IN COLONIAL PARLIAMENT;

IN COLONIAL PARLIAMENT;

THE Petition of William Cooper, on behalf of the Tenantry, respectfully submits for consideration, that the intention of having a Legislature to enact Laws, are, that the enactments shall be well considered; that they will not assume or assert any thing but the trath; that they will be founded upon just and equitable principles. But the Tenant Compensation Bill is deficient of these essentials. That Bill assumes, that the Landlords have a just and a lawful title to the lands, the rents, and to the tenants' improvements. Now, it is well known, that the landlords' title to the lands, has been in dispute many years, and a trial for their title has never been allowed, therefore a Bill constructed so as to gain a title for the landlords, under the deceptive colour of preserving the value of the improvements to the Tenantry is inequitable, and consequently, could not receive the Royal Assent.

But if such a Bill were to pass the Legislature of this Colony, it would serve the purposes of the Landlords for a time. It would acknowledge the Landlords' Title, as far as the opinion of our Logislature went; and the withholding the Royal Assent from such a measure, would afford the Landlords a pretext to say, that the Colonial Legislature it do deprive the Proprietors of their property; but the Imperial Government would not allow any compensation to Tenants for improvements, because the Tenants must have known when they took their leases, that they would have to improve the property.

There are other objections to the bill, but what is already submitted will show, that the Legislature cannot legislate with any advantage to benefit the Colony, until the landlords 'titles to the Township Lands are legally investigated and extinguished. With a view to these objects, Petitioner respectfully submits the following remarks:

ship Lands are legally investigated and exinguished. With a view to these objects, Petitioner respectfully submits the following remarks:

It has been the opinion of some governments, that an introduction of certain Foreigners would be a benefit to the community of the country into which they were introduced; and the Grants of the Townships of this Island, are founded on such an opinion. The lands of this Island were the property of the British public, and if it were questioned, whether the King in Council could alienate the public lands to be settled with foreigners, and detain them for any length of time for that purpose, without an act of Parliament: it can be said it answer, that the Grantess in whom the Titles were vested, were British subjects, and they were allowed four years only to settle their grants with foreigners, and if they failed to do so, the lands reverted to the Grantess to try the experiment, as to whether they could settle their Grants with the foreigners required, and if they were not settled, the Grants were void and of none effect. Such are the conditions of the Grants, and the Grantessed.

required, and if they were not settled, the Grants were void and of none effect. Such are the conditions of the Grants, and the Grantees were perfectly at liberty to accept or reject them as they pleased.

The plan for the settlement of the Township Lands with Foreign Protestants, or else the Grants to be void at the expiration of four years, appears to have been duly considered, and made perfectly consistent in every respect. The plan was made by the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations, and submitted by them to the King in Council who approved of it, and ordered Grants to be passed, wherein it is declared in the most emphatic words, that if the Grantees shall not settle one-third of their Grants (with the specified number of foreigners), within four years from the date of the Grants, then the whole of the Township shall become forfeited (to the Crown), and the Grant shall be coid and of none effect, and as all the Township Grants were passed sunder the same Order in Council, and contain the same conditions for settlement or foreigners, and as no such persons were introduced and estiled upon the Township Lands as required, the grants are void and of none effect. But it has been said on behalf of the Landlords that they had indulgances, that the lands have never been forfeited, and the Ministers' despatches have been cited as authority to show, that the Landlords have a right to recover rent from the Tenantry, because the Tomantry had covenanted to pay rent, and they shall derive no benefit from the forfeiture of the lands, for in consequence of such covenant, they would have to pay the same rent to the Crown.

The Crown Lands are the property of the public, and there are public servants appointed whose duty it is to proceed against forfeited Lands, and revest them in the Crown. But the collasion of public servants, with set of men to allow them to assume an ownership, over the public lands with the intent of obtaining rents from the people who are improving the lands, oces not deprive the public of th

AWFUL CALCULATION.

AWFUL CALCULATION.

