MAYOR TO MOVE TO SUE CITY GAS CO. FOR $25,000

Soft Iron Instead of Chilled Steel In Murrell's Cell

WILL ASK ACTION BY CITY AGAINST CITY GAS COMPANY

Mayor Wenige To Move To Institute Suit To Recover Charges Which He Says Are Illegal.

$65,000 INVOLVED

At the next session of the city council, Mayor Wenige will give notice that he will move that the municipality of London take immediate action against the City Gas Company to recover $65,000.

His motion is based on the fact that the amount was illegally received by the gas corporation from its patrons and he is determined to have a "show-down" in the supreme court of the province of Ontario, in accordance with the provisions of his inaugural address of January last. And the mayor recommends and urges this action irrespective of the opinion of the city solicitor T. G. Meredith, available several months ago, that the city would stand but little, if any, chance of success, if the move would be decided ill-advised.

Cities President.

The mayor stated today that the council should act upon his recommendation regardless of the city solicitor's opinion, basing his argument on the fact that in 1921 the city council effected legal action against the Street Railway corporation and seized and kept its main money, although the city solicitor had advised against such a drastic move.

It was Mayor Wenige, at that time an alderman from ward one, who moved that the Street Railway receipts be seized and subsequently he instituted action in the county courts against the local gas concern.

"I still maintain that the patrons of the City Gas Company have the right to recover this money and with the assistance of a majority of the members of the city council I mean to take this question to the courts."

"When I took this case out to the courts before, Judge Judd told me that I had a moral as well as a legal right to recover this money and that I should be awarded a judgment. I fail to understand why a person should be taken when the court agrees that there exists a moral and legal right to do so."

Mayor Wenige explains that the case will be pursued along different lines if the aldermen will vote as he advises. A majority of the council will be required to project the issue into the legal arena and the mayor anticipates that this will be forthcoming despite the council's prior attitude to the contrary.

STATES COLLEGIATE SPACE INADEQUATE

Principal Miller Declares London Needs More High School Accommodation.

New collegiate buildings in the city of London are essential if the students are to be properly housed, according to a statement made by Principal Miller this morning.

Mr. Miller said that with the expectation of an enrollment this year of 1,450 and the large entrance classes who will pass next June, the accommodation is at present inadequate.

He was most emphatic in expressing the opinion that the city ought to be done, particularly in the east end, where 235 pupils are now being accommodated in the old Princess Avenue School, a building most unsuitable for this purpose.

"We need more modern collegiate buildings, and we must have them if the pupils are to receive the consideration and tuition due them. The city council should be made to see that fact and to realize that it is of the utmost importance. The public schools have now sufficient accommodation to take care of the next three or four years, but the colleges, although people evidently think there are enough, must have more buildings. I expect that a new building will be undertaken, but whether this year or next, I cannot say."

AMERICANS THINK LIQUOR FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

Associated Press Despatch.

St. Johns, Nfld., Sept. 18.—It is understood here that the American revenue authorities are turning their attention to Newfoundland to seek explanation of the source of big liquor shipments that are finding their way into America. They believe that the bootleggers have begun to exploit this country and its seamen. An agent of the American government is expected here shortly to conduct an investigation.

FRANCO-BELGIAN OFFICIALS SEIZE TRILLION MARKS

Associated Press Despatch.

Coblentz, Sept. 18.—German currency to the amount of one trillion marks was seized last evening at Ecken by the Franco-Belgian authorities. At Recklinghausen and Dortmund a total of seven hundred billion marks was seized.

Striking German telegraph employees have resumed work.

HEAD OF BOARD SAYS EXPENSES HEAVY AT FAIR

J. H. Saunders States Possibility of Having To Ask For Aid.

AMOUNT UNCERTAIN

"It's impossible to tell just how much we shall have to ask from the city as a result of the introduction of the 25-cent admission fee for the year's 'Western Fair,'" said J. H. Saunders, president of the fair board, today. "There were several extra expenses on which we had not figured, and the new Manufacturers' Building cost us more to run than we anticipated. When all the expenses have been met, and checks sent to prize winners, we shall be in a position to know what our financial position is."

"At the present time, all I can say is that I hope we shall not have to come to the city for any help at all. That is what I always hoped for, but the future will see whether we have made the fair of 1923 a financial success or not. There was a good turnout to the fair, but I think that with warmer weather we might have had a very much larger crowd."

"Every sideline which featured in the fair this year cost us more than last year. We had to overcome more than the increased overhead which costs to the 25-cent admission owing to this increase, so that when the figures are all in it will be shown that the increased overhead which we had no way of calculating accurately last year, or even in the spring of this year, constituted a serious burden to the finances of the fair."

WORKMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN SAWMILL AT LINDSAY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Lindsay, Ont., Sept. 18.—George Gensler, an employee of the Digby Lumber Company here, was almost disemboweled when he was operating an edger in the mill. A piece of board flew from the saw with terrific force, striking him in the abdomen. His condition is very critical.

SEVERE SHOCK NOTICED BY RESIDENTS OF MALTA

Associated Press Despatch.

Malta, Sept. 18.—A severe shock of several seconds' duration occurred here at 7:35 this morning. Many buildings were badly shaken, but no damage has been reported so far. The churches were filled with worshippers attending mass when the shock came. Large cracks are noticeable in many of the buildings.

Dorothy Dix Every Day

Last month arrangements were completed by which the best loved woman in the world wrote her philosophies for Advertiser readers three times a week—on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

So much favorable comment has followed that The Advertiser has secured a new arrangement, and beginning next Monday Dorothy Dix will write every day.

Dorothy Dix is a wholesome tonic for morbid moods and sickly sentiment. She has more friends than anyone else on the North American continent. Read what she says every day and you will understand why people call her "the best loved woman in the world."

SOFT IRON BARS IN MURRELL CELL, NOT HARD STEEL

Despite Statements to Contrary, Improvement in County Jail Has Not Been Made.

MEETING IS CALLED

Despite all statements to the contrary, the jail bars that strangled the bloodless revolution in Spain, the alleged murderer and jail-breaker, and freedom, are the same old soft iron bars that have done duty at the Middlesex County Jail since the oldest inhabitant was a baby in swaddling clothes.

It has been stated that the road to a warmer climate of which evangelists talk is paved with good intentions, and if this is the case the authorities have paved several miles of the highway that lead to Satan's domain, for the intention has been all along to see that chilled steel bars caged the Murrells once they were caught—but it was never done.

The matter has been talked over by county councillors for these many months, but action has been absent although it was understood that authorized repairs to the jail, including Murrell's cell, had been carried out.

However, The Advertiser learned today on unimpeachable authority that no chilled bars had been placed in the window of the room where Murrell is confined, and although the strictest possible watch is being kept day and night on Murrell by armed guards, the fact remains that the authorities are more or less uneasy, especially as the day of the supreme court sittings draws near.

It is learned that nothing further in the matter will be done until after Murrell's trial, as officials don't want to move Murrell to another cell while his own is being made stronger. The jail committee of this county council will meet on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the County Buildings, when the Murrell matter will be discussed and a conclusion reached. Reeve Allan MacPherson of Glencoe is chairman of the jail committee.

CITY ENGINEER NEAR WILL VISIT WINDSOR

Next Week He Will Inspect Border Cities Hydro-Operated Railway.

The Border Cities hydro-operated street railway service will be inspected next week by City Engineer W. P. Near, upon the invitation of the hydro experts.

Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board of works, stated today that he also would make it his business to view the Windsor paving jobs. He will be in that city next week in pursuit of his duties.

At noon today Ald. Watt reported that he would also find time next week to conduct a personal inspection, and it is believed that other members of the council will journey to Windsor in the near future for that purpose.

DECLARES COUNTY JAILS ARE BREEDERS OF CRIME

Associated Press Despatch.

Boston, Sept. 18.—The county jail was denounced as a crime-breeder by Joseph F. Fishman, former federal inspector of prisons, in an address prepared for delivery before the American Prison Association today.

"The county jail," he said, "is a den of crime, a breeding place of crime, a place of disease and degeneracy."

Fishman declared that these venerable and ill-equipped institutions played an important part in increasing the amount of crime, and the number of criminals owing to overcrowding, mingling of innocent and guilty and other conditions.

NEW BALKAN WAR LOOMS AS RESULT OF ITALY'S ACTION

PLANNING BLOCKADE

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

Paris, Sept. 18.—Renewed threat of a Balkan war was seen here today in the action of Italy as appointing General Giardino as virtual minister dictator of Fiume, following resignation of the regent.

Despatches from Belgrade said the Italian action had aroused intense suspicion. Jugo-Slavia was planning a blockade of Fiume from the land side, as its first move against the Giardino regime. All supplies and traffic into the Fiuman state will be suspended.

The Bulgarian charge d'affaires, M. Morloff, arrived last night from Geneva to seek allied intervention against the alleged threatened military action. He charged that Jugo-Slavia has mobilized four divisions on the Bulgarian frontier.

Bulgaria intends to appeal to the league, Morloff said.

LONDON'S BORROWING POWER NOW $2,500,000

Borrowings Must Not Exceed 14 Per Cent of the Latest Revised Assessment.

The municipality of London has a borrowing power at this moment, hovering in the neighborhood of $2,500,000, according to an announcement today from City Treasurer Bell.

