GOOD AS ANY AND BETTER THAN MANY

The East Lambton Fair an All Round Success.

PERFECT WEATHER, SPLENDID EXHIBITS, BIG CROWD.

The last fair under the auspices of the East Lambton Ag'l Society was held on the fair grounds on Thursday and Friday of last week. Under the new Agricultural Act district societies will disappear, and fairs in future will be known by the name of the town in which they are held. The East Lambton has been in existence for half a century, and has played no small part in encouraging and developing the agricultural interests of the territory it represents. Its name departs, but the good work will still go on with renewed energy and determination to maintain the standard attained by years of hard work and experience. The directors of the old Society are deserving of high praise for the efforts they have put forth to make the Society a success, and their successors cannot do better than emulate the example set before them.

Every fair held this season has been heralded as the best west of London, a few ambitious managers making an exception of Toronto under protest. Our little fair last week was not the "Biggest and Best" ever held in the west, but the five thousand people who saw it went away satisfied and pronounced it "Just as Good" as any they had seen.

Contrary to the predictions of all the prophets, the weather could not have been better if made to President Farrell's order. The rain on Wednesday subdued the dust, and left the grounds in perfect shape. Thursday morning witnessed the opening of the fair, and exhibitors and fair officials were kept busy arranging the exhibits. Since the last fair there has been a transformation in the grounds and buildings that greatly increase the convenience and add to the appearance. The erection of a fine new grand stand and judges' stand on the west side of the track, and the removing of the performing platform opposite the grand stand, is a decided improvement, and one that has long been badly needed. The lower part of the exhibition hall has also been rearranged. The entire space has been taken up by local business men, who made an attractive display that was one of the features of the fair. A large tent was provided for the roots and vegetable and grain and seeds exhibit, where they could be shown and seen to better advantage. The spacious upper floor was well filled with ladies' work, domestic manufacture, and fine arts. Visitors were loud in their praises of the skill and taste displayed in producing the many wonderful specimens of needle work and art. This department has always been a feature of the fairs held here, and the exhibit this year has not been surpassed. The show of stock, especially horses, could scarcely be excelled. The judges were kept busy until dark making the awards, and stated that they had never judged a larger or better class of horses. In this department there were 354 entries alone. Sheep, hogs and poultry were there in quality and quantity. Dairy and grain and seeds were not as numerous as represented as former years, and fruit also fell off in quantity. Space will not permit reviewing the different departments, but the prize list, which will found on page 5, will supply details.

The merry-go-round did a good business.

The biggest show of horses ever seen in Lambton.

No fakes or tough shows were allowed on the grounds.

Exhibitor No. 504 is requested to send his address to the Secretary.

The new grand stand was well patronized. Visitors appreciate a good thing.

Exhibitors are requested to report any errors or omissions in the prize list to the Secretary.

J. W. Prangley, of Strathroy, purchased Skidoo, winner of second money in the 2.30 race. Price said to be $200.

Autos were numerous. Sam Hitchcock, of Sarnia, did a good business carrying passengers to and from the grounds.

Nate Wade, of Bothwell, made an efficient starter at the races, and H. Brake and W. Bradley were in the judges' stand.

The talented Caughlin Family, of Sarnia, are accomplished musicians and vocalists, and their playing and singing was much admired.

The quality of the home made bread, made from Dunlop's flour, was good proof that there is no better flour made than the Watford brand.

E. Dowding's special for oldest married couple on the grounds was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Watson, who have been married for 56 years.

Among the distinguished visitors were J. E. Armstrong, M.P., J. Cowan, K. C., D. N. Sinclair, Governor McArthur, and Registrar Saunders, Sarnia.

The young ladies of the Presbyterian Church, who conducted a dining booth under the grand stand, were kept busy serving their numerous patrons.

P. E. Kyle, of the Wyoming Enterprise, H. J. Pettipiece, Forest Free Press, and J. Pearson, London Free Press, represented their journals at the fair.

The directors are under obligations to Mr. P. E. Fuller, who circulated a list and secured a handsome subscription towards the erection of the new Judges' stand. The Society wishes to thank all who assisted in making the fair a success.

The Hastings' Wagon and Sleigh Works had a number of their vehicles on exhibition. This firm make wagons and sleighs that are not surpassed for durability and easy draft in the Dominion, and have a reputation known near and far.

P. Dodds & Son had a very attractive exhibit of boots and shoes and wall paper. The goods were nicely arranged and displayed to advantage. The quality and style was favorably commented on, and the exhibit did credit to the firm.

The dairy demonstration by Miss Green, of the O. A. C., attracted many visitors, who watched the process with interest. Miss Green gave visitors much valuable information regarding butter making and the proper preparation of the ingredients required.

All parties having accounts against the Society are requested to hand them in to the Secretary before Oct. 20th. The directors will meet on that date to pass the prize list, etc., after which prizes will be paid on presenting an order from the Secretary on the Treasurer.

C. McLean, of Alvinston, 9 years of age, was awarded Swift's special for the youngest boy taking prize on stock. Clifford Edwards, son of S. W. Edwards, of Warwick, 8 years of age, was given a special. The boys handled their exhibits in the show ring like old timers.

Swift Bros. display of furs, ladies' coats, laces, etc., was the centre of attraction for the ladies, who viewed the magnificent goods with great interest. Some rare and costly garments and laces were shown, the enterprising firm sparing neither expense or trouble.

The display on the ground floor of the hall by the local merchants was a credit to their enterprise and good taste. L. D. Caldwell exhibited the popular Newcombe piano, organs, sewing machines and musical goods. Taylor & Sons and J. W. McLaren, druggist's specialties and souvenir goods. H. Schlemmer, Bell pianos, organs, sewing machines, etc. H. A. Cook, a handsome real mahogany drawing room suite. T. Dodds, stoves and ranges. G. L. Bryce, extra fine harness and travellers' outfits.

Citizen's night on Thursday was a great success. The weather was fine, and a large crowd were in attendance. The hall was lit up in good shape, and the grand stand and platform loomed up brilliantly. The ladies thronged the hall before the concert commenced, and admired the fine display. The program on the stand was first class—and was furnished by the Silver Band, Caughlin Family Orchestra, John A. Kelly, the Watford Male Quartette, Mr. J. Thompson. The talent acquitted themselves with great credit, and the entertainment was pleasing throughout. This feature promises to become more popular every year.

