
Dear Miss Grey: Will you be so kind as to help me with my trouble?

I have a Copenhagen blue silk dress and I got some spots on it, which I think is cream. I tried benzine, but it did not do any good, so could you tell me of something that will remove the spots? I remain, ANXIOUS.

A.—Benzine is usually effective where cream stains are concerned, but since it has failed you might try applying a paste of magnesia and benzine. Spread it thickly over the stain and leave it on until quite dry. Then brush off, steam and press carefully.

Dear Miss Grey: I have had an accident like many others and come to you for help.

1. I had a photo fall face downward in the "tanglefoot." What will take it off without injuring the pictures?

2. What do you think of my writing?

3. I hope your intimation about holidays is not a hint that you are tired of this column? How do you think folks would get along if Miss Grey

A.—I am afraid the photograph is in a hopeless state. I believe turpentine and rubbing with pumice soap will remove tanglefoot from surfaces like wood, glass, etc., but I have yet to learn of anything that would remove the sticky substance without defacing the photograph. If any reader has any suggestion based on past experience, I shall be happy to pass it on to Mollie.

2. Your writing, while not particularly graceful, is easily read.

3. I hope your intimation about holidays is not a hint that you are tired of this column? How do you think folks would get along if Miss Grey

Lynch Awards Forfeited Game to Philadelphia Club

Says That Umpire Brennan Exceeded His Authority in Declaring Game Forfeited to Giants—
Phillies Won Game by 8 to 6.

New York, Sept. 2.—Reversing the decision of Umpire Brennan, President Thomas J. Lynch, of the National League, announced this afternoon that the game on Saturday, Aug. 30, between the New York and Philadelphia clubs will count as a victory for the Philadelphia team. Umpire Brennan awarded the contest to the Giants by a 3 to 0 score when the Philadelphia management was unable to clear a section of the bleachers back of centre field, claiming that the moving spectators were a handicap to the New York batters. The decision nearly precipitated a riot, and the members of the New York club were afforded police protection on their way to the railroad station.

President Lynch, in his decision, states that Umpire Brennan exceeded his authority in declaring the game forfeited to the New York club, and formally awards it to the Philadelphia team by a score of 8 to 6, which was the score by which the Phillies led in the ninth inning, when the game was stopped by the umpire. The decision of the league executive is as follows:

"In all cases where protest is lodged against the result of a championship game, the umpire's statement of fact is of most importance, and whenever an umpire, in making a decision, is supported by the rules of the game, I will back him to the limit. The official report of Umpire Brennan covering the game forfeited to New York in Philadelphia, Aug. 30, shows that neither club had complained of existing conditions regarding the spectators, and that the umpire plainly went beyond his authority in declaring a forfeiture, for which action he had neither the protection of the regular playing rules nor of any special ground rules. The umpire was clearly at fault in not ruling the game played to a finish.

"As Mr. Brennan's ruling is without precedent, I waive all technical procedure in ruling on this protest, in order that a prompt disposition of the affair may be had and the best interest of the game may be served. Acting solely on Umpire Brennan's statement, I am compelled to set aside his decision forfeiting this game to New York by 3 to 0. The game will be counted in the records for Philadelphia by 8 to 6, this being the score when said game was stopped in the ninth inning through error of the umpire."

BOYS' BICYCLE TOUR TO END TOMORROW

Night Spent in Brantford and Return Journey is Pleasant.

The Y. M. C. A. bicycle enthusiasts, who are on the last lap of an extensive tour to Niagara Falls, via Stratford, Guelph, Toronto and Hamilton, are expected home Thursday noon.

Tuesday night was spent in Brantford, the boys arriving in the town behind-the-dyke late in the afternoon. Early this morning the party left for Woodstock, where they will bivouac for the night. Bright and early in the morning the last few miles of the eventful trip will be entered upon, and by noon, weather permitting, the boys expect to see the familiar Y. M. C. A. building, and incidentally the finish of a pleasant outing.

The boys are reported in good health, not seeming to mind in the least the strenuousness of the journey.

Employer.—"You may have a two weeks' vacation, with full pay, Jimmie." Office Boy.—"Thanks, sir. Where's a good fashionable place to go and spend six dollars?"—Puck.

OH, YOU HANDSOME BALL PLAYERS! SUCH A BUNCH OF HEART-BREAKERS

Mash Notes, Telephone Calls, and Numerous Other Love
Messages Are Sent to Them by Idol-Worshipping Girl Fans
Who Are Thrilled by Their Work on the Diamond.

[BY JINX.]
Mash notes, telephone calls from girls they do not know, and flirtations with fair maidens who see them play ball are the common lot of every ball player no matter how important or how obscure he is. Members of the London team have had their shares of them, and some of the experiences are exceedingly amusing.

Oh, Such a Mushy Ness.
If you have been down at the G. T. R. station within the last few days maybe you have noticed the string of girls gathered around each departing ball player. Hero worshippers they are, and they have all the stage-door Johnnies beaten by ten city blocks when it comes to lavishing their affections on the object of their worship. Why Oskee Neale, Bobby Heck, George Dunlop, Loebe Herberich, and any of the London players, except Rube Deneau, who has gotten past that stage, can make William Faversham, James K. McKelvey or Paulin Farnum look like a flock of bush leaguers when it comes to being matinee idols and having a string of hero-worshipping damsel writing notes and making telephone calls.

