THURSDAY, OCT. 10.

THE LIBERAL SPLIT IN WEST KENT.

Our esteemed contemporary makes the best of a bad business in its editorial last evening relative to the information recently published in this great home journal concerning the bitterness existing among the Liberals of West Kent over the forthcoming nomination of a Provincial candidate.

The local Liberal organ states that the dissatisfaction with Mr. Pardo, which it describes as "personal feeling," exists "in only one section."

The Planet unfortunately does not enjoy the full confidence of the gentlemen who run the affairs of the Liberal party, and consequently is not in a position to affirm or deny the allegation that protest against Mr. Pardo has only been officially made "in one section." But this journal endeavors to keep in touch with its patrons, the people, and it can assure the Liberal organ that the section over which the dissatisfaction extends is limited only by the boundaries of the entire constituency, it being, of course, more or less general in the various localities.

Whether Mr. Stevens can be secured to step into the breach, we know not. We are only aware that Mr. Stevens' wonderful personal popularity had led to his name being prominently mentioned.

Truth to tell, the Planet is not seriously interested in this turmoil in the Liberal camp. It's a family affair and we can well afford to look on with amusement and indifference. And, after all, its enactment can have but a temporary significance. It is now quite generally recognized that the next parliamentary representative for West Kent will not be the choice of the Liberal caucus.

THE REAL RULER.

Don't laugh at the man from the country, who has come in to the Vag Penitentiary Fair without a patent leather shoe. That prize team of his have got it on their harness.

Don't laugh because he gazes at an advertising homeless carriage. Ten to one you wouldn't know a harrow from a hay rake, or an Ayrshire from a Holstein.

Don't give him the merry ha ha because he wears a ten-dollar suit. It's paid for, and he hates tailor bills worse than the devil.

Don't swell on yourself and call him a pumpkin because the cuts the sweat from his brow with his forefinger instead of a silk wipe. That sweat fertilizes the ground sixty bushels to the acre and feeds the world. Go out in your ten-by-six back yard, cut down the weeds, tidy up, raise a blaster, and complain to your wife what a slave you are.

Go, too, ye scoffers, who rail at the man from the country and call him Rube.

Compare.
Do you have that stone-in-your-crop feeling after meals? Take a pill, then look at the farmer and pity yourself. He doesn't know what the word indigestion means. Give him a dictionary and he would think he was hunting for a Latin quotation.

Time checks?
Pay days?
Crowded store or workshop?
Strike?

The farmer bosses, putting in a time check, waiting for pay day—well, hardly?

His own boss, the only check he knows about is that paper one from the grain-buyer, and the leather one over the neck of the colt he is breaking. Every day is pay day with him—drawing on the soil in summer, and the bush in winter. Lucky chap, got two banks, both founded by God.

His workshop the acres, perhaps 300 of them, where, roofed by the sweeping skies, served by the sun and seasons, tilling the soil, and watching the earth laugh grain, he is master of the situation and doesn't know it. True, his boots are beaded with the dew of dawn, and his shirt damp with the moisture of the gloaming, but his soul is as sound as the great tree that shelters his stock in the open.

Crowded, yes, sometimes the barn cries enough, and he stacks beside it. And when the lean year comes and the world is chastened, when homes are wrecked and suicides made by a stroke of the tucker, when panic is in the air and poverty pinches, when the black flag floats to a peaked wind, when the cry for bread goes up from the great cities, when they steal to keep from starving, then he kills a hog, and is happy, and his wife innocently throws the liberal sweepings from her table to the chickens.

Envy the farmer. Perhaps we are the Rubes.

THE NOBLE "SIX HUNDRED."

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 8.—Patrick Connor, veteran of two wars, is dead. He saw the Light Brigade make the charge which Tennyson has immortalized, having fought against the Russians and Turks in the Crimea. He fought also in the United States civil war.

Another veteran of the charge of Balaklava! And yet it is history that before the mistaken order, carried by Captain Nolan, fed those men into the maw of the bear, they numbered only 600.

Surely more than a third of them killed. Certainly the world has heard of 9,600 of them since. The other 10,000 or 15,000 will crop up in time. How blind was the laureate when he wrote:

Into the jaws of death,
Into the mouth of hell
Rode the six hundred!

Had he foreseen, he would have known that in immortalizing the Six Hundred, figuratively, he immortalized not only their fame, but almost their bodies, so long-lived are they. He well might have written:

Half a league, half a league,
Half a league onward!
Into the jaws of death,
Into the mouth of hell,
Rode the Six Hundred!

Was there a man dismayed?
"No, I'll be six," each said,
"And 'twill be known to fame
That all, despite our name."
"Gallant Six Hundred,"
"We were a million strong."
"Or will be, before long."
"Grown like a mustard seed—
"Noble Six Hundred."

Could the alleged veterans of the charge of the Light Brigade be assembled to-day, we doubt not they would outnumber the leaves of autumn, and that, too, despite the fact they have died by the hundreds yearly since the Balaklava.

It is unfortunate that the despatch quoted telling of the Richmond veteran should have represented him as fighting against the Russians and the Turks in the Crimea, inasmuch, stubborn history has it that the Turk was opposed to the Russian in that unpleasantness.

Does the correspondent wish to assert that Mr. Connor was attacked on one side by the bear, and on the other by the Moslem, and that he defeated both with hideous slaughter?

If it was so, then we have not only heard of another survivor of Balaklava.

