ADVANCE OF TWELVE MILES IS MADE BY THE ALLIED FORCES

Bulgars in Full Flight, Their Retirement Being Almost a Route; Allies Unable to Count Prisoners Taken in the Victory

By Courier Leased Wire. LONDON, Sept. 19.—Bulletin.—The Bulgarians are in flight in Macedonia, and are burning stores and villages, according to a Serbian official statement received here.

New York, Sept. 19.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following: French, Serbian and Greek forces have continued their advance on the Macedonian front and have taken a number of strongly defended points in the mountainous regions east of Monastir.

It is said that the defence of the Teutonic Allied troops was very strong at first, but as the Entente armies have smashed their way forward, the enemy has appeared to lose his taste for close fighting.

The fighting has been going on since Sunday and the progress is such that there is now a real threat toward the city of Prelep, which is said to be one of the principal bases of the Teutonic troops on this sector of the Macedonian front.

AUSTRIAN ATTACKS FAIL

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Sept. 19.—Persistent thrusts by the Austrians in the Seres valley on the northern Italian front were repulsed on Monday night by the Italians, according to an official Italian wireless message received here.

OVER 8,000 PRISONERS.

Bulletin. With the British forces in France, Sept. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Field Marshal Haig's forces up to midnight last night had captured a total of more than 8,000 Germans as the result of their drive of yesterday on the Cambrai front.

U.S. WILL MIX CEREAL AND WHEAT FLOUR

Allies Agree to Eat at Common Table Says Hoover

By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 19.—America and its co-belligerents having agreed that it is necessary during the coming year to mix 20 per cent of other cereal flour with wheat flour, Food Administrator Hoover has asked Congress to suspend the mixed flour law so that this nation may carry out its obligation.

TWENTY SEVEN THOUSAND

Was the Total of the Second Day on Behalf of the Sailors' and Red Cross Fund

In the first two days of the campaign on behalf of the Merchant Sailors and British Red Cross Fund, over half of the objective of $50,000 has been secured.

The teams have been working quietly but assiduously, and they report a most cordial feeling and hearty response on behalf of citizens.

An enthusiastic meeting of the team captains and executive took place last night, when total subscriptions were reported of $11,000. This amount added to the $36,000 raised by the City Council makes a total up to last night of $27,000.

That the $50,000 will be secured seems to be the unanimous opinion, although much hard work yet remains to be done.

Mr. Williamson, who has charge of the county portion of the campaign does not expect to be able to report until next week.

PRISONERS SOLD INTO SLAVERY

Thousands of Serbs, Captured by Huns, Sold to Turkey

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, Wednesday, Sept. 18.—The Serbian Government is in possession of documents proving beyond possible question that thousands of Serbian prisoners have been sold as slaves for a specified period to Turkey by Bulgaria, Austria-Hungary and Germany, according to a Balkan agency despatch from Corfu.

LABOR CONFERENCE WILL ENDORSE WILSON'S AIMS

By Courier Leased Wire. Bulletin. London, Sept. 19.—The international relations committee of the Inter-Allied Labor Conference today made a report proposing that the conference subscribe to the fourteen points formulated by President Wilson, thus endorsing a policy of clearness and moderation as opposed to a policy dictated exclusively by changes on the war map.

CAPTURE OF BAKU BY TURKS IS REPORTED

City Was Occupied by British in August, and Latest News Would Indicate That They Had Suffered a Reverse

By Courier Leased Wire. PARIS, Sept. 19.—Turkish troops had taken Baku, according to a Basel dispatch, quoting a telegram from Constantinople, under date of September 17. It is pointed out by the Temps that the treaty of Brest-Litovsk left Baku to the Russians, but that this does not prevent the Turks from continuing their advance.

FURTHER PROGRESS TOWARD ST. QUENTIN MADE BY BRITISH

Outpost Positions of Hindenburg Line Reached Last Night in Continued Advance North of Pontruft—Heavy Artillery Fire

By Courier Leased Wire. LONDON, Sept. 19.—The British last night made further progress in their drive into the Hindenburg line in the St. Quentin region, aimed at the encirclement of that town.

The Austrians renewed their attacks and carried the Hindenburg outposts. Many prisoners and a number of machine-guns were taken by them. The town of Lempire was captured, as was Gauche wood. Lempire is four miles directly west of Le Catelet.

The Germans late yesterday started a heavy bombardment on the northern part of the battle front southwest of Cambrai, between Geaucourt and the Arras-Cambrai road. The fire was of extreme intensity.

The enemy followed his bombardment by a strong infantry attack on a wide front northward from the vicinity of Tressaut. He was completely repulsed at all points with great losses.

He was likewise driven off with heavy casualties shortly afterwards when he launched a strong attack north of Moeuvres. Some German parties that succeeded at points in entering the British trenches were entirely disposed of by counter-attacks.

Yesterday afternoon a violent bombardment from a large number of guns was opened by the enemy on the northern portion of the battle front, between Gouzeaucourt and (Continued on page five)

YESTERDAY'S ATTACK ONLY PRELIMINARY

Move of More Than Ordinary Importance is Likely to Follow

GAINS SIGNIFICANT Allies Stormed Heavily Defended Position Without Much Difficulty

YANKS CONSOLIDATE

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 19.—The Associated Press this morning issued the following:

In an attack, which is described as local in character, the British and French armies facing the Hindenburg line, north and south of St. Quentin, won important successes on Wednesday. At two important points, one north of St. Quentin and the other in the area near where General Byng made his sensational advance last October before Cambrai, the Allied forces appear to have reached the main positions of the Germans.

On this front the best maps fail to show the difficulties attending even a minor advance. For 18 months the Germans have been strengthening their positions which they consider being almost invulnerable. The fact that the British and French succeeded in storming entrenched heights and strongly defended towns indicates that the blow was one in which large numbers of men were engaged and may have been designed as at least the preliminary step to a move of more than ordinary importance.

American troops are engaged in consolidating their new lines across the base of the St. Mihiel salient, which was wiped out by them last week. The Germans are reported to be feverishly working to strengthen their lines in this sector, but it seems improbable that a new American assault will be made at once in this region.

It now appears that the successful drive of the Americans was for the purpose of wiping out the St. Mihiel salient, which stood as a menace to the flank of the Americans in Lorraine, and the French in Champagne in case either should attack. It may be considered, therefore, as a local attack carried out with terrific force and now that its objectives have been reached, the storm centre in eastern France may be shifted suddenly.

This fact, when taken into consideration with the successful attack made by the British and French along the St. Quentin front, shows that Marshal Foch has planned down large bodies of the enemy forces in widely separated parts of the line.

The Germans are forced to heavily man their lines from before Metz clear down through the Lorraine and Vosges sectors, while there is always a very real threat at the vital positions north of Laon. In the meantime, the line from Rheims to Verdun always presents itself as an inviting field for an Allied offensive.

Reports from Moscow are to the effect that the Bolshevik forces are retreating on both the northern and southern fronts. On the north they are being forced back by the Entente Allied units while the Czech-Slovak armies along the Volga are also advancing. It is also reported that the Czech-Slovaks have taken the city of Perm. If this is true they seem to be on the verge of uniting the forces which have been fighting in western Siberia with those which have been engaged in the valley of the Volga River in southeastern Russia. From Perm to Kanan, where the Czech-Slovaks are known to be, is less than 200 miles, a distance which seems great when judged by the standard of the western theatre of the war, but which is a relatively short distance in the east, where there is virtually no organized resistance to advancing troops.

SIMCOE COUNCIL PASSES FUEL BYLAW

Municipality Authorized to Sell Coal to Its Citizens

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

Pte. E. H. G. Sellers Killed in Action—Other Casualties

Simcoe, Sept. 19.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—At a special meeting of the Town Council held last night a fuel by-law constructed in accordance with directions from the board, and empowering the Council to secure and retail fuel to citizens of Simcoe at cost, was put through the various stages.