An ingenious authentic, and valuable statistical work, published a few years since, states that the number of the inhabitants who have lived on the earth amount to about 36,627,643,195,546. The sum, the writer says, when divided by 3,096,000, the number of square leagues of land on this surface of the globe, leaves 11,829,698,733 persons to each square league. There are 27,864,000 square miles of land, which being divided as above, give about 1,314,522,076 persons to each square rod, which rod, being reduced to feet and divided as above, will give about five persons to each square foot of terra firms on the globe. Let the earth be supposed to be one vast boarying ground, and, according to the above statement, there will be 1,283 persons to be buried on each square rod, capable of being divided into twelve graves; it appears that cach grave contained 100 persons, and the whole earth has been one hundred times dug over to bury its inshabitants—supposing they had been equally distributed! What an awful overwhelming (hought! What a lesson to the infatuated being who has centered all his hopes and affections upon the evanescent pleasures of this truly transitory life!

IMPROVEMENT IN SPY GLASSES.

IMPROVEMENT IN SPY GLASSES.

The London papers, in spenking of works of art in the great Exhibition, mention a newly invented very small powerful waistcoat pocket glass, the size of a walnut, by which a person can be seen and known one and a half miles distant; they answer every purpose on the race course, at the opera houses, country scenery, and ships are clearly seen at twelve and fourteen miles; they are invaluable for hanting, shooting, dear stalking, yachting, to sportsmen, gentlemen, game keepers, and tourists.

A new and most important invention in telescopes, possessing such extraordinary powers, that some three and a half inches, with an extra eye piece, will show distinctly Japiter's moon's, Saturn's ring, and the double stars with the same telescope, weighing only three ounces, can be seen a person's countenance three and a half miles distant, and an object from sixteen to twenty miles. They supersede all other kind for the waistcost pocket, and of larger and all sizes, with increasing power accordingly—The Globe.

INTERESTING ASTRONOMICAL FACT.

Two persons were born at the same place, at the same moment of time. After an age of fifty years, they both died, also on the same spot, and at the rame instant, yet one of them lived one hundred days more than the other. How was this possible? Not to keep our friends in suspense, the solution turns on a curious, but, with a very little reflection, a very obvious point in circumnavigation. A person going round the world to the west, loses a day, and towards the east he gains one.—Supposing, then, two persons born at the Cape of Good Hope, whence a voyage round the world may be performed in one year; if one perform this constantly towards the west, in fifty years he will be fifty days behind the stationary inhabitants; and if the other sail equally east, he will gain fifty days in advance of them. One, therefore, will have seen one hundred days more than the other, though they were born and died at the same moment, and even lived continually in the same latitudes, and reckoned by the same calendar. reckoned by the same calendar.

Pears o record, declared by the King in Council, evidently to guard spainst the imposition in practice.

The conspiracy toldreceive the agricultural population, and compel them to pay reus to imposters for the Public Lands, has been continued by successive Governors, and for every application for an abstement of the oppression, it has been under more stringent! The code are tighened when the victims struggles! When every other application for relief had failed, the tenantry reliased the payment of rents, with the view to induce a legal investigation its to be the successive of persons claiming reats for lands when their title is void but insead of an investigation, troops were marched into the country at the stopens of the Colony, to everawe the Tenantry, and reduce them to the obedience of surpress and impostors. Thus have vicked men, abused the name and authority of our gracious Sove, reign, and employed the troops of the British empire, in aid of fraud usurpation, pillage, and extortion; and the most vigilant and overbearing, and at the same time to deter the Tenantry from seeking any remedy at Law.

May it therefore please your Excellency, to take the subject into consideration, and by and with the advice and assistance of the Council and Assembly, to repeal any enactments, and remove any impediments which could bur the Tenant from a trial with his Landlord, and proceeding to judgment according to the merits of the case. CUBA.