This is further evidence that the affairs of this city have been conducted in recent years with a fairly good eye to the future. The city treasurer points out that with the exception of some schools, such as the new Central Collegiate Institute, there have been no real big additions to the debt of the city.

The city's borrowing capacity must not exceed 14 per cent of the last revised assessment. This excludes, of course, public utility debentures, which are self-sustaining.

TONS OF CONCRETE SMOTHER WORKMEN

Schenectady Rescuers Work All Night To Recover Bodies.

Special to The Advertiser.

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Working under the glare of searchlights, groups of men worked all night searching for the bodies of five workmen buried under tons of wet concrete in the Mohawk River here. Just before the wooden superstructure and forms for span number 24 of the Great Western gateway bridge across the river here collapsed, eight men at work under the span at the moment were caught. Three of them were rescued and are now in the hospital, where at least one is expected to recover.

Five others were buried under the debris.

DEALERS WAIT PUBLIC APPROVAL OF ALBERTA COAL

London Fuel Merchants State Demand Will Determine Amount Ordered.

PRICE ABOUT $12

If demands for Alberta coal warrants it, half a dozen local coal merchants will procure the western fuel in large quantities this winter for local consumption. With the freight rate at $7 a ton, as announced by Sir Henry Thornton this morning, it will be possible to sell Alberta coal in London at about $12 a ton.

A few dealers vigorously condemn any action to "unload" Alberta fuel on the public, claiming it is greatly inferior to Pennsylvania anthracite. These dealers refuse to handle the Canadian product unless the general demand forces their hand. Others, however, are ready to supply customers with any quantity and as soon as applications are sent in, they will be filled as rapidly as possible.

Merchants recommend, therefore, that citizens wishing to try Alberta coal, make their wants known immediately so applications may be made to the provincial minister of mines in time to permit shipment from the prairie province before Oct. 31, the final date set by Sir Henry Thornton for Alberta operators to have their product on the way to Ontario.

Representatives of Chantler Bros., Day & Son, and other retailers expressed readiness to fill any public demand that may arise. Chantler Bros. stated their experience with the product. What impression they received as to its merits was early this year when The Advertiser sent them samples for experimental purposes. The results were most satisfactory, and they believe Alberta coal to be of an exceptionally high quality.

Order Any Amount.

"Since Alberta coal has been brought before the public, we have only had one quotation from operators. However, with the new freight rate, several agents there will probably be several agents in this city during the next two weeks, and it is our customers so desired, we will place orders for any amount. The main thing is to become connected with a reliable agent, who can guarantee the quality of the coal. Our experience with the best quality of the coal is a very satisfactory one, and there appears to be no reason why the public should not use it."

Another merchant, who asked his name withheld, was staunchly opposed to bringing in the Alberta coal, as he believed it was of inferior quality. "I know it will sound unpatriotic, but my company will not handle Alberta coal unless the public demand becomes intense," he said. "We will not become accessories to this big scheme to fool the people. Anthracite coal at $18 a ton is worth twice as much as Alberta coal at $12 a ton. Western Ontario is the logical market for the Pennsylvania coal fields."

Situation Comfortable.

This merchant added that even were Ontario to secure its coal exclusively from Alberta, it would have no effect on the prosperity of the country, in spite of assertions to the contrary made by Senator Michener and other Alberta businessmen.

If Londoners fail to take advantage of the new freight reduction and obtain Alberta coal at $12 to $13 a ton, local merchants will not order any.

The situation in the city is fairly comfortable, dealers claim. With the resumption of work at the American mines, no serious shortage is anticipated for the winter. Should there be a charge exorbitant prices, the government reminds municipalities that they can avail themselves of the fuel controller's regulations, which enable a check to be put on any dealers who take advantage of the situation.

FIVE THOUSAND MISSING AFTER YOKOHAMA FLOOD

Associated Press Despatch.

Yokohama, Sept. 18.—Temporary barracks here were flooded during a terrific storm Saturday and five thousand persons are missing.

Sheik Models In Men's Suits Fast Fading Into Obscurity

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 18.—The "sheik" is passing with the new mode in men's clothes for fall and winter. The slender, patent-haired lad who modeled into his form-fitting raiment as though he had been melted into it by the heat of the passion he affected must go.

This year the husky mass of muscle, with broad shoulders and a piano mover's physical features, has his day. Coats will be loose fitting, and there will be tiny pleats at the waistline of the trousers. The length of the trousers will vary. In the past, the bottoms would drag the dance floor as the train of a lady's gown. The more conservative male's bottoms are expected to retain its shape, at least so say the makers of a popular brand of garments, who admit that this year's styles are a small at the neck. Because of the tone of old Britain made American.

SIR ADAM POINTS OUT DEFECTS.

Yesterday afternoon Sir Adam Beck and several members of the board of works, street railway officials and numerous ratepayers visited the Richmond street paving project when the member for London and his engineers outlined their complaints of alleged faulty construction. Here we see Sir Adam pointing out to Ald. Ed. Hayden railway ties which fail to measure, he states, to the standard set by the hydro experts.

ISLAND OF SICILY SHAKEN VIOLENTLY BY EARTHQUAKE

No Reports of Any Fatalities As Result of Shocks Yet Received.

Associated Press Despatch.

Syracuse, Sicily, Sept. 18.—A violent earthquake shock was felt here at 7:32 o'clock this morning.

The entire island of Sicily, on which the volcano Mount Etna is situated, has been frequently shaken by violent earth shocks, many of which have proved highly destructive to life and property. Syracuse lies on the east coast of the island occupying part of the site of ancient Syracuse, which was a great center of Greek culture, and later the capital of the Western Hellenic world, reaching the height of its greatness about the beginning of the fourth century.

The present town is small and unpretentious, of a diminutive island connected with the mainland of Sicily by a narrow isthmus. The population is somewhat in excess of 25,000.

Syracuse is about 75 miles south of Messina, which was almost destroyed by an earthquake in 1908 with heavy loss of life. It lies about 50 miles on an air line southeast of Etna.

The inquiry was ordered held in the parish hall of St. Peter's Church at Onken, when Col. Thompson, in special session last night, had refused to allow him to use the council house for the probe.

BRUCE ADVISES FOUNDING NAVAL BASE AT SINGAPORE

Associated Press Despatch.

Columbo, Ceylon, Sept. 18.—Premier Bruce of the Australian Commonwealth, in an interview here while on his way with the Australian delegation to London to attend the imperial conference, said the Australian government was going to retain its separate entity, but the Australian delegates to the conference in London were expected to conclude arrangements which would permit of real cooperation in peace time between the Australian cruisers and the British fleet.

Premier Bruce said a naval base at Singapore was a vital necessity, although the scheme for such a naval base was not meant to be directed against any particular prospective enemy.

CHINAMEN REFUSE PAY FOR LOADING RELIEF SHIPS

By JAMES L. BUTTS.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Shanghai, Sept. 18.—Eighty more foreign survivors of the Japanese disaster reached Shanghai today aboard the peninsular steamer Dongola. A third contingent is due to arrive Sunday on a French mail liner. Most of the refugees aboard the Dongola came here to accept temporary refuge among friends.

Coolies here have just completed the loading of another relief ship in record time. After loading the vessel the workers refused to accept pay, announcing that their wages would go as a contribution toward relief of suffering Japanese.

MANY DEPOSITORS OF DEFUNCT BANK ORGANIZE IN CITY

WANT SQUARE DEAL

Organization of local Home Bank depositors will probably be commenced here tomorrow. A move in that direction was initiated this morning and several persons with savings in the defunct institution conferred together this afternoon to discuss the advisability of forming a London Home Bank Depositors' Association.

Joseph Danbra, of Danbra & Walsh, tailors; Dr. A. W. Macfie, local chiropractor, and others having deposits in the Home Bank got together shortly after the morning newspapers conferred the advisability of forming a London Home Bank Depositors' Association.

Mr. Danbra, who heads the movement, believes London depositors should do everything to protect their own interests and cooperate with I. E. Weldon, solicitor for Home Bank savings holders at Toronto.

A variety of opinions regarding the percentage of savings likely to be redeemed are heard in this city. The majority involved are optimistic, and the belief was expressed today that as high as 90 per cent of all savings would be returned.

Others thought the average would more likely be around 60 to 70 per cent, but all agreed that an association should be formed to guarantee local depositors getting a "square deal."

A definite announcement in this regard will be forthcoming tomorrow or Thursday.

Among depositors, who it is expected will form the nucleus of an association are Jack Steel, the Moose Lodge, Miss Elizabeth Oliva, Danbra & Walsh, Dr. A. W. Macfie, Frank Steele, Frank Thomson, and a number of others.

Much inconvenience has been experienced in a business way by retailers having accounts with the Home Bank, it became known today. According to the relation, numerous customers had been forced to defer payment of accounts, pending an announcement regarding the assets of the bank frozen in part. In the meantime, the contractors have ceased working on the building.

The Druggists' Physicians' Association of Canada have all their funds in the Home Bank. Representatives of that body are meeting here tomorrow, and the situation will probably be discussed.

Joseph Danbra was inclined to be optimistic when asked his opinion as to the possible loss to be suffered by depositors.

Alleges Manipulation.

"I think we should get it all," he said. "We should get 90 per cent of the dollar anyway. With the shareholders' double liability, $2,000,000 capital and $500,000 reserve, I can't see how depositors can lose a great deal. Home Bank investments are sure not all bad. The bank has $17,000,000 in deposits, and if we lose 10 per cent, that will amount to more than a million."