The clerk was instructed to forward the same to the Railway and Municipal Board and to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council for approval.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. Carter, Langford, Jaques, Lea and Ballie was appointed to administer the work of cutting, hauling and delivering the wood on the Boughner lot recently purchased. It is the intention, we believe, to have the wood drawn to town in lengths and sawn on the Market Square, and to get the work under way as soon as the by-law is approved. The committee is contemplating letting the job of the cutting in the woods en bloc to some experienced person and as far as possible town teams will be given an opportunity to haul it to town.

Tenant for Market.
Alderman Ballie, chairman of the Market Committee, reported recommending the leasing of the east room of the market building to the Norfolk Fruit Growers' Association for packing or storing apples from October 1st to December 1st, or longer at a monthly rental of $15. The report was adopted.

The preparation of a by-law for the appointment of a permanent municipal auditor was authorized.

Members present—Mayor Slicher, Reeve Carter, Deputy Reeve Langford and Aldermen Jackson, Jaques, Ballie and Crabb.

Alderman Crabb was temporarily called out to deliver the five-minute lecture at the picture show. His theme was the cause of the merchant marine, and he was accorded a good hearing while he outlined details of the local facilities for contributors to the towns voluntary fund for the Navy League support.

Sorely Bereaved.
Pte. Edwin Henry George Sellers, 796645, killed in action Sept. 2nd. This was the text of yesterday's cable to Mrs. Walter A. He enlisted in the 48th regiment of the 134th at the age of 16 or 17 and was transferred to the infantry in England. The young man signed up in the 129th at Dundas when only 18 years of age. He has a considerable family connection in town.

The Age of a Marine's Watch.
"Having had occasion to put a new main spring in this watch, No. 5417, I examined the old spring and found the watch finisher's initials scratched on it, thus, 'J. W. October 1819', therefore, showing it to have been 54 years since it was put in the watch. The works are a splendid piece of English work, and I have no hesitation in declaring it as sound in 1873 as it was in 1819. It is a back lever, a form of escapement made in England and never in America."—Frank Jackson, Simcoe.

The above statement was copied from a circular piece of paper fitted into the back of a hunting case watch which it was our pleasure to look over on the office desk yesterday. The writer began at the circumference and wrote in a circular or rather spiral course, finishing at the centre and in a clear legible hand. It was the watch of which we had something to say about two years ago. Yesterday it was running and we were informed in keeping good time. Whether the spring replaced by Mr. Jackson was the original spring we cannot say. The watch was presented in 1910 to James McKnight of Testerville by his grandfather, the late James McKnight of Brandy Creek, a prominent citizen of two generations back. And he in turn received it as a gift from his brother-in-law, the late Capt. Frank Jackman, who had no further use for it after he received from the merchants of Toronto a gold watch on his return from South Africa with a load of merchandise in a craft built, we understand, at Oakville. This was very early in the century and Capt. Jackman took more than a year to make the return voyage. It may be that the captain parted with the best watch. It was made by M. T. Tubias and Co., Liverpool, the unique treble case is of silver, No. 5417, the movement 5417, and both apparently in good condition. It is at least 99 years old.

This was one of the most violent collisions of the summer in this district.

The Suburban Question.
That the lower rental of suburban homes is rather offset by the school tax for non-residents is repeatedly brought to the front.

In the long run it would be better for the children and perhaps in the long run for all concerned, were the zone about Simcoe on the north-east and south-east with the town for school purposes.

It is a real hardship for children living just outside the corporation limits to go miles into the country to school.

And it has been, again, and again demonstrated that the more workable plan, especially in the interests of the young, is to effect an equitable arrangement with the children at the town school.

Any move towards connecting up with the town must come from the area concerned. For at present the local Board of Education is not advertising empty rooms.

TO every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.

But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money. Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

Ruth Discovers That Travelling is a Part of Her Work.

CHAPTER XXVII.
When Brian had left, Ruth opened her letter. As she expected, Mrs. Clayburn was both shocked and surprised. Not only that, she was undoubtedly angry.

"If your husband can't support you, come home. Don't disgrace us all by joining that class of vulgar women who want to usurp men's places in the world. There are men enough to do the kind of work you are doing. Had I dreamed you would put your knowledge to such a use, I never should have allowed you to acquire it. It was all well enough for you to decorate my rooms, here in the home that had always been yours; but to go to work in a shop, side by side with men, as beyond all decency, that a niece of mine should so degrade herself and me, is beyond my comprehension."

There was much more, all in the same strain, and the letter wound up with a repetition of her invitation.

"Remember what I said! If Brian Hackett can't support you, pack your trunk and come home where you belong, and don't let me hear any more nonsense."

Ruth laughed, then she cried over her aunt's letter. It was just what she had expected, but now that it came she was hurt and disappointed.

No one believed in her, in her ability to do things. Or if they did, they didn't want her to do them. She realized that her aunt, like Brian, would rather she washed dishes and do the menial work of her own kitchen than to work among surroundings that were a constant delight, just because they had foolish old-fashioned ideas about women working for others.

She would have them both to fight she thought, as she tore the letter in tiny bits. Well she would.

If she had to. Certainly she would never give up work in which she was happy, just because they thought it beneath her. Yet between them they had taken all the zest from her happiness, all the enthusiasm she would have shared with them. And it was a very sober Ruth who left for the office, a few moments later; it scarcely seemed the same person who, the night before, had hurried home, her eyes dancing with joy, her lips wreathed in smiles because of the good news she was anxious to share with Brian.

But once in the shop, all was forgotten in her absorption in her work. The "Cary house" at Newport had been turned over to her almost entirely—she to consult with Jules La Monte if she found herself in need of advice. It was a big and an important piece of work. The entire house was to be redecorated and refurnished. Also the entire scheme of the rooms was to be changed.

"Oh, what a chance!" she had exclaimed when she was told it was to be "her job."

"Yes, Mrs. Hackett, it is a chance. And a task that Mr. Mandel would not intrust to you did he not think you entirely capable. But if I can help you, do not hesitate to call on me. There may be details you do not yet understand."

"Thank you, Mr. La Monte, I surely shall need your help. It is a prodigious piece of work, and I appreciate Mr. Mandel's faith in me, my ability, more than I can express."

"It's like some sort of a soothing plaster, after the way Brian and Aunt Luisa acted," she murmured when La Monte had left her alone with the plans of the house. But a few minutes later she felt anything but soothed when he came and told her that Mr. Mandel was going to Newport to look over the house and grounds and wished her to go with him.

"I am going to Newport to look at a house that is to be redecorated," he told her.

LOWDOWN EDITOR TOLD OF VISIT TO THE FRONT

L. T. Miller Spoke at Rotary Club Luncheon at Noon

FORCEFUL ADDRESS

The need of a permanent Anglo-Saxon alliance, Canada's debt to her soldiers, and Britain's war effort were three subjects briefly but graphically touched upon by L. T. Miller, managing editor of The London Free Press, at the Rotary Club luncheon at noon today. Mr. Miller was one of the many of Canadian newspapermen who recently visited the West front under Government auspices.

T. H. Preston, the speaker who introduced the gathering by Mr. T. H. Preston, who told of the visit of the Canadian journalists to England and France, at a time when they were privileged to see the Allies passing out of the tunnel of doubt into the open sunshine of certain victory.

L. T. Miller, Mr. Miller opened his remarks by relating an incident which occurred during the visit of the journalists to Fort Douvrent. He expressed pleasure at being able to address the club as "Rotarians are Rotarians the world over." Referring to Brantford as the home of the telephone, Mr. Miller declared that instrument of inestimable value in the present war. Though it was seldom mentioned in despatches, and won no Victoria Crosses, it played a notable part in the army battle front. He also spoke of having seen a handsome painting of Chief Joseph Brant in the home of Chancellor Bonar Law in England, and stated that this portrait was shortly to be sent to Canada.