They Almost Stampeded Bobby.
Bobby Heck said the other day that he had not many phone calls from girls he did not know after he won a game that it made him arm three taking down and hanging up the receiver. He said that the hotel management were seriously considering the idea of putting a special phone in his room in order to save him the long walk downstairs at all hours of the day and night. Often he was disturbed in the middle of a much-needed sleep by some gushing maiden, who would call him up and ask him to pitch again, and if he wouldn't just write her a postcard, because she wanted awfully much to have something to remember him by when he left the city.

This Only Made It Worse.
The nuisance became so great that finally Bobby let it out that the baseball season was over. Instead of checking the mash notes and phone calls, this only served to arouse new interest, and Heck was the recipient of many letters wanting to know if his fiancée was short or tall, a blonde or brunette, and what color her eyes were, and all the rest of it.

The other day, Bobby Heck was packing up, preparatory to his departure for his home in Syracuse, when a girl came across a few of the notes that have been sent to him since he first became famous in the Canadian League. They are mostly from London girls, and a few of the most interesting are quoted below.

Says He's a Sure Winner.
My Dearest Bobby, I don't know me, but I have sat in the grandstand at Tecumseh Park and gazed at you so often that I feel as if I had known you all my life. I think you must be Irish, you have such nice blue eyes, although I am sure you are a Canadian. I see by the papers that your father keeps a brewery, so the German is ancestral. I called you up in the hotel and you said evening, but you were out. Walking with some girl, I'll bet you. You ball players are such wild flirts. I know a girl, I guess the hotel ston on a day, and she says the ball players are always lined up there, and she feels awfully shy and bashful. I wouldn't I you think I would, Bobby? Seems awfully funny writing you so familiarly, and you no knowing who I am. You don't you like to find out? Maybe I'll write you again and tell you. You're just a great big kid, but you're a good pitcher, and I always go when I think it is your turn. Father says he never has such a nice son as you. I love you in baseball. I always read the accounts in the papers when you are out of town, and sometimes I even look at the photo boards to see if Heck and Matson are London's battery. You are a sure winner.

From a Little Girl who likes you.
Wants to Meet a Baseball "Picture."
Dear Mr. Heck:
Have read the announcement of your marriage soon to be held. Trust that you have a fine girl, you surely deserve one, anyone who like you. Do you ain't a first, either, Bobby, for some of us have tried to catch your eyes as you came in after striking four or five out in one inning. May you be happy, Bobby. If I had your address I'd send you something. Bobby, perhaps you could answer this confidential, and I enclose my card with address, which ain't to be shown to no one. My little friend would certainly like to meet a swell fellow, and baseball picture like you.

P.S.—Don't think the papers have had a good photo of you.

Do You Know Clarence?
Dear Mr. Heck:
A couple of my girl friends dared me to write to you. We all admire you very much, especially when you beat the other fellows. We are great baseball fans, and go every time we get an opportunity. I was much disappointed when you did not pitch yesterday. When are you going to pitch again? The paper says you come from Syracuse. I know a girl who got a letter from a fellow in Syracuse once. His name is Clarence. I know. Do you know him? My girl friends and I passed you on the street yesterday. We all looked back after you passed, and then you turned around and saw us. Do you remember the girl in the middle with the cream satin dress with white buttons running up the side, and wearing white Panama trimmed with red and white kid shoes with a red bow tie and wide white ribbons. Well, she will be disappointed when the season ends, won't you? I think London has a fine team, and will beat Ottawa. Yours in fan, VERA.

High-Brow Girl Has Moment of Bliss.
Mon chere, Bobby: You will, I know, be surprised to receive this from me, but I could not forbear writing you just a simple expression of my fervent admiration for your own dear self and your wonderful pitching. You have quite won my heart, Bobby. As often as I can I hie me to the precincts of Tecumseh Park, just to watch you, and how my heart beats when I see you come on the field, looking so stalwart and ready to carry everything before you.

Oh, Bobby, if we had lived in the days of the Spartans and the old Roman heroes, you would, I know, have been among the greatest, and I—without doubt I should have been a high-born maiden, whose privilege and joy it would be to place on your manly head the wreath of laurel. But as it is, alas, I can only sit on the grandstand, eat peanuts, and cheer you onward to great feats. Do you ever see me there? I wonder. Bobby, in my corn-colored frock and with my soulful brown eyes peeping out from beneath my fingerless mitt was in the front row in the last ball game you pitched, and once, just once, you looked my way. Oh, blissful moment! Ah, well, Bobby, perhaps we are not to meet in this present dispensation, but who knows what may happen in the next? You may be a fine oak tree, and I a clinging vine. Who knows?

At it, I must say on revoir, Bobby. How I hate to think of your leaving town. From your ever-adoring, but sorrowful

MINERVA—a college sloop.
She Likes Him in Uniform.
Dear Bobby Heck:

Say, Kid, I sure had you guessing over the phone last night, didn't I. You have such a sweet voice, Bobby, dear. You thought you were going to find out my name, too, didn't you, but it isn't Helen at all. I see you are going to be married. Is she a blonde? I believe you like blondes, although you are fair yourself. I am a blonde, and have often seen you on the street and at the ball park. I saw you pitch yesterday against Peterboro. I sure like you in that uniform. Wish you would wear it on the street. You sure would be a cute little boy. I will promise to meet you any place you say, if you will wear your baseball clothes. I wouldn't mind a bit. I guess I had better cut this out. I am signing my real initials.