President Farrell would not consider a fair complete without a baby show, and, as usual he conducted the affair with rare tact and discretion. Mr. W. Bailey performed the duties of judge, and, being a husky fellow got away without losing any hair. The prize for the prettiest baby under 12 months went to Mrs. O. Cook, Mrs. Fred Conkey, second, Mrs. E. Davidson, third; Special, Mrs. H. Kerton, Mrs. Butler. Heaviest baby, Mrs. Fred Conkey, Mrs. O. Cook. Youngest baby on grounds, Mrs. H. Kerton. Youngest pair of twins, Mrs. J. Manders.

MR. FRED DEAN, Government dairy inspector, has been in Petrolia looking over the Danville creamery plant. He reports everything in good condition. THE department will allow an open season for quail this year during the month of November. A circular sent out draws attention to the necessity of sportsmen practicing a little self-denial and be satisfied with three or four partridges per day, instead of destroying whole beves, as in the past. Mr. Tinsley trusts that the lovers of sport will be guided by the admonition contained in this letter.

MAVOR FOLINSBEE, of Strathroy, has been enacting the roll of dictator in town matters ever since his election last January, and the trouble came to a focus last week, when he refused to sign certain bylaws passed by the council regarding the collection of taxes. The council then elected one of its members as deputy-mayor, and gave him authority to sign the bylaws with the clerk. The mayor, in return for this, threatens legal action to settle the matter.

AND now it transpires that the swartly foreigners who carry packs throughout Ontario are adroit smugglers only paying duty on a small portion of the goods they import. People should be careful about dealing with these people, as the purchaser of smuggled goods, when detected, is liable to have the goods confiscated and is also subject to a heavy fine.

MESSRS MONCRIEFF & Wilson of Petrolia acting under instructions from J. J. Hunt, a prominent ratepayer of Alvinston have instituted quo warranto proceeding against Daniel Genge, the reeve of that village, to have him disqualified and unseated. The ground for the proceedings is based on the alleged fact that Genge has a contract to supply acetylene gas to the village hall. Under section 80 of the Municipal Act, this would appear to be fatal to his right to act as presiding officer at the village council, if proved. The matter will be threshed out before Judge MacWatt, of Sarnia, on Oct. 12th.

If you are indebted to McDonnell & Son settle your account before they are handed over for collection.

The Municipal World says that a township council has no authority to pay damages for sheep killed or injured unless a fund is created for the purpose by the imposition and collection of a tax on dogs. If there is any balance to the credit of the dog fund in the hands of the treasurer carried forward from a period during which a dog tax was collected in the township the balance can be used in paying damages for sheep killed or injured so far as it will go.

MR. H. C. POPE, of Strathroy, solicitor for Metcalfe township, has served notice of appeal in the case in which the townships of Metcalfe and Brooke were recently interested in regard to the $2,000 damages awarded to Duncan Campbell and wife by Chief Justice Falconbridge. The townships have instructed their solicitors to enter an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. The townships are determined to find out the limit to which the courts will go in placing responsibility on the township for accidents on the highway.

MENS coats of all kinds. Now is your time to buy rain, tweed, fur and fur-lined.—SWIFT BROS.

THE recently revised threshing law means that for ten days after the threshing machine has moved off his farm the farmer is liable for the wages of the working men employed during his threshing, and also for any repairs done to the machine during his threshing in case the creditors enter an action to recover wages or cost of repairs inside the limit of ten days. This is, of course, up to the amount of his threshing bill. This law will have the effect of making it quite unsafe for a farmer to pay for his threshing until ten days after completion.—Ex.

RECENTLY some parties have taken it upon themselves to shoot tame pigeons, possibly without knowing that it is contrary to the provisions of the criminal law which reads as follows: "Title VI, sec. 307, criminal code—Everyone commits theft who kills the creature killed who kills any living creature capable of being stolen with intent to steal the carcass, skin, plumage, or any part of such creature. Section 501 provides a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars fine or three months' imprisonment at hard labor."

We can supply you with the best stoves and ranges in the market and at prices that will please you.—T. DODDS.

DONALD ROSS, a farmer, whose home is near Forest, was found dead in bed Thursday morning at the Walker House, Toronto. The gas jet was turned on, the fumes of the escaping gas being detected by some guests in the adjacent rooms. Ross had evidently turned off the gas and then turned it on again. Coroner Cotton investigated and deemed an inquest unnecessary. Ross, who was about fifty years of age, came to the city on Wednesday and intended returning home yesterday. The remains were taken in charge by Mr. Alexander Millard, and were shipped to Forest for interment next morning. Deceased was a prominent member of the Forest Masonic Lodge and is survived by a wife and family.

THERE was the usual crowded house at the concert in the Music Hall, Friday evening. President Farrell presided and introduced a first-class program. Mr. Geo. Ellis Fax made his first appearance before a Watford audience and well sustained his reputation as a vocalist of high rank, and a versatile entertainer. John A. Kelly, of Toronto, Ventriloquist, presented a novel and entertaining number with his talking figures, and kept the audience in the best of spirits. The clever Caughlin Sisters in their vocal and musical specialties pleased everybody, and our own Male Quartette sang in splendid form. The program was the best presented here for some time. Miss Etta Smith was the efficient accompanist of the evening.

P. DODDS & SON have now in stock a large assortment of long boots, heavy shoes and rubbers from the best makers in Canada. Prices right.

BRUTEN—CAMPBELL.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. P. McLean, Rokeby, on Wednesday, Sept. 26, when her eldest daughter, Miss Eliza, was married to Mr. Charles Bruten, of Brigden. The Rev. J. Wallace, of Inwood, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. H. McLean, and looked handsome in white silk chiffon over blue silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Christy McLean, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and wore green reseda and carried pink carnations. Weda Lucas, dressed in white silk, made a very pretty little flower girl. Mr. R. Armstrong, Brigden, supported the groom. The presents were beautiful and costly showing the high esteem in which the young couple were held. Mr. and Mrs. Bruten left for a short wedding trip to Rochester, Canandaigua and other points, after their return they will take up their residence in Brigden.