At almost every point visited by the journalists on the West front, Canadian troops were in evidence. Yet the Canadians were holding but small parts of the line. Their presence, however, had added greatly to the Allied morale.

"We are all British together," Field Marshal Haig had said to the editor's party. "And all you can say is that Britishers all do their damndest."

Anglo-Saxon Alliance Needed The need of an Anglo-Saxon alliance was stressed upon by Mr. Miller. Such an alliance, a permanent one, was necessary against the threat of Central Europe and the possible menace of the eastern battle front. Such an alliance was well under way today, and was a goal toward which Canadians should devote their utmost efforts.

Gen. Currie, commander of the Canadian grip on men, but the war is going to restore it."

It was difficult to compass Britain's war effort. All the nation's resources had been placed on the altar of sacrifice. Nine hundred thousand of the bravest of the nation had given their lives, the casualties mounted into millions, yet no one was heard to complain.

"Surely," declared the speaker, "it is a grand old motherland. He told graphically of the food situation in England. Bread was not rationed, but only the poorest quality was obtainable. Meat was rationed, twelve ounces a week being allowed for the ordinary man. Butter was never seen except among the soldiers. Incomes of 10,000 pounds were taxed four thousand, and incomes of a million taxed over half a million.

The British people were giving their lives before they were giving their money. They were learning that they must see the task through, no matter how difficult it may be.

Fleet is Ready. England since the war has built a new fleet, said to be the finest in the world, and the old fleet is still the second finest. It was prepared to steam anywhere at a moment's notice. Some naval experts expected to see the German fleet come out, others did not; it did, and it will have to be some fleet, to get away from the old and new fleets, the French and American fleets."

Tells of Tanks. The tank is a wonderful invention, declared Mr. Miller, going on to describe the evolution of the tank. Without them, the allied losses in storming machine gun emplacements must have been appalling.

Victory at Hand. The speaker, when England had been led by a high military official, that eight months would see the end of the war and peace, not by negotiation, but by force of victorious arms. Whether or not this were correct, the English people were heart and soul in the struggle, and would work day and night until victory was achieved.

Mr. Miller, accompanied by a number of other Canadian newspapermen, was tendered to Mr. Miller on the motion of Messrs. C. Cook and J. S. Dowling.

WOMAN CONFESSES

By Courier Leased Wire
Montreal, Sept. 19.—The disastrous Grey Nunnery fire of February 14 last, in which 62 babies were burned to death, was purposely caused by a female orderly of the institution, Bertha Courtmanche, who is said to have periodically attacked of fire mania. The woman was still working at the institution at the time when she was arrested this afternoon. After Joseph Courtmanche, under observation at the Grey Nunnery for a week past, Detective Proulx, of the provincial police department, taxed the woman with the crime, and extracted a full and signed confession from her last night.

Premier Orlando of Italy arrived yesterday in Paris.

Investigation Into Charges of Irregularity in Quebec Riding Made
By Courier Leased Wire.
"Hog" and "dog" and "not" signs were worked in polls in St. John's barracks during the last federal election testified this morning before the Royal Commission now investigating the charges brought by Joseph Archambault, M.P., against Lieut.-Col. W. W. Melville and his officers in connection with the voting of soldiers in that election. Stanislaus Poulin, a St. John's lawyer, who was a scrutineer, gave the court an amusing account of election day experiences.
In his poll, Mr. Poulin said, 63 out of 97 voters assigned their votes to Chamby-Vercheres. As they came into vote, the men were told they could not specify their previous places of residence in Canada. Their only hesitation was pronouncing the name Chamby-Vercheres.
In two cases the men forgot the name. The deputy presiding officer refreshed one man's memory, in the other the witness was the prompter.
Poulin said that during the polling Col. Melville visited the poll several times. He inquired how many votes were going to Chamby-Vercheres. Once being told the number, he remarked:
"That is not very many."
Captain Knight, editor of the depot newspaper, was another witness. He assumed full responsibility for the matter published in that sheet on election topics.
Lieut.-Col. Melville was recalled to the stand this morning. He told Mr. Geoffrey that an officer named Stairs left St. John's for Halifax with a detachment not just before the election, but some months previous. His family was wiped out in the explosion. Lieut. W. B. Young left for Halifax with 151 men on the evening of the explosion. He went overseas with his men.
Major Powell, who testified yesterday, was recalled and asked as to his war record. He was at the front 14 months, in hospital three times, won the Military Cross with bars, and is going to Siberia.
Alexander McLean, editor of The St. John's News, was called as the first civilian witness. His company prints the "Depot" newspaper. The witness said the paper was printed as a "job" and he had no responsibility for its contents. Of the extra 1,000 copies were printed. Ordinarily the run is from 1,000 to 1,200.
Captain Knight came next. He was a deputy presiding officer at the elections. He answered the same questions as the others at the barracks. He is a British subject, who came to America in 1911 and enlisted in December, 1916.
Explaining his vote, he said, his guiding principle was to apply his vote to Chamby-Vercheres. He had resided in Port William.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 19, 1918

THE SITUATION.

The British have punctured the much vaunted Hindenburg line in proper style. It is further announced that heavy German infantry counter attacks, launched this morning were successfully repulsed at all points. The Australians are included in the assaulting columns, and as usual have been giving an excellent account of themselves. As the outcome the German defences between Cambrai and St. Quentin are in danger. The toll of six thousand prisoners is one of the largest one-day hauls reported since hostilities commenced.

The news from the Macedonian front continues to make good reading, and the Bulgarians, reinforced by Germans, are falling back in a manner which closely resembles a rout. Before the House Appropriations committee in Washington, General March announced that the U. S. program contemplated an army of 4,800,000 men by next July. This would be exclusive of casualties and rejections. The French have invested St. Quentin on three sides, and it looks as though the fall of the place would only be a matter of a few days.

MAKE IT OVER THE MARK

A good start has been made on the proposed contribution of $50,000 from Brantford and Brant county towards the Merchant Sailors and British Red Cross funds, but there is a long way to go yet. It is not only a duty but a privilege to contribute to these two worthy objects.

It is only by the heroic services of the men of the Merchant Marine that the success of the Allies has been made at all possible, while the residents of this city and county are under a great personal debt to them for the reason that had they failed, the products of the farm and of manufacture would have remained a drug on the market.

As for the work of the Red Cross, who shall compute the extent of the humanitarian achievements of that glorious order. It would be a deep reflection upon all of us if the result aimed at should not be achieved. This must not happen, and will not happen if the co-operative spirit of the joint communities rises to the occasion. Let each one see to it that his or her part is adequately achieved.

UNANIMOUS REJECTION

The "clumsy" Austrian diplomacy, as Balfour describes it, whereby that country, as the catspaw of Germany, sought to bring about a peace conference, has been met by all the Allies with an immediate and emphatic repudiation. The suggestion has been deservedly throttled by them at its birth. John Bull and his associates have already declared their terms, and the Hohenzollern outfit will have to bow the knee to them in a most unequivocal manner. Until they do, there'll be no let up in hostilities. These world incendiaries will have to evacuate all occupied territories, make full restitution, and be bound over to keep the peace for an indefinite period on pain of securing another annihilating thrashing.

The Belgian minister of Justice put the matter in a nutshell when during the course of a recent speech in Paris, he said:

"I know it happens at times that we ask ourselves—and I understand this full well—how long this war, with all the effort and sorrow which it entails, is to last.

"To this question there is but one reply—the reply which Abraham Lincoln made to those who put the same question to him:

"You ask me how long this war must go on. It will go on until our task shall have been accomplished, until our just cause shall have triumphed. For it is necessary that our dead shall not have died in vain; it is necessary that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall have obtained the certainty that it will not be abolished off the face of the earth."