THE FAT IN the food supplies warmth and strength; without it the digestion, the muscles, the nerves and the brain are weak, and general debility follows. But fat is hard to digest and is disliked by many.

Scott's Emulsion supplies the fat in a form pleasant to take and easy to digest. It strengthens the nerves and muscles, invigorates mind and body, and builds up the entire system.

klava, but of one who is unique. His 9,600 comrades who also survived, simply rode against the gray-clad masses of the Slav.

It begins to look as though there might be happenings at the East Kent Liberal convention.

If there are any other Liberal gentlemen ambitious of political honors in East Kent they should let themselves be heard from. The more the merrier.

Rev. Mr. Moffatt, of Ottawa, in the course of an address, thanked God that the Shamrock did not win the race, for if she had, he said, the people of Britain would have gone wild with joy and forgotten God. What about the people of the United States going wild with joy and forgetting God over the Columbia winning? But perhaps Mr. Moffatt is not interested in the fate of the American people.

A Canadian Form of Merit Sent to a London Journal.

In the season of the year when primordial nature summons us all to the woods, Mr. L. S. Higgs sends this charming "Forest Idyll" from South Funder Island, B. C., to a London Journal.

I peered from out the canvas walls
And saw the golden crescent rise
From silent waters, heard the calls
Of roosting birds, the far replies
I saw the golden crescent pale,
The gradual twilight fade away,
And rays of morning pierce the veil
That hides the earth from coming day.

I crept among the terraced hills,
And timbered ridges, dropping sheer
The gorger of babbling rills,
And, silent, sought the howling deer;
My buckskin led to steps on the moss
In falling gave no fearful sound,
I trailed the mountain side across,
And stole along the hunting ground.

Where random rocks bestrewn the wood,
And velvet moss-floors lay between,
A grateful doe alertly stood,
Her fawn was dancing on the green;
An early joy was screaming near,
When suddenly there seemed to fall
Upon the tension of my ear
A single mellow trumpet-call.

The carbine slipped my careful hand,
With cedar sprays my face I screened,
And craning o'er a border, scanned
The open space that intervened—
A scanty score of steps away—
I found the open air and the fresh fawn,
And saw upon that lone resort
The idyll of a forest-lawn.

The level sunlight on the dew
In red and yellow flashes played,
And drooping hemlock branches threw A faint and airy shadow; and
In the mist, with modest mien,
Upon a lichen stone reclined,
A willow-grouse surveyed the scene,
Her hidden watching eyes divined.

Her mate, his crest on high,
Drooping her mistress too demure,
With pompous swaggers strutted by,
A turkey-cock in miniature.
The open fan, the trailing wings,
He flaunted proudly while he made,
Obedient to the law of things,
His passionate and vain parade.

He passed a tip-toe, puffed with pride,
Three times about the dais-seat;
His lady, coy, preoccupied,
Refused his ardent gaze to meet.
Upon the luckless love-lorn swain
Her eyes she hardly deigned to cast,
Except when a liquid trumpet blast
He blew a liquid trumpet blast.

A morning zephyr snapped the spell,
And broke the scene of danger,
At once upon the silence fell
The whistle of a startled deer;
The antlers, as he sped, were seen,
The heroine and her mate had flown
With sudden whirling wings; a skunk
I looked, and found myself alone.

Empty of hand, yet full at heart,
Anon I rose and turned to go;
I heard after the howled when I
Before the panic-stricken doe,
And following fawn, and, looking back,
Half bowed to see the picture still
In vain, upon the onward trail
I wended slowly down the hill.

The Bee as a Barometer.
Such should be the title of these lines, for whoever observes these interesting insects it is easy enough to foretell exactly the kind of weather to be expected. At least that is the opinion of many raisers of bees.

Generally the bee stays at home when rain is in the air. When the sky is simply dark and cloudy these busy workers do not leave their dwelling all at once. A few go out first, as though the queen had sent out messengers to study the state of the atmosphere. The greater number in observation until the clouds begin to dissipate, and it is only then that the battalions entire rush out in search of their nectar. A bee never goes out in a fog, simply because it is well aware that dampness and cold are too fearsome, redoubtable enemies. We do not mean, however, that the bee is a meteorologist in the absolute sense of the word. Its cleverness consists in never being taken unawares, for it possesses untiring vigilance. Often one may observe the hidden entrance of bees into the hive when a dense cloud hides the sun, and even though the rain is not in evidence.

First Printing Press in Canada.
Nothing, except in barest outline, is known of the men who had the honor of setting up the first printing press in Canada. Their names are William Brown and Thomas Gilmour.
In 1793 they came from Philadelphia to Quebec with the idea of starting a newspaper, but the difficulties in the way were so many and arduous that it was a full year before the attempt came to anything. All misadventure, the press itself—had to be imported from England, and skilled labor did not exist. Overcoming all obstacles, however, the first number of the Quebec Gazette appeared on the 21st of June, 1793, with one hundred and fifty subscribers, and from that day Canada was never without a newspaper.

Zorra's Gift to Dr. Mackay.
This incident of the late Rev. Dr.
Mackay, of Formosa, is told by a correspondent of The London Advertiser: "I had the pleasure of being acquainted with Dr. Mackay some years ago. He preached for us in St. Mary's Presbyterian Church about 30 years ago. He also spoke of his intention of going out as a missionary to the heathen in Formosa, where he soon after went. He was always a man of great earnestness and his heart was always in his work. On one occasion, when building a church he sent home to Zorra township for $5,000, and without apology demanded that it be sent at once. The amount was made up and sent by return mail.