How to Preserve the Eyesight.

In reading do not face the window or a bright light. At night have a shade on the lamp or electric light, when the eyes are tired, writing or sewing, bathe them in salt water with a pinch of salt added. Wear a colored glass when out driving or walking in a glare of light, as when the sun is shining on the snow or on cement sidewalks.

If from any cause you find your eyesight is failing, either consult the physician or an oculist. An oculist is a physician and surgeon who has made a special study of the eye and who alone is capable of examining the eye for diseased conditions and prescribing glasses, an oculist will not prescribe glasses unless they are required. Neither do they call at houses. None but peddlars do that. Be careful to avoid all self-styled and so-called doctors of optics, professors, neurologists calling themselves "doctors." Remember all "doctors" who advertise examinations free of charge are not legally qualified. No person in this country professes to work for nothing except self-styled doctors, professors, etc. The pretention of working for nothing is the greatest fake ever imposed on the credulity of the public. The country, including town and village, is over-run by these gentry who are so desirous of exchanging their cheap glasses for your hard-earned cash. Should a person break his leg he would not think of calling in a carpenter or shoemaker to reduce the fracture, but would send for a surgeon. Similarly if the eyesight is failing or the eye is diseased see an oculist and avoid fakirs unless you wish to lose your money and eyesight. Always set the dog on pedlars.

The Deaf Made To Hear.

Deafness because usually due to Catarrh, is quite curable. In a thousand cases this is proved absolutely true. Success invariably attends the use of Catarrhazone which has cured catarrhal deafness of twenty-five years standing. Penetrating through the passages of the ear, the soothing vapor of Catarrhazone relieves the inflammation, destroys the mucus of Catarrh and thereby allows nature to re-assess herself. Try Catarrhazone yourself, 25c and $1.00 sizes sold by all dealers.

Want University in Calgary.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 27.—The Presbyterian synod asked the government for the establishment of a university at once. They ask that for the first few years the worth of the university might be confined to a two years' course.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

Sheep Killed by Dogs.

The Municipal World says that a township council has no authority to pay damages for sheep killed or injured by dogs, unless a fund is created for the purpose by the imposition and collection of a tax on dogs. If their is any balance to the credit of a dog fund in the hand of the treasurer carried forward from a period during which a dog tax was collected in the township, the balance can be used in damages for sheep killed or injured as far as it will go.

Another Great Discovery.

A well known gentleman in Black Bay, Ont., Mr. John Cowan, has discovered an absolute specific for rheumatism, and writes: "I am affected with Sciatica and chronic rheumatism which I contracted years ago. The disease had a great hold in my blood, and it was hard to make any impression on it. Reading of Ferruzone I was convinced of its merit and it's certainly the best I have ever tried. Why it just drove away the rheumatism. Even stiffened old sufferers will experience quick results. The reason is that Ferruzone acts through the blood and thereby destroys the cause of the disease. Price 50c per box at all dealers."

Good Enough.

Occasionally the good man grows dissatisfied with this land of plenty; the milk is too rich or the honey too sweet and he doesn't like to have it flow over his land. Anyway he parts with his farm, sells his live stock and other things too numerous to mention and moves to Kansas. There he takes his good Canadian money and buys a farm which is to-day and to-morrow is not, or he tries Colorado and slushes around in the mud irrigating a strip of bottom so narrow that a cow couldn't jump in a field because she jumps over it. Then he hears of Texas and goes down to hunt the bag of gold on the rainbow; in the day time he scratches sand-burs out of his flesh and at night the tarantulas nibble at his feet and the centipedes crawl over his face. When his money is all gone he feels like he did the first night he stayed away from home. He yearns for the land of his birth and the yearn sticks in his throat and chokes him until his eyes are filled with tears. He would give anything within his power to again see the cows standing at the bars of his "Old Canadian Home," and hear the bell ring for supper.

When Long Breaths Hurt.

You know that troubles exist which need quick attention. Proper action consists in a vigorous rubbing of the back and side with Nerviline which sinks into the tissues where the pain is seated, and gives relief in a few minutes. No liniment, so clean, so powerful. Results guaranteed with every 25c bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Get it to-day.

WORK SKIN GAME.

Crew of Sharks Fleeces Montreal. Then Go to Toronto.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—Persons from Chicago who have been collecting large amounts of money in this city, ostensibly for numerous public institutions, have moved to Toronto, as they left Montreal some days ago.

The band comprises Harry Leslie and six young women. Leslie made arrangements to give a concert for the benefit of public institutions in Montreal, which were to receive 50 per cent. for tickets sold, but nothing was said regarding subscriptions, which were taken up by Leslie and his young women assistants. Chief Carpenter had his attention drawn to the "graff" and warned the institutions in question, and thereupon they both declared the concert off. In the meantime, however, some $6,000 has been collected from the city's easy citizens, and now the group has moved on, preparatory to doing Toronto or other Ontario centers.

Deer Takes Trip.

London, Ont., Sept. 27.—George Heaman, of London, owns a deer park in Grand Bend. A week ago a deer was frightened by a dog and jumped over a seven-foot wire fence, making its escape from the inclosure. Heaman was notified that the animal was seen in the neighborhood of Zurich. A few days later the deer was seen in Arkona. Later it had returned to Grand Bend and had jumped the fence and was once again in the park with its mates. The animal had eluded its pursuers for nearly a week and had covered over 100 miles on its trip.

Heir to Fortune.

Alvinston, Sept. 26.—Mrs. W. R. Cooper, who resides here, was one of the fortunate sisters of Mr. Lafayette Goodnow, the North Dorchester farmer, who recently inherited a large fortune through the death of a millionaire uncle in New York city. Mrs. Cooper's share in the estate will amount to something over $45,000, which was the amount given to each of the six nieces and nephews.

Half of Goderich Arrested.

Goderich, Ont., Sept. 27.—An injunction was granted preventing the G. T. R. from laying down a siding in Goderich. This order was ignored by the G. T. R. employees, who had hardly started when the officers of the law appeared and arrested all hands, 25 in number.