"And so only when the evil beast shall be conquered and deprived of its power to hurt, only then, once more in our homes, proud of having fought by the side of immortal France for the noblest of causes, made greater by these sufferings which we have together endured, and whence a nationality ultimately derives all its unity and its strength we shall be able to resume the

COLOMBES FARM CAPTURED BY MANGIN'S ARMY LAST NIGHT

Strong Counter Attack Only Resulted in Foe Being Driven Back Toward Chemin Des Dames — Indivud Initiative of French Soldiers Valuable

By Courier Lensed Wire
 With the French Army in France, Wednesday night, Sept. 18 (By the Associated Press)—General Mangin's army attacked along the front north-east of Soissons to-day and captured the Colombes Farm on the plateau just east of Saucy and just south of the point where the Chemin des Dames branches off from the road leading from Soissons to Laon.

A strong counter attack led by grenadiers of the Prussian Guard was repulsed by the French, who drove the enemy back of the road leading from the plateau of Ange Gardiens to the Colombes Farm. This road is less than half a mile from the Chemin des Dames.

This success puts the French in possession of part of the important Ange Gardiens, which commands the ridge along which runs the famous "Ladies Way" for a considerable distance. It also drives deeper into the wedge south of the Hindenburg positions in the St. Gobain region, and facilitates operations in the direction of "The Key" which is held by the French until the German offensive last May. The splendid qualities of individual initiative of the French soldiers found ample opportunity in this advance, and the French again demonstrated their mastery over the enemy. For the distant observer, it looked like a battle between individuals. Rarely were there more than two men seen above ground at the same time. What was most striking was the fire which came from the curtain fire, which was plainly marked by columns of smoke that gave the outlines of the battlefront.

Everyone of those men creeping and leaping forward over the up-beat ground, was advancing in the face of machine guns cleverly concealed and strongly protected. They went on just the same until they surrounded them, or rushed at them, conquering by the courage and individual intelligence the formidable defensive organization on which the Germans have spent their best efforts for four years.

Efforts to organize pillaging by the German army and the transportation of loot, appear from official documents and verified incidents to have been more effective than the work of carrying out the removal of the legitimate war booty during this summer's operations.

The sacking of private houses and public buildings throughout the region from which the Germans have been driven has been done with characteristic German thoroughness by specially detailed squads. Advancing French armies, however, have found intact on the plateaus, in the region of Soissons, and elsewhere, important stores of munitions which the French had been obliged to abandon in their retreat last spring.

An order signed by General von Marwitz, and dated May 20, was found in the pocket of a prisoner. It throws particular light on the subject of pillaging. After condemning in severe terms disorganized looting operations by soldiers for their personal account, this document calls attention to the rules established for organized pillaging, and says that the men of the "Loot Detachment" bearing white arm badges and special identification cards, have the same powers as the military police.

tion, on the south and Gouzeaucourt, some 14 miles. Within a few hours (Poziere, Templeux-Le-Guerard, Epehy, Roubaix and Villers) were behind the advanced British forces. The bitterest fighting was in progress at many other points in the forward zone. More than 8,000 prisoners have already been sent back to the cages. Numerous guns were also captured by the British. The French took several hundred additional prisoners.

The advance thus far recorded—in some places more than three miles—means that the British have at numerous points gained the crest of the ridge along which their old front line ran prior to the German offensive in March and from their new positions were looking down on the Hindenburg line in the valley to the east.

That hard fighting would be encountered in this sector was a foregone conclusion. The main enemy opposition came from machine guns and artillery.

The counter-barrage which the Germans sent over in reply to the British bombardment was much more severe than the enemy had been able to provide in the recent fighting, and as an additional new feature, the Germans maintained a heavy barrage over the back areas with high-velocity guns, which had been unable to provide for the purpose.

The shelling of the back areas during an attack is to be expected, but a barrage has seldom before been attempted, and then without great success.

Surrendered Freely.
 The German infantry surrendered quite freely in places. In fact, in the course of the attack which the Australians were working, a considerable number of gray-coats deliberately charged through the British barrage to give themselves up.

AMERICAN ACE KILLED
 With the American Army on the Lorraine Front, Sept. 19.—By the Associated Press—First Lieut. David E. Putnam, of Newton, Mass., American ace of aces, was killed late Wednesday afternoon while on patrol along the American lines. He was flying with Lieut. Wendell A. Robertson, of Fort Smith, Ark., when they were attacked by seven German machines. Four of these made for Putnam's airplane and three attacked Robertson's. The attack was sudden and unexpected, and the enemy was able to fire through the heart. His machine glided to the earth at Limey, within the American lines, where he was found by his comrades. Robertson returned safely.

CAR ACCIDENTS

In a communication from the Ontario Safety League, it is stated that large increases in accidents in which cars and electrical street cars are the principals, is due to the fact that motorists are in the habit of running on the street car tracks when there is no need of it. The league asks the co-operation of everyone in preventing accidents.

FRESH FRANCO-BRITISH SMASH ON TWENTY TWO MILE FRONT

Over 6,000 Prisoners and Many Guns Taken in Drive Which Penetrated Hindenburg Line—Hot Work Done in Rain

London, Sept. 19.—British forces have advanced on a front of sixteen miles in the St. Quentin sector, reaching a depth at some places of three miles. The French, co-operating on their right, have smashed forward on a six-mile front to a depth of a mile and a third. The British, according to Sir Douglas Haig's official report to-night, have taken over 6,000 prisoners and many guns. Several hundred prisoners have also been taken by the French. Heavy rains were prevailing when the attack commenced, but they were everywhere successful. In positions reached near Bellouart, the British are astride the main Cambrai-St. Quentin highway. At several points the Hindenburg line has been crossed. The taking of a complete German battery with its teams was an incident of the British attack.

Sir Douglas Haig's official report follows:

CARRIED BY ASSAULT.
 "At 5.30 o'clock this morning the troops of the Third and Fourth Armies attacked with complete success on a front of about sixteen miles from the neighborhood of Hohen to Gouzeaucourt. On the whole of this front our troops, advancing in heavy storms of rain, carried the enemy's positions by assault.
 "Sweeping over the old British trench systems of March, 1918, they reached and captured the outer defences of the Hindenburg line in wide sectors.
 "On the right, the divisions composed of English and Scottish troops captured Fresnoy-le-Petit, Bessancourt and Pontru, meeting with and capturing strong hostile resistance, particularly on the extreme right of our attack.
 "In the right centre two Australian divisions captured the villages of Le Verguier, Villereux and Hargicourt."
A DEEP PENETRATION.
 "Pushing forward with great determination they established themselves in the old German advanced positions west and south-west of Bellouart, having penetrated the enemy's defences to a depth of three miles.

With the British Army in France, Sept. 19.—The British troops made a powerful attack against the German lines to the west and north-west of St. Quentin to-day, and most important results were achieved. A deep advance into the enemy territory strengthened the already powerful grip the British have on St. Quentin, one of the most strongly-fortified parts of the Hindenburg line.

 To the south the French co-operated in which is likely to prove an operation of vast portent with respect to the Hindenburg defensive position.
 The zone involved in the British movement lay, roughly, between Hol-

NO SUPPERS.

Secretary A. W. Geddes of the local Y.M.C.A. announced this morning that as far as possible there will be no suppers in connection with the Y.M.C.A. work this year. This does not mean the abolition of the High School suppers, but that all suppers that are not on the regular program will be dispensed with.

KITH AND KIN.

A special meeting of the Terrace Hill Kith and Kin, was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Earthy, 118 Dundas street, on Tuesday afternoon, September 17th. A very large number of members were present. The meeting opened with the singing of the National Anthem, following this the president explained that the meeting had been called to see what could be done for the Sailors' Fund. It was decided to donate a sum of money from the funds. The rest of the meeting was given over to pleasure. Mrs. Blacker kindly gave some selections on the piano, and some very entertaining pieces also were played on the victrola. Dainty refreshments were handed round by the hostess, which were very much enjoyed. The regular meeting will be at Sydenham Street Church.

One complaint had been made that a boy should not go from Alexandra to Central, as it was too far for him. Upon investigation it was found that the distance was about sixty feet. Sooner or later, the city would be obliged to build a public school south of Colborne street, so that the board had asked the council to acquire some property for that purpose.