"I think somebody got wise to the condition of the bank months before the public knew of it. About $500,000 was drawn from the deposits between May 1 and the time the curator took charge. This looks very much as if somebody was anxious to get out before the crash came."

Dr. Macfie is also a supporter of the theory of "illegal manipulation." "Heads of the institution have certainly acted peculiarly," he said. "The whole affair looks mighty queer."

If the local depositors' association is formed, it will immediately draw up resolutions and submit them to Mr. Weldon at Toronto.

Prince Dons Work Clothes To Help Ranch Employees Stack Heavy Oat Bundles

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.
High River, Alta., Sept. 18.—Lord Renfrew, past master of his first dinner, which was awaiting him on his arrival, as an Alberta rancher on his own ranch on Sunday, after which he took a walk about the farm buildings, inspecting these and talking with the men regarding the work, the care of the stock, and the details of life on the ranch. In this respect he early developed the usual daily instincts of an old-time rancher whose daily duties are these, and became acquainted personally with those on whom he relies to make the commercial possibilities of the undertaking a success. He started in at once to learn the business and to meet personally those who were in his service and to establish himself firmly in their esteem, the western formula for co-operation.

He returned to the residence and retired early, in anticipation of a busy day ahead.
He rose at 7 o'clock on Monday, after a good night's rest, dressed some suitable working clothes, and after a satisfying breakfast, started out on his ranch to his sunflower patch, which had been cut and was ready for the silo. He then and there, both in brown and in green, demonstrated his ability to become an active manager. He brought up a wagon and personally loaded the same with the large stacks of sunflowers and green oats, and anyone who knows what loading sunflowers and green oats is, will agree that it is not a job for a weakling.

Works All Forenoon.

He completed the wagon load himself, and then followed the wagon to the silo, and himself fed the sunflowers into the cutting machine and the blower which carried the chopped feed into the silo. The efficiency of the sunflower plant is already appreciated in this country as an excellent cattle feed, and the E. P. ranch is one of the early properties which have adopted its use, thanks to its efficient manager, Mr. Carlyle. This work occupied the rancher prince all the forenoon, the balance of which was spent in riding his Dartmoor stallion, and for a courtly gentleman unaccustomed to hard labor, one would think that the outside duties of the day would have been sufficient, but not so with Lord Renfrew. He returned to the ranch and partook of a hearty lunch, and again proceeded to the fields. This time he tramped to a twenty-acre field of oats and took a hand in the stacking, and understood work to the farmers.

of Canada, but for those who are not so informed, let it be known that it is the word applied to the gathering of the large bundles of grain as they are deposited on the ground from the binder, and are assembled in piles of about seven to ten bundles in a pile, where they are left until they are ready for the thrasher. It is not an enviable job these hot days, and many have been the men who have quit their jobs because of its hardships.

Bundles Heavy.

This year the bundles are heavier than ever, owing to the great growth of the clear, high altitude of 3,550 feet and heavy crops, and we have instances of even the Indians quitting and demanding more pay for the work.

The prince, however, was equal to the occasion, and, although somewhat slight in build, surprised his fellow-workers by his ability to stand up and really enjoy the work, which he kept up for a considerable time before again wandering around the ranch.
The prince and all his party state that they are already experiencing the great invigorating influences of the clear, high altitude of 3,550 feet in which they are now living, and this may account for the strenuous first day's experiences of the prince. He found upon inspection of his pure-bred cattle that they were doing fairly well, and gradually becoming acclimated to their new conditions, and that the home-bred stock from the pure-bred cattle were thrifty, strong and very fat. Later in the afternoon the thoroughbred stallion "Will Somers," the property of the King, and a horse that holds a very enviable reputation in England, and is the winner of many royal turf events, was demonstrated before the prince for his inspection.

CANADIAN TRADE TRAIN IMPRESSES FRENCH PEOPLE

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, Sept. 18.—Bad weather somewhat marred but did not in any way spoil the exhibition when the Canadian train arrived in Bordeaux. The usual large crowds of interested spectators saw the traveling exhibition.

A feature of the tour has been a series of official banquets to the mission in charge of the exhibition train, these being held at all the stopping places, and cordial Franco-Canadian speeches have characterized each banquet.

WOULD ESTABLISH DATA COLLECTION IN WORLD BUREAU

British Electrical Association Plans Conference To Discuss Power Resources. COVERS WIDE FIELD.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 18.—What is described as a "world power conference" will be held during July next year in connection with the British empire exhibition in London. It is being arranged by the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers' Association. The program will cover a wide field and include subjects relating to the potential resources of various countries in hydro-electric power, oil and minerals, the educational methods in different countries, and the possibility of establishing a permanent world bureau for the collection of data, the preparation of inventories of the world's resources, and the exchange of industrial and scientific information through appointed representatives in different countries.
In response to the invitation for Canadian participation, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, sent M. J. B. Chaffin, director of water-power, to London to confer with the British authorities, with a view to having the dominions co-operate more adequately to Canada's unique achievements in hydro-electric matters.

TENSE MOMENTS IN DEMPSEY-FIRPO BATTLE.

These pictures show two knockdowns and a knockout in the big fight at the Polo Grounds, New York, Saturday night. In the upper left, the champion is shown waiting for the stricken Firpo to rise after he had been felled for the count of seven. This picture proves conclusively that Dempsey did not go to his corner to give Firpo time to recover himself as provided by the regulations. The upper right shows Firpo on his knees taking a short count, and the lower picture shows the knockout just after Dempsey administered the blow that sent the "Pampas Bull" down for the last time.

"BONELESS" VEAL MAY BE DELICACY, BUT LAW OBJECTS

Butcher Fined $10 in Police Court For Violation of the Food Bylaws.

PLEADS IGNORANCE

Selling boneless veal cost Charles Anderson ten "bones" in real money in police court today. Charles stated he didn't know it was "again the law," but the court maintained that this was no excuse, and although Anderson put up a good fight all by his lonesome, he finally had to succumb to the $10 touch on his roll.
"I didn't know a thing about it," I asked several butchers, and they didn't know either," protested Anderson.

"You ought to know the law; you're a butcher, aren't you?" came back the court in "snappy" vein. "Why didn't you find out about it from the day hall?"
"It was too late then," mourned Charles.

"What's the difference between boneless veal and sloop veal?" asked the court, thirsting for information. "Why did you bone it anyway?"
"It was fair week and the people like it best that way," rejoined the offender. "It's the first time I did it for two years."

"They do it because the age of the veal cannot be told when it is boned," offered Inspector Sanders, of the board of health, who laid the complaint against Anderson.
"That is the obvious reason," assented the court.

"I don't know where to get the laws," declared Mr. Anderson, who apparently was not overly pleased at the trend the case was taking.
"Here's a copy of them then," stated Veterinary Officer Dr. C. S. Tamplin, handing over a copy of board of health rules to the reluctant Mr. Anderson.
"It is a dangerous thing to sell this stuff. It is on a par with sink veal."

"We never had a case like this before you, your worship," intimated Dr. Tamplin.
The fine was thereupon fixed at $10 and costs. The maximum penalty on such a charge is $50 or 30 days in jail.

TWO ITALIAN PRINCESSES SHOW IMPROVED HEALTH

Associated Press Despatch.
Turin, Italy, Sept. 18.—Encouraging news as to the condition of the Princesses Mafalda and Giovanna, second and third daughters of King Victor Emmanuel, was received shortly before noon today from Racconigi, where they were taken ill last week.

Princess Giovanna now is reported out of danger, while the slight improvement noted in Mafalda's condition is continuing.

NIGHT CLASSES WILL COMMENCE OCTOBER FIRST

RECORD ENROLLMENT

Night classes at both the Technical School and the Collegiate Institute start on October 1, according to information received today.
Principal H. B. Beal of the Technical School stated that the classes in technical work would begin on October 1 and be held five nights of the week. Registration will start next Monday night and he expects that a big increase over last year will be shown when the classes finally get under way.

At the Technical School instruction classes is given in woodworking, shoemaking, stationary engineering, wood carving, dressmaking, first aid, electric wiring, plumbing, chemistry, domestic science, English, and arithmetic, auto mechanics, draughting, bookbinding, science of electricity, embroidery, sheet metal work, domestic arts, millinery, oxy-acetylene welding and commercial art.

The night classes at the Collegiate Institute start at the same time, but this session will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, instead of Monday, Wednesday and Friday as in former years.

According to Principal Miller this makes possible a better organization of work in the interests of both teachers and students. It also eliminates Friday night on which the attendance was usually small, due to the fact that much of the entertainment is done on that day.

The courses at the Collegiate lead to junior and honor matriculations, and certificates for entrance into Normal School for training as either second or first class certificate teachers.
It is expected that a number of the teachers in the public schools will take advantage of this in order to number of inquiries have already been received and from indications Principal Miller expects to have a record enrollment.

SISTER MARY ANTOINETTE.
The death of Sister Mary Antoinette occurred early this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital. Sister Antoinette has been for the past two years a resident of Mount St. Joseph. The funeral will be held Thursday from the Sacred Heart convent to St. Peter's Cemetery, where interment will be made in the plot of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

DECLARES CHURCH UNION ESSENTIAL TO SAVE ALL INDIA

Professor Yohan Mushi States Dissent in Mother Church Retarding Work.