Paper Wood.
Paper wood is as hard as wood itself, is susceptible of brilliant treatment, is vastly lighter, perfectly adjustable and absolutely fireproof.
The erection of skyscrapers necessitates a very serious study of fireproofing treatment of wood, and the result is that paper is coming very largely into use in all cases where woodwork has to be used. It is particularly adaptable for ceilings and is becoming popular for that purpose.

DIED IN DENVER

Sad Demise of Dr. F. B. White, of this City, While Touring in the States.

Word reached this city today that Dr. F. B. White, son of Albert White, of this city, had passed away in Denver, Colorado. Dr. White was a resident physician in London, Ont. Last spring he decided to suspend his practice for a year and spend the time touring America. He also intended to take a post-graduate course at the Johns Hopkins University and to spend some time in the London, England, hospitals.

His wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Weldon, were with him and they had reached Denver, where they intended to spend a few weeks visiting Dr. White's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. R. Willson. When Mr. Sheldrick left on his western trip he arranged with the party to meet in Denver, and eight weeks ago today and yesterday he was with Dr. White and left him in the best of health.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert White were notified, shortly after Mr. Sheldrick's return, of the dangerous illness of their son, and word coming a week ago that Dr. White's condition was alarming, his mother left at once for Denver and was with him when he died.

A letter received yesterday from the Denver physician said that the fever had run its course but had left the patient so weak that there was little hope of his recovery.

Dr. F. B. White, although scarcely 27 years old, was well known in this city. He graduated from the C. C. I. in 1892 and afterwards attended Toronto Medical School. After receiving his degree he practiced in Pennsylvania for a number of years, but later located in London, where he married Miss Weldon, of that city. He leaves behind his father and mother, one brother and two sisters survive him. They are Oliver White, of Detroit, Mrs. Willard Flint, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Pearl White at home.

Scattering Seeds of Kindness.

"That's a Canadian dime, I can't take that," said the post office clerk. The child looked at the rejected coin and then at her unstamped letter perplexed.

"Here's a dime—I'll change with you," said a young woman standing by.

"Oh, thank you!" said the little one gratefully. "I ran all the way to get mamma's mail to the post office. It would have been too late if I had to go back."

"How thoughtful that was," I said to myself.

"How few people, comparatively, would have bothered to do this for a child; and yet, how little it cost—how much it often means."

A little later in the day it so happened that I met again the young woman of whom I have spoken. It was at a restaurant at the noon hour, in a hurried, crowded throng.

"Dear me, isn't it warm!" sighed a flushed, nervous looking girl near me, to her companion.

"Won't you take this fan?" said a sweet voice. I looked, and lo, the speaker was the angel of the stamp! I was very much interested in the young woman by this time, and, enjoining myself comfortably in my corner, took more time to the meal than was necessary, in order to observe her. I did not have long to wait to see another proof of her kindness and consideration.

"This is the last order of Indian pudding," said one of the waiters to a pale, poorly-dressed girl, as she set down a steaming plate before her neighbor, the young woman whom I was observing.

"Oh, dear!" murmured the girl disappointedly.

"Won't you take this one?" I would exactly as soon have increased her dish of pudding was transferred.

"That young woman is worth her weight in gold," I said to myself as I rose to go. "I wonder when I shall ever see her again."

It was months before I did see her again.

This time it was at a reception. I wondered whether she would be able to do any kindly act in such a formal gathering, and observed her closely. It was not ten minutes before I saw her talking to a shy, attractive-looking girl in a corner, and introducing her to her friends.

Nor was this all I noted. As I left I heard her saying something to the soloist of the afternoon, to which she replied: "You tell me that you have enjoyed my singing. I want to tell you how much I have appreciated your telling me so!" The sparkling eyes and animated face attested the appreciation.

These three brief occasions were all upon which I ever saw the "angel of the stamp," and yet how fraught they were with the acts of friendliness and consideration! At the end of such a life how manifold must be the good deeds placed to the account.

The giving of ourselves because we can no more help giving than the flower can help unfolding its petals, or the rose exhaling its fragrance, that is Christliness, indeed, it is the most potent of all levers for bringing about that blessed day "to which the whole creation moves."

TO ROB BANK

The Sleeping Clerk Aroused and Shot at—Daring Burglars

Owen Sound, Oct. 9.—At 3 o'clock this morning a daring attempt was made to rob the Molson's Bank here by two or more crooks, and the police have now three men under arrest suspected of the crime. The police were aware that a party of crooks were in town, and warned Mr. C. R. Vanduzen who, owing to the illness of the janitor, was sleeping at the bank, to that effect, about one o'clock. He then moved out from the regular sleeping room in the bank, to a cot in the teller's cage, in case of a raid on the institution. At 3 o'clock he was awakened by a loud crash on the bank door. A hand was pushed through the broken pane and one of the iron bars across the door was removed. Vanduzen shouted a warning to the burglars, and then fired a shot point blank at the door. The shot was answered by a fusillade of curses, and the men moved over to a window and flashed a light from a dark lantern into the bank exposing Vanduzen, who was standing in the teller's cage. One of them shot at him, and he would probably have been struck had not the bullet struck the wires of the cage and glanced, imbedding itself in a post at the entrance. Vanduzen shot at the men again, and they evidently became frightened at the show of nerve from the clerk, and decamped. The clerk waited for a few minutes and then went over to the telephone near one of the windows, where, at the risk of being shot, he telephoned for the police, and also for Mr. Wainwright, the local manager of the bank. They arrived in about twenty minutes and found the found the clerk exhausted from his thrilling experience. They at once instituted a search of the town, while the fire alarm was sounded to warn the other monetary institutions. At 7 o'clock Herman Moie, a crook with a Provincial reputation, was arrested on Division street by Chief of Police McAuley and C. Clark at 11 o'clock "Dutty" O'Hara, another well-known member of the crooked fraternity, and Wm. Thornton, were arrested in an East Hill negro shack and were taken to the cells. The affair has created the utmost excitement here, and the fact that Vanduzen escaped being shot is a matter of congratulation. This is the first attempt to rob an Owen Sound bank in some years, and the manner in which the man was undertaken leaves no doubt that the principals were men of the most desperate character. The three arrested men appear before Magistrate Spencer for a hearing to-morrow morning, and the police claim to have strong evidence against them.