The invasion of Caba forms the first and most prominent portion of the Message, and is entered upon at very considerable length. The Precident represents, that certain Cabans and other foreigners resident in the United States, had abused the bospitality of the country, by equipping another military expedition against Cuba, and they were countenanced and joined by citizens of the Union. The President's proclamation, warning parties against being inveigled into a scheme of such unlawful character, is submitted to Congress; and a detail is given of the stealthy sailing of the steamer Pampero with 400 men, from New Orleans for Caba, with the view of making war upon the inhabitants of that Island. The leader was a Sganiard; the chief officers, foreigners; but the men were chiefly citizens of the United States, young and ill-informed. The progress of the expedition is stated, and the execution of fifty of the men of the expedition of the Value. At the trial, before a military tribunal, these men all admitted the offence charged against them, of being hostile invaders of the Island. After mentioning the dispersion of the rost of the expedition, and the capture and execution of Lopez, the President says:—

"Such is the melancholy result of this illegal and ill-fated expedition. Thus, thoughtless young men have been induced, by false and fraedulent representations, to violate the laws of their country, through rash and unfounded expectations of assisting to accomplish political revolutions in other States, and have lost their irves in the undertaking. Too severe a jadgment can hardly be passed by the indignant sense of the community upon those, who being better informed than themselves, have yet led away the ardor of youth, and an ill-directed love of political liberty."

The intention of the Government to apply for the pardon and release of the survivers of this unlawful expedition, is signified—simply as a matter of sympathy for their unoffending families and friends. But this int

RECIPROCAL FREE TRADE WITH THE COLONIES.

On this, to us, important topic, the President speaks as follows:

"Your attention is again invited to the question of reciprocal trade between the United States and Canada, and other British Possesions near our frontier. Overtures for a Convention upon this subject have been received from Her Britannic Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary, hat it seems to me to be in many respects preferable, that the matter should be regulated by reciprocal legislation. Documents are laid before you, showing the terms upon, which the British Government is willing to offer, and the measures which it may adopt, if some arrangement upon this subject is not made."

BOUNDARY OF OREGON.

Her Britannic Majesty's Government having expressed a desire, that the boundary between Oregon and the British Possessions should be authoritatively marked out, the correspondence is submitted, and Congress is invited to make an appropriation to defray the expense on the part of the United States.

The Turki-h Government has expressed its thanks for the kind reception given to Amin Bey, the Sultan's agent in the United States.—That Government having been asked to grant permission for the Hungarians imprisoned within the dominious of the Sublime Porte to remove to the United States, the request was granted, Governor Kossuth, and his companions had been released from prison, and embarked in the steam frigate Mississippi. Governor Kossuth had left the Mississippi at Gibraltar to make a short visit to England; but might be shortly expected at New York. He had expressed his grateful acknowledgements to the Government of the United States for its interposition in behalf of himself and associates.

Congress is recommended to consider in what manner Governor Kossuth and his companions, brought to the United States by its authority, shall be received and treated.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

The President expresses an earnest hope, that the difference between the Government of these Islands and the French, may be satisfactorily adjusted, so as to secure the independence of the Islands. He desires, that they should not pass under the control of any other great maritime state, but remain independent, accessible

The tranquillity of this State has been again disturbed by the re-cent outbreak in Tamanlipas. The President deplores this, and states the measures he has adopted to prevent citizens of the United States joining in the insurrection.

The convention for the construction of a railroad across the Isthmus of Telmantepec, has not been ratified by the Mexican Government, owing to unexpected difficulties and delays. The object of the United States has merely been to attain the shortest and best passage from Decan to Ocean, for passengers and merchandize which should be equally open to all the world; and all proper efforts will be made to bring about arrangements with Mexico, for a speedy completion of the work.

The questions pending with Nicaragua have not been settled; but inter-communication has been actually established between the mouth of the Saint Juns river and the Pacific. A considerable part of the railroad across the Isthmus of Panama has been completed, and the mail and passengers will in fature be conveyed thereon.

After announcing that peace has been concluded between the contending parties in St. Domingo, the President states, that the dice of Commissioner to China remains vacant—no person being cond silling to accept it, the compensation being inadequate. A in ther allowance is suggested.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

The aggregate receipts for the fiscal year ending the 30th June, 1881, were $82,312,979; the total expenditure during the same period was $48,905,578. The exports during the name period were $217,727,737,730, of which there were in domestic products $173,546,585, in foreign goods re-exported $9,739,695, and in specie $29,231,880.

PUBLIC DEBT.