AT THE CROSSROADS

Between sixty and seventy clergy and laymen, the largest representation of the Presbytery of London assembled for several months past, met this morning in the First Presbyterian Church for the initial session of the season.

This morning's program concluded at 12:30 with a striking address from Professor Yohan Mushi, clerk of the General Assembly of India, in which he characterized denominational divisions as the great stumbling block of the Christian Church in India. Professor Mushi, who has been in the city since last Sunday, a guest with Rev. Dr. D. C. MacGregor, is the acting principal of the Presbyterian College at Indore.

"India is at the crossroads," he declared in his speech this morning. "She must either go forward with Christianity or recede and reject it. Professor Mushi's address indicated a thorough grasp of the complicated religious and political situation in India. The two in showed to be inseparable. Even the non-Christian leaders in India, he said, without exception, make reference to the New Testament and the life and example of Christ in all their dealings with the people.

"Church union in India is very necessary," India is already divided by caste. A great blunder was made when Christianity was brought to India, marked by denominational divisions. The missionaries themselves, in India, do not want denominational division, but they are not supported in this by the home churches.

Unrest Prevails.
"Great numbers in India have considered the Christian faith, but they cannot bring themselves to take baptism because of the denominational division. They are torn between themselves, in India, do not want denominational division, but they are not supported in this by the home churches.

"Political education began three years ago in India with the non-co-operative movement, started by Gandhi. He is now in prison, but he has the better part for him, but he is still recognized as a leader. On going to prison, his message to the states of India was to the great unrest. There are still two parties. The one will have nothing of English government. The other had faith in British rule. The latter is the one to see, is losing faith in the mother country.

"You may know that the missionaries in India are receiving blame for much of the unrest. The British officials say that the missionaries receive the Hindus into their homes, and treat them as equals. Consequently, it is expected that the officials will proffer the same treatment.

Needs Help of West.
"But all India is thinking in the terms of Christ. All non-Christian speakers refer to Christ. Non-Christian India is studying your advanced theology. The thoughtful Indian leaders are thinking of Christ and examining His teachings. To go forward he needs all the help of the West and the mother church to bring about greater peace and unity."

Some discussion arose at the morning session over the interpretation to be placed upon the law passed by the General Assembly that retired ministers should remain members of the church and be entitled to vote. A motion stating acceptance of the General Assembly's interpretation was carried. Rev. Mr. Argo was appointed for the day to take the place of the late Rev. John Currie in examining the session records.

The congregations of the London Presbytery will be notified to take action regarding the recent law passed by General Assembly that the appointment of elders will be made at the commencement of the calendar year.

FULFIL ALL CONDITIONS ASKED BY AMBASSADORS

Associated Press Despatch.
Athens, Sept. 18.—Fulfillment of the conditions stipulated in the note to Greece from the inter-allied council of ambassadors as a result of the massacre of the Italian mission near Janina, began today, when Minister of the Interior Mavromichalis expressed official apologies to the British, French and Italian governments at their respective legations.

CANADIAN SUGAR EXPORTS SHOW DECIDED FALLING OFF

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A very pronounced falling off in Canadian exports of refined sugar is reported by the Dominion bureau of statistics. During the year ended Aug. 31, total exports amounted to 184,086,095 pounds, value $16,908,002, while for the year ending August, 1922, the exports were 268,743,005 pounds, value $17,370,781.

DOUBT EFFICACY OF LATEST RIVAL OF BANTING CURE

Professor MacLeod Replies to Claims of Discoverer of "Diabesine."

INSULIN COMPLEX

By HENRY SOMERVILLE.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent, Copyright.
London, Sept. 18.—Professor MacLeod's address on insulin to the British Medical Association was in effect a reply to the claims put forward that a substitute for insulin has been discovered by the English biochemist, Oliver A. Newall. This gentleman claims to have produced a synthetic substance which he calls "diabesine," which is made by blending chemical constituents of insulin instead of by the costly and complicated process of extracting the animal pancreas.

This new substance is a greenish powder, and can be taken through the mouth instead of by skin injections, and its cost is but a fraction of that of insulin. Newall says: "Diabesine" can be produced by the hundredweight if necessary, and he claims it is superior to insulin.

Question Product.
Professor MacLeod says, however, that little is known of the chemical constitution of insulin, and that unless Newall knows more than other chemists he cannot make a new compound out of the constituents of insulin. MacLeod points out that the fact that when stomach juices which contain pepsin, are added to it, insulin loses its efficacy, makes it appear that insulin has characteristics of a very complex protein. On the other hand, insulin might not be protein at all.

Difficult to Synthesize.

"That," said MacLeod, "would make the problem of its synthetic production a very difficult one. Chemists have never yet been able to synthesize a protein, and in the present state of knowledge it seems impossible ever to do so. If insulin were not a protein we might hope to synthesize it some day. Administration by injection was the only method of giving it, and it would be destroyed by peptic digestive fluids as soon as it reached the stomach."

ALD. P. J. WATT EXPLAINS HIS ABSENCE FROM "CLASS"

Sir Adam Beck was in a fair position to gain much useful information about railway construction at yesterday's meeting on the Richmond street job, according to Ald. P. J. Watt.

While Ald. Watt declined, as did Mayor Wenige, to attend this gathering, he explained today his reason for absenting himself.
"I consider that my position has been misunderstood," he stated. "I remained away because I considered that Sir Adam Beck had insulted Mayor Wenige by going over his head to seek a meeting of the board of works."

"And what actually happened at the meeting? The first thing Sir Adam did was to attack the mayor. They are always at it, because they are afraid of him. Why, it looks to me as though Sir Adam is afraid to come to any more meetings of the Port Stanley commission until the mayor has gone. That has happened a couple of times now. The mayor waits until several minutes after 11 o'clock, and just after he left, Sir Adam arrived."

Ald. Watt added that in his opinion, Sir Adam and his engineers should have gained much knowledge from yesterday's session.
BOARD OF WORKS FRIDAY.
The next meeting of the board of works will be held Friday in lieu of Tuesday, as customary. Ald. Douglas and Mayor Wenige set this date this afternoon.

BULLETS FLY WHEN MEXICAN FACTIONS ATTEMPT TO RULE

Troops Are Called to Meeting to Legislature to Restore Order.

ONE MAN KILLED

By J. W. FLAVELLE.

Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.
Laredo, Texas, Sept. 18.—The State of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, today has two legislators running at top speed. One of them is functioning comfortably in the legislative hall of the capitol at Monterrey. The other is less comfortably, but just as determinedly, installed on the broad porches of the State House. There has been, as usual, much shooting, but to date only one fatality has been recorded.

The trouble started just a week ago, when the rival bodies converged on Monterrey to take over the affairs of state. The faction favoring Alfredo Perez for governor got there first and established itself in the legislative hall; those favoring General Porfirio Gonzalez set up for business in the Hotel Bridges.

Both bodies advised Mexico City that they were duly installed and ready for business. Mexico City replied that the "duly installed" legislature had to meet in the capitol, so the Gonzalezists hot-footed it over to the capitol, only to find that the Perez clan had barred the State House doors. Mexico City ordered the 2,000 federal troops on duty in Monterrey to keep order, and they did for the time being, and the Perez legislature had to content itself with quarters on the portico.

On Saturday trouble broke out, it being Independence Day. The Perez body decided to hold patriotic exercises. Somebody snipped a few wires and the orator found himself talking in a dark legislative chamber, so the party of the "Outs" decided to batter its way in. As the doors fell, the legislative chamber barked and a pitched battle was on. More than 500 shots had been fired. One Gonzalez adherent was killed and several others were wounded. On the scene, surrounding the capitol and firing volleys after volleys into the air, they soon quieted things down.

SCHOOL FAIRS MAKE WONDERFUL PROGRESS

R. A. Finn, Agricultural Representative, Declares Interest Increases Yearly.

R. A. Finn of the department of agriculture, in speaking to The Advertiser today, stated that the school fairs are creating greater interest than ever before among the children of the rural districts. Yesterday's fair at Thorndale he described as wonderful, and says that tomorrow's exhibit at Dorchester will probably create a record for Middlesex.

"It is not so many years since school fairs were first thought of," said Mr. Finn, "and it has been a short step from the experimental stages to the really fine fairs the children are now holding today. The educational value of the fairs in making citizens of the farm children is beyond all expectation."

Mr. Finn added that the special events, prizes for which are donated by merchants and outside sources, are the greatest attraction from a competitive standpoint. He says that a banner donated by the combined Women's Institutes of Dorchester Township is the big feature at that fair, and the banner will eventually become the property of the school which presents the best drill parade for three consecutive years.

Just a Pretty Little Home from the Musical Play-Hit Children

A fascinating fox-trot on "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" VICTOR RECORD No. 19106

IMPORTANT! Red Seal Records are now double-sided. Two selections for practically the price of one. Ask for new catalogue! It's Free!

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE" is the voice of an endless programme of living entertainment, known as "The theatre of the Home"—and how appropriate! For whatever your mood—whatever the climatic conditions—the price of an orchestra chair is a mere pittance—and it is yours to say what entertainment shall unfold.