THE BIG PENINSULAR EXHIBITION

Messrs. Tschirhart & Eberle are on the grounds and are kept continually busy in explaining the merits of their pianos and organs.

In order to get a better idea of the enormous stock they carry, one must visit their store on King St., where every piano is shown off to good advantage, and here one can get a better idea of the excellent tone of these pianos.

About a year ago Messrs. Tschirhart & Eberle found that their business was increasing so rapidly that they were forced to enlarge their store, so that they now have a show-room twice the former size. Here every piano is shown off to good advantage, and a visit to their store is always looked forward to with pleasure.

They carry a full line of small instruments and make a specialty of all the latest sheet music.

Intending purchasers of any kind of musical instruments should give Messrs. Tschirhart & Eberle a call before they make their purchases.

R. MARTIN & SONS.

One of the most successful exhibitors at the Peninsular Fair this year is the firm of R. Martin & Sons, carriage manufacturers.

They are doing an enormous business and have no difficulty in disposing of the carriages they manufacture. One special feature of their exhibit is a buggy in the buggies are made and the kind of wood they are made out of. Thirty-six ounce rubber in the duck and not the drell, is used for the tops and sides. The resiliency, spring bars, hand blocks and bed pieces are all made of the best second growth hickory. The bodies are made out of white wood panels with white ash.

Before putting on the tire all the rims are knocked back and oiled so as to better keep out the water. All of the carriages are hand made. There were 16 carriages on exhibition and every one was sold after the second day of the Fair and many orders taken.

Among the vehicles exhibited were carriages, campers, cornices, jump seats, three-quarter tick seats, canopy tops, demonstrators and phaetons.

One double seated carriage planned by the superintendent of the firm, Mr. Trot, was the centre of attraction.

Another new trap of Parisian style was also much admired. One feature of their carriages are the built up tops, which is impossible to crack, wood, which it is impossible to crack.

Two of the campers were also fine specimens, one finished in the natural and the other in cherry red.

The work reflects much credit upon

Mr. Trot, the superintendent of the work.

The Austin & Co's. CLOTHING FOR MEN

The highest character known to ready-made, fairest prices for which such goods can be sold, ceaseless, persistent, masterful effort is the reason for the unqualified success of this clothing business. The past gives us knowledge, experience, inspiration. It is not a guide. No such success ever came from following a rut, though the rut in its way was the best road, and worn down by the followers who felt its usefulness.

The genius of the Austin Clothing business has his eye constantly on the watch for the NEW; what designers propose long before it is expressed in clothes; what the woolen manufacturers plan long before the yarns are set for the weaving of the final fabric as it is to be made for the trade. And so the new style, the new fabric is here the moment it is concrete. Fine fabrics that swell tailors would otherwise monopolize are here almost as quickly in READY-MADE CLOTHES.

Thus there is character and freshness of style to Austin & Co's. Clothing that the best informed, well dressed men realize and appreciate. Because of the careful tailoring done both inside and outside of Austin's Clothing, "Ready-made" has now come to mean best made.

The style and character are not confined to the high priced suits. The same taste and correctness are expressed in our SACK SUITS at Passengers can apply the brake by pulling an alarm cord. The shock is less than that caused by existing brakes. The correspondent adds that the Government will adopt the invention on trains throughout Switzerland.

PRETTY WEDDING.

Last evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sprentall was the scene of a very happy event, when their only daughter, Helen, was married to John W. Ward, of Dover, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a beautiful dress of white organdie trimmed with valencienne lace and baby ribbon. Her travelling gown was a cascade shade of brown with hat to match.

The presents were both costly and numerous, showing the great esteem in which the contracting parties are held.

After visiting Toronto, Buffalo and other eastern points the happy couple will reside in their future home in Dover.

A WHALEBACK WRECKED.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Oct. 9.—The whaleback steamer Thomas Wilson went on the reef at Bailey's Harbor, about 9 o'clock last night, during a heavy storm and dense fog, and was wrecked here at 10 o'clock to-day.

She had broken in two and was listing to starboard. Her cargo, consisting of a large quantity of lumber, was lost.

The crew of twenty was taken off by the Bailey's Harbor life saving crew. The Thomas Wilson was valued at $125,000, and the loss is total to the United States Steel Trust Corporation, which carries its own insurance.

Loss of Appetite.

It is worth while to do even the smallest kindness as we go along the way. Nothing is lost. No dewdrop perishes, but sinking into the flower makes it sweeter.