With lots of love, XYZ.

BILLY HAMILTON CHOSEN AS MONTREAL COACH

Sault Ste. Marie Boy Will Have Plenty of Good Material To Pick a Winning Team From.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Sept. 3.—The appointment of a coach for the Montreal Rugby Football Club was made at an executive meeting of the club last night. Billy (Pud) Hamilton, of Sault Ste. Marie, was the unanimous choice, and word was sent to him to come on at once, so that he will reach Montreal about Friday. Hamilton coached the best team that ever represented the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association on the gridiron, and with the material he will have to work on this season, he will again have every opportunity of producing a winning team. The first regular practice of the club has been called for Saturday afternoon on the Westmount grounds after the lacrosse match. Many of the players have been out regularly for the past two or three weeks, and are in good trim for the training season, and the harder work to come. Several new players have been enrolled by the club for this autumn, while the best of the intermediate and junior players will be given a chance.

The players will have a full month's training before the opening of the Inter-provincial season, and as the first match will be played on the Westmount grounds they will have an advantage to start off with. George Kelly is prepared to sign the declaration necessary to enable him to play in the Inter-provincial and he with "Mon" Lee and George Savage would make a formidable material to choose the backs from, as several new men, including the junior Brophy and Burns are showing ability in handling the ball and punting.

PAIRIES THEN AND NOW

Our Western Country After Thirty-Four Years' Trial.

Mr. L. O. Armstrong, of the Department of Natural Resources, who has just returned to Montreal from Western Canada, in an interview compared the Canadian prairie country of today with the same country thirty-four years ago. He said: "When I first went up there I paid one hundred and sixty dollars on my carload of household effects, to which Mr. J. J. Hill added some fifty dollars as an overcharge on his own short railway line from St. Paul to the boundary line, for some imaginary cause. A large percentage of incoming settlers under the same overcharge experience. I fought for nine months before being repaid this overcharge, but that was before the days of C. P. R. competition and the interstate commissions; a change of heart has now taken place.

"My friends called me a fool for moving to that 'impossible' country, as it was then thought to be. Indeed, so little faith was felt in the country that I could pick up homesteads along side of railway stations in abundance, and could buy lands with buildings upon them for $1 an acre or less. It was at this crisis that the syndicate risked their all in undertaking the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which the financiers of all countries refused to undertake. Many were the vicissitudes and financial perils of the 'syndicate' now the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Those that are inclined to be envious of the company now should remember these days of anxiety and long-term notes with no money to pay wages. Some day the inner history will be written, and it will be intensely interesting.

"Now the lands above-mentioned are selling from $30 to $50 per acre, and it is only after a journey of several days from the station that you can get a free homestead. Now you can ship your household effects in half the time and at less than half the price it cost me thirty-four years ago.

"I have just returned," continued Mr. Armstrong, "from visiting settlements of men from Quebec and Eastern Ontario that I had myself made thirty-three years ago. I found that all of these men that had gone into mixed farming were rich, and that all had got along and made money; some few had spent their money as fast as they made it, and were still doing it—but that happens in every country. Between Winnipeg and the Canadian Rockies I did not see a pauper, not one soul asked me for a meal or a penny.

"Alberta is enjoying a happy set of conditions. The real estate boom has given way to a serious period of colonization—soil, climate, water supply have been fiercely attacked by the Southwestern Railroad Association, which was formed, worked actively for a time, and died in the attempt to stem the tide of American farmers moving to the Canadian West. The result of the complete investigation which ensued as a natural sequel to this attack has had the effect of sending a better class of experienced, moneyed American farmers, so that the settlers of 1913 are the best that we have had in our history.

"My own confidence in the western country has not only remained unshaken, but has steadily grown since 1878, when I read every surveyor's report issued by Mr. J. S. Dennis, surveyor-general of Canada, father of the present J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. I had such confidence in these that I formed a colony to go to the land which we had not seen, and I never made a mistake as to the land and water promised us by the surveyor's report.

"Today I consider mixed farming in the Canadian Northwest the most absolutely sure kind of farming that the world offers. There is no failure to the farmer who has plenty of stock, irrigation given, sure return, where it is needed; most of the land needs no irrigation. Unfortunately we have no Canadian farmers who know how to irrigate—we have to import American farmers from the dry belt who have had to irrigate or starve in their old homes. These and the American dry-farmers are necessary for the successful development of the Canadian West—for the present. The Canadian will soon qualify himself in the art of irrigating.

"The American farmer makes a first-rate Canadian if you don't feed him at the start, or too much 'Rule Britannia' and 'British Grenadiers' but instead give him plenty of good Canadian law, and real British fair play and good-fellowship to enable him to thrive after the transplanting of himself."

BY MUTUAL CONSENT.