The imaginary curtain rises—a momentary hush—and then the immortal voice of CARUSO singing "FOR YOU ALONE"—and true to the title of the song he is singing for YOU alone—You and YOURS comprise his audience.

An intermission—someone calls for modern melody—the "Great White Way" orchestra has entered your home—unseen—to play "CAROLINA MAMMY"—Your eyes have closed and you have difficulty in believing that these musicians are not indeed on a stage and that you have an orchestra seat in a REAL theatre.—It is just as though these living entertainers had been invited to YOUR home for YOUR special hour of happiness.

Such is the spell of "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" Victrola and ("HIS MASTER'S VOICE" VICTOR RECORDS)—they alone—are capable of giving you this sense of COMPLETE FULFILLMENT and perfect reproduction.

And this very perfection of performance—this very superiority—has influenced many to refer to all instruments as Victrolas.—It is a compliment which we look upon with disfavor for it not only defeats your best interests but ours as well.

For your protection every genuine Victrola bears our famous trademark "HIS MASTER'S VOICE"—make sure it is on the instrument you buy.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1923.

Let Us Have An Understanding.

A situation has arisen in connection with the contemplated negotiations between the London Street Railway and the City Council that should be settled as quickly as possible, because if it is allowed to continue it may becloud the real issue and divide forces that should be working together in the interests of the ratepayers.

Sir Adam Beck has been asked to act for the city. He is apparently preparing himself to do so, and for that purpose has his own engineers at work looking over the system and bringing figures contained in the Bunnell report of a year ago up to date. His reason for this move is that he does not wish to match wits with the street railway company without a first-hand knowledge of the conditions as they exist. This sounds reasonable enough, but no provision has been made for the engaging of these engineers or for their remuneration by the city council—a matter that should have been taken up before and settled definitely.

Sir Adam's engineer claims, and Sir Adam makes the same claim, that the work now being done on Richmond street is not in accordance with the most approved method of railway construction. This controversy at once leads to a difference of opinion between engineering experts. There are differences of opinion, sharp and quite well defined, because there is no standard that is looked upon as definitely the best under all circumstances.

The contention of Sir Adam is that the city engineer is the man to say that the methods used by the street railway company are right or wrong, basing his views on the old bylaw 916. That old document has been honored more in the way it has been ignored than in the manner in which it has been observed, and the city engineer would be a remarkable man were he able to wave this piece of civil literature aloft and have all things changed at once.

The contention that Sir Adam should do as any other citizen, place his complaint in writing and have it brought before the council in that way, is not a good point. Sir Adam can be termed as a civic appointee in this regard. If he is to act for the city it is fair that he should have co-operation. There should be a session at once, and all these matters should be frankly discussed, not in the spirit of advantage to this one or that one, but with only one object in view, viz., that there be a mutual determination to arrive at a fair figure and present the most reasonable and the plainest statement before the electors on voting day.

The citizens expect, and they have a right to expect, that all concerned in the negotiations for the city shall come together in this matter. London wants to register a favorable verdict on the matter of purchasing the street railway, and we want nothing that is going to tend itself to a subject of convenient controversy by those who wish to allow the franchise to continue.

Death of Henry Macklin.

The death of one of London's grand old men occurred a few days ago at the ripe old age of 88 years.

Henry Macklin was well informed on all public questions and well educated. He was a kind, good man. He has gone out and in among us for many years, highly esteemed by all who knew him. He had a bright, cheery smile and a kind word for all who knew him. A casual meeting was always a pleasure.

Over thirty years ago he took an active part in politics on the Conservative side. He was the best posted Conservative speaker in London, and took an active part on the stump in East Middlesex. Always Mr. Macklin was a fair opponent, and never struck below the belt. Such was his political life.

He took a strong interest in the London and Middlesex Historical Society and contributed papers to it. The last occasion on which he is remembered was the evening that Albert Jeffery read a paper on the early banks of London. Mr. Macklin contributed some valuable comment.

His private life was well nigh perfect. A good, honorable Anglican, he was fond of the church to which he belonged, and to the full extent of his ability aided every good cause. Few lives typified the brotherhood of man as his life did.

The crest and crowning of all good, Life's final star is brotherhood. For it will bring again to earth Her long-lost peace and mirth: Will send new light on every face, A kindly power upon the race, And till it comes we men are slaves, And travel downward to the dust of graves.

Come, clear the way, then, clear the way: Blind creeds and kings have had their day. Break the dead branches from the path: Our hope is in the aftermath—Our hope is in heroic men, Star led to build the world again. To this event the ages ran: Make way for brotherhood—make way for man.

Your Health: How Pleasure Trips Help To Keep You Well.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

A few weeks ago I was in Atlanta, Ga. Hardly had I reached the hotel before a member of the "Stone Mountain Confederate Monument Association" was insisting that I should drive out to see the great figures which will perpetuate the fame of the southern military leaders.

When I read some time ago that Mr. Gutzon Borglum had been commissioned to cut out of this mountain figures two hundred feet in height and the representation of an army, the idea struck me as grotesque. But, having seen, I am enthusiastic over the gigantic conception.

About twenty miles from Atlanta, rising from a broad and level plain, is a great stone mountain, which is a tremendous rock, which might have been dropped from the hand of a sky-high giant. Like a butte on a Utah plain, this great boulder, many times bigger than many a butte, rises up from the wooded flat land at its foot.

It is seven miles around the base of the mountain. From base to summit the distance is little less than a mile. One face, known as the "Great Rock," shows the outline of a man, a woman, and a child, and this surface the figures are being carved.

I visited Stone Mountain at mid-night. From Mr. Borglum's studio pictures were projected on the mountain by a great lantern. There, as

One Friday and One Saturday.

After all there is something to be said for the philosophy of children. We do not admit as a general thing that they have much that is worth considering—it takes mature years and experience to develop the mind, and so on.

But here was a boy who was going to the hospital on Saturday morning for an operation—not a very serious one, but it would put him out of the running for a few days at least.

So with another schoolboy, the decision was made that Friday should be spent at the Fair Grounds. So an early start was made, and the sun had long since made his evening bow before it was called a day's work.

There may have been two or three shows on the grounds that were not visited, and it is just barely possible that there might have been a hot-dog manufacturer who did not wait on him, but those missed were much in the minority. It was a great big glorious boy's day, and he was satisfied.

The philosophy of the adult mind would probably have resulted in a day's worry and arrangement.

The boy's idea was let Friday be a dandy, because Saturday won't be. So who's going to prove that he wasn't right.

Two Varieties of Enemies.

The Toronto Telegram never loses a chance to bring to the front its hatred of Sir Henry Thornton and those working with him to make the National Railways a success.

The Telegram's latest gratuitous insult is as follows:

"Canadian National Railway surplus is less pronounced than that produced by Sir Henry Thornton's speeches, every one of which shows a surplus of talk and a deficit of thought."

The Montreal Star is openly at enmity with public ownership. Even its "Whisper of Death" articles are more worthy than the tactics of the Telegram. The Toronto paper blatantly professes a love for public ownership, but never loses a chance to stab the National Railways and Sir Henry Thornton.

Fortunately, though, the National lines are demonstrating their ability to get along very well against the positive opposition of the Montreal Star and the Toronto Telegram.

Yes, We Have No Retinue!

The Toronto Globe announced on September 13 that it felt constrained to say very little about the visit of the Prince of Wales to Canada. The Globe featured an announcement that it was pleased beyond words to allow Lord Renfrew to come and have his visit, and concluded in this way:

"The Globe feels assured that its readers fully appreciate the request, and that they are patriotically and warmly eager that the young baron's furlough in Canada shall be all that he himself would have it. For that reason this newspaper has made no arrangements for a retinue of staff correspondents to chronicle the personal program of the distinguished young man who, for a time, is making our Dominion his home."

And immediately following was a despatch "by Charles C. Jenkins, staff correspondent of the Globe." In his story Charles C. told of the "air of electric expectancy" that had gripped old Quebec like a spell of measles. Yes, sir, he paid tribute, too, to the enthusiasm of the crowd, which they, "out of deference to the noble visitor's expressed wish, restrained today with consistency."

And didn't the Globe man hang around to see all that was going on? Why, of course he did, for he submits the following account of his stewardship:

"At the time the rotunda and front entrance of the hotel were crowded with men and women, mostly tourists, who had been waiting there hoping to get another glimpse of him when he returned downstairs. Only a few very persons, among whom was the Globe representative, were about the terrace or its environs when the party came down."

And all this sleuth work going on after the Globe's announcement: "The Globe feels assured that its readers fully appreciate the request. . . . This paper has made no arrangements for a retinue of staff correspondents."

Say, wouldn't Charles C. Jenkins get his ear pulled when he got back to the Globe office from that retinue trip to Quebec?

Associated Press Despatch. Seattle, Washington, Sept. 17.—Capt. Raoul Amundsen, Arctic explorer, and Capt. Harold Noice, head of the recent expedition for Wrangel Island for the relief of the ill-fated Crawford party, arrived here today from Nome, Alaska. Capt. Amundsen confirmed his previous announcement that he would again attempt an aeroplane flight across the North Pole, starting this time from Spitzbergen. His attempt last summer was frustrated when the landing apparatus of his plane was smashed in a test flight.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

THE AIM OF OUR LIFE WORK.

What profit hath he that worketh in that wherein he laboreth?—Ecclesiastes iii., 9.