The Public Debt of the United States, on the 20th of last montives $62,500,895, exclusive of Stock authorized to be issued to Texas. The receipts for the next fiscal year are estimated a $51,500,000, and with the probable unappropriated balance in the Treasury, will give, as the probable available means for the year the sum of $65,255,743.

The total expenditure for the next fiscal year is estimated $42,792,399; the difference between receipt and expenditure is be applied to paying off the public debt.

The substitution of specific for at-valorem duties is strongly recommended, in consequence of the numerous frauds which continue to be prestised upon the Revenue. The practical evasion is the present law, the languishing condition of some of the great interests of the country, caused by over-importations and consequent depressed prices, with the failure to obtain a foreign market for the increasing surples of breadstuffs and provisions, induce the President again to recommend a modification of the existing tariff.

Four small frame houses, covered with the rand turpentine, were erected on an open square. Two of these houses were re-covered with the varnish, and the others were not. The latter were reduced to ashes almost as soon as they were set on fire, whereas the former, in spite of the tar and turpentine, remained perfectly uniquired to the end of the trial, which lasted two hours. The trial was the more severe as the four houses were close together, and all of them were on fire on the inside, but the flames did not beak forth at all from the varished houses; and they were immediately entirely enveloped in flames; but when the liquid was exhausted, the walls appeared perfectly intext as before.

"The Island of Kahoolowe, which is about fourteen miles in length, was all on fire on Sautrady last, and burned for three or four days. The fire at night presented a grand sight—lighting up the adjacent Islands and the sea for fifty miles around. The Island is not inhabited, except by one or two convicts, and is covered only with low shrubbery and grass, which is supposed to have been accidently set on fire by some fishermen. The light was plainly seen here, in Honolulu, during the whole of Saturday night, but was generally supposed to have been caused by the cruption.

The Discovery of Glaciers in New Zealand.—The following account of the discovery of glaciers at an elevation of 2000 feet, at Milford Haven, west coast of the Middle Island, New Zealand, is from a letter received from Dr. Lyall, surgeon of H. M. steam vessel Acheron, Captain Stokes, employed surveying the coasts in that locality. The writer is known to many of our readers as a zealous naturalist, who accompanied Sir James Clark Ross during his three adventurous south polar expeditions:— "Milford Haven, New Zealand, 13th March, 1851. Since my last date we have been in two or three sounds, where the water was so deep that we had to let go the anchor close to the shore, and then make fast to the trees by hawsers. In one place we had three anchors down and a cable fast to the trees from each quater. We spent about a fortnight in the celebrated Dusky Bay, of Cook. The harbour we are now in is one of the most remarkable I have ever seen. It is about nine or ten miles deep, and not above a mile or two across at the widest part. The entrance is narrow, and immediately on entering you have immense precipices of 3900 feet, towering right over our head, on both sides. As we went in, the engineers could see the mountains on both sides at once, from the stoke hole of the seenery. The hills surroutiding the harbour vary in height from spwards of 4000 to near 7000 feet, and on many of them unbrokes streams of water are seen, originating at a height of 4000 to 5000 feet. There is one large waterfall on the side of from upwards of 4030 to near 7000 feet, and on many of them unbroken streams of wafer are seen, originating at a height of 4000 to 5000 feet. There is one large waterfall on the side of the sound 1200 feet, and a fine one close to where the ship is, between 400 to 500 feet. There are glaciers in the cleft, near the tops of some of the mountains. I succeeded yesterday in getting to the lowest of them, which I calculated to be about 2000 feet above the level of the sea. I had a tremendous scramble at one place, having to surmount an almost perpendicular precipice of about 1200 feet. I was amply rewarded for my trouble, however, by the number of new plants I found beside the glacier." It may be remembered that Mr. Darwin noticed the curious phenomenon of glaciers d-seending to the level of the sea in the Gulf of Penas, on the similarly mountainous and stormy west coast of Patagonia (lat. 48 deg. S.); and no one can compare the opposite cast and west coasts of Scotous and stormy west coast of Patagonia (lat. 48 deg. S.); and no one can compare th: opposite east and west coasts of Scotland, Ireland, Norway and Sweden, South Afferica, and Tasmania, respectively, with those of the New Zealand islands, without being struck with the similarity of their prominent features. The castern side in all these cases is tolerably continuous in outline—flatter, drier, and more sunny; waile the western, which is the windward, is, on the contrary, indented by fingering fords, running deep into the heart of the country, which is mountainous, perennially humid, foggy, rugged, and boisterous, more uniform in temperature, and rarely visited by the sun's rays.