Mother (anxiously)—I am told that your husband plays cards every night at the club—plays for money, too.
Married Daughter—That's all right. He gives me all his winnings.
Mother—What? Do you mean to say that?
Married Daughter—And he always plays with Mr. Nextdoor.
Mother—What difference can that make?
Married Daughter—Mrs. Nextdoor makes her husband give her his winnings, too, and then she gives the money to me, and I hand her what my husband wins from hers, and so we both have about twice as much money as we could get out of them otherwise.

Beggar—Give a poor man tuppence for a bed, mister?
Inklestein—All right, my friend. Vere's der bed?

No Other Way

BY GORDON HOLMES.

Author of "A Mysterious Disappearance,"
"The House of Silence," Etc.

Half way to Boynton the car crossed the railroad tracks, descended a slight gradient round a bend so sharp that each length of twenty yards of roadway was hidden from the next one by a bulging wall of tropical vegetation, and pulled up at the tip of a small promontory. From this point was attainable a delightful view of the coast but Dr. Mercier was too engrossed in the inquiry in hand to call his companion's attention to the picturesque scenery.

"Here," he said, indicating a newly-repaired portion of an embankment, "you have the spot where the car was wrecked. The front near, where was crushed, and the bonnet damaged, but the remainder of the chassis was not interfered with. In fact, the vehicle was brought by a local garage, and is running today after undergoing repairs. But it is, it was almost jammed against a telegraph pole, and if the driver were seated behind the wheel, the car would have been crushed like an eggshell."

Clancy drew a deep breath, but he was resolved to let the doctor tell his own story in his own way. "What exactly do you mean?" he asked.

"Don't you see? The victim, who, according to my theory, should have escaped most lightly, namely, the man on the road, striving vainly to avoid a foolish motorist, had half his head taken off, while the driver of the automobile, who might really have been injured in that way, was flung clear over the wall and dropped on those rocks beneath, where his fall was broken by the guava tree. Now, I should have expected to find the pedestrian down there, but the exact reverse happened, or is supposed to have happened."

"Just so," said Clancy. "You have formed a theory, I suppose?"

"No, not a theory, but I am puzzled," and the deep-set eyes beamed with enthusiasm.

"I saw the milk seller who first reported the accident, and the patrolman who was first on the scene, and both spoke of Scott's body as lying close to the wall, while Waverton had been picked up from the guava tree, and he pointed to a boulder thirty feet below, on the very lip of a sinkhole, his stagnant water hidden plants, I was more concerned at first with the injuries sustained by the living man; but, thinking about the affair, I saw that the real problem was offered by the dead man, I fell in with the coroner's theory, that the wayfarer had been hurled between the wall and the auto; but, happening to pass the place nearly a month afterward, I was struck by the fact that the man had made it my business to interview the earliest witness, I came again next day with a magnifying glass—and what do you think I found?"

"Marks on the telegraph pole?" cried Clancy, who was growing excited.

"Yes—tiny shreds of wool from a motorist's cap."

"Which had been worn by Claude G. Waverton?"

"Precisely."

"And the other man's hat?"

"My friend, it was never picked up. Probably he was bareheaded. It was his habit to go unadorned, and always 'moon about alone by night, I am told.'"

"But it was his head that was supposed to have been crushed?"

"The head that was crushed was undoubtedly inside that hat."

"Where was the head found?"

"On the rocks, near Waverton. It was soaked with blood inside."

"Dr. Mercier, you are admirable!"

"Mr. Clancy, I see how your New York rivals herself of your intelligence. Instantly—Stengel's explanation, French without being aware of the fact, 'Of course you are aware, Monsieur, of the immense possibilities bound up in this puzzle of yours.'"

"It reaches far, mon vieux!"

"You have not spoken of it to any other person?"

"I tried to interest Dr. Bentley, but failed."

"Ah, that Bentley! Poof! and Clancy snapped his fingers."

"Dr. Bentley is a genius with the knife—he can amputate a limb at one cut—so, here came illustrative pantomime, Clancy's arm, but his brain is mostly built up of undeveloped cells."

"Not a word! You understand, the case is closed and everybody is satisfied. I have no wish to be branded as a lunatic. In fact, monsieur, I was about to exclaim: 'Without your unquestionable permission, my lips are sealed—on my honor, monsieur.'"

"The two men, who had been dancing about each other in a half circle, bowed solemnly—Stengel would have sacrificed a week's salary to have seen them—then Dr. Mercier looked at his watch, and said: 'Great Scott! he cried, coming back to Florida and the English language once more, 'half-past three! All aboard, my friend! I must fly.'"

"With your permission, doctor, I shall remain here and consult the genius loci," said Clancy.

Mercier laughed, and disappeared in a swirl of dust.

The detective sat on the wall, at the precise spot where it had been rebuilt, hunched his shoulders, took a look clear from his waistcoat pocket, and sniffed it, and allowed his eyes to wander from the telegraph pole to the guava tree and back again.

He remained there till the sun scorched his back; then he, too, produced a high-powered lens and examined the stout pole that had aroused Dr. Mercier's curiosity. Sure enough, he came upon minute particles of white cotton, clustered roughly in a circle about three feet from the ground, while there seemed to be a slight blow on the hard wood at that place.

He hailed a passing wagon and rode into Palm Beach, where he ate a meal at a restaurant.

He saw an absconding bankrupt from Wall Street lunching with an Italian, and the faces of both men turned greenish while they recognized him. Clancy nodded, smiled and turned away. He had other fish to fry, but the pair could not collect their wits during the next five minutes.