I am quite sure that a great deal of the confusion and perplexity of youth, and a goodly number of the restlessness and fickleness which older people often criticize so severely and so unjustly, comes from the attempt to choose an occupation in life before the greater question of the real object of our life-work has been fairly faced and settled.

"What are you going to do when you grow up?" This is the favorite conundrum which the kind aunts and uncles put to the boys when they come home from school.

And of late they are beginning to put it to the girls also, since it has been reluctantly admitted that a girl may rightly have something to say about what she would like to do in the world.

But how is it possible to make anything more than a blind guess at the answer, unless the boy or the girl has some idea of the end which is to be worked out by the means chosen?

To choose a trade, a business, a profession, without knowing what kind of a result you want to get out of your labor, is to set sail in the dark. It is to have a course, but no haven; an employment, but no vocation. I would ask a boy or a girl first, What are you going to work for? Then, What kind of work do you think will accomplish your purpose? (Copyright, 1923, by The Republic Syndicate.)

TO THE EDITOR.

ABOUT CHURCH FUNDS.

Editor of The Advertiser:—Sir:—My letter of the 5th instant seemed to raise Mr. Voaden's righteous indignation. He says it is an ignorant insult to the ladies of the Methodist Church. Far be it, I have every respect for our ladies, but they are misguided. It is not the ladies that are responsible for the laws of the church, but the higher-ups don't intend that they will have anything to say in the laws of the church. See how they turned down the proposition to let the church be run by the laity last summer. He says that I don't seem to know that they have a court and know where every dollar goes. Sure, they do; but they don't intend the average member to know. They used to collect for each fund separately; then some would not pay to the superannuation funds, so they bunched them, and called them con-nexional funds. Then they assessed some funds their people wouldn't pay to certain funds. Then, last year, they changed it, and now they assess all the funds to raise the superannuation fund. They are bound to make the people pay to that whether they want to or not. Mr. Voaden says the superannuation fund is a poor old pioneer preacher used to ride all over the country on horseback, and was paid a miserable pittance for his labor. It was perfectly right to provide for their old age, but with preachers getting from $1,600 to $3,000, I say it is wrong.

He quotes one preacher's son that is in business that takes in as much money in one year as his father did preaching for seven. Well, if they are after, they had better shut the doors of the church and go into business, although I doubt if two-thirds of the preachers could make anything else as they do at preaching. Mr. Voaden says there is an average near as many preachers that make the laws of the church. Yes, but the preachers take good care they don't have any laymen who oppose them.

The superannuation report issued this year says that the combined Protestant churches of this continent have about $45,000,000 invested in superannuation funds, and that campaign plans are already under way to raise another $40,000,000 for the same purpose. The Methodist Church has $2,500,000 out drawing six per cent interest, so you see, Mr. Editor, there is a lot of money that might go to missions that it stacked up for the preachers' benefit.

I will quote you a few claims that are being paid and see if Mr. Voaden has given us facts. This is out of the Methodist report, and they are bragging what a great life insurance it is. Rev. A. self only, 53 years' service, personal payments made, $434.68, total claims received, $11,277. Rev. A. and widow years of service, $5, personal payments, $182, total claims, $10,349; and I have a list of twenty right in a row, and Mr. Voaden says they pay their own assessments. I am quoting this right sure, and he can't get around these figures. Watford, Sept. 12. CANADIAN.

HELP STILL NEEDED IN SASKATCHEWAN

State Harvesting Is Well Under Way In All Provinces.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, Sept. 17.—Apart from unsettled weather today the week has been quite favorable for harvesting, states the crop report of the Canadian Pacific Railway issued here tonight. Fairly sharp frosts affected some unprotected crops, but not to a serious extent. Thrashing out-turns up to the present time indicate that estimates of the crop are to be realized, with remarkably good showings from Saskatchewan and Alberta and fairly good averages quoted from Northern Manitoba.

Cutting is completed in Manitoba. The yields are quite diverse in quality and quantity. Wheat is averaging from five to twenty bushels to the acre. Harvesting is making satisfactory progress in Saskatchewan, where several hundred men could be placed now at $5 and $6 a day. Some exceptional yields are reported from Alberta, where out-turns of from 35 to 45 bushels an acre are recorded, grading No. 1 northern, and weighing from 62 to 66 pounds.

Associated Press Despatch. Scranton, Pa., Sept. 17.—Anthracite miners, representing union workers throughout the Pennsylvania hard coal fields, today ratified the new two year wage agreement drafted by their officers and operators' representatives in Harrisburg, September 7. They voted to return to work Wednesday and plans were made at once for the signing of the new contract on the same day.

James A. Gorman, secretary of the joint conference which negotiated the agreement, announced tonight the operators' and miners' representatives would go to Governor Pinchoff's house at Milford, Pa., for the signing. This is scheduled for 1 p.m. Wednesday. The fact that the contract will not be signed until afternoon, however, will not affect the resumption of operations Wednesday morning. More than 500 delegates representing local unions in the three United Mine Workers' districts of the anthracite region, took part in the convention. Their action, ratifying the new agreement, came with comparatively little opposition although several voiced objections to the fact that under the ten per cent flat wage increase provided for all workers, day laborers, now receiving the lowest rates of pay will be given a smaller increase than contract miners.

The agreement embraces the four major points of the settlement plan submitted by Governor Pinchoff when he called the miners and operators to meet in Harrisburg. These are the ten per cent wage increase, the eight-hour day, recognition of the union and recognition of the principles of collective bargaining. Outside of the effect of the wage increase, the operation of the eight-hour day formed the principal subject of discussion.

WILL APPEAR TO ANSWER CHARGE OF STEALING AUTO

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Sept. 17.—George Murray, Ed. Lapham and G. Maundrell, local youths, arrested last Monday on a charge of theft of an automobile belonging to George Kuckerau, elected trial by jury at their preliminary hearing in the city police court today, and will appear before the next court of competent jurisdiction. Maundrell and Lapham were allowed out on bail, but Murray was unable to raise the funds and was sent back to jail.

The three were also fined $100 and costs in the police court this afternoon for consuming liquor in other than a private dwelling.

SLIPS AND BREAKS RIBS.

Special to The Advertiser.

Princeton, Sept. 17.—John Stout, who had been attending to a sick animal in the stable on Sunday morning, slipped and fractured several of his ribs. He was able to make his way into the house, and Dr. MacCaul was sent for and attended to his injuries.

FARMER NEAR EMBRO IS KILLED IN RUNAWAY

James Trodd Thrown From Seat, Crushed To Death Underneath Wheels.

Special to The Advertiser.

Embro, Sept. 17.—James Trodd, an Englishman about 60 years old who has been in Canada less than a year, was almost instantly killed this afternoon at three o'clock when he fell beneath the wagon of a runaway team which he was driving. He leaves a wife and family in England.

Mr. Trodd was working on the farm of Walter Butcher, just east of the village, and his bright disposition made him exceedingly popular among the residents of this district. Early in the afternoon he had taken some grain to the North Embro chopping mill and was coming home when the accident happened.

No one saw Mr. Trodd fall from the wagon, but D. I. Rose, who owns a farm close to the road saw the horses bolt, turn south into the field and then land in a ditch. Mr. Trodd was picked up on the road a few minutes later, unconscious, and with his head badly crushed. Dr. R. H. Green of Embro was immediately summoned but Mr. Trodd died before the physician arrived.

There were no eye-witnesses to the accident, but the belief is expressed that Mr. Trodd was sitting on a grain bag on the seat and that the bag slipped with the jolting of the wagon throwing him forward. This is thought to have caused the team to take a sudden jump and rush on Mr. Trodd's head would indicate that the heavy wheels of the wagon struck him.

The remains were removed to Charles A. Lowe's undertaking parlors in Embro pending word from his family. Mr. Butcher cabled word to England immediately after the accident.

BREAKS RIBS IN FALL.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Lambton, Sept. 17.—Mrs. R. Falls of the Lambton line fell a few days ago, breaking two ribs. She was attended by Dr. W. A. Cathart and is progressing favorably.

MURRELL'S COUNSEL ASKS HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

CLAIMS MURRELL'S
EXTRADITION WAS LEGALLY WRONG

J. M. Donahue Serves Attorney-General With Application for Habeas Corpus.

HEARING ON SEPT. 22

J. M. Donahue, counsel for Sidney Murrell, who will be tried at the supreme court sittings next month at the courthouse here on a charge of murdering Russell Campbell of Melbourne two years ago, has served papers by mail on the attorney-general in connection with an application for a writ of habeas corpus. The attorney-general has acknowledged their receipt.

The motion will come before the weekly high court at a session in the Middlesex court house on September 22, and papers have been filed at the court house to show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued to Governor Byron Dawson of the county jail.

The reasons as set forth are substantially that Murrell was indicted for murder while at large and has not yet been identified.

Secondly, that no warrant issued pursuant to the extradition order is, or was, held by the jailer.

Thirdly, that the order for extradition was improperly obtained upon depositions taken in a manner unauthorized by the criminal code.

In this last connection, it is stated that the evidence of the crown witnesses was taken before Magistrate Graydon at a secret session held in police court some time ago.

Mr. Donahue, who acted as counsel for Murrell before he broke jail here, was not afforded an opportunity to cross-examine these witnesses, it is said.

When seen this morning by The Advertiser, Mr. Donahue had no statement for publication beyond admitting that papers had been served by mail on the attorney-general.