Soon Storate.—A valuable statistic of enow storms in Nova Social, during the last severy years, is published in the Picton Chronicle of the 2d inst., by Henry Poole, Esq., Superintendent of the Albion Mines. Mr. Poole has kept a Meteorological Journal for a number of years; as he is a gentleman of great scientific attiinments, and possessed of all the best modern instruments his observations have been greatly relied upon by men of science on both sides the Atlantic.

The Albion Mines are in lat. 45 ° 24 min. and 30 sec. North, lon. 62 ° 42 min. West.—Mr. Pool's table of snow storms extends from January 1844 to December 1851. He finds as the average of seven years, that nino feet six inches nearly fall annually on a level. In England nine inches of snow melted, average one inch of water; but in Nova Scotia, it requires seventeen inches of snow to make an inch of water. Mr. Poole therefore infere, that the snow of Nova Scotia is twice as light, or dry, as that of England; and con-

HASZARD'S GAZETTE

We had thought of effering some remarks upon the editorial in the Royal (Whelan's) Gazette, of the 15th instant, on the subject of the Georgetown Election, but we have altered our mind, for, in the first place, if worth answering at all, it has been effectually responded to by our worthy contemporary, the Islander; in the second place, because the threatened Scauriny having been abandoned, Mr. M'Aulay is the Member to all intents and purposes, and it has ceased to be in the power of Mr. Byrne or any one else to dispossess him of his Seat, unless, indeed, the Majority of the House may not like the cut of his face, in which case, according to the doctrine laid down by a Member of the present Administration, high in office, they will be perfectly justified in turning him out, any law to the contrary notwithstanding. Should any attempts be made to dispense with the Election Law, or to violate any of its provisions, we shall not fail to record them with a suitable commentary. We think it a good time, however, to bring to the notice of our readers, and, consequently, to that of such of the Members of the House of Assembly as may rank under that category, the conduct of the leaders in the neighboung Colony of Nova Scotia:—In the discussion on the subject of the Victoria Election, Mr. Johnston stated—"The question involved "important principles—it would be a precedent in all "time to come, and, if the House sanctioned the illegal "acts of the Deputy Sheriff, now open for their judg-"ment, they would enable a Sheriff at any future time to prevent the return of the Candidate having a ma"jority of votes, and who legally ought to be returned." He deprecated party spirit in the consideration of this At New Annan, on the 17th Dec., by the Rev. Robert Patterson, Mr. W. McKay, to Miss Rachel, 5th daughter of Mr. John Walker, of the same place.

At New Perth, on Wednesday last, after a lingering illness, borne with great patience, and Christian resignation, Eleanor, the third daughter of Mr. Peter Robertson. The deceased was a young we mad of very amiable character, and is deeply regreted by a large circle of relations and friends.

Then the question arose, who ought to take his Seat? He, therefore, considered that Mr. John Munro ought to take his Seat. By this opinion he might sacrifice a personal friend and political supporter, but he gave it as his conscientious sense of duty under the circumstances." Such are the sentiments which ought to prevail, and such the language which ought always to be used upon such occas We would suggest, however, that, as a right to a Seat in the House of Assembly is a legal one, it had better, in case of a contest, be decided by the legal tribunals of the land, who are skilled in the interpretation of claimed, but the causes which then existed exist no longer, and there can no injury happen, but, on the contrary, much benefit may arise from their being at times abandoned.

We were much pleased to observe in the bookstore of Mr. George Haszard, a copy of Bagsters comprehensive Bible, selected for the use of the pulpit in the Church at New London, under the charge of the Rev. Issae Merray.

This edition of the Scriptures is well known, and needs no enconium from us, coming as it does from one of the first Biblical presses of England, and the copy selected is in Messrs. Bagsters' best style of binding.