THE ALAMEDA.

A Famous Park That Is the Pride of Mexico City.

Nearly every city thinks its own parks the most beautiful on the face of the earth. This pride it is that has given to Europe and America their magnificent recreation and pleasure grounds. The German points with pride at the Thiergarten in Berlin and cries, "Match it if you can!" Whereupon the Parisian and the Londoner act the showman, with a wealth of gestures, proclaiming their own achievements.

The New Yorker has his Central park shrine, with which Belle Isle, at Detroit; Fairmount park, at Philadelphia; Shaw's gardens, at St. Louis; Lincoln park, at Chicago, and a hundred others are constantly being compared. With such a host of competitors for world honors it would be a bold person who would claim for Mexico City's Alameda the first place. It can at least be said of the park, however, that it stands at the head in a land of riotous flowers and tropical growths.

We Americans who have heard a hundred times of the Alamo, at San Antonio, Tex., may associate that name with the Alameda, for alamo is the Spanish word for poplar, the tree that was first planted extensively in the Alameda. Just twenty-eight years before the landing at Plymouth rock the viceroy of Mexico, Don Luis de Velasco, asked that a sum should be appropriated by the city for making pleasure grounds.

The market place of San Hipolito was the most convenient for that purpose, so changes were immediately made, trees planted, fountains erected, flowers set out and a high inclosing wall built that was pierced by gateways. West of this park extended an open space known by the significant name of Plaza del Quemadero, or burning place. Here rose a broad stone platform where the victims of the inquisition were burned.

About the time of the American Revolution this torture platform was removed and the open space added to the Alameda, resulting in a tract containing some twenty-two acres, being nearly 1,500 feet long and about half as wide. Miles of walks wind in and out among the shady nooks and pass in their meanderings a garden for birds and playgrounds for children, as well as numerous statues and figures.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A compliment is always exaggerated. The trouble with the marriage list is that it has to be revised so often.

About the only consolation found in growing old is that there is always one who is older.

These people with a great deal of assurance are quite often right, much as we dislike them.

Hatred of the rich is not modern. Remember the Bible story about Dives and Lazarus and how the rich man was punished?

Every man must be his own doctor and decide what is best in his case. The doctors and philosophers do not agree on anything.

A MEDICINE CHEST IN ITSELF.—Only the well-to-do can afford to possess a medicine chest, but Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil, which is a medicine chest in itself, being a remedy for rheumatism, lumbago, sore throat, colds, coughs, catarrh, asthma, and a potent healer for wounds, cuts, bruises, sprains, etc., is within the reach of the poorest, owing to the cheapness. It should be in every house.

HAT BURNS ON HEAD.

London Woman Has Exciting Time on the Street.

London, Ont., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Borland, wife of ex-Fireman Borland, was passing the fire station, when Firemen Mitchell and Bolton were astonished to see flames leaping from Mrs. Borland's hat.

The firemen were quick to act. Mitchell knocked the hat from the lady's head, and then Bolton smothered with his hands the burning pieces, which were clinging to her dress. Mrs. Borland is at a loss to account for the fire. It is thought that as she was walking along the street some person tossed a burning match out of an upper window, and that it set fire to the light muslin on the hat.

Teaching A Girl How To Drive. Secure a good, easy-going horse and a neat covered buggy and having placed the girl firmly by your side, where you can secure a strong hold in cases of emergency, proceed to a lonely, unfrequented road where you'll be uninterrupted.

If the girl displays any signs of nervousness do your best to soothe her. There are a number of ways to do this. Take her hand in yours and pat it gently. Speak to her in a low, soft tone. If absolutely necessary place her head upon your shoulder and count one hundred. If not effective, repeat in one minute.

Now she may take the lines, crack the whip and say "geddelp!" It will then be your turn to get nervous. While the girl is clutching the lines you clutch her. It will then be time to rest. This should not take any longer than the rest of the afternoon.

By the time you have got so you can kiss the girl without getting nervous, she ought to be able to drive.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured. by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube is restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Constable in Mix Up. Strathroy, Sept. 28.—County Constable, Jake Cutler got into trouble the other day with Asel Ames, a farmer from Metcalfe, with the result that they came to blows.

It appears that Ames was under the impression that the constable had promised him $25 for certain information in connection with the Caradoc cattle stealing affair about three years ago.

The constable says he told him that Detective Northgraves may have promised $25, but he was positive that he had never made any such promise.

This was apparently too much for the Metcalfe man, who thereupon attacked the officer and a general mix-up ensued. No arrests, however, have followed the affair.

This will enable them to take the course while teaching.

Duration of Lightning Flash.

We possess as yet only pretty vague data as to the average duration of flashes of lightning. Faraday thought he could fix it a second. Dufour claimed that the flashes of lightning were instantaneous, and that their rapid succession gave the illusion of one flash of a certain duration.

Heur Schmidt has just been devoting himself to a series of observations, employing a disk of ten centimeters diameter, bearing upon a black ground a white cross, the arms of which were two millimeters across, the disk being set in motion by clockwork with a speed of fifty to sixty revolutions a second.

At certain flashes the cross appeared a single time, very distinct; the duration of lightning was, therefore, inferior to the time of revolution of the disk, which would represent the fiftieth of a second. In more numerous cases the cross appeared two or three times, or even more, but with a decreasing luminous intensity; the lightning had therefore lasted during several revolutions of the disk.—L'Illustration.

Beware of Mercury

You May be Using this Harmful Drug and Not Know It.

A favorite method of administering this deleterious drug is in cathartic pills. Beware of "quick-result" articles, they may do more harm than good. Drastic cathartics will weaken the strongest. With old people they are a positive menace to life.

Merely to restore normal bowel action and gently stimulate the liver is all that the wise physician recommends. To keep the system clean and clear, nothing is so efficacious as the vegetable pills of Dr. Hamilton, which are composed of such herbs as mandrake, butternut and dandelion; they contain not an atom of any substance that could injure even an infant.

By their certain action on the Liver Dr. Hamilton's Pills cause bile to be secreted which forms the stimulus that moves the bowels: this is nature's own method and the best one.