Murrell's demeanor in jail is unchanged, jail officials stated today. He still eats heartily and seems to sleep well at night. He is not so truculent as he was some time ago.

PROPOSE COMBINING POWER, WATER BILLS

Utilities Commission To Inaugurate New System of Making Collections.

The new system of billing water and power accounts jointly every two months will be inaugurated by January 1. E. V. Buchanan, of the Public Utilities Commission stated this morning.

The plan, which will do away with the monthly billing for power and quarterly for water, was suggested at the last meeting of the commission, and it was decided to adopt it.

The new method, when it becomes effective, will mean that customers will receive their water and light bills together every two months. This will do away with the office help now necessary to look after the water department, as the one staff will be able to handle both accounts. The force of metermen will not change, neither will the power-billing staff, but the saving will be effected in the department and in the billing to the people, but six bills being required where sixteen are now used.

SAYS COPPER DEMAND
TAKING WORLD SUPPLY

H. Fontaine of Lobo Tells of Production in Arizona Fields.

H. Fontaine of Lobo has returned to London after visiting the copper districts of Central Arizona, and reports that the copper mines are doing a wonderful business.

Speaking of copper in general, Mr. Fontaine says that it is the opinion of copper producers all over this continent that unless fresh copper deposits are located, the next fifteen years is likely to see the exhaustion of the deposits which are being worked at present. As a reason for this, he states that the developing of hydro projects on the North and South American continents, apart from a similar development in Europe, is going to put a terrific strain on the world's copper resources.

As an indication that copper as far as it has been found is fast becoming developed and mined to capacity output, says: "The fact that there is a ready market for all the copper which is being mined today with every firm working at capacity, goes to show that the demand for copper is increasing. The fact that actual sales of stock for copper development are no longer being made is another indication that the copper industry has reached the purely productive stage."

OPPOSITION FOR MAYOR WENIGE AT NEXT ELECTION

T. W. McFarland Will Not Commit Himself as to His Possible Candidacy.

WILSON OR MAY?

T. W. McFarland, member of the public utilities commission, wouldn't say definitely today that he would not be a candidate for the mayor's chair in December next.

"I would not want to say that I would or wouldn't," he stated to The Advertiser. "Anything is likely to happen."

Quite recently Commissioner McFarland criticized Mayor Wenige's attitude relative to the street railway situation, and was credited with the remark that "the mayor shouldn't be 'butting in'."

Mayor Wenige retorted that Commissioner McFarland was the one who was "butting in" if there was any "butting in" to be noted, and added that "if Commissioner McFarland desired to involve himself in the street railway affairs he should run for the city council or for the mayor's chair."

In fact the mayor returned to would rather welcome such a development.

And today Commissioner McFarland is both to say too much about it. He does insist, however, that he retained a perfect right to voice his opinion, as a private citizen, of the mayor's tactics.

"I should think that it would have been better if the mayor had waited until after Sir Adam Beck had been given a fair opportunity to meet the street railway authorities," the commissioner stated. "And not to come out publicly with other views upon the subject. I was only expressing my opinion as a private citizen. I know that I am not a member of the city council. I still think, however, that the mayor's attitude was ill-advised."

Wilson Ready to Fight.

Ald. W. A. Wilson predicted today in no uncertain manner that Mayor Wenige would never be returned to office in December by acclamation, if at all.

"Because I'm the boy who will oppose him if he does it," he said. "I am the boy who will oppose him if he does it."

A PUNCH THAT MADE PUGILISTIC HISTORY.

The above photo shows with remarkable clearness the biggest moment in the most savage ring battle of history. The picture was snapped at the Polo Grounds last Saturday evening at the Dempsey-Firpo clash for the championship of the world.

TO VIEW LONDON AS LOCATION OF POTTERY PLANT

Representatives of East Liverpool Concern Will Come to See Industrial Area.

LOOKING FOR SITE

The West End Pottery Company of East Liverpool, Ohio, contemplates the establishment of a branch in this city. The Advertiser was informed today.

One or more representatives of that corporation is expected here within a few days for the purpose of viewing London's "industrial area." Inquiries in this connection were made recently and all available data concerning local advantages was forthcoming this week that the firm in question will send someone here to look over the industrial area of Southeast London.

The fame of London's available area for industries has evidently gone abroad, as the Ohio interests explained in their first communication to the local authorities that they had heard that London possessed such property and they desired precise knowledge.

They were also impressed, it is recorded, when informed that London is a city of homes—with $5 per cent of the residents owning their own residences.

Certain improvements for the industrial area are still under contemplation. Proposed sewer connections should be authorized at the next session of the council. The by-law, which passed its second reading, the third and final reading is anticipated, however, as two members of the council were absent last night who will support the project, their associates believe.

Claims Girls Deter Men
From Taking Overall Jobs

Are the girls in the new social scheme more particular than in former days? The affirmative would seem to be the case to judge from Architect L. E. Carrothers, who yesterday stated that a shortage of building craftsmen was responsible for the delay in completing Trafalgar School.

This morning Mr. Carrothers attempted to explain the shortage, and in doing so stated that the difficulty was in getting apprentices to take up the study of the building trades.

But the reason for men not caring to study these well paid trades is laid to the girls of today.

Mr. Carrothers stated that the girls had changed a lot in recent years, and that they now did not care to go out with men who indulged in manual labor and wore overalls. Why this was so, he could not explain.

But the fact remains that the men care about the girls, and if the girls do not wish to go out with them because they have not white collar jobs, the men are not going to take up the trades which pay so well.

Because after all, "a man's a man for a' that," and likes to be seen out in company with a nice looking girl.

Perhaps Mr. Carrothers has reached the seat of the matter, and it is now up to scientists and others to discover the means whereby he might be attracted back to the man with the blisters on his hands and dressed in denim.

MANY LONDON HOMES
WITHOUT ELECTRICITY

Utilities Manager Compares Fact With 16,000 Residents Using Hydro.

There are still approximately 500 houses, being used as residences in the city, which have not yet had electricity installed for domestic purposes.

E. V. Buchanan made this statement this morning when asked if there were very many in this class. "There are about 500," declared the utilities manager. "Looking the other way, we find 18,000 at least that are using electricity. These houses that are not lighted with hydro are more than likely being held by their owners for sale, and when sold the buildings will be destroyed or wrecked. For this reason the landlords do not wish to go to the expense of having the service installed, when the ultimate end of the building will be wreckage."

Several citizens are appealing against their 1923 city income assessment. Their claims will be heard at a "clean-up" session of the court of revision tomorrow night.

Among the number is one of the twelve highest income taxpayers, who questions the precise amount. He is not attempting, however, to evade what he considers to be the correct figure.

The Roman Catholic Church has also registered an appeal against any taxation upon the new institution on Talbot street, claiming church exemption rights in accordance with the provisions of the assessment act.

WANT LABOR MEN TO CLEAR DECKS
FOR CONVENTION

Members of Trades Council Believe Burke-Young Issue Should Be Settled.

DRAPER IS EXPECTED

Members of the Trades and Labor Council, in discussing the Trades Congress convention to be held here next year, say that it is likely that P. M. Draper, secretary of the Canadian Trades Congress, will visit London in the near future with a view to ascertaining the possibilities which London offers for staging the convention.

In this connection reference was made to the unpleasant dispute which has disturbed the even tenor of the ways of labor here since the election in June, and the delegates said that the matter of Secretary Burke and Treasurer Young continuing to hold office or stand as delegates to the council should be settled as speedily as possible.

It is the opinion of practically every labor man who has the interests of the movement at heart that this dispute must be disposed of one way or another at once, the council and organized labor in London will suffer as a result of the long drawn out quarrel. They added that the coming year for sensible organization, and that no time can be afforded for the "washing of dirty linen in public."

The members of the labor council here feel that they can make next year's convention an outstanding one in the history of Canadian labor, but they predict that unless the dispute is speedily cleared for co-operative action among all the delegates to the council, the hope of a large convention next year is out of the question.

Work progresses on school addition.

Expect Completion of Rooms Will Relieve Overcrowding Technical Building.

While there is some overcrowding at the Technical School, Principal H. B. Beal of that institution is in hopes that it will not endure for any length of time.

This morning he stated that several classrooms were holding more than they really should, but when the new six-room addition, now in course of construction, was ready to bring them officially before the members at their next regular session on Thursday.

Chairman Douglas reports, in fact, that in certain instances the suggestions will be followed as far as will be possible under the circumstances.

"Some of the suggestions were good," stated the chairman, although he acknowledges that none of the complaints are considered by the majority of the board as being of a very serious nature. He explains, as an instance, it will be possible to move in line some of the cedar blocks supporting the ties and rails.

"It was wise for us to meet Sir Adam yesterday," Ald. Douglass stated. "Naturally, his engineers have had considerable experience in these affairs that would be of benefit to our engineers. Of course, in the Richmond street job we had to be guided by the amount of money available, the need for continuous traffic of some sort, and the wish of the majority of the people on the street."

TRACK SETTLES 6 INCHES AS ENGINE PASSES OVER

This morning several passersby stood at the railway gates of the Richmond street crossing to await the passing of a shunting engine which was switching a string of empties.