The Inte journals are devoted largely to accounts of the reception given by the American people to Kossath, since his arrival in the country. It appears, however, that in the hesitation of the Senate to receive him in a public capacity, the distinguished patriot has experienced a most unexpected and painful disappointment, and that their offer to him of a passage to the United States in a public ship was not understood by them in the sense in which he has interpreted it. In his reply to a deputation from Philadelphia, inviting him to visit that city, he says that he "considered himself invited to the could be centent to go beyond New York, he could not now say, but he was free to declare, that had the proceedings is Congress to which he had adverted, reached him before he left Europe, he would have hesitated about coming to the country at all." He gave a similar answer to a message of President Fillmore, "that he would have hesitated about coming to the country at all." He gave a similar answer to a message of President Fillmore, "that he would be pleased to see and webcopen M. Kossuth at the seat of government, and that he desired to know, when it was his intention to the late of the country at all." would be pleased to see and welcome M. Kossuth at the seat of government, and that he desired to know, when it was his intention to be in Washington." "His movements," he said, "were somewhat uncertain, and it was doubtful whether he should go to Washington at all. The action of the Senate was far from being agreeable, and circumstances would govern his future actions in regard to visiting Washington and other places." The meaning of which doubtless is, that he will visit Washington if invited there by a resolution of Congress, or by the Executive, but not otherwise.

THE POLICY OF GOVERNOR KOSSUTH.

THE POLICY OF GOVERNOR KOSSUTH.

As many rumors and surmises have been recently set afloat relative to the purpose of Kossuth in coming to this country, we think that the following explanation of his intentions will tend to allay all gronosus ideas upon the subject:

Kossuth simply asks that England and America shall units in affirming the policy that "every nation shall have the right to make and after its political institutions, to suit its own condition and convenience," and that the two nations (England and America) shall not only respect but cause to be respected this dectrine, so as to prevent Rassia from again marching her armies into Haugary. It is true, that the actual power of our country must stead behind its diplomacy in this as in other affairs; but by assuming this position, he holds that there would be no danger of our being involved in war. Let it be once understood, that England or America agree in maintaining this doctrine, and Russia would certoinly respect it. There is a wide difference between a resolute attitude, powerful enough to prevent interference, and the going to war to repulse an intervention already commenced. Gov. Kossuth has not intended to suggest that America should copy the example of France during our revolution, according to the letter, but according to the spirit. The circumstances are widely different, and all that can be hoped is, that a great and free country like his should act in behalf of freadom, according to the latter, but according to the half of freadom, according to the streatile.

A destructive fire broke out in Fortland, Me., on Sanday morning, last, which destroyed thirty-seven alores, several vessels at the wharfs, and a large amount of property. The total amount of losses is variously estimated at from $100,000 to $150,000.

SHIPWARCK AND LOSS OF LIPE.—Quebec Dec. 4.—It is nor melancholy duty to record another shipwreck below, attended with the loss of seventeen lives. The new ship Tyendonaga, Re-rence, during a violent snow storm, and sad to relate seventeen of her hands periahed; twelve having been throwe averheard by the fall of the ensimment, and the other five either killed, or drewned by the fall of the foretopmant. The Captain, Mate, second Mate, and three of the seamen wore saved, by Lashing themselves, the trigging, where they remained till about 6 o'clock in the avening, having been. 17 hours on the wreck, the sea washing over them all the time, when seeing a fire on the shore and it being low water, they jumped overboard, and have in the surf, where they were met by twe Indlina, who took them to their house, and rendered them all the assistance possible. On the 24th, Schr. Saint Helena, Bernier, Master, came to their rescue, took them on board and landed them ands a Capt. Redelph reports that the ship went to pieces before they left. Eight of the bodies of the unfortunate seamen were picked up on shore and buried at the same place.

The Ship Aberdeen is on shore opposite Kamaraska, and it is supposed she will be a total wreck.

A telegraphic Despatch from Quebee, to the St. John Reading Room, states that Messre. Stewart and Dubbord have been elected for that Gity, and M. Chauvean for the County. There had been much rioring in some of the Districts—hay forks, chisels stuck on sticks, and other weapons had been used. In two Wards—Champlain and Rooh's—troops were called out to keep paace.