Do not be so busy that you cannot give another the benefit of a kindly smile, or a pleasant word, or a listening ear. Business and Christian sympathy need not, and ought not, to conflict. The loving heart should always find expression.

It is dangerous to live a pent-up, shut-in life, and without neglecting the home circle, they who are not forced by circumstances to confine their social life altogether to their home should see much of other people. It is a mistake which tends to narrowness to allow one's self to become too busy with his own affairs and his own home to get any of that kind of growth which the sunshine of social life alone promotes.

The Boy Whistled.

An old lady went into Friedrich's store at Traverse City and asked for a pair of shoes, whereupon the boy behind the counter began to whistle. The old lady gave him a piercing look and said:

"Don't you know that it is very rude to whistle when dealing with a lady?"

Boy—That's what Friedrich told me to do, mum.

"Told you to whistle?"

"Yes, he said if we ever sold you anything we'd have to whistle for the money."

WAS LOST IN THE WOODS

Man Supposed to be an Unfortunate Hunter.

Thought to Have Gone Insane From Exposure—Possibly to Look for Him.

Crystal Falls, Mich., October 9.—Adolph Meisler, and John Staty, two young men from here who were hunting partridges on the headwaters of the Deer river about fourteen miles from this city, met what they claim to be a wildman. His hair was long and shaggy and he had long whiskers, showing that they had been growing for a long time. They got within thirty feet of him before they saw him or he them and all were surprised. The stranger snarled at them and Meisler attempted to talk to him but all the response he could get was "Public, public." The boys then moved forward, when the stranger gave an unearthly yell and darted off into the bushes. The two had seen the man about three minutes, long enough to get a good view. He was a large man but had become emaciated by exposure and hunger.

The clothes he had on were torn in shreds, exposing his body. He carried a piece of a gun barrel and a tent-pole in his hands and when found was eating the carcass of a skunk, which some one had killed. The boys hurried to town and reported the affair and a posse was organized to hunt for the man. It is thought that the man is some unfortunate hunter who has been lost in the woods and went insane from fright and exposure. The territory where the man was met with is a large stretch of woods and a person might roam there for months without meeting anyone. It must be some of the fishermen or hunters from below, as it is doubtful if anyone living in this locality would be away so long without being missed. The posse left at noon and will stay out until they find the man.

The posse left at noon and will stay out until they find the man.

The territory where the man was met with is a large stretch of woods and a person might roam there for months without meeting anyone. It must be some of the fishermen or hunters from below, as it is doubtful if anyone living in this locality would be away so long without being missed. The posse left at noon and will stay out until they find the man.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED

Every sufferer from Catarrh knows that Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Louches Do not Cure.

Powders, lozenges, salves, sprays, inhalers, cannot really cure catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea, tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after time causing catarrh or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure Catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison.

and to remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.
The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Eucalypti, Guaiac, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successful, fully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new Catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach.
Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug whatever, and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.
Mr. C. R. Rembrandt, of Rochester, N. Y., says: "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from catarrh of the head, throat, and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers and powders for months at a time with only slight relief, and had no hope of cure. I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only cure. 'Last spring I read an account of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a fifty cent box from your druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask, and my hearing, which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved until I feel I can hear as well as ever. They are a household necessity in my family."

CROTON.

A goodly number of the members of Court Croton, C. O. F., with invited friends, on Friday evening, Sept. 27, met for a social time at the home of Bro. A. Atkinson, of Dawn, and presented him with a beautiful Port wine. Mr. Atkinson expressed his regret at his departure from among us. Mr. Atkinson was completely taken by surprise, but expressed his thanks and the appreciation of the good-will of his Brother Forsters. After all had thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and heartily supplied the inner man, they departed for their homes, leaving behind them a "Jolly Good Fellow" and feeling that he will be much missed in the neighborhood and in Court Croton, but knowing that Sarnia, whether he goes, will gain by our loss.
To keep the ball rolling, on Monday evening following a majority of the members with their wives and friends together with a few friends from Court Thameville, made a successful visit on the home of Bro. James Stewart and enjoyed themselves with games, music and conversation until a late hour, when they sprang another thorough surprise by presenting themselves, wife and little boy, each with a line easy chair, while Bro. Mc'Brien read a nicely worded address expressive of their appreciation of his services as Financial Secretary of the Court, to which Bro. Stewart appropriately replied expressing his satisfaction in the fact that Court Croton was strong and prosperous, and his belief that it would continue to prosper till it became one of the strongest Courts in the West. After satisfactory action on the part of the Court, a bountiful supply of the many good things provided by the ladies, all proceeded homeward in the wee wee hours, feeling closer than ever united by the bonds of "Liberty, Benevolence and Concord."

A very pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. Charles McJannet, South Croton, on Wednesday, Oct. 2nd, when his daughter, Miss Pearl, was united in marriage to Mr. F. Hazelwood, of Thameville. The bride was supported by Miss Belle Ross, Dresden, and the groom by Mr. John Tweed, Florence. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Barton, of Florence, at 4 p.m., in the presence of about fifty guests, after which the company partook of a sumptuous repast. The bride part left in the evening amid showers of rice and good wishes from a host of friends from St. Mary's and other places. The presents were both useful and costly.

The White Plague Advances.