Trouble arises on Terrace Hill, as people who have gone to the school, do not want to leave and kept it at its fullest extent, so that people moving nearer the school would be forced to attend a school below the hill. The accommodation for manual training and domestic science was far from adequate. Only 20 pupils could be in a class. The speaker used high words of commendation, and his opinion was that under the new organization, its success would be sensational.

It is now thought that fees at the Collegiate should be abolished, but this course could not be taken, except after the greatest consideration. Mr. Shepperson appealed to the members of the Trades and Labor Council to give any suggestions that might be made to overcome the difficulties. President Stinchcombe asked for an explanation of why the Board of Education did not take action sooner. The fault that the council found was the slowness with which the Board of Education had taken action. Secretary Kite brought up the question of military drill being taught in the schools as detrimental to the character of the children. Mr. Shepperson replied for these questions, stating that the cadet corps, although not purely military, was not compulsory. Delegate Moreau commented on faults of the way reading was taught and the handling of the kindergarten. The kindergarten, he thought, tended to reduce the discipline of the school. Delegate Armstrong upheld the kindergarten in its good work. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Shepperson for his kindness in coming to the council to speak to them.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS COME BEFORE T. & L.

J. W. Shepperson, Chairman of Board of Education, Addressed Labor Council

NEW SCHOOL NEEDED

The Trades and Labor Council held their weekly meeting last night in the Labor Hall, and, as usual, it rained, hence the attendance of fifty. Mr. J. W. Shepperson, chairman of the Board of Education, was present to address the meeting, and his remarks consumed the greater portion of the evening. The President stated that the business would be laid over until after Mr. Shepperson's address.

Mr. Shepperson stated he did not feel that he was a stranger in the T. & L. Council. Twenty years ago he had been a live wire in trade union circles. He stated that he had always been favorable to the T. & L. Council. He did not see why he was asked to come here when Mr. I. S. Armstrong was present. "I am prepared to admit that the schools are crowded, and I am glad to see it so," declared the speaker, "as it shows the education and growth of the city."

Other cities were in very much better condition than Brantford. Probably there would be more pupils after the war, and for this reason, although the board had hesitated to do so, they were now considering the building of a new school. When the speaker had first arrived in the city there were about two thousand pupils in the city. Brantford's schools, however, has been remodelled at considerable expense and nearly every school has had additions made to it. Out of sixty-two rooms in public schools, thirty-four have been built during the past year. Formerly fifty pupils were allowed in one room, while now the regulations call for twenty, which made greater accommodation necessary.

Travellers state that Brantford has one of the best systems of schools of any city of its size and character. Brantford is not laid out geographically to meet the accommodation easily, and hence the congestion.

The trouble is really not in there being no room for the pupils, but in getting the pupils to the schools where there was no room. He illustrated his speech with the aid of an attendance chart. Owing to this apparent condition, it had been necessary to send nearly all the entrance pupils to the Central school.

One complaint had been made that a boy should not go from Alexandra to Central, as it was too far for him. Upon investigation it was found that the distance was about sixty feet. Sooner or later, the city would be obliged to build a public school south of Colborne street, so that the board had asked the council to acquire some property for that purpose.

Trouble arises on Terrace Hill, as people who have gone to the school, do not want to leave and kept it at its fullest extent, so that people moving nearer the school would be forced to attend a school below the hill. Wedding Bells

NOBLE—LAVERY
A very pretty wedding took place Tuesday afternoon last in Wesley church when Miss Hazel Lavery, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lavery, 44 Port St., became the bride of Cadet Vender, Noble, of the Royal Air Force, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. E. Marshall, B.A., E.D., pastor of Wesley church.

There were present a large number of friends of the contracting parties, and the church was very prettily decorated for the occasion, the bride having been for many years a valued member of the Wesley choir. A solo, "Oh Promise Me," was acceptably rendered by Mr. A. E. Martin, and the wedding march artistically rendered by E. McKinley. The bride, attired in a navy blue broadcloth suit with black picture hat and a corsage bouquet of pink orchids roses, looked very charming.

A wedding luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, 44 Port street, following which the happy couple left for points east on a brief honeymoon trip. The wedding gifts were beautiful and numerous. The young couple are very popular in Brantford, and a host of friends wish them all happiness and prosperity in their journey through life.

The investigation of economic conditions and the development of American trade in the largest of the American republics will be undertaken by J. E. Phillips, recently appointed American Commercial Attaché to Brazil, who will leave during the latter part of the month for Rio de Janeiro.

APPOINTMENTS TO C. N. R. BOARD

Four Already Made by the Government, and Another is Expected

By Courier Leased Wire
Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Four appointments have been made to the reorganized Canadian Northern directors and a fifth is expected to be made within a day or two. It is expected that he will be a Western man. When the board is completed, announcement of its composition will be made by the Government.

The new board will not for the time being have in hand administration of the Canadian Government Railways apart from the Canadian Northern.

Management of the C.N.R. is proposed shall continue as at present at any rate for some time. It is expected, however, intended to bring it eventually under the control of the board. When that change is made the membership of the board will probably be extended to include Eastern representatives, possibly three in number.

While an official announcement is not forthcoming, it is generally understood that D. B. Hanna will be chairman of the new board. Thomas Findlay, manager of the Messey-Harris Company, Toronto, and Robert Holton of the Canada Steel Company, Hamilton, are members of the board.

At five o'clock in the evening German infantry attacked in strength on a wide front from the neighborhood of Tracault northwards. At all points they were completely repulsed with great loss by troops of the guards of the third and 57th divisions. Another strong attack delivered shortly afterwards north of Mesuvie was also driven off with heavy German losses. At certain localities bodies of the enemy succeeded in reaching and entering our out trenches, where they were overwhelmed by counter-attacks.

CANADIAN TEAM THE VICTORS

In the First International Game With United States Players

Montreal, Sept. 18.—Bringing the first annual tournament of the Seniors Golf Association of Canada to a close, the team representing the Canadian association scored a victory over the team representing the Seniors Association of the United States by four points in the first annual match played for the trophy presented by his Excellency the Governor-General of Canada for competition between these associations.

The match was played with eighteen men a side, the feature game being the meeting between George S. Lyon, champion of the Canadian Association, and W. E. Truesdale, champion this season of the American association. This match was the attraction for a large gallery and was won by the Canadian by nine holes.

Both players started out poorly, Lyon taking six and Truesdale seven for the first for which five is par. This was won by Lyon and the next three were halved, while on the fifth Truesdale scored his first victory. He cut over the Canadian and outplayed him, holing out in four, which is par. Lyon took five, overrunning the green on his approach. The next was won by Lyon in par, while Truesdale took four. The next was halved at five and the eighth and ninth were won by Lyon, putting him three up for the first nine holes.

Lyon Returns to Form.

On the way in Lyon started better and won the tenth, while the next was halved at four, par for the course, both playing brilliantly on the green. The next two were won by Lyon he outdriving and outputting his opponent at both. Truesdale scored his second victory on the fifteenth when he holed out in four, Lyon taking one more. The remaining three holes were won by the Canadian player, all being made below par.

Following the match the visitors were entertained by the officers and members of the Royal Montreal Golf Club at luncheon at which it was announced that the next international match would be played in the United States and the next tournament of the Canadian Association would be held at Lambton course at Toronto.

Hamilton Beavers Took First Game 6-4

Visitors Hit Johnson, Whose Wildness Helped Them to Win

HAVE TWO-RUN LEAD

Which Malleables Are Determined to Liquidate Saturday

By a score of 6-4 the Beavers, champions of the Hamilton city league, took yesterday afternoon's O.B.A.A. game from Pratt and Letchworth's, the local champs. Johnson was in the fox for the Malleables, but Hamilton will not need to raise a holler as to his eligibility, for he was as wild as a Bolshevik manifesto, and may have had a little on the ball besides prayer, but if so it was not in evidence when the Beavers showed themselves inclined to hit the pellet.