Mr. R. Hamly, of French River, Ont., writes as follows: "I was inclined to bilious attacks and frequently was too ill to work. Most remedies purged and weakened my bowels, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills gently stimulated my liver, and by strengthening the stomach made a perfect cure. My health has been just splendid since I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills from your druggist or storekeeper, 25c per box or five boxes for $1.00. By mail from N. C. Polton & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., or Kingston, Ont.

Charged with Theft. Petros, Sept. 26.—Chief of Police Ferguson recently arrested George Farrow and George Morrison, who both claim to hail from London. Owing to the absence of Magistrate Duncan and Mayor Noble the prisoners were taken to Wyoming this morning for a hearing before one of the local magistrates.

PREVENT DISORDER.—At the first symptoms of internal disorder, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills should be resorted to immediately. Two or three of these salutary pellets, taken before going to bed, followed by doses of one or two pills for two or three nights in succession, will serve as a preventive of attacks of dyspepsia and all the discomforts which follow in the train of that fell disorder. The means are simple when the way is known.

LITTLE BELL BIOGRAPHIES

Chopin

FREDERIC-FRANCOIS CHOPIN, born at Warsaw 1810, died 1849, stands alone as a composer and as a pianist. Unlike his great predecessors, his life from boyhood up was devoid of incident. He was celebrated, but not mighty. He had no failures and no triumphs. Yet in one department of music he remains the unrivalled master of the modern world. Although he never essayed the larger modes of composition, save the sonata and the concerto, he is unequalled in the dance forms—mazurkas, waltzes, polonaises—and in some other short forms, such as the etude and nocturne. From among these it is hard to choose any that are popular, although when heard they are greatly admired. They are all pure, sweet, sentimental, full of refined emotion and peculiarly haunting melody.

Almost all his works were written for pianoforte solo. When he made his debut in Vienna at the age of 19, he was even then a finished virtuoso. But he was the very opposite of his contemporary, the mighty Liszt, or his brilliant countryman, Paderewski. They could make the piano thunder and roar, but Chopin made it cry—with indescribable sadness and beauty. To bring forth all poetic effects of his music he needed an instrument like Elizabeth Ellwood was born at Park Head Parish, of Kirkcaldy, County of Cumberland, England, on the 14th of Dec. 1829, came to Canada in 1844 with her parents, who settled in the Township of Chinguacousy, lived there two years and moved to McGillivray in 1849, on to what was known as the Thomas Ellwood farm, now owned by Geo. Lee. She was married in the old log house (that still stands on the farm) to Jos. Watson, in October, 1848, and moved to the 18th con., where she lived till the time of her death, Sept. 2nd, 1906. She was a kind and affectionate mother and leaves a family of nine children, John W., of Theford; Mrs. R. Keown, McGillivray; Mrs. W. Windsor, McGillivray; Mrs. B. Lampert, Brinsley; Mrs. J. Gibson, Arkona; Mrs. W. Blow, McGillivray; Mark, Thomas K., and Victoria at home. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church for over 50 years. In her home the early Methodist ministers always found a hearty welcome.

Mr. M. Leggett, Reeve of Wyoming, left last week for Red Deer where he has purchased a farm and will in future reside there.

James Bullock of the first con., has sold his 50 acre farm to Mac Campbell for the sum of $2,400. James thinks of going west.

Mrs. Peter McDonald, who spent the summer with her parents, left Monday last for her home in New Westminster. She was accompanied by Miss Jennie B. Dewar, who will be absent for one year.

It is with regret we have to chronicle the death of an old pioneer of Plympton in the person of Geo. Forbes on Monday the 24th ult. in his 80 year. Mr. Forbes had been a resident of Plympton for 52 years, having settled upon the farm where he has since lived, at that time a dense wilderness. In politics he was a staunch Liberal. He leaves a family of 3 sons and 3 daughters, John at home, James of Nebraska, Charles of Washburn, N. Dak. Mrs. J. R. Smith of Plympton, Mrs. Arch Laird, of Harwich, and Mrs. Neil Grant, of Sombra, all of whom survive him. Mrs. Forbes pre-deceased him 8 years ago. His remains were laid at rest in the South Plympton Cemetery, the services on Wednesday 26th being conducted by Rev. Richardson of Watford. The pall bearers were, John Dewar, M. Dewar, Arch Laird J. R. Smith, Neil Grant and Dr. Fletcher.

Haldimand County Councillor tells how Psychine cured his Lung Troubles

"I contracted a series of colds from the changing weather," says Mr. Bryce Allen, a well-known resident of Jarvis, Ont., and a member of Haldimand County Council for his district, "and gradually my lungs became affected. I tried medicine and doctors prescribed for me, but got no relief. With lungs and stomach diseased, nervous, weak and wasted, I began to use Psychine. With two months' treatment I regained my health. To-day I am as sound as a bell, and give all the credit to Psychine."

There is a proof of what Psychine does. It not only cures Colds and kills the germs of LaGrippe, Pneumonia and Consumption, but it helps the stomach, makes pure, rich blood and spreads general health all over the body. You will never have Consumption if you use

Larry's Wedding

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay

Copyright, 1903, by P. C. Eastman

When Larry Donovan was promoted from footman to coachman and moved from a room over the stables to a trim cottage with a fine view of the Hemstead's lawn he felt as if the summit of his ambition had been reached. If genius is a capacity for hard work Larry could well lay claim to it, for he toiled early and late with a pertinacity which set him high in the estimation of his employer and enabled him to put by a snug sum by the time he had been in America three years.

There was only one thing wanting to make Larry's happiness complete, and that was the presence of Ellen O'Meara, who was already on her way from the old country. A month ago Larry had sent the money for her transportation.

Ellen was the belle of Ballymoran, and his winning her was to be viewed in the light of a great triumph. For while it had been nip and tuck as to whether she would marry him or Tim Kearny. But Ellen had chosen Larry, and in the letters she wrote him from time to time there was no mention of Tim Kearny.

"Shure, her heart's all mine," said Larry to himself, and as the day of Ellen's landing approached his joy became more and more apparent.

Indeed, the whole Hemstead household took an interest in Ellen's home coming. The servants knew her age to a dot, that her eyes were as blue as the lakes of Killarney and her hair like burnished copper.