Consumption is gaining headway. Why? Because colds are allowed to run on neglected, Catarrh sets in, is not checked, and Consumption is the result. Why not use Catarrhazone regularly? It cures colds in a few hours and Catarrhazone cures by the inhalation of medicated air which goes to all parts of the lungs, throat and breathing organs. A pleasant, certain, quick cure follows the use of Catarrhazone, which is guaranteed under all conditions to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption. 25c. and 50c.

"I suppose now that you're married, you can't have your better half?"
"Yes, that's what I call her, but she don't like it."
"Why, how's that?"
"Why, she wants to be the whole thing."

Advice to Mothers.

If your little boy or girl comes home with a sore throat, the first thing to do is to rub the throat and chest with Polson's Nerviline. Don't be afraid to use Nerviline freely—a whole bottle won't hurt or blister the tenderest skin. Rub in until all taken up by the pores, and just before the child goes to sleep give him a glass of hot water into which 30 drops of Nerviline has previously been stirred. This is a sure, pleasant and speedy cure. Large bottles 25 cents.

One of the most useful articles a housekeeper can have is an ironing board cover made to fit the board and buttoning on one side like a child's dress.

SNAKES THAT LIVE IN TREES.

Reptiles Whose Venom Causes Madness Hold a Mountain Grove.

"The strongest and most agile snakes in the world, perhaps, live in the Lono mesa, Dolores county, Colo., the city freight and passenger agent of the Wabash recently.

"Some time ago I was traveling through the southwestern portion of the state and chanced upon Lono plateau. My Mexican guide told me much about it that excited my curiosity, but nothing so much as the stories of the strange species of snakes which inhabit the mesa. I was surprised to hear that they live in trees. Unbelievably I demanded that he take me to their forest home.

"One morning just as the sun was rising we started to find the snake trees. For hours we trudged over Lono plateau, plain toward a dark green clump on the mountainside. The trees stood exceedingly close together. Between the trees we made our way as quietly as possible. Suddenly he stopped. There on a limb lay a remarkable snake. Like an emerald it was stretched along in the dim light. Jose whispered softly. At once a triangular head arose. Two eyes, gleaming many colors, like opals, were fastened upon us. A red tongue shot out in contrast to the green head. Suddenly Jose clapped his hands. The snake coiled itself on the limb.

"Would you see it climb, señor?" said Jose.

"I nodded, and he stepped forward, raising his staff. The reptile reared himself and hissed in anger. Instinctively I retreated. Jose thrust at him with the staff. Like a flash the slim green snake struck the staff. Three times I heard his fangs hit the oak stick. Then he turned and with easy speed wound his way up the trunk to the topmost limbs, which swayed and bent under his weight. He apparently it was no effort for the reptile to climb the straight trunk of the tree.

"Every moment he turned a trifle and, crossing and recrossing, descended aloft from one side of the trunk to the other. No squirrel could have mounted that tree more easily. Several yards farther on we found a tree fairly alive with snakes. A loud hissing greeted our arrival. A vigorous tapping by Jose caused a speedy ascension after several reptiles had been struck by his staff. Upon its end I found drops of greenish venom and inquired its nature. Jose shuddered slightly. Then he told me that it was harmless to the man, but if it swelled would drive me mad. And then he told me how jealous Indians in times past had ruined their rivals with a potion of the venom concealed in food. We killed one of the snakes, and today the most valuable curiosity I have is the emerald skin from the Lono mesa."

Disasters in Shipwrecks.

The shipwreck in which the greatest number of lives was lost, that of the Royal George, 108 guns, off Portsmouth on the 29th of August, 1782, when nearly 1000 lives were lost. In the case of the wreck of the Queen Charlotte, a first-rate ship of the line, was destroyed by fire on the 17th of March, 1800, off the harbor of Leghorn, 703 lives out of a total of 850 were lost. The St. George, 98 guns; Defense, 74 guns, and the Hero, 64 guns, on the 24th day of December, 1811, stranded on the coast of Jutland, and about 2000 lives were lost, only 18 of the seamen being saved. In the case of the wreck of the Princess Alice, which was run into by the Bywell Castle in the Thames near Woolwich and sunk on the 3d of September, 1878, between 600 and 700 lives were lost. In the wreck of the White Star company's steamer Atlantic, which struck on the Meagher rock, about 500 lives were lost, while 412, including the captain, were saved.

A Papal Joke.

Pope Paul IV. was so shocked at Michael Angelo's undress figures in his famous "Last Judgment" that he employed Daniele da Volterra to clothe them, and he in consequence received the nickname of Il Braghetton (the breeches maker).

Michael Angelo, with his usual wit, punished Messer Biagio da Cesena, master of the ceremonies, who first suggested to the pope the impropriety of nude figures, by painting him in hell, with asses' ears, as Mida. The story goes that Biagio implored the pope to insist upon the removal of this caricature, whereupon Paul IV. replied, "I might have released you from a monastery, but over hell I have no power."

Tale of a Cow.

A cow, while being escorted from Lydney to Blakeney the other day, entered a house, walked down a long passage and up 22 steps, into a bedroom, where it prepared itself for an afternoon siesta. The manner of restoring it to the street was ingenious. Another cow was brought to the bottom of the stairs, and the intelligent bovine at once descended the 22 stairs to invite the new arrival to share its slumbers. Then they were both shoved into the street.

Regatta in England.

The first regatta in England was in 1775, and it was imported into that country by Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, who had been impressed by the water show of Venice. There was no serious races. There was a procession of city barges to a "temporary octagon," where there was revealing that night and well into the next day. Only seven of the company were drowned on the return journey, which speaks well for the average sobriety of the crowd.