Which he had eaten, the detective called at police headquarters. Yes, there was news of crystals of nicotine on Everglades avenue had obtained an ounce for some mail on the seaward side of the road, "here you have the spot where the car was wrecked. The front near, where was crushed, and the bonnet damaged, but the remainder of the chassis was not interfered with. In fact, the vehicle was brought by a local garage, and is running today after undergoing repairs. The Hand That Moves The Lever Saves 16.2-3 Per Cent. of Your Coal Bill

Here is the opportunity for the housewife to deal the high cost of living question a hard jolt without any effort on her part.

The way is to make sure that her new range is controlled by a Gurney Economizer, which will save 1 ton of coal in every 6 burned in an ordinary range.

The Economizer is to the stove what the controller lever is to the engine or automobile. Without control neither is efficient.

With the Gurney Economizer it is possible to quickly vary the heat of the oven. Various foods require different temperatures. The Economizer keeps this desired temperature absolutely uniform.

It also means that when cooking is over, you may have a cool kitchen and still have your fire going—while you can have the fiercest heat in a few minutes by a slight pressure on the lever.

If you possess a Gurney-Oxford your advantages are innumerable. The Divided Flue means heat for every hole on the stove. The New Special Grate guards the lowest fire. The Broiler exposes every inch of the coals.

These features are exclusively "Gurney-Oxford."

It will furnish your kitchen handsomely—it will do your work adequately.

LAWYERS' INCREASES IN EFFECT TUESDAY

Prices of Going to Court Go Higher—Small Gain to Offices.

Along with other increases in the cost of living comes the announcement that lawyers will from now on be forced to charge higher fees as a result of a change in the tariff of the supreme court of Ontario and the common court, contained in the new consolidated rules of practice just issued. The change went into effect Tuesday. To issue a writ in the supreme court will now cost $2 instead of $1.10, as formerly, and in the common court $3. A writ appearance will cost $1, instead of the customary 20 cents. Many changes have been made, but barristers say that the difference will really be slight, as the changes have been made both ways, and many needed reforms carried out.

CALGARY HIGH SCHOOL AWARDED KING'S TROPHY

London Collegiate Team Came Fifth in Shoot at Toronto.

[Canadian Press.]
Toronto, Sept. 2.—The final shooting of the cadets at Long Branch for the King's trophy resulted in a win for Calgary High School by four points. Harbord, Toronto, was second, with Ottawa third, the English cadets fourth, and London, Ont., fifth.

Splendid shooting was done throughout the competition, which was conducted under actual service conditions.

Four teams were bunched in an exciting finish today. Calgary C. I. team, being returned winner with a score of 113, Harbord, of Toronto, scored 109, and Ottawa was third with 108.

The visiting English cadets scored 107, being somewhat out of practice.

The competition was featured by the remarkable work of two Calgary boys, Color-Sergeant London, who made seven out of a possible eight at a disappearing target, and Cadet C. Gratz, aged 14, and who was the youngest shot at both big meets this year.

For being the best cadet team in Canada the western team also takes the Daughters of the Empire prize.

SYRUP OF FIGS IS BEST FOR A CHILD

If Its Little Tongue Is Coated,
Breath Feverish, Stomach Sour and Bowels Clogged.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well, resting nicely, eating regularly and acting naturally, it is a sure sign that his little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged-up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children; being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

LIVE STOCK AND PRODUCE MARKETS

LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Union Stockyards.—The run here yesterday totaled 158 cars, containing 3,105 cattle, 478 calves, 195 hogs, and 1,361 sheep and lambs. The market today opened firm with last week's closing quotations, for while the run was large it was not in excess of the usual opening day run and trade was good. There was no decrease or increase in prices, all good grades of butcher cattle being in demand though there was very little call for the commoner grades. A small run of hogs kept that market from dropping another twenty-five cents, and prices remained steady. With last week's there was a fairly large run of sheep and lambs with the result that both these markets showed a decrease of from fifteen to twenty-five cents. Calves remained firm and were a good trade throughout. There was also a good demand for stockers and feeders and prices remained firm. At present the outlook for the week is not very bright, cattle being in demand, and this should continue to the close, though a period of warm weather may affect the trade in such a way as to cause a slight decline of prices. The exhibition, however, should for the first two days at least help the cattle market to weather any higher rise in temperature. Hogs will probably remain about steady today, though continued small receipts may cause the market to advance. Calves will, in all probability, remain firm, while sheep and lambs should go no lower than today, and with moderate consignments should show an increase before the close.

STRONG FEELING AGAINST POLICE IN DUBLIN RIOTS

More Outbreaks Are Expected —Strike Leader Meets His Match.

Police Alleged To Have Acted in Brutal Manner Toward Citizens.

Dublin, Sept. 2.—There was no further rioting as the result of the street car strike today, but the situation is still critical and further bloodshed may ensue at any time.

Jim Larkin, the leader of the street car strike, is a picturesque agitator, with a long, lanky figure, drooping moustache and a regular "Wild West" personality.