As the engine passed over the diamond which carries the street cars, a short length of track settled between five and six inches below the general track level. To a shunting engine this means very little, but according to one of the onlookers, who said he was an old railway hand, this would be extremely dangerous to a heavy freight engine moving at any considerable speed.

COLLEGIATE ENROLLMENT SHOWS MARKED INCREASE

Enrollment at the collegiate institutes is already more than 100 greater than last year, according to figures given out by Principal Miller.

At the Central Collegiate there are 825 pupils at present, while at the South London institution the 225 are registered, and 225 at the West London building, a total of 1,335, as compared with the peak of 1,280 last year. Since the fair several new students have registered, and Mr. Miller expects that the total enrollment for this year will total 1,450.

WRIGHT WILL NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION TO BOARD

J. B. Wright, who for the past four years has been a member of the board of education, this morning said that he did not think he would seek re-election this year.

Mr. Wright gave as the reason for his decision the fact that his business was taking more and more of his time, and that he found, as a result, that he could not devote the time he thought he should to the board. Mr. Wright is a member of No. 1 committee, audit committee and advisory vocational committee.

CITIZENS APPEALING AGAINST ASSESSMENT

One of City's Wealthiest Dozen Thinks His Income Tax Is Too High.

Several citizens are appealing against their 1923 city income assessment. Their claims will be heard at a "clean-up" session of the court of revision tomorrow night.

Dig Up Vessels
3,000 Years Old

Shanghai, Sept. 18.—Chinese digging a well near Chengchow, Honan Province, have uncovered copper and bronze vessels believed to date back to the Chow dynasty of more than 3,000 years ago. Many valuable pieces were broken by the well diggers before the value of their find was discovered. Experts of the Smithsonian Institute from Peking have gone to Chengchow, but are meeting with much opposition from Chinese officials in their efforts to be allowed to remove and classify the ancient vessels.

MAYOR SAYS BECK
ENGINEERS FOUND
PAVING ALL RIGHT

Wenige Believes Little Change Will Be Made From Present Methods.

SUGGESTIONS GOOD

Sir Adam Beck's own engineers acknowledge, according to Mayor Wenige, that the Richmond street paving job could be accepted as satisfactory and, in fact, better than considerable work done in Toronto.

His worship anticipates little or no change from the present methods, which have already been approved, he states, by all engineers involved on the job, the street railway experts as well as the city engineer.

"It is a difference of engineering opinion," the mayor continues, asserting that while the ideas advanced by Sir Adam's experts may be quite in order in other communities or on other jobs, they would not be suitable for this particular project.

Sir Adam's proposals had been followed, it would have been necessary, the mayor states, to tie up the entire traffic on Richmond street until the work was completed.

"We have to suit the work to local conditions," said the mayor, "and we had to consider the question from many different angles. In this manner, the situation was far different, no doubt, from the situation in Toronto, Windsor or other places."

After last night's city council session, members of the board of works considered informally Sir Adam's several complaints and today Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board, was expected to bring them officially before the members at their next regular session on Thursday.

Chairman Douglass reports, in fact, that in certain instances the suggestions will be followed as far as will be possible under the circumstances.

"Some of the suggestions were good," stated the chairman, although he acknowledges that none of the complaints are considered by the majority of the board as being of a very serious nature. WILL PLAY TENNIS FINAL IN LONDON SATURDAY

Western Ontario Championship Will Be Decided on Sydenham Street Courts.

The final round of the Western Ontario League tennis tourney between Guelph and Windsor will be played in London next Saturday, according to W. Bernie, secretary of the Western Ontario Lawn Tennis League.

The four teams in the semi-final round were Hamilton, Woodstock, Guelph and Windsor. Hamilton defaulted to Guelph, and Woodstock, who put out London earlier in the season, defaulted to Windsor, leaving Windsor and Guelph to play off.

The final games will be played on the courts of the London Tennis Club on Sydenham street. James Cummings of Windsor, probably the best tennis player in Western Ontario, will be playing first man for Windsor. Jack Purcell, who was runner-up in last year's Canadian junior championships, will likely be first man for Guelph.

Windsor won the championship two years ago when they defeated St. Catharines on London courts.

APPLIES FOR CITIZENSHIP.

Gaetano Lombardi, 199 Mill street, who has lived in London since Sept. 1914, has applied for naturalization papers. The application will be heard before Judge Macbeth on December 15, at the court house. Lombardi was born in the town of Africena, Italy, and came to Canada in April, 1913.

SUBSTANTIAL SUMS FROM DINING HALLS

Tearooms Conducted At Fair by Women's Organizations a Great Convenience.

None worked harder at the fair grounds during the past week than those willing representatives of various church organizations who conducted dining halls for the crowds of visitors which each day brought to the Western Fair.

In the majority of cases balances have not yet been struck, but early indications are that substantial sums have been added to the various building funds and other institutions which will benefit.

This is in spite of the fact that on the whole the dining halls are not believed to have done as well as last year. The easy access granted to the motor car was blamed in a number of cases for the reduction in receipts, the situation being that a great many visitors brought their own lunches and sat comfortably in their cars to eat them.

To those who came from any distance to spend the entire day at the fair grounds, however, the tearooms operated in the various buildings were regarded to be a great source of comfort and convenience. The opportunity they presented for a rest and a refreshing cup of tea has not been overlooked by those who have considered all the elements which tended to make the fair a success.

Full reports have not yet been obtained from the W. C. T. U., known as the oldest-established dining hall on the grounds. Knox Presbyterian Church dining hall, situated in a strategic position just opposite the grandstand, realized in the neighborhood of $1,500, an all-time record. Methodist Church reports something close to $1,300.

A NUMBER OF MEETINGS TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

A number of meetings have been called for this week including a meeting of the War Memorial Hospital Committee being held at "Lenmore," Friday afternoon at 2:30; and a meeting of the executive of the Women's Music Club is being held this afternoon at Miss Raymond's studio in Richmond street, and it is expected a meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., will also be held this week.

The meeting of the hospital committee is the first meeting since the opening of the hospital, and it is expected that plans for the coming winter will also be made.

Location of Bow Optional.
Paris, Sept. 17.—It seems to be optional the location of the big bow on the large and elaborate gowns worn today pose this decoration exactly in the middle of the back of the gown. Others, equally smart, thrust the bow a little to the right of the front and sometimes allow it to extend over the edge.

Fur Earrings Being Worn.
Paris, Sept. 17.—Fur is so tremendously popular today that fur earrings were worn the other evening by a woman in dinner costume at a chic eating place. These ornaments were of jet with a ball of rabbit's fur in white touching the shoulder. Her black gown also had touches of this fur.

Bodice Forms Scarf.
London, Sept. 17.—Not the least remarkable gown seen this season is the one with a scarf bodice for evening wear. The bodice forming a scarf, two ends hang from the bodice in a panel-like fold over the hips, but these ends may be, and often are, twined about the neck.

Collars Fasten at Hip.
London, Sept. 17.—Every frock today has its collar of crepe de chine or of organza and lace. Among the new collars is one which not only encircles the neck but extends diagonally across the front of the frock and fastens on one hip.

New York, Sept. 17.—Alligator skin is "in" for shoes. This interesting skin, which does not lose its individuality even though dyed in various tints, is used today for pipings and straps.

Lingerie Favors Pastel Shades.
New York, Sept. 17.—Lingerie has returned to the distinctly pastel shades, with a preference today for a pale yellow, just a bit more delicate than maize. Underthings are, of course, trimmed with quantities of lace, which is usually dyed to match.

New York, Sept. 17.—Ox-blood is one of the sturdy, old-fashioned colors now returned to favor. It is seen chiefly today in bits of embroidery upon hats and hosiery.

MRS. MAUDE SHAVER CONDUCTS INSPECTION

Worthy Grand Matron of O. E. S. Pays Trinity Chapter An Official Visit.

An interesting visitor in the city yesterday was Mrs. Maude Shaver of Ottawa, grand worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, who inspected Trinity Chapter, O. E. S., in the lodge rooms in the Imperial Bank chambers last evening.

Prior to the inspection a charming supper was held at the De Luxe Cafe in honor of Mrs. Shaver and the other grand lodge officers of the city, including Miss Blanche Rowe, district deputy grand matron of the district. Mr. John Doidge, associate grand patron, and Mrs. Doidge and Mrs. Bert Logan.

Later in the evening the exemplifying of the degrees took place, which was inspected by Mrs. Shaver. A happy feature was the presentation to the grand worthy matron of a handsome rainbow mesh bag, which was presented by Mrs. Ernest Manning. Enjoyable solos were given by Mrs. Helen McGuire and Mrs. H. E. Elford.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Ben Noble and Mrs. C. E. King, of the Trinity Chapter, visited Mrs. Shaver upon her arrival to the city, took the guest of honor on a tour.

Mrs. Shaver leaves today for St. Thomas, and upon her return to the city has been invited to attend the meeting of the Trinity Chapter, O. E. S., being held Wednesday evening.

A delightful social hour followed by refreshments closed the affair last evening.

NO TROUBLE TO KEEP SKIN FREE FROM HAIRS

(The Modern Beauty.)
There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered talc with water it is easy to get rid of them.

The paste is applied for two to three minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hairs without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real talc. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often
Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the Buffalo Times about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. Adkins, 311 Erin Road, Medina, N. Y.

Feels Like Girl Sixteen
Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Nellie Dorey, 16 Sise Park, Rochester, N. Y.