Tipped.

"Doesn't this boat tip a great deal?" asked a timid young woman of the steward.
"The vessel, ma'am," said the steward, "is trying to set a good example to the passengers."

FALSE JOY

Railroad Man Indulged Therein for Two Weeks, knowing not that Sorrow had fallen.

Wm. Carkner, who works on the Lake Erie R. R. and honors MacDonald's boarding house near the C. P. R. station, by sleeping and feeding there, is lamenting the loss of $365 from his grip.

He hadn't bothered examining his grip to see if the necessary lure was still in its hiding place, for over a month. Meanwhile, boarders have come and boarders have gone, but the money has gone for ever. At least it looks that way. Mr. Carkner might have been mourning the loss of his money a couple of weeks sooner, perhaps, had he looked in his grip, but what the eye doesn't know for, things about the heart can't long for, and Mr. Carkner in ignorance that is bliss longed not.

The police have the matter in hand but have little hopes of securing either the money or the thief.

FROM HORSE

Alex. Cross Met a Tragic Death Yesterday in Windsor.

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 9.—In a little cottage on McKay avenue, Windsor, a broken-hearted mother paced the floor last night, weeping and thinking of her little son, whom she expected home to tea, but who was lying dead at a city morgue. Her grief was the more poignant, as she had not seen her child since Sunday night. He pleaded then to be allowed to go to Toronto with the Essex Fusiliers, but permission had been refused. Alex. Cross, the unfortunate lad, while riding early last evening behind Charles Drouillard's butcher wagon, on Langlois' avenue, near the Tecumseh Road, was thrown into the ditch by his horse suddenly shying. Consequence of the brain caused death in half an hour, the boy being before the arrival of doctors. The coroner decided not to hold an inquest.

"Alex. was employed by Charles Drouillard," said Mrs. John A. Cross, the boy's mother. "He was very fond of horses. He used to come home twice a week, and I last saw him Sunday evening, until I was called to Janina's house to-night. He wished to accompany his brother Walter, corporal in the bugle band, to Toronto, but it could not be arranged for him to go. If he had gone he might still be alive."

Mrs. Cross has just returned from Woodstock, where her father is lying at the point of death. John Cross is employed as engineer on the Great Western in Windsor. Alex. was 16 years of age.

English News Concerning it—Fast Atlantic Service.

London, Oct. 9.—Doubt is thrown in well-informed circles upon the statements published, that the fast Atlantic service negotiations are so far advanced as to permit the issue of invitations for tenders within a fortnight, with Sydney, Cape Breton, as the Canadian terminus. It is known here that one of the North of England shipbuilding firms, hitherto unconcerned with the negotiations, has been making considerable detail enquiry, but nothing definite has been decided upon.

The president of the Board of Agriculture has decided so far not to open the question of the admission of Canadian cattle as to receive a deputation of Scottish agriculturists who desire a removal of the embargo. The Agricultural Journal cover the ministry with warnings of the terrible risks of importing disease, forgetful that the president himself admitted that the embargo cannot be justified on the grounds of disease. It must be justified, if justified at all, on the grounds of a general policy.

A Canadian with a degree of Bachelor of Medicine, from Toronto University, now in England, having spent a year at the front in South Africa as a sergeant in the Canadian artillery, recently offered his services to the War Office, mentioning as qualifications that he was a graduate in medicine from Toronto University, and had seen active service. The War Office politely rejected the offer, on the ground that his medical degree had not been taken in England. A prominent British officer expressed the opinion to-day that the training record of cadets at the Canada Royal Military College was superior to that given by the British military colleges. He declared that the cadets from Canada were exceptionally well grounded.

THE BOSTONIANS.

Comic opera, worthily presented, is always a potent attraction with theatre-goers generally, and the announcement of the appearance here at the Grand on Thursday, Oct. 17th, of the famous Bostonians has already stimulated interest in fashionable and musical circles. This company has been famous since identified with the success of their past seasons, and in their praise. It is claimed, however, that all that good taste and money can possibly procure is a few of the highest type of comic opera entertainment. Thoroughly re-organized this year, the list includes such well-known favorites as Henry Clay Barnabe, W. H. Macdonald, Albert Parr, Allen Hunkley, George Frothingham, Adele Bafter, Josephine Barlett, Frances Miller, Gertrude Zimmer, W. H. Fitzgerald, Vernon Siles, MacDonald, Dorington, Chas. J. Swickard and others. A brilliant chorus of fifty voices and a trained orchestra will be in support and their greatest success, "Robin Hood," by De Koven and Smith, will be sung here.

A well-known photographer has written the following interesting account concerning Royalty he has had the honor of photographing:

"The Duke of York is one of the most pleasant and most natural of sitters, and soon makes you feel quite at home, quite at ease. The last time I had the honor of taking his Royal Highness he came himself to my studio. 'I am in a great hurry,' he said, 'in his usual frank way. Do you mind "snapping" me off just as I am? Any position will do, won't it?' If your Royal Highness will allow me to make a suggestion, I replied, 'I would advise you to be taken as you are now—with your hand in your pocket. The position is most natural.' 'A good idea,' said his Royal Highness, briskly. 'Yes, I think I will take your advice. I am going to open a bazaar in half an hour's time, and, as I shall have to put my hand in my pocket all the time I am there, I may as well keep it in now for practice.'