Met His Match.
He seems to have met his match, however, in W. W. Murphy, the capitalistic boss of Dublin, a man of 70, with a hard face and fighting eyes. He has declared publicly that he is out to fight what he calls "Larkinism" and refuses to leave his house in the southern suburbs of Dublin, which is guarded day and night by the police. Murphy is also the owner of the Imperial Hotel, from the balcony of which Larkin made his defiant speech yesterday afternoon.

Feeling Is Strong.
All the elements of a labor dispute in a western American city are to be seen in the present trouble. It is a battle of personalities, which involves riots and reprisals. Before the rioting on Sunday night the people were not inclined to sympathize with the strikers, but after the savage baton charges made by the police the next day there was a strong revulsion of feeling and the sentiment is now against the constables.

Police Brutal.
There is no doubt but that the police erred on the side of brutality. Photographs which were taken during the melee on Sackville street Sunday afternoon show that the police deliberately waited for men who were trying to get away from the fighting and clubbed them as they ran. One newspaper correspondent says that many of the police appeared to be under the influence of liquor. The latest reports show that some 200 civilians and 45 police men were treated at the various hospitals and that two men succumbed to their injuries.

Horse Thief Was Taken at Chatham

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Chatham, Sept. 2.—Soppor, a horse thief, was captured by High Constable Peters yesterday and taken to Simcoe, where he had stolen a horse from Dr. Burke. Peters noticed the man acting suspiciously and arrested him on a charge. After being arrested, Soppor admitted the theft.

Stabbed Because He Flirted at Dance

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Windsor, Sept. 2.—John Green, a negro, aged 25, residing on Montmorency street, was stabbed four times above the heart by his wife while at a dance here last night. Green was taken to the Hotel Dieu, where he is said to have a chance for recovery.

In the excitement following the stabbing, Green's wife left the hall, and for some reason the police made no attempt to arrest her last night. This morning Mrs. Green walked down to the station and gave herself up.

"I stabbed my husband because he was flirting with another woman," she said to the chief constable.

"I told him about it and he attacked me. I then drew out a pen-knife I had and stabbed him four times," she said.

This morning I decided that I had better give myself up, and here I am."

Mrs. Green is 24 years of age. When asked if she and her husband have been having trouble she refused to reply.

Death Followed Sliver in Finger

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Merlin, Sept. 2.—Harold Joseph, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillon, died this afternoon from lockjaw. The little fellow got a sliver in his foot a week ago today. The sliver was extracted and the boy was running around on the streets when tetanus set in. He died in great agony.

COUNTY EXPECTS TO SELL DEBENTURES

Issue of $25,000 for Courthouse Placed on the Market.
Debentures of the County of Middlesex to the extent of $25,000 have been placed on the market by the county treasurer, Mr. A. M. McEvoy. Twenty-five debentures of $1,000 each made up the issue, which was made to cover the share of Middlesex County in the cost of repairing the courthouse. They are all drawn at 20 years, falling due in 1933, and yield 5 per cent. They are transferable, and should find a ready market.

"The issue is one of the smallest made in a number of years," said Mr. McEvoy this morning. "It is possible, and in fact I am hopeful, that the debentures will all be taken up by residents of the city or county. They are a particularly attractive investment, and should be taken up within a short time."

CORRESPONDENCE

Reckless Speeding on the Highway.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
I write this letter because I fear for the safety of the farmers and their families, who are continually in danger as we travel, especially our most public roads, because of the reckless way that many automobiles and motorcycles are run.

Making speed seems to be the highest ambition of those running them, regardless of the safety of human life, livable on the old Talbot road, between the village of Lambeth and the city of St. Thomas. This is a good, wide road, but pretty narrow enough, with the tractor cars running on the one side, if a person has a spirited horse. The same was true before autos and motorcycles came into general use, but now, with the cars, autos and motorcycles, many are afraid to drive on the road.

It does not seem right, that those who are forced to maintain the roads should be driven off them by those who think themselves a little superior, or by those perchance, who never paid a dollar's taxes, or do not own the auto in which they ride. Quite frequently we see autos racing with the cars, going at the rate of 35 miles an hour. What chance has a man with a spirited horse when he meets them, and, according to the law, must turn to the right, and is forced to go between the cars, and at the same time there is quite likely to be a cloud of dust which prevents you from seeing the car, auto or anything else, let alone the number of the auto. Just this minute as I am writing there is an auto racing with a car, side by side.

Now, Mr. Editor, this must be stopped by some means. The speed limit in the country is 20 miles per hour, and there is a clause in the act against this racing on the highway. The life of my neighbor's son hung in the balance for four days from injuries received by being struck by an auto racing with a car, and he will be laid aside for some time yet with a dislocated shoulder. Had this auto been running within the speed limit, this accident would not have occurred, because the car would have passed the auto long before they came to this point. Then, again, as people have alighted from the car, autos and motorcycles have rushed by without giving the necessary warning, and several people have had narrow escapes from being struck. And many

EXPERIENCED FARMERS GOING TO LETHBRIDGE

Part of Big Canadian Pacific Railway Development Scheme.

[Canadian Press.] Lethbridge, Sept. 3.—P. L. Nalemith, manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway department of natural resources, has announced a scheme of the company to the effect that within a year all its vast holdings in the Lethbridge, Coalville and Chin districts are to be settled. The announcement means the acquisition of more than 1,000 experienced farmers in the immediate vicinity of the city.