The morning of his wedding dawned clearly and Larry was in jubilant spirits as he took the Long Island train for New York. How Ellen would delight in their little cottage and exult in the surprise that her husband was not a groom, but a full fledged coachman.

Larry boarded the immigrant ferry-boat, and it was not till he had reached the immigration building on Ellis Island that he found that the Cedric, the steamer on which Ellen was coming, was a day late.

A whole twenty-four hours to spend without Ellen! Larry wandered disconsolately through the long bare halls of the building, stopping to look at the newly landed immigrants in their cage-like compartments and thinking of the time when he had been like them. In one of the halls a girl was talking to a stout coasted official and biting her lips to keep from crying. She was young and slender, with deep gray eyes.

Dear Mother

Your little ones are a constant care in Fall and Winter weather. They will catch cold. Do you know about Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, and what it has done for so many? It is said to be the only reliable remedy for all diseases of the air passages in children. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. It is guaranteed to cure or your money is returned. The price is 25c. per bottle, and all dealers in medicine sell.

SHILOH
This remedy should be in every household.

"I'm sorry," the official was saying kindly, "but we haven't been able to get any word of the aunt who was to meet you, and you're too young a girl to work alone in the city. It's against the law. If your aunt doesn't come for you, you'll have to go back to Ireland to your own people."

"But they're all dead," said the girl. "Shure, there's no one belonging to me at all except this aunt in New York whom I've never seen. An' if she doesn't come for me"—The girl broke off with a sudden sob, so childish, so piteous, that Larry, in spite of his happiness, felt his heart ache for her.

"It's a shame, it is," he said to himself. "A poor young bit of a thing like that! Faith, if my Ellen was only here we might think of something to do for the girl." And on his way back to New York Larry determined to speak to Ellen about the matter. Women's wits were much better than men's in such cases.

Next morning he was early at the island and instead of waiting in the immigration building tramped up and down outside that he might catch the first glimpse of the boat that was bringing Ellen to him. Presently he descried it, and his blood raced at the sight.

He stood as near as he could to the gangplank and anxiously scanned the faces of the immigrants crowded on the deck, but Ellen's was not among them. Larry was filled with an anguish of apprehension. Then his heart leaped. He had seen the glint of Ellen's red gold hair. For an instant she faced him, their eyes met, and then she turned and spoke to a man beside her. He laughed and pushed back his cap. As he did so Larry recognized him. It was Tim Kearny. They were coming down the gangplank now, and Ellen, to steady herself, put a bare red hand on the railing. On her fourth finger gleamed a plain gold wedding ring.

Larry was too stunned to speak. Dazed, he turned toward the immigration building. He knew not what to do or where to go. The mockery of it all swept over him—the fruitless years of planning and working, the little house that he had meant to be so happy in. Worse than all, the shame of returning alone smote him to the quick. But as he stumbled on there flashed through his mind the memory of the gray eyed girl he had seen the day before. She had been so helpless, yet so lovely in her grief. Somehow the recollection of her loneliness seemed to draw him toward her as if by an invisible bond.

"Shure, misery loves company," he said to himself, "and if the girl could only learn to care for me 'tis joy and not sorrow might be in store for us."

He quickened his steps, fumbling in his pocket for the letters with which Mr. Hemstead had invested him in case he had trouble in proving his right to Ellen. They certified as to Larry's character and errand beyond a doubt and satisfied the middle aged official who ran his eye across them.

"Well?" he said.

The situation was a difficult one, and it took Larry some moments to explain.

Finally the official threw back his head and laughed. "We've had a good many romances on the island," he cried, "but this beats all! Still, as far as I can see, there's nothing against your marrying the girl if she consents. At present she's expecting to be deported, for we've found that her aunt died some days after the girl sailed."

So Nora MacManus was called from the women's detention room and came with a look of wonder, a wonder which deepened as she saw Larry.

"They're telling me you're from the old sod," said he, "and that your name's Nora MacManus. Is it of the Innishowan MacManuses ye are?"

"Yes," said Nora. Her voice was as soft as the run of a river.

"I was at Innishowan once myself," said Larry, and he went on to speak of the old people and the old times.

"Faith, they're a great bond when people are in a strange land," he said.

Then Larry took both of Nora's hands at the same time.

"Nora, girl," he said, "listen to me." While he was speaking she kept her gray eyes fixed on his honest blue ones. He did not pause until he had told her the whole story. "I've lost faith in one woman," he declared, "but not in all. And the little house back there is lonely and empty, and my heart—shure, it's lonely and empty too. Will ye come and fill it, Nora, alanna? Will ye trust me when I tell ye that the longer I stand here speakin' with ye the more I love ye?"

"It gives me a feelin' o' home to know they have the Blarney stone in America," said Nora, a gleam of humor appearing in her eye.

"I'm no worse than an aunt ye never had seen," pleaded Larry, "and I may be some better. And the people where we're going—shure, they'll never know but what you're the girl I came here to marry. There's such a thing as love at first sight, Nora, darlint, and that's what's the matter with me this minute. Ah, say ye'll marry me, though I know ye've never set eyes on me before."

"Oh, but I have!" cried Nora. "Yesterday in the hall"—She stopped with a quick blush.

"Ah," cried the delighted Larry, "then ye did notice me, my angel! 'Twas hardly a wink I got last night, for your face kept hauntin' me. I thought of what I'd heard ye say and how lonely and hard it was for ye, a girl in a strange land."

"Did ye, now?" said Nora. "There's few would have thought o' that!" A wonderful change passed over her face. Her eyes softened. "Ye think—if you're still shure"—She faltered, groping for a word.

"Ah, Nora, is it 'Yes' ye mean?" cried the ecstatic Larry.

And Nora nodded. So Larry and Ellen were married, and the kindly official and the matron of the detention room were witnesses of the simple ceremony. And it chanced that as he and his bride stood on the deck of the immigrant ferry they came face to face with Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kearny, also bound for New York.