Throughout the entire game, and was himself responsible for the defeat, although the support given by his team mates was not always aright. The Malleables did not show up as an aggregation of stars, for that matter, did the Beavers, but the latter proved themselves just a little better than Webber's walls.

The game might have been anyone's up until the last couple of innings, for the scoring was spasmodic, and neither team 100 per cent. reliable in the field.

As it is, the Beavers return to Hamilton with a two run lead which the locals will have to overcome on their visit to the Ambitious City Saturday, in order to qualify for the next round of the O.B.A.A. against Kitchener. The total of runs scored, instead of games won, counts in the series, and so Brantford must score three runs more than their opponents, on Saturday. But hope springs eternal in the human breast, and Manager Webber and his entire outfit are out to do just that little thing.

The play by innings follows:—

First Inning.

The Hamilton quotes in the stands as well as the men on the coaching lines, cheered Morrison as he came to bat. Johnson was wild, and put over four balls. Morrison started to steal, but turned back when the catcher threw. Slattery heaved over the first baseman's head, and Morrison went on to second. Stuart made a nice play on Smith's grounder, but the runner beat out the throw Morrison took third. Linington made a good catch of Eldt's foul. Walker hit safely, and Morrison scored. Smith was caught at the plate. Walker stole second. Weir struck out.

One run, one hit, one error.

Stuart bunted the first ball pitched and was thrown out at first. Slattery went out by the same route. Sullivan to Eldt. Smith pulled down

Second Inning.

Johnson still lacked control, but Mellenby swung at the wild ones, and fanned. Moore went out at first, and Lawson followed suit, Symons making the outout unassisted.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Symons smashed out a hot grounder which Morrison could not handle. McMahon went out at first, Symons going to second, and advancing to third on a passed ball. Linington was safe at first when Moore's throw pulled Eldt off the base, and Symons scored. Linington stole second. Fraser and Huff fanned.

One run, one hit, one error.

Third Inning.

Johnson had no control over his few balls, and walked Sullivan and Morrison. Smith fouled to Symons. Eldt singled, and the bases were filled. All three runners advanced on a wild pitch. Morrison scored on Walker's single over second. Walker stole second. Weir struck out. Mellenby likewise. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Johnson fanned. Stuart bunted and was thrown out. Slattery was out. Morrison to Eldt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

Moore hit to the infield, and was hit by the ball on the throw to first. He reached second on the play. Stuart grabbed Lawson's grounder, but fell down and could not make the throw in time. Moore went out at third. Lawson was caught at the plate on Sullivan's grounder. Morrison fanned. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Scott walked. Symons hit safely into right field. Scott stole third, and Symons second. Sullivan was yanked, and Stuart took his place in the box. McMahon walked. Linington fanned. Scott crossed the plate when Fraser went out at first. Huff electrified the fans by driving out a two-bagger into left field, both Symons and McMahon scoring. Huff was caught a moment later between second and third. Three runs, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Smith struck out. Eldt drove out a single along the third base line. He was caught running to second. Hamilton claimed Johnson had made a balk, but the umpire ruled otherwise. Walker was an easy out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Johnson was safe when Eldt dropped Moore's throw. Moore nulled down Stuart's fly, and threw high to first, otherwise he might have doubled Johnson. Slattery fled out. Scott fanned. No runs, no hits, one error.

Sixth Inning.

Linington made a fine catch of Weir's foul, which he chased to the fence. Mellenby walked, but was forced at second by Moore. The pitcher was out stealing a moment later. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Symons whiffed. McMahon like-

Visitors Hit Johnson, Whose Wildness Helped Them to Win

HAVE TWO-RUN LEAD

Which Malleables Are Determined to Liquidate Saturday

By a score of 6-4 the Beavers, champions of the Hamilton city league, took yesterday afternoon's O.B.A.A. game from Pratt and Letchworth's, the local champs. Johnson was in the fox for the Malleables, but Hamilton will not need to raise a holler as to his eligibility, for he was as wild as a Bolshevik manifesto, and may have had a little on the ball besides prayer, but if so it was not in evidence when the Beavers showed themselves inclined to hit the pellet.

Throughout the entire game, and was himself responsible for the defeat, although the support given by his team mates was not always aright. The Malleables did not show up as an aggregation of stars, for that matter, did the Beavers, but the latter proved themselves just a little better than Webber's walls.

The game might have been anyone's up until the last couple of innings, for the scoring was spasmodic, and neither team 100 per cent. reliable in the field.

As it is, the Beavers return to Hamilton with a two run lead which the locals will have to overcome on their visit to the Ambitious City Saturday, in order to qualify for the next round of the O.B.A.A. against Kitchener. The total of runs scored, instead of games won, counts in the series, and so Brantford must score three runs more than their opponents, on Saturday. But hope springs eternal in the human breast, and Manager Webber and his entire outfit are out to do just that little thing.

EXPLANATION AS TO PRIME MINISTERS

Their Communication With British Premier is Only for Cabinet Matters

By Courier Leased Wire
Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 19.—The following has been received from the secretary of state for the colonies, and at his request has been given out by the director of public information:

Considerable misapprehension exists with regard to the nature of the arrangement recently made whereby the prime ministers of the Dominions have been given the right of direct communication with the prime minister of the United Kingdom on certain matters, and it therefore seems desirable to state the exact nature of this arrangement. After preliminary discussion in the recent Imperial War Conference, the subject was considered by the Imperial War Cabinet, where on the 30th of July the following resolutions were passed:

(1) The prime ministers of the dominions as members of the Imperial War Cabinet, have the right of direct communication with the prime minister of the United Kingdom and vice versa.

(2) Such communications should be confined to questions of cabinet importance. The prime ministers themselves are the judges of such questions.

(3) Telegraphic communication between the prime ministers should as a rule be conducted through the colonial office, but this will not exclude the adoption of more direct means of communication in exceptional circumstances.

(4) In order to secure continuity in the work of the Imperial War Cabinet, and a permanent means of consultation during the war on the more important questions of common interest, the prime minister of each Dominion has the right to nominate a cabinet minister, either as a resident or visitor in London to represent him at meetings of the Imperial War Cabinet to be held regularly between the plenary sessions.

It has recently been stated in the overseas press that dissatisfaction with Colonial Office methods of administration was the chief reason why this question was raised. The discussion at the Imperial Conference will shortly be published in a blue book, and it will then be seen that this statement is contrary to fact, and that the assumption that the attitude of the Dominions in this respect was inspired by distrust of the colonial office was expressly repudiated by the Dominion premiers.

GEN. LOGIE AT NIAGARA
By Courier Leased Wire
Niagara Camp, Ont., Sept. 18.—Major General W. A. Logie, G.O.C., arrived in camp from Toronto this morning on his first official visit since temporarily resuming the command of M. D. No. 2. He was met at the boat by Col. J. I. McLaren, camp commander, and Major A. C. Lewis, brigade major. There was a muster parade of all the units in camp for General Logie's inspection.

Rippling Rhymes

THE FAKERS

Now doth the busy little Hun delight to pass the bunk, and claim a victory is won, when he is knocked kerplunk! The general whose cumbersome name winds up with burg or dort, still claim to have a giant's frame, when he is shown a dwarf. When Foch or Haig in battle fall, the fact is not denied; these brave men rise and say, "The tall has travelled with the hide." They want the folks at home to know the truth, and give it flat; if they are beaten by the foe, they let it go at that. But Prussian leaders cannot trust the folks at home, it seems; they feed them up, until they bust on fakes and hop-joint dreams. How doth the busy little Hun, his whiskers streaked with foam, hand out the piffle by the ton, to feed the folks at home! But when the facts at last leak in, I wonder what they'll say; will they just wear a foolish grin, in their accustomed way. Or will they swell with righteous ire, their spirits sore and hot, and grumble like a house afire, and have some princes shot? "Dumb driven cattle" in their name if they, with patient eyes, forever watch the hocus game, the carnival of lies.