The Canadian Pacific Railway at present has about 100,000 acres of un-tilled land either under water or ready to be turned into ditches in this district. At a conservative estimate the land when settled will be worth $100 per acre. The company's big campaign will mean, therefore, that irrigated land now vacant will be improved, adding an industry worth $10,000,000 to the commercial wealth of the Lethbridge district.

Seven Killed in Dublin Accident

RIVAL CLAIMANTS FOR BABY SHOW PRIZE

Two Mothers Claim To Have Secured Honors With Their Pretty Girls.

There was one hitch at the baby show held in Queen's Park on Labor Day. It was in the judging of the baby girls. Two women, Mrs. Hicks, of 40 Miles street, and Mrs. McNichol, of 851 Elgin street, claim that their daughters won first prize. No record of the prize-winners was kept by the judges, and as one of them claimed that Mrs. Hicks was the first prize baby, and the other that Mrs. McNichol's carried off the first prize, some confusion resulted. Both were finely developed girl babies, but Mrs. Hicks contends that she holds the silver cup, which was the first prize. Mrs. McNichol, on the other hand, says that one of the judges told her that her baby won the first prize.

Pegoud Plans More Daring Air Feats

[Canadian Press.] Paris, Sept. 3.—M. Pegoud, the aviator who successfully turned a somersault in the air with an aeroplane, writing to the Matin, says: "My experiments are not finished, I want soon to show that it is possible for an aeroplane to turn over head-first, then tail-first, and then sideways, without disaster. If my experiments demonstrate, as I am convinced they will, that security may be attained in an aeroplane, I will be satisfied."

Dublin Strike Is Ever More Bitter

[Canadian Press.] Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 3.—The situation brought about by the strike of transport workers in Dublin was rendered more acute today by a lockout in the coal trade. The merchants at a meeting decided that they would no longer employ men belonging to the Transport Workers' Union, which organization, they say, will not permit its members to deliver the coal of certain firms with which the union is at loggerheads. The feeling between workmen and employers is very bitter.

She declared that the antiquary, who now wants to sell the picture at so great a price, yesterday bought it from her for 20 cents."

DEATH LIST 21 IN COLLISION ON NEW HAVEN LINE

Many Trainmen Are Being Detained by Order of the Coroner.

Equipment and Signals Were All Found in First Class Shape.

[Canadian Press.] New Haven, Conn., Sept. 3.—The aftermath of the Wallingford wreck on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, found the death list still standing at 21 today, the hospital list at 17, the trainmen who played the heavy parts in the tragedy under detention by the coroner's order, and the machinery for the usual county, state, and federal investigations in motion.

Inquest Resumes. Coroner Mix and Chief Engineer Elwell, of the Public Utilities Commission, at 10 o'clock the "star chamber" investigation they began yesterday jointly with the railroad company. August B. Miller, engineer of the White Mountain express, was to tell more of the circumstances under which his train crashed into the standing Bar Harbor flyer; Elbert A. Robertson, his fireman; Bruce B. Adams, conductor of the Bar Harbor train, and Charles Henry Murray, trainman sent back to prevent a rear-end collision, all were present and prepared to submit to long cross-examination.

Hearing in Camera.

What the men testified to yesterday was given out by the New Haven road. The hearing was held in camera in the office of General Manager Barbo. The coroner is holding the railway company and gave orders that the witnesses were not to be interviewed. Mr. Elwell was equally reticent. The trainmen refused to talk, but a statement said to be a synopsis of their testimony, was prepared and issued by the railroad.

In Good Shape.

"Testimony of men in charge of the train," read this statement, "shows plainly that the equipment, appliances and signals of the railroad were in first-class condition. Murray, the flagman, according to this statement, was sent back to flag the following train when the Bar Harbor came to a stop in front of the red bull's eye in Banjo Signal 23, at Tolles' Rest. In conformance with the rules, Engineer Wand's started his train again after stopping it, and passed the danger signal at slow speed. The locomotive was recalled by a blast from the whistle. Conductor Adams stopped the train to wait for him, after it had cleared the danger signal by perhaps 50 feet.

Signaled Express.

Running back through the heavy fog Murray heard the heavy White Mountain express and placed two torches on the rails. The red light of the banjo signal and the rear end of the standing train took form in the darkness. Engineer Wand, who was in the engine, mistook the light for the signal to stop. The White Mountain express, at the same moment he ran over the torpedoes. Miller was then 450 feet from the standing train and was running nearly forty miles an hour. He whipped the emergency brake, realizing that he could not avoid a collision.

Could Not Stop.

Engine No. 1337, which headed the White Mountain express, was twin to the big superheated Pacific type locomotive which hauled the second section of the Springfield express into the station. It was a point which the investigators hoped to make clear today. Behind Closed Doors. Whatever reached the public from today's hearing bid fair to be heated through the haze of Hen's publicity department. What method if any, will be used to acquaint the public with the testimony to be given at the inquest tomorrow, is known only to Coroner Mix, who will preside. He has announced that the inquest will be held behind closed doors.