"Nora, my dear," said Larry, "this is Mrs. Kearny. Mrs. Kearny, I'd like to make you acquainted with my wife, Mrs. Lawrence Donovan." He shot a sharp look at Tim. "Is it on your wedding thrip ye are?" he questioned and without waiting for an answer drew Nora toward the bow of the boat, so that in going down the gangplank they took precedence of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kearny, who followed sullenly behind and were just in time to see Larry call a cab, hand Nora into it and, jumping in after her, close the door with a victorious slam.

"There are times," said Larry, "when it pays to be extravagant," and, leaning over, he squeezed Nora's hand.

London's Comic Paper.

London Punch was concocted in the back parlor of a public house behind Drury Lane theater. The first editor of Punch was the landlord of that tavern, and in that room assembled almost every night some of the most lively wits of the day—more noted, as Dion Boucicault tells, for wit than money. The landlord made punch, and around the bowl those men would sit drinking, smoking and cracking jokes.

The landlord proposed that their jokes should not be wasted, that their wit should start a comic paper. A good idea, but what name to give it?

What name? The child should have its father's name. And the landlord pointed to the bowl of punch. And the paper was started. It struggled on for about a year and then was sold for £100 to Bradbury & Evans, the firm that printed it. The best writers in England hastened to their standard. It has the notoriety of being expelled from several kingdoms on the continent of Europe.—Sunday Magazine.

The Sun Not Burned Out.

It has been stated by such authorities as Kelvin, Newcomb and Ball that the future of the sun's activity will be comparatively short—not more than 10,000,000 years—and some have even suggested that the sun's activity already shows signs of waning. So far is this from being the case that only one-fourth of our supply of energy has been expended, and three-fourths are yet in store for the future life of the planetary system. This opens up to our contemplation a decidedly refreshing view of the future and will give renewed hope to all who believe that the end of mundane progress is not yet in sight. Not only should the future possibilities of scientific progress be vastly extended, but there will in all probability be the most ample time for the further development of the races of beings inhabiting this planet. According to this view, the evolution of our earth is still in its infancy, with the zenith of its splendor far in the future.—T. J. See in Atlantic.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

It is a common mistake to take artificial digesters for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 80 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organ—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop, of Racine, Wisconsin, learned early in his medical experience that these insidiously creeping ailments were the power nerves—that through them only was it possible to cure indigestion, heart weakness, nervousness, backache, Bright's disease, diabetes, and all other ailments of the insidiously creeping ailments. For all of these ailments, these ailments are not separate ailments, they are merely symptoms of the same ailment, and when the power nerves are restored the symptoms and the ailments disappear. The remedy which Dr. Shoop prescribed for these ailments is known as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It restores the main and driving nerves of the stomach and heart troubles quicker even than those medicines designed simply to give temporary relief. Dr. Shoop's Restorative (Tablets or Liquid) can now be had of druggists everywhere. For sale and recommended by

Hitting a House Boat

By CLAUDE PAMARES

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

Harold Strong was a New York artist and had painted the portrait of Ruth Bascomb and fallen in love with her. Whether she returned his love or not was the thing he was worrying over. Harry Stevens was a New York sculptor, and he had desired to bring out a marble bust of Miss Bascomb and also had fallen in love with her. As to whether she would consent to be "sculptured" and marry him was a matter that gave him headaches. Both the artist and the sculptor had sisters that were friendly with Ruth Bascomb, and this was the general situation for the playwright to build on.

The present situation was that Ruth Bascomb's mother, who was a fairly wealthy widow, had become possessed of a house boat and had determined to float around Princess bay and up the Shrewsbury river for a month or so. Her guests were to be the artist and his sister and the sculptor and his sister and two or three other persons.

A day was appointed, a tug engaged to tow the house boat down New York bay and leave her at her first anchorage, and all was going merrily when the villain hidden in the thicket showed his hand.

It always has been suspected that he was a villain belonging to the same club as the artist and sculptor. He became aware of the house boat party, and out of pure deviltry and from no desire to see the sculptor get ahead of the game he worked his little trick. The day before the boat was to sail he fixed up a telegram calling Harold Strong to Philadelphia to see about painting the portrait of a millionaire.

The artist's return was indefinite. He knew that he was leaving a rival behind him, and he knew that the Colonial Dame, as the craft was called, would scarcely have come to anchor in the bay and the moon risen above the waters when that cheeky sculptor would be talking soft nonsense to Ruth Bascomb, but the artistic spirit was strong within him.

He arranged with his sister to interrupt if the sculptor tried to take advantage of the occasion. Feeling himself as secure as any man ever can feel where a woman is concerned, he departed on his mission, and the stately Colonial Dame also departed on hers.

Sometimes a millionaire can be found sitting on his front steps and smoking a fairly good cigar and waiting to be interviewed. Again he is as elusive as the midnight mosquito. The one the artist sought was elusive. It took a whole day to run him down, and when he was finally brought to bay his reply was:

"Young man, don't try any of your confidence games on me if you want to keep out of jail. I didn't telegraph you. I want no painting of any sort. I don't like the look of you. If you are honest, then some one has made a fool of you; if you are a confidence man, then try the first corner grocery."

Harold Strong had been bunked. It was only natural that he should believe the game had been played by his rival. He didn't want to devour even a sandwich before catching a train for New York. For three hours he sat in a chair car and murdered the sculptor. He killed him in seven different ways and was planning the eighth when he arrived at a good sized town in Pennsylvania and was asked by the porter if he wished to stop there. He had got into a car that had been switched off at a junction on to another road while he was doing the murdering act.

It was noon when the artist reached New York. It was 2 o'clock before he began his hunt for some craft to take him down to Princess bay and lay him alongside the house boat. The sculptor had had one moonlight night in which to weave his net of romance around the victim, but he should not have another. The artist tried to charter all sorts of crafts, from an Albany day boat to a sand barge, but the afternoon wore away and night was coming on before he landed at the foot of Third-ninth street, Brooklyn, and interviewed Captain Jinks of the Merry Sal.

"Can you charter me to find a house boat in Princess bay tonight?" repeated Captain Jinks as he bent his head to scratch the back of his neck. "Yes, sir, I reckon you can if you've got a twenty dollar bill about you. You've got a schooner right here which is not much to look at compared with some schooners, but if there is anything on land or water that she can't pick up, I'd like to see it. That's her great holt, young man—picking up things. There's going to be a fog tonight as sure's your live, but if I don't hit that house boat plumb center before midnight then I'll never sing gospel hymns off Cape Hatteras again."