ROFESSOR A. G. BARRY'S "TRICOPHEROUS or MEDICATED SYRUP—Truth loves an incredulous audience, for, if they listen, they are sure to become converts. If there is any man or woman who challenges the statement that Barry's Tricopherous is a specific for cutaneous diseases and injeries, and the best preparation for the hair extant, all that is asked is that he or she will try one twenty-five cent bettite of the fluid, and read the pamphlet in which it is enclosed. Read and make the trial. Truth will then force conviction upon the mind, that all, and more than all, that has been claimed for the preparation by the inventor, is as pulpable a fact as the existence of the sun, or changes of day and night. Referring the reader to the thing itself, and the accompanying treatises for a solution of all his doubts, if he entertaines any, we will here briefly state what the Tricopherous will do. It will remove sourf and dandraff; it will restore, preserve and beautify the hair; it will prevent it from becoming harsh or gray; it will dispose the hair to curl and render it glossy: it will relieve inflammation, itshing and all irritation of the skin; it will cure bites and sprains; it will also tway the pain of cuts, burns, bruises and sprains; it will take away the pain of cuts, burns, bruises and sprains; it will take away the pain of cuts, burns, bruises and sprains; it will and one should travel without it. Sold in large bottles, pice 25 cents, at the principal office, 137 Broadway, New Vert. For sale by the principal merchants and draggists throughout the United States and Canada. ## Darieties.

THE NEWSPAPER.—In no other way can so much, so varied, so aseful information be imparted, and under circumstances so favourable for educating the child's mind, as through judicious, well-conducted newspapers. To live in a village, was, once, to be shut up and contracted. But now a man may be a hermit and yet a cosmopolite. He may live in the forests, walking miles to a post office, having a mail but once a week, and yet he shall be found as familiar with the living world-as the busiest actor in it! For, the newspaper is a spy glass by which he brings near the most distant things;—a microscope by which he oblicets and brings within his hearing all that is said and done all over the earth;—a museum full of curiosities;—a picture gallery full of living pictures from life, drawn met on canvasa, but with printer's isk on paper. The effect, in liberalizing and enlarging the mind of the young, of this weekly commerce with the world, will be apparent to any one who will ponder it. Once, a liberal elucation could only be completed by foreign travel. The sons only of the wealthy could indulge in this costly benefit. But now, the poor man's son can learn as much at home, as, a hundred years ago, a gentleman could learn by journeying the world, it is the poor man's privilege to have the world come to see him! The newspaper is a great Collector, a great Traveller, a great Lecture. It is the common people's Encyclopedia—the Lyceum, the College!—Rev. H. W. Beecher.

END OF A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN.—The celebrated Lady Hamilton was distinguished above almost every other woman of her age, for personal beauty. Her accomplishments were scarcely inferior. She was skilled in music and painting; she had exquisite taste, and her features would express every emotion by turns. The only occasion on which Beckford of Fonthill Abbey threw open his splendid mansion to company, was when Lady Hamilton along with Lord Nelson visited it. All that the wealth of the princely owner could furnish, was provided to give splendour to the scene. The grounds were illuminated by lamps and torches, and the interior of the apartments was a blaze of jewelry, gold and silver. Spiced wine, and confectionary in golden baskets, were handed round to the company. A numerous party was assembled, and Lady Hamilton about the envy of them all. Attired in a rich costame, she entered with a golden urn in her hands, and recited some verses, which the company was far too polite not rapturously to applaud, spoken as they were by one, who had such influence over the hero of the hour. No one was there to tell her that all this was deception; that sin carried its own punishment with it, and that the pleasure she was pursaing was a vain shadow!

Thirteen years after the banquet at Fonthill had taken place, a lady baying some meat for her dog, at a butcher's stall in Calais, was thus accosted by the butcher's wife—

'Ahl madam! you seem a benevice! Lady, and up stairs there is a poor Eaglish woman who would be glad of the smallest piece of meat which you are buying for your dog.'