CLERGYMAN SOLDIER DEAD
By Courier Leased Wire
London, Ont., Sept. 19.—Capt. W. E. Hindson, chief public representative for Military District No. 1, under the military service act, died at his home here yesterday after an illness extending over ten weeks. Capt. Hindson was a Baptist clergyman prior to enlisting. At the outbreak of war he was pastor of Woolwich St. Church, Guelph, and later became chaplain of the 163rd battalion.

STEAMER AGROUND
By Courier Leased Wire
Put-in-Bay, Ohio, Sept. 19.—The steamer Helena, owned by Armour & Company of Chicago, ran aground on Sunken Chicken reef near Old Hen Island, three miles north of North Bass Island, in Lake Erie yesterday. Tugs have been sent for.

Army officials in charge of the publication of the Mexican Army and Navy Journal have asked the American Embassy for an authoritative summary of the war accomplishments of the United States since the beginning of 1918. The Government publication sets a precedent by this request.

RUMANIANS BOWING 'NEATH TYRANT YOKE

But Only for Present — People Do Not Regard Peace Treaty as Final and Hope to Assert Themselves Later

Rome, Sept. 19.—(By Mail).—What happened in Rumania, when the little Balkan country was forced to accept a German peace because of the Russian debacle, is still an untold tale. When the story is written it will rank along with the tragedies of Belgium, Serbia and of Montenegro, as one of the great chapters of the war.

From the moment the Central Empire forced upon their diminutive prey the terms of a German peace Rumania has been a shroud in a veil. Every effort has been made by Germany and Austria to keep Rumania from entering into communication with her former allies. The tragedy that is still being enacted in the little country is hidden in mystery and silence.

By Dr. Benedetto Cimino, who directed an Italian hospital at Bucharest from the beginning of the war to July, however, the curtain is drawn aside for the first time and there is revealed the beginning of the Rumanian tragedy and its present status.

Dr. Cimino's story is as follows: "I arrived at Bucharest October 30, 1916, and left on July 1, 1918.

People Kept in Ignorance. "No one can conceive what Rumania is at the present time. The ignorance in which the Germans keep the native population of all that is happening in the rest of the world exceeds the imagination. The defeats, the disasters, the facts that are contrary to the German interests are completely unknown in Rumania while the Germans publish every day a series of manufactured news and falsehoods that a portion of the public invariably believes in the end.

"The royal family is at Jassy, and will remain there throughout the entire period of the German-Austrian occupation, Bucharest being peopled largely by enemy officers.

"After being obliged to abandon Transylvania, the Russian army retreated rapidly, and it was not long before the evacuation of the capital became a necessity. Enemy airplanes bombarded Bucharest without ceasing, destroying many of the most beautiful edifices and killing and wounding hundreds of people.

"The morning of November 21, the beautiful Princess Cantacuzene, who directed the hospital of which I was the head, entered the operating room and asked whether I wished to leave, adding that there were still two trains to leave Bucharest for Moldavia.

"I replied that I had come to Bucharest to direct the hospital and that I declined to leave. While the dialogue was going on, the church bells—which were later carried away by the conquerors and melted into projectiles rang out to announce the resumption of the bombardment.

"I shall never forget the impressions of the hours that followed.

"A few hours before the Germans entered Bucharest, the city was evacuated by every one who was able to leave.

"The next day the expulsions and arrests began. The first to be seized were the government officials, demotics, ministers, former ministers and influential persons generally.

"The enemy took possession of the city so quickly that few had even time to hide their more precious objects.

"More Prussian 'System.' "Each person was given a card of identity indicating the number of children and the number of relatives occupying the same house.

"The order was given that no one should leave his place of residence after 7 p.m.

"Destruction of the furniture and furnishings of the houses to provide well as the theft of all precious objects, pillage of mattresses and linen, carrying away of paintings and statues.

"Fortunately the Bulgarians, whose infamies are even worse, were prevented from entering the city.

"To give final proof of the barbarity of this people that is unworthy

Lemon Juice For Freckles

Girls! Make beauty lotion at home for a few cents. Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store a toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

The right to live in Europe it is sufficient to state that out of 36,000 Rumanian prisoners that were interned in Bulgaria, only 10,000 ever returned to Rumania alive, the other 26,000 having succumbed to privations, fatigues, diseases and bad treatment when they were not murdered in cold blood.

"While awaiting other orders, patrols commanded by officers, marched through the streets with fixed bayonets, visiting every house one at a time, and carrying away everything they considered unnecessary for the family to have.

"With the establishment of the German soldiers in Rumania, the German authorities undertook the organization of the press. At first there was only a single newspaper allowed to be published, and that in German, but later arrangements were made for two others. There was first the Gazette Bucurestilor and later the Lumina. These papers had to praise the invaders and their acts, and to keep systematically silent on what was taking place in France, Albania and Italy, likewise to play up to the fullest extent any news unfavorable to the British.

"At the moment of the Italian disaster on the Isonzo last year, these papers launched special edition after special edition in which it was announced that the entire Italian army had fallen into the hands of the Germans and the Austrians, that the Italian government was planning to abandon Milan and Venice, and that the soldiers of Conrad were preparing to march on the Eternal City.

Cards Must be Stamped

"Every month all of the inhabitants of Bucharest must go to the central control bureau in order to demonstrate that they have not left the city and to have their identity cards stamped, cards which they must have in their pockets at all times. The stamping of the cards is done according to nationality with the rest that throughout the month there is constantly in view a line of people that extends the full length of Cantacuzene street.

"Among the marvels of prowess performed by the Germans is necessary to cite the emission of several billion francs of paper money in the name of the Banque Generale Romaine, which, when it is allowed to return to Bucharest will have to pay all of the bills thus put in circulation in its name.

"Speculators in merchandise are not very far behind. A pair of men's stockings cost from $30 to $35, a shirt from $30 to $40, and everything else in proportion.

"The principal reason that in all Rumania there does not remain to-day a single factory or a single industry.

"At Bucharest you might be willing to pay millions of francs to have a little sterilized cotton for dressing your wounds, a little glycerine, or a piece of velvet, but your willingness to pay would be in vain for these things do not exist there any more. Practically all of the stores are closed because there is nothing to sell.

"During my last month there sugar was sold for $4.00 a pound. A sweetened drink costs $1.00 a glass.

"The German administration that should have ended as soon as the treaty of peace was ratified by the senate, continues without opposition. In Germany and Austria the misery and famine exceeds everything that has been or can be recounted.

"On the railway coming from Bucharest the trains for civilians have been interrupted and suspended for such a long number of months, that when our train arrived at Budapest an immense crowd of railway workers rushed up, impelled merely by curiosity at seeing a train arrive from Bucharest.

Forget Duty for Bread

"Soldiers commanded by officers who accompanied us sought in vain to establish order. A young Rumanian woman of unusual spirit had the happy idea of throwing a piece of bread at the sentinel. The latter, getting entirely his military duty, dropped his rifle and leaped to seize the bite of bread. This was the signal for a grand rush, all of the travellers provided with provisions for a long voyage, knowing that the latter would not last more than four or five days and that later there would be a dining car, throw out eggs, pieces of chicken, meat and bread.

"Women, children and men, all starving, stretched out their hands and sought to obtain a morsel.

"I saw high administrative officials ask to be given a bite of something. The general command of the officers were absolutely unavailing.

"The same scene was repeated at the railway station at Vienna, where the officers who had accompanied us were changed.

"The travellers resumed the distribution of their food supplies and interrogated the miserable people who only begged and prayed that they be not asked to say what they thought about the situation.

"No one in Rumania believes that the present peace is final, and the entire nation is convinced that Rumania will be allowed to participate at the final peace conference."

JUGGLING WITH FACTS

HUNS STILL CLAIM U-BOATS ARE WINNING

Sample Speech Delivered in Munich Shows How the German People Are Deceived by the Authorities, Who Declare That England, France and Italy Are Being Starved Out.