The interstate commerce commission's investigators on their arrival today found practically no vestige of the wreck along the New Haven right of way. Notwithstanding telegraphic orders from the commission that the wreckage be undisturbed, officials of the road set gangs of men clearing up the roadbed after the crash. The two rear Pullmans of the Bar Harbor express, where nearly all the loss of life occurred, were splintered by the crash. What few portions remained in sizeable form were made, matchwood and wreckage that could burn, did burn in half an hour, before the fire was closed to the right of way by the wrecking gangs. The damaged locomotive was hauled away with the third Pullman from the end which was less damaged than the other two. During the clearing of the roadbed and the lighting of the bonfires, General Superintendent Woodward and Superintendent Drosge, of the Shore Line division, were on the ground supervising the work.

Attendance of 650 At the Collegiate

Last Year's Time-Table Will Be Used For the Present.

Early school term registrations at the Collegiate are heavy, there being more than 650 enrolled there this morning. Acting Principal F. P. Riddle expressed himself as being well pleased with the attendance and general work so far carried on. The time table of last year will be used again during the present school year, or at least until such times as it is amended or changed by Principal George Rogers when he arrives to take over the work.

Lack of records has handicapped the work somewhat. Whether these records are duplicated in the offices of the board of education or not is unknown, and it will be some time before it can be definitely ascertained.

The records of the board of education are scattered between the Alexandra school, the Lorne avenue school and the new city hall. It will be difficult to find them until the new city hall offices are ready and the records are gone over together.

FINE CATTLE SHOW FOR THE WESTERN

Capt. Robson Says London Will Get Many Animals From Toronto.

"One of the best showings of Short-horn cattle that I have ever seen," is the verdict of Capt. Tom Robson on his return from the Toronto Exhibition. Capt. Robson states that many of the best exhibits of cattle at the exhibition will also be shown at the Western Fair, and the cattle sheds should provide a big attraction at London next week. There were good types of all breeds of cattle at the exhibition, according to Capt. Robson.

Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, Jerseys and Holsteins were all represented, but the Short-horns excelled. Mr. Abraham Renick, of Kentucky, a well-known judge of cattle, who officiated at the Toronto show, said that it was by far the best exhibit he had encountered this season. Not many cattle from around London district were shown, the exhibitors apparently preferring to wait for the Western Fair.

Capt. Robson saw Clydesdale mares raised by King George, and brought to this country by Graham Brothers, of Claremont. It was valued at $2,500, and was sold at that figure to a buyer from Birmingham, in the United States. It was a magnificent piece of horseflesh, said Capt. Robson. Another pleasing feature of the horse exhibit was the exhibition given by a six-horse draught team from the stock yards at Chicago, driven by Mr. R. Ogilvie.

The route via Chicago is an attractive and many large cities and towns being passed en route, which breaks the monotony of the journey, there being something new to see all the time. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway is the shortest and quickest route between Winnipeg-Saskatoon-Edmonton, with smooth roadbed, through the newest, most picturesque and most rapidly developing sections of Western Canada. Easy to Make Hairs Vanish From the Skin

[Boudoir Secrets]

Aggravating hair or fuzz is easily removed from the skin by this simple treatment: Mix into a paste enough deodorant and water to cover the hairy surface, apply and in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. This treatment is unfailing and leaves the skin smooth and spotless. Thin eyebrows come in thick and glossy merely by rubbing pyroxin on, and the eyelashes are straight and stubby, apply some at lashroots with thumb and forefinger. This makes them grow long and slightly curly. Use care and don't get anywhere hair is not wanted.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Spread on Limbs. Red and Inflamed. Became Sores. Had to Tie Hands While He Slept. Well, Thanks to Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

St. Casaire, Quebec—"My child was scarcely two months and a half old when his face and arms became covered with little red pimples which a little later spread on his limbs. The pimples were very red and inflamed. They were like a little red spot which soon became a little larger and raised up. There were four or five together. These pimples caused him to scratch so that we had to tie his hands while he slept. The itching made him suffer so much that he cried part of the night, waking up most of the people in the house. The pimples became sores and were very painful.

"I used without success several remedies which were recommended to me. I then used Cuticura Ointment and Soap, giving him a bath every morning with hot water and Cuticura Soap, and then applied a thin layer of Cuticura Ointment on the parts affected. They gave great relief with the first application. After using one box of Cuticura Ointment and a little more than the case of Cuticura Soap my child was completely cured. Thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment my baby is perfectly well, and I shall always have them at hand."

Boy Scouts Plan Another Outing

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Sept. 3.—So pleasant was the expedition of the Boy Scouts to Thamesville, Ont., that it is probable a number of similar expeditions will be arranged before the advent of winter. The trek wagon is a valuable acquisition to the assets of the Scouts, and by having it they will have no difficulty so long as the roads are good in transporting their supplies.

The boys have a fondness for camp life, and these little outings such as Commissioner Gibson has planned from time to time make the lads resourceful. They can pitch their tents in the order, and have the kettles over the fire and the dishes rattling in a manner that is sure to make one think earnestly of the good things that are always provided at meal time by the Scouts.

The Scouts have shown a very keen interest in their work this summer, and all look forward with pleasurable anticipation to the outings that are planned from time to time.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says: "I have used Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. For sale by W. T. Strong, London."

The three-sided, triple grates will wear three times as long as the ordinary range grates. This one feature is well worthy of your consideration—there are many other exclusive ones which you should investigate before purchasing your range.