Who then was the grateful recipient of such humble alms? Alas! it was the beautiful Lady Hamilton? After the death of Lord Nelson, deserted by those who fawned upon her in prosperity, she gradually became impoverished; and died in a wretched lodging in Calais. Her body was put into a common deal-box, without any incertition, and over the praised of statesmen, warriors, opets, and artists, the funeral service was read by an Irish officer on half-pay. Suc

A PLACE FOR EVERY THING AND EVERY THING IN ITS PLACE.—'That's old; I have seen it before a great many times.' So says a young friend. Very well. But have you learned it? *Learned it? How could I help learning it, when I have read it, and heard it, repeated so often. It's as familiar as A, B, C.' All that may be, and yet you may not have learned it. Nothing is well learned, till you have learned it practically. You have not mastered a rule in the Arithmetic, when you have committed it to memory. that may be, and yet you may not have tear ned it. Nothing is well learned, it lly ou have learned it practically. You have not mastered a rule in the Arithmetic, when you have committed it to memory. You must learn to do the runs. What I would know is, whether you practise this rule. I should like to look in upon you now and see. There is a hook for every article of your clothing: a place for your books, and a drawer for your books.—But I find a garment on the floor, another on a chair, your books—case topsy turry, some books standing on their heads, others shoved in with their titles to the wall; some laid on the tops of the row, so that, when you go to take out one, it will tumble down.—And the table and floor are strewed with papers. And if I follow about the house, I find it just so with every thing you attempt to do. Whatever article you take in your hand, somehow contracts your habits, and loses its way, so as never to get back to its place, till some one else comes along and shows it the way home. Thus, you make your parents more work to regulate things after you, than all you do for them.

Now consider how much happier you would feel, to go into your room and always find every thing in nice order. It would diffuse an air of cheerfulness around it, that would actually cure you of the "sulks." And if you prize the approbation of your parents, you would get ten amiles, where you now get five frowns, if they would always find every thing after you in its place. And all these advantages you would get for nothing; for it does not take as mach time to put things in their places, whenever you use them, as it does to threw them down, and thus have every thing to put to rights. You cannot tell how much more cheerful and happy you would be, if you would you try!

A tell know wall counterness accounterness at seaned into the Court Room at Devented to the sucks."

A tall keen-eyed countryman stepped into the Court Room at Detroit, the other day, during the progress of the Railroad Trial. Stepping up to a speciator, he requested, that the prisoners might be pointed out to him. The man he accosted, heing somewhat of a wag, pointed towards the jary. The fellow soamed the twelve with his informer, and whispered, "well, they are a hard-footing set, aint they! I know by their looks they ought to go to State prison every one of these."

A SUPPLIERT EXCUSE —A gentleman having lately been called on to subscribe to a course of lectures, declined, "because," aid he, "my wife gives me a lecture every night for nothing."

SCRAPS FOR THE CURIOUS.—If a tallow candle be placed in a m, and shet at a door, it will go through without austining any inery; and if a musice ball be fired into water, it will rebound and factured as if fired against any hard substance. A musice may freed through a pane of glass making the hold the size of the ball shoutersaking the glass; if the glass be suspended by a thread it is make no difference, and the thread not even vibrate. Cork, if a knike of the contract of the pressure of a water. In the Atotic regious, when the thermometer is below to, persons can converse more than a mile distant. Dr. Jamieson eris that he heard every word of a sermon at the distance of two less on a still day, with a perfect distinctness.

Str;
This is to certify that I was, for this last 12 months, troubled with Fits; and, from their very severe attacks, thought each one would terminate my existence; and, in addition to the Fits, I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and was extremely weak and nervous. I heard a great deal about S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, for which you are Agent. I was advised to try it. And strange and wonderful to relate, before using the contents of one bottle, was greatly benefited.
Indeed, so rapid and effectual was the curse, that it appeared to me to be almost miraculous. And I think that, in justice to the public and suffering humanity, I am bound to make the above statement, and asy, that a greater blessing, in my opinion, than S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparilla never came to this Island.

Certificates of a highly estifactory character in praise of these articles of Provincial manufacture appear elsewhere, in this issue, and from information afforded by parties who have similarly applied them, we can safely endorse the opinions therein contained.—Halifax Sun.