HOW the German Government attempts to convince its people that the ruthless submarine warfare is after all not a failure, but only a necessary element of its "great offensive," is shown in an address recently delivered by Capt. Brunnings of the German navy before the Deutsche Wacht, a pan-German Fatherland society of Munich. A translation of the article follows:

"There can be no doubt that the situation, not only in the British Isles, but also in France and Italy, has been so aggravated since September of last year by the U-boat warfare that, as a matter of fact, as stated by the British Admiralty as early as the end of September, the number of ships is no longer adequate to the needs for them. This opinion has been found in papers of all shades, from purely pacifist ones to the most jingoistic that are now directed by the present Minister of Propaganda, Lord Northcliffe.

"The misleading juggery of figures in net tons, gross tons, and cargo tons has, in fact, not only deceived the people in Britain, but also misled many among us. As a matter of fact, there were sunk up to March 1, 1918, 15,500,000 registered gross tons, of which 10,270,000 tons were sunk since the beginning of the unrestricted submarine warfare. If we assume that about two-thirds of the cargoes of these ships would have gone to the advantage of the Entente, 205,000,000 hundredweight of munitions, food supplies, raw material, and other commodities were withheld from our enemies in the last thirteen months.

"Among the ships sunk up to the end of December alone there were twenty-seven transport vessels and 655 ships carrying war materials. Now, in the matter of finished munitions and high explosives, this represents the amount required for twenty-five divisions for a full month of great offensive operations. In the last quarter of the year this amount has greatly increased. From this can be gathered how extraordinarily effective the offensive on the sea has anticipated that on land; and the navy is proud of it.

"To-day the attempts to mislead over there no longer succeed. Plain proofs of this are at hand. Whether we regard the cargo conditions from the point of view of the total world cargo space, or of the total world cargo tonnage, the case is fundamentally the same. In the first case we must add the tonnage available for our forces from other sources; in the second case we must make deductions for the needs of the non-belligerent states after the war—to be sure, not arbitrarily, but exactly, as has been in counting as to the advantage of our enemies among the total world tonnage, the tonnage of German, Austrian, and Turkish shipping that lies in our own harbors, amounting to 4,000,000 tons. There are to-day at hand many German, neutral, and enemy calculations which all uniformly agree that the continuation of the war will soon be impossible for our enemies by reason of lack of cargo space.

"The expectations of new shipbuilding have till now proved deceptive, and we may count upon the fact that for 1918 the losses through submarines will remain more than double the tonnage available to the Entente through new shipbuilding. As for the assumption that the submarine warfare will diminish by reason of increased defensive measures, there is no foundation for this. The system of convoying ships has great disadvantages. Aside from the sinkings, the number of damaged ships is very large. The natural loss of the Entente through new shipbuilding that countries aside from Britain and America can furnish.

"The material assistance through America's entry into the war, but rather has diminished; and as for its military assistance, we can afford to pass over that altogether. The opinion that America entered the war because of unrestricted submarine warfare, which is still voiced here and there, does not stand the test of serious criticism. Far truer is the explanation voiced by a New York bank magnate, who said:

"Your paper—that is to say, for the billion dollar contracts in war materials—is of value only when stamped with victory. We have taken a mortgage on your triumph. The shadow of American capitalism stood behind the President when he handed Bernstorff his passports."

"On the other hand, there has already been an increase in prices in America, amounting in one year to $5,000,000,000, and the continuation of the war is growing constantly a worse business for America. The material distress of the Entente has not grown less through the entry of America into the war, but rather grown worse, and it will not prevent our victory. Rationing in England is the confession that it will not hold out much longer. The same must lead to a fiasco in a country which imports four-fifths of its food supplies.

"There is an ugly spirit in the air. The lines that divide hunger and anarchy is very narrow; we are getting dangerously close to it.

"This is the way they are already writing in England. It will not be lack of food supplies alone that will compel the German Reich to make peace, but the combination of a lack of material and food supplies and—this is the important point—the

ALIENS TO HARVEST ESSEX TOBACCO CROP

Interned Enemies Will be Temporarily Freed for This Work

By Courier Leased Wire

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 18.—Interned aliens will be freed to harvest the Essex tobacco crop, it was announced by a special meeting of the cabinet at the capital yesterday afternoon. Arrangements are now pending with the Militia Department, whereby military guard will be furnished from the troops quartered at Carleton Heights, London.

As the result of the acute labor shortage in this district the extensive crops of tobacco throughout Essex county have been endangered with the approach of cold weather, as one frost will suffice to ruin the entire season's growth. Every possible effort has been made to secure the help necessary to pull the plants and although female labor is available, could be utilized, it could not be secured.

Local influence is being exerted in London to facilitate arrangements for the alien soldiers who are to be brought here from the internment camps. Just how many men will be set here or from what camps they are to be selected is as yet unknown here, although the tobacco growers in Essex county are well satisfied with the action taken at Ottawa.

The safe arrival in England of a large number of Canadian troops is announced.

Mr. Hoover Citizen of Honour and Friend of the Belgian People Pleads for the Belgian Children

Mr. Herbert Hoover, Food-Controller of the United States, has earned the title bestowed upon him by King Albert and the Belgian Government—"Citizen of Honour and Friend of the Belgian People."

The world knows what was accomplished under Hoover's administration before America's entrance into the War. In July of this year, he was in London in connection with his responsibilities as Food Controller, and took the opportunity to learn how things stood in Belgium.

So terribly serious are conditions there among the children that Mr. Hoover wrote an urgent plea, parts of which are quoted:

"On May 14th, 1917, I advised you of the financial arrangement with the United States Government whereby funds were provided for the general rationing of the civilian population of Belgium. I stated my hope that the various committees of the Commission for Relief in Belgium that had already accomplished so much would hold together despite the new financial arrangement in order to support certain needed special charities."

"I can be readily understood that in providing a general ration for the whole nation the rationing system necessary to handle such a great project can make little provision for special cases and for special needs. These cases, running into hundreds of thousands, of sick and defective children, cannot be taken care of by the general funds. There is an increasing need for funds in these cases. The girls are running low, and our last reports show that the soup lines of Belgium have increased from one and a half million persons."

"I wish particularly to remove any doubt as to the acceptability of contributions to the Commission for Relief in Belgium for the special purposes above indicated. This transmission of money is absolutely guaranteed by virtue of an agreement between the belligerent Governments, the C. R. B. and the Neutral (Spanish and Dutch) protecting Ministers in Brussels."

Read between the lines of Mr. Hoover's letter to his associates, and you will realize the ever fresh tragedy of Belgium. You will see little babies, pinched with hunger, waiting in line for the bowl of soup and the two pieces of bread that form their daily ration.

Think of it! Is it any wonder Consumption and kindred ills sweep through the stricken country, harvesting the starved orphans left behind by soldiers who died holding back the Hun in the first days of the War.

He Smuggled Whiskey. A fine of $100 was paid the other day at Bangor, Me., by a man who had been arrested for smuggling. It rolled from one side of a room to the other, says the Utica Press. The man was not a prohibitionist fighting the demon rum, but a friend of said demon. The barroom is in Aroostook county, Me., and is exactly astride the international boundary line between the state of Maine and the province of New Brunswick. The barrel of whiskey was on the Canadian side of the room, and when a friend of the owner of the whiskey heard Canadian officers were about to raid the place he aimed a kick at the barrel which sent it to the Maine side of the room. For that kick he was arrested for smuggling whiskey across the border and fined $100.

Outsized by Dynamite. Game Warden Devine recently visited Toohy's Lake in Griffith Township, Ont., and dynamited a beaver dam by request of the Mayor of Renfrew, the original engineers having threatened destruction of the public road.

The Lessons of War. "So you're saving up to buy an airplane, you're quite an ambitious little boy." "Yes, sir, I want to fly over Jimmie Mack's yard and drop bricks on him."