"Two or three years ago I was 'doubly' honored, so to speak, by receiving a visit (only half an hour's notice) from the German Emperor and the Prince of Wales, both together. How full of spirits, and almost 'jolly' I might say, both were! The Kaiser, looking round the walls of my studio, noticed in the most conspicuous place a large photograph of her Majesty the Queen. 'May God bless her!' earnestly, yet quite naturally, said Kaiser Wilhelm. 'The noblest monarch England has ever produced!'

"Yes, yes," said the Prince of Wales, affectionately, 'and the dearest mother the world has ever seen!'

"A somewhat ludicrous incident now occurred. Just after I had taken the Kaiser, owing perhaps to excitement or perturbation on my part, I caught my foot in the camera stand, and over went the 'lola' 'Halloa!' cried the Emperor, laughing heartily: the downfall of the German Kaiser at last! 'Yes, indeed,' said the Prince, helping me, 'quite unobtrusively, to pick up the camera. 'What a magnificent "head-bang" for a paper! The German Emperor cast to the ground! The Prince of Wales to the rescue!'

"When the venerable King of Sweden was last in England some months ago his Majesty came to my studio in order to be photographed. A perfect linguist; a delicate craftsman; a witty monarch; King Oscar, for fully half an hour made me the happiest of snappers. 'I suppose you have taken nearly every "big" man who has visited these shores of yours, eh?' said his Majesty, as he arranged himself in a business-like way before the camera. 'Have you ever "taken" Kruger, by the way? 'No, your Majesty; that honor has never fallen to my lot.' I replied. 'Ah! and I the King thoroughly enjoyed the joke; the next time the honor will belong to Lord Roberts, I imagine?'—London Tit Bits.

SHARK SKINS AND SHARK FINS.

In all the equatorial islands of the North and South Pacific shark fishing is a very profitable industry to the natives, and every trading steamer and sailing vessel coming into the ports of Sydney or Auckland brings some tons of fins, tails and skins of sharks. The principal markets for the former are Hong Kong and Singapore, but the "chinese" merchants of the Australasian colonies will always buy sharks fins and tails at from sixpence to elevenpence per pound, the fins bringing the best price or amount of the larger amount of glutinous matter they contain, for which they are highly valued by the richer classes of Chinese as a delicacy. The tails are also appreciated as an article of food in China, and apart from their edible qualities, they have a further value as a base for clear varnishes, etc. It is stated on the authority of a Chinese tea merchant, that the glaze on the paper coverings of tea chests is due to a preparation composed principally of the refuse of the sharks' fins, tails and skins. All the natives of the Gilbert, Kingman, and other equatorial Pacific islands are expert shark fishermen, the wild people of Ocean Island (Pannapa) and Pleasant Island (Nauru), two isolated spots almost in the equator being facile principles in the art.—Chambers' Journal.

STILL THERE WAS A PROFIT.

"And, now, doctor," said the patient, as he prepared to depart with the mixture, the lotion and the pills, "what have I to pay?"

"Oh, say 7s. 6d.," replied the doctor.

"Make it even, doctor."

"Well, well, we won't quarrel about trifles."

The patient laid a sixpence on the table and, with a polite "Good morning," was making for the door, when the doctor called after him:

"Stop! stop! what's this?"

"It's all right, doctor," blandly replied the patient. "You said you would make it even, and everyone knows that six is even and seven odd."

"Get you gone, you scoundrel!" roared the irate medical man. "I've fourpence out of you, after all!"—Tit-Bits.

ENGLISH CO-OPERATION.

The English Co-operative Congress has been holding its annual meeting at Middlesbrough. As most people know, this movement began at Rochdale in 1843 (twenty-eight workmen in that town subscribing a pound apiece in order to buy their household needs wholesale instead of retail). The society, with this modest beginning, has bloomed into 1,494 distributing societies, having a membership of 1,709,371, with a share capital amounting to over a hundred million dollars, doing a trade of $250,000,000 and handing back to the membership profits to the extent of $38,000,000 annually. It is a remarkable instance of the growth of what may be called an economic movement.

ALL GRADES OF Wool Underwear

"Allah," said the old Arab proverb, "adds to a man's life the days he spends in hunting."

A true modern version would be that a man lengthens his chances of life by changing his underwear to suit every great change of temperature. Too heavy underclothing is enervating; too thin garments next the skin are the cause of many an autumn ailment.

We are now showing over twenty sorts of all-wool and union knitwear for men, not to mention the ever seasonable Deimel linen goods and the heavy winter cottons. This count includes men's goods only, but when it comes to boy's underclothing—just bring the boy and see.

Prices range as low or as high as you will care to go. A word to-day about men's garments at a dollar and thereabouts.

RANSOM FUND

Subscription in Aid of Miss Stone not Increasing Rapidly.

Boston, October 9.—Additions to the Miss Stone ransom fund have practically ceased. Only two small checks were received to-day. The fund aggregates nearly $36,000.

Washington, October 9.—This afternoon a cablegram was received by the state department from Consul General Dickinson, at Constantinople, saying that Miss Stone had been located in the mountains on the Turkish frontier, and that on Saturday last she was alive and well.

The time allowed by Miss Stone's kidnappers expired yesterday, yet she is still alive and unharmed. It is known now officially that her captors have granted a short extension of time—how much is not stated—and the officials feel that if the responses to the appeals of Miss Stone's friends do not cease or diminish there is yet reasonable hope for getting the money in season to save her life. The danger in the situation lies in the abatement of popular interest which was so generously manifested during the first few days following the issuance of the appeal.