Harold Strong closed with the offer. The crew of the Merry Sal consisted

It does do good baking

This is the range that bakes better because the diffusive oven flue draws in cold air from the kitchen-floor, carries it around the oven, and pours it HOT down into the oven FROM THE TOP in a current that moves all round the whole oven and up and out the flue. When that clean, hot air leaves the oven it takes with it all the moisture, all the odors, which in OTHER ovens stay in and saturate the baking food. Perfect draft control, perfect oven, draw-out oven rack for easy basting,—all points singular to

of the captain and a lunkhead or a young man and a boy of ten who had run away from home and was trying a life on the billows. The captain looked upon the artist as a husband pursuing an eloping wife; the lunkhead looked upon him as an idiot for giving up $20 when the captain would have taken $10, and the runaway boy figured it out that he was some sort of grafter escaping from the police.

The opinion of the crew did not affect Mr. Strong, however. He helped to cast off the schooner and cant her head the right way and hoist the mainsail, and presently she was careering down the bay and avoiding as many statues of Liberty, men-of-war and Staten Island docks as she conveniently could. What she couldn't avoid she crawled over until she struck deep water on the other side. She struck the fog at Fort Hamilton, and then the anxious artist asked:

"Captain, isn't this going to make it difficult for us to find the house boat?"

"Not at all, my son—not at all," was the confident reply. "I told you we should have a fog, but that it would make no difference. The Merry Sal is a-sailin' of herself. She's a-follerin' of her own nose. I've told her that I want her to hit a house boat called the Colony Dammed, and she'll do it or never look me in the face again."

"The Colonial Dame is the name of the boat," corrected the artist.

"Well, I got near enough to it for the schooner to understand what is wanted. You just enjoy yourself and don't worry. Lord, but I wish you really knew what a nose this craft has got for smellin' out other boats and things! One night I was comin' around Sandy Hook in such darkness that I couldn't see my hand before my face. I didn't know whether the Hook was five rods or five miles off. I left it all to Sal, and what did she do? Why, she smelled her way along and went ashore so high and dry that I got off without wettin' my feet. Show me another craft that can do the trick. No, sir, you needn't worry one least bit. I'll hit that house boat inside of another hour if the wind holds."

Aboard the Colonial Dame all had gone well. She had been towed down to the bay and anchored. The sculptor felt that the game was in his hands and was determined to win. He counted on a moonlight night, rippling waters, wavelets softly tunking against the sides of the boat, poetry, sighs and the soft strain of music floating over the waters from some summer resort where sandwiches sold at 15 cents each. The fog came and blotted out the moonlight. It was too damp to sit on deck, and the artist's sister accompanied them down in the cabin, and his suit did not advance. At 10 o'clock the house boat rocked silently on the waters with all on board retired. At about that hour also the captain of the Merry Sal was saying to Harold Strong as they walked the quarterdeck together:

"Yes, sir, the Sal has got a nose on her, and there is really no use for me to carry a compass. I've told her to smell out that ere boat of yours, and she's a-doin' it. I'm reckonin' she'll hit it within fifteen minutes. Why, I could turn in right now and feel that if that boat of yours is anywhere on Princess bay the Sal would hit her with-in!"

The Sal hit her. Whether she was guided by Providence, the lunkhead of a young man or by her nose may never be known, but as a matter of fact she suddenly crashed into the Colonial Dame and cut her down to the water's edge.

There were shouts and screams and yells of confusion. It seemed for a moment as if all on board the house boat must be drowned, but luck was with them. The tide had gone out and there were only three feet of water under her keel, the crew of the Sal were active on the bows of their craft, and the artist went overboard at the first crash and fished around until he found the right party and then saved her in a sopping, but uninjured state. He also magnanimously extended a saving hand to his rival and to his future mother-in-law, and as he piloted them to the sandy Jersey beach and counted heads to find all present and accounted for he was hailed from the departing schooner with:

"Well, good night, young man. I told you the Sal had a nose on her and would hit this ere house boat in the darkest night, and you see I am a mariner who speaks the truth. Good night all. Take the Merry Sal when you want a schooner with a smeller on her."

The Art of Begging.

The head waiter of a famous New York restaurant said the other day:

"A few nights ago, after having charge of a very large dinner, I started for home. My way led me through West Seventy-second street, where, late as it was, I saw a little girl only a few years old sitting on the lower step of a private stoop, crying and sobbing as if her heart would break. I stopped to ask her what was the matter, and she told me that she had got lost uptown, that she knew where she lived—in Sixteenth street—and that if she only had car fare she could get back there. Being in a hurry, I gave her a quarter and started to pass on."

"The moment the kid got the coin she jumped up and ran away around the corner like lightning. I never before saw any one disappear so quickly. It dawned on me at once that I had been 'dead easy.' Of course she was simply a well trained little actress and had taken the quarter to her father or mother, who was in hiding near by. It's an outrageous shame that a little child should be trained up in that way."—New York Post.

Some Strange Customs.

A very interesting account is given of the strange customs of the Bedouins of the Sinai peninsula in Lord Cromer's report on Egypt and the Sudan. If a man kills another in time of peace the relatives of the murdered man, beginning from the father to the fifth generation, have the right to revenge or pardon against the receipt of "blood money." This latter is fixed at forty-one camels. If the murdered man was of the same tribe as the murderer the latter or his near relatives have to give a girl in marriage to one of the victim's relatives without receiving the usual dowry. When she gives birth to a child she is free to go back if she chooses. In the latter case the marriage must be renewed and the usual dowry paid. Five camels may be substituted for the girl.

WOMENS' NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY
Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, headache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness or other female weakness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless headed a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Clara Beaubien, of Beauport, Quebec, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:
"For several years I have suffered with a female weakness which proved a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I tried many medicines, but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was much better and stronger, and in four months I was well; no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain. So I have every reason to praise the Vegetable Compound, and I consider it without equal for the ills of women."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass.
